Effacer of lust and wrath; destroyer of intoxication of illusion !
Lord, honey to the heart !
Annul my transmigration, Thou support of the earth !
Supreme Joy ! my honour Thou save ! (2)
By the Divine enlightenment, by the holy Word by the Master in the heart planted,
Are consumed innumerable Maya-waves.
Lord compassionate, my egoistic thinking destroy.[3]
Eternal Supreme Being ! my anxieties efface ! (3)
Each instant and minute contemplate the almighty Lord;
On the Lord in unbroken absorption meditate !
From the Lord, compassionate to the humble, supreme bliss,
Seek dust of feet of the holy. (4)
From false attachment, from desire that from God casts off, from evil proclivities,
Pray my urge for righteousness[4] protect;
Formless Lord ! from my mind annul illusion, liberate me ! (5)
The destitute without a strip of cloth, by God-given treasure, Rich, possessors of treasures have become;
By a glance of the Lord[5] have the stupid, the thoughtless,
of unawakened minds
Become masters of merits and poised understanding. (6)
My self ! contemplate the Lord, bestower of liberation in life-time.
In thy heart bear faith.
Bearing pity and compassion in heart,
Knowing God to be all-pervasive, is the way of the supremely-enlightened.[6] (7)
As the Lord His sight grants, the ears to Divine laudation listen,
The tongue the Name Divine utters.
By His touch, the Lord ever by us,
Saith Nanak, liberation to the fallen grants. (8) (1.2)

1. Gopal.
2. Gobind.
3. Pierce.
4. Dharma.
5. Sridhar (Lord of Lakshmi), an attribute name of Vishnu, here implying God.
6. Paramhans.

Gūjari kī-Vār Mahalla 3

Vār in the Measure Gujari—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das* (Musical Direction) To be sung to the tune of the Vār of Sikandar and Birahim
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka

Ihu jag mamtā mūā jīvan kī bidhi nāheṇ

The world in acquisitiveness is consumed,
Knowing not the true way of life.
Only by obeying the holy Master's will does one attain to the true station of life.
Those whose hearts in devotion to God's feet are absorbed,
Find the life everlasting.
Saith Nanak : As by His grace is God lodged in the self,
By the holy Master's inspiration, does man find lasting poise. (1)

Sloka

Inside man is doubt, the source of suffering,
Through worldly pursuits striking blows on the head.
Those involved in sleep of Duality wake never.
From love and attachment of the world. P. 509 Never meditating on God's Name, nor contemplating
the holy Word—
Such is the egoists' conduct.
Not attaining devotion to the Lord's Name,
Wasted is their life—
At the end in ignominy Yama chastizes them. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpṉā apu ūpāiyonu taduh hor na koī

His essence He created when no other existence was there—Himself His counsellor, acting at His will.
Then existed neither heaven nor the nether world,
nor the three worlds.
Then was He Himself, formless—no creation then existed.
Doing as pleased Him—
None existed besides Him. (1)

---

* Note : In this Vār all portions, Slokas and Pauris (stanzas) are of Sri Guru Amar Das's composition. One Sloka of Kabir is included.

 Note : Such musical directions are found elsewhere also in the body of Guru Granth Sahib. The Vār referred to here was a short popular ballad of a fight between two local chieftains.

Sloka

Sāhibu merā sadā hai dissai shabdu kamāe

Eternal is the Lord;
Revealed through living the holy Word.
Death touches Him not—
Beyond the transmigratory circle lying.
Ever must He be served, who all existence pervades.
Worthless is the service of any other,[1] subject to birth and death.
Fruitless is the life of such as know not their Lord,
And are to another devoted.
Saith Nanak : Incalculable is the chastizement inflicted on such by the Creator. (1)

Sloka

On the holy Name meditate,
Everywhere in truth pervasive.
Saith Nanak : One approved of God alone through realizing His Ordinance,
Is with the Truth rewarded.
One making false utterance, falsely acting,
Without realization of the Ordinance,
In blind, insincere.[2] (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sanjogu vijogu upāiyonu srishṭī kā mūl rachāiya

He set in motion union and separation[3]
And thereby laid foundation of creation;
By His Ordinance formed He the creation,
And His own Light merged into universal light.
All light emanates from the Light Divine,
As the holy Preceptor's Word is revealed.
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva,[4] in the three qualities caught,
Are each set by Him to an appointed task.
Of Maya He created the root,
As well as bliss of the fourth state.[5] (2)

---

1. The original is the form of a question : Why serve another ?
2. Lit. Unbaked (false).
3. (Union with the Supreme Being through devotion and separation through lack thereof).
4. Mahesh
5. Turiya, the state of complete unshakeable absorption (Samadhi) into the Absolute.

Sloka

So japu so tapu je Satiguru bhāvai

Meditation[1] and austerities are of value only should they win the holy Preceptor's favour.
Man achieves exaltation through the holy Preceptor's[2] pleasure.
Saith Nanak : This comes to one who discarding the ego, is in the Master[3] absorbed. (1)

Sloka

Rare is the person that the holy Preceptor's teachings absorbs :
This, Nanak ! comes to whosoever the Lord Himself exalts. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Maya-moha agyānu hai bikhamu ati bhārī

Maya-delusion is ignorance, stubborn and of great power.
With a heavy load of stone of sin, how may one swim ?
Those absorbed in everlasting devotion,[4]
By the Lord are liberated.
Through the Preceptor's Word, and discarding of egoism and evil thinking.
May the mind be rendered pure.
Through meditation on the Lord's Name, Himself He may carry across the devotee. (3)

Sloka

Kabīr mukti-dūarā sankurā rāī daswaiṇ bhāe

Kabir ! narrow is the Gate of liberation—small as the tenth of a mustard-grain.
My self, turned an elephant intoxicated,
How mayst thou go through it ?
Should a holy Teacher be found who may manifest his favour,
The Door of liberation may then become wide,
Permitting spontaneous ingress and egress. (1.3)

Sloka

Saith Nanak : The Door of liberation is narrow in the extreme,
Whoever grows small may cross it.
In egoism is the mind grown gross— P. 510
How may it pass through ?

1. Japa, Lit. Low muttering of some holy text.
2. Original, Satiguru.
3. Guru.
4. Lit. With being dyed each day.

Through the holy Preceptor's contact[1] is egoism lifted,[2]
And the self with Divine Light filled.
The self is everlastingly liberated,
When in supreme poise[3] absorbed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Prabhi sansāru upāe kai wasi āpṉei kītā

The Lord, after creating the universe, under His own power has kept it.
By intellectual feats[4] is the Lord not attained :
This is straying about in illusion.
By the holy Preceptor's contact[1] does one die to the world,[5]
And through realization is in Truth absorbed.
Through the holy Word is egoism removed,[6]
And union with the Lord formed.
All to Him is known; all by Him is accomplished,
Which viewing is He pleased.[7] (1)

Sloka

Satiguru siūṇ chittu na lāiyo nāmu na wasiyo mani āye

Cursed is the life without love of the holy Preceptor,
And lauding the holy Name in the mind :
What gain in the world to such ?
False is Maya's wealth.[8]
In an instant is its illusion removed.
As from one's hand it drops,
The body to ashes turns and the limbs wither away.
Those to the holy Preceptor devoted,
Have in their heart abiding joy.
One meditating on God's Name in joyful ecstasy
Is ever in devotion absorbed.
Saith Nanak : The holy Preceptor has to me such a treasure[9] entrusted,
As absorbed in the self, abides.
Of such the dye is blazing,
Shining evermore. (1)

---

1. Lit. Meeting.
2. Lit. Gone, removed.
3. Sahaj.
4. Lit. Calculation, clever devices, such as ritual performances etc.
5. Lit. Dies while living.
6. Lit. Lost, destroyed.
7. Lit. Blooms.
8. Capital.
9. Wealth.

Sloka

Maya the she-serpent is holding the world in her coils, Gobbling up whose serves her.
Some God-directed person removing her poison,
Crushing her, to his feet attaches her.
Saith Nanak : Such alone are saved as to holy truth are singly devoted. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Ḍhāḍi karei pūkār Prabhū sūṇāisī

The bard utters aloud his supplication for the Lord to hear.
With poise within, the Lord perfection incarnate shall he attain.
As the writ in primal time recorded,
Such shall be man's deeds.
Should the Lord be gracious, in His Mansion shall he find lodgement.
With the Lord mightily supreme, union by the Master's guidance shall come about. (5)

Sloka

Sabhnāṇ kā shāhu ek hai sad hī rahai hazūri

One Lord is for all, ever in presence of each abiding.
Saith Nanak : One not obeying His command,
Even in the same home remains from Him alienated.
Such to obedient He prompts as have His glance of grace.
The self that obeys Him obtains joy,
And is truly the loving wife. (1)

Sloka

One indifferent to the Lord is like the wife burning away in sorrow the whole night,
Bereft of His love.
Saith Nanak : Those are happily wedded wives
Who give love to the beloved Lord-Spouse. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sabhu jagu phiri maiṇ dekhiyā Hari ikko dātā

Viewing the world over,
The Lord I find the sole Provider.
By man's effort nothing comes;
The Lord is the Rewarder[1] of actions.

---

1. Bidhata in the original implies one who administers the law of karma.

By the Preceptor's Word comes the Lord in the heart to abide;
And thus arises Enlightenment[1] spontaneously.
As is slaked the fire of desire,
The self in the Ambrosial Pool[2] is bathed.
The Lord, supreme in greatness,
Imparts by grace the power of holy utterance. (6)

Sloka

Kāyā hans kyā preeti hai je paiyā hī chhadi jāe

What love has the spirit for the body
Which it leaves behind, lying prostrate ? P. 511
Man by evil effort[3] nourishes it,
Although in the end she forsakes him.
The body is like blinding dust.
Ask the self,[4] where is the dust flying with it ?
One with Maya-deluded ego is in transmigration ever whirled about.
Saith Nanak : I sought not to know the Lord's Ordinance, Whereby in the truth I could be absorbed. (1)

Sloka

The Divine wealth[5] alone is lasting—
All other wealth evanescent.
Neither thief nor highwayman may snatch this wealth.
This holy wealth with the self is united, and with it abides.[6]
From the Master perfectly endowed is it obtained—
The egoist of it remains deprived.
Saith Nanak : Blessed are the merchants[7]
Whose gain is the wealth of devotion. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

The Lord is supreme, mighty,
Holy and unfathomable;
The entire universe to Him is subject :
All the visible expanse is His.
The inalienable, stable wealth of devotion
Is by the Preceptor's grace obtained.

---

1. The original implies enlightenment coming without recourse to ritual etc.
2. 'Amritsar' in the original.
3. Lit. Talking falsely.
4. Air, implying the living self.
5. Original, Nām.
6. Lit. Goes.
7. This figure is repeated in the spiritual context.

Through Divine grace comes the Lord in the self to abide,
As the Preceptor, conqueror[1] of evil is met with.
Those holy-endowed alone laud the Lord,
Immortal, changeless, perfectly supreme. (7)

Sloka

Dhrigu tinhāṇ kā jīviyā jo Hari sūkh parhari tiyāgadei dūkhu haumai pāp kamāe

Accursed is the life of those that repudiating joy in God,
Act suffering and sin, from egoism rising.
The egoist of darkened soul is gripped by Maya-delusion,
Lacking true enlightenment.
To such comes not joy in this world or the next—
Their end full of regrets.
Through the Preceptor's grace do the rare devotees meditate on the holy Name—
Their egoism eliminated.
Saith Nanak : Only one so destined,[2]
At the Preceptor's feet submits. (1)

Sloka

The egoist is like the lotus turned upside down,
In devotion and meditation[3] lacking;
Acting under Maya's[4] influence,
Unholy is all his device.
His mind not saturated with devotion,
His utterance lacking in holy joy,
Such incline not towards holiness,[5]
In falsehood lying all their delight.
Saith Nanak : Such is the Lord's dispensation—
Egoists sink through their falsehood.
God's devotees are saved[6] through meditation on the holy Name.

Pauri (Stanza)

Binu būjhei waḍḍā pheru paiyā phiri āwai jāī

One lacking enlightenment is in transmigration whirled about;

1. Original, sūra (hero).
2. The doctrine of pre-destination by good actions of previous births, is implied.
3. Lit. Nām.
4. (Sakti and Saktas have come in for strong condemation in the Guru's teaching).
5. Dharma.
6. Lit. Swim across.

Lacking in service to the Preceptor,
Full of regrets is his end.
Through Divine grace is the holy Preceptor found,
When egoism is discarded.
Then is all desire[1] annulled,
And joy in the self comes to abide.
With concentration of heart,
Must man ever laud the Lord. (8)

Sloka

Je satiguru sevei āpṉā tis no pūjei sabhu koe

The world reveres[2] one to the Preceptor devoted;
The praxis supreme above all is attainment of
the Name Divine.[3]
Thus comes peace and calm to abide in the self,
And in the heart joy everlasting.
Of such the sustenance and vesture is devotion to the holy Name.[4]
Saith Nanak : Through devotion to the Name comes to them greatness. (1)

Sloka

My self ! listen to the Master's teaching, P. 512
Whereby mayst thou find the Lord, Repository of all merit.
With the Lord, Bestower of joy abiding in the self,
Are egoism and pride banished.
Saith Nanak : When by His grace is such devotion attained,
One is in a perpetual state of meditation. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sattu santokhu sabhu sachu hai Gurumukhi pavittā

In the devotee is created truth and calm of soul and purity :
With hypocrisy and evil banished from the mind,
The self attains victory thereby;
Immersed in holy light and spiritual joy,
Is darkness[5] banished.
Whoever day by day lauds the Lord,
Holy virtues shall in Him be manifest.
Of all creation is One Sole Provider and true friend. (9)

1. Lit. Thirst and hunger.
2. Lit. Worships.
3. Lit. God's Name.
4. Original, Amrit (carries among others, this applied sense).
5. Original, Ignorance.

Sloka

Brahmi bindei so Brahmaṉu kahīyai je anadinu Hari liv lāe

A true Brahmin is one who the Supreme realizes,
And is ever in the state of devotion.
Such would be he, who under the Preceptor's guidance, cultivates truth and self-discipline.
His malady of egoism shall vanish—
Such would he be should he laud the Lord,
And good qualities garner.
His light shall be merged in the Divine illumination.
In this age rare are the enlightened ones, who annulling egoism in the Supreme are merged.
Saith Nanak : Contact with such as meditate ever and ever on the Lord's Name, Brings joy imperishable. (1)

Sloka

In the unenlightened egoist's mind lies hypocrisy,
And on his tongue runs falsehood.
Hypocrisy pleases not the Supreme Lord—Spontaneously does all that happens pour into His sight and hearing.[1]
One influenced by duality setting out to instruct mankind—
His action by Maya-delusion is impelled.
Such action everlasting suffering brings,
And unending travail[2] of transmigration.
His doubts not annulled,
In filth is he absorbed and merged.
On whoever the Lord's grace falls,
Is to the Preceptor's teaching inclined :
Such a one meditates on the Lord's Name and lauds it—
The Name ultimate release brings him. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jinnhāṉ Hukamu manāiyonu teī pūrei sansāri

Those induced towards obedience to the Lord's will,
Are the perfect ones of this world;
Meditating on the holy Supreme Word,
Serve they the Lord.

---

1. Lit. He sees and hears by His ingrained powers.
2. Travail in its root is allied to travel.

These are the Lord's servitors,
And devotees of the holy Word.
Those casting off their egoism alone attain to the Divine Mansion.
Saith Nanak : Through the Preceptor's guidance,
Meditating and bearing God's Name is their selves,
Are they to Him united. (10)

Sloka

Gurumukhi dhyān sahaj-dhüni üpjai sachi Nāmi chittu lāiyā

Of those Godward-turning is the mind inspired to meditation.
The melody of perfect peace from them arises,
And the mind in the holy Name absorbed.
One Godward-turning is ever in joy in God absorbed,
And with love of the Name Divine inspired.
Such a one sees solely the Lord, hears solely the Lord,
And with joy of love of the Lord is inspired.
Saith Nanak : By Godward-turning is enlightenment attained,
And darkness of ignorance lifted.
Those visited by Divine grace since the primal hour Are alone inspired by turning to the Master on the Lord's Name to meditate. (1)

Sloka

One serving not the holy Master,
And without love of the holy Word;
Meditating not on the holy Name—
What good his birth ?
Everlastingly is he whirled in transmigration,
Rolling ignominiously in filth.
Such a one, attracted to false acquisitiveness,
Reaches not the goal.[1]
Saith Nanak : Those God-ward turning P. 513
Swim across,
Should by the Creator to Himself they be united. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Bhagat sachai dari sohandei sacchai shabdi rahāe

God's devotees shine in beauty at the Holy Portal,
By the Divine Word sustained;
By devotion to the Lord inspired,
Are they tense with love of Him.

1. Lit. Gets neither to one shore nor the other.

Ever abide they dyed in the Lord's love,
Their palate tasting of joy in God.
Fulfilled[1] is the birth of those by the Master[2] enlightened, Lauding in their selves the Lord.
Crowds of those without the Master's guidance go about wailing,
Through attachment to duality ruined. (11)

Sloka

Kali-jüg mehṇ Nāmu nidhānu bhagtīṇ khaṭṭiyā
Hari üttam padu pāiyā

In the dark Kali age have the devotees of God the treasury of the holy Name gained,
And from the Lord the highest state obtained.
Through devotion to the holy Preceptor may man lodge the Lord's Name in the mind,
And ceaselessly[3] in meditation be engaged.
By absorbing the Preceptor's Word may one be indifferent to the world's joys, even as householder,
And burn away attachment and egoism.
Such a one is saved[4] himself and saves also the whole world—
Blessed is the mother that bore him.
Such a holy Preceptor comes the way only of one,
In whose destiny it is recorded in the primal hour.
God's servant Nanak is a sacrifice to his Master,
Who guided along the right path one by delusion gripped. (1)

Sloka

Mankind by Maya of Three Qualities is attracted,
As is the moth by the lamp consumed.
The priest[5] neglectful of his duty looks with conveting eyes for lucre,[6]
Prying who has offered what.
With thoughts of duality whatever he studies becomes false.[7]
Yogis, wandering mendicants, sannyasis, all are deluded—
Swollen with egoism and pride.

---

1. Lit. Fruitful.
2. Original, Gurumukhi.
3. Lit. Day after day.
4. Lit. Swims across.
5. Original, Pandit : Priest is implied here.
6. Maya here implies this and is not a philosophical concept.
7. Lit. Poison.

They accept not simple food and clothing as alms;
In obstinate crazes have they wasted life.
Out of all those that perform piety he alone success has attained,[1]
Who through Godward-turning on the holy Name has meditated.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : To whom may one complain,
Since all happens as the Creator has willed ? (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Maya-mohu pretu hai kāmu krodhu ahankārā

Maya-delusion, lust, wrath and egoism—
All are evil-spirits.
These are Yama's subjects,
Heavily chastized by him.
Egoists attached to duality along Yama's path are pushed :
In Yama's demesne are they chastized in bonds,
None their wailing to hear.
Whoever finds favour with the Lord, is to the holy Preceptor united—
Through the Preceptor does liberation come. (2)

Sloka

Haumai mamtā mohanī manmūkāṇ noṇ gaī khāe

Egoism and acquisitiveness by their delusions have[2] consumed the egoists through and through.
These hold in their coils those that in delusion to duality are attached.
Burnt by the Master's Word, do they leave hold of man;
and God's Name in the mind takes abode.
Saith Nanak : The Lord's Name is Maya's antidote, obtained by the Master's teaching. (1)

Sloka

For numerous Yugas has the self wandered about :
When poised, then does its wandering cease.
The Lord has willed that it wander thus,
By creating the mime and show of maya.
By Divine grace is the Preceptor found, P. 514
And the self, in God absorbed, finds poise.

1. The original, Samdha, implies concentration of the mind's faculties in a resolution of disparate elements.
2. In the original the verb is in the singular, the two evils counted as combined.

Saith Nanak : As by the Master's Word[1] the mind acquires faith,
Then it neither dies nor is destroyed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Kāyā kotu apār hai milnā sanjogīṇ

Vast is this citadel of the human body,
By a chain of fortunate happenings obtained.
The Lord Himself abides in this body—
Himself tasting all delectation.
Himself too is He inaccessible, unsoiled, a yogi from all attachments separated.
He acts as lies in His pleasure;
All shall happen as He wills.
By meditating on the Lord's holy Name by the Master's prompting
Is separation from Him annulled. (13)

Sloka

Wāhu wāhu āpi akhāendā Guru-shabdīṇ sachu hoe

Wonderful is His prompting to devotion
To holy Truth, by the Master's teaching.
Wonderful is His laudation,
Whose essence by Godward-turning the rare spirits realize.
Wonderful is the Divine Word, holy and true,
Which by union with truth is obtained.
Saith Nanak : In the attitude of wonder is the Lord attained,
Through grace[2] obtained. (1)

Sloka

The tongue expressing wonder and ecstasy is by the holy Word exalted.
Through the holy[3] Word is union with the Lord attained.
Supremely fortunate are those whose tongue to such ecstasy gives utterance.
Those in wonderful ecstasy shine in spiritual beauty,
By all creation revered.
Such wonder by grace is obtained.
Saith Nanak : Those attaining it are at the holy Portal exalted. (2)

---

1. Mana here is taken to imply the Master's teaching or Word.
2. This composite concept is grace obtained through good actions of previous births.
3. Lit. Perfection of Divine wisdom is implied.

Pauri (Stanza)

Bajra-kapāṭ kāyā-gaṛhi bhītari kūṛu kūsattu abhimānī

In the citadel of this body barred by door-panels of adamant,
Abide falsehood, evil and pride.
Those lost in delusion,
The egoists blind and ignorant, are of sight bereft.
By praxis and ritual is truth not found—
Ritualists to exhaustion have tried this.
These gates of adamant by the Master's Word are flung open,
By chanting the Lord's Name.
The Lord is the tree of ambrosia :
Whoever quaffs it
Is filled never again to hunger. (14)

Sloka

Wāhu wāhu kartiyāṇ rayṇi sūkhi vihāe

In lauding[1] the Lord the night of life in joy is passed;
In lauding the Lord lies imperishable joy, mother mine !
In lauding the Lord is devotion to Him formed.
Only one visited by Divine grace such laudation utters.
One lauding the Lord shall be honoured.
Saith Nanak : Those lauding God by His holy will abide.[2] (1)

Sloka

Holy is utterance of laudation,
Attained after deep search by the Preceptor's guidance.
The devotee utters laudation through the holy Word,
From heart full of ecstasy.
In laudation is found the Lord
Without travail, by seeking Him through the Preceptor.
Saith Nanak : Supremely fortunate are those,
That from their heart on the Lord meditate. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Ei manā ati lobhīyā nit lobhei rātā

My self, greatly covetous,
Ever art thou in covetousness immersed,[3]
And deluded by Maya and desire dost in all[4] directions run.

1. Lit. Expressing wonder.
2. Another rendering : Lauding the Lord by His holy will comes.
3. Lit. Dyed.
4. Lit. Ten.

In the hereafter shall not be with thee great name and high caste.
The egoist, to these attached, shall get only suffering.
His tongue has tasted not of joy in the Lord;
Joyless is his utterance.
Fulfilled are those that the nectar have tasted through the Preceptor's teaching. (15)

Wāhu wāhu tis no ākhiyai je sacchā gahir gambhīr

Laud solely the Lord who is eternal and unfathomable,
And giver of poise to the understanding. P. 515
Laud solely the Lord who all creation pervades.
Laud solely the Lord who is Provider of all.
Saith Nanak : Laud the sole Supreme Being,
By the holy Preceptor revealed.

Sloka

Those devoted to God are in laudation ever engaged;
The egoists die swallowing poison :
To such appeals not Divine laudation—
All their life in suffering passed.
Those devoted to God quaff nectar,
And with devoted hearts utter laudation of God.
Saith Nanak : Those lauding the Lord, are the pure ones—
Knowledge of the three worlds is to them revealed.[1] (2)

Pauṛi (Stanza)

Hari kai bhāṇai Guru milai sevā bhagti banījai

Should the Lord so will, is the Preceptor found,
From whom comes promting to service and devotion.
Should the Lord so will, in the mind is He lodged,
And joy unsought is tasted.
Should the Lord so will,
Comes joy and everlasting gain.
Such are exalted on thrones in the Court Divine,
And ever in their own abode[2] abide.
Those alone submit to the Divine will
That the true Preceptor have found. (16)

1. As elsewhere, this implies awareness of the Divine Law.
2. State of eternal poise and enlightenment.

Sloka

Wāhu wāh sei jan sadā karehṇ jin kau āpei dei būjhāe

Those endowed by God with enlightenment alone laud Him.
With laudation is the mind purified, and egoism cast out.
The devotee lauding Him constantly has desires fulfilled.[1]
Those lauding Him have the true splendour,
And to the Lord are united.
May my heart ever raise laudation, and my tongue ever utter the Lord's praise !
Saith Nanak : May I sacrifice body and mind to those that engage in lauding the Lord. (1)

Sloka

Behold ! holy is the Lord; His Name immortality confers.
Those devoted to Him have been rewarded;[1]
May I to them be a sacrifice !
Laudation of the Lord is treasury of all merit—
Whosoever is blessed with it, has joy of it.[2]
Land and sea[3] by laudation are filled—
This blessing by Godward-turning is found.
It behoves the Master's devotees ever to laud the Lord.
The Master perfectly-endowed is thereby pleased.
Saith Nanak : One lauding the Lord from the heart,
Shall not by Yama's minions be tormented[4] (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari jio sacchā sacchu hai sacchī Gurubāṇī

Holiest of the holy is the Lord; holy the Divine Word.
From the holy Preceptor comes awareness of truth,
Whereby is man into truth spontaneously merged.
Such are ever awake, sleep overpowers them not;
In the waking state is their night of life passed.
Holy are those that by the wisdom given by the Preceptor taste of joy in God.
None without the Preceptor's teaching ever attained to the Lord.
Those ignorant of it have by death without a trace been swallowed. (17)

---

1. Lit. Gets the fruit desired. Implies the blessing of devotion. Worldly objectives are not meant.
2. Lit. Consumes.
3. Lit. Sea and land.
4. Lit. Those shall not approach him.

Sloka

Wāhu wāhu bāṉī Nirankār hai tisu jewaḍu awaru na koe

Utterance of laudation of the Lord is the formless Lord's own self,
Supreme over all.
Inaccessible and unfathomable is such laudation,
With the holy Eternal identical.
Laudation is the Lord Himself superior to desire,
Is Almighty.
In laudation lies the immortal Divine Name,
By devotion to the Preceptor found.
Inclination to laudation from destiny[1] and Divine grace comes.
Saith Nanak : Inclination to laudation from devotion to the Preceptor comes, P. 516
From unceasing meditation. (1)

Sloka

Peace and poise come not without service to the holy Preceptor;
No other recourse is for man.
However much may one such acquisition desire,
It comes through grace[2] solely.
Those full of covetousness and evil,
Are through duality lost.
Of such the transmigration ceases not.
In egoism they suffer.
Those devoted to the holy Preceptor remain not unfulfilled.
Such by Yama are not summoned,
Nor undergo his torments.
Saith Nanak : Those devoted[3] are saved,[4] into the holy Word merged. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Ḍhāḍī tis noṇ ākhīyai je khasmai dharei piyāru

The bard[5] of God is one devoted to his Lord;
Standing at His door he serves Him,
The Divine Word contemplating.

1. Destiny made by actions of previous births is implied.
2. Original, Karma.
3. Original, Gurumukh.
4. Lit. Swim; are not sunk.
5. This term is employed by Guru Nanak Dev as well for himself as on chanting the Lord's praises, like bards of old (Vār Majh). Shair (poet) too is employed by Guru Nanak Dev in the same sense.

The Bard shall obtain lodgement at the Portal and Mansion Divine,
Bearing holy truth in heart.
Great is the bard's state in contemplation of the Lord—
By the Lord is he saved. (18)

Sloka

Gūjarī jāti gawāri jā shahu pāe āpṉā

Even a milkmaid in a rude tribe born,
As devotion to the Lord grows in her,[1]
By contemplating the Master's Word
Ever on Him meditates.
One by the holy Master instructed,[2]
Is by fear of God inspired :
Such a one alone is a lady of noble lineage.
Only one by the Creator favoured realizes the essence of her Lord's command.
One not so endowed is ill-taught, ill-mannered,
And is by her Lord cast off.
Through fear of God comes purity and chastity of limb;
With mind illuminated and understanding exalted.
Through meditation does one acquire great merit.[3]
One who is fixed in fear of God, abides ever in such fear,
And acts under such fear,
Shall find joy and exaltation in this life
And liberation in the hereafter.
Through fear of God is attained the Lord without fear,
And union with the Light infinite found.
Saith Nanak : One pleasing her Lord is alone well-born—
Such merit only by Divine grace comes. (1)

Sloka

Let me for evermore laud the Lord—
May I be a sacrifice to Him !
Saith Nanak : Burnt be the tongue that lauds other than the one Supreme Lord. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Ansā autāru upāiyonu bhāu dūjā kīyā

Incarnations of God, endowed with part of His essence,

---

1. This is a difficult line syntactically, but the meaning is clear; Even one low-born through the Master's teaching conceiving holy fear is exalted.
2. Lit. Meeting, contacting.
3. Lit. Becomes a store-house of merits.

Were yet subject to duality;
Kingly state they kept and into states of joy and sorrow were involved.
Shiva and Brahma, despite their devotion have found not God's truth.
Unknowable is the Lord, without fear and form,
Through the Master revealed.
In that state intrude not sorrow and separation,
And the devotee in poise is fixed amidst the changing world. (19)

Sloka

Ehu sabhu kichhu āwaṉ jāṉu hai jetā hai ākār

All those forms visible to the eye are subject to birth and death :
One realizing the truth[1] of this alone finds acceptance with God.
Saith Nanak : One to himself attaching value is ignorant, a barbarian. (1)

Sloka

The mind is an elephant, the Master the elephant-trainer;
Enlightenment is the goad,
Whereby is the beast driven.
Saith Nanak : The elephant unguided by such goad Shall ever into wilderness stray. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Tisu āgai ardāsi jinni upāiyā

Pray I to Him who has created me :
By devotion to the holy Master have I found all fulfilment. P. 517
By meditating on the Lord's Name immortalizing
In holy company
All sorrows vanish.
Saith Nanak : By attaining the wealth imperishable of God's Name,
Has all my anxiety vanished. (20)

Sloka

Kheti miyālāṇ ucchīyāṇ gharu ūcchā nirṉau

In the field with high mounds
I look to the high heavens for rain.
Should the woman be truly devoted,

1. Lit. Account.

Then must her Lord visit her.
Thou cloud of grace ! rain if thou wilt—
Why delay thy shower ?
Nanak is a sacrifice to those who by the Master's guidance, Realize Him in their selves. (1)

Sloka

That which pleases is truly sweet;
One who is ever helpful is alone a friend.
Saith Nanak : The true devotee is one whose mind
He Himself illuminates. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

This is Thy servant's prayer to Thee :
Thou art the holy[1] Lord,
Protector at all times :
On Thee I meditate.
All creation is Thine,
That Thou dost pervade.
Those traducing Thy servant
By Thee are destroyed.
Nanak ! leave sorrowing and live without anxiety,
Worshipping at His feet. (21)

Sloka

Āsā kartā jagu mūā āsā marai na jāe

The whole world, gripped by desire in the end dies—
Desire leaves not man ever.
Saith Nanak : Through devotion to the holy Eternal
Are all desires fulfilled. (1)
Desires shall vanish[2] :
He who created them shall take them away.
Saith Nanak : Nothing shall last but the Name Divine. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei jagatu upāiyonu kari pūrā ṭhāṭu

He Himself created the universe with all its elaboration.
Himself is He Master of wealth;
Himself the merchant;
Himself too the store.
Himself the ocean and the boat.

1. True.
2. Die.

Himself is He the helmsman.
Himself the Master and disciple—
Himself shall He reveal the anchorage.
Nanak, thou servant of God—
On His Name meditate !
Thus will thy sins be annulled. (22)

(Found correct)[1]

Vār in the Measure Gujari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka

Antari Guru ārādhṉā jihvā japi Guru-nāuṇ

With the mind to the Divine Master make supplication;
With the tongue repeat the Name Divine.
With the eyes the holy Preceptor behold, with the ears
listen to the Name Divine
By immersion in the holy Preceptor man at the Divine Portal finds place.
Saith Nanak : This blessing[2] to such He grants as have His grace.
In this world rare and few are such as have such nobility. (1)

Sloka

The Divine Protector Himself saves man—
By inspiring reverence at the Master's feet man's objectives He fulfils.
Those to whom He is gracious, from His mind casts them not off :
In holy company are such taken across the ocean of existence.
Reprobates,[3] calumniators and evil-doers in an instant are destroyed.
Saith Nanak : Cherish ever in mind shelter of the Lord,
Whose contemplation brings joy and all sorrows drives off. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Akūl niranjan Pūrakhu agam apārīyai

The Lord exempt from bonds of tribe, immaculate, inaccessible, beyond limit; P. 518
Holy, true, eternal—His truth you behold.

---

1. Such nothing is found in the Scripture itself as 'Shuddha', indicating careful checking of the copy of the Scripture with the original text.
2. Object.
3. Sakta.

In the universe by Thee propped, nothing appears false.
Of all creation art Thou the Provider.
Stringing creation on one thread, Thy light hast
Thou spread over all.
By Thy Ordinance are beings in midst of the ocean of existence tossed;
By Thy Ordinance they swim across.
Lord ! such alone on Thee meditate, as good fortune recorded on their forehead carry.
Thy state and extent is beyond knowing—
To Thee am I a sacrifice. (1)

Sloka

Jā Tū tüssehṇ Mehrvān achintu waseh mana māheṇ

Whenever Thou art gracious, spontaneously in the mind art Thou lodged.
Whenever Thou art gracious, in our self the Nine Treasures we obtain.
Whenever Thou art gracious, by the Master's teaching beings live.
Whenever Thou art gracious, saith Nanak, beings in Truth are absorbed. (1)

Sloka

Many in seats of authority are seated,
And their glory loudly proclaim.[1]
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to the holy Name,
None has his honour saved. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Tüdhu dhiyāini Bed Katebāṇ saṉu khaṛei

Vedas and the Semitic Scriptures[2] all on Thee meditate;
Numbers beyond count, at Thy Portal are fallen in obeisance.
Brahmas and Indras on the throne too on Thee meditate.
Shiva and avatars of Vishnu[3] by their tongue
Divine laudation utter.
Pirs, prophets and Muslim holy men[4] too laud Thee.
Lord without form ! in each being art Thou completely pervasive.

---

1. Proclaim with instruments of sound.
2. Kateb (Kitab) variously implies the Koran or the four Semitic scriptures—The Pentateuch (Torah), psalms (Zabur), the Gaspel (Injil) and the Koran.
3. These are Rama, Krishna and numerous others.
4. Sheikh, mashaikh, auliya.

By falsehood He destroys us; by righteousness
we abide unshaken.
To whatever task you set us, in that we engage ourselves. (2)

Sloka

Changiyāī ālaku kerei buriyāī hoe sheru

To do good is man slothful; in doing evil quick as a tiger.
Know, thoughtless man ! in a day or two shall the snare enclose thy feet. (1)

Sloka

Whatever our evil ways, never is Thy love for us concealed.
Our evils, Lord who art our true friend, in Thy mind are kept covered. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hauṇ māngauṇ tūjhai Dayāl kari dāsāṇ goliyā

Lord gracious ! this I beg of Thee :
Make me slave of Thy slaves.
By uttering Thy laudation I live, obtaining thus the Nine Treasures and glory of kingship.
The treasure of Thy immortal Name amply in the homes of Thy servants lies—
In their company shall I feel blessed,
As by my ears Thy laudation I hear.
As their service I perform, my body purified shall be.
In waving the fan over them, drawing water, grinding grain,
In washing their feet, shall my delight lie.
To me, devoid of merit, pray grant a place in Thy devotee's temple. (3)

Sloka

Sājan terei charan kī hoe rahāṇ sad dhūri

Loved Divine Friend ! may I ever be dust of Thy feet.
Nanak is under your shelter—may I ever behold you by my side. (1)

Sloka

Countless fallen beings by absorbing their mind in the Divine feet, are rendered holy.
The Name Divine equals bathing at the sixty-eight holy spots—
To such is this granted as on the forehead bear good fortune. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nit japīyai sānsi girāsi nāuṇ Parvardigār dā

With each breath and morsel, ever contemplate the Divine cherisher's Name.
Never disregards He any to whom He is compassionate.
Himself creator any destroyer—
All to Him is known; knowing, He considers and weighs it. P. 519
By His might in an instant numerous guises He assumes.
He saves whomsoever to truth He attaches.
Never is he vanquished on whose side is the Lord.
Eternal His court, to which I offer obeisance. (4)

Sloka

Kāmu krodhu lobhu chhoḍīyai dījai agni jalāe

Discard lust, wrath and attachment—in fire burn these.
While life lasts, saith Nanak, the Name eternal you ever utter. (1)

Sloka

As the Lord you contemplate, all fruits[1] shall you obtain.
Saith Nanak : Since such time as with the Master, perfectly-endowed, we are granted union,
To the holy Name are we devoted. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

So mūktā sansāri ji Gūri ūpdesiyā

Such alone in the world are liberated as by the Master are instructed.
Of such the afflictions are gone and anxieties effaced.
By the sight of such is the world blessed.
In company of God's devotees comes blessing and impurity of sins washed off.
In their company is uttered the holy Name ambrosial,
Whereby is the mind contented and are hungers satisfied.
Of those in whose self the Name is lodged, are the bonds snapped.
Rare are such as by the Master's grace the Divine wealth earn. (5)

Sloka

Mana mehṇ chitvuhṇ chitvanī ūddamu karuhṇ ūṭhi nīt

In my mind I resolve that on waking, in righteous endeavour I engage.

1. Implies fulfilment of objectives.

Lord, Nanak's true friend ! grant to Nanak occupation of Divine laudation. (1)

Sloka

As has the Lord in His grace saved me,
Mind and body in the Divine Essence are dyed.
Saith Nanak : The beings that the Lord's pleasure have won,
By Divine contemplation are their poor sufferings[1] gone.[2] (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jīya kī birthā hoe so Guru peh ardāsi kari

Before the Lord lay in supplication the pain of thy self.
Discarding all feats of intellect, to the Master dedicate mind and body.
By obeisance at the Master's feet,
Is foul thinking burnt away.
In company of the holy swim across the tempestuous[3]
ocean of existence.
By serving the holy Preceptor is annulled fear of death[4] in the hereafter.
In an instant His blessing He confers, filling to brim
the empty ones.
By constant meditation on the Lord is the mind with content filled.
Such in service to the holy Preceptor engage
As in primal Time such fortune are granted. (6)

Sloka

Lāgṛī sūthān joṛanhārai joṛīyā

At the right place[5] is my devotion fixed—
This by the Lord, maker of union is brought about.
Saith Nanak : Amid millions of impulses[6] in mind arising,
The Divine Beloved from sinking saves me. (1)

Sloka

In the frightful forest[7] have I found in the Name Divine a friend.
Saith Nanak : To the beloved holy Guru am I a sacrifice, who my objectives[8] has fulfilled. (2)

---

1. Lit. Thorn.
2. Have died.
3. Difficult to cross.
4. Transmigration is implied.
5. That is, in God.
6. Lit. Waves.
7. Implies the world.
8. Spiritual objectives are meant.

Pauri (Stanza)
By absorption in love of Thee are obtained all treasures.
By contemplation of Thee is one saved all regrets.
None can equal the devotee come under Thy shelter.
Blessed be the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Whose contemplation brings joy.
With the Master lies treasure of merit, that by good fortune[1] is obtained.
As by the glance of the holy Preceptor's grace is man blessed,
Man rushes not around again.[2]
The compassionate Lord protects those whom in His service He engages.
In listening to the Name Divine find I life. (7)

Sloka

Prem paṭolā Tain Sheh dittā ḍhakkan̲ kū pati metī

Thou, Divine Bridegroom, the silken scarf of Thy love hast granted, P. 520
To protect[3] my honour.
Saith Nanak : All-wise and all-seeing art Thou, Master—
Thy reality beyond knowing by me. (1)

Sloka

By contemplation of Thee all boons have I obtained—
Nothing find I unattainable.[4]
Saith nanak : The honour of whosoever the eternal Lord protects,
None can ruin.[5] (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hovai sūkhu ghan̲ā Dayi dhiyāīyai

In meditation on the Lord lies joy abounding.
By chanting Divine praise vanish swarms of maladies.
As enters the Lord the mind, content pervades it.
As is the Name Divine lodged in heart,
Are all objectives fulfilled.
As is the ego discarded, no impediment intervenes.

1. By Karma : Good fortune made through good deeds is implied.
2. Implies cessation of transmigration.
3. Cover, veil (V).
4. Hard.
5. Efface.

The boon of enlightenment and realization,
from the Master is obtained.
All boons obtain such as by the Lord are blessed.
Thou art the Master of all—all under Thy shelter lie. (8)

Sloka

Nadī tarandaṛī mdinḍā khoju na khūmbhai manjhi mūhabbati Terī

Swimming on the stream in Thy love,
Are my feet not stuck.
Lord ! To Thy feet is my heart attached :
The Lord to Nanak is raft and boat. (1)

Sloka

Such alone are our true friends, by sight of whom our foul thinking vanishes.
Saith Nanak : servant of God : Over the world have I sought—
Rare are such. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āwai sāhibu chitti teriyāṇ bhagtāṇ ḍiṭṭhiyāṇ

At sight of Thy devotees comes recollection of the Lord.
By abiding in holy company is annulled impurity of mind.
By contemplation of the saint's word
Is banished terror of birth and death.
As by God's devotees are bonds loosened,
Vanish all minions of evil.
To Him in devotion they unite us,
Who of all existence is prop.
Highest above all, inaccessible, endless in His station.
Day and night[1] with hands folded,
With each breath on Him meditate.
As comes His grace,[2] is holy company attained. (9)

Sloka

Bāri wiḍānaṛai hūmmas dhūmmas kūkāṇ paīyāṇ rāhiṇ

In this alien wilderness is great hubhub and shrieking along the path.
Saith Nanak : With our string of love attached to Thee, Lord !
With joy is this forest traversed. (1)

---

1. Night and day.
2. As He becomes gracious.

Sloka

Such alone is holy company wherein is inspired contemplation of the holy Name.
Saith Nanak : Seek not the company of such
As in self-interest are involved. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sā velā parwāṉu jitu Satiguru bhetiyā

Blessed is the hour wherein is met the holy Preceptor.
In company with the holy one falls not into grip of suffering.
Then is attained the immutable station,
And one to birth is not subjected.[1]
In this state is beheld by the eyes the sole Lord, pervading all.
Whatever by the tongue be uttered, make that the utterance of devotion.
By realization of the Divine Ordinance[2] pure joy you obtain.
Those entered into the Divine treasury after testing,
Nevermore are branded spurious. (10)

Sloka

Vichhohei zambūr khavei na wanjani gākhaṛei

Tortures of separation are like terrible pincers, unbearable.
Saith Nanak : Union with the Lord brings veritably all joys. (1)

Sloka

Earth on water rests; in fuel rests fire. P. 521
Saith Nanak : Love you the Lord who is support of all. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Terei kītei kamm Tūdhai-hī gocharei

What Thou dost, by Thee alone can be performed.
What Thou in primal time hast ordained,
Happens in the world.
At sight of Thy might[3] with great wonder are we struck.
Thy servant on Thy shelter has fallen !
Shouldst Thou so ordain, liberation I may get.
In Thy hand lies the treasure,[4] that Thou mayst grant to whomsoever Thou mayst please.
To whomsoever Thou showest grace,
The Name Divine utters.
Inaccessible, unknowable, beyond extent,

1. That is, escapes transmigration.
2. Hukam.
3. Kudrat (Qudrat).
4. Implies devotion.

Unattainable Thy limit.
To whomsoever Thou showest grace,
On Thy Name meditates. (11)

Sloka

Kaṛchhīyāṇ phiranni sūwao na jāṉani sūnnīyāṇ

Ladies moving in food, know not its taste, remaining empty.
May I behold only such faces, saith Nanak,
As in joy of devotion are absorbed. (1)

Sloka

From the Tracker[1] learnt I traces of beasts[2] which ruined my crop.
Lord ! be the hedge erected by Thee in the field not destroyed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Ārādhihu sacchā soi sabhu kichhu jis pāsi

Contemplate with devotion the holy Eternal who is master of all.
The Lord in an instant makes this life and the next[3] fruitful.
All devices discard; His shelter you take.
To His shelter rush, and find supreme joy.
In holy company are attained meritorious deeds, righteousness and realization of the Essence.
By contemplation of the Name ambrosial no impediments occur.
To whomsoever He shows grace, in his self He gets lodged.
By grace of the Lord are all treasures obtained. (12)

Sloka

Laddhamu labbhaṉhāru karam karandei mā Pirī

By grace of the Beloved is found what is most worthy of attainment.
Saith Nanak : Besides one sole Creator, no other is visible. (1)

Sloka

By aiming the arrow of truth, are vanquished sins.
The Master's teaching contemplate :
Thus, saith Nanak, shall suffering not visit you. (2)

1. Image for the Preceptor.
2. This is implied. Stands for evil tendencies.
3. Both ends.

Pauri (Stanza)

Wāhu wāhu Sirjaṉhār pāīyanu ṭhānḍhi āpi

Hail the Creator who Himself joys confers.
To all creation is He gracious—Him contemplate ever.
As the Almighty grace has shown, ended is all wailing,
By the protective power of the Master perfectly-endowed,
Are all fevers, pain and maladies fled.
The Lord, cherisher of the humble, who made creation,
Himself has succoured it.
Himself has He liberated all, snapping their bonds.
Assuaged is thirst, fulfilled desires,
And with content the mind filled.
Greater than the greatest is the Lord,
Who by good and evil is not touched.[1] (13)

Sloka

Jā kau bhaye kripāl Prabh Hari Hari seī japāt

Such alone contemplate the Lord as have on them Divine grace.
Saith Nanak : For the Lord have they formed devotion,
As holy company they have joined. (1)

Sloka

Ye fortunate ones ! to the Lord be devoted, who land and water pervades.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Lord no impediment intervenes.

Pauri (Stanza)

Bhagtāṉ kā boliyā parwaṉu hai Dargah pawai thāeṉ

The word of devotees is approved of God—
At the Divine Portal finding acceptance.
Thy devotees in the holy Name absorbed, under Thy shelter abide.
To whomsoever He shows grace, gone is his suffering.
Compassionate Lord ! to Thy devotees art Thou gracious. P. 522
Such by suffering, pain, the great malady[2] and Maya are not touched,
Of devotees the prop is singing Divine laudation.
Ever day and night on the Supreme Lord they meditate.

---

1 Covered (as with plaster).
2. Implies pride (ahamkar).

Quaffing amrita of the Name, your devotees by the Name are fulfilled. (14)

Sloka

Koti bighan tisu lāgatei jisnoṇ visrai Nāuṇ

Millions of impediments afflict one that of the Name is forgetful.
Such, saith Nanak, wail ever as raven in house deserted. (1)

Sloka

Pleasing is the season in which occurs union with the Beloved.
Saith Nanak : Contemplate Him ever—
Be He not forgotten for an hour, an instant even. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sūrbīr wariyām kinhai na hoṛiyai

The five evils a powerful stubborn horde, have assembled,
That by no hero or brave fighter is turned back.
Even to anchorites are ten women[1] attached,
Whom overcoming, to themselves they join them—
Such has been their objective.
All creation by Three Qualities[2] characterized, to them is subject—
Noway can these be repudiated.
The citadel of illusion with moat of Maya—how may it be breached ?
By devotion to the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Is this stubborn hoard vanquished.
Day and night for this, before the Lord with folded hands I pray.[3] (15)

Sloka

Kilvikh sabbhei üttarani nīt nīt güṉa gāo

By constantly singing Divine praise are all sins annulled.
Saith Nanak : In being forgetful of the Name arise millions of torments. (1)

Sloka

Saith Nanak : By contact with the Master is the true device of living perfected.
In a life of smiling playfulness, enjoyment of wear and food,
Is attained liberation. (2)

---

1. The ten sources of sensation and knowledge.
2. See Glossary.
3. Remain (standing).

Pauri (Stanza)

So Satiguru dhan-dhannu jini bharam-gaṛh toṛiyā

Blessed is the holy Preceptor, who the citadel of illusion has smashed.
Hail the holy Preceptor who to the Lord has united me.
Of the inexhaustible holy Name,
The medicine the Master administers.
Thereby are malignant, tormenting maladies
from the body torn off.
The wealth of the Name, source of numerous treasures is found,
Thereby is realized the self, and eternal life achieved.
Beyond expression is praise of the Lord almighty—
Of the Divine Master, Supreme Being, Supreme Lord,
Beyond limit, inaccessible, of impenetrable mystery. (16)

Sloka

Ūddamu kareindiyāṉ jīo tūṇ kamāvandiyāṇ sūkh bhūnchu

My self ! in joy abide by endeavouring and working in the way of God.
By meditation obtain union with the Lord :
Thus, saith Nanak, shall thy anxiety be removed. (1)

Sloka

May I engage ever in holy contemplation and devotion to the Lord,
In holy, purifying company.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord ! show Thy grace that even for a brief hour[1] may the Name be not caste out of my mind. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Terā kītā hoe taṇ kāhei ḍarpīyai

When all by Thee is brought about, why have any fear ?
It beholves us life we dedicate to him in whose company
the Name we contemplate.
As enters the Lord our heart, is felt joy beyond count.
Who can overawe one on whose side is the Lord ?
All under His power lies—nothing outside of it.
In the heart of devotees is He lodged;
Through truth pervading them.
Thy servants on Thee meditate—Thou their Protector.
Over all art Thou Lord—by Thy glance of grace bringing them joy. (17) P. 523

1. Ghari (a period of twenty-four minutes).

Sloka

Kāma krodh mad lobh moha dūshṭ bāsnā nivār

Pray remove our lust, intoxication of wrath,
Avarice, attachment and evil desires.
Lord ! save Thy servants—may Nanak to Thee be ever a sacrifice. (1)

Sloka

In eating is man's mouth worn off; in wearing clothes all his limbs.
Saith Nanak : Cursed is the life of such as to truth are not attached. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jiūṇ jiūṇ Terā Hukamu tiwaiṇ tiūṇ havaṉā

As runs Thy Ordinance, so shall all happen.
Wherever Thou dost place us, we abide.[1]
By devotion to Thy Name is false thinking washed off.
Formless Lord[2] ! by contemplation of Thee are cast off illusion and fear.
Those absorbed in Thy devotion in transmigration[3]
are not yoked;
With their eyes, within and without One Sole Reality they behold.
Those realizing the Divine Ordinance never into sorrow fall.
Saith Nanak : To them is granted boon of the Name,
That in their heart they string. (18)

Sloka

Jīvandiyān na chetiyo mūā ralandaṛo khāk

While living, man has contemplated not the Lord—
After death with dust he mingles.
Saith Nanak : The reprobate,[4] thoughtless and foul,
His life involved in the world, has passed. (1)

Sloka

God's devotees in life the Lord have contemplated;
In death too in devotion to the Lord have abided.
Saith Nanak : The blessing of birth in holy company have they brought to fruition.[5] (2)

1. Stand.
2. Nirankar.
3. Birth.
4. Sakta.
5. Made to swim (saved from sinking).

Pauri (Stanza)

Ādi jūgādī āpi rakkhaṉwāliyā

Since primal time and since the beginning of Ages[1]
art Thou the succourer.
The Creator's holy Name, His truth everywhere is pervasive.
No spot of Him is emptied; each vessel He fills.
The Lord compassionate, almighty, Himself righteous endeavour inspires.
Ever joyous are those in whose heart is He lodged.
Raising creation Himself, He cherishes it.
His is all might—Himself without extent or limit.
By seeking shelter with the Master, perfectly-endowed,
The Lord have I contemplated. (19)

Sloka

Adi maddhi aru anti Parameshari rakkhiyā

In the beginning, in intervening time and till the end,
Has the Lord preserved us.
The holy Preceptor the Name to me has granted,
Whereby amrita I have tasted.
Whoever in company of the holy day after day
The limitless Divine attributes utters,
All objectives achieves, and from wandering in transmigration is exempt.
All lies in the Creator's hand; making of causes[2] with Him lies.
Nanak begs in charity that by dust of the feet of devotees liberation he may gain.[3] (1)

Sloka

Him in thy heart lodge, who created thee :
All those that on the Lord have meditated, joy have obtained.
Of the God-directed[4] the birth is fruitful, approved.
The Lord so has ordained that any realizing and knowing the Ordinanee,[5]
Bliss must attain.
On whomsoever falls His grace, delusion escapes.
Such in whatever the Lord has granted, feel joy.

1. Yugas.
2. Implies the way effects are brought to pass, and objective fulfilled.
3. Swim across.
4. Gurumukh.
5. Hukam.

Saith Nanak : The Divine friend, on whomsoever falls His grace,
To him realization of the Ordinance grants.
Whomsoever forgetful of Himself He makes,
Perpetually dies and take birth. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nindak mārei tatkāli khinu ṭikaṉ na dittei

Calumniators of the holy has He instantly destroyed;
For a moment are they not allowed to last.
The Lord bears not suffering of His devotee—
So his calumniators to transmigration are yoked;
By the tuft on the forehead are they thrown down, P. 524
On Yama's path cast;
In agony wailing, into deepest hell lying.
Saith Nanak : The holy Lord His devotees to His bosom[1] clasps and preserves. (20)

Sloka

Rāmu japhu waḍ-bhagīho jali thali pūranu soe

You that are blessed with great good fortune,
contemplate God,
Who over land and water is pervasive.
Saith Nanak : By meditation on the Name occurs no impediment. (1)

Sloka

Millions of impediments cling to one who of the Name is forgetful.
Saith Nanak : Such day after day wail as raven in house deserted. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Simari simar Dātār manorath pūriyā

By contemplation of the Provider are all objectives achieved.
Fulfilled are desires and objectives, gone are sorrows.
Achieved is treasure of the Name, that was sought.
The devotee's light with the Divine Light merged, ended is his travail.
Into the home of such are lodged spontaneous joy and bliss;
Their transmigration ended, birth and death touches them not.

1. Neck.

In such state appear the Lord and the devotee identical.[1]
By grace of the Master is Nanak in holy Truth absorbed. (21.12)
(Found correct)*

In the Measure Gujari—Quartet from the Venerable Kabir
Bani of Bhaktas
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Chāri pānw due sing güng mükh tab kaisei güna gaīhai

When four-footed art thou, with two horns and dumb of month,
How then shalt sing Divine praise ?
As at every movement a rod's blow on thee falls,
Where shalt thou hide thy head ? (1)
To be without the Lord is to be a stray[2] ox—
Nostrils torn, shoulders battered, eating coarse straw. (I-Pause)
With wandering in the forest the whole day, its belly still not filled[3]
One not following advice of God's devotees, the retribution of deeds gets. (2)
Feeling pain and pleasure, in the mighty illusion[4] sunk,
In innunerable births the creature wanders :
Wasting his birth's jewel, of the Lord forgetful—when again shall he get this opportunity[5] ? (3)
Like the oil-presser's bullock[6] he wanders along;
Without liberation his life's night passed.
Saith Kabir : Without devotion to the Name Divine,
His hair[7] shall he pluck, and be full of regrets. (4) (1)

In the Measure Gujari—Quartet from the Venerable Kabir
SCORE 3

Müsi müsi rowai Kabir kī māī

In silent sobs weeps Kabir's mother, crying :
Lord ! how shall these children live[8] ! (1)

---

1. That is, the devotee is completely merged in the Lord.
* Note : This direction Shuddha is in the original text.
2. Without an owner, one that in old age is let off to wander.
3. (Thought of 'Pause' continued here).
4. Maya is meant.
5. That is, human birth.
6. (The oil-presser's bullock moves but traverses no distance. Kapi is explicated as bullock).
7. Head.
8. That is, in the absence of any occupation by Kabir, after taking to devotion.

Stretching of yarn and weaving has Kabir all discarded;
Only God's Name on his self has he recorded. (I-Pause)
While through the bobbins the yarn I pass,[1]
The Lord, my true friend, is forgotten. (2)
Shallow is my understanding, my caste a weaver's :
The Name Divine my sole profit. (3)
Saith Kabir : Listen, mother mine !
The Lord is Provider of myself and these my children. (4) (2)

In the Measure Gujari—Composition of the Venerable Namdev P. 525

Couplets

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jau rāj dehi tā kavan waḍāī

Shouldst Thou confer on me royalty, what merit in that lies ?
Should it please Thee to make me go begging,
what lose I thereby ? (1)
My self ! be thou devoted to the Lord, and the state transcending Maya attain :
Thus shalt thou not enter transmigration thereafter. (I-Pause)
All creation hast Thou raised, and in illusion involved.
On whomsoever grace Thou dost shower, realization gains. (2)
By contact[2] with the holy Preceptor is lifted doubt.
Whom else may I worship—none other is visible. (3)
To one slab of stone is directed devotion;
On another are feet placed.
If one is a deity, so is the other too.
Saith Namdev : In serving the Lord alone are we engaged. (4) (1)

Malai na lāchhai pārmalo parmalīyo baiṭho rī āyee

To Him attaches no impurity nor sticks it to Him :
Like fragrance of incense in the self is He settled.
Sister[3] ! none has seen Him come-none of Him has knowledge. (1)
Who can claim the Lord to have known ?
Sister[3] ! beyond ties of family is He. (I-Pause)
As in the sky can a bird not be seen;
As in water is not visible the fish's path;

1. In this and subsequent lines is expressed Kabir's thought.
2. Meeting.
3. Bāi in Marathi, Marathi was the language of Sri Namdev.

As the vessel of the sky is full of mirage, that is not visible—
So to Nama's Lord Bithal[1] are applicable
All three similes. (3) (2)

In the Measure Gujari—Couplets of the Venerable Ravidas

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Düdhu ta bachhrai thanuh biṭāriyo

From the teats is milk sucked by the calf;
The flower by the humming-bee, and water by the fish is made impure. (1)
Mother ! from what objects worship should I offer to the Lord ?
Other flowers for the Lord beyond
Compare I attain not. (I-Pause)
The Malyagiri mount of sandalwood by snakes is girdled around—
In close proximity lie poison and amrita. (2)
Incense, lamp-light and food-offerings—
How may the devotee worship you ? (3)
So must I give away my mind and body and make offering of these.
Thus by the Master's grace the immaculate Lord may
I obtain. (4)
Beyond my power is it to offer worship and reverence to Thee :
Saith Ravidas, what shall my end be ? (5) (1)

In the Measure Gujari—Couplets of the Venerable Trilochan

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Antaru mali nirmalu nahīṇ kīnā bāhari bhekh udāsī

Within the heart lies impurity, uncleansed;
Outwardly is assumed anchorite's[2] garb,
In the lotus of the heart, in the self is the Supreme Being not realized—
What good such a one renouncing the world[3] ? (1)
Listen Jai Chand[4] ! in illusion is the world lost,

1. Vishnu (God) in the Marathi of Namdev.
2. Udāsi.
3. Turning Sannyasi.
4. Name of the interlocutor, a Brahmin.

Not realizing the Lord, source of supreme joy. (I-Pause)
Such false anchorites from various houses beg food that they eat, P. 526
Their bellies distended;
Their patched cloak and earrings a fraud.
Ashes from cremation-ground on their body they smear—
Without guidance of the Master, of the Essence remaining ignorant. (2)
Listen mankind ! what good your uttering texts, your austerities—
Why churn water ?
Contemplate the immaculate Lord who the entire creation[1] has raised. (3)
Wearers of ascetic garbs ! why keep in hand the begging-bowel ?
Why wander over sixty-eight tirthas[2] ?
Saith Trilochan, listen thou creature of God :
Why tread straw empty of grain ? (4) (1)

Anti kāli jo lachhmī simrai aisī chintā mehṇ jo marai

Whoever at the last moment brings to mind wealth,[3]
And in such contemplation dies,
Again and again as a snake shall incarnate. (1)
Sister ! be not unmindful of the Name Divine. (I-Pause)
Whoever at the last moment brings to mind woman,
And in such contemplation dies,
Again and again as a harlot shall incarnate. (2)
Whoever at the last moment brings to mind progeny,
And in such contemplation dies,
Again and again as a pig shall incarnate. (3)
Whoever at the last moment brings to mind his house,
And in such contemplation dies,
Again and again as a goblin shall incarnate. (4)
Whoever at the last moment brings to mind the Lord,
And in such contemplation dies,
Saith Trilochan, liberated shall be—
The Lord[4] in his heart abiding. (5) (2)

---

1. Eighty-four lakh species.
2. (A thirtha is a sacred bathing-spot).
3. Lachhmi (Lakshmi).
4. Pitambar (yellow-robed), an attributive name of Vishnu, here symbolizing God.

In the Measure Gujari—Couplets of Sri Jaideva*

SCORE 4

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Parmādi pürakh manopimam satti ādi bhāva ratam

In the beginning was the primal Purusha, beyond compare,
Who in truth is immersed.
Supremely wonderful, transcending creation;
When contemplated, to all He grants liberation. (1)
The Sole Name Divine in your heart cherish.
Utter the Name ambrosial, essence of all existence,
By which torments not death, nor occurs birth,[1]
old age or fear of death. (I-Pause)
Whoever seeks Yama and his minions to discomfit,
The Lord must laud, offer Him obeisance and perform good deeds.
In the present, past and future is the Lord immutable
The supreme joy. (2)
Whoever wishes good deeds to perform,
Must discard looking at the world with avarice and eyes full of lust;
Must also discard all evil-doing and evil-thinking,
And seek shelter with the Lord of the Disc.[2] (3)
Solely the Lord's devotion you perform with heart purified, deed and word :
What good is yoga, sacrifices, charities and austerities ? (4)
Thou man ! utter solely the Lord's Name,[3]
That all success brings.
Jaidev has manifestly come in His presence
Who in the present and past has conferred liberation. (5) (1)

---

* Note : Jaidev was a court poet in Bengal in the twelfth century. He was author of the famous Gita Govinda (The Song Celestial) in Sanskrit. In the present hymn too the language is Prakrit.

1. Implies transmigration.
2. Vishnu, here implying God.
3. Gobind, Gobind.

RAGA DEVGANDHARI

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, P. 527
Reality Eternal, Creator Immanent, Without Fear, Without Rancour.
Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-existent,
By the holy Preceptor's grace realized.

In the Measure Devgandhari—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 1

Sevak jana banei Thākūr liv lāgei

Those that take to the Lord's service, to Him are entirely devoted.
Those that by the wisdom granted by the Master utter your praise,
Fortune on their foreheads is inscribed. (I-Pause)
Those that to the Master are deeply devoted, snapped are their Maya-bonds.
The Master of ravishing aspect our heart has attracted—
As sight of Him are we struck with wonder. (1)
Over the entire night of life was I asleep in darkness of ignorance—
By a particle of the Master's grace was I awakened.
The Lord of Nanak, your servant, is beautiful in extreme.
None to me appears like you. (2) (1)

Mero Sūndaru kahuh milai kitu galī

Tell me, devotees of God ! in what lane[1]
Shall the Divine Beloved, supremely beautiful be met ?
Devotees of God ! show the way; I follow the way
after you. (I-Pause)
The words of the Beloved are joy-giving to the heart—
Pleasing is this way of life :

1. Symbolizing the way or path of devotion.

Be the woman[1] of bent back[2] or short of height—
By devotion to the Lord is she made beautiful,
And with the Lord finds heart's union. (1)
One sole Lord is of the sister-devotees[3] of the Beloved—
She alone is noble that pleases Him.
What more can the poor, humble Nanak do ?
He traverses the path that pleases the Lord. (2) (2)

Merei mana mūkhi Hari Hari Hari bolīyai

My self ! by thy tongue[4] utter again and again,[5] the Lord.
By the Master's guidance am I dyed deep red[6]—
By the Lord is my garment[7] in Divine devotion drenched. (I-Pause)
In love of the Divine Beloved I wander about distracted, upset in mind.
A humble slave[8] shall I be to whoever with the Beloved grants me union. (1)
The holy Preceptor, exalted being I propitiate,
That amrita, distilled[9] pure I quaff.
By the Master's grace has the servant Nanak found the Lord—
By rummaging through the self is the Lord attained. (2) (3)

Ab ham chalī Thakūr peh hāri

Exhausted, to the Lord now I make resort.
Now that to the Lord's shelter I have come,
Save me or ruin[10] me as be Thy pleasure (I-Pause)
The world's cleverness and praise in fire have I burnt. P. 528
Call me any, good or bad—to the Lord my self have I dedicated. (1)
Lord ! whoever under your shelter comes, in your grace you save him.
Nanak, servant of God, to your shelter has come.
Lord[11] ! his honour protect. (2) (4)

---

1. Symbolizing the devotee.
2. Also, of dishevelled hair.
3. Usual symbol for seekers.
4. Mouth.
5. (Hari repeated in this line).
6. Symbolizing devotion.
7. More exactly the female bodice—symbolizing the self.
8. Slaves' slave.
9. (Shaken with hand to scatter impurities).
10. Destroy, kill.
11. (Murari, a periphrastic name of Krishna, symbolizing God).

Hari gūṇa gāwai hauṇ tisu balihārī

A sacrifice am I to whoever Divine laudation utters.
By sight of the devotee of God, the Master, find I life,
In whose heart abides the Name Divine.[1] (I-Pause)
Lord, Master ! holy, immaculate are you—
How may we, defiled ones with you find union ?
On our tongue and in our heart run contrary thoughts—
We that are unfortunate, false. (1)
Outwardly we bear sign of the Lord's Name—
In our heart we bear evil, as evil-doers.
Keep us, Lord ! as be your will :
Nanak your servant on your shelter has fallen. (2) (5)

Hari kei Nām binā sūndari hai nakṭī

The woman devoid of devotion to the Name Divine,
Even though comely, is hideous :[2]
Should a harlot bear a son, still would he be called illegitimate. (I-Pause)
Those bearing not the Lord in heart
Are deformed, leprous.
Someone uninstructed by the Master, however much he chatter,
At the Divine Portal is reckoned impure. (1)
Passionately in love with the feet of such of the holy am I,
As the Lord's pleasure have won.
Saith Nanak : Even the fallen by holy company
are purified :
By the glance of grace of the holy Preceptor
Find they liberation. (2) (6)

(Canto of six hymns—Chhakka Closes 1)*

In the Measure Devgandhari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Māī Gurucharnī chittu lāīyai

Mother mine ! let the heart in devotion to the Master's feet be fixed :

1. Murari (see note ante).
2. With nose chopped off.
* Note : Direction in the original. Chhaka is a group of six poems.

As by grace of the Lord is the heart's lotus illumined,
Ever on the Lord shall it meditate. (I-Pause)
Within and without abides the sole Lord,
In all beings pervasive.
In all places, accessible and inaccessible,
Is the Lord, perfection incarnate, present and visible. (1)
Numberless of Thy devotees and sages laud Thee,
Yet noway find Thy extent.
Lord, bestower of joy, shatterer of suffering,
Thy servant Nanak ever to thee is a sacrifice. (2) (1)

Māī hon-hār so hoīyai

Mother mine ! that which must be, shall inevitably come to pass.
The Lord raises His creation :
Therein is alternation of[1] gain and loss. (I-Pause)
In one place with delight is man puffed; elsewhere fallen into sorrow;
Laughing is one place, wailing in another.
Some time is he soiled with impurity of pride;
Elsewhere in holy company is it washed. (1)
None the Lord's doing can efface—none other than
He is visible.
Saith Nanak : To the Master am I a sacrifice,
By whose grace one in joyful security sleeps. (2) (2)

Māī sūnat soch bhay ḍarat

Mother mine ! listening to accounts of life after death P. 529
Am I filled with anxiety and fear.
So, thoughts of mine and thine and pride I discard,
And with the Lord seek shelter. (I-Pause)
Whatever be His command, that I obey as good,
Uttering not a word of demurring.
For an instant even is He not put away from my heart—
Such forgetfulness to me is death. (1)
The Lord Creator, perfection incarnate, is bestower of joy;
Much of my childish folly He overlooks.
Nanak ! devoid of merit, foul of aspect, of low lineage am I—Incarnation of joy the Divine Spouse. (2) (3)

---

1. (In one place is gain, in another loss).

Mana Hari-kīrati kari sadahūṇ

My self ! ever Divine laudation utter.
It liberates whoever sings it, listens to it, utters it,
Be he of high caste or low. (I-Pause)
Wherever this body I assumed, life everlasting was to it not granted.
From that which it arose, into that was it absorbed,
As came realization of the mortal state.[1] (1)
As came the Lord's grace, came to me joy,
And shattered were fear and doubt.
Saith Nanak : By discarding of avarice in holy company
Were my objectives[2] fulfilled. (2) (4)

Mana jīo apune Prabh bhāvou

My self ! act thou by what to me the Lord's favour may win :
Becoming humblest of the humble,[3] small, meek
Him I may invoke. (I-Pause)
May I withdraw attachment from numerous Maya-shows;
That thus I may obtain exaltation by what to the Lord is pleasing. (1)
Becoming dust of feet of God's devotees, becoming slave of their slaves,
Them may I serve.
All joy and exaltation, saith Nanak,
In this lies that I may find life in uttering the Lord's Name. (2) (5)

Prabhjī Tau prasādi bhramu ḍāriyo

Holy Lord ! by your grace is my doubt cast off;
By your grace too has it entered my mind
That all are my friends. (I-Pause)
By Thy service are effaced millions of sins;
By Thy sight is removed suffering.
By utterance of the Name is attained the supreme joy,
And the torment of anxiety cast off. (1)
In holy company are forgotten lust, wrath, avarice, falsehood and slander.
The Treasure of Grace my Maya-bonds has snapped,
Who Himself to Nanak has granted liberation. (2) (6)

1. Lines transposed in rendering.
2. Spiritual objectives are implied.
3. Gharib (poor).

Mana sagal siyānap rahī

Defeated are clever devices of mind :
Nanak has sought shelter with the Lord, Supreme Doer of all happenings. (I-Pause)
Effacing the ego, on His shelter have we fallen—
Such wisdom the holy to me have imparted.
By accepting the Lord's command have we obtained joy,
And darkness of illusion cast off. (1)
Lord ! knowing you to be repository of all enlightenment,
Your shelter have I grasped.
You who in an instant make and unmake,
Unknowable is the extent[1] of your might. (2) (7)

Hari prān Prabhu sükh-dātei

Lord, Master of life ! bestower of joy !
By the Master's grace have rare seekers realized you. (I-Pause)
Your devotees that are beloved of you, from death are immune.[2]
In love of you are they dyed red,[3]
With joy of the Name Divine intoxicated. (1)
Lord ! by your glance are destroyed mighty sins, millions of evils and maladies. P. 530
Nanak fallen at the Master's feet,
In sleeping and waking has the Lord's praise chanted. (2) (8)

So Prabhu jat kat pekhiyo naiṇī

Everywhere with my eyes have I beheld the Lord—
The Lord, bestower of joy, of life, whose utterance is all amrita. (I-Pause)
The holy my darkness of ignorance have annulled;
The Master the gift of true life granted.
In your grace as your owu have you made us;
From the state of burning have we become cool.[4] (1)
From my efforts have arisen neither good actions or performance of ritual obligations[5] nor pure deeds.
Discarding clever devices and formal restraints,
Has Nanak at the Master's feet fallen. (2) (9)

1. Value (Qīm = qīmat)
2. Are not consumed by death.
3. 'Red' is symbol of deep love.
4. Implies joyful.
5. Dharma.

Hari Rāma-Nām japi lāhā

In nttering the Name Divine lies true gain :
One thereby obtains liberation, spontaneous joy and bliss;
And snapped are Yama's nooses. (I-Pause)
After prolonged search my mind it crossed,
The Lord with the holy abides :
To such is this treasure available as in their destiny have it recorded.[1] (1)
Such alone are supremely fortunate, honourable and truly wealthy.
Saith Nanak : Such alone are truly endowed with pleasing aspect,
As in the Name Divine have held commerce. (2) (10)

Mana kah ahankāri aphārā

My self ! why with pride art swollen ?
Within the body what lies is foul-smelling, impure, unholy;
All that is visible is destined to be ashes. (I-Pause)
Thou creature of God ! contemplate Him who made thee,
And on breath Thy life has propped.
Thoughtless, unwise man ! by discarding Him,
And to any other object forming attachment,
Into transmigration[2] shalt thou fall. (1)
Lord, protector of all ! save man, who is blind, dumb, maimed, unwise.
He is Doer of all, is almighty—
What is poor Nanak, a mere creature ? (2) (11)

So Prabhu nerai hūṇ tei nerai

Nearer than the nearest to us is the Lord.
Day and night, morning and evening,
Contemplate the Lord, on Him meditate, His laudation chant. (I-Pause)
In holy company by uttering the Name Divine,
For your life[3] hard to attain, seek liberation.
Herein delay not for an hour, a minute, an instant—
Death all the time has you in sight. (1)
Lord Creator ! from the dark cavern extricate me—
What is beyond your power[4] ?

1. Destiny made by deeds (karma) of earlier births is implied.
2. Die and be born.
3. Body.
4. What is it that is not in your house ?

Grant to Nanak prop of the Name,
That to him may bring multiple bliss and joy. (2) (12)

Second Canto of six (Chhakka) closes*

Mana Guru mili Nāmu arādhiyo

My self ! in the Master's company to the Name hast thou been devoted :
Thus hast thou attained joy, bliss in poise, felicity and delight,
And planted the root of eternal life. (I-Pause)
In His grace the Lord His servant has made me,
And the Maya-bonds snapped.
Then in loving devotion Divine laudation have I chanted,
And Yama's path repudiated. (1)
As came grace, removed is rust and the invaluable substance attained.[1]
Nanak to the inaccessible, fathomless is a sacrifie million-fold.[2] (2) (13)

Māī jo Prabh kei gūna gāwai

Mother mine ! whoever Divine laudation chants, P. 531
Is fruitful, fulfilled his life,
And to the Supreme Being with full mind devoted.[3] (I-Pause)
One attaining holy company is truly beautiful, wise, heroic and enlightened :
He who by his tongue the Name Divine utters,
Nevermore into transmigration[4] falls. (1)
Into his consciousness is pervasive the Supreme Being,
perfection incarnate—
Nothing else his gaze enters.
The malady of hell attaches not to one
Whom God's devotee to himself[5] attaches. (2) (14)

Chanchalu sūpnai hī ūrjhāiyo

The restless mind of man in the dream-like world
is totally involved—
Realizing not that departure some day must occur,
In restless attachment to Maya.[6] (I-Pause)

---

* Note : Direction in the original text. (Chhakka) see note, ante.
1. The imagery is from revealing precious meales by rubbing off the rust.
2. Lakh (a hundred thousand).
3. Liv in the original implies devotion to the exclusion of all else.
4. Birth, incarnation.
5. Lit. To his sash.
6. Lit. Is grown restless after Maya.

Endeavouring to obtain poison,[1] in the evanescent delight of flowers of pleasure is he absorbed :
Wherever word of avarice he hears, his heart delights,
And thither rushes. (1)
After long wandering am I exhausted, and at the door of the holy arrived.
In His grace the Lord, Supreme Being,
Into Himself has absorbed Nanak. (2) (15)

Sarb sūkhā Guru-charnā

All joys at the Master's feet lie :
Annullers of sin, purifiers of the self are these—
By their support seek I liberation.[2] (I-Pause)
Serving at the Master's feet is my worship, holy sprinkling[3] and obeisance.
Thereby is the mind in bloom, is illumined,
And one again enters not the womb.[4] (1)
My meditation on the holy, fulfillers of objectives, is fixed—
That their touch I obtain.
By grace of the Lord[5] has Nanak sought shelter with the holy. (2) (16)

Apūnei Hari peh binatī kahīyai

Before the Lord lay[6] your supplication—
Thereby obtain the four Boons,[7] bliss, treasure of felicity,
Spontaneous joy and miraculous powers.[8] (I-Pause)
Discarding pride, to the Lord's feet be attached;
The Lord's lappet you grasp.[9]
To escape burning by the ocean of fire,
The Lord's shelter grasp. (1)
Millions of sins of the mightily ungrateful,
Again and again the Lord overlooks.
With the Supreme Lord, gracious, perfection incarnate,
Has Nanak sought shelter. (2) (17)

---

1. Used figuratively.
2. To swim across.
3. Archa.
4. That is, is freed from transmigration.
5. As the Lord has shown grace.
6. State.
7. These are : Dharma, Artha (wealth), Kama (fulfilment of desires), Moksha (liberation).
8. Used here figuratively.
9. That is, seek His shelter.

Guru kei charan ridai parvesā

As in the heart have the Master's feet taken abode,
Shattered are all maladies, sorrows, suffering,
And vanished all afflictions. (I-Pause)
By this do sins of multiple births vanish, .
And is obtained merit of millions of holy dips and baths.
Also in this state is obtaied treasure of the Name by chanting Divine laudation,
And the self in spontaneous meditation fixed. (1)
By His grace has the Lord made me His slave;
Snapping my bonds, has He emancipated me.
In uttering constantly the Name and Thy Word find I life—
To Thee is Nanak, Thy slave, a sacrifice. (2) (18)

(Third Canto of Six closes)*

Māī Prabh kei charan nihāroun̩

Mother mine ! may I have sight of the Lord's feet.
Lord ! show Thy grace that never may I put these away
from my mind. (I-Pause)
May I smear my forehead with dust of feet of the holy; P. 532
The poison of lust and wrath burn away.
Be this my joy, that humblest of all I reckon myself. (1)
In chanting praise of the Lord eternal
All my sins may I shed.
May I, saith Nanak, obtain treasure of the Name,
That clasping to my bosom[1] in my heart I may wear. (2) (19)

Prabh jīo pekhoun̩ darasu Tūmārā

Lord ! may I obtain sight of you.
May I day and night on your beautiful figure meditate—
Dearer than self and life. (I-Pause)
Shastras, Vedas and Puranas have I studied,
And the essence of Simritis[2] contemplated :
Cherisher of the humble, master of our life,
perfection incarnate—
You alone have power to liberate.[3] (1)

---

* Note : Direction in the original. On Chhakka see note, ante.
1. Neck.
2. Books of codes of Hinduism.
3. To carry across the ocean of existence.

Since primal time, since the beginning of Yugas,
Amid Maya-poison,
Have you been your devotees' and servants' prop.
Lord Supreme, Provider !
Dust of feet of such does Nanak constantly seek. (2) (20)

Terā jana Rāma-resāiṇi mātā

Thy servant by the Divine elixir is intoxicated.
Never can one leave it, to whom is granted wealth of love of devotion. (I-Pause)
Such a one while sitting, while sleeping, while consuming sustenance,
In Divine joy is absorbed.
In bathing in dust of feet of the holy finds he merit of bathing
at the sixty-eight holy spots. (1)
Blessed is the birth of the servant of God,
Who the Lord, Rewarder of deeds, with progeny has furnished.[1]
Along with him all assembled groups attain liberation,
As saith Nanak, the Supreme Being, perfection incarnate, has he realized. (2) (21)

Māī Guru binu giānu na pāīyai

Mother mine ! without the Master's guidance is not obtained enlightenment.
Those without such guidance in various ways go about wailing,
Yet find not union with the Lord. (I-Pause)
To their self is tied suffering from malady of attachment;
In numerous births they wander about.
Without holy company is not found poise—
To whom may one carry one's plaint ? (1)
Should the Lord show grace, the mind in holy company is absorbed.
Then in an instant are cutt off terrible afflictions;
And saith Nanak, in the vision Divine is one absorbed. (2) (22)

Thākür hoe āpi dayāl

The Lord has Himself shown grace :
Has come weal taking form of bliss,
And saved are the Lord's children.[2] (I-Pause)

1. Implies that the Servants of God are His progeny.
2. Implies devotees.

With hands folded have I made supplication,
And in my mind on the Supreme Being meditated.
The Lord by His arm has saved us, and all our suffering annulled. (1)
The exalted devotees[1] have sung paeans of joy,
And raised the Lord's shout of glory.
Saith Nanak : May I be a sacrifice to the devotee
Who to all brings liberation. (2) (23)

In the Measure Devgandhari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Apunei Satiguru peh binou kahiyā P. 533

To the holy Preceptor stated I my supplication.
As the shatterer of suffering[2] became gracious, compassionate, was all my anxiety banished. (I-Pause)
Sinners, hypocrites, avaricious that we are,
Our faults has he tolerated all.
On our forehead placing his hand,[3] has he cherished us;
Destroyed were the evil assailants.[4] (1)
The holy Preceptor is benevolent, prop of all,
His sight fulfiller of desires; fixed on poise.
Saith Nanak : Even to those without merit is He Provider;
His lotus feet in our heart have we lodged. (2) (24)

Anāth nāth Prabh hamārei

Lord ! cherisher of the helpless art Thou.
Saviour ! to seek Thy shelter have I come. (I-Pause)
Lord[5] ! in all situations[6] save us—
In times to come, in times passed, and at the end. (1)
Whenever anything to my mind I bring, it is your merits :
By their recollection is my mind propped. (2)
By listening to the Master's Word chant
I your laudation.
To the sight of that holy one am I a sacrifice. (3)
In my mind one sole prop I cherish—
The Lord Creator, saith Nanak. (4) (25)

---

1. In the original, 'noble females', symbolizing devotees.
2. (Epithet of the holy Preceptor).
3. (A mark of blessing).
4. (The evils in the mind are implied).
5. Murari (periphrastic name of Krishna, implying God).
6. Sides.

Prabh ihai manorathu merā

Lord ! such is the objective I seek :
Treasure of grace, compassionate one !
Grant that servant of the holy I be.[1] (I-Pause)
At early dawn feet of Thy devotees may I touch,
And night and day have sight of them.
With dedication of body and mind may I serve Thy devotees;
With my tongue chant Divine laudation. (1)
With each breath the Lord may I contemplate,
And ever with the holy abide.
Be wealth of the Name my sole prop.
Saith Nanak : Joy of this may I forever get. (12) (26)

In the Measure Devgandhari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mītā aisei Hari jīo pāe

Friend ! such is the Lord that I have attained—
Forsaking me never, ever is He by my side.
His laudation in the Master's company day after day have I chanted. (I-Pause)
The Divine Enchanter, Provider of all joys has met me,
Who forsakes me not, departs not.
Many of various kinds have I seen—
None equals a hair on the Beloved's body. (1)
Now is blessed our home,[2] ennobled our portal,[2]
The unstruck music there playing.
Saith Nanak : Now in joy everlasting we disport,
In the Beloved's home[3] are we lodged, everlastingly
there abiding. (2) (1.27)

Darshan Nām kau manu āchhai

My heart for the Lord's sight, for His Name yearns.
After wandering over all spots,[4] now the holy it pursues. (I-Pause)
Whom to serve, to whom be devoted ?
For all that is visible, is evanescent.
With holy company seek shelter—
For dust of feet of the holy yearns my heart. (1)

---

1. (Make me servant of the holy).
2. 'Home' and 'portal' are estoeric terms, implying the self.
3. (Absorption in the Divine Essence implied).
4. Implies various creeds and cults.

No device know I; no merit is mine :
Hard to overcome is Maya.[1]
As Nanak at the Master's feet has fallen, P. 534
Vanished are his evil desires. (2) (2.28)

Amritā prīya bachan Tūhārei

Beloved ! suffused in amrita are your words.
Beauteous excessively, ravishing the heart, unique among all. (I-Pause)
Seek I neither kingship nor liberation :
My heart love of your lotus feet seeks solely.
Brahma, Shiva, Siddhas, Sages, Indra—none I reck :
The Lord's sight alone I seek. (1)
Lord ! this humble one at your Portal has arrived;
Exhausted, with the holy has he sought shelter.
Saith Nanak : As the Lord, heart's Enchanter has met,
My heart is joyous, blossoming. (2) (3.29)

Hari japi sevaku pāri ūtāriyo

Uttering the Lord's Name to the devotee has brought liberation.
As to the humble has the Lord shown grace;
Annulled is transmigration.[2] (I-Pause)
Whoever in holy company Divine laudation chants,
Saved from forfeiting is his precious[3] birth.
By chanting Divine laudation is crossed the ocean of evil,
And the devotee's forebears[4] all are saved. (1)
In the heart of whomsoever are God's lotus feet lodged,
With each breath and morsel has the Lord's Name uttered.
Nanak with the Lord of the Universe has sought shelter—
Again and again to Him a sacrifice. (2) (4.30)

In the Measure Devgandhari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 4

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Karat phirey ban bhekh mohan rahat nirār

Those that wander about in various garbs[5] in wild places.[6]
From them the Divine Enchanter remains separated. (I-Pause)

1. Lit. Hard to swim across.
2. Birth and death.
3. Jewel.
4. Kul (generations).
5. Sectarian garbs are implied.
6. Lit. Forests.

Such make discourses and sing pretty songs,
But in their minds harbour impurity. (1)
Extremely comely, clever and knowledgeable,
With learning is their tongue eloquent. (2)
But the path wherein is prohibited pride, attachment, possessiveness,
In sharp as dagger's edge. (3)
Saith Nanak : Such[1] in holy company, by Divine grace
Swim across the ocean of existence. (4) (1.31)

In the Measure Devgandhari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 5
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Maiṇ pekhiyo rī ūchā Mohanu sabh tei ūchā

Sister[2] ! the Divine Enchanter have I behold, higher than the highest.
Despite much search, none else is found[3]
His equal. (I-Pause)
Limitless, extremely profound, is His depth.
Weighed He cannot be, nor evaluated—
How to attain that Beloved of heart ? (1)
Countless ones have searched for Him;
Numberless others performed austerities—
None has had access to Him.
Saith Nanak : As the Lord showed grace, in holy company is His joy tasted. (2) (1.38)

Maiṇ bahu bidhi pekhiyo dūjā nahīṇ rī koū

Sister[4] ! by various devices have I looked—none other than He is real.
In continents and countries is He pervasive— P. 535
All the worlds He fills. (I-Pause)
Inaccessible beyond inaccessibility—who may laud Him ?
The self by listening to intimations of Him finds life.
Men in the four stages of life,[5] the four main castes—
All by serving Him find liberation. (1)

1. That is, these last.
2. (This would be implied by the feminine vocative).
3. Appears to be.
4. (See note 2 above).
5. The ashramas into which the life of a high-caste Aryan was divided.

The Master the holy Word in our self confirmed,
Whereby the supreme state we attained.
As was annulled duality, came joy.
Saith Nanak : As spontaneously[1] was obtained the Divine treasure,
Was the ocean of existence crossed. (2) (2.33)

In the Measure Devgandhari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 6

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ekai rei Hari ekai jān

Friend[2] ! know there is one Sole Lord.
By the Master's guidance know Him sole. (I-Pause)
Why stray around ?
Brother ! stray not—everwhere is He pervasive. (1)
As fire that lies in wood, without device accomplishes no task;[3]
So, without the Master's guidance shall you not attain to the Lord's Portal.
In holy company discard pride.
Saith Nanak : Thus shall you obtain the supreme treasure.[4] (2) (1.34)

Jānī na jāī tā kī gāti

Unknowable in His state. (I-Pause)
What good my own cleverness to show ?
Those discoursing of Him and listening, in profound wonder are involved. (1)
Servitors of gods, celestial choristers, accomplished yogis, yoga-practitioners,
Holy human beings, gods, Brahma and his co-equals,
The four Vedas—day and night all discourse of Him.
Yet the Lord remains inaccessible, of profound mystery.
Nanak, express thou His endless merits,
Inexpressible beyond limit. (2) (2.35)

---

1. By Sahaj.
2. (The vocative is in the masculine form, implying 'friend' or 'brother').
3. (The analogy is between fire and the Supreme Being, each discovered by a proper method of approach).
4. Implies liberation.

Dhiyāe gāe karnaihār

On the Creator's merits have I meditated, chanted them.
Thus is gone fear, and obtained joy and bliss in poise.
In multiple forms is He alone visible—contemplate
Him who is one and sole. (I-Pause)
The Master, whose sight grants fulfilment of desires, on my forehead laid his hand to bless :
Wherever I look, is he with us—
His lotus feet my life's prop. (1)
The Lord is of might unfathomable;
Yet in each vessel[1] is He present, close to us.
Nanak seeks His refuge and His prop,
Who is without end or limit. (2) (3.36)

Ulṭī rei mana ulṭī rei

Friend[2] ! turn away, turn away—
From the reprobate[3] the attachment turn away.
Attachment to the false is false itself :
Should it snap, liberation it brings.
In association with such comes no liberation. (I-Pause)
Whoever a house filled with black soot enters,
Shall turn black.
At sight of such a place from a distance flees
One whose sense of differentiation[4] by association with the Master is united. (1)
Lord compassionate, treasure of grace ! this boon I seek :
May not my face with the reprobate have association.
Make Nanak, Thy servant, slave of Thy slaves; P. 536
Ever may my head under feet of the holy lie. (2) (4.37)

In the Measure Devgandhari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 7
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sabh din kei samrath panth Biṭhulei hauṇ bali bali jāoṇ

Lord ! to Thy devotees, endowed with power at all times to point Thy way,

1. Implies being.
2. (The masculine vocative implies this).
3. Sakta.
4. This is apprehension of gyātā, gyana, geya (Knower, knowledge and the known) and to achieve the vision of monism.

Am I a sacrifice.
Grant that touch of Thy devotees' feet I obtain,
That with devotion sing of Thee. (I-Pause)
Lord compassionate, above desire, in Supreme Poise disporting—
In endless, incomparable beauty is His abode. (1)
Life of the world, on whose palm are placed miraculous powers[1] and the Nine Treasures,
Lord of all, of innumerable names—
To Nanak show compassion and grace,
Who in listening to Thy laudation finds life. (2) (1.38.6.44)

In the Measure Devgandhari—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Yeh mana naik na kahiyo karai

The mind noway is compliant to good counsel :
To it have I tried to impart instruction,
Yet from evil thinking is it not restrained. (I-Pause)
Maddened by Maya-intoxication, Divine laudation it utters not.
By fraud the world it deceives and thus serves its interest.[2] (1)
Like dog's tail ever it remains crooked,
To advice not listening.
Saith Nanak : Ever to the Name Divine be devoted,
That thy purposes may fulfil. (2) (1)

Sabh kichhu jīvat ko bivahār

All relationships last while life lasts :
Be it mother, father, brother, progeny, friends and the wife in the home. (I-Pause)
As life from the body is sequestered, a ghost they call it,
For half an hour not keeping it—
They send it out of the house. (1)
Consider in your mind[3] : Like a mirage is the show[4] of the world.
Saith Nanak : Ever to the Name Divine be devoted,
That liberation may bring. (2) (2)

1. Riddhis and Siddhis.
2. Fills its belly.
3. Original, rida (hridya = heart).
4. Creation, that is, all that is visible.

Jagat maiṇ jhūṭhī dekhī preeti

Worldly love that we have beheld is insincere.[1]
Wife, friends—to their own pleasure are all attached. (I-Pause)
All cry in avarice,[2] their mind to their own interest attached :
At the last moment none is man's friend—such is the strange way of the world. (1)
The thoughtless self still would not realize this,
Albeit to exhaustion is it instructed.
Saith Nanak : Such alone the ocean of existence shall cross,
As songs of Divine laudation sing. (2) (3.6.38.47)

1. False.
2. Mine, mine.

RAGA BIHAGARA

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being,
Creator Immanent, P. 537
Without Fear, Without Rancour, Form Eternal, Uncreated,
Self-existent, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace
In the Measure Bihagara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quartets
SCORE 2

Dūtan sangarīyā

The company of agents of evil[1] is like living in serpents' company.
Many by it are ruined.[2] (1)
Then the Lord's Name I uttered;
Thereby attained joy with poise. (I-Pause)
In false attachment is man gripped,
Claiming others' objects as his.
Thus is he in a whirlpool fallen. (2)
All are as wayfarers, gathered under a tree;
But in bonds of attachment get caught. (3)
In the ranks of the holy is poise,
Where is sung Divine laudation.
Nanak with such seeks shelter. (4) (1)

In the Measure Bihagara—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari kī gati nahi koū jānai

None of the state of the Lord has realization[3] :
Yogis, celibates, performers of austerities,
And many of the wise, in this pursuit are exhausted. (I-Pause)

---

1. Implies the five agents viz. lust, wrath etc.
2. Also rendered. "Numerous devices I followed, to escape these." 'Ruined' is the sense yielded if uparan (uprooting) be the root-word.
3. Knows.

In an instant a pauper He makes a king,
And a king a pauper.
Filled are the empty, and those full emptied—
Such is His way. (1)
Himself has He spread His Maya—Himself the beholder.
Various forms of different hues He assumes,
Yet from all remains apart. (2)
He who the world has deluded,
Is beyond count and limit; inaccessible, immaculate.
Saith Nanak : Thou creature of God, discarding all illusions
Thy heart[1] to Him attach. (3) (1.2)

In the Measure Bihagara—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Chhant (Lyrics)*

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace P. 538

Hari Hari Nāmu dhiyāīyai meri jindūṛīyei
Gurumukh Nāmu amolei Rāma

My self[2] ! on the Name Divine ever meditate :
Invaluable is the Name through the Master obtained.
The mind by Divine joy is pierced;
Dearly beloved is Divine joy;
My self[2] ! in the dye of joy in God ever keep drenched.
My self[2] ! by the Master's teaching the mind keep in poise;
Thereafter never shall it falter.
The mind has thus obtained the reward sought for.
Saith Nanak : It then gives utterance to merits of the Divine Lord. (1)

Gurmati mani amritu wūṭhrā merī jindūṛīyei
mūkhi amrit baiṉ alāe Rāma

My self[2] ! by the Master's teaching in the mind is lodged amrita,
That by the tongue[3] to amrita gives utterance.
My self[2] ! ambrosial is the utterance of God's devotees,
Listening to which the mind to the Lord is deeply devoted.
Then is attained the Lord, long separated,

1. Chitta (consciousness).
Note : As in other chhants in Guru Granth Sahib, at the end of each line occurs 'Rama', which is here to be regarded as a euphonious refrain.
2. Jinduriye (lit. life; here in the vocative form).
3. Lit. Mouth.

Who spontaneously to the bosom is clasped.
Nanak, servant of God, my self ! bliss has obtained;
Played is the mystic concert.[1] (2)

Sakhī sahelī merīyāṇ merī jindūṛiyei koī
Harī-Prabhu āṉi milāvai Rāma

My self ! pray I that any of my companions-in-God[2]
To the Lord grant me union.
My self ! my whole mind shall I dedicate
To one that of the Lord to me discourses.
My self ! ever by the Master's guidance to the Lord be devoted;
Thereby shall thy heart's objectives be fulfilled.
My self, saith Nanak, to the Lord be devoted,
with Him seek shelter,
That by supreme good fortune on the Name thou shouldst meditate. (3)

Kari kirpā Prabh āye milu merī jindūṛīyei Gurmati Nām pargāse Rāma

My self ! pray to the Lord that in His grace union to thee He grant,
As by the Master's teaching illumination of the Name comes.
Without the Lord, my self ! am I forlorn,
As lotus withered away from water.
My self ! by the Master, perfectly-endowed to the Lord am I united,
So that the Lord, true friend, is ever by my side.
My self ! blessed is the Master who to me the Lord has pointed out;
Thus has Nanak, servant of God, blossomed by joy in the Name. (4) (1)

Amritu Hari Hari Nāmu hai merī jindūṛīyei amritu
Gurmati pāye Rāma

My self ! The Name Divine is amrita, by the Master's teaching obtained.
Egoism, my self ! and Maya are poison—this poison by amrita of the Name is annulled.

1. Anahat Shabda (the unstruck music that is believed to be heard by mystics in the state of absorption).
2. Sakhi saheli = sister-companions, symbolizing fellow-seekers.

The mind shrivelled up of such, my life ! has blossomed,[1]
As on the Name Divine have meditated.
My self ! those with great good fortune for themselves recorded, the Lord have attained.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By the Name, in God are they absorbed. (1)

Hari setī manu bedhiyā merī jindūṛīyei jiūṇ bālak lagi dūdh khīrei Rāma

My self ! with love of the Lord is my mind pierced even as the babe to milk is attached.
My self ! without the Lord comes not poise;
Like unto the chatrik[2] that without water cries.
My self ! with the holy Preceptor seek thou shelter, who the Lord's merits shall expound.
My self ! to Nanak, His servant has He granted union;
So are numerous notes in his home orchestrated. (2)

Manmūkhi haumai vichhūṛei merī jindūṛīyei bikhu bāndhei haumai jālei Rāma

My self ! egoists by egoism are from God alienated—
Bound by poison, by egoism consumed.
My self ! as the pigeon bird has got himself bound,
So are all egoists made subject to death.
My self ! those that in Maya—attachment are absorbed, P. 539
Are egoists, unenlightened goblins.
God's servants, my self ! for the Lord's succour cry.
Saith Nanak : Their protector is the Master. (3)

Harijan Hari liv ūbbarei merī jindūṛīyei dhūri bhāg waḍḍei Hari pāiyā Rāma

God's devotees by devotion to God are saved, my self !
By great good fortune recorded in primal time the Lord they attain.
The Name Divine, my self ! is the ship;
The Master, helmsman, by the holy Word makes the world swim.

Note : (1) In this chhant too 'Rama' is repeated as in the foregoing at the end of lines. Here too it is to be interpreted as a euphonious refrain.

Note : (2) Meri jinduriye occurring in almost each line is rendered as 'my self !' in the vocative form.

1. Has became green.
2. A tiny bird (the brainfever cuckoo) thirsting after rain—symbol of yearning in love.

My self ! the Lord is compassionate Supreme Being—
By the holy Preceptor made to taste sweet.
The Master in his grace listened to the supplication of Nanak, servant of God,
Who thereby on the Name has meditated. (4) (2)

Jagi sükritu kīrati Nāmu hai merī jindūṛīyei Hari kīrati Hari mana dhārei Rāma

My self ! the noblest action in the world is laudation
of the Name—
The Lord's laudation in your mind you fix.
My self ! holy is the Name Divine—the Name Divine thou utter,
That it may liberate thee.
The Name has all sin, evil-doing and suffering annulled;
By guidance of the Master all impurity it removes.
By blessing of immense good deeds[1] comes meditation on the Lord.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Us ignorant, thoughtless barbarians[2] has it liberated. (1)

Jo Hari Nāmu dhiyaeṇdei merī jinduṛīyei tinhāṇ panchei wasgati āye Rāma

My self ! those that on the Name Divine meditate,
All five evils by them are subdued.
My self ! within them rests the Name repository of
the Nine Treasures :
The holy Preceptor makes accessible this which is inaccessible.
My self ! the Master all desires and objective has fulfilled—
By union with the Lord is all hunger satisfied.
My self ! according as by the Lord in primal time recorded,
Nanak, servant of God, the Name Divine lauds. (2)

Ham pāpī balwanchīyā meri jindūṛīyei par-drohī ṭhug Māyā Rāma

My self ! sinners, practitioners of guile are we—Malevolent to others, robbers of wealth.
My self ! by great good fortune is the Master obtained—
By guidance of the Master is liberation and the right way attained.

Note : Opening Note 1 and 2 in the foregoing Chhant may be studied on meri jinduriye (my self) and 'Rama' as refrain.

1. Accumulated good deeds of previous births are implied.
2. Gawār (ganwār) lit. a rustic, implies a person of crude and low morals.

My self ! by the Master is dropped amrita in my mouth,
And life to the dying granted.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Those that to the holy Preceptor are united,
Annulled is all their suffering. (3)

Ati ūttamu Hari Nāmu hai merī jindūṛīye jitu japiyai pāp gawātei Rāma

Supremely exalted, my self ! is the Name Divine,
Whose utterance annuls sins.
By the Master, image of the Divine are we rendered holy and pure,
Known in four corners of the earth and the four Ages.[1]
As my self ! in Divine amrita, in the Divine
Pool[2] we have bathed,
Shed is all our impurity of egoism.
My self ! saved are such of the sinners and evil-doers,
As saith Nanak, servant of God, even for an instant to the Lord are devoted. (4) (3)

Hauṇ balihārī tinh kau merī jindūṛīye jin Hari Hari Nām adhāro Rāma

My self ! a sacrifice am I to such as in the Name
Divine find their prop.
My self ! in such has the holy Preceptor confirmed
devotion to the Name,
Saviour[3] across the poisonous ocean of existence.
My self ! to such of the holy am I a sacrifice, P. 54
As with single mind on the Lord have meditated.
My self ! Nanak joy has found in uttering the Name
Divine, annuller of all suffering. (1)

Sā rasnā dhanu dhannu hai merī jindūṛīye gūṇa gāvai Hari Prabh kerei Rāma

My self ! blessed is the tongue,
That constantly laudation of the Lord sings.
My self ! pure and beautiful of aspect are the ears
That Lord ! to Thy laudation listen.

1. The four Yugas are implied (see Glossary).
2. Symbolizes devotion to God.
Note : (Special notes on Chhant 2 ante to be studied).
3. Lit. Carrying across the water.

My self ! noble, pure and holy is the head,
That at the Master's feet falls.[1]
My self ! Nanak to the Master is a sacrifice
Who my mind to remembering the Name
Divine has inspired. (2)

Tei netra bhalei parwāṉu hehṇ merī jindūṛīye jo sādhū Satiguru dekheṇh Rāma

My self ! noble and approved are the eyes
That the pure, holy Preceptor's sight receive.
My self ! holy and pure are the hands,
That the Lord's laudation record.
My self ! bow ever at the feet of one
That traverses the path of Dharma.
My self ! to such is Nanak a sacrifice,
As listening to the Name Divine,
On its teaching act. (3)

Dharti pātālu ākāshu haiṇ merī jindūṛīye sabh Hari Hari Nām dhiyāwaiṇ Rāma

My self ! earth, the nether regions and sky—
All on the Name Divine meditate.
My self ! air, water and fire,
Ever the Divine laudation chant.
My self ! forests, blades of grass and all forms
By their tongue devotion to the Name Divine utter.
My self ! saith Nanak : At the Divine Portal are such invested with the robe,
As by the Master's guidance their hearts
To devotion attach. (4) (4)

Jin Hari Hari Nāmu na chetiyo merī jindūṛīye tei manmūkh mūṛh iyāṉei Rāma

My self ! those that the Name Divine have not contemplated,
Are egoists, thoughtless, ignorant.[2]
My self ! those that their minds in Maya-attachment invoive,
At the end in regrets depart.
My self ! at the Divine Portal find no shelter,
The egoists that by sin are attracted.

1. (That touches the Master's feet).
Note : Notes on meri jinduriye and on 'Rama' appended to the opening Chhant are applicable to the above also.
2. Iyānā, lit. ignorant. Applied meaning, child.

My self ! saith Nanak, servant of God : Those to the Master united are saved;
Contemplating the Lord, in the Lord are they absorbed. (1)

Sabhi jāe miluh Satiguru kau merī jindūṛīye jo
Hari Hari Nām driṛhāwai Rāma

My self ! all with the Master should seek union,
Who devotion to the Name Divine confirms.
My self ! delay not for an instant entering on contemplation of the Lord :
Who knows the next breath we breathe or not ?
My self ! blessed is the occasion, the minute,
the hour, the moment,
Wherein the Lord to mind is brought.
My self ! as Nanak, servant of God, on the Name
has meditated,
Yama's minions dare approach him not. (2)

Hari vekhai sūṇai nit sabhu kichhu merī jindūṛīye
so ḍarai jini pap kamātei Rāma

My self ! the Lord sees, hears all, at all times—
Such alone need fear as sins have garnered.
My self ! whoever bears a pure heart within,
All fear has cast off.
My self ! such a one to the fear-annulling Name of the Lord is attached— P. 541
Against him the wicked, doers of evil strive in vain.
My self ! Nanak the Master, perfectly-endowed, has served,
By whose favour all at his feet have bowed. (3)

So aisā Hari nit sevīyai merī jindūṛīye jo sabhdūṇ Sāhib waḍḍā Rāma

My self ! ever thou serve the Lord, who is supreme among masters.
My self ! those that themselves to the Sole Lord with single mind have devoted,
Need care for none else.
My self ! by service of the Master is attained the Divine Mansion.
Despite all misguided efforts by graceless calumniators.
My self ! saith Nanak, servant of God : Those that on the Name have meditated,
This blessing by the writ on their forehead recorded in primal time comes. (4) (5)

Sabh jīya terei Tūṇ wartdā merei Hari Prabh Tūṇ jāṇeh jo jīya kamāīyai Rāma

All creatures, Lord ! are Thine; in all creation are Thou pervasive;
To Thee is known what in our hearts we resolve.[1]
My self ! within and without is the Lord by us—
All that we would deny in our self, He watches.
My self ! from egoists' gaze[2] is the Lord far—
Wasted is all their life's effort.
Nanak, servant of God, by guidance of the Master,
on the Name has meditated :
Present to his gaze has the Lord manifested himself. (1)

Sei bhagat sei sevak merī jindūṛīye jo Prabh merei mani bhāṇei Rāma

My self ! such alone are true devotees and servants of God,
As to the Lord's heart are pleasing.
My self ! such at the Divine Portal with honour are invested—
Day and night in Truth absorbed.
My self ! in their company is shed impurity—
Dyed in joy in God, marked are they by the glance of Divine grace.
My self ! Nanak to the Lord thus makes supplication :
In holy company may I find fulfilment. (2)

Hari rasnā japi Gobindo merī jindūṛīye japi Hari Hari trishnā jāe Rāma

My self ! say to thy tongue, the Name Divine thou utter—
By uttering the Name Divine shall thy thirst be cast off.
My self ! to whomsoever is the Lord gracious,
In his self the Name He lodges.
My self ! whoever the Master, perfectly-endowed has contacted,
Treasure of Divine wealth attains.
My self ! by great good fortune is attained holy company.
Saith Nanak : One so blessed in singing Divine laudation engages. (3)

Note : As heretofore, the Notes on 'meri jinduriye' and 'Rama' apply to the above chhant also.

1. Lit. Do.
2. Lit. For (such).

Thān thanantari ravi rahiyā merī jindūrīye
Pār-Brahmu Prabhu dātā Rāma

My self ! the Supreme Being, bestower of all boons
In all places is pervasive.
Unknowable, my self, is His extent,
Who is the Lord, perfection incarnate, creator.
My self ! all creatures He cherishes, as father and mother the child.
By a thousand clever devices[1] is He not attained, my self !
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By the Master's guidance is He realized. (4) (6)

(First Canto of six hymns closes)*

In the Measure Bihagara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant (lyrics)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari ka eku achambhau dekhiyā merei Lāljīo jo karei so Dharam nyāye Rāma

My cherished beloved ! this wonder of the Lord have I beheld :
All He does is righteous and just.
My cherished beloved ! the Lord a playing theatre has erected, P. 542
Wherein have all beings their entries and exists.
This entry and exist He has made, who the creation has fashioned.
Some by uniting them to the holy Preceptor, to Himself He calls;
Some in illusion stray about.
Lord ! to Thee alone is Thy extent known—in all creation art Thou pervasive.
Listen, devotees of God ! Nanak states the truth :
The Lord righteously and justly operates. (1)

Āwuh miluh sahelīho merei Lāljīo Hari Hari
Nāmu arādhey Rāma

Listen my cherished friend ! my sister-friends[2] !

1. Sahas siyanap, a phrase occurring primarily in Japuji, 1.
* Direction in the original. As specified earlier, the original term is Chhakka, a set of six hymns.
Note : In 'my cherished beloved' is man apostrophized. 'Rama' occurring in several lines is a euphonious refrain.
2. Implies fellow-devotees.

To the Name Divine in devotion let us engage.
The holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed you serve,
My cherished beloved ! that Yama's path he may straighten out.
Straightening out by the Master's guidance this hard path,
At the Divine Portal receive acclaim.
Those for whom in primal Time by the Creator the writ has run,
Night and day to God are devoted.
As is obtained holy company, is egoism cast off,
and possessiveness and attachment.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Liberated is man
by devotion to the Name Divine. (2)

Kar jo ṛahuṇ sant ikatra hoe merei Lāljīo abināshī
Pūrakh pūjehāṇ Rāma

My cherished, beloved devotees ! with folded hands the immortal Supreme Being in unison we worship.
My cherished beloved ! various ways of worship have we explored—
Now mind and body all to Him we dedicate.
Mind, body and substance all is the Lord's—
What offering may one make in worship ?
One to whom the Lord shows grace and compassion
Into His embrace shall be enclosed.
One on whose forehead is good fortune inscribed,
To the Master forms attachment.
Saith Nanak, servent of God : In unison with the holy congregation,
The Name Divine we worship. (3)

Dah dis khojat ham phirey merei Lāljīo Hari pāeaṛā ghari āye Rāma

My cherished beloved ! in ten directions have we wandered about in search—
In our home[1] alone have we found the Lord.
My cherished beloved ! this self is the temple by the Lord erected—
Pervasive in it does He abide.
Everywhere is the Lord pervasive by the Master's guidance manifested.

1. The self is implied

Then is darkness annulled, fled is suffering;
Amrita of joy in God in the mouth has dripped.
Wherever I behold, there is the Lord—
Everywhere abides the Supreme Being.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : As by the holy Preceptor united,
The Lord in our home is found. (4) (1)

Ati Prītam mana-mohanā ghaṭ sohanā prān-adhārā Rāma

Beloved in extreme, enchanter of hearts is the Lord,
In each being manifested in lovely aspect, prop of life.
Beyond limit is the glory of the beloved Lord, compassionate.
Lord gracious, Master, Beloved ! dear Spouse !
To this helpless female pray grant union.
My eyes for a sight of Thee yearn—
My nights sleeplessly passed.
Provided have I myself with collyrium of enlightenment and viands of the holy Name.
Nanak this supplication to God's devotees makes :
To my Spouse unite me. (1)

Lākh ūlāhanei mohi Hari jab lagu na milai Rāma

A million reproaches at me are thrown,
Till with the Lord have I not found union.
Lord ! for union I make efforts, yet find these of no avail.
Sometimes is the mind fixed in wealth that is evanescent— P. 543
Without the Beloved noway finds it solace.
Food and drink and self-decking are all without use—
How without the Spouse may I find life ?
Night and day with thirst of desire oppressed,
For an instant[1] can I not find peace.
Nanak thus supplicates : Of the holy shall I become a handmaid,
By whose grace with the Beloved I may find union. (2)

Sej ek Prīo sangi darasu na pāīyai Rāma

In one couch[2] with the Beloved lying,
Still of His sight am I deprived.
Numerous are my blemishes—
How to the Mansion shall I be called ?
This female without merit, helpless, thus supplicates :

Note : In this chhant also in some places 'Rama' is used as a uphon refrain.

1. As much as a sesame grain.
2. Symbol for the self.

Lord, Store of compassion ! grant union.
The wall of illusion demolish. Lord, Master of
Nine Treasures !
By sight of you in even the twinkling of an eye sleep in poise shall I obtain.
As the beloved into my home arrives, and the Mansion occupies,
In holy company paeans of joy shall I sing.
Nanak for shelter with the holy supplicates.
Grant me the Lord's sight. (3)

Santan kai prasādi Hari Hari pāiyā Rāma

By grace of the holy the Lord have I attained.
Fulfilled is my desire; attained is peace of mind;
assuaged the scorching thirst.
Blessed the days, pleasing the nights,
Filled with bliss and joy and delight exceeding.
As the Lord, beloved Master, Himself has manifested,
By what tongue His merits shall I utter ?
Ended[1] are illusion, avarice, attachment and evil thoughts—
In company with my sister-devotees paeans of joy have I sung.
Nanak makes supplication, praise of the holy utters,
Who with the Lord have granted him union. (4) (2)

Kari kirpā Guru Pār-Brahm pūrei andinu
Nāmu wakhāṉāṇ Rāma

Supreme Being, perfection incarnate ! show grace that day after day the holy Name I utter;
With ambrosial utterance, Divine laudation may I express.
Sweet to me may Thy will be.
Lord, Master ! show me compassion and grace—
Other than Thee none have I.
Lord almighty, inexpressible, limitless, perfect !
Life, body, my substance, mind—all are Thine.
Senseless, thoughtless, helpless, unpoised, feeble,
low and ignorant am I.
Thus supplicates Nanak : Thy shelter I seek :
From transmigration save me ! (1)

1. Exhausted.

Sādhāh-sarṇī pāīyai Hari jīo gūṇa gāweh Hari nīta Rāma
Lord ! under shelter of the holy place me,
That ever Thy laudation I utter.
Lord ! with dust of feet of the holy my mind and body may I smear,
Whereby all turn pure, holy :
Pure and holy all become in company with those Who to the Creator[1] have attained.
Dyed in the Name, donors of true life are they—
Ever granting, ever their bounty on the increase.
Miraculous powers,[2] the Nine Treasures by
contemplation of the Lord,
Come to such as the ego have subdued.
Thus Nanak states in humility : By great good fortune are attained
Holy friends and companions. (2)

Jinnhīṇ sacchu waṇanjiyā Hari jīo sei pūrey shāhā Rāma
Lord ! those that in holy Truth have held commerce,
Are perfectly wealthy.[3]
Lord ! vast is the treasure with them lying;
Divine laudation their profit.
Lust, wrath and avarice attaches not to such
As to the Lord are attached.
Knowing the sole Lord, in Him fixing faith,
With the Lord are they inebriated.
Touching feet of the holy, seeking their shelter,
Is their heart ever in joyful ecstasy.
Thus states Nanak in humility : Those hearing the Name
Are the truly wealthy.[3] (3)

Nanak soī simarīyai Hari jīo jā kī kala dhārī Rāma Saith Nanak : Contemplate solely the Lord, who the system[4] of the universe has propped. P. 544
By guidance of the Master, be not put away from my mind,
Immanent Creator, the supreme God.[6]

---

1. Bidhātā.
2. Riddhi, Siddhi.
3. Shāh (implied meaning, rich banker).
4. Kal (kalā).
5. Murāri (periphrastic name of Krishna).

Suffering, maladies and fear afflict not such
As on the Lord have meditated.
Such by grace of the holy the ocean of existence have crossed,
And attained what in primal Time was for them inscribed.
Played is the joyous concert; peace to the mind has come,
And with the Supreme Being without limit, is union found.
Thus states Nanak in humility : By contemplation
of the Lord
Is fulfilled our desire. (4) (3)

In the Measure Bihagara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Score 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Wadhu sükh raynaṛīye prīya premu lagā

Increase thou, night of joy ! with the Beloved am I in bliss of love.
Decrease thou sleep of unenlightenment, bringer of sorrow,
that the Beloved's feet I ever keep touching.
Dust of His feet I seek, for it ever beg, for joy of the Name yearning,
Absorbed in love of the Lord with poise of enlightenment[1] inebriated.
Mighty foul-thinking[2] have I discarded.
By the arm has the Lord succoured me; in His love am
I drenched :
Union with the Beloved by the path of truth is found.
Thus supplicates Nanak : Thy grace show, that to Thy feet
I cling. (1)

Merī sakhī sahelaṛīho Prabh kai charani lagahṇ

My sister-friends[3] ! to the Lord's feet may we cling.
With heart full exceedingly of love, devotion to the Lord we beg.
By association with God's devotees, by meditation on Him
Is obtained devotion to God.
Discarding pride, attachment, evil-thinking,
To Him should we dedicate body, substance and our self.[4]

1. Sahaj.
2. Implies duality.
3. Implies devotees.
4. Mana.

By union with the Lord, Supreme Being, perfection of merits incarnate,
The wall of illusion we shatter.
Thus supplicates Nanak : Listen, my sister-friend !
The Name Divine ever you repeat. (2)

Hari nāri suhāgaṉei sabhi rang māṉei

The Lord's spouse in total joy disports.
One wedded to the primal Supreme Being never is widowed.
Those on the Lord meditating undergo not suffering—blessed are these fortunate ones.
Enveloped in sleep of joy and poise, their sins annulled;
In joy and love of the Name too are they awakened.
Living in joyful union, wearing ornaments of the Name Divine,
To them the Beloved's words sweetly appeal.
Thus states Nanak in humility : My desire of heart is fulfilled,
As is the primal Supreme Being met. (3)

Titu grihi sohilaṛei koḍ anandā

In the house of such a wife ever resound paeans of joy,
And million-fold bliss—
Her mind in the Lord, Supreme Bliss, absorbed.
The Divine Spouse, without limit, gracious Lord,[1]
Is uplifter of the fallen.
The Supreme Lord, in grace across the ocean of existence carries the devotee.
Whoever to His shelter comes, to His bosom He clasps him—
Such is the Lord's way.
Thus states Nanak in humility : The Divine Spouse have I found,
Eternally playful. (4) (2.4)

Hari charan sarovar teh karahu nivāsu manā

My self ! in the holy Pool of the Lord's feet rest thou.[2] P. 545
By bathing in the Divine Pool, my self ! are all sins annulled :
In this Pool ever take thou dips—thus will the Lord be thy helper,
And the darkness of suffering flee.
Such a one no more in transmigration shall be caught,

---

1. (Here Sridhar and Gobind occur together, both implying the Supreme Being).
Note : In this chhant too 'Rama' in some places occurs as a euphonious refrain.
2. (The original would imply 'be lodged').

And Yama's bonds be snapped.
By association with holy company, being dyed
there in the Name,
Are all desires fulfilled.
Thus supplicates Nanak : Lord ! show Thy grace;
At the Divine feet grant me lodgement. (1)

Teh anad binod sadā anhad jhūnkāro Rāma

Pervasive there are bliss and joy eternal;
The mystic music reverberating.
There in unison sing the holy Lord's glory :
Singing in unison, the holy to the Lord are pleasing,
In dye of joy of love drenched.
As the ego they have effaced, profit of Divine devotion to them has come,
And after long separation with the Lord have found union.
By the arm has the Lord grasped them[1]—
The Lord sole, inaccessible, limitless.
Thus states Nanak in humility : Eternally holy is the Lord—
There plays lilting music of the holy Word. (2)

Sūni waḍ-bhāgīyā Hari amrit-bāni Rāma

Listen, thou to whom this fortune is granted, to the ambrosial Divine Word.
This in the heart of such is pervasive as have good fortune recorded for them.
This inexpressible discourse[2] by such alone is realized;
As have the Lord's grace.
Such a one turning immortal, dies not again—
His afflictions and sufferings removed.
God's shelter he obtains from which nevermore is he sequestered—
Devotion to God to his heart and body become pleasing.
Thus supplicates Nanak : Chant ever the holy ambrosial Word. (3)

Tan mana galatu bhaye kichhu kahanu na jāī Rāma

Mind and body in God are absorbed—inexpressible is this state.
The self in Him is reabsorbed out of whom it arose—
Completely with the Divine light mingled,

1. (That is, to succour).
2. Story.

As water into water merged.
It beholds on water and land the Sole Creator pervasive—
It gaze none other strikes.
The Lord pervading forest-glades, each blade of grass,
  the three worlds—
Beyond expression His might.[1]
Thus states Nanak in humility : To Him alone is known this,
Who this cosmos has created. (4) (2.5)

Khojat sant phirehṇ Prabh prān adhārey Rāma

Lord, prop of our life ! Thy devotees in quest of Thee wandering :
Without union with the Beloved is strength and body gone to tatters.
Beloved Lord ! in your grace grant union; in compassion, to your lappet attach me.
Grant devotion to your Name, that the Lord I contemplate,
And by sight of the Lord find life—
The Lord, almighy, perfection incarnate, immutable eternally,
All-high, inaccessible, limitless.
Thus supplicates Nanak : In your grace, Beloved as life,
Grant union. (1)

Jap tap barat kīnei pekhan kau charṇā Rāma

To have a sight of the Divine feet, recitation of texts, austerities and fasts we performed :
Without the Lord's shelter goes not the oppressive burning feeling.
Lord ! Thy shelter have I sought, my fetters cut off.
Across the ocean of existence take me.
Helpless, devoid of merit, ignorant am I—
Judge[2] not my merits and demerits.
Beloved Lord, compassionate to the humble,
Almighty, prime mover of causes !
The chatrik Nanak begs for the drop of water of God, P. 546
That contemplating the Divine feet I find life. (2)

Amiya sarovaro pīyo Hari Hari Nāmā Rāma

Quaff from the Pool of amrita, the Name Divine.
Contemplation of the Name in holy company

1. Worth, value.
2. Consider.

Brings fulfilment of all objectives.
Fulfilled are all desires and sufferings annulled, Should the Lord not for an instant from the mind be put away—
The Lord bliss eternal, ever holy.
Repository of all merits,
Beyond computation, all-high, beyond extent,
Of inaccessible abode, is the Lord.
Thus states Nanak in humility : Fulfilled is my desire,
as is the Lord,
Wielder of Maya,[1] met. (3)

Kaī koṭik jag phalā sūni gāwaṉ harey Rāma

Merit of million-fold sacrifice comes to such as listen to, chant the Lord's Name.
By contemplation of the Name Divine are all man's forebears[2] saved.
Creatures by contemplation of the Name Divine wear aspect of beauty—
Beyond count their glory.
Lord, beloved as life ! be not forgotten—
Ever is my heart[3] for your sight yearning.
Arrived have blessed days, that the Lord all-high, inaccessible, limitless
To His bosom[4] has clasped us.
Thus states Nanak in humility;
As is met the Lord, supremely beloved,
Achieved are all objectives. (4) (3.6)

An kāei rātaṛiyā wāṭ dūhelī Rāma

Why with alien objects art thou involved ?
Know, hard is thy path.
Thou who art practising evil, none thy friend in the hereafter shall be;
None thy friend—ever in regrets shalt thou abide,
By your tongue Divine laudation thou dost not repeat—

1. Sri-Rang (He who plays with Maya—a periphrastic name of Vishnu, here symbolizing God).
2. (Foregoing) generations.
3. Mana.
4. Neck.

Note : As elsewhere, 'Rama' in some lines is used as a euphonious refrain.

When again shall such occasion[1] arrive ?
Leaves shed[2] from tree never again are joined—
On Yama's path solitary shall thy going be.
Thus states Nanak in humility : Without devotion to the Name Divine,
Ever shall the self wander about in suffering. (1)

Tūṇ walwanch lüki karehṇ Sabh jāṇai jāṇī Rāma

In hiding dost thou practise fraud—all to the Lord is known.
As is made Dharmaraja's[3] reckoning, like sesame in oil-press shalt thou be crushed.
Thou creature of God ! as for thy accumulated deeds suffering to thee shall come,
In numerous births shalt thou be made to stray.
With Maya, supreme Ravisher, art thou involved,
Thy human birth, valuable as jewel wasted.
In pursuits other than devotion to the Name Divine,
Is man's self so clever.[4]
Thus states Nanak in humility : By the Divine writ is thy self
In illusion and attachment lost.[5] (2)

Bīchu na koi karei akritghaṇu vichhüṛi paiyā

As one ungrateful to God is from Him alienated,
None for him intercedes.
Then Yama's stern minions come and grip him :
Gripping him, in bonds they march him—
Retribution for his deeds of involvement with Maya the Supreme Ravisher.
By the Master's guidance uttered he not Divine laudation—
Burning pillars shall he be made to clasp.
Robbed by lust, wrath and pride,
Losing enlightenment, into regrets he falls.
Thus states Nanak in humility : By bad luck has he strayed—
His tongue the Divine Word not uttering. (3)

---

1. Days.
2. Separated.
3. The celestial judge of deeds.
4. (The epithet and the verb are in the feminine gender, implying the unstated agent also to be the same, which would be 'life'—jind).
5. Attracted.
Note : (In this chhant too 'Rama' is used in some places as a euphonious refrain).

Tūjh binu ko nāhīṇ Prabh rākhan hārā Rāma

Lord ! none other than Thee is our saviour.
Lord ! Thy way is to uplift the fallen.
Uplifter of the fallen, gracious, compassionate !
Your shelter I crave.
From the dark cavern you extricate us—
You who are of all creation the cherisher.
Thy shelter I seek; cut the mighty fetters—
Prop of the Sole Name grant !
Thus supplicates Nanak : With your arm succour us, P. 547
Lord compassionate to the humble. (4)

So dinu saphal gaṉiyā Hari Prabhū milāiyā Rāma

Blessed is the day when union with the Lord comes about.
Then come all joys; cast off is all suffering.
By ever chanting Divine laudation has come
Joy in poise, bliss and delight.
By devotion to the Lord, in joy of holy company,
Ended is transmigration.
Spontaneously to His bosom has He clasped us—
A seed of good formerly planted has sprouted.
Thus states Nanak in humility : Those whom to Himself
He has united,
Nevermore stray anywhere. (5) (4.70)

Sūnuh benantīyā swāmī merei Rāma

Lord ! to my supplication lend ear :
Despite millions of sins polluting[1] us, still are we Thine.
Lord annuller of suffering, gracious, heart-charmer.
Shatterer of tension and affliction,
Under Thy shelter have I come :
Immaculate Supreme Being, pervasive in all, save my honour.
To all listening, watching all, pervading each—
Nearer than nearest are you.
Thus does Nanak supplicate : Listen, Lord ! save us,
We that are servitors in your home. (1)

Tūṇ samrathu sadā ham dīn bhekārī Rāma

Eternally mighty art Thou; humble beggars we,

Note : In this Chhant too 'Rama' is used as a euphonious refrain in two places.

1. Covered, as by mud; the sense of 'polluting' is implicit in the idiom.

Involved in Maya-attachment—from this extricate us, Lord !
Bound by avarice, attachment, evil-thinking—
Of numerous sins are we guilty.[1]
Thou, Lord Creator, immaculate, from bondage free;
Of our deeds are we getting retribution.
Purifier of the fallen ! show grace—
Of wandering in numerous births are we exhausted.
Thus submits Nanak in humility : Beloved Lord,
prop of life !
The Lord's slave am I. (2)

Tūṇ samrathu waḍā merī mati thori Rāma

Thou art mighty and supreme; of little understanding I.
With Thy perfect glance of grace, even those ungrateful dost Thou cherish.
Lord Creator, by profound understanding realized,
Beyond limit !
I, vile creature, to Thy bounty am insensitive;
A low beast, ignorant—discarding a jewel, cowries have I gathered.
Maya,[2] ever-shifting, garnered through sin,
Leaving man, from him departs.
Nanak with the Lord almighty seeks shelter :
Save my honour, pray, (3)

Jā teī vichhūṛiyā tin āp milāiyā Rāma

Himself has He united me, from whom alienated was I.
This by chanting Divine laudation in holy company has come.
As Divine laudation, eternally holy I chanted,
Did the Lord, repository of weal, manifest Himself.
The Lord has made us His own, in decked couch with Him having bliss.
Casting off anxiety, composed have we become,
Nevermore undergoing suffering.[3]
By singing praise of the Lord, treasure of merit,
Has Nanak got His sight,
That on him confers life. (4) (5.8)

---

1. Numerous sins we perform.
2. Here stands for worldly wealth.
3. Transmigration and life's anxiety are implied.

Boli sūdharmaṛiyā moni kat dhāri Rāma

*Speak thou of righteous ways—why hast assumed this silence ?
With thy eyes hast thou seen the transactions Maya-based.
Nothing except the Name Divine shall accompany thee in death.
Estates, fine raiments, gold, silver—hollow are all these.
Progeny, wife, renown—nothing shall accompany thee;
Nor elephants and steeds and wicked pleasures.
In humility states Nanak : Except holy company,
False are all worldly ties. (1)

Rājan kiūṇ soiyā tūṇ neend bharei jāgat kat nāhīṇ Rāma

King ! why art asleep with eyes sleep-laden ?
Why dost not wake ?
False is crying Maya-based—many thus wail : P. 548
Many under influence of Maya, supreme ravisher, cry.
Without devotion to the Name is attained not joy.
In undertaking a thousand clever devices exhausted,
Their worldly objectives they achieve.
The Lord, perfection incarnate in beginning of time,
at the end and in the middle,
In each vessel[1] everywhere is pervasive.
In humility states Nanak : Those having holy company,
With honour to their true home return. (2)

Narpati jāṉi grahiyo sevak siyāṉei Rāma

King ! know that the thoughtful servants of thy household,
From thee must be parted away : those caught in attachment to such,
Must at the end fall into regrets.
Seeing a mirage[2] is man deluded—how thereby may he find poise ?
Absorption in phenomena other than the Name Divine,
Is sheer waste of life.[3]

---

* Note : (1) Traditionally this Chhant is stated to be composed on the occassion of the death of a righteous chief.
(2) In this Chhant too 'Rama' is used in some places as a euphonious refrain.

1. Implies being.
2. Hari-Chandauri, a mirage city in the sky.
3. Ahila, in Punjabi idiom, worthless.

Crying in egoism assuages not thirst, nor is fulfilled desire or enlightenment attained.
Thus states Nanak in humility : Many in maya involved into regrets fall. (3)

Dhāri anūgriho apnā kari linā Rāma

Showing grace, the Lord His own made me.
Grasping me by the arm, by granting me holy company,
He took me out.
As in holy company was the Lord devotedly contemplated,
Burnt away were sins and suffering.
Great righteousness, charity and good deeds
Alone shall accompany thee.
Let thy tongue devotedly utter the sole Lord's Name,
Be the body in the Name drenched.
Saith Nanak; Whomsoever the Lord grants union,
Perfection in all merits holds. (4) (6.9)

*Vār in the Measure Bihagara—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Guru sevā tei sūkhu pāīyai horthai sūkhu na bhāli

By serving the holy Preceptor is obtained joy—
Seek not joy elsewhere.
As by the Master's Word is the heart penetrated,
Eternally the Lord with us abides.
Saith Nanak : To such is devotion to the Name granted,
As the Lord with His glance of grace beholds. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sifati khazānā bakhsh hai jisu bakhshai so kharchai khāe

Divine laudation is a treasure granted—
Such expend and consume it as by Divine bounty are granted this.
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor is it not attained—
All ritual deeds have we performed to exhaustion.
Saith Nanak : The ego-gripped world of such wealth is devoid :
In the hereafter shall it remain hungry—
What shall it consume ? (2)

---

* Note : All Pauris (Stanzas) in this Vār are of the composition of Guru Ram Das.

Pauri (Stanza)

Sabh Terī tūṇ sabh as dā sabh Tūdhu upāiyā

Thine is all creation; to all dost Thou belong.
All by Thee are created.
In all pervasive, all to Thee in devotion are attached.
Whoever Thy heart has pleased, his devotion dost Thou reward.
All happens as pleases the Lord :
All happens as by Thee willed.
Laud the Lord, supreme over all,
Who His devotees' honour ever has protected. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Nanak gyānī jagu jītā jagi jītā sabhu koe

Saith Nanak : The enlightened the world have conquered;
All others by the world are overpowered.
By devotion to the Name are objectives attained—
All this spontaneously comes about.
Understanding by the master guided from shaking is immune—
Shake it can none.
The Lord His devotees' side takes— P. 549
Nobly accomplished are their objectives.
The egoists from the beginning of time, in greed,
avarice and pride involved, are deluded.
Each day of theirs in contentions is passed,
The holy Word not contemplating.
Their sense and understanding by the Creator is taken away—
Worthless all their utterance.
By no amount of gifts[1] are they satisfied—
Within them lies great thirst[2] and darkness of ignorance.
Saith Nanak : Best it is with the egoists to snap ties,
Who with Maya attachment are involved in love. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

What can fear and doubt prevail against such as by the Divine
Preceptor, the Creator[3] since primal Time
Have their honour protected.
These to the holy Word attached,
In union with the Beloved attain joy.

---

1. Lit. What is granted to them.
2. Used metaphoricaly.
3. (The Creator herein is affirmed to be the true Preceptor, Satiguru).

Saith Nanak : The Donor of joy have we served
Who Himself is judge. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jīya jant sabh Teriyāṇ Tūṇ sabhnāṇ rāsi

All creation is Thine; of all art Thou true wealth.
All boons by such are attained as have Thy bounty—
None Thy corrival.
Thou the Sole Provider of all—
To the Lord alone make supplication.
The supplication of whomsoever pleases Thee,
Thou dost grant—
Blessed are such.
All is thy play; suffering and joy in Thy hand[1] lies. (2)

Gurmūkhi sacchai bhāvandei dari sacchai sachiyār

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The God-directed to the holy Eternal are pleasing;
At the Portal of the Holy Eternal are they reckoned holy.
In the heart of these pure-hearted ones, by contemplation of the holy Preceptor's Word, Abides joy.
By the holy Word within them by the Creator lodged,
Annulled is their suffering and illumination granted.
Saith Nanak : The Divine Saviour in His grace shall save. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The Master's service is truly performed by acting in fear.
As the Master whom he serves, so does the servant become,
should he follow His will.
Saith Nanak : All power with Him lies[2]—there is no other place of shelter. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Teri waḍīyāī Tūhaiṇ jāṇadā Tūdhu jewaḍu awaru na koe

Thy greatness to Thee alone known—none great as Thou.
Were any known to be your rival, would we mention him :
Thou alone art like Thyself.
Those serving Thee joy have obtained—
Who may rival them ?
Thou art almighty Provider;

1. Lit. With Thee.
2. Lit. Himself is He everything.

All creation before Thee stands with folded hands to beg :
None have I seen Provider great as Thou;
On all hast Thou showered benefactions—
On continents, universe, nether regions, celestial regions and all the worlds. (3)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Mani partīt na āīyā sahaji na laggo bhāu

He in whose mind has faith not arisen,
Nor devotion in poise[1] aroused,
And in the holy Word has not felt joy—
What laudation shall he by his stubborn will express ?
Saith Nanak : The birth of such alone is approved,
As by the Master's guidance in holy truth are absorbed. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The stubborn fool realizing not his own self
By words of cavilling hurts others.
Blind man, his innate nature not changed,
In sequestration from God knocks he receives.
By the holy Preceptor's fear is he not broken to be remade,
Whereby in the Divine Essence[2] he could be absorbed.
Never is his doubt lifted— P. 550
Deprived of the Word, suffering he undergoes.
Powerful within him is lust, wrath, avarice—
In worldly pursuits all his life passed.
Tied are man's feet, hands, eyes and ears;
Ended are allotted days, as death approaches.
All this while to man has the holy Name not tasted sweet,
Whereby the Nine Treasures he could obtain.
Should man die while living, and obtain life again,[3]
Would he obtain liberation.
In primal time has man not received grace[4]—
Without good fortune[5] what may be achieved ?
Thou ignorant one ! the Master's Word contemplate :
By the holy Word is obtained liberation and enlightenment.
Saith Nanak : Then alone shall man to the holy Preceptor attain,
As his ego he discards. (2)

---

1. Sahaj.
2. Ank (limb).
3. 'Life' and 'death' herein are symbolical.
4. Karam (Ar.) grace.
5. Karma (Skt.) lit. deed. Implied meaning, fortune made by deeds.

Pauri (Stanza)

Jis dai chitti wasiyā merā swāmī tis noṇ kiūṇ andesā kisai gallai dā lorīyai

What anxiety can befall one in whose heart[1] the Lord is lodged ?
The Lord is Provider of all manner of joys[2]—
How may one while contemplating Him, turn one's face away ?
Whoever on the Lord has meditated, all weal to him comes—
In company of the holy therefore, be seated ever,
Close to them.[3]
Of God's servant are suffering, hunger and maladies banished—
Of God's devotees are the bonds snapped.
By Divine grace does one turn God's devotee;
By the sight of God's devotees is the ocean of the world crossed. (4)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sā rasnā jali jāo jini Hari kā sūwāo na pāiyā

Burnt be the tongue[4] that joy in God has not tasted.
Saith Nanak : Those that the Lord in the mind have lodged,
Their tongue[4] joy in the holy Word feels. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Burnt be the tongue that of the Name Divine is neglectful.
Saith Nanak : Of the God-directed the tongue utters
the Name Divine,
And with the Name Divine is in love. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari āpei Thākūru sevaku bhagatu Hari āpei karei karāe

Himself is the Lord Master and servitor-devotee;
Himself the Doer of all.
Himself the universe He watches over and joys in it;
Himself guides creation as may please Him.
Some the Lord sets on the rights path; others in the wilderness leaves to stray.
The Lord is the holy Master; holy His justice—
His sport[5] He enacts and witnesses.

---

1. Chitta.
2. (Spiritual joys are implied).
3. With face held close.
4. (Palate is implied).
5. (Implies the Divine play of creation, līlā).

Nanak, servant of God, by the Master's grace states :
Behoves it man to engage in singing praise of the holy Lord. (5)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Darveshī ko jānasī wirla ko darvesh

Only a rare hermit realizes the true character of renunciation.
Cursed is the life, cursed the garb of one that wanders begging from door to door.
He who discarding desire and anxiety, by the Master's guidance begs for the Name—
Saith Nanak, wash his feet in reverence; to him am
I sacrifice. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Saith Nanak : On a single tree,[1] bearing the fruit of joy in God;
Are settled two birds.[2]
While coming and going, are these birds invisible—
Wings they bear not.
While in numerous pleasures involved, the self experiences delights—
By the holy Word from Maya it remains emancipated.
Saith Nanak : One devoted, fruit of joy in God,
By Divine grace receives, as holy mark. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei dhartī āpei hai rāhaku āp jamāe pīsāvai

Himself the soil, Himself the cultivator,
Himself inducing growth, Himself gets the grain ground.
Himself cooks it, puts it in vessels, serves it—
Himself feasts.
Himself serves water,[3] gives toothpick; himself pours water on cupped hands to rinse mouth. P. 551 Himself the feasting company He invites,
Himself dismisses them;
To whomsoever the Lord shows grace,
To the Divine Ordinance makes him compliant. (6)

---

1. The body is implied.
2. These birds are interpreted as the Divine self (Paramatma) and the individual self (jivatma). The figure of symbolic birds occurs in Qankar, Ramkali, (33). Earlier it occurs in Manduk Upanishad.
3. (To wash hands before beginning a meal).

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Karam dharam sabh bandhanāṇ pāp pünn sanbandhu

Actions and ritual deeds are bondage, tying man to sin and virtue.
Possessiveness and attachment too are bondage;
Progeny and wife entanglements.
Wherever I look, a noose I see, dangled by Maya-attachment.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to the holy Name,
the world in blind deeds is engaged. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

One who is blind finds light when by the Divine will is met the holy Preceptor.
Then shall the self snap bonds, in truth abide,
Its darkness of ignorance lifted.
It shall then view all existence as His,
Who the body has fashioned and created.
Nanak with the Creator seeks shelter :
The Creator is guardian of honour of such. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jaduh āpei thāṭu kīyā bahi kartai taduh püchhi na sevak bīyā

As the Lord set about creating the visible expanse,
No other helper[1] did He consult.
With none other in existence,
What was there to grant or to receive ?
Then Himself the universe creating,
The Creator His bounty on all conferred.
Himself He created devotion, Himself amrita of devotion quaffed.
Himself is the Formless all forms :
All happens as by Him willed. (7)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Gurmukhi Prabhu sevehṇ sadā sāchā andinu sahaji piyār

The God-directed serve ever the eternal Lord,
Each day to spontaneous devotion attached.
Ever in joy, praise of the Eternal they chant—
The Lord abiding in the lower world and the higher in heart.

1. Servitor.

Within them abides the Beloved, as in primal Time the Creator this grace for them has recorded.
Saith Nanak : In His grace has He Himself to such granted union. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
By talking and discoursing is He not attained;
Such attain Him as each day ever His praise chant—
many have cried and wailed to exhaustion.[1]
By the Master's Word is mind and body in devotion drenched;
Then comes the Lord in the self to abide.
Saith Nanak : By His glance of grace is He attained—
Himself the seeker He nnites to Himself. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Āpei Ved Pürān sabhi Sāsat āpi kathai āpi bhījai
Himself is He essence of Vedas, Puranas and Shastras;[2]
Himself expounds these and is to them devoted.
The Creator fashioning the visible show,
Settles therein, Himself to offer worship,
Himself in activity involved, Himself to renunciation inclined;
Himself turning Preceptor, the inexpressible Truth expounds.
Himself of deeds of holiness inspiring the performance;
Himself abiding immaculate.[3]
Himself joy and suffering He sends.[4]
Himself grace confers. (8)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Shekā andaruh zoru chhaḍḍi tūṇ bhau kari jhallu gawāe
Listen, Sheikh ! Discard violence of mind; fear God;
Cast off thy dementia.
Many through fear of the Master have found liberation,
By such fear the state of fearlessness attaining.
By the holy Word let thy stubborn mind be penetrated,
That poise in thy mind take abode :
Whatever in poise of mind is accomplished,
To that the Lord accords approval.
Saith Nanak : None involved in lust and wrath attained Him—
Ask this of the enlightened. (1)

---

1. (Lit. died. In idiom also exhausted).
2. Vedas are the holy Scriptures of Hinduism, Puranas mythological tales and Shastras philosophical texts.
3. (That is, above good and evil).
4. Lit. Gives.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The egoist in Maya-attachment is involved, P. 552
To the Name not attaching himself;
False his doing, false his capital, from falsehood his sustenance derived.
Wealth that is Maya-poison he dies garnering—
In the end all turning to dust.
Within him abides evil of greed,
While outwardly he performs ritual actions, piety,
purificatory rites and self-restraint.
Saith Nanak : The egoist's doing by the Lord is not approved;
At the Divine Portal suffers he ignominy. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei khaṉī āpei bāṉī āpei khanḍ varbhanḍ karei

Himself has He made the four sources of creation,
Himself the various forms of utterance,
And continents and the universe.
Himself is He sea and ocean—
Himself therein placed pearls.[1]
These He grants to those having His grace,
Whom He makes God-directed.
Himself is He ocean of existence, Himself the ship;
Himself the pilot, Himself going across it.
Himself does the Creator accomplish all—
None His equal. (9)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Satiguru kī sevā saphal hai je ko karei chitt lāe

Full of blessing is service to the holy Preceptor, were one to perform it from the heart.
As is boon of the Name attained, the Lord above anxiety in the mind takes abode.
Then is annulled suffering of transmigration,
And pride and possessiveness vanish;
Attained is the lofty station,[2] and man in truth absorbed.
Saith Nanak : Those for whom the writ in primal time has run,
With the holy Preceptor's association are blessed.[3]

1. Used symbolically for spiritual qualities.
2. Implies liberation.
3. Lit. The holy Preceptor comes to meet them.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Dyed in the Name is the holy Preceptor, ship of Kali-Yuga.[1]
One turning Godward, enshrining the holy Eternal within, goes across.
Such a one the Name contemplates, the Name garners—
By devotion to the Name finds honour.
Saith Nanak : On attaining the holy Preceptor,
By grace comes this blessing. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Āpei pārasu āpi dhātu hai āpi kītonu kanchanu
Himself is He philosopher's stone, himself the metal transmuted,
Himself has He made it gold.
Himself is He Lord and devotee;
Himself annuls sins.
Himself in all beings He experiences life,
Himself the Maya-hue.
Himself the diseriminating understanding,
Himself the Knower;
Himself by the Master's guidance shatterer of Maya-illusion.
Nanak of the Creator's laudation never is tired—
Lord ! thou that art Supreme giver of joy. (10)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)
Binu satiguru sevei jīya kei bandhanāṇ jetei karam kamāe Without serving the holy Preceptor, all actions done are a bondage to the self.
Without serving the holy Preceptor the self finds not poise[2]—
Dying and being born, in transmigration it keeps caught.
Without service to the holy Preceptor is man's speech unpleasing;[3]
The Name in the self finds not lodgement.
Saith Nanak : Those not serving the holy Preceptor,
Bound in Yama's demesne, are chastized,
Departing life with faces blackened. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Some in humility[4] serve the holy Preceptor,
With the Name Divine falling in love.

1. The present Age of the world, full of sin.
2. Place (of rest).
3. Lit. Tasteless.
4. Lit. As menials.

Such, saith Nanak, ennoble their own life
And to their forebears bring liberation. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei chāṭsāl āpei hai pāndhā āpei chāṭarei paṛhan kau āṇei

Himself is He the school, Himself the Instructor;
Himself the pupils He brings in for instruction.
Himself father and mother; Himself to the children brings enlightenment.
Somewhere through some, all He studies and realizes;
Elsewhere others in ignorance He steeps.
Some into the Mansion[1] Thou dost call, as, holy Lord !
to Thy mind they be pleasing.
Those on whom by guidance of the holy Preceptor exaltation He confers, P. 553
At the eternal Portal
Their repute gets blazoned. (11)

Sloka (Composition attributed to Mardana)

Kali kalwālī kāmu madu manūā pīvaṇhāru

Kaliyuga is the vat, lust the wine; the mind the boozer.
With wrath is the cup by attachment filled;
Pride the cup-bearer.
In circle of false avarice, those thus boozing forfeit all honour.
Make good deeds and truth the molasses,
Thus the wine of truth thou distil.
Make good qualities the pan-cakes, good conduct the ghee,
Modesty the dish of flesh.
These dishes, saith Nanak, by the Master's guidance are obtained,
By whose consumption evil-thinking vanishes. (1)

Sloka (Composition attributed to Mardana)*

The body is the vat, ego the wine;
Restless desire the boozers' circle.
Passion the cup falsehood-filled, that Yama,
agent of death is doling out.
Saith Nanak; By drinking such wine are numerous sins earned.
Make enlightenment the molasses, Divine laudation
the pancakes,

---

1. Symbol for the Divine Essence.

* (This Sloka is generally interpreted as the answer by Sri Guru Nanak Dev to the foregoing).

Fear of God the dish of flesh.
Saith Nanak : Seeking prop of the holy Name
Is this the feast of truth. (2)

(Sloka)

Make the boy the vat; of the ego make wine,
Which in stream of amrita pours.
In unison with holy company, with cup of devotion
Quaff cupfuls of amrita—
By such quaffing is annulled evil-thinking. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei sūrinar gaṉ gandharbā āpei Khaṭ-Darshan kī bāṉī

Himself is He deities, human beings, groups of celestial choristers;
Himself texts of the Six Systems.
Himself Shiva, Shankara and Mahesha;[1]
Himself is the Lord the inexpressible Discourse.[2]
Himself Yogi and voluptuary;
Himself turned world-renouncing,[3] in wild places wandering.
With Himself holds He discourses;
Himself elegant form of enlightenment.
His playful gambols Himself He enacts;
All beings within His ken lie. (12)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Ehā sandhyā parwāṉu hai jitu Hari-Prabhu merā chitt āwai

That prayer alone is approved whereby is Lord brought to mind;
Whereby love for the Lord should rise and Maya-attachment be burnt.
Let man contemplate the prayer that by the Master's grace should destroy duality,
And give poise to the mind.
Saith Nanak : Any that with attitude to egoism offers prayer,
His mind is not poised; in transmigration ignominy he suffers. (1)

---

1. All these are different names of Shiva, with his various attributes.
2. Implies the unattributed Supreme Being (Nirguna Brahm).
3. Sannyasi.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Like the Chatrik over the world I wandered, uttering the Beloved's name.[1]
Saith Nanak : By contact with the holy Preceptor
is my thirst assuaged;
Returning to my home[2] the Beloved I attained. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Himself is He Essence and the Supreme Reality :
Himself Lord and servant.
Himself He made the eighteen castes;[3]
Himself the Supreme Being, assuming sovereignty over the universe.
Himself He visits creation with death, Himself spares life;
Himself grants liberation and exercises grace.
Never is anything put away from His mind—
Right His justice; right all from Him happening.
Those whom by the Master's guidance illumination He grants,
From their minds is illusion of duality banished. (13)

Sloka (Guru Arjan Dev)

Hari-Nāmu na simrehṇ Sādh-sangi tai tanu üḍḍai kheh

Those not contemplating the Name Divine in holy company,
Have dust flying over their limbs.[4]
Saith Nanak : Cursed be the joyless body that remembers not Him who created it. (1)

Sloka (Guru Arjan Dev)

With the Lord's lotus feet in the self lodged, P. 554
And the tongue repeating the Name Divine—
Saith Nanak : Cherish thou the body that so the Lord contemplates. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei aṭh-saṭh tīrath Kartā āpi karei ishnānu

Himself maker of the sixty-eight holy spots;
Himself bathing therein.
Himself the Lord exercising self-restraint,
Himself inspires utterance of the Name.

---

1. Prio, Prio (Lit. Beloved, Beloved), the Chatrik's cry.
2. (The contemplative self is implied).
3. The traditional number of the main castes and sub castes.
4. Body.

Himself in His grace fear He shatters;
Himself confers all boons.
Whomsoever by the Master's grace illumination He grants,
At the Divine Portal is eternally honoured.
The honour of whosoever is by the Lord protected,
Know him to be truly holy. (14)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Nanak binu Satiguru bheṭei jagu andhu hai andhei karam kamāe

Saith Nanak : Without the holy Preceptor's contact[1] is the world blind,
Acting blindly;
To the holy Word not forming attachment,
Whereby joy in the heart may come to abide.
Ever in dark Sloth[2] is the world straying—
Its days and nights in suffering passed,
All happens as pleases the Lord—nothing can man say in this. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Thus enjoined the holy Preceptor; this remedy you adopt :
Making resort to the Master's portal,[3] the Lord contemplate.
The Lord is ever by us; snapping curtains of illusion,
Inside yourself admit illumination.
The Name is amrita—let that be your medicine.
Keep in mind the holy Preceptor's will;
True love to it be your discipline.
Saith Nanak : In this world shall such discipline keep you in joy,
In the hereafter shall you gambol with the Lord. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei bhār aṭhārah banaspati āpei hī phal lāe

Himself is He the eighteen packs of vegetation;[4]
Himself to it provides the fruit.
Himself is He Gardener; watering it Himself,
Himself He consumes it.
Himself is He Creator and enjoyer thereof;
Himself on others confers it.

1. Meeting.
2. Tāmas.
3. Gurudwara.
4. Reference to the belief that one leaf taken from each species of vegetation would make eighteen loads or packs.

Himself Master and guardian; Himself in all creation pervasive.
Nanak, servant of God, the Lord's greatness expounds,
Who has not a grain[1] of greed. (15)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Maṉasu bhariyā āṉiyā maṉasu bhariyā āe

One brought in a flask full of wine.
Another a cup filled with that, drinking of which takes away sense,
And dementia results.
Man then distinguishes not between what is right and what wrong,[2]
And so from the Lord is pushed away.
Its drinking, of the Lord makes one forgetful,
And at the Divine Portal brings chastizement.
As far as lies in your power drink not this false wine.
Saith Nanak : By contact with the holy Preceptor
and with his grace,
Is obtained the true wine.
One drinking that, ever in joy in God shall abide,
And in His mansion find place. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The world, should it get true awareness, in life shall be as dead.
Sent by God to sleep,[3] in sleep is it involved;
When awakened, shall it regain consciousness.
Saith Nanak : Should the Lord east His glance of grace,
With the holy Preceptor He grants union.
Should man by the Master's grace find death[4] while living,
Nevermore shall he undergo death.[5] (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jis dā kītā sabhu kichh hovai tis no parwāh nāhīṇ kisai kerī

He by whose will all happens, on none is dependent.
Lord ! all consume what Thou dost grant;
All to Thee are beholden.
Whoever by grace of the Lord immaculate lauds Thee. P. 555

1. Lit. Sesame grain (Cf. Japuji 25).
2. Lit. What is his and what another's.
3. Sleep and waking are used metaphorically.
4. Used symbolically.
5. Death in the course of transmigration is implied.

All boons obtains.
He alone is truly wealthy,[1] the true merchant,
Who merchandize of wealth of the Name has packed.
Devotees of God ! laud Him all,
Who the heap of duality has smashed and thrown off. (16)

Sloka

Kabirā martā martā jagu mūā mari bhī na jānai koe

Kabir ! the world has ever been subject to death—
Few know how to die while living :
Whoever dies thus, nevermore shall die.[2] (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Who knows how we shall come to die ? what manner of death shall we get ?
Should the Lord not be put out of mind,
then is death easy.
The whole world is of death afraid—all wish to keep living.
Whoever by the Master's grace in life finds death,
Of the Ordinance[3] has realization.
Saith Nanak : Whoever dies thus, eternal life shall attain. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jā āpi kripālu hovai Hari swāmī tāṇ āpṇā
Nāuṇ Hari āpi japāvai

Should the Lord be gracious, contemplation of His Name He inspires.
Granting union with the holy Preceptor, joy He confers;
To the Lord is His devotee[4] pleasing.
Himself His servant's honour He protects—
At the feet of His devotees the world He inspires to fall.
Dharamaraja too is God's creature—
He approaches not God's devotees and servants.
Whoever is dear to the Lord, is by the whole world held dear.
The manifold creation knocks about,
Moving in transmigration. (17)

1. Shah, in applied sense, a rich man, banker.
2. This sloka appears at no. 29 among slokas of Kabir in the Granth Sahib.
3. Hukam.
4. Servant.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Rāmu Rāmu kartā sabhu jagu phirei Rāmu na pāiyā jāe

The whole world goes about in quest of God[1]—
God[1] unattainable remains;
Inaccessible, unknowable, supreme over all,
Immeasurable, beyond reckoning.
None His worth has reckoned; noway[2] can
He be purchased.
As is the mind penetrated by the Master's Word—
Thus in the mind comes He to abide.
Saith Nanak : Immeasurable is He—by the Master's grace in the mind become pervasive.
Himself He grants union; united, ever united
He abides. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

My self ! the Name is the sole wealth, that is bringer of eternal joy.
In it loss occurs never; ever is it profit-giving.
By consumption and expending not diminished—
Ever more of it by the Lord granted.
In possessing it anxiety never occurs, nor any loss.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance is it attained, by whomsoever He shows grace. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei sabh ghaṭ andarei āpei hī bāhari

Himself abides He in each vessel,[3] Himself without.
Himself operates He in secret, Himself manifestly.
Lying for thirty-six Yugas in darkness, in unbroken absorption He abided.
There were then no Vedas or Puranas—
The puissant Lord[4] solely then existed.
In absorption of ecstasy He sat, distinct from all.
His measure to Himself alone known;
Pure like a pearl[5] His Essence[6]. (18)

1. Rama.
2. That is, not by ritual performances etc.
3. That is, being.
4. Nara-Hari.
5. Gauhar (Pers.) a pearl.
6. Also interpreted as : 'Himself His depth He knows'.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Haumai vichi jagat mūā mardo mardā jāe

In egoism is the world ruined,[1] further and further declining.[2]
While breath lasts, it contemplates not what in the hereafter it will do.
The enlightened of this have consciousness; the unenlightened in blindness acting. P. 556
Saith Nanak : What man in this life performs, he attains;
The same in the hereafter to him comes. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

From the primal Divine Source has the law[3]
been received,
That without the holy Preceptor's guidance is not contemplated.
By contact with the holy Preceptor does the Lord come to pervade the devotee's inner being;
The devotee ever in fixed devotion to Him abides;
With each breath contemplating Him, not a breath is let go waste.
Then is his fear of transmigration ended, and exaltation of eternal life attained.
Saith Nanak : Such status to him alone is granted,
To whom the Lord in His will shows grace. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei dānā bīniyā āpei pardhānā

Himself is He all-wisdom, all-insight; Himself
pre-eminent among all.
Himself showing His form, Himself on it meditating.
Himself the cosmic silence,[4] Himself on enlightenment discourses.
To none is He unpleasant[5] to taste—pleasing to all.
Beyond expression His praise—to Him am
I ever a sacrifice. (19)

---

1. Dead.
2. Dying and dying.
3. Hukam.
4. Lit. Moni = one under a vow of silence.
5. Bitter.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Kalī andari Nanakā jinnāṇ kā autāru

Saith Nanak : In Kali-yuga are beings incarnations of evil spirits[1] :
The son a goblin, the daughter a witch; the wife leader of she-goblins. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Hindus basically are misguided, from the true path straying.
Their worship is as guided by Narada.[2]
Blind, dumb, totally blind are they :
These thoughtless, unintelligent people to stones offer worship.
The stone that itself shall sink, how may it make you swim ? (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sabhu kihu terai wasi hai tūṇ sacchā shāhu

All under Thy power lies; Thou the true monarch.
Devotees that in love of the sole Lord are dyed, by complete faith are inspired.
The Name Divine is amrita-feast that God's devotees consume to satiety.
Contemplation of God brings true profit, whereby are all boons obtained.
Saith Nanak : Inaccessible, unknowable is the Lord—
By Him, the Supreme Being, are His devotees cherished in love. (20)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sabhu kichhu Hūkamei āwandā sabhu kichhu Hūkamei jāe

All by Divine Ordinance[3] comes, by the Divine Ordinance goes.[4]
A thoughtless one presuming Himself powerful,
Is blind, acting blindly.
Saith Nanak : A rare one to whom the Lord in His will shows grace,
The Ordinance[3] realizes. (1)

---

1. Jinn (Ar.).
2. Narada is said to have initiated image-worship.
3. Hukam.
4. (May refer to birth and death, or to substance).

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
He alone is a true Yogi, the true praxis attaining,
Who with the Name Divine is blessed.
In such a Yogi's city of self reside all blessings—
By assumption of garb is not union[1] attained.
Saith Nanak : Rare is the Yogi in whose self the Lord manifests Himself. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei jantu upāiyanu āpei ādhāru

Himself beings He creates, Himself props them.
Himself the subtle essence, Himself the expanse of creation.
Himself abides He sole, Himself head of a vast progeny.[2]
Lord ! Nanak in charity seeks dust of feet of the holy.
None else see I provider—Thou truly munificent. (21) (1)

Found correct*

RAGA WADHANS

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality
Eternal, Immanent Creator,
Above fear, Above Rancour, Form
Eternal, Unincarnated, P. 557
Self-existant, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace
In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 1

Amlī amalu na ambaṛai machhchhī nīru na hoe

To the addict is nothing like his dope; to the fish nothing like water :
Those dyed in love of the Beloved, for all creation feel love.[1]
Lord ! to Thy Name am I a sacrifice; (1)
Offer myself as a sacrifice, cut to bits. (I-Pause)
The Lord is a fruit-bearing tree, named amrita :
Those that have quaffed it, are fulfilled—
To such am I a sacrifice. (2)
With all abiding, yet to me is He invisible :
How may the thirsty be satisfied, when against the Pool is standing a wall.[2] (3)
Nanak is Thy trader : Lord ! Thou my capital.
By Thy laudation and supplication to Thee alone,
Shall doubt from my mind be lifted. (4) (1)

Günwantī Shahu rāwiyā Nirgüna kūkei kāe

The woman of merit[3] with her Lord has enjoyed bliss;
Why must one without merit in jealousy wail ?
Should she acquire merit, the Lord shall favour her too. (1)
The Lord is so delightfully playful—why must the woman seek pleasure with others[4] ? (I-Pause)

1. That is, not for anyone in particular, like the addict and the fish.
2. (This is the wall of illusion, unenlightened ignorance).
3. Symbolizes the devoted seeker.
4. Implies false creeds and worldliness.

Make good deeds the magical rites, the heart the thread;
The bead to string it with money is not purchased :
To the heart should it be sewn.[1] (2)
As is the path indicated, I traverse it not, yet claim to have arrived at the destination.
Woman ! to thy Lord art thou not communicative—
How in His home mayst live ? (3)
Saith Nanak : None other than the sole Lord is there.
Shouldst thou with the Lord maintain love, to thee shall
He grant bliss. (4) (2)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 2

Morīṇ ruṉ jhūṉ lāiyā bhaiṉei Sāvaṉu āiyā

Sister[2] ! Savan[3] has come; raised are the peacocks' enchanting notes.
The strings[4] of Thy artless stabbing looks my passionate heart have captivated.
For a sight of Thee, would I cut myself to pieces—
To Thy Name sacrifice myself,
What pride in me where Thou art—what pride is mine ?
Woman ! smash bangles against thy couch, thy armlets and thy arms—
With all thy make-up is Thy Lord to others attached.
What worth the bangle-seller, what worth these bangles of ivory and glass ? P. 558
May these arms which embraced not the Lord, be burnt !
All my sister-friends have gone with their spouses to seek love;
At what door may I, burning in separation, find shelter ?
Sister mine[5] ! so well-mannered[6] am I; yet find
I not favour with the Lord.
To see me weep has the whole world wept—wept even birds of the forest—

1. (The syntax here is recast in rendering for clarity of comprehension. The figure is taken from women performing magical rites to win back their husbands' favour. There is a continuity of theme with the two foregoing verses).
2. (The seeker is figured as the ardent, yearning wife).
3. The romantic month of rains—July-August.
4. (Strings tied to feet of captive birds are implied).
5. (A female friend, a confidante is implied).
6. (Implies one meticulous in performing ritual piety, but without true devotion).

He in whose separation I wept still is untouched;[1]
That from the Beloved has separated me.
In my dream came He to me; with tears were my eyes filled.
Beloved, neither can I come to Thee, nor send to Thee messenger.[2]
Come thou blessed sleep; maybe in sleep His sight I have.
Nanak, what hast thou to offer to any that to thee His message brings ?
To offer Him my severed head for a seat: without this head to serve Him.
How may one not die; not immolate oneself, with the Lord staying aloof ? (1) (3)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mani mailai sabhu kichhu mailā tanu dhotai manu hachhā na hoe

With the mind impure, are all man's actions[3] impure;
With cleansing of the body is the mind not purified.
The world into illusion is fallen; rare is the person who of this has realization. (1)
My self ! meditate solely on the holy Name of God :
This treasure the holy Master on me has bestowed. (I-Pause) Should one learn to perform yogic postures and control the senses,
Even so is not impurity of the mind removed and filth of egoism not cast off. (2)
The mind is not controlled by any discipline except seeking shelter with the holy Preceptor;
Contact with the holy Preceptor turns the mind away from the world—
Inexpressible is this state. (3)
Saith Nanak : One who dies into the holy Preceptor's Word, True life thereby shall find :
Thus will the impurity of covetousness be cast off,
And the mind purified. (4) (1)

1. Has not wept.
2. Anyone.
3. Lit. All, everything.

By Divine grace[1] comes devotion to the holy Preceptor,
By grace[1] alone comes such devotion.
By grace[1] is the mind subdued and purified. (1)
My self ! meditate ever on the holy Eternal :
With meditation on the Sole Lord shalt thou find joy,
And never again by suffering be visited. (I-Pause)
By grace[1] does one find life after death to the world :
By grace[1] is the holy Word in the mind lodged.
By grace[1] does one realize the Divine Ordinance,[2]
And is therein absorbed. (2)
May the tongue[3] burn that has tasted not of joy in the Lord !
The tongue absorbed in worldly joys, in duality, finds only suffering. (3)
The Lord's glance holds all creation alike—
Himself too has He created distinctions.
Saith Nanak : Contact with the holy Preceptor brings fulfilment,[4] P. 559
And exaltation through devotion to the Name. (4) (2)

Mayā-mohu ghūbaru hai Guru binu gianu na hoe

Maya-attachment is a dust-storm;
Without the Preceptor's teaching comes not illumination :
Those engaged in contemplating the Word alone have realization;
Mankind in duality absorbed, is lost. (1)
My self ! thy actions guide as the Preceptor has instructed;
One ever absorbed with the Lord
Shall alone the Door of liberation attain. (I-Pause)
God is the Sole Treasure of merit;
One finds it only when He confers it.
Without devotion[5] the world from God is alienated.
Through the Preceptor's Word alone comes union. (2)
Those that have sought possessions[6] in the world, have at last been effaced;
Nothing with them has lasted.
Truth through the holy Preceptor is found;
Thus is one in the holy Name absorbed. (3)

1. Lit. Glance of grace.
2. Hukam.
3. Palate is meant.
4. Fruit.
5. Nām.
6. Lit. Have cried, 'mine, mine'.

This body is full of expectation and desire—
Light within yourself the flame of realization.
Saith Nanak : In bondage is the egoist;
Turning towards the Preceptor liberation confers. (4) (3)

Sohāgaṉī sadā mūkhu ūjjalā Guru kai sahaji sūbhāe

Ever radiant is the face of the devoted wife,[1]
Who from the Preceptor has acquired poise;
Ever is she blessed with her Lord's love,
By shedding off all egoism. (1)
My self, meditate ever on God's Name :
The holy Preceptor thus has given me realization of God. (I-pause)
The wife deserted[2] is piteously wailing, cast off from the Lord's Mansion :
Caught in duality, her face turns hideous,
And in the hereafter suffering she gets. (2)
The woman with merit[1] ever on her Lord's merits meditates,
And lodges in her heart the holy Name;
The woman lacking merit[2] ever in suffering wails. (3)
One sole Lord and Master of all is He;
Inexpressible His greatness.
Saith Nanak : Himself has He made beings from Himself separate;
Then to devotion prompted. (4) (4)

Amrit Nāmu sad mīṭhā lāgā Guru-shabdīṇ sādu āiyā

The holy Name immortalizing is ever joyful;
By the Master's Word is its joy felt.
The holy Word brings absorption in peace and poise—
This by the Lord in the heart is lodged. (1)
The Lord out of grace has granted union with
the holy Preceptor;
And by prompting of the Master, perfectly-endowed, has come meditation on God's holy Name. (I-Pause)
Brahma who uttered the text of the Veda,
Yet remained caught in Maya-delusion;
Shiva with his enlightenment, yet in-dark passion and egoism is involved. (2)

1. Symbol for the true devotee.
2. Symbol for those indifferent to devotion.

Vishnu[1] ever incarnating himself,
By whose teaching may the world be saved[2] ?
Those instructed by the Preceptor, dyed in God-consciousness—
In this age is their darkness of illusion lifted. (3)
Devotion to the holy Preceptor brings release;
One by him instructed alone finds liberation.
Those dyed in the holy Name are the true anchorities,
And the Door of Liberation attain. (4)
One Sole Truth pervades all creation,
And upholds all.
Saith Nanak : I cherish[3] not other than the sole Lord,
Who is the compassionate ruler of all. (5) (5)

Gurmukhi sanjamu tattu giānu

From the Preceptor comes holy discipline and realization of the Essence;
From the Preceptor comes prompting to meditation of the holy Eternal. (1)
By the Preceptor's instruction myself, on the holy Name meditate, P. 560
Which shall for ever uphold thee. (I-Pause)
The holy Lord alone is the honour[4] and exaltation on the true devotee;
To the devotee the Lord alone is the true friend. (2)
Whoever He favours, alone turns to devotion.
On the devotee He confers exaltation Himself. (3)
The devotee lives the true, holy Word.
Saith Nanak : The devotee brings to his whole family liberation.[5] (4) (6)

Rasnā Hari sādi lagī sahaji sūbhāe

My tongue[6] is spontaneously absorbed in joy in God.
By meditation on the holy Name, is content of soul found. (1)
Meditation on the holy Name brings joy imperishable :
May I ever be a sacrifice to the holy Preceptor. (I-Pause)

1. Original, Krishna.
2. Lit. Attaching itself to whom ?
3. Lit. Know, recognize.
4. Caste, high caste.
5. Cf. Japuji, 14.
6. Palate is meant.

By meditating solely on God the eyes look not covetously,[1]
And the mind is content, with duality gone. (2)
Through the holy Word and God's Name comes joy to body and limbs,
And fragrance of the Name in the heart is absorbed. (3) Saith Nanak : Only those with the writ of good fortune recorded on the forehead, Find renunciation spontaneously through the Preceptor's Word. (4) (7)

Pūrei Guru tei Nāmu pāiyā jāe

Devotion to the Name solely from the perfectly—endowed Master comes,
And comes absorption in the holy Word and holy Truth. (1)
My self ! by submission to the Preceptor,
Seek thou wealth of the Name. (I-Pause)
Through the Preceptor's Word cast off impurity of mind,
And lodge therein the immaculate Name of God. (2)
In illusion does the world wander about;
Whirled in transmigration and by Yama made to suffer ignominy, (3)
Saith Nanak : Supremely fortunate are those that on the Lord's Name meditate,
That by the Master's grace in their mind is lodged. (4) (8)

Haumai Nāvaiṇ nāli virodhu hai due na wasehṇ ik thāeṇ

Egoism and devotion are to each other opposed,
Abiding not together :
With egoism may service to the Master not be practised,
And the mind unsatisfied remains. (1)
My self ! meditate on the Lord and practise
the Preceptor's Word :
Through submission to the Divine Will is attained the Lord and egoism cast off. (I-Pause)
This body is egoism-filled;
From egoism has proceeded all process of being born.[2]
Egoism is a great dust-storm,
All realization clouding. (2)

1. Lit. Are full of content.
2. Being involved in transmigration is implied.

With egoism is devotion not performed, nor the Divine Ordinance[1] realized;
In egoism is the self in bonds, and the Name in the mind not lodged. (3)
Saith Nanak : Contact with the holy Preceptor casts off egoism,
And truth in the mind lodges.
Then does the self practise truth, live truth,
And through devotion, in the holy Eternal is absorbed. (9.12)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sej ek eko Prabhu Thākūru

One is the couch;[2] one Sole Lord :
The God-directed therein with the Lord, ocean of bliss have joy. (1)
My heart for union with the Lord yearns.
Union with the Beloved by the Master, perfectly-endowed may be brought about : P. 561
To the Master again and again am I a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
My body of faults is full :
How then with the Beloved, perfection incarnate,
may I find union ? (2)
Mother mine ! I have not the merits of those wives with merit endowed,
Who to the Beloved are united :
How then may I find union[3] ? (3)
With undertaking of numerous devices[4] am I exhausted.
Prayeth the humble Nanak : Save me, Lord ! (4) (1)

Merā Hari-Prabhu sūndaru maiṇ sār na jāṇī*

Of the beauteous Lord I realized not the value :
Discarding the Lord, to another was I attracted. (1)
How may I, so immature[5], with the Lord find union ?
One that the Spouse's favour wins, alone has bliss,

---

1. Hukam.
2. Symbol for the devoted heart.
3. (Lines transposed for facility of elucidation).
4. Implies ritual actions etc.

* Note : The image maintained herein is of the wife cast off by the Spouse for her demerits. This mode is common in the devotional portions in the holy Granth Sahib.

5. Iyanī (feminine form) lit. one that has no knowledge of anything.

She is the wise one, having union with Him. (I-Pause)
Full of faults that I am, how may I find the Lord ?
Numerous are those beloved of Thee—how may I ever
Thy mind enter ? (2)
One having bliss with the Lord is alone happily wedded.
Such merits I, unfortunate one have not : what help for me[1] ? (3)
The happily wedded wife ever with the Lord has bliss :
Were that sometime me, unfortunate one, to His bosom[2]
He clasps. (4)
Thou Lord, art full of merits, I with demerits full.
I Nanak, am without merit, helpless—
Save me ! (2)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Maiṇ mana waddī ās Harei kiūṇ kari Hari darshan pāwāṇ
Lord ! great yearning have I to have sight of Thee.[3]
Of the holy Preceptor this would I enquire;
By his teaching my ignorant mind should I instruct.
The deluded mind by the Master's Word is enlightened,
And ever on the Lord meditates.
Saith Nanak : On whomsoever the Beloved casts
His glance of grace,
His heart to the Lord's feet gets attached. (1)
To win the Beloved's favour various garbs I assume,
That to Him I be pleasing.
Yet the Beloved Spouse casts not a glance at me—
How may I find consolation ?
He for whose favour is all my decking done,
To others is attached.
Saith Nanak : Thrice blessed is the wife who with her noble
Spouse has bliss. (2)
Behoves it of the blessed wives I query :
How with the Lord you have bliss ?
Replied one : As thoughts of mine and thine I discarded,
The holy Lord grace to me showed.

1. Lit. What lies in my power ?
2. Neck.
3. Of the Lord.

Sister ! mind and body to the Lord dedicate.
By this path may union with the Lord be found.
Saith Nanak : Light into His Light will merge, when the Lord
His glance of grace casts. (3)
My mind and body shall I dedicate to any
Who the Lord's message to me brings.
Over such a one the fan shall I wave; serve him,
Draw water for him.
Ever shall I serve the Lord's devotee who to me of the Lord discourses. P. 562
Saith Nanak : Blessed be the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed,
Who my heart's yearning fulfils. (4)
Lord ! with the Master, true friend, grant me union,
By whose touch on the Name Divine I meditate.
From the holy Preceptor I learn the Divine discourse;[1]
And in unison with him Divine laudation chant.
Ever Divine laudation may I chant;
Listening to Thy Name may my self find life ?
This is Nanak's prayer : Whenever of the Lord I be forgetful,
May death on my self fall ! (5)
All yearn for the Lord's sight,
Such alone have it as He Himself so favours.
On whomsoever the Beloved casts His glance of grace,
Ever the Lord contemplates.
Such alone the Lord everlastingly contemplate,
As with the Master, perfectly-endowed have contact.
Saith Nanak : Merged into each other are the Lord's devotee and the Lord—
One contemplating the Lord into Him is merged. (6) (1.3)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Ati ūchā Tā kā durbārā

Lofty in extreme is His court,
Beyond end and limit.
Despite millions of efforts,
Even a trace of His Mansion shall one not find. (1)

1. Lit. Discussion, dialogue.

When shall come the agreeable hour when union with the Lord will come about ? (I-Pause)
He who by a hundred thousand devotees is contemplated;
For whom a hundred thousand anchorites austerities perform,
For whom a hundred thousand Yogis undertake Yoga-praxis
And a hundred thousand householders in enjoyment of worldly pleasures are engaged : (2)
In each being[1] is He lodged, though few know of Him.
Is there any of the noble-hearted who this veil has rent ?
By his instruction shall I make effort whereby
He may show grace.
To such a one may one dedicate one's life, be a sacrifice. (3)
After long wanderings to God's devotees have I come;
Who all my suffering and doubt have annulled.
The Lord into His Mansion called me, where amrita I consumed.
Saith Nanak; Lofty in extreme is the Lord. (4) (1)

Dhannu su velā jitu darshan karnā

Blessed the hour in which the Lord's sight I may have.
To the holy Preceptor's feet, who this sight grants,
am I a sacrifice.[2] (1)
Beloved Lord, who life hast conferred,
My self in contemplation of Thy Name finds life. (I-Pause)
True is Thy Word; ambrosial Thy utterance.
Cooling is Thy gaze, Thou who art all-knowing. (2)
Eternal is Thy Ordinance, Thou who on Thy throne art established.
Immune from birth and death is the eternal Lord. (3)
Thou the compassionate one; I your humble slave.
Saith Nanak : In all creation is the Lord pervasive. (4) (2)

Tūṇ beantu ko virlā jāṇai

Beyond limit art Thou—this a rare one realizes.
A rare one by the Master's grace through the holy Word realizes Thee. (1)
This, Beloved ! is your servant's prayer :
Lord ! May I find life by contemplating your feet. (I-Pause) P. 563
Compassionate Supreme Being; Lord Bestower of boons !

1. Vessel.
2. Hum in Hindi idiom also stands for 'I'.

Whomsoever with your realization you favour,
Has realization. (2)
Ever to you am I a sacrifice.
In this world and the hereafter your shelter I seek. (3)
I that am without merit, your benefactions have not realized.
At sight of the holy is Nanak's heart in devotion dyed. (4) (3)

Antarjāmī so Prabhu pūrā

The Lord, perfection incarnate, is controller of our inner being[1] :
May He confer on me boon of dust of feet of the holy ! (1)
Lord compassionate to the humble ! show Thy grace.
Lord perfection incarnate ! in Thee alone lies my shelter. (I-Pause)
On water and land is He pervasive—
The Lord that is so close, not far. (2)
Whomsoever He shows grace, on Him meditates,
And day and night[2] the Lord's praise chants. (3)
All creation has He cherished.
Nanak at the Divine Portal on His shelter has fallen. (4) (4)

Tūṇ waḍ-dātā antarjāmī

Thou the great Bestower of boons; controller of the inner life—
Lord perfection incarnate, in all beings pervasive. (1)
Beloved Lord ! Thy Name is my prop.
In listening to your Name find I life. (I-Pause)
Holy Preceptor, perfectly endowed, thy shelter I seek :
May my heart by dust of feet of the holy be purified. (2)
Thy lotus feet in my heart have I cherished.
To Thy sight am I a sacrifice. (3)
Show grace that Thy laudation I chant.
Saith Nanak : In uttering Thy Name may I obtain joy. (4) (5)

Sādh-sangi Hari amritu pījai

In holy company quaff the Divine amrita :
Thereby shall come neither death to the self nor decline. (1)
By great good fortune is obtained the Master, perfectly-endowed.
By the Master's grace comes inducement to meditation on the Lord. (I-Pause)

---

1. Antarjami (antaryamin).
2. All eight pahars.

The Name Divine is diamonds, pearls and rubies :
By contemplation of the Lord have we obtained bliss. (2) Wherever my glance I cast, shelter with the holy is the greatest boon.
By chanting Divine laudation is the heart rendered pure. (3)
In each being is the Lord lodged.
Saith Nanak : By the Lord's grace is obtained blessing of the Name. (4) (6)

Visaru nahīṇ Prabh dīn-dayālā

Lord, compassionate to the humble, be Thou not put out of my mind !
Donor of perfect grace, Thy shelter have I sought. (I-Pause)
Agreeable is the spot where Thy contemplation is.
Whenever art thou forgotten, is my being full of regrets. (1)
All beings are Thine; ever art Thou by their side.
With support of Thy arm from the ocean of existence dost Thou extricate them. (2)
By Thee is transmigration initiated :
Whomsoever thou dost save, from suffering is immune. (3)
Thou the sole Master—none other.
Nanak with folded hands to Thee offers supplication. (4) (7)

Tūṇ jāṇāeh tā koī jāṇai

Realization comes as by Thee granted;
And man the Name as inspired by Thee, utters. (1)
Wonderful art Thou; full of marvels Thy might. (I-Pause)
Thou art the cause and the deed. P. 564
By Thy Ordinance comes birth, by the Ordinance death. (2)
Thy Name is prop of mind and body.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : This too is by Thy grace. (3) (8)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Merai antari lochā milan kī Pyārei haun kivṇ pāiṇ Guru pūrei

Beloved ! inside me is yearning for union with Thee :
How may I meet the Master, perfectly-endowed, to guide me ?
Despite a hundred beguilements, the child without milk finds no rest.

My sister-friend[1] ! the hunger of my heart goes not,
Be a hundred viands set before me.
My mind and body with love for the Beloved is filled—
How without a sight of him may the heart[2] find rest ? (1)
Listen, my friend, cherished brother[1] !
To the friend,[3] donor of joy unite me.
To him is known the suffering of my heart;
Ever of the Lord discoursing to me.
For an instant without Him find I not rest,
As the chatrik wailing for water.
How many of Thy merits may I recount—Thou who art saviour of myself, devoid of merit. (2)
For the Spouse, sister-friend[1] ! am I dejected : When shall my eyes have sight of Him ?
Forgotten are all joy and pleasure—without the Beloved are these of no account.
Raiment to my limbs is disagreeable—
Nor decking of myself.
To such of the sister-friends[1] make I obeisance,
As with the precious Beloved have had bliss. (3)
My sister-friend[1] ! all decking[4] have I adopted—
Without the Beloved is it of no avail.
My sister-friend[1] ! with the Lord indifferent, my youth is going all waste.
My sister-friend[1] ! blessed are the happy wives[5]
In whose hearts is the Spouse pervasive.
My sister-friend[1] ! to such wives[5] am I a sacrifice—
Ever their feet my I wash. (4)
My sister-friend[1] ! while illusion of duality lasted,
The Lord I reckoned far.
As my sister-friend,[1] was the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowedment,
Fulfilled were all my hopes and desires.
Then, my sister-friend[1] ! the supreme joy I achieved,
As realization came of the Lord pervading all existence.
My sister-friend[1] ! by touching feet of the holy Preceptor, Nanak, servant of God tasted joy in the Lord. (5) (1.9)

---

1. Image for a fellow-seeker.
2. Mana.
3. (The Guru, guide to union with God, is implied).
4. Implies actions of ritual piety.
5. (The devout who have love of the Lord).

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sacchī bāṉī sacchu dhüni sacchu shabadu vīchārā

To listen to the holy texts, in tunes inspiring devotion,
And contemplation of the holy Word;
Lauding the holy Eternal unceasingly—
Such is my blessing and good fortune. (1)
My self ! be thou a sacrifice to the holy Name.
Shouldst thou be God's humblest servant,[1]
Then mayst thou devotion to the holy Name attain. (I-Pause)
With the tongue truthful, dyed in truthfulness, P. 565
Are body and mind rendered pure.
Laudation of other than the holy Eternal
Makes total waste of one's life. (2)
Raising crops of truthfulness is the truest commerce :
Earning thus the profit of devotion to the Name day after day,
Thy stores with the wealth of devotion shall be full. (3)
To make truthfulness one's food, truthfulness too the wear;
To seek shelter with God's holy Name—
Such blessing comes to whomsoever this He grants—
In the Divine Mansion such a one finds abode. (4)
Those whose birth is holy, and holy their departure—
No more in transmigration are caught.
By Godward-turning are they reckoned pure at the holy Portal,
And into the holy Eternal are absorbed. (5)
May I be a sacrifice to the holy Preceptor, who thus has endowed me,
With pure heart and mind to raise holy laudation,
With attitude of sincerity to chant praise of the Eternal. (6)
Blessed is the occasion and the hour in which devotion to the holy Eternal is formed.
Then is sight turned pure, speech purified,
And as pure is all creation viewed. (7)
Saith Nanak : Union has come about as the holy Eternal has made it :
Himself He unites the devotee.

1. Lit. Servant of servants, slave of slaves.

He keeps the creation as pleases Him,
His own pleasure fulfilling. (8) (1)

Manūā dah-dis dhāwandā uhu kaisei Hari-gūṉa gāwai

How may the mind wandering in all[1] directions raise Divine laudation,
As the senses overpower it and lust and violence oppress it ? (1)
Spontaneously raise the chant of laudation.
Devotion to God's Name is in this era rare.
Through the Preceptor's guidance joy in God you quaff. (I-Pause)
As through realization of the holy Word is the mind purified,
The Lord it lauds;
As by wisdom given by the Master it knows itself,
In its own abode it settles.[2] (2)
My self ! sing ever the Lord's praise, dyed in devotion to Him.
The Lord immaculate confers joy imperishable;
From Him find fulfilment. (3)
By seeking shelter with God were we exalted from a low state;[3]
God in His greatness saved from sinking,
One that was a sinking stone. (4)
By enlighenment given by the Master did we turn from poison into amrita;
As fragrance of devotion settled within us,
From bitter akk[4] did we turn into sandalwood. (5)
The human incarnation is a rare gift;
Only by earning it does one find it.
By great good fortune is the holy Preceptor met,
And meditation on God's Name found. (6)
Egoists deluded seek poison;
Their human life a waste :
God's Name, unending ocean of joy, and the holy Word,
To them has not appealed. (7)
All utter God's Name by their tongue;
Few in the heart lodge it.
Saith Nanak : Those in the heart lodging it,
Liberation and release attain. (8) (2)

1. Lit. Ten.
2. That is, ceases to wander.
3. The spiritually unawakened state is implied.
4. A wild plant bearing bitter conical fruit.

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Chhant (lyrics)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kāyā kūṛ vigāṛ kāhei nhāīyai

With the body by falsehood defiled, what good ritual bathing ?
Such bathing alone is approved, as practice of truth accompanies.
With truth lodged within, is the holy Eternal attained. P. 566
Without recorded destiny comes not realization—
Utterance without realization is only void.
One must utter what is good, wherever one be settled;
And in the holy truth absorb the consciousness.
With the body by falsehood defiled,
what good ritual bathing ? (1)

Tāṇ main kahiyā kehaṇu jā Tūjhai kahāiyā

I have uttered only what Thou hast inspired.[1]
The Name Divine ambrosial, to my mind is pleasing.
As is the sweet Name turned pleasing to the mind,
Is the house of suffering demolished.
As by Thee ordained, has joy in my mind taken abode.
Thou who hast created all existence,
At my prayer hast cast Thy glance of grace.
I have uttered only what Thou hast inspired.[1] (2)

Wārī khasam kaḍhāe kiratu kamāwāṇā

As retribution for our deeds does the Divine
Master exact work.[2]
Beware lest by speaking ill of any, with Him you enter into dispute.
With the Master enter not into dispute—
Thereby does one only do oneself damage.
He with whom one has to live, why with Him enter into rivalry and wail after ?
Whatever He gives, borne must be;
One's own mind should be instructed,
And no complaint proclaimed.
As retribution for our deeds does the Divine
Master exact work.[2] (3)

---

1. Made me utter.
2. Lit. Forces us to take a turn at work (implies the period of transmigration).

Sabh upāīyanu āpi āpeī nadar karei

All has He created : on all casts His glance of grace.
Pain none desires; all after pleasure seek.
Pleasure all seek—the Divine Master does as be His will.
Charities, largesses and numerous ritual deeds—
None devotion to the Name equals.
Saith Nanak : Such alone devotion to the Name have obtained
As once in primal Time with grace were visited.
All has He created; on all casts His glance of grace. (4) (1)

Karuh dayā Terā Nāmu vakhāṇāṇ

Show compassion that Thy Name I utter.
All has He created; in all pervasive.
In all art Thou pervasive; creating all, hast Thou set them to various tasks.
Some hast Thou made rulers, others made to wander along begging.
Avarice and attachment hast Thou made attractive[1]—
In this illusion is the world lost.
Ever show grace, that the Name I utter. (1)

Nāmu Terā hai sāchā sadā maiṇ mani bhāṇā

Eternally holy is Thy Name, to my heart[2] pleasing.
Thereby is gone suffering, and joy my being pervades,
Gods and the wise, enlightened among men laud Thee.
Such of the gods and the wise, enlightened
among men laud Thee,
As to Thy heart[2] are pleasing.
Those in Maya attachment caught contemplate Thee not—
Their lives vainly forfeited.
The crassly stupid remember not, that all who are born,
Must inevitably depart.
Eternally holy Thy Name, to my heart[2] pleasing. (2)

Terā wakht sūhāwā amrit Terī bāṇī

Agreeable is the hour of Thy contemplation.
Ambrosial Thy utterance.
Those that find Thy service pleasing, with devotion serve Thee;
Such alone find Thee pleasing, as amrita of devotion have obtained.

1. Sweet.
2. Mana.

Those in Thy Name dyed ever are in the ascendant.
Ritual actions, pieties and self-discipline no value have without the sole Lord's realization.
Ever agreeable is the hour of Thy contemplation,
Ambrosial Thy utterance. (3)

Hauṇ balihārī sāchei nāwaiṇ

To the Name Eternal am I a sacrifice— P. 567
Everlasting be Thy rule !
Everlasing Thy rule—may it ever abide !
Such alone serve Thee as in God-given enlightenment[1]
are absorbed.
Such from foes and suffering are totally immune;
Sin approaches them not.
Ever to Thy sole Name am I a sacrifice ! (4)

Jügah jügantari bhagat Tümhārei

Age after age, Lord ! your devotees
At your Portal your laudation proclaim :
The Sole Eternal Being's[2] Name they utter.
The Eternal Being's[2] Name they utter,
As this in their mind Thou dost lodge;
As the illusion of doubt made by Thee Thou dost remove.
By the Master's grace show compassion,
from Yama save me.
Age after age abide your devotees. (5)

Waḍḍei merei sāhibā alakh apārā

Lord Supreme, inaccessible, beyond limit !
How to Thee may I utter supplication ? I know not the way of utterance.
Shouldst Thou show grace, holy Truth may I realize;
Thy Truth may I realize as Thou mayst Thyself
grant realization;
As of the suffering and desire made by Thee in the world,
illusion Thou dost lift.
Thus doth Nanak submit in humility : By the Master's teaching is lifted this illusion.
Supreme, inaccessible, without limit is the Lord. (6)

1. Sahaje.
2. Murari.

Terei banke loin dant rīsālā

Beautiful Thy eyes, sweet pearly[1] teeth;
Straight Thy nose, long Thy tresses.
Golden Thy frame, as cast in gold—
In gold cast, with the Krishna rosary.
My sister-friends[2] ! his name you utter.
My sisters[2] ! listen to this teaching : Thus shall you not be dragged[3] to Yamas' gate.
By contemplation of Him shall Cranes turn into Swans.
Beautiful Thy eyes, sweet pearly[1] teeth. (7)

Terī chāl sūhāwī mudhūrāṛī baṉī

Pleasing Thy gait, sweet Thy utterance,
As Koila's singing. Liquid Thy youth.
Liquid Thy youth, compellingly pleasing—
Pray grant my heart's desire.
Like decked elephant in measured steps dost Thou move.
The devotee-female Divinely—intoxicated, like Ganga-waves steps about.
Thus states in humility Nanak, servant of God :
Pleasing Thy gait, sweet Thy utterance. (8) (2)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Chhant (Lyrics)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Āpṉei Pir kai rangi rattī muiyei sobhāwantī nārei

Dear girl-child[4] ! with beauty on thee from the dye of thy Lord's love;
Dear child ! attuned to the holy Word,
Having bliss of thy Lord's love through thy devotion;
Thou with sincere love in thy heart, cherished by the Lord,
For Him dost bear fervent love.
By sacrifice of egoism hast thou found thy Beloved—
By absorption in the Master's Word.
Thou art the loving wife, by the holy Word ennobled,
Tense with love, bearing devotion in thy heart.

1. Lit. Sweet, delightful.
2. Symbol for devotees.
3. Shall not be made to standat.
4. Original, muiyei : vocative form of muyee (one dead); in Punjabi idiom, a term of affectionate endearment, particularly as addressed to a young girl by an elderly person.

Saith Nanak : To such a woman the Lord Himself grants union—
By the holy Lord is she cherished. (1)

Nirgūṉwantaṟīyei Piru dekhi hadūrei Rāma

Thou woman of little merit ! see thy Lord is ever by thy side.
Dear maid[1] ! those who love their Lord, P. 568
Have sight of Him pervasive everywhere;
Pervasive everywhere, see Him before their eyes,
Unchanging through the ages.
The simple, raw girl-child through spontaneous love shall get His love, who our actions rewards.
The wife tasting of joy in God, uttering for Him words of laudation,
Shall in the Divine Pool remain immersed.
Saith Nanak : The woman favoured of the Lord
Is one ever living by the holy Word, abiding in His presence. (2)

Sohāgaṉī jāe pūchhuh muīyei jinnhīṇ vicchoṇ āpu gawāiyā

Dear girl[1] ! go and ask those happily-wedded :
They are the ones who their egoism have shed.
Dear girl-child[1] ! those not shedding egoism,
Of the Beloved's command are not aware.
Those shedding egoism have the Beloved found,
And have frolicsome joy.
Such a wife ever is in joy, with mind fulfilled,
Ever lauding the holy Name.
Blessed is the woman with devotion in her heart,
Who finds joy in devotion.
Saith Nanak : The woman lives ever in spontaneous joy,
Who with truth is decked. (3)

Haumai māri muiyei tūṇ challu Guru kai bhāe

Dear girl-child[1] ! discard thy ego, and by the Master's will abide;
And abiding place[2] find in thy true home.
One abiding in her true home and raising words
of holy laudation,
Imperishable conjugal bliss shall enjoy.
With the Beloved playful, in prime of youth—
Cherished ever by her Lord.

1. Original, muiye (already explicated).
2. Peace and poise is implied.

Thus will she bear bliss with the Divine Lord,
Bearing on her forehead marks of fortune,
Ennobled by the holy Word.
Saith Nanak : The woman shall have joy in the Lord,
Should she by the holy Preceptor's will abide. (4) (1)

Gurmukhi sabhu vāpāru bhalā jei sahajei kījai Rāma

All commerce undertaken with the Master's instruction, with poise of mind, is good.
Day by day must one the Name expound,
And as reward quaff joy in God :
By ever expounding the Name in devotion to the Lord,
The reward shall come of joy in God.
Garner merit, discard evils and have the true vision of the self;
By the wisdom and exaltation by the Master given,
Quaff joy in the holy Word.
Saith Nanak : Devotion to the Lord is a unique experience,
Come to the rare brings that are Divinely-directed. (1)

Gurmukhi khetī Hari antari bījīyai Hari lījai sarīri jāmāe Rāma

The crop of devotion to God in the mind is sown;
In the self it sprouts.
Abiding in thy self, quaff thou this joy,
And in poise of mind garner this profit.
This profit got in poise of mind by lodging the Lord in the mind.
Is truly worthy of praise.
Let the devotee lodging God's Name in the mind,
The Master's teaching realize.
Egoists engage to exhaustion in farming and trade—
Their desire[1] still unfulfilled remains.
Saith Nanak : In the mind sow the holy Name—
Thus will you get exaltation through the holy Word. (2)

Hari vāpār sei jana lāgei jinnhāṇ mastaki
maṇī waḍbhāgo Rāma

Those alone engage in holy commerce,
Who on their forehead bear the jewel of good fortune.
By the Master's teaching the mind finds poise,[2]

1. Thirst and hunger.
Note : Line-endings in this composition, bear the word 'Rama' which is a poetic mode in sacred verse, and need not be shown in translation. Its sound however, creates, a noble spiritual atmosphere and rhythm.
2. Lit. Abides in its own home.

And through the holy Word practises renunciation.
Such bear marks of good fortune on their face and forehead;
Through truth renunciation they practise;
In holy thought their minds dyed.
Bereft of the Name the whole world is mad—
Through the holy Word is egoism discarded.
Devotion to the holy Word brings true wisdom, P. 569
And from the Master's teaching comes bliss of devotion to the Name.
Saith Nanak : As is found the holy Word,
annuller of Yama's terror,
Through good fortune recorded on the forehead,[1]
Does man to the Lord devote himself. (3)

Khetī vaṇaju sabhu Hūkam hai Hŭkamei manni waḍiyāī Rāma

True farming and trade lies in obeying God's will—
From obedience comes exaltation.
By the wisdom granted by the Master is God's will realized.
Through obedience to the Divine will comes union with God.
One united through obedience finds poise
In the unfathomable Word of the Master.
True exaltation from the Master comes :
The truth taught by him brings exaltation.
By discarding egoism is attained the Annuller of Yama's terror,
And through devotion to the Preceptor comes union with God.
Saith Nanak : By uttering the Name immaculate,
inaccessible, unknowable—
In the Divine will[2] is one merged. (4) (2)

Mana meriyā tūṇ sadā sacchu samāli jīo

My self ! ever on the Eternal Being meditate;
Thus wilt thou abide in happiness in thy own place—
Yama and death then shall not have power to touch thee.
By meditation on the holy Word shalt thou not be touched by the snare of death and Yama;
Thy mind ever in truth and purity shall be dyed—
Thy transmigration annulled.
The world in illusion of duality is lost;
Caught in egoism, is it in the grip of death and Yama.

---

1. The implication is of predestination to devotion.
2. Hukam.

Saith Nanak : Listen my mind ! On the Eternal
Being ever meditate ! (1)

Mana meriyā antari terai nidhānu hai bāhari wastu na bhāli

My self ! inside thee lies the rich store—
Seek not for thy objective[1] without.
With this enjoy thy fill,
And guided by the Preceptor, abide in God's glance of grace;
By the Preceptor guided, my self ! abide in God's glance of grace.
Inside thee is thy truc friend, God's Truth.[2]
The egoists purblind, bereft of enlightenment,
Lost in duality, are undone.
Without devotion[2] none release shall find,
But shall by Yama and death be bound.
Saith Nanak : Inside thee lies the rich store—
Seek not for thy objective[1] outside. (2)

Mana meriyā janamu padārathu pāi kai iki sacchi lagei vāpārā

My self ! with the invaluable blessing of human birth,
Some in the commerce of truth are engaged;
Their holy Master they serve—their minds filled with the holy Word illimitable :
In their minds the Word illimitable,
With devotion to the Name, find they the Nine Treasures.
Egoists by Maya-delusion are gripped;
By suffering tormented, in duality end they in ignominy.
Those subduing egoism and in the holy Word absorbed,
Deep-dyed in truth abide.
Saith Nanak : Invaluable is the human incarnation—
This truth the holy Preceptor has revealed. (3)

Mana merei Satiguru sevani āpaṉā sei jana waḍbhāgi Rāma

My self ! truly fortunate are those serving
the holy Preceptor.
True anchorites are those who the senses subdue.
Such the true anchorites; their minds on truth fixed,
Their essence they realize.
Fixed unshakeable in truth their understanding,
By the Preceptor's teaching spontaneously
they utter the holy Name.

1. Implies devotion, liberation.
2. Lit. Name.

Some lust after woman, seek attachment of Maya; Egoists and those asleep to truth—these are the unfortunate ones.
Saith Nanak : Those with spontaneous zeal serving the Lord,
Are the immensely fortunate ones. (4) (3)

Ratan padārath vaṉajīyeh Satiguri dīyā būjhāī Rāma

Hold commerce on jewel-commodities[1] as by the holy Preceptor instructed.
True profit and gain in devotion to the Lord lies,
In merging one's qualities into the Divine attributes : P. 570 Merged into the Divine shall be he whom He Himself so instructs.
In the world true gain in devotion lies.
Without devotion no joy shall come.
In duality must one meet ignominy;
Through wisdom given by the Preceptor must one seek prop of the Name.
The commodity of devotion to the Name profit unfailingly brings
To whomsoever God to such commerce sets.
Hold commerce in jewel-commodities[1] as by the holy
Preceptor instructed. (1)

Maya mohu sabhu dukkhu hai khoṭā ihu vāpārā Rāma

Maya-attachment is utterly the source of suffering
A losing trade.
Through falsehood to swallow poison—
Abounding evil from this arises :
Much evil thus ariese; abode of doubts is the world;
Those without devotion to the Name meet only ignominy.
Scholars[2] who study Scripture only hold disputations;
Know, without realization comes not true joy.
Of those caught in attachment to Maya, transmigration shall not cease.
Attachment to Maya is source of suffering;
Losing is this trade. (2)

Khoṭei kharei sabh parkhīyani tit Sacchei kai durbārā Rāma

In the Eternal Court the spurious and genuine coins,

1. Devotion is implied by this image.
2. Pandit.

All shall be tested.
The spurious shall from the Portal be cast off,
Wailing as they lie.
These thoughtless barbarians as they lie shall wail.
Thoughtless egoists—their life a waste has been.
Poisonous is Maya that the world has deluded—
Its votaries have cherished not the holy Name.
Egoists in setting up against God's devotees,
Meet only suffering in the world.
Know that the spurious and the genuine shall at the holy Court be tested. (3)

Āpi karei kisu ākhīyai horu karṉā kichhū na jāī Rāma

All that happens is by His will;
To whom may man complain ?
Nothing else avails.
He sets each to a task as it pleases Him—
As lies in his might,
Each He sets to tasks as it pleases Him—
None is in himself a hero or coward :
The Source of universal life,
Bestower of rewards for deeds—
In His will alone lies deliverance.
Saith Nanak : By grace of the Master is egoism cast off,
And exaltation through the Name achieved.
All happens as He wills—
To whom to complain ?
Nothing else avails. (4) (4)

Sacchā saudā Hari-Nāmu hai sacchā vāpārā Rāma

Devotion to the Lord's Name is the true bargain,
the true commerce.
By wisdom given by the holy Master is commerce in the Name conducted,
Whose value is immensely high :
High is the value of this holy commerce—
Only the supremely fortunate therein get engaged.
Within and without are they dyed in devotion;
Their minds in the holy Name centred.

Note : In the above Chhant and some others 'Rama' is used as a euphonious refrain, and need not be shown in translation.

Only one on whom falls grace, this truth finds,
By contemplating the Master's Word.
Saith Nanak : Only those dyed in the Name,
Those holding commerce in holiness, attain joy. (1)

Haumai māyā mailu hai māyā mailu bharījai Rāma

Egoism and Maya are impurities—
One indulging in such is polluted.
By the Master's teaching is the mind rendered pure,
And the palate[1] tastes of joy in God.
The palate[1] of joy has taste,
The heart is drenched therein,
By contemplation of the holy Word.
Inside lies a well with amrita overflowing,
By the holy Word does the water-carrier maid draw it out.
Whoever has Divine favour, in pursuing truth engages.
My tongue, ever utter God's Name.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name are the truly pure;
All others with egoism's filth are polluted. (2)

Pandit jotakī sabhi paṛhi paṛhi kūkadei kis peh karehṇ pūkārā Rāma

Scholars[2], astrologers all shout out their learning— P. 571
Into whose ear want they to pour their noise ?
Soiled by Maya-attachment, their commerce is in Maya.
Of Maya their commerce, to worldliness are they attached—
In transmigration would they suffer.
Poison-worms, in poison are they rolling,
And in filth absorbed.
One's actions are as in primal time recorded—
This none has power to efface.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name find joy—
Others only in ignorance and folly shout to exhaustion. (3)

Māyā mohi manu rangiyā mohi sūddh na kāī Rāma

With the mind in Maya-delusion dyed,
All discrimination disappears.
With the mind dyed through the Master's teaching.
Is the dye of duality washed off.

1. Lit. Tongue.
2. Pandit.

With the dye of duality gone is the mind in truth absorbed,
And with truth are the stores filled.
One enlightened by the Master alone has realization,
And is with truth exalted.
By Divine favour alone is union with God attained—
Nothing else may one speak of this mystery.
Saith Nanak : Those without devotion to the Name are in delusion lost;
To those dyed in the Name comes joy. (4) (5)

Ei mana meriyā āvāgaunu sansāru hai anti sacchu niberā Rāma

Listen my self ! The world in transmigration is caught;
By truth shall all in the end be determined;
The holy Eternal alone may in His grace grant liberation—
Then shall transmigration cease.
Transmigration shall cease and truth determine all :
By following the Preceptor's teaching shall exaltation be attained.
Those dyed in holy truth and with poise intoxicated
In poise shall remain absorbed.
The holy Eternal have they loved and in their selves lodged;
Dyed in the holy Word in the end shall be absolved.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name, in truth are absorbed.
Never again shall they wander in transmigration.[1] (1)

Māyā mohu sabhu baralu hai dūjai bhāe khūāī Rāma

Attachment to Maya is madness;
The world caught in duality is lost.
Love of father and mother is all attachment;
In attachment is the world caught :
In attachment caught, for none the consequence of deeds can efface.
He who created the universe,
Is alone the Doer—
None His equal.
The egoist purblind in agony struggles to exhaustion—
Peace comes not without absorption in the holy Word.
Saith Nanak : Bereft of the Name, are all astray;
In Maya-delusion lost. (2)

---

1. Lit. Move over the ocean of existence.

Ehu jagu jaltā dekhi kai bhāji pae Hari sharṉāī Rāma Finding the world burning have we rushed to seek the Lord's shelter;
Praying to the Master, perfectly endowed : Save us;
Grant us true merit.
Save us under your shelter,
Grant merit by devotion to the Lord's Name—
None like to Thee is bestower.
Supremely fortunate are those in devotion engaging,
With faith fixed in the Sole Supreme Being abiding through all time.
Those practising celibacy, charity, austerity, ritual deeds,
Without the Preceptor's guidance attain not the supreme state.
Saith Nanak : Realization of the holy Word to such is granted
As under God's shelter place themselves. (3)

Jo Hari mati dei sā ūpjei hor mati na kāī Rāma
All realization in man from God emanates—
From no other source comes realization.
Thou who art within and without us—
Realization by Thy gift is granted.
When by Thy gift is realization granted,
No other wisdom pleases,
Through the Preceptor's teaching is joy in God tasted.
Holy is His Portal; eternally holy,
Through the holy Word is He revealed.[1]
As exaltation by the holy Preceptor is granted,
The devotee in his self finds his lasting abode.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name alone attain to the Divine Mansion— P. 572
Attaining such wisdom alone is approved. (6)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Chhant (Lyrics)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Merai mani merai mani Satiguru preeti lagāī Rāma
In my self has the holy Preceptor inspired
devotion to the Lord;
And the Name Divine in my self lodged :

1. Lit. Delineated, nobly described.

Lodged in my self is the Name Divine, annuller of all suffering.
By great good fortune is obtained sight of the Preceptor—
Blessed be our holy Preceptor.
In all states[1] the holy Preceptor I serve,
By whose service is obtained peace :
In my self has the holy Preceptor inspired
devotion to the Lord. (1)

Hauṇ jīvāṇ hauṇ jīvāṇ Satiguru dekhi sarasei Rāma

By sight of the holy Preceptor find I life and joy.
The Master in my self the Name Divine has confirmed,
Whose repetition makes my heart bloom.
By repetition of the Name Divine is my heart's lotus abloom;
By the Name Divine have I obtained the Nine Treasures.
As spontaneous absorption in the Lord has come,
Gone is malady of egoism and torment.
From the holy Preceptor is obtained exaltation
through the Name Divine;
By touch of the exalted[2] holy Preceptor is obtained joy.
By sight of the holy Preceptor find I life and joy. (2)

Koī āni koi āni milāvai merā Satiguru pūṛā Rāma

Yearn I for someone to arrive and to the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed, unite me.
To such a one shall I dedicate self and body—offer my body cut to pieces :
My mind and body cut to pieces shall I dedicate to one who the holy Preceptor's Word to me relates.
My heart[3] towards the world is full of dispassion;
This heart from the world turned away, by the Master's sight shall obtain joy.
Lord, bestower of bliss ! show grace;
Grant me dust of the holy Preceptor's feet.
I yearn for someone to arrive and to the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed, unite me. (3)

---

1. Rising and sitting.
2. Deva, lit. divine.
3. Mana.

Note : As elsewhere, in these lyrics too 'Rama' is used at line-ends as a euphonious refrain.

Guru jewadu Guru jewadu dātā maiṇ awaru na koī Rāma

None is bestower of grace such as the Master.
Charity of the Name Divine he bestows—
He is image of the Lord immaculate, Supreme Being.
Fled is the suffering, doubt and fear of such as to the Name Divine in devotion are fixed.
Supremely fortunate are such as the Master's feet have their heart in humility fixed.
Saith Nanak : Such union the Lord Himself brings about—
In union with the holy Preceptor lies joy.
None is bestower of grace such as the holy Preceptor. (4) (1)

Hauṇ Guru binu haun Guru binu kharī nimāṇī Rāma

Lord ! without the Master's guidance utterly helpless I feel.
By union with the Master in the Divine Bestower,
life of the universe,
Am I absorbed.
By union with the holy Preceptor, in the Name
Divine am I absorbed;
The Name have I repeated, on the Name meditated.
The Divine friend that I have been questing after,
in my home[1] have I attained. P. 573
By my vision centred solely in God, the Lord have
I realized to be sole—
Realized the Lord abiding within my self.
Without the Master utterly helpless I feel. (1)

Jinnhāṇ Satiguru jinh Satiguru pāiyā tinh Hari
Prabhu meli milāe Rāma

Those that to the holy Preceptor have attained,
To the Lord he unites them.
At their feet I serve; their feet I touch :
At the feet of such I serve as on the holy Preceptor and the Lord, all-pervasive have meditated.
Lord ! Thou that art the Supreme Bestower, controller of the inner self,
Pray, my desires fulfil.
With a true disciple of the Master grant me union,

1. The self is implied.

In whose company day after day the Lord's praise I chant.
Those that to the holy Preceptor have attained,
To the Lord he unites them. (2)

Hauṇ wārī hauṇ wārī Guru-Sikh mīt piyārei Rāma

To the Master's true cherished disciple am I a sacrifice,
Who to me may relate the Name Divine,
Beloved, my prop.
The Name Divine is my life's companion, without which live I not an hour, an instant.
Should the Lord, Bestower of joy show grace,
By the Master's guidance amrita shall I quaff.
The Lord Himself inspires faith and grants union;
Himself exalts.
To the Master's true disciple, cherished friend am I a sacrifice. (3)

Hari āpei Hari āpei Pūrakhu niranjanu soī Rāma

The Lord that is the sole immaculate Being,
Himself grants union—supreme is His will.
All happens as He wills; nothing have we power to accomplish.
By clever devices that to exhaustion have been practised, is He not attained.
By the Master's grace has Nanak, servant of God, beheld Him—
Other than He none is real.
Himself is the Lord the immaculate Being. (4) (2)

Hari Satiguru Hari Satiguru meli Hari Satiguru
charan ham bhāiyā Rāma

Lord ! to the holy Preceptor unite me.
With the holy Preceptor's feet am I fallen in love.
The Master my darkness of ignorance has removed,
And the collyrium of enlightenment to my eyes has applied.
As to my eyes collyrium of enlightenment has the Master applied,
Shattered is darkness of ignorance.
By service of the holy Preceptor have I attained
the supreme state,
And with each breath and morsel the Lord's Name
have I uttered.
Such in the holy Preceptor's service are engaged,
As have the Lord's grace.

Lord ! to the holy Preceptor unite me.
With the holy Preceptor's feet am I fallen in love. (1)

Merā Satiguru merā Satiguru piyārā maiṇ Guru binu rahaṇu na jāī Rāma

Beloved of me is the holy Preceptor—without him can I not live.
To me the Name Divine he imparts, that at the end shall be my succourer.[1]
The Name Divine that my succourer[1] shall be,
By the holy Preceptor in me is confirmed.
There, where neither progeny nor wife can be of help,
The Name Divine is the deliverer.
Blessed be the holy Preceptor, being immaculate,
By whose association on the Name Divine I have meditated. P. 574
Beloved of me is the holy Preceptor—without him can I not live. (2)

Jinnhīṇ darshanu jinnhīṇ darshanu Satiguru Pūrakh na paiya Rāma

Those that the sight of the holy Preceptor, exalted being have not obtained,
Fruitless is their birth, all gone to waste :
Wasted their life; reprobates,[2] in regrets they die.
Starving, with the jewel of Supreme Wealth lying in their homes;[3]
Unfortunate ones, from the Lord cast off far.
Abjure ever the sight of such as on the Name Divine have not meditated;
As sight of the holy Preceptor, exalted being, have not obtained. (3)

Ham chātrik ham chātrik dīn Hari pāsi benantī Rāma

A humble chatrik[4] am I, to the Lord making supplication :
To the Master beloved unite me, that devotion to him I perform :
By Divine grace devotion to the holy Preceptor may I perform.
Other than the Master none my helper is, the holy Preceptor my life's breath.
Saith Nanak : The Master in us has confirmed the Name Divine, eternally holy.[5]
A humble chatrik[4] am I, to the Lord making supplication. (4) (3)

1. Friend, helper.
2. Sakta.
3. The self is implied.
4. A tiny bird, symbol of spiritual yearning.
5. Satti (satya) yields this sense.

Hari kirpā Hari kirpā kari Satiguru meli sūkhdātā Rāma

Lord ! show grace; to the holy Preceptor, provider of bliss unite me,
That with the holy Preceptor knowledge of the Lord we seek;
That with the holy Preceptor who wealth of the Name has obtained,
Of the Lord we discourse.[1]
The holy Preceptor's feet may we ever touch, supplicate him,
Who the way to us has shown—
The way that the true devotee is one to whom suffering and joy are alike,
Who in the Name Divine is dyed.
Lord ! show grace; to the holy Preceptor, provider of bliss unite me. (1)

Sūṉi Gurmukhi sūṇi Gurmukhi Nāmi sabhi binasei haumai pāpāṇ Rāma

By listening to the Name from the holy Preceptor,
Are shattered egoism and all sins.
By contemplation of the Name Divine is cast off worldly suffering;
Gone are the suffering and sin of such as to the Name
Divine are devoted.
As the holy Preceptor the sword of enlightenment to us
has handed,
Destroyed are Yama's minions.
As the Lord, Provider of Bliss, grace has shown,
Gone are sins and suffering.
By listening to the Name from the holy Preceptor,
Are shattered egoism and all sins. (2)

Japi Hari Hari japi Hari Hari Nāmu merai mani bhāiyā Rāma

By constant contemplation is the Name Divine become my heart's beloved.
By repetition of the Name by the Master's guidance,
Are gone all maladies.
By repetition of the Name by the Master's guidance,
Is the self[2] cured of its maladies.
Each day am I in poised absorption in God,

1. Lit. Seek from him knowledge of God.
2. Body.

As on the Lord, deep and profound, have I meditated.
All, be they of high caste or low, that on the Name
have meditated,
The supreme wealth have obtained. P. 575
By constant repetition is the Name Divine become my heart's beloved. (3)

Hari dhāruh Hari dhāruh kirpā kari kirpā lehu ūbārei Rāma

Lord ! we pray, in your grace save us.
We are sinners, of no merit, humble, on your mercy fallen :
Sinful, of no merit and humble—
Lord compassionate, Thy shelter we seek.
Thou art shatterer of suffering, giver of all joy;
Stones we, that you alone may make swim.
By contact with the holy Preceptor, joy of the Name
have we obtained.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By the Name are all saved.
Lord ! we pray, in your grace save us. (4) (4)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Ghoṟīāṇ* (Prothalamium)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Deh tejaṇi jī Rāmi upāīyā Rāma

This body is a mare, Divinely-created.
Blessed is the human incarnation that through good deeds is obtained :
Through good deeds is the human incarnation obtained—
This body that is radiant like gold.
Should one by the Master's guidance dye it red,[1]
Ever fresh shall be its dye in Divine devotion.
Elegant is this body; with it may the Lord be contemplated.
By Divine contemplation shall it be embellished.
By great good fortune is it obtained;
let the Name be its friend :
For this has the Lord created it. (1)

---

* Ghorian (Song of the Mare or of Riding out to win a Bride) is sung by the womenfolk in the Punjab to celebrate the start of Barat or the wedding-procession led by the bridegroom. Here this symbolism is transmuted into spiritual terms. The bridegroom traditionally approaches the bride's house riding a mare (ghori).

1. The dye of joy, symbol of devotion.

Deh pāwuoṇ z̄īnu būjhi changā Rāma

Let discernment of goodness be the saddle to this mare.
By riding it may I cross the terrible ocean of existence :
This terrible ocean by innumerable waves tossed,
By the Master's guidance is crossed.
In the Lord's ship by good fortune is it crossed—
The Master by the holy Word pilots it safe.
One riding it, day after day in devotion chants Divine praise,
In Divine ecstasy involved.
Saith Nanak : Thus is obtained the state of liberation,
So exalted and noble. (2)

Kaṛīyālu mūkhei Guru giān driṛhāiyā Rāma

This mare's bridle-bit between its teeth[1] is enlightenment;
Its whip love of the Lord, by the Master imparted.
By striking with this whip whoever by the Master's guidance conquers the self,
Is the true conqueror.[2]
One shaping the mind intractable, attaining the holy Word, Quaffs the Divine elixir hard to attain.
Listening by his ears to the Master's Word,
The mare of devotion to God he rides.
Saith Nanak : Thereby is crossed the long,
terrible pathway. (3)

Ghoṛī tejaṇi deh Rāmi upāīyā Rāma

This mare of the body is God's creation.
Blessed is the mare of the holy, riding on which grants the Divine vision.
Blessed is the mare attained in primal time
by accumulated good deeds.
Riding such a mare of the body is crossed the terrible ocean of existence;
And by union with the Master is eternal joy attained.
As is the wedding[3] arranged by the Lord, perfection incarnate,
God's devotees the wedding-procession constitute.
Nanak, servant of God, has found the Lord for bridegroom;
God's devotees this paean of joy have sung. (4) (1.5)

1. Mouth.
2. Cf. Japuji, 28.
3. Symbol for union of the self with the Absolute.

Deh tejanṛī Hari nav-rangīyā Rāma

The mare of the body with God's fresh dye is suffused. P. 576
The Master, supreme enlightenment of the Lord has begged;
With enlightenment has he begged knowledge of the Lord's noble discourse,
And worth[1] of the Name Divine realized.
By discoursing on the Name Divine, fruitful has our life become.
God's devotee lauding the Name Divine, evermore of devotion has begged.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Listen you devotees !
Noblest of all is devotion to the Lord. (1)

Deh kanchan zīnu sūwannā Rāma

Golden[2] is this body, golden[2] its saddle,
With studding it with jewels of the Name Divine is found union with God and excess of joy.
As guided by[3] the Master's Word, on the Lord have we meditated;
By great good fortune is formed love for the Lord.
Union with the Lord, controller of the inner self,
has come about.
In the Lord's dye are dyed the youthful limbs.
Saith Nanak : Whoever the Name has realized, from the Lord seeks the Name alone. (2)

Kaṛīyālu mūkhei Gūri ankasu pāiyā Rāma

The Master, a firm bridle, like the elephant's goad in the teeth[4] of this mare has fixed.
The mind, mad like an elephant, by the Master's Word is brought under control :
Controlled is the mind; attained is the supreme state.
And the woman her Lord's love has attained.
Her heart to the Divine Lord is attached in love;
Nobly settled in the home is the Lord's bride.[5]
Intoxicated with enlightenment, with the Divine dye suffused,
The Lord has she attained.
Saith Nanak, slave to the Lord :
By great good fortune on the Lord have I meditated. (3)

1. State, measure.
2. Used symbolically—noble, spiritual.
3. By listening to.
4. Mouth.
5. Symbol for the seeker.

Deh ghoṛī jī jitu Hari pāiyā Rāma

By aid of this body's mare has the Lord been attained.
In unison with the holy Preceptor have we sung the paean of joy.
The paean of Divine joy in the Name Divine lies;
Those singing it are the Lord's servants.
In the splendid mansion[1] shall such a one attain the Lord,
And joy with the Lord have.
Spontaneously shall such a one the Lord's praise sing;
And by the Master's guidance with his mind
the Lord shall contemplate.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By Divine grace, Mounting the body's[2] mare the Lord have
we attained. (4) (2.6)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 4

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Guru mili laddhā jī Ramu piyārā Rāma

By association with the Master has been attained the beloved Divine Being.
To Him is this mind and body sacrificed.
Sacrified is mind and body, and the ocean of existence vanquished;
Gone is Yama's fear.
Poise the self has obtained; amrita has it quaffed;
Ended is transmigration.
Attained is the abode of absorption in poise,
Wherein is the Name Divine the sole prop.
Saith Nanak : In joy we disport.
Hail the Master, perfectly-endowed. (1)

Sūṇi sajjaṇ jī mainḍaṛei mītā Rāma

Listen, my friend, companion.
The Master, incantation of the holy Word has imparted.
On the holy Word have we meditated, and the paean of joy sung—
Thereby is fear from the mind lifted.
The Lord who leaves me not alone,
Is ever by me, have I obtained.
In obedience to the Lord's will lies true honour : P. 577

1. Symbol for the Divine Essence.
2. The meaning is esoteric—by disciplining the mind's faculties to devotion.

Spontaneously has the Lord granted the wealth of devotion.
Saith Nanak : A sacrifice am I to one[1]
From whom charity of Thy devotion have all obtained. (2)

Tau bhāṇā tāṇ tripat aghāe Rāma

By Thy grace have we felt fully satisfied;
Joyful[2] is the mind, assuaged our thirst :
Joyful[2] is the mind, lifted the thirst,[3]
A great treasure[3] obtained.
Of this Thy disciples and devotees have partaken—
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice.
Suffused in the Lord's dye have we turned fearless;
Lifted is Yama's terror.
Nanak, Thy slave is ever in Thy service engaged—
With fervour devoted to Thee. (3)

Pūrī āsā jī mansā merei Rāma

Lord ! fulfilled are my desires and hopes.
Without merit am I; all merit is Thine.
Thine, Lord are all merits—by what tongue[4]
have I power to laud Thee ?
My merits and demerits Thou hast not judged;
In an instant forgiveness[5] hast Thou granted.
The Nine Treasures have I obtained; struck is the concert of joy—
The trumpets of unstruck music sounded.
Saith Nanak : A bridegroom[6] and home[7] have I obta ned;
Gone are all my sorrows. (4) (1)

Sloka

Why to falsehood dost thou lend ear,
That like gusts of wind vanishes ?
Saith Nanak : Approved alone are the ears
That to the holy Lord listen. (1)

Chhant (Lyric)

Tin ghol ghūmāī jin Prabhu sravaṇīṇ sūṇiyā Rāma

To such am I a sacrifice, as with their ears to the Lord have listened.

Note : As in other chhants, 'Rama' at line-ends occurs as a euphonious refrain.
1. Refers to the Guru, the holy Preceptor.
2. Cool.
3. Used symbolically.
4. Mouth.
5. Implies liberation.
6. Implies the Lord.
7. The state of unshaken poise.

In spontaneous joy abide such as with their tongue have the Lord's Name uttered :
Joyful spontaneously, of invaluable merits are these—
To save the world have they arrived.
Across the ocean of existence, on the ship of the Master's feet,
Numberless have they carried.
No reckoning[1] is made of such as have the Lord's grace.
Saith Nanak : To such am I a sacrifice,
As with their ears to the Lord have listened. (1)

Sloka

With my eyes the Divine Effulgence have I beheld;
Yet is not my overpowering[2] thirst assuaged.
Saith Nanak : Different from these are the Eyes
That the Beloved's vision behold. (1)

Chhant (Lyric)

Jinnhīṇ Hari-Prabhu ḍiṭṭhā tinh kürbaṇei Rāma

To such am I a sacrifice as the Lord have beheld :
At the holy Portal find they approval.
Exalted are such as of the Lord are approved,
In joy of the Lord dyed :
Fulfilled with joy in the Lord, in poise absorbed,
In each self[3] the Lord have they realized.
Such alone are true devotees, such the blessed ones,
Of the Lord approved.
Saith Nanak : To such am I a sacrifice,
As the Lord have beheld. (2)

Sloka

Without devotion to the holy Name
Is the self[4] dark, blind and deserted.
Saith Nanak : Fruitful is the birth of those
In whose self is the holy Lord lodged. (1)

Chhant (Lyric)

Tin khannīyai wanjāṇ jinh merā Hari-Prabhu ḍīṭhā Rāma

To such would I sacrifice self and be cut to pieces,
As the Lord's sight have beheld.

---

1. Reckoning of deeds in the Hereafter is implied.
2. Excessive.
3. Lit. Vessel.
4. Body.

Fulfilled are these, tasting sweet Divine amrita.
Sweet to the mind is the Lord.
As is the Lord pleased has amrita showered,
Bringing joy.
Cast off[1] from their self are suffering and doubt,
As glory of Lord of the Universe they have chanted.
Vanquished are their attachment and evil-doing; P. 578
From company of the five[2] are they freed.
Saith Nanak : To such would I offer my self and be cut to pieces,
As in their self the Lord have beheld. (3)

Sloka

Such alone are reckoned God's true servants,
As for the Lord yearn.
Nanak ! know this for truth,
The Lord from His devotees lies not apart. (1)

Chhant (Lyric)

Mili jala jaleh khaṭāṇā Rāma

As water with water is mingled,
And light mingled with light—
So are men of perfection in the Creator absorbed,
Knowing themselves to be the Lord's image.
In the Sole Lord is their unbroken absorption spontaneously fixed.
Himself is the Lord hidden from view,
Immaculate;
His mystery to Himself alone known.[3]
Saith Nanak : Shattered are doubt, fear and the Three Qualities,
And water in water[4] is mingled. (4) (2)

Prabh karaṉ kāraṉ samrathā Rāma

Lord who art Almighty,
With Thy arm's strength save the world.
Lord, mighty to grant succour, ocean of compassion, giver of bliss !

1. Destroyed.
2. Five sources of Evil are implied.
3. Lit. Himself on Himself discourses.
4. (This is delineation of the state of absorption in the Infinite).

To Thy devotees am I a sacrifice who the Sole Lord have realized.
Thy hue and features unknowable, inexpressible.
Thus prayeth Nanak : To my supplication listen,
Lord almighty ! (1)

Ehi jīya Terei Tūṇ kartā Rāma

These beings all are Thine, Thou their Maker;—
Thou who art annuller of suffering, pain and doubt.
Lord, compassionate to the humble ! who in an instant
dost remove suffering and pain,
Save Thy creation.
Lord ! Thou art mother, father, master, friend—
The whole world Thy children.
Whoever under Thy shelter comes, attains treasure of noble attributes—
Never again dying.[1]
Thus states Thy servant Nanak in supplication :
All creation is Thine, Thou their Maker. (2)

Āṭh pahar Hari dhiyāiai Rāma

Day and night on the Lord meditate,
And obtain fulfilment of heart's desire.
By meditating on the Lord, heart's desire[2] you obtain,
Whereby may be gone Yama's terror.
As in holy company is chanted Divine laudation,
Fulfilled are all desires.[2]
Discarding pride, attachment and evil-thinking,
The Lord's favour win.
Thus states Nanak in supplication : Day and night
Ever on the Lord meditate. (3)

Dari wājehṇ anahat wājei Rāma

At the Divine Portal is resounding the unstruck concert.[3]
In each being is the Lord's voice singing.
Ringing and resounding is the Lord, inaccessible, unknowable, all-high—
His merits endless beyond expression or reach.
The creation fashioned by Him has He created and cherishes.
Thus states Nanak in supplication : In devotion to the Name lies joy;
At the Divine Portal resounds the unstruck concert.[3] (4) (3)

1. That is, released from transmigration.
2. Implies liberation.
3. Anahad Shabda, the unstruck mystic music.

In the Measure Badhans (Wadhans)—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Alahaniyan (Dirges)*

SCORE 5

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dhann sirandā sacchā patishāhu jini jagu dhandai lāiyā

Hail the Creator, true king, who the world in various tasks has engaged.
As comes the appointed time to a close,
and the pot[1] filled,
The being beloved is captured and marched off : P. 579
Captured and marched off is the being beloved, as has the command issued;
Tearful are all its dear ones.
Mother mine ! as the allotted days come to end,
Are body and self separated.
Beings receive what for them is recorded, as in former lives has been their doing.
Hail the Creator, true king, who the world in various tasks has engaged. (1)

Sāhibu simrahu merei bhāīho sabhnāṇ eho paiyānā

Brethren ! the Lord contemplate : Such departure
all must face.
Here for a brief period man in false doings engages—
Know, inevitably must he go beyond.
Beyond inevitably must man, a guest here, go—
Why be proud ?
Let man contemplate His Name, whose service
At the Divine Portal brings joy.
Know, there yonder shall not your command at all be effective :
Who knows what to each will befall ?
Brethren ! the Lord contemplate : Such departure
all must face. (2)

---

* Note : Alahaniyanan is ceremonial mouring for the dead in Punjab, accompanied by improvized snatches of elegiac chanting about the departed. In this composition is given a vision of the evanescent state of life, along with a lofty perspective on life and man's duty.

1. A pot with a hole at the bottom.

Jo Tisu bhāvāi samrath so thīyai hīlaṛā enu sansāro

All happens as pleases Him who is Almighty—this world only a means.[1]
On water and land is pervasive the holy Creator—
The holy Creator inaccessible, beyond limit, of unknowable extent.
The advent into this world of such alone is fruitful,
As on Him single-mindedly have meditated.
Himself He demolishes and builds, and by
His command exalts.
All happens as pleases Him who is Almighty—this world only a means.[1] (3)

Nanak rūnnā bābā jāṇīyai jei rowai lāe piyāro

Saith Nanak : He alone is said truly to mourn, who mourns out of love.
Mourning for worldly objects is all of no worth :
Of no worth is mourning of the thoughtless world,
That for the world's goods[2] mourns.
Realizing not good from evil the world uselessly wastes away bodily powers.
Whoever has come here, must go hence—false is your pride.
Saith Nanak : He alone is said truly to mourn, who mourns out of love. (4) (1)

Āwuh miluh sahelīho sacchaṛā Nāmu laehāṇ

Come, my sister-friends, in unison the Name Eternal we repeat.
The world mourns departure[3] of the body;
The Lord we contemplate :
The Lord we contemplate and look to that path
That we too must tread.
He who made life has taken it back :
His will has operated.
What man had done, that now faces him—
What way can our will be effective ?
Came, my sister-friends, in unison the Name
Eternal we repeat. (1)

1. Hīlara (dim. from hila), means, medium. The meaning apparently is, all by the inscrutable Divine will occurs; the causes we assign to happenings are only the apparent means. This would apply also to the achievement of liberation, which is believed to be consequent upon our actions.
2. Maya here appears to mean worldly things, after the popular parlance.
3. Separation.

Maraṉu na mandā lokā ākhīyai je mari jāṉai aisā koe

People of the world ! revile not death, should one know how to die.
Serve the Lord almighty—thereby shall your path
hence be made easy.
As this easy path you tread, reward shall you receive.
And exaltation in the hereafter.
An offering[1] you carry with you and in truth be absorbed,
Approved shall you devotion be.
In the Divine Mansion finding a place, the Lord's pleasure shall you win,
And in joy disport.
People of the world ! revile not death, should one know how to die. (2)

Maranu mūṉasāṉ sūriyaṉ haqqu hai jo noe maraṉi parwāṉo

Holy is the death of heroic men, whose dying is Divinely-approved.
Such alone may be called heroes as at the Divine
Portal obtain true honour : P. 580
Obtaining honour at the Divine Portal, with honour they depart,
And in the hereafter undergo not suffering.
Such reward they shall obtain if on the Sole Lord they meditate,
Whose service all fears drives away.
Their suffering they utter not aloud; all in their mind they bear—
The Lord Himself knows all.
Holy is the death of heroic men, whose dying
is Divinely-approved. (3)

Nānak kis no bābā roīyai bāzī hai ehu sansāro

Saith Nanak, How many may we mourn ?
This world is all God's play.
The Lord views His own handiwork, His might contemplating :
Contemplating His might, He holds it in His hands.
He who created it, alone knows it.
Himself He beholds and has realization,
Himself His Ordinance knows.
He who made all this, knows it—
Beyond limit His manifestation.
Saith Nanak : How many to mourn ? This world in all God's play. (4) (2)

---

1. Implies the offering carried for the sovereign by the subject, as a mark of fealty.

In the Measure Wadhans Dakhani—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Sach sirandā sacchā jāṉīyai saccharā Parvardagāro

Know the Eternal Creator, Cherisher.
His Essence He created, inaccessible, limitless.
The two discs of earth and sky He joined and then separated.
Without the Master's guidance is the world plunged in pitch darkness.
Then created He sun and moon that day and night move,
Whose movements He considers. (1)

Saccharā Sāhibu sach Tūṇ saccharā dehi piyāro

Lord that art holy and eternal,
To us grant Thy true love.[1] (Pause)

Tūdh sirjī medanī dūkhu sūkhu devaṉhāro

Creation hast Thou made—Thyself dost Thou allot suffering and joy.
Woman and man too hast Thou created, who in Maya's poisonous attachment are involved.
The four sources[2] of creation, the four utterances[3] too are Thine—
All creation by Thee is propped.
By Thy might hast Thou established Thy throne,
Where is determined truth. (2)

Āvā gavaṉu sirjiyā Tūṇ thiru karnaihāro

Transmigration and immutability too hast Thou created,
And also immutability dost grant.
Birth and death comes, while this being in evil-doing remains bound.
This unworthy creature the holy Name has neglected—
What help when it sinks ?
Discarding good, poison has it packed—
Becoming merchant of demerits. (3)

Saddaṛei āye tinhāṇ jānīyāṇ Hūkami sacchei Kartāro

To our loved ones have come the calls,
By command of the holy Creator.
Parted are wife and husband—

1. Devotion is implied.
2. (These are, ego-born, placenta-born, sweat-born and atmosphere-born).
3. (These are divided according to the source in the body from which they take rise).

The Lord alone joins the unjoined.
Yama's minions consider not beauty and charm,
Bound by the command from on high.[1]
These consider not infancy or old age,
And all loving bonds snap asunder. (4)

Nau dar ṭhākei Hükami sacchai hansi gaiyā gaiṉārei

By command of the holy Eternal are the nine doors of the body stopped,
And the self towards the upper regions moves.
The female of the body widowed lies lifeless, as the dead body within doors.[2]
Dead is Maya-bound consciousness, that at the Portal of the Divine Mansion wails.
Female companions of the husband,[3]
Let your mourning be narrating qualities of the Eternal Master. (5)

Jali mali jānī nhāwāliyā kappaṛi paṭṭi ambārei

Then is the loved one bathed in water, and in silken sheets wrapped.
Raised are sounds of holy texts;[4] and the five nearest relatives are as dead with grief—
Wailing, by separation of the loved one am I as dead;
Cursed be life in the world after this.
One living life as though dead will alone be proved to have real love. (6)

Tüsīṇ rowuh rovaṉ āiho jhūṭhi müṭṭhī sansārei

Wail you females come to wail—false is this world,
The true Spouse have you deserted, and deluded, in false concerns run about. P. 581
In each home abides the Spouse, everywhere His wives[5]—
Beauteous is one who is in love with the Divine Beloved.
The holy Lord I laud; in uttering His Name find I joy. (7)

Guru miliyai vesu palaṭṭiyā sādhan sacchu sīngāro

By the Master's contact is the woman's wear changed to joyful state;

1. Sirkar = Source of all action. Applied meaning, power of state.
2. In the courtyard.
3. Implies created beings.
4. That is, these are recited over the dead.
5. (Beings are implied).

In truth is she decked.
Come my sister-friends, in unison the Creator we contemplate.
By the holy Name has the woman become blessed in matrimony—
By truth in beauty embellished.
Saith Nanak : Sing not songs of sorrow in separation;
Discourse rather on the Supreme Being. (8) (3)

Jini jagu siraji samāiyā so Sāhibu küdrati jāṉowā

The Lord who the universe has created, and in it is pervasive.
By His creation[1] know Him.
Seek not the holy Eternal far—in each being as holy Presence[2] is He visible.
As the holy Presence[2] know Him, know Him not far,
Who this creation has fashioned.
By meditation on the Name alone comes joy—
Without devotion to the Name is life's play false.[3]
He who made it alone knows its system; what power has anyone to express it ?
Accept in faith Him who creating the universe the snare of attachment has spread. (1)

Bābā āiyāṇ hai üṭhi challaṇā adh-pandhai hai sansārowā

Friend[4] ! after arrival must each depart :
A halfway house is the world.
For each has the holy Eternal recorded suffering and joy by consideration of his former reckoning.
As have been one's deeds, so the apportioning
of suffering and joy—
This with one's being lasts.
Do the deeds by the Creator ordained—
Seek not to depart thence.
Immaculate Himself, creation He in tasks has bound :
By operation of His Ordinance finds it release.
With counting of days[5] comes death;
Man in duality involved, to evil courses is given. (2)

Jam-mārg panthu na süjjhaī üjjhaṛu andh ghübārowā

On the way of mortality is the true path not visible—

1. Kudrat = might; here implies Maya, the manifest creation.
2. Shabda = the form the Divine Essence assumes.
3. Raw, unbaked (as of earthenware vessels).
4. Baba (an honorific to address one respected).
5. Thinking of today and tomorrow.

All is straying in wilderness in dark dust-storms :
In this wilderness is found neither water nor soft beddings,[1]
Nor viands of various kinds.
Neither is there food with honour served, nor cold water given,
Nor decking with fine dresses.
With chains round the neck, is the self struck on the head, standing;
Neither house nor home is there visible.
Seeds of good sown now, instantly grow not—
With burden of sin on the head, the self into regrets falls.
Other than the holy Eternal in such a place no other friend has the self—
Such is the truth. (3)

Bābā roweh roweh su jāṉīyai mili roweh gūṉa sārewā Friend ! true mourning is in holy company to discourse on Divine merits.
The mourning of one Maya-deluded is a worthless, losing pursuit.
Mourning in involvement of Maya-pursuits removes not impurity of the self—
Know this world to be dream-like.
The world in falsehood is deluded, as by the juggler's tricks.
He Himself sets man on the right path; Himself good deeds He inspires.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name are by the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Spontaneously saved. (4) (4)

Bābā āiyā hai ūṭhi challaṉā ehu jagu jhūṭhu pasārowā
Friend[2] ! whoever in this world has arrived must depart—
The world is a beguiling spectacle.[3]
The Eternal Abode by service to the holy Eternal is attained;
By exclusive devotion to truth is one purified.
By falsehood and greed is not obtained any place with God—
In the hereafter no resting-place.
One is not then invited to enter and be seated,
as raven in house deserted.
Transmigration is the supreme alienation from God—

1. Quilt and mattress.
2. Baba.
3. False display.

In this is the whole world ruined.
In greed, worldly concerns and lure of wealth[1]
is the world deluded;
Death ever-present[2] is putting it in suffering. (1)

Bābā āwahu bhāīho gali milehṇ mili mili dehi asīsāṇ hei

Friends, brethren ! come let us embrace one another and pronounce benediction : P. 582
The benediction that holy union with the Beloved never may end.
Benedictions you pronounce that devotion we may practise—
What need of such benediction for those to God united ?
Rather these you pronounce on such as of the holy Name and the Divine Essence are neglectful—Bless them that by guidance of the Master's Word in truth they disport.
Thereby shall you not tread Yama's path; in the holy Word absorbed,
Eternally in the holy Essence abiding.
With such friends and relations[3] as to God
are united, form union,
Who by guidance of the Master's Word their nooses have snapped. (2)

Bābā nāngṛā āiyā jag mehṇ dūkhu sūkhu lekh likhāiyā

Friend ! man unclad into the world has come—suffering and pleasure in his destiny recorded.
The hour of betrothal[4] recorded by virtue of former deeds is inescapable.
The holy Eternal in His session recorded for the creature amrita and poison—
As God-ordained has it acted.
The witch Maya casts her spells, putting threads of various hues round its neck.
With its shallow understanding is the creature low of mind,
Greedy like flies on molasses.
Unattended by decencies[5] is it in Kali-yuga born;
unclad is it haled out. (3)

---

1. Maya.
2. Standing by.
3. Implies devotees of God.
4. Sāhā, fixed hour of solemnizing wedding, implying hour of death.
5. That is, naked.

Bābā rowuh jei kisai rowaṇā jānīyaṛā bandh paṭhāiyā hai

Friend ! mourn now if mourn you must—the loved one in bonds is led off.
Ineffaceable is recorded wirt, as the courier at the door arrives.
As has pleased God, has the courier arrived :
Those that must wail, to wailing have fallen.
Wail sons, brothers, nephews and dearly loving friends.
None for the dead gives up life.[1]
Best it is to mourn in fear of God, recounting His merits.
Saith Nanak : Eternally enlightened is one,
Whose mourning lies in contemplation of truth. (4) (5)

In the Measure Wadhans—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Prabhu saccharā Hari sālāhīyai kāraiu sabhu kichhu karṇai jogu

Laud ever the holy Lord, in whose power lies all.[2]
Never shall such a woman[3] be widowed, nor go into mourning.
Into mourning never shall she go;
Ever in enjoyment of bliss, shall she be admitted inside her Lord's Mansion,
Should she realize the Beloved as the Rewarder of Deeds.[4]
As amrita shall her utterance ever be.
The well-endowed wife[3] revolves ever in her mind her
Lord's merits,
And ever thinking on Him never shall she feel sorrow of
His separation.
Laud ever the holy Lord, in whose power lies all. (1)

Saccharā Sāhibu shabdi pachhāṇīyai āpei lae milāe

By the Word is the holy Lord realized—
Himself He makes union.
The woman[3] casting off her egoism,
is in her Beloved's joy dyed.
Her egoism casting off, never shall death touch her,
As through the Master's teaching she realizes,
no other is there.

---

1. That is, mourning ends with wailing and crying.
2. Lit. Capable of doing (accomplishing) all.
3. Symbol for the seeker.
4. That is, one who retributes good deeds done.

Of such a woman shall all desires be fulfilled;
Her heart in joy drenched, to the Bestower of gifts,
Life of the world, is she united.
Dyed in joy of the holy Word, youth-intoxicated,
Into her Lord's clasp is she taken.
By the Word is the holy Lord realized—
Himself He makes union. (2)

Jinnhīṇ āpṉā kaniu pachhāṉiyā hauṇ tin pūchhauṇ santāṇ jāe

Who are such as the Lord have realized ? P. 583
This knowledge shall I seek from God's devotees.
Those devoted to Him, casting off egoism—
The holy Beloved is to them spontaneously united.
The holy Beloved through living the truth is found,
When the woman in the holy Word is dyed—
Never is such a one widowed.
Ever in conjugal bliss, her self in perpetual absorption abides :
The Lord who everywhere is pervasive,
Holding Him perpetually in her sight,
Ever has she bliss of him.
Who have the Lord realized ?
This shall I from God's devotees find. (3)

Piruh vichhünnīyāṇ bhī milehṇ jei Satiguru lāgehṇ Sāchei pāe

Those from the Beloved separated too shall find union,
Should they the holy Preceptor's feet touch.
The holy Preceptor ever is gracious—
All evils thoughts he burns down with the holy Word.
Burning down with the holy Word evil thoughts,
Duality he banishes,
And in holy Truth is the seeker-female left dyed.
Through the holy Word comes joy imperishable,
And in ego-illusion vanished.
Saith Nanak : With the Beloved immaculate, giver of joy imperishable,
The Master through the holy Word grants union.
Those from the Beloved separated shall find union too,
Should they at the holy Preceptor's feet fall. (4) (1)

Süṇiyuh kant-mahelīho Piru sevuh Shabdi vīchār

Listen you spouses of the holy Lord !
Serve the Beloved ever by contemplating the holy Word.
The woman of bad ways realizes not her Lord,

And bereft of Him, wails as Him she disregards.[1]
One that through tears remembers Him, ever lauding His merits,
Never shall she suffer widowhood.
By submitting to the Preceptor's teaching is He known;
Through the holy Word realized,
And thus is one absorbed in devotion to the holy Lord.
Those not realizing their Beloved, Rewarder of deeds—
Are false, ruined by their untruth.
Listen, spouses of the holy Lord !
Serve the Beloved ever by contemplating the holy Word. (1)

Sabhu jagu āpi ūpāiyonu āwaṉ jāṉ sansārā

The world that comes and goes, has He created.
Those ruined through Maya-illusion are in transmigration whirled around :
In transmigration whirled, evil in them has increased—
The world bereft of realization, is ruined.
Without realizing the holy Word is the Beloved not attained.
Such waste their lives, and caught in falsehood and evil,
their destiny bewail.
What use wailing over the Beloved's loss ?
He is life of the world—
Only those wail that of the Lord are unmindful.
The world that comes and goes, has He created. (2)

So Piru Sacchā sad hī sāchā hai na uhu marai na jāe

The Beloved is eternal, holy, perishing never.
The woman of poor understanding, forgetful of Him,
Caught in duality, widowhood sufers.
Suffering widowhood in duality, in Maya-delusion she suffers,
Her years ending, her limbs declining.
All that is born, must pass away—
Only those caught in duality feel pangs of suffering.
Forgetful of inevitably death at Yama's hands,
The world in Maya's pursuit struggles,
With mind in greed and covetousness absorbed.
The Beloved is eternal, holy, perishing never. (3)

Iki rowehṉ Pirai vichhūnnīyāṉ andhī na jāṉ Piru nālei

Some wail, from the Beloved cast off—
These blind ones not knowing He is by their side.

1. Lit. Forgets.

By the Master's grace is the holy Beloved found—
Let the woman ever contemplate Him.
Let her the Beloved contemplate,
Ever is He by her side—
Only the egoist thinks him far.
Those not realizing the Lord is ever by them,
Their life[1] is ruined, is to them of no avail.
Saith Nanak : The woman shall find her Lord, P. 584
Should she for ever contemplate Him.
Some wail, from the Beloved separated—
These blind ones not knowing He is by their side. (4) (2)

Rowehṇ Pireh vichhünnīyāṇ maiṇ Piru Saccharā hai sadā nālei

Those from their Beloved Spouse separated wail—
Not knowing the holy Beloved ever is by their side.
Those realizing that departure from the world is inevitable,
Serve the holy Lord and ever in mind keep Him—Ever keep they His Name in mind; the holy Preceptor ever is with them :
Devotion to him brings joy.
By the holy Word borne in mind is fear of death annulled,
And transmigration ceases.
The holy Lord, of the holy Name, casts His glance of grace at them—
Those from their beloved Spouse separated wail—
Not knowing the holy Beloved is ever by their side. (1)

Prabhu merā Sāhibu sabhdū ūchā hai kiv milāṇ Preetam piyārei

Supreme over all is the Lord I seek.
How with the cherished Beloved may I find union ?
Spontaneous became the union when made by the holy Preceptor,
With the Beloved kept ever in mind.
As is the Lord cherished in love in the heart,
Through the holy Preceptor is His sight obtained.
Frail is the vesture[2] of Maya-illusion, which worn, makes the feet unsteady in the way of God.
Holy is the vesture[2] dyed in the dye of the Beloved,
Which worn, fulfils all desire.

---

1. Lit. Body.
2. Lit. Cloak.

Supreme over all is the Lord—
How with the Beloved may I find union ? (2)

Maiṇ Prabhu sacchu pachhāṉiyā hor bhūlī avgaṉiārei

With realization of the holy Lord was I blessed.
Other beings of the world, involved in sin, that are of Him forgetful.
I disregarded.
Ever have I joy with the Beloved,
By contemplation of the holy Word.
By contemplating the holy Word art thou in bliss, woman !
By touch of the holy Preceptor hast thou found the Beloved.
Dyed in joy is thy heart in ecstasy of peace.
Gone are all thy foes and suffering.
By dedicating body and soul to the Master,
Is the mind with devotion filled,[1]
As was desire and suffering eliminated.
With realization of the holy Lord was I blessed.
Other beings of the world, involved in sin, that are of Him forgetful.
I disregarded. (3)

Sacchaaṛi āpi jagatu ūpāiyā Guru binu ghor andhāro

In the world created by the holy Lord,
Without the Master's guidance in all pitch dark.
The Lord brings about union, makes union Himself,
And Himself inspires devotion—Inspiring devotion Himself, that is the commerce of spiritual poise.
By the Master's guidance grants He fulfilment of life's aim.
Blessed is the birth of any that his egoism casts off,
And at the holy Portal is adjudged Pure.
Through devotion to the Name, saith Nanak,
Is the heart illumined with the jewel of realization.
In the world created by the holy Lord,
Without the Master's guidance is all pitch dark. (4) (3)

Ehu sarīru jajjarī hai is no jaru pahunch āye

This frail body is now by old age gripped;
Those saved by the Master alone are saved—
All others are born and die and are in transmigration caught :
In transmigration caught, others are born and die—
Full of regrets they leave the world;

1. Lit. Drenched.

No joy without devotion to the holy Name comes.
Only for good deeds done in life comes any reward;
The egoist in ignominy ends.
The demesne of death[1] is utterly dark, storm tossed;
Friendless[2] is the self there.
Frail is this body, now by old age gripped. (1)

Kāyā kanchanu tāṇ thīyai jāṇ Satiguru lae milāe

With union by the holy Preceptor granted, P. 585
Is the body transmuted to gold.
As is Maya-illusion lifted,
The self in the holy Name is merged :
As is the self in the Name merged and sings Divine laudation,
Comes joy of union with the Beloved.
Then comes the state of perpetual joy,
As is egoism lifted.
I fall at the feet of those holy persons,
That cherish in heart God's Name.
With union by the holy Preceptor granted,
This body shines as gold. (2)

So sacchā sachu sālāhīyei jei Satiguru dei būjhāe

Laud the holy Eternal by the wisdom by the holy Preceptor granted.
Those without the Preceptor's guidance in illusion are lost—
In the hereafter with what face shall they appear[3] ?
In ignominy in the hereafter, full of regrets for evils done,
Suffering to their share shall fall.
Those dyed in the Name in vermilion shall be decked,
And have joy in their beloved Husband's clasp.
None great as He—
Inexpressible His greatness.
Laud the Eternal by the wisdom by the holy Preceptor
granted. (3)

Jinnhīṇ saccharā sacchu sālāhiyā hauṇ tinh lāgauṇ pāe

I touch the feet of those that the holy Eternal have lauded.
Such are true and holy—
Their touch all impurity removes.
All impurity their touch removes, like bathing in the holy Pool,

1. Yama.
2. Lit Without sister and brother.
3. Go.

In poise of mind.
The holy Preceptor in the secret has instructed me,
Of the holy Name immaculate, inaccessible.
Saith Nanak : Those so instructed are in devotion ever engaged,
And in holy truth merged.
I touch the feet of those that the holy Eternal have lauded. (4) (4)

Wadhans-ki-Vār—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das[1]
(To be sung to the tune of Lallān Bahlimān)[2]

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the Preceptor's Grace

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Shabda rattei waḍhans haiṇ Sacchu Nāmu ūri dhāri

Those dyed in the holy Word are the great souls[3]—
In their hearts is borne the holy Name—
Truth they garner, ever living by guidance of truth
And love of the holy Name.
Ever abide they pure; impurity touches them not,
by Divine grace.[4]
Saith Nanak : May I be a sacrifice to such
As meditate ever on God. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

I took him to be swan,[5] and so followed him,
Had I known it was a wretched stork,[5]
Never would I have touched him.[6] (2)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Seeing the swans swimming, the storks too felt like imitating them.
Drowned were the wretched storks,
Head thrown downwards and feet raised aloft. (3)

---

1. This Vār contains Slokas by Sri Guru Amar Das and Sri Guru Nanak Dev, interspersed among Pauris (Stanzas) of the composition of Sri Guru Ram Das.
2. This is a musical direction, referring to a current ballad-tune of the time.
3. This is a trope—the original is 'Wadhans', which is also the name of this measure.
4. By glance of grace of the Creator.
5. Symbol for the pure soul, as 'stork' is for one without the spiritual life.
6. This Sloka and the next are included also among slokas of Sheikh Farid, as of the composition Sri Guru Amar Das.

Pauri (Stanza) Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das*

Tūṇ āpei hī āpi haiṇ āpi kāraṇu kīyā

Thou art the Sole cause and source all things;
Thou hast Thyself made creation.
Thou art the Sole Formless Absolute, none else.
Thou art Almighty; all Thou willst happens.
Unsolicited dost Thou confer boons on all creation.
Raise you all aloud the shout :
Hail holy Preceptor who the tongue[1] has blessed with gift of the Name Divine. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

All creation to fear is subject : the Lord alone is above fear. P. 586
Should the Lord by devotion be lodged in the mind,
Fear enters not in that state.
Foes and suffering approach not such a one,
Nor can these touch it.
The devotee is firm fixed in thought,
To submit to whatever the Lord is pleased to do.
Saith Nanak : Himself He shall save His servant's honour,[2]
And fulfil his objectives. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Some of our dear friends are about to take departure,
Others already have departed :
Those that remain must depart too.
Those indifferent to devotion to the holy Preceptor,
Their life and death in regrets are enveloped.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in truth never from God get alienated—Through devotion to the holy Preceptor are they in Him absorbed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Tisu milīyai Satiguru sajjanai jisu antari Hari gūṇakārī

Blessed it is to meet such noble souls as have inside them love of God that merit brings.

1. Lit. Mouth.
* Note : All Pauris in this Vār are of the composition of Sri Guru Ram Das.
2. Honour as devotee is meant; just as objectives are spiritual and not material aims.

Blessed it is to meet the cherished holy Preceptor,
Who egoism has cast out of our selves.
Blessed be the perfectly-endowed holy Preceptor, who by Divine instruction
All creation has uplifted.
My devotee friends ! meditate ever on God's Name,
That shall carry you across the ocean of worldliness.
The Master, perfectly-endowed has imparted
Divine instruction—
May I be a sacrifice hundreds of times of to him ! (2)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
In service and submission to the holy Preceptor lies the essence of all joy, Whereby comes exaltation in this world and at the Divine Portal liberation.[1]
Such service lies in adopting truthful doing, truthful wear,[2]
And in the holy Name seeking shelter.
In holy company is found truth,
And love of the holy Name.
In the holy Word lies the source of joy imperishable,
And being judged holy at the Divine Portal.
Saith Nanak : Devotion to the holy Preceptor comes by grace of the Creator. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Serving other than the holy Preceptor is a shame on life and living.
Such a one discarding amrita, to poison is attached—
Poison his gain and poison his capital :
Poison his food and wear;
Poison the morsels in his mouth.
Here such a one finds suffering,
And in death in hell abides.
Egoists with faces blackened, know not the holy Word—
Ruined through lust and wrath.
Fear of the holy Preceptor they discard—
Their stubbornness nothing accomplishes.
Bound in Yama's demesne are they chastized;

1. More literally, Door of Liberation.
2. This is a figurative expression, implying way of life.

None to hear their entreaties.
Saith Nanak : Each earns what in his destiny is recorded.[1]
For the devotee his abode in the holy Name is pre-recorded. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) (Guru Ram Das)

So Satiguru sevuh sādh janu jini Hari Hari Nāmu drirhāiyā

Devote yourselves, devotees of God ! to the holy Preceptor,
Who in our mind God's Name has firmly fixed.
Devote yourselves day and night to the holy Preceptor,
Who has inspired meditation on the Lord of the universe.[2]
Have vision each moment of the holy Preceptor
Who has shown the path leading up to God.
Fall you all at the feet of the holy Preceptor,
Who the darkness of illusion has lifted.
Bless you all the holy Preceptor,
Who has shown the way to the treasure of devotion to God. (3)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The holy Preceptor's touch all desire removes—
This goes not by donning sectarian garbs :
One so involved meets suffering that from door to door drives him, P. 587
And in the hereafter is severely chastized.
In him is not formed poise that contentment[3] would bring.
To desire from stubborn egoism is to inflict suffering.
Better than the ascetic pose is the householder's life.
Wherein is practised charity.
Those dyed in the holy Word have realization;
Those caught in duality in illusion lie.
Each earns what is recorded against his past deeds—
Nothing more can man say.
Saith Nanak : Truly noble are those that please Him,
Whose honour He keeps to the last. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Devotion to the holy Preceptor brings joy imperishable,
And the suffering of transmigration lifts;
All apprehension gone, in peace does the mind abide.

1. Destiny made by deeds of previous births.
2. Original, Jagannath, Jagadish—both standing for Lord of the universe.
3. Lit. Eating or consuming whatever by destiny comes.

Inside us lies the holy pool[1] of enlightenment;
Thus has the holy Preceptor instructed.
With impurity gone is the mind purified,
By bathing in the Pool of Immortality.[2]
The pure-minded meet the pure-minded
Out of love for the holy Word.
In their selves find they God-consciousness,
Merging their light into the Light Divine.
Hypocrisy to Yama and death must fall prey;
Those practising these, in ignominy are dragged away, Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name, through devotion to the holy Eternal are saved. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) (Guru Ram Das)

Titu jāe bahuh sat-sangatī jithai Hari kā Hari-Nāmu bilōīyai

Be you seated in holy company
Where God's Name repeated utterance finds.[3]
Raise God's Name in poise of heart—
Cast not off the essence of devotion.
Meditate ever day and night on God's Name—
Thereby shall you find succour at the Portal Divine.
He alone shall find the perfectly holy Preceptor,
On whose forehead is recorded the writ in the primal hour.
Bow you all before the Master,
Who the Divine discourse has imparted. (4)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Union of devotees with devotees has come about,
Who with love for the Preceptor are inspired.
Together have they meditated on the Beloved Lord,
In true devotion of heart :
Through the Master's Word unfathomable have they found poise from within themselves.[4]
Such noble souls, whom the Creator has brought together,
Never from one another are parted.
Some have not got devotion to the vision—
Indifferent to contemplation of the Word.

---

1. Tirtha—holy water-edge or pool.
2. Enlightenment. The original is 'Amritsar'.
3. Lit. Churned.
4. Lit. From their own mind.

Those alienated through love of duality—
What further separation for them ?
Friendship with egoists is hollow, passing,[1]
And to evil leads.
Those without devotion to the holy Eternal,
Devoid of love for the Name—
What worth cultivating friendship with such,
By the Creator Himself sent astray ? (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Some there are that ever remain constant—Ever may I be a sacrifice to such.
May my body, mind and substance to them be a sacrifice;
May I ever humbly[2] at their feet bow.
By their touch comes poise to the mind,
And thirst and hunger disappear.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name ever are in joy,
By centring their meditation on the holy Eternal. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das
Tisu Guru kau hauṇ wāriyā jini Hari kī Hari kathā sunāī
May I be a sacrifice to the Master,
Who on the Lord has discoursed.
May I be a sacrifice ever to the Master, P. 588
Who on the way of devotion to the Lord has imparted instruction.
That beloved holy Master is by me ever,
In all places succouring me.
Ever I hail the holy Master who to me has granted knowledge of the Lord.
May Nanak be a sacrifice to the holy Master,
Who instructed me in devotion to the holy Lord's Name,
And thus my mind's desire fulfilled. (5)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The world caught in flames of desire, is burnt away.
And in agony[3] is crying :
With the holy Master's cooling touch, never shall fire touch it again.

1. Lit. Lasting four days.
2. Lit. Low (adv.).
3. Lit. While burning.

Saith Nanak : None escapes Yama's terror,
Except by contemplation of the holy Word. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

By assuming sectarian garbs is not quenched the flame of desire—
Its anguish not ending :
Beating the hole kills not the snake—
Thus without fruit is the ritual practice of the faithless.[1]
Through devotion to the holy gracious Master is the Word in the mind lodged.
Then are mind and body in poise[2] and peace,
And the fire of desire quenched.
With egoism gone, is the imperishable supreme joy attained.
He alone practises renunciation by the Master's guidance[3] who to truth is devoted.
Never is such a one by anguish visited—
God's Name to satiety fills him.
Saith Nanak : Laudation comes not without devotion to the holy Name :
Such a one in egoism remains absorbed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jinnhīṇ Hari Hari Nāmu dhiyāiyā tinhīṇ pāiyaṛei sarb sūkhā

Those meditating on the holy Name of the Lord,
Attain joy illimitable.[4]
Fruitful is the life of those that hunger after the holy Name Divine.
Those meditating on God, by the Master instructed,
All their sorrows vanish.
Those alone are devotees and true disciples,
Who cherish not the least desire for other than the Lord.
Blessed is the Master of such as of the Divine fruit of Immortality have tasted. (6)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

In Kaliyuga is brutal Yama operative;
Under the Divine command[5] he acts.

---

1. Nigura = One not instructed by the holy Master.
2. Lit. Cool.
3. Gurmukhi.
4. Lit. All joys.
5. Hukame.

Those saved by the Master are liberated;[1]
The egoist he chastizes.
By Yama's command is the world bound,
None to restrain him.
By devotion to Him who set Yama to his task,
By Godward-turning, suffering comes not.
Saith Nanak : Those to the Master devoted
With purity of heart,
Are by Yama himself served.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

This body is of maladies full—
Without the holy Word suffering arising from egoism goes not.
By the holy Master's touch is one rendered pure,
And the Name Divine in the mind lodged.
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the holy Name,
Bringer of joy spontaneously,
Vanishes suffering. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jini Jag-jīvanu ūpadesiyā tisu Guru kau hauṇ sadā ghūmaiyā

May I ever be a sacrifice[2] to the Preceptor,
Who in devotion to the Lord, Life of the universe instructed me.
May I sacrifice my body cut in pieces to the Master,
Who uttered to me the Name of the Lord,
Destroyer of evil-doers[3] !
May I be a sacrifice to the Master,
Who from poisonous malady of egoism has emancipated me.
Mighty is the grace of the holy Preceptor
Who eliminating evil,
In virtue has instructed me. P. 589
Only such find the holy Preceptor
As bear the record of such good fortune on their forehead.[4] (7)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Those that have died to the world are the true devotees;
Only those God-directed in devotion engage.

---

1. Swim across the ocean.
2. Lit. Perform sacrifice by peregrenation.
3. Madhusudan, one of Krishna's attributive names in his divine aspect.
4. As elsewhere, the good fortune made by actions of previous births is implied.

In the primal hour have they been blessed with the wealth of devotion,
That none can efface.
In their mind is lodged the Sole Eternal Lord,
Treasury of noble attributes.
Saith Nanak : Those by Divine blessing united to Him, never again are alienated. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Any without devotion to the holy Master,
Poor would his thinking be.[1]
Not knowing the Essence of the holy Word,
By Maya-poison is he deluded.
One bereft of Divine wisdom, in ritual remains absorbed,
To duality attached.
Unaware of their unreality are the ego-filled,
And by Yama in ignominy get chastized.
Saith Nanak : With whom else may man seek succour ?
The Lord alone is bestower of grace. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das
Tūṇ kartā sabhu kichhu jāṉadā sabhi jīya Tūmhārei
Thou art the Creator, all-knowing;
All creation is Thine.
Thou to Thyself dost unite those that please Thee—
What power has the poor creature ?
Thou art Almighty, holy Creator.
Beloved ! those alone are united to Thee,
That Thy approval win, by the Master instructed.
May I be a sacrifice to my holy Preceptor
Who the truth of the Lord inaccessible has revealed. (8)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Only the jeweller's trained eye may judge of jewels :
Of jewels the benighted ignorant fool knows not the value.
The Master's Word is the jewel.
Of this the truly knowing alone may judge.
Those with minds unawakened are ego-filled :
They are born and die—
Ignominy their destiny.
Saith Nanak : He alone the jewel may acquire,

1. Lit. What would be his mind's content ?

Who by the Master's instruction is with these in love.
Ever does he utter the holy Name
Devotion to the Name Divine his life's sole concern.
By Diving grace is the Lord in the heart lodged. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Those that to the holy Master have not devoted themselves,
And loved not the Lord's Name,
Deem not such to live :
Death for them is by the Creator destined.
Caught in the great malady of egoism,
From duality they act.
Saith Nanak : The ego-directed are dead while living—
In forgetfulness of the Lord falling into suffering. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jisu antaru hirdā shüddh hai tisu jana kau sabhi namaskārī

The whole world venerates him who in his heart bears purity.
May I be a sacrifice to him who bears in his self the wealth of the holy Name.
True wisdom lies in meditating on the Lord's holy Name.[1]
Of all creation is the holy Preceptor the succourer—
All He cherishes.
Through enlightenment by the Master granted,
In all manifestation is viewed the Supreme Self. (9)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Without devotion to the holy Preceptor, the self in bonds remains,
And from egoism acts.
Without devotion to the holy Preceptor, beings find not rest from transmigration,
And in death and life whirl about :
Without devotion to the holy Preceptor, man's utterance all joy loses, P. 590
And the holy Name abides not in the mind.
Saith Nanak : Those without devotion to the holy Preceptor,
In Yama's realm are chastized in bonds, and leave this world with faces blackened. (1)

1. Murari : One of Krishna's attributive names—here symbolizing God.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Burn the way of life that turns the mind away from the Beloved Lord.
Saith Nanak : Pure is the love wherein is maintained
devotion to the Lord. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das
Hari ikko dātā sevīai Hari ikk dhiyāīai
Serve the Lord, the sole Bestower,
On Him alone you meditate :
Seek fulfilment of Him alone,
And your heart's desire[1] obtain.
To seek other than Him is shame and disgrace.
Anyone serving the Lord has the true reward[2] achieved—
All his desires fulfilled.
Nanak is a sacrifice to those
That ever from their hearts on the Lord's Name meditate. (10)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
With His devotees is the Beloved pleased :
Himself has He inspired in them devotion.
On His devotees has He conferred the true kingship;
Over them has the holy Lord erected the canopy.[3]
Those serving the holy Preceptor ever are in bliss, ever pure.
Not such have true royalty as make violent clashes,
And in transmigration are withheld.
Saith Nanak : Those devoid of devotion in disgrace abide,
Honour coming to them never. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Joyless is listening to discourses,
Devoid of devotion to the Master's holy Word.
From devotion to the holy Preceptor, in the mind is the holy Name lodged,
And illusion and fear of Yama vanish.
In the holy Preceptor's image is the seeker made,
His heart to the holy Name devoted.
Saith Nanak : From devotion[4] comes exaltation,
And honour in the hereafter at the Divine Portal. (2)

1. (Refers to liberation and devotion, and not worldly benefits).
2. Lit. Fruit.
3. (This is a mark of royalty).
4. Nām.

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Guru-Sikkhāṇ mana Hari preeti hai Guru pūjaṉ āwehṇ

The Master's disciples, with minds full of devotion to the Lord
To venerate the Master congregate :
In ecstasy in the holy Name they hold commeree,
And profit of the holy Name carry away.
Radiant are the faces of the true disciples—
At the Lord's Portal find they favour.
The holy Preceptor is the grain-heap of the Name Divine.[1]
By supreme good luck is the disciple therein granted a share.
May I be a sacrifice to the disciples,
That at each step[2] on the Lord's Name meditate (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Saith Nanak : The Name is a treasure, found through the holy Preceptor's guidance.
Egoists, ignorant of this treasure lying in their homes
In blindness howl and bark to death. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Like to pure gold is the frame that to the holy Name is devoted :
Thus is found the pure light immaculate;
All illusion and Yama's fear through the holy Preceptor's guidance vanish.
Saith Nanak : Those devoted to God find joy imperishable,
And absorbed in God, are the true anchorites. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Sei Guru-Sikn dhanu dhannu haiṇ jinhīṇ Guru-ūpdeshu sūṉiyā Hari kannīṇ

Blessed are the disciples whose ears have listened to the Master's teaching.
Those meditating on God's holy Name—
Shattered[3] are their egoism and illusion.
None but God's Name is the true friend—
Thus have God's devotees contemplated.
Those enjoying the Lord's pleasure, P. 591
The holy Preceptor's guidance accept.

---

1. Hari-Nam.
2. Lit. Each time while sitting down and rising.
3. Bhanni in the original may as well be the Lehndi verb, meaning fiee.

Those guided by the Preceptor,
Meditating on the holy Name,
Are in God's love deep-dyed. (12)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The egoist is craven, misshapen :
Without devotion comes not respect.
Ever is he engaged in seeking gain,
Even in dream finding not joy.
Saith Nanak : Only those seeking the Master's guidance are saved;
Else, in bonds they suffer. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The God-directed bear noble aspect at the Divine Portal,
By living the Master's Word.
Poised within, are they ever in joy,
And at the holy Portal honoured.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance is the Divine Name learnt;
In holy Truth are those so enlightened, absorbed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Gurmukhi Prahlādi japi Hari gati pāī

Prahlad[1] instructed by the Preceptor through meditation on the Lord, the supreme state attained;
Through holy instruction Janak[2] fixed on God's Name his mind.
Through holy instruction Vashisht[3] discoursed on Divine teaching.
Brother ! none ever found devotion to God without the Master's guidance.
The Lord by the Preceptor's guidance, makes Himself manifest to the devotee. (13)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

One devoid of faith in the holy Preceptor and love for the holy Word,
Never shall find happiness, even after hundreds of transmigratory circles.
Saith Nanak : Through devotion the holy Eternal is by the Master's guidance spontaneously followed. (1)

---

1. A devotee, who withstood the wrath of his atheist father.
2. The saintly king, father of Sita.
3. The sage, instructor of Rama and Lakshman.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
My self ! seek thou a guide whose service transmigration's suffering shall annul.
Thus shall illusion disappear,
And egoism through the holy Word be consumed;
The wall of falsehood[1] be demolished,
And in the mind truth shall be lodged.
The mind in poise, and joyful the heart,
Thus shalt thou act with truth and moral discipline.
Saith Nanak : By supreme good fortune[2] is the holy Preceptor found,
Should the Lord so please. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jis kai ghari dībānu Hari hovai tis kī muṭṭhī
vichi jagatu sabhu āiyā

Anyone subject to the Lord's rule is of the whole world overlord;
On none need he depend.
The Lord, ruler of the Universe, shall induce universal submission to him.[3]
From man's rule may one escape—
How may one the Lord's rule escape ?
The Lord abiding in the devotees' hearts is the mightiest of all,
Who has subjected to them all recalcitrant rebels.[4]
By Divine grace[5] is the greatness of Devotion attained—
Rare are those that by the Preceptor's guidance, on the Lord meditate. (14)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Those devoid of devotion to the holy Preceptor are ruined—
Their life gone waste.
In Duality lies great suffering—
Those caught in it are in transmigration whirled;
Living in filth, through numerous births they pass.
Saith Nanak : Those devoid of devotion Yama's chastizement shall suffer,
And leave this world in regrets. (1)

---

1. Cf. Japuji, 1.
2. Karma (Skt.) accumulated fortune made by good actions.
3. Make all fall at his feet.
4. God-deniers are implied.
5. Karam (Ar.) = grace.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
In the universe is One sole Male[1]—
The whole creation is females.
All creation He pervades, yet it by any untouched— P. 592
In His mystery inaccessible.
The Master perfectly-endowed alone reveals Him;
From the holy Word is knowledge of Him obtained.
Those serving this mighty Male acquire true heroism.
By the holy Word have they consumed their egoism.
None His rival; none His tormentor or foe.
Imperishable His rule, ever abiding.
Ever His devotees serve Him, lauding His noble attributes.
Nanak is in ecstasy, beholding might of the Eternal Lord. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jinkai Hari-Nāmu wassiyā sad hirdai Hari-Nāmo tin kauṇ rakhaūhārā

Of those cherishing the Lord's Name ever in their hearts,
The Lord is Saviour.
The Lord's Name is our father, mother, helper and friend.
With the Lord's Essence[2] is our converse,
With His Essence our counsel—
His Reality[2] ever our cherisher.
The Lord's Essence[2] our company, lovingly sought;
His Essence[2] our progenitors, our family.
The holy Preceptor on Nanak has conferred blessing of the Lord's Name;
In this life and the next is the Lord his saviour. (15)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Those blessed[3] by the holy Preceptor's meeting utter ever the Lord's laudation.
The Lord's Name annuller of sorrow, in their mind is lodged.
In the holy Word are they merged.
Liberated themselves, to their forebears too they bring liberation.
Those making obeisance at the Master's feet,
The supreme Creator's[4] pleasure have won.

1. Purakh (Purusha), male. In Philosophy, the immanent supreme Being.
2. Hari-Nām.
3. Lit. Those whom the holy Preceptor has met.
4. Pār-Brahm.

The humble Nanak is the Lord's slave—
May He in His grace save his honour ! (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
In egoism lies trepidation;
In trepidation is the life of such passed.
Egoism is the supreme malady;
One caught therein is in transmigration whirled.
Those so pre-destined, with the holy Preceptor's contact are blessed.[1]
Saith Nanak : Such by the Master's grace are saved—
Their egoism by the holy Word consumed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Hari-Nāmu hamārā Prabhu abigatu agocharu abināshī Pūrakh bidhātā

The Lord's Name is our Lord unknowable, inaccessible, eternal Creator of the universe.
The Lord's Name we serve; Him we worship—
In the Name is our mind dyed.
None supreme over the Lord's Name to our sight—
The Name our Saviour at the last.
The Master gracious has instructed us in the holy Name—
Blessed be the Master's progenitors.[2]
Ever bow I to the holy Preceptor,
Whose contact on me realization of the Lord conferred. (16)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
One neglecting to serve the Preceptor
And devotion to the Name Divine;
Without finding joy in the holy Word—
In transmigration shall remain whirling.
The egoist purblind contemplates not the purpose of his birth.
Saith Nanak : Only those blessed with His grace find liberation.[3] (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The holy Master alone is wide awake—
The rest of the world is slumber of attachment and desire is involved.

---

1. Lit. The holy Preceptor they meet or find.
2. Father and mother.
3. Lit. Swim across.

Those serving the holy Master are truly awake, Dyed in devotion to the holy Name, repository[1]
of noble attributes.
The egoist purblind contemplates not the Lord, P. 593
And caught in birth and death, is effaced out of existence.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance those engage in contemplating the holy Name,
For whom in the primal hour the writ so has run. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Hari-Nāmu hamārā bhojan chhattīh parkār jitu khāīyai ham kau tripti bhayee

The Lord's Name is for us the feast of delicate viands,[2]
That consumed, fills us wonderfully.
The Lord's Name is our vesture fine,
Which worn, leaves us covered and contented evermore.
The Lord's Name is our trade and commerce,
To which the holy Master has appointed us factor.
Of the Lord's Name have we rendered the accompt,
Releasing us of submitting to Yama's reckoning in the hereafter.
Rare are those who by the Master's guidance,
Have the Lord's Name contemplated;
In the primal Hour has the Writ for them so run. (17)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Ignorant and blind is the world,
Engaged in acting from motive of duality :
What from duality is done,
Brings in suffering rushing to the body.
By the Master's grace is found joy,
Should life by the holy Word be guided,
Act by dictates of the holy Word,
And ever contemplate the Name Divine.
Saith Nanak : Man acts as willed by the Lord—
This Divine secret none may expound. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

In our home lies perpetually treasury of the holy Name;
Of devotion are our stores full.
The eternal Lord ever is man's succourer,

---

1. Lit. Vessel.
2. Lit. Thirty-six varieties of culinary delicacies, so classified in the Indian tradition.

On the self perpetually bestowing favours.
Those favoured of the Lord, laud Him ever
In the Master's Word illimitable.
The Master's Word they chant, of might in all Ages.
Thus shall the self ever be in joy,
And in poise abide.
Enlightenment by the Master granted,
Is the jewel, bestower of liberation.
Saith Nanak : To whomsoever the Lord shows grace, finds this,
And at the Divine Portal is judged pure. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Dhannu dhannu so Gür-sikhu kahīyai jo
Satiguru charṉīṇ jāye paiyā

Blessed is the Master's disciple who makes obeisance at the holy Master's feet;
Blessed is the devotee who has uttered the holy Name of the Lord-Creator.[1]
Blessed is the devotee whose heart joys in listening to the Lord's Name;
Blessed is the devotee who by the Master's service is guided to utter the Lord's Name.
Ever bow I to the disciple who submitting to the Master's guidance,
His teaching has followed. (18)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

None found the way to God by forced praxis—
All such have practised ritual to weary exhaustion.[2]
In forced praxis such adopt various garbs, making vain efforts.[3]
Caught in duality, only suffering is their lot.
The pursuit of occult powers[4] is worldly attachment—
The holy Name thereby finds not lodgement in the heart.
By devotion[5] to the Master is the mind purified,
And darkness of ignorance lifted.

---

1. Original, Hari-Nam and Rama.
2. Are exhausted.
3. This may imply wandering from place to place in the manner of anchorites, or as rendered here.
4. Riddhi-Siddhi.
5. Lit. Service.

Saith Nanak : Thus is the jewel of Enlightenment[1] manifested
And within the self[2] spontaneously lodged. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

One finding not joy in devotion to God's Name or love for the holy Word—
Joyless his utterance, P. 594
In ignominy he abides.
Saith Nanak : One gets the recompense for deeds done—
This none has power to efface.[3] (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Dhannu dhanau sat-pūrakhu Satiguru hamārā jiti miliyai ham kau shānti āyee

Blessed is our holy Preceptor, immaculate being,
Whose contact has on us conferred peace and poise.
Blessed is our holy Preceptor, the Lord's devotee,
In whose obedience our mind to God's Name is devoted.
Blessed is our holy Preceptor, God-enlightened,
By whose teaching friend and foe to our gaze look alike.
Blessed is our holy Preceptor, our true friend,
From whose guidance devotion to the holy Name in us is inspired. (19)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

In the home is the wife pining for her Lord far away,
Ever thinking on Him :
Union with Him may soon come about, should her love[4] be sincere. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Saith Nanak : False is all utterance without true love :
One with such a mind shall utter words of praise,
only as benefits come. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jini ūpāe jīya tini Hari rākhiyā

The Creator is Himself the Preserver of all creation :
To those devoted to Him is the holy Name their immortalizing fare :
With this are they filled—their hunger satisfied.

1. Nām.
2. Lit. Home.
3. (The emphasis in Gurubani is mainly on Karma and its retribution : Grace may however, annul the ill effect of past deeds).
4. Intention, desire, yearning.

One Sole Being pervades all—
By rare devotees realized.
Nanak, servant of God, seeking His shelter bliss has found. (20)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The whole world has sight of the holy Preceptor :
His mere sight brings not liberation;
This comes from devotion to the holy Word—
Impurity of egoism goes out without devotion to the Lord's Name.
To some He grants union by grace,
Purifying them of duality and evil-doing.
Nanak ! die thou to the world by the holy Master's sight,
By devotion to him. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The purblind unenlightened ignorant barbarian
Has engaged not in serving the holy Preceptor :
Caught in feelings of duality, has he fallen into suffering,
And in agony[1] wails;
What prompted him to neglect obedience to the Master,
At departing from life has not benefitted him.
Saith Nanak : In following the Master's teaching lies true joy—
From Divine grace[2] alone comes liberation. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das
Tūṇ āpei āpi āpi sabhu kartā koī dūjā hoe su awaro kahīyai
All that happens from Thee emanates—
None else is there, to whom we may complain of Thy doings.
The Lord's is the Voice, His the Call;
On land and water is He pervasive—Himself Destroyer and Saviour.
My self ! seek thou shelter with Him.
None but the Lord has power to bring death or grant life—
My self ! free thyself therefore, from all anxiety.
In all states, my self !
While rising, sitting, sleeping,
On the Lord's Name meditate :
Saith Nanak, servant of God—
Thus by the Master's guidance may one attain the Lord. (21)
(Found correct)[3]

1. Lit. While burning.
2. Lit. The gracious one.
3. (At the close in the holy text is recorded Shuddh, implying the accuracy of the recorded words after scrutiny).

RAGA SORATH

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Creator, Reality Immanent, Without Fear, Without Rancour, Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-existent, Realized by the holy Precetor's grace. P. 595

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Quartets

SCORE 1

Sabhnāṇ maruā āiyā vechhoṛā sabhnāh

All inevitably must die; all from those they love must get separated.
Go ask the wise, who in the hereafter with God shall find union ?
Those forgetful of the Lord—terrible is their agony. (1)
The holy Eternal again and again I laud,
Whose glance perpetual joy brings. (Pause)
Behoves it us to laud exaltation of Him who alone is real and shall ever be.[1]
Of all art Thou the Provider, man noway for anyone can provide.
All happens as He wills—what good wailing like weak women ?
With forts and castles built, many their glory
have made to resound.
Those reckoning the sky not high enough for them,[2]
Have halters in their noses strung.[3]
Were man's mind to realize the pike-like[4] agony of retribution,
In pleasure[5] would he not indulge. (3)
Saith Nanak : All evils are like chains thrown round the neck.

1. Echo of opening sloka in Japuji.
2. Not contained under the sky.
3. (Like pack-animals or slaves).
4. Sūli was the pike on which men were drawn in punishment.
5. Eating of sweet things.

These by good qualities are snapped, who are our true brothers and helpers.[1]
Those lacking these in the hereafter are not honoured,
And castigated as faithless,[2] are pushed off. (4) (1)

Manu hālī kirsaṉī karṉī sarmu pāṉī tanu khetu

Make thy mind the ploughman, thy actions cultivator's vocation,
Modesty the water and thy body the field.
In this field sow devotion;[3] make content the levelling-plank,
And maintain the garb of humility.
By devotion and grace shall this crop sprout—
Where it grows, that home you shall see blessed. (1)
Friend[4] ! worldly wealth[5] accompanies us not.
Lure of wealth[5] the world has bewitched—
Only rare ones realize this. (I-Pause)
Make thy shop of realization of mortality;
Therein make stock of commodity of the holy Name.
Make attentive devotion the storage vessels,[6] wherein this commodity you keep.
In this trade have dealing with traders[7] in devotion,
And thus the profitable bargain enjoy. (2)
Make listening to holy texts[8] thy trade, and with pack-horses of truth start on the way.
Take with thee provision of merits—
Depend not on tomorrow for this.
Thus provided, to the Divine country proceed :
Then shalt thou of the Divine Mansion have joy. (3)
With devoted heart render service : P. 596 make faith in the holy thy vocation.
Restrain thy mind running evilwards—
Thus shalt thou draw approbation.
Saith Nanak : The Lord then shall cast on you
His glance of grace,
And in splendour shall you glow.[9] (4) (2)

1. (Bhai and Vir both mean brother).
2. Uninstructed by a Preceptor (Pir).
3. Nām.
4. Baba.
5. Maya.
6. Lit. Pots and pitchers in which petty shopkeepers kept their commodities.
7. Devotees of God are implied.
8. Sasat (Shastra).
9. Lit. Fourfold glow shine on you.

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Quatrains

Māe bāp ko beṭā nīkā sasūrai chatūru jawāī

To mother and father is the son valued; to the father-in-law the sensible son-in-law.
To the young maiden is the father the loved relation;
by the brother is the brother deeply loved.
When comes the Divine command,[1] man leaves home and the outside world,
And in an instant is everything turned alien.
The ego-centred one[2] who has engaged neither in devotion to the holy Name,
Nor in charity or holy bathing—
With shame is his body covered.[3] (1)
My mind to making the holy Name its friend has assented.
At the Master's feet I bow; to him am I a sacrifice,
Who such pure enlightenment has granted. (I-Pause)
The egoist's mind with false attachment to the world is penetrated;
With men of God into strife he enters.
In lucre involved day and night, its path he seeks—
To the holy Name unattached, swallowing poison he dies;
To uttering foul things attached, to the holy Word inattentive.
The egoist, by God's dye untouched,[4] by Divine joy unpenetrated,
All honour forfeits. (2)
The egoist in holy company has tasted not poise;
His tongue with joy in God unacquainted.
His self, body and wealth takes he to be his own—
Of the Divine Portal heedless.
This purblind one, as eyes close in death, leaves the world—
House and home to him become invisible.
Bound at Yama's door no place of shelter he finds—
Of his own doing getting retribution. (3)
Should the Lord show grace, with my eyes may I behold Him—
Inexpressible is such vision.
Listening to the holy Word I laud it, in my heart lodging amrita.
I may then behold the irrefrangible[5] Effulgence

1. Good.
2. Manmukh.
3. Dust falls on him.
4. Undyed.
5. Perfect.

Of the Lrod, above fear, without form, above rancour.
Saith Nanak : Without the Master's guidance is doubt not removed,
By devotion to the holy Name comes exaltation. (4) (3)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Dous

Pūṛu dhartī pūṛnu pāṇī āsaṇ chār kūnṭ chaubārā

One end[1] is the earth, another water;[2]
In a chamber of four doors is Thy seat.
One sole Being in all the worlds is pervasive—
In Thy Word[3] lies the mint where from issue all created forms. (1)
Lord ! wonderful are Thy marvels—
On water and earth pervasive,
all existence interpenetrating. (I-Pause)
Wherever I look, Thy light I see—what is Thy form like ?
With Thy unique form art Thou hidden from sight—
None created by Thee is like any other. (2)
Thy creation by way of the egg, of placenta, by sweat and atmosphere rises.[4]
Such is Thy wonder—in all art Thou pervasive. (3)
Innumerable Thy merits; of these am I ignorant :
Pray grant me, ignorant one, part of your merits.
Thus prayeth Nanak : Listen, Lord ! This sinking stone save ! (4) (4)

Hauṇ pāpī patitu param pākhanḍī Tūṇ nirmalu nirankārī

A sinner, great hypocrite am I; Thou the immaculate formless one.
Lord ! under Thy shelter tasting amrita, with the supreme elixir are we intoxicated. (1)
Lord Creator ! of the humble art Thou honour.
For me honour and greatness in possession of the holy Name lies,
In absorption in the holy Word. (Pause)
Thou all perfection, shallow are we; P. 597
Thou weighty, substantial; we of no weight.[5]
The mind in Thee day and night and each dawn is absorbed—
My self ! with thy tongue the Name Divine thou utter. (2)

1. Limit is implied. Lit. Curtain, surface.
2. Water-bearing clouds in heaven are implied.
3. In Thy mouth
4. (These are the traditionally recognized sources of creation).
5. Implies worth here.

Thou all-holy; in Thee are we absorbed—
By penetration in the Word made holy.
Those day and night in the Name dyed are truly pure—
Those in transmigration caught impure.[1] (3)
None other is visible—whom else to laud ?
None His rival.
Thus states humbly Nanak, slave of the Lord's slaves :
By the Master's guidance is He realized. (4) (5)

Alakh apār agam agochar nā tisu kālu nā karmā

Inaccessible, limitless, beyond reach, unknowable is the Lord—
By time or deeds not bound.[2]
Not characterized by high or low caste—Unincarnated, self-existent; from fear and doubt free. (1)
To the supremely holy Lord am I a sacrifice :
From form, colour or feature exempt—
By the holy Word manifested. (Pause)
Mother, father, progeny or relation has He none—
Neither subject to lust nor to relationship with woman.
Immaculate Lord without race, transcendent—
Thine all manifested light. (2)
In each being[3] is the Supreme hidden;
In all beings His light.
By the Master's teaching are the adamantine doors of ignorance opened,
And in the state of fearlessness is one then absorbed. (3)
Creating beings, death over them has He appointed—
All devices under His own control lie.
By service to the holy Preceptor does each being the true objective achieve;
By living the Word comes liberation. (4)
In the purified vessel[4] is truth contained;
Few in this world have true living.
His essence in the Supreme Essence is merged,
As Nanak your shelter has sought. (5) (6)

1. Unbaked, raw.
2. That is, subject neither to action nor to their retribution.
3. Vessel.
4. Symbol for the self.

Jiūṇ mīnā binu pāṉīyai tiūṇ sākat marai piyās
As the fish without water, so is the reprobate[1] tormented[2] by thirst.
My self ! with each breath that without remembrance
of God is passed,
Does man suffer. (1)
My self ! take blessing of contemplation of the Name Divine.
Without the Master's guidance is this joy not obtained—
The Lord grants it by uniting the seeker
to the Master. (Pause)
The congregation of the holy is the sacred bathing-spots of devotees :
By sight of the Master is obtained merit of dipping at sixty-eight tirthas.[3] (2)
As the Yogi without continence, austerity, purity and content,
So is the self[4] without devotion to the Name,
That for lodgement of sin is by Yama chastized. (3)
In the reprobate[1] state is not attained love of God;
By devotion to the holy Preceptor is attained the Lord.
Any that to the Master, giver of joy in suffering are united,
Saith Nanak, in Divine laudation are absorbed. (4) (7)
Tūṇ Prabh dātā dāni mati pūrā ham Thārei bhekhārī jio
Lord ! in charity and wisdom art Thou perfect—
We Thy[5] beggars.
What shall I seek of Thee ? Nothing in the world lasts :
Lord ! grant me love of the Name. (1)
In each being[6] is the Lord[7] pervasive,
On water and land pervades He hidden—
By the Master's Word made manifest. (Pause)
The holy Preceptor in his grace to me has revealed
The mortal world, the nether world and the heavenly regions.
The Supreme Being unincarnated, truly real, ever abiding, the Lord— P. 598
In your self view Him. (2)

1. Sakta.
2. Lit. Dies—in applied sense, suffers acutely.
3. A holy water-edge.
4. Body.
5. The pronoun here may be interpreted as 'your' also.
6. Vessel.
7. Banwari = forest-wanderer, an attributive name of Krishna, here symbolizing God.

This poor world, in transmigration gripped—
In attachment to duality, devotion has neglected.
In association with the holy Preceptor is Divine wisdom attained :
The reprobate[1] his game has forfeited. (3)
The holy Preceptor snapping our bonds, has granted us emancipation[2]—
Never again into the womb may we be cast.
Saith Nanak : As the formless Lord in the self is lodged,
Has the jewel enlightenment cast illumination. (4) (8)

Jisu jal-nidhi kārani tum jagi āye so amritu Guru pāhī jīo

The ocean of amrita[3] for which into the world you came, with the Master lies.
Discard ritual garbs, clever devices and duality—
With these is not attained fulfilment.[4] (1)
My self ! abide in poise; wander not.
In seeking Him outside much suffering shalt thou get :
In thy home, in thy self lies amrita. (Pause)
Discarding evils, to attain merits you rush—
In doing evil lies regret.
By not realizing distinction between pure and impure,
In the mire shalt thou be sunk. (2)
Within thee is impurity, much false greed—
What good bathing your outer limbs ?
Ever by the Master's guidance the holy Name repeat :
Thus alone shall the self get emancipation. (3)
Cast off avarice, calumny; falsehood discard—Then by following the Master's Word shall you obtain the reward.[4]
Lord ! keep me as please Thee :
Nanak, Thy servant seeks in Thy laudation to engage. (4) (9)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Quintets

Apnā gharu mūsat rākhi na sākeh kī par-ghar johan lāgā

Man that his own home[5] from robbing cannot guard—

1. Sakta.
2. Made unattached to Maya.
3. Water.
4. Fruit, reward.
5. Here stands for the self, subject to depradation by evil.

Preposterous[1] is his seeking another's home.
House and home shalt thou save, shouldst thou taste joy in God :
This comes to such as by the Master's guidance.
on service to God enter : (1)
My self ! consider, what foul thinking art thou pursuing ?
Forgetful of the Name, by alien tastes art thou attracted :
Thereby thou unfortunate one, into regrets shalt fall.
At gain art thou joyful, loss thou dost bewail :
Know, suffering and joy are to the self attached.
Himself suffering and joy He makes us bear—
The God-directed to the world are unattached. (2)
What is higher than joy in God ?
All quaffing it are fulfilled.
Any that through Maya-attachment this joy forfeits,
Is a misbeliever,[2] in foul thinking involved. (3)
The mind's life is breath, lord of the body—
In the body is the Divine Essence pervasive.
Lord ! shouldst Thou so grant, of joy in God may I sing :
Thereby may the mind be fulfilled,
And attachment to the Lord formed. (4)
In holy company obtain joy in God :
By union with the Master shall Yama's terror vanish.
Saith Nanak : One by the Master's guidance contemplating
the Name Divine,
By good fortune on forehead recorded,
The Lord shall attain. (5) (10)

Sarb jīyāṇ sir lekhu dhūrāhūṇ binu lekhai nahīṇ koī jīo

All creatures carry the writ in primal time on the forehead recorded—
None without the writ may be seen.
Himself not subject to the writ, His might in operation He views,
His Ordinance making operative. (1)
My self ! the Lord's Name utter; thereby gain joy. P. 599
Each day and night at the Lord's feet your serve,
Who is Bestower and consumer[3] Himself. (Pause)

1. What points this seeking to rob others ?
2. Sakta.
3. (Expression of the mystical doctrine of the identity and harmony of being in the cosmos).

Whatever is within you, the same view you without—
None other exists.
By the Master's teaching know all existence to be one;
In each being is His light pervasive. (2).
The mind restless put in poise—
By contact with the Master comes such wisdom.
By viewing the Invisible Reality am I struck with wonder;
Gone thereby is suffering and joy experienced. (3)
Quaff the joy unattainable; obtain supreme bliss;
In your own essence[1] lodgement find.
By chanting laudation of the annuller of transmigration,
Is birth and death eliminated—
Never again occurs then birth. (4)
In all beings is pervasive light of the Immaculate Essence—
In it am I absorbed[2]—
No distinction is there.
The transcendent Supreme Being, Supreme Lord.[3]
By the Master's guidance has to me been united. (5) (11)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jā Tisu bhāvāṇ tad hī gāwāṇ

I sing Divine laudation as His approval I win.
Then alone does my singing bring reward :
Reward of this singing comes then only,
As He Himself confers it. (1)
My self ! this treasure by following the Master's teaching is obtained—
Thereafter in holy truth have I kept absorbed. (Pause)
As the Master's teaching in the self is awakened,
Discarded is restless thinking.
By light of the Master's teaching
Is all darkness banished.[4] (2)
As the mind to the Master's feet is devoted,

1. In your own home.
2. Soham (Skt. I am He). Doctrine of identification of the self with the Supreme Self.
3. Another rendering : 'The Transcendent Supreme Being, Supreme Lord has Nanak's Preceptor become.'
4. Effaced.

Removed far[1] is Yama's path.
Abiding in fear of God as the Lord above fear we have attained,
Is the house of poise entered. (3)
Saith Nanak : Should any after contemplation try to realize
What is the purest doing in this world—
He shall know, the best of actions is Divine laudation.
This comes when the Lord grants union.[2] (4) (1.12)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sevak sev karehṇ sabhi Terī jin shabdai sād āiyā

Such of the devotees devote themselves to Thy service as in the holy Word find joy.
Those discarding egoism by the Master's grace have found purity :
Ever lauding attributes of the holy Lord,
Through listening to the Master's Word are they exalted. (1)
Lord ! as children are we, seeking your shelter—
Thou who art the sole Reality,
Supreme Being[3] without a second. (Pause)
Those with minds wakeful alone find the Lord,
By the holy Word annulling egoism.
God's devotees, even though householders,
In contemplation of the essence of enlightenment to worldly pleasures remain indifferent.
Through obedience to the holy Preceptor find they joy everlasting, P. 600
Cherishing the Lord ever in their hearts. (2)
The mind in all directions wanders,
Through duality ruined.
The egoist unenlightened contemplates not God's Name,
His life gone waste.
Only by the holy Preceptor's touch is blessing of the holy Name[4] found,
All egoism and illusion lifted. (3)

1. Fled.
2. That is, by His grace.
3. Murari—an attributive name of Krishna, used here to signify God.
4. Nānv, Nām.

God's holy devotees practise purity
By contemplation of the Master's Word.
The holy Lord grants to them union Himself,
Through the Truth in their hearts lodged.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name have I obtained the pure state[1] and enlightenment—
In this alone lies our wealth. (4) (1)

Bhagati khazānā bhagtan kau dīyā Nāuṇ Hari dhanu sachu soe

On His devotees has He conferred the wealth of devotion—
The Lord's Name is the holy wealth.
Inexhaustible is this wealth of the Name,
Beyond all value.
Those possessing this wealth bear radiant faces,
as the holy Lord they find. (1)
My self ! by listening to the Master's Word is the Lord found;
Those ignorant of the Word are into illusion fallen,
And at the Divine Portal chastized. (Pause)
Five are the robbers lodged in this body—
Lust, wrath, avarice, attachment,[2] egoism.
The amrita they carry off—this the egoist realizes not.
At the last, none to his rescue shall come.[3]
Blind is the world, blind its ways—
Without the Master's guidance all is darkness. (2)
Man[4] through egoism and avarice is ruined;
Nothing in the end shall accompay him;
Those Divinely-guided alone the Name contemplate,
Ever bearing in mind the Lord's Name.
The holy Word and Divine laudation they chant,
By God's glance of grace blessed. (3)
Enlightenment given by the holy Master is the mind's imperishable light,
Supreme ruler over heads of monarchs.
God's devotees in devotion are ever engaged day and night,
Devotion to God[5] their true gain.

1. The exalted state.
2. Illusion—applied meaning, attachment.
3. Lit. Attend to his wailing and shricking.
4. The implication is mankind.
5. Rama Nām.

Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the holy Name alone
comes liberation;
Those dyed in the Name alone find the Lord. (4) (2)

Dāsani dāsu hovai tāṇ Hari pāe vichchuṇh āpu gawāī

Only through humility of obedience is the Lord attained,
By discarding egoism.
Joy in God's is His devotees' sole course,
Ever lauding Him.
Ever are they dyed in the holy Word in ecstasy unbroken,
in the Lord absorbed. (1)
Lord ! holy is our glance of grace.
On us your servants shower grace, cherishing us.[1] (Pause)
In laudation of the holy Word lies my life;
By the Master's guidance is Yama's terror ended.[2]
Supremely beautiful is the holy Lord—
In devotion to Him lies the heart's delight.
One absorbed in the holy Word, the holy teaching,[3]
Is alone in the mind ever awake. (2)
The Lord unfathomable, fount of perennial joy—
Inexhastible is His extent.
From serving the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Is the Lord spontaneously in the heart lodged.
Then are mind and body made pure,
In everlasting joy absorbed,
With illusion shattered. (3)
God's way is ever a hard path—
The rare devotee contemplating the Master's Word,
This may find—
Should he be immersed in God's dye, P. 601
Be by the Word inspired,[4]
And discard egoism and evil-doing.
Saith Nanak : Snch a one is dyed ever in the holy Name,
That through the holy Word purifies. (4) (3)

Hari jīo Tüdh noṇ sadā sālāhīṇ Piyārei jiccharu ghaṭ antari hai sāsā

Lord ! ever may I laud Thee while breath fills this frame;

1. Lit. Save our honour.
2. Fled.
3. Bāni.
4. Intoxicated.

To be forgetful of Thee for a moment, as instant,
Is to me like an age.[1]
Brother ! ever were we ignorant, unawakened—
The Master's Word to us has brought light. (1)
Lord ! grant to us illumination[2] Thyself.
Lord ! may I be a sacrifice to Thee !
To Thy Name may my life be dedicated. (Pause)
Brother ! into the holy Word have we died in flesh :
From the holy Word have found life after death;
From the Word found liberation.
By the Word are mind and body made pure,
And the Lord in the heart lodged.
The Word is the Master bountiful, wherein is the heart[3] dyed,
In the Lord absorbed. (2)
Those ignorant of the Word are deaf and blind.[4]
Fruitless their sojourn in this world[5] !
Without joy in the Lord, wasted is their life—
Ever are they in transmigration whirled.
Worms of filth, in filth absorbed—
Egoists ignorant, with minds in darkness enveloped. (3)
Himself the wielder of His might, brother !
Himself He guides along the right path—
None His will to share.
Brother ! the writ recorded in the primal hour none may efface.
His will alone pervails.
Brother ! in Nanak's mind is the holy Name lodged—
Nothing else therein abides. (4) (4)

Gurmukhi bhagati karehṇ Prabh bhāvehṇ anadinu Nāmu vakhāṉei

Those that by the Master's guidance practise devotion,
With the Lord find favour—
Ever uttering His Name.
Thy devotees dost Thou cherish and succour—
Thy pleasure they have.
Bestower of merit art Thou, realized through the holy Word—
Those lauding Thee in Thy merits absorbed. (1)

1. Lit. Fifty years.
2. Knowledge.
3. Mind.
4. Blind and deaf.
5. For what have they come into the world ?

My self ! ever contemplate the holy Lord :
In thy last hour shall He be thy succourer,
Aiding thee ever. (Pause)
Evil is the practice of evil-doers,
Devoid of contemplation and God-realization.
None by slander and evil prospered;
Like Harnakash[1] are such torn apart.
Saints like Prahalad the Lord ever laud;
By Him are they saved. (2)
The egoist, devoid of thinking, is with himself conceited;
In slandering the holy is his life made fruitless.
Contemplating not the Lord's Name, in regret he departs
this life. (3)
Fruitful is the life of God's devotees—
Himself He inspires them to the Master's service.
Dyed in the holy Word, are they in ecstasy[2] of enlightenment,
The Lord ever lauding.
Saith in humility Nanak, servant of God;
Their feet I touch in reverence. (4) (5)

So sikhu sadā bandhapu hai bhāī je Guru kei bhanei vichi āwai

The true disciple and our true friend, brother ! is he Who the Preceptor's will follows.
He who follows his own will is from God alienated,
And buffets receives.
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance one never finds happpiness, brother ! P. 602
And in regrets remains caught. (1)
Brother ! happy are those that serve the Lord;
Their sin and sorrow of numerous births effaced,
The Lord to Himself unites them. (Pause)
Worldly relations are bonds for the self—
In illusion is the world caught.
Without the Preceptor's guidance are such bonds not snapped.
By the Preceptor's guidance alone is found the door of liberation.
Those performing ritual in ignorance of the Master's Word,
Remain ever in transmigration caught. (2)

1. Hrinyakashyapu, mythological demon king, father of the saintly Prahlad.
2. Intoxication.

In egoism and avarice is the whole world caught—
None to another is sincere, brother !
Those by the Preceptor guided reach the Mansion Divine, laud the Lord,
And singing Divine landation in their true home[1] abide.
Anyone in this life realizing God's Truth has the true vision of his self—
On his side is the Lord. (3)
The holy Preceptor is ever gracious—
Without good fortune how may grace be obtained ?
All he views impartially—
As is his devotion, so is the reward that man gets.
Saith Nanak : With shedding of egoism, the holy Name in the self is lodged. (4) (6)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Quatrains

Sacchī bhagati Satiguru tei hovai sacchī hirday bāṇī

From the holy Preceptor's guidance comes true devotion,
And in the heart is the true Word lodged.
One devoted to the holy Preceptor finds happiness everlasting—
In the Name is the egoism of such consumed.[2]
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance is not found the way to devotion.
Those without this are ignorant, in illusion caught.
Egoists whirl about in transmigration's suffering—
In ignominy lost.[3] (1)
Brother ! seek ever the Lord's protection :
By His grace shall He save your honour,
And through devotion to the Name Divine exalt you. (Pause)
From the teaching of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
is the self envisioned,
Through contemplation of the holy Word.
In the heart is ever lodged the Lord, Life of the universe—
As are lust, wrath and egoism discarded.
In the heart is lodged the Name illimitable,
And is ever-present vision of the Lord pervading all space.

---

1. (The Divine Essence is implied).
2. Absorbed.
3. (This is the sense of the original expression, a Punjabi/Hindi idion. Lit. Are drowned without water).

In all ages is the Divine teaching known by the true Word;
Sweet to the mind and beloved is God's Name. (2)
Anyone realizing the Name by service to the holy Preceptor,
Fruitful is his life on earth;
Tasting of joy in God is his mind's desire fulfilled;
Satiated with God's blessing, ever is he full of laudation.
His heart's lotus in joy in God dyed,
The unstruck minstrelsy[1] he hears.[2]
Pure his body and mind, pure his utterance,
In holy Truth is he merged. (3)
None knows the truth of the Name Divine—
By the Preceptor's teaching in the heart it lodges.
To the true devotee alone is the path known;
With joy in God is he saturated.
From the Preceptor is learnt the true way of meditation,
austerity, self-discipline,
As is the holy Name in the heart lodged.
Saith Nanak : Those that contemplate the holy Name,
At the holy Portal shine in splendour and are exalted. (4) (7)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Couplets

Satiguru miliyai ūlṭī bhayee bhāī jīvat merai tā būjh pāe

By the Preceptor's contact[3] is the mind tuned away from the world—
Only one dying to the world finds illumination.
The true Preceptor and disciple are those in the Divine Light merged. (1)
My self ! in the Lord fix thy devotion !
My self ! by meditation comes joy in devotion; P. 603
My self ! contemplate God's Name and feel joy therein.
By the Preceptor's guidance, brother ! one attains nearness to the Lord. (Pause)
Brother ! without the Preceptor's guidance devotion arises not :
The egoist in duality remains caught.
As thrashing of straw are the egoist's actions;
Brother ! these bring not gain. (2)
Brother ! By the Preceptor's contact[3] the holy Name-pervades the mind through true love and devotion;

1. Anhad Sabda.
2. Is played in his soul.
3. Lit. Meeting

Then the devotee ever laudation of the Lord utters,
By measureless devotion to the Preceptor. (3)
Anyone to the Master's service devoting himself—
Approved is his life's course.
Saith Nanak : Union with the Lord's Name
From devotion to the Preceptor's Word comes. (4) (8)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

SCORE 1

Tihī gunīṇ tribhavanu viyāpiya bhāī gürmukhi būjh büjhāe
Brother ! the whole Universe[1] in the Three Qualities[2] is caught :
By the Preceptor's guidance is illumination attained.
Brother ! liberation from devotion to the Lord's Name comes—
This from the enlightened you find. (1)
My self ! the Three Qualities discard,
And to the fourth state[3] devote thyself.
Thus wil the Lord lodge in thy self;
Ever mayst thou then laud the Lord. (Pause)
From the All-pervading Reality[4] comes forth all creation;
Neglect of it is death.
These unenlightened are as the blind—
In sleep are they robbed.[5] (2)
Brother ! those awakened by the Preceptor's guidance are saved;
They cross the ocean of worldliness.
Borther ! in this world devotion to the Lord's
Name is the true gain,
As ever in the heart borne. (3)
Brother ! those seeking the Master's shelter,
Through devotion to the Lord's Name are saved.
Saith Nanak : The holy Name is the boat, the raft,
That carries the self across. (4) (9)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

SCORE 1

Satiguru sükh sāgar jag antari horthai sükhu nāhīṇ
The holy Preceptor alone in the world is ocean of joy—
Joy nowhere else lies.

1. The three worlds.
2. See Glossary.
3. Tuiya or absorption in the Absolute.
4. The Name (Name Divine).
5. Deprived of grace.

Caught in egoism, the world in suffering and malady is gripped;
And whirled about in transmigration, piteously wails. (1)
Man ! in devotion to the holy Preceptor shalt thou find joy;
Else shall thy life go waste. (Pause)
One rushing along impelled by the Three Qualities ceaselessly acts,
Finding not joy in devotion to the Lord.
Rituals of worship, offerings to manes, recitations of Gayatri—
All to no avail ;
Without enlightenment comes suffering. (2)
One devoted to the holy Preceptor alone finds joy, called to him by the Lord.
Everlasting satisfaction comes from quaffing joy in the Lord,
By discarding of egoism. (3)
The world purblind, blindly acts;
Without the Master's guidance no path it finds.
Saith Nanak : By the holy Preceptor's guidance has
one sight of the Lord;
And in the self eternal truth finds. (4) (10)

Binu Satiguru sevei bahutā dūkhu lāgā jūg chārei bharmāī

One bereft of service to the holy Preceptor in great suffering is caught,
And in all Four Ages whirls about.[1]
Lord ! humble creatures as we are, you are the true
Bestower eternally :
Through the holy Word grant us enlightenment. (1)
Beloved Lord ! show Thy grace;
Grant touch of the holy Preceptor benign;
Through the Lord's Name grant succour. (Pause)
Discarding desire and duality, have I found poise, P. 604
And the Name[2] that is limitless.
By tasting joy in the Lrod, annuller of sins,
Is the mind purified. (2)
Die into the holy Word;
Thus find the life eternal, from dying ever immune.
The Lord's Name ambrosial is joyful ever—
By rare ones through the holy Word found. (3)

1. I.e. in transmigration.
2. Nām. This concept stands for the Divine Reality.

The Lord Bountiful of this blessing is the Sole Bestower, Conferring it on whomsoever He pleases.
Saith Nanak : To those dyed in the Name comes joy,
And exaltation at the Portal Divine. (4) (11)

Satiguru sevei tāṇ sahaj-dhün üpjai gati mati tad hī pāī

From service of the Preceptor arises in the mind the melody of enlightenment and tranquillity,[1]
And the holy state and true wisdom found.
With the Lord's holy Name in the mind lodged,
By contemplation of the Name is the devotee merged into Eternal Reality.[2] (1)
Bereft of the Preceptor's guidance, the world goes about demented :
The egoist purblind, ignorant of the holy Word,
In illusions is lost. (Pause)
Whoso is deluded by Maya of the Three Qualities
Only in bonds gets enmeshed,[3]
The cycle of birth and death ever poised over his head.
Of numerous incarnations bears he suffering. (2)
In the Three Qualities is the world involved,
In egoism into ignominy fallen :
One Godward-turning the Fourth State[4] contemplates,
And by meditating on God's Name finds bliss. (3)
The Three Qualities too are Thine, by Thee created—
All in Thy power lies.
Saith Nanak : By meditation on the holy Name
comes liberation;[5]
By the holy Word is egoism eliminated. (4) (12)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Srí Guru Ram Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Āpei āpi waratdā Piyārā āpei āpi apāhu

Sole, unimpeded the Beloved Lord the Universe pervades immaculate.

---

1. Sahaj-dhun.
2. Lit. Bearer of the Name, i.e. God.
3. Earns bonds.
4. Turiya i.e. Samadhi or complete absorption.
5. Swimming across.

The whole World the merchant, the Beloved Lord
the holy merchant-prince.
Himself is the Beloved Lord the commerce, Himself the trader and the credit. (1)
My self ! ever the Name thou utter and laud.
By the Master's grace is attained the Beloved ambrosial inaccessible, unfathomable. (Pause)
Everything the Beloved Lord hears, sees and to all gives utterance by His tongue.
Himself He leads astray, Himself on the path guides.
Himself all-in-all, above need of any. (2)
Himself beings He creates and in various tasks engages.
Himself He moulds forms, Himself to dissolution sends them.
Himself is the Beloved the wharf, the pilot and Himself carries all across. (3)
Himself the ocean, the ship and in the Guru's form its rower.
The Beloved King Himself rides the ship, goes across and His gambols enacts.
Himself is He gracious.
Prays Nanak, servant of God : Forgive him and with Thyself grant him union. (4) (1)

Āpei anḍaj jeraj setaj ütbhüj āpei Khanḍ apei sabh loe

Himself is He all creation by egg, placenta, sweat and atmosphere;[1] P. 605
Himself all continents and worlds.
Himself the string and the numerous beads;
By His might has He strung the universe together.
Himself the Master of the show[2]—as the string He pulls,
The whole world into a heap crumbles. (1)
My self ! none other than the Lord to me appears mighty.
The holy Preceptor is repository of treasure of the Name—
In His grace this amrita in our mouth he drops. (Pause) Himself is the Beloved Lord pervasive everywhere over water and land;
All happens as He wills.
To all does He grant sustenance;
None else is provider.

---

1. These are the four traditionally recognized sources of creation.
2. Sūtar-dhar—manager of the show in a mime or play.

This play He Himself solely enacts; all happens
as by Him willed. (2)
Himself is the Beloved Lord immaculate, Himself His pure repute.
Himself the evaluator;[1] supreme His will.
Inaccessible by us is the Beloved : access to Him by Himself is granted. (3)
Himself is the Beloved deep and profound—none
His greatness to rival.
In all beings is He Himself pervasive—Himself pervades all forms female and male.
Saith Nanak : Hidden from gaze He operates :
By the Master's guidance manifested. (4) (2)

Āpei hī sabhu āpi hai Piyārā āpei thāpi üthāpai

Himself is the Beloved the Sole Reality; Himself makes and unmakes all.
Viewing the world is He in delight; viewing
His wonder-play Himself.
Himself is He forest glade and grass-blades—
By the Master's teaching manifested—
My self ! the Name Divine incessantly utter, thereby with joy be filled. (1)
The Name ambrosial is the supreme sweet elixir—
By the Master's teaching tasted and realized. (Pause)
Himself is the Beloved the holy Water-edge, Himself the raft—
Himself on it swims.
Himself the Maya-snare He spreads; the whole world caught fish-like too is He.
Himself is the Beloved infallible; from error immune—none other like Him. (2)
Himself is He the horn and the note : Himself blowing it.
Himself is He the Yogi, Himself performer of austerities.
Himself the holy Preceptor and disciple; to Himself imparting teaching. (3)
Himself devotion to the Name He inspires;
Himself uttering devotion.
Himself is He amrita, Himself tasting its joy,
His own laudation uttering.
Saith Nanak : Himself by Divine joy fulfilled. (4) (3)

---

1. Evaluator and judge of deeds is implied.

Āpei kaṇḍā āpi tarājī Prabhi āpei toli tolāiyā

Himself is the Lord ounce-scales, Himself the weigh-scales;
Himself with weights weighing all creation.
Himself the merchant-prince and trader;
Himself making commerce.[1]
Himself making the earth, against an ounce-weight has He weighed it. (1)
My self ! by uttering the Lord's Name is joy attained.
The beloved Name Divine is a treasure, that the holy Preceptor has made delectable. (Pause)
Himself the earth and water, Himself doing all.
Himself His Ordinance operating, earth and water in bounds He keeps. P. 606 Himself His fear He inspires; yet tiger and goat too together He keeps. (2)
Himself firewood, in which fire has He deposited.
Himself everywhere He operates : for fear of Him
fire dare not burn wood.
Himself He takes life and restores it—by His will are all creatures breathing. (3)
Himself is He might and the wielder of might;
Himself all has He set to tasks.
As willed by Him, does creation act, as be His pleasure.
Himself the instrument and the player.
Saith Nanak, as played by Him, is all creation emitting tunes. (4) (4)

Āpei srishṭi pāendā piyārā ūkari sūraj chandu chānāṉu

Himself has the Beloved Lord made the universe, with sun and moon illuminating it.
Himself is the Beloved strength of the weak,
Himself honour of the humble.
Himself in His compassion all He preserves—
All-knowing all-wise. (1)
My self ! utter the Name Divine that confers mark of liberation.
In holy company on the Lord meditate; thereafter shall thy transmigration cease. (Pause)
Himself merits He dispenses; Himself these approves.
Himself showing grace, the mark of approval He affixes.
Himself His ordinance, His command He operates. (2)

---

1. Used figuratively for the operation of the moral law in the universe.

Himself is He treasure of devotion, Himself out of it dispenses largesse.
Himself service He inspires, and apportions honour.
Himself into absorption[1] going,
Himself repository of all merits. (3)
Himself is He great and supreme over all.
Himself the evaluator; Himself the measure and scales,
Himself weighing the universe hard to weigh !
Nanak, servant of God, to Him is a sacrifice. (4) (5)

Āpei sevā laendā Piyārā āpei bhagti ūmāhā

Himself to service the Beloved Lord inspires creation, and passion for devotion creates.
Himself laudation inspiring, in the holy Word too Himself pervasive.
Himself the writ and the scribe; Himself the writ inspires. (1)
My self ! with fervour the Name Divine repeat.
Ever shalt thou thus be joyful and fortunate :
From the Master, perfectly-endowed, receive benefit of devotion to God. (Pause)
Himself is the Beloved Lord Brindaban's milk-maids,
Himself Krishna, grazing kine in the forest.[2]
Himself the swarthy beloved Adonis,[3] Himself on the flute playing.
Himself on the mad elephant[4] visiting death,
that in form of the child He overthrew. (2)
Himself the arena He arranges, and His own antics watches.
The Krishna child-form Himself He raises and Chandūr[5] and Kamsa[6] by the hair overthrows and destroys.
Himself the source of might, Himself shatters might of benighted barbarians. (3)
Creating the universe, in His own hand all devices He keeps. P. 607

1. Tāṛi = Samadhi.
2. (In the second and third stanza the allusions are to Krishna as symbol of Divine might and his destruction of tyrants).
3. Sundar, lit. handsome, Adonis, the Greek god presents the closest parallel to the beauty of the Krishna legend.
4. The elephant, Kuvaliya-pida, destroyed by Krishna.
5. A wrestler, employee of Kamsa.
6. The tyrant king of Mathura, overthrown by Krishna.

Creation by the halter He drags about; led as pleases the Lord.
Saith Nanak : Whoever shows arrogant pride is destroyed. (4) (6)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Couplets

Anik janam vichhūṛei dūkhu pāiyā manmūkhi karam karai ahankārī

In separation through innumerable births have we borne suffering,
By our prideful actions in egoism.
As with the man of God in contact we came,
was the Lord attained,
And Divine shelter received.[1] (1)
Love for God then became dearly cherished,
As into company of the holy we got initiated.
Within the self was found the Lord, embodiment of poise. (Pause)
In the heart art Thou day and night lodged :
Yet the ignorant realize not Thy existence.
As we met the holy Preceptor, exalted being,
was the Lord manifested :
Then did we engage in discoursing on Divine laudation in chanting it. (2)
As by the Master's guidance was the heart illumined, came poise,
And evil understanding eliminated.
By contemplation of the Supreme Being lodged in the self was joy obtained—
Such merit, exalted being, Master ! in your holy company lies. (3)
Of those having your grace, the self to the Supreme Self is united, as is met the Preceptor.
Such, saith Nanak, immeasurable joy in poise have attained,
And ever in the Lord are awake. (4) (7)

Hari siūṇ preeti antaru manu bedhiyā Hari binu rahaṉu na jāī

With love for the Lord is my innermost heart penetrated;
Without the Lord can I not live.
As without water dies the fish, so without the holy Name I die. (1)

1. (The tenses in the original are past, but have the force of perpetuity).

Lord, grant me water of your grace, the Name Divine.
For lodgement of the Name in heart day and night I beg—
From the Name alone may I find peace. (Pause)
So as the chatrik without water wails; without water its thirst not assuaged—
As from the Master the self obtains water of the Name,
Comes joy in poise, and in loving devotion it blooms. (2)
Egoists, ever hungry[1] in the ten directions wander about;
Without devotion to the Name, into suffering fallen.
In transmigration caught, are they born again and again,
And at the Divine Portal chastized. (3)
By Divine grace does man chant Divine laudation,
And within his self obtains joy in God.
Saith Nanak : As the Lord, compassionate to the humble, has shown grace,
By the holy Word is thirst[2] assuaged. (4) (8)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Quintet

Achar charai tā siddhi hoī siddhī tei büddhi pāī

As are consumed the evils hard to consume, comes true achievement;
From such achievement comes enlightenment.
As the self by arrows of devotion is struck,
Is illusion cut off. (1)
Lord ! to Thy servant grant exaltation.
By the Master's guidance with the Name
Divine illumine my heart,
That ever in Thy shelter I abide. (Pause)
This world all is evanescent—my ignorant, thoughtless self ! this realize.
Lord ! show grace; to the Master unite me,
That in the Name Divine I be absorbed. (2)
The Lord, whose is this object, the Name,
alone knows its truth;
Such obtain it on whom He confers it.
Of this unique object, inaccessible, unknowable, P. 608
The Master, perfectly-endowed alone may grant realization. (3)

1. Used symbolically.
2. Ibid.

He alone knows of it who of it has taste, like sweets tasted by the dumb;
A jewel hidden may not so remain, however much someone hides it. (4)
All is Thine; Thou to whom secrets of all selves are known;[1]
Of all art Thou Master.
Those alone realize this secret to whom Thou showest grace :
None else, saith Nanak, has such power. (5) (9)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev Triptychs.
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kisu hauṇ jāchī kisu ārādhī jā sabhu ko kītā hosī

Of whom shall I beg favours; whom to supplicate,
When all are Thy creation ?
All that appear to be so important, at the end with dust shall mingle.
The Lord above fear, formless, shatterer of fear,
Alone all joys and the Nine Treasures shall grant. (1)
Lord ! by Thy bounty alone shall I feel fulfilled.
Why laud man that is so petty ? Why on him depend ? (Pause)
Whoever on the Lord has meditated, all boons are his—
Gone is his hunger.
To him has the Bestower of bliss granted a wealth that never is exhausted.
As by the Master his understanding to God is joined,
Joy to him has come, and in spontaneous bliss is he absorbed. (2)
My self ! the Name repeat; to the Name be devoted;
Ever on the Name discourse.
By listening to the teaching of the holy is lifted fear of Yama.
Whoever the Lord's grace has, to the Master's Word becomes attached. (3)
Lord ! who may evaluate Thee, who art to all creation compassionate ?
All happens as by Thee willed—What are we children ?
Save Nanak, your servant : save him,
As the father the son in his grace. (4) (1)

1. Antarjami (Skt. antaryamin).

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Quatrains

SCORE 1

Ǵuru Govindu salāhīyai bhāī mani tani hirday dhār

Brother ! laud the Divine Teacher,[1] Lord of the Universe, with resolve of mind, body and heart.
Brother ! the purest deed is the holy Lord to lodge in mind.
Brother ! the bodies wherein arises not sound of the Name, turn to ashes.
To holy company, brother ! am I a sacrifice,
Whose prop the sole Lord[2] is. (1)
Brother ! to that Eternal Being be devoted that is almighty.
By the Master, perfectly-endowed, brother ! is imparted realization,
That none other than the Lord is real. (Pause)
Those devoid of the Name, brother ! have died and rotted—beyond count their number.
Without truth, brother ! is not obtained purity—
The Lord inaccessible alone is pure, holy.
Brother ! with the world's false egoism is not annulled
transmigration.
Brother ! the Master by a particle of the Name to millions brings liberation. (2)
Though Simritis and Shastras have we studied, brother !
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance goes not doubt.
Innumerable ritual acts to exhaustion have we performed—
Despite these, again and again into bondage are we caught
In all four directions have scoured, brother !
Other than the holy Preceptor no shelter is.
By great good fortune, brother ! by meditation on the Name Divine,
Is the Master attained. (3)
Brother ! ever pure is the holy Lord. P. 609
Those practising truth too are pure.
Brother ! on whomsoever falls His glance of grace, attains Him.
Such, brother ! are rare—one among millions.
Nanak in the holy Name is dyed, by whose sonnd[3]
Are mind and body rendered pure. (4) (2)

1. (This is a way of referring to God).
2. Ekankār (Ek Oankār).
3. Lit. Hearing which.

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Couplets

Jau lau bhāu abhāu ihu mānai tau lau milaṉu dūrāī

While to attachment and alienation is man subject,
Far away from him is union with the Lord.
While otherness and attachment enter his thoughts,
Between him and God remains disharmony. (1)
Lord ! grant such realization,
That serving the holy, shelter of their feet I seek—
Forgetting it not for an hour, an instant. (Pause)
My self ! that art thoughtless, forgetful, of restless mind—
Never has it occurred to thee,
That discarding the Lord of life, to other than Him
art thou attached;
With the foe[1] involved in love. (2)
In holy company is acquired the realization above sorrow to rise,
And egoism to discard :
The misbeliever's[2] chatter you regard as blowing of wind. (3)
By millions of sins is the mind covered, that are beyond expression.
Nanak, humble servant of God, to His shelter has come
supplicating :
Lord ! my reckoning of deeds pray annul. (4) (3)

Pūtra kalatra lok griha banitā Māyā sanbandhehī

Progeny, wife, people of the world, the Woman in the home—all are Maya-relationships.
At the end none of these lasts with the self—false is their attachment. (1)
My self ! why pamper this body ?
This cloud of smoke shall scatter; on God, true friend,
in devotion meditate. (Pause)
In three ways is the body disposed of—in water, thrown before dogs and burnt to ashes.
Man considering himself immortal in this house is sitting,
The chief cause[3] forgetting. (2)
In various ways are the beads[4] shaped,

1. Sin, evil is implied.
2. Sakta.
3. Implies the Creator.
4. Implies beings.

On a frail thread strung.
Know, feeble man ! this thread shall snap—
Thereafter shall you be in regret. (3)
He who created and exalted you, on Him day and night meditate.
Saith Nanak : As the Lord showed grace,
The holy Preceptor's shelter I took. (4) (4)

Guru pūrā bheṭiyo waḍ-bhāgīṇ maneh bhaiyā pargāsā

As by good fortune was the Master, perfectly-endowed met,
Illuminated was the mind.
As on the Lord is our reliance, none is His equal. (1)
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice.
On all sides of us[1] is spread joy and poise—
In our home reigns bliss.
The searcher of hearts, almighty is our Lord.
By touching the Master's feet are we rendered fearless,[2]
As sole reliance on the Name Divine we have placed. (2)
Fulfiller of desires is the Lord's sight, form eternal, everlasting[3]—
Clasping His servants to His bosom[4] has He preserved them in love and affection.
Great is His might,[5] wondrous His glory—by Him has come fulfilment. P. 610
As Nanak the Master, perfectly-endowed has met,
Gone is his suffering. (4) (5)

Sükhīyei kau pekhai sabh sükhīya rogī kai bhāṇai sabh rogī

To the happy all appear happy; to the sick all as sick.
The Lord almighty all conjunctions[6] of fortune
in His own hand has kept. (1)
My self ! to any that his doubt has shed,
None appears strayed; in all he envisions the Supreme Being. (Pause)
He whose mind in holy company is joyful, all creation to him appears joyful.

1. In front and behind.
2. Freedom from Yama's fear is implied.
3. Lit. Exists and shall ever exist (echo of Mūl Mantra).
4. Lit. Neck.
5. Lit. Greatness.
6. Applies to chances, especially those made by conjunctions of planets.

He whose mind by malady of egoism is gripped, in wailing is born and dies.[1] (2)
He to whose eyes collyrium of enlightenment is applied, in all beholds Divine illumination.
One caught in darkness of ignorance seeing nothing,
Again and again strays. (3)
Lord ! to my supplication give ear.
This joy Nanak begs of Thee :
Wherever Thy devotee Thy laudation sings,
Is my heart's attachment formed. (4) (6)

Tanu santan kā dhanu santanu kā manu santan kā kīyā

My body, possessions and mind, all to God's devotees is dedicated.
As by grace of the holy on the Name I meditated,
All weal was mine. (1)
Other than God's devotees is no bestower of boons.
Whoever on God's devotees' shelter has fallen, liberation to him is granted. (Pause)
Millions of sins by serving God's servants are effaced,
As joyfully is Divine laudation sung.
By great good fortune is holy company attained :
Thereby in this life comes joy, and the face made radiant in the next. (2)
With my sole tongue, how much can I of praise[2]
of the holy utter,
Who with innumerable merits are filled ?
Under shelter of the holy is attained the Lord
Inaccessible, unknowable, eternal ever. (3)
This one without merit, is low,[3] destitute, sinner—
And shelter of God's devotees has sought.
In attachment to the dark cavern of family life am I sinking—
Prayeth Nanak : Save me. (4) (7)

Jā kai hirdai Tūṇ wasiyā Kartei tāṇ kī Taiṇ ās pūjāī

Lord Creator ! in the heart of whoever art Thou lodged,
His desires hast Thou fulfilled.
Thy servant who dust of Thy feet cherishes, is of Thee never forgetful. (1)

---

1. Refers to his continuing transmigration.
2. Lit. Simile. Applied sense, praise.
3. (The implication is moral—neech).

Inexpressible is Thy discourse,[1] beyond my power of narration.
Lord, treasure of merit, bestower of bliss !
Supreme over all is Thy greatness. (Pause)
The creature performs deeds as writ by Thee :
To Thy servant hast Thou assigned devotion;
By Thy sight fulfilled he feels. (2)
In all creation art Thou pervasive—
This realization comes to whoever by Thee is so enlightened.
By the Master's grace is ignorance effaced,
And in all spots is the Lord made manifest. (3)
Saith Nanak : To whomsoever He has shown grace,
Of Him is never forgetful :
Such a one is truly enlightened, truly meditating,
And exalted among men. (4) (8)

Sagal samagrī mohi viyāpī kab ūchei kab nīchei

All creation in attachment is caught, now self-esteemed, now depressed.
By no devices[2] is it purified; none the end[3] attains. (1) P. 611
My self ! in shelter of the holy lies liberation.
Without guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Is not annulled transmigration,
And the creature again and again is born. (Pause)
In the misguiding illusion is the whole world entangled.
The perfect devotee of the Lord from all objects stands apart. (2)
Revile not the world for anything—by the Lord is it created.
Whoever in this has the Lord's grace, in holy company
the Name Divine contemplates. (3)
The Supreme Being, Supreme Lord, holy Enlightener,
Of all is Saviour.
Saith Nanak : Without the Master's guidance
comes not liberation—
Such is the true contemplation of the Divine Essence. (4) (9)

Khojat khojat khoji bīchāriyo Rāma-Nāmu tatu-sārā

After persistent search came the realization :
The true Essence is the Name Divine,
Whose contemplation even for an instant annuls sins,
And by the Master's guidance grants liberation. (1)

1. Story, narrative.
2. Ritual acts are implied.
3. Liberation is meant.

You that are possessed of enlightenment !
Quaff the Divine elixir.
Listening to the devotee's ambrosial words,
The mind the Supreme peace attains. (Pause)
The Lord, perfection incarnate, creator,
To His servant grants boon of devotion;
From Him, bestower of bliss, is obtained also liberation, the way of living, and all holy devices. (2)
Him alone by the ears listen, by the tongue laud, by the heart meditate on—
The Lord almighty who no creature leaves denuded of Himself (3)
Lord compassionate ! after great endeavour have we obtained the precious[1] human birth.
Show grace, that Nanak in holy company laud Thee,
And the Cherisher of the universe[2] ever contemplate. (4) (10)

Kari ishnānu simari Prabhu apnā mana tan bhae arogā

*After bathing, the Lord contemplate. that thy mind and body be freed of maladies.
In shelter of the Lord are millions of impediment removed,
And good fortune appears. (1)
The Master, by the holy Word, the Lord has lauded :
Sing, listen to it ever—thus has the Master, perfectly-endowed, saved thee. (Pause)
The holy Lord, of greatness immeasurable is beloved of devotees, compassionate—
His devotee's honour has He saved—such His way from beginning of time. (2)
Sustenance of the ambrosial Name Divine ever you consume;
Ever in your mouth put it.
Sing ever the Lord's laudation—thereby shall affliction of old age, death, maladies all vanish. (3)
As the Lord to my prayer listened, all my faculties accorded with my purposes,
And was manifested in the entire cycle of time[3]
Guru Nanak's greatness. (4) (11)

---

1. The jewel human birth.
2. Gopal (a periphrastic name of Krishna, here symbolizing God).
* Note : This hymn is believed to be one of the several expressing thanks giving on the recovery of the child Hargobind, Guru Arjan Dev's son.
3. Age (Yuga).

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quartets
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ek Pitā ekas ke ham bārik tūṇ merā Guru hāī

Of one father are we all children;
Thow my Preceptor.
Listen, friend[1] ! to thee shall my self be a sacrifice time again—
Show me the Divine sight. (1)
Listen friend ! to dust of thy feet am I a sacrifice. P. 612
Brother[1] ! to Thee is this heart[2] dedicated. (Pause)
Thy feet shall I assiduously rub;
To Thee this heart[2] shall I dedicate.
Listen, friend ! to thy shelter am I come :
Instruct me, that union with the Lord I may attain. (2)
Show not pride; under His shelter fall;
Be content with whatever He does.
Liston, friend ! to the Lord dedicate life, self and body—
Thus shall Divine sight be obtained. (3)
By kindness of the holy has Divine grace come;
The Name Divine has tasted sweet.
To Nanak, servant of God, is the Lord grown gracious,
And in all creation has he obtained vision of the unincarnated Immaculate Lord, (4) (1.12)

Koti brahmanḍ ko Thākur Swamī sarb jīyāṇ kā dātā rei

The Lord, master of millions of universes, to all creation is Provider.
All He cherishes, looks after—yet I, thoughtless one,
to Him have shown no gratitude. (1)
I know not the way of devotion to the Lord.
The Lord and the Master each I invoke.
Lord ! God's servant is my name. (Pause)
The Lord, compassionate to the humble, gracious, ocean of bliss—
In all beings[3] is pervasive.
He is always by our side, seeing us listening to us—
Thoughtless man thinks Him far. (2)

1. Herein the Preceptor (Guru) is addressed.
2. Mana.
3. Vessels.

Limitless is the Lord; within limits I confine His description—
What know I of His state ?
The holy Preceptor I supplicate : Instruct me, an ignorant one. (3)
Not I, ignorant one, alone—millions of sinners by the Master's teaching are saved.
Whoever to Guru Nanak has listened or beheld his sight—
Nevermore into transmigration[1] falls. (4) (2.13)

Jinhāṇ bāt ko bahutu andesaro tei miṭei sabhi gaiyā

All that had caused anxiety, is effaced :
Now sleep I in poise, and awakened is the Sukhmana channel,[2]
In bloom is the heart's upturned lotus. (1)
Behold the marvel that has occurred.
The Lord that we heard to be beyond realization, in the heart is by the Master revealed. (Pause)
The minions of evil that tormented me much,
are now terrified grown;
Praying, from the Lord's wrath save us—on thy shelter are we fallen. (2)
As was opened the Lord's store, all that were destined, received of it;
Me the Master granted one valued jewel[3] :
Thereby joyful were my self and body. (3)
By one drop of amrita by the Master granted, am I made immune from death.
The Master stores of devotion under Nanak's custody has placed,
And never after called a reckoning. (4) (3.14)

Charan kamal siūṇ jā kā mana līnā sei jana tripti aghāī

Whoever has his heart to the Lord's lotus feet attached,
Is satisfied, fulfilled.
One in whose heart is not settled devotion to the Lord's invaluable merit,
Is ever unsatisfied, thirsty. (1)
By devotion to the Lord are we made free from maladies and joyful.
Whoever the Lord, true friend has forgotten, is as by a million afflictions gripped. (Pause)
Lord ! those that Thy shelter have grasped, P. 613

1. The womb.
2. Sukhmana (Sushmana) is the middle vital passage, according to Yoga. Here implies attainment of enlightenment.

Under Thy protection are in bliss.
Those that the Supreme Being, Creator have neglected,
Among the unhappy may be reckoned. (2)
Whoever reposing faith in the Master to the Lord is devoted,
Joy of the supreme elixir has experienced.
Whoever neglectful of the Lord, to the Master is indifferent,
Into deep hell must fall. (3)
Each in whatever task the Lord has assigned, is engaged—
Such is his doing.
Saith Nanak : Those that shelter of the holy have grasped,
In devotion to their feet is their heart absorbed. (4) (4.15)

Rajan mehṇ rājā ūrjhāiyo mānan mehṇ abhimānī

As in affairs of state is the ruler involved, and in matters of vanity the pround man;
As in his greed is the greedy man involved—
So are the enlightened in joy in God. (1)
Know, this is what pleases the servant of God :
Beholding the Lord close, the holy Preceptor he serves;
Divine laudation alone gives him fulfilment. (Pause)
As with intoxicants is the addict involved;
As to the Lord of estates is his land dear;
As to milk is the child attached—
So are God's devotees with Him in love. (2)
As in learning is the scholar involved,
As sight of beauty pleases the eyes;
As the tongue[1] by tasty objects is attracted—
Thus joyfully the man of God sings Divine laudation. (3)
According as is one's hunger, the Lord satisfies it—
Of all beings is He master.
Saith Nanak : For His sight am I thirsting;
So have I obtained sight of the Lord, controller of the inner self. (4) (5.16)
Defiled that we are, you purify us.
Without merit we, Thou Bestower of merit.
Ignorant are we; you wise, enlightened, of all faculties master.[2] (1)

1. The palate is implied.
2. Knower.

Lord ! such are we, such Thou.
Sinful are we, annuller of sins Thou—
Holy the Lord's abode. (Pause)
All have you created and embellished with life, body and vitality—
Without merit and quality am I :
Compassionate one ! on me confer a boon. (2)
You do good ever, we for that are not grateful;
Ever gracious are you.
You bestower of bliss, Divine Creator—
Save us, your children. (3)
You store of all blessings, eternal monarch;[1]
Creatures all of Thee beg boons.
Saith Nanak : Miserable[2] is our state—
For the sake of the holy save us ! (4) (6.17)

Māt garabh mehṇ āpan simranu dei teh Tūm rākhanhārei

As in the mother's womb were you our Saviour by granting to the creature your contemplation,
So in the immeasurable storm of ocean of fire, save us,
Divine Saviour ! (1)
Lord ! Thou art the Supreme Master !
In this world and the next for us is your shelter alone. (Pause)
Man on created objects sets values great as a mountain, and the Creator regards as straw.
Thou the Provider; all creation beggars :
In Thy grace confer on us charity. (2)
Each instant are you different—wondrous is your play :
Beautiful, profound, mightily deep, lofty, inaccessible, limitless. (3) P. 614
As to holy company you united me, your utterance I heard.
At sight of glory of the immaculate Supreme Being,
Was Nanak joy-filled. (4) (7.18)

Ham santan kī rein Piyārei ham santan kī sharṇā

Beloved Lord ! of the holy are we dust of feet;
under shelter of the holy we lie.
The holy our strong shelter, our pride.[3] (1)

---

1. Sultan.
2. Lit. Such.
3. Lit. Ornament.

With the holy are we in heart's accord.
This is a reward of destiny pre-recorded.
Brother[1] ! this heart is thine. (Pause)
With the holy is my dealing and relationship.
In company of the holy have we gained profit,
As of devotion are our stores full. (2)
As the holy their capital to me granted, was the mind's illusion gone.
What can Dharmaraj do to me, as my former reckoning all is torn ? (3)
By grace of the holy have we obtained supreme bliss and joy.
Saith Nanak : As to the Lord is our heart[2] devoted,
In ecstasy of wonder are we fallen. (4) (8.19)

Jetī samagrī dekhuh rei nar tetī hī chhaḍ jānī

Listen Man ! all these objects[3] that you behold, shall be left behind :
With the Name Divine hold commerce, whereby the state of emancipation mayst thou attain. (1)
Beloved Lord, Thou bestower of joy to me !
As instructed by the Master, perfectly-endowed, in you is my mind absorbed. (Pause)
In involvement in lust, wrath, avarice, attachment and pride lies not joy.
My self ! make thy self dust of feet of all—thus mayst thou obtain bliss, happiness and joy. (2)
My self ! serve Him who rejects not service, who knows the heart's state.
Offer obedience, dedicate this self to the holy Preceptor, image of the Eternal. (3)
Divine Lord, compassionate Supreme Being, Formless !
Thy Name is Nanak's dealing, subsistence and
prop of life. (4) (9.20)

Mirtak kau pāiyo tani sāsā bichhūrat āni milāiyā

Into the body of a corpse has he infused breath;
To the separated has he granted union.
As the Master by his tongue the Name Divine chanted,
Even beasts, goblins and thoughtless beings in it were absorbed.[4] (1)

1. Refers to the holy (Sant).
2. Mana.
3. Collectively used for paraphernalia.
4. Began to listen.

Behold the greatness of the Master, perfectly-endowed :
Beyond expression is his worth. (Pause)
Dismantling abode of suffering and sorrow, rest in joy and happiness he granted.
Spontaneously were desires of heart fulfilled, and all objectives achieved.[1] (2)
Obtained was joy here and the face made radiant in the hereafter;
Ended was transmigration.
As the holy Preceptor's approval we won, fearless were we rendered,
And the Name in our mind lodged. (3)
Saith Nanak : Great is the fortune of one whose ḥeart[2] to the Master's feet is devoted :
Such a one in all states Divine laudation sings—
Fled are his suffering, pain and illusion. (4) (10.21)

Ratan chhāḍi kauḍī sangi lāgei jāṇ tei kachhū na pāīyai

Discarding jewel of the Name Divine, to a cowrie[3] are you attracted, P. 615
That is of no worth.
My self ! meditate ever on the Supreme Being, Supreme Lord, perfection incarnate. (1)
Thou creature of God ! ever the Name Divine contemplate.
Ignorant one ! know, this frail body some time must perish. (Pause)
Little value to a mirage or to what is achieved in dream attaches.
Without devotion to God nothing shall be of avail,
nor accompany man. (2)
In assertion of egoism is thy life passed—
Nothing of value to the self hast thou done.
Never amid thy restless struggle[4] felt thou contented,
Nor hast the Name Divine contemplated. (3)
With poisonous states and pleasures art thou intoxicated;
innumerable sins hast thou repeated.
This is Nanak's supplication to the Lord :
Pray my demerits annul. (4) (11.22)

1. These 'desires' and 'objectives' are spiritual.
2. Mana.
3. Implies the world.
4. Running about.

Güṉa gāvuhṇ pūran abināshī kāma krodh bikhu jārei

Laudation of the Lord, eternally perfect I sing;
burnt are poison of lust and wrath.
In holy company is crossed the terrible ocean of fire. (1)
The Master, perfectly-endowed, the darkness of doubt has effaced.
In loving devotion meditate on the Lord,
so close to you. (Pause)
As is elixir of the treasure of the Name Divine quaffed,
Are mind and body fulfilled.
In each spot is the supreme Lord pervasive,
Coming or going away never. (2)
One in whose heart is the Lord lodged,
Is with copntemplation, austerities and essence of enlightenment endowed.
Whoever by the Master's guidance the jewel Name has obtained,
Rewarded is his endeavour. (3)
Annulled are his suffering and affliction, and snapped Yama's noose.
Saith Nanak : As is the Lord grown gracious,
Have my mind and body bloomed. (4) (12.23)

Karan-karāwaṉhār Prabhu Dātā Pār-Brahm Swāmī

The Lord is almighty, bestower of boons, Supreme Lord;
Creator of all beings, controller of the inner self. (1)
The Master has to me become aidant;
Spontaneous joy, bliss and happiness has he granted,
And wonderful exaltation. (Pause)
By seeking shelter with the Master are our fears fled, and honour at the eternal Portal obtained.
By singing Divine laudation and devotion to the Name Divine,
In the Divine Essence are we absorbed. (2)
To us devoted to holy company, all cry hail and utter praise.
To the Lord am I ever a sacrifice who completely my honour has vindicated. (3)
Those with the Master's sight blessed,[1]
By listening to discourses, illuminating exposition[2] and the holy Name

1. Those who the Master's sight have obtained.
2. Lit. Knowledge.

Have been saved.
Saith Nanak : As is the Lord grown gracious,
With joy have I returned to my abode.[1] (4) (13.24)

Prabh kī sharani sagel bhay lāthei dūkh binasei sūkhu pāiyā

Under the Lord's shelter is all fear fled; sorrows shattered and joy obtained.
As has the Supreme Being grown gracious, on the holy Enlightener,[2] perfectly-endowed have I meditated. (1)
Lord ! Thou art my master and bestower of boons :
Grant in Thy grace, Lord compassionate to the humble, that in joy of Thee Thy praise I sing. (Pause)
As the holy Preceptor the treasure of the Name in me confirmed, P. 616
Was all anxiety banished :
In his grace to himself he united me,
And in my mind was lodged the Eternal. (2)
No impediment attaches to such as by the Lord are protected :
The Lord's lotus feet in their heart lodged,
Amrita of Divine elixir they taste. (3)
Thou servant of God ! serve the Lord who thy heart's desire has fulfilled.
Nanak, servant of God is a sacrifice to the Lord,
Who completely his honour has vindicated. (4) (14.25)

Māyā-moha maganu andhiyārai devanhāru na jānai

Involved in darkness of Maya-attachment, man realizes not the Divine bestower of boons.
In place of Him who made the self and body, of his own power is he assured. (1)
My forgetful self ! the Lord watches all.
All thou dost, He knows : nothing from Him is hidden. (Pause)
The tongue[3] by pleasures of greed is intoxicated,
Whereby arise innumerable evil inclinations.
Man under burden of bonds of ego in numerous births in suffering has wandered. (2)
Behind closed doors and numerous screens man with other's women has indulgence.

1. Implies the state of illumination and poise.
2. Satiguru : May also imply the Divine Enlightener here.
3. Palate is implied.

When the celestial Reckoners[1] call thy reckoning,
Who then shall give thee cover ? (3)
Lord compassionate to the humble, shatterer of suffering completely,
Other than Thee no prop have we.
Extricate Nanak, come under Thy shelter,
From the ocean of existence. (4) (15.26)

Pār Brahmu hoā sahāī kathā kīrtanu sūkhdāī

Whoever listens to the joy-giving discourse and laudation
the Lord,
The Supreme Being Himself comes to his help.
Thou creature of God ! by uttering Word of the Master,
perfectly-endowed,
Be you ever joyful. (1)
Brother ! the holy Lord contemplate.
In holy company is joy ever attained, never put out of mind the Lord. (Pause)
Lord ! whoever your ambrosial Name contemplates, finds true life.
To whomsoever by good fortune is it granted, is made pure. (2)
My heart to the Master's feet is attached—
Removers of impediments, annullers of all suffering.
Chanting laudation of the Lord eternal, immortal,
Day after day in joy in God keeps it awake. (3)
Joy-giving is Divine discourse, whereby is achieved the heart's desire.
In primal time, at end of time and in the middle
Has the Lord remained Nanak's cherisher. (4) (16.27)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quintet

Binasai mohu merā aru terā binasai apnī dhārī

May my attachment, possessiveness and self-will be shattered. (1)
Devotees of God ! point to me the way,
Whereby may pride of egoism be annulled. (I-Pause)
May I look upon all creation as image of the Supreme Being,
And of all may I be dust of feet. (2)

1. Chitra and Gupta.

As is viewed the Lord ever by our side, is lifted the wall of illusion. (3)
Medicine of the Name and the pure ambrosial water,[1]
At the Master's Portal is obtained. (4)
Saith Nanak : Whoever on his forehead such writ bears, P. 617
By touch of the Master is his malady[2] annulled. (5) (17.28)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Duos

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sagal banaspati mehṇ baisantaru sagal dūdh mehṇ ghīā

In all wood lies fire, in all milk butter.[3]
Thus in all, high or low, is pervasive the Divine light :
In each being abides the Lord. (1)
Devotees of God ! in each being is He pervasive.
All beings He fills; on water and land is His Being. (Pause)
Nanak of the Treasury of merit sings praise,
As the holy Preceptor his doubt has annulled.
The Lord, abiding in all, eternally immaculate,
In all is pervasive. (2) (1.29)

Jā kai simrani hoe annadā binasai janam maran bhay dukhī

Contemplate Him whose contemplation brings joy
And fear and suffering of transmigration annuls;
By whose contemplation the four Boons[4] and Nine Treasures you obtain,
And nevermore hunger or thirst[5] feel. (1)
By mind, body, life and your mouth's utterance
With each breath on the Lord meditate.
Contemplate Him by whose contemplation peace thou shalt obtain,
Thy mind be joyful and the fire within be assuaged.[6]
The Master to Nanak's gaze has shown the Lord,
Pervading water, land, the three worlds and forests.[7] (2) (2.30)

---

1. Symbol for the pure experience of God.
2. This is the malady of egoism etc.
3. Ghee = Clarified butter.
4. These are—Dharma, artha, kama, moksha (righteousness, worldly goods, pleasure and liberation).
5. Thirst or hunger (symbols for desire).
6. Not smoulder.
7. Trees.

Kāma krodh lobh jhūṭh nindā inh tei āp chhaḍawuh

Lord ! from lust, wrath, avarice, falsehood and slander, extricate me in your grace.[1]
From within my self cast these off; close to yourself call me. (1)
Yourself enlightenment of your ways on me confer,
That in company with devotees of God, paeans of joy I sing. (I-Pause)
In my heart lodge the power[2] nevermore to forget you.
By great good fortune have I met the Master, perfectly-endowed.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Now nevermore
I wander straying. (2) (3.31)

Jā kai simrani sabhu kachhu pāīyi birthī ghāl na jāī

He by whose contemplation are all boons obtained,
And the devotee's endeavour goes not waste—
Why forsaking such a Master, pervasive in all,
To aught else be attached ? (1)
Devotees of God ! the Lord, Preserver of the universe you contemplate :
In holy company on Him meditate,
Whereby may your endeavour be made fruitful. (I-Pause)
The Lord mindful of us, ever cherishes us,
And in love to His bosom[3] clasps us.
Saith Nanak : Lord ! in forgetfulness of you
How may the world find life ? (2) (4.32)

Abināshī jīyan ko dātā simrat sabh malu khoī

The Provider Eternal of all beings, whose contemplation all impurity eliminates;
Treasury of merit, His saints' wealth[4]—
A rare one obtains Him. (1)
My self ! the Divine Master, Preserver of the universe contemplate,
In whose shelter is obtained joy,
Nevermore by suffering to be afflicted. (I-Panse)
By great good fortune is obtained holy company, P. 618
Whose touch foul thinking eliminates.

1. Lit. Yourself.
2. Device.
3. Neck.
4. Way of daily life; also capital.

Nanak for dust of feet of such holy ones yearns,
As the Name Divine to their hearts have attached.[1] (2) (5.33)

Janam janam kei dūkh nivārai sūkā manu sādhārai

The holy Master suffering of multiple births annuls,
To the self shrivelled up provides support.
By his sight comes joy, and contemplation
of the Name Divine. (1)
The holy Master[2] is my physician :
Medicine of the Name Divine in the mouth be pours,
And Yama's noose snaps. (I-Pause)
The Divine Person, almighty, all-perfection, creator, Accomplishing all—
Saith Nanak, His servant has He Himself saved,
By giving prop of His Name. (2) (6.34)

Antar kī gati Tūm hī jānī Tūjh hī pāhi nibero

The state of my self to you alone is known;
With you alone lies the judgement.
Lord, Master ! pardon me, who millions of errors and sins have committed. (1)
Lord ! Thou art my master, ever by me.
I, Thy servant[3] seek shelter of the Lord's feet. (I-Pause)
Lord without limit, extent; lofty, store of merit !
Snapping his noose have you made him your servant—
Under whose obligation else may Nanak now lie ? (2) (7.35)

Bhave kripal Gurū-Govindā sagal manorath pāe

As the holy Master[4] has shown grace, achieved are all my objectives.
By touch of the Lord's feet have we become immutable,
As in Divine laudation we engaged. (1)
Auspicious, perfect is the instant
Wherein with peace, poise and joy contemplating the Name,
The mystic instrument[5] has sounded. (I-Pause)
As is met the Beloved Master, is house and home turned joyful.

---

1. Lit. Gained by stitching.
2. (Guru-Govinda, in esoteric interpretation would be the Master Divinely-inspired).
3. Disciple, follower.
4. Guru-Govinda = Master divinely inspired (see also note ante 2 to 6.34).
5. Anahad tūra = The unstruck blast of music heard by the Yogis.

Nanak, servant of God, treasure of the Name
Divine has obtained;
Fulfilled are all his desires. (2) (8.36)

Guru kei charan basei rid bhītari shūbh lakkhan Prabhi kīnei

As the Lord conferred on me signs of good fortune,
Devotion to the Master's feet in my mind was lodged.
As the Lord, perfection incarnate showed grace,
Was treasure of the Name lying in the mind envisioned. (1)
The Master is my protector and friend :
Ever-increasing[1] exaltation and everlasting repute on me he confers. (I-Pause)
All creatures by the Lord are saved, to have vision of Him.
Wonderful is greatness of the Master, perfectly-endowed—
To him is Nanak a sacrifice. (2) (9.37)

Sanchani karouṇ Nām dhanu nirmal thātī agam apār

I garner pure wealth of the Name,
That is inaccessible, endless store;
Have joy, pleasure, bliss and happiness :
You family of disciples, on this wealth live. (1)
The Lord's lotus feet are my prop.
By grace of the holy have I attained the ship of truth,
Which embarking, ocean of the world's poison have I crossed. (I-Pause)
The eternal Lord, perfection incarnate in His grace,
Himself has looked after my welfare.
Nanak at sight of the Lord's endless graee
Is with joy blooming. (2) (10.38)

Guri pūrai apnī kal dhārī sabh ghaṭ upajī dayā

As the Master, perfectly-endowed his power has assumed,
All creation to me have become gracious.
The Lord Himself has granted union and exalted me; P. 619
Has come[2] all blessing and weal. (1)
The Master, perfectly-endowed, is my supporter :
By his help, in contemplation of the Supreme Being find
I everlasting joy. (Pause)
Within and without, in all spots, His vision alone I have.

1. Two-fold and four-fold.
2. Occurred, happened.

Nanak by great good fortune has attained the Master,
Whose greatness none can match. (2) (11.39)

Sūkh mangal kalyān sahajdhūni Prabh kei charan nihāriyāṇ

By sight of the Lord's feet had I
Joy, happiness, weal and equipoise.
The Divine Saviour Himself to the Child[1] brought succour;
The holy Master his fever has cured. (1)
Saved are we by seeking the holy Preceptor's shelter,
Whose service never unrewarded goes. (I-Pause)
As has the Lord become gracious,
Is felt joy at home and outside.
Saith Nanak : No impediment can now touch me,
As the Lord grace to me has shown. (2) (12.40)

Sādhū sangi bhaiyā mani ūddamu Nāmu ratanu jasu gāī

In holy company is the mind inspired to endeavour
in the way of God,
And laudation of the jewel Name have I sung.
By contemplation of the Lord illimitable is my anxiety gone,
And crossed is the ocean of existence. (1)
In my heart are lodged feet of the Lord.
Joy I have obtained, acquired is equipoise,
And swarms[2] of maladies effaced. (Pause)
What power have I on Thy merits to discourse ?
Inexpressible is Thy greatness.
Saith Nanak : God's devotees immortality have attained,
As the Lord their helper has become. (2) (13.41)

Gae kalesh rog sabhi nāsei Prabhi apūnei kirpā dhārī

By grace of the Lord[3]
Are afflictions gone, fled are maladies.
Day and night on the Lord in devotion I meditate—
Fruitful is my endeavour. (1)
Lord ! thou art our source[4] of joy and prosperity.
Save Thou one dear to me[5] : this to the Lord is my supplication. (Pause)

---

1. (Refers to the child Hargobind, the future sixth holy Guru).
2. (Ghāni stands for crowd of any thing).
3. As the Lord has shown grace.
4. Capital.
5. Lit. Brother. (In devotional ecstasy this may be a way of referring to the child Hargobind).

Whatever I seek, I get—in the Lord is my faith reposed.
Saith Nanak : As the Master, perfectly-endowed is met,
Gone is all my anxiety. (2) (14.42)

Simari simari Guru satiguru apnā saglā dūkhu miṭaiyā

By contemplation of the Divine holy Enlightener
Is all my suffering effaced.
By the Master's power[1] are gone fevers and maladies,
And the heart's desire fulfilled. (1)
The Divine Master, perfectly-endowed, is giver of joy—
Lord almighty, of power to accomplish all,
Perfection incarnate, creator. (Pause)
In bliss, joy and happiness laud the Lord.
Saith Nanak : Grace has the Master shown to me.
Raised are shouts of felicity[2] the world over,
As the Lord our preserver has become. (2) (15.43)

Hamrī gaṉat na gaṉīyā kāī apṉā birdu pahhcāṉi

The Lord ! knowing His own law[3] of grace,
To our reckoning has not attended.
By protection of His arm has He preserved me,
Conferring eternal joy. (1)
Ever gracious is the holy Lord.
The Holy Enlightener, perfectly-endowed, my sufferings has ended,
And all weal to me has come. (Pause)
He who created the self and body, P. 620
And provided sustenance and wear,
His servant's honour has protected :
Nanak to Him is a sacrifice. (2) (16.44)

Dūratu gawāiyā Hari-Prabhi āpei sabhu sansāru ūbāriyā

The Lord annulling evil, has the whole world saved.
The Supreme Being, the Lord in His grace,
His customary way[4] has fulfilled. (1)
The Divine King has granted us protection :
In spontaneous joy and bliss sing Divine laudation—making mind and body joyous. (Pause)

1. Word, command.
2. Lit. Shouts of victory.
3. Bird (Ar. wird).
4. Bird (Ar. wird) is what is customary and habitual.

The holy Preceptor is saviour of the fallen—
In Him my prop I find.
The holy Lord, giving ear to Nanak's supplication,
All beings has saved. (2) (17.45)

Bakhshiyā Pār-Brahm Parmeshari saglei rog bidārei

The Supreme Being, Lord, has saved me and all my maladies[1] annulled.
Under shelter of the Master, perfectly-endowed, are we saved—
Fulfilled are all our objectives. (1)
By prop of the Name has God's devotee contemplated the Lord.
In His grace the holy Lord Hargobind's[2] fever has cured. (Pause)
My cherished ones ! everlasting joy we feel,
As the Lord to Hargobind has granted cure from his malady.
Saith Nanak : Great is the Creator's glory—
Thus have we expressed truth.[3] (2) (18.46)

Bhaye kirpāl Swāmī merei titu sāchai durbāri

At the holy court has the Lord shown me grace.
The holy Lord Hargobind's[4] fever has cured;
Happy has the world grown.
His own creation has He Himself saved—
Frustrated[5] is Yama. (1)
In your heart the Lord's feet cherish.
Brother ! ever contemplate the Lord,
Annuller of suffering and sin. (I-Pause)
In His shelter, brother, are we saved, who all creation has raised.
Almighty is He, brother ! holy it the holy Lord's repute.
Saith Nanak : Brother ! on the Lord meditate—
Thereby shall mind and body be made joyful. (2) (19.47)

Santuh Hari Hari Nāmu dhiyāī

Devotees of God ! by meditating on the Name Divine,
Not putting out of mind the Lord, ocean of bliss—
Has been achieved our heart's desire. (I-Pause)

---

1. Here suffering is implied.
2. This is implied here, as in the fine following. This hymn is one of the several, expressive of thanks giving on the recovery of the child Hargobind (the future sixth Guru).
3. Lit. The true Word.
4. (As in the foregoing hymn, this is implied).
5. Hat tār = Hartal (closure of shop). Implied meaning, cessation of activity and work.

The Lord, perfection incarnate, in His grace has Hargobind's[1] fever cured.
As the Supreme Being, Lord has shown grace,
Ended is the whole family's suffering. (1)
The Name Divine is my prop, store of all treasures,
Of aspect blessed and joyful.
The Lord Nanak's honour has saved;
Blessed is the whole world. (2) (20.48)

Merā Satiguru rakhwālā hoā

The holy Preceptor is my saviour.
In His grace by strength of His arm has the Lord saved him.[2]
Restored to health is Hargobind. (I-Pause)
Gone is the fever that by the Lord Himself is annulled—
Saved is His servant's honour.
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice : P. 621
From the blessing of holy company are all my objectives achieved. (1)
The Lord our life in this world and the next has exalted—
Our merits and demerits has He not reckoned.
Saith Nanak : Holy Master ! imperishable is thy Word—Thy wish-fulfilling hand on my forehead hast thou placed.[3] (2) (21.49)

Jīya jantra sabhi Tiskei kīyei soī Sant sahāī

The Lord is Creator of all beings, and succourer of His devotees.
Himself His servant's honour He saves—
Thus exalting His greatness. (1)
The Supreme Being, all-perfection, is my succourer.
The Lord, perfection incarnate, my honour fully has vindicated,
And made everyone gracious to me. (I-Pause)
Each day does Nanak meditate on the Name, bestower of life and breath.
The Lord His servant to His bosom[4] clasps,
As father and mother the child. (2) (22.50)

1. (Implied as in the two foregoing hymns).
2. That is, Hargobind.
3. (This is a sign of blessing).
4. Lit. Neck.

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quartets
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mili panchuh nahīṇ sahsā chūkāiyā

By contacting the village elders[1] was not our doubt lifted,
Nor found satisfaction from the squires.[1]
Then before the grandees[1] placed I my affliction :
At last by contact with the Divine King was the solution found. (1)
As is the Divine Master, Lord met, at the Preceptor's door, Now nowhere have I to go about seeking certitude of faith. (Pause)
As to the Court Divine I came,
Was all my wailing ended.
As was found what I sought,
Nowhere does my mind now wander. (2)
At the Court Divine is dispensed true justice :
Master and servant there are reckoned alike.
The Lord, controller of hearts[2] knows all,
And without our utterance, of everything is aware. (3)
Of all space is He monarch—
In His presence resounds the unstruck music.
With Him what device may prevail ?
By His contact[3] is shed egoism. (4) (1.51)

Hirday Nāmu wasāiuh

In your heart lodge the Name,
And settled in your own home,[4] on the Master meditate,
Following what the Master perfectly-endowed instructed,
True joy have we obtained. (1)
The Master to me has been gracious;
With bliss, happiness, weal and joy have we returned home,
After communion with the holy.[5] (Pause)
Holy is the Master's greatness—

1. (These ranks symbolize deities, practitioners of ritual and ceremonial, those learned in theology etc.).
2. Antarjami.
3. Meeting.
4. That is, without resort to ritual practices and pilgrimages etc.
5. Lit. After holy bath. (Bath is often used symbolically).

Beyond expression his worth.
Of kings is he King.
By sight of the Master is the mind inspiration-filled. (2)
By touch of holy company
Are all sins annulled.
Treasury of merit is the Name Divine,
By whose utterance are all objectives fulfilled. (3)
The Master the Portal of liberation has flung open :
All creation on him cries Hail.
Saith Nanak : The Lord is by my side—
Thereby is fear of transmigration annulled. (4) (2.52)

Guri pūrai kirpā dhārī

The Master, perfectly-endowed, in his grace
My desire has fulfilled.
After purifying bath[1] of holy company to my home[2] have I returned, P. 622
And bliss, joy and happiness have experienced. (1)
Devotees of God ! by devotion to the Name Divine
is attained liberation.
In all states[3] on the Lord meditate;
Each day in good doing engage. (1-Pause)
The way of the holy, the ladder of righteousness
A rare, fortunate one attains :
By devotion of mind to the Divine feet are sins of millions of births annulled. (2)
Laud ever the Lord who His might fully has manifested.
All creatures that to the holy Preceptor's truthful teaching have listened,
Pure have been rendered. (3)
The holy Preceptor in our minds has confirmed the Name,
Shatterer of impediments, annuller of suffering.
Destroyed are sins, purified are we completely.
Nanak, servant of God, joyfully home has returned. (4) (3.53)

Sāhibu gūnī gaherā

Lord, treasure of merit,
Home and hosts[4] are all Thine.

---

1. See note 5 to the foregoing.
2. Implies the self, devoted to the Lord.
3. While rising, sitting.
4. Lashkar, symbolizes objects of worldly glory.

As is the Divine Master turned my saviour,
All creation to me is turned gracious. (1)
In joy the Lord's feet as I contemplate,
In the Lord's shelter is all my fear annulled. (Pause)
Lord ! in the hearts of Thy servants
Hast Thou[1] erected on edifice[2] imperishable.
Our strength, prosperity and support—all is Thine :
Thou my mighty Lord. (2)
Whoever to holy company has attained,
The Lord Himself has saved[3] him.
In His grace joy of the Name to him has He granted,
And all weal and peace. (3)
As has the Lord been aidant,
Our feet have all touched.
With each breath on the Lord meditate,
And, saith Nanak, chant paean of joy in God. (4) (4.54)

Sūkh sahaj ānandā

As is met the Lord, beloved of heart,
Spontaneous joy and bliss have I felt.
As the Master, perfectly-endowed, has shown grace,
Have I achieved the supreme state. (1)
My mind in loving devotion to God is absorbed :
Ever the unstruck harp[4] I hear ringing. (Pause)
Mighty is shelter of the Divine feet :
Thereby is ended dependence on the world.
The Provider, life of the world have I attained,
And in joy of delight Divine laudation sung. (2)
The Lord Yama's noose has snapped;
Fulfilled in my heart's desire.
Wherever I look, Him I behold—
None beside the Lord is visible. (3)
In His grace has the Lord preserved me :
Annulled is my suffering of multiple births.
On the Name, emancipator from fear, have I meditated—
Thereby has Nanak imperishable joy attained. (4) (5.55)

1. Lit. The Lord has.
2. Lit. Foundation.
3. Taken across the water.
4. Symbol for high state of God-absorption.

Thāndhi pāyee Kartārei

The Lord-Creator joy has conferred;
The malady has left my family.[1]
The Master, perfectly-endowed, my honour has saved,
As shelter with the holy Eternal I have sought. (1)
The Supreme Lord Himself has become my guardian—
Everlasting joy on the mind has descended. (Pause)
The medicine of the Name Divine is administered,
Whereby is the malady totally destroyed.
The Lord His grace showed, P. 623
Whereby was the objective fulfilled. (2)
The Lord His own way and tradition[2] kept in mind,
And reckoned not my merits and demerits.
The Lord's holy Word was manifested.
And my honour preserved. (3)
I have uttered what Thou hast inspired—
Thou who art the Lord, store of merit.
Nanak has uttered the holy Name of the Lord, true witness,
Who the honour of His servant has protected. (4) (6.56)

Vichi Kartā-Pūrakh khaloā

The Lord-Creator Himself stood to aid us;
So not a hair on the head was hurt.
Fruitfully completed was the bath[3] by the Master's grace :
By utterance of the Name Divine were all sins shed. (1)
Devotees of God ! noble is Ram Das's Pool[4] :
Whoever therein bathes, saved is His family;
Liberated is his self. (I-Pause)
The world his glory sings,
And his heart's desire he achieves.
With weal and safety after the bath we returned,
On the Lord meditating. (2)
Whoever in the Pool of holy company bathes,
The highest state achieves.
By meditation on the Name Divine,
Annulled is his transmigration.[5] (3)

1. Refers to the recovery from illness of the child Hargobind.
2. Bird (wird, Ar.).
3. Refers to bath in the holy Pool of Amritsar.
4. Refers to Amritsar, the holy Pool.
5. He neither dies nor transmigrates.

This Divine philosophy to such alone is known,
As have the Lord's grace.
Of the devotee[1] Nanak, seeking shelter of the Lord
Is effaced all anxiety and reckoning by Yama. (4) (7.57)

Par-Brahmi nibāhī pūrī

The Lord success on us has conferred;
No objective unfulfilled is left.
By inspiring devotion to the Lord's feet were we saved,
And the Name Divine constantly contemplated. (1)
The Lord is ever His servant's succourer :
In His grace has He saved us as His own, cherished as by mother and father. (Pause)
By great good fortune is attained the holy Preceptor,
Who Yama's path has effaced.
The heart to loving devotion to God is attached.
Fortunate are those that in Divine contemplation find life. (2)
God's devotee the ambrosial Word chants;
In dust of feet of the holy bathes.
The Lord Himself has granted devotion to His Name.
The Lord-Creator Himself has saved me. (3)
The Lord's sight[2] is my life's prop—
This is true pure cogitation.
Thou that knowest our inner self, show Thy grace :
Nanak, servant of God, the Lord's shelter is seeking. (4) (8.58)

Gúru pūrai charnīṇ lāiyā

As the Master, perfectly-endowed, to his feet attached me,
Found I the Lord to be my friend and helper.
Now, wherever I go, joy I receive,
As the Lord in His grace with Himself has granted me union. (1)
Ever the Lord's Name chant with devotion :
All your heart's desires shall thereby he achieved;
Of your self shall the Lord be helper. (I-Pause)
The Lord is prop of my life;
Of the holy am I dust of feet.
The fallen has He purified,
As in His grace chanting of Divine laudation has
He granted us. (2)

---

1. Baba Nanak : 'Baba' has multiple shades of meaning, generally referring to a respected or holy elder.
2. Darshan may also imply system of philosophy.

The Lord is our cherisher;
Ever our self's succourer.
Day and night chant Divine laudation— P. 624
Thus shall you no more enter on transmigration. (3)
Such alone of joy in God are aware,
As by the Lord Creator are so blessed.[1]
Such by Yama's minions are not approached.
Nanak in shelter of God joy has attained. (4) (9.59)

Guru pūrai kītī pūrī

The Master, perfectly-endowed, success to me has granted.
Now the Lord I behold pervasive everywhere.
With weal and safety is the bath performed :
To the Supreme Being am I a sacrifice. (1)
As the Master's lotus feet in my heart I have cherished,
Not a particle of impediment touches me :
Achieved are all objectives. (I-Pause)
By contact with the holy is foul thinking shed;
Purified are the fallen.
By bathing in the Pool of Ram Das,[2]
Are annulled all sins ever committed. (2)
Ever chant Divine laudation;
In holy company on Him meditate.
By meditating from the heart on the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Are all heart's desires achieved. (3)
In the Master's company is obtained joy in the Lord.
God's devotees in contemplation of God,
the Supreme Joy, find life.
As Nanak, servant of God, on the Name has meditated,
The Lord His own promise[3] has fulfilled. (4) (10.60)

Dah-dis chhatra megh ghaṭāghaṭ dāmani chamaki ḍarāiyo

In all ten directions are dark clouds umbrella like-spread;
Frightening are flashes of lightning :
The forlorn wife[4] lies alone in the couch, her eyes bereft of sleep—
Her lord to distant lands gone. (1)

1. To whomsoever this has been given.
2. Amritsar, the holy Pool is meant.
3. Bird (Ar. wird) way, customary way.
4. This is implied. As in the mystic-romantic mode, the seeker is symbolized as the forlorn wife.

Mother mine ! no message from Him has come of late :
Formerly with each kos[1] traversed by the Beloved,
four of his missives arrived. (Pause)
How can I forget the precious Beloved, repository of all merits, Giver of joy ?
Going to top of the mansion his path I watch—
My eyes ever filling with tears. (2)
Egoism is the wall standing between;
Else I hear is he in a nearby place.
A curtain thin as butterfly wing parts us—
Unseen, appears He far. (3)
As the Lord of the universe[2] has shown grace,
Effaced is all sorrow.
Saith Nanak : As the Master the wall of egoism demolished,
Is the gracious Lord attained. (4)
Mother mine ! ended is now all anxiety.
The Master my heart's desire has granted me—
The Divine King repository of all merit. (2-Pause) (11.61)

Gaī bahoru bandī-chhoṛu Nirankāru dūkh-dārī

Shatterer of bonds, formless Lord, annuller of suffering !
Make fruitful my wasted life.
I, avaricious seeker after lucre, deeds of piety and righteousness have neglected—
I that am called the Lord's devotee.
My honour Thou save ! (1)
Lord ! of the lowly art Thou honour,
On the worthless the Lord confers worth—
To Thy might am I a sacrifice ! (Pause)
As by habit the child a million errors commits,
The father admonishing snubbing it, still to his neck clasps it :
So, forgiving past sins, the Lord for the future
guides His devotee. (2)
The Lord, controller of the self, of all of our state is aware— P. 625
To whom shall we relate it ?
By our talk and discoursing is the Lord not pleased—
Should He show grace, our honour He protects.

1. A measure of distance, a little over a mile.
2. All that exists.

All other props have I seen—in Thy shelter alone can we abide. (3)
Should the Lord be compassionate, gracious, to our supplication
He Himself gives ear.
As the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed,
union with the Lord grants,
Lifted is all our anxiety of mind.
As medicine of the Name Divine has Nanak, servant of God, consumed,[1]
In joy he abides. (4) (12.62)

Simrai simari Prabh bhayei anandā dūkh kalesh sabh nāṭhei

In constant remembrance of the Lord have we found joy;
Fled are suffering and affliction.
By laudation of the Lord are all objectives fulfilled. (1)
Lord ! life of the world is your Name.
As instructed by the Master, perfectly-endowed,
By its contemplation is the ocean of existence crossed. (I-Pause)
Lord ! Thou art Thy own counsellor, almighty.
Bestower and enjoyer of all too art Thou—
What is this poor creature ? (2)
What power have I to narrate Thy merits ?
Beyond expession is Thy greatness.[2]
By sight of the Lord finds this servant life—
Wonderful is Thy greatness. (3)
In His grace has the Lord my honour and understanding perfected.
Ever is Nanak a sacrifice to Thee;
For dust of feet of the holy yearns. (4) (13.63)

Guru pūrā namaskārei

As to the Master perfectly-endowed I made obeisance,
The Lord all my objectives fulfilled.
As the Lord showed grace,
Fully vindicated was my honour. (1)
To His servant is He aidant :
All his objectives has He fulfilled; nothing to him
is lacking. (Pause)

1. Put in mouth.
2. Worth.

The Lord Creator the Pool[1] has helped to build.
Wealth is following after us—
Nothing shall we now lack.
This to the holy Preceptor[2] is pleasing. (2)
As the Lord compassionate we contemplated,
All creation to us become gracious.
Hail, Lord of the Earth !
Who to creation have given the perfect shape. (3)
Thou the mighty Lord :
All our substance is owing to Thy charity.
As Nanak, servant of God, on the sole Lord meditated,
He charity, received bestower of all benefits. (4) (14.64)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Rām Dās sarovari nhātei

Bathing in the Pool of Ram Das,[3]
Washes off all sins committed.
By this bath are we made pure :
The Master, perfectly-endowed, this blessing[4] has conferred. (1)
The Lord all weal and joy has spread—
All by contemplation of the Master's Word
Complete safety are granted. (Pause)
In holy company is our impurity shed :
The Supreme Being our helper has become.
Saith Nanak : As the Name we contemplated,
To the Primal Supreme Being, the Lord
we attained. (2) (1.65)

Jitu Pār-Brahmn chitti āiyā

The Lord established the House[5] P. 626
Wherein is the Supreme Being contemplated.
As is met the Master, ocean of bliss,
Is all our doubt shed. (1)
Behold greatness of the Name Divine;
Day and night laudation of the Lord we chant.

1. Amritsar (the holy Pool) is meant.
2. Guru Ram Das is alluded to.
3. The holy Pool of Amritsar, made by Sri Guru Ram Das is meant.
4. Charity.
5. Implies Hari Mandir, now known also as the Golden Temple, at Amritsar.

This blessing from the Master, perfectly-endowed, has come. (Pause)
Inexpressible is the Lord's discourse.
His servant utters words[1] saturated with amrita.
These Nanak, servant of God has expressed,
That from the Master, perfectly-endowed are learnt. (2) (2.66)

Āgai sükh Guru dīyā

The Master here and everywhere[2] to us
Has granted happiness, weal and joy.
Joy replete with all treasures[3] we attained,
As on the Master with our heart we meditated. (1)
Behold the holy Preceptor's greatness—
By his blessing our heart's desire have we achieved.
This, devotees of God ! each day has greater increase. (Pause)
All creation to us gracious has grown;
The Lord with attachment to us has inspired it.[4]
Spontaneously is the Lord to us united.
Saith Nanak : By learning holy truth, with faith are we filled. (2) (3.67)

Guru ka shabdu rakhwārei

The Master's Word is our guardian,
Mounting guard[5] on all four sides of us.
As is our heart by the Name Divine inspired,[6]
Yama embarrassed, from us has fled far. (1)
Lord ! Thou giver of joy to me;
Supreme Being perfection incarnate, Creator,
Snapping bonds, our heart you purify. (Pause)
Saith Nanak : Service rendered to the Lord eternal Goes not waste.
Thy servants in joy abide :
In contemplation of Thee are their desires fulfilled. (2) (4.8)

Guru apünei balihārī

To the Master am I a sacrifice,
Who my honour fully has vindicated.

1. Bani = collectively the Divine Word.
2. Lit. Before and after. (Two lines are interpreted together here).
3. Implies blessings.
4. Made it our own.
5. Chauki = a guard of four sentries.
6. As the Name Divine has been loved by us.

By constantly meditating on the Lord,
Are fulfilled my heart's objectives. (1)
Devotees of God ! none other than the Lord is real;
Whose will is almighty. (Pause)
By the blessing by the Lord given,
Has all creation to us became compliant.
As has Nanak, servant of God, on the Name meditated,
Effaced is all his suffering. (2) (5.69)

Tāpu gawāiyā Guru pūrei

As the Divine Master, perfection incarnate, Hargobind's[1] malady has cured, Resounded is the unstruck concert of joy in the heart.
In His grace has the Lord all weal granted Himself. (1)
The holy Lord Himself has ended the affliction :
Filled with joy are all disciples, devotees,
And have on the Name Divine meditated. (Pause)
The Lord to His devotees grants
All they seek of Him.
The Lord Himself has saved Hargobind[1] :
This Nanak, servant of God, has related in truth. (2) (6.70)

Soi karāe jo Tūdhu bhāvai

Thou dost set me to any task as may please Thee :
Nothing by my wisdom is accomplished.
We children under Thy shelter lie :
The Lord Himself our honour has saved. (1)
The Divine King is my mother and father, P. 627
In His grace cherishing me; I do as be Thy will. (Pause)
All creation by Thee is propped.
The controlling string, Lord ! in Thy hand is held.
I do as Thou dost guide.
Nanak, Thy servant under Thy shelter lies. (2) (7.71)

Hari-Nāmu ridai paroiyā

As the Name Divine to my heart I have attached,[2]
Are all my objectives fulfilled.
Such are greatly fortunate,
As have their heart[3] to the Lord's feet devoted. (1)

1. Guru Arjan Dev's son and successor, then a child.
2. Sewed, stitched.
3. Mana.

In holy company on the Lord have we meditated.
As constantly on the Lord we meditated,
Fulfilled were our heart's[1] desires. (Pause)
Sprouted is the seedling of our former deeds,
And the heart[1] to the Name Divine attached.
Nanak, servant of God, merits of the holy Eternal lauds,
And by his full mind and body in sight of the Lord is absorbed. (2) (8.72)

Guru mili Prabhū chitāriyā

In the Master's company the Lord we contemplated;
Thereby were our objectives fulfilled.
Now evil utterance none raises :
All are crying hail ! (1)
Devotees of God ! holy is the Lord's shelter.
All creation under His Power lies—the Lord who controls the inner self. (Pause)
All our endeavour has He fulfilled,
As the Lord His habitual grace[2] has kept.
To the Name Divine, purifier of the fallen,
Is Nanak a sacrifice. (2) (8.73)

Pār-Brahmi sāji sawāriyā

The Supreme Being has visited this child[3] with His grace;
The Divine Master has saved him.
Be joyous, you that are his father and mother !
The Supreme Lord has giveu him the boon of life. (1)
Thy servants' thoughts are ever holy :
Their[4] honour Thou dost cherish, fulfilling their objectives. (Pause)
The Lord is all benevolence—
Perfect the might He has assumed.
Nanak to His shelter has come,
And his heart's desire has achieved. (2) (10.74)

Sadā sadā Hari jāpei

As the Lord ever have I contemplated,
The child[5] He Himself has protected.

1. Mana.
2. Bird (Ar. wird) way, customary function, Implies grace.
3. Refers to the child Hargobind.
4. In the original is 'your servant'.
5. The child Hargobind is meant.

The rage of small-pox He stopped.
By blessing of the Name Divine was the torment[1] removed. (1)
Ever has the Lord been gracious;
As His devotee's prayer He heard, all thereby to him were full of kindness. (Pause)
Almighty is the Lord.
By His contemplation is all suffering removed.
His servant's prayer He heard :
Thereafter everyone blissful sleep has enjoyed. (2) (11.75)

Apnā Gurū dhiyāyei

By meditation on the Divine Master,
With weal home we have returned.
Inexpressible is the greatness and worth of the Name. (1)
Devotees of God ! to the Lord in devotion be attached :
By devotion to the Lord are all boons attained,
And all objectives fulfilled. (Pause)
With loving devotion to the Lord are we inspired;
This by great good fortune is attained. P. 628
Nanak, servant of God, on the Name has meditated :
Thereby are all joys[2] attained. (2) (12.76)

Parameshari dittā bannā

As the Supreme Divine Lord gave me prop,
Was the abode of suffering and maladies demolished.
Men and women are now made joyous :
The Lord His grace has shown. (1)
Devotees of God ! joy in all places is spread :
The Supreme Being, perfection incarnate, Supreme Divine Lord
In all spots is pervasive. (Pause)
This utterance from the Primal Divine source has come,
That all anxiety has annulled.
The compassionate Supreme Being has shown His grace :
Nanak truly has thus spoken about the Lord. (2) (13.77)

Aithai othai rakhwālā

The Lord, Divine Enlightener, compassionate to the humble,
In this world and the next is our protector.
His servants He Himself succours.
In each being[3] He makes resound the holy Word. (1)

1. Bighan may imply impediment.
2. The reward (fruit) that all joys brings.
3. Vessel.

To the Master's feet am I a sacrifice :
Day and night, with each breath Him I contemplate,
Who in all spots is pervasive. (I-Pause)
Himself has He brought us succour.
Holy is the gift of the holy Eternal :
In Thy devotion and laudation
Nanak shelter with the Lord has received. (2) (14.78)

Satiguru pūrei bhāṉā

As willed by the holy Divine Master, perfection incarnate,
The Name Divine I contemplated.
The Lord in His grace,
My honour thus protected. (1)
Eternally joy-giving are the Lord's feet :
Anyone worshipping these obtains heart's desire—
His hope never betrayed. (I-Pause)
To whomsoever the Provider, Lord of life shows grace,
Eulogy of the holy chants.
His mind in loving devotion absorbed, the Supreme Being beloved of his heart becomes. (2)
Discoursing day and night on Divine merits,
Takes off effect of the poisonous drug of evil.
The Creator to Himself has united me,
As the holy devotees my companions became. (3)
By the arm the Lord grasped us; all boons He granted—
To Himself He united us.
Saith Nanak : Accomplished are all my objectives,
As the Master, perfectly-endowed, I have attained. (4) (15.79)

Gharībī gadā hamārī

Humility is my mace;
My dagger becoming dust of feet of all.
These weapons no evil-doer dare withstand.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, has this objective fulfilled. (1)
The Name Divine is the devotees' shelter.
Whoever contemplates it, the supreme state enters—
By this are the millions saved. (I-Pause)
In company with the holy Divine laudation have we chanted :
This Divine wealth endless[1] have we obtained.
Saith Nanak : As the ego I effaced,
All creation to me in the Divine image was visible. (2) (16.80)

1. Perfect.

Guri pūrai pūrī kīnī

The Lord perfection incarnate, my devotion has rewarded—
His grace on me has He conferred.
Thereby eternal bliss and joy have I attained.
In all spots has He granted me joyful abode. (1)
Bringer of boons is Divine devotion.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, in his grace
granted it— P. 629
Only a rare one has experience of it. (Pause)
Brother ! the Master's Word we chant,
That is eternally rewarding, joy-giving.
Nanak on the Name has meditated :
This by primal writ has he obtained. (2) (17.81)

Guru pūrā ārādhei

By loving supplication to the Lord, perfection incarnate,
Are all our objectives fulfilled
Fulfilled are all objectives,
And resounded the unstruck concert of joy. (1)
Devotees of God ! by Divine contemplation have we obtained joy :
In abode of the holy in spontaneous joy have we lodged—
Effaced is all our suffering. (I-Pause)
The Word of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
To the Supreme Being sounds pleasing.
By Nanak, servant of God, is given utterance
To the immaculate inexpressible Divine discourse. (2) (18.82)

Bhūkhei khāwat lāj na āwai

Like the hungry, consuming food without modesty,
Devotees of God Divine devotion chant. (1)
Why delay in our appointed task of Divine contemplation, Whereby at the Divine Portal shall our faces be radiant,
And eternal joy be obtained ? (I-Pause)
As is the voluptuary by pleasure of lust attracted,
Even so to God's devotee is singing of Divine praise pleasing. (2)
As clings the mother to the child,
So do the enlightened absorb in heart the Name. (3)
As is this from the Master, perfectly-endowed obtained,
Nanak, servant of God, on the Name meditates. (19.83)

Sūkh sāndi ghari āiyā

In weal and joy my home[1] have I entered—
On traducers' faces has fallen ashes.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, with the robe invested me.
And shattered was all my suffering. (1)
Devotees of God ! the might of the holy eternal I laud,
Who this wonder-play has created. (I-Pause)
This servant discoursing on the Divine Word,
Speaks as the Lord directs.
Saith Nanak : Bestower of joy is the Lord,
Who all this cosmos has created. (2) (20.84)

Prabhu apūnā ridai dhiyāe

By contemplation of the Lord from our inmost heart,
Safe we returned home.[2]
With relief[3] was the world filled,
As the Master, perfectly-endowed, saved us. (1)
Devotees of God ! ever is the Lord gracious :
His devotee's reckoning He computes not;
Like His child protects him. (I-Pause)
As was borne in heart the Name Divine,
All objectives thereby were fulfilled.
As the Master, perfectly-endowed, the Name to him
has been pleased to grant,
Never after has suffering afflicted Nanak. (2) (21.85)

Hari mani tani wasiyā soī

The Lord in my mind and self is lodged :
All on me cry hail !
This from great grace of the Lord, perfection incarnate,
has come,
Whose worth[4] is beyond expression. (1)
To Thy Name am I a sacrifice :
Beloved Lord ! to whomsoever Thou showest grace,
Thy laudation sings. (I-Pause)
Thy devotees in Thee find their prop.
Nanak with the Lord seeks shelter—
On traducers' face are ashes fallen. (2) (22.86) P. 630

1. Refers to Guru Arjan Dev's return to Amritsar from Wadali, close by.
2. To Amritsar (see note to the foregoing).
3. Lit. Content. Here the feeling of relief is implied.
4. Value.

Āgai sūkhu merei mīta

In the hereafter[1] my friend ! shall come joy;
Before,[2] has the Lord granted me bliss.
Such dispensation has the Lord made,
As nevermore is shaken. (1)
To the holy Eternal is my mind fixed in faith :
In all beings the Lord have I beheld. (I-Pause)
All creatures, compassionate one ! are Thine.
Thy devotees dost Thou cherish.
Wondrous is Thy might.[3]
Nanak ever on Thy Name meditates. (2) (23.87)

Nāli Narāyaṉu merai

The Lord ever is by my side—
Thus Yama's minions approach me not.
Clasping me to His bosom the Lord,
By power of the holy Preceptor's pure teaching, keeps me. (1)
The Lord, perfection incarnate, my devotion has rewarded :
My foes has He destroyed and torn apart;
To His servant has He granted noble understanding. (I-Pause)
All places has the Lord filled with prosperity;
In weal and safety have we returned.[4]
Nanak under the Lord's shelter has fallen,
Who all maladies has annulled. (2) (24.88)

Sarb sūkhāṉ kā dātā satiguru tā kī sharnī pāīyai

The holy Preceptor is provider of all joys, obtained by seeking his shelter.
By his sight comes joy; by chanting Divine laudation under his guidance is suffering effaced. (1)
Brother ! quaff elixir of joy in God :
Under shelter of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
The Name contemplate, to the Name be devoted. (Pause)
By such is the Lord attained for whom this in primal
Time is recorded—
Such alone attain perfection.
This, holy Lord ! is Nanak's supplication :
May I ever to the Name remain devoted ! (2) (25.89)

1. Ahead of me.
2. Behind, in the past.
3. Greatness.
4. The Guru's safe return to Amritsar from Wadali is alluded to.

Karan karāwan Hari antarjāmī jana apanei kī rākhai

The Lord almighty, controller of the inner self,
His devotee's honour protects.
Over the world is one hailed by tasting joy of the
Master's Word. (1)
Lord, Master of the earth ! Thy shelter I seek.
Almighty, bestower of shelter art Thou—day and night on Thee[1] I meditate. (Pause)
Lord ! whoever in devotion to Thee engages, from anxiety is free.
By touching feet of the holy Preceptor is fear effaced,
As with my self Divine laudation I have sung. (2)
By the loving comfort by the Master given,
Came plentiful joy, poise and bliss.
In triumph returned we home[2] with honour;
Fulfilled were all our objectives. (3)
Perfectly-endowed, of perfect enlightenment is the Master;
Infallible the Lord's doing.
Nanak ! thou that by touch of the Master's feet the ocean of existence hast crossed,
The Name Divine ever contemplate. (4) (26.90)

Bhaiyo kirpālu dīn dūkh bhanjanu āpei sabh bidhi thāṭī

The Lord, shatterer of suffering of the humble has shown grace—
Himself has He arranged all devices.
In an instant has the Lord, perfection incarnate, saved His servant, and his fetters cut off. (1)
My self ! ever on the Divine Enlightener meditate.
Thereby shall afflictions of the body be effaced,
And heart's desires fulfilled. (Pause)
The Lord, Creator of all beings, is lofty, inaccessible, limitless.
In holy company has Nanak on the Name meditated; P. 631
In the Court Divine has his face become radiant. (2) (27.91)

Simrauṇ apūnā sāīṇ

The Lord I contemplate;
Day and night on Him meditate,
Who by strength of His arm has succoured me !

1. Original, Tumhārā (yours).
2. Implies absorption in the Divine Essence.

In devotion to the Name Divine
The supreme elixir have I tasted. (1)
To the Master am I a sacrifice,
As by his teaching the Lord, perfection incarnate, Provider,
To me has become gracious.
All beings to me have turned kindly. (Pause)
Nanak, servant of God, seeks shelter with Him
Who fully my honour has vindicated,
And all my suffering effaced.
Brother ! now in joy I dwell. (2) (28.92)

Sūnuh benantī Thākūr merei jīya jant Terei dhārei

Lord ! to my supplication give ear :
All beings by Thee are propped.
Lord almighty ! pray vindicate the honour of Thy Name ! (1)
Beloved Lord ! under Thy protection take me :
Good or bad—your own are we. (Pause)
As the Lord Almighty to my wail listened, my bonds He snapped
And exalted me.
His servants, invested with the robe, to Himself has He united, manifestly. (2) (29.93)

Jīya jant sabhi wasi kari dīnei sevak sabhi durbārei

All beings hast Thou made compliant to Thy servants,
Who in Thy court are exalted.
The Lord has accepted them as His own, and beyond the ocean of existence carried them. (1)
His devotee's objectives all has He fulfilled—
The Lord, perfection incarnate, our Master, Compassionate to the humble, gracious, treasure of grace. (Pause)
Everywhere are we welcomed[1]—noway are we in want.
His devotees has He invested with the robe—
This Nanak knows to be owing to the Lord's glory. (2) (30.94)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Rei mana Ramā siūṇ kari preeti

My self ! attach thyself in love to the Lord :

1. Asked to come and be seated.

Let thy ears ever be attentive to the Lord's laudation,
And chant thou ever songs of His glory.
Seek ever holy company, bear ever in mind the Lord,
And be thus exalted from thy fallen state.
Behold terrible Death, prowling around with mouth wide open. (1)
One day[1] must it clutch at thee—have no doubt of it.[2]
Saith Nanak : Devote thyself to God—
Thy life[3] is slipping by. (2) (1)

Mana kī mana hī māheṇ rahī

Unfulfilled have thy resolves remained :
Neither hast thou devoted thyself to prayer,
Nor visited holy places,
Till death has gripped thee by the tuft of thy hair. (I-Pause)
Woman, associates, progeny, mounts,
Wealth, even lordship of the earth—
All these are false, evanescent :
Devotion to God alone will abide. (1)
After wandering to exhaustion through various births for aeons[4]
At last hast thou attained the human incarnation.
Saith Nanak : This is thy occasion to find union with the Lord—
Why art neglectful of devotion ? (2) (2)

Mana rei kaun kumati taiṇ līnī

My self ! what false thinking hast thou grasped, P. 632
Keeping absorbed in pleasures of lust[5] and slanders, Neglectful of devotion ? (I-Pause)
Ignorant of the path of liberation,
To amassing wealth art thou rushing :
Nothing with thee shall last—
In vain hast thou put thyself into bonds. (1)
Neither hast thou practised devotion, nor served the holy,[6]
Nor has illumination arisen in thee.
The immaculate Lord is within thee,
Whom thou in waste places[7] hast sought. (2)

1. Today or tomorrow.
2. Know in thy mind.
3. Occasion.
4. Numerous Yugas.
5. Others' womenfolk.
6. Devotees of the Master.
7. Forests.

For innumerable births hast thou wandered to exhaustion,
And yet is thy mind without poise.
Nanak reveals to thee this secret :
Having obtained this exalted state of human incarnation,
In devotion to God be engaged ! (3) (3)

Mana rei Prabh kī sharan bichāro

My self ! contemplate getting the Lord's protection.
Fill thy heart with laudation of Him,
Whose contemplation brought liberation to the Courtesan.[1] (I-Pause)
He whose contemplation made Dhruva[2] eternal and free from fear;
The Lord, Annuller of suffering—why art thou indifferent to Him ? (1)
The Elephant[3] got free of the crab's grip,
As he came under protection of the Treasure-house of grace.
How far may I relate the extent of His Name's greatness—
The utterance of the Lord's Name snapped his toils. (2)
Ajamal[4] the sinner known all the world ever—
In a moment came his release.
Saith Nanak : Contemplate the fulfiller of desires;[5]
Thus mayst thou too cross the ocean of existence. (3) (4)

Pranī kaunu upāe karai

Thou creature of God ! by what effort mayst thou find Devotion to the Lord and be free of Yama's terror ? (I-Pause)
What the ritual actions, what the learning
And what acts of piety[6] ?
What the Divine Name whose contemplation
May carry thee across the ocean of existence ? (1)
In Kali yuga the Name Divine, ocean of grace,
Solely may bring liberation to whoever contemplates it.
No other act of piety[6] equals that—
Thus declare the scriptures.[7] (2)

1. Ganika—a courtesan mentioned in Puranic literature, liberated on hearing her parrot repeat the Lord's name.
2. A saint, turned into the fixed pole-star.
3. (This story too comes from the Puranas).
4. A Brahmin of Kannauj, who on uttering Narayan at time of death, which was his son's name, was liberated.
5. Chintamani, a stone, all desires of whose possessor are fulfilled.
6. Dharma.
7. (The Vedas speak thus).

The Lord of the universe is above joy and sorrow,
And ever by these untouched.
Saith Nanak : He ever dwells within you
As the image in the mirror. (3) (5)

Māī maiṇ kihi bidhi lakhauṇ Gosāīṇ

Mother mine ! by what device may I gain vision of the Lord ?
In the supreme stupor of worldliness and darkening ignorance[1]
Is the mind entangled. (I-Pause)
All my life lost in doubts,
Never was my understanding fixed in faith in God.
Caught in the power of Maya-poison,
Never from low impulses free. (1)
Bereft of holy company,
Never have I lauded the Lord.
Saith Nanak, servant of God :
Without merit that I am,
Keep me Lord, under Thy protection. (2) (6)

Māī mani mero basi nāhīṇ

Mother mine ! this mind nowise is in my power :
Running day and night after worldly pleasures,
how may I restrain it ? (I-Pause) Impervious to the teaching of scriptures,[2] lodging it not for a moment in the heart; P. 633
Seeking others' wealth,
Passing life purposelessly; (1)
Maddened by liquor of worldly pelf,
Blind to words of Divine wisdom;
Ignorant of the Immaculate Lord's[3] mystery,
Whose dwelling is in the heart. (2)
Vanished all my false thinking,
As with the holy Preceptor I sought shelter.
Then contemplated Nanak the Divine fulfiller of all desires,[4]
And Yama's noose fell snapped. (3) (7)

Re nara ih sāchī jīya dhāri

Listen man ! grasp firmly this truth :

1. Darkness of ignorance.
2. Vedas, Purans, Simritis.
3. Niranjan.
4. Chintamani.

This whole universe is as a dream, shattering in an instant.[1] (I-Pause)
Man with eager longing builds a wall of sand, crumbling soon after[2] :
As is this wall, so are pleasures of the world,
In which thou ignorant one, art entangled. (1)
Realize this truth before it be too late;
Turn to devotion to the Name Divine.
Saith Nanak : I have proclaimed to thee
The inner truth realized by men of God. (2) (8)

Ih jagi mītu na dekhiyo koī

None in this world have I found a true friend.
The whole world in seeking pleasures is engrossed—
None would be another's friend in sorrow. (I-Pause)
Wife, friends, progeny, relations—all cling to man's wealth.
As in penury they behold him, all forsake him. (1)
How shall I explain this to my demented self,
That to these is attached,
Forgetful of singing laudation of the Lord,
Succourer of the humble, annuller of fear ? (2)
Crooked as cur's tail,
Much efforts to reclaim[3] him have I spent.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord, true to Thy own Law of grace[4]
Protect me, who to Thy Name am devoted.[5] (3)

Mana rei gahiyo na Guru-ūpadeshu

My self ! to the Master's teaching hast thou not attached, thyself.[6]
What benefits it, that thou hast close-shaven thyself and donned ochre robes.[7] (I-Pause)
Forsaking truth, to falsehood art thou attached,
And made waste of thy life.
Through deceit hast sustained thyself[8] and slept like a beast. (1)

---

1. Without delay.
2. Lasts not four days.
3. Lit. Make him straight.
4. Bird (Ar. wird) fixed action, implies as given above.
5. Who has uttered your Name.
6. Grasped.
7. Marks of certain mendicant orders in India.
8. Nourished the belly.

Ignorant of merit of devotion to the Lord,
art thou a slave to Maya.
Madman, entangled with evil ways,
Art thou neglectful of the jewel, the Name Divine. (2)
Ignorant of the Lord, purposelessly is passed thy life.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord ! be constant to Thy usual law of grace.[1]
Man is erring ever. (3) (10)

Jo naru dūkhu maiṇ dūkhu nahīṇ mānai

The man that in suffering feels not affliction;
Is by pleasures, attachment and fear unaffected,
And holds gold and dust alike; (I-Pause)
Who by slander and praise is not affected,
Nor by avarice, attachment and pride,
Who to joy and sorrow keeps unattached,
Nor by honour and dishonour is swayed; (1)
Who renounces lure of the world and covetousness,
And frees himself from all desire;
Abjures lust and wrath— P. 634
In the mind of such a one dwells the Supreme Being. (2)
One by Divine grace favoured
Does this way of life[2] learn.
Saith Nanak : Such a one into the Lord is merged,
As water into water.[3] (3) (11)

Preetam jānu lehu mana māhīn

Beloved mine,[4] in thy heart[5] realize this :
The whole world is entangled in seeking its own pleasure :
None to another is true. (I-Pause)
In times of prosperity many surround thee;
In adversity are all forsaking,
None accosting thee.[6] (1)
The wife of thy home,
Beloved of thee and ever by thy side,
The moment the swan of life forsakes this frame,
Shuns thee as a ghost. (2)

1. Bird (wird). See Note in the foregoing.
2. Device, practice.
3. That is, as a river merges into the ocean.
4. Addressed to man in loving accents.
5. Mana.
6. Comes not near.

Such is the way of all that to which man is attached.
Saith Nanak : At the last
None succours[1] man except the Lord. (3) (12.139)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
(Quatrain-Octets) Ashtpadiyan Chautuki
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dubidhā na paṛauṇ Hari binu hor na pūjouṇ maṛai masāṇi na jāī

I fall not into doubt of duality; other than the Lord worship not,
Resorting not to tombs and cremation yards.
Absorbed in desire I go not to alien abodes[2]—
My desire by the Name fulfilled.
The Master in my own self a sight of the Divine
Abode has shown—
In poise brother ! is my mind absorbed.
All-knowing, all-seeing art Thou—
Being receive the understanding by Thee granted. (1)

Mana bairāg ratou biarāgī Shabdi manu bedhiyā merī māi

The mind dyed in dispassion an anchorite has turned;
By the holy Word, mother mine ! is my mind penetrated.
Within me is the irrefrangible light of the holy Word—
To the holy Lord is my devotion attached. (Pause)
Innumerable anehorites claim the world to renounce—
The true anchorite is one that to the Master is pleasing.
In this heart hearing the Word, in fear of God absorbed,
The Lord's tasks he performs;
Contemplating solely the Lord, his mind unshaken,
Whose restlessness he controls;
Intoxicated with poise, ever in joy in God dyed,
Praise of the holy Eternal he chants. (2)

Manūā paunu bindu sūkhvāsī Nāmi wasai sūkh bhāī

Should the mind restless as the wind, ever for an instant rest in joy of poise,
By contemplation of the Name, joyous shall remain.
The tongue, eyes, ears of such a one in truth dyed,

---

1. Is of use.
2. (Places other than those where God is worshipped).

Assuaged is his thirst as by Thee satisfied.
Free from desire shall such a one remain, a true anchorite—
In his true self absorbed.
By charity of the Name is he fulfilled and satisfied,
In poise of mind quaffing amrita. (3)

Dubidhā vich bairāgu na hovī jab lag dūjī rāī

In duality, while a mustard-grain of it lasts,
Is renunciation not practised.
The whole world is Thine, Thou its Sole Provider—
No other is there.
Beings that are ego-directed in everlasting suffering abide,
On those following the Master's direction the Lord confers exaltation.
Limitless, inaccessible, unknowable—by words is His worth not realized. (4)

Sūnn samādhi mahā parmarāthu tīni bhavan pati Nāman

Of unbroken absorption, the Supreme Objective,
Lord of the three worlds—such be Thy appellations.
On the foreheads of beings is recorded the writ, whereby they take birth;
In accordance with the writ their destiny they undergo.
Activity and holy action by Him are directed— P. 635
Himself devotion in the self He confirms.
Impurity of egoism by feeling fear of God in shed,
Thereby spontaneously comes realization of the Inaccessible. (5)

Jini chākhiyā sei sādu jāṇani jiuṇ gūngei mathiyāī

Those tasting of it alone know its taste, like the dumb who sweets have put in mouth.
How may one, brother ! express the inexpressible ?
Best it is ever to follow His will.
Should the Master, holy bestower, grant union, comes realization—
One unguided by the Master no understanding has.
As the Lord directs, should one move—what can clever devices avail ? (6)

Ikki bharami bhūlāe ikki bhagtī rātei Terā khelu apārā

Some in illusion are cast, others dyed in devotion—
Beyond our understanding[1] is Thy play.

1. Lit. Limitless.

As by Thee guided has the reward come to each—of the Ordinance[1] art Thou the Master.
Reward for service rendered would I claim, should anything be mine—
Thine is self and body.
By contact with the holy Preceptor has come Divine grace,
And the Name ambrosial become our prop. (7)

Gaganantari wāsiyā gūṉa pargāsiyā gūṉa mehṇ giān dhyānam

As came light of attributes of the Lord in the higher self,
By these was attained realization and meditation :
The mind of one so blessed, to the Name is attached
Uttering it and inspiring in others its utterance,
Of the Essence giving exposition.
The holy Word is the true Preceptor,[2] and Guide[3]
Of great profundity—
Without the Word is the world gone mad.
Saith Nauak : One with mind fixed in faith iu the Eternal,
Is the perfect anchorite,
By the Divine will[4] made fortunate. (8) (1)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Triptychs

Āsā mansā bandhanī bhāī karam dharam bandhkārī

Brother ! expectation and desire are forgers of bonds;
So are also ritual actions.
Amid sin and well-doing does the world take birth,
And in forgetfulness of the Name is being ruined.
Maya, brother ! is deluder of the world; all deeds done in its pursuit are evil. (1)

Sūṉi Pandit karmākārī

Listen thou Brahmin[5] engaged in ritual :
The action whereby comes bliss is realization of essence of the self. (Pause)
Brother ! Shastras and Vedas dost thou declaim.
but worldly are thy actions.

1. Hukam.
2. Guru.
3. Pir.
4. Sahaje (spontaneously).
5. Pandit.

Brother ! with impurity of evil-doing within thee sticking,
Shall impurity of hypocrisy not go.
Thus is the spider ruined, brother ! falling headlong. (2)

Dürmati ghaṇī vigūtī bhāī dūjai bhāe khüwāī

A vast part of the world, brother ! by false thinking is ruined,
Through duality lost.
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor, brother ! is not attained the holy Name—
Without the Name is doubt not removed.
Brother ! by service to the holy Preceptor comes bliss,
And transmigration ceases. (3)

Sāchu sahaju Gūru tei ūpajai bhāī manu nirmalu sāchu samāī

Brother ! from the Master's guidance arises truth and poise;
The pure heart alone in truth gets absorbed.
Whoever serves the Master, brother ! gets realization;
Without the Master's guidance is not found the way.[1]
Brother ! whoever is greedy of performance of ritual actions,
By speaking falsehood swallows poison. (4)

Pandit dahī viloīyai bhāī vichuhṇ niklai tatthu

Listen thou Brahmin ! should curd be churned,
Out of it comes the essence.[2]
Brother ! should water however, be churned, water alone is visible—
Such is pursuit of this world.
Without guidance of the Master, brother, in doubt is one lost;
In each being, know, abides the inaccessible Divine Being. (5)

Ihu jagu tāgo sūt ko bhāī dah-disi bandho Māe

Brother ! this world is a cotton-thread that Maya in all ten directions has tied.
Without the Master's guidance, brother ! is its knot not undone,
Despite ritual aetions done to exhaustion.
This world, brother, in doubt is lost—inexpressible is that state. (6)

Guru miliyai bhau mani vasai bhāī bhay marṇā sachu lekhu

By contact with the Master, brother ! fear of God abides in the mind;
Reckon dying in sueh fear as the true destiny.

1. Magg (Pkt for marga, way). Also used elsewhere in Gurubani.
2. Implies butter.

Supreme[1] over holy baths, charities and acts of piety, P. 636
Is attaining the Name at the Divine Portal.
Brother ! the Master's is the elephant's goad that the Name has confirmed—
As in the mind it takes abode, all poses of piety[2] vanish. (7)
Ihu tanu hāṭu sarāf ko bhāī vakharu Nāmu apāru Brother ! this self is the jeweller's shop; the wares in this is the Name illimitable.
Brother, such alone of the merchants[3] grasp such wares
As contemplate the Master's Word.
Saith Nanak : Blessed is the merchant[3] that uniting with the Master
Into this transaction enters. (8) (2)

Jinnhiṇ Satiguru seviyā pyārei tinh kei sāth tarei

Cherished one[4] ! those that the holy Preceptor have served, saved are their whole crews.[5]
Cherished one ! no impediment they find;
In ambrosial accents the Lord's Name they utter.
Cherished one ! drowned are those without fear of God,
made heavy;
Saved are those on whom He casts His glance of grace. (1)

Bhī Tūnhaiṇ sālāhanā Piyārei bhī terī sālāh

Ever, Beloved,[6] must Thou be lauded; Thy praise must we ever utter.
Beloved ! without the ship in the ocean is one sunk;
God's devotees standing on shore are crying out to others to save themselves. (I-Pause)

Sālāhī sālāhaṉā Piyārei dūjā awaru na koe

Cherished one ! the Lord worthy of laudation alone must be lauded—
No other is there,
Cherished one ! such are good as laud the Lord;
Dyed in the Word find they joy.
Cherished one ! should company of such be found,
From joy in God may the Essence be churned. (2)

1. Particularly, especially distinguished.
2. Implies sectarian garbs and practices.
3. Used metaphorically—seekers.
4. Herein man is apostrophized.
5. Sāth = Group accompanying; here because of the figure of water, crews.
6. Herein the one addressed is God.

Pati parwānā sāch kā piyārei Nāmu sacchā nīsāṉu Cherished one ! the true charter of honour is of truth;
devotion to the Name is the true mark of distinction.
Cherished one ! as into the world we arrive, the Divine writ alone we carry—
Realize the Ordinance of the Divine Ruler.
Cherished one ! without the Master's guidance is the Ordinance not realized :
The holy Lord alone has true might. (3)

Hūkamai andari nimmiyā piyārei hūkamai ūdar majhāri
By the Divine Ordinance, cherished one ! is man cast into the womb;
By the Ordinance rests in the mother's belly.
By the Ordinance, cherished one ! is he born head downwards.
Cherished one ! the God-directed alone at the Divine
Portal find honour,
Who depart after fulfilling their objective. (4)

Hūkamai andari āiyā piyārei Hūkami jāndo jāe Cherished one ! by the Ordinance has man arrived; by the Ordinance he goes.
Cherished one ! by the Ordinance is he marched in bonds—
The ego-directed are chastized.
Cherished one ! by the Ordinance too is realized the Word, whereby man at the Divine Portal arrives. (5)

Hūkamai gaṉat gaṉāīyai piyārei Hūkamei haumai doe
Cherished one ! by the Ordinance is his reckoning made;
By the Ordinance is he gripped with egoism and duality.
Cherished one ! by the Ordinance does he wander along in transmigration,
And lured by evils, wails.
Cherished one ! should man the Divine Monarch's
Ordinance realize,
To truth is he united and exaltation attains. (6)

Ākhaṉi aukhā ākhīyai piyārei kivṇ suṉīyai sachu Nāuṇ
Cherished one ! hard is the utterance of the holy Name—
How to hear it uttered ?
Cherished one ! those that have lauded Him,
to them am I a sacrifice.
Cherished one ! those with content to the Name attain;
By the glance of Divine grace are they granted union. (7)

Kayā kāgad jei thīyai piyārei manu maswāṇī dhāri Cherished one ! should the self turn paper,
make the mind the ink;
Cherished one ! make the tongue the reed-pen to scribe truth—
Thereby scribe after contemplation Divine laudation.
Saith Nanak : Cherished one ! blessed is the scribe
That scribes truth from his innermost heart. (8) (3)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Couplets

Tūṇ gūṇa dātau nirmalo bhāī nirmalu nā manu hoe
Brother ! thus say I to the Lord : Thou the immaculate conferrer of merit,
But our mind is not purified.
Brother ! thus say I to the Lord : Sinners, without merit are we—
From Thee comes merit. (1)

Merei Pritamā tūṇ kartā kari veikhu
Beloved mine ! thou the Creator, and thereafter, cherisher.
Brother ! a sinner and hypocrite am I; P. 637
In my mind and self is lodged the Name—by this alone may come distinction to me. (Pause)
Maya-poison my mind has attracted; clever devices
my respect have ruined.
In the consciousness, brother ! comes the holy Lord,
Should the Master's teachiug by it be absorbed. (2)

Rūṛau rūṛau ākhīyai bhāī rūṛau lāl chalūl
Brother ! beauteous is the Lord as reported;
Beauteous, blazing red.
Should the mind in separation from the Lord be pining,
The Divine Essence in the self becomes unforgetable. (3)

Pātālīṇ ākāsi Tūṇ bhāī ghari ghari Tūṇ gūṇa giān Brother ! know of the Lord : In the nether worlds and the skies art Thou pervasive;
In each being art Thou source of merit and enlightenment.
By contact with the Master, brother, is obtained joy—
From the mind is lifted pride. (4)

Jal mal kāyā mānjīyai bhāī bhī mailā tanu hoe
Brother ! with rubbing and washing of the body with water,
Impurity to it still clings :
Brother ! by bathing in the supreme elixir of enlightenment
Are mind and body turned pure. (5)

Devī devāṇ pūjīyai bhāī kyā māngouṇ kyā dehi
Brother ! should one propitiate gods and goddesses
What may one beg ? What can these grant ?
Should a stone in water be washed, brother ! in water must it still sink. (6)

Guru binu Alakhu na lakhīyai bhāī jagu būḍai pati khoe
Brother ! without the Master's guidance is the Inaccessible not realized—
Without guidance the world in ignominy is ruined.[1]
Brother ! all exaltation in the Lord's hand lies;
He grants it to whomsoever He pleases. (7)

Baīyar bolai mīthūlī bhāī sāchu kahai piru bhāe Brother ! even a woman out of the nomads shall acquire sweetness of utterance,
Should she out of her Lord's love speak the true word :
Such a one penetrated by pain of separation, in truth abides—
To the Name Divine deeply attached. (8)

Sabhu ko ākhai āpṇā bhāī Guru tei būjhai giān
Brother ! each claims the Lord to be his own;
One realizing Him from the Master's teaching alone is truly enlightened :
Brother ! those penetrated by the Master's teaching are saved,
With the holy Word manifested to them.[2] (9)

Īndhanu adhik sakelīyai bhāī pāwaku ranchak pāe
Brother ! should you gather a vast heap of fuel,
And inside that place a particle of fire, it shall burn :
So, should the Name for an instant, a minute in the heart be lodged,
Burnt are sins.
Saith Nanak : Brother ! then spontaneously comes union with the Lord. (10) (4)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Triptychs*

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bhagatāṇ dī sadā Tūṇ rakhdā Hari jīo dhūri tūṇ rakhdā āiyā
Thy devotees, Lord ! hast Thou ever succoured—

1. Drowned.
2. (Also) marked with the holy Word.
* (These too are Ashtpadis continuing).

From Primal Time succouring them.
Thy servants like Prahlad hast Thou upheld,
And Harnakash[1] hast destroyed.
Thy devotees, Lord ! are with faith imbued;
The egoist in delusion lost. (1)
Lord ! in Thy grace[2] dost Thou succour them.
Lord ! Thy devotees uphold !
Under Thy shelter they rest. (Pause)
Thy devotees from Yama's gaze are immune;
Death approaches them not;
The Name Divine alone in their minds is lodged—
By devotion to the holy Name find they liberation.
All miracles and marvels[3] at Thy devotees' feet bow—
Subdued through illumination, by the Preceptor granted. (2)
Egoists find not faith, with minds yearning after avarice;
From the Preceptor's guidance have they not learnt
the holy Word,
Nor are to the Lord's Name devoted.
Falsehood an hypocrisy exposed shall stand—
Worthless[4] is the egoists's utterance. (3)
In Thy devotees, Lord ! art Thou manifest— P. 638
Through devotion art Thou realized.
Maya-delusion is Thy own creation;
All creation made solely by Thee :
As is egoism discarded, and desires annulled,
By the Master's Word art Thou realized. (4)
Those devoted to Thy Name,
Their desires spontaneously dost Thou fulfil.
As by the Master's grace is the Lord ever in mind lodged,
All their purposes He fulfils.
Ignominy is the share of one emulating those taken by the Lord under His Wing. (5)
None realizes Him without devotion to the holy Master—
The egoists' howl only in self-destruction ends;
Whirled along in transmigration, finding not poise,
In suffering they live and into suffering everlastingly fall.

1. The demon-king Hrinyakashapu.
2. Lit. Greatness.
3. Riddhi and Siddhi.
4. Tasteless.

Only by seeking guidance of the Master does one quaff amrita,
And spontaneously is in truth absorbed. (6)
Without the holy Master's service comes not escape from transmigration—
Rituals however numerous, avail not.
Study of scriptures and disputation—
All, without the Lord's grace towards ignominy lead.
Holy is the Master; holy his Word :
Release by contemplation of the Word and seeking the Master's shelter comes. (7)
Those bearing the Lord in their selves,
At the holy Portal, in His Presence are judged holy.
In all ages resounds their fame, that is ineffaceable.
Nanak is ever to them a sacrifice, who in their heart
the Lord bear. (8) (1)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Couplets

Nirguṇiyāṇ noṇ āpei bakhshi laei bhāī Satīguru kī sevā lāei
Brother ! himself the Lord saves those without merit,
Inspiring them to the holy Master's devotion.
Brother ! ennobling is the holy Master's service,
In which the heart to the Lord's Name is devoted. (1)
Himself the Lord saves and grants union.
Devoid of merit, sinful are we, brother !
The holy Master to us union has granted. (Pause)
Countless[1] are the sinners saved, my cherished one,
By contemplating the holy Word.
The holy Master, seating them in his boat,
Has rowed them across the ocean of the world. (2)
The Master with his touch like the philosopher's stone,
Our iron dross into gold has turned, and to himself united us;
By his guidance have we discarded egoism,
And in the mind lodged the Name, brother !
Our light merged into His light. (3)
May I be a sacrifice time and again,
Everlastingly, to the holy Master.
Who the treasure of the holy Name on us has bestowed,
And by his guidance, in spiritual poise absorbed us. (4)

1. Which and which ?

Brother ! ask the enlightened ones—
Without the Master's guidance comes not spiritual poise :
Serve ever the holy Preceptor,
Eliminating the ego. (5)
By the Enlightenment by the Master given arises fear of God—
Whatever in the Lord's fear is done, is true and holy.
From prop of the holy Name, Brother !
Is found boon of devotion. (6)
Brother, I bow at the feet of those that serve the holy Preceptor—
Saved themselves, their family[1] are saved too. (7)
In the holy Word lies the essence of revealed truth[2]—
This by the Master's grace is realized.
Saith Nanak : One in whose self is lodged the holy Name, P. 639
Never any impediment faces. (8) (2)

Hari jīo shabdei jāpada bhāī pūraị bhāgi milāye

Brother ! by absorbing the holy Word is the Lord realized—
This by supreme good fortune is found.
Those to the Lord united are ever in conjugal bliss,
Ever in joy dyed. (1)
Lord ! such dye from Thee alone comes.
You who are dyed in God's joy, brother !
Laud Him, in joy immersed. (Pause)
Brother ! the Master's service by discarding egoism is performed,
And into devotion entering :
Thus is obtained everlasting poise.
Suffering for ever is banished,
And the Lord in the self is lodged. (2)
The woman[3] neglectful of the Lord's[4] will
Is to bad ways given :
Self-willed, bereft of the Name, is she false of mind. (3)
Those laud Him who on their forehead bear the mark of good fortune :
In devotion to the Lord lies true renunciation.
Dyed ever in devotion, His praise they sing—

1. Implies progenitors and descendants.
2. Original, Bani.
3. Symbol for the human self.
4. Pir in the original is from priya (beloved).

To the Master, from fear[1] emancipated, are they in devotion attached. (4)
Brother ! serve day and night the Lord who confers life after death;
Brother ! why be forgetful of Him who is Lord of supreme bounty ? (5)
Brother ! the egoist is as a woman foul of mind, given to duality.
No place finds she at the Portal Divine :
One by the Master guided lauds the Lord,
And to the Beloved united, in holy truth is absorbed. (6)
Those not contemplating the Lord in this life, brother !
With what face may they appear before Him ?
By the world's pleasures lured,
Despite loud warnings are they of grace deprived.[2] (7)
Brother ! those contemplating the Name, in everlasting peace of mind abide.
Saith Nanak : Brother ! contemplate the Name
Limitless, inaccessible repository of all merit. (8) (3)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sabhu jagu jinheh ūpāiyā bhāī karan kāran samrath

Brother ! almighty is the Lord who the entire universe has created.
Brother ! the living self and body has He fashioned, bestowiug ou these His own might.[3]
Brother ! how may He be expressed, how envisioned, inexpressible that he is ?
Brother ! behoves it we laud the Divine Master,
Who the Essence reveals. (1)
My self ! the Lord, Master of all merits contemplate,
Who bestowing boon of the Name on His servants,
Of suffering and pain is destroyer. (Pause)

1. (Fear of Yama's retribution is implied).
2. Lit. Robbed.
3. Substance.

In His house, brother, are all blessings found;
Of the Nine Treasures[1] are His stores full.
Beyond reckoning, brother ! is His worth—
Lofty, inaccessible, beyond limit.
All beings He cherishes, ever looking after all.
Brother ! with the Master, perfectly-endowed, seek union
Who by the holy Word unites the seeker to God. (2)
Brother ! at God's holy feet offer worship,
Whereby may doubt and fear be destroyed.
Brother ! in holy company purify the mind,
And in the Name Divine find lodgement.
Brother ! thus shall darkness of ignorance be effaced.
And the lotus of the heart be illumined.
Brother ! by the Master's teaching arises joy— P. 640
With the holy Preceptor lie all blessings. (3)
Brother ! discard thoughts of mine and thine—
Turn dust of feet of all.
In each being, brother ! is the Supreme Being pervasive.
All He watches and hears in His presence.
Brother ! on the day on which is the Supreme Being put out of mind,
Does one die pining.
Brother ! Almighty is He, Lord of all faculties. (4)
The holy Name, brother ! is the blessing of loving devotion—
Thereby is Maya-attachment destroyed.
Should it please Him, brother, to Himself He unites the seeker,
By lodging in his heart the Name.
By the Master's guidance, brother, is the heart's lotus illumined;
Illumination enters also the heart.
Brother ! then is manifested Divine glory,
And earth and sky beheld in bloom. (5)
The Master, perfectly-endowed, brother ! to me content
has granted;
Thereby is the self in devotion engaged day and night.
The tongue, brother, ever the Name Divine utters—
This is true joy and true objective.

1. See Glossary.

Brother ! listening to God's Name by the ears have
I found life,
And the immutable station attained.
Brother ! may the self that acquires not faith, burn. (6)
Innumerable are the Lord's merits, brother ! to Him may
I be a sacrifice !
Those without merit, brother, He cherishes
And to the destitute grants shelter.
Brother ! the Lord of the name richly-dyed with each breath sustenance provides.
Brother ! whoever to the Master, perfectly-endowed is united,
Perfect is his good fortune. (7)
Brother ! without the Lord, Master of all faculties,
For a moment find I not life.
Not with a breath or a morsel is He forgotten—
Ever behold Him I by my side.
As in holy company, brother ! he is met,
In all creation is He beheld pervasive.
Brother ! those that devotion to the Lord have not formed,
In sorrow ever suffer. (8)
Attaching me to His sash[1] has He, brother ! made me swim
Across the world's ocean of suffering.
Brother ! in His grace has He cast on me His glance of kindness,
And limitlessly succoured me.
Brother ! by sustenance of the Name that became its prop,
Was self and mind turned joyous.
Brother ! Nanak seeks shelter with Him,
Who is annuller of all sins. (9) (1)

Māt garbh dūkh sāgaro piyārei teh apnā Nām japāiyā

Cherished one ! in the mother's womb, ocean of suffering
Didst Thou inspire contemplation of Thy Name.
As the creature was taken out, was seen poison spread everywhere;
On the increase was Maya-poison.
Cherished one ! on whomsoever has fallen your grace,

1. This implies owning someone, making his own, as the husband makes the wife.

With the Master, perfectly-endowed, have you granted him union.
Such a one then with each breath, to the Lord is devoted,
And in the Name Divine is his devotion centred. (1)
Divine Beloved ! the living self and body by Thee are propped-propped by Thee alone.
Other than Thee, Divine Beloved ! is no creator—
Thou sole controller of the inner self. (Pause)
Through millions of births, cherished one, have I wandered;
In endless incarnations suffered.
Cherished one ! as is the holy Lord put out of mind,
Severe is the chastizement inflicted.
Those with whom, cherished one, the holy Preceptor
by the Lord is united,
To the holy Name are attached.
Cherished one ! for the sake of such find liberation. P. 641
Such as God's holy shelter have sought. (2)
Those that in pleasures of eating have indulged,
cherished one !
By maladies are their bodies gripped :
Such delicacies have turned out bitter, cherished one !
And to regrets have given rise.
Cherished one ! by entertaining with delicate fare are they cast out of mind by the Lord—
Such alienation goes not.
Cherished one ! those that by union with the Master are saved,
Are the ones that from the primal hour are destined for union. (3)
Cherished one ! in the mind stuffed with avarice for lucre
Does the Lord no way enter.
Supreme Being, Lord ! of those forgetful of Thee
the bodies turn to dust.
Cherished one ! much they wail and cry—their torment goes not.
Cherished one ! of those exalted by union with the Master,
The root remains alive. (4)
Cherished one ! the misbelievers'[1] company shun,
As far as in thy power lies.
Cherished one ! any by whose association is the Lord forgotten,

1. Sakta.

Departs the world with face blackened.
The egoist, cherished one ! no shelter finds,
And at the Divine Portal is chastized.
Cherished one ! those that by union with the Master are exalted,
Fulfilled is their endeavour. (5)
Cherished one ! ritual discipline and a thousand clever devices—
Shall not accompany man in death.
Cherished one ! those that to the Lord are indifferent,
Censured is the family of such.
Cherished one ! what was with them,[1] they realized not;
False beliefs[2] by them have not stood.
Cherished one ! those to the holy Preceptor united,
The holy Name contemplate. (6)
Cherished one ! whoever has His glance of grace,
With purity, content, enlightenment and meditation is blessed;
Cherished one ! each day such a one Divine merits lauds,
And with amrita is filled to brim.
Divine beloved ! unite to Thyself whomsoever it please Thee—
Such alone are pure. (7)
Cherished one ! the Supreme Being almighty,
Divine compassionate Lord,
Is prop of His devotees.
Cherished one ! His shelter have we sought,
Who is aware of the inmost heart.
Cherished one ! our life here and in the hereafter has He ennobled,
And on our forehead the mark of holiness fixed.
Cherished one ! may the Lord never be put out of my mind—
To Him is Nanak ever a sacrifice ! (8) (2)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Pāṭhu parhiyo aru Beidu bīchāriyo nivali bhüyangam sādhei Despite recitation of holy texts, study of Vedas and praxis of bowels[3] and the Kundalini.[4]

1. Implies the Divine Presence
2. Lit. Falsehood.
3. A yogic exercise involving rotation of the bowels.
4. This involves arousing the mysterious 'serpent-power'.

From the five agents[1] has not come parting of company,
And more and more in egoistic thinking is one bound. (1)
Cherished one[2] ! by such devices comes not union—
Innumerable are the means I have adopted.
Tired of all such, at the Lord's Portal I threw myself,
Praying, 'Grant me discriminative understanding'. (Pause)
Vows of silence I observed; on my bare hands received food,
And unclad in forests wandered;
Wandered over water-edges and holy spots
over the earth— P. 642
Still has duality not dropped off. (2)
At holy water-edges I resides where are desires fulfilled.
Had the saw[3] placed over my head;
Yet thus is not impurity of mind washed off,
despite a million devices. (3)
Gold, maids,[4] horses, elephants—thus charities of various kinds I dispensed;
Gave away grain, clothing, land—
Still found I not the Lord's Portal. (4)
To offerings before deities, sprinkling sandalwood paste, folding of hands,
Lying prostrate, and to the six ritual acts[5] have
I remained devoted.
Still, by egoism in bonds am fallen—
Not by these devices is the Lord met. (5)
Eighty-four poses of Yoga-praxis too to exhaustion I performed;
Lived to a great age;[6] yet found not union with the Lord,
And into transmigration fell. (6)
Royal display of glory, the pomp of kingship I had,
And exercised absolute authority;
Lay in elegant couch, applied to my limbs
Sandalwood and attar—all these are gateway to terrible hell. (7)
Divine laudation in holy company is the supreme act of piety.

---

1. Five agents of evil are meant.
2. Man is thus apostrophized.
3. The holy Saw, in Varanasi, by which to be cleft in twain was considered meritorious.
4. Woman; may imply wives given away in charity to Brahmins, as of yore.
5. These by one count are : Study of scriptures, teaching these, performing yajnas, endowing yajnas, dispensing and receiving charity.
6. That is, by Yoga-praxis.

Saith Nanak : This to such comes as by primal writ are this destined to receive. (8)
In such joy of devotion is Thy servant of absorbed.
By grace of the shatterer of suffering of the humble,
To Divine laudation is my mind devoted. (Second I-Pause) (9) (3)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Vār*

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Sorath sadā sohāvaṉī jei sacchā mani hoe

Sorath[1] ever shall have lovely aspect, should the holy Eternal in the singers' mind be borne;
Should the teeth with biting food immorally obtained
be not soiled;
And in the mind and on the tongue be borne name of the Eternal.
In the hereafter and here[2]
Should she abide in fear of God,
And by service of the holy Preceptor be freed of doubt.
Should union with the Lord come about after discarding the worldly vesture,[3]
Even thus must she have joy with Him.
Ever with the Name should she be decked,
With her mind totally free from impurity.
Her tormenting male relations[4] in pain have died—
Why of the mother-in-law[5] should she have fear ?
Saith Nanak : Should the woman of the Beloved be favoured,
The jewel of good fortune on her forehead will she bear,
And all existence to her bear the aspect of truth. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Sorath is pleasing should after the Name Divine she quest;
The Master, exalted being should she propitiate,
And by wisdom granted by the Master, the Name Divine utter;

---

* All Pauris in this Var are of the composition of Sri Guru Ram Das.

1. This is a ragini or sub-measure in music, which is here exhorted to be devoted to God in her accounts. The figure here is of the female, which is also the figure to represent the seeker.
2. In the husband's and the parents' home.
3. (This may imply renunciation or discarding of the physical frame).
4. The husband's elder and younger brothers (symbolizes the five sources of evil).
5. Maya.

Day and night should she with Divine love be tense,
And dyed in God, her vest in the dye of God should she dip.
No being like the Lord can be found—this after searching over the whole world have I found.[1]
As by the holy Preceptor is the Name confirmed,
The mind no way shakes.
Nanak, servant of God, is the Lord's slave;
Of the holy Preceptor are we humble servants.[2] (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Tūṇ āpei sishṭi kartā sirjaṇhāriyā

Lord Creator ! Thou the maker of creation;
Thyself hast Thou fashioned this play and embellished it.
Lord Creator ! Thy Ordinance[3] everywhere is operative.
By the Master's guidance the Lord I ever laud—
To the Master am I a sacrifice. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das) P. 643

Haumai jaltei jali mūe bhrami āye dūjai bhāe

Caught in egoism have we burnt;
In duality involved, have we been wandering.[4]
The holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed, entering us into his reckoning
Has saved us.
This world have we beheld burning, by the vision by the Master's teaching[5] spontaneously granted.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name have felt cooled,
By living the truth. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Service to the Master, conferrer of boons have we performed—
Thus is our birth made blessed and approved.
Truly wise are those who in life and death
Of the holy Preceptor are not forgetful.
The God-directed in death and life are approved;
The egoists in transmigration remain caught.
Saith Nanak : Call not such dead,
As in the Master's Word are immersed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

1. Sought after.
2. Slaves' slaves.
3. Lit. Word (implies Hukam).
4. Implies restlessness in doubt.
5. Word.

Hari pūrakhu niranjanu seivi Hari-Nāmu dhiyāiyai

Serving the Lord, Supreme Being immaculate,
On the Name Divine meditate.
Entering holy company of devotees, in the Name Divine be absorbed.
Lord ! in Thy exalted service engage me, thoughtless being Thy servant, slave am I—pray utter Thy command.
By the Master's guidance I act as by him instructed. (2)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Pūrab likhiyā kamāvaṇā jei Kartai āpi likhiyāsu

As primally recorded do we act; this writ by the Creator
Himself is written down.
By the drug of illusion[1] administered to us, is the Divine
Repository of merit forgotten.
Take not the world to be living—caught in feelings of duality is it dead.
Those that by the Master's guidance the Name
have not contemplated,
Near the Lord can find no sitting-place :
In great affliction shall they be—neither progeny nor wife,
Nor any other shall accompany them.
Among mankind their face blackened,
In solitude[2] gasping in regret.
None the egoists trusts—gone is all faith in them.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed shall have ample joy,
As in their hearts is the Name lodged. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Such alone are true relations, friends
As by the Master's inspiration meet affectionately.
Ever the holy Preceptor's wish they carry out,
And in truth are absorbed.
Call not those involved in duality friends,
Who in worthless pride are caught.
The egoist is selfish—for none is he any good.
Saith Nanak : On what is pre-recorded we act—
That none can efface. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

1. Moha (applied meaning, attachment).
2. Within (i.e., in private).

Tūdhu āpei jagatu upāe kai āpi kheilu rachāiyā

Creating the world, this play hast Thou enacted.
Bringing forth the Three Qualities, to Maya-attachment hast Thou given increase.
Whilst in egoism is man caught, reckoning of deeds of him must be asked,
And in transmigration would he remain caught.
Those having Divine grace the Master's instruction receive.
To the Master am I a sacrifice; again a sacrifice.[1] (3)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Māyā mamtā mohaṇī jini vinu dantāṇ jagu khāiyā

Maya and avarice are delusion-mongers, that without teeth
the world have swallowed.
Swallowed are egoists; saved are the God-directed,
Who to the holy Name their heart have attached.
Forgetful of the Name, is the world in madness wandering—
By the Master's guidance is gained the vision. P. 644
Involved in worldly pursuits is the human birth wasted fruitlessly,
As man the Divine Giver of joy in mind has not lodged.
Saith Nanak : Such devotion to the Name have acquired,
For whom the primal writ this blessing has recorded. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Inside the home[2] lies a storeful of amrita,
Of which egoists the joy have not tasted :
As the musk-deer knows not of the musk,
In misconception wandering,
Discarding amrita, poison he gathers—
Himself has the Creator deluded him.
A rare God-directed one realization has acquired :
To such within themselves is the Supreme Being revealed.
Their body and mind joyful,[3] their tongue of God has tasted.
By the holy Word arises devotion to the Name;
By the Word is union with God brought about.
Without the holy Word is the whole world mad,
Fruitlessly wasting its life.
The holy Word solely is amrita, which saith Nanak,

---

1. (The equivalents of 'sacrifice'—balihār and ghumāiya—are used).
2. The self is implied.
3. Cool.

By the Master's guidance is obtained. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

So Hari pūrakhu agammu hai kahu kitu bidhi pāīyai

Inaccessible is the Divine Being—
Say by what device may He be attained ?
Without form and feature—say, devotees of God,
How may He be meditated on ?
He is formless, immaculate, inaccessible Divine Being—
In what words may His laudation be sung ?
To whomsoever He Himself grants realization,
On the way of God is guided.
By the Master perfectly-endowed, is He revealed;
By service to the Master attained. (4)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Jiūṇ tanu kolhū pīṛīyai rattu na bhorī dehi

For love of the holy Eternal, were this body in oil-press to be crushed,
Without a drop of blood oozing;
Were it to be cut and quartered—
Saith Nanak, still night and day may my union with Him be not snapped. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The Beloved is gay, playful; by His colourful glow[1]
of charm my heart He wins,
As clothes dyed fast in madder with chemical base.
Saith Nanak : His colour from my self fades not, nor does another catch. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Hari āpi vartai āpi Hari āpi bulāendā

Himself the Lord operates in all; Himself in them inspires utterance of devotion.
Embellishing creation Himself, each to a task He sets.
Some to devotion inspiring, some He puts out of mind.
Some He sets along the right path, some He sends astray.
Nanak, servant of God, on the Name meditating,
By the Master's guidance Divine laudation sings. (5)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

1. Rang (dye, symbolizing attractiveness of person and clothing) is repeated in this line. Rangula (colourful), has by association the sense of voluptuary.

Satiguru kī sevā saphal hai jei ko karei chittu lāe
Service to the holy Preceptor is fruitful,
Should one with devotion of heart perform it.
By it is obtained heart's desire and egoism from mind cast out;
It snaps bonds of maya, confers liberation,
And the self in truth is absorbed.
In this world is the Name hard to attain—
By the Master's guidance in the self it lodges.
Saith Nanak : A sacrifice am I to one that to the holy Preceptor is devoted. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Stubborn is the egoist's mind, and to duality gets attached.
To such a one comes not joy even in dream;
In continuous suffering is his life passed.
In numerous places[1] have scholars studied scriptures
to exhaustion,
And siddhas into absorption engaged :
Yet the mind unsubdued remains, though ritual actions to exhaustion be performed.
Those of various sects, bathing at sixty-eight holy spots,
To exhaustion have performed ritual—
The mind's reality they know not, in delusion of duality lost.
As by the Master's grace the mind by fear of God is inspired, P. 645
By great good fortune in the self He comes to abide.
By such fear is the mind subdued; egoism by the holy Word is consumed.
Those dyed in truth are truly pure; their light in the Light merged.
By union with the holy Preceptor is obtained devotion to
the name,
And the self, saith Nanak, in joy is absorbed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Ih bhūpati rāṉei rang din chāri sūhāwaṉā
The glory of these kings and rulers shines for four days only
This frail[2] Maya-dye in an instant is washed off.
At departure it goes not with us; on our head we only carry sins.
As marched along by death, the creature a hideous aspect bears.

---

1. In numerous homes.
2. Of kasumbha (a flower with frail red dye).

Never again returns the human birth;[1]
After, are only regrets left. (6)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Satiguru tei jo mūh phirei so baddhei dūkh sahāhi

Those turning their faces away from the holy Preceptor,
Are cast in bonds and suffer.
Wandering in transmigration, with the Master not granted union.
Malady of doubt leaves them not; in suffering ever tormented.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord ! by Thy glance of grace grant us liberation.
By the holy Word grant union. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Those turning their faces away from the holy Preceptor
No place of shelter find.
Like a woman cast off, wandering from house to house,
A harlot of evil repute.
Saith Nanak : Those having the Master's guidance are liberated;
To the Lord the holy Preceptor unites them. (2)

Pauri* (Stanza)

Jo seveṇh sati mūrāri sei bhavjal tari gayā

Those serving the holy Lord the ocean of existence cross.
Whoever the Name Divine utters, is by Yama spared.
Those contemplating the Lord
To the Divine Portal attain.
Lord ! such alone serve the Lord as have Thy grace.
Divine Beloved ! Thy laudation I ever chant—
By the Master's guidance are my illusion and fear shed. (7)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Thālai vichi tai vastū paiyo Hari bhojanu amrit sāru

In the salver[2] are lying three substances—pure Divine amrita are these.
By consuming of these is the mind's hunger satisfied,
And the Door of liberation attained.
Devotees of God ! hard to attain are these viands—
By the Master's instruction attained.
Why cast this riddle[1] out of mind—

1. This occasion.
2. The image of the salver for Gurubani occurs also in Mundavani (Riddle) at the close of the holy Granth (Page 1429).

Ever in mind bear it.
The holy Preceptor this riddle[1] has set—
The Master's disciples to it find the solution.
Saith Nanak : By Divine prompting is it solved—
Through endeavour under the Master's guidance is the Lord attained. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Those primally united
By devotion to the holy Preceptor, with the Lord find union.
Those by the Lord Himself sequestered, away from Him are cast off,
By feelings of duality sent astray.
Saith Nanak : What without good fortune[2] may be attained ?
As primally recorded, does the individual act. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Bahi sakhīyāṇ jasu gāwehṇ gāwaṉhārīyāṇ

In unison the choir of sisterhood[3] sing Divine laudation.
Ever the Name Divine they laud—
To the Lord are they a sacrifice.
To those that listening to the Name Divine,
Faith in it have reposed, am I a sacrifice.
Lord ! to the devoted sisterhood[3] unite us,
Who with the Lord show way of union.
Day and night am I a sacrifice to the sisterhood[4] that obtain sight of the Divine Master. (8)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das) P. 646

Viṉu nāvaiṇ sabhi bharamdei nit jagi toṭā sainsāri

Those forgetful of the Name are all astray—
In the world are they losers.
Actions done in egoism involve one in dark dust-clouds of egoism.
By the Master's guidance, saith Nanak, by contemplation
of the holy Word,
Is amrita quaffed. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

---

1. Mundavani (a sealed secret, a riddle).
2. Karma here implies good future made by the individual's own good deeds.
3. Symbol for seekers.
4. Here the feminine gender is implied by the verbal noun (dekhan-hāriyan).

In poise keeping awake, in poise sleeping,
From the God-directed ever proceeds Divine laudation.
The ego-directed into doubt and illusion fall;
Within them anxiety; sleep comes to them not.
The enlightened in peace and poise are awake and in peace and poise sleep.
Saith Nanak : To those dyed in the Name am I a sacrifice. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sei Hari Nāmu dhiyāwehṇ jo Hari rattiyā

Such alone on the Name Divine meditate as in God are dyed.
On the Sole Lord, Eternal, they meditate.
The Sole Lord in the universe is pervasive, the sole Creator.
Those on the Name Divine meditating, fear[1] have cast off.
The Lord Himself grants enlightenment to such;
By the Master's guidance the Lord they contemplate. (9)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Antari giānu na āiyo jitu kichhu sojhī pāe

Within us has not arisen enlightenment whereby may some realization be attained.
Without His vision how may He be lauded ?
Such being blind, only in blind actions engage.
Saith Nanak : By realization of the Word may the Name in the mind find lodgement. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

There is one sole holy text, one Preceptor, one Word to contemplate.
At the shop of truth is made the holy bargain,
Where of jewels of truth are the stores full.
These by Divine grace are obtained, should the Bestower grant them.
In the holy bargain ever is gain made—the gain of the Name illimitable.
In the poison of the world has amrita been manifested,
That by Divine grace to man is offered.
Saith Nanak : Ever laud the holy Eternal—
Praised be the Lord who has power to exalt. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

1. Yama's fear is implied.

Jinnhāṇ andari kūṛ vartai sacchu na bhāvaī

Those in whom is rampant falsehood,
Love not truth.
Should one speak truth are liars made miserable.[1]
The false by falsehood are satisfied, as the crow by eating offal.
Whoever has Divine grace, on the holy Name meditates.
By the Master's guidance to the Name Divine be devoted,
Whereby may falsehood and sin be cast off. (10)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sheikhā chauchakkiyā chauwāiyā ih manu ikkatu ghari āṇi

Thou Sheikh[2] ! bring to concentration on the One point Thy mind wandering on all four sides and blowing all over like the wind;
Discard loose talking; the Master's Word realize.
Before the holy Preceptor prostrate thyself,
who is all-knowing.
Burn away desire and acquisitiveness;
Look upon thyself as a guest in this world.
By following consistently the Master's will,
At the holy Portal shalt thou obtain honour.
Saith Nanak : Cursed is the assumption of clothing, cursed the consumption of food of such,
As contemplate not the Name. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Never-ending are Divine attributes; beyond expression their value.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed to the Divine merits are devoted;
In His merits remain absorbed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari cholī deh sawārī kaḍhi paidhī bhagti kari

The Lord the bodice of my constitution has made beautiful,
That embroidered through devotion have I worn.
Much silk of variegated kinds in it is stitched.
This a rare thoughtful one by deep understanding alone may realize.
He alone may realize this who to it by the Lord is prompted.

1. Burn with envy etc.
2. A Muslim divine.

Saith Nanak, servant of God, after contemplation by the Master's guidance : P. 647
Eternal, holy is the Lord. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Parthāe sākhī mahā-pūrakh boldei sānjhī sagal jahānai
The teaching of great men to particular persons and occasions is addressed,
That to all mankind is applicable.
Whoever is God-directed, to it gets attached and his self realizes.
As man by the Master's grace to the life of the flesh dies,[1]
Is his self fixed in faith.
Those whose mind of faith is denuded,
What enlightened teaching can they impart ? (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Those that by the Master's guidance their minds to God
have not attached,
At the end into suffering fall.[2]
Blind within and without, no awareness have they of anything.
Thou Brahmin[3] ! the world by the blessing of such is provided,
As in the Name Divine are absorbed.
Those that by guidance of the Master's teaching the Lord
have lauded,
In God remain absorbed.
Thou Brahmin[3] ! those in duality involved no blessing have,
Nor comes to them wealth.[4]
Despite their exhausting study, their mind still is not content—
Their days in burning agony passed.
Their wailing nnceasing, doubt from their minds not lifted.
Saith Nanak : Those without the Name with faces blackened depart this world. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Hari sajjaṉ meili Piyārei mili panth disāī
Beloved Lord ! with the holy grant me union.
Who to me the path of the Lord may point.
To the holy friend, that way to the Lord points, am I a sacrifice.
From such may I acquire merit,[1]

1. Dies while living.
2. Suffering approaches them.
3. Pandit.
4. Used symbolically for enlightenment and devotion.

And on the Name Divine meditate.
Ever the beloved Lord may I serve,
Joy thereby obtaining.
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice,
who such enlightenment has granted. (12)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Pandit mailu na chükkaī jei Ved paṛhai jüg chāri

The Brahmin scholar's[2] impurity goes not, despite study of Vedas over four Yugas.[3]
The three qualities[4] are Maya's root cause in these.
Such a one in egoism is iuvolved and of the Name is forgetful.
Scholars[2] deluded, to duality are attached,
Into Maya's commerce involved.
Within them is desire and avarice :
Thoughtless ones, in agony of avarice[5] caught and ruined.[6]
By service of the holy Preceptor, in contemplation
of the holy Word,
Comes joy.
By devotion to the holy Name is banished desire and avarice.[5]
Saith Nanak : Those attached to the Name,
And bearing the Lord in heart,
Spontaneously are fulfilled. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The egoist forgetful of the Name Divine,
In great suffering is involved.
Within him lies darkness of ignorance.
Deprived of realization.
In stubbornness of egoism has he not sown seed of spontaneous devotion.
Ever hungry—what sustenance in the hereafter shall he have ?
Neglectful of treasure of the Name,
To duality attached.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance comes exaltation,
As union by the Lord is granted. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

1. Share merit with them.
2. Pandit.
3. The four Ages (See Glossary).
4. (Also see Glossary).
5. Thirst and hunger.
6. Die.

Hari rasnā Hari jasu gāwai kharī sūhāwaṇī

The tongue that the Lord's laudation utters, is truly noble.
The tongue that from the heart, the body's faculties and the mouth,
Utters the Lord's Name, is to Him pleasing.
Whatever taste by the Master's guidance it enjoys,
To it brings fulfilment.
Of the Divine Beloved ever it chants merits,
And these to others expounds.
Whoever has Divine grace, praise of the Divine holy Master utters. (13)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Hastī siri jiūṇ ankūsu hai ahrani jiūṇ siri dei

As the elephant under the goad, as iron under the anvil—
So, the seeker[1] laying mind and body before the Master, P. 48
In service should keep standing.
Thus by the Master's guidance may egoism be annulled,
And one may win royal authority over the world.[2]
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance comes realization
As the Lord Himself shows grace. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Those that by the Master's guidance on the Name
have meditated,
Approved is their coming into the world.
Saith Nanak : Such to their family[3] bring liberation
And at the Divine Portal are honoured. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Gurmukhi sakhīyāṇ sikh Gurū melāīyāṇ

The seeker-females[4] by the Master with the Lord
are granted union :
Some serving the Master, some various tasks assigned.
Those bearing in mind and consciousness the cherished Master,
Are granted blessing of devotion.
To the Master's disciples the Master alone is cherished,
Dear as friends, progeny, brothers.

1. Image for the seeker (here implicit in the feminine form of the verb).
2. Cf. Japuji, 25.
3. Here as elsewhere implies forebears on father's and mother's side.
4. (The usual image for seekers).

On the holy Preceptor all call hail—Through utterance of the Name Divine does the Master grant life. (14)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Nanak Nāmu na chetanī agiānī andhūlei awarei karam kamāhi

Saith Nanak : The unenlightened, spiritually blind contemplate not the Name,
And deeds other than devotion perform.
Such at Yama's door in bonds are chastized
And after, in filth rot. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Saith Nanak : Those serving the holy Preceptor are holy, approved of God :
Absorbed in the Name Divine, annulled is their transmigration. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Dhanu sampai Māyā sanchīyeh antei dūkhdāī

Hoarding of substance and pelf in the end torment brings.
Embellish houses, mansions, palaces—
Nothing with you shall go.
Breed ever steeds of various hues and pedigrees—
Of no benefit are these.
Men of God ! to the Name Divine attach your mind,
That in the end it may be friend you.
Nanak, servant of God, by the Master's guidance
on the Name has meditated,
And joy obtained. (15)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Binu karamai Nāuṇ na pāīyai pūrai karami pāiyā jāe

Without grace[1] is the Name not attained—
By supreme good luck[2] is it attained.
Saith Nanak : Should the Lord show grace,
By the Master's teaching union with Himself
He brings about. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Some are burnt after death;
Some buried, some by dogs devoured.

---

1. Karam (Ar.) = Grace.
2. Karma (Skt. Action). God fortune made by good deeds is implied.

Some into water are cast—
Others only thoughtlessly laugh.[1]
Saith Nanak : It is not evident where the selves after death are absorbed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Tinh kā khādhā paidhā māyā sabhu pavitu hai jo Nāmi Hari rātei

The food and sustenance and wearing of raiment and wealth,
Of such is pure as to the Name Divine are devoted.
Approved are the homes, mansions, palaces and abodes of such
As to God's devotees, servants of God, disciples and recluses Provide comfort.
Approved are the steeds, saddles, haversacks
As provide mounts to the God's devotees, disciples and holy company.
Holy are the ritual performances of such
As ever utter the Name Divine.
Such of God's devotees and disciples as carry with them holiness,
To the Master are united. (16)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Nanak Nāwuhṇ ghūthiyāṇ halatu palatu sabhu jāe

Saith Nanak : In sequestration from the Name is man's merit in this world and the next lost;
Of the self-female robbed in duality,
The merit of uttering of holy texts, austerities, self-restraint, all is undone.[2]
Such at Yama's door in bonds are chastized—
Grievous is the penalty of such. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Those that towards the holy practise rancour and to evil-doers are attached, P. 649
In this life and the next no joy shall find,
And in transmigration remain caught.
Never is their desire assuaged, in duality falling in ignominy.
At the holy Divine court are the faces of such traducers blackened.
Saith Nanak : Those bereft of the Name in midstream

1. (Hassan in this line has been suggested as standing for the fire-worshipers' tower of silence, but no authentic source is found for this).
2. Snatched, taken off.

remain caught.[1]

Pauri (Stanza)

Jo Hari-Nāmu dhiyāendei sei Hari Hari Nāmi rattei mana māhīṇ

Those meditating on the Name Divine,
In their hearts with the Name Divine remain intoxicated.
Those that with heart and consciousness to the Sole Lord are devoted,
For them other than the Sole Lord is none other.
Such alone serve the Lord as from primal time
Have this on their forehead inscribed.
Ever the Lord they laud—in chanting the Lord's praise their selves they instruct.
Great is the merit of God's devotees,
That by guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
In the Name Divine get absorbed. (17)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Satiguru kī sevā gākhaṛī siru dījai āpu gawāe

Tremendously hard is service of the holy Preceptor,
Performed by sacrifice of head and the ego.
Those dying into the holy Word die not again;
Then is their service fruitful.
One touching the philosopher's stone[2] becomes such,
And in devotion to truth ever abides.
One since primal time bearing such record,
With the holy Preceptor finds union.
Saith Nanak : Not by calculations of merit is the devotee united to the Lord :
Those having grace are alone made fruitful. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The thoughtless person caught in self-interest
Distinguishes not right from wrong.[3]
Those contemplating the Word the Divine Mansion attain—
Their light in the Divine Light merged.
With fear of the Lord ever in the mind abiding,
Comes full realization.

1. Touch neither this bank not the other.
2. Symbol for the holy teacher.
3. In idiom, right place from wrong.

The holy Divine Master pervasive in their self,
Himself to them grants union.
Saith Nanak : By union with the holy Divine Master is attained complete success—
This by His grace and will comes. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Dhannu dhanu bhāg tinhāṇ bhagat janāṇ jo Hari-Nāmā Hari mūkhi kahtiyā

Blessed is the good fortune of those devotees
Who by their tongue[1] the Name Divine utter.
Blessed is the good fortune of those devotees
Who by their ears to Divine laudation listen.
Blessed is the good fortune of the holy
Who by chanting Divine laudation acquire merit.
Blessed is the good fortune of those of the God-directed,
Who by acquiring the Master's teaching the mind subdue.[2]
Highest is the good fortune of those disciples,
Who at the Master's feet make obeisance.[3] (18)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Brahmubindai tis kā Branmatu rahai ekshabdi liv lāe

Whoever has realization of the Supreme Being,
And to the Sole Word remains attached,
Maintained is his Brahmin orthodoxy.
Whosoever in heart lodges the Lord,
Following after him are the Nine Treasures[4]
and the Eighteen Miraculous Powers.
Know by revolving in mind, that without the holy Preceptor's guidance
Is the Name not obtained.
Saith Nanak : By supreme good fortune is the holy Preceptor met;
One so fortunate in all time[5] has joy. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The egoist in youth or age, of desire and avarice[6]
is not free.
One God-directed dyed in the Word and casting off egoism.

1. Mouth.
2. Conquer.
3. Fall.
4. See Glossary.
5. Four Yugas.
6. Thirst and hunger.

Ever is joyful[1]
With the mind satisfied and content,
Hunger[2] nevermore he feels.
Saith Nanak : All that the God-directed do, P. 650
Who to the Name are attached,
Is divinely approved. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hauṇ balihārī tinh kauṇ jo Gurmūkhi sikkhā

A sacrifice am I to such as are God-directed disciples.
May I have sight of such as on the Name Divine meditate.
Listening to Divine laudation,
Merits of the Lord may I utter,
And praise of the Lord in my mind record.
The Name Divine may I laud in joy,
And all sins plough over.
Blessed and beautiful is the holy spot.
Where the holy Preceptor sets foot. (19)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Guru binu giānu na hovaī nā sūkhu wasai mani āe

Without the Master's guidance comes not realization,
Nor joy in heart lodged.
Saith Nanak : The egoists devoid of the Name,
Depart life after making waste of it. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Accomplished Yogis and Yoga-practitioners, all quest after the Name,
To exhaustion practising concentration.
None without the holy Preceptor's guidance has attained it—
By the Master's guidance is it attained.
Without devotion to the Name is all wear and sustenance worthless;
Of such is practice of supernatural and miraculous powers cursed.
True supernatural and miraculous powers are those
That spontaneously the Lord confers.
Saith Nanak : True supernatural and miraculous powers is,

---

1. Cool.
2. Said metaphorically—desire.

By the Master's guidance lodging in heart the Name Divine. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Ham ḍhāḍī Hari-Prabh khasam kei nit gāwehṇ Hari-gūṉa chhantā
The Divine Master's bard am I, ever singing lays of His praise.
His laudation we sing, and listen to praise of that Divine Spouse of Lakshmi.[1]
The Lord is Bestower, the whole world beggar;
Mendicants all creation.
Lord ! in your grace you grant sustenance even to creatures immured in rocks.
Saith Nanak : Whoever by the Master's guidance
On the Name has meditated,
Is truly wealthy. (20)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Paṛhnā gūṛhnā sansār kīkār hai andari trishnā vikāru
Should the mind be gripped with evil of avarice,[2]
Is all reading and study only a worldly pursuit.
All studying under egoism get only exhausted—
In duality into ignominy fallen.
He alone is learned and a scholar endowed with insight,
Who the Master's Word contemplates.
Such a one searching within, finds the essence and the door of liberation attains;
By poised contemplation the Lord, treasury of merit he attains.
Saith Nanak : Blessed is the merchant[3] whose prop by the Master's guidance is the Name. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
None without subduing the mind realization has attained :
Consider this with mind concentrated.
Votaries of sects at sacred bathing-spots to exhaustion have wandered—
Thus is not the mind subdued.
By the Master's guidance the mind dies while living,
And in truth is absorbed.
Saith Nanak : The mind's impurity is shed,
When egoism in the holy Word is consumed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

1. A periphrastic name of Vishnu, here signifying God.
2. Thirst.
3. Used metaphorically for seeker.

Hari Hari sant miluh merei bhāī Hari-Nāmu driṛhāwuh ikk kinakā

Brethren, devotees of God !
In unison just for an instant
Pray the Name Divine repeat.
Men of God ! make of God's Name your decking,
Apparel of forgiveness wearing :
Such decking to the Lord is pleasing—
The decking of loving devotion He loves.
Day and night the Name Divine utter—
Thereby in an instant are all sins annulled.
Whoever has Divine grace,
By the Master's guidance the Name Divine utters
And is victor. (21)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Janam janam kī isu mana kau malu lāgī kālā hoā siyāhu

By impurity of multiple births sticking, is the mind got covered with black soot. P. 651
The oil-presser's rag, even though washed a hundred times,
Is not made clean.
As one by the Master's grace dies[1] while living,
Is the understanding changed, from the world turned away :
Thereafter, saith Nanak, is it not soiled, nor into transmigration falls. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Out of the four Yugas[2] is Kali Yuga reckoned dark—
But in it is also a noble state attainable :
By the Master's guidance as is the Lord lauded, Comes the reward thereof to those for whom the Divine writ so has run.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's grace day after day God's devotees to love of Him give utterance,
And in Divine devotion get absorbed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari Hari meili sādh-jana sangati mūkhi bolī Hari Hari bhalī bāṉi

Lord ! to holy company unite me, that by my tongue
God's holy Word I utter.
May I ever laud the Lord, ever the Lord's Name utter,

1. Used metaphorically.
2. The four Ages (See Glossary).

And by wisdom granted by the Master
Ever in joy of God abide.
By taking medicine of utterance of God's Name
Are an nulled all maladies and swarms of suffering.
Regard such alone as true[1] men of God,
As are forgetful of Him not for a breath for the duration of a morsel.
Those that under the Master's guidance to the Lord are devoted,
Of fear of the world and Yama are freed. (22)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Rei jana ūthārai dabiyohu sūttiyāṇ gaī vihāe

Man ! by a nightmare art thou oppressed—in such slumber is thy life passed.
Listening to the Master's Word hast thou not been awakened;
Within thee has not arisen yearning for God.
May the unworthy body burn, that follows not the Master's way.
The world have I seen burning in egoism and duality.
Saith Nanak : Saved are those that the Master's shelter have taken,
And with pure heart on the holy Word meditated. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Of noble repute shall be the woman[2] that in the holy Word is dyed,
And her egoism has cast off.
Her true decking is obedience to her Lord's will.
In couch bedecked ever has she bliss with her Lord—
Such a woman[2] has the Lord for spouse.
Of eternally blessed matrimony is this woman.[2]
Her Spouse dying never, nor comes suffering to her.
Saith Nanak : The Lord to Himself has united the woman,[2]
Who to the Master has borne devotion and love. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jinnahāṇ Guru gopiyā āpṉā te nar būriyārī

Evil are those that the Master have denied.[3]
Lord ! show not the sight of such—
Evil-doers and murderers are these.
From door to door[1] with evil minds they wander

1. Perfect.
2. Image for the seeker.
3. Concealed, refused to acknowledge.

Like a woman of ill repute.
Should any such by great good fortune meet holy company,
By the Master's guidance are they ennobled.
Lord ! in Thy grace to the holy Preceptor unite me—
To the Master am I a sacrifice. (23)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Guru seva tei sūkhu ūpjai phiri dūkhu na laggai āye

From service to the Master arises joy,
After which comes not suffering.
Then is annulled transmigration and death is made helpless.
The mind to the Lord devoted, in the holy eternal is absorbed.
Saith Nanak : To such am I a sacrifice as the holy Preceptor's will follow. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The self-female, despite innumerable forms of self-decking,
Without the holy Word finds not purity.
One that of her Spouse is not mindful, to duality is attached. P. 652
Saith Nanak : Such a one is impure, of foul ways—sluttish among womankind.
Pauri (Stanza)

Hari Hari apnī dayā kari Hari bolī baiṉī

Lord ! show Thy grace that by my words Thy Name I utter;
On the Name Divine meditating, the Lord's Name may I utter,
And profit of Divine devotion gain.
A sacrifice am I to such as day and night the Lord's Name utter.
May I with my eyes behold such
As to the beloved holy Preceptor are devoted.
To the Master am I a sacrifice,
Who to the Divine friend, true Relation has united me. (24)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Hari dāsan siūṇ preeti hai Hari dāsan ko mittu

His devotees the Lord loves; of His devotees is He true friend.
To His devotees is the Lord compliant as the instrument to the player.
The Lord's servants to Him are devoted, with their Divine Beloved falling in love.
Lord ! listen in Thy grace : May plentiful rain[1]

1. House to house.

fall over the whole world.
Praise of the Lord's servants is the Lord's own exaltation.
As the Lord with His own laudation is pleased,
So His servant's glory He causes proclaimed.
The devotee devoted to the Lord's Name and the Lord are one in spirit.
Nanak, servant of God, is the Lord's slave :
Lord ! save Thou his honour. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Nanak to the holy Eternal is devoted :
Without Him find I not life.
By touch of the holy Preceptor is attained the Lord,
perfection incarnate,
And the tongue with joy in God is saturated. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Rayni dinasu parbhāti Tūhai hī gāwaṉā

Each night, day and dawn Thee do I sing.
All creation to Thy Name is devoted.
Thou the Supreme Bestower—by Thy bounty are we sustained.
In holy company are sins cast off.
Nanak, servant of God,
Ever to the Lord is a sacrifice—
A sacrifice ever. (25)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Antari agiānu bhayee mati maddhim satiguru kī partīt nāhīṇ

Within their mind is ignorance, dim their understanding grown;
Faith in the holy Preceptor not in them developed.
Such with mind full of hypocrisy, look upon the whole world as hypocrite—
By hypocrisy ruined themselves, ruin others therewith;
Unmindful of the holy Preceptor's behest, involved in self-interest they go about.
Saith Nanak : Should the Lord show grace, even such in the holy Word get absorbed. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

The egoist by Maya-attachment gripped,
Caught in duality, of unpoised mind,

1. Symbol for grace.

Day and night ever in agony, in egoism ruined,
to others brings ruin.
Within such is the dark storm of avarice—
None comes near them.
Miserable themselves, never such get joy,
In transmigration involved.
Saith Nanak : The holy Lord grants asolution to such too,
Should they to the Master's feet be devoted. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sant bhagat parwānu jo Prabhi bhāiyā

Approved are the holy and the devotees who to the Lord are pleasing.
Such of the creatures alone are wise,
As on the Lord have meditated,
Such on amrita of the Name, supreme Treasure, have fed.
Dust of feet of the holy to their forehead have they applied.
Saith Nanak : By bathing in the holy spot that is God, are they purified. (26)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Gurmukhi antari shānti hai mani tani Nāmi samāe

Within the God-directed reigns peace—their mind and body in the Name absorbed. P. 653
The Name they contemplate; the Name their study,
In the Name their minds absorbed.
As blessing of the Name they obtain, fled is their anxiety.
By contact with the holy Preceptor arises devotion to the Name.
And all desire and avarice[1] removed.
Saith Nanak : By attachment to the Name is realization[2]
attained. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

One accursed of the holy Preceptor, exalted being
In wandering involved, is driven from house and home;
Jeered at his face blackened wherever he goes;
Babbling senselessly, foaming at the mouth.
What can anyone's effort avail, when from primal
Time such are his recorded deeds ?
Wherever he goes, false is he reckoned—
Speaking falsehood, liked of none.

1. Thirst and hunger.
2. Nām.

Holy brethren ! behold might of the Lord—
As someone's deeds, such is his recompense.
Such shall be the Divine reckoning at the holy Portal;
Nanak, servant of God, this to you relates. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Guru sacchai baddhā thehu rakhwālei Guru dittei

The holy Preceptor founding a habitation,[1]
Its guardians too himself has appointed.
Fulfilled here are desires, and in devotion to the Master's feet are our minds dyed.
The Divine gracious Master beyond limit, all our demerits has destroyed.
The Master in his grace his own has made us.
Nanak is a sacrifice to the Master, with such merits endowed. (27)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Tā kī razāe lekhiyā pāe ab kyā kījai pāṇḍei

Listen thou Brahmin ! whatever by the Divine will is recorded, we get :
What avails our effort to change it ?
As is His command, is the recompense decided—
According to as that the creatures go about acting. (1)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

In each creature's nose is passed the halter, that the Master wields;
The creature's former deeds impel him along.
Wherever lies his sustenance, the creature feeds.
Saith Nanak : This is the sure truth. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sabbhei gallāṇ āpi thāṭi bahāliyonu

Everything has the Lord Himself arranged.
Himself raising creation, Himself to dissolution brings it.
Himself creating beings, cherishes them.
His servants to His bosom clasping,
By His glance of grace blesses them.
Saith Nanak : God's devotees, who feelings of duality

1. A mound, site for a village (may refer to Goindwal, founded by Guru Amar Das. Another interpretation is holy company, symbolized as a village or town).

have burnt away,
Ever are in bliss. (28)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Ei mana Harijī dhiyae tūṇ ikk mani ikk chitti bhāe

My self ! with concentrated devotion of heart,[1]
On the holy Lord thou meditate.
Ever magnanimous[2] is the Lord—boons He grants and never after regrets it.
To the Lord am I a sacrifice, whose service brings joy.
Saith Nanak : The God-inspired burning away thoughts of egoism, to the Lord are united. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Himself He inspires service, Himself confers grace.
Of all creation is He mother and father, cherishing all.
Saith Nanak : Those meditating on the Name in their true abode[3] live—
Age after age their repute resounding. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Tūṇ karan kāran samrath hehṇ kartei maiṇ Tūjh binu awar na koī

Lord Creator ! almighty art Thou—
Other than Thee no helper have I.
Thyself raising creation, dost dissolve it Thyself.
Everywhere is one Law[4] operative— P. 654
All happens as be Thy will.
The devotees that Thou dost exalt, exaltation obtain.
By the Master's guidance has Nanak in devotion on the Lord meditated :
Cry all, Hail ! Hail the Master ! (29.1)

*Found correct

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Kabir

1. Lit. Mind and consciousness.
2. Lit. Greatness. Applied sense, magnaminity.
3. The Divine Essense.
4. Shabda (applied sense Hukam, the Divine Law).
* Shuddha—note in the original.

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Büt pūj pūj Hindū mūei Türk mūei siru nāīṇ

Hindus through worship of idols are ruined,
And Mohammadans through bowing of head.
Those are burnt, these buried—neither has realization of Thy mystery. (1)
My self ! this world is a dark, deep cavern :
In all four directions of it is spread Yama's snare. (I-Pause)
Verisfiers are exhausted reciting their verse;
Kapadiyas[1] in visiting the Kedarnath shrine.
Yogis die assuming the hirsute form—
None of these Thy mystery has resolved. (2)
Monarchs in accumulation of wealth are exhausted,
Who have buried in earth heavy treasures.
Brahmins in study of Vedas are exhausted;
Women in beholding their own beauty. (3)
All without devotion to the Name Divine are ruined—
This you realize by looking within your self.[2]
Kabir thus expresses his teaching : None[3] without the Name Divine got liberation. (4) (1)

Jab jarīyai tab hoe bhasam tanu rahai kiram dal khāī

When cremated, is the body reduced to ashes;
If kept from the fire, eaten by swarms of worms.
As unbaked pitcher soaked in water—
Such is the quality of the body. (1)
Brother ! why dost thou strut about in pride ?
Hast forgotten the period when for ten months,[4]
head downwards didst abide ? (I-Pause)
Like the bee collecting honey, has man hoarded wealth.
At time of death, people cry : 'Carry it away, carry away'.
Why is this ghost kept lying ? (2)
Till the door-step has man's wedded wife accompanied his body;

1. A sect, using excessive clothing as ritual.
2. Body.
3. Who ?
4. Reference to the pre-natal period in the womb.

Beyond, friends and companions.
Till the cremation ground goes everyone and the family—
Beyond, the self alone. (3)
Saith Kabir : Listen, creature of God ! Gripped by death into a well are you fallen :
By false lure of wealth have you got bound,
As the parrot in illusion in the trap. (4) (2)

Beid Purān sabhai mat sūni kai karī karam ki āshā

On listening to teaching of Vedas and Puranas did we incline towards ritual actions :
Yet beholding all the wise in grip of death,
Disappointed, the Brahmin[1] we left. (1)
My self ! in this one task hast thou failed—
To the Divine Lord[2] art thou not devoted. (I-Pause)
In the forest-retreat have we practised
Yoga and austerities
And on herbs and roots lived :
But Yogis, listening to mystic sounds,
devotees of Veda-ritual,
Utterers of one word and vowers of silence—
All in Yama's list are entered. (2)
Never has loving devotion entered our heart—
The body to indulgence in pleasures is given.
Those performing music[3] with heart insincere—
What from the Lord have they obtained ? (3)
Death the whole world has over-spread—
In that list are also included doubting scholars.
Saith Kabir : Such of God's servants have become God's own[4]
As of loving devotion have realization. (4) (3)

Duei duei lochan pekhāṇ

With both eyes the Lord may I behold ! P. 655
Other than the Lord may nothing else strike my gaze.
The eyes to the Lord are devoted—
Now nothing else can I utter. (1)

1. Pandit.
2. Raghupati (Rama, Lord of the Raghu race; perphrastic name of Rama, here signifying God).
3. Ritual devotional singing is implied. In the original are mentioned ragas and raginis (measures and sub-measures).
4. Khalse (pl of Khalsa) is used here. 'Khalsa' was the term implying the monarch's personal estates.

Gone is our illusion, fled is fear,
As the heart to the Name Divine is devoted. (I-Pause)
As the Divine Juggler has sounded the hand-tabor,
Came all creation to witness the show.
As the Juggler gathered up the show,
In His own disposition, sole He abides. (2)
By mere chatter is doubt not removed,
Although the whole world to exhaustion
discourses has delivered.
Whomsoever by the Master's guidance realization He grants
Pervasive in his heart He remains. (3)
As the Master showed a particle of grace,
Were my body, mind and self[1] in the Lord absorbed.
Saith Kabir, absorbed in Divine love :
The Provider, life of the world, have I attained. (4) (4)

Jā ke nigam dūdh kei ṭhāṭā

One in whose home are holy books the milk-yielding udders,
These are the vat to churn the ocean.[2]
Churning woman[3] ! be thou engaged in churning this :
Then shall thy curd-milk[4] no way be lost. (1)
Bondwoman[3] ! the Lord, life of the world, prop of life
Hast thou not made thy wedded spouse. (I-Pause)
Round thy neck is the metal sheet[5] tied
To thy feet are tied fetters.
Thus bound, the Lord in transmigration[6]
has made thee wander.
Bondwoman[3] ! thou still hast no realization,
That helpless, by Yama art thou kept under watch. (2)
The Lord is almighty—
What lies in the hands of the poor bondwoman[3] ?
From slumber awakened,
Is she engaged in the task to her assigned. (3)
Bondwoman[3] ! from where hast thou got this wisdom,

1. Deh = body.
Note : In this hymn occur several mystical symbols.
2. Allusion to churning of the ocean by gods and demons, as in the puranic legend.
3. Symbol for man.
4. Chhāchh = sour-tasting milk after curd is churned. Here symbolizes peace of mind.
5. This used to be customary in the penal code in the orient.
6. Abode after abode.

Whereby is effaced the writ[1] of doubt ?
Such joy has Kabir realized—
By the Master's grace in faith is my mind fixed. (4) (5)

Jih bājhu na jīyā jāī

The Lord, without whom life may not be,
When attained, is our endeavour fruitful.
Without God, even eternal life is little good;[2]
Without dying to the world, is true life not found. (1)
How may thoughts of realization be expressed ?
Before my gaze have vanished all worldly concerns. (Pause)
As is saffron of realization in sandalwood paste of worldly awareness mingled.
Without physical eyes is the reality of the universe beheld.
The progenitor self son of realization has begot,
Who a city without foundation has erected.[3] (2)
The mendicant the Bestower has found,
Whose bounty is he unable to expend,
Nor leave alone; nor is it exhausted.
Now is the mendicant released of need to beg[4]
of others. (3)
The elect that know while living to die,
Have experience of joyful jaunt.
Kabir such wealth has attained :
As is the Lord met, his ego has he effaced. (4) (6)

Kyā paṛhīyai kyā gūnīyai

What good reading and study,
And listening to Vedas and Puranas ?
What good comes of reading and listening
Unless realization of God be attained ? (1)
Thou thoughtless one ! the Name Divine dost not contemplate—
What is it in whose thought time and again
art involved ? (I-Pause)
In darkness is needed a lamp,[5]

1. Lit. Line.
2. How is it good ?
3. (This stanza is rich with mystical symbols, and hence variously interpreted).
4. Going, having resort to, others.
5. Symbol for God-realization.

Whereby may be attained the unknowable object.[1]
As is the unknowable object[1] attained,
In the self is the lamp absorbed. (2)
Saith Kabir : Now have I realization— P. 656
With realization has come faith.
As the mind has God-realization, still does the world not care for one.
What reck I, should the world not care for me ? (3) (7)

Hriday kapaṭu mūkh giānī

In the heart lies hypocrisy; by thy utterance[2] dost thou appear enlightened.
Liar ! why churn water ? (1)
What good washing the body,
While within thee lies impurity ? (I-Pause)
Let the bitter-melon at sixty-eight bathing-spots be washed—
Still will its bitterness not go. (2)
Prayeth Kabir after contemplation :
Lord ! take me across the ocean of existence. (3) (8)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bahu parpanch kari par-dhanu liyāwai

By much deceit does man acquire others' wealth,
And on his progeny and wife wastefully spends it. (1)
My self ! even unconsciously practise not deceit :
At the end from thy self shall the reckoning be asked. (I-Pause)
Each moment is the body declining; prevailing is old age.
When old,[3] none even in thy cupped hands shall throw water.[4] (2)
Saith Kabir : Know, none is thy friend.
While it is time,[5] why not with thy heart
contemplate God ? (3) (9)

Santuh mana pawanai sūkhu baniyā

Devotees of God ! this mind, restless like the wind, joy has acquired :

1. God.
2. Mouth.
3. Then.
4. That is, none will offer thee even a draught of water.
5. At dawn, early.

Some degree of union with God I reckon, is attained. (Pause)
The Master that gap in hedge[1] has revealed
Wherethrough wild creatures[2] enter to steal the crop.
Now all doors have we closed,[3]
And the unstruck mystic music plays. (1)
The pitcher of lotus of heart of water of desire was full.
That water have I thrown off, and stood the pitcher right side up.
Saith Kabir : As this servant the Lord has realized,
In faith is the mind fixed. (2) (10)

Bhūkhei bhagati na kījai

No devotion with starvation is possible;
Here, take back your[4] rosary.
I seek only dust of feet of the holy.
Nothing owe I to any. (1)
Lord ! how with you may I enter into love ?
Should you not yourself grant me anything, I shall then present my request. (Pause)
Two seers[5] of flour I ask;
A quarter seer[5] of ghee with salt.
Half a seer[5] of dal[6] I seek—
On this provision feed me twice daily. (2)
A cot seek I, with four legs in place,
With pillow and mattress.
To cover me ask I a quilt,
So that snug in this, Thy devotee in devotion to Thee
engages. (3)
Nothing have I sought out of greed :
To me Thy Name is the best decoration.
Saith Kabir : As has the mind acquired faith,
Is realization of the Lord attaiued. (4) (11)

1. Implies moral weaknesses etc.
2. Deer.
3. Implies absorption in God, to the exclusion of the world.
Note : The traditional (Sampardai scholars) interpret the simple demands in the above in esoteric terms Cf. The Faridkot Teeka (p. 1359-60).
4. That is, God's.
5. A measure, equal approximately to a kilogram.
6. Lentils.

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Namdev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jab dekhāṇ tab gāwāṇ

As the Lord I behold, His praise I sing,
Thereby my mind gets poise. (1)
As the Divinely-inspired Preceptor I met,
In his teaching has my mind got absorbed. (I-Pause)
There where dazzling effulgence is beheld, P. 657
The unstruck mystic sound I hear played.
Then is my light into the Divine Light merged :
This by the Master's grace have I realized. (2)
Full of jewels is the cellar of lotus of the heart, casting lightning flashes.
These I behold close, not far—
Pervasive in the self. (3)
There where is light of the immortal Divine sun,
There other lights dimly burn.
This by the Master's grace is realized.
Thus Nama,[1] servant of God, in enlightened poise
is absorbed. (4.1)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Namdev

SCORE 4

Pāṛi paṛosani pūchhilei Nāmā kā peh chhani chhawāī ho

Asked the lady in the neighbouring house : Nama[2] ! who has built thy hut ?
Double the wages shall I give : tell me who is the carpenter. (1)
Lady ! that Carpenter cannot be given in employ.
Behold ! that Carpenter is pervasive everywhere.
Prop of our life is that Carpenter. (I-Pause)
That Carpenter asks the wages of devotion, from whoever gets his hut built.
Should one snap ties with the world and family,
then comes that Carpenter by Himself. (2)
This Carpenter I cannot describe : within all,
in all places He abides.

1. Short for Namdev.
2. (Explicated in the last note).

Seeing Him is like the dumb tasting the supreme elixir,
Who when asked, can speak nothing in reply. (3)
Lady ! listen to the qualities of that Carpenter :
The ocean has He bound and the pole-star fixed.
Nama's Lord retrieved Sita,[1]
And the rule of Lanka[2] conferred on Bibhikhana.[3] (4) (2)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Namdev

SCORE 3

Anmaṛhiyā mandal bājai

Within my self beats the drum uncovered with skin;
Without Sāvan[4] is ringing thunder;
Without clouds is rain falling;
This happens when the essence one contemplates. (1)
The Lord, Divine lover have I met,
Whose contact makes the self ennobled. (I-Pause)
By touch of the philosopher's stone am I turned gold,
And in my speech[5] and thoughts are strung jewels.
As was the self realized, doubt took flight.
By the Master's counsel[6] was the mind fixed in faith. (2)
As in the ocean is the pitcher absorbed,
So the self realizes all existence as the Supreme Being.
The disciple got faith firm-fixed in the Master :
Now Nama,[7] servant of God, the essence has realized. (3) (3)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Ravidas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jab ham hotei tab Tū nāhīṇ ab Tūhī maiṇ nahīṇ

While my ego lasts, art Thou not seen;
Now Thou alone art; have I ceased to be :
Like innumerable gusts of wind arise waves in the ocean,
That are only water within the mass of water. (1)
Lord ! what can I say ? such is illusion—
Under its influence are objects not such as thought to be. (I-Pause)

---

1. Allusion to the story of Ramayana.
2. Now called Sri Lanka, to the south of India.
3. Ravana's brother, a devotee of Rama.
   Note : In the earlier part is symbolic expression of the experience of Divine ecstasy.
4. The rainy month. (July-August).
5. Mouth; tongue.
6. On seeking the Master's guidance.
7. (Short for Namdev).

Sitting on his throne did a king get involved in sleep;
In dream turned beggar.
Despite our royal glory[1] in separation from it have we suffered—
Such is our state. (2)
Of the episode of the rope and the serpent,[2] P. 658
Now the mystery have we realized somewhat.
As by sight of innumerable bangles one forgets the gold,
Now I express not that illusion. (3)
In all the innumerable forms is the sole Lord pervasive, Disporting in all.
Saith Ravidas : Closer than hands is He—God's devotees accept in spontaneous goodwill all that happens. (4) (1)

Jau ham bāndhei moha-phāns ham prem badhani Tūm bāndhei

In the noose of attachment are we tied;
You[3] too in the bond of love are caught.
Attempt your own release; we by devotion to you have got our release. (1)
Lord ! my love for you to you is known :
How shall you get free of it ? (I-Pause)
The fish is caught, cut to pieces and cooked in various ways :
In bits is it consumed—still has it not forgetten the water.[4] (2)
The Lord is no one's property—
To love does the Divinie monarch yield.
The whole world by cover of illusion is gripped—
Only God's devotees by this are not tormented. (3)
Saith Ravidas : My devotion is on the increase—
To whom shall I state joy of this ?
The suffering of transmigration to escape which
I devoted myself to you,
Still is borne by me. (4) (2)

Dūlabh janamu pūnnu phal pāiyo birthā jāt abibekei

The human incarnation, hard to attain, that as reward for good deeds we have got,

1. Implies man's divine nature, the essence.
2. Reference is to the famous postulate of Indian philosophy, wherein the rope by illusion appears to be a serpent; when illusion is lifted, the serpent disappears and the rope alone remains.
3. God is herein apostrophized.
4. (This symbolizes the love mentioned earlier).

Without enlightened thinking is going waste.
Were one to possess mansions and thrones[1]
like King Indra[2]—
Without devotion to the Lord what good ? (1)
Joy in the Divine monarch have we not contemplated,
Whereby may be forgotten joy in alien objects. (I-Pause)
Wilfully have we remained ignorant, demented—
Between thinking and thoughtlessness our days passed.
Strong in our senses, in realization and understanding are we weak,
Barred access to the supreme objective. (2)
Different are our utterances from our doings—
Deluded by limitless Maya, devoid of understanding.
Saith Ravidas, Thy servant : Sad am I in my thoughts—
Take off your wrath, show grace to my self. (3) (3)

Sükh sāgaru sürtaru chintamani kāmdhenu bas jā kei

The ocean of joy, Divine Tree, wish-fulfilling stone,
In whose power is the cow granting all desires[3]—
On His palm lie the four boons,[4] eighteen powers,[5]
Nine Treasures.
My tongue ! why dost neglect utterance of
the Lord's Name ?
Discard all other speech. (I-Pause)
Various narratives, Puranas and exposition of Vedas—
All by the thirty-four letters of the alphabet are expressed.[6]
The sage Vyas[7] after contemplation has stated,
No other objective is supreme as the Name Divine. (2)
Those gone into unbroken absorption are free from all maladies of mind—
By supreme good luck are they absorbed in God.
Saith Ravidas : With Divine Light in heart resting, Fled is their fear of transmigration. (3) (4)

---

1. Seats.
2. King of celestial regions.
3. All these epithet-phrases refer to God.
4. These are, Dharma (performance of religious duties) artha (attainment of worldly goods) kama (attainment of joys) and moksha (liberation).
5. These are Yoga-induced miraculous powers.
6. That is, their significance is of this world.
7. Interpreter of the Vedas.

Jau tūm girivar tau ham morā

You the mountain, I the peacock on it.
You the moon, I the chakor[1] loving it. (1)
Lord ! should you not snap love, constant shall we remain.[2]
Should we snap love for you, to whom shall we attach it ? (I-Pause)
You the lamp, I the wick;
You the bathing-spot, I the pilgrim. (2)
In true love to you have I attached my heart— P. 659
Forming love to you, from all else have I snapped ties. (3)
Wherever I go, Thee I serve.
No deity is, Lord ! like to you. (4)
By your devotion is snapped Yama's noose;
To achieve devotion to Thee Ravidas Thy praise chants. (5) (5)

Jal kī bhīt pawan kā thambhā rakat būnd kā gārā

Man's body is made of walls of water,[3] pillars of air are mud of blood-drops.
In the cage of bones, flesh and blood-vessels abides
the poor bird of life. (1)
Creature of God ! What good thinking of mine and thine.
Life is brief as bird's sojourn on tree. (I-Pause)
Build walls and erect foundations as you please—Ultimately thy limit of possession is three and a half arm-lengths. (2)
Despite thy hair smartly done, thy turban at a rakish angle,
This body ultimately shall turn a heap of ashes. (3)
Possess lofty mansions, beauteous females—
Without devotion to the Name Divine will thy game be lost. (4)
Low is my caste and status; low my birth.
Saith Ravidas the cobbler; Divine King[4] !
With Thee have I sought shelter. (5) (6)

Chamraṭṭā gānṭhi na janaī

This cobbler[5] knows not how to patch leather,
Though the world wants its shoes mended. (I-Pause)
I have not an awl to put in stitches,
Nor the cobbler's knife to put on patches. (1)

1. A bird reputedly in love with the moon.
2. We too shall not snap our love for you.
3. Implies the seminal fluid.
4. Here the name Ramchand, hero of the Ramayan is used, symbolizing God.
5. The caste from which Bhakta Ravidas came. This caste is reckoned low.

The world involved in mending its affairs[1] is lost—
Without such preoccupation[2] to the Lord have I attained. (2)
Ravidas the Name Divine utters.
Thereafter with Yama has he no concern. (3) (7)

In the Measure Sorath—Composition of Bhakta Bhikhan[3]
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nainuh nīru bahai tanu khīnā bhaye kes dūdhwānī

In old age are the eyes flowing with water,
the body enfeebled,
The hair turned grey.[4]
The throat choked, uttering not a word—
What power has man how ? (1)
Divine king, Lord ! turn you his physician now :
Save your devotees. (I-Pause)
The forehead with ache is burning, the heart throbbing with pain :
Such is the torment that knows no remedy. (2)
The Name Divine is holy amrita-water—this the whole world's remedy.
Prayeth Bhikhan, servant of God : By grace of the Master
The door of liberation may I attain ! (3) (1)

Aisā Nāmu ratanu nirmolaku pūnni padarāthu paīyā

The invaluable jewel of the holy Name in reward for good deeds have I attained.
By innumerable devices in my heart have I lodged it—
Yet this jewel concealed may not be. (1)
Beyond expression are merits of the Lord,
As taste of sweets for the dumb. (I-Pause)
In the tongue's utterance, the ears listening to the Name,
The mind's contemplation, lies joy.
Saith Bhikhan : Both my eyes now are content :
Wherever I look, Him I behold. (2) (2)

1. Original implies mending shoes.
2. Without mending shoes. Also in idiom implies making schemes.
3. A sixteenth-century Sufi, resident of Kakori, a town near Lucknow.
4. Milky.

RAGA DHANASARI

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Quartets   P. 660

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Creator-Immanent Reality, Without Fear, Without Rancour, Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-Existent, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

jīo ḍaratu hai āpnā kai siūṇ karī pūkār

My self of consequences of sins is afraid—
To whom else shall I carry my wail ?
So, the annuller of suffering, ever bountiful I serve. (1)
The Lord ever is youthful, ever bountiful. (I-Pause)
Ever serve the Lord, who at the last shall be succourer.
To this counsel listen, my sister-friend ! thus shalt thou be saved. (2)
Compassionate Lord ! by contemplation of Thy Name shall
I swim across.
To Thee am I ever a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
In all spots is solely the Eternal Lord manifest—none other.
Such alone serve Him as have His glance of grace. (3)
Divine Beloved ! how without Thee may I keep alive ?
Grant me the nobility to Thy Name to keep attached.
Divine Beloved ! none other is there to whom my yearning
I express. (I-Pause)
The Lord alone I serve; none other I seek.
Nanak each instant, to Him offers himself cut to bits. (4)
Lord ! to Thy Name each instant he sacrifices himself cut to bits. (I-Pause) (1)

Ham ādamī hāṇ ik-damī muhlati muhatu na jāṇāṇ

Human are we : our life lasting a breath;
Knowing not till what hour we are granted life.
Thus supplicates Nanak : Serve Him whose is life and breath. (1)

Thou blind one ! consider thy life : how long hast thou to live ? (I-Pause)
Thine[1] is life and body, my whole self—Thou the deeply Beloved.
Holy Creator ! thus states the bard[2] Nanak. (2)
Lord ! shouldst Thou withold gifts from any,
what ornament can she wear to please Thee[3] ?
Thus supplicates Nanak : Whatever we receive,
Is in consequence of writ primally recorded. (3)
The hypocrite, in hypocrisy involved, the Lord's Name has not remembered.
As in bonds at Yama's door he is marched,
In regrets he steps forward. (4) P. 661
While life in the world lasts, for a while listen to God's Name; for a while utter it.
Long have we sought it, living for long is not attainable :
Best it is to die while living. (5) (2)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Kivṇ simrī sivariyā nahīṇ jāe

How may I contemplate the Lord ?
Hard to achieve is His contemplation.
In this state is the heart burning and the self wailing.
The holy Eternal who raises and exalts creation,
How by neglect of Him may come good ? (1)
Not by clever devices or force is He attained.
Mother mine ! how with the holy Eternal may
I find union ? (I-Pause)
Rare is the one going out to look over substance[4] of the Name—
None tasting, none consuming it.
Not by pleasing the world comes true honour :
True honour comes as by the Lord Himself saved. (2)
Wherever I look, is He pervasive.
No place of shelter is other than Thee.

1. Yours.
2. Shair (Ar.) Poet.
3. Also rendered : ".....what security can he furnish to acquire these" ? In the rendering given above the seeker is imaged as the female.
4. Merchandise.

Should any attempt something, what can his effort achieve ?
Achievement comes to him who the holy Lord's grace has. (3)
Shortly shall we depart—after an hour or even a clapping of hands.
What face shall I show, devoid of merit that I am ?
Such as is the Lord's glance on him,
Is the state of the creature.
Saith Nanak : Without His glance of grace none ever anything attains. (4) (1.3)

Nadari karei tāṇ simriyā jāe

By His glance of grace comes remembrance of Him.
Then is the self melted, and the mind centred on Him.
The self and the Supreme self then become one;
Within is the self's duality effaced. (1)
By the Master's grace is He attained.
Death destroys[1] not, should the mind in the Lord be absorbed. (I-Pause)
By contemplation of holy truth is the self illumined :
Thereby even in attachment to pleasures[2] of the world
one unattached remains.
Such is the holy Preceptor's great miracle,
That even living with progeny and wife man the supreme state attains. (2)
Let the Lord's devotee serve Him in a way,
As to dedicate[3] the self to Him whose it is.
The devotee to whose mind is acceptable whatever pleases the Lord,
Is at the Portal exalted. (3)
One that the holy Preceptor's image in the heart lodges,
All heart's desires shall attain.
Should the holy Lord be gracious,
The devotee then of Yama shall have no fear.[4] (4)
Saith Nanak after contemplation :
Let the devotee to the holy Word be attached.
Such the door of liberation shall attain.
In the holy Word lies essence of repetition of ritual texts and austerities. (5) (2.4)

1. Consumes.
2. Poison of evil.
3. Place before Him.
4. What fear shall be have of Yama ?

Jio tapatu hai bāro bār

Each moment is the self in agony of burning involved—
In agony burning, and fallen into evils, ruined.
One that of the holy Word is forgetful,
Like a leper wails. (1)
Much talking is just babbling :
The Lord without our utterance knows all. (I-Pause)
Contemplate Him who granted to us eye and nose,
And gave the tongue with skill[1] of utterance; P. 662
He that even in fire of the womb protected our self;
By whose command the wind conveys sound. (1)
All attachment, worldly love and pleasure
Brings on blots of black ignominy.
Man departs with face soiled with blackness of sin,
And at the portal finds no place of rest. (3)
By grace is attained blessing of utterance of Thy Name.
By attachment to this alone comes liberation—no other shelter is there.
One that is sinking, by the Name is succoured.
Saith Nanak : The holy Eternal universal bounty dispenses. (4) (3.5)

Choru salahei chīt na bhījai

Should a thief praise one, no delight to heart it brings;
Should he castigate, no damage is done.
None for a thief stands guarantee;
Whatever is done by a thief, is never good. (1)
Listen my blind self ! a cur, to falsehood given :
One that is pure, without uttering a word is recognized. (I-Pause)
A thief though handsome in appearance and clever,
Is like a base coin,valued at a few cowries.[2]
Even though such coin is kept with others, mingled among them,
On testing is it found to be base. (2)
Man receives retribution as are his deeds :
Himself man sows and himself consumes the produce.
Should a man laud himself,
Such as his understanding is, shall be the path[3] he treads. (3)

1. Quick utterance.
2. A string of cowries.
3. Implies deeds or the path of transmigration.

One may utter much falsehood and trash,
And even though the world's commendation receives—
Whatever pleases Thee, even though without device, is approved.
Saith Nanak : To the Lord, all-wise, is the truth known. (4) (4.6)

Kāyā kāgad mana parwānā

The body is the paper, the mind's tendencies the Divine decree on it recorded.[1]
Man ignorant, reads not the writ recorded on his head.
The three decrees undermentioned at the Divine Court are writ :
Behold, the base coin is of little use. (1)
Saith Nanak : Should it contain genuine silver,
All shall pronounce it genuine. (I-Pause)
The Muslim judge[2] utters falsehood and eats filth;[3]
The Brahmin guilty of slaughter of humanity, makes show of pious bathing;
The yogi, blind of insight, knows not the true praxis.
The devices of all three ruin mankind. (2)
The true Yogi the true praxis understands,
And by the Master's grace the Sole Lord realizes.
The true Kazi turns his mind away from Maya,
And by the Master's grace dies while living.
The true Brahmin is one who the Supreme Being contemplates.
Liberated himself, to others brings liberation. (3)
Truly wise is one who washes his heart of impurity;
The true Muslim one who washes off his impurity.
Such of the learned[4] alone are approved of God,
As bear on the forehead mark of Divine commensation. (4) (5.7)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kālu nāhīṇ jāgu nāhīṇ nāhīṇ sat kā dhabu

Now is no more the holy age,[5] nor of yogic praxis or the way of truth :

---

1. Another interpretation : The body is perishable like paper—the mind accepts it as lasting.
2. Kazi, Kādi.
3. Implies illegal gratification etc.
4. Reference is to the three categories of the learned mentioned above.
5. Kāl = age. Implies the earlier ages of piety.

Polluted are all holy places—thus is the whole world coming to ruin.[1] (1)
In Kali Yuga is the Name Divine supreme over all.
Fraudulent priests to cheat the world
Close eyes and grip their nose. (I-Pause)
With their fingers their nose they grip, claiming to behold the three worlds, P. 663
Yet before or behind nothing can they see—
Such is their strange lotus pose.[2] (2)
Khatris[3] their true function[4] have discarded, and to the Muhammadan tongues[5] taken :
The whole world to the same caste of wrong-doers is reduced—
Gone is the state of Dharma. (3)
With adoption of eight-fold piety the Puranas they[6] study and repeatedly recite the Vedas.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Without the Name Divine liberation comes not. (4) (1.6.8)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Arati (Worship-offering)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gaganmai thālu ravi chand dīpak banei tārikā manḍal janak motī

*Placed on the salver of heaven are the lamps sun and moon,
With bright pearls of the constellations—
Thy offering :
Fragrant mountain breezes Thy incense, the wind Thy fan;
The entire blossoming vegetation Thy flower-offerings. (1)
Wonderful is this arati, of the entire creation to Thee,
Thou annuller of transmigration :
The unstruck harmony
Orchestrates Thy worship. (I-Pause)
Thousand Thy eyes, Thy shapes,
Yet no eyes dost Thou wear or shape.

---

1. Sinking.
2. (The pose of samadhi).
3. One of the higher castes, in the Guru's age and since, engaged mainly in commence and state service.
4. Dharma = practice of faith.
5. Persian and Arabic are implied, that secured state service. Lit. Tongues of those inclined to impurity.
6. Implies Brahmins.

* Note : This hymn occurs in Kirtan Sohila, ante.

Thousand Thy lotus feet; of thousand waves Thy wafted fragrance,
Yet invisible, wonderfully captivating Thy essence. (2)
Thy light in all creation—Thou who art Light !
Thy effulgence illuminating the visible universe !
The Master's Word alone makes manifest the light !
Whatever action pleases Him, is the highest prayer ! (3)
My heart yearns for touch of Thy lotus feet fragrant,
In thirst ever unquenchable;
Bestow on the Chatrik Nanak the water of Thy bounty :
In Thy Name grant him abode ! (4) (1.7.9)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Quartets

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ihu dhanu akhüttu na nikhutai na jãe

Devotion to God[1] is wealth inexhaustible—
Neither exhausted nor lost :
This by the Master, perfectly-endowed is revealed.
May I be a sacrifice ever to the holy Preceptor—
By his grace is the Lord in the mind lodged. (1) Truly wealthy are those endowed with devotion to
the Lord's Name :
The wealth of devotion to the Lord by the Master, perfectly-endowed, is revealed;
By Divine grace is it in the mind lodged. (Pause)
Annulling evil qualities, with good is the heart filled,
By acquiring the poise of the Master, perfectly-endowed.
Holy is Word of the Master, perfectly-endowed.
By attaining poise
Is joy of heart obtained.[2] (2)
Brother ! behold this wonder :
By annulling duality is the Lord in the mind lodged.
The Name invaluable is not by effort acquired :
By the holy Preceptor's grace is it in the mind lodged. (3)

1. In the original, 'this wealth'.
2. Alternate rendering : By the breath resting in sukhmana is the mind in poise absorbed.

The One sole Lord all creation permeates :
By wisdom by the Master granted does He in the self manifest Himself.
Anyone that in state of poise the Lord visualizes, P. 664
Saith Nanak, by attainment of devotion is his mind in God-realization fixed. (4) (1)

Harināmu dhanu nirmalu ati apārā

Pure and inexhaustible is wealth of the Lord's Name :
The Master's Word is a treasure with true wealth overfull :
Other than such wealth all else know to be poison—
Arrogance in Maya-attachment burns. (1)
Rare is the devotee[1] tasting of joy in the Lord :
Day and night is he ever in bliss—
By supreme good fortune is this attained. (Pause)
By the lamp of the holy Word are the three worlds illuminated :
All tasting thereof too are rendered holy.
The Name immaculate washes off impurity of egoism :
In true devotion lies joy everlasting. (2)
Those tasting of joy in God are truly of God :
Ever abiding in joy, sorrow touches them never.
Liberated themselves, to others do such bring liberation.
Meditating on the Name Divine, in God joy they find. (3) Without the holy Preceptor's guidance the world is wailing and in death involved :
Burning perpetually, finding not peace.
By touch[2] of the holy Preceptor is desire[3] assuaged.
Saith Nanak : From meditation on the holy Name comes peace and joy. (4) (2)

Sadā dhanu antari Namu samālei

Let man ever meditate with his whole mind on the wealth of God's Name,
By whom is all creation cherished.
Such attain the blessing of liberation,
As in the Lord's Name[4] are dyed and to it are deeply devoted. (1)
From the Master's service is attained wealth of the Name Divine[4]
With the heart illumined does man on the Name Divine[4] meditate. (Pause)

1. Gurumukh.
2. Lit. Meeting, union with.
3. Thirst.
4. Hari-Nām.

This fast dye of love for the Lord is deep as that between man and wife :
With the make-up of poise, does the devotee-self with the Lord have bliss.
None engrossed in egoism attained the Lord—
Such a one, forgetful of the root, of his life makes waste. (2)
By the Preceptor's guidance comes peace, poise and serenely joyful utterance.
Absorption in the Name is true service of the Master.
From the holy Word is found perpetual meditation on God.
From devotion to the holy Name comes exaltation. (3)
In all Ages is the Creator pervasive :
From His glance of grace is found union with Him.
From the Master's Word is the Lord in the self lodged.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in holy truth
Are by the Lord Himself granted union. (4) (3)

Jagu mailā mailo hoe jāe

The world, abiding in impurity, in impurity continues to grow,
Caught in birth and death through attachment to duality.
All creation through attachment to duality is ruined :
The egoist meets chastizement and forfeits respect. (1)
By devotion to the Master is the self rendered pure;
With the holy Name in the mind lodged,
Is one in honour exalted. (Pause)
The God-directed by seeking His shelter are saved;
Dyed in the Lord's Name are they in devotion firm-fixed.
One from devotion finds exaltation;
And dyed in truth, in blissful poise is fixed. (2)
Rare is the person seeking devotion to God,
Who guided by the Master's Word is about his self enlightened.
Of such holy is the capital, holy[1] their commerce.
Blessed are those that to God's Name are devoted. (3)
Solely to truth has the holy Lord devoted them, P. 665
As from Him have they heard the holy, exalted Word.
Holy are the Lord's doings.
Saith Nanak : Through devotion to the Name does He confer exaltation. (4) (4)

1. Sācha = Eternal, holy.

Jo Hari seveṇh tin bali jāoṇ

May I be a sacrifice to God's devotees;
In their hearts abides truth; on their lips God's holy Name.
Meditation on truth drives away sorrow.
By remembrance of the holy Word is God in the mind lodged. (1)
Listening to the Master's Word removes the mind's impurity, And spontaneously is the Lord's Name in the mind lodged. (Pause)
God's Name assuages flames of falsehood, evil and desire;
Confers peace of mind and joy in poise.
Obedience to the Master's instruction[1] annuls egoism;
Brings the self to the abode of truth and inspires
laudation of God. (2)
The egoist purblind, ignorant of the holy Word and Divine revelation,
In suffering passes his life.[2]
The holy Preceptor's touch[3] confers bliss,
And stops egoism's movement in mind. (3)
Whom to supplicate ? He is sole Bestower of boons :
By His grace alone comes union through the holy Word.
May I, finding union with the holy Beloved, laud Him !
Saith Nanak : Only by purity of life would I find favour with the holy Word. (4) (5)

Manu marai dhātu mari jāe

As dies the mind to the world, is its movement[4] stilled.
Without the mind so dying, how may one to the Lord attain ?
Rare is the person knowing the alchemy to still the mind.[5]
By the holy Word is the mind stilled[6] :
Rare is the person knowing the way to this. (1)
By grace and conferment of exaltation
And the Master's favour is the Lord in the mind lodged. (Pause)
One living the Master's instruction,
Shall alone about the self be enlightened.

1. Will.
2. (The order of these two lines is slightly changed).
3. Meeting.
4. Running about.
5. Making dead. (The imagery is here drawn from ancient alchemy, treating the sick by burnt out metallic substances, called kushta or bhasm).
6. Lit. Made dead.

The mind is an elephant, uncontrolled and mad—
From stroke of the Master's goad finds it true life. (2)
Rare is the person controlling the impetuous mind :
Treading the hard[1] path alone brings it purity.
By obedience to the Master's Word is the mind ennobled,
Casting out egoism and evil. (3)
Those destined in primal time to union with God,
Never are alienated; united through devotion to the holy Word.
To the Lord alone are known His ways.[2] Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance is holy truth[3] realized. (4) (6)

Kāchā dhanu sanchen mūrakh gāwār

The foolish worldlings hoard worthless pelf,
Being egoists, deluded and purblind.
Such poisonous wealth ever brings suffering.
It is not easily got, and lasts not with man.[4] (1)
By wisdom given by the Master comes true wealth;
Worthless wealth only comes and goes. (Pause)
The egoists deluded and foolish only meet death :
Sunk in ocean of the world, they find not the shore.
By supreme good fortune is the holy Preceptor found;
Those so fortunate, in truth are dyed,
And their days and nights in renunciation are passed. (2)
In all Four Ages, the holy Word is the true amrita;
By supreme good fortune is the mind in God's Name absorbed.
Yogis and practioners of baths, the whole world,
after this blessing hanker—
Only by supreme good fortune is it found. (3)
All creation is holy; holy is the Creator.
Rare is the person realizing the Supreme Being. P. 666
Holy Himself; from Him alone comes firmness in the truthful life.
Saith Nanak : Himself He watches over creation,
And inspires devotion to truth. (4) (7)

Nānvain kī kīmati miti kahī na jāe

Inexpressible is the value of the holy Name;
Inexpressible the extent thereof.

1. Untreadable—the path of spiritual discipline.
2. Power, might.
3. Name.
4. Another interpretation : "It lasts, not with man, nor in life brings benefit."

Blessed are those to the holy Name devoted,
Holy is the wisdom by the Master given,
Holy the inspiration.[1]
Such inspiration He alone grants. (1)
The Lord Himself His Name miraculous[2] communicates.
In Kali Yuga such devotion He to the devotee grants. (I-Pause)
Little is our understanding, poor our thinking;
All our doings from egoism arising.
By the Master's grace is egoism lifted.
Himself He grants liberation and to Himself unites the seeker. (2)
The poisonous pelf brings on much arrogance;
Those possessing it in arrogance are sunk,
And at the Divine Portal no honour find.
Discarding of egoism ever brings joy.
Laudation of God comes by the wisdom by the Master granted. (3)
He is the sole Creator of all—
None His power to share.
By His prompting alone comes devotion to truth.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the holy Name
Is found everlasting joy in the hereafter. (4) (8)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

SCORE 4

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ham bhīkhak bhekhārī Terei Tūṇ nijpati haiṇ dātā

Beggars are we at Thy door; Thou the absolute[3] Provider,
In Thy grace to the beggar grant Thy Name,
That ever in Thy Name he remain absorbed. (1)
Holy Lord ! to Thy Name may I be a sacrifice !
Almighty[4] Thou, none other. (I-Pause)
Much wandering in transmigration has this worthless creature done—show grace now.
Out of compassion grant Thy sight—
Such bounty grant ! (2)
Saith Nanak : Thrown open are doors of doubt;
By the Master's grace is realized the Lord.

1. Contemplation.
2. Wonderful.
3. Thy own Master.
4. Cause of all happenings.

Within me is fixed true devotion :
To the holy Preceptor is the mind fixed in faith. (3) (1.9)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Quartets

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jo Hari sevenh Sant bhagat tinh kei sabhi pāp nivārī

The holy and the devotees that serve the Lord,
All their sins dost Thou annul.
Lord ! show us grace : keep us in company that of Thee is loved. (1)
Merits of the Lord[1] have I no power to express.
We sinners, stone-heavy in water are sinking;
In Thy grace save us, stones, from drowning. (Pause)
Rust of poisonous sins of multiple births to us is sticking—
In holy company are we ennobled.
As gold melted in fire, so is our impurity eliminated,[2] removed. (2)
Day and night the Name Divine you utter—
By such utterance in heart keep Him. P. 667 Medicine of the Name Divine is unfailing[3] cure in the world—
Thereby is egoism removed. (3)
The Lord is inaccessible, unfathomable by understanding.
Limitless, transcendent Supreme Being,
Life of the world ! to this servant show grace;
Thy servant Nanak's honour pray save. (4) (1)

Hari kei sant janāṇ Hari japiyo tinh kā dūkhu bharamu bhau bhāgī

The Lord's devotees that on the Lord have meditated, Fled is their suffering, doubt and fear.
His service has He Himself inspired,
As is the Master's teaching awakened within. (1)
Anyone attached to the Name Divine is the true anchorite.
Divine discourse as he has listened to it, to his mind is pleasing—

1. Here besides Hari, Banwari occurs, which is an attributive name of Vishnu, symbolizing God.
2. Cut off.
3. Perfect.

By the Master's teaching is devotion to God formed within. (I-Pause)
The Lord alone is His devotees' caste—you the Master,
we your mimics :
As you direct, Lord ! we make utterance. (2)
What worth are we small, petty worms ?
You the great Supreme Being !
Your state and extent beyond our expression—
How may we unfortunate ones find union with you ? (3)
Lord ! show grace : In service to God engage us.
Make Nanak slave of your slaves,
That your discourse we continually recite. (4) (2)

Hari kā santu Satiguru satipurkhā jo bolai Hari Hari bānī

The Lord's devotee, holy Preceptor, holy being, who to the Divine Word gives utterance—
Whoever his words repeats or to it listens, finds liberation :
To such a one am I[1] ever a sacrifice. (1)
Lord's devotees ! to His praise listen fervidly[2] :
As for a moment, an instant, to the Lord's discourse you listen,
Shed will all your sin and evil-doing be. (I-Pause)
Truly great are those that such a holy one have found.
Lord ! Divine Master ! the dust of feet of such we seek,
Whereby yearning for the Lord within us be aroused. (2)
The Lord is the fruit-bearing tree—those contemplating Him are fulfilled.
Satiated are those quaffing Divine amrita—all their hunger vanished. (3)
Such as are supremely fortunate, on the Lord have meditated.
Lord ! to their company pray unite me—
Nanak is humble servant of such of your servants. (4) (3)

Ham andhūlei andh bikhai bikhu rātei kivṇ chaleṇh Guru-chālī

Blind that we are, to poison of evil attached—
How may we follow in the Master's footsteps ?
Only as the holy Preceptor, fount[3] of joy shows grace,
To himself[4] may he attach us. (1)

1. 'Ham' in Hindi idiom implies 'I'.
2. With attentive ears.
3. Giver.
4. To His sash (this would mean accepting someone under protection).

Friends ! Master's disciples ! follow the Master's way.
Accept as your good whatever be the Master's instruction :
Unique is Divine discourse. (I-Pause)
Brothers, God's devotees ! without delay serve the Master.
Provide yourselves early with provision of the Master's service—
Delay it not between today and tomorrow. (2)
God's devotees ! practise contemplation of the Lord.
Holy ones ! with God walk ever.
Those contemplating the Lord into Him are merged—
To the Lord full of wonders are they united. (3)
Lord ! show Thy grace that yearning for Thy contemplation in me be aroused. P. 668
Prayeth Nanak, servant of God : Lord ! to holy company unite me—
Dust of feet of the holy am I. (4) (4)

Hari Hari būnd bhaye Hari swamī ham chātrik bilal bilalātī

The Lord is the rain-drop; we the chatrik wailing for it.
Lord ! show grace—for an instant into my mouth drop this water. (1)
Without the Lord I live not for an instant.[1]
As without the drug dies the addict, so without the Lord
I die. (Pause)
Thou the Divine limitless ocean—beyond our power to know Thy extent.
Distant, transcendent Thou—Thy extent and state to Thee alone known. (2)
God's devotees that Him have contemplated,
By the Master deep red[2] are dyed.
By Divine devotion has come to them great exaltation;
By Divine contemplation great honour. (3)
Himself is He Lord and servant; Himself fashions
the device of union.
Nanak, your servant, with you seeks shelter—
Lord ! your devotees' honour protect. (4) (5)

Kalijūg kā dharamu kahuh tūm bhāī kiv chhūteṇh ham chhūṭkakī

Brother ! state the way of piety appropriate to Kali Yuga :
How may we, seeking release, find it ?

1. A grain-weight.
2. (This dye is symbolic of devotion).

The Lord's contemplation is ship and raft—
By Divine contemplation does one swim across. (1)
Lord ! protect your servant's honour—
Induce in me your contemplation :
I seek solely the Lord's devotion. (Pause)
Such of the devotees are the Lord's favourites, as by the Divine Word[1] have contemplated Him.
All record of Chitra and Gupta[2] and Yama's reckoning for them is cancelled. (2)
God's devotees in holy company by their hearts[3] have contemplated Him.
The fire of desire, hot as the sun, is assuaged,
And has arisen the cooling moon of weal. (3)
You are the Supreme Being, inaccessible, unknowable—
All existence your image solely.
Show grace to Nanak, your servant :
Make him slave of your humble slaves.[4] (4) (6)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Duos

SCORE 5

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ūrdhāri bīchāri Mūrāri ramo ramu manmohan Nāmu japīnei

Lodging Him in your heart, in contemplation on the Lord meditate,
And the Name, fascinating to the heart, repeatedly utter.
The Lord invisible, unknowable, transcendent,
By the Master, perfectly-endowed, is manifested. (1)
The Lord is philosopher's stone, sandalwood—we mere timber and iron;
In the Lord's company with His purity are we associated,
And transmuted by Him to gold and sandalwood. (I-Pause)
Should any recite by heart[5] even the nine grammars[6]
and the six Shastras—

1. Implies the Master's Word (Bani).
2. The celestial recorders of deeds of creation.
3. Mana.
4. Dās (slave) is repeated here thrice.
5. By the mouth; have on the tip of his tongue.
6. These are the various Sanskrit grammars.

The Lord thereby is not pleased.
Nanak, servant of God, ever in heart on the Lord meditates :
Thus is the Lord pleased. (2) (1)

Güna kahu Hari lahu kari sevā Satiguru iv
Hari Hari Nāmu dhiyāī

Utter the Lord's praise, and attain Him; P. 669
Serve the holy Preceptor :
Thus on the Name Divine meditate.
One approved at the Divine Portal nevermore in birth is involved.
In the Divine Light merged. (1)
My self ! utter thou the Name Divine, thereby getting all joys.
Highest over all is Divine laudation :
Serve the Lord; such service liberation may bring. (Pause)
By grace of the Lord, treasure of grace, is granted to us devotion to the Master—
Thereby has been formed attachment to the Lord.
By cherishing in the heart the Name Divine is cast off anxiety.
Saith Nanak, then becomes the Lord our friend. (2) (2.8)

Hari paṛhu Hari likhu Hari japi Hari gāo Hari bhaujalu pāri ūtārī

Study the Lord's Name, write, recite, sing it—
The Lord thereby shall carry you across the ocean of existence.
By the concentrated mind, word and heart on the Lord meditate :
Please the Lord therewith.
Thus utter the Name Divine. (1)
My self ! utter the Name of the Lord, Master of the universe.
Friend ! to holy company be joined.
Joy shall you obtain day and night,
As the Divine Lord you laud. (Pause)
As was the Name Divine uttered, came the Lord's glance of grace;
From the inmost heart by hard endeavour was the Name uttered,
That brought us liberation.
Lord ! protect honour of Nanak, your servant,
Who on your shelter has fallen. (2) (3.9)

Chaurasīh siddh büddh tetīs koṭi münijana sabh chāhehṇ
Hari jīo Tero Nāuṇ

The eighty-four accomplished yogis[1] and enlightened ones,[2]

1. Siddha.
2. Buddhas.

Thirty-three crore deities and sages—
All, Lord ! after Thy Name are seeking.
This a rare one by the Master's grace attains,
On whose forehead since primal time is recorded loving devotion. (1)
My self ! utter the Name Divine :
The noblest of deeds is Divine laudation.
Lord ! to those that sing and listen to Thy laudation,
Am I ever a sacrifice. (Pause)
Lord, cherisher of all ! to Thy shelter have I come;
To obtain what in Thy gift lies.
Thou who art compassionate to the humble !
show grace to Nanak,
Who for Divine contemplation yearns. (2) (4.10)

Sevak Sikh pūjan sabh āwehṇ sabhi gāwahṇ Hari Hari ūttamu bāṇī

God's servants, disciples coming to offer worship to the Lord,
All sing the noble Divine Word.
The singing and absorption of such alone bears fruit
As before the holy Preceptor's adjuration bow. (1)
Brother ! Divine laudation you utter, sitting at the Divine holy edge[1] to the ocean of existence.
Devotees of God ! noble is the repute of such
As of the Lord's discourse have realization. (Pause)
The Lord is Himself Master and disciple;
Himself enacts wondrous play.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By Divine aid alone is union with the Lord made :
God's devotees who discard all else,
To the Lord are pleasing. (2) (5.11)

Ichhā-pūraku sarb sūkh dātā Hari jā kai wasi hai kāmdhenā

The Lord is fulfiller of desires, provider of all joy,
In whose power is the wish-fulfilling Cow.[2]
My self ! on the Lord meditate, whereby all joys mayst thou obtain. (1)
My self ! utter the holy Name, the holy Name everlastingly. P. 670

1. Tiratha (Holy bathing spot. Lit. water-edge).
2. The celestial cow, fulfiller of desires.

By constant meditation on the Lord, immaculate Supreme Being,
Is one's face made radiant in this world and the next. (Pause)
Wherever occurs the Lord's remembrance, flee maladies :
By great good fortune comes utterance of the Lord's Name.
This enlightenment by the Master is granted to Nanak,
servant of God :
By utterance of the Name Divine is swum
the ocean of existence. (2) (6.12)

Merei Shāhā maiṇ Hari-darshan sūkhu hoe

Divine king ! by the sight of God find I joy.
My afflicition to you known—who else may know it ? (Pause)
Divine king ! the holy Lord Thou; holy all Thy doing.
Divine king ! whom may we accuse of flasehood ?
In all are you pervasive.[1] (1)
Divine king ! in all creation art Thou pervasive—
Day and night all on Thee meditate.
Divine king ! all of Thee seek boons; Thou alone provider of all. (2)
All existence within Thee, Lord ! is contained—
None outside of Thee.
Divine king ! All beings Thine; Thou master of all—
All into Thee ultimately merge. (3)
Diviue Beloved ! of each art Thou the objective—
All on Thee meditate.
Keep me, Divine Beloved ! Nanak's holy king !
As may please Thee. (4) (7.13)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Quartets

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bhav-khandan dūkh-bhanjan swāmī bhagati-vacchhal nirankārei

Lord annuller of transmigration, shatterer of suffering, Beloved of devotees, formless Supreme Being !
As by the Master's guidance is your Name contemplated,
In an instant are effaced millions of sins. (1)
My heart to the beloved Lord is attached.

1. Lit. None is there besides Thee.

As has the Lord, compassionate to the humble, shown grace,
Subdued are the Five Agents of Evil. (I-Pause)
Beauteous is Thy abode, beauteous Thy aspect :
In Thy court Thy devotees in beauty shine,
Lord, Provider of all beings, in your grace save me ! (2)
Invisible Thy hue, unknowable Thy form—
Who may Thy power contemplate ?
In all spots, on water and land art Thou pervasive,
Lord[1], of form inaccessible. (3)
All beings, eternal Lord[2] ! laud Thee.
As please Thee, Lord ! keep Nanak, Thy servant,
Seeking shelter at Thy Portal. (4) (1)

Binu jal prān tajei hai mīnā jini jal siuṇ hetu baṛhāiyo

The fish that to water is excessively attached, without water dies.
For love of the lotus is the humming-bee destroyed,
Finding not the way of escape. (1)
Now with the Sole Lord is my heart in love,
Who neither dies nor departs, abiding ever by us— P. 671
By the holy Preceptor's Word realized. (I-Pause)
Subdued by lust is the elephant caught,
Helpless under others' power.
For love of sound does the deer bow his head,
Thereby torn to pieces. (2)
Beholding his family, by greed is man attracted,
With wealth involved :
Deeply in wealth involved, regards it as his own,
Which inevitably must he leave behind. (3)
Whoever with other than the Lord forms love, know him to be eternally the sufferer.
Saith Nanak : As by the Master instructed,
In love of God lies eternal joy. (4) (2)

Kari kirpā dīyo mohi Nāmā bandhan tei chhūṭkāe

In His grace has the Lord granted me the holy Name,
And from bonds freed me.
From the mind are all worldly concerns cast off;
To the Master's feet has the Lord attached me. (1)

1. Giridhari = holder of the mountain, a periphrastic name of Krishna, symbolizing God.
2. Murari = foe of Mura the demon (as above).

In holy company have I discarded all concern with fault finding in others.
Egoistic thinking, attachment and desires of mind,
In a pit have I buried. (I-Pause)
Neither is any my foe, nor I enemy of any.
Within my self has the Supreme Being spread
His visible expanse.
Of this from the holy Preceptor have we got realization. (2)
All have I made my loving friends; friend of all am I grown.
Thrown far off is the mind's alienation from God,
And union with the Divine Monarch come about. (3)
Shattered is my stubborn wilfulness, rained has amrita—
Sweet to me is the Master's Word.
To Nanak has come vision of the Lord, pervading water and land,
Abiding in all creation. (4) (3)

Jab tei darshan bhetei sādhū bhalei dinas ue āei

Since contact with the holy, have for me auspicious days arrived :
In supreme joy, ever in Divine laudation engaged,
The Supreme Being, Creator have I attained. (1)
Now from my inmost mind the Lord's laudation have I sung.
The mind illuminated, eternally is in joy,
As the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed I have met. (I-Pause)
As the Lord, treasure of merit in my heart is lodged,
Fled is my suffering, illusion and fear.
Attained is the Object[1] unknowable, and love for the Name Divine formed. (2)
From anxiety freed,[2] from worries am I emancipated—
Ended are sorrow, greed and attachment.
By Divine grace is effaced malady of egoism,
And of Yama have we become fearless. (3)
Pleasing is attendance[3] on the Master, service to him, obedience to his instruction.
Saith Nanak : A sacrifice am I to the Master,
Who from Yama has rescued us. (4) (4)

---

1. Realization of God is implied.
2. Here after chainta (anxiety), soch (worry) negatives with prefixes are given in the original.
3. Tehal is menial, personal service.

Jis kā tanu manu dhanu sabhu Tis kā soī sūgharu sūjānī

The Lord whose is body, mind and our wealth, is alone wise and knowing :
He to my narrative of sorrow and joy has lent ear,
Whereby is my state improved. (1)
One Sole Lord to supplications of beings is compliant.
Numerous other devices have we tried,
Which have not proved a sesame-grain's worth. (Pause)
The Master to us has imparted incantation of the Name ambrosial,
The jewel invaluable :
This falls not off nor is shaken; fast bound,
Imparting complete fulfilment. (2)
Ended is power of feelings of me and Thou that stood between us : P. 672
As the heap of ornaments melted, becomes a lump,
All then are called gold. (3)
Manifested is Divine Light; attained are spontaneous
joy and splendour,
Resounded is unstruck music.
Saith Nanak : The house imperishable have we built,
That the Master has erected. (4) (5)

Waḍei waḍei rājan aru bhūman tā kī trishan na būjhī

Great kings and masters of estates—unassuaged is their thirst—Intoxicated, to Maya are they clinging, their eyes deprived of sight. (1)
From worldly pleasures none ever obtained satisfaction :
As fire that by fuel is not extinguished,
Without devotion to the Lord how may satisfaction come ? (Pause)
Of those consuming daily numerous viands is the hunger not satisfied.
Like a cur are they rushing about in all four directions in quest of gain. (2)
The philanderer lusting after numerous women,
Inroads[1] in others' homes does not give up.
What he daily does only brings regrets—
In sorrow and greed shrivelled up. (3)

1. Seeking.

The Name Divine is beyond extent and value,
Sole treasure of amrita.
Spontaneous joy and bliss in the home of devotees lies :
This Nanak from the Master has learnt. (4) (6)

Lavai na lāgan kau hai kachhūai jā kau phiri ihu dhāvai

Nothing even remotely compares with joy in God,
from which turning away,
Man may run after anything else.
This amrita is attainable only by such as by the Master are so blessed. (1)
One tasting of this unique joy,
Loses all hunger for consuming aught else :
In the mind firm lodging it takes. (Pause)
One attaining even a single drop of it has mind and body in bloom, flourishing.[1]
Beyond my expression its praise and value. (2)
This boon is obtained not by endeavour or service;[2]
Spontaneously[3] is it attained.
Whoever has the Lord's grace, lives the Master's teaching.[4] (3)
The Lord, compassionate to the humble, ever gracious,
cherishing all creation,
Is to Nanak's being completely[5] attached,
As the mother to the young child. (4) (7)

Bāri jāuṇ Guru apūnei ūpar jini Hari Hari Nāmu driṛhāyā

To the Master am I a sacrifice who the Name Divine
in me has confirmed;
And in the dense[6] dark forest the straight path has shown. (1)
The Lord, Divine Master is our very life—
In this world and the next, of all our concerns mindful. (I-Pause)
In contemplation of Him lie all treasures, honour, greatness and supreme exaltation.
By utterance of His Name millions of sins flee—
Devotees all seek dust of His feet. (2)
Whoever seeks fulfilment of all objectives,
Must serve the Sole Treasure of these—

1. Turned green.
2. 'Endeavour' and 'service' stand for ritual devices of various creeds.
3. Without thought.
4. Mantra (manta).
5. In wrap and woof.
6. Great.

The Supreme Being transcendent, Lord,
Whose contemplation liberation confers.[1] (3)
In holy company have I found shelter, cooling peace and supreme bliss.
Garnering wealth of Divine devotion,
Consuming food of the Name Divine—
Such is Nanak's delectable feast. (4) (8)

Jih karnī hovai sharmindā ihā kamānī rīt

Deeds that bring on shame, dost thou habitually perform : P. 673
Calumny of the holy, veneration of reprobate misbelievers[2]—
To such contrary practice dost thou hold firmly. (1)
Deluded by maya-attachment, to objects other than God
art thou attached.
As in attachment to the mirage-city in sky[3] or green forest leaves, drying soon—
Is Thy life's way. (I-Pause)
Rub sandalwood paste over his body, yet to the ass joy lies in dust.
Man to amrita not inclining, with deluding Maya is in love. (2)
Noble devotees of God, pure and holy, by good fortune alone
In this age are met.
The great boon of human life is purposelessly being wasted,
Bartered away for mere glass.[4] (3)
As the Master to our eyes collyrium of enlightenment applied,
Have fled sins and suffering of multiple births.
Nanak by devotion to the sole Lord
In holy company, from this suffering is extricated. (4) (9)

Pānī pakkhā pīsouṇ sant āgai gūṇa Govind jas gāī

In service of the holy may I draw water, wave the fan, grind corn,
And the Lord's praise sing.
With each breath may my mind the Name contemplate—
Such treasure of joy may I obtain. (1)
Lord ! show me compassion.
Grant me the wisdom ever on Thee to meditate. (I-Pause)
By your grace may attachment and pride be discarded,

1. Takes to the other shore.
2. Sakta.
3. Hari-Chandauri (the city of Gandharbas or Divine choisters in the sky).
4. (Implies by contrast that human life is a jewel).

And delusion be shattered.
The Lord, joy incarnate, pervasive in all creation,
In all places may I behold. (2)
Lord compassionate, gracious, store of grace, purifier of the fallen—
Such are you.
Should you for one instant inspire me your Name to utter,
Millionfold joy, bliss and royal authority would be mine.[1] (3)
Such utterance of God's Name, such austerity and devotion alone is fruitful,
As to the Lord's mind is pleasing.
By contemplation of the Name is all thirst assuaged—
Thus is Nanak satisfied, fulfilled. (4) (10)

Jini kīnei wasi apūnai trai-gūṉa bhavan chatūr sansārā

What before Maya is poor man,
Who the Three Qualities and four corners of the world has subdued;
Who yajnas,[2] holy baths, and centres of austerities has conquered ? (1)
By seeking Divine shelter have I found release from it.
As by grace of the holy Divine praise I sung, was the malady of evil cured. (I-Pause)
Maya neither is heard of, nor seen giving utterance to anything, nor seen deluding any—
Yet by her deluding spell so she misleads
That to the mind of all she tastes sweet. (2)
In each home has she created differenees with mother, father, progeny, friends, brothers :
Some having more, some less—
All with each other are in mortal strife. (3)
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice who this marvel has revealed.
In this hidden fire is the world burning—
Only God's devotees from maya-taint are free.[3] (4)
By grace of the holy have I attained supreme joy;
Snapped are all bonds.

1. I shall obtain.
2. Ritual sacrifices.
3. Maya does not cling to them.

Nanak wealth of the Name Divine has obtained,
That earned, to his home has he brought. (5) (11)

Tüm dātei Thākur pratipālak nāik khasam hamārei

You are Bestower of boons, Lord, cherisher, our superior[1] and master. P. 674
Each instant you cherish us, your children, on you dependent. (1)
With one sole tongue how many of your merits
may I recount ?
Lord above computation and extent, noway can your extent be known. (I-Pause)
Millions of our sins you annul and in innumerable ways instruct us.
Without knowledge, of little understanding are we :
Pray you fulfil your law.[2] (2)
With you we seek shelter; in you lies our hope;
you alone our friend and cherisher.
Lord compassionate, saviour !
Save Nanak, slave of your house. . (3) (12)

Pūjā varat tilak isnānā pünn dān bahu dain

By worship-offering, fasts, paste-marks, ritual baths, charities and much donation—
By no such discipline is the Lord propitiated, who is ever sweet of utterance. (1)
In utterance of the Name Divine lies peace of the self.
All in many ways seek Him—
Hard is this quest, beyond attainment. (I-Pause) Ritual utterance[3], austerities before fire,[4]
wandering over the earth,
Performance of penance with arms raised aloft skyward—
By these devices is the Lord not propitiated,
Nor by yoga-praxis and Jaina discipline. (2)
Such alone the invaluable ambrosial Name and Divine laudation have attained
As have His grace.

1. Nāik = leader.
2. Bird (Wird, Ar.), customary practice, law.
3. Jāp.
4. Tāp.

As in ecstasy in holy company is the Lord met,
Saith Nanak, in joy is His servant's life's night passed. (3) (13)

Bandhan tei chhūṭkāvai Prabhū milāvai Hari Hari Nām sūnāvai

One that extricating us from bonds, to the Lord unites us,
And the Name Divine into our ears pours;
Makes our mind poised and unshaken,
That nevermore it strays : (1)
Is there any such friend of ours ?
To him would I dedicate all my substance, my heart and consciousness. (I-Pause)
May I never to others' wealth, others' womenfolk
And calumny be attracted.
In converse with the holy and in Divine laudation may my mind ever keep awake. (2)
Lord, treasure of merit, gracious, giver out of grace, all joy !
Nanak in charity begs for Thy Name
As from the mother the child. (3) (14)

Hari Hari līnei Sant ūbāri

His devotees the Lord succours;
Whoever His servant's harm[1] contemplates,
the Lord destroys him. (I-Pause)
His servant's helper is He Himself; traducers discomfited flee;
Straying, at that spot they die—nevermore returning home.[2] (1)
Nanak with the Shatterer of Suffering has taken refuge,
Ever singing the Lord's endless laudation.
Before God[3] and in the world
Is the traducer's face blackened. (2) (15)

Ab Hari rākhan hāru chitāriyā

The Lord, saviour, have I now contemplated,
Who in an instant has purified the fallen, and the entire malady annulled. (I-Pause)
In dialogue with the holy, lust, wrath and greed have been destroyed.

1. Evil happening.
2. Also interpreted as : Wandering in transmigration they die, nevermore entering the Divine Essence.
3. Lit. In the court of faith and the world. (Hindi-Punjabi idiom).

By contemplation of the Lord, perfection incarnate, P. 675 are all my associates saved.[1] (1)
One sole remedy of the mind is this basic creed[2], to lodge in mind faith in the Lord.
For dust of feet of the holy Nanak yearns ever—
To them is he again and again a sacrifice. (2) (16)

Merā lāgo Rama siūṇ heitu

To the Lord is my love attached.
The holy Preceptor ever is my helper,
Who the banner of suffering has cut down. (I-Pause)
By prop of his arm[3] has He protected me as his own,
And all my suffering annulled.
Traducers' faces has He blackened,
And to His servant given succour. (1)
The holy Lord our protector has become,
And attaching us to His bosom[4] has saved us.
Saith Nanak : By chanting Divine praise have we become free from fear,
And joy imperishable experienced. (2) (17)

Aukhadhu Tero Nāmu Dayāl

Compassionate Lord, Thy Name is my medicine,
In suffering have I not realized your[5] greatness—
Yourself pray cherish me ! (I-Pause)
Lord ! in Thy grace annul in me feelings of duality.
Snapping our bonds, make us your own,
That discomfiture never we suffer. (1)
In Thy shelter find I life—Thou the Supreme Being,
almighty, gracious.
Day and night[6] Nanak devotedly the Lord contemplates—
Ever to Him a sacrifice. (2) (18)

---

1. Taken across the water.
2. Mūl Mantra (This term has been adapted also to designate the opening words of the holy Granth).
3. Hand.
4. Neck.
5. Thy.
6. All eight pahars.

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hā hā Prabh rākh lehu

Fallen into regrets I wail[1] : Lord ! save me.
Nothing, Lord, have I power to accomplish;
In Thy grace grant devotion to Thy Name. (I-Pause)
In the ocean of the world, made up of fire of attachment to family,
Am I through doubt, attachment and ignorance,
In darkness enveloped. (1)
Man sometimes is in a high state, sometimes in low,
Moving between pleasure and pain—
His thirst and hunger[2] never satisfied. (2)
By the mind's absorption in passion has arisen malady of evil—
With me are the five agents of evil intractable. (3)
This life, the whole world, our breath, wealth—
all is Thine.
Nanak ! know the Lord ever to be by Thee. (4) (1.19)

Dīn-dard nivār Thākūr rākhai jana kī āpi

The Lord, annuller of suffering of the humble,
Himself His servant's honour protects.
The Lord is the ship to row across, the treasure—
Under his shelter suffering afflicts not the devotee. (1)
In holy company on the Lord meditate.
No other discipline is visible—
By this endeavour annul suffering of the Kali Age. (Pause)
The compassionate Lord, perfection incarnate, in the beginning and end of time pervasive—
None other than He is real.
Utter the Name of the Lord, annuller of transmigration;
Contemplate the Master. (2)
Vedas, Simritis, Shastras[3] expound religion;
God's devotees too contemplate it—
Yet liberation from joining holy company comes,
And darkness shattered. (3)
The Divine lotus feet are the devotee's prop—

1. The original has an interjection of pain : Alas ! alas.
2. Used metaphorically.
3. (See Glossary).

This his sole wealth and capital.
The holy court their source of strength and honour;
Saith Nanak, the Lord is my shelter. (4) (2.20)

Phirat phirat bheṭei jana Sādhū pūrai Guru samjhāiyā

After much wandering was met the holy man. P. 676
The Master, perfectly-endowed then instructed me thus :
None of the other devices is any use.
So on the Name Divine I meditated. (1)
Thereafter with the Lord took I refuge.
With the Lord, perfection incarnate, I sought shelter,
Whereby were all Yama's snares shattered. (Pause)
Heaven, the mortal world, the nether world and regions of the earth,
All beheld I to be Maya-gripped.
Liberator of the self and of man's whole family
Is meditation on the Name Divine. (2)
Saith Nanak : By chanting the immaculate Name
Are obtained all treasures.[1]
This by the Lord's grace comes—
Rare are those realizing this. (3) (3.21)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Quartets

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Chhoḍi jāhi sei kareh parāl

For the worthless objects that thou must leave behind, dost thou make effort.
These are snares that are of no use.
What shall not accompany thee, with that art thou in love.
What is thy foe, that hast thou made thy friend. (1)
In such illusions is the world lost.
Thoughtless man is wasting boon of his birth. (I-Pause)
Truth and righteousness man wishes not to behold;
To falsehood and fraud is he deeply attached.
Man loves the gift and the Divine Donor has forgotten,
And entertains not the thought of death. (2)
For objects not his own he endeavours,[2]

1. Spiritual boons are implied.
2. Do, make effort for.

And all his meritorious deeds and piety he forfeits.
Man realizes not the Divine Ordinance of transmigration.
Committing sins, later into regrets he falls. (3)
What pleases Thee is to us acceptable.
To Thy Ordinance are we a sacrifice.
The humble Nanak is Thy slave, Thy servant.
Lord ! save him. (4) (1.22)

Mohi maskīn Prabhu Nāmu adhāru

To me, humble one, is the Name Divine the prop.
Devotion to God is my occupation.
The Name Divine alone is what I garner,
That in this world and the next shall stand in good stead. (1)
God's devotees, in limitless Divine devotion absorbed,
The Sole Supreme Being's laudation chant. (Pause)
The best attribute of devotees is humility.
Their greatness is contemplation of Divine merits.
The devotees' bliss is devotion to the Lord—
In their joy anxiety lies shattered. (2)
There where God's devotees forgather,
In song and verse Divine devotion they sing
In holy company lies bliss and poise :
Such find their company as have this fortune[1] writ on the forehead. (3)
With folded hands I pray,
Washing feet of the holy, I utter Name of the Store of Merit.
In abiding presence of the Lord compassionate, gracious
May Nanak live cherishing dust of feet of the holy. (4) (2.23)

So kat ḍarai ji khasamu samhārai

Why should one contemplating the Lord be afraid ? P. 677
Poor egoists in fear are exhausted. (I-Pause)
Over our head stands the Divine Master, our mother and father, Whose holy service is bringer of blessing.
Whoever has the immaculate Lord as his sole capital,
In holy company enlightenment attains. (1)
The Bestower of boons to creation is all-pervasive.
By the Name Divine are effaced all afflictions.
Feld is his suffering of transmigration,

1. Karma (fortune made by good deeds).

In whose mind and body by the Master's guidance is lodged the Lord. (2)
Whoever by the Lord Himself to His sash is attached,[1]
A place at the Divine portal finds.
Such alone are true devotees as to the holy Eternal are pleasing :
These from Yama, agent of death, are exempt. (3)
Holy is the Lord, holy His court—
His worth none may compute and express.
Abiding in each being, of each is He prop.
Nanak dust of feet of the holy seeks.[2] (4) (3.24)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ghari bāhari Terā bharwāsā Tūṇ jana kai haiṇ sangi

At home and outside of home in Thee is my trust;
Ever with Thy servant art Thou.
Beloved Lord ! in Thy grace grant
That the Name Divine in ecstasy I contemplate. (1)
God's servant in the Lord feels his strength.
Lord ! whatever Thou dost, that dispensation to me is acceptable. (Pause)
The Supreme Lord[3] is our honour, the Lord[4] our liberation;
Our wealth, narrative of Divine[5] merits.
Nanak, servant of God at the Divine feet seeks shelter—
Thus have the holy realized. (2) (1.25)

Sagal manorath Prabh tei pāe kaṇṭhi lāe Guri rākhei

All objectives from the Lord have I attained :
The Master clasping us to his bosom,[6] has saved us.
In the ocean of the world has he saved us from burning;[7]
None has thereafter called it impassable.[8] (1)
Those cherishing in mind true faith,
Beholding the Lord's glory ever are in bliss and ecstasy. (Pause)
With feet of the Lord, perfection incarnate,
Controller of the self, ever manifest,

1. Attaching to sash = taking under protection.
2. Begs.
3. Parameshvar.
4. Narayan.
5. Of Gopal.
6. Neck.
7. (This is the ocean of fire).
8. (This line is also interpreted as : "None has uttered to us a harsh word").

Have we sought shelter.
Saith Nanak : The Lord, discerningly[1] has made such his own,
And the roots of His devotees preserved. (2) (2.26)

Jeh jeh pekhouṇ teh hazūri dūri katuh na jāi

Wherever I behold, is the Lord's presence—
Never goes He out of sight.[2]
In all creation pervasive—with my mind ever on Him
I meditate. (1)
Our true companion is the joy which in this world and the next leaves us not alone.
Pleasures that in an instant are shattered, inconsiderable may be reckoned. (Pause)
He cherishes us and gives us sustenance—His bounty never falling short.
With each breath the Lord looks after us. (2)
The Lord is beyond delusion or destruction;[3] transcendent—
Lofty His aspect;
His servants have joy contemplating Him who is wondrous, beyond compare. (3)
Lord compassionate, grant me the wisdom on Thee lovingly to meditate— P. 678 Lord ! Nanak in charity seeks dust of feet of the holy. (4) (3.27)

Jini tüm bhejei Tineh bülāe sükh sahaj setī ghari āo

*He that sent you has called you back :
With joyful poise return home.
In equable tone with joy and happiness sing Divine praise,
And enjoy the rulership imperishable. (1)
Friend[4] ! return you home :
Your ill-wishers has the Lord eliminated;
Ended is your affliction. (Pause)
The Divine Saviour our glory has proclaimed[5]—
Ended is our rushing about.

1. That is, in His supreme wisdom.
2. Far.
3. Not penetrated (as by weapons).
Note : This hymn has a historical background, referring to Guru Arjan Dev's temporary sojourn away from Amritsar when menace from Sulahi Khan loomed large. After some time the Guru returned to Amritsar.
4. Said to refer to the child Hargobind.
5. Lit. Made manifest.

In our house and home rises sound of jubilation,
As by the Lord are we exalted. (2)
Taking prop of the Master's Word,
Abide ever unshaken; be never perturbed.
Over the world shall resound your glory;
At the Divine Court shall your face be radiant. (3)
He whose creatures we are, has altered our state of suffering—
Himself has He become our helper.
Wondrous is the Creator's doing :
Holy His greatness. (4) (4.28)

In the measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 6

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sūnuh sant piyārei binou hamārei jīo

Beloved devotees of God ! listen to this my supplication;
Without devotion to God is no liberation found. (Pause)
My self ! in deeds of purity engage thyself.
The Lord is the liberator : of no use to thee are other entanglements.
The true life is to serve the Divine Supreme Being—
This teaching the holy Preceptor to me has imparted. (1)
Attach not your heart to what is of no worth,
And at the last goes not with us.
With mind and body to God be devoted, thou beloved saint of God—
By union with whom shall thy bonds be snapped. (2)
Take shelter with the transcendent Lord, in your heart lodge His lotus feet—
On no other shelter[1] fix your hope.
Saith Nanak : He alone becomes a devotee, enlightened, of profound meditation,
To whom God shows grace. (3) (1.29)

Merei lāl bhalo rei bhalo rei bhalo Hari manganā

Beloved ! best of all is to seek the Lord.
Look with eyes wide open; listen to words of the holy :
Cherish in mind the Lord of life—all one day
have to die. (Pause)

1. Patal = curtain, screen (with reference to its providing cover and shelter).

Man in fragrance of sandalwood and attar indulges,
And in numerous poisonous evils, that all are tasteless;
The Name Divine solely is good—
This the holy proclaim.
Man reckons the body and wealth his own;
for an instant has he not contemplated the Lord.
Behold ! wealth and substance with him shall not go. (1)
Whoever has good fortune,[1] shelter and refuge of the holy has grasped,
In holy company such by Yama are not tormented.
The Supreme Treasure have I obtained; effaced is my egoism. P. 679
Saith Nanak : Now solely to the formless Supreme Being is my mind attached. (2) (2.30)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 7
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Hari eku simari eku simari eku simari pyārei
Cherished one ! contemplate solely the Lord.
This shall eliminate afflictions, avarice and attachment,
And carry you across the vast[2] ocean of existence. (Pause)
With each breath, each instant, day and night
the Lord contemplate.
Contemplate Him uninterruptedly in company of the holy,
who in mind the Divine Treasure have lodged. (1)
Contemplating Divine attributes, at the Lord's lotus feet bow.
Saith Nanak : Dust of feet of the holy bliss and joy grants. (2) (1.31)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Duos
SCORE 8
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Simrau simari simari sūkh pāwou sāsi sāsi samhālei
By constant contemplation of God obtain joy; with each breath remember Him.

1. That is, as a reward for good karma.
2. Great.

This deed in this world and the next shall your helper be—
In all spots your succourer. (1)
The Master's Word with the self abides—
Water drowns it not, nor thief steals, nor fire consumes. (I-Pause)
To the destitute is it as wealth, as stick to the blind—
Like mother's milk to the babe.
Saith Nanak : In the ocean of existence God's Name have I found the ship,
As the Lord His grace manifested. (2) (1.32)

Bhaye kripāl dayāl Gobindā amritu ridai sinchāī

As the Lord showed grace and compassion, in my heart was showered amrita :
Then the Nine Treasures[1] and miraculous powers[2]
to God's devotee's feet came to cling. (1)
God's devotees in all spots have bliss :
The devotees' Lord in all places[3] and spots is pervasive. (I-Pause)
None can harm[4] him whose helper is the Lord.
Saith Nanak : I contemplate the Name whose remembrance
Yama's terror annuls. (2) (2.33)

Darabwantu darabu dekhi garbai bhūmwantu abhimānī

The wealthy at sight of their wealth are proud, owners of estates proud also.
As takes the monarch all territories to be his,
So is God's servant's support the Lord. (1)
Should a person His true power to shelter realize,
Would he act as be his power, and not be found wanting in endeavour. (I-Pause)
Discarding all else, to the sole Lord's shelter have we come—
To seek His shelter arrived.
By grace of the holy is my mind purified,
And Nanak the Lord's merits has chanted. (2) (3.34)

Jā kau Hari rangu lāgo isu jūg mehṇ so kahīyat hai sūrā

In this age such alone are designated as true heroes, P. 680
As in love of the Lord are dyed.[5]

1. See Glossary.
2. Riddhi and Siddhi.
3. At home and outside.
4. Lit. Approach.
5. Rang implies love as well as dye (dye of devotion).

One instructed by a holy Preceptor perfectly-endowed,
Conquers the self, and thereby subdues all else. (1)
The Lord's laudation by joy in self is sung :
By meditation on His Name is obtained His shelter,
And in perfect poise is one absorbed. (I-Pause)
Love of God's devotees' feet in my heart is lodged;
In their company is my body rendered pure.
Lord, treasure of grace ! grant dust of feet of Thy servant—
Herein lies Nanak's joy. (2) (4.35)

Jatan karai mānukh ḍehkāvai uhu antarjāmī jānai

Man to defraud others[1] makes endeavour—this to the Lord, controller of the self is known.
Committing sins, yet these he denies, and makes pose of holiness. (1)
Lord ! man takes you to be far, yet near you abide.
In various directions man casts his glance of greed,
And to seek worldly wealth again and again returns. (Pause)
While doubt persists[2] in mind, none gets liberated.
Saith Nanak : Whoever has the Lord's grace, is a true devotee and saint. (2) (5.36)

Nāmu Guri dīo hai apūnai jā kai mastaki karmā

The Master to such of his devotees devotion to the Name
has granted,
As have good fortune on their forehead writ.
To confirm devotion to the Name, to inspire others
to its utterance,
In this age is his[3] true sacred duty. (1)
To God's devotees in the Name lies exaltation and repute.
In devotion to the Name lies the devotee's liberation, in the Name his honour—
All that happens he accepts as Divine will. (I-Pause)
Whoever has wealth of the Name, is truly wealthy.
Devotion to the Name is Nanak's commerce and prop;
From the Name is derived his gain. (2) (6.37)

Netra punīt bhaye daras pekhei māthai parou rawāl

My eyes at sight of the Lord are purified—

1. Human beings.
2. Is not shattered.
3. Implies the Master (Guru).

May dust of His feet on my forehead fall.
May I sing in ecstasy the Lord's laudation.
Lord ! come in my heart to abide. (1)
You are the gracious preserver;
All beauty, wisdom, without limit, father—
Lord ! your grace show me. (I-Pause)
Your aspect full of supreme bliss and weal;
Your utterance incomparable, joyful.
Nanak the Divine Preceptor's feet in his heart has lodged,
And the Master's Word with himself ever carries. (2) (7.38)

Apnī ūkati khalāvai bhojan apnī ūkati khelāvai

By His own device the Lord provides us sustenance;
by His own device engages us in play;
All joys, delights of palate He grants,
And in our self is pervasive. (1)
The Preserver of the world, gracious, is our father—
Cherishing us as the mother the child. (I-Pause)
Our companion, friend, master of all merits is the Lord—
Eternally lasting Divine Being.
In all directions and spots is your Presence alone—
Pray grant to Nanak service of the holy. (2) (8.39)

Sant Kripāl dayāl Damodar kāma krodh bikh jārei

As God's devotees' grace I had, came grace of the Lord,
And burnt were lust, wrath and evil.
Royal power, substance, beauty, body and self to them may I sacrifice ! (1)
With mind and body love the Name Divine :
Thus with spontaneous joy, bliss and felicity shall you cross the ocean of existence. (Pause)
Blessed are the spots, the abodes where abide God's devotees. P. 681
Lord ! fulfil your servant Nanak's wish :
To Thy devotees obeisance he makes. (2) (9.40)

Chhaḍāe līo mahā-balī tei apnei charan parāti

From the supremely mighty Maya has the Lord extricated us by inspiring worship of His feet.[1]
In my mind has He lodged incantation[2] of the Sole Name,
That ever is imperishable. (1)

---

1. Making us fall at His feet.
2. Mant (Mantra).

The holy Preceptor this boon has granted :
To sing laudation of the Lord has He imparted the Name Divine,
That liberation has brought. (Pause)
The Lord His devotees has cherished, and their honour protected.
Nanak clasping the Lord's feet has obtained joy everlasting.[1] (2) (10.41)

Par harnā lobhu jhūṭh nind iv hī karat gūdārī

In snatching others' property, in avarice, falsehood, slander
Is our life passed.
By pursuing mirages, false hopes that appear sweet
Have we propped our mind. (1)
Fruitlessly wasted is the misbeliever's[2] life :
Like a mouse nibbling at loads of paper that to this ignorant one are no use. (Pause)
In your grace, Supreme Lord, of this bond[3] release us !
Saith Nanak : The blind that are sinking,
By granting them company of the holy, you extricate. (2) (11.42)

Simari simari swāmī Prabhu apnā sītal tanu manu chhātī

Contemplate ever the Lord; thereby make your body, mind and heart joyful :
The Supreme Being is to me beauty, joy, happiness, wealth of the self,
And high caste. (1)
My tongue with joy of Divine elixir is intoxicated—
In joy of the Lord dyed.
The Lord's lotus feet are my treasure-bags. (Pause)
The Lord, whose servant I am has protected me—
Such is the Lord's flawless[4] way.
The Lord, Bestower of joy, to Himself has united me,
And Nanak's honour protected. (2) (12.43)

Dūt dūshman sabh Tūjh tei nivarehṇ pragaṭ prātapu Tūmhārā

Lord ! all agents of evil and foes by Thee are eliminated—
Thus is Thy glory manifested.
Whoever your devotees oppresses, instantly by you is destroyed. (1)

---

1. Each day and night.
2. Sakta.
3. That is, attachment to the world.
4. Perfect.

Lord ! ever towards you is my gaze fixed.[1]
Lord[2] ! succour your servant; Divine friend ! my arm grasp,
That liberation I may find. (Pause)
The Lord my supplication heard, and Himself protected me.
Saith Nanak : By constant contemplation of the Lord
Were we joy-filled and fled were our sorrows. (2) (13.44)

Chatūr dishā kino balu apnā sir ūpari karu dhāriyo

In all four directions has the Lord manifested His might,
And over our head placed His hand.[3]
With His glance of grace has He looked at me,
And His servant's sorrow annulled. (1)
The Divine Master His servants has succoured.
The Master compassionate, forgiving, to His bosom has clasped them,
And all their sufferings effaced. (Pause)
Whatever the servant of the Lord seeks, that He grants him.
Whatever His servant Nanak's utterance, in this world and the next
Is fulfilled.[4] (2) (14.45)

Aukhī gharī na dekhaṇ deīṇ apnā birdu samālei

Lord ! give me not a moment of hardship[5] to see— P. 682
Thy own customary grace[6] bring to mind :
With strength of Thy arm[7] Thy servant dost Thou succour,
With each breath cherishing him. (1)
To the Lord is my heart attached.
In primal time, at end of time is the Lord our succourer—
Blessed be this Divine friend ! (Pause)
Joyful was my heart beholding the Lord's wondrous glory.
Nanak ! contemplating the Lord, live thou in joy—
The Lord our honour fully has protected. (2) (15.46)

Jis kau bisrai prānpati dāta soī ganuh abhāgā

Whoever of the Bestower, Lord of life, is forgetful, Unlucky may be reckoned.

---

1. (That is, in hope of succour).
2. Murari = Krishna, imploying God.
3. (A mark of protection).
4. Proves true.
5. Implies suffering at Yama's hands.
6. Bird (Wird) = settled way, Law.
7. Hand.

Whoever for the Lord's lotus feet has conceived love,
In pool of amrita is drenched. (1)
Thy servant in joy of the Name Divine is awakened.
Gone is all sloth from the self—the heart to the Divine Beloved is attached. (Pause)
Wherever I look, the Lord I behold—in all beings pervasive.
Nanak, servant of God, water of the Name has quaffed,
And all other pleasures discarded. (2) (16.47)

Jana kei pūran hoe kām

Fulfilled are objectives of this servant of the Lord :
Amid the mighty poison of Kali Yuga the Lord his honour has protected. (I-Pause)
The Lord you contemplate—thereby shall Yama not approach you.
Liberation and heaven in holy company lies : thus has God's servant found the Divine Mansion. (1)
The Lord's Lotus feet are His servant's store[1] of wealth,
Wherein lie millions of joys in poise.
Day and night the Lord you contemplate,
To whom is Nanak ever a sacrifice. (2) (17.48)

Māngouṇ Rama tei iku dānu

One boon I beg of the Lord :
May I contemplate your Name, whereby shall my objectives be fulfilled. (I-Pause)
May your feet in my heart be lodged; may I attain holy company.
May my mind never by fire of sorrow be gripped—
Day and night your laudation may I chant. (1)
In times of joy the Lord may I serve; in middle years and the last the Lord's Name may I utter.
Saith Nanak : Engaged in joy of God, never may I be born or die. (2) (18.49)

Māngouṇ Rama tei sabhi thok

All boons from the Lord alone I seek :
To beg anything of man brings only exhaustion;
In contemplation of the Lord lies liberation. (I-Pause)
Simritis[2] and Puranas[3] compiled by sages have I studied;

1. Bag, pouch.
2. Codes of ritual.
3. Mythological scriptures.

Studied also the Vedas.
All proclaim : By service of the Divine Ocean of grace
Is obtained truth, whereby comes joy in both worlds. (1)
All ceremonial and doing other than Divine contemplation is hollow.
Saith Nanak : In holy company is annulled fear
of transmigration,[1]
And shattered are all sorrows. (2) (19.50)

Trishnā būjhai Hari kai Nāmi

By the Name Divine is desire assuaged—
By the Master's Word is induced the supreme content,
And the mind fully in the Lord's meditation
absorbed. (I-Pause)
Lord compassionate to the humble ! show grace that Maya's mighty antics be ended.[2] P. 683
Grant Thy Name, which contemplating, may I find life,
And Thy servant's endeavour be fruitful. (1)
In singing and utterance of the Name lies fulfilment of all objectives,
Joy of rulership, all pleasures and happiness.
Saith Nanak : The servant in whose destiny is this by the Creator in primal time recorded,
Has all his objectives fulfilled. (2) (20.51)

Jana kī kīnī Pār-Brahm sār

His servant the Supreme Being has looked after.
Traducers not a jot of[3] content find—fruitlessly have they departed. (I-Pause)
Wherever I look, is the Lord :
No foe therefore, can approach me.
Whoever God's servant has disregarded
Instantly to ashes is turned. (1)
The Creator without limit and extent is our protector.
Saith Nanak : The Lord His servants has protected,
And their traducers in ignominy driven out. (2) (21.52)

---

1. Birth and death.
2. Extinguished.
3. Not a bit.

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
(To be sung in Variable Rhythm)
SCORE 9

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari charan saran Gobind dükh-bhanjanā dās apünei kau Nāmu devuh

Lord ! shatterer of suffering, shelter of your feet I seek :
To your servant grant devotion to the Name.
Casting your glance of grace, in your grace grant liberation;
Grasping me by the arm, from well of suffering
extricate me. (Pause)
By lust and wrath is man blinded, by Maya put in bonds;
With innumerable sins is his body's vesture filled.
Other than the Lord is no succourer;
Mighty[1] protector ! inspire utterance of your Name. (1)
Lord Protector of the fallen, saviour of all beings !
Even those reciting Vedas your extent have not realized.
Ocean of merit and joy ! mine of jewels !
Saith Nanak : As beloved of your devotees are your lauded. (2) (1.53)

Halati sükhu palati sükhu nit sükhu simarano Nāmu Gobind kā sadā lījai

By contemplation of the Lord comes joy in this world
and the next—
Ever the Lord's Name you utter.
Thus are sins committed over long ages annulled—
In holy company the dead[2] too find life. (I-Pause) Royal authority, beauty of youth, of the Lord make one forgetful;
In Maya lies great suffering—
Thus the enlightened[3] declare.
From the Lord is obtained the boon of yearning for God,
And joy in Divine laudation. (1)
Inexpressible, unknowable Lord, saviour of the fallen !
With Thy almighty Name seek I shelter.

1. Heroic provider of shelter.
2. Used symbolically—the spiritually dead.
3. Mahant (great ones).

All-pervasive is Nanak's Master,
Controller of the self, Lord. (2) (2.54)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 12
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bandanā Hari bandanā gūna gāwuh Gopāl Rāi

Making obeisance to the Lord, the Divine Monarch's laudation you sing. (Pause)
By great good fortune is met the enlightened Preceptor.
In service of the Lord are millions of sins annulled. (1) P. 684
Whoever in love of the Lord's lotus feet is dyed,
Fire of suffering touches him not. (2)
In holy company is the ocean of existence crossed.
In Divine love contemplate the Name that fearless renders. (3)
Thereafter approaches not sin of coveting others' wealth,
Nor evil-doing;
Nor does brutal Yama have access. (4)
The Lord Himself the fire of desire[1] has assuaged.
Saith Nanak : Under the Lord's shelter are we saved. (5) (1.55)

Tripati bhayee Sachu bhojan khāiyā

As with absorption of mind and body and tongue on the Lord's Name I have meditated,
Am I fulfilled, and in holy feasting indulged. (1)
True life is life in God :
In contemplation of God in holy company lies true life. (I-Pause)
Singing the Lord's merits day after day
Is enjoyment of raiment of various kinds. (2)
In beholding the Lord's path with absorption of heart.
Lies enjoyment of riding elephants, chariots and steeds. (3)
In meditation on the Divine feet in absorption of mind and body,
Has Nanak, servant of God, obtained the Lord, treasure of joy. (4) (2.56)

Guru kei charan jīya kā nistārā

By devotion to the Master's feet is the self liberated.
In an instant have these taken it across the great[2] ocean of existence. (I-Pause)

1. Thirst.
2. Samund, Sagar both standing for ocean, yield such an emphasis.

Some ritual actions have performed, some at holy spots-bathed—
God's servants on the Name Divine alone have meditated.
Nanak, servant of God, contemplates the Lord,
Annuller of bonds, controller of the inner self. (2) (3.57)

Kitai prakāri na tūtou preeti

May the way of Thy servant's life be pure,
That noway His love for Thee be snapped. (I-Pause)
The Lord, beloved above self, life, mind and wealth,
On egoism puts restraints. (1)
This is Nanak's prayer :
To the Lord's lotus feet may my love be attached ! (2) (4.58)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kāhei rei ban khojan jāī

Why to seek Him dost thou go into wild places[1] ?
The Lord abiding in all, immaculate, within thee is pervasive. (I-Pause)
As fragrance in the rose, and reflection in the mirror,
Does the Lord in the self abide : there seek him, brother. (1)
Within and without know, the Lord alone abides—this truth
by the Master is revealed.
Saith Nanak; servant of God : Without realization of the self
Is not effaced impurity of illusion. (2) (1)

Sādho ihu jagu bharam bhūlānā

Devotees of God ! this world in illusion is lost.
Discarding contemplation of the Name Divine, to Maya is it sold. (I-Pause)
With mother, father, brother, progeny and wife is it involved. P. 685
Lord ! in intoxication of beauty, wealth and power day and night is it maddened. (1)
To the Lord compassionate to the humble, shatterer of suffering is it not devoted.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : One in a million,
Turning Godwards,[2] the Supreme Being has realized. (2) (2)

1. Lit. Forest.
2. Gurumukh.

Tin jogī kau jūgati na jānou

Know not such a yogi to be aware of true praxis,
In whose heart you behold avarice, attachment
And attraction[1] for pelf. (I-Pause)
One that from slander or flattery[2] of others is free,
And holds iron and gold alike;
Is above joy and sorrow—
Call such a one alone a yogi. (1)
Whoever the restless mind rushing in ten directions, has poised and restrained,
Saith Nanak : Know you such a person to be liberated. (2) (3)

Ab maiṇ kaunu upāu karouṇ

What effort shall I now make Whereby the mind's doubt may be lifted and the ocean of existence be crossed ? (I-Pause)
After attaining human birth no good have I done—
Of this am I greatly in fear;
By thought,[3] word, action the Lord's praise have I not sung—
This is what puts my self in apprehension. (1)
By the Master's teaching no enlightenment have I acquired,
And like a beast only my belly filled.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord ! consider Thy own law of grace[4]—
Then alone may I, fallen one, be saved.[5] (2) (4)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Guru Sāgaru ratnīṇ bharpūrei

The Divine Master is the lake full of pearls :
Therefrom God's devotees pick up amrita, never from it straying far :
Picking up elixir of joy in God, to Him are they pleasing.

1. Desire for possession.
2. Praise.
3. Mind.
4. Bird (Wird, Ar.) Law, custom.
5. Swim across.

In this ocean these swans[1] find the Lord of life. (1)
What is the wretched stork[2], splashing in a puddle;[3]
Sinking in mud—his impurity goes not. (I-Pause)
The thoughtful person takes each step after great consideration.
Discarding duality, becoming worshipper of the Formless Supreme Being,
Tasting of the boon of liberation and joy in God.
Such are saved by the Master, their transmigration annulled. (2)
The swans[1] leave not the lake ever—
Engaged in loving devotion, in poise are they absorbed.
In the Lake is the swan,[1] in the swan[1] the Lake;
Ever cherishing the inexpressible discourse, honouring
the Master's teaching. (3)
In the sphere undisturbed of Maya[4] abides a Yogi,[5]
Neither female nor male—how may He be described ?
The three worlds in His Light keep absorbed.
Godly men and supreme yogis with the holy Eternal seek shelter. (4)
He is source of all joy, prop of the helpless;
The God-directed by devotion spontaneously arisen
contemplate Him.
Beloved of your devotees, annuller of fear—Suppressing egoism, is the seeker to you united and your path treads. (5) P. 686
Despite innumerable ritual devices, death's torment goes not.
Man with death in destiny recorded, into the mortal sphere has arrived.
Caught in duality man wastes the boon of life—
Not realizing the self, in straying he wails. (6)
Should man's faith be fixed in the fourth state of Absorption,[6]
The mind then rests in poise, righteousness[7] and the Divine universal prop;
One sole Reality then he discourses of, studies and absorbs by listening—
Continence, purity and self-restraint filling his heart. (7)

1. Symbol for the devotee.
2. Symbol for the worldly-minded.
3. Symbol for worldliness.
4. Sunn-Mandal (The sphere wherein is eternal poise).
5. Implies God.
6. (Fourth line placed first in rendering).
7. Dharma.

Those purified by the holy Eternal are pure;
impurity touches them not.
By the Master's teaching their doubt and fear flee.
Nanak yearns for sight of the Eternal form
That is Primal, beyond compare. (8) (1)

Sahaji milai miliyā parwāṇu

Seeking union by poise alone is truly approved—
Such nevermore are subjected to death or transmigration.
In the Lord is absorbed His servant; in the servant is the Lord Himself.
Wherever I took, none other I behold. (1)
By the Master's guidance are attained devotion and poise :
Without the Master's guidance[1] is one subjected to death and transmigration. (I-Pause)
Adopt the preceptor who in the mind confirms truth;
Inspires utterance of the unutterable and by the holy Word brings about union.
No other pursuit engages God's devotees :
The holy Lord and Truth to such a one are dear. (2)
The mind in his body abides; in the mind abides
the holy Eternal—
To the Eternal united, in Him is he absorbed.
The devotee at the Lord's feet falls,
With whom the Master, perfectly-endowed, finds union and to it leads others. (3)
Himself He grants the vision, Himself the Beholder.
By hatha[2] is the Lord not propitiated, nor by numerous sectarian garbs.
The mind in devotion to the Lord is absorbed,
Who fashioning vessels,[3] into them poured amrita. (4)
Those studying much stray[4] and chastisement receive.
Too much cleverness only brings on transmigration.
The servent of God by the Master's guidance in the Lord is absorbed;
Contemplating the Name, consumes sustenance of His fear. (5)

1. Meeting.
2. The path of Yoga by praxis.
3. Image for beings.
4. Implies wandering in shaken beliefs.

Those worshipping stones and residing at bathing spots and in forests;
Wandering, turning away from the world[1]—
Still is their mind impure : how may it acquire purity ?
Whoever to Truth is united, alone obtains honour. (6)
Beloved Lord ! in your grace to a Preceptor unite me,[2]
Who with noble conduct and contemplation should be endowed,
Who since primal time should bear a mind poised and restful,
And in the twinkling of his lotus eye save millions. (7)
Lord ! to whom shall we relate Thy laudation ?
No other than Thy self exists.
Keep us obedient to Thy will as may please Thee.
May Nanak in spontaneous poise chant Thy praise. (8) (2)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadi (Octet)

SCORE 6

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jojo jūnī āiyo tih tih ürjhāiyo mana janam sanjogi pāiyā
Whoever has taken birth, in it was entangled—
By a lucky conjunction[3] was the human birth attained.
God's devotees have His shelter solely :
Divine King ! in your grace succour us by the strength of your arm and to yourself unite us. (1)
After wandering through innumerable births still have we not attained rest.[4]
I shall serve, fall at the feet of any who the Lord's path to me points. (I-Pause) P. 687 Innumerable special efforts for Maya-attainment I make;
which in my mind I cherish.
In running after covetousness is my life ever passed.
Would that a holy one I meet who all my anxiety sheds,
And to the Lord in love attaches me. (2)
All the Vedas have I studied; still the distance[5] from the Lord is not removed,

1. Udās = one turned away from the world.
2. Lit. Grant a meeting with.
3. Conjunction of stars implied.
4. Implies cessation of transmigration.
5. Difference, distinction.

And the five evils settled in my heart make no pause in their activity.
Would that I were to meet a devotee, from Maya-taint free
Who the Name ambrosial in my heart sprinkles. (3)
Bathing at holy spots has only brought involvement with impurity of egoistic understanding;
By these is not the Lord of my self pleased a whit.[1]
When shall I attain holy company and eternal joy in God, Whereby my mind by collyrium of enlightenment
may be purified ? (4)
All the states[2] of life have I observed; still is my heart not resting in faith—
Like one without realization washing his body.
Yearn I for company of a godly being, dyed in devotion to God,
Who my mind's filth of foul understanding may remove. (5)
Bound in ritual acts of piety, for an instant to the Lord
am I not attached—
All this in pride done; with God is it of no account.
The holy man fulfiller of desires, ever in Divine laudation engaged—
A rare one by the Master's grace with his eyes beholds. (6)
One acting from stubbornness of spirit not a grain of merit earns;
Involved in Maya-pursuit, like the stork,
false his show of meditation.
Would that I were to meet some bestower of bliss,
who of the Lord may discourse,
By whose contact[3] liberation I may attain. (7)
Should the Divine King be pleased, our Maya-bonds
He may snap,
And my mind in the Master's Word may be dyed.
Imperishable joy have I attained, as to the Lord above fear am I united.
Falling at the Divine feet has Nanak attained joy. (8)
Thrice fruitful is life's pilgrimage :
By touch of the holy is my transmigration annulled.
(I Second Pause) (1.3)

---

1. As much as sesame grain.
2. The four ashramas (stages) of life laid down in the life of a 'twice-born' Hindu.
3. Meeting.

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Chhant (Lyrics)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tīrath nhāwaṉ jāoṉ tīrath Nāmu hai

What good my going off to bathe at holy spots ?
The Name Divine is the true holy spot.
The true holy spot also is contemplation of the holy Word and enlightenment within.
The enlightenment granted by the Master is the true bathing-spot,
The ten[1] holy baths and the sacred tenth of the bright half of Jeth.[2]
The Name Divine ever I beg—Lord, Holder of the earth !
this to me grant.
Afflicted is the world; the holy Name the medicine—
Without truth in impurity is it involved.
The Master's Word is light eternal,
And equals bathing everlastingly at the holy spot. (1)

Sāchi na lāgai mailu kyā malu dhoīyai

The pure no impurity take—what need washing them clean ?
With pearl-string of merits worn round the neck,
what occasion for wailing ?
One that by Divine contemplation subdues the ego, P. 688
Is liberated himself and liberates others,
Nevermore to fall into transmigration.
Such a one is philosopher's stone, in supreme meditation engaged.
Holy himself, to the Eternal pleasing.
In holy joy and bliss daily immersed,
Suffering and sins has be cast off.
Those attaining the holy Name, and having the vision Divine by the Master shown—
Pure in mind, no impurity take. (2)

Sangati mīt milāpu pūrā nhāvaṉo

Union with holy devotees is the true holy bath.
Those chanting Divine laudation, by the holy Word with beauty are invested.

1. The ten days that are considered particularly holy for bathing at sacred spots.
2. The day the holy Ganga is believed to have descended to the earth. Dashara = the tenth holy date. Also, Ganga, annuller of the ten sins.

Those reposing faith in the holy Preceptor, lauding the Eternal, Perform true charities, disburse donations and exercise compassion.
The seeker-female pleasing to the Spouse, in serene contemplation bathing,
In the true triple confluence[1] takes bath.
To the holy Sole Supreme Being be devoted—Thereby with each day shall come bliss ever-increasing.
Liberation in holy company, in congregation of devotees
is attained—
Such company by Divine grace is attained. (3)

Kahaṉu kahai sabhu koe kewaḍu ākhīyai

All discourse of the Lord—how may His extent be stated ?
I, ignorant, low, devoid of knowledge, from the Master's teaching have acquired enlightenment.
Holy is the Master's teaching, ambrosial discourse :
To that is my heart attached.
Beings depart and arrive laden with poison.[2]
The Master by the holy Word unites all to God.
By our discoursing are not diminished the stores of devotion.
Everywhere is the Lord pervasive.
Saith Nanak in supplication : By purification of the mind alone is one rendered holy. (4) (1)

Jīvāṇ Terai Nāeṇ mani ānandu hai jīo

Sire ! as by Thy Name I live, bliss is in my heart.
The Name holiest of the holy is utterance of Divine merits—Merits of the illimitable enlightenment of the Creator, who creates and also dissolves.
As arrives His decree bearing the command sent by Him,
None has power this to turn away.
Himself Creator and cherisher, over each one's head is inscribed His writ—
Of this Himself He grants awareness.
Saith Nanak : Inaccessible, unknowable is the Lord—
By His Name I live. (1)

Tūm sari awaru na koe āiyā jaesī jīo

None, Sire ! like upto Thee—others are born and shall die.
By Thy Ordinance shall the judgement be made,

1. The Tribeni, at Prayag (Allahabad), where Ganga, Jamuna and the mythical Saraswati meet in confluence.
2. Symbolizes sin.

Whereby shall all ignorance be lifted.
The Master by inspiring utterance of the Ineffable,
All doubt removes—
The truth of such in the Divine essence is absorbed.
Himself He creates beings and those that
The Lord of the Ordinance by His Ordinance realize,
Into Himself absorbs.
From the Master is Thy holy truth learnt,
That at the last moment is our self's true friend.
Saith Nanak : Sole is the Lord, without a second—
In devotion to Thy Name lies exaltation. (2)

Tūṇ sacchā sirjanhāru alak sirandiyā jīo

Sire ! Thou art the holy Creator, the Maker inaccessible by our understanding.
One is the Lord, yet, the paths are twain.[1]
That to strife leads :
Two[1] are the paths ordained, all beings to the Ordinance are subject—
Whereby is the world born and dies.
Other than the Name none is our friend—
The world on its head carries a heavy load of poison.
Man by the Ordinance into the world has come, yet of the Ordinance is ignorant.
The Lord for obedience to the Ordinance confers exaltation.
Saith Nanak : The Eternal Creator, Lord, by the holy Word is realized. (3)

Bhagat sohehṇ durwāri shabdi sūhāiyā jīo

Thy devotees in Thy court shine in splendour, by the holy Word exalted;
Making ambrosial utterance, with tongues in joy dyed.
With tongue dyed in joy for the Name they yearn,[2]
On the Master's Word sold.
Those to Thy heart pleasing, contacting this philosopher's stone, P. 689
Turn philosopher's stones themselves.
Such by discarding the ego attain the immortal status—
A rare enlightened one such realization has.

1. These imply the way of devotion and worldliness, of faith and doubt, as also Hinduism and Islam (that is, credal differences).
2. Thirsting.

Saith Nanak : God's devotees at the holy Portal shine in beauty—
Merchants of the holy Eternal. (4)

Bhūkh piyāso āthi kiv dari jāesāṇ Jīo

Sire ! how may I, hungry for pelf, attain the Divine Portal ?
By approaching the Master and soliciting[1] knowledge from him, on the Name may I meditate.
Meditating on the holy Name, may I utter the holy Name,
And by the Master's guidance realize truth.
On the Name of the Lord, cherisher of the humble, compassionate, immaculate
May I discourse ceaselessly.[2]
Such functioning from primal time has the Lord Himself ordained—
Subdued thereby are the ego and the mind's impulses.
Saith Nanak : The Name is the sweet elixir supreme;
By the Name is worldly thirst assuaged. (5) (2)

Pir sangi mūṭhariyei khabari na pāīyā Jīo

Thou woman[3] deluded, with thy Lord by thy side,
Unaware hast thou been of Him.
In this hast thou earned the writ inscribed on thy forehead;
Ineffaceable is the writ inscribed of our previous deeds—
I know not what to me shall befall.
In dye of good deeds not dyed,
Involved in evil qualities, wailing I sit.
Wealth and youth are thin as akk[4]-shade;
As comes old age, ended are our days.
Saith Nanak : One without devotion to the Name is of cursed matrimony,
By the Spouse for her faithlessness abandoned. (1)

Būḍī gharu ghāliyo Guru kai bhāe chalo

Thou that art ruined, ruined thy home—the Master's instruction obey.
On the holy Name meditate : thus shalt thou have joy in the Mansion.
On the Name Divine meditate; thus shall to thee come joy—
Brief is thy stay in the parent's home.[5]

1. Asking, querying.
2. Day after day.
3. Image for the self as also the seeker.
4. A bush yielding bitter fruit.
5. Symbol for life in the body.

As in thy true home art thou settled, shalt thou attain
the Divine essence,
And ever with the Beloved abide.
Listen, people of the world ! without devotion shall you not get abode in your true home.
Saith Nanak : The woman shall have joy with the Beloved,
As in the holy Name she is dyed. (2)

Piru dhan bhāvai tāṇ pir bhāvai nārī Jio

The Spouse is beloved of the woman when the woman is by him favoured.
Then contemplating the Master's Word, in joy of the Beloved is she absorbed.
Contemplating the Master's Word, of the Spouse is she beloved,
In humility[1] performing devotion.
The Beloved consuming her Maya-attachment,
In joy has she bliss.
In joy with the holy Lord absorbed, by subduing the ego is she dyed deep red in love.
Saith Nanak : One absorbed in holy truth is blessed in matrimony,
In love of the Beloved absorbed. (3)

Pir ghari sohai nāri je Pir bhāvae Jio

Sire ! the woman in the Husband's home in beauty shines, should she with Him be in love.
Utterance of false words is of little avail :
Of little avail is false utterance, never shall she behold the Beloved's sight.[2]
Such a one, full of demerits, by the Spouse abandoned—
Without Him are her nights passed.
Reposing not faith in the Master's Word, in bonds entangled.
Never shall she attain the Mansion.
Saith Nanak : One realizing the self, by the Master's guidance,
In serene joy is absorbed. (4)

Dhann sohāgani nāri jini Piru jāṉiyā Jio

Sire ! blessed is the woman of happy matrimony
Who her Lord has realized.
One bereft of the Name is false; false her doing.
One with Divine devotion decked, to the holy Lord is pleasing,
In loving devotion dyed in the Lord.

1. Bending low.
2. With her dyes.

With the voluptuous spouse, of tender youth, shall she have bliss in joy.
Abloom with the Master's Word, by the Lord's love blessed, P. 690
Noble is her reward.
Saith Nanak : The woman by holy truth exalted,
In the Spouse's home in beauty shall abide. (5) (3)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Guru Ram Das
Chhant (Lyrics)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari jīo kripā karei tāṇ Nāmu dhiyāīai Jīo

Sire ! should only the Lord show grace, may we on the Name meditate.
Should the holy Preceptor by his sweet will meet,
In spontaneous poise Divine laudation may we sing :
Singing Divine laudation is one ever[1] in bloom,
While the self to the holy Eternal becomes pleasing;
Then pride, egoism and Maya one discards.
The Creator does all in His will;
Beings receive only what He grants.
Sire ! should only the Lord show grace, may we on the Name meditate. (1)

Andari sāchā nehuṇ pūrei Satigūrai Jīo

Within me abides true love by grace of the holy Preceptor perfectly-endowed.
The Lord[2] day and night I serve; never is He from my mind away :
Forgetting him never, day after day on Him I meditate—
By utterance of His Name I live.
As to His Name by my ears I listen, is my mind's desire fulfilled;
Thns by the Master's guidance amrita I quaff.
Should the Lord show grace, with the holy Preceptor
union He grants,
Whereby day by day does the mind in discriminating understanding remain.

1. Each day.
2. Him.

In the self has arisen true devotion[1] by grace of the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed. (2)

Sat-Sangati milai waḍ-bhāgi tāṇ Hari-rasu āwae Jīo

Sire ! should holy company by great good fortune be met,
does the self find joy in God.
Should the self ever in devotion remain absorbed,
In spontaneous poise shall it merge :
By merging in spontaneous poise to the Lord's heart shall it be pleasing,
And abide ever emancipated from Maya and the world.
As devotion to the Lord is formed, does the self get acclaim here and in the hereafter.
Such a one from pleasure and pain emancipated,
Shall all the Lord's doings find pleasing.
Sire ! should holy company by great good fortune be met,
does the self find joy in God. (3)

Dūjai bhāe dūkhu hoe manmūkh Jam johiyā Jīo

Sire ! in duality lies suffering :
Egoists by Yama are sought after.
Such deluded, in Maya-suffering caught, day and night wail :
Deluded in Maya-suffering, by egoism prodded,[2]
In pursuit of covetousness is their life passed.
The Lord's bounties forgetting, at the end in regret they depart.
Other than the Name nothing the self accompanies—
Progeny and wife, are all Maya-delusions.
In duality lies suffering : egoists by Yama are sought after. (4)

Kari kirpā lehu milāe mahalu Hari pāiyā Jīo

In Thy grace to holy company unite me.
That the Divine Mansion I attain.
Those ever remaining in the prayerful attitude,[3]
To the Lord's heart[4] are pleasing :
Those pleasing to the Lord's heart[4] in the Divine Ordinance are absorbed—
Obeying the Ordinance, joy they obtain.
Ever day and night in contemplation remaining.

1. Love.
2. Incensed, provoked.
3. With folded hands.
4. Mana.

Spontaneously on the Name they meditate.
By devotion to the Name has come exaltation—
The Name to Nanak's heart is pleasing.
In Thy grace to holy company unite me,
That the Divine Mansion I attain. (5) (1)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 691

Chhant (Lyrics)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Satiguru dīn-dayāl jisu sangi Hari gāwīyai Jīo

Sire ! compassionate to the humble is the holy Preceptor,
In whose company may we sing Divine laudation.
Delight of the Divine ambrosial Name in holy company is experienced.
In holy company on the Sole Lord meditate in love,
Whereby may suffering of migration flee.
By primal grace is recorded for man receiving of instruction from the holy—
Thereby is Yama's noose snapped.
Fled are then fear and doubts, unravelled Yama's knot;
Yama's path nevermore then is visited.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord, show grace,
That ever Divine laudation I sing. (1)

Nidhariyāṇ dhar eku Nāmu niranjaṉo Jīo

Sire ! the sole prop of the shelterless is the Name immaculate.
Thou the Supreme Bestower of boons, shatterer of all suffering.
Lord annuller of suffering, bestower of bliss,
To shelter of the holy am I come,
Who in the twinkling of an eye take the self across the tempestuous ocean of existence.
As is the Master's collyrium to the eyes applied,
Is the Lord beheld pervading all space.
Prayeth Nanak : May I ever contemplate the Divine
Shatterer of all suffering and fear. (2)

Āpi līyei laṛ lāe kirpā dhārīyā Jīo

In His grace has He Himself to His sash attached us.[1]
Without merit, low, helpless am I—

1. Implies granting shelter and succour.

Inaccessible, limitless the Lord.
Compassionate, ever gracious is the Lord.
bestower of poise on the lowly.
All beings under Thy power lie—all by Thee cherished.
Himself is He the creator, Himself enjoyer of all;
Himself keeping all in mind,
Prayeth Nanak : May I find life in Divine laudation;
The Lord may I ever contemplate. (3)

Terā darasu apāru Nāmu amolaī Jīo

Without limit is Thy vision, beyond value Thy Name;
Thy servants the incomputable Supreme Being ever contemplate.
The holy on whose tongue in His pleasure is He settled,
By the Divine elixir feel intoxicated.
Supremely fortunate are those attaching themselves to the Master's feet,
Ever, each day awake to the Lord.
Such ever, with each breath utter laudation of the Lord, worthy to contemplate.
States Nanak in humility : Invaluable is dust of feet
of the holy
And the Name Divine. (4) (1)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sanak Sanand Mahesh samānā

Great ones such as Sanak, Sanandan[1] and Shiva,
And Sheshnag[2] Thy truth have not realized. (1)
In holy company pray, in our heart lodge the Name ! (I-Pause)
Such as Hanuman[3] and Garuda,[4]
Indra, king of gods and great ones among mankind
Of Thy merits have no awareness. (2)
Neither the four Vedas, Simritis and Puranas,
Nor Vishnu[5] and Lakshmi[6] of Thee have realization. (3)
Saith Kabir : Never in transmigration wanders one,
That attaching to Thy feet, with the Lord seeks shelter. (4) (1)

1. Sanak and Sanandan are Brahma's sons.
2. The thousand-hooded serpent with each tongue uttering a fresh name of the Lord.
3. The monkey-god devoted to Rama.
4. The bird that is Vishnu's mount.
5. Kamlapati.
6. Kanwala (Kamala).

Din tei pahar pahar tei ghariyān āv ghaṭai tanu chhīyai

Each day, each pahar[1] and hour[2] is life diminishing and the bodily frame declining.
The hunter death like a murderer is on the prowl.
Say, what device may we employ ? (1)
Approaching is that day ! P. 692
Out of mother, father, brother, progeny, wife—
Say who can help whom ? (I-Pause)
Beast-like man visualizes not his self while light in body lasts :
To keep living is he greedy, his eyes turned blind. (2)
Saith Kabir : Listen, thou creature of God !
Discard thy mind's doubt;
Contemplate solely the Name, and with God alone
seek shelter. (3) (2)

Jo janu bhāu bhagati kachhu jānai tā kau achraju kāho

The person that has any knowledge of loving devotion,
What wonder that he may attain liberation ?
As water mingled with water is not separated,
So melting, is the weaver[3] Kabir with the Lord merged. (1)
Creatures of God ! by your reckoning am I a simpleton :
Should Kabir meet death in Kashi,[4] what obligation owes he to God[5] ? (I-Pause)
Saith Kabir : Listen, people of the world !
Let no one into delusions fall.
Little difference does Kashi[4] or the saline region of Magahar[6] make,
Should the Lord in mind be borne. (2) (3)

Indra-lok Shiva-lokeh jaibo

Any that performs worthless austerities may enter Indra's or Shiva's demesne.[7]
These still must he leave.[8] (1)

---

1. A period equivalent to three hours.
2. Ghari.
3. This was the caste of this bhakta, by orthodox notions low.
4. A part of the holy Banaras (Varanasi).
5. (That is, dying in Banaras does not by itself bring liberation, liberation comes from devotion).
6. A village in the Basti district of Uttar Pradesh, held to be under a curse.
7. These are the various regions of the Hindu heaven.
8. (To enter upon transmigration).

What shall I beg of God ? Nothing lasts.
Bear ever in mind the Name Divine. (I-Pause)
Repute, royal authority, wealth, worldly greatness—
None of these at the last shall our helpers be. (2)
Progeny, wife, wealth and substance—
Who by these has attained bliss ? (3)
Saith Kabir : Nothing else is of any worth :
The wealth cherished by our heart[1] is
the Name Divine. (4) (4)

Rama simar Rama simar Rama simar bhāī

Brother ! ever the Lord contemplate;
Without contemplation of the Lord, many are sunk. (I-Pause)
Wife,[2] progency, thy body, home, wealth that brings comfort—
As the time of death approaches, none of these shall be thine. (1)
Ajamal, the Elephant and the Courtesan[3]
That in low deeds indulged—
All by uttering the Name Divine found liberation. (2)
Of wandering in incarnations of hog and dog didst feel no shame ?
Why discarding the Name Divine ambrosial now swallow poison.[4] (3)
Discard doubt and worthless ritual devices;
The Name Divine contemplate.
Kabir, thou servant of God ! by the Master's grace make the Name Divine thy friend. (4) (5)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Namdev

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gehrī kari kai nīv khūdāī ūpar mandap chhāe

Deep dug are the foundations; over these are erected mansions by man :
Consider, who shall live longer than Markandaya,[5]
Who passed life, covering his head only with a straw ? (1)

---

1. Mana.
2. Lit. Woman.
3. These are examples of those saved through devotion, as the Lord they remembered.
4. That is, indulge in evil.
5. A Rishi who lived a long life.

The Divine Creator is our true friend.
Man ! what art thou proud of ? this frail body shall one day be destroyed.
Kauravas, with Duryodhana[1] for brother, in avarice indulged.
Over him waved the umbrella over twelve Yojanas[2]—
At the end was his body pecked at by vultures. (2)
There were great ones like Ravana, master of Lanka,[3]
all of gold. P. 693
What happened to his elephants tied at the portal ?
In an instant all passed into strange hands. (3) Yadavas[4] that tried to fool Durbasha[5] had such terrible recompense.[6]
The Lord to His servant Namdev has been gracious;
So Divine laudation has he sung. (4) (1)

Das bairangani mohi basi kīnī panchunh kā miṭ nāvoṇ

The ten females, sources of senses have I brough under control,
And of the five sources of evil effaced all trace.
The seventy-two channels[7] with amrita have I filled, and the poison cast out. (1)
No more to the world shall I return.
With my heart[8] the ambrosial word I utter,
and thus instruct my self. (I-Pause)
By falling at the Master's feet,[9] begging of him the strong axe of the holy words have I acquired.
Turning away from the world, are we turned servants of the holy,
And of God's devotees cherish fear. (2)
From the world shall I find release as involvement with Maya ceases.
Maya is another name for falling into the womb to be born—
Discarding this, shall I attain the Divine vision. (3)
Those that thus enter upon devotion, lifted is all their fear.

1. Duryodhana, symbol of arrogance was king of the Kaurava race, mentioned in Mahabharata.
2. A measure of distance equalling three Kosas.
3. Ravana was the proud king of Lanka, now known as Sri Lanka.
4. The race to which Krishna belonged.
5. A rishi who cursed the Yadava race.
6. This.
7. The number of channels of vital energy (nadis) according to hatha-yoga is seventy-two thousand.
8. Vessel.
9. The allusion is to the Ramayana, when Rama, falling at Parshuram's feet, draws up all his strength with which he wielded his axe to destroy Kshatriyas.

Saith Namdev : Why seek Him outside[1] ?
By such discipline as this is the Lord attained. (4) (2)

Mārwāṛi jaisei nīr bālahā beli bālaha karhalā

As in Marwar[2] is water loved; as loves the camel the creeper;
As at night the deer loves the hunter's sound—
So does my heart[3] love the Lord. (1)
Lord ! lovely is Thy Name, lovely Thy aspect;
Lovely too Thy hues. (I-Pause)
As by the earth is rain-water loved, as fragrance of flowers by the humming-bee;
As by the Kokila is loved the mango—
So does my heart[3] love the Lord. (2)
As the chakwi loves the sun, the swan Mansarovar;[4]
As the youthful woman loves her husband—
So does my heart love the Lord. (3)
As the babe loves milk, the chatrik's tongue[5]
the shower of rain;
As the fish loves water—
So does my heart[3] love the Lord. (4)
Yoga-practitioners, accomplished yogis, savants all seek Him—
A rare one only has beheld Him.
In all the realms is Thy Name loved :
So does Yama's heart[3] love the Lord. (5) (3)

Pahil pūrīyei pūṇḍarak vanā

In the beginning appeared the field of lotus[6]
Wherefrom arose the swans,[7] all beings.
Know that by command of the Divine might are all beings dancing.[8] (1)
In the beginning was manifested the Supreme Being;
Thereafter from the Supreme Being appeared dancing Maya. (1)
All that exists, pertains to Him :
All the world is the Lord's orchard.

1. Why wander outside ? That is, in performing austerities and visits to tirthas.
2. A dry region in Rajasthan.
3. Mana.
4. The famous lake in the Himalayas, held sacred.
5. Mouth.
6. Symbol for the beginning of creation.
7. Symbol for the self.
8. Used symbolically = acting.

Beings are like the ocean rolling[1] in pots of persian wheel. (I-Pause)
All beings dance like Krishna's milkmaids :
None other than the Lord is there.
Enter not into disputation on this—
That would be doubting.
Says the Lord : This world and I are identical. (2)
The world moves up and down the wheel like pots on persian wheel :
After long wandering in transmigration, at your Portal have we arrived.
Who art thou ?
I, Sire ! Nama. P. 694
Sire ! from this house of suffering[2]
Bringing Yama's chastisement, pray save me ! (3) (4)

Patit-pāvan Mādho birdu Terā

Lord ! uplifting the fallen is Thy law of grace.[3]
Blessed are the saints who on the Lord have meditated. (1)
To my forehead has stuck dust of the Lord's feet,
That godly men and savant seek in vain.[4] (I-Pause)
The Lord, annuller of pride, to the humble is compassionate.
Nama[5] to the shelter of your feet is a sacrifice. (2) (5)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Ravidas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ham sari dīnu dayālu na Tūm sari ab patīyār kyā kījai

None humble as I; none compassionate as Thou :
What need now to test my devotion ?
Grant to Thy servant this boon in perfection :
May my mind to your Word ever be compliant. (1)
To the Lord may I time and again be a sacrifice !
Why with me art Thou incommunicative ? (Pause)
Lord ! for numerous incarnations from Thee was I alienated—
Now is this life dedicated to Thee.

1. Lit. Dancing.
2. Also rendered as : To Thee have I come, save me from Yama's chastizement.
Note : The language of this hymn is overwhelmingly Marathi, which was the spoken tongue of this saint.
3. Bird (Ar. Wird), customary behaviour, pattern of behaviour.
4. Is away from godly men and savants.
5. Short for Namdev.

Saith Ravidas : In hope of union I find life
For long of Thy sight am I deprived. (2) (1)

Chit simranu karouṇ nayn avilokano sravan bānī sūjasu pūri rākhouṇ

My mind to Thy contemplation is dedicated; my eyes to beholding sight of Thee :
My ears to be filled with sound of Thy utterance.
My mind may I make the humming bee;
Your feet in my heart may I lodge;
With my tongue may I utter the ambrosial Name Divine. (1)
Never may my love for the Lord find decrease !
This at high cost have I bought, in return for my whole life. (I-Pause)
Without holy company arises not love; without love can devotion to Thee be not practised.
Makes Ravidas this supplication : Divine King !
Protect Thou my honour. (2) (2)

Nāmu Tero ārati majan Murārei

Lord ! Thy Name to me is prayer-offering and holy dips :
Other than the Name, false is all show[1] of ritual. (I-Pause)
Thy Name my mat[2] and the holy stone to rub sandalwood;
Thy Name the saffron to sprinkle over Thee.
Thy Name the water, the sandalwood,
That rubbing, to Thee I may offer. (1)
Thy Name the lamp, the wick;
Thy Name the oil into it poured.
As with Thy Name is lit the flame,
Is the whole universe[3] illuminated. (2)
Thy Name the string, the flower-garland.
The entire vegetation[4] in comparison unreal.
How may I offer to Thee what Thou hast Thyself created ?
So, of Thy Name over Thee the fly-whisk I crave. (3)
All four sources of creation[5] in veneration of eighteen Puranas and bathing at sixty-eight tirthas[6] is engaged.

1. Expanse.
2. Asan = a woollen strip used as seat at prayer.
3. The abode.
4. Lit. Eighteen loadfuls : This is the traditional way to refer to the entire created vegation.
5. These are egg-born, placenta-born, perspiration-born and atmosphere-born.
6. Holy bathing-spots.

Saith Ravidas : Thy Name is the true worship-offering—
Thy holy Name the true food-offering to Thee. (4) (3)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Bhakta Trilochan
Bani of Bhaktas P. 695
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Nārāyan nindasi kāe bhūlī gawārī

*Deluded foolish female[1] ! why lay blame on God ?
Suffering and happiness from your deeds arise. (I-Pause)
The moon on the forehead of Shiva abides, and daily
in Ganga has bath;
In his family was born the Lord Himself[2]—
Yet because of his evil deed[3] is his obloquy ineffaceable. (1)
Arun who is charioteer to the lord sun, lamp of the world,
And has the king of birds, Garuda for brother—
Yet because of his evil deed[4] is he maimed. (2) Shiva, annuller of innumerable sins, lord of the three worlds, comes not to an end of his journey :
Because of his action Brahma's skull would not leave him.[5] (3)
Although the ocean, Lord of streams has yielded amrita, the moon, the wish-fulfilling cow, Lakshmi, the wish-fulfilling tree,
The horse Sikhar and the wise surgeon Dhanvantri—
Yet because of his deed[6] his saline taste goes not. (4)
Hanuman[7] burnt the fort of Lanka, uprooted Ravana's garden,
And bringing the curative herb pleased the Lord—Yet because of his deeds is he not able to cast off the curse of wearing only the loin-strip. (5)
Listen, wife of my home ! ineffaceable is the effect of former deeds—
So contemplate I the Name Divine.
Lord ! thus supplicates Trilochan. (6) (1)

---

* Note : The above hymn is full of mythological allusions, pertaining to its main teaching of the inevitability of our deeds affecting our destiny.

1. Addressed to his wife, as is specified in the last verse.
2. Krishna was Chandravanshi (of the moon dynasty).
3. This was to aid Indra in seducing Ahalya, wife of the rishi Gautam.
4. This was the impaling of a butterfly with a thorn.
5. Shiva was guilty of cutting of Brahma's head when the latter resented Shiva's advances to this daughter. This left him when he bathed at Kapal-mochan.
6. This was to insult Agastya muni.
7. The monkey-god, devoted to Rama.

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of the Venerable Sain

Dhūp dīp ghrit sājai āratī

Making devotion the incense, lamps and ghee for arati,[1]
To the Lord am I a sacrifice. (1)
Sing you paeans of Divine joy :
Sing ever paeans of glory of the Divine King. (I-Pause)
Lord ! realization that Thou art immaculate,
Is for me the noble lamp and the holy wick. (2)
The way of Divine devotion is known to my master. Ramanand,[2]
Who expounds the Supreme Bliss, perfection
incarnate. (3)
Lord of charming figure ! arcoss the ocean of existence take me.
Saith Sain : To the Master of Supreme Bliss be you devoted. (4) (1)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Bhakta Pīpa

Kāyo Devā kāyo deval kāya jangam jātī

The self is itself the deity; the self the temple;
The self too the wandering ascetic and pilgrim.
The self is incense, the lamp and the offering,
The self the flower-offering. (1)
In searching through the continents of the self are obtained
the Nine Treasures.[3]
The Lord be my witness[4] ! nothing is born or dies. (I-Pause)
Whatever is in the cosmos is present too in the self—
Whoever seeks, attains this secret.
States Pīpa in humility : The Lord is the Supreme Essence—
The holy Preceptor realization of this grants. (2) (1)

In the Measure Dhanasari—Composition of Bhakta Dhanna

Gopāl Terā āratā

Lord ! Thy servant am I in affliction.[5]
Those that to Thee are devoted, Thou their objectives dost fulfil. (I-Pause)

---

1. Worship-offering.
2. A great Vaishnavite saint of the thirteenth century.
3. See Glossary. Here symbolizes spiritual joys.
4. Lit. I cry to the Lord for succour.
5. Some interpret arata as arati (worship-offering).

I beg for lentils, flour[1] and some ghee,
Whereby may my heart be delighted.
Seek I also shoes and good clothing,
And grain grown over well-ploughed land.[2] (1)
A cow and buffalo in milk I seek,
As also a good Arab mare.
Thy servant Dhanna then begs also for a wife,
a good housekeeper. (2) (1)

1. Sidha is raw material for cooking.
2. Land ploughed over seven times.

RAGA JAITSARI

In the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 696

Quartets

SCORE I

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Merai hīyarai ratanu Nāmu Hari basiyā Gūri hāthu dhariyo merai māthā

As the Master his hand of protection over my forehead placed,
Came the jewel Name in my heart to settle.
As the Master devotion to the Name on me conferred, paid off was my debt;[1]
And cast off were sins and suffering of multiple births. (1)
My self ! to the Name Divine, repository of all boons, be devoted.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, the Name Divine in me
has confirmed—
Without the Name is life worthless. (Pause)
Egoists without the Master's guidance are turned senseless,
Ever in Maya-attachment caught :
Never serving at feet of the holy, is their life of no avail. (2)
Those that at feet of the holy, at the feet of saints have done service,
Fruitful and meaningful is their life.
Lord of the universe ! in your compassion make me slave of your slaves. (3)
Blind, unenlightened, thoughtless that we are,
How may we tread the Lord's way, His path ?
Master ! to me, without sight, grant touch of your sash,[2]
That Nanak, your servant, in unison with you may tread the path. (4) (1)

---

1. Implies the duty of devotion.
2. Implies taking under protection.

Hīrā lālu amolaku hai bhārī binu gāhek mīka kākhā

The Name Divine is an immensely invaluable jewel, a ruby—
Yet without a buyer is it reckoned worth a piece of straw.
The holy Preceptor have I found buyer of jewels—
Then is this jewel sold for millions. (1)
In my heart[1] has the Lord deposited a secret jewel :
As the Lord, compassionate to the humble, union with the holy Preceptor granted,
After union with him was this jewel evaluated. (Pause)
Enveloped in darkness of ignorance is the chamber of the egoists' mind—
In their home is not visible this jewel worth millions :
Such, in ignorance, in doubt die straying,
After swallowing the Maya-serpent's poison. (2)
Lord ! to good holy devotees unite me—under shelter of the holy keep me.
Lord ! to your bosom clasp us : to your shelter have we rushed. (3)
How may my tongue express your merits—you that are the inaccessible mighty Supreme Being ?
The Lord to his servant Nanak has shown compassion; P. 697
A sinking stone has He saved. (4) (2)

Ham bārik kachhūa na janehṇ gati miti Terei mūrakh mūgadh iyānā

We children know not of Thy state and extent—
Ignorant and thoughtless infants that we are.
Lord ! in your grace grant us noble understanding;
Turn ignorant ones into the wise. (1)
Slothful, dozing was my mind :
Arrived the Lord and to the holy Preceptor united me—
By such union was my guile cast off (I-Pause)
Lord ! grant each moment devotion to my heart—
The beloved Name Divine is my life.
Lord ! without the Name I die, as the drug addict who by his drug is attracted. (2)
Perfect good fortune in primal time is bestowed on those Whose heart with Divine love is inspired.
Each moment at their feet we worship,
Who find joy in the Lord. (3)

1. Mana.

The Divine Lord in His compassion united the long—separated ones.
Blessed be the holy Preceptor who the Name in my mind confirmed—
Nanak, his servant, to him is a sacrifice. (4) (3)

Satiguru sājanu pūrakhu waḍ pāiyā Hari rasik rasik phal lāgibā

As is attained the holy Preceptor, exalted being,
Fruit of Divine devotion with great joy have I tasted.
Man in Maya-serpent's coils is caught—
By the Master's teaching has the Lord this poison cast off. (1)
My heart to joy of the Name Divine is attached.
The Lord by granting union with the holy Preceptor
has purified the fallen,
And taste of joy of the Name Divine conferred. (Pause)
Blessed is our great fortune, as the holy Preceptor is met—
In union with the holy Preceptor is absorption in the absolute[1] attained.
Assuaged is the fire of desire; attained is peace,
And laudation of the Lord immaculate have we sung. (2)
Those deprived of the holy Preceptor's sight, from primal time are made unfortunate :
Involved in duality in transmigration[2] they fall—
Their whole life gone waste. (3)
Lord ! grant me purity of wisdom that at the holy Preceptor's feet I serve,
And find joy in the Lord.
Nanak, servant of God, seeks dust of feet of the holy,
That the Lord in His compassion shall grant. (4) (4)

Jin Hari hirday Nām na basiyo tin māt kījai Hari bānjhā

Those in whose hearts is not lodged the Name Divine,
Pray Lord, may the mothers of such turn sterile.
Of such the body without the Name is desolate;
Without the Name, in perturbation wailing they die. (1)
My self ! contemplate the Name Divine lying within.
The Lord gracious has shown grace;
Wherethrough the Master cnlighenment to our self has imparted. (Pause)

---

1. Unmani = the state of Turiya.
2. Cast into the womb.

In Kali Yuga to sing Divine laudation is the noble status.
By the holy Preceptor's mediation is the Lord attained.
To the holy Preceptor am a sacrifice, who the hidden
Name has manifested. (2)
By great good fortune is obtained sight of the holy,
Whereby are all sins annulled.
The holy Preceptor greatly wise, possessor of wealth of merit[1] have we attained, P. 698
Who many of his merits with us has shared. (3)
Those shown grace by the Divine life of the universe,
In their mind the Lord have cherished.
At Dharmaraja's portal are their records torn—Saith Nanak, servant of God : Thus is their reckoning closed. (4) (5)

Sat-sangati sādh pāī waḍ-bhāgīṇ manu chaltau bhaiyo arūṛā

By great good fortune is attained pure, holy company,
And the restless mind poise has found.
The unstruck concert all the time is playing,
And joy of the Divine amrita shower have we tasted.[2] (1)
My self ! contemplate the Name Divine, all beautiful.
The Divinely-inspired holy Preceptor who love for the Lord in my mind and body has inspired,
In his embrace has tightly enclosed me. (Pause)
Reprobate[3] misbelievers in Maya-bonds are stubbornly hoarding poison :
This in the way of God they cannot spend,
And on their head bear chastisement of Yama,
agent of death. (2)
The holy Preceptor who his self to God has dedicated,
With fervent devotion apply dust of his feet to your face.
Such in this world and the next shall obtain repute,
With their minds deeply dyed in God. (3)
Lord ! to the holy unite me, who am their humble servant.[4]
Nanak, servant of God, by touch of feet of the holy Preceptor to devotion is inspired—
The thoughtless stone-like mind thereby has blossomed.[5] (4) (6)

1. Shah = a common term has a banker or rich capitalist.
2. Taken.
3. Sakta.
4. Worm.
5. Grown green.

In the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari Hari simaruh agam apārā

Contemplate the Lord, inaccessible, without extent,
By whose contemplation may our suffering be effaced.
Lord ! to the holy Preceptor, exalted Person unite me :
By association with the Master comes joy. (1)
Friend ! sing laudation of the Lord :
The Name Divine cherish in heart,
Discourse to us on the Lord's Word; by union with the Master is it manifested. (2)
The mighty Lord, the Divine Master is our very life—
To my mind and body tastes He sweet as amrita.
Lord ! in your compassion unite me to the Master,
Image of the immaculate Supreme Being. (3)
The Name Divine ever confers joy :
In love for the Lord is my heart[1] dyed.
Lord ! to the great noble being, the Master unite me,
That Nanak by devotion to the Name may attain joy. (4) (1.7)

Hari Hari Hari Hari Nāmu japāhā

Those that the Name Divine[2] have contemplated,
By guidance of the Master, take over profit of the Name.
Ever in your self confirm devotion to the Lord—
To the Name Divine with passion be devoted. (1)
Contemplate the Name of the Lord, compassionate—
Dyed in joy in the Lord, ever His praise chant.
Chant the Lord's praise, dancing with fervour,
Joining holy company. (2)
Come sister-friend[3] ! with the Lord we make union;
Listening to Divine discourse, the holy Name we repeat. P. 699
Lord ! in your grace to the Master unite me—
By union with the Master arises yearning for God. (3)
Of the Lord inaccessible utter laudation and praise;
Each instant the Name Divine sing.
Benevolent Master ! in your grace to yourself unite me—
By such union, saith Nanak, is inspired yearning for Divine devotion. (4) (2.8)

1. Mana.
2. Hari is repeated four times, yielding this sense.
3. Image for fellow-devotees.

Rasi rasi Ramu rasālu salāhā

With ecstasy laud the Lord, repository of joy :
My self ! drenched in joy of the Name Divine, derive this gain.
Each moment of day and night practise thou devotion—
By the Master's teaching is yearning for devotion born. (1)
Contemplate merits of Lord of the universe :
Conquering ego and the body, by the holy Word derive profit.
By the Master's teaching are the five minions of evil subdued,
And mind and body for the Lord become full of yearning. (2)
Contemplate the jewel Name Divine.
Chanting Divine laudation, have thereby everlasting gain.
Lord compassionate to the humble, show grace,
That for utterance of the Name Divine I yearn. (3)
In your mind the Lord of the universe contemplate.
Contemplation of the Lord is supreme gain in the world.
Blessed the supreme Lord,
For whose contemplation is Nanak full of yearning. (4) (3.9)

Āpei jogī jūgati jūgāhā

Himself is the Lord the true Yogi; Himself grants the means to union;
Himself into absorption[1] beyond fear fallen.
Himself pervading everywhere, himself to devotion to the Name grants yearning. (1)
Himself the regions and the worlds; Himself these He illumines.
Himself the holy Teacher, churning the ocean :
Himself the jewels He churns out;[2] and to contemplation of the Name Divine grants yearning. (2)
Come, sister-friends[3] ! in unison Divine laudation we chant;
By the Master's guidance uttering the Name Divine, this gain we have.
As Divine devotion in the mind confirmed becomes pleasing,
To contemplation of the Name Divine is yearning aroused. (3)
Himself is He supremely wise, the great monarch.
By the Master's guidance, capital of His Name to us is entrusted.
Lord ! grant to me love for the Lord;
For laudation of Divine merit may Nanak have yearning. (4) (4.10)

1. Tāri = samadhi.
2. Reference to the Puranic tale of the churning to the ocean by the gods and demons, and extracting the fourteen 'Jewels' therefrom.
3. Symbol for fellow-devotees.

Mili sat-sangati sangi Gürāhā

Joining holy company in unison with the Master,
By the Master's guidance have I acquired capital of the Name.
Lord ! show grace that yearning to join holy company
I perpetually have. (1)
With my ears to words of Divine laudation may I listen :
In your grace to the holy Preceptor unite me.
Thy laudation may I sing and utter;
To contemplation of Divine merits may I have yearning. (2)
All holy bathing, ritual disciplines and pieties have I judged.[1]
None the Name Divine equals.
To contemplation of the Lord beyond measure, of immense weight,[2]
By the Master's guidance may I have yearning. (3)
In contemplation of the Name Divine are comprehended all ritual pieties,
Whereby is washed off impurity of sin and evil.
Lord compassionate to the humble, to Thy servant show grace;
Grant to Nanak yearning for the Name. (4) (5.11)

In the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 700

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Koī jānai kawanu īhan jagi mītu

A rare one alone knows who in this world is our true friend.
Whoever has the Lord's graee, has this realization—
Pure is his way of life. (I-Pause)
Mother, father, wife, progeny, relations, loved friends and brother—
By good fortune aequired in previous births have met :
In the last moment none to another can be of help. (1)
Pearl-strings, gold, rubies, diamonds—are an entertaining show[3] for the mind.
Their possessors' life in wailing passed,
Content never visiting it. (2)
Man may be master of elephants, chariots, steeds fleet as wind;
Wealth, estates, armies of four phalanxes[4]—

1. Weighed.
2. Used in the sense of merit, significance.
3. Maya (used in the applied sense).
4. These are elephants, cavalry, chariots and infantry.

None of these accompanies him;
Unclad he departs. (3)
God's devotees are loved of the Lord—
In their abodes chant you the Lord's Name.
Saith Nanak : Thus shall you have joy here,
And your face be radiant in the hereafter :
This blessing in company of the holy is obtained. (4) (1)

In the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Duos
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dehu sandesaro kahīyo Prīya kahīyo

My blessedly wedded sisters,[1] give me the Beloved's tidings,
As listening to numerous reports of Him am I puzzled. (I-Pause)
Some aver He is outside of us : some that He is within :
Invisible His hue and feature.
Sisters of wedded bliss[1] ! tell me the truth of it. (1)
Pervading all, in all abiding, He from Maya-taint is free.
Saith Nanak : Listen, people of the world !
On the tongue of the holy[2] He abides. (2) (1.2)

Dhīrouṇ sūni dhīrouṇ Prabh kau

On hearing of the Lord find I poise of mind. (I-Pause)
Beholding the Lord close to me,
To Him shall I dedicate self, life, mind and body. (1)
Beyond computation, limitless, mighty bestower of boons—
As the Lord I behold, in my heart shall I hold him. (2)
Contemplating the Lord, shall all my objectives be fulfilled,
All my desires achieved. (3)
By the Master's grace is He in Nanak's self lodged;
On realization of the Lord shall no pining or sorrow touch me. (4) (2.3)

Lorindarā Sājanu merā

Universally sought after is the Divine friend.
In each home sing noble paeans of joy—in each self[3]
is His abode. (I-Pause)
In joy and suffering, to Him I make supplication—

1. Symbol for true devotees.
2. That is, in their words.
3. Vessel.

May He never be out of my mind !
By utterance of His Name is cast illumination of millions of suns,
And darkness of illusion shattered. (1)
In all spots and places, all that is visible is Thine.
Saith Nanak : Whoever in holy company attains Him,
Nevermore suffers transmigration. (2) (3.4)

In the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Duos

SCORE 4

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ab maiṇ sūkhu pāiyo Guru āgeh

By closeness[1] to the Master have I obtained joy : P. 701
Discarding cleverness of thinking have I cast off anxiety,
And shed egoism. (I-Pause)
As I beheld all creation in attachment involved,
To the Master's shelter have I rushed.
The Master in his grace in service to the Lord engaged me;
Thereafter has Yama stopped pursuing me. (1)
As by great good fortune the holy I met, across the ocean of fire have I swum.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : As to the Divine feet is my heart[2] attached.
All joys have I obtained. (2) (1.5)

Mana mehṇ Satiguru dhyānu dharā

In my mind the holy Preceptor have I contemplated.
By Divine grace is confirmed in my mind
Knowledge of spell[3] of the Name Divine. (I-Pause)
Cast off is snare of death and the mighty Yama-snare;
Gone is Yama's terror.
Coming to seek shelter of the Preceptor,
annuller of suffering,
Prop of the Divine Lord of compassion have I grasped. (1)
To me holy company assumed aspect of the boat,
Whereby is crossed the ocean of existence.
Then quaffed I unattainable[4] amrita.

1. Nearness, bring by the side of.
2. Chitta (conscious self).
3. Mantra.
4. Lit. The drink that is unattainable.

Saith Nanak : Gone were doubts;
What is beyond power of endurance[1] I then endured. (2) (2.6)

Jā kau bhaye Govind sahāī

Whoever has the Lord for succourer,
With all spontaneous joys and bliss abides—
No malady afflicting him. (I-Pause)
Such appear with others to live, yet are unattached—
Maya touching them not.
In one single state of devotion abiding, knowledge of the Divine Essence they have :
This wisdom from the holy Preceptor is learnt. (1)
Such having the Lord's compassion and grace,
Are by temper devotees.
Saith Nanak : Liberation[2] comes in the company of such
As in ecstasy sing Divine laudation. (2) (3.7)

Gobind jīwan prān dhan rūp

The Lord is our life, breath, wealth and beauty;
To the being involved in mighty ignorance of attachment is he as lamp in darkness. (I-Pause)
Beloved Lord ! by your sight are obtained all objectives;
Beyond compare your lotus feet.
To these innumerable times obeisance I offer;
By heart's[3] fervour offer incense. (1)
Exhausted, at Thy Portal, Lord ! have I fallen;
Firmly your shelter have I grasped.
Pray extricate Nanak, your servant, from this well of worldly fire. (2) (4.8)

Koī jana Hari siūṇ devai jori

O that someone to the Lord were to unite me !
Of such a one shall I grasp the feet, utter for him fine words,
Dedicate life to him. (I-Pause)
Such a holy one may make of my mind and body pure fields,
And with Divine amrita irrigate them.
By Divine grace in this joy may one be involved,
And from mighty Maya-poison be detached. (1)
Divine Shatterer of suffering ! this humble one to your shelter has come,

1. This implies the powers to make miracles and to acquire domination over others thereby. The path of Sahaj prescribes self-abnegation and humility.
2. Swimming across.
3. Mana.

With thoughts in you centred,[1]
Lord, Deliverer from Bonds !
To Nanak grant boon of fearlessness and Divine contemplation. (2) (5.9)

Chātrik chitwat barsat meh̤n

By the chatrik's[2] yearning descends rain. P. 702
Lord, Ocean of Grace, show compassion—
For loving devotion I yearn. (I-Pause)
The chakwi[3] of innumerable joys seeks none—
Her fullness of joy in sight of the sun lies.
By no other devices lives the fish—
Without water must it inevitably die. (1)
We that are helpless, to shelter of the Divine
Master have come :
Pray show your grace.
Nanak to the Divine lotus feet makes supplication—
None other is our helper. (2) (6.10)

Mani tani basi rahei merei prān

The Lord in my mind, body and each breath is abiding.
By His grace to the holy Master, the perfectly-endowed, enlightened being He united me. (I-Pause)
Those drugged with the intoxicating drug of Divine love,
This mighty elixir have quaffed :
Its value beyond expression—what power have I this to state ? (1)
His servants to His lappet has He attached;[4]
Thus have those destined to liberation been saved.
Saith Nanak : Such, grasping shelter of the Divine Portal,
In remembrance of the Lord joy have obtained. (2) (7.11)

Āye anik janam bhram sharnī

After wandering through innumerable births to the Lord's shelter have we arrived.
Pray from this dark well save us; to your feet grant us
attachment. (I-Pause)
Enlightenment, meditation, ritual piety or holy deed
I know not.

1. Lit. In your direction am I thinking.
2. A tiny bird, in love with the rain (called the brain-fever bird).
3. A bird, reputed to dote on sunlight.
4. That is, granted shelter.

Pray, to holy company attach us, that this impassable river be crossed. (1)
Lodge not in mind
Pleasure, wealth and delectable Maya-delights.
In beholding the Lord lies fulfilment of Nanak,
servant of God;
Joy of the Name Divine is my ornament. (2) (8.12)

Hari jana simruh hirday Rāma

Devotees of God ! with your heart contemplate
Divine laudation.
Misfortune approaches not the Lord's devotee;
Fulfilled are all his objectives.[1] (I-Pause)
Millions of impediments by service to the Lord are annulled,
And the immutable Divine abode attained.
No fear grips the Lord's devotee;
Even Yama gives him regard. (1)
Doings other than in way of the Lord are perishable, false.[2]
Nanak ! hold thou the Divine lotus feet in Thy heart—
Therein lies all joy and peace. (2) (9.13)

In the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bhūliyo manu māyā ūrjhāiyo

The mind deluded is Maya-entangled :
All actions done from avarice have only become bonds for the self.[3] (I-Pause)
Man absorbed in worldly pleasures[4] of Divine laudation is forgetful :
The Lord that with him abides has he not realized,
And to wild places[5] has rushed to seek Him. (1)
The Divine jewel abiding in the self has he not realized.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Without devotion to the Lord, P. 703
Is life gone waste. (2) (1)

Harijū rākhi lehu pati merī

Lord ! pray save my honour.

1. (Spiritual objectives are implied).
2. Lit. Raw, unbaked.
3. By these is the self bound.
4. Bikhai may be interpreted as 'evils' (vishai) or as 'poison' (vish).
5. Forests.

As has yama's terror gripped my heart,
Ocean of Grace, to seek Thy shelter have I come. (I-Pause)
I that am extremely depraved, thoughtless, avaricious,
Now of my sinful deeds feel exhausted.
Fear of death leaves me not; this anxiety consumes me through.[1] (1)
Numerous devices for liberation have I undertaken,
And in all ten directions have rushed along;
Yet of the Immaculate Lord abiding in the self have I not found the secret. (2)
Merit have I none, nor contemplation of God or performance of austerities—
What deed[2] may I now perform ?
Nanak, with all resources exhausted, to the Lord's shelter has come;
Lord ! grant him boon of fearlessness. (3) (2)

Mana rei sāchā gaho bichārā

My self ! take[3] thou to holy contemplation :
Other than the Name Divine, know this whole world to be unreal.[4]
He after whom, Yogis have quested to exhaustion,
Beyond limit lies.
Know the Lord to be close to you, unattached to form or feature. (1)
The Name Divine, purest of all in the world,
Have you never contemplated.
Nanak to shelter of the Lord, worthy of the world's worship has come—
Lord, fulfil you law of grace.[5] (2) (3)

In the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Chhant (Lyrics)

SCORE I

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka

Darshan piyāsī dinasu rāti chitwouṇ anādinu nīt

Day and night thirsting for the Lord's sight,

1. Consumes my self (body).
2. Deed of ritual piety is meant.
3. Lit. Grasp.
4. False.
5. Bird (Ar. Wird) = Law, customary way.

Ever I contemplate Him.
Saith Nanak : Opening my mind's door, the Preceptor, to the Lord, true friend, has united me. (1)

Chhant (Lyrics)

Sūṉi yār hamārei sajjaṉ ik karouṇ benantīyā

Listen, cherished friend[1] ! to thee supplication I make :
In quest of the beloved Ravisher of the heart am I wandering about.
Tell that beloved one, for His sight even for an instant,
Would I offer my severed head.
My eyes, with love of the Beloved intoxicated, even for a moment find not rest.
To the Lord is my heart attached, as the fish to water,
Or as the chatrik in thirst.
As Nanak, servant of God, the Master perfectly-endowed,
has attained,
Extinguished is his thirst. (1)

Yār vei Prīya habbhei sakhīyāṇ mū kahī na jehīyā

Cherished friend ! like to none of the Beloved's doting females[2] am I.
Cherished friend ! each one out of those is attractive far[3]—
Who would bring me to mind ?
Better than the other is each of the Beloved's numerous cherished ones,
Having joy and bliss with Him.
At their sight yearns my heart the Divine Repository of Merit to attain.
To those that have the Beloved's heart attracted, would I give my own heart.[4]
Prayeth Nanak : Thou of blessed matrimony,[5] to my supplication listen;
Tell how the Beloved's sight may I have. (2)

Yār vei Piru āpaṉ bhāṉā kichhu nīsī chhandā

Cherished friend ! the Beloved is master of His will, dependent on none.
Cherished friend ! thou with Him hast had bliss;

1. The Guru is herein apostrophized.
2. Sakhi = female friend. Symbol for devotees.
3. Better than the other.
4. Mana.
5. Symbol for the devotee united to God.

I query, tell me by what device
The Beloved hast thou attained :
Such their ego have shed as good fortune have on the forehead inscribed. P. 704
The Lord, grasping me by the arm has to Himself drawn me,
Of my merits and demerits oblivious.
One round whose neck garland of merits Thou hast placed,
And granted her the glow of beauty,[1]
With all kinds of wear looks charming.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Blessed is the happily-wedded life,
With whom the Spouse His days spends. (3)

Yār vei nit sūkh sūkhendī sā maiṇ pāī

Cherished friend ! the boon I ever sought for, is attained :
Arrived is the cherished Bridegroom, played is the concert of joy.
Has come great joy and bliss, as is found the gracious Beloved,
Ever resplendent in beauty.
By great good fortune, in holy company,
In the Master's[2] company attained.
Fulfilled are all my desires, as the Beloved to His bosom has clasped me.
Thus states Nanak in humility : The boon I ever sought for,
By contact with the Master is attained. (4) (1)

In the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Chhant (Lyrics)

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka

Ūchā agam apār Prabhu kathanu na jāe akathu

Lofty, inaccessible, beyond limit, beyond expression,
Is the Lord.
Nanak to shelter of the Lord, mighty to save,
Has come. (1)

Chhant (Lyric)

Jiūṇ jānahu tiūṇ rākhu Hari-Prabh Teriyāṇ

Lord ! save me by whatever device Thou knowest of[3]—
I that am solely Thine.

1. Made her complexion glowing red.
2. Sādh = holy man.
3. Lit. Any way that you know of.

How may I my innumerable demerits recount ?
Innumerable our errors, denials;[1] ever forgetful,
In attachment to terrifying Maya involved,
By Thy grace finding release.
In hiding committing enormous sins; yet is the Lord nearer to us than nearest.
Prayeth Nanak : Show grace; from whirling in the ocean of existence extricate us ! (1)

Sloka

Nirati na pawai asanukh gūṉa ūchā Prabh kā Nāuṇ

Of the Lord's innumerable qualities no estimate may be made;
Exalted is His Name.
Prayeth Nanak : To one without shelter, grant shelter. (2)

Chhant (Lyric)

Dūsar nāhīṇ thāoṇ kā peh jāīyai

No other shelter than the Lord is there—
No whom may we have recourse[2] ?
Day and night with folded hands on the Lord meditate :
On the Lord, ever our own, meditate,
And attain heart's desire.[3]
Discarding pride, attachment, evil-doing, duality,
With the sole Lord form attachment.
Dedicating mind and body to the Lord, the ego you efface.
Thus states, Nanak in humility : Lord ! show grace,
In the holy Name absorb me. (2)

Sloka

Rei mana Tā kau dhiyāīai sabh bidhi jā kai hāthi

My self ! on Him meditate in whose hand lie all devices.
Saith Nanak : Garner wealth of the Name Divine,
That with you shall last. (3)

Chhant (Lyric)

Sāthīyaṛā Prabhu eku dūsar nāhi koe

The Lord is our true friend, none other—
In all spots, over water and land pervasive,
Pervading water and land, is the Lord, bestower of boons to all.
Lord of the universe[4]—beyond limit;

1. Phere might imply turning away from vows, promises etc.
2. Go.
3. Desire for devotion and liberation is implied.
4. (Gopal, Govind occur here).

By fervently seeking shelter with the Lord have we attained joy,
Other than whom none is our cherisher.
Prayeth Nanak : To whomsoever you show compassion,
Devotion to the Name attains. (3)
Sloka

Chitti je chitwiyā so maiṇ pāiyā

All I sought in mind, have I attained.
Saith Nanak : In meditation on the Name eternal joy lies. (4)
Chhant (Lyric)

Ab manu chhūṭ gayā sādhū sangi milei P. 705

Now in company with the holy has the self found release.
By contemplation of the Name by the Master's guidance
Is our light in Divine Light merged.
By contemplation of the Name Divine are sins annulled,
Extinguished is heart of thirst, come fulfilment.
The Lord by the arm has grasped us, shown compassion,
And exalted us as His own.
To His bosom clasping us, has He to Himself united us—
Burnt is suffering of transmigration.
States Nanak in humility : In His compassion in an instant, to Himself has He united us. (4) (2)

In the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Chhant (Lyrics)

Pādhāṉū sansār gārabi aṭṭiyā

The world that is like a traveller, with pride is over-stuffed.
Committing innumerable sins, in Maya-hues dyed.
Beings in the world caught in avarice, attachment and pride are ruined.[1]
Forgetful of death, involved with progeny, companions, worldly transactions, wife
Is their life passed.
Mother mine ! ended are recorded days of life;
at sight of Yama's minions is man in affliction.
Saith Nanak : Ineffaceable are consequences of deeds of such
As to the Name Divine are not devoted. (1)

Ūddam kareh anek Hari-Nāmu na gāwahī

Man in innumerable pursuits involved, the Name
Divine neglects to chant;

1. Sunk.

In countless births wandering, dying and being born.
Countless are these, as beast, bird, stone, tree.
Man earns consequences of the seed sown by him,
Receiving retribution for his deeds.
Those forfeiting the jewel of human birth in a gamble,
To the Lord are not pleasing.
States Nanak in humility : Such are whirled
in transmigration,
For an instant getting not rest. (2)

Jobanu gaiyā bitīti jaru malli baiṭhīyā

Passed is youth; old age its place has usurped—
Hands shaking, head unsteady, eyes without sight.
Eyes gone without sight; man neglectful of
Divine devotion,
Departs leaving his substance[1] behind.
Relations in association with whom mind and body he ruined,
Now obey not his behests, bringing him ignominy.[2]
Love illimitable, perfect, for the Lord not for a moment in man's mind is settled.
States Nanak in humility : In an instant is shattered this frail[3] paper citadel. (3)

Charan kamal sharnāi Nānaku āiyā

To shelter of God's lotus feet has Nanak come.
The impassable ocean of worldly existence the Lord Himself has helped him to cross.
In holy company has He on the Lord meditated;
Clasping him to Himself has the Lord[4] saved him.
The Lord approving us, devotion to His Name has granted,
No way examining our merits and demerits.[5]
The Lord, treasure of merit, limitless, cherished of heart have we attained.
States Nanak in humility : Ever fulfilled are we, after consuming sustenance of the Name Divine. (4) (2.3)

---

1. Maya.
2. Throw dust over his head.
3. False.
4. Sridhar (Lord of Lakshmi, Vishnu) here implying God.
5. Anything else.

VŒr in the Measure Jaitsari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Inclusive of Slokas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka

Ādi pūran maddh pūran anti pūran Paramesūrah
The Lord pervading beginning, middle and end of Time,
Pervasive everywhere, destroyer of sins—
Saith Nanak, is object of His devotees' contemplation. (1)
Behold, listen and impart to others word of the holy Eternal,
In the mind confirm it.
Saith Nanak : Be thou absorbed in love of the Lord, P. 706
Pervasive in all beings. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari eku niranjanu gāīyai sabh antari soī
Chant you praise of the immaculate Lord, pervading all creation;
The Lord almighty, whose will ever prevails.
In an instant He makes and unmakes—
None other than He has power.
In regions and the universe, the nether world and the continents is He pervasive.
Whomsoever to realization He guides, has realization—
Such a one alone is pure. (1)

Sloka

Rechanti jīya rachnā māt garbh asthāpanam
Creating the living self, in the mother's womb is it lodged,
As with each breath has it contemplated the Lord,
from the great fire of the womb it remains immune. (1)
There, with head hanging downwards, feet on top, does it in a filthy place abide.
Saith Nanak : Why of that Lord be forgetful,
By contemplation of whose Name comes release ? (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Raktu bindu kari nimmiyā agni ūdari majhāri
From a drop of blood is it fashioned and created amidst fire of the womb—
Face downwards, filthy, bedraggled,
Lying in horrible hell.
By contemplation of the Lord shalt thou in this fire
not be consumed.

With strength of mind and body in heart lodge the Lord.
Forget Him not for an instant, who in this terrible spot has protected thee.
In forgetfulness of the Lord shall happiness never come—
Forfeited shall thy life be. (2)

Sloka

Mana icchhā dān karṉam sarbatra āsā pūranah

The Lord grants boons after our heart's desire;
ever[1] fulfilling our wishes.
Saith Nanak : Contemplate the Lord, annuller of evils and afflictions,
Who never is from us far. (1)
Form attachment to Him in association with whom come all joys, Saith Nanak, forget not for an instant the Lord, who this beautiful body has fashioned. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jīo prān tan dhan dīyā dīnei ras bhog

The Lord has granted to us life, breath, the body and substance
And all delights and pleasures;
Endowing us with good fortune has He granted to us
Houses, mansions, chariots and steeds.
The Lord, mighty to grant, has granted also progeny, wife, friends, and servitors.
By contemplation of the Lord is body and mind in bloom,[2]
And shed are sorrows[3] of separation.
In holy company chant Divine praise—
Thereby shall all your maladies he shattered. (3)

Sloka

Kūṭamb jatan karṉam māyā anek ūddamah

Man endeavours for welfare of his family, and numerous efforts makes to acquire wealth,
Remaining devoid of feeling of devotion.
Saith Nanak : Those neglectful of the Lord turn goblins. (1)
Snapped soon is the attachment formed with other than God.
Saith Nanak : Life's truest way[4] is to the Lord to be devoted. (2)

1. Everywhere.
2. Green.
3. Lit. Separation (implied sense, sorrow).
4. Custom, life's rule.

Pauri (Stanza)

Jisu bisrat tanu bhasam hoe kahtei sabhi pretu

Forgetfulness of the Lord[1] turns the body to ashes;
Then is the person by all called a goblin.
By those with whom had been formed attachment,
For an instant is allowed not to stay in the house.
What good the wealth that by evil-doing he has hoarded ?
As man sows, so he reaps—this life is field of action.
Those ungrateful to the Lord of Him are neglectful,
And in numerous births whirl along. (4)

Sloka

Koṭi dān isnānam anik sodhan pavitrateh

Saith Nanak : Whoever by his tongue utters the Lord's Name,
Of all sins is absolved :
This equals millions of charities, ritual baths and innumerable purificatory rites.[2] (1) Gathering a large heap of fuel, a tiny spark of fire to it I applied.
In this way, should the holy Lord in mind be lodged,
Saith Nanak, is all suffering shed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Koṭi aghā sabhi nās hohi simrat Hari Nāun P. 707

By contemplation of the Name Divine are millions of sins destroyed.
By chanting Divine praise are heart's desires fulfilled.
Then is annulled fear of transmigration,
And the self the holy immutable station attains.
By pre-recorded destiny is found absorption in love of the Lord's feet.
Lord ! in your grace save him—
Nanak to you is a sacrifice. (5)

Sloka

Grih rachnā apāram mani bilās süādam rasah

Beings that in endless show of their household and pleasure of life's delights
Contemplate not the Lord ever—
Saith Nanak, are worms of ordure. (1)

---

1. He whose forgetfulness.
2. Lines transposed in rendering.

Great is the display, to which man is attached in love.
Saith Nanak : The self that of the Lord is neglectful,
Turns to ashes. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Sündar sei anek sükh ras bhogaṇ pūrei

Those in fine couches, enjoying innumerable pleasures,
Having golden mansions, decked with fragrance of sandalwood, wearing pearls and diamonds,
Having pleasures after heart's desire, being free from anxiety—
Should they of the Lord be unmindful, are worms of ordure.
Without devotion to the Name Divine comes not joy—
How may the mind then find poise ? (6)
Sloka

Charan kamal biraham khojant bairāgī dah dishah

God's devotees, struck with dispassion towards the world
In all ten directions seek Him.
Saith Nanak : Discarding fraudulent forms of Maya,
In holy company, incarnation of joy they abide. (1)
In my heart abides the Lord; by my tongue His Name I utter,
And in all regions go out to seek Him.
Saith Nanak : False are all shows; in listening to holy discourse find I life. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Bastā-tuṭīj hünparī chīr sabhi chhinnā

Anyone living in a battered hovel, his clothes tattered, Without high caste, respect or honour,
in wild places wandering;
Without friend or sympathizer; without wealth or fine form,
Relations or associates—
Should his heart with love of the Name Divine be suffused,
Is king over the whole world.
By touch of dust of his feet is the mind liberated,
And Divine pleasure won. (7)
Sloka

Anik līlā rājras rūpam chhatra chamar takht āsanam

Endless displays, joys of kingship, beauty;
The umbrella, fly-whisk of royalty and being seated on throne—
Such attract the thoughtless, the ignorant and the purblind :
Saith Nanak : Maya-objects are as dream. (1)

All pleasures in a kind of dream are enjoyed;
Sweet-tasting is worldly attachment.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to the Name is Maya's attraction a deception. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sūpnei setī chitt mūrakh laiyā

Thoughtless man his heart on a dream has fixed;
On waking[1] he babbles, as joys and pleasures of kingship are forgotten.
In running after worldly concerns is his life passed.
In Maya-illusion involved, unfulfilled his objectives remain.
What power has this poor creature, cast off from mind by God Himself ? (8)

Sloka

Basanti swarg lokah jit-te prithvi nav-khanḍaṉāh

Those living in palaces attractive as paradise,
And conquering the earth's nine continents, Saith Nanak, should they of the Lord, preserver of the earth, be unmindful,
Are as those wandering in wild places. (1)
Involved in millious of wonders, and displays,
The place where man brings not the Name into mind,
Saith Nanak, equals a million hells :
Ruined shall that place be. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Mahā bhaiyān ūdyān nagar kari māniyā

A terrible forest[2] has man thought of as a city;
Viewing unreal objects, has he taken them to be real.
Involved in lust, wrath and pride man in madness wanders along.
As falls on his head Yama's baton, has he regrets. P. 708
Without guidance of the holy Master, perfectly-endowed,
In diabolical thoughts he wanders along. (9)

Sloka

Rāj kapṭam rūp kapṭam dhan kapṭam kūl garbatah

Royal power, beauty, wealth, high lineage, of which man is so pround,
All are illusions.

1. (Waking to reality is implied).
2. Human life or the world.

Mankind keeps hoarding poison that is a delusion.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to the Lord nothing accompanies man. (1)
At sight of the bitter melon, that looks attractive,
Be not deluded—
Valued not at half a cowrie.
Saith Nanak : Wealth[1] accompanies not man. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Challadiyāṇ nāli na challai so kiūṇ sanjīyai

Why hoard that which at departure accompanies us not ?
What point endeavouring for that which we must leave ?
In being neglectful of the Lord, how may the mind be contended ?
Joy comes not thus.
Attaching oneself to other objects, discarding the Lord,
Is in hell to be absorbed.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord ! show your grace and compassion;
My fear shatter. (10)
Sloka

Na cha rāj sükh mishṭam na cha bhog ras mishṭam na cha mishṭam sükh Māyā

Neither are pleasures of royal power sweet, nor delights of bodily enjoyment,
Nor pleasures brought by wealth.
Truly sweet is holy company and sight of the Lord :
Thus states Nanak, servant of God. (1)
A love have I formed that my heart has dyed—
Penetrated by the substance of Truth.
Saith Nanak : Truly sweet is the Lord. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Hari binu kachhū nā lāgaī bhagtan kau mīṭhā

God's devotees find nothing other than the Lord sweet.
All other tastes are joyless[2]—this have we seen.
As has the Master become our mediator,
Snapped are ignorance, doubt and suffering.
Love for the lotus feet Divine has penetrated the heart as madder's[3] fast dye.

1. Maya.
2. Phīka = Having no taste.
3. Majīth.

My life, breath, body, mind, all are the Lord's—
All that is unreal, perishes. (11)
Sloka
Tyakt jalam nah jīv mīnam na tyāgi chātrik megh maṇḍalah
The fish lives not by forsaking of water;
The chatrik[1] forsakes not the cloud-sphere.
The deer attracted by sound is penetrated by the arrow;
The humming-bee by fragrance of the lotus is imprisoned.
Saith Nanak : So are God's devotees to the Divine lotus feet attached, Inclining to none else. (1)
Should I have sight of Thy face for the twinkling of an eye,
To nothing else shall I give my heart.
Saith Nanak : My life to the Lord is attached,
Who to His devotees is true friend. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Jiūṇ machhlī binu pāṇīyai kiv jīvaṇu pāwai
As without water the fish finds not life;
As without the drop of rain the chatrik[1] feels not content;
As the deer attracted by sound rushes to face the hunter;
As the humming-bee, greedy for fragrance of the lotus,
Gets bound—
Thus is love for the Lord in the heart of His devotees :
By His sight feel they fulfilled. (12)
Sloka
Chitwanti charan kamalam sāsi sāsi arādhanah
God's devotees with each breath contemplate Him,
And to Him make devoted supplication.
Saith Nanak : The Lord immortal they forget not.
The Supreme Lord their desires fulfils. (1)
To the hearts of such is the Lord firmly joined,
For the twinkling of an eye going not out.
Saith Nanak : Fulfilled is their desire for everlasting sight of the holy Lord. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Asāvantī ās Gūsāīṇ pūrīyai
Lord ! fulfil desires of my self, full of yearning.
After union with the Lord arise no regrets in life.

1. A tiny bird (the brain-fever cuckoo).

My heart for Thy sight yearns,
Whereby may all sorrow be removed.
By dust of your holy feet may my body be made pure.
Ever present to me may the Supreme Being,
Divine Enlightener be ! (13)

Sloka

Rasnā üchranti Nāmam sravaṉam sünanti shabda amritah

Saith Nanak : To such am I a sacrifice as with tongue the holy Name utter, P. 709
With the ears to the ambrosial Word listen,
And on the Supreme Being meditate. (1)
Other than devotion to the Lord are all concerns false.
Saith Nanak : Blessed are such as to the holy Eternal are devoted. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sad balihārī tinhaṉ jei sünatei Hari kathā

Ever am I a sacrifice to such as to Divine discourse listen.
Greatly distinguished among men are those that to the Lord bow their head.
Pleasing is sight of the hands that Divine laudation record.
Pure, holy are the feet treading the Lord's path.
In company of the holy comes liberation,
And cast off is all suffering. (14)

Sloka

Bhāvī üdot karṉam Hari ramṉam sanjog pūrnah

Manifestation of Divinely-ordained fortune whereby man to the Lord is devoted,
By the perfectly auspicious occasions of good fortune comes.
Saith Nanak : Blessed are the hours wherein is beheld sight of the Lord. (1)
Beyond my power is it to value the joy beyond measure.[1] Saith Nanak : Approved is the hour wherein union with the Beloved comes about. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Tell, which is the occasion wherein is the Lord attained ?
Happy, auspicious is any hour wherein is the Lord met.

1. (These are joys of union with the Lord).

By meditating on the Lord night and day are my desires fulfilled.
By great good fortune is attained company of the holy—
Their feet I touch bowing low.
In Nanak's heart abides thirst for the Lord's sight—
To it is Nanak a sacrifice. (15)

Sloka

Patit pūnīt Gobindah sarb dokh nivārnuh

Purifier of the fallen is the Lord, annuller of all sins.
Nanak contemplates ever the Lord, mighty[1] to grant shelter. (1)
Discarding all egoism, to the Lord's feet I cling.
Saith Nanak : By sight of the Lord are fled suffering and maladies. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Meli laihu Dayāl ḍheh pae dūāriyā

Compassionate Lord ! to yourself unite me, fallen at your door.
Lord compassionate to the humble ! with much wandering[2]
am I exhausted.
Lord saviour of the fallen ! Thy law[3] of grace is for Thy devotees to show love.
None other than Thee is my succourer—such is the supplication I make.
Lord compassionate ! from ocean of the world,
By grasping my arm rescue me. (16)

Sloka

Sant ūdharn dayālam āsram Gopāl kīrtanah

Saviour of devotees, their prop
In singing praise of the Lord compassionate.
Saith Nanak : By holy company and shelter of
the Supreme Lord
Is attained purity. (1)
Suffering[4] of the heart neither by sandalwood paste nor by moonlight nor by autumn's cold goes.
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the Name Divine
Is the heart filled with joy.[5] (2)

1. Lit. Heroic.
2. Transmigration is implied.
3. Bird. (Wird, Ar.).
4. Lit. Heat (oppressive feeling).
5. Grows cool.

Pauri (Stanza)

Charan kamal kī oṭ üdharei-sngal jana

By seeking shelter with God's lotus feet is all mankind saved.
By listening to accounts of Divine might
Is the mind from fear freed.
The garnered wealth of the Name no diminution knows.
Holy company by doing great good[1] is attained.
Day and night[2] on the Lord meditate;
Ever to Divine laudation listen. (17)

Sloka

Dayā karṉam dükh harṉam ücharaṉam Nām kīrtanah

Utterance of holy Name and singing Divine laudation
Brings Divine compassion and removes suffering.
Saith Nanak : Should the Lord, Supreme Being, be gracious,
Maya clings not to the self. (1)
As the Lord is our saviour, extinguished is the blazing fire.
Nanak ! contemplate thou the Lord who all creation has raised. (2) P. 710

Pauri (Stanza)

Jā Prabh bhayei dayāl na biyāpai Māyā

Should the Lord be gracious, Maya attaches not to the self.
By meditating on the Lord
Are annulled millions of sins.
By bathing in dust of feet of God's devotees
Is the body rendered pure.
By attaining the Lord, all-perfection
Are mind and body made content.
Along with such are saved all of their families. (18)

Sloka

Guru Gobind Gopāl Guru Guru pūran Nārāyaṉah

*The Master, Divinely-inspired is Lord of the world, preserver
And all-pervasive.
Saith Nanak : The Master is gracious, almighty,
Saviour of the fallen. (1)
The Master that is the ship has taken us

1. Implies good deeds of previous births.
2. All eight pahars.
* Note : In this hymn is expressed the vision of identification in spirit of the Master (Guru) and the Lord.

Across the impassable, immeasurable, ocean of the world.
Saith Nanak : By perfection of meritorious deeds
Does one cling to the Master's feet. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Blessed is the holy Preceptor in whose company is the Lord contemplated.
As has the Master shown grace,
Are all our blemishes covered.
The holy Preceptor, image of the Supreme Being,
To the lowly brings exaltation.
By snapping cords of Maya-affliction.
Has he made us his servants.
Our tongue has then chanted praise and laudation
Of the Lord above limit. (19)

Sloka

Drishṭanta Eko sūnīyant Eko vartant Eko Narharā

The mighty Lord[1] solely is visible, audible and pervasive.
Nanak for boon of the Name supplicates—
Supreme Being compassionate, show grace. (1)
One sole Lord I serve, one sole Lord contemplate;
To the Lord solely make I supplication.
Saith Nanak : Merchandise and wealth of the Name have I garnered,
That is the true capital. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Prabh dayāl beant pūran ikku ehu

*The Lord gracious, without limit is solely pervasive.
Himself He solely pervades—whom else may I mention ?
Himself charity He dispenses, Himself receives it;
Birth and death[2] by Divine Ordinance occurs;
Immutable is Thy station.
Nanak seeks this boon :
In Thy grace grant devotion to Thy Name. (20)

---

1. Narhari = Man-Lion, an avatar of Vishnu.
2. Arriving and departing.
* Note : This Vār is built on a uniform pattern. Each unit contains the opening Sloka in Sanaskrit; followed by a Sloka, explanatory of it in Lehndi. Then follows the Pauri or Stanza.

In the Measure Jaitsari—Bani of Bhaktas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realize
by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Nāth kachhūa na jānouṇ

Lord ! realization have I none—my heart to Maya is sold (I-Pause)
Thy appellation is Lord, Enlightner of the world;
We are designated as creatures profligate of Kali-Yuga. (1)
These five Evils[1] have my mind corrupted,
And each moment from the Lord alienated[2] me. (2)
Wherever I look, source of suffering I behold.
Man's mind still of it is not convinced, despite scriptures[3] testifying to it. (3)
Gautam's wife[4] and the Lord, Uma's spouse[5] :
To one clings Brahma's head; the other, Indra bears marks of a thousand female genitals. (4)
These minions of evil have bound and harassed my gross self :
Shameless that I am, still of their compauy am I not tired. (5)
Saith Ravidas : Where shall we seek shelter ?
what effort to make ?
Other than the Lord, with whom shall we take shelter ? (6-1)

---

1. These are lust, wrath, avarice, attachment, pride.
2. Lit. Created distance between me and the Lord.
3. Nigam, here implying Vedas—scriptures in general.
4. Ahalya, wife of Gautam rishi, with whom Indra sinned by playing a trick.
5. Shiva, who cut off Brahma's fifth head, on Brahma objecting to Shiva easting amorous looks on his daughter.
(These two stories are well-known in Puranic literature).

RAGA TODI

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality
Eternal, Creator Immanent, Without Fear, Without Rancour, Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-existent, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace P. 711

In the Measure Todi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 1

Hari binu rahi na sakai manu merā

Without the Lord's sight my heart[1] finds not rest.
May the Master to the Beloved Lord, dear as life unite me,
Whereafter to the ocean of existence I may not return. (I-Pause)
By yearning for the Lord is my heart gripped :
With my eyes the Lord have I beheld.
The holy Preceptor gracious the Name Divine
in me has confirmed,
That is the path leading to the Lord. (1)
Obtained is the Name of the Lord, disporting in joy,
Overlord[2] of the earth, Supreme Master.
To my heart, mind and body has the Lord tasted sweet—
This by good fortune inscribed on my forehead has come. (2)
Those with minds fascinated by avarice, evil-doing,
Of the Lord, all-weal, are forgetful :
Such are called egoists, thoughtless, ignorant—
On their forehead is inscribed misfortune. (3)
From the holy Preceptor is obtained discriminating understanding
And enlightenment as to the Divine Enlightener.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : From the Master is obtained
devotion to the Name,
By good fortune in primal time on the forehead recorded. (4) (1)

---

1. Mana.
2. Govind.

In the Measure Todi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Duos

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Santan awar na kāhū jānī

God's devotees of nothing other than the Lord have recked.
One on whose side is the Lord, from anxiety is free,
Ever to the Lord devoted. (Pause)
Lord ! lofty is Thy canopy,
The like of which none else has spread.
By the command received by Thy devotees,
In joy of Thy enlightenment are they absorbed. (1)
Maladies, sorrows, decrepitude[1] and death
Approach not the Lord's servants.
In absorption in the Sole Lord, abide they free from fear,
Their heart[2] fixed in faith in God. (2) (1)

Hari bisrat sadā khüwārī

In forgetfulness of the Lord lies perpetual ignominy. P. 712
What illusion can grip such as under Thy shelter lie ? (Pause)
Life without contemplation of the Lord is like burning in fire;
Life thus spent is like the snake's.
One wielding authority even over the nine continents,
Ultimately shall depart a loser. (1)
Such alone have chanted praise of the Treasure of Merit
As have His grace.
Saith Nanak : Such a one is truly happy, blessed his birth—
To him is Nanak a sacrifice. (2) (2)

In the Measure Todi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Quartets

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dhāiyo rei mana deh dis dhāiyo

In ten directions has the mind rushed along.
Absorbed in Maya, by pleasures and avarice fascinated,
By the Lord Himself deluded. (Pause)

---

1. Lit. Old age.
2. Mana.

Not for an hour has man engaged his mind
in Divine discourse,
Divine laudation and holy company;
At sight of Maya's frail dye[1] delighted,
To seek unlawful pleasure of lust[2] it gets out. (1)
For God's lotus feet bearing not love,
The holy Preceptor has he not propitiated;
In various ways rushing after the evanescent objects of the world,
Like the oil-presser's ox moving along. (2)
Engaging not in devotion to the Name, charity, holy bathing,
For an instant has he not chanted Divine laudation.
With falsehoods of various kinds has he made his mind content,
Unaware of what is truly his own. (3)
Never doing good to others, or serving the holy Preceptor,
On the Name has he not meditated.
Fascinated by the five minions of Evil, in their company and discourse is he absorbed,
Under Maya's intoxication reeling. (4)
I pray, company of Thy devotees may I attain—
Knowing the Lord to be beloved of devotees have I come.
Nanak to seek shelter with the Lord has run :
Pray save my honour, who am Thy own. (5) (1.3)

Mānūkhu binu būjhei birthā āiyā

Man devoid of realization, purposelessly in the world has arrived :
Decking himself in various way of attraction and charm,
Is he like a corpse draped. (Pause)
The avarcious man has rushed about, making effort to hoard wealth.
Engaging not in charity, good deeds and service of the holy,
Worthless is his hoard. (1)
Wearing ornaments has the woman[3] decked her couch
And created much glamour :
Not obtaining company of the Spouse,[4]
The sight of these has only brought pain. (2)

1. Kasumbha, a flower, yielding a reddish dye easily washed off.
2. Pursuing others' homes (i.e. womenfolk).
3. Image for the human self.
4. The Divine Spouse is implied.

Man labours all day to thresh husks with a flail :
To seek such unrewarding labour[1] is he in pain,
That little use is to him. (3)
In the hearts of those having Divine grace is the Name lodged.
Nanak, servant of God, questing after holy company,
Joy in God has obtained. (4) (2.4)

Kripānidhi basuh ridai Hari nīt

Lord gracious ! abide Thou ever in my heart.
Illumine my understanding that to the Lord in love
I be attached. (Pause)
May I obtain dust of feet of your devotee, and to my forehead apply it.
By singing Divine laudation from gross impurity to purity may I attain.[2] (1) P. 713
Sweet to me is your command;
May your doings to my heart be pleasing !
With whatever gifts Thou dost grant, may my heart be content,
And in no other direction rush. (2)
The Lord may I ever behold[3] near;
Of all may I turn dust.
By attainment of holy company is the Lord attained. (3)
Abidingly are we your humble slaves;
You our Lord.
Nanak is your child; you his mother and father—
Your Name the milk in my mouth. (4) (3.5)

In the Measure Todi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Duos

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Māngouṇ dān Thākür Nām

Devotion to the Lord's Name in charity I beg :
Nothing else shall accompany me—
By Divine grace may I obtain the gift of chanting Divine praise. (I-Pause)
Royal power, wealth, enjoyment of numerous pleasures
All are as tree-shadows.
Man in numerous ways rushes about—all worthless activity. (1)

1. Begār : Forced labour on no payment or a pittance.
2. From being grossly impure may I become pure.
3. Know, realize.

Whatever other than the Lord I seek, appears all worthless.[1]
Saith Nanak : Dust of feet of the holy I seek,
Whereby may my mind attain poise. (2) (1.6)

Prabhjī ko Nāmu maneh sādhārai

The Lord's holy Name alone props up my mind.
My life's breath and joy is the Name—
Such is our life's tenor. (I-Pause)
The Name is my high caste, my honour, my family.
The Name, true friend, is ever by my side—
The Name Divine my saviour. (1)
Numerous sinful pleasures that are mentioned—
None of these accompanies man.
The Name is Nanak's loved friend,
The Name Divine our treasure. (2) (2.7)

Nīkei gūṉa gāoṇ miṭahī rog

As of the Lord's holy attributes I sing, cured are my maladies.
Thereby is the face made radiant, the mind pure—
In this world and the next shall thy life be made fruitful. (I-Pause)
Washing the Master's feet I serve him—
My self I dedicate as offering.
Discarding egoism, disputatiouness, pride,
Accept what by Divine Will must come to pass. (1)
Such alone in serving the holy are engaged,
As on the forehead carry this writ.
Saith Nanak : Other than the Lord solely none has the might anything to accomplish. (2) (3.8)

Satigūru āiyo sharan tūhārī

Holy Preceptor ! to your shelter have I come,
Pray grant me joy, devotion to the Name Divine, repute,
My anxiety annulling. (Pause)
No other place of shelter I see; exhausted, to Thy door have I come.
Disregarding reckoning of our deeds,[2] by infinite grace alone can we get release—
Save us, lacking in merit. (1)
The Lord, eternally forgiving, eternally-gracious,

1. Raw, unbaked (as of clay).
2. Lit. Disregarding all count or reckoning.

To all beings grants the prop.
Nanak, servant of God, is questing after the holy—
Praying, in this life[1] grant him liberation. (2) (4.9)

Rasnā gūṉa Gopāl nidhi gāeṉ

As the tongue praise of the Lord, treasure of merit chants,
In the mind arises spontaneous serenity and joy, P. 714
And fled is all suffering. (I-Pause)
Whoever serves at the Lord's feet, source of all joy,
Has fulfilment of all desires;
Emancipated from birth and death, the ocean of existence he swims across. (1)
After long quest is this ideal truth realized :
God's servant is one whose entire dependence is on the Lord.
Nanak ! shoudlst thou seek imperishable weal,
Ever the Lord contemplate. (2) (5.10)

Nindaku Guru Kirpā tei hāṭeo

My traducer[2] by Divine grace is turned away.
By grace of the Lord, Supreme Being, by Shiva's arrow is his head cut off. (I-Pause)
Snare of death and Yama at us cannot cast their glance,
As the path of truth we have adopted.
The wealth of God's precious[3] Name have we acquired,
That by consuming and spending knows not decrease. (1)
In an instant to ashes was he turned,[4] receiving retribution for his deeds.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : The scriptures[5]
too this truth express,
And the whole world to it is witness.[6] (2) (6.11)

Kirpan tan mana kilvikh bharei

Thou worshipper of mammon, with body and mind filled with sins,
In holy company to the Lord practise devotion—

1. Lit. This time, on this occasion.
2. (Refers to Sulahi Khan, a Mughal commander who came out with aggressive intentions against Guru Arjan Dev).
3. Jewel.
4. (Sulahi perished, falling into a burning kiln).
5. Āgam, Nigam.
6. Beholds.

The Lord alone thy sins shall cover.[1] (I-Pause)
Should the ship develop numerous leaks, these with hands cannot be stopped.
Should one supplicate Him whose is the ship,
Then may be saved evil-doers along with the good.[2] (1)
Should one by mere words seek to lift a heavy rock,
It shall from its place not budge.[3]
Saith Nanak : No power or strength have we.
Lord ! save us who on Thy shelter are fallen. (2) (7.12)

Hari kei charan kamal mani dhiyāo

In your mind on the Lord's lotus feet meditate.
The Lord's Name, true medicine, as with an axe
Annuls maladies of heat and cold.[4] (I-Pause)
The Lord is Annuller of the Three Maladies,[5] remover of suffering, store house of joy :
No impediment attaches to one who to the Lord makes supplication. (1)
The Lord almighty by grace of the holy our physician has become.
Saith Nanak : To those seeking shelter with the Lord,
Even though of child-like understaning,
Perfection of joy He grants. (2) (8.13)

Hari Hari Nāmu sadā sad jāp

Ever contemplate the Name Divine.
Lord Supreme Being ! in your grace have you rehabilitated us.[6] (I-Pause)
He whose are these creatures, by Him are cherished—
Gone are their maladies and afflictions.
The Lord, assuming parental function,
With strength of His arm His servants has protected. (1)
By compassion of the Lord, Supreme Master,
Have all creation shown kindness.
Nanak with the Divine shatterer of suffering,
Of great might, has sought shelter. (2) (9.14)

---

1. Implies forgiving.
2. Lit. The base along with the genuine (coins).
3. Lit. Remain where it is lying.
4. Here occur 'pitt' (bile) and bāt (maladies of the wind).
5. These are ādhi (mental troubles), biyādhi (bodily ailments), upādhi (psychic disorders).
6. Refers to the Guru's return from sojourn at Wadali.

Swāmī sharan pariyo durbārei

Lord ! shelter with Thy court have I sought.
Annuller of millions of sins, bountiful Provider !
Who except Thee may grant us liberation ? (I-Pause)
After persistent quest in various ways,
All these have we considered.
In holy company is attained the supreme state—
Absorption in Maya brings bondage and defeat. (1)
Met is the beloved noble being;[1] P. 715
To his lotus feet in love am I attached.
Nanak in contemplation of the Lord finds joy—
Annulled are all his maladies. (2) (10.15)

In the Measure Todi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quartets
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hāṇ hāṇ lapṭiyo rei mūṛhei kachhū na thorī

Behold thou thoughtless man ! excessively to Maya
art thou attached.
This that is not thine, hast thou taken to be thine own. (Pause)
God that is thine own, hast thou not contemplated
for an instant. (1)
That which is alien hast thou taken to be thine.
The holy Name that is thy friend, hast thou not lodged in heart.
To what thou shalt desert, hast thou attached thy heart. (2)
Thou hast garnered what only brings on hunger[2] and thirst :
Provision of the Name ambrosial hast thou not obtained. (3)
Of those in well of lust, wrath, attachment fallen, Saith Nanak, a rare one by the Master's grace has been saved.[3] (4) (1.16)

Hamārai ekai Harī Harī

In our home is practised solely devotion to the Lord.
To nothing else do we accord recognition.[4] (Pause)
By great good fortune to the Master have I attained,
Who the Name Divine in me has confirmed. (1)

1. Refers to the holy Preceptor, Guru.
2. Used symbolically—desire.
3. Has swum.
4. Know.

Utterance of the Lord's Name is for us the good way of life, good conduct and high caste. (2)
In listening to Divine laudation lies supreme bliss. (3)
Saith Nanak : Whoever the Lord has obtained,
All boons[1] his home have entered. (4) (2.17)

In the Measure Todi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Duos
SCORE 4
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Rūṛo manu Hari rango loṛai

My heart[2] enamoured of beauty, Divine love seeks after;
Not by mere prattle comes love of the Lord. (Pause)
For a sight of the Lord I get out in quest, looking into each lane :
By union with the Master is my illusion lost. (1)
Such understanding by the writ in primal time on my forehead recorded.
From the holy man, the Preceptor have I obtained.
Thus have Nanak's eyes had sight of the Lord. (2) (1.18)

Garbi gahilaṛo mūṛhaṛo hīyo rei

The heart is pride-gripped, thoughtless,
Caught by Maya of the Divine Monarch :
Like a witch[3] has attachment gripped it. (Pause)
More and more of substance does man seek ever—
How without destiny[4] may he receive it ?
Man by God-given wealth is deluded—
Unfortunate one, in fire of avarice cast[5]
My self ! to instruction of the holy listen,
Thereby may all your sins be effaced.
For whomsoever is recorded due[6] from the Divine Monarch to receive,
Saith Nanak, nevermore into transmigration shall fall. (2) (2.19)

1. Everything.
2. Mana.
3. Also explicated as : Like a fish gripped by attachment.
4. Lit. What is due to one (from God).
5. Lit. Joined.
6. As in note 4 above.

In the Measure Todi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Duos

SCORE 5

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace P. 716

Aiso gūnu mero Prabh jī kīn

An act of beneficence has the Lord to me done :
The five evils and malady of egoism from my self has
He all cast out. (Pause)
Snapping my bonds, from Maya releasing me,
The Master's Word in my heart has He fixed,
Not reckoning my beauty or plainness,
Me, love-gripped, in Divine love has He drenched. (1)
As were intervening veils removed, had I vision of the Beloved,
And in bliss of heart was my self fixed in joy.
Saith Nanak : His is the house, He its lord—
He the Master, I His vassal. (2) (1.20)

Māī merei mana kī preeti

Mother mine ! the love I bear in heart[1]
Is true ritual actions, recitation of texts, repetition
of God's Name,
And the pure way of life. (Pause)
Ever beholding sight of the Lord is my life's prop, and my life's wealth.
The Lord is my provision for the way over land and water—
Him have I made my heart's beloved. (1)
By grace of the holy is my heart made pure,
As in compassion their own have they made me.
Saith Nanak : In constant contemplation of the Lord,
Through all time friend of His devotees,
Have I obtained joy. (2) (2.21)

Prabhjī milu merei prān

Lord who art my life, pray grant me union with Thee.
Go not[2] out of my heart for an instant even;
To Thy devotee grant this perfect boon. (Pause)
Beloved, controller of the inner self, all-wisdom,
My doubts remove, save me !

1. Mana.
2. Be not forgotten.

Lord worthy to worship,
Cast your ambrosial glance at me—Wealth of the Name for me is millions of royal states and honour. (1)
Almighty ! day and night[1] may my tongue chant your laudation;
My ears listening to your praise fulfilled.
Bountiful Provider of creation ! Nanak under Thy shelter has come;
To Thee is a sacrifice. (2) (3.22)

Prabh Terei pag kī dhūri

Lord ! grant me dust of Thy feet—
Thou who art compassionate to the humble, beloved enchanter of heart !
In Thy grace my desire fulfil. (Pause)
Controller of the inner self, ever-present by us !
In all ten directions is your glory pervasive.
Lord Creator ! those that chant your praise,
Never in pining die away. (1)
In holy company are annulled Maya's concerns and bonds,
And eliminated is suffering of heart.
Without devotion to the Lord, Nanak considers false,
Pleasures of wealtb and delights of life. (2) (4.23)

Māī merei mana kī pyās

Mother mine ! my heart[3] for the Lord is thirsting :
For an instant without the Beloved find I not rest—
For His sight yearning. (Pause)
The Name of the Creator, from Maya-taint free, I contemplate;
From my mind and body are annulled all sins.
Thou art the Supreme Being, perfection incarnate, bestower of joy, immortal—
Immaculate Thy praise. (1)
By grace of the holy are my objectives fulfilled;
By their compassion is met the Divine Repository of Merit.
Saith Nanak : In my mind is arisen joy with serenity, P. 717
And illumination of a million suns flashed. (2) (5.24)

Hari Hari patit-pāvan

The Lord is purifier of the fallen :

1. All eight pahars,
2. Mana.

Sustainer of life, source of honour, provider of joy,
Controller of the inner self, beloved of heart. (Pause)
Beauteous, all-wise, sapient, omniscient,
Abiding in heart of His devotees, who His praises sing.
Lord of holy aspect, beyond compare,
In this field of action, where what man sows,
he consumes. (1)
Into deepest wonder at beholding Him are we fallen—
None other like to you appears.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : I find life by constant utterance[1] of His glory by my tongue,
Ever to you am I a sacrifice. (2) (6.25)

Mā̃ī Māyā chhalu

Mother mine ! Maya is a false show.
Without devotion to the Lord is it like a straw's flame, a cloud-shadow and flood-water. (Pause)
Discarding cleverness and sleights of intellect,
With hands folded tread way of the holy.
The Lord controller of hearts[2] thou contemplate—
This is the noble reward[3] of the human incarnation. (1)
The holy expound what the Vedas express;
The thoughtless and the unfortunate realize not the value of this.
Saith Nanak : God's servants in loving devotion are absorbed;
By Divine contemplation is all impurity burnt away. (2) (7.26)

Mā̃ī charan Guru miṭhei

Mother mine ! sweet is touch of the Master's feet.
This the Lord by supreme good luck grants—
The Master's sight millions of rewards brings. (Pause)
By chanting praise of the eternal, immortal Lord,
Are destroyed stubborn evils of lust and wrath.
Those devoted to the holy Eternal immutable have become,
Never again by transmigration to be pulverized. (1)
All joys and pleasures without devotion to the Lord,
In company of the compassionate devotee[4]
are realized to be false.

1. Remembrance.
2. Antarjami.
3. Fruit.
4. Refers to the Guru.

Nanak, servant of God, the jewel Name has obtained—
Without devotion to the Name, all depart robbed.[1] (2) (8.27)

Sādh sangi Hari Hari Nāmu chitārā

In holy company is the Name Divine contemplated :
Day and night thereby comes serene joy—
Thus is our seedling[2] blessed. (Pause)
By great good fortune is met the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Above end or limit.
By the strength of his arm has he succoured his servant from the world's poisonous ocean. (1)
By absorbing the Master's Word are annulled
birth and death—
Nevermore is beheld the door of affliction.[3]
Nanak the Lord's shelter has taken—
To Him makes he obeisance constantly.[4] (2) (9.48)

Māī merei mana ko sūkhu

Mother mine ! joyful is my heart grown :
Millions of delights, pleasures of royal power have I felt—
By contemplation of the Lord are shattered all my sufferings. (I-Pause)
Fled are sins of millions of births;
By Divine contemplation is the self made pure,
And body and mind made happy.
By beholding the Lord's beauteous form are all my
objectives fulfilled;
By His sight is my hunger satisfied. (1)
The four Boons,[5] eight Great Powers,[6] the wish-fulfilling Cow,[7]
The wish-fulfilling tree[8]—
All these is the Tree that is the Lord.
Nanak with the Ocean of Joy has taken shelter;
Thereafter occurs not suffering of birth and death and falling into the womb. (2) (10.29) P. 718

---

1. Used metaphorically.
2. Refers to the seed of devotion planted.
3. Implies the torment of transmigration.
4. Again and again.
5. These are Kama (desire for happiness), Arth (prosperity), Dharma (performance of religious duties), Moksha (liberation).
6. Siddhis or the miraculous powers, achieved as a result of perfection in Yoga.
7. This is found in the celestial regions.
8. This tree stands in Indra's garden (pārijāt).

Hari Hari charan ridai ūrdhārei

In my heart have I cherished the Divine feet.
By contemplation of the Master, the holy Preceptor
Are all my objectives fulfilled. (I-Pause)
Such is the essence of truth I have contemplated :
Acts of piety, charities, worship of God,
All in Divine laudation are comprehended.
By singing praise of the Lord, inaccessible, beyond limit,
Measureless joy have I obtained. (1)
Those whom the Supreme Being has made His own,
No reckoning of their deeds does He make after.
In listening to the jewel Name find I life :
This Divine jewel has Nanak to his neck clasped. (2) (11.30)

In the Measure Todi—Composition of Sri Guru Teg Bahadur
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realised
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kahouṇ kahāṇ apnī adhamāī

What shall I say of my lowness ?
In pleasures of gold and woman entangled, Divine praise have I not sung. (I-Pause)
Thinking the unreal world real, to that am I attached.
The Divine Friend of the humble never have I contemplated,
Who would be my friend and cherisher. (1)
Night and day in Maya have I kept absorbed,
My heart's[1] impurity not shed.
Saith Nanak : Now shall liberation no way come,
Except by seeking shelter with the Lord. (2) (1.31)

In the Measure Todi—Composition of the Bhaktas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Koī bolai nivrā koī bolai dūri

Some aver He is close, others far :
Such claims are false as the fish climbing the date-palm. (1)
Why men, are you prattling ?
Those that to the Lord have attained, have concealed
His knowledge. (I-Pause)
Such turning scholars, the Vedas expound.
But the simpleton[2] Namdev the Lord has realized. (2) (1)

1. Mana.
2. Said out of humility—innocent; without cleverness of learning and cogitation.

Kaun ko kalanku rahiyo Rama-Nāmu leit hī Whose blemishes by utterance of the Name Divine have remained ?
Just by utterance of the Lord's Name are the fallen purified. (I-Pause)
In Divine company has Namdev made the resolve :
Now that the fast of the Eleventh[1] is discarded,
why go to any bathing-spot ? (1)
Saith Namdev, this holy realization to me has come :
Who by utterance of the Name
By the Master's guidance has failed to enter heaven[2] ? (2) (2)
Tīni chhandei khelu āchhai
Here is play of three rhymes. (I-Pause)
In the potter's home should be the pot, in the king's home the she-camel,
In the Brahmin's home the horoscope :
So here are these there : hāndi, sāndi, rāndi[3]. (1)
In the home of the shopkeeper should be asafoetida,
On the buffalo's head horns;
In the temple should be placed the lingam :
So here are hīng, sīng, līng[4]. (2)
In the oil-presser's home should be oil,
in the forest creepers;
In the gardener's yard should be banana-plants.
So here are : tel, bel, kel.[5] (3)
Amidst the holy must the Lord be called Govinda,
In Gokul,[6] Krishna[7].
With Nama[8] must the holy name Rama abide.
Say, Rama Shyam, Govinda.[9] (4) (3)

1. Ekadashi = Eleventh of the lunar month, fasting on which is held meritorious.
2. Baikunth.
3. (These are the originals for the three objects enumerated).
4. Do.
5. Do.
6. The Brindaban region where Krishna disported.
7. Original, Shyaom.
8. Short for Namdev.
9. (The originals for the three objects mentioned).

RAGA BAIRARI

In the Measure Bairari—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Duos P. 719

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Süni mana akath kathā Hari-Nām

My self ! to the inexpressible discourse of the Name Divine give ear.
By contemplating devotedly the Lord,
Shalt thou obtain miraculoust powers, enlightenment, success and joy. (I-Pause)
The various epics, Puranas, the six Shastras
The Lord's exalted praise sing.
Shiva and the thirty-three crore deities on Him meditated;
Yet they realized not the Lord's mystery. (1)
God-like men and troupes of God's choristers His laudation sing;
Sing to all created by Him.
Saith Nanak : Those having His grace are the Lord's true devotees. (2) (1)

Mana mili sant-janāṇ jasu gāiyo

My self ! those that in holy company Divine laudation have sung,
For such has the holy Preceptor obtained gift of the noble Divine jewel. (I-Pause)
My heart and body shall I dedicate to him,
Who the Name Divine to me has imparted.
Wealth, riches and substance shall I dedicate to him,
Who to the Divine Friend has united me. (1)
As for a brief instant has the Lord shown grace,
Divine laudation have I contemplated.
As the Lord met Nanak, His servant,
Was annulled the malady of egoism. (2) (2)

Hari-janu Rāma-Nām gūna gāwai

God's devotee praise of the Name Divine chants.

Should someone ever traduce God's devotee, P. 720

His own good quality should he not let go. (I-Pause)

All happens by the Lord's will; Himself everything He accomplishes.

Himself the Lord confers understanding;

Himself our utterance inspires. (1)

Himself has the Lord spread expanse of the five elements;

Himself the five substances[1] to these He joins.

Saith Nanak, servant of God : With the holy Preceptor
He Himself grants union;

Himself all contentions He settles. (2) (3)

Jap mana Rāma-Nāmu nistārā

My self ! the Name Divine contemplate that liberation brings.

The Lord sins of millions annuls and across the ocean of existence carries them. (I-Pause)

In the city of the body dwells the Lord, without fear and rancour, without form.

The Lord close to us, abides invisible,

By the Master's teaching attained. (1)

The Lord is Himself master of wealth, jeweller,

Himself jewel and diamond—

Himself has spread the visible expanse.

Saith Nanak : To whomsoever He shows grace,

In the Name Divine trades :

Such the true bankers, merchants. (2) (4)

Japi mana Hari niranjanu nirankārā

My self ! the Lord immaculate, formless thou contemplate.

Ever on the Lord, bestower of joy meditate,
who is without end or limit. (I-Pause)

As in the fiery pit of the womb, hanging head downwards,

Was the creature absorbed in God,

The Lord there[2] protected him.

My self ! serve thou the Lord, who at the last shall grant thee liberation. (1)

Bow in reverence to one in whose heart abides the Lord.

1. These might imply the five evils, or the five sources of sensation (Shabda = sound, touch, form, taste, smell).
2. In the womb.

By Divine grace is obtained inspiration to laud the Lord.
Saith Nanak : The Name is my sole support. (2) (5)

Japi mana Hari Hari Nāmu nitt dhiyāe

My self ! ever the Name Divine contemplate; on the Name meditate.
Thereby are all desires fulfilled, and no suffering clings to man. (I-Pause)
The true recitation, austerity, fast and worship is that Whereby love for the Lord is formed.
Other than the Lord's is all love false,
That is an instant is forgotten. (1)
Without limit art Thou, perfect in Thee all powers—
Beyond expression Thy greatness.[1]
Lord ! Nanak under your shelter is falleu;
Save him as may please you. (2) (6)

In the Measure Bairari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE I

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sant janāṇ mili Hari jasu gāiyo

God's devotees in unison Divine laudation have chanted—Thereby are their sufferings of millions of births annulled. (I-Pause)
Fulfilled are all their heart's desires.
The Lord in His grace to the Name Divine has inspired them. (1)
All joys and exaltation by devotion to the Name Divine come.
By the Master's grace has Nanak obtained this realization. (2) (1.7)

1. Value.

RAGA TELANG

In the Measure Telang—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 1 P. 721

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Creator—
Immanent, Without Fear, Without Rancour, Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-Existent, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

*Yak arz güftam pesh-i-To dar gosh kün Kartār

Lord Creator ! pray lend Thy ear to the supplication made by me :
Thou embodiment of truth, great, gracious—
Without blemish, Cherisher of all art Thou. (1)
In your[1] heart realize for certain, this world is a place of mortality.
My self[2], thou art forgetful that the angel of death thy[3]
hair on the head has in grip. (I-Pause)
Wife, progeny, father, brothers—none is man's helper.
As I fell, none knew when the cry, Exalted is God[4] would he raised. (2)
Night and day wandering about in desire,
Evil have we contemplated.
Never have I done good : such is my state. (3)
Unlucky, calumniator[5] of others, forgetful of God without shame or fear of God am I— Thus states Thy servant Nanak, dust of feet of Thy servitors. (4) (1)

---

* Note : The language of this hymn is overwhelmingly Persian.
1. Man is herein apostrophized.
2. Dil (Pers.) = heart, self, mind.
3. Mine.
4. Takbir (the Muslim cry of 'Allhah is Great' raised at the time of death).
5. Bakhīl (Ar. lit. miser, curmudgeon) here implying traducer.

In the Measure Telang—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bhau Terā bhāng khalṛī merā chīt

Lord ! Thy fear is my hemp-drug, my mind the leather pouch.
Mad in this intoxication, an anchorite am I become.
With my bowl for Thy sight I beg, that I hunger for.
This ever at Thy door I beg. (1)
For Thy sight I yearn;
At Thy door a beggar—pray dole out this charity to me. (I-Pause)
Saffron, flowers, musk and gold by all persons of all castes may be offered.[1]
The merit of sandalwood and God's devotees is,
To all they impart fragrance. (2)
None considers ghee and silk[2] polluted :
Such is God's devotee, whatever his caste.
These in devotion to Thy Name bow.
Nanak at the door of such begs alms. (3) (1.2)

In the Measure Telang—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ihu tan Māyā pāhiyā Pyārei lītaṛā lab rangāe

Beloved[3] ! this self is Maya-drenched, in avarice dyed.
Beloved[3] ! this gown pleases not my Spouse—how may the woman[4] have bliss in His couch ? (1)
Gracious Lord ! to such am I a sacrifice,
A sacrifice time and again, as Thy Name I utter :
Those that utter Thy Name, ever to them am
I a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
Beloved, should the body become the vat, into it pour the madder[5] dye. P. 722 Should the Divine dyer impart this dye, such glowing dye has one not seen. (2)

1. These objects are believed not to be 'polluted' by the touch even to the lower castes.
2. (As above).
3. Herein God is apostrophized.
4. Symbol for the human self.
5. Majīth, a root that yields a fast red dye.

Beloved ! those with gowns thus dyed have the Spouse
by their side,
Nanak's prayer is to seek dust of the feet of such.
Himself He decks[1] and dyes[2] the self, Himself shows grace.
Saith Nanak : Should the woman please the Spouse,
Himself with her He has bliss. (4) (1.3)

Iyānarīyei mānaṛā kāe karehi

Simple, childish female[3] ! of what art thou proud ?
Why in thy own home[4] joy in the Lord thou hast not ?
Thoughtless female ! the Spouse is close to thee—
why seek Him outside ?
In thy eyes put collyrium[5] of fear, and with love deck thyself.
Then alone would one be reckoned happily-wedded,
When her Spouse bears love for her. (1)
What may the simple female[3] do should she not win her Spouse's love ?
Despite all her wailing, into the Mansion shall she not find entry.
With all one's rushing about, nothing without good fortune[6] is attained.
The woman intoxicated by avarice and greed, in Maya
is totally involved.
In such ways is the Spouse not attained,
By the woman turned thoughtless. (2)
Go inquire of the happily-wedded wives[7] by what devices have they attained love of the Spouse :
All His doings should one gladly accept,
And discard cleverness and self-will.[8]
He by whose love is attained the boon.[9]
At His feet should devotion be offered.
Whatever be the Spouse's will, obey—

---

1. Alternative meaning, creates.
2. Used symbolically, ennobles, purifies.
* Note : In this hymn through the image of the seeker as the wife seeking love of the spouse is maintained.
3. Image for the seeker (this is continued throughtout the hymn).
4. The self.
5. The collyrium-sticks.
6. Karma (fortune made by good deeds).
7. Those blessed by Divine grace.
8. Hukam (lit. command, arrogance).
9. Implies devotion, liberation.

Let this be the woman's applying scent to herself.
Thus states the happily-wedded wife :
Sister ! this wise is the Spouse's love attained. (3)
By discarding egoism is the Spouse attained—
No other device avails.
Blessed is the day when the Spouse casts
His glance of grace;
Then has the woman the Nine Treasures[1] attained.
The woman winning the Spouse's love is alone happily-wedded,
And blessed with brothers.
One that in such love is absorbed and by poise intoxicated,
Day and night in love involved—
Is truly beauteous, of lovely aspect,
Of discriminating understanding and wise. (4) (2.4)

*Jaisī maiṇ āwai khasam kī bāṇī taisṛā karīṇ giānu ve Lālo

Friend Lālo[2] ! as descends to me the Lord's word, I express it.
Babar with the wedding-party of sin from Kabul rushed down,
And forcibly demanded surrender[3] of Indian womanhood.
Then went modesty and righteousness into hiding,
And falsehood was strutting about in glory.
Set aside were Kazis and Brahmins, and Satan went about soleminizing marriages.[4]
Muslim women, reciting the Koran, in their affliction called on Khuda.[5]
Other women of lower castes and of the Hindus in this suffering too include in your account.
Saith Nanak : Divine Beloved[6] ! sung are paeans of blood
And sprinkled is blood for saffron[7]. (1)

---

1. (See Glossary).

* Note : Traditionally this hymn is stated to be addressed to Lālo, a carpenter of Saidpur (Eminabad), and a disciple of Guru Nanak Dev. 'Lālo' is apostrophized at the end of each line.

The occasion is Babar's invasion and sack of Sialkot and other areas. It may be possible that the holy Guru is here not addressing the man Lalo alone, but God, the Divine Beloved, Mere Lāl jio is an expression occurring for God in the Scripture.

2. Ve Lālo !
3. Dān, traditional term for giving away a daughter in wedlock.
4. Satan making marriages implies dishonour of Indian womanhood by Babar's soldiery.
5. One of the Muslim words for God.
6. (Lālo here may imply this).
7. Saffron dissolved in water is traditionally sprinkled on clothes on the occasions of weddings.

Nanak, sitting in this city of corpses sings the Lord's praise,
And enunciates this principle :
He who raised this creation and in manifold pleasures engaged it,
Sits apart, watching it.
Holy is the Lord, holy His justice; P. 723
True shall be the judgement pronounced by Him.
As will its body's vesture be torn to shreds,
India shall remember my words.
In seventy-eight[1] they come; in ninety-seven[2] depart—
Another hero shall some day arise.
Nanak utters the word of truth—
Truth he utters; truth the time calls for. (2) (3.5)

In the Measure Telang—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sabhi āye Hukami Khasmāhu Hukami sabh vartanī

All beings by command of the Lord into the world have come,
And by His command act.
Holy is the Lord, holy His sport of creation;
Of all is He Master. (1)
Laud the holy Lord, supreme over all.
None His rival—by what computations may I recount His greatness ? (Pause)
Air, water, earth and sky—all are the Lord's abode :
Himself in all these He operates—what may I call unreal ? (2) (1)

Nit nihphal karma kamāe baphāwai dūrmatīyā

Whoso has foul understanding ever performs worthless deeds,
And of arrogance is full.
As wealth he brings in by fraud and falsehood,
He deems to have conquered the world. (1)
Such a spectacle is the world, involved in which man contemplate not the Name Divine.
My self ! in an instant shall this unreal world shatter—
On the Lord thou meditate. (Pause)

---

1. The Bikrami year 1578 (A.C. 1521) when this invasion occurred.
2. This is a prophecy of the rout of the Mughals in the Bikrami year 1597 (A.C. 1540) by Sher Shah Suri.

Man thinks not of the occasion when the tormentor[1] death shall take him in his grip.
Saith Nanak : The Lord succours any
In whose heart by His grace He comes to dwell. (2) (2.7)

In the Measure Telang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

*Khāk nūr kardam ālam dūnīyāe

From earth and the Divine light is the universe,
the world created.
Sky, earth, vegetation,[2] water—all are God's creation. (1)
Thou creature of God ! all that is visible, to the eye is mortal.
The world, given to eating carrion,[3] involved in greed is forgetful of God (Pause)
The world is a goblin, a beast, slaughterer of the forbidden,[3]
Eater of carrion.[4]
In Thy control keep thy heart, else the mighty Lord in hell shall punish thee. (2)
Brother ! thy patrons, the royal court, property and houses—
What shall these avail thee when the Angel of Death[5] binds thee ? (3)
The holy Lord knows all thy state.
Saith Nanak : To the holy make thy supplication. (4) (1)

In the Measure Telang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 2

Tūdhu binu dūjā nāhiṇ koe

None other than Thee is real.
Lord-Creator ! what Thou dost will, happens.
Thine the power; Thou the prop to our mind.
Nanak ! ever the sole Lord contemplate. (1)
The Supreme Being, Bestower of boons is Lord of all.
Thine solely is the support, Thine the prop. (Pause)
Thou art true and real; real shalt ever be : P. 724

---

1. Lit. Thorn of death.
* Note : The language of this hymn is largely Persian.
2. Lit. Trees.
3. Here implies what is by obtained foul means.
4. Implies money got by foul means.
5. Azrāīl.

Thou that art inaccessible, unfathomable, all-high, limitless.
Fear and suffering touches not those serving Thee.
Nanak, by the Master's grace sing the Lord's praise. (2)
All that is visible is Thy form—
Thou that art treasure of merit, Lord of the earth beyond compare.
His servants contemplating him acquire his image.
This blessing, saith Nanak, by grace comes. (3)
To such am I a sacrifice as have contemplated Him.
With such does the world find liberation.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord ! this my desire fulfil.
Dust of feet of the holy I seek. (4) (2)

In the Measure Telang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 3

Meharvānu Sāhibu meharvānu

Gracious, gracious is the Lord;
Ever gracious the Lord.
On all creation boons He confers. (Pause)
Thou creature of God ! why fall into suspense ?
The Creator shall preserve Thee.
He who created thee, shall preserve thee. (1)
He who has made the creation, cherishes it too.
The holy Preserver is Lord of each being[1]
and heart. (2)
Beyond need is the Lord; unknowable the worth of His might.
Creature of God ! worship Him while breath in thy body[1] lasts. (3)
Thou art almighty, inexpressible, unknowable—
This life and body Thy property.
Nanak servant of God for Thy compassion supplicates :
By Thy compassion have I found joy. (4) (3)

Kartei kūdratī mūshtāku

Lord Creator ! with Thy might's manifestation am I in love.
My wealth in the realm of faith and in the world
art solely Thou—
From the creation dost Thou remain apart. (Pause)
In an instant dost Thou make and unmake;

1. Vessel.

Wondrous Thy manifestations.
Who can know Thy play ? In the dark art Thou as the lamp. (1)
Thou art Lord of creation, Allah to the world;
gracious God.[1]
Whoever day and night to Thee supplicates,
How may he enter hell ?
The creature taking shelter with you shall find the Angel of Death his friend.
Thy servants yearning for Thy sight, for their sins find forgiveness. (3)
Worldly objects are short-lived;[2] bringer of joy everlasting is Thy Name.
Nanak in association with the Master
this realization has got;
Ever sings He glory of the sole Lord. (4) (4)

Mīrāṇ dānāṇ dil soch

Thou thoughtful chief[3] ! in thy heart contemplate :
The holy Divine Monarch conferrer of release from bondage
Through love, in our heart and body comes to abide. (I-Pause)
Invaluable is the sight of the Lord.
Thou art the holy Preserver, supreme Lord, immeasurable. (1)
Thou who art the sole Lord, to me grant Thy mighty succour.
Creator, maker of[4] all manifestation,[5] Divine Maker !
Nanak on Thy sole support relies. (2) (5)

In the Measure Telang—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jini kīyā tini dekhiyā kyā kahīyai rei bhāī

Brother ! He who created beings, cherishes them too :
What more on this can we say ?
He who this field has sown, Himself knows and does what is best. (1)
Recite tale[6] of the Divine Beloved, whereby may P. 725 come everlasting joy. (Pause)

---

1. In this line occur Allah and Khuda, the Muslim terms for God.
2. Last for the present only.
3. Apostrophizes man in regardful terms.
4. Khāliq (Ar.) for creator, synonymous with Kartar, occurring earlier.
5. Kudrat.
6. Rāisa = an epic.

The female[1] that with the Spouse had not bliss,
into regrets must fall;
As life's night passes, must she rub her hands in sorrow,
And pluck at her hair. (2)
No time for regrets shall be when this game of chess[2] shall be up :
Joy with the Beloved shall thereafter be when the turn to enter human incarnation
Will again come. (3)
Such of the happily-wedded wives[3] possess the Spouse
As to me are superior.
Such good qualities as theirs do I not possess—
On whom to lay the blame ? (4)
Of such of the sister-friends[4] as with the Lord have bliss,
Shall I enquire;
Their feet shall I touch, supplicate them,
And thus find the way. (5)
Saith Nanak : The female[1] that realizes the Ordinance Applies the sandalwood paste of His fear,
And uses magic spells of good qualities,
The Beloved my attain. (6)
One that from the core of heart to the Lord is united,
United may truly be called.
By such desiring and mere chatter comes not union. (7)
As metal to metal is joined, love to love inclines.
By realization through the Master's grace is attained apprehension[5] of the Lord. (8)
With a betel-orchard at home, to the ass is it of little value.
One delighting in fragrance alone appreciates flowers. (9)
Saith Nanak : Whoever quaffs amrita,[6]
Self-absorbed are his doubts;
Spontaneously in enlightenment merged,
The state of immortality he attains. (10) (1)

1. Implied symbol for the self.
2. Symbol for life.
3. Symbol for God's devotees.
4. Fellow-devotees.
5. Anbhau (anubhav).
6. What is hard to drink.

In the Measure Telang—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Hari kīyāṇ kathā kahānīyan Guru mīti suṇāīyān

The Lord's narrative[1] the Master, true friend, has narrated.
To the Master am I a sacrifice—a sacrifice to him am I. (1)
Come, Master's disciple, beloved of him, grant me a meeting with you. (Pause)
The Lord with Divine[2] qualities is in love—
These from the Master are obtained.
To such as the Master's will have obeyed, am I a sacrifice. (2)
To those beholding the Master's sight am I a sacrifice.
To those serving the Master am I ever a sacrifice.[3] (3)
Lord ! Annuller of suffering is Thy Name.
By the Master's service, the Master's guidance, is liberation attained. (4)
Those meditating on the Name Divine are approved of God.
To such is Nanak a sacrifice, ever a sacrifice. (5)
That alone is the Lord's true laudation as pleases Him.
Those by the Master's guidance serving the Divine Beloved,
All boons[4] from Him obtain. (6)
Those forming love for the Lord,
Have heart devoted to Him.
Such find life in uttering Name of the Divine Beloved,
In contemplating the Name Divine. (7)
A sacrifice am I to such as by the Master's guidance
The Divine Beloved have served.
These are liberated themselves, liberated their family
And the whole world. (8)
By guidance of the Master, beloved, the Lord have we served—
Blessed, blessed be the Master.
The Master the path to the Lord has shown—
Great, great is his benefaction. (9)
The disciples serving the Master are men of holiness.
Nanak, servant of God, to such is a sacrifice, P. 726
ever a sacrifice. (10)
The sisterhood[5] following the Master's guidance,
to the Lord are pleasing—

1. Lit. Tales.
2. Noble qualities is implied.
3. (The repetition in these couplets is ecstatic).
4. Lit. Fruit.
5. Lit. Sister-friends. (implies devotees).

At the Divine Portal invested, by the Lord clasped in embrace. (11)
Lord ! show me sight of such as by the Master's guidance on the Name meditate.
Their feet we wash; dust of these dissolved in water
we drink. (12)
The females chewing betel and betel-nut, with betel-rolls caught in mouth,[1]
And never contemplating the Lord—
By Yama are marched in bondage. (13)
Those that on the Name Divine have meditated,
In the heart lodging it,
Are the Master's disciples, beloved of him.
Yama approaches not such. (14)
The Name Divine is a treasure—this a rare
God-directed one realizes.
Saith Nanak : Those that the holy Preceptor have contacted,
In joy are disporting. (15)
The holy Preceptor, bestower of boons,
Pleased, shows grace.
To the Master am I a sacrifice,2
Who the Name on me has conferred. (16)
Blessed be the Master who the Lord's message conveys.
At sight of the holy Preceptor, of his person, am I in bloom of joy. (17)
The Master's tongue utters amrita—by the Name Divine ennobled.
The disciples that listening to Divine teaching faith in the Master have put,
Annulled is all their hunger.[2] (18)
Tell, how may the path known as the Lord's be trod ?
On that path the Name Divine should as provision be carried. (19)
Those by the Master's guidance supplicating the Lord,
Are truly wealthy, great in wisdom.
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice,
Whose teaching[3] in my heart is absorbed. (20)

1. (Chewing the betel is symbolical of the luxurious, voluptuous way of life).
2. Used symbolically; desire.
3. Words, utterance.

Thou the Lord, the Master, the chief :
By Thy grace is devotion to Thee acquired;
Storehouse of merits art Thou. (21)
Himself is the Lord unattached,[1] Himself also of varied manifestations.[2]
Saith Nanak : What pleases Him is best of all. (22) (2)

In the Measure Telang—Compostion of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
To the tune Kafi*
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being,
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Cheitnā hai to cheit lai nisi dini maiṇ prānī

Thou creature of God ! contemplate God, if thou wilt,
Now during dignt and day :
Each moment thy appointed time is slipping by,
As water from cracked pitcher (I-Pause)
Foolish, ignorant man !
Why Divine laudation dost not sing ?
Involved in false greed, death hast thou forgotten. (1)
Nothing yet is lost, shouldst thou take to chanting Divine laudation.
Saith Nanak : By devoted meditation on Him,
The state of fearlessness[3] shalt thou attain. (2) (1)

Jāgi lehu rei manā jāgi lehu kahāṇ gāfal soiyā

My self ! wake up ! wake up ! Why in this fast slumber art involved ?
The body born with thee, with thee shall not go. (I-Pause)
Mother, father, progeny, brothers, for whom love thou dost bear—
As life leaves the body, to flames consign it. (1)
Know, concerns of the world exist while life lasts. P. 727
Saith Nanak, chant Divine laudation :
The whole world is unreal like dream. (2) (2)

Hari jasu rei manā gāe lai jo sangi hai tero

My self ! chant Divine laudation that is thy true friend.
Listen to my adjuration—the occasion[4] is fast slipping. (I-Pause)

1. Of one hue. Implies the unattributed aspect, the Absolute.
2. Implies the Attributed, creative aspect of the Lord.
* Note : Kafi is a ragini or sub-measure, adapted to singing lyrics.
3. Fearlessness from Yama's retribution is implied.
4. Life is implied.

To property, chariots, wealth, authority[1] art thou excessively attached :
As death's noose encircles thy neck, all to thee shall become alien. (1)
Madman ! knowingly hast thou ruined thy affairs;
From sin didst thou not shrink, nor shed pride. (2)
Brother ! listen to what the Master has taught.
Proclaims Nanak aloud : The Lord's shelter
thou grasp. (3) (3)

In the Measure Telang—Composition of the Bhaktas
The Venerable Kabir's composition
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Beid kateb iftarā bhāī dil kā fikaru na jāe

*Brother ! unauthentic are Vedas and the Semitic books—
By these is not annulled anxiety of heart.
Should you even for an instant put your mind in poise,
God's immanent Presence may by you be beheld. (1)
Creature of God ! each day search thy heart—
Wander not about in distraction.
This world that is a magic show,
Shall not by thee stand[2]. (I-Pause)
In studying falsehood dost thou find pleasure—
In ignorance uttering worthless words.
The true Lord amid creation is pervasive :
He appears not in Krishna's swarthy figure. (2)
In the heaven of absorption is flowing the river of God,
In which thou shouldst have bathed.
Adopt thou the way of renunciation,[3] behold with the eyes—
Everywhere is He present. (3)
Holy of holiest is God—one may fall into doubt if another there were.
Saith Kabir : Mystery of the gracious Lord's grace is known to Himself. (4) (1)

1. Royal power.
* Note : In this hymn there is a large admixture of the Perso-Arabic vocabulary.
2. Grasp thee by the hand (in help).
3. Faqr (Faqiri).
 Note : This hymn contains a good proportion of the Perso-Arabic vocabulary.

In the Measure Telang—Composition of the Venerable Namdev

Maiṇ andhulei kī teik Terā Nāmu Khündkārā

Lord ! to me gone blind, Thy Name is the support.
Poor and humble that I am, Thy Name is my prop. (I-Pause)
Thou art gracious, merciful; Allah[1] above desire.
Ever present, by my side art Thou ever. (1)
Bountiful river-like, great Thy wealth.
Thou alone dost give or take back—no other is there. (2)
Thou art all-knowing, all-seeing—
How can my imagination reach Thee ?[2]
Nama's Lord ! conferrer of liberation art Thou. (3) (1.2)

Halei yārāṇ halei yārāṇ khüshi khabarī

*Hail friend, hail ! Art happy ?
To Thee am I a sacrifice.
Noble is Thy imposed labour,[3] lofty Thy Name. (I-Pause)
Whence comest thou ? Going whither, whereto ?
Truly speakst Thou, to Dwarka[4] city. (1)
Fine is thy turban, sweet thy words.
Where are Mongols[5] found in Dwarka city ? (2)
Of thousands of universes one sole Lord is there—
The Divine king, of swarthy aspect.[6] (3)
He is the sun-god,[7] Indra[8] and Brahma.[9]
Nama's Master is the Lord[10] of Muslims and the Liberator[11] that Hindus worship. (4) (2.3)

END OF VOLUME II

1. Allah is the Muslim name for God.
2. What worth is my thinking ?
* Note : A dramatic incident is associated with this hymn. A Mongol caught Namdev to do forced labour. The saint in his ecstasy saw in him the image of God, and sang this hymn in Divine laudation. Its imagery refers partly to the Mongol. The language herein is overwhelmingly Persian.
3. That is, forced labour.
4. The capital where Krishna ruled.
5. Namdev lived in the pre-Mughal times. Obviously, it must be one of the marauding Mongols who captured them.
6. That is, Krishna.
7. Lord of horses.
8. Lord of elephants.
9. King of men.
10. Mir.
11. Mukand. (These last imply the universal aspect of God).

GLOSSARY

(Most terms and words are explained in the footnotes in the text. Certain others that needed greater amplification are included in the Glossary. For a study of the philosophical thought enshrined in the Scripture, see Introduction to Vol. I).

Ages, Four Ages (Yugas) : The four divisions of universal time according to Indian belief. The first, Sati-yuga was the age of righteousness. In the subsequent ages, Treta and Dwapar, righteousness declined. The last age, at present continuing, is Kaliyuga. This is the age of sin and evil, In it, as against the ritual practices of earlier ages, the form of propitiation prescribed is Simran (Smaran, contemplation of God), and Bhakti (devotion).

Adhi, Byādhi, Upādhi, are the three kinds of maladies—-respectively, mental, physical and psychic. Also called Tin Tap (three maladies), Ātmā : The individual self. As a portion of the Divine Reality this itself partakes of the character of the Divine and seeks to merge with its source. As resultant consciousness consequent upon the operation of the senses, it is known as Panch-bhū-ātmā (consciousness created by the five senses).

Anahat (anahad) Shabda : Lit. sound not produced by physical concussion; the mystic melody or music believed to be heard by yogis and persons of high spiritual attainment in the state of ecstasy or superconsciousness. In Guru-bani it is used as a symbolical expression for experience of higher truths.

Antarjāmi (Skt. antaryamin) : Controller of the inner faculties, an attribute of the Supreme Being. In common parlance, implies one divining others' thoughts and reflections.

Adi Granth (Lit. primal scripture) is used for the holy Grant Sahib, completed by Guru Arjan Dev in 1603-1604, and with later addition of Bani of Guru Tegh Bahadur. It is held by the Sikhs to be embodiment of the spirit of the holy Gurus. Popularly referred to as Guru Granth Sahib.

Amrita (Lit. that which immortalizes, ambrosia) is one of the key-terms in the Sikh spiritual system. In Gurubani it is used symbolically for the holy Name of God, for the holy Word, for purity of life and thought in general. It is used both as an epithet and as a noun-substantive.

Prahm (Skt. Brahman) : The Absolute, the Supreme Being without attributes, unknowable by the human faculties. This term occurs repeatedly in the Sikh sacred writings and as Pār-Brahm implies the transcendent Supreme Being.

Bānī (Lit. speech, utterance) stands for the sacred utterances, particularly those enshrined in Guru Granth Sahib. Also called Gurubani (Gur's utterances). Bānī also implies inspired or revealed utterance.

Bhakta : A devotee. In special senses applied to a number of holy men other than the Gurus, such as Kabir, Namdev, Ravidas and others, whose utterances have found a place in Adi Granth. Its equivalents are Sant, Sādhū.

Bhakti : Devotion, the popular religious tradition that became prevalent in India side by side with ritualism, philosophy (Jnan, gian), and karma (action). Bhakti is considered to consist in nine kinds of practices (nav-parkara), emphasizing love, faith and self-surrender. These features are pronounced in many portions of Gurubani. Bhakti is greatly emphasized in the Gita and was later made prevalent in India by a succession of saints beginning with Ramanand (late 14th century). The special features of Bhakti are its emphasis on the popular tongues as against Sanskrit and its admission to the circle of devotees, persons drawn from all castes, including those held lower and even non-Hindus.

Dharma : In common usage is the bundle of beliefs and practice of faith, with emphasis on ritual and ethical duties to be performed. In the deeper philosophical sense, implies the elan in the universe towards the assertion and establishment of righteousness. Dharma in the vocabulary of the Indian-born religions is a deeply mystical concept, symbolizing the highest ideal and the Divine Law.

Dharmaraja (lit. King of righteousness) is another name for Yama, the celestial Judge of the deeds of all beings.

Duality (the original Sanskrit is Dvaita) is the doctrine of the distinct and separate existence of Brahm (Brahman, the eternal Absolute) and Maya. According to this doctrine, Maya is not illusion, but a real existence. In the Sikh religious thought Duality (dūjā bhāu, dubidhā) implies the attitude of the materialist; attachment to the world, indifference to God and to devotion as opposed to Advaita.

Dasam Duār (Lit. the Tenth Door) is, beside the nine organs or 'openings' of the body, the seat of superconsciousness or Samādhī, believed to be located in the head. To 'open' or awaken this source of enlightenment is the ideal of the yogi. In Gurubani this is mentioned with the implication of enlightenment, realization (gian, jnan). The seeker is exhorted to seek to open this 'door to realization'.

The Five Notes (Panch Shabda) : These are the sounds made through wired instruments, skin-covered instruments (drums etc.), metallic instruments, pitchers or other hollow vessels, and blown instruments (flutes etc.).

Eight Siddhis (Asht Siddhi) : These are the principal among the eighteen miraculous accomplishments achieved as a result of perfection in Yoga-praxis. (See following).

Eighteen Siddhis : These are miraculous powers believed to be attained through Yoga Praxis. These are : Anima (assuming another form); Mahima (enlarging the body form); Laghuma (reducing the body); Garima (becoming heavy); Prapati (attaining heart's desire); Prakamya (divining thoughts of others); Ishita (suggesting to other one's own ideas); Vashita (subduing other's will); Anurami (banishing thirst and hunger); Dūŕsravan (listening to what is being said far off); Dūr darshan (viewing distant objects); Manoveg (travelling at the speed of thought); Kamarup (assuming any desired form); Prakye praavesh (entering another's body); Swacchham mrityu (dying at will); Sur karira (dallying with gods); Sankalp siddhi (achieving heart's desire); Apratihatgati (moving without hinderance).

The four-fold emancipation (Char Muktiyan) : These are Salokya (abiding in the realm of the being adored); Sāmipya (abiding close to him); Sārupya (assuming his form); Sāyujiya (enjoying union with him).

Five noble attributes (Panch-Guṇa); stand in contrast to the Five Evils. The five noble attributes are : Sat (continence), Santokh (content), Daya (compassion), Dharma (righteousness) and Dhiraj (poise).

Four Boons (See Chār Padārath).

Guru (Master, Preceptor) is the highest of all titles or appellations in the Sikh tradition. It may be applied solely to the ten Gurus, beginning with Guru Nanak Dev, the holy Grant and the Khalsa or Sangat (holy congregation of devoted Sikhs). Guru is the Source of enlightenment, which ultimately comes from the Divine source. Hence in Gurubani quite often Guru may imply the Divine teacher, God. The interpretation of this term in each context will require profound and subtle insight and deep sensitiveness.

Gurudwara (the Master's or Divine Portal) stands for a Sikh place of worship.

Gurumukh (one facing Godward or towards the Preceptor) is a person of deep spiritual yearning and vision, and is an exalted appellation. In Gurubani in different contexts, Gurumukh (i) may variously stand for 'by the Master's guidance' or 'the Divine Word'.

Gian Gyan (Jnan) (Lit. knowledge) in the applied sense is Divine intuitive knowledge, realization. Linguistically this term is cognate with the Greek Gnossos, with the Persian danistan, and jānana etc. in the Indian languages that are derived from the Sanskrit.

Giani : One posessing Gian, Gyan. In the Sikh tradition implies an enlightened one, a rishi, as also a learned Sikh theologian.

Gopāl, Govind (Preserver, Lord of the universe) are related to the Vaishnavic tradition and stand for the Supreme Being. Often applied attributively to Krishna, but in the Sikh tradition are denuded of this adhesion and stand for the Supreme Being alone. In the rendering of Gurubani these terms appear as 'Lord'.

Grace : This is a cardinal doctrine in Sikhism, and in the original occurs as nadar (nazar), karam (Ar.), mehr, bakhshish (Persian), prasād, dayā, kirpā (Sansk). Grace (kirpā) in Sikhism is sought for and earned through prayer and devotion. Its descent is the ultimate Divine mystery. Liberation, while earned through devotion and good deeds, comes ultimately through Divine Grace. (For a detailed discussion see Introduction).

Good Fortune (Bhāgya, Bhāg) is another Divine mystery. In Gurubani, besides the primal 'election' to grace, it implies also the good fortune garnered through good deeds of the individual's earlier births. Through good deeds of the Individual's earlier births and through good fortune comes the inclination and inspiration to devotion.

Gurubani (Guru's utterance) implies the compositions of the holy Gurus included in Adi Granth (see also Bani).

Hindu Trinity of Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva finds frequent mention in the Sikh texts as symbolic of the Divine might. These deities are not commended for worship. Their mention may not always be accompanied by feelings of veneration. The names of Vishnu's avatars (incarnations), particularly Rama and Krishna (in periphrastic terms) wherever occuring, especially in passages redolent of Bhakti, symbolize only the Supreme Being, Such usage implies not belief in deities, but is a concession to established usage in language.

Hari (one of the attributed names of Vishnu) stands for the Supreme Being, translated in the English version of Adi Granth as 'the Lord'.

Haumai (Lit. 'I am') is egoity, the chief obstacle to realization. The seeker is exhorted to shed this attitude, to cultivate humility and the realization that all might belongs to the Lord. Haumai, a term belonging especially to the Sikh canon, is expressive of arrogant egoism.

Hukam (Ar. command, order, ordinance) is the Divine Order that lays down the righteous law (Dharma) for the universe. To realize Hukam and to resign oneself to its operation is the essence of the religious life. It occurs often in conjunction with Reza (Ar. Will, Divine Will).

Ida, the air-channel extending from the head through the left nostril down to the left side of the vertebrate column. In Pranayam yogis pass prana or vital energy alternately through this channel. This is known also as the Chandrama (moon) passage.

Jivan-mukta (one liberated while alive or in the flesh) : This state is the state of enlightenment and transcendence of material desires, and consists in doing good purely. Jivan-mukta is the ideal state to be achieved in the practice of Sikhism. The ideal enshrined in Jivan-mukta harks back to the ancient tradition of Indian spiritual thought.

Kudrat (Ar. might) is usually employed as the parallel term for Maya. It stands also for the Divine might that operates in the universe. More puristically, it might be spelt as Qudrat.

Karma (Skt. action) bears a two-fold interpretation. As Karma-kand it stands for ritual actions enjoined upon by the various creeds, with the implication of actions devoid of spiritual or ethical content. In the philosophical sense, Karma is actions that the individual self performs, that become cumulatively the base for continuing transmigration or liberation. In common parlance, Karma stands for destiny, consequent upon the deeds of previous births. This cumulative destiny is also known as Kirat.

Kali-yuga : One of the Four Ages of the cosmos. See Ages.

Krishna is seldom mentioned in Gurubani by name, but his periphrastic names, such as Gopal, Govind, Damodar, Mohan, Madhusūdan and such others are often employed by way of a popular short-hand to imply the Supreme Being. The Krishna-cult has influenced the expression of Indian Bhakti in centring the yearning in the self symbolized as the female, on the analogy of the Gopis (milkmaids) who doted on Krishna.

Lord, the Lord : Original terms such as Hari, Gopal, Prabhu, Thakur, Khasm, all implying God, have been rendered in translation as 'the Lord'.

Maya is the mutable principle of material existence, and is opposed to Brahm or Brahman, the eternal principle. In Indian philosophy Maya is a neutral term, but in Sikhism and the Bhakti tradition in general, it bears a pejorative sense as materialism, ungodly urges, unethical tendencies etc. To be a votary of Maya is to be a materialist.

Mukti is liberation from the cycle of birth and death (transmigration). This is the end and ideal of the religious life, and may be achieved through Jnan (knowledge, enlightenment). Bhakti (devotion) or Karma (good actions). Yoga is a means also to this end. In the Indian belief there is no material heaven or hell : these are respectively liberation from transmigration and involvement in it. See also Jivan-mukta.

(Chār) Muktiyan : The Four-fold emancipation (Chār Mukatian). These are Salokya (abiding in the realm of the being adored); Samipya (abiding close to him); Sarupya (assuming his form); Sayujya (enjoying union with him).

Maha rasa : The supreme elixir, believed to be tasted as a result of perfection in yoga. In Gurubani bears a symbolical meaning as joy in devotion.

Mana (Skt. manas) : Mind, intelligence, stands for the faculty consequent upon the operation of the senses. As such is known as Panch-bhū-ātmā. In the text here and there may also be interpreted as 'heart'.

Mantra (lit. that which passes through the mind) : Implied meaning, a solemn formula, chant or esoteric utterance. Applied usually to a sacred chant out of some scripture or some religious tradition.

Nau-nidhi : The Nine Treasures, are the blessings achieved by those destined to be fortunate. These are counted variously and are named after different precious stones. In Gurubani these are intended to symbolize blessings of the spiritual life like joy in God, poise, enlightenment. In Sukhmani 1.3 occurs the affirmation : "In contemplation of the Lord lie occult powers, all achievements and the Nine Treasures."

Nām (Lit. Name) : Bears various interpretations. Nām is the manifestation of the Divine Reality and devotion to it leads to the vision of the Reality and merging into it. Often Nām simply implies devotion—devotion to God's holy Name. This terms is especially in use in the creeds emphasizing Bhakti or Devotion. To be devoted to Nām excludes devotion to any materially created object, such as an image or even mythological and other figures. Nām leads direct to the Divine Essence. In Gurubani there is endless reiteration of exhortation to devotion to Nām.

Niranjan : That which is not touched or polluted by Maya—immaculate. This is characteristic solely of the Divine Being, and occurs often in the phrase Nām-Niranjan (the immaculate Divine Essence).

Nirankar (Skt. nirākār) : The Formless; the Supreme Being that does not incarnate and cannot be represented by any figure conceived of by the senses. Nirankār is especially associated with the vision of the Supreme Being vouchsafed to Guru Nanak Dev, who bore the appellation 'Nirankāri' (votary of the Formless).

Nirbān (Skt. Nirvana) : The state of complete liberation. Used in Gurubani in this sense, as also in the sense of the immaculate person who has renounced the world.

Oankār : The Supreme Being in His attributed creative aspects in contradistinction to Ek Oankār, who is unattributed.

(Chār) Padārath : The four boons sought for by a Hindu devotee. These are—Dharma (performance of religious duty), Arth (worldly prosperity), Kama (fulfilment of legitimate desires), Moksha (attainment of liberation after death).

Pār Brahm, the transcendent Brahm (Brahman) : The Supreme, unattributed Reality, unknowable by the senses. Bears the same signification as Ek Oankar.

Prānāyām : Breath-control, undertaken as a preparation for the yogic attainment. It consists in slow, ample inhalation, retention for considerable periods of the air breathed and measured exhalation. The breath (Pranavayu) is passed through Sukhmana (Sushmana), arousing the sleeping Kundalini, and penetrating the chakras or ganglions (lotuses) in the body, rising to the seat of spiritual illumination (Brahmarandhara). As a result of successful performance of Prānāyām not only are occult powers believed to be gained, but also illumination and supreme bliss (maha-ananda). This practice is discountenanced and even forbidden in the Gurus' teachings. Instead the path of Sahaj (q.v.) is commended.

Prakriti stands for Maya, the mutable priciple, in contrast to Purusha.

Rama : In the Indian epic lore and mythology is the god who is an avatar (incarnation) of Vishnu. In common parlance, stands for God, the Supreme Being. Used in Gurubani in the latter sense, as a term established in popular usage.

Raga is one of the Indian musical measures. The compositions included in Guru Granth Sahib are of the nature of spiritual poetry, set to music with meticulous care. The name of the respective Rāga, the 'score' (ghar) and the tune are indicated as necessary. Gurubani is found arranged under thirty-one ragas. These have also been written down in Western score. (See M.A. Macauliffe, Sikh Religion, end of Volume V).

Raj-Yoga in contradistinction to Hatha-Yoga, involving Pranayam and various forms of ritual, is the path of spiritual ascent through prayer, meditation and devotion. It aims at the attainment of enlightenment and bliss rather than any occult or others powers. Rendered in the translation as sovereign yoga.

Reza (Ar. Will) : Used in the sense of the Divine Will, to which complete resignation is ordained. This is one of the key-terms in Sikh religious thought, and occurs singly or in combination with Hukam (q.v.).

Sukhmana is the breath-passage lying between Ida and Pingala. The passage of the vital energy through it brings the highest achievements of yogic objectives (See Prāṇāyām).

Sādhū, a holy man. Used often to designate the Guru.

Sant, a man whose nature has attained perfect poise. This term while sounding like 'saint' is different in connotation from it.

Siddha : A yogi who has attained illumination. Also one who has attained occult powers. In Guru Granth Sahib is included a famous section entitled Siddha-Goshti, giving the gist of a dialogue held between Guru Nanak Dev and certain Siddhas.

Siddhis : These are miraculous powers attained through Yoga and are believed to be eighteen in number, giving to the possessor supernatural sources of self-gratification. In Gurubani, like Nau-Niddhi used symbolically for joy of spiritual attainment.

(See Eight Siddhis, Eighteen Siddhis ante).

Sāhib (Ar.) : Applied meaning, master, Lord. Used in Gurubani to designate God, like the terms Hari, Thakur, Prabhu.

Sahaj : Lit. Inborn, innate character. In Gurubani stands for the path of prayer, meditation and devotion in contradistinction to Hatha-yoga. In the sacred text is used in several senses, including the following : The discriminating understanding (vivek), spiritual illumination (gyan, jnan); bliss; the Supreme State; spontaneous action or attainment. Sahaj is variously interpreted as indicated herein. (See also Introduction).

Sākta : Worshipper of Shakti or Maya, reprobate or misbeliever. The Sākta cult has been widespread and in some of its form its practice involved certain forbidden acts. Sāktism has been severely condemned by the holy Gurus and Kabir.

Shiva is the great god in the Hindu Trinity, whose function is destruction of creation, Shiva also means weal. In the Sakti and Hatha-yogic cults Shiva's name is used as the equivalent of Brahm (Brahman), where Shakti stands for Maya. Shiva-nagari in Gurubani implies Turiya (the state of complete absorption in the Absolute) or nirvana (state of liberation).

Shastras are the six systems of Indian philosophy. These may also imply any other scriptures, emphasizing traditional Hindu beliefs.

Six Orders (Khat darshan) are the six orders of Hindu mendicants. These are Jogi (Yogi), Sannyāsī, Jangam, Bodhī, Sarevarei (Jain monks) and Bairāgī.

Six Ritual Actions (Khat-karma) : These for a Brahmin are : Study of the Vedas, imparting instruction in Vedas, performing yajnas (sacrifices), commissioning these, dispensing charities, receiving charities. These may differ from sect to sect.

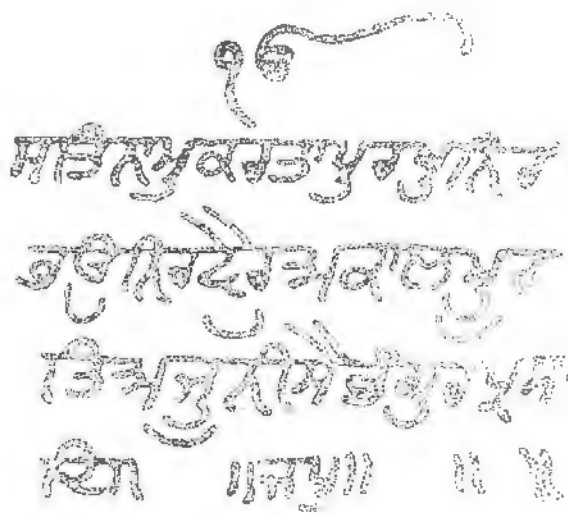
Simritis are codes or manuals of ritual observance and Hindu Law.

Transmigration is one of the fundamental doctrines in the Indian religions. It implies the perpetual wandering of the self in eighty-four lakh species, till through good actions it may take human birth and through devotion, attain liberation. Emancipation from transmigration is the supreme objective visualized in the Indian religious systems.

Three Qualities (Triguna, Tribidh) are the three attributes of Maya or matter. These are tamas (sloth, the darker urges), rajas (passion, energy), and sattva (intelligence, poise). To transcend these and attain illumination is the aim of the path of spiritual ascent.

Turiya is the 'Fourth State', transcending the three qualities. This is the state of absorption in the Absolute (Samadhi) and is attained through Sahaj. This state is characterized by supreme illumination and supreme bliss.

Tirtha (Lit. a river-bank) is a holy bathing-spot. In India, traditionally sixty-eight tirthas are known. In Gurubani, mere bathing at these is discountenanced. Nām or devotion to God is the true tīrath; so also is Guru the true tīrath, devotion to whom brings spiritual benefit. According to Japuji 'listening' to God's Name (absorption) brings merit excelling bathing at the sixty-eight tīrthas.



Yama : The God of death and retribution. Also known as Dharmaraj. In Gurubani written down as 'Jam'.

Vedas are the four famous early scriptures of Hinduism. 'Veda' in Gurubani, unless the context specifically refers to one of the four Vedas, often implies Indian ethico-religious thought in general.

SRI GURU GRANTH SAHIB

IN ENGLISH TRANSLATION

VOLUME THREE

Nishan Sahib in Sri Guru Arjan Dev's hand from Sri Kartarpuri Bir

ੴ ਸਤਿਗੁਰ ਪ੍ਰਸਾਦਿ

SRI GURU GRANTH SAHIB

IN ENGLISH TRANSLATION
VOLUME THREE

upto the end of Raga Maru

by
GURBACHAN SINGH TALIB
in consultation with
BHAI JODH SINGH

PUBLICATION BUREAU
PUNJABI UNIVERSITY, PATIALA

SRI GURU GRANTH SAHIB (English)

(Volume Three)

by

Gurbachan Singh Talib

ISBN 91-7380-093-6

2003
Fourth Edition : 1100
Price : 860.00

Lazer Type-setting : RACHNA PRINTERS, DELHI-6

Published by Dr. Parm Bakhshish Singh Sidhu, Registrar, Punjabi University, Patiala and printed at Rachna Printers, Delhi.

PREFACE

The Punjabi University presents the third volume of the English translation of Sri Guru Granth Sahib. The warm reception with which the earlier set of two volumes was greeted by the intelligentsia, is a matter of great satisfaction to the University. It is also a tribute to the translator, Professor Gurbachan Singh Talib, whose learning, erudition and command over the languages concerned are widely acknowledged. Our only regret is that Professor Tablib did not live to see the completion of the volume in hand.

The project is supervised by our Department of Sri Guru Granth Sahib Studies. The zeal and devotion of the Departmental staff is commendable. We hope to publish the 4th and the final Volume in the near future.

The present volume covers the sacred compositions in musical measures (rāgas) from Sūhī to Mārū. It includes, among others, Rāga Rāmakalī, and some of the well-known bānīs of Sri Guru Granth Sahib, such as Anand Sahib, Sidha-goshti and Oṅkār.

I hope the scholars of religious literature as well as the general readers will welcome this Volume.

Punjabi University,
Patiala

Bhagat Singh
(Vice-Chancellor)
(1986-1989)

LIST OF CONTENTS

In the translated text corresponding pages of the 1430-page printed text of Sri Guru Granth Sahib are indicated on the right hand margin. The numbering of Shabads (verse-units) is in accordance with that given in the original text of the Scripture. These two features will facilitate the tracing of a particular Shabad in the translation. Under each main heading the first line of the first Shabad has been given in the list of contents. That will help to trace the Shabads following that. Further, to trace a particular Chaupada, Pauri, Chhant, Ashtpadi, Sloka or any other unit, Guru Shabad Ratan Prakash by Akali Kaur Singh, which is an alphabetical line-by-line index, may be consulted, and after ascertaining the page number from there, the corresponding page in the translated text, as indicated in the margin, may be looked up. Help from the Tatkara appended to Sri Guru Granth Sahib may also be taken for this purpose. In the translated text, first lines in Roman transliteration have been given. This should also be helpful in tracing any Shabad.

CONTENTS

RAGA BILAVAL

Indications for guidance to transliteration and pronounciation of Indian Words

The long 'a', 'i', 'u' sounds, representing respectively 'ah' 'ee' and 'oo' are indicated by a dash over each, thus : ā, ī, ū. ū would sound as in 'cool', 'tool'.

For the shorter 'u' sound, as in 'cook', 'foot', the ŭ sign has been used.

The unstressed i and u at the ends of words are silent, and are only grammatical signs. Where these are to be enunciated, a dash is placed over the respective vowel letter, as stated above.

In words of classical origin, the unstressed end 'a' is to be treated as silent, as in 'Rama', 'Krishna', 'Shiva', 'Yama', 'Indra', 'amrita', 'yoga', 'raga', 'mana', 'guna', 'sakta', 'sloka' and such others.

The 'a' sound as in lay, bay is represented by ei; the 'a' sound as in dash and cash by ai. 'Ou' is used for the common 'o' sound as in 'role', 'dole' at mostly word-ends. 'O' stands for the short vowel sound as in 'go', 'so'. 'Au' represents the vowel sound as in 'draw'.

The numeral Ek (pronounced eik) in Ek Oankar has been written down as 'Ek'. In Lobh, Moha etc. the 'o' gives the familiar soft sound. 'Gurudev' has been written down thus, in its familiar form.

The fore-palate n̲ (ਣ) is indicated by a dash being placed under it; the nasal 'ṇ' at word-ends by a dot placed below.

(These principles have been adopted in detail only in the transliterated portions from the original. In the translated text the reader is to depend upon the current pronunciation without the guidance of diacritical marks etc.).

RAGA SUHI

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being; Reality Eternal; P. 728
Creator Immanent; Without Fear; Without Rancour;
Form Eternal; Unincarnated; Self-Existent; Realized by the Holy Preceptor's Grace

In The Meaure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Quartets

SCORE 1

Bhāṇḍā dhoe baisi dhūpu dewuh tau dūdhai kau jāwuh

After washing the vessel,[1] settling down in poise, burn incense—
Thereafter pour in milk.
Our actions be the milk, our absorption the yeast :
Thus make curd with desires cast out. (1)
Contemplate solely the Name;
Fruitless are all other rituals.[2] (I Pause)
Make your mind the grips[3] to your hand,
Eyes ever-awake the churn-string.[4]
With your tongue repeat the Name; thus do the churning—
This way shall you obtain amrita.[5] (2)
Make of your mind the casket for keeping idols;
In the river of holy congregation bathe it,
Make offering of flower-petals of devotion—
The Lord propitiate thus.
Should the devotee thus make offering of his whole life,
Then is the self in the lord absorbed. (3)
Many Thy praise utter, and uttering, depart this world—
None is Thy equal.[6]

---

1. (The image herein is of milk being poured into the churn for making curd).
2. Lit. Actions.
3. (These are meant for pulling round the churn-string).
4. Netra is the churn-string; netar = eye. Herein a trope occurs.
5. (Amrita here implies devotion. The Puranic myth of the churning of the ocean by gods and demons to obtain amrita is well-known).
6. Lit. Like to you.

Thy servant Nanak, devoid of devotion, thus supplicates :
The holy Eternal alone I laud. (4) (1)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Antari wasai na bāhari jāe

The Lord abides within, go not outside to seek Him :
Why discarding amrita dost thou swallow poison of evil passions ? (1)
My self ! seek the wisdom,
Whereby the Lord's servant you may become. (I Pause)
All seek enlightenment and in meditation engage :
The whole world in Maya-bonds wanders about. (2)
Whoever serves God is the true servant of Him,
Who pervades water and land and in between. (3)
Lacking merit as we are, none else is evil.
Prays Nanak : He alone liberation[1] grants. (4) (1.2)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 729
SCORE 6
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ūjalu Kaiṇhā chilkaṇā ghoṭim kālaṛī masu

*Tinned copper so bright and lustrous,
When rubbed, appears a surface inky black.
Its impurity by washing shall not go, despite washing a hundred times. (1)
Those are true friends[2] who are one's companions of the way;
And when their reckoning is called for,
instantly render it. (I Pause)
Chambers, domes and bowers, painted all over,[3]
When crumbled are little good, found deserted within. (2)
Storks white-robed that at holy spots abide,
Gripping creatures swallow them—such immaculate[4] cannot be called. (3)

---

1. Lit. Makes us swim across.
   Note* : This hymn is traditionally stated to be addressed in admonition to Sajjan Thug (Sajjan the Robber) whom Guru Nanak Dev reformed.
2. Sajjan, implying 'friend', is also the name of the robber being addressed.
3. Painted on all sides.
4. White.

Like the cotton-wool tree[1] is my body, that deludes parrots.
Useless its fruit—
Such are my qualities. (4)
I the blind man, carrying a heavy load, a long mountain-path have to traverse.
Nothing with my eyes can I behold—
How may I ascend this path to cross ? (5)
What good other devotion, merits and clever devices ?
Saith Nanak : Contemplate thou the Name, whereby from bonds mayst thou be freed. (6) (1.3)

Jap tap kā bandhu beṛulā jitu langhehṇ vahėlā

*With contemplation and austerity equip thy boat,
Whereby easily mayst thou cross over.
Then shall there not be the ocean nor the storm—
Easy shall thy path be. (1)
Thy Sole Name is the madder,[2] wherewith Beloved !
My gown a perpetual dye has acquired. (I Pause) Beloved friend ! our companions towards the Beloved are taking departure[3]—
How shall they now find union with Him ?
Should they carry merits in their pack,
The Lord union to them shall grant. (2)
One truly united to the Lord never is alienated.
He; the holy Eternal transmigration annuls. (3)
With suppression of egoism is this gown stitched :
By listening to the Master's Word has such a one received
the reward,
The Lord's ambrosial accents. (4)
Saith Nanak : My sister-friends ! dearly loved is the Lord.
He our holy Lord, we the Lord's handmaids. (5) (2.4)

---

1. The image of the Simmal tree is similarly used in Var Asa. 14.

Note* : This hymn may be read in conjunction with Sheikh Farid's hymn, also in the measure Suhi (Page 794) to whose tone and sorrowful mood this purports to be a reply. To the issues raised therein, picturing man's life as a scene of totally wasted opportunities, herein is the answer : With devotion, austerity and subduing the ego with devotion, union with the Lord may eternally be found. The imagery here too is of the boat, the ocean and the Lord's accents (herein ambrosial, in Sheikh Farid's hymn harsh).

2. Majīth.
3. (Of several suggested interpretations this one appears to be the most satisfying).

Jin kau bhāṇḍai bhāu tinhāṇ savārsī

He exalts those bearing devotion in their hearts.[1]
To such He grants bounty[2] of bliss—their sufferings annulled.[3] Doubt they have none—liberation to such shall He inevitably grant. (1)
Those with such destiny recorded, to the Master are united.
Instruction to such he imparts in the ambrosial Name Divine.
As the holy Preceptor's teaching[4] they follow, in the state of mendicancy they wander not. (2)
Those admitted into the Presence in the Mansion to none else make obeisance.
Such at the Divine Portal are not called to account.
Whoever has the Divine glance of grace,
By his Word are others liberated. (3)
He into the world has sent us, who no one's counsel seeks.
All-knowing, He demolishes, builds and decks.
Saith Nanak : By His glance of grace
Is granted devotion to the Name. (4) (3.5)

Bhāṇḍā hachhā soi jo tisu bhāvasī

With whomsoever He is pleased, a pure heart[5] He grants him.
A pot filthy in the extreme by washing[6] is not purified.
By listening to the Master's teaching one acquires enlightenment. P. 730
At the Master's portal alone as washed, is it cleansed.
Himself has He established distinctions of foul and fair.
Let none reckon that despite evil-doing in the hereafter bliss he shall attain—
As man's actions, such shall his reward be.
Whoever the Name ambrosial widely distributes,
With honour departs; his life exalted,
Resounding his repute.
Not in the poor world of men alone—in the three worlds shall it be heard.
Saith Nanak : Not himself is he blessed—
Saved are all his forebears. (1) (4.6)

---

1. Lit. Vessel.
2. Lit. Expanse, abundance.
3. Lit. Forgotten.
4. Wish, desire.
5. Lit. Vessel.
6. Implies ritual acts of piety.

Jogī hovai jogvai bhogī hovai khāe

The Yogi practises Yoga; the householder enjoys things of the world.
The ascetic practises austerities. bathing at sacred spots assiduously.[1] (1)
Brother dear ! Thy call I yearn to hear should any to me proclaim it. (I Pause)
One reaps what one sows; consumes what one earns :
In the hereafter is such a one not questioned, should he carry his instrument of approval with him. (2)
As man's actions, such is he proclaimed.
Each breath taken without the Lord's remembrance
Is wasted. (3)
This body would I sell, part with for a price,
Should any of the holy purchase it.
Saith Nanak : Of no use is the body,
Wherein abides not the holy Name. (4) (5.7)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
SCORE 7

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jogu na khinthā jogu na ḍanḍai jogu na bhasam charāīiyai

Yoga lies not in the patched quilt, nor in carrying a staff;
Yoga lies not either in rubbing ashes over the limbs.
Yoga lies not in earrings, nor in close-cropping the head,
Nor in blowing the horn.[2]
To abide undefiled amid Maya-defilement
Is the true way to attain success in Yoga-praxis. (1)
Yoga by mere chatter is not practised.
To regard all alike with undifferentiating sight
Entitles one a true Yogi to be called. (I Pause) Yoga lies not in frequenting wild places, tombs and cremation gounds,
Nor in absorption in samadhi.[3]
Yoga lies not in wandering over lands and regions,
Nor in bathing at holy spots.

---

1. Lit. Rubbing hard.
2. All these are part of the traditional Yogi's equipment.
3. These too are part of the traditional Yoga-praxis.

To abide undefiled amid Maya-defilement
Is the true way to attain success in Yoga-praxis.[1] (2)
By contact with the holy Preceptor is shattered doubt
And the wandering mind restrained.
Then oozes the amrita-spring, absorption with poise attained
And in one's own self is attained enlightenment.
To abide undefiled amid Maya-defilement
Is the true way to attain success in Yoga-praxis. (3)
Saith Nanak : To die while living—practise such Yoga.
As resounds the horn[2] without blowing,
Is attained the state of fearlessness.
To abide undefiled amid Maya-defilement
Is the true way to attain success in Yoga-praxis. (4) (1.8)

Which is the scale, which the weight-measures ?
What gold-tester may I call in to test Thee ?
Which the Master from whom instruction I may receive;
Whom to approach to evaluate Thee ? (1)
My precious Beloved,[3] unknowable by me is Thy extent.
On water and land art Thou pervasive,
In all creation immanent. (I Pause)
In scales of the mind, with weights of consciousness, P. 731
Be devotion to Thee the gold-tester :
Weighing in my self the Lord—
Thus my mind may I restrain. (2)
Himself the pointing needle, Himself measure and scales,
Himself the weighman,
Himself viewer and evaluator,
Himself the gold-dealer. (3)
With mind, blind, low-born, alienated, fluctuating each moment—
Abides Nanak :
How may this thoughtless one enlightenment
attain ? (4) (2.9)

---

1. (Herein the reputed attainments of traditional Yoga are transmuted into attainment of spiritual joy and poise.)
2. (This implies Divine inspiration, though the terminology is Yogic).
3. Lit. A ruby; in the applied sense one highly valued and loved.

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mani Rāma Nāmu ārādhiyā Guru-shabdi Gurū Guru kei

In my heart[1] on the Name Divine have I meditated,
By the Divine Word of the Supreme Master.
Fulfilled were then all desires of mind and body;
Lifted was Yama's terror. (1)
My self ! chant praise of the Name Divine, the Lord's Name.
As was won the Master's pleasure, was my mind instructed,
And in deep draughts was quaffed joy in the Lord. (I Pause)
The holy Preceptor's noble congregation
The Lord's praise chants.
Lord ! in your grace to holy company unite me,
Wherein feet of God's devotees I may wash. (2)
May I to the Name Divine be devoted;
The Name Divine is source of all bliss :
May I with extreme delight quaff joy of the Master's teaching.
As is obtained Divine amrita, the water of God's devotion.
Assuaged is all thirst. (3)
The holy Preceptor is my caste and honour;
To the Master have I sold my self.[2]
Nanak, servant of God, is styled[3] as the Master's disciple :
Holy Master ! preserve your servant's honour. (4) (1)

Hari Hari Nāmu bhajiyo Pūrakhottamu sabhi binasei dālad dalghā

As is contemplated the Name Divine, of the Supreme Being,
Is all penury shattered.
By blessing of the Master's Word is eliminated fear of transmigration,[4]
And in service of the Lord eternal are we absorbed. (1)
My self ! to the Name Divine, beloved exceedingly Be thou devoted.
To the Master have I dedicated mind and body,
And at high price sold my head. (I Pause)
Monarchs and kings involved in pleasures and delights,

1. Mana.
2. Head.
3. Is given the name.
4. Birth and death.

Without devotion to the Name are all dragged off in bonds by death.
As Dharmaraj imposes on them the penalty,
into regrets they fall
At receiving retribution for deeds. (2)
Lord ! save us, save us, we that are your creatures, humble as worms,
To your shelter come : cherish us !
Lord ! fulfil your servant's desire.
Grant me sight of the holy,
That bliss I may obtain. (3)
You that are the Lord, Supreme Being almighty,
Pray grant me a particle of your bounty.
May Nanak, your servant obtain devotion to the Name,
And feel blessed :
To the Name may I be ever a sacrifice ! (4) (2)

Hari Nāmā Hari rang hai Hari rang majīṭhai rangu

In the Name Divine lies love for the Lord :
This Divine love is fast like madder[1] dye.
By favour of the Master is such divine dye imparted,
That nevermore is washed off.[2] (1)
My self ! with the Name Divine abide thou in love.
By the Master's grace comes discourse on the Lord,
And sight of the Divine King obtained manifest. (I Pause)
With the thoughtless, ego-directed female[3] abides transmigration unceasing : P. 732
Unmindful of the Divine Lord, to her mind is duality attached. (2) Filthy, foul-acting that we are, Lord ! keep us ever under your favour.
The Master in the Pool of Immortality[4] has bathed us;
Washed off is our mud of sins. (3)
Lord, compassionate to the humble,
To holy company pray unite us.
In holy company have we imbibed Divine love :
Therewith is mind and body of Nanak, servant of God, dyed. (4) (3)

1. Majith.
2. Lit. Shattered.
3. Image for the human self.
4. Original, Amritsar.

Hari Hari karehṇ nit kapaṭu kamāwehṇ hirda shūddh na hoī

Of those repeating God's Name and practising deceit ever,
Is the heart not purified.
Though daily such perform ritual acts,
Ever in dream find they not joy. (1)
Without guidance of the enlightened Master is not found way to devotion.
Unsoaked in chemical, despite all fervent desire a cloth shall not catch the dye.[1] (I Pause)
The egoist's malady shall not go despite recitations, austerity, fasts and worship-offering :
Inside him lies the grave malady of egoism—
Caught in duality is he ruined. (2)
Outwardly such assume numerous guises and practise cleverness—
Yet their mind in ten directions wanders.
Caught in egoism, the holy Word such contemplate not,
And again and again into transmigration enter. (3)
Saith Nanak : Whoever has Divine grace, alone has realization;
Such alone on the Name meditate.
By the Master's grace the Sole Lord they realize,
And in Him are absorbed. (4) (4.13)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gurmati nagari khoji khojāī

By the Master's teaching in the city of self have we made search.
And boon of the Name Divine found. (1)
The Lord in my mind has lodged peace :
Assuaged is fire of desire;
In an instant by the Master's contact is annulled
all hunger.[2] (I Pause)
Mother mine ! in chanting the Lord's praise find I life.
The holy Preceptor gracious, the Lord's attributes and the Name in me has confirmed. (2)
After the Divine Lord Beloved am I in search :
In holy company have I obtained joy in God. (3)

1. Implies lack of devotion.
2. Used symbolically.

By the writ inscribed in primal time is obtained the Lord.
By grace of Guru Nanak, brother ! is found union with
the Lord. (4) (1.5)

Hari kripā karei mani Hari rangu lāe

Should the Lord show grace, the heart to Divine love
He attaches,
That by the Master's guidance in the name Divine
is absorbed. (1)
The mind dyed in Divine love has joy in God—
Day and night by absorption in the Master's Word
Abiding in bliss. (I Pause)
All seek after the Divine dye :
By the Master's guidance is this dye made resplendent red.[1] (2)
The thoughtless egoist of merit of such dye is deprived.
Despite hundred-fold yearning, the dye settles not on him. (3)
By Divine grace is found the holy Preceptor.
Saith Nanak : Through tasting of joy in God is one in Divine love absorbed. (4) (2.6) P. 733

Jihvā Hari rasi rahī aghāe

My tongue[2] with joy in God is satiated.
Whoever by the Master's guidance quaffs of it,
In poise[3] is absorbed. (1)
Brother-devotees ! should you have taste of joy in God,
How may other delights then attract you ? (I Pause)
By the Master's guidance lodge in heart taste of joy in God :
Those immersed[4] in joy in God in love of God are absorbed. (2)
The egoist tastes not of joy in God :
Involved in egoism, much chastizement he receives. (3)
By Divine grace is obtained joy in God.
Nanak, absorbed in Divine joy, God's praise chants. (4) (3.7)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
SCORE 6

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Neech jāti Hari japtiyāṇ ūttam padawī pāe

One of low caste, by contemplation of God, high state obtains.

---

1. Red as the poppy-flower.
2. The palate is implied.
3. Sahaj.
4. Dyed.

Ask this of Bidur,[1] maid's child, in whose home Krishna took lodging. (1)
Brother devotees ! to the inexpressible Divine discourse listen,
Whereby is removed doubt, suffering and hunger.[2] (I Pause) Ravidas the cobbler, lauding God, singing Divine praise only for an instant—
Though of low caste, was exalted :
All four varnas[3] at his feet fell. (2)
Namdev, who to the Lord in love was attached, even though called a dyer by the world,
Vanquished Khatris and Brahmins[4]—
The Lord to Namdev showed favour. (3)
On the foreheads of God's devotees and servants the sixty-eight holy spots fixed the paste-mark.[5]
Prayeth Nanak, that by grace of the Divine Monarch
Ever should he touch their feet. (4) (1.8)

Tinnhiṇ aṅtari Hari ārādhiyā jinh kau dhūri likhiyā likhatu lilārā

Those in their hearts to the Lord are devoted,
On whose forehead in primal Time the writ is inscribed.
What avails anyone's traducing of such,
As by the Lord Creator Himself are owned ? (1)
My self ! on the Lord meditate;
Meditate on the Lord, annuller of suffering of multiple births. (I Pause)
In primal Time has the Lord conferred on His devotees
Treasure of devotion.
Only one devoid of sense would envy them—
Of such in this world and the next is blackened the face. (2)
Such alone are true devotees and servants as with the Name Divine are in love :
By service to them is obtained the Lord—
On the traducer's head falls soot. (3)
Such alone know of this as of this have experience—
Consider this after consulting the House of Nanak, world teacher.

1. A devotee, mentioned in the Krishna story.
2. Used symbolically.
3. The four principal divisions of Brahminical socity.
4. (These are reckoned high castes).
5. That is, honoured them.

During the four generations,[1] right from beginning,
None by calumny obtained it;
The Lord to those with feelings of humble devotion alone liberation grants. (4) (2.9)

Jithai Hari ārāḍhiyai titthai Hari mittu sahāī

Wherever is the Lord supplicated, turns He friend and helper.
By the Master's grace is the Lord in the self lodged;
No other way is He attained. (1)
Brother ! garner wealth of the Lord,
That in this world and the next the Lord be your helper. (I Pause) P. 734
In holy company is obtained Divine wealth;
In other places by other means is not the Divine wealth attained.
One dealing in Divine jewels the Divine jewels purchases :
Those dealing in glass[2] by mere chatter the Divine wealth cannot obtain. (2)
To the Divine wealth, devotees of God in the ambrosial hour, appropriate sowing season,
Have formed devotion.
Of this Divine wealth sown in the appropriate sowing season of the ambrosial hour,
The devotees expend without exhaustion.
With the Divine wealth in this world and the next,
Are God's devotees exalted. (3)
The Divine wealth is beyond danger,[3] ever immutable—
This holy Divine wealth is ruined not
By fire, thief, flood or Yama's minions.
Robbers approach not the Divine wealth,
Nor tax-gatherers terrible as death
Lay it under fine. (4)
Reprobates[4] through sins the world's poisonous wealth have garnered—
It accompanies them not one step.
Reprobates[4] in this world are in suffering;
As it slips from their hand, in the next world the reprobates[4]
no shelter find. (5)

---

1. Refers to the four occupants of the Guru's seat till Guru Ram Das.
2. (Also spurious articles).
3. Lit, Fear.
4. Sakta.

Devotees of God ! the Lord Himself is merchant of this wealth—
On whomsoever He confers it, in packs carries it off.
Nanak, servant of God, by the Master this realization is granted :
Decrease the Divine wealth sees never. (6) (3.10)

Jis noṇ Hari süprasannu hoe so Hari gūṇā rawai

Whoever wins the Lord's favour, alone His laudation sings—
Such a one is the true devotee, approved of God.
Beyond our power of exposition is the praise of one
In whose heart is lodged the Lord, Master of all felicity. (1)
My self ! sing the Lord's praise with meditation fixed on the holy Preceptor. (I Pause)
Such alone the true holy Preceptor, such his fruitful service
Whereby is obtained the Supreme Treasure.[1] Reprobates[2] that from feelings of duality, for fulfilment of desires
The foul-smelling evils cherish,
Are doomed to failure, ignorant. (2)
Approved is laudation chanted by one cherishing faith—
Such at the Divine Portal obtain honour.
Of dissemblers devoid of faith, closing eyes with show of falsehood,
Exposed shall be the false pride. (3)
All our life and body is Thine—
Thou controller of the inner self, Lord of felicity.
Saith the humble Nanak, slave of Thy slaves :
I discourse as Thou dost guide. (4) (4.11)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 7

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Terei kawan kawan gūṇa kahi kahi gāwāṇ tūṇ sāhib gūṇī nidhānā

Thou Lord, treasure of merit ! what of Thy merits have
I power to laud ?
Exalted Master, Lord, your praise have I no power to relate. (1)
The Name Divine is my sole prop. P. 735
Lord ! keep me as be Thy will—other than Thee no support
have I. (I Pause)

1. Devotion, liberation are implied.
2. Sakta.

Lord ! my strength and redresser of complaints[1] art Thou—
Before Thee my supplication I lay.
No other place have I to carry my supplication—
To Thee I carry my suffering and joy. (2)
In one place lie earth and water; in wood lies fire.
The goat and tiger in one place by Him have been kept—
My self ! on the Lord meditate, thus removing thy doubt and fear. (3)
Devotees of God ! behold the Lord's greatness :
Honour on the humble He confers.
As dust rising from under feet rises above,
Thus saith Nanak, the whole world at the feet of the holy is made to do reverence. (4) (1.12)

Tūṇ kartā sabhu kichhu āpei jāṇeh kyā tūdhu peh ākh sūṇāīyei

Thou art the Creator, all-knowing : what need we state before Thee ?
Evil and good all within Thy gaze lies—
Each receives recompense for what he does. (1)
Lord ! Thou the state of our mind dost know.
Evil and good all thou dost behold—
As it pleases Thee dost thou guide[2] man, (I Pause)
Maya-attachement in the body has the Lord cast;
In this body too is man to devotion inspired,
Some in union with the holy Preceptor are granted joy;
Some, the egoists, in wordly tasks are absorbed. (2)
Lord-Creator ! all creation is Thine, Thou Master of all—
Over the head of each hast. Thou recorded destiny.
As be Thy will,[3] is each made; without Thy glance no grab[4] can any assume. (3)
Thy greatness to Thee alone known; all on Thee meditate ever.
Whoever wins Thy approval, is by Thee granted union—
Such a one, saith Nanak, servant of God, with Thee finds a place. (4) (2.13)

Jinh kai antari wasiyā merā Hari Hari tinh kei sabh rog gawāe

Of those within whose hearts is the Lord lodged,
Are all maladies cured.

---

1. Dīvān = a high officer to whom complaints were carried.
2. Call (to duty etc.)
3. Glance, implying will, command.
4. Implies form of duty.

These meditating on the Name Divine have been liberated—
The holy supreme state have they attained. (1)
Lord ! cured of their maladies are devotees of God —
Those that by guidance of the Master's Word the Lord have contemplated,
Annulled is their malady of egoism. (I Pause)
Brahma,Vishnu and Shiva, by the Three Qualities[1] afflicted,
From egoism have acted.
These poor ones contemplate not their Creator—
The Lord by the Master's guidance to us has granted such realization. (2)
The whole world by the malady of egoism is gripped;
In heavy affliction of transmigration is it caught.
A rare one by the Master's grace liberation finds—
To such am I a sacrifice. (3)
The Lord who created the universe, alone knows all— Beyond extent is His form.
Saith Nanak : The Lord beholding it is in bliss—
This Divine contemplation by the Master's guidance comes. (4) (3.14)

Kītā karṇā sarb razāeeṇ kichhu kīchai jei kar sakīyai P. 736

All that is done or shall happen, is by Lord's Will—
We may do aught, had we the power.
Nothing by our will happens.
Lord ! keep us as be Thy will. (1)
Lord! all in Thy power lies—
To accomplish anything have we no power—
Pray grant us liberation as may please Thee. (1 Pause) Life and body Thou to us hast granted; Thou to various tasks hast set us.
Each acts as be Thy will; as in primal Time by Thee inscribed. (2)
Of five elements hast Thou made creation;
Had any the power, a sixth would be made.
To some, uniting them to the Master, dost Thou realization grant;
Others, egoists, over their doings wail. (3)

1. See Glossary.

The Lord's greatness can I noway express— I that am ignorant, thoughtless, low.
Lord ! to Thy servant Nanak grant liberation;
Ignorant that he is, to Thy shelter has he come. (4) (4.15)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 1
In the Name of Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bāzīgar jaisei bāzā pāī

This world is as a juggler's show,
Wherein various disguises he assumes.
As his make-up he puts off, ended is his spectacle.[1]
Then is left the Sole Supreme Being.[2] (1)
How many various guises has He assumed and cast off ?[3]
Whereto gone, whence came ? (I Pause)
From water arise innumerable waves.
From gold are shaped ornaments of various forms.[4]
Many are the kinds of seeds sown :
As ripens the fruit, again is left the Sole Supreme Being.[2] (2)
Into thousands of pitchers falls reflection of the same one sky.
As is broken the pitcher, is left that sole Light.
While Maya-thoughts last, are found doubt, avarice and attachment.
As is lifted illusion, is left apprehension of the Sole.
Supreme Being.[2] (3)
The Lord is imperishable, dying never—
Neither born nor dying.[5]
The Master, perfectly-endowed,
Impurity of egoism washes off.
Saith Nanak ! Thus have I attained the supreme state. (4) (1)

Kītā loṛeh so Prabh hoe

Lord ! all happens as be Thy will.
None other than Thee is the Doer.
Whoever serves Thee, fulfilled are his objectives.
Pray, save Thy servant's honour. (1)

---

1. Expanse.
2. Ekankārā, Ek-Oankar.
3. Lit. Shattered.
4. Hue, shape.
5. Lit. Neither coming from anywhere, nor going anywhere.

Lord perfectly gracious ! Thy shelter I seek.
Other than Thee who may cherish me ? (I- Pause)
On water and land is He pervasive.
The Lord is close, not far.
Nothing by pleasing the world is attained.
By attachment to Truth is banished egoism. (2)
Whomsoever with devotion He inspires, to it is attached;
Within Him is illumined[1] the jewel enlightenment.
With foul thinking gone, the supreme state he attains,
And by the Master's grace on the Name meditates. (3)
With hands folded this supplication I make :
As may please Thee, dost Thou fulfil our objectives. P. 737
In Thy grace to Thy devotion attach me,
That Nanak, Thy servant, ever on the Lord may meditate. (4) (2)

Dhannu sohāgani jo Prabhu pachhānai

Blessed is the happily-wedded wife[2] who her Lord venerates,
His command obeys and casts off pride :
Absorbed in her Lord's love, all joy she has. (1)
Listen, my sister-friend[3] ! by this token is the Lord met :
To Him dedicate mind and body, discarding wordly conventions.[4] (I- Pause)
One sister-friend[3] thus counsels the other :
Such alone profit as please the Lord.
Such a one is happily -wedded and her Lord's embrace enters. (2)
One gripped by pride the Divine Mansion attains not.
As is ended the night,[5] full of regrets is she left.
Unfortunate egoist, into suffering she falls. (3)
I would supplicate Him were I to think Him far :
The Lord eternal is all pervasive.
Nanak, servant of God, beholding His sight,[6]
His laudation sings. (4) (3)

Grihu wasi Gūri kīnā haum ghar kī nāri

By the Master's guidance my Spouse's love have I won,

1. Lit. Awakened.
2. Symbol for seeker.
3. As above.
4. Symbolizes conventional piety.
5. Symbol for life.
6. Hadūr = Huzur, Lit. Presence.

And His true wife become.
The Spouse ten maids[1] at my behest has placed.
All equipment in the home have I assembled,
And full of[2] yearning, seek the Beloved. (1)
How much of the Lord's merits may I state—
Of the Divine Lord, elegantly comely, gracious ? (I Pause)
Decking myself with virtue, collyrium of love have I applied;
Betel-leaf of the Name ambrosial chewed :
Put on wristlets, dresses and fine ornaments.
All joy shall the wife attain as the Beloved enters her home. (2)
With spells of good qualities the Spouse have I pleased.
As has the Master lifted doubt, the Lord have I won over.
Highest of all, other females has He discarded,
And mine solely become. (3)
As has risen the sun, has illumination of light spread.
The couch of endless yearning[3] have I spread.
The Beloved so youthfully joyful, to bless the couch has arrived.
Saith Nanak, servant of God :
The wife in union with the beloved Spouse joy
has attained. (4) (4)

Ümkiyo hīyo milan Prabh tāiṇ

To meet the Lord has my heart leapt with yearning ;
To have a sight of the Lord has it set out in quest.
On hearing the Beloved's message have I spread the couch—
Despite much wandering His sight have I not obtained. (1)
How may this poor heart be consoled ?
Divine Friend ! meet me — to Thee am I a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
For wife and husband is spread one single couch[4]—
Yet is the wife asleep, awake the Husband.
The wife is inebriated like one drunk :
Yet will she be awakened, if called by her Beloved. (2)
By long passage of days is she in despair :
Numerous lands have I scoured.
Without absorption in the Beloved's feet can I not live
for an instant.
As in His grace will the Lord be met, shall I be fortunate. (3)

1. Refers to the sources of knowledge—five physical and five intellectual.
2. Lit. Thirsting with.
3 Faith.
4. Symbol for the self.

In His grace has the Lord to holy company united me.
Assuaged is the burning feeling, in my home[1] the Beloved have I found.
Now feel I beauteous in all my decking.
Saith Nanak : The Master my illusion has cast out. (4) P. 738
Brother ! wherever I look is the Beloved.
As the door He has opened, has my mind found poise. (5)
(I- Second Pause)

Kyā gūṇa terei sāri samālī mohi nirgūṇa ke dātā rei

Thou Bestower of boons on me without merit ! how Thy merits may I recall ?
What cleverness can a purchased slave show ?
Thine are this life and body, (1)
Beloved dazzlingly beautiful,[2] heart-charmer,
To Thy sight am I a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
The Lord is Bestower, I a humble beggar—
Ever are you full of bounty.
Lord inaccessible, beyond extent !
To accomplish nothing have I power. (2)
What sevice to Thee can I render ? by what words to please Thee ?
By what device to have Thy sight ?
Unattainable Thy extent, Thy limit—
My mind for Thy sight yearns. (3)
This boon may I obtain, that stubbornly I seek :
May dust of feet of the holy on my face be rubbed.
The Master to Nanak, servant of God has shown grace;
The Lord by strength of His arm has saved him. (4) (6)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sevā thorī māṅgan bahutā

Inadequate is our service to the Lord; yet much we seek of Him.
Man has attained not the Divine Mansion, yet claims to have arrived. (1)
He emulates those that by Beloved are honoured—

1. Symbol for the heart.
2. Original, Dazzling red.

Such is the stubborn bragging of thoughtless man given to falsehood. (I- Pause)
Flaunting his ritual garb, truth he does not live :
Claiming to be an inmate of the Mansion, is nowhere near it. (2)
Maya-intoxicated, yet an anchorite he proclaims himself;
Bearing not devotion in heart, yet claiming in God to be dyed. (3)
Prayeth Nanak : Lord ! to my supplication listen—
To this creature, impure, hard-hearted, lustful, grant liberation. (4)
Such exaltation from beholding your sight comes—
You that are bestower of joy, loving Divine Person. (1.7)
(I-Second Pause)

Bürei kām kau ūṭh khaloiyā

To do evil has man ever rushed along;
Yet on occasion of devotion to the Name keeps dozing
in sleep : (1)
Thoughtless as a child,[1] he realizes not the occasion granted to him,
In Maya-attachment involved. (I-Pause)
With passion[2] of greed like a flower he blossoms;
But beholds never sight of the holy. (2)
Thoughtless, stupid—nothing shall he ever realize—
Again and again into entanglements involved. (I Pause)
His ear by sound of lust-provoking songs is attracted;
But to listen to Divine laudation his mind slothful feels. (3)
Blind man without sight ! dost thou not see,
These false involvements shalt thou leave behind ? (I-Puase)
Prayeth Nanak : Lord, show your bounty;
In your grace grant me holy company. (4)
By turning dust of feet of the holy is attainment made.
Whoever is granted realization, alone utters
the Name. (I- Pause) (2.8)

Ghar mehṇ Thākuru nadari na āwai

Man beholds not the Lord within his own home.[3]
But round his neck hangs stone-images. (1) P. 739

1. Iyana = Ignorant; applied sense, child.
2. Lit. Wave.
3. That is, in his self.

The reprobate[1] deluded by doubt wanders along,
Churning water, thus tiring himself to death. (I-Pause)
The stone that he calls Lord,
Drags him down[2] along with iself. (2)
Man that art sinful, ungrateful,
Know a boat of stone carries not one across. (3)
In company with the Master has Nanak realized the Lord, Pervasive over water and land, rewarder of deeds,
all-perfections. (4) (3.9)

Lālan rāwiyā kawan gatī rī

Sister[3] ! by what device had you bliss with the Beloved ?
Sister-friend ! pray counsel me too about that. (I)
Dazzling red[4] art thou all over,
In love of the Beloved dyed. (I- Pause)
With the pupil of my eye thy feet shall I rub :
Wherever thou shalt send, instantly shall I go. (2)
Should for an instant union with the Lord of my life you grant me,
All my prayers, austerities, self-discipline, continence to thee shall I dedicate. (3)
One that her pride, arrogance of power and egoistic understanding has subdued,[5]
Saith Nanak, is the truly wedded wife.[6] (4) (4.10)

Tūṇ jīvanu Tūṇ prān-adhārā

Thou my life, the prop of my breath—
By sight of Thee has my heart found sustenance. (1)
Thou my friend, Beloved :
May Thou never from my mind be away ! (I- Pause)
Thy purchased slave am I—
Thou the great Master, store-house of merit. (2)
Millions of servitors at His court attend,
With whom each instant He abides. (3)
Nothing am I, all is Thine :
With each thread[7] of Nanak's life dost Thou abide. (4) (5.11)

---

1. Sakta.
2. Lit. Makes him sink.
3. The vocative ri (fem) implies this.
4. Sūhab (sūhā = red) repeated here.
5. Lit. Destroyed.
6. Symbol for the seeker who has realized God.
(This is the reply to the query contained in the opening couplet).
7. The image here is warp and woof of life.

Sūkh mahal jā ke ūch duārei

He whose lofty mansions are abodes of joy—
In those abide His beloved devotees. (1)
Extremely sweet is the discourse of Divine enlightenment,[1]
That a rare one with his eyes has beheld. (I-Pause)
There are heard song and music, and concourse of the holy held :
God's devotees there have joy in the Lord. (2)
There is neither death nor life of the body; neither pain[2]
nor pleasure :
The holy Name rains there is showers. (3)
This secret account from the Master is learnt :
Nanak utters only God's own Word. (4) (6.12)

Jā kai darasi pāp koṭi ūtārei

Such is the Lord, by whose sight are cast off millions of sins;
By contact with whom is the ocean of existence crossed. (1)
Such alone are my true friends and associates
As of the Name Divine put me in mind. (I-Pause)
Such is the Lord, by listening to whose Word come all joys,
And by whose service are repulsed Yama's minions; (2)
By whose support the mind finds the prop;
By whose contemplation is the face made radiant. (3)
His servitors the Lord Himself exalts.
Nanak with such seeks shelter,
To them is a sacrifice. (4) (7.13)

Rahaṇu na pāweh sūri nar devā

Neither god-like men nor the gods last in this world.
Sages too, that serve the Lord depart this life. (1)
Such alone are known to live for ever as on the Lord
have meditated—
Such in holy company the Divine sight have beheld. (I-Pause) P. 740
Kings, rulers and merchants all must die.
All that is visible, by death shall be dissolved. (2)
Man in false attachments involved,
As the world he leaves, at last in regrets must fall. (3)
Treasure of Grace ! on Nanak confer the boon
That day and night your Name he utter. (4) (8.14)

---

1. Sahaj Katha.
2. Sorrow, but pain is implied

Ghaṭ ghaṭ antari Tūmeh basārei

In each being is your abode;
The entire phenomena[1] on your thread is strung. (1)
Thou art beloved, prop of life;
By your sight the heart finds joy. (I-Pause)
Exhausted as we are wandering in innumerable births,
Now shelter with the holy have we taken. (2)
Nanak day and night contemplates
The Lord inaccessible, unknowable, unapproachable, beyond extent. (3) (9.15)

Kavan kāj māyā waḍiyāī

What avails greatness achieved in hoarding wealth,
That takes not an instant to be shattered ? (1)
Man involved in sleep realizes not this is a dream—
In his unconscious state to this dream clinging. (I-Pause)
Thoughtless man by great attachment is gripped,
Which while seeing, this world he departs. (2)
Loftier than the lofty is His court :
Innumerable creatures He destroys and creates again. (3)
No other like Him ever was or shall be.
Nanak, contemplate thou the Lord. (4) (10.16)

Simari simari Tā kau hauṇ jīvāṇ

In remembrance of Him find I life.
Wash to Thy lotus feet may I sip. (1)
The Lord is controller of the inner self,
The Lord ever is by the side of devotees. (I-Pause)
Listening to the Name ambrosial, on it may I meditate
And day and night[2] Thy merit sing. (2)
Beholding Thy Divine play my heart feels delight,
Thou that art of endless merit, supreme joy. (3)
Nanak ever the Lord's Name utters,
Whose contemplation all fear drives away.[3] (4) (11.17)

Guru kai bachan ridai dhyān dhārī

The Master's Word in my heart I cherish :
My tongue ! utter thou chant of the Lord. (1)

1. Paraphernalia.
2. All eight pahars.
3. Lit. By whose contemplation no fear grips.

To the Lord's sight, fulfiller of objectives am I a sacrifice—
His lotus feet prop of my mind and life. (I-Pause)
In holy company is annulled torment of transmigration[1] :
Listening to His ambrosial discourse have I made my ear's prop. (2)
Lust, wrath, avarice and attachment have I discarded.
The pure deeds of contemplation of the Name, charity and holy bath in my self have I confirmed. (3)
Saith Nanak : This essence of truth have I contemplated;
By utterance of the Name Divine is liberation[2] attained. (4) (12.18)

Lobha mohi magan aprādhī

Man involved in avarice and attachment is a sinner—
Of service to the Creator neglectful.[3] (1)
Lord ! purifier of the fallen is Thy Name :
Save me, one without merit. (I-Pause)
Lord ! Bestower of boons, controller of the inner self art Thou :
Yet is man proud of his frail[4] body. (2) P. 741
Involved in pleasures, disputes, jealousy and Maya-intoxication,
Has man wasted his birth, precious as jewel. (3)
Divine Lord, Shatterer of Suffering, Life of the Universe !
Nanak, renouncing all else, to Thy shelter has come. (4) (13.19)

Pekhat chākhat kahīyai andhā sünīyat sünīyai nāhīṇ

Man while seeing, beholdig yet blind may be called;
Hearing, he hears not :
What is close to him,[5] he thinks far—
A sinner, in doing sin engaged. (1)
Thou creature of God ! do what may bring thee liberation :
Utter the Name Divine and the ambrosial holy Word. (I- Pause)
In joy of thy steeds and mansions art thou ever involved—
Know, nothing shall accompany thee. (2)
This clay vessel dost thou keep tidied :
Within is it thorughly foul, wherefore chastizement from Yama shall come. (3)
By lust, wrath, avarice, attachement bound,
In a deep pit man continues to sink. (4)

1. Birth and death.
2. Swimming (being ferried) across.
3. Service to the Creator he has not performed.
4. Lit. Unbaked, as of clay vessels.
5. That is, God.

Pray, to Nanak's prayer give ear :
Lord ! save me a sinking stone. (5) (14.20)

Jīvat marai būjhai Prabh soi

Whoever dies while living,[1] alone realizes the Lord.
To such by Divine grace realization comes. (1)
Listen, friend ! by this device is the impassable ocean crossed :
In holy company utter the Name Divine. (I-Pause)
Such a one recognizes not other than the One Sole Lord,
And in each being the Supreme Being beholds. (2)
All that God does, he accepts as good,
And of God, who holds the begninning and end of time,
The greatness[2] he realizes. (3)
Saith Nanak : To such a one am I a sacrifice,
In whose heart abides the Lord. (4) (15.21)

Guru-Paramesharu Karṇaihāru

All-powerful is the Master, image of the Lord,
To all existence giving prop. (1)
My self ! on the Lord's lotus feet meditate :
Thereby shall suffering and pain leave this body. (I-Pause)
The Master extricates those sinking in the ocean of existence;
And ties snapped for multiple births reunites. (2)
Day and night serve the Master—
Thereby shall joy, poise and peace come to you. (3)
By great good fortune is dust of the holy Preceptor's feet obtained.
Nanak to the Master is ever a sacrifice. (4) (16.22)

Guru apnei ūpaṛi bali jāīyai

To the Master be a sacrifice,
And day and night Divine laudation chant. (1)
Contemplate the Lord, The Divine Master,
Who each being's[3] inner self controls. (I-Pause)
Those whose love to the Lord's lotus feet is attached,
Follow the holy, pure way of life. (2)
By grace of the holy comes He in the heart to abide—Thereby are sins of multiple births annulled. (3)
Lord compassionate to the humble, show grace :
Nanak seeks dust of feet of the holy. (4) (17.23)

1. That is, dies to the world.
2. Worth, value.
3. Vessel.

Darshanu dekhi jivān Guru terā

Lord ! by Thy sight find I life—
May my good fortune thus be made perfect. (1)
Lord ! to my supplication listen. P. 742
Grant devotion to Thy Name; make us your servants. (I-Pause)
Lord Bestower of boons ! under your shelter keep us—
You who by rare ones by the Master's grace are realized. (2)
Lord, friend ! to my supplication lend ear;
May your lotus feet in my heart[1] ever abide. (3)
Nanak makes this prayer :
Store-house of merit, all-perfection !
By you never from my thoughts away.[2] (4) (18.24)

Mītu sājanu sūt bandhap bhāī

Wherever I behold, is the Lord by us, our helper,
Companion, friend, relation, brother.[3] (1)
The Name Divine is my high caste, honour, wealth;
Bestower of joy in poise, bliss and peace. (I-Pause)
The Supreme Being thou contemplate—this armour wear.
This by a million weapons penetrated cannot be. (2)
Shelter of the Lord's feet is our citadels and forts :
One Sheltering in such by tormenting death[4] is not torn. (3)
Nanak, servant of God, ever is a sacrifice
To servants and devotees of the Divine monarch.[5] (4) (19.25)

Gūṇa Gopāl Prabh ke nit gāhā

There where the Lord's laudation is chanted ever,
Abide bliss, joy, delights and happiness. (1)
Sister-friend[6] ! come, with the Lord we have bliss,
And at feet of the holy throw ourselves.[7] (I-Pause)
In our supplication may we seek dust of feet of God's servants,
And sins of multiple births cast off. (2)
Our mind, body, life and self we dedicate,
And contemplating the Lord, annul pride and attachment. (3)
Saith Nanak, servant of God :

---

1. Chāta = (chitta) consciousness.
2. May you not be forgotten.
3. (Lines transposed in rendering).
4. Lit. Thorn of death.
5. Raja Rama, Murari.
6. Image for the seeker.
7. Fall.

Lord compassionate to the humble ! grant us the resolve
In Divine shelter to be absorbed. (4) (20.26)

Baikunṭh nagaru jahāṇ sant vāsā

The city of Paradise is where the holy abide,
And where the lotus feet Divine in the heart are lodged (1)
With thy mind and body listen : of true joy to thee I give sight,
And on the innumerable viands of God feast thee. (I-Pause)
In thy mind on the Name ambrosial feast thyself;
Inexpressible is its wondrous delectation. (2)
Ended is avarice, and assuaged is desire,[1]
As God's devotee the Lord's shelter has sought. (3)
As the Lord to Nanak, His servant has shown grace,
Are annulled accumulated fears of multiple births. (4) (21.27)

Anik bīng dās ke parhariyā

Innumerable crooked tendencies of His servant has the Lord removed,
And in His grace made His servant His own. (1)
Your servant have you extricated
From the snare of the world, the dream in which he was invloved. (I-Pause)
His sins, great as mountains, terrifying in extreme
In an instant have you, gracious Lord, annulled. (2)
Sorrows, maladies and mighty calamities
By contemplation of the Name Divine are removed. (3)
By His glance of grace to His sash has He attached us.[2]
Nanak grasping the Lord's feet, His shelter has sought. (4) (22.28)

Dīnu chhaḍāe dūnī jo lāe

Whoever forsaking God's way,[3] to the world attaches his mind,
In both worlds into ignominy falls. (1) P. 743
Whatever pleases Him, to us is acceptable :
To Himself alone is His might known. (I-Pause) Whoever by the Lord to practice of true religion and goodness is guided,
For his piety's sake his worldly state too suffers not loss. (2)

1. Thirst.
2. In idiom, to grant protection.
3. Din (Ar.) the way of God, faith.

In all creation without a hiatus is the sole Lord immanent.[1]
All engage in tasks into which the Lord engages them. (3)
Inaccessible, unknowable is the eternal Lord :
Nanak makes utterance as by Thee inspired. (4) (23.29)

Prāteh kāli Hari Namu uchārī

In early dawn the Name Divine I utter :
Thus for this world and the next a shelter I erect. (1)
Ever the Name Divine repeat;
Thereby shall the mind's objectives be fulfilled. (I-Pause)
Whoever by night and day sings laudation of the Lord eternal—
Living or dead, immutable shall his station be. (2)
Serve the Lord in whose service no dearth shalt thou feel;
And consuming and spending of this wealth, in joy and bliss shall life be passed. (3)
In holy company is attained the Divine Person,
Life of the Universe,
As Nanak by the Master's grace on the Name
has meditated. (4) (24.30)

Guru pūrei jab bhayei dayāl

As the Master, perfectly-endowed has shown grace,
Is shattered suffering, and fruitful has my endeavour become. (1)
In beholding your sight find I life.
To your lotus feet may I be a sacrifice.
Lord ! other than Thee who is our friend ? (I-Pause)
To holy company is my love attached :
This in recompense for the writ recorded in primal
Time have I received. (2)
Repeat the Name Divine, of wondrous glory—
Thereby the Three Maladies[2] shall not torment[3] thee. (3)
May I, Lord ! be not forgetful for an instant of your feet :
This in charity seeks Nanak. (4) (25.31)

Sei sanjog karuh merei pyārei

Cherished Divine friend ! grant me the lucky conjunction Whereby my tongue the Name Divine may ever utter. (1)
Lord compassionate to the humble ! to my supplication lend ear :

1. Lit. Awake.
2. These are : Ādhi (psychic disorders), biyādhi (physical ailments) and upādhi (delusions etc.).
3. Lit. Burn.

Unite me to the devotees that ever in ecstasy sing
Thy laudation. (I-Pause)
Lord ! Thy remembrance for me bears aspect of life :
To whomsoever Thou showest grace, close to him dost
Thou abide. (2)
Thy servant's hunger by the sustenance of Thy Name is satisfied :
Thou the true donor, bestower. (3)
The devotees in devotion to God joy have felt.
Saith Nanak : The Divine Bestower is truly
all-knowing. (4) (26.32)

Behtī jāt kadei drishṭi na dhārat

Thy life is flowing by; never hast thou to this attended.
Of false attachment art thou packing bundles.[1] (1)
Day and night ever the Lord contemplate;
And seeking the Lord's shelter, achieve life's supreme boon.[2] (I-Pause)
With both hands ready you do evil;
But the jewel Divine in heart cherish not an instant. (2)
In pampering and decking the body is thy life passed;
But never realized truth
Of the Lord of the universe, source of thy triumph. (3)
Nanak, save thyself by taking shelter with the Lord, almighty, unknowable,
Controller of the inner self. (4) (27.33)

Sādh-sangi tarai bhay-sāgar P. 744

By contemplation of the Name Divine, mine of jewels
In holy company is crossed the ocean of existence. (1)
In remembrance of the Lord find I life.
Shattered are suffering, maladies, sorrows,
As in contact with the Master perfectly-endowed,
Are sins discarded. (I-Pause)
From devotian to the Name Divine comes the state of eternal life;
Purified are mind and body and the true objective[3] achieved. (2)
Day and night on the Supreme Being meditate :
This by the writ primally recorded is achieved. (3)

1. Bales of cloth.
2. Liberation is implied.
3. That is, liberation.

Contemplating the Lord compassionate to the humble, seeking His shelter,
Nanak begs for dust of feet of the holy. (4) (28.34)

Ghar kā kāj na jāṇi rūṛā

Man considers not his own task[1] to be noble,
Thoughtlessly in false pursuits engaged. (1)
Whatever task thou dost assign, in that I engage.
As this blessing Thou dost grant,
Thy Name I contemplate. (I-Pause)
The Lord's servants to Him are attached—
Each day with the Divine elixir intoxicated. (2)
The Lord Himself clasping them by the arm has extricated them;
And ties snapped for multiple births restored. (3)
Lord ! in Thy grace save me !
Nanak, the Lord's servant to His Portal has come for shelter. (4) (29.35)

Sant prasādi nihchalu gharu pāiyā

By grace of the holy the House Immutable have I attained—
Therein are found all joys, never after shaken. (1)
Meditating on the Master, the Lord's feet in my mind have
I contemplated.
Thereby has the Lord made me immutable (I-Pause)
By chanting praise of the immutable eternal Lord,
Is Yama's noose snapped. (2)
In His grace the Lord to His sash has attached us[2] :
Thereby Nanak in eternal bliss, His laudation sings. (3) (30.36)

Amrit bachan sādh kī bāṇī

Ambrosial are words of utterance of the holy.
Whoever repeats these the supreme state attains
As with tongue perpetually these[3] are uttered. (I-Pause)
As the Sole Name Divine enters the mind,
Annulled are all afflictions of Kali-Yuga. (1)
As dust of the holy to our face and forehead we have applied, Saith Nanak by seeking shelter with the Divine Master are we saved. (2) (31.37)

---

1. (that is, devotion).
2. Implied protection.
3. In the original, Bāṇī which is in the singular.

In the Measure Suhi—Compostion of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 3

Gobindā gūṉa gāoṉ dayālā

Praise of the gracious Lord I chant :
Perfection of grace ! Thy sight pray grant ! (Pause)
In Thy grace have you cherished me.
This life and body all is your property. (1)
Contemplation of the Name ambrosial alone accompanies us.
Nanak seeks dust of feet of the holy. (2) (32.38)

Tisu binu dūjā awar na koi

None other than He has power.
The holy Eternal alone provides the prop. (1)
The Name Divine is my support,
Who is almighty, of limitless power. (I-Pause)
Annulling all maladies, the seeker to perfection of health
He restores.
Saith Nanak : Himself is He turned protector. (33.39)

Darshan kau lochai sabh koī

All yearn after the Divine vision :
This only by supreme good fortune is attained (Pause) P. 745
How may one find sleep in separation from the Lord all-beauty[1] ?
The great Seductress Maya to agents of evil has attached
the self. (1)
This murderess[2] from the Beloved brings about separation :
Devoid of compassion, no pity is in her. (2)
Numerous births in wandering are passed.
Maya that is impassable, allows not the seeker-wife to say in her home.[3] (3)
Day and night the self recompense of its own deeds receives.
None is to blame—our accumulated deeds whirl us about. (4)
Listen, devoted friends, brethren !
Nanak by seeking shelter with the Divine feet
The supreme state has attained. (5) (34.40)

---

1. Shyam Sunder = The swarthy handsome beloved-an attributive name of Krishna, here symbolizing God.
2. Lit Butcher.
3. Symbol for the Divine Essence.

In the Measure Suhi—Compositon of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 4
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bhalī sūhāwī chhāparī jā mehṇ gūna gāe

Fine and pleasing is the straw-hut wherein is chanted Divine laudation.
Little worth are the white mansions where the Lord to mind is not brought. (I-Pause)
In poverty in holy congregation, in remembrance of the Lord lies joy.
Burnt be worldly greatness that in Maya involves. (1)
Grinding grain with rough clothing,[1] to heart brings joy of content;
Little worth is worldly power without content. (2)
One absorbed in joy of the Sole Lord, even though ill-clad,[2]
All repute obtains.
Of little worth are silken dresses whose pleasure keeps the mind absorbed. (3)
Lord ! all in your hand lies; all by you is accomplished.
Grant to Nanak this in charity, that with each breath you he may contemplate. (4) (1.41)

Hari kā sant prān dhan tis kā panihārā

God's devotee is my life and substance; his drawer of water am I !
Dearer than brother, friend, progeny.
Than life itself. (I-Pause)
Making fan of my hair over the holy may I wave it;
My head at his feet bowing, dust of his feet to my face may I apply. (1)
In sweet words, with humility shall I supplicate him.
Discarding pride, his shelter shall I seek,
And thus attain the Lord, store-house of merit. (2)
Again and again may I have sight of God's devotee;
His ambrosial words in my mind shall I sprinkle,
And repeatedly make obeisance. (3)

1. A rough wollen sheet.
2. Lit. Unclad.

Ever contemplating it in my mind shall I yearn for company of the holy.
Lord ! to Nanak show grace, that to Thy servant's feet
he may cling. (4) (2.42)

Jini mohei brahmanḍ khanḍ tāhu mehṇ pāoṇ

With Maya that the world and the continents has deluded
Am I involved.
Lord ! save this self attracted to evil;
To Thy Name grant devotion. (I- Pause)
I follow that which brings joy to none.
To that which deserts all am I constantly attracted. (1)
Master of compassion ! show grace that Thy laudation I chant.
This is Nanak's supplication to the Lord :
In holy company may I remain absorbed. (2) (3.43)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 746

Partal (of variable rhythm)

SCORE 6

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Preeti preeti gurīyā Mohan lālanā

Pre-eminent amoug loves is love of the beloved Divine Charmer.
My self ! The Sole Lord contemplate; none other is of any account.
To the holy attach thyself with thy heart;
The path of duality discard. (I-Pause)
The Lord unattributed the attributed aspect has assumed;
Innumerable chambers[1] has He made.
In the self abides He as controller.[2]
In His own temple abides the Divine Beloved, in joy disporting.
He neither dies nor is consumed in flames. (1)
Man tied to his former deeds in various ways wanders,
Seeking others' substance, by evil tendencies surrounded.
Now joining company of the holy, at the Divine Portal he stands,
And has sight of the Lord.
Saith Nanak : As the Master he meets,
Nevermore in transmigration he wanders. (2) (1.44)

1. Implies living selves.
2. Kotwal= head of city constabulary.

Rāsi mandalu kīno ākhārā

The Lord has made this world a stage as of Krishna-mimes[1];
Therein has He spread all accessories (I-Pause)
Therein are endless forms and hues of various devices.
The Lord in joy beholds it, and inexhaustibly lives in all—
Enjoying all delights, yet abiding apart. (1)
Neither hue nor feature or face has He nor down on lips.
Lord ! beyond expression is your play.
Nanak is dust of feet of the holy. (2) (2.45)

Tau maiṇ āyā sharnī āya

To Thy shelter have I come, reposing great trust;
Come to seek Thy grace.
Lord ! keep me as be Thy will.
The Master on this path has sent me. (I-Pause)
Mightily impassable is Maya,
Like gusts of wind shaking beings. (1)
Hearing of Dharmaraja so stern, am I afraid. (2)
This abode of the world is like a dark bottomless well,
All filled with fire. (3)
Shelter with the holy has Nanak sought,
And on the Lord meditated.
Now have I attained the Lord all-perfection. (4) (3.46)

In the Measure Suhi-Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 6

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Satiguru pās benantiyā milai Nāmu ādhārā

To the holy Preceptor I make supplication:
grant me prop of the Name.
As is the eternal Divine Monarch pleased, gone are worldly maladies. (1)
Eternal Creator, prop of devotees, shelter of the holy art Thou. (I-Pause)
Holy Thy device[2] of creation, holy Thy court.
Holy Thy stores, holy all Thy visible expanse. (2)
Incessible Thy form, unique Thy sight.

1. Rās Mandal, the stage to enact Krishna's dances with the milkmaids (Gopis).
2. Accessories, material.

To Thy servants am I a sacrifice,
Who with the Name Divine are in love. (3)
Fulfilled are all desires as is attained the Lord, inaccessible, beyond extent.
With Guru Nanak, image of the Supreme Being have
I found union— P. 747
For this blessing to Thy feet am I a scrifice. (4) (1.47)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 7
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Terā bhāṇā Tūṇhai manāihi jis noṇ hohe dayālā

Thou alone to Thy will dost enforce obedience,
Of such as have Thy grace.
True devotion is what wins Thy approval—
Thou who art cherisher of all beings. (1)
Divine King ! Thy devotees under Thy shelter lie :
Whatever pleases Thee is to them acceptable;
Thou their mind and body's prop. (I-Pause)
Thou art compassionate, gracious, treasure of grace,
Fulfiller of desires.
Beloved lord of life ! Thine alone are all Thy devotees—
Thou their beloved. (2)
Thou art unfathomed, beyond extent, lofty in extreme—
None like to Thee.
Lord ! this is my prayer :
Provider of joy, go Thou never out of our mind. (3)
Lord ! should I please Thee, Thy laudation day and night may I sing.
Nanak seeks joy of devotion to Thy Name :
This by favour of the Lord is attained. (4) (1.48)

Visreh nāhīṇ jitu Tūṇ kabahūṃ so thānu Terā kehā

Which of Thy holy spots is such where never art Thou
put out of mind,
Where day an night are Thou meditated on, and purified is the body ? (1)
Lord ! in quest of such a spot have I come :
After much search company of the holy have I joined—
Their shelter have I sought. (I-Pause)

Brahma the Vedas has studied to exhaustion; sesame-grain's worth of the Lord has he not realized.
Yoga-practitioners, perfect Yogis go about wailing—
These too by Maya are deluded. (2)
Vishnu's ten incarnations[1] that became kings, and so conducted themselves,
And Shiva who turned ascetic—
These too Thy extent have not realized, despite smearing limbs with ashes to exhaustion. (3)
God's devotees in equable joy and bliss and ecstasy of the Name
Paeans of joy have sung.
Saith Nanak : As the Master, of sight to fulfil desires is met,
Have I with mind and body on the Lord meditated. (4) (2.49)

Karma dharam pākhanḍ jo dīsehṇ tinh jamu jāgāti lūṭeh

Ritual actions and poses of peity that you behold,
Are all by Yama, the tax-gatherer stripped of their belongings.
Sing the Creator's holy[2] laudation, whose practice for an instant even Liberation shall bring. (1)
Devotees of God ! the ocean of existence you go across;
Whoever lives teaching of the holy, by the Master's grace is saved. (I-Pause)
In this Kali Yuga millions of bathing-rituals at sacred spots
Only bring on more impurity :
Whoever in holy company Divine laudation sings, gets purified. (2)
Study of Vedas, the Muslim holy books, Simrits[3]
Brings not liberation.
Whoever by the Master's guidance the Sole Name of God utters,
Pure is his repute. (3)
One common spiritual message for Khatris, Brahmins, Shudras and Vaishyas[4] is meant.

---

1. Ten incarnations, principal among which are Rama and Krishna.
2. Immaculate.
3. Books of Hindu ritual code.
4. (These are the four Hindu principal castes. Each caste traditionally was believed to have a separate religious discipline laid down for it. In the holy Gurus' teaching no such distinctions are maintained.

Liberated shall be whoever by the Master's guidance the holy Name utters;
That, saith Nanak, in Kali Yuga in each being[1] he realizes as pervasive. (4) (3.50)

Jo kichhu karai soī Prabh māneh oi Rāma-Nām rang rātei

Whatever the Lord's doing, God's devotees, dyed in His love, P. 748
Accept it as Divine.
Everywhere is spread repute of such as the Lord's feet have venerated.[2] (1)
Lord ! none is great as God's devotees :
The devotees with the Lord are in accord, who pervades water and land. (I-Pause)
Millions of sinners along with the holy are saved—
Yama approaches them not.
Even those sequestered for multiple births
To the Lord they unite. (2)
Whoever under shelter of the holy comes, annulled are his Maya-attachment, doubt and fear :
The objective which bearing in heart he supplicates for,
From the holy he obtains. (3)
How far may I express praise of the Lord's servants who His approval have won ?
Saith Nanak : Whoever to the holy Preceptor is united,
Beyond everyone's obligation has arisen. (4) (4.51)

Mahā agni te tüdh hāth dei rākhei pae Teri sharṇāī

As Thy shelter we sought, from the blazing[3] Maya fire
With might of Thy arm hast Thou saved us.
In our heart is reliance on Thee, on Thy strength—
Hope in all else have we discarded. (1)
Divine King ! as our heart you enter, are we saved.[4]
Thine is our prop, on Thee our reliance—
By uttering Thy Name are we saved. (I-Pause)
By your grace from the bottomless well have you extricated us.
Looking to our welfare, all joys have you granted us—
Yourself cherished us. (2)

---

1. Vessel.
2. Lit. Recognized; accepted as holy.
3. Great.
4. (The image herein is saved from sinking).

By His glance of grace has the Lord snapped our bonds and released us.
Himself has the Lord His devotion inspired;
Himself to His service prompted us. (3)
As is gone doubt, are shattered fear and attachment;
Effaced is all wailing .
Saith Nanak : The Divine Bestower of joy in His graçe With the Master, perfectly-endowed, union has granted us. (4) (5.52)

Jab kachhu na sīo tab kyā kartā kawan karma kar āiyā

When nothing was in existence, what deed did the self perform ?
By what deeds into the world did it arrive ?
His own play the Lord enacts and views—
Thus has he raised creation.[1] (1)
Divine King ! no strength have I to accomplish anything.
Himself the Doer, Himself to action prompting all—
In all creation without hiatus pervasive. (I-Pause)
This frail, ignorant body never by reckoning of deeds can find release.
Lord Creator ! show compassion :
Unique is Thy grace. (2)
All creatures are Thine; in each self[2] art Thou meditated on.
Thy state and extent to Thee alone known;
The worth of Thy might beyond our ken. (3)
Devoid of merit, thoughtless, ignorant that am I,
Of ritual of piety unaware—
Show grace that Nanak Thy laudation may sing,
And Thy will find sweet. (4) (6.53)

Bhāgaṭhaṛei Hari Sant Tūmhārei jinh ghari dhanu Hari-Nāmā

Extermely fortunate, Lord ! are your devotees in whose home lies wealth of the Name Divine :
Such are reckoned approved of you—fruitful their doings. (1)
Lord ! to devotees of God am I a sacrifice. P. 749
Making fly-whisk of may hair over them I wave it;
Dust of their feet to my face I apply. (I-Pause)

1. (To the query in the foregoing this is the answer : Creation is a mystery, known to the Creator alone).
2. Vessel.

Such are benefactors of mankind, exempt from
birth and death;[1]
Bestowing gift of true life, to devotion they inspire the self,
And with the Lord grant union. (2)
Holy their command, holy their rule—
In the holy Eternal are they absorbed.
True happiness is theirs, true their greatness—
Approved[2] by the Lord whose devotees they are. (3)
Over the devotees of God wave I the fan, water for them I draw,
Their grain I grind.
Nanak thus supplicates the Lord : Grant me sight of Thy devotees. (4) (7.54)

Pār-brahm Parameshar Satiguru āpei Karṇaihārā

Supreme Being, Supreme Lord, holy Enlightener, Himself is Creator.
Thy servant seeks dust of Thy feet; to Thy sight a sacrifice. (1)
Divine King ! abide we as Thou mayst keep us.
Should it please Thee, with contemplation of Thy Name
mayst Thou bless us.
And joy granted by Thee we receive. (I-Pause)
In Thy service lies liberation, true way of life and devotion,
For whomsoever to it Thou mayst prompt.
Heaven[3] is where is Thy laudation sung—
Thou Thyself devotion to it dost grant. (2)
In remembrance of Thy Name find I life,
And body and mind feel joyful.
Holy Enlightener, compassionate to the humble,
Seek I to sip washing to Thy lotus feet ! (3)
To the joyful hour may I be a sacrifice wherein to Thy Portal I came.
To Nanak is the Lord gracious, as the Holy Preceptor,
Perfectly-endowed, he has found. (4) (8.55)

Tūdhu chitt āye mahā ānandā jisu visareh so mari jāe

In remembrance of Thee lies supreme joy; dead is whoever of Thee is forgetful.

---

1. Transmigration is implied.
2. Recoginzed, acknowledged.
3. Baikunth.

Lord Creator ! to whomsoever Thou art gracious,
on Thee ever meditates. (1)
Lord ! to me, helpless art Thou the true honour.
To the Lord make I supplication : In listening to Thy Word find I life. (I-Pause)
May I become dust of feet of Thy servant;
To Thy sight may I be a sacrifice.
Thy words ambrosial in my heart may I bear;
By Thy grace union may I attain. (2)
The state of my heart before you I state—none great as Thou.
Whomsoever to devotion Thou dost prompt,
your devotee becomes. (3)
With folded hands a boon I seek, that by Thy favour
I may receive.
With each breath Nanak makes supplication :
Day and night your praise may I sing. (4) (9.56)

Jis ke sir ūpar Tūṇ swāmī so dūkhu kaisā pāwai

What suffering for one whose protector Thou art ?
Whoever by Maya-drug is intoxicated, of noble utterance is incapable,
And of death unmindful. (1)
Divine King ! of Thy devotees art Thou cherisher, Thy devotees on Thee solely dependent.
No fear touches Thy servant; Yama approaches him not. (I-Pause)
Lord ! fled is affliction of birth and death of such
As in Thy love are dyed.
As by the holy Preceptor affirmed,[1] none Thy grace can efface. (2) P. 750
Such on the Name meditating, fruit of joy obtain,
And day and night to Thee are devoted.
Under Thy shelter and Thy support the five Evil Ones[2]
they subdue. (3)
Incapable of enlightenment and meditation,
Of Thy truth ignorant am I :
Supreme over all is the holy Preceptor Nanak who my devotion's fervour[3] has preserved. (4) (10.57)

1. Dilasa = assurance.
2. These are the evils, lust, wrath etc.
3. Kal = Kala, power, faculty.

Sagal tiyāgi Guru sharṇī āiyā rākhuh rākhanhārei

Discarding all else, to the Master's shelter have I come :
Divine Preserver, save me !
Whichever way Thou dost inspire, we get absorbed—
What power have these poor creatures ? (1)
Lord ! Thou art the Master, controller of the inner faculties.
Show Thy grace, compassionate holy Master,
That ever Thy praise I sing. (I-Pause)
Day and night meditating on the Lord,
By the Master's grace the ocean of existence may we cross.
Discarding egoism, may we be dust of feet of all—
Thus die while living. (2)
Fruitful is the life of one in this world
Who in holy company the Name contemplates.
Such a one having the Lord's grace has all
objectives fulfilled. (3)
Lord compassionate to the humble, gracious,
To Thy shelter have we come.
In your grace grant to Nanak devotion to your Name and dust of feet of the holy. (4) (11.58)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Ashtpadiyan (Octets)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sabhi awagaṇ maiṇ gūṇu nahiṇ koī

Full of demerits am I, without one merit :
Thus, how with the Spouse may I find union ? (1)
Neither have I beauty nor bewitching eyes,
Nor family culture or sweet speech. (I-Pause)
Should the woman with poise deck herself,
And please her Lord, then should she be called of blessed matrimony. (2)
The Lord neither has form nor feature—
At the close of life has not one power to contemplate Him. (3)
Understanding, wisdom nor cleverness have I—
Lord ! you in your grace to your feet attach me. (4)
Despite my cleverness, the Spouse's favour have I not won :
To Maya attached, in delusions am I lost. (5)

With egoism gone is the woman in the Spouse absorbed,
And Nine Treasures[1] of Love of the Beloved obtains. (6)
In separation from the Lord over multiple births have
I borne suffering :
Lord, Divine Monarch, by the arm pray grasp[2] me ! (7)
Saith Nanak : The Lord is true and real,
And ever shall abide.
With whomsoever is the Lord pleased, shall He have bliss. (8) (1)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 751

SCORE 9

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Frail is Kasumbha[3] dye, after four days fading off.
The self, neglectful of the Name, in delusions lost, false,
Is by robbers[4] waylaid.
By attachment to the holy Eternal is transmigration[5] ended. (1)
What further dyeing[6] is needed by those dyed in Divine love ?
With heart attached to the holy Eternal, serve you the Divine Dyer. (I-Pause)
Despite wandering in all four directions,
Without good destiny may one still not obtain wealth.
Should the woman[7] wander about caught in demerits,
Like a prisoner would she find no place of rest.
Those protected by the Master are alone saved,
With hearts in the holy Word dyed. (2)
Some clad in pure white[8] bear impure, hard hearts;
On their tongue runs never the holy Name—
Caught in duality, are they evil-doers.[9]
Ignorant of their origin, are they like cattle, beasts. (3)
The heart ever indulging in pleasure,
Seeks evermore of delight.

1. See Glossary.
2. That is, succour.
3. A flower yielding a frail reddish dye, symbol of inconstant devotion.
4. Evil tendencies are implied.
5. Lit. Never again is one born.
6. Implies engaging in ritual etc.
7. Symbol for the seeker, implied by the feminine form of the verb.
8. Symbol of pose of purity.
9. Lit. Thieves.

Forgetful of the creator, ever is it in suffering.
The self lodging within itself the Giver of joy and suffering,
Hungers[1] nevermore. (4)
One owing reckoning is summoned, and by brutal Yama chastized.
The accompt asked for has to be rendered, as after reckoning it is demanded.
By love of the holy Eternal comes liberation, as the Lord
gracious shows grace. (5)
One seeking friendship with other that the Lord,
In dust is mingled, perishes.
Such a one by sights of pleasure is deluded,
And under such delusion into transmigration falls.
By the Lord's glance of grace one finds release,
As by grace to holy company the seeker He unites. (6)
Thou thoughtless ignorant one ! seek not enlightenment without the Master's guidance.
In conflict of mind is one ruined : man's evil and good deeds with him last.
Without dyeing in the holy Word, and fear of God
Is creation sought after by Yama, agent of death. (7)
He who by operation of various causes creation has established,
To all gives prop.
Why be forgetful of Him who is everlastingly the Bestower ?
Saith Nanak : May the Name, support of the helpless,
Be never out of my mind ! (8) (1.2)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
To the Tune of Kafi*
SCORE 10
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Maṇas janamu dūlambhu Gurumukhi pāiyā

With the human birth hard to attain, are the God-directed blessed.
Those winning the holy Preceptor's approval have mind and body dyed deep red.[2] (1)

1. Used metaphorically.
* Kafi is a sub-measure is song (ragini) attuned to tender lyrical compositions.
2. (This dye symbolizes firm devotion).

Such depart after achieving life's bliss,
Carrying with them merchandise of truth—
At the Divine court honoured by guidance of the holy Preceptor's Word and fear of God.
One with body and mind devoted to laudation of holy truth
To the holy Eternal's mind is pleasing.
As is attained the Master, perfectly-endowed,
The mind dyed deep red, in faith is firm-fixed. (2)
Shouldst Thou in my heart take lodgement,
In narrating Thy merits would I find life.
Shouldst Thou in the mind take abode, P. 752
In equanimity would it feel joyful delight. (3)
My thoughtless self ! how much may I instruct Thee ?
By the Master's guidance sing Divine laudation,
And in His dye be dyed. (4)
Ever in heart remember the Beloved.
Shouldst thou move along life's way attended by merits,
Suffering and affliction shall not touch thee. (5)
The egoist lost in delusion, is devoid of joy of devotion,
In alienation from God dying, his mind and body impediments
shall suffer. (6)
By performing the Master's service
Profit[1] have we brought home,
And by the Master's utterance and Word the state of liberation[2] have realized. (7)
Should it please Thee, Nanak this supplication makes :
Grant me lodgement in Thy Name,
That Divine laudation I ever sing. (8) (1.3)

Jiūṇ āraṇi lohā pāe bhanni ghaṛāīyai

As iron in the forge is put and beaten into shape,
So the reprobate[3] thrown into transmigration, is whirled along. (1)
Without realization is all life suffering and undergoing suffering.
The mind lost in delusion through egoism into transmigration falls. (I-Pause)
Through the Master's teaching art Thou the Saviour,
By meditation on the Name Divine.

1. Used metaphorically for devotion.
2. Nirban = immaculate state.
3. Sakta.

Union with him by Thy will comes, and living
the holy Word. (2)
All by Thee is brought about and viewed;
We receive only what Thou dost grant.
All Thou dost make and unmake under Thy gaze. (3)
The body shall turn to dust, by the wind be blown away.
Where will then be these homes and chambers ?
Nor shall be attained the Divine Mansion.[1] (4)
In broad daylight is man caught in pitch darkness
And of his house-substance robbed.
By egoism, the thief lurking in the house,
is this robbery done—
To whom to carry the complaint ? (5)
By the Master's guidance the thief approaches not—Such by the Name Divine are kept awake.
By the holy Word is the fire assuaged, and the effulgence spread.[2] (6)
By fixing devotion in the Master is revealed the ruby and jewel of the Name Divine.
By attaining wisdom from the Master does one remain desireless for ever. (7)
Night and day in the mind lodge the Name Divine.
Saith Nanak : By meditation on Thee comes about union. (8) (2.4)

Manuhṇ na Nāmu visāri ahinisi dhiyāīyai

Put not the Name out of your mind—
Day and night on it meditate.
Whatever way in His grace He keeps you, in that state
find joy. (1)
To me, blind of sight, is the Name Divine the stick to feel the way.
Under the Master's shelter as I live, Maya deludes me not. (I-Pause)
Wherever I look, there has the Master revealed the Divine Presence.
Seeking Him within and without, by the holy Word is
He envisioned. (2)

1. The Divine Essence is implied.
2. Lit. Lighted.

With love the holy Preceptor I serve, who the Name immaculate has imparted.
Divine shatterer of doubt and fear ! as may please Thee, be Thy will. (3)
With birth the affliction of death attaches to man :
By singing Divine laudation are man's life and death
Divinely approved. (4)
Where egoism in not, is Thy existence realized—
Thus hast Thou made us.
Raising and destroying creation,
Through the holy Word you exalt it. (5)
The body mingles with dust, none realizing where it is gone.
Everywhere art Thou pervasive—such is the wonder. (6) P. 753
Lord ! Thou art not far—all to Thee is known.
By the Master's guidance art Thou envisioned by our side and within. (7)
Pray grant me lodgement in the Name, that my heart may acquire peace.
May the holy Preceptor grant me wisdom to sing
Divine laudation. (8) (3.5)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Octets (Ashtpadiyan)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nāmai hī te sabhu kichhu hoā binu satigur Nāmu na jāpai

From Divine Manifestation[1] has all creation come :
Of this Manifestation[1] realization comes not but by the holy Preceptor's guidance.
The Master's Word is source of supreme joy delectable :
None without tasting it knows its joyfulness.
Man wastes his life for a cowrie-shell,
Of his own self ignorant.
The God-directed know the Supreme Reality to be Sole,
And from torments of egoism are immune. (1)
May I be a sacrifice to the Master, who to devotion to the Eternal has guided me.

---

1. Nām.

By contemplation of the holy Word is the self illumined,
And in tranquillity fixed. (I-Pause)
By the Master's guidance is inspired Divine laudation;
By his guidance comes realization,
And contemplation of the holy Word.
From the Master comes new birth to the self.
And are all desires fulfilled.
The egoist purblind garners only darkness,
And earn only the world's poison.
From Maya-attachment comes everlasting torment,
To those not seeking the beloved Master's guidance. (2)
The true servant of the Lord is he who serves the holy Preceptor,
And his guidance[1] follows;
Who loves the holy Word, the Lord's holy laudation,
And lodges in his self the holy Lord.
By utterance of the holy Word by the Master's guidance,
Is his egoism discarded.
The Lord Himself is the gracious Bestower;
The holy Word to the seeker imparting. (3)
The true disciple strives in the way of God,
And finds blessing;[2]
In others he inspires devotion to the holy Name—
Ever uncontaminated by Maya, in God's holy dye dyed,
By following the Master's way of poise.
The egoist's utterance ever is false—
Poison he sows and poison consumes—
Bound by Yama, embodiment of death, by desire consumed.
Who but the Master may get him release ? (4)
The holy Word is the true bathing-spot;
From the Master is learnt the way of bathing in its holy waters.
In the Master's Word lies the holiness of sixty-eight bathing spots—
Bathing therein all impurity removes.
Holy and immaculate is the Master's Word,
Whereby impurity touches not the seeker.
From the holy Master is learnt
The way of holy laudation and pure devotion. (5)

---

1. Will.
2. Makes gain.

Body and mind all is the Lord's—
Such utterance comes not with foul thinking.
By Divine will alone is the self purified,
And egoism lifted.
By tasting with mind poised the Master's teaching,
Is the fire of desire assuaged.
One dyed in the Master's Word with poise is inspired,
And in poise absorbed. (6)
Let the seeker, from devotion to the Master, P. 754
Know the Name Divine to be eternal and holy.
From the Master is acquired true exaltation
By devotion to the holy Name.
One sole holy Truth all creation pervades—
Rare are those to whom such realization comes.
The Lord granting union, Himself confers liberation—
From true devotion comes such exaltation. (7)
Holy is all that is manifest—
Rare is the God-facing devotee that such realization attains.
Birth and death by Divine Ordinance occur—
Thus has the true devotee realization of the self.
By contemplation of the holy Name comes approval of the Master,
And fulfilment of all desires.[1]
Saith Nanak : All objectives achieves one that the ego discards.[2] (8) (1)

Kāyā kāmaṇi ati suāliyo Piru wasai jisu nālie

Truly beautiful is the self-female
That with her Lord's presence[3] is blessed.
Of unbroken conjugal bliss is she
That the Master's teaching contemplates.
Ever dyed in devotion to the Lord is one
Whose egoism is consumed. (1)
Hail the holy Master's teaching,[4]
From the Master's inspiration risen,
In the Eternal absorbed. (I-Pause)

1. (Holy objectives are implied herein).
2. Lit. All success is his, who his ego discards.
3. Living with.
4. Bani = utterance.

Within the self is reflected all existence—
Continents, lands and the nether world,
In the self lodges the Bountiful Lord,
    Life of the world,
Cherishing all creation.
Blessed is the female,[1]
That by the Master's inspiration the holy Name
    contemplates. (2)
Inside the bodily frame abides the Lord unknowable;
The egoist unenlightened realizes Him not,
Seeking Him outside.
By devotion to the holy Master comes everlasting bliss—
Of the unknowable has he conferred realization.[2] (3)
Inside the self lie treasures of devotion, precious as jewels :
Inside the self lie the earth's nine continents,
And all markets and cities.[3]
Inside the self too are found the Nine Treasures[4] of devotion,
By contemplation of the Master's teaching. (4)
In the self are our doings weighed, by the Weighman, God.
The self is diamonds, rubies and pearls, of excessive value.
At no price is obtained devotion to the holy Name :
From the Master's teaching is it obtained. (5)
The true seeker[5] his person seeks to realize—
All others in delusion are lost.
Realization comes to whomsoever He grants it—
No feats of intellect herein avail.
In the self abide fear of God and devotion,
By the Master's grace obtained. (6)
In the self abide Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva,
From whom has creation proceeded.
The holy Lord His play has enacted,
Creating the expanse that comes and goes.
The true holy Master, through devotion to the holy Name,
The path of realization has shown. (7)
The self that serves the holy Master,
Is by the Eternal Lord Himself ennobled.

---

1. Symbol for the self.
2. Made accessible.
3. Lit. Shops, squares and market-places.
4. See Glossary.
5. Gurumukh.

Without devotion to the Name no help at the Divine Portal comes—
Such by Yama to ignominy are subjected.
Saith Nanak : From truth comes exaltation
To such as have Divine grace. (8) (2)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das P. 755

SCORE 10

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dūniyā na sālāhi jo mari wanjasī

Praise not the world that shall not last.[1]
Praise not the people of world that to dust shall be reducced. (1)
Hail, Lord ! Hail !
By the Master's guidance laud ever the holy Lord, above all desire. (I-Pause)
In attachment to the world, egoists turn to dust—
In Yama's demesne chastized in bonds,
Their human incarnation turned to no use. (2)
The devotees' life is fruitful through engaging in devotion to the holy Word :
Inside them is the light of the Supreme Self :
By poise, in bliss they abide. (3)
Those neglecting to contemplate the Master's Word
By involvement in duality—
Their desire unassuaged, each day in it burn restlessly. (4)
With evil-doers they form friendship, and on God's devotees expend malice—
Along with their whole family they sink, as also their whole tribe. (5)
Evil is slander, indulged in by egoists unenlightened :
Blackened are the faces of such slanderers—
Into frightful hell they fall. (6)
My self ! thou shalt be as what thou mayst serve—
Let accordingly thy actions be :
What thou sowest, that shalt thou obtain—
Nothing more can on this be said.[3] (7)

1. Shall die and vanish.
2. Lit. Wander about.
3. i.e. this is the whole truth.

What the great ones utter, never is devoid of meaning—
They with amrita are everflowing, no desire[1] to them is attached. (8)
Those doing benefactions garner good,
And to others give guidance.
Blessed are those that come in touch with them,
And ever engage in devotion to the Name. (9)
He who has created the world, shall also provide His creation.
He, the holy Master is the sole Bestower. (10)
The holy Lord is by thee—behold this by the insight by the Master granted.
Himself shall He grant liberation and union—
Contemplate Him ever. (11)
With the foul mind how may pure truth find union ?
Only by the Lord's aid may such union be obtained,
As through the holy Word is egoism burnt. (12)
Cursed is life passed in indifference to the holy Lord.
Should He show grace, never may He be neglected by contemplating the Master's teaching. (13)
Should the holy Master guide me, may I find union,
And cherish in my heart truth.
Those united to the Lord are alienated not, should they to the Master bear love and devotion. (14)
By contemplating the Master's Word comes laudation of the Beloved.
To the noble wife comes bliss with the Lord she loves. (15)
Egoists are of minds loveless, foul and hardened :
Like serpents fed on milk, are they full of poison within. (16)
His is the supreme might; Himself Bestower of grace :
None other his power to share.[2]
Should the mind through the Master's Word be purified,
The ornament of truth is worn. (17)
Truthful the Divine Master of stores, truthful those holding commerce with Him—
The evil-minded find not place there :
Unattached to truth, in suffering are they absorbed. (18)

1. Lit. Not a sesame-grain of greed. (Cf. Japuji, 25).
2. Lit. To whom to appeal ?

The world, Maya-polluted strays about, P. 756
In transmigration caught :
Consequences of actions none may efface. (19)
In holy company does love of truth arise :
Thus comes laudation of truth, purity of mind,
And being adjudged pure at the holy Portal. (20)
The Master, perfectly-endowed true wisdom has granted—
Thereby contemplate the holy Name day and night.
Malignant are the maladies of egoism and avarice,
That thereby are restrained. (21)
May I honour the Master, bowing at his feet with humility;
Dedicating body and mind to him, casting out egoism. (22)
In conflict of duality is one lost;
On the One sole Master fix your devotion.
Discard egoism and possessiveness :
Thereby in truth mayst thou be absorbed. (23)
Those devoted to the Master are indeed my brothers,
To the holy Word attached.
Those united in truth never are alienated,
At the eternal Portal seen. (24)
Those united to truth are brothers and friends who serve the holy Lord :
Evil they cast off as chaff,
And in doing good participate. (25)
By sharing in well-doing comes bliss—
Such are the true devotees.
Guided by the Master's Word, in truth they hold commerce,
And find gain of devotion. (26)
With evil-doing is gold and silver garnered,
That accompanies not man in the last hour;
Nothing shall avail man except devotion to the Name.
Without this the whole world by Yama, agent of death, is gripped.[1] (27)
God's Name is the mind's true provision—
Keep it securely in your mind.
Inexhaustible is this provision,
And with the devotee lasts. (28)
My self ! utterly deluded, in ignominy shalt thou depart this life :
The world is in grip of delusion and duality—

1. Robbed.

With the wisdom by the Master granted, contemplate
the truth. (29)
Beyond our evaluation is the Lord;
Beyond our expression His laudation.
By guidance of the Master's Word are mind and body dyed,
And in the Lord absorbed. (30)
In the Lord's loveliness supreme
Are we dyed spontaneously :
The devotee-female is with beauty blessed,
Through joy in the Beloved.[1] (31)
Those devoted to the holy Preceptor,
Even after long separation find union :
With them lies the treasure of devotion[2] that is inexhaustible;
And by spontaneous inspiration, of the Lord's merits
they sing. (32)
Such pass not through life and death,
Nor undergo suffering.
By the Master's grace are they saved,
With the Lord engaged in playful joy. (33)
True devotees by perpetual devotion never are from the Lord alienated.
Saith Nanak : Rare are such in the world,
As are seekers after truth. (34) (1.3)

Harijī sūkhamu agamu hai kitu bidhi miliyā jāe

Inscrutable and inaccessible is the Lord—
How may union with Him be attained ?
By the Master's Word is illusion shattered,
And spontaneously is the Lord in the self lodged. (1)
The God-directed ever utter the Lord's Name.
May I be a sacrifice to such as with their selves ever contemplate His holy merits. (I-Pause)
The Master is the Lake Mansarovar—
Those supremely fortunate alone attain him.
His devotees, directed Godward, have sought Him out; P. 757
They are the swans that are engaged in devotion to His Name. (2)
The holy Name with love they contemplate,
Guided by the Master to devotion directed :

1. In the Beloved's embrace.
2. Nine Treasures of the Name.

Should it in primal time be recorded, the Divine Will they obey. (3)
By superme good luck, in the self after search
Is found hidden treasure of the Name.
By the holy Master has been granted enlightenment of the Lord pervading all creation. (4)
One sole Lord is Master of all creation—
None else beside Him.
By the Master's favour finds He lodgement in the self,
Therein revealing Himself. (5)
The Creator, controller of the inner self is all existence,
all-pervasive :
Whom then to revile ?
By contemplation of the holy Word find this truth. (6)
While caught in duality, to man some appear good, some evil.
The God-directed the sole Reality have viewed,
And in the One are absorbed. (7)
Such devotion as pleases the Lord is by Him accepted.
Nanak, servant of God, the Lord has contemplated,
By devotion to the Master's holy feet. (8) (2.4. 9)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Ashtpadiyan (Octets)

Score 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Koī āṇi milāvai merā Prītam piyārā hauṇ tisu peh āpu vechāīṇ

To one who with the cherised Beloved unites me
In slavery would I sell myself. (1)
This would I do for a sight of the Lord.
In his grace may the holy Preceptor grant me union,
That on the Name Divine I meditate. (1-Pause)
If joy shouldst Thou grant, to Thee would I still be devoted;
In suffering too on Thee would I meditate. (2)
Should it please Thee to give me hunger, still would
I feel fulfilled,
And in suffering feel joy. (3)
Cutting body and person to pieces would I make offering,
And in fire immolate myself. (4)
The fan would I wave, draw water,
And live on what Thou dost grant. (5)

The humble Nanak at Thy portal has flung himself—
In your greatness Lord, grant him union. (6)
Plucking out my eyes, under Thy feet would I place them.
Wander the earth over, that thus mightst Thou be attained. (7)
Shouldst Thou grant me a place near Thee, would I to Thee offer devotion;
Shouldst Thou drive me off, still on Thee would
I meditate. (8)
Should the world praise me, that would Thy laudation be;
Should it revile me, still would I not leave Thee. (9)
With Thy support what reck I of the world's calumny ?
In forgetfulness from Thee would I die. (10)
To the Master am I a sacrifice; falling at his feet would the holy one I propitiate. (11)
Lord ! for a sight of Thee has the humble Nanak gone crazy. (12)
Should a storm blow, rain fall in torrents, still for a sight of the Master would I go. (13)
The Master's disciple would dare[1] even the vast salt sea
To have his sight. (14)
As a creature without water is dead, so is the disciple without the Master. (15)
As with showers of rain is the earth decked,
So does the disciple bloom in union with the Master. (16)
Thy servant's servant would I be, accosting him in words of humble supplication. (17) P. 758
Snch is Nanak's supplication to the Lord :
In union with the Master may I have joy with him. (18)
Thou art Thyself Master and disciple;[2]
In supplicating the Master to Thee I make supplication. (19)
Whoever serves Thee, Thy image becomes—
The servant's honour Thou dost protect. (20)
Lord ! of Thy devotion are stores full;
This Thou dost grant to any as be Thy pleasure. (21)
Whomsoever Thou dost grant it, receives the reward—
Unavailing are all clever devices. (22)
In constantly contemplating the Master, is the sleeping mind awakened. (23)

1. Lit. Cross.
2. (This is an established doctrine in the Sikh creed).

One sole boon the humble Nanak seeks : Lord ! make me slave of Thy slaves ! (24)
Should the Master offer a rebuke, still would it be sweet;
Should he show grace, that would only be his greatness. (25)
Utterance of the God-directed is approved of God;
Not so the egoist's utterance. (26)
Be it severe cold, frost, snowfall, still must the disciple set out to have the Master's sight. (27)
Day and night may I have the Master's sigth,
And in my eyes place the Master's feet. (28)
With numerous devices to win the Master's favour,
Only such find a place with him as the Master approves. (29)
Lord ! in Thy grace grant :
Night and day to the Master's feet may I be devoted. (30)
The Master is Nanak's life and body—
In union with the Master finds he fulfilment. (31)
All-pervasive is Nanak's Lord—everywhere is the Lord's presence. (32) (1)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
SCORE 10

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Andari sachchā nehu lāiyā Prītam āpaṇai

In my heart to the Divine Beloved have I formed true love :
As the Master's sight[1] I behold, body and mind feel blessed. (1)
The Lord's Name have I purchased.
From the Master, perfectly-endowed have I obtained amrita[2]
That is inaccessible, fathomless. (I-Pause)
At sight of the holy Preceptor have I bloomed,
And with the Name Divine fallen in love.
In his grace has he granted me union,
And the Door of Liberation have I attained. (2)
The holy Preceptor, lover[3] of the Name—
Should I find him, body and mind to him would I dedicate.
Should it be pre-recorded, in poise would I quaff amrita. (3)

1. Lit. Before me.
2. Symbolizes the holy Name Divine.
3. Birahi = tormented with separation in love.

In sleep may I laud the Master, at waking too remember him.
Were I to meet such a one devoted to the Master,
his feet would I wash. (4)
Seek out a noble friend who to the Divine Beloved may unite me.
By union with the holy Preceptor is attained the Lord—
Spontaneously does such union come. (5)
The holy Preceptor is ocean of merit of the Name—
For a sight of him have I yearning.
Without him live I not an hour; without a sight of him die. (6) P. 759
As by no device can the fish live without water,
So without the Lord may not the devotee live—
Without the Name Divine dying. (7)
To the holy Preceptor have I formed love :
Mother mine ! how without him may I live ?
The Master's Word is my prop; in devotion to the Master's Word find I life. (8)
Mother mine ! the Name Divine is a jewel,
That the Master in his grace grants.
The Name Eternal is my support : with the Name Divine live I in constant love. (9)
The blessing of the enlightenment granted by the Master
Is devotion to the Name :
The Name Divine he confirms.
To whomsoever granted, receives it,
And at the Master's feet falls. (10)
The inexpressible narrative of love, should a loved one relate it,
To him would I dedicate my self, and at his feet bow low. (11)
My sole friend art Thou—immanent Creator all-knowing.
The true friend, the holy Preceptor this union has granted.
Thou ever art my strength. (12)
The holy Preceptor is eternal—immune from birth and death[1]—
Immortal, all-pervasive. (13)
Wealth of the Name Divine have we garnered;
Valuable is this amount, immune from decrease.

1. (This is the doctrine of the identity in spirit and essence between the Guru and the Divine Being).

Saith Nanak : Those having approbation of the Master,
perfectly-endowed
Alone at the Divine Portal are approved. (14) (1.2.11)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ūrajh rahiyo bikhiyā kai saṅgā

Man in worldly pleasures is involved—
His mind subject to numerous waves. (1)
My self ! how may we attain the Lord,
perfection incarnate,
Inaccessible, unknowable ? (I-Pause)
Man in stupor of attachment exists—
Excessive his thirst, that never is satisfied. (2)
In the body abides savage[1] wrath :
Man caught in the vast dust-storm of ignorance nothing realizes. (3)
Being subject to doubt— such are the fixed door-panels
for man,
That allow not access to the Court Divine. (4)
In desire and fear is man bound and secured;
Finding not the Divine Mansion, as an alien he wanders along. (5)
To all maladies is he made subject,
Wandering about thirsting as fish without water. (6)
No wisdom or intellect[2] have I :
Lord ! in Thee lies my sole hope. (7)
To God's devotees make I supplication :
Grant to Nanak union—such is his prayer. (8)
As is the Lord grown gracious, holy company have I found.
Saith Nanak : Fulfilment has come as the Lord, all-perfection have I attained. (1)
(I-Second Pause)

---

1. Chandār = Chandāl, a common name for the lowest castes, held to be brutal and savage.
2. Lit. Argument, logical skill.

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mithan moha agni shok sāgar

The world is ocean of false attachment and fire of suffering.
Lord, inacarnation of nobility, in your grace save me ! (1)
With the Lord's lotus feet seek I shelter ;
The Lord, guardian of the humble, is prop of devotees, (1-Pause)
The Lord is Protector of the helpless, annuller of fear of
His devotees.
In holy company occurs not encounter with Yama's minions. (2)
Lord, embodiment of life, beyond compare, compassionate !
By contemplation of your merits is snapped Yama's snare. (3)
Grant that my tongue ever the Name ambrosial utter,
That Maya, embodiment[1] of malady, afflict me not. (4)
By utterance of the Lord's Name are saved all man's associates;
And from attack of the five highwaymen immune
he remains. (5)
One that by his mind, word and deed on the Sole Lord meditates,
All fulfilment is his.[2] (6)
In grace has the Lord made me His own,
And the Name immaculate the joy in devotion
has granted. (7)
In primal time, at the end of time and in the middle is pervasive the Lord :
Saith Nanak, none other than He is real. (8) (1.2)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
SCORE 9
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jin diṭhiyāṇ manu rahasīyai Kiuṇ Pāīyai tinh siūṇ sangu jīo

Cherished friend ! how may one find company of those whose sight brings joy to heart ?

1. Lit. Form, image.
2. He receives all fruit (reward).

Cherished friend ! such are holy associates, friends of the heart, who love for the Lord inspire :
Cherished friend ! love for such is snapped never,
nor occurs any impediment therein. (1)
Transcendent Supreme Being, Lord ! show grace that Thy laudation ever I sing.
Beloved friends, holy companions, grant union
That in unison, the Name Divine, true friend of heart
we contemplate. (I-Pause)
Cherished friend ! one Maya-attached, blinded, sees not, hears not, realizes not anything.
Cherished friend ! perishable is this frail[1] body—with it in false occupations are men engaged.
Cherished friend ! those meditating on the Name,
In association with the Master, perfectly-endowed,
are the victors. (2)
Cherished friend ! by Divine command has man into the world arrived;
His departure too in fulfilment of Divine command.
Cherished friend ! by Divine command is spread expanse
of the world,
By Divine command has man enjoyment of worldly pleasures.
Cherished friend ! whoever of the Creator is forgetful,
Into suffering of alienation falls. (3)
Cherished friend ! one winning the Lord's approval at the Divine Portal is invested with honour.
Cherished friend ! such by meditating on the Sole Name Divine
Have joy in this life, with faces radiant.
Cherished friend ! such by the Supreme Being are honoured,
As with devoted hearts the Master have served. (4)
Beloved friend ! the Lord in all spots is pervasive,
cherishing all creation.
Cherished friend ! the Sole Name is true wealth, whereby is gathered the treasure eternal,
Cherished friend ! should He show grace, never goes
He out of mind. (5)
Cherished friend ! with the Formless Lord in mind lodged is annulled transmigration.

---

1. Lit Unbaked, (as of clay).

Cherished friend ! unknowable His extent, all-high, inaccessible, endless. P. 761
Cherished friend ! those forgetful of the Lord a million times die and are born. (6)
Cherished friend ! constant is the love of those beloved ones of the Lord
In whose hearts He is lodged.
Cherished friend ! day and night in contemplation of the Lord,
In company of sharers of merits they abide.
Cherished friend ! dyed in love of the Lord,
Shattered are all their afflictions. (7)
Cherished friend ! say to the Lord ! Thou art the Creator, maker of the world;
Thou sole and the many.
Cherished friend ! Almighty art Thou, all-pervasive,
Thou too repository of discriminating wisdom.
Cherished friend ! Nanak ever the Name contemplates,
That is the devotees' prop. (8) (1.3)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadiyan (Octets) To the tune Kafi*
SCORE 10
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Je bhullī je chukkī Sāīṇ bhī Tahinjī Kādhīyāṇ

Master ! even though forgetful and negligent, still am I known to be Thine.[1]
The females that with others[2] have formed attachment,
Are abandoned, dying of pining. (1)
The Spouse's side shall I not leave!
Ever Beloved, ever playful, is He my sole prop. (I-Pause) Loving friend ! Thou art my sole relation; Thou my true self—
In Thee lies my source of pride.
When Thou within me art lodged, feel I joy—
Thou art esteem of the humble. (2)

---

* As stated earlier, Kafi is a tune especially suited to singing lyrical pieces.

1. (The speaker throughout this piece is the self, symbolized as the female, yearning for union with the Divine Spouse).

2. Implies Maya (dujāne = duality).

Treasure of grace ! as art Thou pleased, let me not another benefactor seek.[1]
My boon is, ever to cherish your contemplation is heart. (3)
May my foot traverse Thy path; my eyes behold Thy sight;
With my ears may I listen to Thy discourse,[2] should the Master be gracious. (4)
Beloved ! millions upon millions equal not a hair on Thy body.
Thou the true King; Thy merits beyond my expression. (5)
Countless are Thy female companions, all better-looking than I.
For an instant show grace,
Let me Thy sight behold—therein shall lie my joy. (6)
With Thy sight finds the heart poise, and sins flee.
Mother mine ! how may He be forgotten who fully pervades me ? (7)
As shorn of pride at his feet I fell, spontaneously He met me.
Saith Nanak : By aid of the holy what was pre-recorded have I obtained. (8) (1.4)

Simriti Bed Purāṇ pūkārani pothīyāṇ

Simrits, Vedas, Puranas and the sacred books all declare :
Other than the Name Divine all other discourse is false,[3] shallow. (1)
The Name, repository of merit, endless in the hearts of devotees abides ;
In holy company vanishes suffering of birth, death and
attachment. (I-Pause)
Those caught in attachment, strife and pride inevitably must wail;
Those sequestered from the Name no joy ever achieve. (2)
Those involved in desire for possessions caught in bonds,
And in Maya absorbed into hell and heaven descend.[4] (3)
After constant enquiry thus the essence have we realized :
To those without the Name no joy comes—such inevitably must be losers. (4)
Innumerable beings into transmigration fall, die again and again and are born. P. 762

1. Do not show; force me not to see or seek.
2. Story.
3. Hollow.
4. That is, still remain caught in transmigration.

Without realization is all doing worthless—into various births such wander. (5)
Those to whom the Lord is gracious company of the holy attain.
Such the Name Divine ambrosial contemplate. (6)
Millions, without number are those that seek Him—
To such alone is He near as Himself realization grants. (7)
Divine Bestower ! go not out of my mind, devotion to Thy Name grant :
To sing Thy praise day and night Nanak's heart yearns. (8) (2.5.16)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
The Ill-natured Female (Küchajjī)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Prceptor's Grace

Manjṇ Küchajjī ammāvaṇi dosaṛei hauṇ kiuṇ Shāhu rāwaṇi jāuṇ jīo

Cherished friend ! ill-mannered woman that I am, endless are the blames cast on me—
Cherished friend ! how with the Spouse May I have bliss ?
Cherished friend ! females there are each better.
than the other — who would make mention of me[1] ?
Cherished friend ! the sister-friends having bliss with the Spouse, under mango-shade are resting.[2]
Cherished friend ! qualities like their[3] I possess not—on whom may I lay the blame ?
Cherished friend ! what power have I Thy merits to recount ?
Cherished friend ! which of Thy merits shall I recall ?
Cherished friend ! to one even of Thy merits can
I not make approach.
Cherished friend ! ever to Thee may I be a sacrifice !
Cherished friend ! gold and sliver attractive,[4] perals and rubies
Has the Lord blessed me with—
To these may heart have I attached.
Cherished friend ! houses of clay with stone I made firm—Cherished friend ! in such objects lost, with the Spouse never have I sat.

---

1. None knows my name.
2. A form of cool enjoyment in summer.
3. Such.
4. Colourful, bright.

Cherished friend ! now in sky of my head are the cranes crying,[1]
And herons on my hair have settled.
Cherished friend ! the woman departing for the husband's home[2]—
What face will she present in the hereafter ?
Cherished friend ! while still in sleep, has dawn broken—
The path to traverse has she put out of mind :
Cherished friend ! sequestered from Thee, the Spouse,
Into suffering fallen.
Cherished friend ! states Nanak in supplication : Thine all merits, mine demerits all.
Cherished friend ! all joy of nights to the happily-wedded ones belongs;
What night's joy for me of cursed matrimony ? (1)

In the Measurre Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
The noble-natured female (Süchajji)

Jā Tūṇ tāṇ maiṇ sabhi ko Tūṇ sāhibu merī rāsi jīo

Cherished friend ! with Thee am I possessed of all boons—
Thou, Lord ! art my capital.
Cherished friend ! with Thee by me live I in joy;
with Thee am I all-approved.
Cherished friend ! should it please Thee, mayst Thou grant me a throne and exaltation;
Cherished friend ! should it please Thee, leaving home
may I go about begging.
Cherished friend ! should it please Thee, on dry land would an ocean flow,
And in the sky bloom lotus-flowers.
Cherished friend ! by Thy pleasure may the ocean of existence be crossed,
Or the ship of life in mid-ocean filled with water, may sink.
Cherished friend ! should it please the Lord joy-suffused,
In Him, store-house of merit may one be absorbed.
Cherished friend ! The Lord's frightful will,
Dooms to transmigration and death.
Cherished friend ! Lord ! inaccessible, immeasurable art Thou—
With narration of Thee fall I exhausted.
Cherished friend ! what shall I beg ? What state before Thee[3] ?

1. Symbol for disturbed state of the head in old age.
2. Implies the hereafter.
3. That Thou mayst listen.

For Thy sight alone I hunger and thirst.
Cherished friend ! by the Master's Word is the Lord attained—
Such is Nanak's humble submission. (2)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
The female decked with merits (Gūṇvaṇti)
Jo dīsai Guru sikkharā tisu nivi nivi lāgouṇ pāe jīo P. 763

Cherished friend ! to touch feet of the Master's devotee[1]
I bow low wherever met.[2]
Cherished friend ! to such would I state my heart's agony,
supplicating :
True friend ! discourse to me of the teaching whereby my mind otherwhere may not stray.
Cherished friend ! my heart to thee shall I dedicate—pray show me the path.
From far have I come, for thy shelter yearning—Cherished friend ! with my heart full of hope that all my suffering shalt thou annul.
Cherished friend ! brother, wayfarer of this path !
do as the Master may direct.[3]
Cherished friend ! discarding egoistic thinking, duality you give up.
Cherished friend ! thus shall you receive sight
of the Lord,
And not a whiff of hot air touch you.
Cherished friend ! no power of utterance have I;
all by Divine command have I stated.
Cherished friend ! the Lord treasure of devotion to me granted,
As Guru Nanak became gracious.
Cherished friend ! nevermore have I felt thirst or hunger[4]—
Fulfilled have I felt.
To touch feet of the Master's devotee[1] I bow, wherever met.[2] (3)

---

1. Lit Disciple (Sikkharā, dim. form of Sikh).
2. Whoever of the Master's disciples is seen.
3. (This is the reply to the supplication in the foregoing lines).
Said symbolically.

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)
Score 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bhari joban maiṇ-mati peīyaṛai gharipāhuṇī bali-Rāma jīo

With prime of youth intoxicated, I realized not,
In the parents' home[1] am I only as a guest :
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
My mind made impure by demerits—without the Master's guidance merits enter not the mind :
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
Of merits realization had I none—
Lost in delusions, my youth I let go waste.
The Spouse, His home and vision I realized not,
And of the Beloved Spouse's characteristics was unaware.
I sought not the holy Preceptor's guidance to tread the path,
And in sleep was my life's night passed.
Saith Nanak : In early youth becoming widowed,
Without the Beloved Spouse has the woman withered. (1)

Bābā maiṇ Vaṛu dehi maiṇ Hari Vaṛu bhāvai tis kī bali-Rāma jīo

Master[2] ! to the Spouse unite me.
For the Divine Spouse my heart yearns :
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice
For the Lord who in the Four Ages is pervasive,
Whose Word in the three worlds resounds.
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
The Lord of three worlds has bliss with the blessed wife;
One with demerits from Him is cast off far.
The Lord all-pervasive to our desires brings fulfilment.
One wedded to the Lord is eternally of blessed matrimony—
Never widowed or wearing soiled weeds.[3]
Saith Nanak : The holy Eternal is my loved Spouse,
Who in all Ages in immutable. (2)

---

1. Symbol for life in the world.
2. Baba.
3. The usual wear for widows in India.

Bābā laganu gaṇāe hambhī wanjṇāṇ sāhūrai bali-Rāma jīo

Master ! determine the auspicious hour that to husband's home I go[1] :
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
The hour of nuptials[1] by Divine command and will determined, is inescapable.
All happens as the Lord determines.
Lord ! to Thee am I sacrifice.
Consequences of our actions by the Lord ordained,
None can efface.
The groom[2] is the Supreme Being, from need emancipated,
In the three worlds pervasive.
Maya[3] in despair wails and is sequestered,
As bride and Bridegroom in love are united.
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the holy Word in joyful Mansion she abides,
As devoted to the Master's feet the Lord she contemplates. (3)

Bābuli dittaṛī dūri na āwai ghari pāīyai bali-Rāma jīo P. 764

The loving Sire at a far place has given her away in wedding,
So to parents' home she returns not :
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
By sight of the Lord ever-present is she joyful;
With the Beloved Spouse having bliss is she invested in beauty :
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
The eternal Spouse seeking after her
To Himself united her,
Who is of profound wisdom, pre-eminent of folk.
By good fortune has this union come about, that in joyful abode she lives—
By enlightenment by the Master given, has she acquired merits.
Chastity, content and truth ever by her side—
Her truthfulness the Lord's favoured has made her.
Saith Nanak : Never shall she be sequestered or into suffering fall—
By the Master's teaching into the Beloved's embrace shall remain absorbed. (4) (1)

---

1. Symbol for union with the Infinite.
2. In the original, head of the bridal party.
3. Also 'mother', but implies Maya. (In the Indian joint family system, the bridegrom's mother ofter resents his fondness for his wife).

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ham ghari Sājan āye

Loved friends[1] into my home have arrived :
The holy Lord this union has brought about.
By spontaneous devotion has this union come; with the Lord has my heart fallen in love,
And by union with the chosen ones of God have I found joy.
What the heart desired[2] has been achieved.
By constant union is the heart fixed in devotion,
And our houses and abodes a decorated appearance wear.
As have the loved friends[1] arrived, is struk the mystic music of five instruments.[3] (1)

Āwuh mīt piyārei

Come, loved friends !
Sister-friends[4] ! sing you songs of felicitation.
As holy songs of felicitation you sing, the Lord's favour shall you win,
And your paeans of praise in the Four Ages be sung.
The Lord in His own home[5] has arrived; decked is the spot,
And by blessing of the holy Word are all abjectives fulfilled.
The supreme elixir of enlightenment is our eyes' collyrium,
That vision of the three worlds has revealed.
My sister-friends[4] ! in joyful unison sing songs of felicitation,
As the Divine Beloved into my home has arrived. (2)

Manu tanu amriti bhinnā

Amrita-drenched is my mind and body; the heart dyed in love.
Within my heart is lodged the valued jewel of contemplation of the Supreme Essence.
Beings are beggars, Thou the Bestower of boons, on each conferring favours—

1. Symbol for devotees of God.
2. Devotion, joy in God is implied.
3. These resound by wire, hides, metals, hollow spaces (as drums) and by blowing in.
4. Symblo for fellow-seekers. Lit. females, implying bridesmaids etc.
5. The innermost self.

Thou all-knowing, enlightened controller of the inner self,
creator of causes.
Listen my sister-friend ! the Divine Charmer my heart has charmed;
Amrita-drenched is my body and mind; (3)

Ātam-Rāmu sansārā

Lord pervasive in the self ! the universe is your holy sport.
Lord inaccessible, holy is your sport—
Who other than you may grant realization of this ?
Without aid of Thy might how may one be called Siddha,[1]
Yoga practitioner and enlightened one ?
As the Master poise to the mind has granted, death and birth distracted have fallen.
Saith Nanak : By the holy Word are burnt demerits;
By conjunction of merits is attained the Lord. (4) (1.2)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Āwuh Sajjaṇā hauṇ dekhāṇ darshanu Terā Rāma

Come Beloved friend ! that Thy sight I behold.
In my home, lone female I stand in wait, with heart
full of yearning.
Full of yearning is my heart :
Listen, Lord ! on Thee is my sole reliance.
At Thy sight have I become desireless, fled is affliction of birth and death.
All light I realize to be Thine—by spontaneous love came union with Thee. P. 765
Saith Nanak : To the Divine Friend may I be a sacrifice,
Who by devotion in our own home[2] grants union. (1)

Ghari āīyaṛei sājanā tāṇ dhan kharī sarassī Rāma

Loved friend ! as into my home[2] Thou hast arrived,
Deeply joyful is this female.
Charmed by the Lord, as by the holy Word she has beheld Him,
His sight has brought her joy :

1. An accomplished Yogi.
Note : At the end of a few lines herein occurs 'Rāma' which is a euphonious refrain, as elsewhere in Gurubani.
2. The self.

Joyful, merit-endowed, in deep bliss,
As the Divine Hedonist has pleasure with her.
The Creator, perfection incarnate,
Annulling demerits, a house of merits has erected[1] for her.
With the five thieves[2] destroyed, in holy abode has she taken residence,
And justice after contemplation the Creator dispenses.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name Divine comes liberation;
By the Master's guidance is found union with the Divine Beloved. (2)

Waru pāīyaṛa bālaṛiyei āsā mansā pūrī Rāma

Dear damsel ! as the Bridegroom thou hast attained,
Fulfilled are thy objectives.
With the Beloved hast thou had bliss,
Who is pervasive, not far.
Far is not the Lord, in each vessel[3] pervasive—
All beings His female spouses.
As behoves His greatness, Himself is He the hedonist.
Himself has bliss with all.
The Eternal that is immortal, immutable, immeasurable, limitless
By guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed is attained.
Saith Nanak : Himself is He maker of union—
By His glance of grace is formed devotion. (3)

Piru ūcchaṛīyai māraṛīyai tihu loā sirtājā Rāma

The Divine Beloved, abiding in lofty bower, of the three worlds is overlord,
At His merits am I struck with wonder,
As has resounded the unstruck music.
By contemplation of the Word are our deeds purified,
And mark of the Name Divine fixed.
Those without the Name are spurious, no resting-place
for them;
Those wearing jewel of the Name are approved.
With perfection of devotion and enlightenment is received the charter of approval—
Thereafter no more is transmigration.

1. Lit. Roofed.
2. The five sources of evil.
3. Implies being.

Saith Nanak : Those by the Master's guidance realizing the self,
Become images of the Lord immortal. (4) (1.3)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)
SCORE 4
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jini kīyā tini dekhiyā jagu dhandharai lāiyā

He who created the world, over it has watched and to various tasks set it.
By Thy bounty is the self illumined, and in the body is the moon of enlightenment made effulgent :
As by Divine bounty is this moon made effulgent,
Lifted is darkness of suffering.
With the Divine Bridegroom does the wedding party of merits bear a noble aspect,
Whom after discrimination the woman[1] has chosen.
This wedding with eclat is celebrated :
The groom to the music of five instruments[2] has arrived.
He who created the world, over it has watched and to various tasks set it. (1)

Haun balihārī sājanā mītā awarītā

To saintly friends, immune from ignorance am I a sacrifice.
The heart with such has shared love,
As to it are firmly attached :
How may be forgotten the friends
With whom the heart its feelings shares ?
To the heart clasp those whose sight joy and frolic brings,
None far ever merits and demerits bears.
To the saintly friend, immune from ignorance,
am I a sacrifice. (2)

Gūṇāṇ kā hovai wāsulā kaḍhi wāsu laījai

Should one bear a casket of fragrant merits,
Occasionally must one open it, the fragrance to take in.
Should one's friends bear merits, must these be shared.
Sharing merits, discarding demerits should one tread life's way. P. 766

1. Symbol for the self.
2. Symbolizes spiritual joy.

Wearing silks of merits, decking oneself, should one occupy one's place on the stage.
Wherever settled, should one utter what is good,
And shaking amrita, quaff it.
Should one bear a casket of fragrant merits,
Occasionally must one open it, the fragrance to take in. (3)

Āpi karei kisu ākhīyai horu karei na koī

All by Him is done; to whom to carry the plaint ?
None else is the doer.
To such alone may reminder be given as are neglectful.
To one neglectful alone may reminder be given—
How may the Creator be reckoned neglectful ?
Without our utterance He hears and sees;
Without our supplication sends He bounty.
Saith Nanak : The Bountiful Lord, Creator of the World,
all-holy, boons grants,
All by Him is done; to whom to carry the plaint ? (4) (1.4)

Merā manu rātā gūṇa rawai mani bhāvai soī

My heart *to the Lor*d attached, to His merits gives utterance;
This to it is pleasing.
Ascent along the Master's ladder of truth, true joy brings.
As comes joy with equanimity, is truth pleasing—
Unfailing is this realization.
Sacred baths, charities, learning, holy dips deceive not God,
Who by feigning is not influenced.
Shows of piety, attachment, evil-doing all are discomfited,
Along with falsehood, fraud and duality.
My heart to the Lord attached, to His merits gives utterance :
This to it is pleasing. (1)

Sāhibu so sālāhīyai jini kāraṇu kīyā

Praise you the Lord who all causes has raised.
Among foul minds by impurity of evil soiled,
Rare are those that amrita of devotion have quaffed.
Those that churning amrita have quaffed it,
to it their heart have given
And by the Master got it evaluated.
As is the heart to the holy Eternal attached,
Spontaneously is the Lord realized,
In unison with the Master the Lord's merits would I sing,

And ask, how may union come about with Him alienated ?
Praise you the Lord who creation has raised. (2)

Āye gayā kī na āiyo kiuṇ āwai jātā

As enters the Lord the heart, what is left behind ?
How may He who has entered it, depart ?
To the Beloved is the heart attuned; to the Lord attached.
The Lord joy-suffused, true is His discourse—
From a bubble has He raised the citadel of creation
Himself lord of the body of five elements,
    Himself its Creator,
Who this holy frame has made so fine.
Beloved, listen ! with demerits are we filled :
What pleases Thee is right.
Transmigration with true realization ceases. (3)

Anjanu taisā anjīyai jaisā Piru bhāvai

Apply to your eyes the collyrium that pleases the Spouse.
Such is true understanding, realization and knowledge
As He himself imparts.
Himself realization He imparts, Himself shows the path;
Himself the heart captivates;
Himself to deeds good and bad gives inclination—
Who may evaluate Him, who is beyond all knowing ?
Magical practices, incantations and false shows I know not—
To the Lord is my heart attuned.
With collyrium of the Name such alone attain vision,
As truth by the Master's Word have realized. (4)

Sājan hovani āpṉei kiūṇ par gharijāhī

With loving friends given, why need one go to strangers' homes ?
Such loving friends, in heart in truth are dyed.
In hearts are these friends joyful, performing all articles of faith.
Love of the holy Name to them is worship at the sixty-eight bathing-spots.
He creates and makes—pleasing is His will.
Our friends, suffused in love of the Lord, in vermilion[1]
    are dyed. (5) P. 767

1. Colour symbolizing joy in devotion.

Andhā āgū je thīyai kiūṇ pādharu jāṇai

How would one blind setting up as leader know the way ?
Through his mean understanding is he robbed—
How would he know the way ?
How may he go along the way and find the Mansion ?
Blinded is understanding of the blind.
Without guidance of the Name Divine nothing becomes visible—
The blind, involved in worldly affairs, are sunk.
With guidance of the Word in heart lodged, light of devotion
Day and night would arise.
With folded hands supplicate the Master
To show the even way. (6)

Manu pardesī ji thīyai sabhu desu parāīyā

With the mind turned away,[1] the whole world turns alien.
To whom shall I open the packet of my sorrows ?
The whole world by suffering is gripped :
The whole world suffering-gripped—my state of mind to whom is known ?
Terrifying are the rounds of transmigration, unending.
Those without the Name are hollow within, miserable—
The Master's Word to them not imparted.
With the mind turned away,[1] the whole world turns alien. (7)

Guru mahaliṇ ghari āpṇai so bharpūri līṇā

Anyone seeking the Lord through the Master's abode in his own home,[2]
Everywhere finds, Him pervasive.
The servant of God service should undertake
When faith by the holy Word in him is confirmed :
Should by faith in the Word his heart in devotion be dyed,
Within shall he find the Lord's abode.
Himself is the Lord supreme Doer, lasting without end and ever.
By union through the Master's Word comes joy to man
And for him resounds the vina[3] mystically played.[4]
Anyone seeking the Lord through the Master's abode in
his own home,[2]
Everywhere finds Him pervasive. (8)

---

1. Implies the attitude of renunciation.
2. The heart or mind is implied.
3. A stringed musical instrument.
4. Anahad = unstruck sound, heard by mystics in absorption.

Kītā kyā sālāhīyai kari vekhai soī

What point praising God's creation ? He makes it and over it watches.
However much one may wish, beyond evaluation He remains,
Only one Enlightened by Him His value can know—
Infallible is He, above error.
Those pleasing Thee by the Master's invaluable Word hail Thee.
Lowly and humble, thus I supplicate :
Truth may I never desert.
Saith Nanak : He who has made the world and over it watches,
All wisdom grants. (9) (2.5)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Chhant (Lyrics)

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sūkh sohilaṛā Hari dhiyāwuh

Chanting the joyous song, on the Lord you meditate,
And by the Master's guidance get Divine blessing.
By the Master's guidance Divine blessing receive;
The Lord's Name contemplate,
That suffering of life after life annuls.
May I be a sacrifice to the Master,
Who all fulfilment has granted.
Devotees ! to win the Lord's grace and meed of joy,[1]
contemplate Him
Saith Nanak : Listen, brothers in devotion !
By the Lord's song of joy contemplate Him. (1)

Sūṇi hari gūṇa bhīnei sahji sūbhāe

Listening to the Lord's praise is our being in spontaneous ecstasy[2] left drenched,
And by the Master's guidance,
Has the mind settled to spontaneous meditation on the Name.
Those blessed with the primal Writ have the Master's guidance[3] found;
Lifted is their fear of transmigration.
The foul duality from their selves is lifted,

1. Fruit of joy.
2. Sahaj Subhai (without effort or travail).
3. Have met the Master.

And in the Lord are they absorbed.
Those blessed by the Lord His laudation for ever sing. P. 768 Listening to the Lord's praise, is our being in ecstasy drenched. (2)

Jag mehṇ Rāmā-Nām nistārā

In this world devotion to God's Name brings liberation.
From the Master comes inspiration to contemplate
the holy Word.
By contemplation of the Master's Word arises devotion to God's Name;
Attained by one who with Him finds approval.
From laudation of the Lord sung in poise, day and night,
Is all evil eliminated.
Lord ! all is Thine; of all art Thou cherisher;
Thine am I; Thou mine.
In this world devotion to God's Name liberation brings. (3)

Sājan āya wüṭṭhei ghar māhīṇ

In my home have taken abode those my heart loves.[1]
Their laudation of the Lord all desire fulfils.
From their laudation of the Lord are all desires fulfilled—
Hunger arises not thereafter.
Everywhere[2] is venerated the devotee,
In the Lord's contemplation absorbed.
Saith Nanak : The Lord Himself maker of union;
Himself He casts off others—
None beside Him has the power.
In my home have taken abode those my heart loves. (4) (1)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Score 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bhagat janāṇ kī Hari jīo rākhai jügi jügi rakhdā āyā Rāma

The Lord is succourer of His devotees;
Age after age has He succoured them.
One by Godward-turning alone becomes a devotee—
His egoism by the holy Word consumed.
The Word consuming his egoism, finds he favour with the Lord,

1. Sajan : God's true devotees.
2. In all ten directions.

Whose utterance is true, holy.[1]
Day and night in sincere devotion are such engaged,
As by the Master are instructed.
Truthful and pure is the way of the devotees—
Their self to the holy Name attached.
Saith Nanak : At the holy Portal shine God's devotees,
Who for sole pursuit of truth have lived. (1)

Hari bhagatāṇ kī jāti pati hai bhagat Hari ka Nām samāṇei Rāma

In devotion to the Lord alone lies pride of caste and honour for His devotees—
In His Name are they absorbed.
To the Lord devoted, their ego they cast off,
And know the way of good from evil-doing,
Knowing wherein lies good and wherein evil,
God's Name they ever utter—
To God's fear and devotion are they attached,
Their days and nights passed in devotion.
Abiding at home,[2] are they still anchorites,
In devotion dyed; of hearts ever pure,
Ever beholding the Lord by their side.
Saith Nanak : Those alone are reckoned true devotees at the holy Portal
Who meditate ever on His Name. (2)

Manmūkh bhagati karehṇ v̄inu Satiguru binu Satiguru bhagat na hoī Rāma

Egoists seek to engage in devotion without
the Master's guidance—
Devotion without the Master's guidance cannot be.
In Maya's malady and egoism are such caught,
And involved in transmigration, suffer :
In transmigration involved and into suffering fallen,
Is mankind lost.
Without the Master's guidance is the Essence not realized.
All without devotion from truth are strayed,
Their going hence in regrets involved.
One in millions has realized the name Divine, true and holy.

1. Sāchi yields both these shades of meaning.
2. That is, not renouncing the world.

Saith Nanak : From devotion to the holy Name
comes exaltation :
In duality lies ignominy. (3)

Bhagatāṇ kai ghari kāraju sāchā Hari gūṇā sada wakhāṇei Rāma

In the abodes of God's devotees is truth practised, P. 769
And on the Divine attributes discourses delivered.
He Himself has bestowed on them the treasure of devotion—
Their pain of dying[1] annulled.
With pain of dying[1] annulled and their mind in devotion absorbed,
The treasure of the holy Name they obtain;
This treasure inexhaustible, on them the Lord confers
As they in spontaneous[2] devotion are absorbed.
God's devotees ever exalted
By guidance of the Master's Word are ennobled.
Saith Nanak : By His grace is union with Him attained.
Bringing eternal[3] glory. (4) (1.2)

Shabdi sachai sachu sohilā jitthai sachei kā hoe vichāro Rāma

By contemplation on the holy Lord
Is the song of joy in the holy Word sung,
Whereby are egoism and sin annulled
And truth in the heart lodged.
With truth in the heart lodged,
God's devotees the impassable ocean cross,
Whose waters never again may they enter.
Holy is the Master, holy His Word,
That Eternal Truth has revealed.
Those so instructed lauding God's holy attributes,
In truth are absorbed,
And in all creation truth behold.
Saith Nanak : Holy is the Lord, holy His greatness;
By following truth is liberation attained. (1)

Sācha Satiguri sāchu būjhāiyā pati rākhai sachu soī Rāma

The holy Preceptor Truth has revealed,
That at the Divine Portal brings honour.
Devotion to holy truth is to us holy food—
From God's holy Name comes bliss.

1. Lit. Thorn, implies transmigration.
2. Sahi subhaiya.
3. Lit. Age after age.

From the holy Name comes bliss, and is death annulled;
Never again is one cast into the womb.[1]
In Divine Light is merged light of the self,
and in the truth absorbed;
By the holy Name illuminated.
Those realizing the truth are rendered pure,
And the truth ever contemplate.
Saith Nanak : Those lodging in heart the holy Name,
Never suffer pangs of separation from God. (2)

Sachī baṇī sacchei gūṇa gāweh titu ghari sohilā hoī Rāma

The song joyful is raised in the home where is chanted
the holy Word,
And the Lord's holy laudation practised.
Laudation of the holy attributes renders mind and body pure,
With the holy Creator's Presence[2] filled.
Holy the actions of such, pure their utterance :
All that I then behold is Divine truth spread—
Nothing beside exists.
Of Divine Truth is the devotee born, in Truth absorbed—
Those caught in duality through birth and death pass.
Saith Nanak : He alone the Doer, His is solely the might. (3)

Sacchei bhagat sohehṇ Darwārei saccho sacchu vakhāṇei Rāma

At the Court Divine shine in splendour the true devotees, Whose sole utterance truth has been.
Their heart with the holy Word filled,
The truth have they realized.
One realizing himself the truth realizes,
And of the holy Eternal has vision.
Of such, holy is the utterance; pure their repute;
Through living truth bliss they find.
The dye of duality on them is not settled.
Saith Nanak : Those with good fortune writ on their foreheads,
Alone find the truth. (4) (2.3)

Jūg Chārei dhan je bhaweh binu Satiguru Sohāg na hoī Rāma

Should the seeker-female wander, searching through all Time,[3]

1. Lit. Rests in the womb.
2. Sācha Purakh.
3. The four Ages.

Without the holy Master's guidance shall she not find bliss of union.
Immutable is God's rule;
None besides Him is everlasting :
None besides Him; He alone is everlasting.
By the Master's guidance is realized God's sole reality.
As by the Master's teaching is the mind fixed in faith,
Union between the woman and her Lord has come about.
By guidance[1] of the holy Preceptor is the Lord attained— P. 770
Without devotion to the Name comes not liberation.
Saith Nanak : As in faith is the mind fixed,
The female-seeker with her Lord finds bliss. (1)

Satiguru sevi dhan bālaṛīyei Hari waru pāwehṇ soī Rāma

Thou female, brimful of youth, the holy Preceptor serve,
From whose blessing shalt thou be tied in nuptials with the Divine Bridegroom.
Ever will this bliss last;
Never after shalt thou wear widow's soiled weeds :
Soiled weeds shalt thou not wear—
Rare is such enlightenment, coming to those by the Master guided.
By discarding egoism comes realization.
Such a one nobly acts, and in the holy Word is absorbed,
Realizing within the sole Supreme Being.
By the Master's guidance has she bliss unending[2]
with her Lord :
Noble her repute.
Saith Nanak : Thus will the woman find joy with her Lord,
Who all creation pervades. (2)

Guru kī kār karei dhan balaṛīyei Hari waru dei mailāe Rāma

Dedicate thy service, youthful female, to the Master,
Who to the Divine Bridegroom shall unite thee :
Dyed in the Lord's dye, in union with the Beloved will the seeker-female find joy.
In union with the Beloved will she find joy,
And in Truth be absorbed, that everywhere pervails.
The female absorbed in Truth shall always with holiness be decked.

1. Meeting, contact.
2. Day and night.

To the Lord, bestower of joy, by the holy Word realized, shall she ever cling.
Saith Nanak : As thus is she wedded, her true abode she realizes.
By enlightenment by the Master given,
the Lord she attains. (3)

Sādhan bālī dhūri melī merai Prabhi āpi milāī Rāma

To such female, brimful of youth, union in the Primal Hour is granted;
The Lord to Himself has united her.
By guidance of the Master's teaching in her self enlightened :
The Lord she beholds pervading all space :
The Lord pervading all space beholding,
Him in her self she lodges—
Attaining thus what for her was destined.
In joy reposing, decked in truth, finds she favour with the Lord.
The female, pure in heart, with impurity of egoism shed,
By the Master's guidance,[1] in Truth is absorbed.
Saith Nanak : United by the Creator to Himself,
The Nine Treasures[2] of the Name she attains. (4) (3.4)

Hari Hare Hari gūṇa gāwuh Hari Gurmukhei pāe Rāma

Laud the Lord, who by the Preceptor's guidance is attained.
Day after day the holy Word contemplate,
And the mystic symphony hear.
Amidst strains of the mystic music shall the Lord
enter thy home :
Sisters of my soul ! sing the Lord's praise.
The woman with unbroken devotion to the Preceptor, Alone her Lord's love gets.
Those lodging the Master's Word in their selves,
By the Word are exalted.
Saith Nanak : Ever they raise the song of joy,
Whose home the Lord in grace visits. (1)

Bhagatāṇ mani ānandu bhaiyā Hari-Nāmi rahei liv lāe Rāma

Joyous are the devotees' hearts that in the Lord's Name
are absorbed.
By the Preceptor's guidance is their heart purified,
Through laudation of the immaculate Lord :

---

1. Wisdom, teaching.
2. (See Glossary).

Lauding the Lord's immaculate qualities,
Lodging in the mind His Name,
And His immortalizing Word.
Those lodging Him in the self, are alone saved—
Each heart through the holy Word may He pervade.
Those lauding Thee are in poise absorbed—
Through the holy Word united.
Saith Nanak : Blessed is their life
That by the holy Preceptor along the way to the Lord are guided. (2)

Sant sangati siūṇ melu bhaiyā Hari Hari Nāmi samāe Rāma

Those to holy company united, in the Lord's Name are absorbed. P. 771
By the Master's Word are they eternally liberated in their life,
Fixed in unshakeable devotion to the Name Divine.
With their minds in the Lord's Name fixed,
are they by the Master united,
Their mind in the Lord dyed.
The Bestower of Bliss they attain,
Their Maya-attachment annulled.
Ever in contemplation of the holy Name absorbed,
Dyed in the Master's Word, in poise inspired,
The Name in their mind lodged.
Saith Nanak : Ever sing they in joy
That in devotion to the holy Preceptor are absorbed. (3)

Binu Satiguru jagu bharami bhūlāiya Hari kā mahalu na pāiyā Rāma

Bereft of the holy Preceptor's guidance,
Is the world in illusion lost,
Attaining not to the Lord's Mansion.
By the Preceptor's teaching comes about union :
Of those so united are the sorrows ended.
By Love of the Lord are their sorrows ended :
Dyed in ecstasy sing they of joy in God.
God's devotees eternally abide pure—
Their fame spread through the ages.
Engaged in true devotion are they honoured at the Portal Divine—
The holy Portal their true abode.
Saith Nanak : Holy their song, holy their utterance :
By the holy Word bliss they find. (4) (4.5)

Je loreh varu bālarīyei tāṇ Gurucharnīṇ chittu lāe Rāma

Dear Damsel ! to find the holy Bridegroom
Thy devotion at the Master's feet offer :
Thus shalt thou have eternal wedded bliss with the Lord, whom death and mortality touch not.
Death touches not the Lord :
The damsel poised in mind by the Master's teaching gets her Lord's love.
By the discipline of truth finds she everlasting purity,
And is with the Master's Word decked.
The holy Lord is ever holy,
By His own will manifested.
Saith Nanak : Ever shall she have bliss with the Beloved,
Who at the Master's feet her devotion offers. (1)

Piru paiyaṛā bālaṛīyei anadinu sahje mātī Rāma

Dear damsel ! the Bridegroom hast thou attained,
And in the ecstasy of serenity dost rest;
With the wisdom by the Master granted is thy heart joyful,
Thy limbs in complete purity shining.[1]
Impurity sticks not to her limbs;
In joy of the Lord is she dyed—
Such union by the Lord Himself is made.
Discarding egoism, ever does she have bliss with the holy Lord.
With the wisdom by the Master granted has she found Him
in serenity of mind;
In joy of the Beloved is she dyed.
Saith Nanak : From devotion comes exaltation :
Dyed in holy joy, has she bliss with the Lord.* (2)

Piru rāwei rangi rātaṛīyei Pir kā mahalu tinh pāīyā Rāma

Damsel dear ! those that in ecstasy have bliss with the Beloved,
Alone live close to Him.[2]
Of such is that Bridegroom, immaculate, giver of bliss,
As their ego have cast off.
With love for the Lord, as worldly attainment she discards,
Such a wife with Him finds favour.
Ever lauding the holy Lord, of His inexpressible qualities she discourses.

1. Lit. Not a grain of impurity to thy body sticks.
* The theme of this stanza is a continuation of the preceding one.
2. Lit. Have found His Mansion.

The One holy Lord all Four Ages pervades—
Without the Master's guidance none has realization of Him.
Saith Nanak : Dyed in joy has she bliss,
Whose mind to the Lord is attached (3)

Kāmaṇi mani sohilaṛā sājan milei piyārei Rāma

The Bride's heart with song of joy is full,
On finding union with the Beloved.
By the Master's guidance[1] is her heart purified, P. 772
With the Lord therein lodged.
With the Lord in her heart lodged,
Is she blessed, as by the Master's guidance has she realization.
My heart the Beloved has ravished—
The Dispenser of Rewards have I attained.
Be serving the holy Preceptor have I found eternal joy,
With the Lord[2] in my heart lodged.
Saith Nanak : The Master has bestowed union,
And through the holy Word ennobled me. (4) (5.6)

Sahilaṛā Hari Rāma-Nāmu Guru-shabdīṇ vīchārei Rāma

From devotion to the Lord's Name is raised the song of joy,
That by the Master's teaching[3] is contemplated.
By the Master's teaching are mind and body in the Lord immersed,
And love for holy Name arises.
By iove of the Name Divine,
As constantly he utters it,
Are all the seeker's forebears saved :
His transmigration annulled, joy comes to him;
In the sphere of mystic symphony is his consciousness fixed.
By His grace has Nanak found the sole Lord of the universe.
From devotion to the Lord's Name is the song of joy raised,
That contemplation of the Master's teaching[3] brings. (1)

Ham nīvīṇ Prabhu ati ūchā kiūṇkari miliyā jāe Rāma

Lowly am I; so lofty the Lord;
How with Him may I find union ?
By grace has the Master brought about the union,

1. Wisdom.
2. Original, Murari.
3. Original, Shabda.

As the Divine Word was in my mind absorbed,
Absorption of the Divine Word,
Casting out of egoism,
Joyful abandon brings :
With love of the Lord and absorption in His Name, comes enjoyment of bliss with Him.
Saith Nanak : Of blessed and fortunate wedded life is she that the holy Preceptor's teaching[1] follows.
Lowly am I, so lofty the Lord :
How with Him may I find union ? (2)

Ghaṭi ghaṭei sabhnāṇ vichi Eko Eko Rāma-bhatāro Rāma

In all vessels[2] is pervasive the Divine Being—
Lord-Spouse of all creation.
To some is the Lord far-off; to others is He the true prop of their being—
To some is the Creator prop of their being.
By supreme good fortune is found the Master to grant realization of Him.
In each vessel[2] is pervasive the Lord, sole Master—
By the Preceptor's guidance is the inaccessible realized.
Saith Nanak : Joy in serenity has descended; to the mind
has come realization,
By contemplation of the Lord.
In all vessels[2] is pervasive the Divine Being—
Sole Lord-spouse of all creation. (3)

Guru-sevani Satiguru datā Hari Hari Nāmi samāiyā Rāma

By service of the Master, the benign holy Preceptor,
In the Name Divine is the self absorbed.
Lord ! grant me dust of feet of the enlightened Master,
By whose guidance to us sinners has liberation come.
To sinners has he brought liberation by discarding of egoism,
And to abide in their true selves[3] has guided them.
By the mind awakened is their night's life passed in joy;
Through enlightenment by the Master granted, have they been illuminated with devotion to the Name.

---

1. Will.
2. Symbol for the individual self.
Note : At the end of lines occurs 'Rama' as a euphonious refrain.
3. Lit. Their own home.

Saith Nanak : Day and night in devotion passed are joy-filled,
And sweet is devotion to the Lord.
By service of the Master, the benign holy Preceptor,
In the Divine Name is the self absorbed. (4) (6.7) (5.7.12)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Chhant (Lyrics)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Satiguru pūrakh milāe avgan wikṇā gūṇa rawāṇ bali Rāma jīo

Lord ! to Thee may I be a sacrifice ! To the holy Preceptor unite me,
That my demerits I may cast off, and on Thy merits discourse.
Lord ! to Thee may I be a sacrifice ! Grant that by meditating on the Name Divine P. 773
The Divine Word I may ever utter.
Ever tastes the Divine Word sweet, dispelling sin and evil-doing.
Thereby gone is malady of egoism, fled is fear
And spontaneously in poise comes absorption.
The couch of the body, by the Master's Word was made easeful,
and in enjoyment of essence of enlightenment indulged the self.
Each day are experienced joy and frolic—
This, saith Nanak, by the primal fortunate conjunction has come.[1] (1)

Sati santokhu kari bhāu kuram kurmāī āiyā bali-Rama jīo

*To the Lord may I be a sacrifice ! the bride's father[2] assembling wedding gifts of continence and content
To arrange a betrothal has arrived.
The holy in unison the Divine Word have sung,
To the Lord may I be a sacrifice !
As is sung the Divine Word, is the supreme state attained,
And exaltation by union with saints has come.
Gone is wrath and possessiveness from the self;

---

* Note : To symbolize union of the self with the Supreme Self the imagery of betrothal in the Indian tradition is employed.

1. Allusion is to astrology—the fortunate conjunction of planets.
2. Original, kuram, a relationship standing for the bridegroom's or bride's father. Here stands for the bride's father, giving his daughter away. Symbolizes the Preceptor, Guru.

Discarded are false pose of piety and doubt.
With agony of egoism gone have we attained joy,
And the body of maladies is cured.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's grace is realized the
Supreme Being,
Storehouse of merits. (2)

Manmūkhi vichhuṛī dūri mahalu na pāe bali gaī bali-Rāma jīo

The egoist female,[1] sequestered from the Lord, thrown far,
the Mansion does not attain,
Is burnt to ashes.
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
Within her lies false attachment; falsehood she buys,
By falsehood robbed.
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
In falsehood and fraud engaged, great agony she bears—
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance is not attained the path.
Of crude mind, on out of the way paths straying,
Each moment pushed about—
The bountiful Lord in His grace with the holy Preceptor, noble, to her may grant union.
Thus spontaneously, saith Nanak, are those sequestered for multiple births united.

Āiyā laganu gaṇae hirdai dhan omāhiyā bali-Rāma jīo

Came the bride's father in heart calculating the auspicious betrothal hour;
Filled with ecstasy is the woman.
Came Brahmin priests and the horoscope[2] studied—
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
Was the horoscope studied, resounded the concert of felicitations in the heart,
As was heard report of the loved Spouse's arrival in the house.[3]
The wise and the enlightened resolved on immediate celebration of nuptials.
For Spouse is attained the Supreme Being, inaccessible, unknowable,

---

1. (The verb-form suggests the female).
2. (This is done to determine the auspicious hour for solemnizing betrothal).
3. Implies the self.

Ever youthful, friend of our childhood days.
Saith Nanak : As by grace is this union come about,
Never shall sequestration occur. (4) (1)

Hari pahilaṛī lāṇv parvirtī karma driṛhaiyā bali-Rāma jīo

*With the Lord the first circumambulation confirms in my mind engagement in duties of the householder.[1]
To the Lord am I a sacrifice !
Was confirmed righteousness by the holy Word that is sacred
as Brahma's Vedas,
And discarded was evil : To the Lord am I sacrifice !
Confirm in mind righteousness, on the Name Divine mediate,
As have the sacred books[2] confirmed it.
To the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed make supplication,
Whereby may all sins and evils be discarded.
By great good fortune then comes joy in tranquillity,
And the Lord to the mind tastes sweet.
Saith Nanak,servant of God : In the first circumambulation
Is the ceremonial of nuptials initiated. (1)

Hari dūjaṛī lāṇv Satiguru pūrakhu milāiyā bali-Rāma jīo

With the Lord the second circumambulation is,
That the holy Preceptor, exalted being, to noble attributes has the seeker united;
To the Lord am I a sacrifice !
Has come fear of the Lord that renders the mind fearless;
Cast off is impurity of egoism :
To the Lord am I a sacrifice !
Attained is God's holy fear; chanted is Divine praise,
And seen is the Lord truly manifest.
The Lord, image of the self is pervasive all over; P.774
In all creation is beheld the Lord to pervade.
Within the self and without is seen soley the Lord;
God's devotees in unison songs of joy have sung.

---

* Note : After the foregoing Chhant, whose theme is betrothal, in the present one is taken up the celebration of the nuptials, In both the symbolism is spiritual in import; that is, union of the self with the Lord. The present Chhant is chanted in solemnizing Sikh weddings. There are four circumambulations made by the wedding couple round the holy Book, with each of which one of the stanzas of this Chhant is chanted.

1. Parvirti Karma = Engaging in worldly or household duties.
2. Simritis.

Saith Nanak, servant of God : As is initiated the second circumambulation
Has resounded unstruck music. (2)

Hari tījaṛī lāṇv mani chau bhaiyā bairāgīyā bali-Rāma jīo

With the thrid circumambulation is the mind joyful in dispassion towards the world.
To the Lord am I a sacrifice !
God's devotees to the Lord are united, to Him by great good fortune attained :
To the Lord am I a sacrifice !
Attained is the Lord immaculate, wherewith is sung
Divine laudation;
The tongue the Divine Word has uttered.
God's devotees by great good fortune Him have attained,
And the Lord's inexpressible discourse related.
In the heart has arisen the Divine note,
As by good fortune inscribed on the forehead is the Lord contemplated.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : With the Third circumambulation
In the mind arises dispassion towards the world. (3)

Hari Chauthaṛī lāṇv mani sahaju bhaiyā Hari pāiyā bali-Rāma jīo

With the fourth circumambulation has the mind entered poise as is attained the Lord :
To the Lord am I a sacrifice !
By the Master's guidance spontaneously is the Lord attained;
To mind and body tastes the Lord sweet;
To the Lord am I a sacrifice !
To whomsoever is the Lord sweet-tasting,
is approved of the Lord :
Ever are such in the Lord absorbed.
Such their heart's desire have attained;
By devotion to the Name Divine has in them resounded concert of felicitation.
The Lord, Supreme Master the nuptials has arranged;
By blessing of the Name is the woman with the holy Name abloom in heart.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : With the fourth circumambulation
Is attained the Lord immortal. (4) (2)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Lyrics (Chhant)
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gurumukhi Hari gūṇa gāe

By the Master's guidance Divine laudation have we chanted;
And in the heart become joy-absorbed.
Joy-tasting is the Lord, as the Lord's approval has come.
And spontaneously is union with Him attained.
Ever[1] is joy experienced, and blissful sleep attained;
And the mind in the holy Word absorbed.
By great good fortune is attained the Master,
perfectly-endowed,
By whom has come perpetual meditation on the Name.
Spontaneously has union with the Life of the Universe come, Saith Nanak, as in the cosmic Void[2] is absorption attained. (1)

Sangati sant milāe

Those to holy company joined,
In the pure Divine Pool have bathed :
As in its pure waters have they bathed, cast off is their impurity,
And purified is their body.[3]
Gone is impurity of foul thinking, fled is doubt,
And affliction of egoism.
By the Lord's glance of grace is attained holy company
And abode in one's own home[4] found.
Saith Nanak : Divine laudation with delectable joy is sung,
And illumination of the Name come. (2)

Antari ratanu bīchārei

Within the self lies jewel of Divine contemplation;
By the Master's guidance is formed love for the Name.
By love of the Name Divine and the holy Word has come liberation;[5]

1. Day after day.
2. Implies the Divine Being without attributes (Nirguna Brahm).
3. The self is implied.
4. The self.
5. Swimming across.

Cast off is darkness of ignorance.
The self by enlightenment's blazing light is illumined,
And houses and abodes thereby decked.
Dedication of body and mind is made our decking—
This to the holy Lord is pleasing.
Act well whatever be the Lord's command— P. 775
Such, saith Nanak, shall in His embrace lie. (3)

Hari Prabhi kāju rachāiyā

The Lord the nuptials ceremonial has arranged,
And by meditation of the Master come to wed.
As to wed He came,
By the Master's medium is He attained :
Such a woman[1] is her Spouse's beloved.
The holy the song of felicitation have sung;
The bride[1] by the Lord Himself is exalted.
Godly men, swarms of servants of God, Divine choristers—
all in unison arrived;
Unique was the wedding procession.
Saith Nanak : The Lord eternal have I attained,
Who dies not nor shall ever non-existent be. (4) (1.3)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Chhant (Lyrics)
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Āwuh sant janah gūṇa gāwehṇ Govind kerei Rāma

*Come, devotees of God ! that we Lord's laudation sing.
By the Master's guidance we make union,
That the multi-noted concert[2] may sound :
Lord ! many are Thy notes—everywhere art Thou pervasive.
Day and night on Thee I mediate, Thee ever laud,
And in the holy Word remain absorbed.
Such a one ever in ecstasy of poise remains absorbed,
With devotion of heart worshipping the Name Divine.
Saith Nanak : The God-facing seeker the Sole Lord realizes. (1)

1. Symbol for the self.
* Note : In the first two lines in each stanza occurs Rāma at the end, which is as elsewhere a euphonious refrain.
2. Symbolizes ecstasy of spiritual experience.

Sabh mehṇ ravi rahiyā Prabhu antarjāmī Rāma

In all creation is the Lord, controller of the inner self,
pervasive.
One contemplating the Master's Word
Beholds pervasive The Lord—
The Lord,Supreme Master, controller of the inner self,
In each being is pervasive.
By the Master's teaching is obtained holy truth,
And absorption in poise comes —
Then is none other than the Lord visible.
Spontaneously would I laud the Lord, should I please Him—
Himself then grants He union.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's Word, by meditation day and night on the Name
Does the Lord become visible. (2)

Ihu jago düttaru manmükh pār na pāī Rāma

Impassable is this world—the egoist finds not the other shore,
As within him abide egoism, avarice, lust, wrath and trickery[1] :
One with clever devices within, with the Lord finds no place—
Wasted the life of such.
Such a one treading Yama's path receives hurt,
At the end in regret departing.
None other than the Name is our friend—
Be it progeny, family, son or brother.
Saith Nanak : This expanse of Maya-attachment
In the hereafter shall not accompany us. (3)

Hauṃ pūchhauṃ apnā Satiguru dātā kin bidhi düttaru tarīyni Rāma

I shall seek to know from the holy Preceptor, great bestower,
How this impassable ocean may be crossed.
Follow the Master's will, thus dying while living.[2]
By dying while living may the ocean of existence be crossed,
And absorption by the Master's guidance in the Name obtained.
By great good fortune is found the holy person,
perfectly-endowed,
Who in the holy Name grants absorption.
Then is understanding illumined, the mind fixed in faith,

---

1. Original,cleverness.
2. (This is the answer.)

And exaltation by devotion to the holy Name attained.
Saith Nanak : As is the self united by the holy Word,
is the Lord attained
And light of the self into the supreme Light merged. (4) (1.4)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 776

SCORE 5

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Guru Sant jano Piyārā maiṇ miliyā merī trishnā būjh gaīyāsei

Devotees of the Master ! the Beloved has met me :
Thereby is my thirst[1] assuaged.
To the holy Preceptor shall I dedicate mind and body,
Who to the Lord, storehouse of merit, shall unite me.
Praised be the Master, exalted person, who to the Lord guides me,
Bringing me acclaim.
By great good forture in attained the Lord.
Nanak, servant of God, by the Name is abloom. (1)

Guru Sajjaṇu piyārā maiṇ miliyā Hari māragu panthu dasāhā

The Master, true beloved friend, met me,
Who the way to the Lord shall indicate;
Come you home, long-separated one;
Lord ! Master ! by guidance of the Master's Word grant union :
Without Thee am I in deep dejection, like the fish that without water dies.
By great good fortune is the Lord meditated on.
Thereby Nanak, servant of God, in the Name is absorbed. (2)

Manu dah-dishi chhali challi bharamiyā manmūkhu bharami bhūlāiyā

The mind wandering in ten directions into illusion is fallen;
The egoist in illusion is lost.
Ever is his mind seeking fulfilment of desires;
His mind by thirst and hunger[2] gripped.
Endless wealth under earth has he buried;
Still goes he out to seek more of this poison.
Nanak, thou servant of God ! laud thou the Name;
Those without the Name rot and rot and die. (3)

1. Used metaphorically for desire.
2. Implies desire and avarice.

Guru sündaru mohan pāe karei Hari Hari prem bāṉi manu māriyā

By attaining the Master, beauteous charmer,
My heart by arrows of Divine love have I subdued.[1]
thus my heart all consciousness has lost;
The mind all desire has cast off.[2]
Within me is agony of love; by sight of the Master is the mind propped.
To my great good fortune, come meet me, Lord !
Nanak each instant to Thee is a sacrifice. (4) (1.5)

Mārehisu ve jana haumai bikhiyā jini Hari Prabh milaṉ na dittiyā

Thou servant of God ! destroy poison of egoism that bars way of union with the Lord.
This body, golden in hue, through egoism is ruined and lost.
Maya-attachment all is black soot, that to thoughtless egoist sticks.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Saved are the God-directed,
Whose egoism by guidance of the Master's Word is cast off. (1)

Wasi āṉihu ve jana isu mana kau manu bāshei jiūṇ nit bhauṇdiyā

Thou servant of God ! this mind subdue, that like the falcon ever is hovering.
Involved in desire, this night of life in suffering is passed.
Holy servants of God ! as is attained the Master,
By uttering the Lord's Name are all desires fulfilled.
Lord ! grant to Thy servant Nanak the wisdom his desire to discard
And have joyful sleep. (2)

Sādhan āsā chitt karei Rāmā-rājiyā Hari-Prabh sejīyaṛai āī

Divine King ! the woman yearns that the Lord enter her couch.
Divine king ! the Lord is inaccessible, compassionate,
In His grace shall He grant union.
Divine King ! my mind with yearning is filled,
And the couch of faith[3] have I spread.
Divine King ! Nanak, servant[4] of God the Lord's favour has won—Spontaneously has He granted union. (3)

---

1. Killed.
2. Forgotten.
3. Shardha (shraddha Skt.) reverence, faith.
4. (In the original the implication is feminine).

Ikkatu sejai Harī Prabho Rāma-rājiyā Guru dassei Hari meleī

Divine King ! in one couch with me lies the Lord—
By the Master's guidance shall union with Him come.
Divine King ! with Love and dispassion is mind and body imbued—
The Master in his grace shall grant union.
Divine King ! to the Master am I a sacrifice; P. 777
To the holy Preceptor shall I dedicate life.
Divine King ! By grace of the Master[1]
Nanak, servant of God, to the Lord is united. (4) (2.6.18)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sūṇi bāwarei tūṇ kāe dekhi bhūlānā

Listen, my mad self ! why at sight of the world art deluded ?
Listen, my mad self ! thy false attachment is frail like kasumbha :
At the sight of the false world art thou deluded, not worth half a cowrie—
The Name Divine is fast like madder[2] dye.
One contemplating the Master's sweet word
Is dyed red, red as poppy.
In false attachment is man involved,
To falsehood attached.
Nanak in humility has come to shelter of the Ocean of Grace—
Protect Thy devotees' honour. (1)

Suṇi bāwarei sevi Thākuru nāthu parāṇā

Listen, my mad self ! serve the Lord, Master of our life.
Listen, my mad self ! whoever into the world has arrived, must depart.
Listen, thou sojourner in the world !
All this that thou dost reckon everlasting, shall vanish :
In holy company should we abide.
Listen with dispassion.[3]

1. Lit. As the Master is pleased.
2. Majith, yielding a fast red dye, symbolizing constancy in faith.
3. Lit. Like a stranger in the world.

By good fortune is attained the Lord—
Grasping the Lord's feet must we pass life.
Without hesitation this heart dedicate;
By the Master's guidance discard pride;
Saith the humble Nanak : Saviour[1] of Thy devotee !
How may I expound Thy merits ? (2)

Sūṇi bāwarei kyā kīchai kūṛā māno

Listen, my mad self ! why indulge in false pride ?
Listen, my mad self ! all pride and conceit shall vanish :
Vanish shall all that appears eternal, false is pride.
Be thou servant of the Lord's devotees.
Should in one's destiny it be inscribed,
Would one die while living, thus crossing the ocean of existence.
Whomsoever in spontaneons meditation Thou dost fix.
Does service to the Master and amrita quaffs.
Nanak at the Divine Portal has sought shelter :
Ever is he a sacrifice to the Lord. (3)

Sūṇi bāwarei matu jāṇeh Prabhu maiṇ pāiyā

Listen, my mad self ! lest thou be conceited that to the Lord thou hast attained.
Listen, my mad self ! those meditating on the Lord
Turn humble as dust :
Those meditating on the Lord joy have attained—
By great good fortune is His sight obtained.
Casting off pride, ever in mood of dedication,
Should one efface egoism entire.
Blessed, fortunate is one that to the Lord has attained—
To such have I sold[2] myself.
Ocean of Bliss ! the humble Nanak to Thy shelter has come—
Save Thy servant's honour. (4) (1)

Hari charaṇ kamal kī tek Satiguru dittī tūsi kai bali-Rāma jīo

The Lord out of His grace granted shelter of His lotus feet—
To the Lord am I a sacrifice !
Greatly mighty is my father, His all the might—No sorrow at His sight afflicts, who takes across the ocean of existence.

1. One that takes devotees across the ocean of existence.
2. Said metaphorically.

From primal Time is He his devotees' succourer—
In His laudation find I life.
Saith Nanak : The Name is the supreme elixir sweet, P. 778
That each day with fervour of mind and body may I quaff ! (1)

Hari āpei lae milāe kiuṇ vechhoṛā thīvaī bali-Rāma jīo

As the Lord Himself has granted union to the self
How may separation come about ?
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
Whoever has Thy shelter finds life eternal—
Lord ! to Thee am I a sacrifice.
From Thee alone, eternal Creator, is Thy shelter obtained.
None of His succour is deprived—
Such is the Lord.
With the holy in union paeans of joy have we sung—
Day and night in you our hope fixed.
With the Master, perfectly-endowed, of sight fulfilling desires, have I made contact—
To him is Nanak ever a sacrifice. (2)

Sammhaliyā sachu thānu mānu mahatu sachu pāiyā bali-Rāma jīo

As the holy abode I contemplated, honour, greatness and truth I obtained—
To the Lord am I a sacrifice.
As is met the holy Preceptor gracious,
Laudation of the Lord immortal have I chanted—
To the Lord am I a sacrifice :
Beloved Lord of life,
Laudation of the Lord immortal I chant.
Auspicious days are come, the Lord to his bosom[1]
has raised and clasped us;
Met is the Divine controller of the inner self.
Blowing are trumpets of virtue and content,
And resounds concert of unstruck notes.
Saith Nanak : At sound of laudation of the Lord Creator
Are all fears fled. (3)

Ūpajiyā tattu giānu sāhūrai peīyai iku Hari bali-Rāma jīo

Arisen is enlightenment of the Divine Essence,
That in this world and the next is pervasive the sole Lord—

---

1. Lit. Grasped us and clasped to His neck.

To the Lord am I a sacrifice.
With the Divine in the self has the Absolute found union,
That none can cast asunder—
To the Lord am I a sacrifice.
Wondrous is what is beheld, wondrous what is heard—
Wonder too strikes our gaze.
The Lord pervading water and land, in each being too is pervasive.
The self is merged into that from which it arose :
Inexpressible is the Lord's greatness.
Nanak meditates on Him whose marvels beyond comprehension lie. (4) (2)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 2

(Chhant—Lyrics)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Govind gūṇa gāwaṇ lāgei

As in chanting Divine laudation we engaged,
In love of the Lord ever kept we awake;
Being awake in love of the Lord, our sins in union with the holy fled.
As the Master's feet we touched, vanished doubts,
And fulfilled were all objectives.
As by our ears to the holy Word we listened, spontaneously came enlightenment,
And by great good fortune was the Name Divine contemplated.
Thus in humility supplicates Nanak : The Lord's shelter we seek :
Life and body to the Lord we dedicate. (1)

Anahat shabdu sūhāwā

As was the Lord's holy praise sung,
Sounded the melodious[1] unstruck note.
By chanting the Lord's praise fled suffering
And great joy in mind was aroused.
At sight of the Lord were mind and body purified
And the tongue[2] the Name Divine uttered.
May I, turning dust of feet of the holy to the Lord make supplication

1. Beautiful, pleasing.
2. Mouth.

And His pleasure win.
Prays Nanak in humility : Show grace
That ever Divine laudation I sing. (2)

Guru mili sāgaru tariyā

By contant with the Master the ocean I crossed;
By contemplation of the Divine feet swum I across. P. 779
By meditation of the Name Divine were all
objectives fulfilled,
And was transmigration annulled.
By contemplation of the Lord in spontaneous loving devotion,
May I win the Lord's approval.
The Sole Lord inaccessible, beyond end, perfection incarnate, you contemplate—
None other that He is real.
Thus states Nanak in supplication : The Master my doubt has annulled—
Wherever I look, Him I behold. (3)

Patit-pāvan Hari Nāmā

Purifier of the fallen is the Name Divine;
Thereby are fulfilled objectives of the holy,
By touch of God's devotee is the Lord meditated on,
And all objectives fulfilled.
Sheltered were maladies of egoism, came everlasting joy,
As came union with the Lord to those long-separated.
To those forgetful of Him never,
Has come poise of mind; and has arisen concert of joy.
Thus states Nanak in humility : The holy Preceptor the teaching has confirmed,
Ever the Lord contemplate. (4) (1.3)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

*Tūṇ Thākūro bairāgaro main jehī ghaṇ cherī Rāma

Thou art the Lord above desire : innumerable are Thy handmaidens like to me.

---

* Note : At the end of certain lines herein occurs 'Rama' which is gererally a euphonious refrain.

Thou the ocean, repository of pearls—Thy extent[1] to me unknown :
Thy extent[1] unknown to me, of supreme wisdom art Thou :
Lord ! show grace.
In Thy grace grant the wisdom that day and night[2] on you
I meditate,
Harbour not pride; turn to dust—
Thus, my self ! shall liberation to thee come.
Supreme over all is Nanak's Lord !
Innumerable are handmaidens like to me. (1)

Tüm gauhar ati gahir gambhīrā Tüm Pir hamāṇ bahūrīyā Rāma

You are deep, immensely profound—
You the consort, we all your wives.
You are supreme, immensely lofty—
So tiny I.
Nothing am I; Thou solely real, all-wise.
By Thy glance cast for an instant find I life—
Thereby having joy and delight.
Under shelter of Thy feet, becoming slave of Thy slaves,
Is my mind in bloom, my body joyful.[3]
Saith Nanak : The Lord, all-pervasive,
Acts as be His will. (2)

Tūjh ūpar merā hai māṇā Tūhai merā tāṇā Rāma

Lord ! in Thee lies my esteem, Thou solely my strength.
All thought, wisdom, sapience in Thine.
As Thou dost enlighten, comes knowledge to me.
Such alone have enlightenment and discrimination as have the Creator's grace.
The egoist lost in a maze of paths, in Maya-thongs is caught.
The woman[4] winning the Lord's approval alone has true merit—
Hers all enjoyment of pleasure.
Lord ! Thou alone Nanak's prop; Thou Nanak's esteem. (3)

Haum vārī wanjnaṇ gholī wanjnaṇ Tūṇ parbat merā ohlā Rāma

To Thee may I be a sacrifice, Thou my mountain-like prop, my covering.

1. Reality.
2. All eight pahars.
3. Green, fresh.
4. As else where, symbolizes the self.

A million times may I be a sacrifice to him[1] who the curtain of doubt has lifted
Lifted is darkness, discarded are evils, as in the Lord is my mind's faith fixed.
As the Lord's favour I won, above obligation to others I rose—
My life become fruitful, approved.
Invaluable, of immense worth[2] become I;
The doors of device of liberation to me opened.
Saith Nanak : Fear-free have I become; P. 780
The Lord is my shelter. (4) (1.4)

Sājanu pūrakhu Satiguru merā pūrā tisu binu awaru na jāṇāṇ Rāma

My loving friend is the holy Divine enlightener,[3]
perfection incarnate,
Other than whom no other I revere.[4]
He is to me mother, father, brother, son, relation Beloved of my life and breath, dear to my heart.
Replete with all merits, my life and body are His gift.
The Lord, controller of the inner self, is all-pervasive.
Under His shelter are obtained all joys, and all weal.
Ever to the Lord am I a sacrifice;
Perpetually is Nanak to him dedicated. (1)

Aisā Guru waḍbhāgīṇ pāīyai jitu miliyai Prabhu jāpai Rāma

By great good fortune is obtained the Master by whose contact
Is the Lord contemplated;
By whose touch are annulled sins of multiple births,
And the Lord's devotees in dust of feet of the holy take bath :
In such divine dust take bath, on the Lord ever meditate;
Thus return not to incarnation.
By clinging to the Master's feet flee doubt and fear,
And obtained are heart's desires.
As are the Lord's merits sung and the Name meditated on,
Sorrow never thereafter afflicts.
Saith Nanak : The Lord whose glory has perfection,
Is bestower of life. (2)

---

1. Implies the Preceptor (Guru).
2. Lit. Weight.
3. (The context here requires Satiguru to be thus interpreted).
4. Know, recognize.

Hari Harei Hari güṇa-nidhei Hari santan kai wasi āye Rāma

The Lord, treasury of merit, to His devotees is compliant.
The devotees that at the Master's feet serve,
The supreme state attain.
By effacing egoism was attained the supreme state,
As came the Lord's grace in perfection.
As is met the Sole Lord,[1] does life become fruitful
And fled is fear.
He whose I was, to Himself has united me,
And light into Light is merged.
Saith Nanak : The Name immaculate contemplate—
Such by contact with the Master joy have obtained. (3)

Gāo mangalo nit Hari-januh pünnī ichh sabāī Rāma

Devotees of God ! sing ever paeans of joy;
Fulfilled are all our desires.
With the Lord are we in profound love who dies or enters transmigration never.
As is obtained the Eternal, is the Name meditated on,
And all objectives attained.
By attaching the heart to the Master's feet are attained
Peace, poise and manifold joys.
In each being, in each spot is the eternal Lord pervasive.
Saith Nanak : By attaching heart's devotion to the Master's feet.
Are all objectives fulfilled. (4) (2.5)

*Kari kirpā merei Prītam swāmī netra dekheh
darasu Terā Rāma*

Show grace, beloved Lord ! that my eyes Thy sight behold.
Grant me, Beloved ! a million[2] tongues that my tongue utter supplication to the Lord :
By uttering supplication to the Lord, is Yama's path closed,
And no suffering grips.
The Lord pervading water and land I behold wherever I look.
Fled are doubt, attachment and evil-doing,

1. Here Murari is used for 'Lord'.
Note : In this hymn and some following, at the end of some lines occurs 'Rama' as a euphonious refrain.
2. Lakh (a hundred thousand).

And is the Lord beheld close, closest.
Lord ! show grace to Nanak that his eyes behold Thy sight. (1)

Koṭi karan dījeh Prabh prītam Hari gūṇa sūṇīyeh abināshī Rāmā

Beloved Lord ! grant a million[1] ears, that laudation of the Eternal Lord I hear,
Listening to which may the mind be purified and the noose of death be snapped :
Snapped is Yama's noose by contemplation of the Lord, P. 781
And all joy and noble enlightenment come.
May I day and night the Lord's Name utter,
And my meditation in poise be fixed.
By contemplation of the Lord are sins and suffering burnt
And fled is the mind's evil-thinking.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord ! show grace that laudation of the Eternal I hear. (2)

Karoṛi hast Terī tehal kamāwehṇ charaṇ chalehṇ Prabh maragi Rāma

My I with million hands render service to Thee,
And my feet tread Thy path.
Across the ocean of existence is the Lord's service the boat—
Whoever embarks it shall go across.
By contemplation of the Lord is the ocean of existence crossed,
And are all objeetives fulfilled.
Gone are the great evils; arisen are joys, and the mystic[2] trumpets sounded.
Obtained are the heart's desired objeetives—
Beyond limit is the Lord's might and worth.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord, show grace that my mind ever
Thy path tread. (3)

Eho varu ehā waḍiyāī ihu dhanu hoe waḍ-bhāgā Rāma

This to me is blessing, exaltation, wealth, good fortune;
This my joy, experience of delight—
That to the Divine feet my heart be attached :
May the mind to the Divine feet be attached;
With the Lord almighty shelter I seek.

1. Koti (Crore= ten million)
2. Anhad (sounding without concussion of any kind).

All, Lord compassionate to the humble, is Thine, Solely Thou mine.
Beloved, ocean of bliss !
My heart without merit.
In holy company is awakened.
Saith Nanak : As the Lord showed grace
Was my heart to the Divine lotus feet attached. (4) (3.6)

Hari japei Hari-mandaru sājiyā sant bhagat gūṇa gāwehṇ Rāma

To contemplate the Lord is this Divine Temple[1] erected,
Wherein God's devotees His laudation sing;
By contemplation of the Lord, all their sins they cast off.
By chanting Divine laudation through the Lord's exalted Word
Is the supreme state attained.
Extremely delectable, inexpressible narrative is the Lord's discourse, conferring poise.
Happy was the conjunction,[2] the hour; holy the minute
Wherein was this immutable foundation laid.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : As the Lord showed grace,
Were all powers[3] in accord. (1)

Ānandā wajehṇ nit wājei Pār-Brahmu mani wūṭhā Rāma

Ever are sounding trumpets of joy, as in mind is lodged
the supreme Lord.
By the Master's guidance is undertaken this holy,
pure endeavour;
Shattered are false doubt and fear.
By the Master's guidance was uttered the soundless[4] word—
Joyful was the mind on hearing Divine laudation.
Such alone all joys have experienced
As by the Lord are owned as His.
In the homes of such lie stores of the Nine Treasures[5]
As to the Name Divine have their love fixed.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Never shall one be forgetful
of the Lord,
Who with perfect good fortune is blessed. (2)

---

1. (This hymn expresses thanksgiving on completition of the Hari Mandir, now known as the Golden Temple amid the holy Pool—Amritsar).
2. Conjunction of lucky stars in astrological calculations.
3. Divine powers are implied.
4. Anhad= the mystic sound heard in samadhi.
5. See Glossary.

Chhāyā Prabhi chatrapati kīnī saglī tapati bināsī Rāma

As the Lord, Divine Monarch has cast shade,
Annulled is all the heat.
Shattered is the abode of suffering and evil,
And objectives fulfilled.
By command of the Lord is ended misfortune,
And flourished truth, righteousness and goodness :
Ever, while asleep, seated or standing,
On the Lord meditate.
The Lord, treasure of merit, ocean of bliss, P. 782
On water and land is pervasive.
Nanak, servant of God, the Lord's shelter seeks,
Other than whom none is real. (3)

Merā gharu baniyā banu tālu baniyā Prabh parsei Hari-Rāiyā Rāma

Erected is my home;[1] planted the garden and the Pool made;
With touch of the Lord, Divine King am I blessed.
Charmed is my heart, joyful are friends and loving associates;
Chanted are paeans of joy and laudation of the Divine Monarch :
By chanting Divine laudation and meditation on the Lord eternal
Are all objectives fulfilled.
By attachment to the Master's feet are we ever awake,
And in the mind rises concert of joy.
As the Lord, all-bliss cast His glance of grace,
Blessed is our life in this world and the next.
Prayeth Nanak : Ever contemplate the Name,
That life and body has propped. (4) (4.7)

Bhaya sāgaro bhaya sāgaru tariyā Hari Hari Nāmu dhiyāe Rāma

The ocean of existence, existence's ocean,
Is by meditation on the Name Divine crossed.
To the Divine feet that is the ship, is the supplication made—
By contact with the holy Preceptor are we taken across :
By swimming by guidance of the Master's Word comes not death again,
And is transmigration annulled.
Whatever the Lord does that accept as good—

1. The Temple above-mentioned is implied.

Thus is the mind in poise absorbed.
Then afflicts not suffering, hunger or malady—
In the Lord's shelter is attained the ocean of bliss.
By contemplation of the Lord is Nanak in love of the Lord immersed,
And gone is his mind's anxiety. (1)

Sant janāṇ Hari mantra driṛhāyā Hari sājan wasgati kīnei Rāma

The holy the Divine teaching have repeated,
Whereby is won the Lord's pleasure.[1]
As our heart before Him we placed, the Lord all boons to us granted.
As the Lord His handmaid made me, was my heart's dejection gone,
And in the Lord's temple was poise obtained.
In joy and delight the holy Lord I contemplate,
From whom nevermore comes sequestration.
Supremely fortunate, of everlasting conjugal bliss is she[2]
Who merits of the Name Divine contemplates,
Saith Nanak : Immersed in the Supreme elixir of devotion
Dyed in His love, with the Lord we have had bliss. (2)

Anand binod bhaye nit sakhīyei mangal sadā hamārai Rāma

My sister-friend[2] ! ever are we in bliss and joy,
Ever reigns felicity in our home.
Decked by the Lord Himself,
Wears the woman[2] an aspect of beauty.
Spontaneously is the Lord turned gracious, unmindful of my merits and demerits.
As the Name Divine in heart we cherished,
The Lord to His bosom clasped His servants.
In His grace the Lord freed us from pride, attachment and intoxication of arrogance,
That all creation has gripped.
Saith Nanak : The ocean of existence have we crossed; fulfilled are our objectives. (3)

Note : As elsewhere, 'Rama' occurs occasionally as a euphonious refrain.
1. The original implies compliance to the devotees' wishes.
2. Symbol for the seeker-self.

Güṇa Gopāl gāwuh nit sakhī he sagal manorath pāe Rāma

My sister-friends[1] ! ever the Lord's merits chant,
Whereby are objectives fulfilled.
By contact with the holy is our life made fruitful,
As is the Sole Lord meditated on.
Repeat Name of the Sole Lord, in innumerable forms pervasive,
Over all the worlds spread.
All is expanse of the Supreme Being, the Supreme Being
all-pervasive.
In all existence the Supreme Being our gaze entering—
Pervading water and land, filling all space,
No place of Him is devoid.
At His sight is Nanak in bloom—
Himself union has He granted. (4) (5.8)

Abichal nagaru Gobind Gurū kā Nāmu japat sükh pāiyā Rāma

Immutable is the city of the Divine Master, P. 783
Wherein those contemplating the Name attain joy.
In this city founded by the Creator Himself
Are fulfilled desires of the heart :
Himself has the Lord founded it; all joys herein are obtained;
To our progeny, brothers and disciples has come bloom of joy.
As laudation of the Lord, perfection incarnate they sing,
Fulfilled are their objectives.
The Lord is Himself Master, guardian, father and mother.
Saith Nanak : To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice,
Who this spot has embellished. (1)

Ghar mandar haṭnālei sohei jisu wich Nāmu nivāsī Rāma

Houses, mansions, markets where the Name abides,
An aspect of beauty wear.
Holy men and devotees to the Name Divine offer worship—
Thereby is snapped Yama's noose.
Snapped is Yama's noose by the Lord eternal.
As is the Name Divine meditated on,
Completed are all requisite objects;
Fulfilled are the heart's desires.
The holy brotherhood in joy and delight disport,
And fled are suffering, pain and doubt.

---

1. Symbolism as above continued.

The holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed, by the holy Word has exalted us—
To him is Nanak ever a sacrifice. (2)

Dāti khasam kī pūri hoī nit nit charhai sawāī Rāma

Completely is attained the boon granted by the Lord,
Evermore in the ascendant.
The Supreme Being transcendent as our guardian has set up—
Mighty His greatness.
The Lord, from the primal Time His devotees' succourer, grace to us has shown.
The Lord cherishing all creation—
In joy has fixed their abodes.
In all ten directions is pervasive the Lord's praise,
Of worth inexpressible.
Saith Nanak : To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice,
Who this immutable foundation has laid. (3)

Giān dhyān pūran Parameshūr Hari Hari kathā nit sūṇīyai Rāma

In the Lord, perfection incarnate your realization and meditation centre—
Ever to the Lord's discourse listen.
In mystic[1] joy disport devotees of the Lord, shatterer of worldly entanglements;
The mystic[1] tune they ever hear playing.
Heard are the mystic[1] notes; the Divine essence contemplated;
Ever are the holy in dialogue engaged.
Offering devotion to the Name Divine,
all impurity they cast off,
All sins annulling.
For such is neither birth nor death, nor transmigration—
Nevermore incarnating.
Saith Nanak : The Divine Master have I obtained.
By whose grace are all desires fulfilled. (4) (6.9)

Santāṇ ke kāraji āpi khaloyā Hari kammu karāwaṇi āyā Rāma

His devotees' tasks has the Lord Himself undertaken to fulfil;

Note : This hymn is a homage offering to the holy city and Temple at Amritsar. 'Rama' occasionally occurs at line-ends as a euphonious refrain.

1. Anhad = unstruck sound, divinely produced and not by any human means.

These Himself has the Lord come to accomplish.
Beauteous the spot, beauteous the Pool, wherein is filled[1]
water amrita-pure :
Filled[1] amrita-pure is the water, completed are all objects,
Fulfilled all desires.
Over the world has resounded the sound of the Lord's glory,
The Supreme Being perfection incarnate, eternal, immortal,
Whose laudation Vedas and Puranas have sung.
Gone are all sorrows.
Nanak on the Lord's Name has meditated,
Who His law of grace has fulfilled. (1)

Nav-niddhi siddhi riddhi dīnei Kartei toṭi na āwai kāī Rāma

The Creator the Nine Treasures and miraculous powers[2]
has granted—
No scarcity is here felt.
In consuming, spending and enjoying the Lord's blessings is obtained joy—
Ever are the Lord's boons on the increase :
Ever increasing the boons, no decrease seeing,
As the Divine controller of the inner self we have attained. P. 784
Vanished are millions of impediments;
Suffering approaches us not.
Have increasing peace, poise and joy come;
Ended is all hunger.[3]
Nanak sings laudation of the Lord, of wondrous greatness. (2)

Jis kā kāraju Tin hī kīyā māṇasu kyā vechārā Rāma

He whose task it was accomplished it—
What is poor man ?
God's devotees shining in glory, the Lord's laudation sing,
Ever raising shouts of His victory.
By chanting Divine laudation has arisen joy,
As with holy company have I made accord.
How may His praise be recounted by whose endeavour is the Pool made ?
Included within it are the sixty-eight sacred spots,
holy ceremonial

Note : As in the foregoing.

1. Lit. Spread.
2. Nav-niddhi, riddhi, siddhi, used have symbolically for bliss of devotion.
3. Used symbolically.

And extremely pure rites.
Purifier of the fallen, such is the Lord's law of grace—
His Word Nanak's prop. (3)

Güṇa nidhān merā Prabhu kartā üstati kaunu karījai Rāma

Treasury of merit is the Lord-Creator—
How many of His merits may we recount ?
Lord ! such is Thy devotee's prayer : Grant supreme elixir of the Name :
Grant Thy Name in charity; for an instant be not forgotten.
My tongue ! utter the Lord's laudation—ever, each day.
Whoso to the Name is devoted, in amrita is his mind and body immersed.
Thus states Nanak in supplication : Fulfilled is my desire;
By sight of the Lord find I life. (4) (7.10)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Miṭhbolaṛā jī Hari sajjaṇu swāmī morā

Sweet-spoken in extreme is my noble-hearted Master[1]—
Never within my recall[2] has He uttered a harsh[3] word :
The Lord perfection incarnate knows not how to speak harsh,[3]
Nor contemplates faults of any.
To purify the fallen is the Lord's law of grace—
Never letting go even a particle of endeavour of any.
Abiding in each being, in all lodging, nearer than nearest.
Nanak, His servant, ever seeks shelter with the Lord,
Loving ambrosial friend. (1)

Hauṃ bisamu bhayee jī Hari darshanu dekhi apārā

At sight of the endless vision of the Lord in wonder am I fallen.
The Lord so beauteous, dust of His lotus feet am I.
In sight of the Lord find I life and joy[4]—
None great as He.
In primal time, at end of time, in the middle is He pervasive—Pervading water and land.

1. Here implies the Supreme Being.
2. I try to recall to exhaustion.
3. Bitter, unpleasing.
4. Am cooled (as against oppressive heat).

By contemplation of His lotus feet is the ocean crossed—
Crossed have we the ocean of existence.
Nanak with the supreme Lord, perfection incarnate
seeks shelter,
Beyond limit and extent. (2)

Haun nimakhu na chhoḍāṇ ji Hari Prītam prān adhāro

For an instant shall I not let go of the beloved Lord, prop of my life.
The holy Preceptor the eternal inaccessible vision[1]
has expressed.
In holy company is attained devotion to the Name,
Whereby is fled suffering of transmigration.
Spontaneous joy and bliss in plenty is come,
Shattered is knot of egoism.
Parvasive amid all, yet to all unattached is the Lord,
From attachment and rancour free.
The servant Nanak seeks shelter with the Lord P. 785
Beloved, prop of the self. (3)

Maiṇ khojat khojat jī Hari nihchalu su gharu pāiyā

After arduous search the immutable abode with the Lord have I attained.
As all objects I found evanescent, on the Divine lotus feet
my heart I fixed.
Of the Lord eternal am I a handmaid, who dies not nor enters incarnation.[2]
Complete fulfilment from Him comes of Dharma, worldly prosperity, desire,
And the heart's objective achieved.[3]
Vedas[4] and Simritis the Creator's laudation sing :
Accomplished Yogis, Yoga-practitioners, sages on Him have meditated.
Nanak with the Lord, ocean of grace has sought shelter—
By great good fortune is the Lord's laudation chanted. (4)

1. Lit. Thought, ideal vision.
2. Lit. Comes not nor goes (i.e. sees not birth or death).
3. Mentioned here are the four objectives spelled out in Indian thought, including moksha which is implied by 'heart's objective'.
4. Lit. Sruti, the revealed scripture.

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Vār in the Measure Suhi along with Slokas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sūhai vesi dohāgaṇī par piru rāwaṇ jāe

The woman discarded decked in vermilion[1] goes out to seek pleasure with a stranger;[2]
Leaving her Spouse behind at home, is she caught in illusion of Duality.
Those seeking after pleasures[3] only have increase of malady from pampering their taste.
Discarding the holy Lord-Spouse, into alienation are they thrown.
Only those by the Preceptor instructed, from Maya turn away;
Bedecked to seek joy with the Lord.
In serenity and truth, with the Beloved have they bliss,
The Lord's Name in their heart borne.
The wife obedient to her spouse is of unending wedded bliss,
By the Creator to Himself united.
Saith Nanak : She who has for spouse the holy Lord,
Has unending wedded bliss. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Thou wretched female, in vermilion decked,
Keep ever in mind thy true Lord :
Thus, saith Nanak, shalt thou purify thy life and save thy forebears. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Āpe takhtu rachāiyonu ākāsh patālā

He Himself has set up His throne in the firemament and nether regions;
By His Ordinance is created the earth, the place for righteous action.[4]
Thou Saviour of the humble, Thou dost create and cause the creation to be absorbed;

Note : Var is a lengthy narrative poem, a ballad. In Gurubani it stands for a disquisitional composition, with the philosophical meditative element predominating.

1. Vermilion, the red dye is the mark of passionate dalliance.
2. Lit. Another's husband.
3. Lit. Sweet delicacies.
4. Dharmasal (cf. Japujī 39).

To all dost Thou provide sustenance—unique is Thy Ordinance;
None besides Thee is the doer; Thou alone the sustainer. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sūhab tāṇ sohāgaṇī jāṇ manni laihi sachu Nāoṇ

Thou female in vermilion !
Bliss shalt thou enjoy, shouldst thou in the holy Name put faith,
Win the holy Preceptor's approval—
Thereby shalt thou have increase of beauty :
Nothing else for this shall avail.[1]
Deck thyself in a way that its glamour goes not;
Ever shalt thou have thy Lord's love.
Saith Nanak : What is mark of the blessed wife?
Pure her heart, radiant her face, in her Lord
absorbed. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Folks ! in vermilion am I decked; in robes dyed vermilion—
Yet this raiment brings not union with the Lord.
This have I tried to exhaustion.
Saith Nanak : Those attain the Lord who to the Preceptor's
teaching have listened.
All happens as He pleases : P. 786 Submitting to His will—such is the means to have bliss with
the Lord. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Hükmīṇ srishṭi sājīyanu bahu bhitti sansārā

By His ordinance has He brought forth creation, and the variegated universe.
Holy Lord, inaccessible, immeasurable ! beyond our ken is the extent of Thy Ordinance.
To some dost Thou grant union, as the holy Word
they contemplate.
Those dyed in truth are truly pure, by discarding egoism and evil-thinking.
Union with Thee by Thy pleasure comes; such alone are truly pure. (2)

1. There is no other place (support).

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sūhawīyei sūhā sabhu sansāru hai jin dūrmati dūjā bhāu

Thou female in vermilion ! to those in grip of evil-thinking and duality
Are all worldly objects attractive.[1]
False are these, destroyed in an instant,
As the tree's shade.
Those to God devoted have on them the true vermilion dye,
Fast as madder.[2]
Maya with them enters abode of the Eternal,
As in their selves is lodged the Lord's immortal Name.
May Nanak be a sacrifice to his Preceptor, whose touch[3] Divine laudation inspires. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Inducing foul thinking is the vermilion dye;
Union with the Lord thereby is not attained.
Is an instant is it washed off,
Leaving widowed one gripped in duality.
The female immature, unfixed in faith[4] is by the vermilion dye attracted.
Get thy vermilion from the holy Word, decking thyself with fear and love of the Lord.
Saith Nanak : Of everlasting wedded bliss are the females
To the holy Preceptor's teaching[5] submitting. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Āpe āpi upāiyanu āpi kīmat pāī

Himself has He created the universe :
He alone can appraise it.
Unknowable His extent; by the Master's Word alone realized.
Maya-illusion is a darkening storm, in delusion leading astray.
Egoists find not poise, in transmigration wandering.
All happens as be He pleasure;
By His will runs the universe. (3)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sūhai vesi kāmaṇi kūlakhṇī jo Prabh chhoḍ par pūrakh dharei piyār

A harlot, of evil repute is the woman in vermilion decked,

---

1. Lit. Red.
2. A herb yielding a fast red dye (majīth).
3. Meeting, union.
4. Of two minds, gripped in duality.
5. Will.

That deserting her Lord, seeks another;
Neither has she noble ways nor restraint;
Given to lying, by egoism into ignominy she falls.
Only by pedestination is one to the holy Lord wedded.
The woman seeking the Lord should put off gaudy[1] robes,
And in forgiveness be decked.
In parents' home and the husband's does she meet with acclaim,
By the world venerated.
She who has bliss with the Creator,
From the rest stands apart.
Saith Nanak : Those guided by the Master's teaching, are of eternal wedded bliss,
Who to the eternal Creator are wedded. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
The gaudy dye is unreal like dream at night-time,
Or pearls seemingly worn without string :
The fast dye is yielded by madder[2]—
In contemplation of the Divine by the Master's guidance.
Saith Nanak : Divine love is the supreme joy;
All evil-doing is worthless as ashes. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Ihu jagu āpi üapāiyonu kari choj widānu

He Himself created this world in His wonderful play;
Of five substances He made the body,
Filling it with attachment, falsehood and pride.
The egoists unenlightened in transmigration are whirled about.
To some has He granted enlightenment and spiritual awakening through the Master's guidance.
On His devotees has He conferred th treasure of devotion, wealth of the Name Divine. (4)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das) P. 787

Sūhawīye sūhā vesu chhaḍi tūṇ tāṇ pir lagī pīyār

Female in vermilion decked, this dye discard !
Then alone shalt thou find thy Lord's love :
None by glamour[3] attained the Beloved—

1. Vermilion.
2. Majīth—Symbol for the fast dye and for sincere devotion.
3. Vermilion.

Such are egoists, ignorant, fallen into flames of suffering.[1]
By guidance of the holy Preceptor all glamorous wear is cast off,
And egoism discarded :
Mind and body glow with dye of joy; tongue dyed in laudation of the Lord.
Of unending wedded bliss is the female bearing in mind
the holy Word,
Decked in fear and love of God.
Saith Nanak : By grace is attained Mansion of the Beloved,
By those bearing Him in heart. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Thou female, cast off the false glamour of vermilion,
Deck thyself in fast red :
Thus will thy transmigration be annulled by contemplation of the Master's Word.
Truly beautiful, lovely is the female whom her Lord
in true love visits.
Saith Nanak : Such is the female having bliss with the Lord, the Divine Voluptuary. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Mohu kūṛu kūṭambu hai manmūkhu mūgdhu ratā

False is attachment to family in which is engrossed
the ignorant egoist;
Such die caught in egoism and avarice—
Nothing with them lasts in the hereafter.
Yama, Lord of Death, standing over there they see not,
in duality strayed.
As Yama grips them, nothing avails :
Such are their actions as in Primal Time ordained. (5)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Satīyāṇ ehi na ākhīyani jo maṛhiyāṇ laggi jalanni

Not these are the true suttees that perish on their husbands
funeral pyres :
Saith Nanak : Those are true suttees who suffer agony of separation. (1)

1. Lit. Burnt to death.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Such too are known as suttees as pass life in noble conduct and content,
Serve their lord, and rising each day, remember him. (2)
With their lord widowed women in flames perish;
With true love, separation is grievous suffering.
Saith Nanak : Those to their lords indifferent,
burn not in flames;
In life and in death are they ever from them estranged. (3)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Tūdhu dūkhu sūkhu nāli ūpāiyā lekhu kartai likhiyā

Thou hast sent to man pain and pleasure[1]—
Thus has the Creator's Writ run.
Thy greatest blessing is devotion to the holy Name that is without form or feature.
The Name is inexhaustible wealth, in the self lodged by
the Master's guidance.
As by grace He grants love of the Name,
is all reckoning[2] effaced.
Those inspired with feelings of serviee to the Lord are to Him united,
Ever contemplating Him. (6)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Jinnhīṇ challaṇu jāṇiyā se kiuṇ karehṇ vithār

Those realizing death as inevitable hoard[3] not possessions;
Those in worldly affairs engrossed, realize not death. (1)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
In the brief night of life is wealth hoarded.
With dawn comes departure hence.
Saith Nanak : This goes not with man, leaving him only full of regrets. (2)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
One paying forced tribute neither acquires merit, nor favours any.
Saith Nanak : A good deed is what willingly is done. (3)

1. Lit. Created with man pain and pleasure.
2. Reckoning of deeds good and bad.
3. Lit. Have no extension of possessions.

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
By stubborn wilfulness is not success attained, however long;
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By pure feeling comes fulfilment,
As is the holy Word contemplated. (4)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Kartai kāraṇu jini kīyā so jāṇai soī

He who created the world, alone knows the truth;
Himself has He created the world, and Himself withdraws it.
In all Four Ages, few the truth[1] have realized. P. 788
The holy Preceptor has granted realization of the sole
Supreme Being,
Filling mind and body with joy.
By the Master's guidance ever laud Him :
All by His will happens. (7)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Jinnhāṇ bhau tin nāheṇ bhau mūchu bhau nibhviyāh

Those conducting themselves in fear of God, no other fear have;
Much fear grips those bearing not fear of God.
Saith Nanak : This writ shall be deciphered only in the Court Divine. (1)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
Into water is mingled water; into air, air; fire with fire mingles,
Dead earth with dead earth :
Saith Nanak : Praised be the Creator who this law has formulated. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Sachu dhiyāini se sacchei Guru shabdi vīchārī

Those meditating the Truth are pure by contemplating the Master's Word.
By discarding egoism is their heart purified, as the Lord's Name in heart they bear.
The ignorant are engrossed in their homes, parlours and mansions—
Not realizing the Creator, in darkness of egoism.
Those granted realization by Thee, holy Lord ! attain it.
What is man, poor creature ? (8)

1. Worth, value.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Kāmaṇi tau sīṅgāru kari jāṇ pahilāṇ kantu manāe

Woman, before decking thyself, make thyself acceptable to thy Lord,
Lest He should visit not thy couch and thy make-up be gone waste.
In the woman finding acceptance with her Lord, lies beauty of her make-up.
Should her make-up be acceptable, shall she have love[1] of her Lord.
Let her deck herself in fear of the Lord, joy in God her betel-chewing,
Love her sustenance.
Dedicating body and mind to her Lord, let her in love to Him
be united. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

With collyrium, flower-string, fragrance of betel has the woman decked herself :
To her couch came not her Lord—all preparation wasted. (2)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Not those be the true wedded couples[2] that with each other consort :
Truly wedded are those that in two frames, are as one light. (3)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Bhay binu bhagati na hovaī Nāmi na lagai piyāru

Without the Lord's fear devotion occurs not, nor love for the Name.
By touch[3] of the holy Preceptor arises such fear :
From fear and love does loveliness shine.
Body and mind in love of the Lord are dyed, when egoism and desire are annulled,
And the pure mind and beautiful body to the Lord[4] are dedicated.
Fear and love are for the holy Lord pervading the universe. (9)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Wāhu khasam Tūṇ wāhu jini rachi rachnā ham kīye

Wonderful, wonderful art Thou, Lord !
Who created us amid Thy creation.

---

1. Acceptance, approval.
2. Wife and husband.
3. Meeting.
4. Krishan-Murari. Use here to signify God.

To Thee are we as waves to the ocean's expanse,
Or as the creeper to the rain-clouds.
The creation dost Thou sustain after bringing it forth—
None Thy might to share.
By the Master's guidance is service rewarded with serenity and knowledge of the essence.
By such striving is wage obtained from the Master's Door.
Saith Nanak : Ever full of blessings is that Portal :
Never needy, never empty. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Shining pearl-like teeth, eyes sparkling like jewels—
Being aged, by death are gripped. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Hari sālāhīṇ sadā sadā tanu manu saunpi sarīr P. 789

Laud ever the Lord, dedicating thy mind, body and limbs to Him.
By the Master's teaching is attained the Lord, deeply inscrutable.
The Lord, supreme jewel, the seeker's mind and body pervades.
Suffering of transmigration is then ended, with whirling closed.
Saith Nanak : Laud the Lord, store of merit. (10)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Nānak ihu tanu jāli jini jaliyai Nāmu visāriyā

Nanak ! burn this wretched body that from the holy Name is estranged[1] :
Weeds continue to accumulate in it; clear these—
Later, the hand shall not reach to the depth of this bottomless pond. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Saith Nanak : No count can be made of the mind's evil-doing :
There is no telling its fearful consequences—
Only by Divine grace may I escape chastizement.[2] (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Sacchā amaru chalāiyonu kari sachu furmānu

Holy is His ordinance in the universe operative,
Holy His commandment.
Immutable ever, pervasive is that all-knowing Being.
By the Master's grace is inspired devotion to the holy Word,
Mark of Divine benediction.
Great is His glory :

---

1. Lit. Has forgotten.
2. Lit. Being pushed about.

By the Master's guidance have thou joy of it.
By the Master's teaching realize the Lord,
Inaccessible, unknowable, transcendent. (11)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Nānak badrā māl kā bhītari dhariyā āṇi

Saith Nanak : Beings are like a pouchful of coins kept in the store :
In the Divine Court shall the genuine be known from the base. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Some go to bathe at holy places—
Evil their minds, dishonest their bodies.
As one part of impurity they shed, twice that to them freshly sticks.
Like jars full of deadly poison are they washed outside.
God's devotees even without such bathing are pure :
Those given to evil, evil shall abide. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Āpe hūkamu chalāeṇdā jagu dhande lāiyā

By His Ordinance has He set the world to various tasks.
Some to Himself has He devoted; these by the Master's guidance enjoy bliss.
The mind, restless by running in all[1] directions,
Is by the Master restrained.
The whole world seeks realization of the Divine Reality;[2] by the Master's guidance is it found.
Inaffaceable is the primal Writ, by the Lord inscribed. (12)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Due dīvei chandah hatnālei

Two are the lamps[3] of the universe;
Fourteen[4] are the markets.
All creatures in these are merchants,
Carrying on trade in open shops.
All who arrive here must one day depart.
Dharmaraja, God'd broker, marks the goods.

1. Lit. Ten.
2. Lit. Nām.
3. Sun and moon.
4. The fourteen worlds.

Saith Nanak : The profit acceptable in the Divine Court is devotion to the Name.[1]
Those with this return to their true abode amidst joyful music,
And by the holy Name are exalted. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Be the nights never to dark, what is white shall so remain;
In the blazing light of day, black remains black :
Those blind of insight, ignorant, without enlightenment,
Who see not, shall nowise be honoured in the Court Divine. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Kāyā koṭu rachāiyā Hari sacchai āpe

The holy Lord has created fortress of the body.
Some through duality are ruined, immersed in egoism.
Unattainable is the human incarnation—
Such as these shall to suffering be subjected.
Those blessed by the holy Preceptor, by Divine prompting shall realization find.
The universe is His play : Himself in it He disports. (13) P. 790
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Chorāṇ jārāṇ randīyāṇ küṭṭaṇīyāṇ dībāṇu

Thieves, fornicators, harlots and procuresses, all in mutual friendship are bound.
The wicked associate with each other, and together eat and drink.
They know not the essence of devotion,[2] ever in Satan's company living.
A donkey rubbed over with sandal-paint, will still roll about in dust.
Evil the measure and in wearing evil take pride. (1)
Saith Nanak : Those that spin evil,[3] evil is their wearing.
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Some make the call to namaz, some blow the pipe;
Some blow a horn, some sing flattery of others.
Some are donors, others beggars.
Devotion to Thee is the best of offering;
Saith Nanak : May I be a sacrifice to those that repose faith in the holy Word they listen to. (2)

1. Original. Nām.
2. Lit. Attributes, qualities (of God).
3. Lit. False.

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Māyā mohu sabhu kūṛu hai kūṛoṇ hoe gayā

Maya-attachment is evil; of evil is it born;
In egoism lies wrangling, that mankind[1] has ruined.
By the Master's teaching is all wrangling ended,
As the One Sole Creator is seen to pervade the universe.
Those realizing the Indweller God, swim across the ocean
of the world;
Their light in the Universal Light merged,
Into the Lord's Name are they absorbed. (14)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Satiguru bhīkhyā dehi maiṇ Tūṃ samrathu dātāru

Holy Lord ! grant me this in charity, Thou who art
Almighty, Bountiful :
May my egoism, arrogance, lust, violence, pride be eliminated.
May greed and acquisitiveness be consumed,
And in devotion may I find the prop.
One thus favoured shall ever be fresh, pure,
From impurity freed.
Saith Nanak : Thus may I find liberation, and joy by Thy grace. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

To one sole Spouse are wedded all that at His Portal wait.
Saith Nanak : Dyed in their Lord's love, seek they to know the way to union with Him. (2)

Sloka (Guru Naṇak Dev)

All others in the Lord's love are dyed;
What worth I, unfortunate wife cast off ?
So many are my blemishes, the Lord turns not His heart towards me. (3)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

May I be a sacrifice to those on whose tongue runs His laudation;
All others have wedded bliss of nights;
My nights in separation passed. (4)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Dari mangatu jāchei dānu Hari dijai kripā kari

Lord ! at Thy Portal stands a beggar : show him Thy favour.

1. Lit. The world.

May I ever serve the Lord, laud Him,
My mind in His truth absorbed.
Unfathomable is the Lord, none to compass His greatness.
Bowing at the holy Preceptor's feet,
May I ever utter the Lord's Name.
Thus shall all my desires be fulfilled—
In my self[1] shall come to me what I seek. (18)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Pahil basantai āgmani pahilā mauliyo soe

Spring comes first of all;
Before coming of spring, the Lord ever is in bloom :
He who makes everything blossom,
From none does He seek the bloom. (1)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
As comes spring at head of the year contemplate this.
Saith Nanak : Laud Him who is support of each and all. (2)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
True union comes not from mere contact of body :
He alone has been united, who in his self to God is united. (3)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Hari Hari Nāmu salāhīyai sachu kār kamāvai

Laud the Lord's Name, and act on truth;
One engaged in other than devotion in transmigration is whirled.
One dyed in the Name acquires devotion
And God's holy Name lauds.
By the Master's teaching is the Lord lauded, and absorption in the Lord's Name obtained.
Devotion to the holy Preceptor is truly fruitful—
By this comes fulfilment. (19)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Kis hī koe koe manjṇ nimaṇī ikk Tūṇ

Others have someone to lean upon;
To me, poor and forlorn, the sole support art Thou.
Unless Thou take abode in my mind, P. 792
How may I not wail to distraction ? (1)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
In moments of happiness, and no less in suffering

1. Lit. Home.

Have I borne Him in mind.
Saith Nanak : Listen, thou thoughtful wife !
Thus mayst thou find union with the Lord. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Amar Das

Haun kyā sālāhī kiram jant waḍḍī Terī waḍīyāī

How may I a worm, laud Thy supreme greatness ?
Thou art inaccessible, gracious in extreme;
Thyself wilt provide union.
None other than Thee is my well-wisher;
Thou my true friend till the last.
Those seeking Thy shelter are granted by Thee liberation.
Saith Nanak : He is above need,
Not a grain does he covet.[1] (20)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of the Venerable Kabir
(And all other Bhaktas)
In the Name of Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the Preceptor's Grace

Avtari āye kahā tüm kīnā

What in your human incarnation have you accomplished ?
Never have you uttered the Name Divine. (1)
What thinking is this that God's Name you do not utter ?
Unfortunate man ! what shall avail you[2] when death comes ? (I-Pause)
In alternation of pain and pleasure have you brought up your family;
But at time of death you alone the pain have borne.[3] (2)
As by Yama is gripped his neck, has man cried out.
Saith Kabir : Why beforehand did he not remember God ? (3) (1)

Tharhar kampai bālā jīo

Anxiously tremulous is my timid[4] self :
I know not what the Spouse[5] shall do to me. (1)
Wasted is the night of youth; who knows the day of old age too may similarly go waste ?

1. Original, Til na tamai (Not a grain of sesame does He seek : Cf. Japu j (35).
2. What shall you do ?
3. Also : Excessive pain have you borne.
4. Young, immature.
5. Symbol for God, as retributor of deeds.

Gone are hair black like the humming-bee;
And are settled cranes.[1] (1)
Water stays not in unbaked pitcher :
As is the self[2] departed, the body withers. (2)
Should an unmarried girl[3] deck herself,
How without her Spouse may she in pleasures indulge ? (3)
In whisking crows away[4] is my arm hurting—
Saith Kabir : Thus closes this tale of life. (4) (2)

Amalu sirāno lekhā dīnā

Now is ended the period of deeds, and reckoning has to be rendered.
Arrived are the stern minions of Yama to grip thee.
What hast thou earned ? What wasted ?
Come quick—to the court art thou summoned. (1)
Immediately get going—to the court art thou summoned :
From the Divine Portal is the command received. (I-Pause)
I pray, from some villages I still have to collect revenue,
That tonight I shall complete.
Part of your charge too shall I meet.
My morning-prayer[5] at the first stage shall I perform. (2),
Blessed, fortunate is the person
Who to holy company has formed attachment.
Such here and in the hereafter have joy,
And the invaluable supreme objective of life have won. (3)
Whoever from the waking state into sleep falls, his human incarnation has wasted.
Property and wealth garnered by him to others passes.
Saith Kabir : Such are deluded :
Forgetting the Lord, in dust they mingle. (4) (3) P. 793

In the Measure Suhi Lalit—Composition of the Venerable Kabir

Thākei nain srawan sūni thākei thākī sundari kāyā

Exhausted are the eyes, helpless[6] the ears to listen;
Exhausted the beauteous body.

---

1. Symbol for grey hair.
2. The swan (established symbol for the self).
3. Symbol for the self unattuned to God.
4. (This is an omen in India to ensure that a desired one will arrive).
5. Niwaj = Namaz, the Muslim prayer.
6. Tired, exhausted.

As is heard call of old age, are all senses exhausted—
Yet is not tired craving for things of the world.[1] (1)
Madman ! enlightened thought hast thou not received—
Thy life gone waste. (I-Pause)
Thou creature of God ! while breath lasts in the body, serve Him.
Even with end of the body should not love decline—
Thus may lodgement at the Lord's feet be attained. (2)
Within whomsoever is lodged the holy Word,
Gone is his desire.[2]
Let man play chess of realization of the Divine Ordinance,
And cast dice of conquest of self. (3)
Whoever realizing the Eternal to Him is devoted,
Never faces extinction.
Saith Kabir : Never lose the game
Those that know how to make the throw. (4) (4)

Eku koṭu panch sikdārā panchei mangehṇ hālā

One is the citadel, five[3] its governors—
All five demanding revenue.
Hard for me is this payment, as no one's land have
I cultivated. (1)
Devotees of God ! the revenue factor[4] ever torments me :
As raising my arms to the Master I made supplication,
He saved me. (I-Pause)
Nine land-surveyors[5] and ten magistrates[6] come rushing
And let not people live in peace :
These measure not the land fairly
And extort much illicit money. (2)
The Divine Person pervading seventy-two chambers[7] has entered payments against my name.
As is checked Dharmaraja's record, not a bit of payment due from me stands. (3)
Revile not God's devotees : God's devotees and God are one.
Saith Kabir : My Preceptor is one whose Name enlightened understanding confers. (4) (5)

---

1. Maya.
2. Thirst.
3. The five sources of evil are implied.
4. Implies Dharmaraja.
5. These are the nine sources of sensation in the body.
6. The five sources of Sensation and five of action.
7. According to Yoga, the seventy-two principal channels conveying vital energy.

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of Venerable Ravidas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Shah kī sār sūhāgani jānai

The happily-wedded wife alone knows the truth of her Lord :
Discarding pride, in joy she disports.
Dedicating body and mind, no distance from Him she keeps—
Neither casting eyes at strangers nor listening to them, nor discoursing of them. (1)
One not experiencing pain
Would hardly of others' suffering know. (I-Pause)
The unlucky wife, who to the Lord has not offered constant devotion,
Both worlds[1] loses.
Full of torment is the path of the bridge erected over hell-fire[2] :
There without fellow-wayfarer or friend, has one to proceed alone. (2)
A sufferer in pain at Thy door has arrived,
Deeply thirsting—yet no response has he received.
Prayeth Ravidas : Lord ! with Thee I seek shelter.
Whatever way Thou knowest best, grant me liberation. (3) (1)

Jo din āweh so din jāhī

Each day that comes, passes off :
Depart we must; no permanent stay here.
Our companions are marching, so must we also.
Long is the way, as inevitable is death. (1)
Ignorant man ! why this sleep ? wake up ! P. 794
Life in this world thinkst thou, is eternal. (I-Pause)
He who gave life, sustenance also provides—
In each being maintaining a store.[3]
Offer Him homage; discard egoism and acquisitiveness.
At early dawn contemplate in heart the holy Name. (2)
Ended is life, yet the path hast thou not begun to tread.
As comes evening, in all ten directions is darkness spread.
Saith Ravidas : Thoughtless madman !

---

1. Sides.
2. Pur-Salat = Pul-sirat. According to Muslim belief a bridge, a hair's width, erected over hell-fire that only the righteous can cross.
3. Shop.

In this world, place of destruction[1]—
The Lord hast thou not contemplated. (3) (2)

Ūchei mandarsāl rasoī

One may possess lofty mansions and cooking houses—
After death not for an hour can one abide in these. (1)
This body is as a straw-screen :
As is the straw burnt, only dust remains. (I-Pause)
Brothers, relations, family and friends
Want the deceased early to be pushed out of home. (2)
The wife of his home that kept clinging to his bosom,
From him runs away, crying, 'Ghost, ghost.' ! (3)
Saith Ravidas : Ruined[2] is the whole world :
We by uttering God's Name have found release. (4) (3)

In the Measure Suhi—Composition of the Venerable Sheikh Farid
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tapi tapi lūhi lūhi hāth maroroṇ

In fever of anguish I burn and in agony twist my hands.
In frenzy of passion the Beloved I seek.
Beloved, Thou hast taken some offence at me.
I am to blame for this, not He. (1)
Of the Beloved's true worth was I ignorant.
When youth is passed, into regrets am I fallen. (I-Pause)
Thou Koel sable-winged, what has darkened thee ?
Sorrow of separation from the Beloved has singed my wings.
To one separated from the Beloved, what comfort ?
Through the Lord's grace may she find union. (2)
A lone female am I, by unfrequented well,
Of friends and companions bereft :
The Lord in His grace to holy company may join me.
As I look around, God alone I find my succourer. (3)
Cheerless in extreme is our path—sharper than the sword,[3]
Narrow in extreme.
Over such a path lies my way.
Listen Sheikh Farid ! At early dawn thy departure contemplate. (4) (1)

1. Also : House of guile.
2. Robbed.
3. Khanna = Khanda, a two-edged sword.

In the Measure Suhi Lalit—Composition of the Venerable Farid

Beṛā bandhi na sakkiyoṇ bandhan kī velā

Listen, thou Man ! thou didst not look to the tackle of thy boat while it was yet time.
In the swollen lake how shall it float ? (1)
Beloved ! touch not the world's pleasures, frail like Kasumbha,[1]
At a touch withering away. (I-Pause)
This frail life-female is atremble under the master's stern reprimand.
With youth passing, never again will the breast be brimful of milk,
Never again union in love. (2)
Saith Nanak : Listen, sisters of my soul !
As the Lord makes the call,
Life's swan its reluctant flight shall take;
This frame turning a dust heap. (3) (2)

1. A flower yielding a frail reddish yellow dye, symbol of inconstancy inlove and fidelity.

RAGA BILAVAL

In the Name of the Sole Sureme Being, Reality Eternal,
Creator-Immanent, Without Fear, Without Rancour,
Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-Existent, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 795

SCORE 1

Tūṇ sültānu kahā hauṇ mīyāṇ Terī kavan waḍāī

Thou art the King : In calling Thee 'notable' what exaltation for Thee lies ?
Lord ! as directed by the wisdom by Thee granted, I designate Thee—
What power of speech in me, ignorant one ? (1)
Grant me the wisdom Thy laudation to sing,
Thou Lord of supreme will ! and in Thy holy Essence to abide. (I-Pause)
All by Thy will happens; all to Thee known.
Lord ! Thy extent I know not—what cleverness lies in me, blind of sight ? (2)
What of Thy greatness can I narrate ?
After all attempts inexpressible Thou dost remain.
Even a sesame-grain of Thy greatness I express only as be Thy pleasure. (3)
Amid numerous curs am I a stranger; for the good of this body alone I bark.
Even though Nanak be devoid of devotion, still being Thy servant,
The Master's name from him cannot be separated. (4) (1)

Manu mandaru tanu ves kalandaru ghaṭ hī tīrath nhāwāṃ

My mind have I made my temple; my body disguised as a mendicant—
In the holy spot of the self I take ritual bath.
One sole Word in my life-breath abides, wherefor into transmigration I shall not fall again. (1)

Mother mine ! my heart to the gracious Lord is attached :[1]
Who can realize another's agony ?
Of any object other than the Lord have we no thought. (I- Puase)
Lord inaccessible, unknowable, unapproachable, endless !
In your mind keep me ever.
You who are pervasive over water and land, in each being[2]
is your light. (2)
All teaching, wisdom, thought is by Thee given;
Thine all mansions and abodes.
Lord ! other than Thee no other I worship,[3]
Thee lauding ever. (3)
All creation under your shelter lies.
Of all art Thou mindful.
Ths is Nanak's supplication : May all that pleases Thee appeal to him as good. (4) (2)

Āpei shabdu āpei nīshānu

Himself is He the ineffable Reality,[4] Himself its manifestation.
Himself the seeker, Himself the enlightened one.
Himself His might He exercises and views : P. 796
Thou the Bestower of the Name whereby comes approval. (1)
Lord from Maya emancipated ! such as this is Thy Name.
I the seeker; Thou inaccessible, of impenetrable mystery. (I- Pause)
Maya-attachment is like a loose woman,
A bad woman[5], given to casting spells.
Unreal are royal power and beauty, lasting only four days.
By acquisition of the Name turns darkness into light. (2)
Maya have we tasted and discarded; no doubt in our mind is now left.
One whose progenitor is known, as of no lineage cannot be branded.
One attaching solely to the Lord has nothing to fear;
All by the Creator is done and inspired. (3)
Nothing else do I view; to the Master am I a sacrifice.
Saith Nanak : By attachment to the Name comes liberation. (4) (3)

1. Lit. Stitched with a penetrating needle.
2. Vessel.
3. Know, recognize.
4. Shabda (this is a mystical term).
5. Implies a witch or a harlot.

Guru-bachanīṇ manu sahaj dhiyānei

By guidance of the Master's Word is the mind poised in contemplation;
By devotion to the Lord is the mind fixed in faith.
Egoists mad, in delusion are lost.
How without the Lord may one find peace ?
By the Master's Word is the Lord realized. (1)
Mother mine ! how without sight of the Lord may I live ?
For an instant lives not the self in separation from[1] the Lord —
The holy Preceptor this realization has granted. (I-Pause)
Forgetfulness of the Lord to me is death in agony.
With each breath and morsel the Lord I contemplate and seek.
Ever am I in dispassion with the world for the Lord,
The Name Divine alone beholding.
Now by the Master's teaching realize I the Lord to be by me. (2)
By devotion to the Master may be expressed the Lord's inexpressible discourse,
That sight of the Lord, inaccessible, unknowable may bestow.
Other than the doings ordained by the Master, what else is worth doing?
By absorption in the Master's Word is effaced egoism. (3)
The egoist, possessed of false capital, from the Lord is alienated;
The God-directed by devotion to the Name get approbation.
The Lord in His grace has made me slave of His slaves.
To Nanak, servant of God, the Name Divine is wealth and capital. (4) (4)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dhrigu dhrigu khāiyā dhrigu dhrigu soiyā dhrigu dhrigu kāpaṛu angi chaṛhāiyā

Without realization of the Lord[2]
Cursed is food, cursed sleep,
Cursed is raiment over the body worn;
Cursed this body along with family,

1. Without.
2. In the original, this phrase occurs at the end of the verse.

Because of which in this life is not attained the Lord.
This ladder, once slipped from under the feet, may not again be grasped;
Then wasted is life, devoid of gain. (1)
Duality stands in way of devotion;
From the Divine holy feet it draws the mind away.
Lord Bountiful, life of the universe;
All creatures are Thy servants, whose suffering Thou dost
remove. (I-Pause)
Thou art gracious, Lord of mercy, bountiful —
What are these poor creatures ?
From Thee have all those bound in transmigration got liberation—
Such is the truth.
Those following the Master's guidance are liberated;
The poor egoists remain bound. (2)
Liberated is one that is devoted solely to the Sole Lord,
And ever with Him abides.
Indescribable is the depth and blessed the state of such—
By the holy Eternal exalted.
Those in illusion lost are the egoists— P. 797
Stranded in between.[1] (3)
To those finding His grace, alone comes realization,
And contemplation of the Master's Word.
God's devotees, living even amid Maya are saved.[2] Saith Nanak : Those with good fortune on their forehead recorded,
Destroy death itself. (4) (1)

Atūl kiuṇ toliyā jāe

How may the incalculable Lord be computed ?
Were another like Him, might His realization have.
None His greatness to share :
How may He be evaluated ? (1)
By the Master's grace is He in the self lodged—
By such realization is duality annulled. (I-Pause)
Himself is He gold-tester and the touchstone applies;
Himself testing gold, He into the market puts it.
Himself the weighman to measure the creature's merit :
He alone this secret knows. (2)

1. Lit. Neither on this shore nor on the other have they arrived.
2. Lit. Carried across the water.

From Him has emanated the manifestation of Maya;
Those united by Him, alone are rendered pure.
Those inspired to devotion by Him, alone are devoted :
As Truth pervading the universe He reveals,
The devotee in Truth is immersed. (3)
From Him come devotion and Maya-attachment.[1]
Himself He grants realization; Himself the revealed vision;
Himself the holy Preceptor, Himself is He the holy Word.
Saith Nanak : This He Himself reveals. (4) (2)

Sāhib te sevaku sev sāhib te kyā ko kahai bahānā

By the Lord is appointed the servant;
By the Lord is service taken—
By no means may this Law be escaped.
Such is Thy play—all creation Thou alone dost pervade. (1)
By the holy Preceptor's guidance is one in the Lord's Name absorbed.
Only by grace does one find the holy Preceptor,
And everyday in meditation in equipoise is absorbed. (1-Pause)
What power in man to serve Thee, to be proud thereof ?
Lord ! when Thou dost pull away Thy light,
Who may then deliver discourses to others ? (2)
He Himself is Master and disciple; Himself store of merits :
Man conducts himself as the Lord wills;
As pleases the Almighty. (3)
Saith Nanak : Thou art the Lord immaculate :
None thy secret may penetrate.[2]
On some dost Thou confer greatness in their abodes;
Others wander about in illusion of egoism. (4) (3)

Pūrā thāṭu baṇāiya Pūrei vekhuh ek samānā

The Lord, perfection incarnate, has created this visible show to perfection;
View in it all alike.
The holy Name alone therein is great — lest any should have any feelings of vanity. (1)

---

1. Lit. Running after maya.
2. Lit. None knows Thy doings.

Only one by the holy Preceptor instructed, in the holy Preceptor is absorbed.
Whoever realizes this holy teaching in his inner self,
The Divine Name his being pervades. (I-Pause)
Such is the essence of the teaching of all four Ages,
To mankind is vouchsafed one sole Source of Merit.[1]
In those ages merit lay in continence, austerity, sacred baths;
In Kali-Yuga lies it in laudation of the Lord's Name. (2)
Each age has its own path of piety,
Study this in Vedas and Puranas.
Those that by the Master's guidance have on the Lord meditated,
Meet with His perfect approval. (3)
Saith Nanak : Love the holy Lord : thereby shall your mind of vanity be denuded. P. 798
All that discourse on the Lord and listen to His praise
Shall be blessed;
Those with firm faith shall wealth of devotion find. (4) (4)

Gurmukhi preeti jis noṇ āpe lāe

Whoever by the Master's guidance by the Lord to Himself is devoted,
In his home rises in melodious Bilaval[2] strains the Divine Word;
And devotee-sisters[3] chant paeans of joy.
In union with the Beloved, is he eternally blessed. (1)
May I be a sacrifice to those that in their hearts lodge the Lord—
By the touch of God's devotees find they joy,
And in poised meditation laud the Lord. (I-Pause)
In joy of Thee are they ever dyed in ecstasy;
In their hearts the Lord Himself takes abode.
Ever in beauty they shine,
By the Master's guidance to God are they united. (2)
Dyed by the Master's guidance in the holy Word, with it saturated,
Abiding in their true self, His laudation they chant.
With fast red[4] dye of devotion and joy in the Lord,
their aspect pleases.
Immersed in truth, is this dye unwashable. (3)

1. Lit. Treasure.
2. Bilaval is the name of the musical measure in which this text in composed. It is held to express the mood of joy.
3. Symbol for devotees in the Bhakti tradition.
4. Lit Makes fast devoted repetition of the Name.

With the holy Word in their hearts, their darkness of ignorance lifted,
By the Master's guidance are they to the Beloved united.
Those dyed in holy Truth never again into transmigration fall.
Saith Nanak : The Master, perfectly-endowed, inspires[1] devotion to the Name. (4) (5)

Purei Guru te wadiyāī pāī

By guidance of the Master perfectly-endowed have
I found exaltation;
Spontaneously is the Name in the self lodged;
Egoism and Maya-attachment by the holy Word are annulled :
By the Master's guidance, at the holy Portal have
I found exaltation. (1)
No other task have I in the world except devotion to the Lord.[2]
May I have everlasting joy in my mind;
By the Master's guidance beg I devotion to Thy Name, cherisher of life. (I-Pause)
From the mind is found firm faith
By enlightenment through the holy Word,
By the holy Master granted.
One that beholds with equanimity life and death,
Shall not again die or Yama's terror feel. (2)
In the self[3] lie millions of treasures;
Ever is the self in serene meditation fixed,
Day after day lauding solely the sole Name Divine. (3)
In this world finds the devotee exaltation,
From meditation on the Name by the Master's guidance,
Beholding everywhere the Divine Presence,[4]
Bestower of Eternal bliss—incomprehensible His greatness.[5] (4)
By supreme good luck is the holy Master's touch obtained,
Who has revealed wealth of the Name lying within us,
And in the Divine Word inspired joy.
Saith Nanak : With desire assuaged,
Are mind and body made joyful. (5) (6) (4.6.10)

---

1. Confirms.
2. Original. Jagadish (Lord of the Universe).
3. Lit. In one's home.
4. Lit. Whenever I look, He pervades.
5. Lit. Worth, value.

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Üddam mati Prabh antarjāmī jiu prerei tiuṇ karnā

As grants the Lord, controller of the inner self, power to us to act
And as wisdom He grants, we act.
As the player strums the string and it vibrates,
So do creatures and human beings. (1)
My self ! with the tongue utter the Name Divine. P. 799
By the writ on the forehead inscribed is the Master attained,
Whereby the Lord in the heart comes to abide. (I-Pause)
The creature, caught in Maya wanders along :
Save Thy servant,
As Prahlad in Harnaksh's[1] grip the Lord in His shelter took and saved. (2)
Of how many may we recount the condition.
Who when fallen, by the Lord were ennobled ?
Ravi Das[2] who dragged carcases of cattle, hides ever in his hand—
As under Divine shelter came, was saved. (3)
Lord compassionate to the humble, taking devotees across
ocean of existence,
From sin save us sinners.
Make us servants of the Lord's servants;
Make Nanak Thy humblest slave.[3] (4) (1)

Ham mūrakh mūgadh agiān matī sharṇāgati pūrakh ajanmā

We that are ignorant, thoughtless, devoid of understanding,
To shelter of the Supreme Being unincarnated have come.
Lord ! in your grace save us, stones without merit,
Devoid of grace. (1)
My self ! to the Name Divine be devoted.
By guidance of the Master is obtained the Divine elixir—
All other worthless acts discard. (I-Pause)
The Lord His devotees, His servants has saved :
Save also us without merit—herein lies Thy great merit.

---

1. The devotee Prahlad was son of the arthiest Harnakash (Hrinyakashyapu).
2. A sant who was of the cobbler caste. His bani is included in the holy Granth Sahib.
3. Slave of your slaves.

Lord ! none other than Thee is real.
Contemplation of the Lord by great good fortune comes. (2)
Cursed is the life of those devoid of devotion to the Name.
Great torment they bear,
In recurring births whirled—
Unfortunate, thoughtless, devoid of grace. (3)
The Name is prop of God's devotees,
For whom in primal time is good fortune inscribed.
The holy Preceptor devotion to the Name has confirmed :
Thus is the life of Nanak, servant of God,
made fruitful. (4) (2)

Hamrā chittu lūbhat mohi bikhiyā bahu dūrmati mailu bharā

Our mind full of impurity of foul thinking, to evil passions is attracted.
Lord ! how may we thoughtless beings, without inclination[1]
to serve thee,
Be saved ? (1)
My self ! the mighty Lord's Name contemplate.
As the Lord to His servant has shown grace,
By contact with the Master is he saved.[2] (I-Pause)
Father, Lord, Master ! grant us the wisdom to laud Thee.
Those attached to you are saved, as iron in company with wood. (2)
Of shallow, low understanding are reprobates[3]
That the Lord have not served.
Such are unfortunate, evil-doers
That are born, die and die again and again. (3)
Lord ! those united by you to yourself,
In the Master, Pool of Content take bath.
By devotion to the Lord is removed impurity of foul understanding,
Whereby is the servant Nanak saved.[4] (4) (3)

Āwuh sant miluh mere bhāī mili Hari Hari kathā karuh

Come devotees of God, brethren,
In unison of the Lord discourse.

1. (The original expression would imply power, inclination or opportunity).
2. Lit. Has swum across.
3. Sakta.
4. (As in 2 above).

The Name Divine in Kali-Yuga is the ship;
By help of the Master's Word that is Pilot, go across. (1)
My self ! utter the Lord's laudation :
By good fortune inscribed on the forehead is uttered
His laudation; P. 800
In union with holy company go across the ocean of existence. (I-Pause)
In the city of the body lies the exalted Divine elixir—
You devotees of God ! instruct me how this to attain.
The holy Preceptor, image of the Lord, of sight fulfilling desires you serve—
By contact with him the Divine elixir quaff. (2)
The Name Divine is the delectable[1] elixir—
You devotees of God ! pray have a taste of it.
Those that by the Master's guidance find the Divine elixir sweet,
Of all poisonous tastes grow oblivious. (3)
The Name Divine is holy Divine elixir—
You devotees of God ! quaff it.
Saith Nanak : As by the Master's guidance to the Lord you be devoted,
The four Boons[2] shall you obtain. (4) (4)

Khatrī Brahmaṇu sūdu vaishu ko jāpai Hari mantra japaiṇī

Khatris, Brahmins, Sudras, Vaishyas[3]—
Any of these may contemplate the Master's holy Word.
Venerate the holy Preceptor as image of the Supreme Being—
Day and night serve him. (1)
You devotees of God ! with your eyes behold the holy Preceptor.
Utter words of the Master's Divine teaching—
Thereby obtain all your desires. (I-Pause)
However numerous the devices that we contemplate,
That which is destined alone must happen.
All their own welfare seek :
That alone shall happen that never we thought of. (2)
You devotees of God ! discard egoistic thinking, Hard though that be.

1. Sweet.
2. These are Kama, Artha, Dharma, Moksha, (ad seriatim, fulfilment of desires, wealth, righteous conduct, liberation).
3. These are the four primary Hindu castes, respectively the fighters, teacher-priests, Servitors and cultivators and traders.

Day and night by the holy Preceptor's guidance
On the Name Divine meditate. (3)
Lord ! our thought and wisdom in Thy power lies—
We are only instruments, Thou the player.
Lord Creator of Nanak, Thy servant !
We emit notes as may please Thee. (4) (5)

Anand mūlu dhiyāyo Pūrakhottamu anadin anand anandei

Meditate you on the exalted Supreme Being, source[1] of all bliss,
And day after day have joy.
Thus shall binding fear of Dharamraja be lifted,
And all obligation[2] to death be annulled. (1)
My self! the Name Divine, the Lord contemplate.
By great good fortune is attained the holy Preceptor,
Whereby laudation of the Lord, Supreme Bliss is chanted. (I-Pause)
The ignorant reprobates[3], in Maya-bonds caught,
In Maya keep wandering—
Burning in desires,[4] bound by previous deeds,
Like the oil-presser's ox keep moving along. (2)
Those by the Master's guidance in service to God engaged, are saved—
By great good fortune comes such service.
Those contemplating the Lord all desires[5] obtain—
All their Maya-thongs snapped. (3)
The Lord is Himself Master and devotee[6]—
Himself all and everything.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Himself solely He operates;
We abide as He may keep us. (4) (6)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Partal (Of variable rhythm)
SCORE 13

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bolo bhaiyyā Rāma-Nāmu patit-pāvano

Brother ! utter you the Name Divine, purifier of the fallen;

1. Root.
2. Lit. Being bound under someone's obligation.
3. Sakta.
4. Thirst.
5. Fruit.
6. Servant.

The Lord is saviour of the holy and of devotees. P. 801
All-pervasive is the Lord—
On water and land is the Name Divine pervasive.
Sing ever laudation of the Lord, annuller[1] of suffering. (I-Pause)
Fruitful has the Lord made our life.
The Lord, annuller[1] of suffering, have we contemplated.
The Master, bestower of liberation have we met.
Thereby has the Lord made our life's pilgrimage fruitflul,
That in holy company Divine laudation we sing. (1)
My self ! ever to utterance of the Name Divine shouldst thou be inclined—
Thereby shall attachment to duality be shattered.
One that amidst desires turns desireless,
To the Lord shall be united.
Any that the Name Divine lauds,
Nanak, servant of God, his feet touches. (2) (1.7.4.6.7.17)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Quartets

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nadrīṇ āwai tisu sīūṇ mohu

To the visible world are we attached—
Lord eternal ! how then with Thee may we find union ?
In your grace pray show me the path;
To sash of holy company attach me.[2] (1)
How may we swim across the world, full of poison ?
The holy Preceptor that is the ship, may alone take us across. (I-Pause)
Maya like gusts of wind shakes us;
Thereby are God's devotees ever unshaken,
By pleasure and pain untouched—
The Master stands guardian over them. (2)
Maya the she-serpent, all creation in her coils has caught;
In egoism are creatures destroyed as moths at sight of lamp.
With all self-bedecking the self yet may not attain the Lord :
As is the Lord gracious, with the Master may He bring about union. (3)

1. One that brings about forgetfulness of.
2. Implying, place me under its protection.

In distraction I wander along, after the Divine jewel questing :
This priceless jewel by devices of effort in not attained.
In the self, the Lord's temple, lies this jewel.
As the Master lifted the curtain, by its sight bliss I attained. (4)
Whoever of the Lord has tasted, delight has received;
Yet full with wonder, speechless within.[1]
The Lord, all manifestation of bliss struck my sight.
Nanak, servant of God, uttering Divine laudation,
 in the Lord is absorbed. (5) (1)

Sarb kalyāṇ kīye Gurudev

The Divinely-inspired Preceptor all weal on us has conferred,
As this servant in his service he has engaged.
By contemplation of the Lord inaccessible,
 of mystery impenetrable,
No impediments cling. (1)
Where Divine laudation is sung, is the spot turned pure;
By meditation on the Name Divine are sins vanished. (I-Pause)
In all spots is He Himself pervasive,
Whose great glory since beginning of time shines.
No agony grips, should the Master be gracious. (2)
Any to whose mind the Master's feet taste sweet,
In all spots without impediment abides.
By the holy Preceptor's grace are all joys attained. (3)
The Lord, Supreme Being is turned our guardian,
In all spots visible by our side.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : The Lord His servants cherishes. (4) (2)

Sūkh nidhān Prītam Prabh merei

Beloved Lord, treasure of joy. P. 802
Innumerable are Thy merits.
I, helpless one Thy shelter seek :
Show grace that on the Divine feet I meditate. (1)
Show grace, in my mind be lodged;
Me, without merit take under shelter.[2] (Pause)
With the Lord borne in mind, what suffering can come ?
God's servant feels not Yama's torments.

1. Dumb-like.
2. Lit. Attach me to your sash.

Those with whom the Lord ever abides,
Fled are all their sufferings by contemplation of the Lord. (2)
The Name Divine is prop of mind and body.
In forgetfulness of the Name turns the body dust.
With the Lord borne in mind are all objectives fulfilled.
One forgetful of the Lord is on all abjectly dependent. (3)
As to the Divine lotus feet is our love attached,
Are all ways of foul thinking forgotten.
In their mind and body abides the Divine spell—
Saith Nanak, in the homes of God's devotees ever reigns joy. (4) (3)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
To be sung to the tune of *Iyanaṛīyei
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Maiṇ mani Terī ṭek mereī piyārei maiṇ mani Terī ṭek

Beloved, in Thee finds my self its prop.
Beloved, void are all other devices—
You alone the Saviour. (I-Pause)
Beloved, by contact with the holy Preceptor,
perfectly-endowed,
Comes bliss.
Such alone serve the Master as your grace have.
The Divinely-inspired Preceptor, Master, whose sight
fulfils desires,
With all faculties is endowed.
Saith Nanak : The Master ever in the Presence of the Supreme Being,
The Lord abides. (1)
I find life in hearing tidings of such as their Lord have realized.
To the Name Divine devoted, the Name they expound :
To the Name is their heart attached.
I Thy servant seek Thy servants to serve—
May this blessing by perfect good fortune come to me !
Prays Nanak : Lord ! may I have sight of Thy devotees. (2)

---

* This is a musical direction. To be sung to the tune of Iyanariyei manṛa kae karehi (Telang M.I. 4).

Beloved ! such are called fortunate as in company of the holy abide.
In their company is propitiated the holy[1] Name ambrosial,
And the mind illuminated.
Eliminated is torment of transmigration,
And abject obligation to Yama eliminated :
Saith Nanak : Such alone have the Divine sight,
As their Lord's approval have won. (3)
Lord all-high, beyond limit, who your merit may realize ?
Those lauding Thee, those listening to it, are all saved—
Their numerous sins annulled.
The brute creation, goblins, thoughtless beings, all you save;
Saved are stones.
Nanak, your servant seeks shelter with you,
Ever to you is a sacrifice. (4) (1.4)

Bikhai banu phīkā tyāgi rī sakhīye Nāmu mahā ras pīo

Sister-friend[2] ! discard the tasteless water of satisfaction of passions;
Quaff supreme elixir of the Name :
The whole world devoid of tasting this elixir is ruined,[3]
Its heart never getting joy.
Neither hast thou esteem nor power; to serving the holy betake thyself. P. 803
Saith Nanak : At the Divine Portal are exalted
Those whom the Lord has made His own. (1)
Dear sister-friend ! Maya is a false city,[4] an illusion of the mind,
A mirage, and unstable like tree-shadow.
Dear sister-friend ! unstable is Maya; it goes not with man,
And at the last deserts him.
Those involved in enjoyment of delights, sensual pleasures,[5]
No happiness from these obtain.
Dear sister-friend ! saith Nanak : Blessed are God's devotees
Who on the Name have meditated. (2)
Sister-friend ! make thyself fortunate.
Go and with the holy abide;
In them be absorbed.
There afflicts not suffering, hunger or malady;

1. Pure.
2. Here and subsequently stands for fellow-seeker.
3. Sunk.
4. A mythical city-half way to the sky, implying an illusion.
5. Pleasures of beauty.

And devotion in the Divine lotus feet is fixed.
There is neither birth nor death or transmigration;
Making the mind poised, under shelter of the holy place it.
There occurs not alienation in love nor worldly attachment.
Saith Nanak : Those in this state on the Sole Lord meditate. (3)
The Divine Beloved casting His glance of grace our heart has penetrated;
Spontaneously in His love are we dyed.
In bedecked couch, in union with the Beloved we rest,
And in paeans of joy sing Divine laudation.
The Lord's companion-damsels, in love of the Lord absorbed,
Have their heart's desires fulfilled.
Saith Nanak : United is the wondrous self to the wondrous
Supreme Being—
Inexpressible is this state. (4) (2.5)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 4

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ek rūp saglo pāsārā

From One sole manifestation has appeared all visible expanse.
Himself is He commerce, Himself the trader.[1] (1)
Rare are such as this realization have attained,
That wherever we go, Him alone we behold. (1-Pause)
Numerous His hues, yet unattributed, one sole aspect He has :
Himself the water, Himself waves. (2)
Himself the temple and worship;
Himself priest and the deity. (3)
Himself is He essence of Yoga,[2] Himself the seeker of union.
Nanak's Master ever is immaculate. (4) (1.6)

Āp ūpāwan āp sadharnā

Himself is He creator and upholder of the universe.
Himself inspirer of actions, yet free from their retribution.[3] (1)
Himself the holy Word, Himself its creator.
Himself the glory; Himself with equanimity bears it.[4] (1-Pause)

1. 'Commerce' and 'trader' used symbolically for the operation of the universal law (Hukam) and for the power making it operative.
2. Yoga literally is union—union of the self with the Absolute.
3. Lit. Blame, sin.
4. (To bear glory without losing poise is characteristic of the great in spirit. This idea is found expressed repeatedly in Sikh sacred literature).

Himself is He wielder of the silence, Himself master of utterance.
Himself beyond delusion, by Maya not deluded. (2)
Himself is He hidden, Himself manifest;
Himself in all beings[1] abiding, Himself unattached. (3)
Himself unmanifest, yet with creation involved.
Saith Nanak : All such are the Lord's marvels.[2] (4) (2.7)

Bhūlei māragu jineh jineh batāiyā

By great good fortune is attained the Master
Who to those strayed, the way has shown. (1)
My self ! the Name Divine ever remember and contemplate.
In my heart are lodged the beloved Divine feet (I-Pause) P. 804
To my mind that in lust, warth, avarice and attachment
is absorbed,
The Master snapping its bonds, liberation has granted. (2)
Bearing pain and pleasure is man born and then dies :
To it the Master's lotus feet grant resting-place. (3)
The world in the ocean of fire is sinking :
The holy Preceptor, grasping Nanak by the arm
Has taken him across. (4) (3.8)

Tanu manu dhanu arpouṇ sabhu apnā

What is the holy teaching whereby comes inspiration to utterance of the Name Divine ?
To attain it would I dedicated body, mind and substance. (1)
Lord ! full of hope have I come to beg this boon :
By Thy sight is my heart's courtyard decked. (I-Pause)
After numerous devices and much cogitation Have I resolved in holy company to seek liberation for
the self. (2)
Thinking, intellect, concentration, cleverness—nothing avails :
Union comes when He Himself grants it. (3)
By beholding the Lord are my eyes with poise filled.
Saith Nanak : Life of such a one is truly fruitful. (4) (4.9)

Māt pitā sūt sāthi na māyā

Mother, father, progeny, wealth—nothing with man lasts.
In holy company is all suffering annulled. (1)
In all beings is the Lord pervasive.

---

1. Vessels.
2. Another interpretation : All are beggars before the the Lord.

With the tongue the Lord's Name utter, that no suffering cling to thee. (I-Pause)
Thirst, hunger and oppressive heat[1] had gripped me :
By utterance of Divine laudation has come cooling comfort. (2)
Despite a million devices poise have I not attained :
By singing Divine laudation the heart feels fulfilled. (3)
Lord controller of the inner self ! grant me devotion :
Lord ! such is Nanak's supplication. (4) (5.10)

Guru pūrā waḍbhāgīṇ pāīyai

By great good fortune is attained the Master, perfectly-endowed,
In holy company is the Name Divine meditated on. (1)
Transcendent Supreme Being, Thy shelter I seek.
Devotion to the Master's feet annuls sins. (I-Pause)
All other doings are mere worldly routine—
In holy company alone comes liberation. (2)
Simritis, Shastras, Vedas have we studied;
All declare, contemplate you the Name that liberation brings. (3)
Lord ! to Nanak, Thy servant show grace :
By touch of feet of the holy comes liberation. (4) (6.11)

Guru kā shabdu ridei mehṇ chīnā

In our heart the Master's Word have we contemplated,
Whereby are fulfilled all objectives and desires. (1)
As in His grace the Lord granted devotion to His Name,
Over His devotees' faces spread the glow. (I-Pause)
As from a dark well with might of his arm He took us out,
Our victory over the world became resounding. (2)
The lowly He exalts, those empty He fills—
The supreme elixir of the Name ambrosial they receive. (3)
Mind and body becoming pure, sins are burnt away and shattered :
Thus saith Nanak, is the Lord's grace manifested. (4) (7.12)

Sagal manorath pāīyeh mītā

Friend ! by attaching the heart to the Master's lotus feet P. 805
Are all objectives fulfilled. (1)
To those meditating on the Lord am I a sacrifice :
By singing Divine laudation is burning torment assuaged. (I-Pause)

1. (These are used symbolically for desire and suffering arising from unfulfilled worldly desires).

One in holy company forming devotion to the Lord
Has life's objectives fulfilled, and is supremely fortunate. (2)
Lord incarnation of supreme bliss ! be Thou not for an instant forgotten—
Thereby shall come wisdom, honour, joy and bliss in poise. (3)
The mind excessively thirsts after sight of the Lord.
Saith Nanak : Lord ! Thy shelter I seek. (4) (8.13)

Mohi nirgūna sabh gūṇeh bihīmā

Devoid of merit, without good qualities that I am
The Lord in His grace made me His own. (1)
My mind and body by contact with the Lord the aspect of beauty wears :
In His grace has the Lord in my home[1] arrived. (1-Pause)
Lord beloved of devotees, annuller of fear,
Now by devotion to Thee shall we cross the ocean of existence. (2)
Thus in the scriptures[2] is it written :
Uplifting the fallen is the Lord's law.
The Supreme Being that is such, with our eyes have we beheld. (3)
In holy company the Lord manifests Himself.
Thereby saith Nanak, servant of God, flee all sorrows. (4) (9.14)

Kavanu jānai Prabh Tūmrī sevā

Lord ! who knows the right way to serve you,
You that are eternal, inaccessible, of mystery unknowable ? (1)
Lord unfathomable and profound, endless are Thy merits,
Thou who in lofty mansion dost abide.
Lord ! beyond all knowable extent[3] art Thou. (1-Pause)
Other than the Sole Lord none exists :
To you alone is known the way of your worship. (2)
Brother ! nothing by our own effort is accomplished :
Such alone receive devotion to the Name as are so blessed by the Lord. (3)
Saith Nanak : Whoever the Lord's approval wins,
To the Lord, treasure of merit, attains. (4) (10.15)

Māt garbh mehṇ hāth dei rākhiyā

In the mother's womb by strength of His arm He preserved us :
Yet, discarding Divine elixir, poisonous fruit has man tasted. (1)

1. Symbol for the self.
2. Vedas.
3. Limit.

To the Lord be devoted; all entanglements discard.
Thou thoughtless one ! as approaches Yama, the body
in a wretched state lies shattered.
Body, mind and wealth man reckons his own;
And for an instant has he not contemplated the Creator. (2)
In the dark well of great illusion fallen,
Behind screen of Maya the Supreme Being has he forgotten. (3)
By great good fortune singing Divine laudation
In holy company has Nanak attained the Lord. (4) (11.16)

Māt pitā sūt bandhap bhāī

Even as mother, father, progeny, relations and brothers,
Saith Nanak, the transcendent Lord is our helper. (1)
The Master, perfectly-endowed, whose word has innumerable merits, beyond count,
Is provider of joy in poise and bliss abounding. (I-Pause)
The Lord Himself all our objectives accomplishes :
By contemplation of the Lord are our purposes fulfilled. (2)
By contemplation of the Creator,[1] provider of prosperity,
righteousness,
Fulfilment of desires and liberation[2] P. 806
Is our endeavour brought to fulfilment. (3)
Saith Nanak : In holy company bliss have we enjoyed—
At our true home[3] we arrived, by the Master, perfectly endowed, conducted. (4) (12.17)

Sarb nidhān pūran Gurdev

The Divinely-inspired Master, perfectly-endowed,
Of all treasures[4] is repository. (I-Pause)
Man in contemplation of the Name Divine finds life;
The reprobate[5] meets death with ignominy. (1)
The Name Divine is our protector.
The wretched reprobate only in vain acts engages. (2)
Many by slandering others rot in death—
In death their necks and feet in nooses bound. (3)
Saith Nanak ; Whoever the Name contemplates,
Yama approaches him not. (4) (13.18)

---

1. Vidhātā = Creator of the cosmos with its laws.
2. (These are the four supreme objectives of life according to Indian belief).
3. (The Divine Presence is implied).
4. Used symbolically for spiritual qualities.
5. Sakta.

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjun Dev
Duos
SCORE 4
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kavan sanjog miloun Prabh apnei

Under what auspicious conjunction[1] with the Lord may I find union ?
This by contemplation of the Lord perpetually,
Each minute, with each winking of the eye, shall come. (1)
May I ever on the Lord's lotus feet meditate :
Which is the wisdom whereby the Beloved I may attain ? (I-Pasue)
Lord ! Thy grace show,
That Nanak never of the Lord may be forgetful. (2) (1.19)

Charan kamal Prabh hirday dhiyāe

As with devotion of heart are the Lord's lotus feet meditated on,
Gone are maladies and all joys attained. (1)
The Master annulling my suffering, the boon conferred, Whereby my incarnation fruitful has become,
And my life approved of the Lord. (I-Pasue)
Inexpressible is Divine discourse; ambrosial the Divine Word.
Saith Nanak : The enlightened in contemplation of these find eternal life. (2) (2.20)

Shānti pāī Guru Satiguru pūrei

The holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed, peace on us
has conferred;
Arisen are joys, and the mystic trumpets[2] sound. (I-Pause)
Gone are maladies, sins and torments :
By contemplation of the Lord are sins fled. (1)
Beauteous females[3] ! in unison find you joy :
Guru Nanak my honour has exalted. (2) (3.21)

Mamtā moh dhroh madi matā bandhani bāndhiyā ati bikrāl

Man wine-intoxicated with acquisitiveness, attachment, fraud
In terrible bonds is bound :
In evil-doing each day his life declining,
In nooses of Yama's snares caught. (1)

---

1. Conjunction of planets is meant.
2. Anhad ture, implies experience of spiritual ecstasy.
3. Implies God's devotees.

Lord compassionate to the humble ! your shelter I seek.
In this most impassable mighty ocean,
By touch of dust of feet of the holy grant me liberation. (I-Pause)
Lord provider of bliss, almighty,
Our life and body all is Thy property.
Supreme Lord, Nanak's Master, ever compassionate,
Bonds of my doubt pray snap. (2) (4.22)

Sagal anandu kīyā Parameshari apṇā birdu samāriyā

The Lord all joys on me conferred, thus fulfilling His law :
The holy to me have shown grace, bringing bloom of joy
to the whole family. (1)
Himself has the holy Preceptor accomplished the cherished objective. P. 807
To Hargobind[1] has he granted long life,
And contemplated for us joy, happiness and weal. (I-Pause) Forest-glades, glass-blades, the three worlds—all have put on verdure;
All creation by the Lord is propped.
Saith Nanak : Achieved are our heart's cherished objectives;
Fulfilled are my desires. (2) (5.23)

Jisu ūpari hovat dayāl

To whomsoever is the Lord gracious,
By Divine contemplation is his death annulled. (I-Pause)
In holy company to the Lord be devoted :
By chanting Divine laudation is snapped Yama's snare. (1)
Himself the holy Preceptor, Himself is He cherisher :
Nanak dust of feet of His devotees seeks. (2) (6.24)

Mana mehṇ sinchahi Hari Hari Nām

Over the mind sprinkle the Name Divine;
Each day sing laudation of Divine attributes. (1)
My self ! cherish you such love to the Lord,
That day and night you apprehend Him close to you. (I-Pause)
Saith Nanak : Whoever has unblemished[2] good fortune,
His mind to the Divine feet in devotion is attached. (2) (7.25)

---

1. Name of Guru Arjan Dev's son, later the Sixth Guru. The reference is to his recovery from an attack of small-pox.
2. Pure.

Rogu gaiyā Prabhi āpi gawāiyā

Gone is the malady,[1] by the Lord Himself removed;
Came sleep,[2] and joy with poise entered the self. (1-Pause)
Brother, to your fill partake of the provision of the holy Word,
And with your heart on the Name ambrosial meditate. (1)
Nanak with the Master, perfectly-endowed seeks shelter,
Who the honour of his Name has preserved. (2) (8.26)

Satiguru kari dīnei asthir ghar bār

The holy Preceptor my house and home has made inviolable. (Pause)
Whoever these abodes[3] traduces, is by the Lord already cursed. (1) Nanak, servant of God, seeks shelter with Him whose command is irrefrangible, limitless. (2) (9.27)

Tāp santāp saglei gaye binasei te rog

*Gone are maladies and their torments;
Shattered is disease.
The transcendent Lord to thee[4] has shown grace—
Now enter thou joy of the holy. (Pause)
All joys thy[4] sphere have entered; thy[4] mind and body from maladies freed.
Ever sing laudation of the Name—this medicine is truly efficacious. (1)
Now the auspicious conjunction of planets[5] reigns—
Come and in your home and native spot[6] abide.
Saith Nanak : By favour of the Lord is separation
annulled. (2) (10.28)

Kāhū sangi na chālahi Māyā janjāl

Possessions accompany not man—these are all Maya snares.
As visualized by the holy, even great kings[7] have departed empty-handed. (Pause)
Those with egoistic thinking shall again and again be shattered—
Such is the law[8] since primal time.

---

1. Used symbolically for the state of doubt and duality.
2. Used symbolically in relation to 'malady'.
3. Refers to the holy temples and other sacred spots erected by the Guru.
* (This hymn is one of the several referring to the happy event of the recovery of the child Hargobind from small-pox).
4. That is, the child Hargobind, son of Guru Arjan Dev.
5. Refers here in general to the happy occasion.
6. That is, Amritsar.
7. Lords of umbrellas.
8. Ordained way, law.

Those in terrible poisonous passions involved
In numerous births caught, are born and die. (1)
The holy utter the everlasting Word, and ever to the Lord's Name give utterance.
Saith Nanak : Those deeply devoted to the Lord,[1]
Contemplating Him, liberation find. (2) (11.29)

Sahaj samādhi anand sūkh pūrei Guri din

By our absorption[2] in poise has the Master perfectly-endowed Granted us bliss and joy.
As His ambrosial attributes we contemplate, P. 808
Ever is the Lord our succourer and ever by us. (Pause)
Of those so blessed resounds the victory—all creation cherishing them.
By favour of the holy Preceptor, image of the Lord
No impediment to them attaches. (1)
All are compliant[3] to him whose helper is the gracious Lord.
Saith Nanak : Eternally with the Master lie great merits. (2) (12.30)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Quartets

SCORE 6

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mrit mandal jagu sājiyā jiūṃ bālū ghar bār

The world is sphere of mortality, as house built of sand :
In a short while is this shattered, as paper by drops of water. (1)
To my purport lend ear; visualize and contemplate truth;
Accomplished yogis, yoga-practitioners,
householders, yogis—
All their house and home have left behind. (1-Pause)
As dream at night-time, such is the world :
All that is visible must shatter.
Thou thoughtless one, why to it be attached ? (2)
See with eyes wide open—where are your brothers and friends ?
Each as his turn came has departed;

1. Dyed red in devotion.
2. This is Sahaj Samādhi, in contradistinction to the Samadhi or state of absorption brought on by the practice of hatha-yoga.
3. Servants.

Of others the departure is at hand,[1]
As their turn comes. (3)
Those serving the Master, perfectly-endowed, at the Divine
Portal stay immutable.
Nanak, servant of God, is the Lord's slave :
Lord ! protect Thou his honour. (4) (1.31)

Lokan kīyāṇ waḍiyāīyāṇ baisantari pāgouṇ

Praise of the world shall I cast in fire;
May my utterance be such whereby union with the Beloved may come. (1)
Should the Lord show grace, in devotion may I engage.
The mind in desires is involved :
By touch of the Master
These may I cast off. (I-Pause)
Such is my supplication : This self may I sacrifice.
For wedded bliss with the Beloved for an instant,
All other substance shall I sacrifice. (2)
By touch of the Master are cast off the five accompanying evils,
As also rancour and attachment.
As is the heart illuminated, night and day am I awake.[2] (3)
Only such as have good fortune on forehead inscribed,
To seek wedded bliss to the Lord's shelter have come.
Saith Nanak : Such have attained Him,
Their mind and body made joyful.[3] (4) (2.32)

Lāl rangu tis kau lagā jis ke waḍ bhāgā

With great good fortune is acquired the red dye of devotion.
Never is this soiled nor gets fouled with spots. (1)
As the Lord, fount[4] of joy we attained, with joyful mien He met us—
In the heart spontaneously absorbed,
Discarded He may not be. (I-Pause)
Thereafter grips not old age or death, nor afflicts suffering.
Amrita to satiety have we quaffed,
Whereby has the Master made us immortal. (2)
Only such realize value of the Name Divine invaluable

1. Others, as their turn comes, shall depart.
2. Used symbolically.
3. Lit. Cool.
4. Provider, donor.

As have tasted of it :
Inexpressible its worth—what utterance to it can I give ? (3)
Transcendent Supreme Being ! by Thy sight are fulfilled
our objectives;
In Thy Word lies treasure of merit.
May I attain dust of feet of Thy devotee[1]— P. 809
To Thee is Nanak a sacrifice. (4) (3.33)

Rākhau apnī sharaṇi Prabh mohi kirpā dhārei

Lord ! in your grace under your protection keep me :
I, low and thoughtless, know not the way of service. (1)
Cherished Beloved, in Thee lies my source of esteem.
We sinners are ever erring, you ever forgiving. (I-Pause)
We indulge ever in innumerable sins, you benevolent[2] to us, lacking merit :
In association with the bondwoman Maya the Lord we discard—
Such be our deeds. (2)
You all boons in compassion grant to us—we ungrateful remain—
To Thy bounty attached, yet forgetful of the Donor. (3)
Nothing outside Thy power lies, Thou annuller
of transmigration.[3]
Saith Nanak : Under shelter of the Master compassionate have I come :
Save me, one thoughtless. (4) (4.34)

Doshu na kāhū dījīyai Pradhu apnā dhiyāīyai

Lay blame on none; on the Lord meditate.
My self ! laud Thou Him whose service plentiful joy brings. (1)
Beloved ! other than Thee to whom to state our complaint ?
Thou the Master compassionate; all blemishes in us lie. (I-Pause)
As you keep, I abide—no other way is there.
Thy Name, true prop, is help of the helpless. (2)
All your doings find we good; thus is the self liberated.
Substance all is Thine; all devices too Thine. (3)
Should it so please the Lord, His feet would I wash, do service.
Lord ! in Thy grace and compassion grant,
That Nanak Thy laudation may sing. (4) (5.35)

---

1. Servant, slave.
2. Original, Master, lord of bounty.
3. Existence in the world.

Miratu hansai sir ūparei pasūā nahīn būjhai

Death over his head laughs derisively—
Man, thoughtless as animal, realizes not this.
Caught in disputation, pleasure, pride, of death is man unmindful. (1)
Serve the holy Preceptor; why in this unfortunate state go about ?
Why at the sigh of glowing Kasumba[1] in illusion be involved ? (1-Pause)
With sins has man accummulated wealth, to put it to use :
As dust with dust is mingled, unclad shall he depart. (2)
Those for whose sake all struggle you make, your foes shall turn,
And in your last state desert you—
Why burn in wrath for their sake ? (3)
Such alone turn God's servants and humble as dust,
As have good fortune on forehead inscribed.
Saith Nanak : Under the holy Preceptor's shelter
Are our bonds snapped. (4) (6.36)

Pingul parbat pāri karei khal chatūr bakītā

As purified by the Master's touch, may one maimed[2]
cross a mountain,
One ignorant wisely discourse;
And the blind the three worlds behold. (1)
Friend ! listen to praise of holy company :
Thereby is cast off impurity, gone are millions of sins
And purified the mind. (1-Pause)
Such is the Lord's devotion, whereby a worm[3] an elephant has overthrown.
Whomsoever the Lord His own has made, fearlessness on him has conferred. (2)
Thereby turns the tiger[3] meek as cat, a blade appears a mountain; P. 810
Those toiling for half a farthing[4] turn prosperous, rich[5] (3)
What of its greatness may I discourse ? Innumerable are its merits.
In your grace grant devotion to the Name to Nanak,
Slave of your house.[6] (4) (7.37)

---

1. A flower with a frail dye, symbol of impermanence.
2. (These images are symbolic).
3. (These images again are symbolic).
4. Dam = Dām, a small copper coin.
5. Used symbolically.
6. Also interpreted as : Starved of your sight.

Aham-büddhi parbād nīt lobh rasnā sādi

One possessing egoistic thought ever in disputation is engaged,
His tongue delighting in taste of avarice;
Involved in attachment to his household,
To fraud and false passions attached. (1)
By grace of the Master, perfectly-endowed such is the vision striking the eye :
Royal power, substance, wealth, beauty—-
All without devotion to the Name are worthless. (I-Pause) Attachment to beauty, delight in incense—bearing objects or fragrance,
Clothing and bodily pleasures—
All to this sinful body joined, turn foul. (2)
After long whirling in transmigration is to the self the human incarnation granted.
This body in an instant perishes.
Should man of this opportunity make waste,
In numerous incarnations may he wander. (3)
By Divine grace is met the Master,
Whereby in wonder the Lord have we contemplated.
Then saith Nanak, comes joy in poise
And is raised joyful music.[1] (4) (8.38)

Charan bhaye sant bohithā tarei sāgaru jet

Feet of the holy have became our ship, whereby is the ocean of existence crossed.
As is the secret of the Master unravelled,
In the forest have we found the way. (1)
To the Lord are we infinitely[2] devoted;
In all states of rising and sitting, the Lord in mind
we bear. (I-Pause)
As holy company we entered, the five thieves[3] took flight :
Then was our capital safe; with great gain made,
And with good acclaim we returned. (2)
Our station immutable, no shaking in anxiety have we;
Effaced are doubt and illusion, and the Lord with our eyes have we beheld. (3)

1. Used symbolically for the state of spiritual bliss.
2. ('Hari' is repeated in this line nine times).
3. (Sources of evil are implied).

Thou of profound merit, lord of qualities,
What of Thy merits can we express ?
Saith Nanak : In holy company is attained ambrosia of Divine devotion. (4) (9.39)

Binu sādhū jo jīvanā teto birthārī

Life without contact with the holy is all a waste.
In their company are all illusions effaced,
And the supreme state by us attained. (1)
May I be a sacrifice to the day when holy company we joined :
Again and again to it I sacrifice
My body, mind, self. (I-Pause)
Thus am I of attachment relieved, thus is this confirmed,
That the mind dust of all is turned,
And shattered is egoism. (2)
Calumny, anxiety, malice against others,
In an instant are burnt away.
Have come to us Divine grace and compassion
And we have attained vision of the Lord near, not remote. (3)
Joyful[1] are body and mind, and from the world are we released.
Saith Nanak : In the Divine vision is centred
Love of our heart, life and true wealth. (4) (10.40)

Tehal karouṇ Terei dās kī pag jhāroun bāl

May I serve Thy devotee,[2] with my hair wipe his feet !
To him dedicating my head, from him hear of Thy joy-giving qualities. (1)
By union with you my heart finds life—
Compassionate Lord ! grant me union.
By contemplation of the gracious Lord is my heart night and day in bliss. (I-Pause) P. 811
With God's devotees, saviours of the world, shall I seek shelter.
Lord ! grant me in charity dust of feet of holy congregation. (2)
Reasoning or cleverness have I none, nor any praxis :
Pray from doubt, fear and attachment save me,
And Yama's snare snap. (3)
Lord of compassion, cherishing father ! this supplication I make :
May I sing thy laudation in holy company,
Abode of bliss. (4) (11.41)

---

1. Cool.
2. Servant.

Kītā loṛeh so karai Tūjh binu kachhu nāhīṇ

Whatever be Thy will, dost Thou accomplish—none besides Thee has the power;
Yama's minions beholding your might,[1] get aside.[2] (1)
Lord almighty, Divine Enlightener, perfection incarnate,
By your grace comes release, and shattered is egoism. (I-Pause)
After long search have we found, all other than the Name is unreal.[3]
In holy company lie all joys of life—Lord, for this fulfil my desire. (2)
As Thou dost guide, I follow—all clever thinking burnt away.
In all spots, Thou compassionate to the humble, art Thou pervasive. (3)
All boons from Thee we seek—these by great good fortune are attained.
Nanak's supplication, Lord ! to you is :
May I find life in chanting Divine laudation. (4) (12.42)

Sādh sangati kai bāsbai kalmal sabhi nasnā

Of those abiding in holy company all sins flee.
By dyeing in devotion to the Lord is one not gripped by
transmigration.[4] (1)
By utterance of the Name Divine is the tongue made holy;[5]
By uttering the Master's Word are mind and body made pure. (I-Pause)
By tasting of Divine elixir is the heart fulfilled and joyous :
Illuminated understanding then manifests itself;
And the lotus of the heart from Maya turned away,
is in bloom. (2)
Has come cool poise and content, assuaged is thirst;[6]
Stopped is the mind's wandering in all[7] directions,
And in the spot of purity it abides. (3)
The Divine Saviour has saved me, burnt to ashes our doubts.
By beholding the holy Preceptor has Nanak attained treasure
of the Name
And become joyful. (4) (13.43)

---

1. Glory.
2. Leave alone the self.
3. False.
4. Being caught in the womb.
5. Pure.
6. Used symbolically.
7. Ten.

Pāṇī pakkhā pīsu dās kai tab hohi nihāl

In drawing water for God's devotee, waving the fan,
And grinding corn for him find I joy.
Burn away in fire royal power, property and offices of authority.[1] (1)
Touch the feet of servitors of the holy;
Leave aside masters of wealth and wielders of royal power.[2] (I-Pause)
Coarse[3] food-grains coming from the holy equals all treasures;
Thirty-six viands from the reprobate's[4] home are as poison. (2)
One wearing tattered blanket of the holy feels not unclad;
Wearing the reprobate's[4] silken robes[5] is source of ignominy. (3)
One associating with the reprobate[4] no fulfilment finds;
One serving God's devotees finds release here and in the hereafter. (4)
Lord ! all by you is accomplished; you the creation have made.
Nanak by inspiration of sight of the holy blessed,
Divine laudation sings. (5) (14.44) P. 812

Sravanīṇ sūnouṇ Hari Hari Thākur jasu gāwouṇ

By my ears, may I listen to the Name Divine, and the Lord's laudation sing;
At the feet of the holy Preceptor may I place my hands and head
And on the Name Divine meditate ! (1)
Gracious Lord ! show grace that this treasure and such miraculous/powers[6] I attain,
That dust of feet of the holy to my forehead I apply. (I-Pause)
In great, utter humility this supplication I make :
Discarding egoism, feet of the holy may I rub,
And among the holy be absorbed. (2)
Not for a breath may I of the Lord be forgetful,
And stray nowhere else.
By sight of the Master, of sight unfailing to bless,
My pride and attachment may I efface. (3)
With purity, content, compassion and righteousness may
I deck myself.

1. Shiqdār would be a high civil official in Mughal times.
2. Lords of the umbrella.
3. Lit. Dry, without accompaniment of vegetable curry etc.
4. Sakta.
5. Sirpao = Ceremonial dress covering the body all over.
6. Siddhi = Siddhī, miraculous powers acquired through success in yoga-praxis.

Saith Nanak : By winning approval of the Lord
May I be of fruitful happy matrimony.[1] (4) (15.45)

Aṭal bachan sādhū janāṇ sabh mehṇ pragṭāiyā

In all scriptures is made manifest,
The irrevocable Word of the holy.
One entering holy company union with the Divine
Monarch attains. (1)
Such is the faith inspired in the Lord,
By whose contemplation is attained joy.
Others lay claim to various things—
The Master the Lord into our self[2] has brought. (I-Pause)
The Lord the honour of those seeking His shelter protects—
Have no doubt of this.
In the soil of action[3] sow the Name Divine[4]—
Hard to attain again is such occasion. (2)
Almighty is the Lord, controller of the inner self;
The greatly fallen He purifies—such is the Lord's law. (3)
Listen, mankind ! be not deluded by Maya.
Saith Nanak : The honour of such alone is saved
As by the Lord are invested with grace. (4) (16.46)

Māṭī te jini sājiyā kari dūrlabh deh

He who from clay fashioned thee, and shaped your body hard to attain;
And who keeps concealed numerous faults in your mind,
Pure though be its look—
Why in mind be forgetful of the Lord of such qualities ?
Those discarding the Lord and to other than God attached,
Into dust shall mingle. (I-Pause)
With each breath contemplate Him—
Herein delay not;
Discarding false shows, in the Lord be absorbed,
Throwing off false attachments. (2)
Serve by the guidance by the Master granted,
The Lord who is sole, yet innumerable hues and forms has made,
And who shall ever be. (3)

---

1. As elsewhere, the image of the blessed wife expresses true, approved devotion.
2. Home.
3. Implies the human life.
4. Implies devotion.

Thou who art higher than the highest, supreme,
In all forms manifested—
Make Nanak slave of Thy slaves. (4) (17.47)

Ek ṭek Gobind kī tyāgī an ās

With the Lord solely have we sought shelter, and hope in aught else have discarded—
The Lord who is almighty, perfect repository of merit. (1)
The Name Divine is His devotees' prop : The Lord's feet they worship.
To the devotees' heart is the Lord its shelter. (I-Pause)
Himself He saves, grants boons and Himself cherishes creation.
The Lord compassionate to the humble, ocean of grace
With each breath, of the creation is mindful. (2) P. 813
Whatever the Creator does, in that lies our exaltation.
Such is the teaching of the Master, perfectly-endowed :
In obedience to the Lord's will lies joy. (3)
God's devotee is one that discarding anxiety, apprehension and calculations,
His ordinance has realized.
In love of the Lord who dies not, nor deserts us,
Is Nanak absorbed. (4) (18.48)

Mahā tapati te bhayee shanti parsat pāp nāṭhei

By touch of the Master is the terrible flaming fire[1] assuaged
And fled are sins.
We that in the dark well were rotting, by strength of His arm
He extricated us. (1)
Those by whose touch is the heart joyful, who confer gift of life
Are our true friends—we dust of their feet. (I-Pause)
The writ inscribed in primal time is now fulfilled :
As in company of the holy we abide, are our objectives achieved. (2)
Shattered are fears of the three worlds, the abode of joy have we attained,
As the Master, gifted with all power, showed grace
And the name in our mind came to abide. (3)
Lord ! Thou art Nanak's support and prop—
Thou who art almighty, inaccessible beyond limit. (4) (19.49)

1. (This is the fire of desire).

Soī malīnu dīnu hīnu jisu Prabhu bisrānā

He alone is impure, indigent and low
Who of the Lord is forgetful :
Struck with ignorance, the Creator he reckons not,
And with himself is conceited.[1] (1)
Suffering comes when the Lord is forgotten;
Joy as the mind He enters.
God's devotees by ever lauding Him in joy abide. (I-Pause)
The exalted He makes humble; the humble in an instant exalts :
Beyond expression is value of the Lord's might. (2)
As in beholding the spectacle of the world's hue and form
are we absorbed,
Has the day of departure arrived—
Life a dream is then turned;
Our deeds done alone accompany us. (3)
Lord Almighty, Thy shelter we seek.
Day and night Nanak the Lord contemplates,
And ever to Him is a sacrifice. (4) (20.50)

Jalu ḍhowuṇh ih sīs kari kar pag pakhlāwouṇ

On my head may I carry water; with my hands wash feet of the holy Preceptor;
To him may I be a sacrifice a million times—
By his sight find life. (1)
In mind I make the resolve, from the Lord seeking its fulfilment,
That home of the holy I may sweep,
And over him wave the fan. (I-Pause)
The holy utter words of ambrosial Divine merits;
This to my mind I offer to quaff.
By this elixir comes peace and fulfilment,
And is assuaged the fire of evil passions. (2)
As in devotion the holy congregation engages, in unison with it
May I sing Divine laudation.
To the holy may I bow in reverence,
And dust of their feet to my forehead apply. (3)
In all states of rising and sitting the Name may I utter—
Be this my doing.
This is Nanak's supplication : Lord ! in Thy shelter may I
be absorbed. (4) (21.51)

---

1. Lit. Reckons himself.

Ihu sāgaru soi tarai jo Hari-gūṇa gāe

Such alone swim across this ocean of existence,
As the Divine merits laud;
And in holy company abide, that by great good fortune
Is attained. (1)
Your servant finds life in listening to your holy Word P. 814
That your devotee has uttered.
In the whole universe has become manifest
Your succouring of your servant's honour. (I-Pause)
From the ocean of fire of desire has the Lord saved His devotee
And his burning assuaged.
As has the Master become aidant,
Is water of the name ambrosial over him sprinkled. (2)
As is annulled torment of transmigration,
Attained is joy's abode;
As has come the Lord's approval,
Snapped is the string of doubt and attachment. (3)
Believe not that any other has power—all in the Lord's hand lies.
In company of the holy has Nanak all joys attained. (4) (22.52)

Bandhan kāṭei āpi Prabhi hoā kirpāl

As the Lord became gracious, our bonds He Himself snapped.
In glance of the Lord, Supreme Being,
Compassionate to the humble, lies bliss. (1)
As the Master, perfectly-endowed showed grace,
Was our painful malady annulled.
By grace of the Lord, worthy of meditation,
Became mind body joy-cooled. (I-Pause)
The Name Divine is the medicine whereafter maladies afflict not.
As in holy company the Name to the self becomes endeared,
Suffering then is no more.[1] (2)
With concentrated devotion of heart the Lord's Name you utter :
Under shelter of the holy are sins cast off,
And purified is the mind. (3)
Whoever listens to laudation of the Name Divine, whoever utters it,
Repelled are his afflictions :
This supreme spell Nanak, chanting Divine laudation, utters. (4) (23.53)

1. Not known.

Bhay te üpjai bhagati Prabh antari hoe shānti

From the Lord's fear arises Divine devotion,
And to the mind comes peace.
By uttering the Lord's Name are doubt and illusion shattered. (1)
Whoever has met the Master perfectly-endowed,
joy enters his heart :
Discarding egoistic understanding, to the Master's teaching give ear. (I-Pause)
Contemplate ever the Divine Being, supreme Provider.
May that Being above limits never from my mind be cast off ! (2)
By means of the Master, Divinely-inspired,
Wonder-worker[1]
Is formed devotion to the Divine lotus feet.
Lord ! whoever has your grace, to your service is attached. (3)
The Name ambrosial, store of treasures of blessings have we quaffed;
Thereby are mind and body in bliss.
Prays Nanak : May the Lord, Supreme Bliss, never from my mind be cast off. (4) (24.54)

Trishan būjhī mamtā gayī nāṭhei bhay bharmā

Assuaged is thirst, gone is avarice, fled are fear and illusion.
By the Master fulfilling his righteous function have we attained poise,
And achieved bliss. (1)
By devotion to the Master, perfectly-endowed is my suffering shattered.
Brother ! joyous cool are my mind and body,
And bliss attained. (I-Pause)
Asleep[2] that I was, by Divine contemplation was awakened,[3]
And a wonder beheld :
Quaffing amrita wondrously tasting, was I fulfilled. (2)
Liberated am I myself, liberated[4] my associates,
Liberated my whole family.
At the Divine court, full of purity, is made fruitful Service to the Master, Divinely-inspired. (3)

1. Wonderful.
2. Used symbolically for being caught in desire.
3. Also used symbolically.
4. Carried across the water.

To me, Nanak, that am low, helpless, ignorant, devoid of merit or qualities, P. 815
The Lord showed grace and made me His own. (4) (25.55)

Hari bhagtāṇ kā āsarā an nāhīṇ thāoṇ

The Lord is His devotees' prop—no other shelter have they.
Lord ! Thy Name is their strength, court of appeal,
Family and wealth. (1)
The Lord in His grace His servants has preserved :
Destroyed are traducers after their calumny, gripped by Yama, agent of death. (I-Pause)
God's devotees on one Sole Lord meditate, none other.
To One alone they supplicate, who is all-pervasive. (2)
From God's devotees such is the ancient tale heard :
All evil-doers by the Lord are shattered to pieces,
His devotees exalted. (3)
Nanak states the truth, universally manifest :
The Lord's servants under His shelter lying,
To fear are not subject. (4) (26.56)

Bandhan kāṭai so Prabhū jā kai kal hāth

The Lord, wielder of might,[1] snaps bonds.
By no other deed find we release—save us, Lord ! (1)
Lord, perfectly-compassionate, to Thy shelter have we come ;
Those preserved by the Lord, from worldly ties are emancipated. (I-Pause)
Man by desire, doubt, evil-thinking, attachment is attracted.
In his mind are lodged objects of falsehood,
Of the Supreme Being remaining forgetful. (2)
Supreme effulgence, Being perfection incarnate !
Thine is all creation.
Lord inaccessible, beyond limit ! as be Thy will, I abide. (3)
Lord almighty, to Thy Name grant me devotion.
Saith Nanak : By singing Divine laudation in holy company
Is found liberation. (4) (27.57)

Kavan kavan nahīṇ patrīyā tūmrī partīt

My foul mind ! by attachment to thee how many have not fallen ?
Attracted by the supreme charmer, Maya, hell's way dost thou follow. (1)

---

1. In whose hand is held might.

Mind evilly-inclined, no faith in thee can be reposed—
Greatly art thou inebriated :
The donkey's tether than is untied when loaded. (1-Pause)
Thy prayer, austerity, self-restraint hast thou cancelled,
And to Yama's painful bludgeon-blows[1] subjected thyself.
Thou shameless buffoon, suffering of transmigration dost thou not recall. (2)
From the Lord, ever by thy side thy helper, great friend, dost thou keep apart—
Tied to the five robbers,[2] great affliction to thee has come. (3)
Nanak seeks shelter with the holy who the mind have subdued.
His body, substance, all that is his,
To God's devotees has he dedicated. (4) (28.58)

Üddamu karat anandu bhayā simrat sūkh sār

By endeavouring in the way of God have I found bliss;
In comtemplating God is found essence of joy.
By utterance of the Name Divine is understanding perfected. (1)
In contemplating the Master's lotus feet, and uttering the Name Divine
Find I life.
As the Supreme Being I propitiate,
By my tongue amrita I quaff. (1-Pause)
All creation in joy has lived, all full of yearning for the Lord.
Ever contemplating doing good—no impurity to it attaches. (2) P. 816
Blessed the spot, blessed the denizens where is contemplated
the Name :
There is uttered discourse and God's laudation plentifully,
And all in joyful poise abide. (3)
May the Divine Saviour of the helpless never go out of my mind !
Nanak with the Lord seeks shelter,
In whose hand lies all power. (4) (29.59)

Jini tūṇ bandhi kari chhoḍiyā phūni sūkh mehṇ pāiyā

He who from bondage of the womb released thee, and then granted thee happiness,
Ever His lotus feet contemplate,
That joy to thee may come. (1)

---

1. Rod, bludgeon.
2. Sources of evil are meant.

Maya neither in life nor in death is of any avail.
Rare are such as are attached to Him who this cosmos has created. (I-Pause)
Thou creature of God ! the Creator makes both heat and cold,[1]
And from burning suffering extricates man;
And ant He turns into an elephant, and broken ties reunites. (2)
Those egg-born, placenta-born, perspiration-born, atmosphere-born[2]—
All by the Lord are created.
The deed yielding all benefits[3]
Is ever with faith to be devoted to the Lord. (3)
No power have we to accomplish anything;
Shelter with the Lord's devotee we seek.
Master ! from the dark well of involvement in illusion[4]
Pray extricate Nanak. (4) (30.60)

Khojat khojat maiṇ phirāṇ khojouṇ ban thān

Incessantly have I sought the Lord, wandering over forests and all places—
The Lord beyond Maya's guile, imperishable, of unknowable mystery. (1)
When may I behold the Lord with joy of self ?
Better than waking is the dream-state,
Wherein with the Lord we may abide. (I-Pause)
As to the scriptures adumbrating the caste code I listen,
Still is not assuaged my thirst for the Lord, immortal,
From form, feature and the five elements emancipated. (2)
His essence the devotees may delineate or the rare supreme yogis :
With whomsoever in their grace these come in contact,
Are blessed, great. (3)
Such behold Him within and without;
Shattered are their illusions.
Saith Nanak : Such alone with the Lord have union
As with perfect good fortune[5] are blessed. (4) (31.61)

---

1. Used symbolically for suffering and joy.
2. (These are the four traditionally recognised sources of birth).
3. Fruits.
4. Moha = illusion: applied meaning attachment to the world.
5. Karma = fortune earned through good deeds of previous births.

Jīya jant süprasann bhaye dekh Prabh partāp

All creation on beholding the Lord's glory were delighted in extreme :
The holy Preceptor in his grace this debt[1]
has discharged. (1)
The Master's Word inexhaustible, ever consumed and spent,
Yet available remains :
Fully met are all requirements,[2]
No diminution occurring. (I-Pause)
In holy company by devotion is acquired the Divine treasure without limit :
Dharma, prosperity, fulfilment of desires and liberation,[3]
Without delay are attained. (2)
God's devotees in single-minded devotion propitiate the Lord,
Garnering the Name Divine beyond count. (3)
Lord ! under Thy shelter have we come, Thy greatness lauding.
Saith Nanak : Beyond knowing by us
Is the extent of the Lord without limit. (4) (32.62)

Simari simari pūran Prabhū kāraj bhaye rāsi

By constant contemplation of the Lord, perfection incarnate
Are our objectives fulfilled.
In the Divine city[4] of holy company abides the Creator
By His devotees' side. (I-Pause)
To those supplicating the Master comes no impediment. P. 817
The Divine King is guardian of His devotees' wealth.[5] (1)
Never feel they diminution, their stores ever full—
In their mind and body lodged the lotus feet
Of the Lord Inaccessible, beyond limit. (2)
There all that live in endeavour engaged, are joyous—
No diminution visible :
By grace of the Master, God's devotee, with the Lord
Sovereign of the world, perfection incarnate, having union. (3)
All there cry hail ! glorious is that holy spot.
Saith Nanak : By guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed

---

1. Implies duty of devotion.
2. Used symbolically.
3. These are the four supreme objectives of life.
4. Kartarpur. (This is also the name of the small colony where Guru Nanak Dev spent the later portion of his life. There is another town of the same name near Jullundur).
5. Used symbolically for devotion.

Is attained joy, by contemplation of treasure
of the Name. (4) (32.63)

Hari Hari Hari ārādhīyai hoīyai ārog

By propitiating the Lord is one from maladies freed :
This is Rama's rod that maladies annuls. (I-Pause)
By guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed contemplate
the Lord
And ever His bliss enjoy.
To holy company am I a sacrifice
That such happy conjunction has brought about. (1)
Nanak seeks shelter with the Lord almighty,
By whose contemplation is joy attained and alienation
shattered. (2) (34.64)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Duos

Score 5

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Awari ūpāv sabhi tiyāgīyā dārū Nāmu laiyā

All other devices have we discarded, and taken medicine
of the Name.
Gone are fevers of sin, effaced maladies,
And the mind turned joyful. (1)
As the Master perfectly-endowed have I supplicated,
Removed[1] is all suffering :
The Divine Preserver in His grace has saved me. (I-Pause)
The Lord grasping me by the arm, has pulled me out,
And made me His own.
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the Lord have mind and body grown joyful and fearless. (2) (1.65)

Karu dhari mastak thāpiyā Nāmu dīno dāni

The Lord placing His hand on my forehead in this seat established me,
And boon of the Name granted me.
Ever fruitful is the Supreme Being's service, loss never entailing. (1)
The Lord Himself His devotee's honour preserves :
Whatever the holy contemplate, He grants. (I-Pause)

1. Gone.

God's devotees, seeking shelter with His lotus feet are beloved of Him.[1]
Saith Nanak : Spontaneously united to Him,
In His Light merges their light. (2) (2.66)

Charan kamal kā āsarā dīno Prabhi āpi

The Lord Himself prop of His lotus feet granted me :
His devotees under His shelter are fallen,
Whose glory is everlasting. (1)
The Lord is eternal Preserver—
Holy His service :
In Ramdaspur[2] the Master, Divinely-inspired
His holy rule[3] has established. (1-Pause)
Ever on the Lord meditate—no impediment thereby occurs.
Saith Nanak : By laudation of the Name
Foes out of fear take flight. (2) (3.67)

Mani tani Prabhu ārādhīyai mili sādh samāgai

With concentration of mind and body the Lord
you propitiate,
In concourse of the holy.
As is uttered laudation of the Lord, Yama flees from far. (1)
Whoever the Name Divine contemplates, ever daily is awake[4]—
Magic rites and spells do not affect him, nor the evil eye. (1-Pause) P. 818
By devotion to the Lord are shattered lust, wrath,
Pride-intoxication and attachment.
Saith Nanak : By seeking shelter with the Lord
Is the self absorbed in bliss and joy of devotion to the Lord. (2) (4.68)

Jīya jūgati wasi Prabhū kai jo kahai so karnā

Ordering device of creation's life in the Lord's power lies;
Behoves us to do as He ordains.
Should the Divine King be pleased, no fear need we entertain. (1)
By contemplation of the Supreme Being never shalt thou feel suffering.

---

1. Are His life.
2. The original name of Amritsar.
3. Ram-raj = (Ramrajya—lit. rule of Rama).
4. Used symbolically for being awake to God.

Cherished friend ! by absorbing the Master's teaching[1]
Yama's minions shall approach thee not. (1-Pause)
Almighty is the Lord—none other than He has power.
Saith Nanak : Under the Lord's shelter are we come;
In our mind abides the strength by the holy Eternal given. (2) (5.69)

Simari simari Prabhu āpnā nāṭhā dūkh ṭhāoṇ

By contemplation of the Lord is removed the centre[2] of suffering.
In holy congregation have we found peace,
Wherefrom is no further straying. (1)
To the Master am I a sacrifice, to his feet I dedicate myself;
At sight of the Lord are attained bliss, joy and happiness.
His laudation I sing. (1-Pause)
My life's true gain lies in absorption
In Divine discourse, holy laudation through singing and music.
Saith Nanak : As was the Lord pleased,
The desired objective have I achieved. (2) (6.70)

Dās Terei kī benatī ṛid kari pargāsu

This is Thy servant's prayer : Illumine my heart.
Supreme Being ! by Thy grace are evils destroyed. (1)
Lord, perfect repository of merit ! shelter with Thy lotus feet I seek.
May I contemplate laudation of the Name
While breath in my body lasts. (1-Pause)
Thou that in all creation dost abide,
Art solely to me mother, father, relation.
Nanak seeks shelter with the Lord,
Of holy[3] laudation. (2) (7.71)

Sarb siddhi Hari gāīyai sabhi bhala manāwehṇ

By singing Divine laudation are attained all miraculous powers;
Weal of such a one all seek.
Designating him holy, by his reputation come devotees to meet him. (1)
The Master, perfectly-endowed joy in poise and bliss of liberation to us has provided;

1. 'Guru-Sikh piyare' may also be interpreted as 'cherished disciple of the Master' in the vocative form. So, the rendering would be : 'Cherished disciple of the Master ! then would not Yama's minion approach thee'.
2. Spot.
3. Pure.

By our contemplation of the Name Divine is all creation gracious to us. (I-Pause)
The Lord, repository of merit, in all creation is pervasive.
Saith Nanak : God's devotees beholding His support
In bliss abide. (2) (8.72)

Ardāsi sūṇī dātari Prabhi hoe kirpāl

The Lord, bestower of boons as our supplication He heard, Grace to us showed;
His servant He saved; on the traducer's face was thrown dust. (1)
Thou who art friend of all, the Master's disciple,[1]
None to harass thee seeks after.
The Supreme Being by strength of His arm has preserved thee. (I-Pause)
One Sole Provider for all creation is there, no second.
Thus lays Nanak supplication : In Thee lies my strenght. (2) (9.73)

Mīt hamārei sājanā rākhei Govind

Our friends and well-wishers by the Lord are preserved; Destroyed[2] are traducers—now without anxiety
you abide. (I-Pause)
All objectives the Lord has fulfilled, P. 819
As the Master, Divinely-inspired we contacted,
Whose service ever is fruitful, bringer of the world's acclaim. (1)
Lofty, beyond limit or count
Is the Lord, in whose hand lies all creation.
Saith Nanak : With the Lord I seek shelter who in all spots is with me. (2) (10.74)

Guru pūrā ārādhiyā hoe kirpāl

As to the Master, perfectly-endowed devotion we offered,
The Lord showed grace.
As God's devotee[3] the path to us showed,
Were Yama's snares snapped. (1)
By chanting the Name Divine are effaced suffering, hunger[4] and anxiety.
Are come joy in poise, bliss and happiness,
And all objectives achieved. (I-Pause)

1. Servant, devotee.
2. Dead.
3. Refers to the Guru.
4. Used symbolically for desire.

Assuaged is burning agony: joy-cooled have we become,
As by the Lord Himself preserved.
Nanak to shelter of the Lord,
Of great glory, has come. (11.75)

Dharati sūhāwī saphal thānu pūran bhaye kām

There where the Lord is ever devotedly cherished,
The earth wears aspect of beauty, the spot full of blessing,
Are all objectives fulfilled :
Fled is fear and doubt effaced. (1)
With the holy abides serenity and joy in poise.
Auspicious is the hour in which is the Name Divine contemplated. (I-Pause)
By blessing of the Name those that strayed in obscurity
Renown over the world have acquired.
Saith Nanak : To His shelter have we come
To whom the state of each self is known. (2) (12.76)

Rogu miṭāiyā āpi Prabhi ūpajiyā sūkhu shānti*

The Lord Himself cured the malady, and arose joy and serenity.
The Lord, of mighty glory and wondrous aspect
This boon bestowed. (1)
The Lord, Divine Enlightener in His grace saved the cherished one.[1]
To His shelter are we come who ever is our succourer. (I-Pause)
Never is His servant's prayer unfruitful.
Saith Nanak : All strength with the Lord.
Perfection incarnate, repository of merit, lies. (2) (13.77)

Mari mari janamei jini bisariyā jīvan kā dātā

Ever they die and take birth who of the Bestower of life are forgetful.
God's devotee the Supreme Being has served,
And ever in devotion to Him is dyed. (1)
Joy in poise, bliss abounding has come;
Fulfilled are our objectives.
By contemplation of the Lord, repository of merit,
In concourse of God's devotees have we attained joy. (I-Pause)

---

* Note : This hymn and the three following are an expression of thanks giving to the Lord for restoring health to the child Hargobind, Guru Arjan Dev's Son.

1. Brother.

To the supplication of Thy servant lend ear,
Thou who are controller of the inner self,
Nanak's Lord, who in all spots art pervasive. (2) (14.78)

Tatī wāo na laggaī Pār-Brahm sharṇāī

Under shelter of the Supreme Being, not a whiff of hot air touches us—
In all four directions around us is drawn the line of Divine protection,[1]
No suffering touches us. (1)
The holy Preceptor, perfection incarnate have we met,
Who this state has devised.
Medicine of the Name Divine has he administered,
And to the Sole Lord our devotion attached. (I-Puase)
The Divine Preserver has preserved us, and all maladies removed.
Saith Nanak : In His grace has the Lord our succourer turned. (2) (15.79)

Apṇei bālak āpi rakhīyanu Pār-Brahm Gurudev

The Supreme Being, Divine Enlightener, His children[2] Himself has preserved.
Have come joy, peace and bliss in poise P. 820
And our devotion become fruitful.[3] (I-Pause)
The Lord Himself to His devotees' supplication listened—
Of great might, maladies He effaced and restored the sick to life. (1)
Forgiving our sins, His might, He assumed;
To His servant his heart's desire He granted—
To Him is Nanak a sacrifice. (2) (16.80)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quartets and Duos
Score 6
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Merei Mohan sravaniṇ ih na sūnāe

Divine Charmer ! let not my ears hear this :
The songs, melodies and tunes sung by the reprobate,[4]

---

1. Rama-kār = the line drawn around Sita by Rama to guard her against harm. This however, she overstepped and was carried away by Ravana.
2. Refers particularly to the child Hargobind.
3. Perfected; implied meaning fulfilled, fruitful.
4. Sakta.

That he vainly utters. (I-Pause)
May I ever and always serve the holy, ever endeavouring in this.
Divine Bestower ! may I obtain fearlessness in charity,
And in holy congregation laud the Lord. (1)
May my tongue with uttering the limitless merit of the Lord by dyed;
My eyes in love of the Divine vision suffused.
Shatterer of suffering of the humble, show grace,
And Thy feet in my heart lodge. (2)
May I be lowest of all, and reckon all the lowly above me—
Let me behold such vision.
Confirm in me the holy Preceptor's creed,[1] whereby all pride
I may cast off. (3)
Beyond measure, immeasurable is the gracious Lord, beloved of devotees.
Saith Nanak : Whoever under the Master's shelter has come,
The boon of fearlessness and joy obtains. (4) (1.81)

Prabh jī Tūṃ merei prān adhārai

Lord ! Thou art prop of my life :
To Thee in obeisance I bow, worship Thee lying flat,[2] salute Thee;
Innumerable times to Thee a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
In states of rising, sitting, sleep and wakefulness
May my mind Thee alone contemplate.
Joy and suffering are states of the mind,
Which before Thee it lays. (1)
Thou my shelter, strength, wisdom, wealth;
You alone my family.
Whatever be your doing, that for us is good :
Nanak at sight of your feet is ever in joy. (2) (2.82)

Sūnīyat Prabh tau sagal ūdhāran

Lord ! it is heard Thou art Saviour of all.
I in attachment involved, keeping company with fallen beings,
From my mind have cast Thee off. (I-Pause)
Poisonous[3] evils have I garnered and grasped, Amrita[3] from my mind cast off.
With lust, wrath, avarice and calumny am I in love,
And purity and content cast off. (1)

1. Mantra.
2. Dandaut, a form of worship, in which the worshipper lies flat, touching his forehead to the ground.
3. Used symbolically for wordly wealth and devotion respectively.

Lord ! from these extricate me—
On Thy shelter am I fallen.
Nanak thus supplicates the Lord :
In holy company save this one, destitute.[1] (2) (3.83)

Santan kai sūnīyat Prabh kī bāt

In the abodes of the holy is heard discourse on the Lord :
There day and night arises the tune of Divine discourse,
Laudation and joy and happiness. (I-Pause)
In His grace has the Lord made us His own,
And boon of His Name on us conferred.
Whoever day and night[2] Divine laudation sings,
From lust and wrath is his self freed.[3] (1)
At sight of the Lord are we fulfilled to satiety, P. 821
As on Divine ambrosia we have fed.
Lord ! Nanak shelter of Thy feet seeks—
In Thy grace to holy congregation unite him. (2) (4.84)

Rākh līye apnei jana āp

The Lord His servants has saved :
In His grace the Name Divine has He conferred;
Thereby are shattered suffering and torment. (I-Pause)
Sing all you devotees of God, Divine laudation;
By your tongue raise the jewel music of His praise.
Assuaged thereby is thirst[4] of millions of births,
And by Divine elixir[5] is the self fulfilled. (1)
Feet of the Lord, Donor of bliss have we grasped,
And by the Master's Word uttered the Divine text of prayer.
The ocean of existence have we crossed;
Shattered are doubt and fear.
Saith Nanak : Such is the Lord's might. (2) (5.85)

* Tāpu lāhiyā Guru sirjanhār

The Divine Enlightener, Creator, the fever[6] has removed.
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice,

---

1. Implies one devoid of devotion.
2. All eight pahars.
3. Lust and wrath leave his body.
4. Used symbolically for desire.
5. Used symbolically for the holy Name.

* Note : this hymn is one of the several, expressive of thanksgiving at the recovery of the child Hargobind, Guru Arjan Dev's son.

6. The fever (small-pox) from which Sri Hargobind suffered.

Who before the whole world my honour has saved. (I-Pause)
Placing His hand on the forehead[1] the child[2] He saved.
The Lord granted the supreme elixir of the Name ambrosial. (1)
The benign Lord His servant's honour protects.
What Guru Nanak utters at the Divine Portal finds approval. (2) (6.86)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quartets and Duos
SCORE 7
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Satiguru shabdi ūjāro dīpā

The holy Preceptor by the Word lighted a lamp;
Thereby was shattered darkness[3] of the temple of the self.
And the unique chamber of jewels thrown open. (I-Puase)
Wonderstruck were we in extreme on beholding it—
Beyond expression its greatness.
Into that were we absorbed, with it intoxicated,
Into it entirely[4] wrapped. (1)
Now are for us no entanglements or snares,
Nor a bit of egoism left.
Now is all height[5] annulled, nor are curtains drawn between us.
thou art mine, I Thine. (2)
All that is visible, of the Sole Supreme Being is expanse;
The Sole limitless Lord visible.
Of one is the expanse, one the visible Perfection,
One the prop of life. (3)
Immaculate, immaculate, holy, holy is He.
Saith Nanak : Beyond end or limit, ever limitless ,
Loftier than loftiness is He. (4) (1.87)

Binu Hari kāmi na āvat hei

None other than the Lord avails us.
Maya with which you are absorbed in attachment,
Is only delusive. (I-Pause)
Man in an instant departs, leaving gold and woman and his bed of comfort.

1. (This is a mark of blessing).
2. Sri Hargobind is implied.
3. Used symbolically for enlightenment.
4. Lit. Our warp and woof.
5. Implies the distance separating the self form God, in the experience of identification of the self with the Absolute.

In pleasures of the senses is man entangled, by these attracted,
And the robbers' drug[1] of evil swallows. (1)
A house of straw has he made and decked;
Below it a fire he lights.
Sitting in stubborn arrogance and self-will in such a citadel,
What shall he obtain in his pride ? (2)
Five agents of evil over his head standing, grasping him by the hair
Whirl him about.
Blind thoughtless man seeing nothing. P. 822
Intoxicated with wine of pride is asleep. (3)
Under a snare that is spread is scattered grain—
Like a bird therein is he entangled.
Saith Nanak : To snap my bonds, the holy Preceptor, exalted being
Have I supplicated. (40) (2.88)

Hari Hari Nāmu apār amolī

Limitless, beyond valuing is the Name Divine.
The Lord beloved as life, prop of mind, I contemplate
As the betel-seller the betel. (I-Pause)
As by the Master's teaching in poise am I absorbed,
In dye of love is dyed the garment of my heart.
By good fortune with the Beloved came I face to face—
Never my bliss in matrimony shaken. (1)
Neither beauty nor incense, or fragrance or lamps I possess;
Yet by joy in the Lord in each limb am I in bloom.
Saith Nanak : As with the blessed wife the Beloved has bliss,
Thereby bedecked is my couch. (2) (3.89)

Gobind Gobind Gobind maī

By repetition[2] of the Name Divine, image of the Lord have we become :
Since contacting the gracious holy man,
Cast off is my foul understanding. (I-Pause)
Entirely pervasive is the Lord, perfection incarnate—
To us cool poise has He granted in grace.
Lust, wrath, desire,[3] pride—all from the mind are now eliminated. (1)

---

1. Thagmūrī.
2. 'Gobind' is repeated in this line.
3. Thirst.

From the holy have we grasped the instruction[1]
Of chastity, content, compassion, righteousness and purity.
Saith Nanak : Such as from the depth of heart
Him have realized,
All enlightenment have attained. (2) (4.90)

Kyā ham jīya jant bechārei barni no sākehņ ek romāi

What are we poor creatures ? Not to the extent of a hair can we describe God.
Lord ! limitless is Thy state,
That even Brahma, Shiva, siddhas, sages and Indra
have not realized. (1)
What of it can we describe ? Beyond our power it lies :
Wherever I look, is the Lord pervasive. (I-Pause)
There, where we hear is most terrible torment of Yama,
Lord ! art Thou the helper.
As the Master realization to Nanak has granted,
To the Lord's shelter has he come and His feet grasped. (2) (5.91)

Agam rūp abināshī kartā patit pavit ik nimakh japāīyai

Beyond our reach, eternal is the Creator's essence[2]—
An instant's contemplation of Him to the fallen brings purity.
What is heard of as wondrous, by touch of feet of the holy
is attained—
To your heart therefore attach feet of the holy. (1)
By what device, what discipline may this be attained ?
Tell me, you that are noble of soul,
By what device on Him may we meditate ? (I-Pause)
Even man when a man serves him,
Even in mind bears it.[3]
Nanak with the Ocean of Bliss seeks shelter—
In Thy Name lies my prop. (2) (6.92)

Sant sharaņi sanț țahal karī

With the holy have we sought shelter; the holy have we served :
Thereby from bonds of worldly affairs, from all entanglements
And other concerns have we found release. (I-Pause)
Joy in poise, great bliss has come,
As from the Master the Name Divine we attained.

1. Mant (mantra).
2. Form.
3. (The implication is, then how can God be forgetful of man's devotion ?)

As the Master, perfectly-endowed, from the world turned my mind away, P. 823
Indescribable joy I attained. (1)
The Divine Charmer I beheld close to all—
No spot of Him is devoid, all filled.
In all spots is pervasive the Treasure of Grace :
Saith Nanak, fruitful is my life. (2) (7.93)

Mana kyā kahtā hauṇ kyā kahtā

The mind prompts[1] to one thing; I to another persuade[1] it.
The Lord, all-wise knows all—what before Him can I state ? (I-Pause)
Thou alone knowest our unexpressed state, that in our minds operates.
My self ! till when shalt thou rob others,
When the Lord sees and hears all ? (1)
To know this has my mind felt bliss,
That no other than the Lord is the Creator.
Saith Nanak : As the Master has shown grace,
Never is the dye of Divine devotion washed off. (2) (8.94)

Nindaku aisei hī jhari pāīyai

*Thus do traducers crumble.
Brother ! know by the example, like wall of sand
they fall. (I-Pause)
The traducer, as a fault he notices, is in heart pleased;
To behold good with sorrow is he filled.
Contemplating evil day and night still he may not accomplish it :
Yet in contemplation of evil he dies. (1)
The traducer by the Lord cast off,[2] death grips[3] him :
Towards men of God rancour he practises.
The Lord Himself is Nanak's protector—
What can poor man do against him ? (2) (9.95)

Aisei kāhe bhūl parei

Why this straying into error ?
Man does wrong, then denies it—the Lord ever by us,
Sees and hears all. (I-Pause)

1. Asks.
2. Frogotten.
3. Approaches.
* Note : (This hymn is believed to have been inspired by news of the death of Sulahi's nephew, who like his uncle was aiming to attack the Guru, but was killed in a dispute).

Man buys glass, discarding gold;[1]
With the enemy[2] in love, deserting his true friend,[3]
What is real, he considers unpleasant,[4] what is unreal is to him sweet :
Caught in evil passions he burns. (1)
In a dark well is the creature fallen;
In the dust-storm of darkness, bonds of attachment hold him.
Saith Nanak : Should the Lord be gracious,
Is met the Master, who extricates us by grasping our arm. (2) (10.96)

Mana tan rasnā Hari chīnā

With power of mind and body, with utterance by the tongue have the Lord we contemplated.
Has come bliss, effaced are anxieties—
All joys has the Master on me conferred. (I-Pause)
In place of ignorance has come the state of enlightenment,
From the Lord, all-knowing, all-seeing.
His servants with strength of His arm He saves—
Boyond harm they remain. (1)
To the saint of God[5] am I a sacrifice,
By whose grace the Name Divine I have uttered.
Saith Nanak : Reposing my trust in the Lord,
In none else have I even for an instant reposed belief. (2) (11.97)

Guri pūrai merī rākh lai

The Master, perfectly-endowed my honour has saved.
The Name ambrosial in my heart has he placed,
Whereby is annulled impurity of multiple births. (I-Pause)
Removed are minions of evil and malevolent foes,
As the holy text taught by the Master I have uttered.
What can a helpless foe do P. 824
Against the Lord's might that is so great ? (1)
By constant remembrance of the Lord, lodging in the mind His feet
Joy have I attained.
Nanak has sought shelter with Him who is highest of all. (2) (12.98)

---

1. Glass and gold are used symbolically.
2. Enemy is Maya; friend, God.
3. Implies God.
4. Bitter.
5. Implies the Guru (holy Preceptor).

Sadā sadā japīyai Prabh Nām

Ever the Name Divine contemplate :
Thereby torments not old age, death or suffering,
And in the Hereafter, at the Divine Portal are achieved
all objectives. (I-Pause)
Discarding egoism, the Lord's shelter you seek—
This treasure obtain from the Master.
Then is snapped the noose of transmigration,[1]
And decree of approval at the Eternal Portal obtained. (1)
Whatever be your doing, Lord ! may I find good,
And from my mind be all pride removed.
Saith Nanak : His shelter I seek
Who the whole world has created. (2) (13.99)

Mana tan antari Prabhu āhī

In the mind and body of whoever abides the Lord,
Ever sings Divine laudation and in doing good engages— Invaluable is his utterance.[2] (I-Pause)
All the progenitors of such a one in an instant are liberated,
And his impurity of multiple births removed.
Ever the Lord contemplate,
So that blithely this forest of evil you traverse. (1)
The Lord's feet have I found to be the ship,
Wherewith is the ocean of existence crossed.
Saith Nanak : To the holy servants, devotees of God
Is my heart[3] attached. (2) (14.100)

Dhiroun̤ dekhi Tumhārei rangā

Lord ! beholding your marvels feel I assured[4] of weal.
Thou art the Lord, controller of the inner self,
And with the holy dost abide. (I-Pause)
In an instant the Lord creates and exalts
And on a lowly worm[5] confers royalty. (1)
Never from my heart be put away—
This boon Nanak, Thy servant begs. (2) (15.101)

Achut pūjā jog gopāl

The Lord eternal alone is worthy of worship :
My mind and body to the Lord I dedicate,

---

1. Birth and death.
2. Tongue.
3. Mana.
4. Dhiroun. Lit. am put in poise. 'Assured' is the sense yielded.
5. Used symbolically.

Who all creation cherishes. (I-Pause)
The Lord mighty to grant shelter to the seeker, donor of joy inexpressible,
Ocean of compassion, mightily gracious—
His servant to His bosom[1] clasps to save,
That hot air touches him not. (1)
The gracious Lord,[2] is the devotee's entire wealth and substance.
Nanak, His mendicant, the Lord's sight seeks,
And dust of feet of the holy. (2) (16.102)

Simrat Nāmu koṭi jatan bhaye

Contemplation of the Name millions of devices equals.
As joining the holy congregation Divine laudation I have sung,
Terror-struck are Yama's minions. (1-Pause)
All expiatory rituals have I performed—
Supreme over all is with mind and body the Lord's feet to grasp :
Thereby is annulled transmigration, fled doubt and Yama's fear,
And burnt sins of multiple births. (1)
From fear[3] freed to the Lord offer devotion—
This boon by supreme good luck is attained.
Lord, Provider to perfection, P. 825
Grant in Thy grace that Nanak Thy servant,
To Thy holy praise give utterance. (2) (17.103)

Sulahi te Narāyaṇ rākhu

*Lord ! from Sulahi grant proteetion.
Unable to accomplish anything is Sulahi—
An unclean death[4] has he met. (I-Pause)
The Lord brandishing[5] the axe his head cut off,
And in an instant dust he became.
Contemplating evil is he burnt;
The Creator has to his death pushed him. (1)
Progeny, friends wealth—nothing with him has lasted;
Brothers and relations has he left behind.

1. Neck.
2. Damodar = An attributive name of Krishna, here symbolizing God.
3. Fear of Yama's retribution is implied.
 * Note : Sulahi, a Pathan army officer was instigated on false reports to attack Guru Arjan Dev. Before effecting his design he fell into a burning kiln and died. This hymn, as elsewhere (Asa V. 5) expresses thanksgiving to the Lord on this deliverance.
4. Sulahi died in fire, considered an unclean end for a Muhammadan.
5. Taking out, pulling out.

Saith Nanak : To the Lord am I a sacrifice,
Who His servant's prophecy has fulfilled. (2) (18.104)

Pūrei Guru kī pūrī sev

Service to the Preceptor, perfectly endowed, brings perfection of success :
I thereby behold the Lord to be solely pervasive—
The Divinely-inspired Master my objective[1] has fulfilled. (I-Pause)
The Lord, existing at beginning, end and middle of time,
His manifest glory has Himself created.
The Lord of mighty glory, Himself His servant's honour saves. (1)
The Supreme Being, Supreme Lord, holy Divine Enlightener
All creation under His own power has placed.
Nanak shelter with the Lord's lotus feet seeks,
As the holy incantation of the Name Divine he utters. (2) (19.105)

Tāp pāp te rākehi āp

From maladies and evil He Himself protects;
By attaching ourselves to the Master's feet are we joy-cooled,
Contemplating in heart the Name Divine. (I-Pause)
In His grace on my forehead His hand has placed
The Lord, saviour of the world, whose glory the nine continents pervades.
Shattered is suffering, entered joy and bliss :
Assuaged is thirst, and mind and body with truth fulfilled. (1)
Of the Lord, mighty to grant shelter, protector of the helpless,
Mother and father of all creation;
Beloved of devotees, shatterer of fear,
Nanak sings laudation in measured tone. (2) (20.106)

Jis te ūpajiyā tisai pachhānu

Worship[2] Him from whom hast thou arisen.
By meditating on the Supreme Being, the Supreme Lord, Comes joy, bliss and weal. (I-Pause)
By good fortune is met the Preceptor, perfectly-endowed,
By grace of the Lord, Controller of the inner self,
all-beauty, all-wisdom.

1. (This is liberation).
2. Know.

Making us his own the Lord, supremely mighty,
Honour of the humble,
By strength of His arm has saved us. (1)
In an instant are shattered doubt and fear,
And out of darkness has appeared light.
With each breath Nanak worships Him,
Ever to Him a sacrifice. (2) (21.107)

Dovaiṇ thāṇv rakhei Guru sūrei

The heroic Master in both spots has saved us :
In the here and the hereafter has the Supreme Being granted us fulfilment;
Achieved are all our objectives. (I-Pause)
By contemplating the Name Divine comes joy in poise,
As in dust of feet of the holy we have bathed.
Annulled is transmigration, attained poise,
And ended suffering of birth and death. (1)
Ocean of doubt and fear have we crossed; cast off is Yama's fear,
And in each being beheld the Sole Lord pervasive.
Nanak under shelter of the Divine shatterer of fear has come, P. 826
As within the self and without the Lord's presence he has beheld. (2) (22.108)

Darshan dekhat dokh nasei

At sight of the Lord are sins fled.
Be Thou never out of my sight; abide ever with my self. (I-Pause)
Lord beloved, prop of life,
All-pervasive, controller of the self ! (1)
What power have I to recall and recount Thy merits ?
With each breath Thee, Lord I contemplate. (2)
Lord, treasure of grace, compassionate to the humble,
All beings you cherish ! (3)
Day and night Thy servant Thy Name utters.
Saith Nanak : The Lord Himself this devotion has inspired. (23.109)

Tanu dhanu jobanu chalat gaiyā

This physical frame, wealth, youth[1]—each has departed.
Man to the Name Divine has not devoted himself;
In evil-doing is night passed and come dawn. (I-Pause)

---

1. Joban, implied meaning also beauty.

By ever consuming viands of various kinds are his mouth and teeth worn and decayed.
Involved in avarice is man robbed;[1]
In evil-doing engaged, compassion never has he felt. (1)
In great evils, mighty ocean of suffering,
Is the creature rotting.
Nanak with the Lord has sought shelter,
Who grasping him by the arm has extricated him. (2) (24.110)

Apnā Prabhu āiyā chīti

As the Lord came into my mind
Are foes and minions of evil left fuming in despair :
Brother, friend ! weal to me has come. (I-Pause)
Gone are maladies of body and mind,
As has the Creator protected us.
Have come peace, joy and bliss abounding,
As the cherished Name my heart's garland I have made. (1)
Lord ! this life and body is Thy property;
Thou the Master almighty,
Saviour of Thy servant.
Ever is Nanak Thy slave. (2) (25.111)

Gobind simar hoā kalyāṇa

By contemplation of the Lord has weal come to us;
Effaced is mind's malady; has come holy joy,
As the Lord, all-knowing, controller of the inner self we contemplated. (I-Pause)
He whose are all creatures, has conferred on them joy;
To His devotees is the holy Eternal their strength.
Himself His servant has He protected;
In the Divine shatterer of fear lies their assurance of succour. (1)
All now are friends, gone is malice;
Evil-doers and minions of sin has the Lord picked and cast
In joy in poise and bliss abounding is Nanak's life passed
In uttering Divine laudation. (2) (26.112)

Pār-Brahm Prabh bhaye kirpāl

The Lord, Supreme Being, grace has shown.
All objectives has the holy Preceptor fulfilled;

1. Used symbolically for spiritual ruin.

By contemplating the holy Preceptor have we attained bliss. (I-Pause)
The Lord has taken us in His embrace; all ill-wishers turned dust.
The Lord His servants to His bosom has clasped;
Attaching them to His sash[1] has He saved them. (1)
In weal and unison have we returned home; P. 827
Blackened are traducers' faces.
Saith Nanak : By grace of the holy Preceptor,
perfectly-endowed,
The Lord have we realized and attained bliss. (2) (27.113)

Mū lālaṇ siun preeti banī

With the cherished Beloved am I in love. (Pause)
This love neither can be snapped nor discarded—
So taut is the pull. (1)
Day and night in my mind dost Thou abide—
Lord ! shower Thy grace. (2)
To the Lord of Beauty[2] am a sacrifice,
Of indescribable state. (3)
Nanak, Thy servant, is known as slave of Thy slaves :
Lord ! show me Thy grace. (4) (28.114)

Hari ke charan japi jāun kūrbānu

Contemplating the Lord's feet to Him am I a sacrifice :
The Supreme Being, Supreme Lord, my Enlightner is.
On Him with mind and heart you meditate. (I-Pause)
Ever the Donor of Bliss contemplate,
Creator of the whole world.
With your tongue the Sole Lord's Name devotedly utter—Thereby at the Portal Eternal receive honour. (1)
Such alone this treasure have obtained, as with holy company are blessed.
Lord ! may I ever Thy laudation chant :
In Thy grace this boon grant me. (2) (29.115)

Rākhi līyā Satiguru ki sharaṇ

Under shelter of the holy Preceptor are we saved;
Over the whole world has resounded my glory—
The Supreme Being is my Saviour.[3] (I-Pause)

1. Expression for granting protection—'taking under His wing'.
2. A descriptive title of Krishna, swarthy Lord of Beauty, here symbolizing God.
3. Also interpreted as : 'The ship that has carried me across.'

To the Lord's feet am I again and again a sacrifice,
Immanent in all spots, in all beings,
Who the universe pervades, perfection of bliss confers,
And all existence cherishes and fulfils. (1)
Lord ! the device of life of all beings under your power lies;
Of all fulfilment are you prime cause.
From primal time has the Lord succoured His devotees.
Saith Nanak : One contemplating the Lord from all fear is free. (2) (30.16)

In teh Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Duos

SCORE 8

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Maiṇ nāhīṇ Prabh sabhu kichhu Terā

Lord ! nothing am I; all that is, is Thine.
On one side art Thou the unattributed Supreme,
on the other attributed :
Within these two states disports the Lord. (I-Pause)
Himself within the city of the body He abides,
Himself without it—
All spots are the Lord's habitation.
Himself Monarch and subjects—
In one place the Lord, in another the servant. (1)
From whom may we maintain concealment, on whom practise deceit ?
Wherever I look, is His Presence near.
Saith Nanak : As the Master, of holy aspect we have met,
Is all existence beheld as drop at one with the ocean—
No distinction visible, (2) (1.117)

Tūm samratha kāran karan P. 828

Almighty, eause of causes are you.
Divine Master ! pray my faults overlook[1]—
Sinner that I am, with your feet I seek shelter. (I-Pause)
The deeds done by me to you are known;
No scope[2] I see for stubborn denial of these.
Lord ! great is your glory as heard of by me—
A million sins by your Name are cast off. (1)

1. Cover.
2. Place.

Our way is ever to fall into error;
Your Law[1] the fallen to save.
Lord compassion incarnate, merciful, storehouse of grace !
To Nanak grant the Divine sight that is the true state of living. (2) (2.118)

Aisī kirpa mohe karou

Lord ! show me such grace,
That my forehead at feet of the holy may lie,
My eyes their sight behold and dust of their feet on my body fall. (I-Pause)
May the Master's Word in my heart be lodged;
The Name Divine next my mind my I place.
Lord ! cast off the five thieves,[2] and all doubts in fire be burnt. (1)
What you do, may that be reckoned good by me;
May feelings of uncertainty in faith be cast off.
Lord ! you are the Sole Provider of Nanak;
In holy congregation save me ! (2) (3.119)

Aisī dīkhiyā jaṇa siuṃ mangā

From the devotee[3] of God this instruction I seek :
Lord ! may I in your meditation, in your love be absorbed !
May I serve you, be ever by you ! (I-Pause)
May the devotees of God I serve, with devotees converse,
With devotees be my association.
May dust of feet of the holy,
Fulfiller of endless waves of desire
Touch my face and forehead. (1)
Pure is the glory of the Supreme Being's devotees;
Therir feet equal to a million holy spots on the Ganga.
Nanak in dust of feet of the holy has bathed;
Thereby are cast off obloquies of multiple births. (2) (4.120)

Jiūṃ bhāvai tīūṃ mohe pratipāl

Lord ! cherish me as may please Thee.
Lord Supreme Being, holy Enlightener !
Children are we, you the gracious father. (I-Pause)
I that am worthless,[4] without merit,

1. Bird (Wird-Arb).
2. The five sources of evil, viz. lust, wrath, avarice, attachment and pride.
3. For 'devotee' and 'the holy' Jana is used in the original.
4. Without any qualities.

No power have I to do endeavour[1] to have union with you.
Your state and extent known to you alone;
This life and body all your substance. (1)
Controller of the inner self ! Lord Supreme Being,
Without our utterance, you still know our state.
Saith Nanak : By the Lord's glance of grace
Are our body and mind joy-cooled. (2) (5.121)

Rākhu sadā Prabh apnai sāth

Lord ! cherish us ever by your side :
You are Beloved, charmer of heart—
Without you of little avail is life. (I-Pause)
Lord, protector of the helpless, in an instant paupers you turn into kings.
In burning fire[2] your devotees have you saved—
With strength of your arm have you succoured them. (1)
Cool joy have we received; satisfied the mind;
By contemplation of the Lord is ended all perturbation and struggle.
Saith Nanak, The Nine Treasures[3] and all wealth lie
in the Lord's service—
Unavailing all clever devices other than this. (2) (6.122)

Apnei sevak kau kabahu na bisāruh

Pray forget not your servant ever ! P. 829
Lord ! to my heart be attached—put not out of mind my devotion of times foregone.[4] (I-Pause)
Lord ! purifying the fallen is your law;[5]
Bear not in heart our sins,
You, Lord are solely my life's breath, substance and joy—
In your grace burn away veils of egoism. (1)
How may the fish find life without water, or the child without milk ?
Nanak, servant of God, for the Lord's lotus feet is thirsting :
In sight of the Lord lies essence of his joy. (2) (7.123)

---

1. Implies austerities, ritual actions, prayers etc.
2. Implies fire of desire.
3. See Glossary.
4. Implies earlier births.
5. Bird (Wird-Arb).

Āgai pāchhai kūshalu bhaiyā

Over my entire life[1] pervades weal :
The Master, perfectly-endowed fully has succoured me;
And the Supreme Being, Lord has shown grace. (I-Pause)
In my mind and body is the Beloved Lord pervasive,
And suffering and pain all is effaced.
In joyful peace and poise the Lord's laudation have I sung;
Destroyed are minions of evil and evil-doers. (1)
The Lord my merits and demerits has not reckoned,
And in His grace has made me his own.
Immeasurable is the greatness of the eternal, immortal Lord—
Nanak the Lord's victory hails. (2) (8.124)

Binu bhay bhagtī taranu kaise

How without God's fear and devotion may liberation[2] come ?
Lord, uplifter of the fallen, show grace—
By your prop preserve me ! (I-Pause)
Man remembers not God and in intoxication[3] wanders about,
To evils attached, as a cur.
In excessive worldly attachment is his life passed;
Doing sin is he thus sinking.[3] (1)
Shatterer of suffering, immaculate Supreme Being,
Thy shelter we seek—
Grant that in holy company Thee we contemplate.
Lord, destroyer of afflictions, shatterer of sins !
Nanak by Thy sight finds life. (2) (9.125)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Duos

SCORE 9

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Āpeh meli lae

Himself has the Lord granted us union :
Since such time as under your shelter we came
Have our sins vanished. (I-Pause)
Discarding pride and expectation from others[4]
Under shelter of the holy have we come.

---

1. Lit. Before and after.
2. Swimming.
3. Used metaphorically.
4. May also mean 'anxiety concerning others.'

Beloved Lord ! by uttering your Name
Are maladies of the body destroyed. (1)
Us that are extremely thoughtless, unwise, ignorant
The Lord assuming compassion has saved.
Saith Nanak : By contact with the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Is our transmigration annulled. (2) 1.126

Jivouṇ Namu sunī

In listening to the Name find I life.
As the Master, perfectly-endowed has shown favour,
Are all my hopes[1] fulfilled. (I-Pause)
Gone is suffering; the mind poise has assumed
As by the tune of joy I am charmed.
Arisen in yearning for union with the beloved Lord—
Now for an instant can I not have patience. (1)
He by whose contemplation are saved innumerable devotees, P. 830
Whom innumerable beings and innumerable sages contemplate;
Who to the blind is a support, the destitute in whom have found wealth—
Nanak the Lord of innumerable merits has attained. (2) (2.127)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev Varied rhythm*
SCORE 13
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mohan neend na āwai hāwai hār kajar bastra abharan kinei

Divine charmer ! by deep sighs oppressed, no sleep I get—Even though with pearl-strings, collyrium, dresses and ornaments I have decked myself.[2]
Sad, sad, sad am I !
Sister[3] ! when will He return home ? (I-Pause)
With happily-wedded wives seek I shelter, on their feet resting my head—
Praying, with the Beloved grant me union.
Sister[3] ! when will He return home ? (1)
Listen, sister-friend ! the secret of union to you shall I explain :

1. The original is in the singular.
* Partal.
2. (This is the image of the seeker as the wife pining is separation from the Divine Spouse).
3. This is implied in the vocative ri.

Efface all egoism. Thus shall you meet the Beloved in the home.
Then shall you sing in joy and felicity laudation of His merits.
Meditate on the Lord, image of bliss.
Saith Nanak : Sister, as the Portal I entered,
The Beloved I found. (2)
The Beloved sight of His beauty grants;
Now therefore, joyful sleep I get.
Assuaged is my thirst;
In poise am I absorbed.
Sweet is the Beloved's discourse.
Sister ! to the Beloved charmer have I attained. (3) (1.128)
(Second Pause)

Morī aham jāe darshan pāvat he

My egoism by sight of the Lord disappears.
With the Lord, His devotees' succourer, am I absorbed.
His feet have I grasped. (I-Pause)
The mind to nothing else is inclined—
In His feet repeatedly[1] absorbed
As humming-bee to nectar of the lotus.
No other joy it desires—the Lord alone seeking. (1)
By breaking off with other than God, comes release from Yama.
My mind ! in draughts the Divine elixir quaff;
In holy company turn away from the world.
Listen[2], all other than the Lord is unreal.
Nanak solely to the Divine feet in love is absorbed. (2) (2.129)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
Duos

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dūkh hartā Hari Nāmu pachhāno

Realize the Name Divine, annuller of suffering.
Know my self ! by its contemplation were Ajamal[3] and Ganika[4] saved. (I-Pause).
In an instant was the Elephant's[5] terror removed as the Lord's Name it uttered.

1. Charnavai, charnavai (repeated).
2. (nahin nāhin re !) gives the force of emphasis with re being a vocative term.
3. A sinful Brahmin of Kannauj.
4. A courtesan, also saved.
5. In the Puranic story, the Elephant gripped by the crab was saved through prayer. (The other two stories too come from the Puranic lore).

As the child Dhruva[1] to Narad's[2] discourse listened,
In devotion he got absorbed. (1)
The immutable, immortal state he attained.
At which the world has wondered.
Saith Nanak : Saviour of His devotees is the Lord—
Know Him ever to be near. (2) (1)

Hari ke Nām binā dūkhu pāwai

Man devoid of devotion to the Name Divine by suffering is gripped.
Without devotion is not doubt lifted—
This secret by the Master is revealed. (I-Pause)
What if man to bathing-spots has resorted and observed fasts,
But seeks not Divine shelter ?
The Yogic practice and sacrifices of one know to be fruitless, P. 831
Who of Divine laudation is neglectful.[3] (1)
One that discarding pride and attachment Divine laudation sings—
Know, saith Nanak : Such a one is known as jivan-mukta.[4] (2) (2)

Jā maiṇ bhajan Rāma ko nāhīṇ

This ever keep in mind : whoever to Lord is not devoted,
His human birth fruitlessly is wasted. (I-Pause)
Know this to be the truth, as I tell you :
Whoever to bathing-spots resorts, observes fasts
But subdues not the ego—
Know all his ritual practices to be fruitless. (1)
As the stone when placed in water, by water is not penetrated,
Even such you know the creature devoid of devotion. (2)
In Kali-Yuga[5] liberation from devotion to the Name is attained—
This secret by the Master is revealed.
Saith Nanak : Such a one alone is of worth[6]
As Divine laudation sings. (3) (3)

1. The child that became the pole-star.
2. Brahma's son, a rishi.
3. Is forgetful.
4. Liberated while living.
5. The present age of sinfulness.
6. Lit. Heavy, of weight and substance.

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
SCORE 10
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nikṭi wasai dekhai sabhu soī

Close to us abides the Lord, all creation viewing :
This a rare God-inspired one realizes.
Without imbibing fear of God comes not devotion.
To those dyed in the holy Word comes joy eternal. (1)
Extremely valuable substance is realization of the Name :
This the God-directed, feeling great joy, attain. (1-Pause)
All claim enlightenment to possess;
Yet expounding it, into disputation they enter,
leading to suffering.
None from idle talking is restrained :
Without dyeing in Divine joy comes not liberation. (2)
Realization and meditation from the Master is acquired.
Living is pure as the holy Lord in the mind abides.
Egoists talk, but live not their words.
One forgetful of the Name, no place with God finds. (3)
Maya has bound the mind[1] in a net in a lake,
That to each being[2] clings through evil passions.
All that into the world arrive, subject to death are seen.
By remembering God with the heart, is success attained. (4)
Such alone are truly enlightened as to the holy Word are attached.
The egoist egoism-gripped, loses honour.
The Creator Himself devotion inspires,
And by the Master's guidance exaltation grants. (5)
In the dark night[3] shines the pure Divine light.
Those without the Name are false, unclean, untouchable.
Scriptures[4] announce the call to devotion.
Whoever listening to it acquires faith, the Divine effulgence
beholds. (6)
Shastras and Simritis[5] devotion to the Name inculcate :

1. Mana.
2. Vessel.
3. Symbol for the world or life.
4. Vedas.
5. Respectively philosophical works and manuals of codes.

As by the Master's guidance is this holy[1] deed performed, comes peace.
Egoists bear suffering in transmigration.
By submitting to the Name are bonds snapped. (7)
Faith in the Name is true devotion and worship. P. 832
Who else may I view ? No other is there than God.
After viewing all I declare : The Lord alone to my heart is pleasing.
Saith Nanak : None other exists. (8) (1)

Mana kā kahiyā manasā karai

Our thinking acts on the mind's prompting :
The mind evil and good determines.
No fulfilment comes to one by Maya-wine intoxicated.
True fulfilment and liberation in love of the Holy Eternal lies. (1)
Man viewing his body, wealth and wife, into pride falls.
Know, other than the Name nothing shall accompany us. (I-Pause)
Man in enjoyment of pleasure and delights at will may indulge;
Yet his wealth to others shall go; his body a heap of ashes.
All visible expanse[2] is dust, into dust mingling :
Without the holy Word goes not impurity of heart. (2)
Songs. tunes, music all are false,[3]
From the Three Qualities[4] arising and falling, keeping the self far from God.
By clinging to foul thinking of duality is not suffering ended.
Release comes from the medicine of singing by the Master's guidance,
Of Divine laudation. (3)
One wearing bleached dhoti, fixing the paste-mark
And wearing a rosary round the neck,[5]
Yet bearing wrath within, recites scriptures
As actor in theatre.
Some neglecting the Name, Maya-wine have drunk;
Know, without devotion to the Master is not true
joy attained. (4)
Those turning away from the Master in transmigration are whirled[6] :

1. Noble.
2. Implies worldly wealth.
3. This refers to music that panders to passions. Next is mentioned holy music.
4. See Glossary.
5. This describes the typical Brahminical show of piety.
6. (Last two lines rendered first).

Tied in bonds, are they born and die.
These are hogs, dogs, asses and cats;
Beasts, foul-minded ones, low barbarians. (5)
By service to the Master are boons acquireds.
By bearing the Name in the heart comes success ever.
Such at the Eternal Portal are not questioned.
One submitting to the Divine Ordinance at the Portal gets fulfilment. (6)
By contact with the holy Preceptor comes realization of God,
As abiding by the Divine will, the Ordinance one realizes.
By realization of the Ordinance comes abiding at the holy Portal.
By the holy Word are annulled death and birth. (7)
One that abides free from Maya-taint
And knows all to be His,
And to God, whose these are, dedicates mind and body,
is not born nor dies.
Saith Nanak, into the holy Eternal
Such get absorbed. (8) (2)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Ashtpadi (Octet)

SCORE 10

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jagu kaūwwa mūkhi chūnch giānu

The world is crow-like, uttering hollow discourses[1]
on elightenment.
In their mind such carry falsehood and vanity.
Those without devotion in the end shall stand exposed. (1)
By devotion to the holy Preceptor is the holy Name in the self lodged.
By the Preceptor's contact[2] is the Name Divine in mind lodged.
Except devotion to the Name is all love false. (1-Pause)
Act as by the Preceptor instructed :
By contemplation of the Word, the abode of serene poise enter;
By devotion to the holy Name achieve true merit.[3] (2)

1. Discourses coming from the mouth (beak) and not from the heart.
2. Meeting.
3. Greatness.

Some, ignorant themselves, set up to enlighten the world.
Blind in their mind, blind their doings.
How may such find place at the Divine Portal and Mansion ? (3)
Serve the Lord, to whom all in each one's mind is known;
Whose light each being[1] pervades—
What concealment from Him possible ? (4)
The holy Name by the Holy Word is realized; P.833
As Himself He with the devotee is united,
Whoever by the Preceptor's guidance ever the Name contemplates, has his egoism lifted. (5)
By service of the holy Preceptor vanishes duality and false thinking;
Evils eliminated, sinful thinking destroyed;
This frame become gold, its light into Divine Light merges. (6)
Great exaltation from the holy Preceptor's contact[4] comes;
With the Name in the heart lodged, vanishes all suffering,
And by dying in the Name comes eternal joy. (7)
By putting faith in the Preceptor's teaching comes pure doing;
Putting faith in the Preceptor's teaching to the Door of Liberation leads.
Saith Nanak : Faith in the Preceptor's teaching
Liberation to the devotee's whole family brings. (8) (1.3)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
SCORE 11

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Āpai āpu khāe haun meṭai andinu Hari ras gīt gawaīyā

As is egoism destroyed and pride effaced,
Does one sing songs of joy in God.
By faith inspired by the Master turns the body to gold
And made fearless, its light into Divine Light merges. (1)
My sole prop is the Lord's Divine Name.
For an instant, a minute without the Name I cannot abide—
By the Master this Divine instruction is imparted. (I-Pause)
The house of ten doors,[2] day and night by five thieves[3] is assailed.

1. Vessel.
2. Implies the body.
3. The five sources of evil.

These take away the substance of righteousness—
Egoists purblind of this have no awareness. (2)
The golden citadel of the body with numerous jewels is filled;
Those awake acquire essence of enlightenment and devotion.
Thieves and robbers that are concealed,
By force of the Master's Word are captured and bound. (3)
The Name Divine is the treasure and ship;
The Master that is pilot, by the holy Word takes us across it.
Then approaches not Yama, harsh tax-gatherer,
Nor attacks thief or robber.[1] (4)
Divine merits day and night we laud.
To utterance of Divine praise is no end visible.
By the Master's guidance the mind the state of poise enters,
And with resounding of fanfare is the Lord met. (5)
The mind by sight of the Lord is fulfilled;
The ears by listening to the holy utterance and word.
Listening to these is the inner self joy-drenched,
And in ecstasy contemplates the Lord. (6)
By Maya-attachment the Three Qualities[2] cling to man;
By the Master's teaching comes absorption in the Absolute.[3]
Then is the whole world viewed without distinction,
And all existence seen as the Supreme Being outspread. (7)
Light of the Name Divine in all existence is manifest;
By the Master's guidance is the Inaccessible made accessible.
Saith Nanak : The Lord compassion to the humble has shown,
And feeling devotion in the Name Divine are we absorbed. (8) (1.4)

Hari Hari Nāmu sītaljalu dhiyāwuhu Hari chandan wāsu sūgandh gandhaīyā

On the Name Divine, joyous as cooling water meditate;
With fragrance of the Divine sandalwood in fragrance is one drenched.
By associating with holy company have we attained
the supreme state— P. 834
I, castor and dhak[4] in holy company have acquired fragrance. (1)

1. Used symbolically for the above.
2. See Glossary.
3. Turiya.
4. An inferior kind of tree.

Utter name of the Lord of the universe,[1] Divine Master,
Those falling under His shelter alone are saved,
As Prahlad who was saved and in the Lord absorbed. (I-Pause)
Among vegetation[2] sandalwood is supreme—all growing close to it sandalwood become.
Reprobates[3] false are dried up standing— in pride of mind sequestered,
From the Divine Sandalwood removed far. (2)
The Lord Creator Himself knows the state and measure of each—
All devices by the Lord Himself are made.
Whoever the holy Preceptor contacts, turns gold —
What is primarily writ, by no effort can be effaced. (3)
By the Master's teaching are obtained boons of jewels,
As is thrown open the ocean-like treasure of devotion.
Strong devotion to the feet Divine is aroused,
Whereby in lauding the Lord's merits remain I unsatiated. (4)
By constant meditation on the Lord is aroused supreme dispassion towards the world—
In uttering Divine laudation my fervent devotion have I expressed.
With constantly, each instant, uttering Divine laudation, Unknown still is the Lord's extent, that is beyond knowable extent.[4] (5)
Shastras, Vedas and Puranas[5] adjure aloud doing of righteousness
And performance of the six duties.[6]
Yet egoists lost in hypocrisy and doubt, caught in waves of avarice,
Their boat under the weight of sin is sunk. (6)
Utter the Name; by the Name attain the Supreme state—
Simritis[7] and Shastras too devotion to the name have confirmed,
As egoism goes, is the mind purified—
By faith inculcated through the Master, is the supreme state attained. (7)

---

1. Jagannath, Jagadish.
2. Lit. Eighteen loads-traditional mode of referring to all vegetation on earth.
3. Sakta.
4. Farthest.
5. Mythological scriptures of the Hindu faith.
6. These are, according to one count : Morning prayer, sacrifice, evening prayer, holybath, offerings to deities, honouring guests.
7. Books of codes.

This world with its hues and forms, all is Thine,
Acting as Thou dost promt.
Saith Nanak : Beings like instruments sound as touched,
Treading the path that the Lord is pleased to lay down. (8) (2.5)

Gurmukhi agam agocharu dhiyāiyā haum bali bali satiguru sati pūrakhaīyyā

But the Master's guidance on the inaccessible unknowable
Supreme Being have I meditated—
To the holy Preceptor, exalted person am I a sacrifice.
The Name Divine in my life-breath has he lodged;
By touch of the holy Preceptor in the Lord's Name am
I absorbed. (1)
The prop of God's devotee in the Name Divine rests.
In the holy Preceptor's direction am I proceeding;
By the Master's grace to the Divine Portal have
I attained. (I-Pause)
This body is field of action; by the Master's guidance
Amrita out of it God's devotees churn.
The mind by rubies and jewels of the Name is illumined;
Devotion into this vessel then pours. (2)
Be you slave of slaves of the devotee
Who to the Lord is especially devoted.
My mind and understanding to the Master I dedicate,
By whose grace the inexpressible have I expressed. (3)
Egoists by Maya-attachment are gripped.
With thirst of desire is the mind oppressed.
By the Master's teaching is obtained water of the Name ambrosial—
Assuaged is this fire by the Master's Word. (4)
The mind before the holy Preceptor dances,[1]
Whose instrument the tune of unstruck music has sounded.
Day and night in Divine laudation it engages,
with its feet marking time. (5) P. 835
The mind dyed in the Lord's dye sings,
Uttering in joyful ecstasy the holy Word.
In the self oozes the pure stream—
Whoever has quaffed it, joy has obtained. (6)

1. Used metaphorically.

The pride-filled man in stubbornness of heart acts,
Like the child erecting a house of sand :
As comes the ocean's wave, in an instant to bits it crumbles. (7)
The Lord is lake, ocean; this world a play by Him enacted.
As the wave in ocean is absorbed,
So is He in all being solely pervasive. (8) (3.6)

Satiguru parchai mani mündrā pāī Guru kā shabadu tani bhasmu drirhaīyyā

Of the holy Preceptor's instruction the earrings in our mind are we wearing,
With the Master's Word's ashes[1] smeared our limbs.
Thus in holy company is our body turned immortal;
Annulled is transmigration. (1)
My self ! in holy company abide.
Show grace, Lord ! grant that each instant feet of God's devotees I wash. (I-Pause)
The mind discarding householder's life, taking to living in wild places,[2]
Still for an instant finds not peace.
After much wandering found it poise,
As shelter with God's devotees it sought. (2)
Leaving progeny[3] as man turns recluse, his mind still is filled with desire.
While by desire gripped, realization he does not get :
By the Master's Word turning desireless, joy he obtains. (3)
As arose in him some new whim,[4] unclad[5] recluse he became,
But his mind moving in ten directions wanders about.
Much he wanders but his thirst is assuaged not—
In holy company alone the abode of compassion he enters. (4)
Siddhas learn numerous Yogic poses; but their mind only after miraculous powers yearns.
Thereby comes not to them fulfilment, content and peace of mind.
In holy company they find fulfilment through miracle of the Name Divine. (5)

---

1. Earrings and ashes on the body are part of Yogic ritual.
2. Forests.
3. Daughters and sons.
4. Tark (lit. logic).
5. To be unclad is part of ritual of Jainism, as also compassion which is its ideal.

Creatures egg-born, placenta-born, sweat-born and atmosphere-born
And beings with various colours and form are created.
Among these only those falling on shelter of the holy are saved,
Be they Khatris, Brahmins, Sudras, Vaishyas or the contemned castes.[1] (6)
Namdev, Jaidev, Kabir, Trilochan and low-caste Ravidas, the cobbler—
Whoever of these holy company has joined,
Be he the blessed Dhanna Jat, or Sain the barber
To the Lord is united.[2] (7)
The Lord His devotees' honour has protected; the Lord beloved of devotees to Himself has attached them.
Nanak with the Life of the Universe has sought shelter—
The Lord in His grace has saved him. (8) (4.7)

Antari piyās ūṭhī Prabh kerī sūni Guru bachan mani tīr lagaīyyā

As within me arose yearning for the Lord, Hearing the Master's Word my heart as with an arrow was struck.
To the heart alone is its state known—how may another know of the pain its bears ? (1)
The charming Enlightener, my heart has charmed. P. 836
At sight of the Master am I put in turmoil and lost my reason. (I-Pause)
In various lands and regions wander I questing[3]—
My heart for a sight of the Lord fervently yearns.
My mind and body cut to pieces would I dedicate to the Master
Who the Lord's path, the way has shown to me. (2)
Would someone come and convey to me the Lord's message,
That to my heart, body and mind would taste sweet.
My head would I cut off and place under the feet of one
That with the Lord would grant me union. (3)
Come sister-friend ! the Lord we seek to realize—
By spells[4] of merits is the Lord won over Beloved of devotees is He called—
Shelter of the Lord am I seeking. (4)
By decking oneself with forgiveness is won the Lord's approval

1. Chandāl.
2. Saints of various castes including some reckoned low, are mentioned here.
3. Looking.
4. Allusion to spells cast by the women to win over their husbands' love.

And in the mind lighting lamp of the enlightenment by the Master granted.
In ecstasy would the Lord have bliss with such—
To Him would I offer my life cut to pieces. (5)
The Lord is my necklace; my devoted mind an ornamental pearl-string.
Spread is the couch of devotion to the Lord—
Never can I desert the Lord, beloved of my heart. (6)
If other than the Lord's behests we carry out,[1]
then is all decking vain and void.
The happily-wedded wives that to meet the Lord have decked themselves; have attained Him—
The faces of others are spat on. (7)
I am Thy handmaid—Thous the inaccessible Lord
What power have we, lying under Thy control ?
To the humble show compassion, save us—
Nanak in shelter of the Divine Master is absorbed. (8) (5.8)

Maiṇ mani tani premu agam Thākür kā khinu khinu shardhā mani bahutu üṭhaīyyā

With love for the inaccessible Lord is filled my mind and body;
Each moment in it rises great devotion.
At sight of the Master is the heart's yearning fulfilled,
As the Chatrik,[2] crying prio, prio[3] when the rain-drop into its mouth falls. (1)
In unison with my sister-friends[4] to the Lord's discourse would I listen.
Should the holy Preceptor show grace would he to the Lord
unite me :
Before him would I place my severed head. (I-Pause)
Each hair, the mind and body with pain are filled—
Without sight of the Lord sleep comes not to me.
Confounded are physicians and pulse-testers :
My mind, body and heart with agony of love are afflicted. (2)
Without the Beloved can I not live for an instant, a minute,
Like the addict that starved of[5] the drug dies.
Those yearning for the Lord with nothing else are pleased. (3)

1. Lit. He commands one way, we act another.
2. A tiny bird, thirsting for a drop of rain-water, symbol of yearning in love.
3. 'Beloved, beloved'—imitation of the chatrik's cry.
4. Symbol for devotees.
5. Without

Would someone were to come and to the Lord unite me—
To him would I sacrifice myself.
United are those sequestered for multiple births,
As with the ever holy[1] Preceptor shelter we have taken. (4)
In a single conch[2] with us lies the Lord : P. 837
The doubt-gripped egoists find not His mansion.
Whoever uttering the Master's Name under His shelter comes,
The Lord without delay grants him union. (5)
In performance of numerous ritual acts
Is the mind by fraud, deceit and avarice actuated,
Should a son in a harlot's home be born,
By what paternity would it be called ? (6)
As in former births devotion we did,
The Master in us devotion to the Lord has inspired.
With performance of devotion have we attained the Lord
As in the Name Divine were we absorbed. (7)
The Lord Himself brought henna pounded it and dissolving it in water
To our limbs applied.
Those that the Lord's grace have, saith Nanak,
The Lord, grasping by the arm has extricated them. (8) (6.9)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadi (Octet)
SCORE 12
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Upamā jāt na kahī merei Prabh kī upamā jāt na kahī

Inexpressible, beyond expression is the Lord's praise :
Discarding all else, His shelter have I taken. (1-Pause)
To the Lord's eternal[3] lotus feet
May I ever be a sacrifice !
My heart[4] in love to these is devoted—
Discarding these, nowhere else does it incline.[5] (1)
As by the tongue is the Name Divine uttered,
Are burnt away impurities of sin and evil.

---

1. Sati (holy) repeated thrice.
2. Symbol for the self.
3. Illimitable.
4. Mana.
5. Go.

By embarking the boat of the holy comes liberation,
And the ocean of existence crossed. (2)
The heart to the string of loving devotion is tied,
That is in the pure tradition of the holy.
Thus are discarded sins and evil-thinking,
And union with the formless Lord attained. (3)
At sight of the Lord are we struck with wonder,
As perfection of bliss we tasted,
Then must one not wander in this direction or that,
As in the heart is lodged the Lord. (4)
Such in hell find not lodgement,
As they ever the Lord, repository of merit, contemplate.
Such behold not Yama with their eyes,
And by listening to the unstruck music[1] with ecstasy
are filled. (5)
With the puissant Lord have we taken shelter.
The Lord gracious to His devotees is compliant.
Vedas the Lord's mystery are not able to realize;
Him the sages too serve. (6)
The Lord is annuller of suffering and pain of the humble,
Whose affairs may entirely lie upset.
None His extent knows—
On water and land is He pervasive. (7)
After exhaustion, at the court Divine have I thrown myself,
A million times bowing in worship.
Lord ! make me dust of feet of the holy—
Pray this desire of Nanak fulfil. (8) (1)

Prabh janam maran nivāri

Lord ! annul my transmigration :
Helpless, at Thy Door have I thrown myself.
As feet of the holy I have grasped,
The heart[2] sweetness of joy in the Lord feels.
In compassion to your sash[3] attach me, P. 838
That Nanak on your Name may keep meditating. (1)
Lord, gracious protector of the humble !
For dust of feet of the holy I yearn. (1-Pause)

1. The mystic music believed to be heard by Yogis in trance.
2. Mana.
3. That is, grant me protection.

The world is a poison-filled well
In which utter darkness of ignorance deludes.
Lord ! by the arm grasp me;
Devotion to your Name grant.
Lord ! other than Thee no place of shelter is for me.
Nanak ! to Him am I a sacrifice. (2)
My body by avarice and attachment is bound :
Without devotion turns it dust.
Yama's minions of terrible aspect frighten
And Chitra and Gupta[1] our deeds fully know.
Day and night witness they bear.
To escape these, Nanak ! with the Lord take shelter. (3)
Lord, Shatterer of fear !
In Thy grace save the fallen.
Beyond count are my sins—
Where other than the Lord's grace can these be effaced[2] ?
The Lord's shelter have I contemplated and taken.
With strength of Thy arm save Nanak ! (4)
Lord, treasure of merit,
Cherisher of all beings,
In my heart is yearning for Thy sight :
The Lord is fulfiller of desires.
For an instant without Him can I not live :
Saith Nanak, by great good fortune is He attained. (5)
Lord ! other than Thee none is real.
My heart loves Thee as the chakor[3] the moon;
As the fish the water,
As the humming-bee and the lotus that are inseparable,
As the chakwi[4] in wait for the sun :
Thus thirsts Nanak for the Lord's feet. (6)
As the young wife yearning for the husband,
As the avaricious man for gifts of money;
As is the friendship of water and milk,
As one in extreme hunger yearns for food,
As the mother loves her child—
Thus does Nanak ever contemplate the Lord. (7)

---

1. Celestial recorders of deeds.
2. Absorbed.
3. This bird is traditionally believed to be in love with the moon.
4. Chakwi is the bird which is believed to be in love with sun.

As on the lamp falls the moth,
As the thief unabashed makes plunder,
As is the elephant by lust bound,
As is the householder in poisonous affairs involved;
As the gambler gives not up the passion for dice—
Thus is Nanak's heart to the Lord attached. (8)
The deer to sound is attached,
The chatrik yearns for rain—
Thus does God's devotee in holy company find life,
And joy in loving devotion to the Lord—
May my tongue ever utter your Name.
Pray, to Nanak in charity grant Thy sight. (9)
One singing the Lord's praise, listening to it or giving it away in writing.
From the Lord all boons obtains.
Saved is all his family and forebears,
And beyond the world he crosses—
To such are the Lord's feet the ship.
As in holy company Divine laudation he sings,
The Lord His devotees' honour saves.
So has Nanak at the Divine Portal taken shelter. (10) (2)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

(Thittin) The Dates.[1] To the drum-rhythm Jatt.[2]

SCORE 10

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ekam Ekamkāru nirālā

By the First learn : Sole and immaculate is the Supreme Being—Immortal, unincarnated, above castes and attachments.
Inaccessible, unknowable, without form or feature.
By questing after Him, in each being[3] we beheld Him. P. 839
To whomsoever sight of Himself He grants am I a sacrifice :
By grace of the Master is attained the Supreme state. (1)
Other than the Lord,[4] whom to contemplate ?
By guidance of the Master's Word is beheld His mansion and abode. (1-Pause)

1. These are the Lunar Dates, used extensively in the Indian (Hindu calendar).
2. This is a musical direction.
3. Vessel.
4. Jagadish (Lord of the Universe).

Dūjai bhāi lagei pachhutāei

The Second : Those in Duality involved into regrets fall—
Bound at Yama's door, into transmigration caught.
Fruitless their coming into the world and their going—
From Yama, agent of death on the head receiving blows.
None without guidance of the Master's Word finds release.
by hypocrisy is not attained liberation. (2)

Āpei sachu kīyā kar joṛi

Reality Himself He made by the act of joining.
Breaking the Egg He joined and unjoined it.
Earth and heaven His seats He made.
Night and day with fear and love He invested.
He who created, also watches over them.
None other than He is Creator. (3)

Tritiyā Brahmā Bishanu Maheshā

By the Third learn : Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva He created.
And many forms of gods and goddesses.
No end is there to categories of beings emanating from His light.
He who made them alone their extent realizes.
Himself valuing them, is He pervasive.
Whom may I reckon near Him, whom far ? (4)

Chauthi upāe chārei Bedā

By the Fourth learn : The four Vedas He created;
The four forms of creation and their varieties of utterance.[1]
Eighteen Puranas, six Shastras and the Three Qualities he created.
The truth of these is realized by such as by Himself guided.
Whoever transcending Three Qualities into the Fourth abides, States Nanak in supplication : His slave am I. (5)

Panchami panch bhūt betālā

By the Fifth learn : Beings made of five elements are restless like goblins :
The Lord, inaccessible, unknowable, to all is unattached.
Some fallen in doubt, by hunger and thirst of attachment are gripped;
Others tasting of joy of the holy Word, are fulfilled.
Some in devotion are dyed; others die and become dust.
Some in the eternal Abode the Divine Presence behold. (6)

---

1. Speech is considered to be of four forms from the state of conception to final utterance in sound.

Jhūthei kau nāhīn pati nāuṇ

The false in heart no honour or repute have :
Never is a black crow held pure.
Like a bird shut in a cage,
Behind the bars he gyrates, but finds not release.
Release comes when the Master grants it,
By uniting him to the Master's teaching and confirming on him devotion. (7)

Khashtī khatu Darshan Prabh sā jei

By the Sixth learn : The Lord the six monastic orders created,[1]
But the unstruck music rises apart from all these.
Should the Lord so please, to His mansion He calls anyone :
One who by the holy Word is penetrated, honour obtains.
Others assuming various ritual garbs are exhausted and burn away.
The sincere in heart in the holy Eternal are absorbed. (8)

Saptamī sattu santokh sarīri

By the Seventh learn : Should the body have purity and content
Would the seven seas[2] with pure water be filled.
Then would it bathe in noble conduct, and in the heart contemplate truth,
That by guidance of the Master's Word carries all across.
Then with pure heart their tongue too loves utterance of holy truth;
Carrying the charter of truth find they no impediment
at the Divine Portal. (9)

Ashtamī asht siddhi buddhi sādhai

By the Eighth learn : Man his thoughts seeking the eight miraculous powers[3] should control,
And by his action worship the immaculate Truth.
Whoever the Three Qualities symbolized by air, water and fire[4] lays away,
To the holy immaculate Name attains.
In the Name is their heart fixed in attachment.
Such, states Nanak in humility, by death are not consumed. (10)

1. These are : Yogi, Sannyasi, Jangam, Bodhi, Serevare (Jains), Bairagi.
2. The five sense organs, the mind and intellect are meant.
3. The eight siddhis or miraculous powers.
4. Rajas, Sativa and Tamas are so symbolized. (See Glossary, Three Qualities).

Nāun naumī navein nāth nav-khandā

By the Ninth learn : He who is overlord of the Nine Yogic
Patron saints[1] and the Nine continents,
Lord of each being, is mightily puissant.
Of that Mother is the whole world progeny, P. 840
From primal time the succourer—to Him salutation
we offer,
Who from beginning of time has existed, is ever-existent,
forever lasting,
Beyond all limits, almighty. (11)

Dasmī Nāmu dānu ishnān

By the Tenth learn : contemplate the Name, offer charity and perform holy bathing.
Each day in realization of merits of the holy Lord take dips.
By absorption in truth attaches not to you impurity.
And doubt and fear flee.
As instantly is snapped unstarched thread,
So, frail as unstarched thread know this world to be.
Keeping the mind in poise, in joy of truth be absorbed. (12)

Ekādashī Iku ridai vasāvai

By the Eleventh learn : The Sole Lord in heart should be lodged.
By discarding violence, avarice and attachment,
Shall man the reward[2] obtain, should he be fixed in resolve to contemplate his self.
Man in hypocrisy absorbed, sees not the essence.
Immaculate is the Creator, above need for sustenance and to Maya unattached.
One purified by contact with the All-holy nevermore is defiled. (13)

Jeh dekhoun teh Eko Ekā

Wherever I look, the Lord solely I behold—
Other beings of various kinds has He created—
Some living on fruits, yet no merit to them thereby accrues;
Others taste of objects sweet and pungent, yet all joy forfeit.
Others in false greed are entangled.
By the Master's guidance as truth they act, may they find release. (14)

1. Nav-nath = The nine patron saints of Yoga.
2. Fruit.

Duādashi mudrā manu audhūtā

By the Twelfth realize : Whoever the twelve[1] has restrained,
Is a true ascetic in mind,
Awake day and night, asleep never,
Awake ever, in devotion absorbed.
Never is one dead fixing faith in the Master.
Such are the true ascetics; the evil propensities, true foes have they vanquished.
States Nanak in humility : Such are truly devoted to God. (15)

Duādashī dayā dānu kari jāṇai

By the Twelfth know : Man should show compassion and give away charity;
The mind straying should he restrain within.
The fast of desirelessness should keep;
By his tongue must he utter the soundless prayer of the holy Name.
In the three worlds should he realize one Sole Presence.
By realization of holy truth shall come to him all merit of purity and self-restraint. (16)

Terasi taruwar samud kanārai

By the Thirteenth know : Man is like a tree growing on sea-shore—
Yet immortal his root can become, by absorption in God's loftiness.
One dying of fear of God never is ruined;[2]
Those without such fear and instilling His fear in the self,
On the throne of realization are seated,
And by the holy Divine Truth are approved. (17)

Chaudasi chauthei thāvenh leh pāvai

By the Fourteenth realize : Should one in the Fourth state be established,
The Three Qualities and three forms of time eliminate,
For him the Sun the house of the moon enters;[3]
The reward of Yoga-praxis he thus obtains;
In the Creator pervading the fourteen universes and the nether regions,

1. The ten sense-organs, the mind and undersanding.
2. Used symbolically—ruined, sent to perdition.
3. Moon and sun are Yogic symbols, here standing respectively for the self in this state of ignorance and the Guru's teaching respectively.

And continents and the worlds
Is he absorbed. (18)

Amāvasiyā chandu guptu gaiṇāri

On the dark night[1] is the moon hidden in the sky.
Thou enlightened one, by contemplation of this mystery realize.
The Creator whose light like the moon the three worlds illumines,
Creates and watches over it.
Those getting insight from the Master in the Lord
are absorbed;
The egoists strayed, in transmigration are involved. (19)

Gharu daru thāpi thiru thāni suhāvai

He who made the abode of the self and door of the mind
Is immutable, shining in glory.
Man realizes his self, as to the holy Preceptor he attains.
Whose has shattered desire
Has broken the pot of duality and impulse,
And from Maya-snare keeps detached—
States Nanak in humility : To such a one am I a slave. (20) (1)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das P. 841

Days of the Week[2]

SCORE 10

In the Name of the One Indivisible Supreme Being,
Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ādit vār Ādi Purakh hai soī

Of Sunday contemplate : He is the Primal Creator;
Himself He the universe operates, none other.
The world's warp and woof has He woven;
From Him emanating all that happens.
Those dyed in the Name, eternal joy find.
Rare is the man who by the Master's guidance this realizes. (1)
In the heart on the Lord Repository of merits,
Inaccessible, unknowable, illimitable, meditate,
At the feet of God's devotees, in utmost humility.[3] (I-Pause)

1. This is the fifteenth, the last night of the dark half of the lunar month.
2. A form of poetry relating to seven days of the week, expressive of romantic, philosophical or spiritual experience.
3. Lit. Being slave of slaves of God's devotees.

Somvāri sachi rahiyā samāe

On Monday behold the holy Truth pervasive everywhere;
None His greatness[1] to evaluate,
Although all from deep meditation have this expressed.
Devotion He confers on whosoever He grants
Inaccessible, unknowable—none His greatness can know :
By the Master's Word is He beheld in all creation absorbed. (2)

Mangali māyā mohu upāiyā

Of Tuesday this contemplate :
Maya-illusion He created,
And set each one in creation some task.
None realization finds but as He guides.
By the Master's teaching comes vision of the Divine
Portal and Mansion.
With concentrated mind man upon loving devotion enters,
And by the holy Word burns away egoism and avarice. (3)

Buddhvāri āpei buddhi sāru

Of Wednesday this contemplate :
Himself pure thinking He grants.
The action of the God-directed is contemplation of the holy Word.
By dyeing in the Name is the mind purified :
As the devotee lauds the Lord, his impurity vanishes;
At the Divine Portal finds he exaltation,
And dyed in the Name, by the Master's Word with glory is invested. (4)

Lāhā Nāmu pāe Guruduāri

At the Master's Portal gains he profit of the Name;
This from the Bestower alone comes.
May I be a sacrifice to Him who this favour grants.
By the Master's grace is egoism annulled.
Nanak ! cherish ever the Name in Thy heart;
Hail ever the Bestower of this blessing. (5)

Vīrvāri vīr bharami bhulāe

Of Thursday this contemplate :
Celestial heroes[2] in illusion have been lost;
Ghosts and goblins in duality are caught.
Himself has he raised creatures and made them diverse.

1. Lit. Worth, value.
2. The 52 Bīrs or celestial heroes such as Hanuman, the monkey-god.

Lord ! each is under Thy protection.
All creation under Thy shelter lies :
Only such to Thee are united as by Thee are granted union. (6)

Shukravāri Prabhu rahiyā samāī

Of Friday this comtemplate :
The Lord all creation pervades;
Creating all does He evaluate them.
The God-directed alone contemplate Him.
From truth and continence their actions arise.
Fasts, observances and daily prayer—
Without realization, all is duality. (7)

Chhanicchharvāri saun̲ sāsat bīchāru

Of Saturday this contemplate :
Omens and consultation of oracles[1]
From egoism and avarice arise,
In which the world is straying.
The egoist purblind in duality caught,
At Yama's portal in bonds is chastized.
Those with the Master's grace on them get joy everlasting :
Holy[2] their actions, to Truth attached. (8)

Satiguru sevehn se wadbhāgī

Fortunate are they that the holy Preceptor serve;
Their egoism annulled, to Truth are they attached.
In Thy dye are they in serene contemplation dyed.
Thou, Bestower of Bliss, dost grant them union.
Nothing is real but the One Sole Supreme Being :
This by the Master's guidance is realized, bringing enlightenment. (9)

Pandrah thittīn̲ tai sat vār

The fifteen dates,[3] the weeks, P. 842
Months and seasons,
In continuing procession arrive.
Come days and nights, so moves the world—
Its constant movement by the Creator regulated,
The Eternal who possessed of His might is unshaken.

1. Lit. Scripture
2. Lit. Pure.
3. These are the lunar dates of the dark and bright half of the month in India.

Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance through contemplation of the holy Word,
Rare is the devotee that such realization finds. (10-1)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Ādi Purakhu āpei sṙishti sājei

By the Primal Pursha[1] is the universe created.
All creation in Maya-attachment is involved,
Caught in duality, in the false show engaged :
Bereft of good fortune, are they in transmigration involved,
By touch of the holy Preceptor comes realization :
The show is wound up; the self in the Eternal[2] is absorbed. (1)

Jā kai mastaki likhiyā lekhu

Only those bearing on their foreheads the holy writ,
Have the sole Supreme Being in their heart lodging. (1-Pause)
The universe has He created, and cherishes it.
None Thy writ may efface.
Those claiming to be Siddhas[3] and Yoga-Practitioners,[4]
In illusion lost, in transmigration whirl.
One serving the holy Preceptor, alone has realization.
Only by casting off egoism does one of the Divine Portal have vision. (2)

Ekasu te sabhu dūjā hūā

From the One sole Reality has multiplicity appeared;
The One alone in the universe operates, none other.
Should one seek in multiplicity to view the One,
And by the Master's Word to the Divine Portal to find the way,[5]
By the holy Preceptor's contact[6] the Sole Lord shall find.
Duality within him shall cease to be.[7] (3)

Jis dā sāhibu dādhā hoe

None shall injure one who has a mighty Master to protect him.
On the servant who seeks the Master's shelter,
He confers grace and exaltation.
None higher than he :
Of whom would he be afraid; before whom need he quail ? (4)

1. The Eternal Creator, pervasive in the universe.
2. Sach, Sāch = That which is real, i.e. Eternal.
3. A Siddha is a Yogi with miraculous powers.
4. Sādhak = One performing Sadhana or Yoga-praxis in the Hatha Yogic systems.
5. Lit. Sign.
6. Lit. Meeting with.
7. Lit. Shall stop, be at rest.

Gurumattīṇ shānti vasai sharīr

By absorbing the Master's teaching the body finds peace;
By contemplation of Word suffering torments not.
Then is one from transmigration and suffering freed,
And dyed in the Name, in serenity absorbed.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's teaching the devotee beholds
the Lord manifest,
Who the universe pervades. (5)

Iki sevaki iki bharami bhulāe

On some He confers devotion;[1] others He in delusion casts—Such is His dispensation, His will.
One sole Supreme Being in the universe operates, none other.
My self ! one may complain if another were there.
Serving the holy Preceptor is the purest of actions—
Such is holy Eternal's commandment[2] at the Divine Portal (6)

Thittīṇ vār sabhi shabdi suhāe

Dates and days are all auspicious to those in contemplating the holy Word engaged :
In services to the holy Preceptor lies blessing.
Dates and days come and go—
The holy Word is eternal, in holy Truth absorbed.
Dates and days are blessed when in truthful doing dyed.
All without the Name are deluded, impure.[3] (7)

Manmukh marehn mari bigatī jāheṇ

Egoists in their death on an evil state enter—
By duality attracted, the sole Supreme Being they forget.
Anyone with faculties[4] unawakened is unenlightened, benighted .
How without the holy Word may he find liberation ?
The Creator that made such,
Created also the Master's contemplation. (8)

Bahutei bhekh karehṇ bhekhdhārī

One of a sect numerous garbs assumes—
False his dice, in transmigration is he involved.
Neither here nor in the hereafter finds he joy.
The egoist dies, making waste of his life. P.843

1. Service.
2. Lit. Thinking, judgement.
3. Lit. unbaked (as said of clay).
4. Bodily powers.

By devotion to the holy Preceptor are delusions lifted,
And inside the self[1] does the seeker the Divine
Mansion attain. (9)

Āpei Pūrā Karei so hoe

All happens as the Lord, perfection incarnate, wills.
Observing dates and days from duality arises.
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance all is pitch dark.
Worship of dates and days is the way of deluded ignorant persons.
Saith Nanak : Only those by the Master's teaching enlightened,
The way to God find.
Eternally pervasive is the sole Name Divine. (10.2)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Chhant (Lyrics) in the Dakhni style
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Muṇdh navelaṛīyā goili āyī Rāma

The self's youthful female into the world's pasture ground[2] has arrived.
The pot of worldly concerns has she cast off,
And to the Lord is her heart's attached,
In this pasture in God is her heart's devotion fixed,
Spontaneously with the holy Word decked.
With folded hands the Lord she supplicates :
Eternal Beloved, with Thyself grant me union
The woman at sight of the Divine Beloved in devotion
is absorbed,
And lust and wrath cast off.
Saith Nanak : The youthful female at sight of the Divine comely Beloved[3] has felt succoured. (1)

Sacchi navelaṛīyei jobani bālī Rāma

Listen thou youthful female, by truth ever young,
with thy maidenly beauty :
Stray not anywhere, in thy home with thy Lord abide :

1. Lit. Home.
Note : (A) As in other Chhants, in these chhants too, at the end of some lines occurs Rama as a euphonious refrain.
(b) The imagery here is redolent of the romantic poetry of India, with the seeker self symbolized as the female yearning for union with the spouse.
2. Goil is the raise ground where herds in the rainy season are temporarily settled to escape marshy land.
3. Sunder = the handsome one, an attributive allusion to the Divine Person.

Me the Lord's handmaid, His devotion pleases :
Thus speak I of the Lord of fathomless mystry, inexpressible, Spontaneously His laudation singing.
Absorbed in truth the loving devotee females
Express laudation of the Name Divine, supremely joy-giving.
Saith Nanak : The holy Word on them is conferred, inspiring in them contemplation of God. (2)

Srīdhar mohiyaṛī Pir sangi sūtī Rāma

The female charmed by the Lord with the Divine Beloved in love is united.[1]
By obeying the Master's will comes union with the holy Eternal :
The female to the holy Eternal united, with the Lord
in love is united.[1]
In company with her sister-friends.[2]
United by the holy Preceptor, with equal passion of our heart fixed in love,
Is the Name within us lodged.
May the immaculate Lord be not put out of our mind
day and night,
For an hour, an instant.
Nanak ! light thou lamp of light of the holy Word, shatterer of Yama's fear. (3)

Joti sabhāiyarīyei tribhavaṇ sārei Rāma

In the three worlds all over is His light spread.
In each being is pervasive.
The Lord inaccessible, limitless
With the holy Eternal, inaccessible, limitless
By subduing the ego is found union.
Burn egoism, acquisitiveness and avarice,
And by the holy Word remove impurity of mind.
Those gone to His Portal having sight of Him, submitting to His will, pray :
Divine Saviour ! save us.
Saith Nanak :Those lodging him in heart,
Tasting of amrita of the Name Divine, feel fulfilled. (4) (1)

---

1. Has couched.
2. Symbolizes saintly company.

Maiṇ mani chāo ghaṇā sāchi vigāsī Rāma

Joy-filled is my[1] heart, blossoming with holy truth;
Charmed am I by His love—of the eternal Lord,
By whose will all happens.
The immortal Lord Supreme,
By whose will all happens;
Gracious, compassionate, in each one's life involved.
My sole knowledge is He, object of meditation, adoration—
The Name Divine in my heart lodged.
Neither ritual garb nor wandering nor forced Yoga
Know I to win Him over :
Nanak holy turth alone has grasped. (1)

Bhinnaṛī rayṇi bhalī dinas suhāe Rāma

Argeeable is the dew-drenched night; followed by happy day. P. 844
Thou[2] who in thy own ego art asleep, the Beloved calls thee from sleep.
Awakened is the youthful bride, to the call of the holy Word.
Pleasing in aspect to her beloved.
Discarded has she falsehood, deceit, Maya[3]-absorption,
And concern with the world.
Round my neck wear I the pearl-string of His Name,
The bridal mark of the holy Word.[4]
With folded hands makes Nanak supplication :
Show Thy grace, into Thy favour take me ! (2)

Jāgu salonaṛīyei bolai Gurubāṇī Rāma

Wake up, thou[2] of, lovely-eyes !
The Master's Word makes call.
Those who fix faith in it, inexpressible is their state.
Inexpressible indeed is their state—
In the emancipated state they abide.
A rare one by the Master's guidance realizing this,
Absorbed in the Word,[3] his ego sheds,
By knowledge of the three worlds illumined.

Note : (A) These are sublime lyrics of Divine love, wherein the self, the soul is imaged as beloved bride of the Lord, the Divine Lover.

(B) In these lyrices too 'Rama' occurs as a euphonious refrain.

1. (The self speaks herein)
2. (The self is being apostrophized).
3. Also interpreted as : The holy Word in the heart of such is manifested.
4. Spots.

The mind of such, unattached to the world,
Dyed in the Transcendent,
Abides in contemplation of the holy attributes.
Saith Nanak : In the hearts of such abides the Lord
Pervasive in all space. (3)

Mahali bulāiyaṛīyei bhagati sanehī Rāma

Into the Mansion art thou called by the Lord,
Lover of devotees.
By the Master's teaching shall He in the mind abide.
The body too shall have weal,
One that subdues the mind, to devotion is inclined,
And in the Word is absorbed,
The Lord of the three worlds shall realize.
With mind unsewerving, the bridegroom know.
Thou alone art my support, my Spouse.
To thee alone for strength I look.
Nanak, He is true and pure eternally—
The Master's Word all controversy sets at rest. (4) (2)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das.
Chhant (Lyrics) Paeans of marital Bliss (Mangal)[1]
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Merā Hari-Prabhu sejai āiyā manu sukhi samānā Rāma

As the Lord to my couch came, joy-absorbed was my heart.[2]
By grace of the Master is attained the Lord; thereby frolicsome joy have I experienced.
Fortunate wife of blessed matrimony am I;
On my forehead is worn the Divine jewel.
With the Lord have I wedded bliss.
Saith Nanak : This to my heart[2] is pleasing. (1)

Nimāṇiyāṇ Hari māṇu hai Hari-Prabhu Hari āpai Rāma

The Lord solely is honour of those without worldly honour.
By discarding ego by the Master's guidance,
Ever the Lord have I contemplated.
Such do what pleases the Lord,
As in dye of the Lord are thy immersed.

---

1. Note : (A) 'Rama' occurs at the end of lines as a euphonious refrain.
(B) The seeker in these lyrics (titled ' Paeans of marital Bliss') is imaged as the happily-wedded wife.

2. Mana.

Nanak, servant of God, spontaneously to Him is united,
And with Divine elixir is filled. (2)

Māṇas janami Hari pāīyai Hari rāwaṇ verā Rāma

In the human incarnation is attained the Lord—
This to contemplate the Lord is the occasion.
As by the Master's guidance the happily-wedded wife finds union,
In deep joy is she dyed.
Those not attaining the human incarnation by misfortune are struck.
Lord ! save Nanak, who is Thy slave. (3)

Guri Hari-Prabhu agamu drirhāiyā manu tanu rangi bhīnā Rāma

As devotion to the Lord was by the Master confirmed,
Joy-drenched were mind and body.
Beloved of devotees is the Name Divine;
By the Master's guidance is the Lord attained.
Devotees deprived of the Name Divine find not life as fish without water. P. 845
By attainment of the Lord is my life made fruitful—
This by the Lord Himself is granted. (4) (1.3)

Hari Pabhu sajjaṇu lori lahu mani wassai wadbhāgu

Sloka : Seek out the Lord, true friend : thereby in your mind shall good fortune lodge.
Saith Nanak : As by the Master, perfectly-endowed is
He revealed,
Devotion in the Lord is fixed. (1)

Merā Hari Prabh rāwaṇi āīyāṇ haumai bikhu jhāgei Rāma

*Chhant (Lyrics) To have bliss with the Lord have we females[1] come,
After crossing the ocean of poison.[2]
By the Master's guidance the ego have we effaced,
And our devotion in the Lord is fixed.
As by the Master's teaching are we awakened,
Is the lotus of our heart illumined.
By perfection of good fortune has Nanak, servant of God, attained Him. (1)

---

* (Study Notes to the foregoing lyrics).
1. The gender inheres in the verb āiyāṅ.
2. Maya is implied.

Hari-Prabhu Hari mani bhāiyā Hari-Nāmi wadhāī Rāma

The Lord to the heart[1] has become pleasing;
For this devotion to the Nama Divine raise felicitation.
By guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
is the Lord attained,
And devotion in the Lord fixed.
Lifted is darkness of ignorance, and Divine Light manifested.
The Name is prop of Nanak, servant of God,
As in the Name Divine is he absorbed. (2)

Dhan Hari-Prabhi piyārai rāwīyā jān Hari-Prabh bhāī Rāma

The woman[2] with the Lord has bliss, as to Him she became pleasing—
Her eyes taut in love, as cat at sight of mouse.
As the Master, perfectly-endowed, union with the Lord granted,
With joy in the Lord was she fulfilled.
Nanak, servant of God, with the Name is in bloom of joy,
As devotion to the Lord in him is fixed. (3)

Ham mūrakh mugadh milāiyā Hari kirpā dhārī Rāma

The Lord in His grace to us, ignorant, thoughtless ones union has granted.
Blessed, laudable is the Master
Who our egoism has annulled.
Those blessed with great good fortune the Lord in heart have cherished.
Nanak, thou servant of God, laud the Name—
To the Name may I be a sacrifice. (4) (2.4)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mangal sāju bhayā Prabhu apnā gāīyā Rāma

Bliss has appeared, and the Lord's laudation have we sung.
Our Spouse we hear is eternal; thereby is the heart joy-filled.
By great good fortune is love for Him aroused—
When shall we meet the Spouse, perfection incarnate ?
That in poise we be absorbed and attain the Lord—
Sister-friend ! in this instruct me.

1. Mana.
2. Image for the seeker.

Day and night standing I serve—not knowing by what device the Lord is attained ?
States Nanak in humility : In your grace, to yourself attach me. (1)

Bhayā samāhaṛā Hari ratanu visāhā Rāma

With great joy the Divine jewel have we obtained.[1]
After great quest from God's devotees have we got Him.
As in grace have the loved devotees met me,
With them is comtemplated the inexpressible.
With folded hands I supplicate the Lord to grant porfit of
Divine laudation.
States Nanak in humility : Lord inaccessible, unfathomable !
Your slave am I. (2)

Sāhā atalu gaṇiyā pūran sanjogo Rāma

As is fixed the eternal hour of betrothal,[2]
Perfect is the wedded unions
Have all joys come; ended is separation. P. 846
God's devotees in unison have arrived, on the Lord meditating.
These be a unique wedding-party.
In spontaneous poise are they all assembled;
In the heart of the bride's people has arisen love.
With light completely joined to Divine Light,
Enjoy you perfect bliss of the Name Divine, States Nanak in humility : This union is brought about by the Devotee[3] of God almighty. (3)

*Bhavanu suhāwaṛā dharti sabhāgī Rāma

Beautiful is the home, auspicious its site.
As is the Lord arrived in the home, the Master's feet have I touched :
Touching the Master's feet, in enlightenment am I awakened;
Fulfilled are all my desires.
By blessing of dust of feet of the holy are my desires fulfilled,
As union with the Spouse, long-separated has come about.
Ever rings the joyful concert; discarded is egoistic thinking.
States Nanak in humility : Now to holy congregation is my love attached. (4) (1)

---

1. Purchased.
2. Betrothal and wedded union are used symbolically for union with the Absolute.
3. Stands for the Guru.
* Note : In these lyrics and those following, 'Rama' occurs as a euphonious refrain.

*Bhāg sulakhaṇā Hari kantu hamārā Rāma

By auspicious good fortune is the Lord become my spouse.
In that court rings the unstruck music and tune.
Each day plays concert of joy; day and night with ecstasy
are filled.
There neither afflict malady, sorrow nor suffering or transmigration.
There are attained miraculous powers[1] and amrita-elixir,
And of devotion are stores full.
State Nanak in humility : May I be a sacrifice to the Supreme Being, prop of life. (1)

Suṇi sakhīya sahelarīho mili mangalu gāwehn Rāma

Listen my damsel-friends[2] ! in unison sing we paeans of joy.
With mind and body full of love, the Lord we contemplate :
With love Him we contemplate, His favour win—
For an instant, a minute forgetting Him not.
Holding Him to our neck we clasp Him unhesitating,
With dust of His feet cover our heart.
With drug[3] of our devotion we charm Him, that nowhere else He strays.
States Nanak in humility : In union with the Divine Beloved
The immortal state we attain, (2)

Bisman bisam bhayī pekhi guṇa abināshī Rāma

Beholding the immortal Lord's merit am I wonder-filled :
With His arm me has He grasped;
snapped is Yama's noose :
By the arm has He grasped me, His handmaid made me;
By the sapling of devotion is illumination beheld.
Fled are impurity, attachment and evil thinking;
Arrived are days of purity.
By His glance of grace is evil-thinking fled,
And His heart's beloved I became.
States Nanak in humility : As was met the eternal Lord,
To me came purity. (3)

Sūraj kiraṇi milei jal kā jalu hūā Rāma

Into the sun is the ray absorbed, water into water.
Light into light is merged; attained is perfection.

---

* Note : Rāma used at line-ends as a euphonious refrain.
1. Riddhi-Siddhi (See Glossary).
2. Symbols for fellow-seekers.
3. Thagauri, a drug used by Thugs (robbers) to make their victims unconscious. Here used symbolically.

Now the Supreme Being solely is beheld, the Supreme Being listened;
On the Sole Supreme Being we discourse.
Other than the Lord know not any creator of expanse of His self.
Himself the Creator and Enjoyer, Himself author of all causes.
States Nanak in humility : Such alone have this realization
As Divine elixir have quaffed. (4) (2)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 847

Chhant (Lyrics)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sakhī āo sakhī vasi āo sakhi asī Pir kā mangalu gāwehn

Come, my sister-friends[1] ! in the Lord's will abide,
That the Divine Beloved's felicitation we sing.
Sister-friend[1] ! your pride discard, discard pride,
That the Lord's favour we win :
Discarding pride, attachment, evil and duality,
The Sole Immaculate Being we serve.
Attach we ourselves to shelter of the gracious Beloved,
Shatterer of all sins.
Turning His slaves of slaves, discarding dejection,
To no other device[2] may I stray.
Supplicates Nanak : Show grace that the song of felicity I sing. (1)

Amritu Priya kā Nāmu main andhulei tohanī

Beloved Lord's Name is amrita and staff to the blind.
Attractive Maya in various ways seeks man.
Attractive Maya, of wondrous aspect, playful,
Numerous ravishing blandishments displays.
Persistently appears she sweet to the mind;
Thus devotion to the Name arises not.
Into homes, forests, bathing-spots, fasts, worship, paths,
and river-banks she intrudes.[3]
Supplicates Nanak : In your grace grant to me, blind of eyes, staff of the Name. (2)

Mohe anāth Priya Nāth jiuṇ jānuh tiuṇ rākhuh

Beloved Lord ! keep me, helpless female[4] as may please you.

1. Symbol for seekers.
2. Implies ritual codes etc.
3. Seeks.
4. ('Female' is implied in the context).

Cleverness have I none, with my words to charm you.
Neither am I nimble of wit, well-mannered or wise—
No merit have I, unmeriting one.
Neither with beauty am I endowed, nor exude fragrance,
nor have eyes bewitching :
He to whom all cry hail ! gracious—who His state
has realized ?
Nanak thus supplicates : Your servant am I to render you service—
Shelter me as be your will. (3)

Mohi machhulī tum nīr tujh binu kiuṃ sarai

I as the fish, you water—how without you may I survive ?
I as the chatrik, you the rain-drop—as into my mouth you fall,
am I fulfilled :
As into the mouth it falls, assuaged is my thirst;
You who are Lord of self, heart and life.
Your cherished saints do you fondle best out of all creation—
In union with you lies our liberation.
Lifting of darkness in heart I yearn for, as the chakwi waiting for rise of day.
Nanak thus supplicates : With the Beloved may I find union—
May the fish from water be not banished.[1] (4)

Dhani dhanni hamārei bhāg ghari āiyā Piru merā

Blessed is my good fortune, as the Beloved my home has entered.
Embellished are the elegant mansions; green the glade :
Green is everything, Lord bestower of joy;
Have come bliss. felicity and joy in abundance.
Of the Lord youthful, lithe of limb, in bloom of youth,
By what tongue may I utter attributes ?
Decked by Him is my couch, whose sight has charmed me—
Gone is all doubt and suffering.
States Nanak in supplication : Fulfilled is my desire,
As is met the transcendent Lord. (5) (1.3)

1. Forgotten.

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant Mangal (Lyrics of felicitation)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka

Sundar shānti dayāl Prabh sarb sukhā nidhi pīo

As is met the Lord all-beauty, all-peace, compassionate,
Store of all joy, beloved,
Ocean of joy, saith Nanak,
Is the self joy-filled. (1) P. 848

Chhant (Lyrics)

Sukh sāgar Prabhu pāīyai jab hovai bhāgo Rāma

The Lord, ocean of joy by good fortune is met.
Discarding notions of honour and slighting,
The Divine feet you touch.
Discard cleverness, contrivance and evil understanding.
Saith Nanak : With the Divine King seek shelter,
That your wedding bliss be made eternal. (1)

So Prabhu taji kat lāgīyai jisu binu mari jāīyai Rāma

To whom to attach oneself, deserting the Lord without whom is life ended ?
Without shame are the evil-minded, ignorant and Maya-deluded.
Where shall one desiring the Lord, purifier of the humble,
Find place of rest ?
Saith Nanak : By loving devotion to the Lord gracious
Is attained the state of true life. (2)

Sri-Gopālu na ucchareh bali gaīyei duhchāraṇi rasnā Rāma

On the tongue blasted,[1] of evil ways,
Runs not the Lord's Name.[2]
Without service to the Lord, beloved of devotees,
Is the body pecked at[3] by ravens.
The self-female caught in delusion knows not of the sufferiug
That from abiding in millions of births comes.
Saith Nanak : To be devoted to other than the Lord
Is to be consumed as worm of ordure. (3)

1. That which is burnt.
2. Does not utter.
3. Gripped.

Lãe birahu bhagavant sangei hoe mili bairāgani Rāma

In passion of love[1] to the Lord of felicity be attached;
Taking to renunciation,[2] with Him find union.
Applying fragrant sandalwood, fine robes, pleasant scents—
All such poisons of egoism discard.
Without straying this or that way, in service to the Lord be ever awake.
Saith Nanak : The female who the Lord has attained,
Is of eternal wedded bliss. (4) (1.4)

Hari khojuh wad-bhāgīho mili sādhū sangei Rāma

You that are supremely blessed, in holy congregation seek the Lord.
Dyed in love of the Supreme Being,
Ever the Lord's praise sing.
Ever serve the Lord, from whom are obtained desires of heart.
Saith Nanak : Seeking shelter with the Lord, stilling innumerable waves of desire,
Him you contemplate.[3] (1)

Iku tilu Prabhū na vīsareh jini sabhu kichhu dīnā Rāma

Forget not for an instant the Lord from whom have all blessings[4] come
By great good fortune comes union, as by Master's guidance
Is the Beloved Lord realized.
Grasping by the arm from darkness has He extricated me,
And made me His own.
By utterance of the Name finds Nanak life;
Joy-cooled is his heart and breast. (2)

Kyā guṇa ṭerai keh sakoun Prabh antarjāmī Rāma

Lord, controller of the inner self ! what power have I
Thy merits to express ?
By constant remembrance of the Lord,
The ocean of existence have we crossed.[5]

---

1. Lit. Pangs of separaton in love.
2. Bairagan = a female recluse.
   Note : 'Rāma' in these Lyrics too is used a euphonious refrain.
   Note : Rāma occurs at lins ends as a euphonious refrain.
3. Also interpreted as : Seeking shelter of the Lord of innumerable waves. Him you contemplate.
4. Everything.
5. Crossed to the other shore.

By singing Divine laudation are all desires fulfilled.
Saith Nanak : By contemplating the Lord, Master of all,
have we found liberation. (3)

Ras bhinniyarei apunei Rāma sangei se loiṉ nīkei Rāma

Beauteous are eyes that in joy of the Lord are drenched.
By beholding the Lord, by union with the Beloved of the self
Are all desires fulfilled.
As ambrosial elixir of the Lord have we obtained,
Pleasures of maya-poison feel tasteless.
Saith Nanak : Water with water is mingled;
Light into light is merged to become one. (4) (2.5)

In the Measure Bilaval-Vār—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 849
(Bilaval-Ki-Var, Mahalla IV)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Hari uttamu Hari-Prabhu gāwiyā kari nād Bilāval Rāma

Praise have I sung of the Lord Supreme, the Divine Master, Tuning the measure Bilaval :
In the Master's teaching have I put faith, by supreme good fortune on my forehead writ in primal time.
Day and night have I lauded the Lord, with love for Him in heart.
Thereby body and mind grown fresh,[1]
The self like a garden bloomed.
Darkness of ignorance has lifted, as the lamp of enlightenment
by the Master given, is lit.
Nanak, servant of God finds life by light of the Lord.
Beholding His face for a moment, for a short while[2] even. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Find true joy[3] from the Name borne on your life;
Melody, music and holy words, in contemplation are with beauty invested.
Should man serve the Lord, renouncing pleasure of music and melody,
At the Divine Portal would he be exalted.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance contemplate the Lord—
Thus will your egoism from the mind be lifted. (2)

1. Green, verdant.
2. Part of hour.
3. Bilāval, which is also the name of the musical measure (rāga) for singing this composition.

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Tūṃ Hari-Prabhu āpi agammu haiṇ sabhu Tudhu upāiyā

Lord ! Inaccessible art Thou; all that exists is Thy creation;
In the universe entire dost Thou operate.
In meditation dost Thou go Thyself and chant Thy own praise.
Devotees of the Lord ! on Him day and night meditate !
In the last moment He alone shall succour you.
Those serving Him find bliss,
And in the Name Divine are absorbed. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Dūjai bhāe bilāvalu na hovaī manmukhi thāeṇ na pāe

In duality lies not joy of singing Bilaval;
Egoists find not any place with God :
With hypocrisy goes not devotion, or attainment to the Supreme Being.
Those from stubbornness of mind doing ritual practices,
Find no place with God.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance,
Contemplate the self, cast off egoism.
Then would come vision of the Supreme Being, the sole Reality;
In your mind shall he take abode;
Transmigration shall be annulled, and your light shall with the Divine Light merge. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Friends beloved, in joy disport[1] in devotion to the Sole
Supreme Being;
Annulling suffering of birth and death, into the Eternal
be absorbed.
For one following the holy Preceptor's will is everlasting joy and bliss.
In holy company practices devotion ever, chanting the Lord's praise.
Saith Nanak : True beauty on those sits that by the Master's guidance to the Lord are united. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Sabhana jia vichi hari āpi so bhagata kā mitu hari

The Lord all creation pervadas—
To the devotees true friend.

---

1. Bilāval, which is also the name of the musical measure (rāga) for singing this composition.

All under the Lord's sway lie;
In His devotees' homes is everlasting joy :
The Lord is His devotees' friend.
Abide thou ever from anxiety freed.[1]
The Lord is Master of all.
Devotees, on Him meditate.
None to Thee can make approach—
All strive and leave the quest. (2)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Brahm bindehṇ te Brāhmaṇā je challehṇ Satiguru bhāye P. 850

One realizing the Supreme Being is truly a Brahmin, Should he by the Master's will abide.
Those bearing in heart the Lord are from malady of egoism freed;
Contemplating Divine attributes, garnering these,
With Divine Light is their light merged.
Rare are the Brahmins in this age,
That with devotion the Supreme Being realize.
Saith Nanak : Those favoured with Divine grace,
Devoted to the Name abide. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Those not serving the holy Preceptor,
Without devotion to the holy Word—
Caught in deep malady of egoism,
From selfish desire act;
Acting from stubbornness of will, ever in birth and death remain involved.
In obedience to the Master's teaching lies fulfilment—
This by Divine grace comes.[2]
Saith Nanak : By divine grace is obtained wealth of the Name. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Sabh wadiyāīyāṇ Hari Nām vichi Hari Gurumukhi dhiyāiyai

From devotion to the Lord's Name come all merits—
This from the Master's guidance is obtained.
All desires are fulfilled, should the mind to the holy Name[2]
be devoted.

---

1. Lit. Sleep ever free from anxiety.
2. Lit. this comes to those whom He unites.

The secret thoughts of your self reveal to the Master—
Therein all joy lies.
By the teaching of the Master, perfectly-endowed are all desired fulfilled.
Only those so destined,
In laudation[1] of the Lord are absorbed. (3)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Satiguru te khālī ko nahīṇ merai Prabhi meli milāe

From the holy Preceptor none goes away empty-handed;
With the Lord he brings about union.
In the holy Preceptor's sight lies fruitfulness—
From it comes fulfilment of heart's desire—
The Master's Word is amrita, banishing all hunger and thirst.[2]
Quaffing the juice of Divine joy brings contentment,
With holy truth in the mind lodging.
By meditation of Truth is achieved the state of immortality,
With sound of the mystic music.
Holy Truth in all[3] directions is seen spread,
By the Master's serene guidance.
Saith Nanak : Those carrying Truth inside them
Never can remain hidden, despite others' effort.[4] (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
By service to the Master is found the Lord,
Should He cast His glance of grace.
One blessed with true devotion,
From the human state is exaltated to be a god.
Union with the Lord to such is granted.
By casting off of their ego, through the Master's holy Word.
Saith Nanak : In serene contemplation find they union,
And by the Name are exalted. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Guru Satiguru vich Nāṇvain ki waddī wadiyāī Hari
Kartai āpei wadhāī

In the holy Preceptor is lodged exaltation of devotion,
By the Creator Himself granted.
Disciples all find from its sight inner life,

1. Lit, Singing the Lord's praise.
2. Used metaphorically for desire.
3. Ten.
4. However others may try to hide it.

To their hearts bringing joy.
Slanderers and evil-doers at the Master's exaltation chafe—
Another's good to them is unpleasing.
Fruitless is their fuming and fretting,
As the Master with the Eternal is in tune.
Ever ascendant remains what pleases the Creator
The world vainly fretting. (4)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Dhrigu ih āsā dūjei bhāv kī jo mohi māyā chitt lāe

Cursed be desire, duality-provoked, that draws the mind to Maya-delusion,
Wherein for straw is joy in God thrown away,
And through neglect of devotion, suffering embraced.
Egoists unenlightened, purblind, pass through birth and death,
And in transmigration are involved :
No fulfilment to them comes, and from the world they depart in regret. P. 851
Only those to whom comes grace find the Preceptor,
By whose guidance on God's Name they meditate.
Those dyed in the Name find joy everlasting—
Nanak is a sacrifice to such. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Desire and expectation are delusions—
The world by these is deluded.
All within the ambit of Yama lie, all that are created.
Yama by operation of Divine Ordinance chastizes;
Those are saved who have Divine[1] grace.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's grace is the self saved,
When egoism it discards,
And banishing desire and expectation, freeing the mind of these,
By the Master's teaching, in contemplation engages. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jithai jāīyai jagat mehn tithai Hari sāīṇ

Everywhere in the world is manifest the Lord, holy Master.
In the hereafter too is His will operative—Holy His judgement.[2]
The wicked there are repudiated,

1. Lit. Grace of the Creator.
2. Lit. He is the holy judge.

Truth and devotion exalted.
Holy is the Lord, holy His judgement—
Ashes over the slanderer's heads are thrown.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Holy Truth have I contemplated,
And by the Master's guidance found bliss (5)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Pūrai bhāgi Satiguru pāīyai je Hari Prabhu bakhsh karei

By Supreme good luck is the holy Preceptor found,
By the Divine Master's grace.
The supreme praxis is attainment of the Name,
That makes the heart cool, poised,
And brings joy everlasting.
Saith Nanak : Through devotion to the Name comes exaltation,
Making amrita the devotee's sustenance and wear. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
My self, to the Master's teaching be attentive—
Thus mayst thou attain the Repository of Merit.
Thus shall the Bestower of Bliss in thy heart be lodged,
And egoism and pride vanish.
Saith Nanak : By grace alone is attained amrita and the Repository of Merit. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jitnei pātishāh shāh rājei khān umrāv sikdār hehn titnei sabhi Hari ke kīye

All that are rulers, kings, potentates, lords, chiefs, officials—
All are God's creation.
Their will to God's is subject :
On God are they all dependent.
The Lord, Master of all creation, who the holy Preceptor's upholder is,
To the holy Preceptor has subjected in servitude
All castes, the four sources of creation, all existence.
Devotees of the Lord ! behold the merit of the Lord's devotion,
That from the city of the body has cast out all foes and agents of evil.
By the Lord's grace to His devotees shown,
In His mercy has He saved them. (6)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Andari kapatu sadā dukhu hai manmukh dhyānu na lāgai

Those carrying hypocrisy within suffer everlasting pain;

Meditation comes not to the egoist :
All his actions in suffering undertaken, in suffering he lives :
And in the hereafter in suffering remains.
Should as reward for good deeds the holy Preceptor be met,
The self in the Name is absorbed.
Saith Nanak : By serene contemplation comes bliss,
And illusion and fear from the mind vanish. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
One by the Master guided everlastingly is in joy with God;
God's Name to their heart is pleasing.
By the Master's guidance he sees and speaks;
In contemplation of the holy Name he finds joy.
Saith Nanak ; By the Master's guidance spreads enlightenment,
And pitch darkness from the self is lifted. (2) P. 852
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Egoists, impure and unenlightened, meet death.
One by the Master guided, of pure mind cherishes in heart
the Lord.
Saith Nanak : Listen, brethren !
Serve the holy Preceptor, thus banish impurity of egoism.
Within him arises doubt and suffering;
Engaged in worldly pursuits, ever is man buffeted.
Those wrapped in sleep of duality never are awakened—
With Maya are they in attachment and love.
Forgetful of the Name, contemplating not the Word—
Such is the egoist's way of thinking.
Never has he loved the Lord's Name, his life a waste,
By Yama in ignominy chastized. (3)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das
Jis noṇ Hari bhagati sachu bakhshīyanu so sacchā shāhu
One blessed with devotion and truth is truly rich;
To him the world approaches in time of need;
At others' shops is found neither the article needed nor do they inspire truth.
Whoever God's devotees approaches, the wealth of God finds;
Ashes on God-deniers fall;
God's devotees in God's Name hold commerce;
Yama and his tax-gatherers come not near them.
Nanak, servant of God, has packed wealth of God's Name—
Desireless is he made. (7)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Is jug mehṇ bhagatī Hari dhanu khattiyā horu sabhu jagatu bharami bhulāiyā

In this world devotees alone have gained the Divine treasure;
The rest[1] in delusion lost.
By the Master's guidance is the Name in the mind lodged;
Day after day on the Name they meditate;
Involved in the world, are they still true anchorites,
Their egoism in the Word consumed.
Saved themselves, saved are their family and forebears—
Blessed is the mother that bore them.
Ever abide they in serene joy, in love with the Eternal.
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva, involved in Three Qualities are lost,
In egoism their attachment increased.
Pandits[2] and those with vows of silence are all deluded,
To duality attached.
Yogis, wandering ascetics, Sannyasi too are deluded;
Without the Master's guidance, the Essence have they not found.
Egoists in pain involved, are ever in delusion lost.
Their lives wasted.
Saith Nanak : Only those dyed in the Name have found poise,
Who by Divine grace to God are united. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Nanak, laud Him in whose power all lies.
You living beings, worship Him who is the sole Reality.
As by the Master's guidance in the mind is He lodged,
Everlasting joy is found. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jinnhīṇ Gurmukhi Hari-Nām dhanu na khattiyo se dewālīyei jug māheṇ

Those that by the Master's guidance have earned not wealth of the Name Divine,
Are insolvent paupers in the world.
Beggars, they wander over the wide world—
None would even spit at their face.
Slandering others, all credit, exposting themselves they lose.
Wealth for which they carry tales against others,

1. Original, Rest of the world.
2. Brāhmin scholars of religion.

By slander is not acquired, despite all their travail.[1] P. 853
By the Master's guidance, with humility and devotion is Divine wealth acquired,
That these unlucky ones can acquire not—
This wealth from wandering[2] comes not. (8)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Gurmukhi saṇsā mūli nā hovaī chiṇtā vicchuṇh jāe

By the Master's guidance all doubt goes,[3] and the heart of anxiety is rid.
Those by the Master guided achieve all by serene meditation—
Indescribable is their state.
Saith Nanak : The Lord Himself attends to their words;
In His ledger are they included. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Those by the Master guided have cast out[4] death;
Desires in their minds are buried;
In their selves the holy Name they bear.
Ever are they awake; sleep grips them not,
In serenity quaffing amrita.
Sweet their utterance, immortalizing their words,
Ever chanting the Lord's praise.
In their true home[5] they abide, ever in celestial beauty glowing—
Their contact[6] confers bliss. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Hari dhanu ratan jaweharī so Guri Hari dhanu Hari pāsuhṇ dewāiyā

The Divine wealth, that equals rubies, diamonds,
Is by the Preceptor's favour from the Lord acquired.
Should any see this wealth, and seek in it a share,
Or seek for another to get it, futile is such attempt :
Not by force is this wealth with another shared.
On whomsoever is conferred devotion to the Lord
by the holy Preceptor,

1. Lit. Wherever they go.
2. Lit. In different lands (where they wander in quest of spiritual merit).
3. Lit. Will not at all arise.
4. Lit. Destroyed.
5. The Divine Essence.
6. Lit. Meeting touch.

In this wealth acquires a share, by the primal Writ in his favour recorded.
None this Divine wealth may share, none bear for this any document;
None may by manipulating boundaries claim it :
Whoever on the Divine wealth cast slanders,
All the world over is his disgrace proclaimed.[1]
Force or intrigue avail not to get Divine favours—
Day by day, ever has it increase. (9)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Jagatu jalaṇdā rakkhi lai āpṇī kirpā dhāri

Save by Thy grace, the world in flames;
Save it at whatever portal it may be saved.
The holy Preceptor by inspiring contemplation of the Divine Word,
Has conferred bliss.
Saith Nanak : None other beside the Lord, liberation may confer. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
In egoism lies Maya-delusion, attachment to duality;
Neither may it be eliminated nor sold off in the market.
By the Master's Word is it consumed, leaving thus the self.
Thus may body and mind be purified, and the Name in the mind be lodged.
Saith Nanak : The holy Word is Maya's antidote—
This blessing by the Master's guidance is obtained. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Satigur kī wadiyāī Satiguri ditī dhuruhṇ Hukamu bujjhi nīsāṇu

Greatness on the holy Master[2] by the holy Preceptor[3]
was conferred,
On beholding on him the mark of Primal dispensation.
His sons, nephews, sons-in-law, relations—
All made various efforts
All their pride had to shed.
Pervasive everywhere was my holy Master,
By His glance of grace was the world by the Lord liberated.

1. Lit. His face is blackened.
2. Guru Amar Das is implied.
3. Guru Angad Dev is implied.

Whoever in the holy Master reposes faith, in this life and the next is blessed;
Those denying Him in filthy ways wander.[1]
On Nanak, His servant, has He cast His favour— P. 854
The Lord, loving friend, Being All-wise.
As many behold grain,[2] at the holy Master's feet they fall;
Of their pride He relieved all. (10)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Koī wāheį ko luṇai ko pāe khalihāni

One ploughs, another reaps, a third the grain harvests.
Saith Nanak : Who can say who in the end will eat of it ? (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
He alone swims across in whose self He is lodged.
Saith Nanak : All happens as He wills. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Pār-Brahmi dayāl sāgar tāriyā

The gracious Supreme Being has carried me across the ocean;
The holy, gracious Master has my illusion and fear ended.[3]
Lust and violence, of fearful aspect, agents of evil,
All are discomfited.
Wealth of the ambrosial Name have I worn round
my neck and heart.
Saith Nanak : In holy company life and death sanctified. (11)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Jinnhīṇ Nāmu wisāriyā kuṛei kahaṇ kahanni

Those forgetful of the Name ever utter falsehood.
The Five Thieves their house burgle—
Egoism into it breaks.
God-deniers by their evil thinking are robbed;
They know not the taste of joy in God.
Those that, caught, in illusion, have thrown away amrita,
In Maya their pleasure find;
With evil-doers they make friends,
And with men of God are in contention.
Saith Nanak : In hell are God-deniers by Yama bound,

1. Transmigration into lower species is implied.
2. Lit. Feed (n.) as placed before animals etc.
3. Lit. Destroyed.

And undergo suffering.
As are they destined, they act,
By Divine will bound.[1] (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Those serving the holy Preceptor, even without worldly power are mighty :
With each breath and morsel abides in their hearts the Lord;
Yama finds them not :
In their hearts is borne the Lord's Name,
Maya their handmaid.
One who is slave of God's slaves,
His is the Supreme Substance[2].
Saith Nanak : I am a sacrifice to such
As the Lord have lodged in their mind and body.
By predestination comes joy in holy company. (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Jo bolei pūrā satigurū so Parmesari suṇiyā

The Lord is attentive to what the holy Preceptor perfectly-endowed utters,
His utterance in the world operates.
By each one's tongue[3] repeated.
Beyond count are the Lord's merits.
With the holy Precept lies joy in serenity,
And jewels of high worth[4].
Saith Nanak : One to God attuning himself,
By Him is exalted[5]. (12)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Apṇā āpu na pachhāṇaī Hari-Prabhu jātā dūri

The egoist knows not his self, and thinks the Lord is far.
Devotion to the Master has he neglected;
How may his mind live in God's Presence ?
The egoist his life has wasted in pursuit of false avarice.
Saith Nanak : By grace has come union in Divine Presence,
By listening to the holy Word. (1)

---

1. Lit. They live as He keeps them.
2. Liberation is meant.
3. Mouth.
4. Lit. Genuine.
5. Lit. One that becomes like the Holy Lord, is by the Supreme Being exalted.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
By the Master's guidance have I chanted holy paean of Divine praise,
And the Lord's Name.
Lauding day after day the Name, and meditation on the Lord,
To the heart brings joy.
By supreme good luck is attained the Lord,
Embodiment of supreme joy.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By laudation of the Name
Destruction grips not mind and body.[1] (2)
Pauri (Stanza) Guru Ram Das

Koī nindaku hovai Satigurū kā phiri sharaṇi Guru āwai

A slanderer of the holy Preceptor, coming to seek his shelter, His sins forgiven, the holy Preceptor into holy company initiates him.
As in pouring rain, water from lanes, drains, ponds P. 855
In the Ganga flows and falling becomes holy—
Such is the holy Preceptor's merit, who no rancour bears.
His touch removes hankering after desire
And confers instant peace.
Saith Nanak : Behold this miracle of the Lord, holy monarch—
Whoever the holy Master reveres,
By all is loved. (13.1)

(Found correct.)[2]

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of the Venerable Kabir

Bani of Bhaktas

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality Eternal, Creator, Immanent Presence, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Aiso ihu sansāru pekhnā rahanu na koū paīhai re

Listen, Man[3] ! Such a spectacle is this world : None in this can last forever.
Listen, Man ! Walk you along a straight path; else will you be pushed about. (I-Pause)
Listen, Brother ! Yama carries all away—be one child, old person, or youth.
Listen, Man is like a poor mouse; death the cat swallows him. (1)

1. Are not shattered.
2. In the original, Shuddh, to testify as to the accuracy of the text.
3. (Re, second person singular vocative at the end of each line yields this sense).

To those known to be wealthy or indigent no consideration is shown.
Yama kills all—kings, subjects : so might is death.
Wonderful is the tale of God's devotee,[1] pleasing to Him :
Not transmigrating, they die not;
Ever with the Supreme Being abiding. (3) Progeny, wife, wealth and subtance—know it in your inmost mind :
Discard these.
Saith Kabir : Listen, devotees of God ! thus shall the Lord,
Holder of the Bow[2] grant you union. (4) (1)

Bidyā na parhouṇ bādu nahīṇ jānouṇ

I acquire not learning, and so know not disputation.
Discoursing on God's merits, listening to these am I turned maniac.[3] (1)
Friend ! mad am I; all other creation wise—I alone demented.
If I am gone wrong, let not others follow me. (1-Pause)
Not by myself am I crazed; God has crazed me.
The holy Preceptor my doubts has burnt away. (2)
By my craze, my senses have I lost.
Let none into similar delusion fall. (3)
Truly mad is he who his self does not realize.
Should one realize the self, the Sole Lord would one then know. (4)
One not God-crazed in this life, never crazed shall be.
Saith Kabir : Truly in love of the Lord am I dyed. (5) (2)

Grihu taji bankhand jāīyai chuni khāīyai kandā

Should one leaving home into forest parts go,
and live on roots;
The mind, sinful and impure, still would not leave
evil-thinking. (1)
How may I find release and swim across the mighty
ocean of existence ?
Lord ! Keep me—with you has this servant taken shelter. (1-Pause)
Hard to leave is desire for poisonous pleasures.
Despite innumerable efforts, man again and again
in these is involved. (2)

1. Servants.
2. An attributive name of Vishnu, symbolizing God.
3. Note : Craze, mania or madness herein stands for ecstasy of Divine love.

Arrived is old age, gone is youth; no good have I done.
This priceless life at a cowrie is valued. (3) P. 856
Saith Kabir : Lord, all-pervasive art Thou.
None gracious like you, or sinner great I. (4) (3)
Thus complains Kabir's mother :

Nit uthi korī gāgari ānai līpat jīo gayo

Each day on rising a fresh[1] pitcher he brings;
His life in plastering the place is spent.
Weaving[2] has he put out of mind, and in joy of God is involved. (1)
In our family who ever contemplated God[3] ?
Since the day that this wretch has taken up the rosary,
No peace[4] have I felt. (I-Pause)
Listen sisters, wives of my husband's brothers, to this strange happening :
These shaved-pate mendicants have ruined our weaver's occupation—
Why did not my brat die rather than this ? (2)
Saith Kabir to his mother : The Lord is master of all joy :
His Name the Master to me has imparted.
He is the same who saved of the saintly Prahlad's[5] honour,
And with claws tore apart Harnakash.
His ancestors' household gods he discarded,
And the Master's holy Word absorbed.
Saith Kabir : Annuller of all sins is the Name,
Which repeating, are the holy saved. (4) (4)

Koū Hari samāni nahīṇ rājā

No king is great as God :
These monarchs, lasting four days, make false ostentation. (I-Pause)
Your servant no way is shaken; over the three worlds is his glory spread.
None dare raise his hand to harm God's servant;
None his greatness can estimate. (1)
My thoughtless, forgetful mind !
Note thou; ringing is unstruck music.

1. Unused vessel of clay is implied, for sanctity.
2. Warp and woof; the weaver's trade.
3. Rama.
4. Joy, satisfaction.
5. Prahlad, the child-saint, son of the atheist Harnākash (Harinyakashyapu) mentioned in the next line.

Saith Kabir : Lifted are my fears and doubts
The Lord is my succourer, who showed grace to Dhruva and Prahlad.[1] (2) (5)

Rākhi lehu ham te bigarī

Lord ! Save me; I for my fault am to blame.
Good conduct, righteousness, remembrance of God and devotion have I not performed—
In my pride at a rakish angle my turban I keep.[2] (I-Pause)
This body I nourished,[3] taking it to be immortal.
Unreal, unbaked pitcher it is.
Forgetting Him who showed us grace, created us
To the other[4] are we attached. (1)
Burglars that we are, holy cannot be called—
So, shelter at Thy feet have we taken.
Saith Kabir : Pray listen to my supplication—
Yama's tidings let me not hear. (2) (6)

Darmāṇdei ṭhandhei darbāri

Exhausted, fatigued at Thy Court we stand
Who other than Thee shall cherish me ?
Pray, opening the portal, Thy sight grant. (I-Pause)
Lord of all wealth, generous, unattached are you—
Thus by my ears your laudation I hear.
From whom should I beg anything in charity ?
all I see are destitutes—
With you alone my liberation[5] lies. (1)
Jaidev,[6] Nama,[7] the Brahmin Sudama[8]—
On all has your endless grace fallen.
Saith Kabir : The almighty Bestower are you—
Without delay the four boons[9] you grant. (2) (7)

---

1. Dhruva and Prahlad are famous saints, constantly mentioned in Bhakti lore.
2. Also interpreted as : 'A crooked path I have taken ! The interpretation given above would imply, taking to bad courses like a rake.
3. Gathered up, preserved.
4. Implied Maya.
5. Swimming across.
6. A great poet of Bhakti in Bangal (13th Century).
7. Short for Namdev.
8. A devotee of Krishna.
9. These are : Dharma (right conduct), artha (worldly prosperity), Kama (fulfilment of desires) and moksha (liberation).

Dandā mundrā khinthā ādhārī

Assuming the staff, earrings, the patched quilt and begging-bowl,[1]
Involved in delusion do adherents of ascetic orders go about. (1)
Madman ! discard Yogic poses and breath-control;[2]
Cast off hypocrisy and on the Lord meditate. (I-Pause) P. 857 Maya that thou dost seek after, by the three worlds is left over after use.
Saith Kabir : Attach thyself to the Lord[3] of the universe,
Truly unattached. (2) (8)

Ini Maya Jagadīsh Gusāīn Tumrei charan bisārei

Lord, Master to the Universe ! Maya of your feet has made us forgetful.
If not a particle of love[4] is aroused, what may poor mortals[5] do ? (I-Pause)
Cursed be the body, cursed wealth, cursed Maya;
Cursed be clever thinking and understanding.
Lord ! keep Maya under strict control, by your Word bound. (1)
What good cultivation, what trade[6] ?
All is a false show and illusion.
Saith Kabir : Those involved therein in the end are ruined,[7]
At last comes to them death. (2) (9)

Sarīr sarovar bhītarei āchhai kamal anūp

In the pool of the self is found a unique lotus—
The Supreme Light, the Supreme Being, without feature or form. (1)
My self ! to the Lord be devoted; discard illusion—
The Lord is true life of the universe. (I-Pause)
Nothing while coming into the world is visible, nothing while going :
All that is born, even there ends,
As leaves of water-weeds. (2)
Knowing Maya to be false, seeking joy in poise, have we discarded it.
Saith Kabir : From your heart the Lord you serve. (3) (10)

1. (These are the Yogi's equipment).
2. Implies various kinds of Yogis and other ascetic orders.
3. Keshav, an attributive name of Vishnu, implying God.
4. Devotion is implied.
5. Human beings.
6. Implies various occupations.
7. (The sense is spiritual).

Janam maran kā bhramu gaiyā Gobind liv lāgī

Gone is illusion of birth and death, as is devotion to the Lord inspired.
While yet living, into the cosmic void are we absorbed.
As by the Master's teaching is the consciousness
aroused. (I-Pause)
From brass arises sound, then into brass is reabsorbed.
Listen Brahmin.' as is brass broken,
Where does the sound disappear ? (1)
In the world, amalgam of Three Qualities,[1] have I beheld arising
In each being the Divine Light.
Then was absorbed the realization,
Whereby in my being became I a recluse. (2)
As the self by light of the self I realized,
Is my light into Divine Light absorbed.
Saith Kabir : Now have I realized the Lord,
In whom is my heart's faith fixed. (3) (11)

Charan kamal jā kai ridai basahi so janu kiun dolai Dev

Lord ! how may one be shaken in whose heart
Are lodged the Divine lotus feet ?
Know Him to be possessed of all joys and the
Nine Treasures,[2]
As serenely Divine laudation he chants. (Pause)
Such wisdom comes when in all creation the Lord such aware beholds.
And undoes the knot of hypocrisy;
Ever[3] from Maya the mind he restrains
And scales in hand, weighs the self. (1)
Wherever he goes, joy he attains; Maya shakes him not.
Saith Kabir ; In faith is my mind fixed,
And in Divine love by the Lord is absorbed. (2) (12)

---

1. Trikuti is interpreted as Three Qualities as well as the state wherein distinctions based on material considerations prevail. as in knowledge, the knower and object of knowledge which in the mystic vision disappear.

Note : At the end of each line occurs Deva (Lord, Divine Being) which is in the form of an invocation.

2. (See Glossary).
3. Time and again.

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Namdev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Saphal janamu mo kau Guru kīnā

The Master my life[1] has made fruitful :
Forgetting suffering, in joy am I absorbed. (1) P. 858
The Master collyrium of Enlightenment to me has granted.
Life without devotion to the Name Divine is worthless. (I-Pause)
Namdev through remembrance of God realization has attained :
His life in the Life of the Universe[2] merged. (2) (1)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Bhakta Ravidas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dāridu dekhi sabh ko hasai aisī dashā hamārī

Everyone beholding my destitution at me mocks,
Such is my state.
Now by your grace the eighteen miraculous powers3
In my power lie.[4] (1)
Lord annuller of transmigration ! Thou knowest I am as nothing;
All creatures under Thy shelther lie—
All their objectives Thou dost fulfil. (I- Pause)
Those seeking shelter with Thee of burden of sins are relieved
High and low from you from the world,
House of bondage,[5] find liberation. (2) Saith Ravidas : What good lengthening the inexpressible Divine discourse ?
Thou art only as Thyself—by what simile to express Thee ? (3) (1)

Jih kul sādhu baishnau hoi

The family in which is born a holy saint[6],
Without distinction of high caste or low, poverty or wealth,
Its pure fragrance over the world is spread.[7] (I-Pause)

---

1. Birth, incarnation.
2. (Attributive name of God).
3. (These are believed to be attained through Yoga praxis,
4. On my palm.
5. A laj is interpreted also as 'shameless' but the sense given above appears to be more appropriate.
6. Baishno (Vaishnava), implies one characterized by purity of life.
7. Known.

Be one Brahmin, Vaishya,Sudras, Khatri.
Scavenger or of the condemned castes
Or one impure in mind[1]—
By engaging in devotion to the Lord is purified; Liberated himself, such a one liberates his forebears on the paternal and maternal side.[2] (1)
Blessed such a village, such a spot, such a family and tribe.
Whoever has quaffed the pure elixir, other tastes discards—
Absorbed in its delight, poison of wordly pleasures casts off. (2)
Brahmin scholar,[3] hero, monarch bearing umbrella—
None equals in greatness the devotee.
In the world he abides
As water weeds that live close to the water, yet untouched by it.
Saith Ravidas : Such alone fruitfully live.[4] (3) (2)

In the Measure Bilaval—Composition of Sadhna

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nrip kanyā kai kāranai iku bhaiyā bhekhdhārī

For Love of a king's daughter a man disguised himself as Vishnu[5] :
Of this man, lust-seeker, self-seeker, You saved the honour. (1) Enlightener of the world ! what merit is yours if our retribution of deeds leave us not ?
Why seek shelter with the tiger if a jackal[6]
is to grip us ? (I-Pause)
The Chatrik for lack of a drop suffers.
If after its life is gone, even the ocean be found, what good ? (2)
Tired, without poise is my life—
How may I delay supplicating Thee ?
If after drowning comes the boat, who will then ride it ? (3)
Nothing am I, no pride is mine; nothing is mine.
On this occasion save the honour of Sadhna, The servant. (4) (1)

---

1. Mlechha (an opprobrious word applied to Muslims).
2. Both sides.
3. Pandit.
4. Are born.
5. (This is a puranic legend).
6. Symbolizes retribution of deeds.

RAGA GAUND

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality Eternal, P-859
Creator, Immanent Presence, Without Fear, Without Rancour,
Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-Existent,
Realized by the Preceptor's Grace

In the Measure Gaund—Composition of Shri Guru Ram, Das Quartests
SCORE 1

Je mani chitti ās rakhehṇ Hari ūpari tā mana chindei anek anek phal pāī

Should any with heart and consciousness in the Lord repose hope,
Fulfilled are innumerable of his heart's desires.[1]
The Lord knows all that in the mind occurs;
Not a sesame grain of anyone's endeavours does He let go waste.
My self ! repose hope in the Lord, who in all Creator is pervasive. (1)
My self ! in the Lord of the universe, Master of the world, repose hope.
Hope reposed in other than the Lord,
Proves fruitless, vain (I-Pause)
Repose not hope in Maya attachment, and family that is visible to the eye—
Lest in hope of these you make waste of life.
Nothing in the hand of these lies;
Poor creatures, nothing in their power lies.
My mind ! in the Divine Beloved repose hope,
Who shall save you, and save all your family. (2)
Shouldst thou repose hope in Maya,
Beware lest Thou think it will stand thee in good stead :
Hope reposed in Maya from duality arises,
That being unreal, in an instant is shattered.

1. Innumerable fruits he obtains.

My mind ! repose hope in the holy Beloved,
Who all thy endeavour shall reward. (3)
Lord ! all our hope and desire by Thee is controlled :
One desires as Thou dost prompt. P. 860
Lord ! Nothing in the hand of anyone lies—
Thus has the holy Preceptor enlightened me.
To Thee is known what Thy servant, Nanak desires :
By the sight of the Lord he feels fulfilled. (4) (1)

Aisā Hari sevīai nit dhiyāīai jo khin mehn kil-vikh sabhi karei bināsā

Serve the Lord, ever on Him meditate,
Who in an instant all sins annuls.
Should we discarding the Lord, our hope in another fix,
All our endeavour by the Lord is turned fruitless.
My self ! serve the Lord, donor of joy,
Whose service all joy brings. (1)
My self ! in the Lord repose hope.
Wherever we go, is the Lord by us :
The Lord His servants' honour protects. (I-Pause)
Should we narrate to another the state of our woes,
His own tale of manifold troubles he narrates :
Your tale of woes to the Lord narrate,
Who in an instant your suffering shall annul.
Discarding the Lord and telling your story of woes to others.
To the mind only brings shame. (2)
My self ! in the world members of one's family, friends, brothers that you behold,
All for self-interest resort to you.
Without self-interest they approach you not.
My self ! day and night serve the Lord,
Who in suffering and joy shall benefit thee. (3)
My self ! why repose trust in that which at the end we cannont keep ?
Contemplate the Lord as by the Master guided—
At the end shall He liberate those contemplating Him with love.
Saith Nanak : Devotees of God ! ever the Name repeat—
Herein lies true assurance of liberation. (4) (2)

Hari simrat sadā hoe anandu sukhu antari shānti sītal manu apnā

By contemplation of the Lord comes bliss and joy everlasting in the heart,
And the mind gets peace and poise.
As objects by power of the sun of Maya intensely burn,

At sight of the moon, the Master, vanishes all their heat.
My self ! ever on the Name Divine meditate and utter it.
Serve the Lord who in all spots shall thy saviour be. (I-Pause)
My self ! contemplate the Lord, repository of all treasures;
By the Master's guidance seek the Divine jewel.
Those meditating on the Lord attain Him—
Touch[1] the feet of such servants of God. (2)
By realization of the holy Word attain joy in the Lord.
Such are noble devotees, greater than the great.
The Lord Himself exalts such a servant— P. 861
None a sesame grain of his greatness can diminish. (3)
My self ! ever on Him with folded hands meditate,
From whom comes all joy.
Lord ! to Nanak Thy servant grant in charity
That in my heart ever abide the feet Divine. (4) (3)

Jitne Shāh pātishāh umrāv sikdār chaudharī sabhi mithyā jhūthu bhāu dūjā jāṇu

Know all kings, monarchs, nobles, officials and headmen,
To be full of falsehood and feelings of duality.
My self ! Contemplate the Lord eternal, ever immutable, changeless—
Thus of Him be approved. (1)
My self ! contemplate ever the Name Divine, your succourer[2].
None has greater power than one that by the Master's guidance.
The Divine Mansion attains. (I-Pause)
My self ! all these possessed of wealth and high lineage, lords of estates that thou dost behold,
Shall be shattered as frail Kasumbha[3] dye.
My self ! ever serve the eternal, immaculate Lord,
Whereby at the Court Divine honour to Thee may come. (2)
Four are the castes—Brahmin, Khatri, Sudra and Vaishya;
Four the stages[4] of life—
Out of these whoever on the Lord meditates, is superior.
As the poor castor-plant growing close to sandalwood,
In holy company even the fallen became approved of God. (3)
Highest and purest of all is one in whose heart is lodged the Lord.

1. Lit. Rub, caress.
2. Dībān (Divān) a high official to whom the aggrieved could carry complaints.
3. A flower with reddish washable dye.
4. These are the period of receiving education, being a householder, retiring from worldly concerns and being a recluse.

Nanak, servant of God washes the feet of such devotees
As being low-caste, yet serve the Lord. (4) (4)

Hari antarjāmī sabhtai vartai jehā Hari karāe tehā ko karaīyai

The Lord, to whom the inner self is known, everywhere is pervasive :
Each acts as by Him prompted.
My self ! ever serve the Lord who from all impediments shall grant thee protection. (1)
My self ! ever contemplate the Lord, ever His name utter.
None other than the Lord can take away life or grant it—
So why pine ? (I-Pause)
The Lord creating the visible cosmos, His light in it placed.
The Lord is the Sole replicant, the Sole maker of call to creation—
The Master, perfectly-endowed, vision of the Sole Divine
Being has shown. (2)
The Lord is with us, within and without—
Say, what from Him can you conceal ?
Serve the Lord without guile—
Thus, my self ! all joys shall you attain. (3)
Supreme over all is He under whose power lies all :
My self ! ever on Him meditate.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : The Lord is ever by thee;
Ever on Him meditate.
Thus shall He grant thee liberation. (4) (5)

Hari darshan kau merā manu bahu taptai jiuṇ trikhāvant binu nīr

For a sight of the Lord my heart yearns, as one thirsty without water. (1)
My heart with arrow of love is struck.
The Lord alone my affliction knows, the suffering of my heart. (I-Pause)
He who discourses to me of the Divine Beloved, P. 862
Is alone my loving brother, my true brother. (2)
Sister-friends[1] ! in unison express the Lord's merits.
With poised understanding by the Master granted. (3)
Lord ! fulfil your servant Nanak's desire;
By sight of the Lord alone shall my mind[2] get peace. (4) (6)

---

1. Symbol for fellow-seekers.
2. Body.

In the Measure Gaund—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quartets
SCORE 1
In he Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sabhu kartā sabhu bhugtā

He is the Creator of all; joy in all He has.[1] (I-Pause)
The Creator is the Sole Listener, the sole viewer.
He is all that is invisible and visible;
And maker of creation and dissolution.
He is manifest and concealed. (1)
His the utterance, His the expounding.
In creation is He manifest, so also in death.
Unattributed is the Creator Himself as also attributed.
Such equable vision, saith Nanak, by the Master's grace comes. (2) (1)

Phākiyo mīn kapik kī niyāīṇ tūṇ urajhi rahiyo kusambhāilei

Man ! like the fish and the ape art thou caught,
In Maya's frail dye[2] entangled.
Ordained are thy steps and breaths :
By chanting Divine laudation mayst thou be saved. (1)
My self ! get realization and discard straying.
A shelter[3] even for thyself thou dost not get—
Why go to others instructing them ? . (I-Pause)
Like the elephant drawn by pleasure of lust,
Art thou involved with thy family.
Man's life is like birds that come together and are scattered—
Immutability by meditation on the Lord in holy company comes. (2)
Man is like the fish destroyed through pleasure of the palate—
Thoughtless creature, by greed ruined.
So art thou subordinate to the five foes.[4]
How may come release ? By falling under God's shelter. (3)
Lord, shatterer of suffering of the humble, show grace—
All creatures are Thine.
Prayeth Nanak : May I get in charity Thy sight everlastingly, in company of Thy humble servants. (4) (2)

1. Lit. Partakes of.
2. Kasumbha.
3. Place to live.
4. The five sources of evil are implied.

In the Measure Gaund—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quartets
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jīya prān kīye jine sāj

Thoughtless man[1] ! He who created life and breath,
And exalting clay, His light into it placed;
He who granted all articles of food for consumption—
Whither goest thou, discarding Him ? (1)
In service to the Supreme Being engage thyself.
By the Master's guidance is realized the immaculate Divine Being. (I-Pause)
He who created numerous hues,[2]
And in the twinkling of an eye makes creation and dissolution;
He whose state and extent beyond expression lies—
My self ! ever on Him meditate. (2)
The Divine Master, immune from birth and death, immutable—
Endless His merits, beyond count;
With rubies of the Name[3] are His stores full; P. 863
Of all beings[4] the sustainer. (3)
His name the Eternal Being :
By chanting His Name for an instant are millions of sins annulled.
His devotees' childhood playmate[5] friend.
Saith Nanak : He is life's prop and beloved of our heart. (4) (1.3)

Nām sangi kīno biohāru

With the Name lies our commerce;
The Name is prop of the self.
The Name of the conscious self has given shelter.
By utterance of the Name are annulled millions of sins. (1)
The Lord His Name, sole capital to us has granted Meditation in the Master's company is my mind's object of worship. (I-Pause)
The Name is capital of my life;
Ever is the Name our companion, everywhere by our side.

1. This invocation occurs in the last line of this stanza.
2. Implies forms of creation.
3. Implies devotion.
4. Vessels.
5. (An expression of deep love).

The Name is dear to my heart.
On water and land the Name have I beheld pervasive. (2)
By devotion to the Name at the Portal Divine the face grows radiant;
By devotion to the Name are all related generations saved.
By devotion to the Name are our objectives fulfilled.
With the Name has my heart formed attachment. (3)
Be devotion to the Name have we become fearless;
Be devotion to the Name from transmigration freed.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, to the Lord, repository of merit, has united us.
Saith Nanak : In equable joy have we found lodgement. (4) (2.4)

Nimānei kau jo deto mānu

Ever I bow to the Lord,[1]
Who honours the humble,
And to all that are hungry, grants boons;
He who in the frightful womb gives protection. (1)
On the Lord so attributed in depth of your self meditate,
Who within and without, everywhere is succourer. (I-Pause)
Beggar[2] and king are to Him alike;
He in the ant and the elephant is equally pervasive;
With none else holding counsel,
By His own will accomplishes all. (2)
None His extent knows—
Himself the sole immaculate Being.
Himself is He all forms, Himself the formless,
Of all beings[3] the sustainer. (3)
Be devotion to the Name are His devotees dyed red;
His devotees lauding Him ever are in bliss.
In joy of the Name are they ever fulfilled :
Nanak the feet of these servants of God touches. (4) (3.5)

Jā kai sangi ehu manu nirmalu

Those in association with whom is the heart purified,
In association with whom is inspired remembrance of God,
In association with whom are sins annulled,
In association with whom is the heart illumined : (1)

1. (This line stands at the end of this stanza).
2. One that is destitute.
3. Vessels.

Such of God's devotees alone are my friends,
In whose congregations is the Name solely chanted. (I-Pause)
Those by whose teaching is the Lord in the self lodged,
By whose instruction flee doubt and fear,
In whose abodes is chanted pure essence of Divine laudation,
Whose dust of feet the world yearns for; (2)
By whose association are millions of the fallen saved, Whose prop is the Sole formless Being;
To whom the secrets of all beings are known—
Treasure of grace, immaculate Divine Being—
Such be my friends. (3)
As the Supreme Being showed grace,
Was met the compasssionate holy Master. P. 864
Nanak, day and night on the Name thou meditate.
In devotion to the Name Divine lies joy in equanimity and bliss. (4) (4.6)

Guru kī mūrati mana mehn dhyānu

Meditate in your mind on the Master's image;[1]
In the Master's Word that teaching enshrines your heart's faith fix;
By devotion to the Master's feet is fixed;
To the Master, image of the Supreme Being I ever in reverence bow. (1)
Lest any in the world be lost in doubt :
None without the Master's guidance liberation finds. (I-Pause)
To one strayed has the Master shown the way;
Inspiring him to discard all else, in Divine devotion has absorbed him,
And fear of transmigration annulled—
Beyond limit is merit of the Master, perfectly-endowed. (2)
By grace of the Master is the upturned lotus of the heart in bloom,
And light in darkness appeared.
The Creator by guidance of the Master is realized.
By the Master's grace is the thoughtless mind faith-inspired. (3)
The Master is image of the Creator, of the almighty.
The Master, image of the Supreme Being, is real, ever shall be.

1. Lit. Form.

Saith Nanak : Thus by the Lord am I instructed :
Brother ! none without the Master's guidance liberation attains. (4) (5.7)

Gurū Gurū Guru kari mana mor

My mind ! repeat thou the Master's name.
For me is no prop other than the Master.
In the Master's shelter day and night I live :
None his bounty can efface. (1)
Know the Master and the Supreme Being to be one in spirit.
Whatever the Master is pleased to wish, is by the Lord granted. (I-Pause)
Whoever to the Master's feet his heart has attached,
Fled is his suffering, pain and doubt.
By the Master's service is attained exaltation.
To the Master am I ever a sacrifice. (2)
By sight of the Master find I joy.
Fruitful is endeavour of the Master's devotee.[1]
No suffering the Master's devotee grips.
In all ten directions is the Master's devotee[1] pre-eminent. (3)
Beyond expression is the Master's greatness.
All-pervasive is the Master, image of the Supreme Being.
Saith Nanak : The heart of whoever has perfect good fortune,
To the Master's feet is attached. (4) (6.8)

Guru merī pūjā Guru Gobindu

The Master is my object of worship; He to me is the Lord.*
The Master is the Supreme Being, Lord of glory, being His image.
The Master is the Divine Being, inaccessible, of impenetrable mystery.
All worship in serving at the Master's feet lies. (1)
No place of shelter is for me other than the Master.
Day after day the Master's name I repeat in prayer. (I-Pause)
The Master is my source of enlightenment, the object of meditation centred in my heart.
The Master is the Lord, the Supreme glorious Being.
With folded hands under the Master's shelter I abide.
None else, other than the Master is my succourer. (2)

---

1. Servant.

Note* : In the above hymn is expressed the mystical doctrine of the identity of spirit between the Divinely-inspired Master (Guru) and God.

The Master is the ship carrying beings across the ocean of existence.
By the Master's sevice comes release from Yama.
In the darkness is the Master's Word the light.
In association with the Master are all saved.[1] (3)
By great good fortune is met the Master, prefectly-endowed.
By ervice to the Master is warded off[2] affliction of suffering.
Inviolable is power of the Master's Word.
Nanak is my Guru; Nanak and the Lord in spirit are the same. (7.9) P. 865

Rāma Rāma sangi kari biohār

With the Lord carry on thy commerce;
The Lord alone is sustainer of life.
Sing thou laudation of the Lord.
The Lord immanent in all, is all-pervasive. (1)
Devotees of God ! in unison utter the Lord's Name.
This is the purest, perfect doing. (I-Pause)
Garner treasure of wealth of the Name.
God's Name your sustenance make.
May God's Name never be forgotten :
The Master in his grace this to us has revealed. (2)
The Lord is ever our succourer.
With the Lord in devotion be engaged.
By utterance of the Name Divine are we purified.
And are sins of multiple births shed. (3)
Contemplation of the Lord's Name transmigration annuls.
Utterance of the Lord's Name takes one across the ocean of existence.
Highest of all is the light of God.
Nanak, servant of God, night and day
His name repeats. (4) (8.10)

Un kau khasami kīnī thāk-hārei

Those five evils has the Lord suppressed,
And from His servant's company torn them apart.
The abode of God's devotee they find not;
God's servants therefore, in unison sing paeans of joy. (1)
Five are the evils overlording[3] all creation;
But of God's devotees are they slaves.[4] (I-Pause)

1. Swim across.
2. Does not afflict.
3. Sikdar = Shiqdar, and executive official.
4. Drawers of water.

From the world they collect tribute,
But to God's devotee make obeisance.
The reprobate[1] they rob in dishonour,
But of the holy they wash the feet, rubbing them clean. (2)
The five evils are the sons of one mother[2] born;
By the processes of birth[3] into the world they came.
With the three qualities[4] are they absorbed.
Those discarding them at an exalted station abide. (3)
In His grace the Lord His servants has extricated.
The evils are warded off by Him who is their creator.
Saith Nanak : Devotion to the Lord is noblest of all.
Without devotion all suffer ignominy. (4) (9.11)

Kali kalesh mitei Hari-Nāeṇ

By devotion to the Name Divine are all afflictions ended;
Shattered is suffering, and joy in heart has taken abode.
By uttering the Name are we fulfilled.
By grace of the holy all boons[5] have we received. (1)
By utterance of the Lord's Name are devotees liberated,[6]
And their sins of multiple births cast off. (I-Pause)
As the Master's feet in heart we lodged,
Across the ocean of fire were we taken.
Gone is the malady of transmigration,
And the mind in spontaneous absorption in the Lord fixed. (2)
In all spots is pervasive one Sole Lord,
To whom is known the inner self of each being.
Whomsoever in grace He so enlightens,
Day and night[7] the Name Divine utters. (3) P. 866
Any within whom abides the Lord,
Has his heart illumined.
With devotional fervour laud the Lord,
And uttering the Name of the Supreme Being find liberation.[8] (4) (10.12)

---

1. Sakta.
2. Implies Maya.
3. (There are four reorganized process of birth. Of these here utbhuj, birth by atmospheric influence is mentioned).
4. See Glossary.
5. Have obtained all fruit.
6. Gone across the ocean.
7. All eight pahars.
8. Swim across.

Gur ke charan kamal namaskāri

At the Master's lotus feet make obeisance;
From the body cast out lust and wrath.
Be you dust of feet of all.
The Lord, pervasive in all in each have we realized. (1)
In this wise contemplate the Lord :
The Lord's is our body, wealth and life. (I-Pause)
Day and night laud the Lord.
Such is the real objective of life and breath,
Discarding pride. know the Lord is with you.
By grace of the holy, in the Lord your heart dye. (2)
Realize Him who made thee.
Thus at the Divine Portal shalt thou be honoured.
Body and mind purified, bliss shall you attain,
As by the tongue the Lord's name you utter. (3)
Lord compassionate to the humble, show grace.
My heart for dust of feet of the holy yearns.
Lord ! in your grace this boon grant,
That Nanak in devotion to the Name Divine find life. (4) (11.13)

Dhūp dīp sevā Gopāl

Burning of incense, lighting temple-lamps and serving the Lord
In making obeisance innumerable times to the Creator lies.
Discarding all else, the Lord's shelter have we taken.
As by our great good fortune is the Master grown gracious. (1)
Day and night Divine laudation sing.
Our body. wealth and life is the Lord's. (I-Pause)
In contemplation of the Lord's merits have we found bliss.
And realized the Supreme Being, the true Saviour.
In His grace His devotees in service to Himself has He engaged,
And effacing their affliction of transmigration, to Himself has united them. (2)
This alone is true ritual performance and essence of enlightenment :
In holy company utter the Name Divine.
By the ship of the Lord's feet go across the acean of existence—
The Lord almighty is known our inner state. (3)
In His grace has He saved us.
Fled are the five frightful minions of evil.
As the Creator to Nanak's aid has come,
His life on a throw of dice shall not be forfeited. (4) (12.14)

Kari kirpā sukh anand karei

By Divine grace joy and bliss have we attained.
The Master, Divinely-inspired has saved us.
Compassionate and gracious is the Lord,
Saviour of all creatures born. (1)
Lord compassionate to the humble, to Thy shelter have we come.
Contemplating the Supreme Being are we ever in bliss. (1-Pause)
The Lord gracious alone is real, no other—
In all beings pervasive.
His servant in this world and the next He exalts.
Lord ! to purify the fallen is your law.[1] (2)
Millions of medicines in contemplating the Lord lie.
All magical rites and incantations in devotion to the Lord of Bliss lie.
By meditation on the Lord are effaced maladies and sorrows,
And desires of heart fulfilled. (3)
Almighty, accomplishing all, gracious— P. 867
In His lofty contemplation lie all treasures.
Saith Nanak : The Lord Himself has saved us;
Ever the Sole Lord's Name we utter. (4) (13.15)

Harī Hari Nām japuh mere mīt

Friend ! the Name Divine constantly utter,
That your mind be purified;
All calamities haunting your mind and body be warded off,
And all suffering and darkness of ignorance vanish. (1)
By chanting Divine laudation is crossed the flux of existence :
By great good fortune is attained the Supreme Being without limit. (1-Pause)
Whoever sings praise of the Lord,
Yama, agent of death dare not touch him
Such a one's coming into the world is approved :
Thy true Lord by the Master's guidance realize. (2)
By grace of the holy does man Divine laudation chant,
And are lust, wrath and maya-intoxication annuled.
Know the Lord of Glory ever to be by you—
This by the holy[2] teaching of the Master, perfectly-edowed comes. (3)

---

1. Bird (Wird. Ar.) Law, customary practice.
2. Perfect.

By earning devotion to the Lord, of this have we garnered treasures.
By contact with the Master are all objectives fulfilled.
Nanak's heart to the Divine feet is attached. (4) (14.16)

Bhav sāgar bohith Hari-charaṇ

The ship across the sea of existence are the Divine feet.
By contemplation of the Name comes not death again.
By contemplation of Divine merits is not seen Yama's path.
By lofty Divine contemplation are the five minions of evil suppressed. (1)
Lord perfection incarnate, to your shelter have we come.
To your creature give succour by strength of your arm, (1-Pause)
Simritis, Shastras, Vedas and Puranas,[1]
All on the Supreme Being discourse.
Yogis, celibates, Vaishnavas and those of the Ramdas[2] order,
Of the enternal Lord no estimate can form. (2)
Shiva and the other gods wail in yearning,
Yet the Lord inaccessible, of profound mystery
They realize not as much as a sesam-grain.
This by loving devotion comes, to whomsoever this by Divine grace is granted.
Rare and few are such in the world. (3)
Without merit am I, devoid of good qualities.
All treasures in Thy glance of grace lie,
The humble Nanak seeks solely to serve Thee.
Lord ! in your grace grant him this favour. (4) (15.17)
Says the Lord :

Sant kā līyā dharti bidāroun̩

One cursed by God's devotees shall I tear off from earth;
The traducer of the holy from the sky shall I cast off.
The holy close to myself I cherish.
The holy in an instant, in the clap of hand I save. (1)
The true devotee is one winning the Lord's approval.
The devotee and the Lord in the same task are engaged. (1-Pause)
The Lord the holy with His own hand shelters.
With the holy day and night He abides.

1. These are Scriptures in the Brahminical (Hindu) tradition.
2. A religious order, Bairagīs.

With each breath the holy He cherishes,
The traducer of the holy of worldy glory is deprived. (2)
The holy let none traduce :
Whoever traduces them, must fall.
Against one under the Lord's protection,
The whole world in vain may try. (3)
In the Lord have we reposed faith.
Life and body is all His substance.
Nanak with this faith is inspired : P. 868
The egoists ever are losers, the God-directed ever victorious. (4) (16.18)

Nāmu niranjanu nīri Narāyaṇ

God's immaculate Name is like water,
Whose utterance by the tongue takes away sins. (I-Pause)
In all beings is the Lord pervasive.[1]
In each being is th Lord's illumination.
By utterance of the Lord's Name man enters not hell.
By service of the Lord are all objectives attained. (1)
The Lord is sustainer of the mind;
The Lord is the ship across flux of the world.
By utterance of the Lord's Name Yama's minions flee.
The Lord's Name crushes teeth[2] of the witch maya. (2)
The Lord is ever the conferrer of liberation.
By devotion to the Lord have we felt joy and bliss.
The Lord His glory has manifested.
The Lord is the devotee's mother and father. (3)
In holy company is repeated the Lord's Name,
Where constantly the Name Divine is sung.
This object unknowable by contact with the Master is attained.
Nanak, servant of God, the Lord's shelter has taken. (4) (17.19)

Jā kau rākhai rākhaṇhāru

Whoever by the Divine succourer is protected,
The Creator lends him His support. (I-Pause)
Such a one in the mother's womb by fire is not touched;
Such a one by lust, wrath, avarice and attachment is not gripped.
Whoever in holy company the formless Lord's Name repeats, Ashes on his traducer's face are thrown. (1)

---

1. Lodged.
2. In idiom, inflicts a crushing defeat.

The Devine protective spell is the devotee's armour—
Such a one by minions of evil and evil-doers is not touched.
Whoever entertains pride is ruined.
The Lord Himself is shelter of the humble. (2)
The servant that with the Divine Monarch takes shelter,
The Lord saves him, clasping him to His bosom.[1]
Should any entertain much pride,
In an instant in the dust in ignominy is scattered. (3)
The Eternal Lord is real and ever shall be
Ever to Him am I a sacrifice.
In His grace His servant has He saved.
The Lord is sustainer of Nanak's life (4) (18.20)

Achraj kathā mahā anūp

This is a wonderful, unique discourse :
The living self is image of the Supreme Being. (I-Pause)
It is neither old nor a child;[2]
Neither suffers it pain, nor in Yama's snare is caught.
It is not shattered nor dies.
In all time is it pervasive. (1)
It feels not heat or cold;
Neither friend nor foe it has.
It feels not joy or sorrow :
All is its own; all might to it belongs. (2)
It neither has father nor mother;
Beyond limits of matter has it ever existed.
Of sin and goodness it feels not the touch—
In each being ever lying awake. (3)
The Three Qualities the power of Maya have created;
She is shadow of the Lord—
The Lord is beyond Maya-delusion, indestructible, of profound mystery, compassionate; P. 869
Compassionate to the humble, ever gracious,
Unknowable His state and extent :
Nanak to Him is a sacrifice. (4) (19.21)

Santan kai balihārai jāoṇ

To the holy may I be a sacrifice.
In unison with the holy Divine laudation I sing.

1. Neck.
2. (According to one interpretation these qualities uptill the third stanza apply to the Lord, the Creator.)

By grace of the holy are all sins annulled.
By great good fortune have we come under shelter of the holy. (1)
By contemplation of the Lord no impediments come.
By the Master's grace is the Lord contemplated. (I-Pause)
Whenever the Supreme Being is gracious,
Does He make man dust of feet of the holy.
Then do lust and wrath leave the body,
And the jewel Name in the mind is lodged. (2)
Fruitful and approved is the life of such a one.
Know the Supreme Being to be close to you.
With loving devotion should one in Divine laudation engage;
Then is awakened the mind since multiple births asleep. (3)
The Lord's lotus feet are the devotee's prop.
The Lord's Name I contemplate—this is the true bargain.
Lord! pray Thy servant's objective fulfil,
That Nanak in dust of feet of the holy find joy. (4) (20.22.6.28)

In the Measure Gaund—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Ashtpadiyan (Octets)

Score 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kari namaskār pūrei gurudev

To the Master, Divinely-inspired, perfectly-endowed bow—
The Master, of sight fulfilling desires, by whose service are objectives achieved,
Image of controller of the inner self, of the supreme creator of the cosmic order;
Day and night in joy of the Name dyed. (1)
The Master, image of Lord of the Universe, Succourer of His servants. (I-Pause)
Kings, monarchs, nobles with faith has He invested;
Arrogant evil-doers has He destroyed, left to rot.
The calumniator by a malady of the mouth[1] is afflicted.
The Master by the whole world is hailed. (2)
In supreme joy is heart of the holy,
As the Master, Divinely-inspired, master of glory they contemplate.

Note : In this hymn the Preceptor is identified in spirit with the Supreme Being, who has inspired him.

1. Implies his inclination to calumny of others.

Thou the ocean, we swans disporting on Thee—
Within you lie pearls and rubies.
In giving you entertain not the least[1] hesitation;
We receiving it are in eternal bliss. (2)
We the children, you our father, putting milk in our mouth.
We are playful, petted;
You eternal store of merit. (3)
Supremely perfect are you; with you are we fulfilled.
Perfectly merged into you are we :
Saith Nanak : Inexpressible is this state. (4) (6)

Kar kari tāl pakhāwaju nainuh māthai wajeh rabābā

Our hands are the cymbals, our eyes the pair of drums,
In our head[2] is played the rebeck.
In our ears is blown the sweet flute; our tongue raises the tune.
The mind in dance-movement indulges, adding the tinkling bells. (1)
This is the Divine dance-
All this bedecked spectacle the gracious
Divine Viewer witnesses. (I-Pause)
The whole earth is the stage; overhead is the sky the canopy.
The mediator air unites all; all from water are born.
Of five elements is this figure fashioned;
By its previous deeds is it to others joined. (2)
Moon and sun are the lamps fixed, placed in all four directions.
The ten senses[3] are the dancing girls, the five senses the chorus—
All in one troupe combined.
All display their art separately, each making a different utterance. (3)
In each home day and night is such dance enacted.
In each being is sounded the trumpet;
One the Lord engages in dance, another in gyration, others caught in transmigration become dust.
Saith Nanak : Nevermore shall he dance who the Master, perfectly-endowed has contacted. (4) (7)

Oankār ek dhuni ekai rāgu alāpai P. 885

The devout singer's tune centres only in the Sole Supreme Being, and to His melody gives voice.

---

1. As much as a sesame grain.
2. Forehead.
3. These are the sources of knowledge.

Note : As in the preceeding hymn, this one too draws its imagery from popular religious mimes called Ras, involving ritual dancing to propitiate Krishna.

The Creator alone knows of it, for what lies in the creature's thinking ?
His state and extent to Himself known;
Himself the treasure He fills. (3)
The mind an ambrosial joy has tasted, P. 884
That has filled me.
Saith Nanak : By seeking the Master's shelter
Is my desire fulfilled. (4) (4)

Angīkāru kīyā Prabhi apnai bairī saglei sādhei

The Lord to His bosom has clasped me, and all my foes[1] eliminated :
The foes[1] that the world have robbed, has He bound. (1)
Lord ! The holy Preceptor to me is giver of bliss, the Lord :
By uttering Thy Name and reposing faith in Thee
Have I enjoyed delights similar to rulership,
Indulgence in pleasures and delectation. (I-Pause)
Nothing other than God crosses my mind—
As over my head stands the Lord, my succourer.
Lord ! one that in the Name finds His prop,
Ever is above need. (2)
As the Lord, provider of bliss has been met, have we attained perfection—
No lack now remains.
The Supreme state, the substance, the Essence,
have we attained,
That nowhere will depart, deserting us. (3)
Lord eternal, inaccessible, beyond limit,
Inexpressible art Thou.
Saith Nanak : Immeasurable, fathomless, unshaken is our Master,
the Lord. (4) (5)

Tūṇ dānā Tūṇ abichalu Tūṅhī Tūṇ jāti merī pātī

Thou art all-wise, eternal;
Thou my pride of caste—pride and honour.
Thou ever art unshaken firm-fixed; so what torment can touch us. ? (1)
Thou art alone and sole;
Thou the sole monarch.
By Thy grace have we attained joy. (I-Pause)

1. The five sources of evil are implied.

By contact with the Master is the path broadened,
And spontaneously comes union with the Lord.
Blessed are those who in Kali-Yuga to the Lord have attained—
Nanak, servant of God to such is a sacrifice. (4) (2)

Āwat harkh na jāwat dūkha neh biyāpai mana roganī

As comes anything to us, pleasure we feel not; as it goes, no sorrow,
Nor is the mind by such malady gripped.
By union with the Master, perfectly-endowed have we found perennial joy;
Gone is pain of separation. (1)
Thus is the heart to the Lord united.
Should attachment, sorrow, maladies and conventional feelings not grip,
Does one experience joy in God. (I-Pause)
Such a one in heaven, in the mortal world and in the nether regions
By detachment from the world abides pure.
Obedient to the Lord, joy ever he experiences—
Everywhere beholding the Lord, repository of merit. (2)
The holy Preceptor, master of true Yoga has his station where abides the Lord,
Immortal, unknowable—
There reaches not Shiva and Shakti, water or air,
Nor forms of creation. (3)
This body, mind, substance—all is the Lord's—
What power have I to count the Lord's merits ?
Saith Nanak : The master the thought of mine and thine has eliminated,
And water with water is mingled. (4) (3)

Trai guṇa rahat rahai nirārī sādhik siddha na jānai

In the holy Preceptor's treasure is the chamber full of jewels,
Filled with amrita,
That apart from the Three Qualities[1] abides :
Siddhas and Yoga-practitioners know not of it. (1)
Beyond expression is its wonder—
Brother ! beyond knowing by senses is this object. (I-Pause)
Beyond computation its value, so how may one express it ?
In utterance can it not be contained—
Whoever beholds it alone has realization of it. (2)

1. See Glossary.

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE I
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kirpā karuh dīn ke dātei merā guṇu avaguṇu na bīchāruh koī

Lord bestower of bounty on the humble ! in your grace ·Reckon not my merits and demerits.
Lord ! what good washing clay ? Such is man's state. (1)
My self ! in service to the holy Preceptor lies bliss :
Thereby are all desires fulfilled, and no malady
thereafter grips. (I-Pause)
Unbaked vessels[1] has He embellished and endowed,
Within them His light made pervasive.
As recorded by the Creator in primal time,
such are the deeds by us performed. (2)
Mind and body have we reckoned ours—
Thereby is caused transmigration.
He who bestowed them to mind is not brought;
In attachment to these is blind man involved. (3) P. 883
The Lord's illimitable Mansion[2] to the Creator alone is known.
To the Lord may I be devoted, His laudation sing:
Nanak is your slave. (4) (1)

Pawuh charṇā tali ūpari āwuh aisī sev kamāwuh

Render devotion[3] this wise : fall under feet of all, thus rise :
Know all to be better than yourself—
Thus will you attain bliss at the Divine Portal. (1)
Devotees of God ! narrate such discourse :
For an instant utter the Master's word,
Whereby are gods, men and deities made holy. (I-Pause)
Discarding all show, in house of poise be settled—
Call no one liar.
By contact with the Lord the Nine Treasures[4] attain—
Thus the Essence you churn out. (2)
Discard doubt; by the Master's guidance your heart to God attach;
Brother ! The nature of the self contemplate.
Know the Lord to be near you, present by you—
To whom to do evil ? (3)

---

1. Symbol for the human body.
2. The Divine Reality, Essence.
3. Service.
4. See Glossary.

Blessed is our good fortune that to the Master's shelter we have come :
By union with Master the Divine sight have we obtained. (2)
Nothing else do I view or know—
In contemplating the Lord is my mind engaged.
Those without the Name go about the world shamelessly[1].
In absolute ignominy involved[2]. (3)
Lord, life of the world, grant me life
As the Name in my heart I have lodged.
Saith Nanak : Perfectly-endowed is the Master—
In unison with the holy Preceptor on the Name have I meditated. (4) (5)

Satiguru dātā waddā wad-purakhu hai jitu miliyai Hari ur-dhārei

The holy Preceptor is supremely bountiful, supreme person,
By union with whom is the Lord in mind borne.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, gift of life has conferred,
As the ambrosial Name Divine in mind is contemplated. (1)
Lord ! the Master the Name Divine in heart has lodged As from the Master is the Lord's discourse listened to,
is it pleasing—
Blessed is our good fortune. (I-Pause)
The thirty-three crore deities[3] meditating on Him find not His extent :
Such from their hearts seek pleasure womankind;
With hands outstretched seek they miraculous powers[4] (2)
Utter the Lord's supreme laudation—
By the Master's guidance in heart cherish it.
By supreme good fortune comes utterance of the Lord's Name,
Who takes the seeker across the ocean of existence. (3)
The Lord's devotee is close to Him, the Lord close to the devotee—
The Lord keeps clasping him to His bosom.[5]
Saith Nanak : The Lord is father and mother—
We children by the Lord are cherished. (4) (6.18)

---

1. In idiom, with nose chopped off.
2. Lit. Their nose in bits is chopped off.
3. The traditional number of deities.
4. Riddhi.
5. Lit. neck.

Life of the World ! Supreme Bestower ! show me grace
That at the feet of the holy I fall.
Saith Nanak : My head would I cut off and place on the path,
For God's devotee on it to arrive. (4) (3)

Je wadbhāg hovehn̤ wad merei jana mildiyān̤ dhill na lāīyai

Should I with great fortune be endowed, would union with the holy come without delay.
God's devotees are pools, holy reservoirs of amrita.
In whom by good fortune one takes bath. (1)
Lord ! in service to God's devotees engage me.
God's devotee may I serve with drawing water, waving of fan, grinding of grain ;
Rubbing his feet their dust on my forehead may I rub. (I-Pause)
Exalted, supremely lofty are God's devotees—
By the holy Preceptor's grace comes union with them.
None is high as the holy Preceptor.
By whose contact is inspired meditation on
the Supreme Being[1]. (2)
Those seeking the holy Preceptor's shelter to the Lord have attained—
The Lord their honour has saved.
Some out of self-interest to the Master make resort[2].
In a false pose of absorption as the crane. (3)
Company of the low is like the crane's and crow's,
Wherein at carcasses and offal[3] one pecks.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord ! to holy company unite me;
In holy company does one turn swan[4]. (4) (4)

Satiguru dayā karuh Hari meluh merei Prītam prān̤ Hari-rāiyā P. 882

Holy Preceptor ! in your grace to the Beloved of life,
Divine King unite me.
I turning handmaid, the Master's feet shall touch,
Who the Lord's way, His path has pointed. (1)
Lord ! the Name Divine to my heart is pleasing,
No friend other than the Lord have I,
Who to me is father, mother and companion. (I-Pause)
Without the Divine Beloved rests not my life for a moment—
Without His sight, mother ! death grips it.

1. Purakh (Purusha).
2. Come and sit by.
3. Also, evil.
4. Symbol for the pure self.

Cast out is impurity of foul thinking, P. 881
And in holy company true understanding obtained. (1)
Devotees of God by the Master's guidance the Name Divine utter.
Whoever listens to it, utters it, is liberated
And by utterance of the Name Divine embellished. (I-Pause)
Should good fortune on man's face and forehead be inscribed,
The Lord with His devotees grants him contact.
Lord ! in your grace grant sight of the holy,
Whereby may penury[1] and suffering be banished. (2)
Noble are God's devotees, men of God—
To the unfortunate they look not pleasing.
As those of lofty spirit the Name Divine utter,
Their traducers feel stung as by a snake. (3)
Cursed are the traducers to whom God's devotees, His companions,
Are not pleasing.
Such are God's thieves, God-deniers,[2] of black visages[3]
To whom the Master's exaltation is not pleasing. (4)
Lord ! in your grace save us, we humble ones that shelter with you have sought.
Lord ! we are children, you our father ;
In your grace unite to yourself your servant Nanak. (5) (2)

Hari ke sakhā sādh jana nīkei tin ūpar hāth watāvai

Devotees are the Lord's holy companions,
Over whom He extends His hand of benediction.
The God-directed, the holy are the Lord's favourites—
In His grace to Himself united. (1)
Lord ! with God's devotees grant me union; this pleases my heart.
Delectable, ambrosial is joy in God.
That in company of the holy into the mouth is poured. (I-Pause)
The Lord's devotees, God's servants are exalted—Whoever meets them, exalted station attains.
Should the Lord be so pleased
Would I be handmaid of God's slaves' slaves. (2)
Supremely fortunate are God's servants that serve Him
With heart, mind and body in His love absorbed.
One babbling much without true devotion,
Is a liar —by falsehood, false his reward. (3)

1. Used symbolically.
2. With faces turned away from God.
3. Used symbolically.

Rare though is the devotee by the Master's guidance contemplating the Name. (5)
In all ages is the Name supreme;
This a rare devotee blessed by the Master's guidance realizes.
On the Lord's Name a rare devotee meditates.
Saith Nanak : In all Ages comes exaltation by devotion to the Name. (6) (1)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Je wadbhāg hoveh wadbhāgī tāṇ Hari Hari Nāmu dhiyāwai

Should man by good luck be supremely fortunate,
In meditation on the Name Divine he engages.
By contemplation of the Name, joy he obtains.
And in the Name Divine is absorbed. (1)
Creature of God ! ever by the Master's guidance in devotion be engaged.
Thereby shall thy heart be illumined and deep absorption come,
And by the Master's teaching in the Name Divine shall the seeker be merged. (1-Pause)
With diamonds, jewels and pearls is the ocean of the self filled;
Whoever has good fortune on his forehead writ,
By the Master's teaching extracts these. (2)
Diamonds, jewels and rubies is the Name Divine,
That the Master has shown, placed on his palm.
Egoists unfortunate of this are deprived[1]—
A million behind a straw lies hidden. (3)
Should good fortune on forehead since primal time be inscribed,
Does the Master engage the seeker in service to himself.
Saith Nanak : Blessed is one obtaining these diamonds and jewels—
By the Master's guidance attaining the Lord. (4) (1)

Rāma-janāṇ mili bhaiyā anandā Hari nīkī kathā sunāe

Devotees of God bliss in unison have obtained.
As the Lord's holy[2] discourse to them is narrated.

1. Do not obtain this.
2. Pure.

Let the mind wear earrings of seeking the Divine Master's shelter.
Saith Nanak : Through devotion does the devotee find liberation[1]. (4) (11)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das P. 880

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sati-jugi sacchu kaḥai sabhu koī

In Sati-Yuga[2] all spoke truth;
By the Master's guidance in each home was devotion practised.
In Sati-Yuga[2], Righteousness stood on four legs—
The truth of this a rare one may realize by
the Master's guidance. (1)
In all Four Ages exaltation from the holy Name comes :
Whoever to the Name is devoted, finds liberation.
Without the Master's guidance devotion to the Name comes not. (I-Pause)
In the Treta[3] Age one of Dharma's powers was lopped off;
Thereby spread false show of religion :
God was viewed as being remote.
By the Master's guidance come true understanding and realization .
As the Name in the self is lodged, comes bliss. (2)
In Dwapar[4] Dharma's two legs only were left :
Then only one God-guided could inspire devotion to the Name. (3)
In Kali-Yuga[5] Dharma had one power left;
On one leg it moved, with increase of Maya-attachment.
Maya-attachment is great darkness.
By the holy Preceptor's contact comes devotion to the Name
That liberation brings. (4)
In all ages is pervasive the One Eternal Divine Being.
In all creation is immanent holy Truth, none other.
From holy laudation of God comes true bliss,

1. Swims across.
2. The first of the four Ages, when all practised righteousness (Dharma).
3. The Second Age.
4. The Third age.
5. The last age, of sin (the present).

By guidance of the Master has holy truth pervaded me,
And to the primal Teacher, immanent Lord have I attained. (2)
The Master's Word is the holy Note[1] and Divine Knowledge,[2]
Whereby is the mind in the Lord absorbed.
Therein are comprehended all holy bathing-spots,
fasts and austerities.
By union with the Master does the Lord grant liberation, (3)
As vanishes egoism, is fear lifted,
And the devotee to the Master's feet is attached.
The holy Preceptor our doubt has lifted.
Saith Nanak : By the holy Word comes union with the Lord. (4) (10)

Chhādanu bhojanu māngatu bhāgai

The mendicant runs about begging for clothes and food.
Here by tormenting hunger oppressed,
in the hereafter too suffering pain.
The Master's teaching has he not grasped,
And has by foul thinking lost grace.
Rare is the person by the Master's teaching attaining devotion. (1)
The true Yogi's praxis is in the abode of serenity to abide;
By an equable gaze to view all,
And by the charity of love,
And the holy word to be fulfilled. (I-Pause)
Five are the oxen[3] drawing the cart of the self.
In the strength given by God lies its excellence.
As is broken the axis of God-given strength, is the cart upturned,
And its wooden frame amid its load gets scattered. (2)
Yogi ! the Master's Word contemplate;
Treat suffering and joy, grief and sorrow and separation alike.
Let thy food be the holy Name, realized by contemplation of the Master's Word.
By contemplation of the formless Lord shall the body's wall from collapsing be immune. (3)
One girding the loin cloth of poise from bondage shall be freed.
By guidance of the Master's Word shall lust and wrath be annulled[4].

---

1. Nād.
2. Veda.
3. The five sources of knowledge.
4. Be robbed.

My discourse of the Lord and of the Portal
By Thee is inspired. (4) (8)

Sāgar mehn būnd būnd mehn sāgaru kavaṇu bujhai bidhi jāṇai

In the drop is contained the ocean, the ocean in the drop—
Who will unravel this ?
The Lord who this system understands,
The wonders of creation makes and contemplates;
Himself their essence realizes. (1)
Rare is the person having such realization. P. 879
Thereby comes liberation and attaining the supreme state. (I-Pause)
In the day is quality of night, in the night light of the sun;
Such also is the relationship of heat and cold.
None else His state and extent knows—
Without guidance of the Master comes not such realization. (2)
Try to this unravel, thou who art enlightened on God :
In the male is the female element, in the female the male.
By the tune of holy music is induced meditation;
By meditaion comes realization—
Such is the inexpressible secret of the Divinely-enlightened. (3)
In the self is Divine light, in His light abides the self—
Then the five[1] sources of knowledge live in unison like disciples of one master.
Nanak is ever a sacrifice to such as in the sole Divine Word
are absorbed. (4) (9)

Jā Hari Prabhi kirpā dhārī

As the Lord assumed grace,
Egoism within us He destroyed.
Such a servant alone is loved of God
As by guidance of the Masters' Word contemplation undertakes. (1)
Such a servant of God pleases the Lord
As day and night practising devotion, unmindful of cavilling[2]
Divine laudation sings. (I-Pause)
As is struck tune of the hymn, has arisen the reverberation of unstruck music.
Thereby is my heart in joy in God absorbed.

---

1. Panch, also interpreted as the elect of God.
2. Of feeling ashamed at the world's cavilling.

Within thee is the fire of desire—restrain it.
Thus will the lamp incessantly within thee burn. (1)
Float on water such a lamp[1]
Whereby all enlightenment mayst thou attain. (I-Pause)
Holy[2] consciousness for such a lamp shall be the clay—
Fashioned thus, shall the Lord[3] approve it.
On the wheel of good actions mould it.
Here and in the hereafter shall it stand by thee. (2)
As the Lord shows grace,
Rare ones by the Master's guidance realization have.
Within such a one is the lamp's flame unshaken,
Sunk neither in water nor put out.
Such a lamp float thou on water. (3)
This lamp shall neither shake in wind, nor be put out.
Thereby shall be visible the illuminated Divine throne.
Khatris, Brahmins, Shudras and Vaishyas,
Despite thousands of calculations, its value cannot find.
Rare are those that such a lamp light.
Saith Nanak, to liberation[4] these attain. (4) (7)

Tudh noṇ nivaṇu mannaṇu Terā Nāuṇ

Putting faith in Thy Name is Thy true worship.
Offering of truth gets a place to sit by Thee.
Should one supplicate for truth and content,
Does the Lord listening to it, offer a seat by His side. (1)
Saith Nanak : At the Portal of the holy Eternal
Is none considered worthless. (I-Pause)
Thy grace and Thy boons is the treasures attained by man;
For Thy gifts is the beggar's heart full of enthusiasm.
Thereby into the heart[5] is put devotion,
Whose worth from primal time is determined. (2)
He who raised creation, alone does everything—
His value by Himself determined.
As by the Master's guidance is the Divine monarch manifested,
Nothing is seen to be born or to die. (3)
The world for the beggar shows contempt—no respect to beggars is shown.

1. (This is a ceremonial).
2. Good.
3. He.
4. Swim across.
5. Vessel, beggar's bowl.

Nanak gives utterance to the ambrosial word.
Listen Machhindra ! such is the mark of the recluse :
Amid desires should his life pass without desire.
Saith Nanak : Verily must then he attain the Creator. (3)
Nanak humbly expounds this secret text :
Thus will the creature[1] to the Creator[2] be united.
The Master's teaching should be his medicine[3] and food : P. 878 Such a practitioner shall attain knowledge of the six systems of philosophy[4]. (5)

Ham dolat beṛī pāp bharī hai pawaṇu lagai matu jāi

A boat laden with sins am I—beware lest shaken by the wind it sink.
Lord attainment incarnate ! to have sight of Thee
Have we approached Thee—
Inevitably to us grant exaltation. (1)
Master, saviour ! save us.
Grant us perfect devotion to the Eternal—
To Thee am I a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
True Siddhas, Yoga-practitioners,
Yogis and itinerant mendicants are those
That on the Sole conferrer of attainments have meditated.
Those getting realization[5] touch the Lord's feet
And attain union[6]. (2)
Lord ! I know not the way of repetition of texts, austerity, self-restraint or ritual—
Thy Name solely I utter.
Saith Nanak : As the Master,
image of the Supreme Being was met,
By the holy Word were all doubts set at rest. (3) (6)

Suratī surati ralāīyai etu

To the Master of enlightenment join your consciousness in a manner
That the body may become a raft to cross the ocean of existence.

---

1 Disciple.
2. Master.
3. Also wine certain Yogi sects induced ecstasy through liquor).
4. That is the Shastras. (Also may imply the Six ascetic sects).
5. The Word.
6. Make attainment.

Note : The image of earthenware lamps floated on water by the Hindu women folk is sustained in this hymn.

Thus is crossed the ocean.
And man may die to life.[1] (Second Pause) (4) (3)

Surati shabdu sākhī merī singnīn bājai loku suṇei

Absorption in the word and the Master's teaching is my horn;[2]
The world listens to it as it makes sound.
My begging-bowl and pouch is to beg charity of the Name. (1)
Friend ! know, Lord of the universe[3] is ever awake.
The true Lord of earth[3] is He who the earth sustains;
In an instant creation He raises. (I-Pause)
Life-breath by water and air is bound;
Sun and moon are made the great lamps.
To die and to live has He given the earth to man—
All these boons has man forgotten. (2)
Siddhas, Yoga-practitioners, Yogis, wandering mendicants and Muhammadan Pirs—
As I meet any such, God's laudation I utter :
Thus shall my mind serve Him. (3)
Paper and salt in company with ghee remain untouched by water;
So does the lotus.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Thus do God's devotees also mingle with mankind—
What harm can Yama do to them ? (4) (4)

Suṇi Machhindrā Nānaku bolai

Listen, Machhindra[4], to Nanak's discourse.
The true yogi should control the five passions and not shake therein.
By such praxis of Yoga,
Shall man be liberated himself and liberate his forebears. (1)
He is the true recluse who such wisdom acquires.
Day and night in complete absorption would he remain immersed. (I-Pause)
His begging should be loving devotion and living in fear of God.
By invaluable content should he feel fulfilled.
His cushion should be becoming the very image of meditation.
In the Name eternal should his mind be completely absorbed. (2)

1. See note 1 ante.
2. Yogis blow a deer-horn for prayer.
3. Gorakh, the founder of hatha-yoga. Gorakh literally means Lord of the Universe.
4. Name of a Yogi, the Guru's interlocutor.

Surab joti Terī pasari rahi

In all creation is spread Thy light :
Wherever I look, the mighty Lord[1] I behold. (1)
Lord ! pray end life's desires.
In the dark well of Maya is my heart fixed. (I-Pause)
As in the body He is lodged, so also is He outside.[2]
The Lord cherishes those ever in mind bearing them. (2)
Himself is He near, Himself far,
Himself all-pervasive.
By contact with the holy Preceptor is darkness lifted. P. 877
Wherever I look, is the Lord pervasive. (3)
Doubt within, Maya outside
Strikes the eyes like arrows.
Saith Nanak, God's slave of slaves, in humility :
Creature ! much suffering shalt thou have. (4) (2)

Jitu dari waseh kavanu daru kahīyai darāṇ bhitari daru kavanu lahai

What is the door called where your abode is ?
Who to that door of all doors attains ?
Would someone tell me of the door.
In whose quest detached from the world I wander. (1)
How to cross the ocean ?
Impossible it is to die to life[3]. (I-Pause)
Suffering's is the door, wrath its door-keeper;
Desire and anxiety are the door-panels fixed in it.
Amid moat of maya-water[4] is this house built—
The Lord abides therein settled on the immutable cushion. (2)
Numerous are your names, yet unknowable is your extent—
None like to you, Lord.
Forbidden it is to voice one's suffering, proper it is to keep the utterance to oneself.
The Lord knows all and does everything as he thinks best. (3)
When desire and anxiety assail the mind, how may man utter God's Sole Name ?
Saith Nanak : By living desireless among desires comes union with the Sole Lord. (4)

---

1. Narhari = Vishnu's man-lion incarnation.
2. Lit. Why is He not apprehended outside ?
3. Lit. Die while living. (This is an expression of man's helplessness in transcending his lower nature. The answer is at the end.
4. The water of desire is meant.

RAGA RAMKALI

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 876

Quartets

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality Eternal;
Creator; Immanent Presence;
Without Fear; Without Rancour; Timeless Form; Unincarnated;
Self-existent; Realized by the holy Preceptor's grace.

Koī paṛhtā sahsākritā koī Paṛhai Purānā

One studies Sanskrit[1] texts, another Puranas;
Another still on the rosary repeats the Name,
fixing his meditation.
Never at any time know I aught else;
The Sole Name I realize. (1)
Lord ! I know not what my end shall be.
Master ! thoughtless, ignorant that I am,
to Thy shelter am I come—
In your grace my honour save. (1-Pause)
Sometimes the self ascends high, at other times to nether regions descends.
The greedy self, unstable, all four directions scours. (2)
With death recorded in our destiny into the region of the world have we come;
Yet, mother ! our life's possesions are we expanding.
Others depart; this, Lord we see.
A blazing fire is approaching. (3)
None is another's friend, brother, father or mother.[2] Saith Nanak in humility : Shouldst Thou grant
devotion to the Name,
That alone at the end shall our helper be. (4) (1)

1. Sahaskrit may also imply the Prakrits.
2. (The implication is, these leave us at some time.)

As has arisen enlightenment, has illumination come.
In His grace worms like us has He made His servants.
Saith Ravi Das : Now is assuaged our thirst.[1]
As uttering the Lord's Name, Him we serve. (4) (1)

Je ohu athsath tīrath nhāvai

Should anyone bathe at sixty-eight holy spots;
And the twelve stone-figures[2] worship;
Should make wells and tanks—
With utterance of calumny all this is wasted. (1)
How can calumniator of the holy be saved ?
Know, in hell must he inevitably fall. (I-Pause)
Should anyone bathe at Kurukshetra during the solar eclipse;
Should give away in charity his wife with all her bedecking;
Should he listen to all the Simritis[3]—
With utterance of calumny, no merit to him attaches. (2)
Should any offer endless food to the holy;
Should give away gifts of land, and erect fine temples;
Should he neglecting his own affairs, accomplish those of other—
With utterance of calumny into numerous births must he wander. (3)
People of the world ! Why utter calumny of others ?
The calumniator gets all exposed.
The calumniator's end after much thinking have we determined,
Saith Ravi Das : The sinner to hell goes. (4) (2.11.7.2)

(Total 49 hymns)*

1. Used symbolically.
2. (These may be the twelve famous Shiva-lingams or the twelve figures of deities).
3. Codes of Brahminical law.

* Note in the original.

With a rod he broke her leg—so limping[1]
she was sttepping on. (1)
Brahmin ! your Shiva I saw riding the white bull :
In Parbati's home was food cooked; her child he killed.[2] (2)
Brahmin ! I also saw your Ram Chander:[3] P. 875
Entering into conflict with Ravana, his wife[4] he lost. (3)
The Hindu is blind of both eyes, the Muhammandan of one.
The God-enlightened are wiser than either.
The Hindu worships in the temple of deities,
the Mohammandan in the mosque.
Nama has worshipped Him who is contained.
Neither by the temple nor the mosque. (4) (3.7)

In the Measure Gaund—Composition of the Venerable Ravi Das

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mukand Mukand japuh sanṣār

Listen world ! the Name of the Lord, conferrer of liberation[5] repeat
Without the Lord[6] shall this body be ruined.
The Lord alone is Mukand, conferrer of liberation,
The same Mukand is our father and mother. (1)
Living and dying, as Mukand he contemplates,
His servant ever is in bliss. (I-Pause)
Mukand is our very life.
By repeating Mukand's name is our forehead marked with Divine approval.
One is the state of dispassion to the world alone serves the Lord.
The Lord to the weak is wealth. (2)
As Mukand confers favours,
What can the world do to us ?
With our caste effaced,[7] His court have we entered :
Lord ! Thou alone in each age art liberator. (3)

1. (Because of the fourth line not being complete).
2. This is a Puranic myth.
3. Rama, hero of the Ramayana.
4. Sita is meant.
5. Mukand, (Mukand, an attributive name of Krishna, implying God, is repeated several times in this hymn).
6. Mukand.
7. (This Bhakta was of a low-case, cobbler).

By uttering the Lord's Name was Putana[1] saved :
Who was child-murderess, full of guile.
By contemplation of the Lord was saved Draupadi;[2]
And saved was Gautam's wife[3] turned stone. (3)
Nama makes supplication to the Lord,
Who destroyed Kesi[4] and Kamsa,[5]
And to Kali granted the boon of life :
By utterance of whose Name is turned away fear and suffering. (4) (1.5)

Bhairon bhūt sītalā dhāvai

Whoever runs after Bhairon,[6] goblins or the goddess of small-pox,[7]
Mounted on an ass,[8] kicks dust. (1)
Lord ! Thee solely do I adopt,
And other deities give away in exchange, (1-Pause)
Anyone offering worship to Shiva by repeating his name,
Shall riding a bull, play on a hand-drum.[9] (2)
Whoever, worships the Great Mother.[10]
Shall though man, be incarnated as woman. (3)
Thou who art known as the Primal Goddess[11]—
Where art hidden at the time of granting liberation ? (4)
Friend ! by the Master's guidance grasp at the Name Divine.
States Nama[12] humbly : This too is Gita's teaching, (5) (2.6)

Āju Nāmei Bīthalu dekhiyā mūrakh ko samajhāū re

Today Nama has beheld the Lord[13]—how this to the ignorant
I shall explain. (Pause).
Listen Brahmin ! your Gayatri[14] was grazing in Lodha's field.

---

1. A witch-murderess sent to poison the infant Krishna by her suck.
2. Drupad's daughter, wife of the Pandavas, whose honour was saved by Krishna as she called on him in her affliction.
3. Ahalya, who sinned with the moon-god.
4. A Rakshsa, who took the figure of a horse.
5. Krishna's tyrant uncle, destroyed by him.
6. An incarnation of Shiva, terrible in shape, controlling goblins and evil spirits.
7. Sitala.
8. (The ass is Sitala's mount).
9. (This is how Shiva is figured).
10. Implies Durga, the goddess or Devi with numerous names.
11. An attributive name of Durga.
12. Short for Namdev.
13. Bithal, See note to hymn 3 ante.
14. A sacred Brahminical text, of three and a half lines.

As Dhruva[1] and Narada[2] in devotion have you fixed,
Pray fix me thus too for a while.
Many by support of Thy Name are saved—
Such is Nama's[3] firm thinking (2) (3)

Mohe lāgatī tālābelī P. 874

Restless am I, as the cow left alone without the calf. (1)
As writhes the fish without water.
Even thus without the Nāme Divine is Nama helpless. (I-Pause)
As the cow's calf loosed to her.
Sucks at the udder, gulping butter; (2)
In such ecstasy[4] has Namdev attained the Lord.
By contact with the Master has he realized the Inaccessible. (3)
As the philanderer passionately desires another's wife,
Such is Nama's love for the Lord. (4)
As in naked sunshine burn creatures.
Thus is poor Nana[5] without the Name Divine. (5) (4)

In the Measure Gaund—Composition of the Venerable Namdev
SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari Hari karat mitei sabhi bharmā

By utterance of the Lord's Name are all doubts dispelled.
Utter the Lord's Name—this is the noblest religious practice.
By utterance of the Name Divine are effaced disabilities of caste and family.[6]
The Lord is as stick to the blind. (1)
To the Lord I bow, to the Lord make obeisance.
In uttering the Lord's Name is not felt Yama's terror. (I-Pause)
The Lord took Harnakasha's[7] life;
To Ajamal[8] gave place in heaven.
Coaching the parrot did Ganika[9] find liberation.
The Lord of such merits is the pupil of my eye. (2)

---

1. The saint turned pole-star.
2. Brahma's son.
3. Short for Namdev.
4. In the original this is implied.
5. See note ante on this.
6. (This Bhakta came of Chhīpā caste reckoned low. Chhīpā = Dyer, tailor).
7. The demon-king, Prahlad's father.
8. A sinful Brahmin saved by uttering the Lord's Name in his last moments.
9. A courtesan.

None of these equals laudation of the Name Divine[1].
My sluggish mind !
contemplate with devotion on the Lord. (I-Pause)
Offering rice-balls[2] at Gaya;
Living in Varanasi on Assi[3] bank,
Reciting the four Vedas from memory; (2)
Performance of all religious rites,
Discoursing on religious philosophy and strict control of senses;
Engaging in performance the six ritual acts;[4] (3)
Engaging in discoursing of dialogue between Shiva and Shakti[5]—
My self : discard all distinctive rituals—
The Lord contemplate ever.
To the Name be devoted, whereby the ocean of exitstence thou mayst cross. (4) (1)

Nād bhramei jaise mirgāe

As is the deer attracted by sound made by the hunter.
Gives up life but turns not its attention away; (1)
Even thus do I behold the Lord.
Discarding the Lord, nowhere else do I turn my mind. (I-Pause)
As the heron keeps watch over fish;
As the goldsmith fashioning ornaments watches for gold; (2)
As the voluptuary looks at other's womenfolk,
As the gambler casting cowrie-shells takes them away (3)
Even thus, wherever I look, the Lord I behold.
Nama[6] ever on the Lord's feet meditates. (4) (2)

Mo kau tāri lei Rāmā tāri lei

Lord ! Save me, save me[7] !
Ignorant that I am, I know not swimming—
Father, Lord[8] ! give me prop of Thy arm. (I-Pause)
By the wisdom taught by the Master,
In an instant man turns into god.
Though born of man, heaven have I conquered—
Such is the medicine that from the Master I have received. (1)

---

1. The classical name of Allahabad, where the famous Tribeni is situated.
2. Pind = Sweet rice-balls.
3. A rivulet, tributary of the Ganga.
4. These relate to the prescribed duties of the various orders.
5. (This dialogue is believed to be the origin of Tantras—agam and nigam).
6. Short for Namdev.
7. Take me across the ocean.
8. Bithal, (lit. one squatting on a brick) a name of Vishnu, here symbolizing God.

The true whore-master is one that the market of the self improves,
And the five impure impulses instructs,
Who realizes devotion of the Master of the world[1].
Such a whoremaster we acknowledge as Precepter. (3)
The true thief is one that is above calumny,
And to control the senses the Name repeats.
One with such qualities, saith Kabir,
We hail as Master divinely-inspired, and all-wise. (4) (7.10)

Dhannu Gopāl dhannu Gurudev P. 873

Hail the Lord; Hail the Master, Divinely-inspired.
Hail holy food, that makes starved lotuses[2] bloom.
Hail the devotees who this have realized :
Such with the Lord have attained union. (1)
From the Primal Supreme Being comes food.
By consuming[3] food, contemplate the Name. (I-Pause)
Contemplate the Name; praised be food.
Mingled with water, nobly it tastes.
Any person that discards food,
in the three worlds forfeits respect. (2)
Those discarding food, practise hypocrisy.
Such are neither like married women, nor widows.
The world over are they reputed as milk consumers;[4]
But in secret substantial qualities of food consume. (3)
Without grain does not the season grow plentiful.
By discarding of food is not attained union with the Lord.
Saith Kabir : Thus have I realized—
Hail food, whereby our faith in the Lord is fixed. (4) (8.11)

In the Measure Gaund—Compositon of the Venerable Namdev

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ashumedh jagne

Horse-sacrifices,[5]
Giving away in charity valuables equal to oneself in weight.
Bathing at holy Paryag : (1)

1. Nine Continents.
2. Symbol for heart.
3. Enjoying.
4. (Certain sects enjoin upon their followers to abjure cereals and to live solely on milk).
5. A great sacrificial rite of the ancient Aryans.

Jaise mandar mehn balhar nā thāhrai

As without the middle beam would an edifice not stand;
So without devotion to the Name how may man get liberation[1] ?
Without the pitcher stays not water;
So, without guidane of the holy is man's state lamentable. (1)
I would burn one remembering not God.
Who in this field of the world in his body and ego is absorbed.[2] (I-Pause)
As without the ploughman is the field not sown,
As without thread are not beads strung,
As without the twist is not a knot made firm,
So without guidance of the holy is man's state lamentable. (2)
As without mother and father is not born a child.
As without water are not clothes washed.
As without a horse is no riding possible.
So without guidance of the holy is not attained
the court Divine. (3)
As without a musical instrument is not dancing done.
As the abandoned woman leaving husband is dishonoured.
So saith Kabir, make the Sole Lord your own :
One that is God-directed,
never into transmigration falls. (4) (6.9)

Kūtan soi jo mana kau kūtai

The true procuror is one pounding[3] the ego :
By pounding the ego comes escape from Yama.
After pounding the ego should it to the touchstone be put.
By such pounding[4] is attained liberation. (1)
What does the world express by procuror ?
In different tongues has it to be considered. (I-Pause)
The true dancer is one dancing with the heart,
With falsehood not satisfied, in truth absorbed.
To the mind should the tune be played.
Of such a heart is God Himself the cherisher. (2)

---

1. Swim across.
2. Also rendered as : I would burn one remembering no God, who in this field in body and mind is pervasive.

Note : Herein by figures drawn from the world of frivolity spiritual instruction is imparted.

3. In Kūtan (n) and Kūtai (vb) there is a pun.
4. Here a double sense is yielded by kūtan—Procuror and pounding.

Wife to all beings. (l-Pause)
The gold chain decorating the wedded woman's neck,
To God's devotee is poison, but the world at its sight is delighted.
A harlot, she displays herself[1] bedecked,
But cursed by the holy wanders along helpless. (2)
The devotee of God shuns[2] her, she follows him,
Afraid of the curse pronounced by the Master's grace.
She is life-prop of the reprobate[3].
But to us she appears a blood-thirsty vampire. (3)
Her secret we realized
As in grace the master, Divinely inspired met us.
Saith Kabir, Now is she cast out by us.
And to the world's sash clung. (4) (4.7)

Grih shobhā jā kai re nānhi P. 872

From the house of one without glow of wealth—
Wayfarers depart unfed—
With minds dissatisfied they go away.
Thus are the poor without wealth held to blame. (1)
The wedded woman Maya is praised and considered holy.
For whom the minds even of great recluses are restless. (l-Pause)
This wedded woman is daughter of a curmudgeon.
That discarding God's servant, with the whole world goes to bed.
At the court of the holy stands she in obedience.
Praying, thy shelter I seek; pray save me. (2)
This wedded woman is of great beauty possessed;
With ankle-bells tinkling.
With man she abides while he be alive.
Else soon leaves him in hurry unclad.[4] (3)
This wedded woman the three worlds[5] has possessed.
The eighteen Puranas and bathing-spots have joy of her.
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva has she pierced.
Great kings and monarchs has she wounded. (4)
This wedded woman is without limit or restraint;
To the five puckish[6] senses is she attached.
As of the five puckish senses is the earthenware pot smashed—
Thus, saith Kabir, by the Master's grace are we released. (5) (5.8)

---

1. Sits.
2. Runs away from.
3. Sakta.
4. (This is to emphasize her hurried departure.)
5. Lit. Abodes.
6. Narad in the original, implying clever devices.

By grace of the Master have I found the path,
Whereby are annulled birth and death.
Saith Kabir : Immortal, of the Divine essence is it,
Like ink on paper that erased cannot be. (4) (2.5)
Complained Kabir's mother :

Tūtei tāgei nikhutī pāni

Broken is the yarn, dried up the starch :
At our door are glistening bare reeds.
Scattered are hair of the carding comb.[1]
Death appears to haunt this mendicant. (1)
These mendicants have wasted all our property.
As more and more mendicants come and go,
are we fed up. (I-Pause)
The beam and the shuttle has he forgotten;
In God's Name is his heart absorbed.
While the children[2] have nothing to eat,
These close-shaved mendicants daily eat their fill. (2)
One or two are in the house; another one or two are arriving and on the way.
We sleep on straw, they on cots.
They caress their heads, religious books tied to their waist.
We get only parched grain to munch, while they get bread. (3)
In the end will our mendicant and these will be one.[3]
Saith Kabir : Know, these close-shaven ones are the shelter of the drowning[4].
Saith Kabir : Listen thou Loi, purblind, uninstructed in faith.
To these mendicants be devoted;
With them seek shelter. (4) (3.6)

Khasamu marai tau nāri na rowai

As dies her Lord, the woman, wealth weaps not.
Another becomes her custodian.
Her custodian gets ruined—
In the hereafter for him is hell, here indulgence in pleasures. (1)
Wealth is a wife of everlasting wedding bliss, beloved of the world—

1. This is a description of Kabir's indifference to his weaver's occupation.
2. Daughters and sons.
3. That is, he will leave house and home to join their order.
4. Also, what support to the drowning can they give ?

The elephant[1] violently was goaded in the head.
The elephant ran away trumpeting—
Declaring, to this prostrate figure am I a sacrifice. (1)
Lord ! in you alone lies my strength.
The Kazi was urging the mahout to goad on the elephant. (I-Pause)
Threatening mahout ! I shall cut thee to pieces :
Goad and drive the elephant.
The elephant moved not, and went into meditation.
In his heart was lodged the Lord. (2)
The people quaried : What offence has this holy man done,
That in bonds he is thrown to the elephant ?
The elephant, picking up the bundle, made obeisance to it—
The Kazi purblind, realized not this. (3)
Three times was this tried fully,
But his hard heart still was not softened. P. 871
Saith Kabir : The Lord is my guardian.
In absorption in Him[2] lies His servant's life. (4) (1.4)

nā ehu mānasu nā ehu deo

Neither is the self[3] human not divine,
Neither celibate nor Shiva-worshipper.
It is neither a Yogi nor a recluse,
Neither the mother of any nor anyone's child. (1)
Who abides in this temple of the body ?
None His extent knows. (I-Pause)
It is neither a householder nor one indifferent to worldly concerns;
Neither a ruler nor a beggar.
Neither has it a body nor has a grain of blood[4].
Neither a Brahmin nor a Shudra.[5] (2)
It neither is one given to austerities nor a Muslim holy man[6].
Neither is it born nor seem to die.
Whoever wails over its death,
Only his respect forfeits. (3)

Note : This brief narrative tells the story of Kabir's persecution by religious bigots.

1. (Kabir was sentenced to be trampled under foot by an elephant. Another interpretation : The elephant violently on the earth struck its head.
2. The fourth state (turiya).
3. This.
4. Also, is not blood-stained.
5. Carpenter.
6. Shekh. Also, an anchorite.

Talking with such, leads to the evil of wrath.
Should you be silent, what can the poor fellow do ? (3)
Saith Kabir : an empty vessel makes noise.
On that is full, unshaken remains. (4) (1)

Narū marai naru kāmi na āwai

When man dies, of little use is he.
An animal dead, is useful in ten different ways; (1)
What know I of the consequences[1] of my deeds ?
What, friend ![2] do I know ? (I-Pause)
Our bones burn as a bundle of faggots.
The hair burns as a sheaf of hay. (2)
Saith Kabir : Man is awakened only then,
When Yama's rod on his head falls. (3) (2)

Ākāshi gaganu pātāli gaganu hai chahun disi gaganu rahāilei

In the upper world and the nether world is pervasive the Divine Universal consciousness;[3]
In all ten directions abides the Divine Universal consciousness.[3]
The Divine Universal consciousness,[3] essence of bliss,
Supreme Being eternal,
Even when our life's vessel breaks, vanishes not. (1)
The state of detachment arisen within impels me
To learn whence the living self comes, where it goes. (I-Paurs)
Of five elements is the body made—
By whom are these elements made ?
You say the self is bound by its deed—
Who placed the self under power of deeds ? (2)
The self[4] is in the Lord, the Lord in the Self[4]—
In all creation does He abide.
Saith Kabir : Devotion to the Name Divine shall I not forsake—
In God's will[5] let all happen as it may happen. (3) (3)

In the Measure Gaund—Composition of the Venerable Kabir

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bhujā bāndhi bhilā kari dāriyo

Hands pinioned, in a bundle was I thrown down.

---

1. State.
2. Baba.
3. Gagan : Lit. Sky. Implied sense, universal, pervasive Divine mind.
4. Body.
5. Sahje (spontaneously).

Of the holy congregation are faces made radiant.
The calumniator all shelter has lost. (3)
God's servant with each breath lauds.
The Master, image of the Supreme Being, above need.
In his shelter are all fears effaced.
The calumniators all are destroyed, thrown down to the earth. (4)
Let no one calumniate God's servant :
Whoever in it indulges, to suffering must come.
Day and night[1] God's servant on the Sole Supreme Being meditates—
So, Yama approaches him not. (5)
God's servant is without rancour; the calumniator pride-filled, God's servant wishes them well; calumniators to evil courses take.
By the Master's teaching on the Divine Preceptor have we meditated.
God's devotee is saved; the calumniator into hell cast. (6)
Listen, my noble, beloved friend,
To the holy Word that at the Divine Portal is pervasive.
As are man's deeds, so is his attainment.
The root of the proud inevitably must be destroyed. (7)
Thou, holy Preceptor, art shelter of the shelterless.
In Thy grace save Thy servant's honour.
Saith Nanak : To the Master am I a sacrifice,
By whose contemplation is my honour exalted. (8) (1.29)

In the Measure Gaund—Composition of Bhaktas P. 870

By the Venerable Kabir

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sant milai kichhu sunīyai kahīyai

Should a God's devotee be met, with him enter into a dialogue.
Should a person of bad ways be met, better maintain silence. (1)
Friend[2]! with a devotee what should one speak ?
That by which the Name Divine would be repeated. (I-Pause)
One conversing with the holy does good to others.
Speaking to an ignorant person is meaningless utterance. (2)

1. All eight pahars.
2. Baba.

This one sole melody He raises; of one sole
Supreme Being granting vision,
Who is solely pervasive in the universe.
On Him alone is the singer's mind fixed, Him solely he serves—
By the Master's guidance realized (1)
Shouldst thou be such a chorister, art thou good,
Sing thou laudation of the Lord all-pervasive.
Discard Maya's concerns and interests. (I-Pause)
The five noble qualities, such as content, should he make his instruments,
And with these produce the seven notes.
His instruments and melody discarding of pride and aggressiveness,[1]
Straight[2] his foot-movements.
Be his gyration cessation of transmigration;[3]
To one sole Word should he cling. (2)
Be His mime realization of Divine immanence;
His sound of ankle-bells, discarding of pining;
His emotional acting joy in poise—
With such dancing does one not take birth again. (3)
Should any win the Lord's pleasure,
Would he be one among millions such music to perform,
Saith Nanak : With holy company seek shelter,
Where solely is such music performed. (4) (8)

Koī bolai Rāma Rāma Koī Khudāe

Some utter His name as Rama,[4] others as Khuda;[5]
Some serve the Lord of the universe,[6] others Allah. (1)
Gracious Lord almighty,
Compassionate,[7] show grace. (I-Pause)
Some bathe at Hindu holy spots, others perform Haj;
Some perform pūjā,[8] others bow their heads in namāz.[9] (2)
Some study Vedas, others the Koran;
Some wear blue,[10] others white.[11] (3)

1. Power.
2. Implies following the straight path of godliness.
3. Here is a pun on pheri and pher, each implying gyration, moving in a circle.
4. These are the Hindus.
5. These are the Muslims.
6. Gosain, one of the Hindu attributive names of God.
7. Karim and Rahim (both Ar.) occur in this couplet, signifying the Gurū's broad tolerance and goodwill towards Islam.
8. The Hindu worship.
9. The Muslim prayer.
10. These are the Muslims.
11. These are certain Hindu sects.

Some are called Muhammadans, others Hindus.
Some seek bihisht[1] others swarga.[2] (4)
Saith Nanak : Whoever the Divine will realizes,
The Lord's mystery has understood. (5) (9)

Pavanai mehṇ pavan samāiyā

At death is air mingled with air,
Light into Light merges.
Dust from dust becomes indistinguishable :
On what does wailing for the dead rest ? (1)
Man ! who do you think has died ?
Thou enlightened one ! consider : This is the Divine wonder. (I-Pause)
No tidings of the hereafter come.
The mourner too one day shall depart.
Man in bonds of illusion and attachment is bound.
In dream are the blind babbling. (2)
This is the Creator's enacted show.
Beings by God's illimitable Ordinance come and go.
Neither does one die, nor is mortal.
The self dies not; mortality touches it not. (3)
The self is not what you conceive it to be.
To one who has realization of this am I a sacrifice.
Saith Nanak : The Master our illusion has lifted :
None ever dies nor in transmigration is caught. (4) (10)

Japi Gobindu Gopāl lālu

Repeat thou Name of the Lord, preserver of the universe
Divine Beloved.
Bring to mind the Name Divine.
Then shalt thou by mighty death be not consumed. (I-Pause) P.886
After wandering over millions of briths in this life have I arrived,
And by great good fortune to holy company have attained. (1)
Without guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
comes not liberation.
The patriarch[3] Nanak this after contemplation declares. (2) (11)

1. The Muslim heaven.
2. The Hindu heaven.
3. Baba (father, grandfather). is an honorific applied to respected elders. It has become customary so to designate Guru Nanak Dev. Here it is applied by Guru Arjan Dev to himself, in a state of Divine abandon.

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Chāri pukārehn nā tūn māneh

In what the four Vedas proclaim hast thou reposed no faith;
The six Shastras too the same truth expound.
The eighteen Puranas too to the Sole Lord have given expression.
Yogi ! still the Divine mystery hast thou not realized. (1)
Playing is a unique harp,
Yet Yogi ! in thy intoxication art thou indifferent to it. (I- Pause)
In the first Yuga[1] was set up the settlement of righteousness.
In Treta appeared a crack.
In Dwapar did half of it vanish.
In the last age was seen only one of its feet. (2)
On one string are all beads strung,
Yet are the knots and strands differing.
As is the rosary moved, manifold pleasure its sight gives.
As is pulled the string, beads in their place fall. (3)
In all four ages is one same cloister[2] for God.
In this are inaccessible spots and numerous windows.[3]
After long search at the Divine Portal have I arrived.
Then Nanak, seeker of union, to his true Mansion at home[4]
has attained. (4)
Thus plays the unique harp.
Listening to it, does the Yogi now find it delectable. (I-Second Pause) (1.12)

Tāgā kari kai lāī thiglī

The bodily frame with threads[5] is patched;
Veins and arteries the thread and bones the needle.
Of water is the staff.[6]
Yogi ! then of what art thou so proud ? (1)
The Lord[7] day and night contemplate.
The quilt shall last only two days. (I-Pause)

---

1. In this stanza the four ages figures (See Glossary).
2. The human self is implied.
3. Senses and desires.
4. That is, without the praxis of hatha.
5. Implies veins and arteries.
6. (Yogis carry a staff with them).
7. Nath = the Yogic name for the Supreme Being.

Rubbing ashes thick over the limbs, in absorption art thou seated.
Of thoughts of mine and thine the earrings thou dost wear.
In begging for food art thou unsatiated.
Leaving the Lord from others dost beg—aren't of this ashamed ? (2)
Yogi ! on the cushion of the restless mind art thou seated.
Blowing the horn still art thou dejected.
Of the Divine Preserver,[1] Master hast thou no realization.
Thereby in transmigration art thou involved. (3)
Whoever has the Lord's grace,
To him is addressed our supplication—the Master,[2]
preserver of the world.
Whoever has made the Name his quilt and robes, Saith Nanak, servant of God, in the Supreme Being, is firmly merged. (4)
Thus, by contemplation of the Lord day and night,
Is attained the Divine Master, preserver of the world, (I-second Pause) (2.13)

Karan karāwan soī

The Lord[3] is sole cause of all that happens,
No other is visible.
The Lord is wise, knowing—
By contact with the Master have I enjoyed bliss. (1)
Friend ! such is the delectable joy in God,
That a rare one alone by the Master's guidance has experienced. (I-Puase)
The Name Divine is the pure light, amrita,
Which quaffing, of desire is one relieved, P. 887
Joy-cooled are thereby body and mind, their fire[4] assuaged,
And while engaged in worldly pursuits, to one is manifested the Divine incarnation of joy. (2)
What to Thee shall I dedicate ? All is Thine.
To Thee may I ever be a sacrifice million-fold.
My body, mind and the lving frame hast thou made,
And by the Master's grace this lowly one exalted. (3)

1. Gorakh = Lit. Preserve of the world, was the founder of hatha-yoga, the word also implies the Supreme Being.
2. Here implies the Guru.
3. He.
4. Used symbolically.

Opening the door, into the Mansion hast called me,
And shown Thy true manifestation.
Saith Nanak : Shattered is the veil.
Thine am I, Thou in my mind lodged. (4) (3.14)

Sevaku lāiyo apunī sev

The Master Divinely-inspired in his servant's mouth amrita of the Name has poured,
And in his service engaged him,
All his anxiety has he annulled—
To the Master with such merit am I a sacrifice. (1)
The holy Preceptor our objectives has fulfilled;
Resounded are trumpets of unstruck music. (I-Pause)
Deep and profound is repute of the Lord.
Whomsoever in His grace poise He grants,
The bonds of whosoever the Divine Monarch snaps,
Nevermore enters birth. (2)
Within whomsoever Himself has He manifested,
Never any suffering or agony feels.
Into his lappet falls a ruby and a jewel :
Along with his family does such a one find liberation. (3)
Such a one neither doubt nor duality feels.
The sole immaculate Lord he worships.
Wherever then I look, the gracious Lord I behold.
Saith Nanak : With the Lord, source of joy have I found union. (4) (4.15)

Tan te chhutakī apanī dhārī

From my mind[1] is dropped egoism by it assumed;
And the Lord's command delectable is rendered.
All that He does, now to my mind appears sweet—
Thereafter such wonder with my eyes have I beheld. (1)
Now I realize, gone is my affliction.
Ended is my thirst,[2] annulled acquisitiveness,
By instruction of the Master, perfectly-endowed. (I-Pause)
In his grace has the master in his shelter kept me.
The Master to the Lord's feet has attached me.
As fully is the mind put in poise.

1. Body.
2. Used Symbolically.

The Master and the Supreme Being transcendent have
I realized to be one in spirit. (2)
Of all the Lord's creation am I servant :
Within all is the Lord's lodgement.
None to me is evil-doer or foe.
With all now in unison I step as brother. (3)
On whomsoever the Lord joy has conferred.
Nevermore into suffering falls.
Himself of all is He cherisher.
Nanak in joy of the Lord is dyed. (4) (5.16)

Mukh te parhtā tīkā sahit

With his[1] tongue does he study scriptures with their gloss,
Yet in his heart is not perfected discipline of devotion to the Lord.
By his sermons others he seeks to confirm faith in the holy texts,
Yet to his own preaching is he indifferent.[2] (1)
Brahmin ! the Vedas contemplate,
Cast off the wrath in thy mind. (1-Pause)
In frond of him has he placed the Vishne stone;[3]
Yet is his mind in ten directions moving. P. 888
Drawing the paste-mark, at the feet of the stone he falls;
To impress the world falsely[4] he acts. (2)
The six-fold ritual[5] and the act of cleansing bowels[6] he performs,
Yet in the homes of the prosperous the scriptures he recites.[7]
Telling beads of the rosary, yet wealth he seeks.
Friend ! none by such devices liberation has found. (3)
The true Brahmin is one who the Master's Word lives.
From Maya of three qualities is he released.
Devotion to the Name Divine equals study of the four Vedas.
Saith Nanak : Fall thou under shelter of the Lord. (4) (6.17)

Koti bighan nahīṇ āwaeh neri

Whoever has the Creator's grace,
A million impediments touch him not;
Maya of numberless forms is his handmaid;
Numberless sins are his slaves. (1)

---

1. (As clarified below, refers to the Brahmin posing piety).
2. Does not follow.
3. Shaligram.
4. Blindly.
5. The Brahminical ritual is implied.
6. Dhoti , an act in hatha-yoga praxis.
7. That is, on hire.

Whoever has the Lord for helper,
Numberless of his endeavours find fulfilment. (I-Pause)
Should the Creator be preserver, what is the creature's power to harm ?
Even an ant the whole world[1] can conquer.
Endless His glory— how far may it be recounted ?
To His feet am I a sacrifice. (2)
Whoever by the Lord is exalted,
In recitation of texts, austerities and meditation engages,
Performs charities of various kinds;
And in Kali Yuga is his devotion alone approved. (3)
By joining holy company came illumination,
Joy in poise and fulfilment of desires.
This assurance the Master, perfectly-endowed has given,
To whom is Nanak a humble slave.[2] (4) (7.18)

Doshu nā dījai kāhū log

Lay not on anyone else the blame;
One consumes what one has earned.[3]
By one's own actions is one bound.
By involvement in Maya-concerns comes transmigration. (1)
Such is the realization of the holy :
By teaching of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
has come this illumination. (I-Pause)
The body, wealth, woman all are a Maya-show.
Man's steeds, elephants, all are evanescent.
Pleasures of kingship, delights of beauty-all are false.
Without devotion to the Name all shall turn to dust. (2)
Those lost in doubt are vainly proud.
Know, all this expanse[4] with you shall not go.
Involved in sorrow and joy has the body turned old.
Thus is the reprobate's[5] life passed. (3)
In Kali-yuga is the Name Divine life-giving.[6]
This treasure with the holy[7] lies.

---

1. Abode, shpere.
2. Slave of slaves.
3. That is, man's reward is according to his deeds.
4. Show of things, objects, paraphernalia.
5. Sakta.
6. Amrita.
7. That is, the Guru.

Saith Nanak : Whoever has pleasure of the Master,
Divinely-inspired,
In each being the Lord beholds. (4) (8.19)

Panch shabad teh pūran nād

In the holy congregation[1] are heard the full note of five sounds of music;[2]
There is played the unstruck melody, unique, wonder-working.
God's devotees, absorbed in the immaculate Supreme Being,
Are there disporting. (1)
There is joy-in-poise, abode of bliss.
Those seated in company of the holy
From maladies, grief and transmigration are exempt. (I-Pause)
There the Name solely is contemplated.
Rare are those that such poise obtain :
Love their food, Divine laudation their sustenance. P.889
Beyond computation is greatness of that immutable station. (2)
One that is there shakes not, nor in various directions runs.
A rare one by the master's grace this station attains.
There is neither doubt or fear nor attachment or Maya snare.
In unshaken absorption in the gracious Lord they abide. (3)
Unknowable His extent;
Himself is He hidden, Himself the visible expanse.
Whoever joy in the Lord has tasted,
Saith Nanak, Wondrous, beyond expression is his praise. (9.20)

Bhetai sangi Pār-Brahmu chitti āiyā

By joining holy congregation came the Supreme Being into our consciousness.
By holy company was content put in our mind.
At feet of the holy rests my forehead.
Numerous times to God's devotees make I obeisance. (1)
My self to God's devotees is a sacrifice,
Under whose shelter joy I have attained.
In their grace have they saved me. (I-Pause)
Feet of the holy may I wash and their wash sip.
By sight of the holy find I life.
My mind's hope in the holy is fixed.
God's devotees my holy substance are. (2)

---

1. There.
2. Used symboically for spiritual ecstasy.

God's devotees my faults have covered;
By grace of the holy feel I no pain.
By the gracious Lord is company of the holy granted me.
The holy my succourers are and gracious to me have turned. (3)
Illumined is my understanding, intellect and realization.
The Lord profound, mighty, repository of merit
Cherisher of all beings
In holy company, saith Nanak, have I beheld and felt blessed. (4) (10.21)

Terai kāji na grihu rāju mālu

Home, royal authority, wealth—none of these to thee is any good.
Nor is the mighty snare of maya-poison any good to thee.
Know thy loved ones and friends all to be figures of deception:
The Name Divine alone shall accompany thee. (1)
Friend ! chant laudation of the Name Divine
By contemplation of the Lord shall thy honour be saved.
By contemplation of the Lord is Yama rendered powerless. (I-Pause)
Other than devotion to the Lord are other concerns worthless :
Gold, silver, copper[1] are as dust
Repeat the Master's Word—thereby shall thy mind be joyful.
In this world and the next shall thy face thus be radiant. (2)
Our forebears that did these to exhaustion,
Maya-concerns no way have completed.
Of the rare one that the Name Divine utters,
Are the objectives fulfilled. (3)
To God's devotees is the Name the prop.
God's devotees endless life have won,
Whatever God's devotee does, is approved
To such is Nanak, servant of God, a sacrifice. (4) (11.22)

Sinchehi darabu dehi dukhu logu

The wealth that thou dost hoard, causing affliction to people,
To thee shall not be any good; others shall put it to use;
In blind pride dost thou act :
In the hearafter in Yama's thongs shalt thou be bound. (1)
Thoughtless man ! discard envy of others.
In this world shalt thou live for a night[2] only.
Thou who art maya-intoxicated, inevitably must depart :
To a dream art thou attached. (I-Pause)

---

1. Dām= a small copper coin, a farthing.
2. Used metaphorically for life's brief space.

In childhood art thou a blind infant.
In fullness of youth in foul[1] deeds art thou involved. P. 890
In the third stage dost hoard wealth,
When grown old , in regrets must thou desert it all. (2)
After a long time hast thou obtained the Human incarnation, hard to get,
Deprived of the Name to dust is it turned.
Worse it is than beast's, goblin's and thoughtless creature's,
In not realizing Him who fashioned it. (3)
Creator, Lord, cherisher of the earth,
Thou who art compassionate to the humble, ever gracious,
To my supplication listen !
You alone from bonds grant freedom.
In your grace grant union to Nanak, in the world that is blind. (4) (12.23)

Kari sanjogu banāī kāchhi

By great devices[2] is the structure of the body made.
Man like a child to it is attached.
Man cherishes and ever embellishes it,
Yet at the end must it depart. (1)
Man ! all other than the Name is false.
Those attached to other than the Lord,
all by Maya are deluded. (I-Pause)
By bathing at holy spots is not washed off impurity;
Ritual deeds all are tricks of egoism.
By pleasing the world is liberation not attained.
Those without the Name lamenting shall depart. (2)
Without the Name Divine is not shattered the veil of illusion.
This after study of Shastras and Simritis is learnt.
Such alone contemplate the Name as by Him are so inspired.
These all their objectives attain and are joy-absorbed. (3)
Divine Saviour ! save us in your will.
All joys in Thy hand lie.
Lord ! as Thou dost prompt, we engage ourselves.
Saith Nanak : To the Lord is known secret of the inner self (4) (13.24)

---

1. Foul smelling.
2. Implies ingenious planning.

Jo kichhu karai soī sukhu jānā

In all He does have we known our happiness to lie.
The thoughtless mind in company of the holy faith has acquired.
From shaking is it stopped, and found poise;
Putting faith in truth, in the holy Eternal absorbed. (1)
Gone are suffering and maladies.
By entering company of the supremely holy[1] to the Lord's command have we become obedient. (I-Pause)
The mind now is holiest of all, purified completely.
All that the Lord does, appears good.
Wherever He keeps us, is spot of liberation.[2]
Whatever utterance He inspires, is the holy Name. (2) Wherever the holy place their feet, is equivalent to sixty-eight bathing-spots.
Wherever the Name is uttered, is Paradise.
In having sight of the holy lie all joys.
In their company is ever chanted laudation of the Lord. (3)
In each being[3] is He manifest—
The gracious Being, of visible glory.
Opened is the door, fled far are doubts.
As Nanak the Master, perfectly-endowed
has contacted. (4) (14.25)

Koti jāp tāp bisrām

As by guidance of the Preceptor the Name in the heart is lodged, Merit of performance of millions of holy recitations and austerities in it are lodged.
To it come miraculous powers, realization, perfection, godly realization,
And joy of endless[4] delectation of objects of beauty. (I)
Beyond expression is the greatness and value of the Name Divine. (I-Pause)
Any in whose heart is lodged the Name Divine
Is a true hero, poised and of perfect wisdom; P. 891
In perfect poise absorbed, deep and profound,
Ever liberated, successful everlastingly. (2)

1. Refers to the Guru.
2. Implies Baikunth (Paradise).
3. Vessel.
4. Innumerable.

Any in whose mind is lodged the Name
With all joys and bliss is endowed, free from maladies;
Viewing all existence equably, perfectly emancipated,
From transmigration liberated, free from shaking. (3)
As by the Master's guidance is contemplated the Lord, Compassionate to the humble is all anxiety gone.
The Master on Nanak blessing of the Name has conferred,
And exhorted him to serve the holy, in their tasks to engage. (4) (15.26)

Bīj mantru Hari kīrtanu gāo

Chant the basic spell of Divine laudation.
Whereby in the here after the shelterless shelter will obtain.
Touch the feet of the master, perfectly-endowed Whereby the self, asleep for multiple births may get awakened. (1)
As is chanted name of the Lord,
By the Master's grace in the heart is it lodged,
And is the ocean of existence crossed. (I-Pause)
My mind ! on the eternal treasure of the Name meditate.
Thus shall Maya-veils be lifted.
Quaff the Master's Word, delectable amrita,
Whereby may thy mind be purified. (2)
After great search and study came this conclusion :
Without devotion to the Lord no liberation can come.
As is the Lord in holy company contemplated in devotion,
Are mind and body in Divine love dyed. (3)
Clever cogitation and devices discard;
Without devotion to the Name is no resting-place found.
As has the Lord shown compassion,
Nanak in Him has found his prop. (4) (16.27)

Sant kai sangi Rāma-rang kel

In company of the holy comes disporting in joy in God,
And in the hereafter is Yama's encountering avoided.
Shattered is egoistic thinking,
And foul understanding completely destroyed. (1)
Brahmin, chant laudation of the Name Divine.
No good in ritual acts lies—
In weal reach thy true home.[1] (I-Pause)

1. Imples resting in God.

The treasure of Divine laudation have we found,
And are all our objectives fulfilled.
Gone is suffering and joy entered our home[1] :
By grace of the holy is lotus of the heart abloom. (2)
Anyone that in charity jewel of the Name has obtained,
To him have come all treasures.[2]
By perfection of realization has content come :
Why should such a one wander about begging[3] ? (3)
By listening to Divine discourse comes purity;
By uttering it is found the supreme state.
Whoever has lodged it in heart, is approved of God.
Saith Nanak : Brother ! such are the exalted ones. (4) (17.28)

Gahu kari pakrī na āyee hāthi

Firmly was Maya[4] grasped, yet was it not gripped, Despite attachment to it, man has it not accompanied.
Saith Nanak :When discarded, has it fallen at our feet. (1)
Listen to the pure view of the holy :
Without devotion to the Name Divine comes not liberation;
By contact with the Master, perfectly-endowed, is man saved. (1-Pause)
When someone gives Maya honour and regard, P. 892
Is she full of self-esteem;
When someone's mind from her is turned away,
Then she as a maid-servant serves him. (2)
To begin with does she wear a pleasing aspect, later deceives.
In no single spot has she stable stay.
Numerous universes has she deluded;
But God's devotees to pieces have torn her. (3)
Whoever seeks her, unsatisfied remains.
One attached to her, nothing attains.
Whoever discarding her, into holy company goes,
Saith Nanak. liberation finds. (4) (18.29)

Ātam-Rāmu sarab mehn pekhu

The Lord immanent in all thou behold.
The Sole Lord fully pervades all.

1. (The self or mind).
2. Used symbolically.
3. Implies wandering after false creeds.
4. Implies matter as well as wealth here.

This valuable jewel know in thy heart to lie.
Thy own substance shouldst thou realize. (1)
By grace of the holy quaff amrita.
By great good fortune is this attained—
What knows the tongue of its taste ? (I-Pause)
Why is one listening to eighteen Puranas and the Vedas still deaf ?
With million blazes of light is he still in darkness.
Like an animal to fodder is he attached :
Whomsoever illumination the Lord does not grant.
By what device realization may attain ? (2)
The Lord all-knowing knows all.
Completely[1] is He with His devotees.
In bloom of heart the Lord's praise they sing.
Saith Nanak : Yama approaches not such. (3) (19.30)

Dīno Nāmu kīyo pavitu

By granting devotion to the Name has He made us pure.
Divine wealth is our capital; For those without hope is it bringer of wealth.
By attaching ourselves to service to the Lord
are our bonds snapped.
In devotion to the Lord have we sung Diving laudation. (1)
Sounded is unstruck music;
As God's devotees, cherished by the holy Preceptor
In great joy sing Divine laudation. (I-Pause)
Now is primal good fortune made fruitful;
And awakened is the self asleep for multiple births.
In holy company is ended decline,
And body and mind in joy in God is dyed. (2)
Without our service and endeavour[2]
Has the compassionate Divine saviour saved us
In His grace has the Lord shown compassion,
And me, sinking in suffering has He extricated. (3)
Listening to Divine laudation is may heart yearing-filled,
Day and night Divine laudation to sing.
By constantly singing Divine laudation the Supreme state have we attained.
By the Master's grace is Nanak in the Lord absorbed. (4) (20.31)

---

1. In warp and woof.
2. (This is an expression of grace).

Kaudī badalai tiyāgai ratanu

Man for a cowrie-shell a jewel discards.[1]
What he has to leave, he endeavours after;
What is worthless He garners.
Maya-deluded, a crooked path he takes. (1)
Unfortunate man, no shame has thou :
In thy mind hast thou not contemplated
The Divine Ocean of bliss, the Lord perfection incarnate. (I-Pause)
Bitter-tasting to him is amrita, sweet is Poison—
Such is the reprobate's[2] state that with our eyes we have beheld.
To falsehood, deceit and pride is he attached.
Listening to the Name is to him like scorpion's sting. (2) P. 893
For wealth is he ever anxiety-ridden—
The egoist never Divine laudation utters.
Stupid man ! he forms not attachment
To the Lord above fear, formless, benevolent. (3)
Lord ! eternal King over all kings;
Above desire, supreme monarch !
Man involved in attachment, in bonds of delusion entangled,
Saith Nanak, by Thy grace alone liberation finds. (4) (21.32)

Rayṇi dinasu japou Hair-Nāum

Night and day the Name Divine contemplate.
Thereby at the Divine Portal in the hereafter shall you obtain a place.
Ever shall you be joy-filled, grief-stricken never.
Never shall malady of egoism grip you. (1) Devotees of God ! seek out those enlightened on the Lord, the Supreme Being.
In ecstasy of wonder would man thus fall—
By contemplation of the Lord does man attain liberation. (I-Pause)
Deeply consider[3] all thinking :
Nothing other than devotion to the Name, liberation can grant.
No devices shall accompany man—
By devotion to the Lord is crossed the ocean of existence. (2)

1. (Cowrie-shell and jewel used symbolically).
2. Sakta.
3. Lit. Calculate.

By washing the body goes not impurity of mind.
Thus grip egoism and deceits of duality.
Whoever takes medicine of Divine devotion.
Are all his maladies cured. (3)
Supreme Being compassionate, show grace.
Lord ! from my mind be away never.
May I turn dust of feet of Thy servant—
Lord ! fulfil this desire of Nanak. (4) (22.33)

Teri sarani pūrei Gurudev

Divine Master, perfection incarnate,
With Thee we seek shelter.
None other than Thee is our succourer.
Thou art almighty Supreme Being, perfection incarnate.
Such alone on Thee meditate as have perfect good fortune.[1] (1)
Lord ! conferrer of liberation[2] is Thy Name.
Thy sole shelter has my mind grasped—
No shelter other than Thee is for me. (I-Pause)
In uttering Thy Name find I life,
Whereby in the hereafter at the Portal Divine
A place I may find;
My suffering and darkness from my mind be lifted;
Shattered be foul thinking and the self in the Name Divine be absorbed. (2)
In the Divine lotus feet is my love fixed,
Which is the tradition of purity taught by the Master,
perfectly endowed.
Fled is fear; the Lord above fear in the mind is lodged.
The tongue the ambrosial Name ever utters. (3)
Snapped are nooses of millions of births;
Attained is gain and profit of the Name Eternal.
In this inexhaustible treasure occurs no decrease.
Saith Nanak : At the Divine Portal devotees in splendour shine. (4) (23 34)

Ratan jawehar Nām

The Name is diamonds and jewels,
Source of purity, content, enlightenment;

---

1. God fortune made by deeds (Karmas) of previous births is implied.
2. Swimming across.

Treasure of bliss, poise and compassion—
To God's devotees consigned. (1)
This treasure of Lord.
As expended, no decrease knows;
Is without end, of unknowable extent. (1-Pause)
Singing Divine laudation is a gem invaluable,
Source of bliss, store of merit,
Capital of the equable untruck Word—
With God's devotees lies its key. (2)
These in absorption in the cosmic void rest; P. 894
In the Supreme Being solely their abode.
With His devotee the Lord holds dialogue.
In that state occurs neither joy nor sorrow,
nor birth or death. (3)
Whoever by Divine grace is this granted,
In holy congregation the Divine wealth receives.
Supreme Being compassionate ! such is Nanak's supplication :
May devotion to the Lord ever be my doing,
the Lord be my substance. (4) (24.35)

Mahimā na jāneh Bed

Vedas know not of the Lord's glory ;
Nor does Brahma[1] His mystery realize.
Incarnations His extent know not—
The Lord is supreme, transcendent, limitless. (1)
His state He Himself alone knows—
Others only on hearsay state it. (1-Pause)
Shiva knows not His secret.
Gods to exhaustion have sought after it.
Goddesses His mystery have not realized.
Supreme over all is the transcendent Diving Being,
Unknowable. (2)
At His pleasure He disports.
Himself makes separation, Himself union[2] grants.
Some are straying, some to devotion attached—
Of His doing Himself granting realization. (3)
Listen to the true narrative[3] of the holy,
Who utter what with their eyes they have beheld.

1. The first in the Hindu trinity.
2. (Separation and union of the self with the Absolute are implied).
3. Also interpreted as 'teaching'.

Nanak's Lord His own master is,
Above touch of good and evil. (4) (25.36)

Kichhahū kāju na kīyo jāni

Nothing with wisdom have we done;
Without awareness, understanding and realization are we— Unendowed with repeating of holy texts, austerity, nobility of conduct or religious observance.
I know not anything of sacred actions.[1] (1)
Beloved Lord, Divine Master !
Other than Thee none our cherisher is :
Even though full of errors, still are we Thine. (I-Pause)
Neither have we power to effect miracles,
nor light of realization,
In village of evil passions and maladies abiding.
Sole Doer of all, Lord!
My mind in Thee finds its prop. (2)
Listening to this find I life and poise,
That Thy Name is annuller of suffering.
Thou art Provider of endless number of beings.
Such alone have Thy realization as by Thee so guided. (3)
All creation in Thee its hope reposes.
All to the Lord, repository of merit make supplication.
Nanak, Thy servant, to Thee is a sacrifice.
The Lord beyond limit, ever is gracious. (4) (26.37)

Rākhanhār dayāl

Gracious Divine saviour !
Within an instant of thought millions of sojourns into existence dost Thou annul.
All creation devotedly to Thee makes supplication ;
With the Lord, by the Master's teaching[2]
received comes union. (1)
The Lord is bestower of boons on creation.
The Lord, perfection incarnate, in each being[3]
is pervasive. (I-Pause)
As the mind His shelter has taken,
From bonds is it freed.

1. Ritual actions are implied.
2. Mant=Mantra (spell).
3. Vessel.

By contemplating the Supreme Bliss[1] incarnate from the heart,
Has joy entered our heart. (2)
The Lord's shelter is the saviour.
Image of eternal life is devotion to the Lord's feet. P. 895
Of His devotees' life is He the prop—
Higher than the highest, beyond extent. (3)
Pure is the understanding whereby is the Lord contemplated :
This in His grace He grants to whomsoever He pleases.
In the Name Divine lies joy, poise and bliss.
Nanak by union with the Master, the Name has repeated. (4) (27.38)

Sagal siyānap chhādi

All clever devices discard.
Making thyself His slave serve the Lord.
Whoever effaces completely his ego,
His heart's desire obtains. (1)
To the Master be devotedly attentive :
Then shall thy hopes and desires be fulfilled,
And all treasures from the Master shalt thou obtain. (I-Pause)
Recognize not any other.
The holy Preceptor is image of the immaculate Lord.
Know him not to be human :
Through humility shall come honour from Him. (2)
Grasp shelter with the Master, image of the Divine Being.
All other Manner of hope discard.
Beg for treasure of the Name Divine;
Then at the Divine portal shalt obtain honour. (3)
Repeat spell[2] of the Master's teaching[3]—
This alone is essence of devotion.
As has the holy preceptor shown grace
Has Nanak, servant of God, attained bliss. (4) (28.39)

Hovai soī bhal mānu

Know all that happens to be good.
Thy pride discard.
Day and night sing Divine laudation—
This is life's perfect achievement. (1)

---

1. A periphrastic expression of idea of the Divine Being.
2. Mant, Mantra.
3. Word.

By contemplating the Lord through guidance of the holy[1] attain bliss.
All clever devices and suppleness of thinking discard—
The holy spell[2] repeat. (I-Pause)
Within thy self repose hope solely in the Lord.
Repeat the Lord's Name immaculate.
At the Master's feet make obeisance,
That the ocean of existence thou cross. (2)
To the Divine Bestower's boons
No limit or extent may be fixed.
He in whose abode lie all treasures
Is the ultimate saviour. (3)
Nanak treasure of the immaculate Name has obtained.
Whoever utters it, liberation attains.
Saith Nanak : This by grace is obtained. (4) (29.40)

Dulabh deh sawāri

Enoble thy human birth, hard to attain,
That at the Divine Portal be thou not disappointed.
Thereby in this world and the next shalt thou be exalted,
And at the end will this obtain thee liberation. (1)
Sing the Lord's laudation.
On the wondrous Divine Being meditate,
That in this world and the next bliss thou shouldst attain. (I-Pause)
In all states[3] the Lord contemplate.
Thereby shall all thy affliction be annulled.[4]
All foes shall turn friends,
And thy heart be purified. (2)
This of all actions is the noblest;
The holiest among creeds.
By contemplating the Lord shalt thou be saved,
And burdens of multiple births be cast off. (3)
Fulfilled shall thy hopes be,
And Yama's noose be snapped.
To the Master's teaching give ear :
Thus, saith Nanak, comes absorption in serene joy. (4) (30.41)

---

1. Implies the Guru.
2. Implies the Guru's teaching.
3. Rising and while sitting.
4. Shattered.

Jis kī tis kī kari mānu

Acknowledge Him whose is the substance, P. 896
And thy pride cast off.
Whomsoever Thou[1] dost cherish, all are for him.
In devoted supplication to Him lies joy everlasting. (1)
Ignorant man ! why wander about in doubt ?
Nothing other than the Name is any good—
Many through acquisitiveness[2] into regrets fall. (I-Pause)
To all that the Lord does, submit.
Without such submission is the body into the dust mingled.
To find His will sweet,
Rare spirits by the Master's grace are inspired. (2)
He that is above need, unknowable —
Him, my self ! day and night contemplate.
Shattered are sufferings of any whose mind He enters—
In this world and the next will thus thy face be radiant. (3)
Many[3] by chanting His praise are saved—
Beyond count and estimate of value they lie.
Sinking iron in company of the holy is made to swim.
This by His special grace is granted. (4) (31.42)

Mana māhen jāpi Bhagavantu

With your heart's devotion contemplate the Lord—
This spell[4] the Master, perfectly-endowed has taught.
Thus shall be effaced all fear and terror,[5]
And all hopes fulfilled. (1)
Fruitful is service to the Divine Master.
Of the Lord unknowable, of mystery impenetrable,
Inexpressible is the value. (I-Pause)
Himself is He Almighty.
My Self ! Him ever contemplate ;
Ever serve Him.
Friend ! thus shalt thou attain truth and joy in poise. (2)
Of immense worth[6] is the Lord.
In an instant making and unmaking.

1. God is herein apostrophized.
2. Crying 'mine, mine'.
3. Who and who ?
4. Mant=Mantra (holy spell).
5. Fear of Yama's chastizement is implied.
6. lit. Of Immense weight.

None other than He is real :
He is His servant's protector. (3)
Lord ! in your grace to my prayer lend ear;
To Thy servant grant Thy sight.
May Nanak continue repeating the text,[1]
Whose glory is highest above all. (4) (32.43)

Birthā bharvāsā lok

Worthless is placing reliance on the world.
Lord ! Thy Shelter alone I seek.
All other hope have I discarded,
As spontaneously[2] the Lord, store of merit I have encountered. (1)
My self ! on the Sole Name Divine meditate.
My self ! sing Divine laudation, that thy objectives be fulfilled. (I-Pause)
Solely almighty are you.
With the Lord's lotus feet I seek shelter.
With devotion of heart and body on the Lord have I meditated.
Thereby is manifested the Lord, incarnation of bliss. (2)
Ever His shelter I seek,
Who of all beings is creator.
Treasures in contemplation of the Lord lie,
Who is the saviour ultimately. (3)
Be you dust of feet of all.
Efface egoism : thus shall you find union.
Ever on the Name meditate.
Saith Nanak : Thereby are all objectives fulfilled. (4) (33.44)

Kāran karan karīm

Almighty, gracious,
Cherisher of the universe, compassionate;
Allah inaccessible, of unknown extent;
His own Master, beyond computation. (1)
To the Supreme Being, Lord of felicity,
Lord of the universe, P. 897

1. Jāp=a text prescribed or selected for constant repetition and contemplation.
2. Without thought.

Note : In this hymn occur a number of attributive names of God, some of which are drawn from the Muslim tradition, indicative of the holy Guru's universal goodwill. This attitude is given definitive expression in the last line where Allah (Muslim name of God) and Par-Brahm (the transcendent Supreme Being in the Hindu tradition) are declared identical.

The Creator all-pervasive.
I make obeisance.[1] (I-Pause)
Divine[2] Lord of the universe, life of the world,
Shatterer of fear,
Controller of senses, Lord of the universe,
Ever-perfect, donor of liberation,
In my heart I supplicate. (2)
Thou the sole benign Lord,
Inspirer of the holy.[3]
He the ruler of the heart, beyond scriptures,[4]
Makes call to the seeker. (3)
Lord puissant[5] and compassionate,
All-pervasive, prop of all hearts;
Immanent in all, iu all spots residing.
Thy marvellous play beyond comprehension. (4)
Lord-Creator ! show Thy grace and mercy;
Grant gift of devotion and obedience to Thee.
Saith Nanak : The Master my illusion has shattered.
Identieal are Allah and Par-Brahm.[6] (5) (34.45)

Koti janam kei binasei pāp

Shattered are sins of millions of births.
By contemplation of the Lord no affliction touches.
As in the mind are lodged the Master's lotus feet,
From the self are fled mighty evils. (1)
Thou creature of God ! sing the Lord's praise,
The holy discourse beyond expression,
Whose perfection brings merging of the self's light into the Divine Light. (I-Pause)
Gone is all thirst and hunger,[7]
As by grace of the holy is the Eternal contemplated.
Night and day to serve the Lord
Is the mark of union with Him. (2)

1. Onamo from the Sanskrit.
2. Madho is thus rendered in emphasis. It is one of the periphrastic name of Vishnu, symbolizing the Supreme Being.
3. Here three Islamic orders of holy men (Pir, Paighanbar, Sheikh) are mentioned.
4. Koran, Kateb = (Kitab) Kitāb (book) too in the theological context implies and Koran.
5. Narhari = the Man-Lion incarnation of Vishnu.
6. (These terms explicated in the opening note).
7. Used symbolically for desire.

As is the Lord grown gracious,
Effaced are all our entanglements.
By sight of the Master have we entered bliss.
Fruitful is our former, primal good fortune,[1]
As by our tongue ever the Lord's praise we chant. (3)
The Lord's devotees ever are approved of Him;
On their forehead the holy bear mark of His grace.
Should anyone attain dust of feet of the holy,
Saith Nanak, the Supreme state[2] would he enter. (4) (35.46)

Dashan kau jāīyai kurbānu

To sight of the Master may I be sacrifice.
In thy heart on the Master's lotus feet meditate.
Dust of feet of the holy to your forehead apply—
Thereby shall vanish impurity of foul thinking of multiple births : (1)
The holy, by whose contact is effaced pride,
The Supreme Being's vision becomes manifest,
And the Lord's perfection of grace is attained. (I-Pause)
To exalt the Master is to contemplate the Name Divine.
By devotion to the Master sing ever Divne laudation.
By the absorption inspired by the Master, know the Lord to be near.
In the Master's teaching your full faith repose.[3] (2)
By absorbing the Master's teaching joy and suffering become alike :
Never do then afflict thirst and hunger.
The mind enters content, and by the Master's teaching feels fulfilled.
By contemplation of the Lord are all blemishes[4] covered. (3)
The Master is image of the Lord, Master of the universe.
The Master is bestowers of bliss, compassionate, liberator.
Whoever has his heart to the Master's feet attached, Saith Nanak, servant of God, perfect is his good fortune. (4) (36.47)

Kisu bharvāsai bichreh bhavan

By whose reliance dost thou move about in this abode ? P. 898
Forgetful, thoughtless man ! who is thy helper ?

1. Karma (action) implying good fortune made by good actions of pervious births.
2. Implies liberation.
3. Believe to be true.
4. Curtain, screen (implies blemishes that are sought to be concealed).

God who is thy helper, His truth[1] thou dost not realize.
The five robbers[2] dost thou take to be thy friends. (1)
Friend ! serve the house whereby thou mayst be saved.
Day and night Divine laudation contemplate;
To holy congregation attach thy heart's love. (I-Pause)
Thy life in pride and disputation is passed.
With pleasures of passions art thou never satiated.
In wandering[3] hast thou undergone terrible suffering.
Maya that is impassable hast thou found hard to cross. (2)
In worthless tasks art thou involved.
Know, thou shalt consume only what thou sowest.
No saviour is there, other than God.
By His grace alone mayst thou be saved. (3)
Lord ! purifier of the fallen is your[4] Name.
This pray grant in charity to your servant.
In your grace Lord, grant me the exalted state.[5]
Nanak Thy shelter has grasped. (4) (37.48)

Ih lokei sukhu pāiyā

In this world have I found joy,
And no encounter with the celestial judge[6] has occurred.
Exalted is the Divine portal :
Thereafter one falls not again into the womb.[7] (1)
In their grace the Name Divine have they imparted—
By fortunate conjunction[8] primally made has this union come about. (I-Pause)
My heart to the Master's feet is attached.
Blessed is this auspicious conjunction.
Dust of feet of the holy my forehead has touched;
Thereby have all my sins and suffering vanished. (2)
By devoted service to the holy
Does man purity of heart acquire.
Sight of God's servant, bringer of blessings have I beheld,
And acquired the Name Divine, within each heing[9] lodged. (3)

1. State.
2. The five sources of evil are implied.
3. Transmigration is implied.
4. Thy.
5. Liberation is implied.
6. Dharmaraja.
7. That is, is rid of transmigration.
8. Refers to astrological conjunction of auspicious stars.
9. Vessel.

Effaced are all torments and afflictions,
As in the Lord from whom we emanated, are we absorbed.
Manifested is the Lord of the universe, of unique merit.
Saith Nanak : He is the Lord perfection incarnate, donor of liberation. (4) (38.49)

Gaū kau chārei sārdūlu

The lion of pride now takes the kine of senses to pasture;
A cowrie-shell[1] at a million is evaluated.
The goat of true understanding by elephant of the gross mind is cherished :
Should the Lord cast a glance of grace. (1)
Beloved Lord, treasure of grace !
Beyond expressing by me are Thy innumerable[2] merits. (I-Pause)
The cat of desire now touches not the flesh of senses, though visible;
The terrible butcher wrath now has cast off the knife,
The Lord Creator in our heart is settled :
Thus is snapped snare of fish of the self. (2)
Shrivelled wood of the self now is turned green and red in bloom;
High sandy mounds with lotus of unique quality have blossomed forth;
The holy Preceptor, Divinely-inspired, our fire has assuaged,
And this servant in his service engaged. (3)
The Lord saves even the ungrateful,
And is ever gracious.
Ever to the holy is He aidant.
Nanak with His lotus feet has taken shelter. (4) (39.50)

Panch singh rākhei Prabhi māri

Teh Lord the five tigers of evil passions has destroyed; P. 899
The ten she-wolves of senses has he eliminated.
Whirlpool of the three qualities is stilled.
In holy company are ended whirlings in transmigration. (1)
In contemplation of the Lord find I life.
The eternally holy Lord, bestower of liberation,
In His grace His servant has saved. (I-Pause)
Mountains of sins like straw are burnt away,

Note : In this hymn some images expressive of spiritual states are employed.

1. Refers to the self in the unregenerate state.
2. Many.

As uttering the Name at the Lord's feet we have worshipped.
The Lord, embodiment of joy in all spots is manifest.
By absorption in loving devotion is experienced joy. (2)
The ocean of existence is crossed as a calf's hoof-print;
No sorrow of suffering is now felt.
The ocean of the Lord in the vessel of the self is contained :
Nothing for the Creator, is impossible.[1] (3)
As from Thee am I alienated, into the nether regions feel I fallen.
By Thy glance of grace therefrom extricated.
Doing evil and good lies not in our power.
Nanak with great delectation Divine laudation sings. (4) (40.51)

Nā tanu terā na manu tohe

Neither is Thy body thine, nor thy mind :
By Maya-attachment in illusion art thou caught.
Man with her disports as lamb with the dam sheep;
All unknown the snare of death entangles and drags him. (1)
My self ! with lotus of the Divine feet take shelter.
Repeat the Name Divine, the companion and succourer;
Thus by the Master's guidance shalt thou attain wealth of truth. (I-Pause)
Deeds imperfectly-planned now are completed.
Those intoxicated with lust and wrath ever into pining are caught.
Man for his own self does evil—
Know, thoughtless one, not a title with thee shall go. (2)
Man practising fraud, of Many tricks is aware;
For petty gains in exhausting labour engages.[2]
He who has given all this, he totally forgets.
By involvement in false greed, suffering goes not. (3)
By grace of the Supreme Being
Does the mind turn dust of feet of the holy.
One by the Divine lotus hand attached by God to Himself,[3]
Saith Nanak, in eternal Truth is absorbed. (4) (41.52)

Rājā Rāma kī Sharṇāe

With the Divine Monarch have we taken shelter.
While singing Divine praise are we made free from fear;
In holy congregation is removed our suffering. (I-Pause)

1. Strange, unusual.
2. Throws dust over his head.
3. To His lappet.

In the mind of whomsoever the Lord abides,
Sees never the impassable ocean of existence.
By repeating with tongue the Name Divine
Are all objectives fulfilled. (1)
Whoever by the Master is granted protection,
Into anxiety need not fall.
Gone is his obligation to be born and to die;
To the Master perfectly-endowed am I a sacrifice. (2)
By contact with the Master, Divinely-inspired am I in bliss—
His sight comes to whomsoever grace he shows.
To whosover the Supreme Being grace shows,
In holy company the ocean of existence crosses. (3)
Beloved saints of God ! quaff amrita—
At the eternal court shall your faces be radiant.
Such by discarding evils experience bliss.
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the Lord
the ocean of existence they cross, (4) (42.53)

Īndhan te baisantaru bhāgai P. 900

Fire from fuel flees;
Water surrounding earth from ten directions yet leaves it alone.
Of the Divine tree the roots are above; the head[1] beneath,
In the individual being[2] is visible the Divine ocean : (1)
Such is the Lord's might.
For an instant is he not put out of His devotee's mind—
My self ! day and night contemplate Him. (I-Pause)
First was milk in the mother's breast[3] thick as butter,
Then it became thin milk
The infant that lay in impurity of the womb,
Has become pure as soap.[4]
The self above fear is in fear of terrors of the world.
Maya that is unreal, draws to itself the self that is real. (2)
What is truly existent[5] is invisible, what is unreal is visible,
All these are the Lord's marvels.
Delusive Maya deludes the self that is above guile.

Note : In this hymn spiritual truths are expressed in the form of a riddle.
1. Implies branches, i.e. creation.
2. Vessel.
3. Also rendered as : Impurity of mother's milk has made the Infant life pure as soap.
4. Sabun (Soap, Ar.) is used elsewhere also in Gurubani.
5. That is, the self.

The self, destitute of the Name in worldliness is again and again involved. (3)
In holy company discourse of the Lord.
Simiritis, Shastras, Vedas and Puranas declare, Saith Nanak : Whoever discourses of the Supreme Being, Alone liberation attains. (4) (43.54)

Jo tisu bhāvai so thīyā

All happens as He wills.
Ever seek we the Lord's shelter; no other shelter is there than the Lord. (I-Pause)
Progeny, wife, wealth—nothing of these lasts with man
Man swallowing poisonous Maya-drug is deluded;
At the end departs the world, leaving wealth and mansion behind. (1)
By much slander of others falls he in great ignominy.
And by his actions into births is involved.
Deeds of former lives leave him not :
Thereby terrible Yama's minions grip him. (2)
Falsehood he utters, but acts contrarily.
His thirst unquenched, again and again he dies.[1]
By slandering the holy arises in him an incurabe malady;
His body shattered by terrible death. (3)
He by His grace has created and cherished the holy,
Who are the true victors.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : The Supreme Lord in His grace,
To His bosom clasping, has cherished them. (4) (44.55)

Aisā pūrā Gurudeo Sahāī

The Divine Master, perfection incarnate, is a helper, Whose contemplation goes waste never. (I-Pause)
From His sight comes bliss;
Dust of His feet Yama's snare snaps.
His lotus feet in my heart are lodged :
Thereby are all my objectives fulfilled. (1)
Whomsoever the Lord cherishes,
Though a destitute, by Him is owned up.
Saviour of the fallen, treasure of grace—
Ever to Him am I a sacrifice. (2)

1. Haiya appears to be a transfiguration of hatah (Skt. killed). Another rendering of the last part of the line—'This is great shame', if Haiya is interpreted as 'shame' (Ar.).

To whomsoever the holy spell[1] He grants,
Evil courses discards, his pride annulled.
In holy congregation on the sole Lord meditate :
Shattered are sins by devotion to the holy Name. (3)
The Divine Master is immanent in all—
Repository of Merit, in each being[2] pervasive.
Lord ! I cherish fervent hope Thy sight to have.
Nanak ever this holy supplication contemplates. (4) (45.56)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 901

Duos

Score 2

In the name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gāwuh Rāma ke guṇa gīt

Sing ever lays of Divine laudation.
Friend ! By utterance of the Name is attained the Supreme Bliss,
And transmigration annuled. (I-Pause)
By chanting Divine laudation comes illumination,
And lodgement at the Divine lotus feet found. (1)
In holy congregation comes liberation.
Saith Nanak : Thereby does the self cross the ocean of existence. (2) (1.57)

Guru pūrā merā Guru pūrā

Perfectly-endowed is the Master.
By contemplation of the Name Divine comes everlasting joy,
And malady of falsehood entirely annulled. (I-Pause)
Make devoted supplication to the soul eternal Lord,
By seeking whose shelter is attained joy everlasting. (1)
With hunger for the Name Divine comes joyful sleep.
By contemplation of the Lord is all suffering annulled. (2)
Brothers ! find you joy in poise,
As the Master, perfectly-endowed all our anxiety has effaced. (3)
Day and night[3] the Divine text[4] repeat.
Saith Nanak : Himself our protector has He become. (4) (2.58)

---

1. Mant = Mantra, refers to the holy Word.
2. Vessel.
3. All eight pahars.
4. Japa.

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In recurring rhythm (Partāl)
SCORE 3
In the name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nar-narah namaskāram

To the Supreme among mighty Beings[1] I make obeisance—
Immanent in water, on land, over the earth and sky,
The Sole Supreme Being. (I-Pause)
To Him I bow takes away life, who cherishes, and again and again raises creation,
Who has no abode nor takes sustenance. (1)
Profound, supremely poised, of the Name precious as jewels,
Supremely lofty, of unknowable extent;
Disporting ever, of invaluable merit—
To Him is Nanak a sacrifice. (2) (1.59)

Rūp rang sugandh bhog tiyāgi chalei Māyā chhalei Kanik Kaminī

Beings deluded by gold and woman,
After enjoyment of beauty, the world's colourful variety and fragrant pleasurers, ultimately depart. (I-Pause)
On viewing stores of wealth running into thousands of millions and even a hundred fold that[2]
Is man's mind confidence-filled.
Yet these go not with him. (1)
In Progeny, wife, brothers, friends is man involved,
Caught in delusion— yet are all these like tree—shadows.[3] Saith Nanak : In shelther of the Divine lotus feet and reservance for the holy.
Lies joy. (2) (2.60)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
Triptychs
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Re mana oti lehu Hari-Nāmā

My self with the Name Divine take shelter,
By whose contemplation foul thinking flees,

1. Lit. Supreme male among the males.
2. Here are mentioned Arb, a thousands million and kharb, a hundred arb.
3. That is evanescent.

And the self the state of liberation[1] attains. (I-Pause)
Know such a person to be fortunate as Divine laudation chants.
Such a one shedding sins of multiple birth, to heaven departs. (1) P. 902
At the last moment did Ajamal[2] think of the Divine Lord :
Thereby the state sought by supreme Yogis
in a moment he attained. (2)
The elephant[3] no merit had nor learning;
What ritual piety did he perform ?
Saith Nanak : Behold the Lord's law of grace[4]—
The gift of fearlessness[5] was to him granted. (3) (1)

Sādho kaun jugati abi kījai

Holy friends ! what device should now be employed, Whereby may foul thinking flee, and the mind to devotion to the Lord be attuned ? (I-Pause)
In Maya is the mind entangled, acquiring not enlightenment.
What is that Name by whose contemplation
the world the state of release attains ? (1)
As the holy became gracious, this secret they imparted :
One singing Divine laudation may be reckoned to perform all acts of piety. (2)
Whoever even for an instant the Name Divine puissant[6] in heart lodges,
Saith Nanak : his fear of Yama effaced,
His life ennobled, (3) (2)

Prānī Nārāyan sudhi leh

Thou creature of God ! contemplate the Lord.
Each instant night and day is thy time of life running out,
And thy life going waste. (I-Pause)
Thy youth in evil courses hast thou wasted, thy childhood in ignorance,
Now in old age still art thou thoughtless—
In what foul thinking art thou involved ? (1)

---

1. Nirbana (Nirvana).
2. A Brahmin of Kannauj, a sinner who 'by uttering 'Narayan' (God) at the last moment, which was his son's name, got liberation.
3. The elephant released from the grip of the crab on supplication to the Lord, is a well-known Puranic story.
4. Bird (Ar, Wird).
5. Freedom from fear of Yama's retribution is implied.
6. Nara (Male): implied meaning, mighty, puissant.

Why hast thou put out of mind
The Lord who on thee the human incarnation has bestowed ?
For an instant hast thou not sung of Him,
By whose remembrance to man comes liberation. (2)
Why be intoxicated with wealth ?
This no one shall accompany.
Nanak exhorts thee to contemplate the Lord, fulfilled of desires[1]
Who at the last thy helper shall be. (3) (3.81)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
In the name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Soī chandu charheh se tārei soī dinīyaru tapat rahai

The same moon rises now, the same stars appear,
the same sun blazes;
The self-same earth is now, the same breeze blowing :
The effect of Kali-Yuga must be on minds:
Not on places. (1)
Eliminate desire in life.
Know this to be the sign of Kali-Yuga,
That the aggressor therein finds approval. (I-Pause)
Kali Yuga is not heard of as having descended upon any land,
Nor as sitting near a sacred bathing-spot.
Nor is it heard of as being close to someone dispensing charity,
Or settled in a house that it has built. (2)
Signs of Kali Yuga are, that anyone resolving to do good declines, Austerities are not properly performed,
And any contemplating the Name Divine gets a bad Name. (3)
Anyone in a position of authority[3] meets dishonour—
Subordinates of him have no fear.
As the chief is put in chains, at the hands of his servants is he ruined.[4] (4)
Utter Divine laudation now that Kali-Yuga has arrived. P. 903 Piety[5] appropriate to the other three Yugas now is cancelled;

---

1. Chintamani= a stone all whose possessor's desires are fulfilled.
2. Burns.
3. Sikdar (Shiqdar = astate official).
4. Dies.
5. Justice.

Now is liberation attained, should the Lord grant inclination to Divine laudation. (I-Pause)
In the distressful Kali Yuga the shariat law is operative,
And the Kazi is exalted as a deity.[1]
Of Brahma's Vedas the Atharva[2] reigns supreme;
Now by actions is achieved repute. (5)
How is worship possible without faith, self-restraint without purity,
And assuming the sacred thread without continence ?
Bathe ritually as much as you may,draw paste-mark—
Know, without truth no purity can come. (6)
In Kali-Yuga are Koran and the Mohammadan scriptures approved;
Discarded are Hindu sacred books and Brahmins.
Saith Nanak : Now God's approved name is Rahman.[3]
Know the Lord to be one and the same despite differences of names. (7)
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name comes exaltation; no nobler deed is there.
Should anyone that is provided,[4] go out still to beg.[5]
Whould he be open to blame. (8) (1)

Jagu parbadheh maṛī badhāweh

The false ascetic while instructing the world, his own body[6] embellishes—
How while discarding poise, may he attain the truth ?
One caught in possessiveness and attachment and attraction towards woman,
Is neither an ascetic nor a householder. (1)
Yogi ! settle in poise; thus shall malady of dualism flee :
Begging from door to door don't you feel shame ? (I-Pause) Man may sing songs of devotion, but without contemplating the self,
How may his burning agony be assuaged ?
Should man with devotion of heart to the Master's Word be attached,
Serene contemplation shall his alms-food be. (2)

1. Krishna.
2. The last and fourth Veda, 'dark' in its teachings.
3. Compassionate (Ar.) This name occurs in the Koran.
4. Implies the immanence of God in all beings.
5. That is, worship deities other than God.
6. Room, house (used metaphorically).

Should man smearing limbs with ashes practise hyprocrisy,
Caught in Maya-attachment, Yama's chastizement shall he suffer.
Broken is thy heart's begging-blow; into it pours not charity of love.
Such a one caught in bonds, in transmigration is caught. (3)
Such a one not restraining lust, yet is reputed as continent :
Caught in grip of three qualities worldly substance he begs.
Devoid of compassion, is he without light of enlightenment,
And caught in various[1] snares, sinks. (4)
With show of his patched quilt a false disguise he assumes,
And like a juggler enacts false mimes.
Within the fire of anxiety consumes him :
How without good fortunes[2] may he swim across ? (5)
On ears he wears earrings of glass,
But without enlightenment no liberation is attained.
Attracted by pleasures of palate[3] and senses,
Is he an animal, the records of earlier deeds uneffaced abide. (6)
Householders[4] and also Yogis in three qualities are caught—
By contemplation of theWord would their sorrowful state be ended.
By the holy Word comes purity and truth—
Such a Yogi performs true Yoga-praxis. (7)
Lord ! with Thee lie the Nine Treasures;[5] thou art almighty;
Thou dost make and unmake and all happesn as by Thee willed.
One that practises continence, truth and self-restraint,
And bears a truthful mind,
Saith Nanak, is a true Yogi, friends of the three worlds. (8) (2)

Khatu matu dehī manu bairāgī

In the body bearing the six lotuses[6] abides
the mind that is an ascetic;
Within that is aroused tune of absorption in the holy Word.
As rises the unstruck music, is my mind in it absorbed,
And by guidance of the Master's teaching in the holy Name is fixed in faith. (1)

---

1. All.
2. Fortune made by deeds of previous births is implied.
3. Tongue.
4. The world (that is , the lay world).
5. See Glossary.
6. These are the six ganglions according to hatha-yoga which the Kundalini by praxis may penetrate.

Listen, man ! by devotion to God comes joy :
By the Master's guidance God's Name tastes sweet,
And absorption in the Name Divine comes about. (I-Pause) P. 904
Such absorption by stopping Maya-attachment comes.
By contact with the holy Preceptor comes about union with God.
By absorption in the Divine jewel, invaluable gem
In poise is mind put. (2) Thereby is man immune from malady of egoism and acquisitiveness.
By devotion to God is Yama's fear fled.
Brutal Yama would not grip me,
As the Name immaculate in the heart shines in glory. (3)
By contemplation of the Wrod are we turned devotees of the Formless;
As is aroused holy[1] wisdom, cast off is foul understanding.
By absorption in God constantly are we awake—Turned jivan-mukta,[2] within the self have we achieved the supreme state. (4)
In the cave of the pure self unpolluted by maya we abide.
The five robbers[2] by power of the holy Word are destroyed.
In shaking of mind to alien homes we go not,
And constantly in the state of poise remain absorbed. (5)
One awakened in mind by the Master's teaching is the true anchorite;
Ever from the world detached, to the Divine Essence joined.
The World in Maya-sleep dies and in transmigration is involved.
None realization wihtout the Master's guidance attains. (6)
In such state day and night rings unstruck mystic music.
By the Master's guidance is realized mystery[4] of the Eternal.
By the holy Word comes this realization,
And the Divine Being immaculate is beheld solely pervasive. (7)
The mind in absorption in the cosmic void is involved,
And by discarding egoism and avarice, of the Sole Lord
has realization.
As the disciple in the Master's teaching puts faith, Saith Nanak, effacing duality, in the Supreme Being
is absorbed. (8) (3)

1. Wisdom imparted by the Master.
2. One liberated while still living.
3. The five sources of evil are implied.
4. State.

Sāhā gaṉeh na kareh bīchāṟu

Let man not think of auspicious days and such thoughts entertain.
The sole Supreme Being is higher than considerations of auspicious days.
Whoever the Master has contacted, alone this practice understands.
By the Master's guidance alone comes realization of the Divine Ordinance. (1)
Brahmin ! utter not falsehood; state what is true.
With egoism gone, is the Divine truth in the self realized. (1-Pause)
The astrologer by calculations casts the horoscope.
This he studies and reads out, but of Divine truth[1] is ignorant.
Supreme over all is contemplation of the Master's Word.
Nothing else do I utter—all that is ashes. (2)
One may take ritual baths, wash oneself and worship stones,
But without absorption in the Lord remains foul.
By casting off of egoism comes union with the Divine essence.[2]
By contemplation of God is life emancipated and fulfilment comes. (3)
The scholar studies disputation and contemplates not the Scriptures[3]—
How may any sinking himself, save his forebears?
Rare is the person realizing in each being the Supreme Lord :
Such realization by contact with the Master comes. (4)
By calculations of merit of rituals is the self by agony of doubt gripped.
By taking shelter with the Master alone comes joy.
After involvement in sin, to the Lord's shelter am I come.
In consequence of deeds of earlier births
The Master, Divinely-inspired have I contacted. (5)
Without seeking shelter with the Master is the Lord not attained.
By being lost in doubts comes involvement in transmigration.
Such a one bound at Yama's door dies in vain—
His heart devoid of the Name ; of non attachment to way of the Word. (6)
Some are known as Brahmin priests and scholars[4]—

1. Essence.
2. Substance, reality.
3. Veda.
4. (Pāndhā, Pandit, Mishar are here mentioned).

These dyed in duality, from the Divine Mansion remain away.
Whoever by the Master's grace gets prop of the Name, P. 905
Is one among millions, a man of incalculable merit. (7)
Inauspicious, auspicious and holy occasions[1] from the Lord alone arise—
This, thou who art seeking enlightenment, by the Master's guidance realize.
Rare are those that by the Master's guidance the sole Lord have realized—
Their transmigration annulled, in the Lord are they absorbed. (8)
Those that the Sole Lord in heart bear,
Are of all merits possessed, and have the right contemplation.
Whoever by the Master's instruction acts,
Saith Nanak, in Divine truth is wholly absorbed. (9) (4)

Hathu nigrahu kari kāyā chhījai

By restraints of hatha does the body decline;
By fasts and austerities is the mind left hardened[2] :
Nothing equals devotion to the Name Divine. (1)
My self ! in holy congregation serve the Master :
Thus shall not brutal Yama seek you;
Nor Maya the she-serpent sting.
Quaff elixir of joy in God. (I-Pause)
The world studies for disputation, and through music seeks to attract others.
Abiding in Maya-poison in grip of three qualities is it born and dies.
Without devotion to the Name Divine it undergoes suffering. (2)
His breath the Yoga-practitioner draws upward,
And by the lion-pose reaches the tenth door.
He practices bowel-rotation and the six-fold
Yoga-praxis[3] undertakes :
Without devotion to the Name Divine is all breathing in vain. (3)
Man should assuage the five fires of passion within;
With robbers abiding within, how may holy joy come ?
Let man turning Godwards subdue fort of the self. (4)

1. This refers back to the opening line of this hymn, which sets the theme.
2. Is not softened.
3. These are six actions to control breath and to keep the bowels clean. (See Glossary).

With impurity within may one wander over holy bathing-spots—
With the mind impure, what purification is possible ?
All happens as in previous deeds recorded—why blame any ? (5)
By starvation[1] may one torture the body :
Without enlightenment by the Master given, content comes not.
Egoists are born, again and again take birth and die. (6)
By guidance of the Master should one join company of the holy.
Should the mind to the Lord be attuned, occurs not transmigration.
Without devotion to the Name Divine, what good ritual actions ? (7)
Let the mind, noisy rodent be cast aside :
The ultimate service lies in contemplating the Lord.
Lord ! show grace that to Nanak gift of the Name may come. (8) (5)

Antari utbhuju awaru na koī

Within the Divine might lies origin of creation, none other.
All that can be described, from the Lord emanates.
In all ages is the holy Lord manifest.
From none else comes creation and destruction. (1)
Deep and profound is the Lord—
Whoever contemplates Him joy obtains;
By devotion to the Name Divine Yama's barb strikes not. (1-Pause)
The divine jewel is an invaluable gem.
The holy Lord is eternal, incalculable.
Holy the tongue uttering Him, holy its sound.
Within the self abides the holy Eternal—no guile in this. (2)
Some live in forests and mountains—
Forgetful of the Name, burning in pride.
Without devotion to the Name what other enlightenment and devotion is possible ?
The God-directed at the holy Portal are honoured. (3)
Anyone indulging in hatha-Yoga and its pride attains not the Lord;
He may recite holy texts and to others declaim these; P. 906
May wander over holy bathing spots—yet his mind's malady goes not :

---

1. That is, prolonged fasting.
2. Expressed.

Without the holy Name how may he attain joy ? (4)
With all efforts, yet passion[1] he would not be able to restrain.
With mind unstable, into hell would he be cast.
Bound in Yama's demesne chastizement would he receive.
Without devotion to the Name would the self be ever burning. (5)
Numerous Sidhas, Yoga-practitioners, sages and deities—By restraints of hatha with attaining secret of the self are not fulfilled.
Should such after contemplating the holy Word take to service of the Master,
Would have mind and body purified, and be shorn of pride. (6)
The holy Name by grace is attained.
Under your shelter spontaneously may I abide.
By you is inpired loving devotion.
By guidance of the Master the Name Divine I utter. (7)
With egoism and pride gone, is the heart drenched in devotion :
This by falsehood and fraud is not achieved.
Without prop of the Master's Word no abiding place[2] is for man.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance
the essence contemplate. (8) (6)

Jiuṇ āiyā tiuṇ jāweh baurei jiuṇ janamei tiuṇ maraṇu bhaiyā

Madman ! as art thou born, so must thou depart;
As surely as has been thy birth, so must thy death be.
As great as the pleasures enjoyed by thee shall thy suffering be—Forgetful of the Name, into the ocean of existence art thou fallen, (1)
At sight of thy body and wealth art thou pride-filled.
With gold and woman is thy attachment increased;
Why in forgetfulness of the Name into illusion art thou fallen, (I-Pause)
Continence, chastity, restraint and noble conduct hast thou not maintained—
In this goblin-like frame hast thou become insensitive as wood—
Good deeds, charity, holy bathing or self-restraint hast thou not done;
Devoid of holy company, fruitless has been thy birth (2)

1. (The carnal fluid).
2. Home and Portal.

In grip of avarice, of the Name art thou forgetful;
In meaningless actions is thy life wasted.
As Yama gripping thee by the hair throws thee down,
Struck unconscious, into death's mouth must thou fall. (3)
Day and night in calumny and envy of others caught;
Thy heart devoid of devotion to the Name and compassion for all—Without listening to the Master's Word shalt thou not attain liberation and honour;
Devoid of devotion to the Name; into hell must thou fall. (4)
In an instant like a juggler dost thou change disguise—
Into attachment and sin sunk.
Seeing material[1] expanse in various directions,
In Maya-attachment art thou involved. (5)
Much evil-doing hast thou expanded; devoid of absorption in the holy Word,
Into illusion art thou fallen.
In the great malady of egoism art thou gripped—
Learn true wisdom of the Master, whereby shall this malady go. (6)
The reprobate,[2] on beholding approach of pleasure
and substance
In his mind is pride-filled.
He whose is this body and wealth must claim it back—
By this is thy mind with doubt and pain filled. (7)
Nothing at the end shall accompany man; know, all that is visible is by His grace.
The Lord, primal Being, of immeasurable extent—
By harbouring His Name in the heart does one swim across
the ocean of existence. (8)
To whom those wailing over the dead seek to carry their voice ?
The departed one into the terrible ocean of existence is fallen.
The materialist[2] viewing wealth, house, mansions, into snare of worthless actions is fallen. (9)
As sent by Him we came; and depart at His call. P. 907
He does as be His will;
Should He be gracious, in His grace He pardons us. (10)
I seek company of those tasting of elixir of joy in God.

---

1. Of Maya (also implies wealth here).
2. Sakta.

As from the Master are attained miraculous powers, fulfilment, enlightenment.
The boon of liberation with us has sought shelter[1]. (11)
By the Master's guidance have we felt sorrow and joy to be alike,
And from joy and sorrow are detached.
By suppressing egoism by the Master's guidance,
is attained the Lord :
Saith Nanak, thus in serene poise are we absorbed. (12) (7)

In the Measure Ramkali Dakhni—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Jatu satu sanjamu sāchu driṛhāiyā sāch shabadi rasi līṇā

The Master who in us confirmed continence, purity, self-restraint and truth,
In joy of the holy Word ever remains absorbed, (1)
The Master gracious ever in ecstasy of joy abides :
Day and night in devotion solely absorbed.
In sight of the Eternal fixed his faith. (I-Pause)
In the realm of super-consciousness[2] abiding,
his gaze viewing all equably,
In joy of the unstruck sound dyed. (2)
Girding up loin-cloth[3] of purity in the Lord solely absorbed,
His tongue[4] tasting of joy in God. (3)
The holy Guru with the Creator has found union,
And contemplating the Lord's doing in Him has fixed faith. (4)
The holy Preceptor this vision has granted :
All creation abides in the sole Creator and the One manifest in all. (5)
Unknowable is the Lord who the lands, continents and the world has created. (6)
From the lamp that is the Master is lit the lamp in all,
And the Divine Light spread in three worlds is made manifest. (7)
God's seekers seated on the throne of truth in the holy mansion[5]
In absorption beyond fear abide. (8)

1. That is, has come of itself.
2. Gagan-Mandal (The heavely sphere), a team signifying Dasam-Duār, the seat of super-consciousness.
3. (Here is a touch of the Yogic terminology, used symbolically).
4. (Palate is meant).
5. Symbol for the Divine Essence.

The Yogi[1] dispassionate towards the world has charmed us,
And then in each being is played the mystic harp.[2] (9)
Saith Nanak : By guidance of the holy Preceptor, true friend,
By seeking shelter with the Lord have we found
liberation. (10) (8)

Auhathi hast maṛhī gharu chhāiyā dharaṇi gagan kal dhārī

Blessed is the yogi who makes of his heart the begging-bowl,
Abides in his own self[3], and has sight of the Lord,
Whose might the earth and heavens props. (1) Devotees of God ! what vast numbers the master by the holy Word has saved ! (1-Pause)
Such suppressing avarice, their egoism dry up,
And in the three worlds, Lord ! your light behold. (2)
Such also by contemplation of the holy-Preceptor's word, Suppressing desire, in their mind confine it. (3)
Their horn-pipe is their devoted absorption,
Wherein the unstruck sound they hear ringing,
And in each being[4] your light behold. (4)
Such also looking upon the visible universal expanse, in their heart as the flute,
The Divine flame within them have lit. (5)
Of such the body made of five elements is a lamp burning
day and night,
Shedding endless pure light. (6)
He makes his sun and moon passages[5] the harp-gourd,
His body the harp,
Emitting the unique mystic music. (7)
Listen thus, recluse ! of such a Yogi the seat is in the city of the Lord,[6]
Where the Lord unknowable, inaccessible, limitless he beholds. (8)
In the city of the body the mind is king,
And his five sources of knowledge abide therein thought-absorbed. (9)
This king settled on his throne the holy word contemplates
And praiseworthy justice maintains. (10)

---

1. Implies the Guru.
2. (Another term from the Yoga-tradition, used symbolically).
3. That is. does not wander about in wild places in search after spiritual light.
4. Vessel.
5. The passages Pingala and Ida.
6. Shiv-Nagari, in the Yogic parlance the seat of super-consciousness.

What pain can poor death and birth inflict on him, P. 908
Who suppressing the ego is dead while living ? (11)
For him the trinity of the Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva is one almighty[1] Divine form are comprehended. (12)
Such a one purifying the body and contemplating the essence of self,
Swims across the ocean of existence. (13)
From service to the Master ever he obtains joy,
And within him pervades the holy Word, bringer of merit. (14)
The Lord, donor of merit, annulling his egoism and desire,
To Himself unites him. (15)
Effacing the three qualities[2] and abiding in the fourth[3]
Is his unique devotion. (16)
Scuh a one by the Master's guidance practises Yoga of the holy Word.
Realizes the self—in his heart the sole Lord abiding. (17)
Keeping the mind at rest, in the holy Word dyed,
Is the purest action, (18)
Listen thou recluse ! such a one studies not scriptures[4] for disputation or fraud,
But by the Master's guidance the holy Word contemplates. (19)
Listen thou recluse ! such a one by the Master's guidance such Yoga practises,
And by contemplating the holy Word practises continence and purity. (20)
Listen thou recluse ! to die in the Word, to suppress the ego,
Is true conception of Yoga-praxis. (21)
Listen thou recluse ! Maya-attachment is source of transmigration[5]
By devotion to the Word man swims himself
And to his forebears brings liberation. (22)
Listen thou recluse ! the holy Word is sun of the four Ages,
As is the Word of devotion contemplated. (23)
Listen thou recluse ! the mind by Maya is deluded;
By contemplation of the Word therefrom released. (24)
Himself the Lord grants liberation, to Himself unites the seeker, Nanak your[6] shelter seeks. (25) (9)

---

1. Doing as He pleases.
2. See Glossary.
3. The state of absorption in the Absolute.
4. Vedas.
5. The ocean of existence.
6. (Herein the Lord is apostrophized).

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Octets (Ashtpadiyan)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sharmai dīyaṇ mundarāṇ kanīṇ pāe jogī khinthā kari tuṇ dayā

Yogi ! put on thy earrings of modesty,[1]
Assume the quilt[2] of compassion;
Smear thy limbs with ashes of realization of the life and death circle—
Then mayst thou conquer the three worlds. (1)
Strum thou such a harp,
That its sound may raise the mystic music, fixing thy mind in the Lord. (I-Pause)
Yogi ! make purity and contentment thy begging-bowl and pounch;
And receive sustenance of the Name immortal;
Make meditation thy staff,[3] and blow the horn of absorption in God. (2)
Yogi ! assume thy posture on thy seat with mind firmly fixed,
Then may the wandering mind be stilled.
Shouldst thou go to beg in the city of the body,
Mayst thou get alms of the Name. (3)
Yogi ! this harp fixes thee neither in meditation,
Nor does it bring thee truth;
This harp brings not peace, nor banishes pride. (4) .
Yogi ! make fear of God and loving devotion the gourd-bowls[3]
of thy harp,
Thy body string-rod.
By obedience to the Master shall thy harp-strings make music—
Thus is desire annulled. (5)
One the Divine Ordinance realizing, with mind fixed on the sole Supreme Being is truly a Yogi :
His doubt shattered, his mind purified—
Thus may he realize true Yoga-praxis. (6)
All that is visible shall one day be destroyed;
Fix on the Lord thy mind;

1. Sarm, may be the Persian Sharm (modesty) of Sram (Skt. endeavour). This term occurs also in Japuji, 28. There are differing interpretations.
2. In the present text the various articles of the Yogi's equipment are mentioned, and invested with spiritual significance, as against the ritual of the Yogic orders.
3. Carried by Yogis.

In the holy preceptor fix thy faith—
Thus may come to thee such realization. (7)
Yogi ! yoga lies not in leaving family P. 909
And wandering abroad :
In the house of the body lies the Lord's Name;
By the Master's grace seek theirin the Lord. (8)
Yogi ! out of clay is the world cast,
Afflicted with malady of desire for Maya;
Despite all praxis and garbs, this malady goes not. (9)
The Name Divine is the true medicine, should it in the mind be lodged;
One obeying the Master's guidance alone,
this realization has,
And the true Yoga-praxis performs. (10)
Yogi ! hard is the Yoga-path;
By grace alone is it found.
The true Yogi is one who within and without beholds the Sole Supreme,
And sheds his illusion. (11)
He should strum the harp that needs not touch of fingers—Saith Nanak : Yogi ! thus mayst thou find liberation and in holy Truth be absorbed. (12) (1-10)

Bhagati khazānā gurmukhi jātā satiguri būjhi bujhāī

By the Preceptor's guidance is the treasure-house of devotion discovered;
This by the holy Preceptor is revealed. (1)
Devotees of God ! The Lord by the Preceptor's guidance confers exaltation. (I-Pause)
Live ever in the way of truth; thereby shall serene joy arise,
And lust and wrath be discarded. (2)
As is egoism discarded, devotion to the Name is fixed;
In the holy Word is egoism consumed. (3)
By the Creator that made it, is egoism shattered—
At the end the Name Divine is our true friend. (4)
Behold the Creator of all, ever-present with you—Think Him not distant. (5)
Let the devotee contemplate ever in mind the Divine Word,
With devotion on the holy Eternal fixed. (6)
In holy company is found the Name beyond all value—
By supreme good luck attained. (7)

Be not lost in doubt; serve the holy Preceptor,
And keep your mind from wandering.[1] (8)
Without devotion to the Name, in illusion is the creation lost,
Its life gone waste. (9)
The Yogi, in false practice involved,[2] wanders about—
By hypocrisy comes not Yoga. (10)
By meditation in the City Divine[3] and absorbing the holy Word in Yoga attained. (11)
By the holy Word should he end wandering of the mind.
Thus would the Name Divine in his mind be lodged. (12)
Devotees of God ! the self is the holy Pool:
Let the true seeker in it with devotion immerse himself. (13)
Those in the Name immersed are truly pure—
By the holy Word is impurity shed. (14)
Man unenlightened, in the Three Qualities caught, meditates not on the Name Divine :
Without devotion to the Name does death grip him. (15)
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva, the Three Deities,
In delusion of Three Qualities are lost. (16)
By the Master's grace comes release from the Three states,[4]
And the self in the Fourth State[5] absorbed. (17)
Brahmins the Scriptures study and thereby enter into disputation—
To them has enlightenment not come. (18)
With poison intoxicated, in delusion lost—
To what purpose their preaching[6] ? (19)
The holy Word uttered by devotees, in all ages is pervasive. (20)
Whoever to the holy Word is devoted, the supreme state attains, P. 910
And by the holy Word in Truth is absorbed. (21)
Should the seeker in the city of the body with the holy Word make search,
Shall he find the holy Name, source of the Nine Treasures.[7] (22)
By conquest of desire is the self in the serene state absorbed,
And without utternace comes Divine manifestation. (23)

1. Lit. Keep your mind fixed in one place.
2. Lit. Losing the true praxis.
3. Shiva-nagari, in the Yogic parlance stands for the state of supreme enlightenment. Herein implies meditation on God.
4. (These are the states wherein the knower, knowledge and the object of knowledge are apprehended as distinct).
5. The state of absorption in the Absolute.
6. Lit. Brother ! to whom do they preach ?
7. See Glossary.

The eyes on beholding everything are wonder-struck,
And the mind in the Invisible is absorbed. (24)
Ever abides He invisible, immaculate :
In His Light is our light immersed. (25)
Ever laud I my Master, who the true enlightenment has imparted. (26)
Saith Nanak in supplication : Exalted state and true honour from devotion to the Name comes. (27) (2.11)

Hari kī pūjā dulambh hai santuh kahṇā kachhū na jāī

Devotees of God ! Hard to attain is devotion to the Lord—
Inexpressible is its glory. (1)
Devotees of God ! By the Master's guidance is attained the Lord, in whom perfection abides :
The Master devotion to the Name inspires. (I-Pause)
Devotees of God ! all other than the Lord is impure :
What offering to bring to Him ? (2)
Devotion is inspired by the holy Lord's grace,
In the mind by lodging His will. (3)
Devotees of God ! All offer worship,
Yet the egoist finds not acceptance[1] with the Lord. (4)
Devotees of God ! should the self by absorption in the Word become desireless[2] and pure—
Such worship with the Lord finds acceptance. (5)
Holy and pure are those by truth inspired,
That to the Divine[3] word are devoted. (6)
Nothing beside the Name merits worship—
The world in mere illusion is straying[4]. (7)
Devotees of God ! one God-directed his self realizes—
And to the Name Divine is devoted. (8)
The Lord Himself guides him to worship the Immaculate
Essence—
By devotion to the holy Word finds he acceptance. (9)
Some that worship, know not the true way;
In duality caught, gathering impurity. (10)
Only the God-directed know the way to worship,

1. Lit. Place.
2. Lit. Die.
3. Lit. The One, sole Word.
4. That is, the illusion of other worship.

And to the Divine will are obedient[1]. (11)
Devotees of God ! in obedience to the Divine will lies bliss—
At the end the Name Divine to such is a true friend. (12) Devotees of God ! One not realizing the self only praises falsehood. (13)
By hypocrisy release from Yama is not attained;
In ignominy he drags away such. (14)
Those that to the holy Word are attuned and their self realize, Alone the supreme state attain and have the true measure of liberation. (15)
Then does the self enter the state of meditation unbroken,
Its light into the Divine Light merged. (16)
By the Master's guidance such seekers abrorb[2] the holy Name,
And in holy company expound it. (17)
By the Master's guidance they laud the Lord, their egoism shed,
And at the holy Portal are exalted. (18)
Holy their utteranee, holy their discourse—
To the holy Name are they devoted. (19)
The Lord, annuller of fear, destroyer of evil utterly,
At the end is our true friend. (20)
Himself the universe He pervades :
Saith Nanak : From devotion to the Name comes exaltation. (21) (3.12)

Ham kuchal kuchīl ati abhimānī mili shabdei mailu utārī

Utterly impure that we are, with vanity filled—
By attaining the holy Word is our impurity shed. (1) Devotees of God ! by the Master's guidance, through devotion to the Name comes liberation.
As is the holy Name in the heart lodged,
The Creator Himself exalts it. (1-Pause)
One touching the philosopher's stone is into its self P. 911
By the holy Lord's grace turned. (2)
Some that assume false garbs and go about with pride in their hearts,
Their lives on a false throw are lost. (3)
Others day after day are in devotion engaged night and day—
The Name Divine in their hearts lodged. (4)
Ever in God dyed, by serene contemplation[3] inspired,
By poised serenity is their egoism annulled. (5)

1. Lit. Lodge in mind the will.
2. Lit. Listen.
3. Original, Sahaj.

No devotion without fear of God may be performed.
By fear and love is devotion exalted. (6)
The true devotee in the holy Word,
And contemplation and realization of the essence absorbed,
His Maya-illusion consumes. (7)
Such devotion the Creator Himself inspires
And such treasure confers. (8)
Endless are His qualities, that by the holy Word
 I contemplate and laud. (9)
Banishing egoism, the Lord I contemplate,
And the Lord laud. (10)
From the Master is obtained blessing of the Name,
And treasures inexhaustible found. (11)
With His devotees is He pleased,
And by grace His might has manifested. (12)
For the holy Name they ever hunger,
And the holy Word contemplate and sing. (13)
Mind and body all is His—
Of this truth hard in the contemplation and expression. (14)
Those to the Word devoted are liberated,
And across the ocean of the world ferried. (15)
Without grace of the holy Lord none finds liberation—
Rare is one that realization and contemplation has obtained. (16)
What is recorded in primal Time is by man attained—
By union with the Lord is one's illumination[1] exalted. (17)
In devotion to the holy Name is the body in the holy Word dyed
And like pure gold shines. (18)
Such a self with amrita is filled;
This by contemplation of the holy Word is attained. (19)
Those seeking the Lord alone such blessing obtain :
Others in their pride burst and are destroyed. (20)
To the disputatious comes death;
God's devotees to service in ecstasy of devotion to the Master abide. (21)
The true Yogi is one that the Essence realizes,
And egoism and desire subdues. (22)
Such alone realize the holy Preceptor bountiful,
As by Your grace are visited. (23)

1. Original Shabda. (Elsewhere too this term is used in this sense in Japuji. 38. Anandu, 7).

Those serving not the holy Preceptor, in Maya absorbed,
By their egoism are drowned. (24)
While life lasts, in service be engaged—
Thus shall you to the Lord[1] attain. (25)
Ever be wakeful day and night,
For love of the Beloved Lord. (26)
May I sacrifice body and mind—
To the Master may I be a sacrifice. (27)
Those contemplating the holy word shall be liberated,
Their Maya-illusion shattered. (28)
Only those by the Lord awarkened shall wake,
By contemplation of the Master's Word. (29)
Saith Nanak : Those neglecting the Name shall be dead;
God's devotees by contemplation shall find the life
eternal. (30) (4.13)

Nāmu khazānā Guru te pāiyā tripti rahei āghāī

From the Master is the wealth of the Name obtained, Fulfilment and satisfaction has thereby come. (1)
Devotees of God ! by the Master's guidance have we found liberation and the supreme state :
The Sole Name of God, by the holy Master's grace in the self is lodged. (I-Pause) P. 912 Himself is the creator and Himself the enjoyer—of all is He provider. (2)
By His own will is He doing what pleases Him —
None other bas any power. (3)
Himself has He created all existence,
And to a task set each one. (4)
Serve Him ; thereby get joy :
By the holy Preceptor's guidance is union with the Lord obtained. (5)
His own creator, beyond our understanding He lies. (6)
Destroyer and Resuscitator Himself, without desire and want. (7)
Some has He made bestowers of charity, other beggars :
To devotion some He inspires. (8)
Supremely fortunate are those that none but He worship[2],
And in the holy Eternal are absorbed, (9)

1. Original, Rama Murari (name of two avatars of Vishnu, used here as in common parlance, to express the idea of God.)
2. Lit. Know.

Himself the Supreme Beauty; Himself Supreme Wisdom :
Beyond contemplation in His greatness[1]. (10)
Himself He sends suffering and joy;
Himself casts misguiding delusion. (11)
The great Bestower, by the Master's guidance is realized—
The world without the Master in blindness is gone astray. (12)
Those tasting of God this joy have experienced—
From the holy Preceptor comes such realization. (13)
Some He strikes with forgetfulness of the Name;
On others by the holy Preceptor's guidance realization
He confers. (14)
Devotees of God ! laud Him ever :
Supreme over all is His greatness. (15)
None other than He is the true monarch;
The cosmic order has He made on foundations of justice. (16)
Eternally holy His justice;
Rare are those obeying His Ordinance. (17)
Man ! meditate on Him ever,
Who by the Master's guidance the holy device of devotion has set up. (18)
Those seeking the holy Preceptor's contact[2] alone find fulfilment.
With the holy Name in the heart lodged. (19)
Holy, holy eternally :
In the holy Word His truth He reveals[3]. (20)
With wonder is Nanak struck on listening to Him, beholding Him[4]—
Everywhere is the Lord pervasive. (21) (5.14)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Octets (Ashtpadiyan)

In the name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kin hī kīyā parvirti pasārā

Some have arranged multiple[5] worldly concerns;
Some the accessories[6] of worship-offering,

1. Lit. Value.
2. Lit. Meeting.
3. Lit. His utterance through the Word He communicates.
4. Lit. Listening and beholding.
5. Expanse of.
6. Expanse.

Others praxis of bowels and Kundalini have undertaken—
I, humble one, to the Lord have made devoted supplication. (1)
Divine Beloved ! in Three my trust I repose :
I know not any other garb.[1] (1-Pause)
Some renouncing home, to forests have made resort;
Others observers of vows of silence and ascetics are designated;
Some are called devotees solely of Krishna.[2]
I, humble one with the Lord alone have sought shelter. (2)
Some have proclaimed themselves settled at holy bathing-spots;
Others renouncing food, from the world are turned away;
Some over the earth have wandered :
I, humble one, at the Divine Portal am fallen. (3)
Some claim to be of high lineage; P. 913
Some claim to have large number of helpers and associates;[3]
Some claim to have large heaps[4] of wealth :
I, humble one, in the Lord alone have my prop. (4)
Some wearing ankle-bells, make ritual dances;
Some wear rosaries indicative of vows;
Some put on paste-mark of Gopis' immolation clay[5]:
I, humble one, solely on the Lord have meditated. (5)
Some attaining miraculous powers, numerous marvels have shown;
Some wearing various garbs much display have made;
Some magic and incantation much have practised :
I, humble one, only the Lord have served. (6)
One is styled as a learned Pandit;
Some performing six ritual acts[6], propitiate Shiva;
Some perform ritual meritorious acts :
I, humble one, with the Lord seek shelter. (7)
All ritual acts of various Yugas have I studied :
Without devotion to the Name is the mind not enlightened.
Saith Nanak : On joining the holy congregation
Is desire assuaged and great joy attained.[7] (8) (1)

---

1. Sectarian garb is implied.
2. Bhagauti (Bhagavat), devotee of Krishna.
3. Brothers.
4. Expanse, excess.
5. Gopi-chandan = earth of spot where Gopis (milkmaids) immolated themselves in separation from Krishna.
6. These are prescribed by the various traditions for their followers.
7. The mind is cooled.

Isu pānī te jini tūṃ ghariyā

He who made thee from the seminal fluid,
Fashioned thy body from clay;
Conferred on thee light of thought and discrimination,
And in mother's womb protected thee— (1)
Man ! that Protector ever shouldst thou recollect,
And banish from mind all other thoughts . (I-Pause)
He who with father and mother provided thee;
He who provided thee with brothers and sons for help;
He who provided thee with wife and friends—
That Lord keep ever in mind. (2)
He who granted thee invaluable air,
He who granted water above value;
He who gave thee burning fire—
My self ! ever under shelter of that Lord abide. (3)
He who granted thee thirty-six viands amrita-like,
And within the body made resting-places for these;
He who gave thee the earth to use and enclose—
Keep ever that Lord's feet in mind. (4)
He who gave eyes to see and ears to hear,
Hands to work and nose and tongue;
Feet to walk and the head high above all—
Myself ! worship at the feet of that Lord. (5)
He who from the impure state made thee pure,
And among all species pre-eminent—
Whether thou make thy life fruitful or no—
Know, success to thee by meditation on the Lord shall come. (6)
In this world and the next is His Sole Presence.
Whenever we behold is He present.
My self ! in serving Him art thou sluggish,
Whom not for an instant must thou forget. (7)
Sinful, devoid of merit that we are,
Devoid of service and good deeds—
The Master, ship of our life by good fortune was met,
And Nanak, servant of God, a stone, along with him did
swim across. (8) (2)

Kāhū bihāwehṇ rang ras rūp

Some pass life in delights and pleasures of beauty;
Some amid attachment to mother, father and progeny. P. 914
Some pass life involved in royal authority, estates and trade :
God's devotee passes life with prop of the Name Divine. (1)

Holy is structure of the cosmos—
One Sole Lord is master of all. (I-Pause)
Some pass life in study of scriptures[1] and disputation;
Some in tasting pleasures of palate.[2]
Some pass life involved in woman :
God's devotees solely in the Name Divine are absorbed. (2)
Some pass life in gambling;
Sone in addiction to intoxicants.
Some pass life stealing others' property :
God's servant passes life meditating on the Name Divine. (3)
Some pass life in Yoga-praxis, austerity or worship;
Some in involvement in maladies and suffering.
Some pass life in breath-control[3] :
God's devotee in singing Divine laudation passes life. (4)
Some pass life wandering day and night.
Some in keeping a fixed spot.
Some pass life in instructing children :
God's devotees pass life singing Divine merit (5)
Some pass life in enacting acrobatics, mimes and dances;
Some in taking others' life.
Some pass life in harbouring fear while seated on throne :
God's devotees pass life expressing Divine laudation. (6)
Some pass life in discussing schemes;
Some in serving others out of compulsion.
Some in investigating life's unknown future[4] pass life :
God's devotee in quaffing Divine elixir passes life. (7)
Each is engaged as by the Lord directed—
None is to be reckoned foolish or wise.
To such as in grace with devotion to the Name He blesses,
Saith Nanak, am I a sacrifice. (8) (3)

Dāvā agni raheī hari būt

As in forest-fire are some plants left standing green,
And in the mother's womb from affliction is the infant freed—
So the Divine Monarch by the Name Divine saves His devotees.
Whose fear by devotion to the Name is annulled. (1)

1. Vedas.
2. Tongue.
3. Yogic pranayam is meant.
4. This implies palmists, astrologers and occultists etc.

The Lord compassionate is Saviour in this wise :
Wherever I behold, are you the Cherisher. (I-Pause)
As by drinking of water is thirst quenched,
And by the husband's coming home is the woman delighted;
As is wealth the greedy person's life's prop—
Thus is God's devotee with the Name Divine in love. (2)
As the watchman protects the sown field.
As mother and father compassionate to the child,
As at sight of the beloved the lover goes out to meet—
Thus the Lord cherishes the devotee clasped to His bosom. (3)
As the blind man at getting sight is in delight,
As one dumb acquiring speech sings songs profusely;
One disabled of limb at crossing the mountain is happy—
Thus are all by the Name Divine saved. (4)
As by the side of fire is cold eliminated,
So are sins in holy congregation destroyed.
As by use of soap[1] are clothes bleached—
Thus by contemplation of the Name is annulled all doubt and fear. (5)
As the Chakwi[2] for the sun yearns,
As the Chatrik[2] for the drop thirsts,
As the deer in the sound is absorbed—
Thus the Name Divine to God's devotees brings delight. (6) P.915
By your grace is formed devotion;
By his compassion is He into the mind brought.
That gracious Lord compassion has shown,
And from bondage are we freed. (7)
All spots with wide gaze[3] have I beheld—
None other than He is sustainer.
By grace of the Master are we of doubt and fear relieved;
All that Nanak beholds is marvels (8) (4)

Jiya jant sabhi pekhīyeh Prabh sagal Tumārī dhārnā

All creatures, Lord ! by you are seen to be sustained. (1)
This self by the Name Divine is saved. (I-Pause)
In an instant by His might He makes and unmakes—
All is the Creator's doing. (2)

---

1. Sābun (Arb. for soap) is used elsewhere also in Gurubani (Cf. Japuji 20). This is a very early use of this word in literature.
2. Name of birds, famous in romantic lore.
3. Eyes wide open.

Lust, wrath, avarice, falsehood, calumny—in company of the holy are cast off. (3)
By contemplation of the Name is the mind purified,
And life passed in joy. (4)
Any creature seeking shelter with God's devotee,
In this life and the next never is discomfited. (5)
The mind's state of joy and sorrow, before you alone is to be laid. (6)
Thou art Provider of all creation, sustaining Thy creatures. (7)
To God's devotee innumerable times, million times am
I a sacrifice. (8) (5)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadi (Octets)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Darshanu bhetat pāp sabhi nāsehn Hari siuṇ dei milāī

At sight of the Preceptor flee all sins and with the Lord he brings about union. (1)
The Master, image of the Supreme Being is bestower of joy :
The Name Divine in the mind he confirms, and at the last moment is the helper. (I-Pause)
By touching dust of feet of the holy to my face is shattered abode of all suffering. (2)
In an instant are the fallen purified, and darkness of ignorance lifted. (3)
With the Lord almighty has Nanak sought shelter. (4)
With snapping of worldly bonds is devotion to the lotus feet confirmed,
And devotion to the Sole holy Word fixed. (5)
As the Master from the dark well of Maya-poison has extricated us,
With the holy Word have we formed accord. (6)
Lifted is fear of birth and death,
And nevermore anywhere[1] we stray. (7)
The mind to elixir of the Name is devoted
And quaffing amrita, is fulfilled. (8)
In holy congregation Divine laudation have we sung,
And at the immutable station abided. (9)

1. That is, in transmigration

The Master, prefectly endowed, this perfection of wisdom
has conferred :
Nothing other than the Lord is worthy of worship. (10)
By great good fortune is obtained treasure of the Name,
Whereafter to hell one goes not. (11)
Not my endeavour of thought avails—
Teaching of the Master, perfectly endowed is all my attainment. (12)
True contemplation. austerity, self-restraint and purity comes by guidance of the Master. (13)
In the great poison of attachment to progeny and wife
The holy Preceptor alone grants release[1]. (14)
His creation He Himself cherishes, and to His lappet attaches it. (15) P. 916
On the ship of truth and righteousness
Is the ocean of existence crossed. (16)
Nanak to the Lord, beyond computation and extent
Is a sacrifice. (17)
The Lord Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-Existent[2]
The darkness of Kali-Yuga has illumined. (18)
At sight of the controller of the inner self, bestower of boons to creation
Is the self completely fulfilled. (19)
The Sole Supreme Being[3], immaculate, above fear
Over water and land is pervasive. (20)
On His devotees has He conferred boon of devotion :
Mother mine ! Nanak for the Lord[4] yearns. (21) (1.6)

Sikkhuh shabadu piyāriho janam maran kī tek

Sloka

Cherished ones ! in the holy Word receive instruction.
That over multiple births shall sustain you.
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the Sole Lord shall your face be radiant and everlasting joy come. (1)
Devotees of God ! our mind and body in love of the Beloved Lord are dyed,
And our loving devotion fulfilment finds. (1)

1. Carries across the water.
2. These are phrases from Mul-Mantra. Sambhau is there given as Sai-bhang.
3. Ekankār (Ek Onkar)
4. Also interpreted as : Nanak yearns for the Lord, master of Maya.

Devotees of God ! the holy Preceptor our merchandize has made profitable :
Profit of the Name Divine to this servant has he granted,
And all my thirst[1] assuaged. (I-Pause)
Devotees of God ! after long quest one jewel have I found—
Beyond expression is the Lord's worth. (2) Devotees of God ! in the Divine lotus feet is our contemplation fixed. (3)
Devotees of God ! with singing Divine laudation have we become joy-filled;
By remembrance of the holy Eternal am I fulfilled. (4) Devotees of God ! The Immanent supreme self that in all creation is pervasive, neither has beginning nor end[2]. (5)
Devotees of God ! primal, eternal, real, everlasting is He[3], on all creatures conferring joy. (6)
Devotees of God ! limitless is He : unknowable His limit,
in all spots pervasive (7)
Devotees of God ! The Divine Lord is my friend, companion, substance, beauty, progeny.
Saith Nanak, To me is He father and mother. (8) (2.7)

Mana bach krami Rāma-Nāmu chitārī

By power of the mind, word and action the Name Divine have
I contemplated.
Saith Nanak : In the mighty terrible whirlpool,
By the Master's guidacne are we carried across. (I-Pause)
By Divine contemplation is felt joy within and without,
And are evil tendencies crushed. (1)
These evils by Him are removed from whom they originated,
As the Lord showed grace. (2)
Devotees of God fallen under Divine shelter have been saved;
Rotten, destroyed are the greatly arrogant. (13)
In holy company our reward[4] has been
In the Sole Name to seek our prop. (4)
None is a hero or devoid of strength —
In all is your light manifested. (5)

1. Symbol for desire.
2. Neither comes nor anywhere goes.
3. Words taken from Sloka following Mūl-Mantra.
4. Fruit.

Almighty, inexpressible, unknowable are you—
All-pervasive is the Lord. (6)
Lord-Creator : who may evaluate Thee ?
Without end or limit art Thou. (7)
Pray, on Nanak confer charity and exaltation of the holy Name,
And dust of feet of Thy devotees. (8) (3.8.22)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das P. 917

Anand (u) (Bliss)

In the Name of the One Indivisible Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Anandu bhayā merī māe Satigurū maiṇ pāiyā

Mother mine ! bliss have I obtained,
By the holy Preceptor's touch.[1]
With poised mind the holy Preceptor have I found;
The mind in jubliation revels :
Fairy songsters of the jewel music have descended the holy Word to sing.
Sing you all the Lord's Word who in the self have lodged it :
Saith Nanak : Bliss have I found, by the holy Preceptor's touch. (1)

Ei mana meriyā tūṇ sadā rahu Hari nālei

My self ! abide ever with the Lord—
Abide with the Lord ever, who all suffering effaces.[2]
Thy succourer shall He be, and all thy purposes[3] fulfil.
The Lord, mighty to accomplish all—why art thou forgetful of Him ?
Saith Nanak ! My self ! abide ever with the Lord. (2)

Sāchei Sāhibā kyā nāhīṇ ghari Terai

Master all-holy ! nothing in Thy Mansion is lacking;[4]
All in Thy mansion lies; those blessed by Thee obtain Thy grace :
Thy grace obtain those that lodge
The laudtation of Thy Name, ever in the self.
Those bearing the Name, in the mind, with the holy Word's rich melody are blessed.
Saith Nanak : Master all holy ! nothing in Thy Mansion is lacking[4] (3)

1. Lit. The holy Preceptor have I found.
2. Lit. Brings about forgetfulness of.
3. Lit. Tasks.
4. What is lacking in Thy house ?

Sāchā Nāmu merā ādhāro

The holy Name is my prop—
My prop the holy Name, annuller of all desire.
In serenity and joy is it in the self lodged, all desire fulfilling.
May I ever be a sacrifice to the Master in whom such powers are reposed.
Saith Nanak : Listen my devotee friends ! in the holy Word repose your love.
My prop is the holy Name. (4)

Vājei panch shabad titu ghari sabhāgai

In the blessed abode of the self resounds the five-fold mystic music—
In the blessed abode resounds the music that the Lord's might has filled.[1]
The Five Demons hast Thou subdued, torment of Death[2] annulled.
Those in th Primal Time by Thee blessed,
To the Lord's Name are devoted.
Saith Nanak : Joy resides in the self
Wherein resounds the mystic music. (5)

Sāchī livai binu deh nimāṇī

Poor is the body devoid of true devotion.
Devoid of devotion in the body poor,
Helpless, powerless.
Lord ! none beside Thee has power : Show Thy grace.
For the self no other shelter is;
By devotion to the Word alone is it ennobled.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion is the body poor, helpless. (6)

Ānandu ānandu sabhu ko kahai ānandu gurū te jāṇiyā

All talk of bliss; from the Master's teaching alone is its essence realized.
From the Master is realized eternal bliss, should he, my beloved friend ! show grace.
In his grace sins he annuls, and collyrium of enlightenment applies.
Those that through bliss have their worldly attachment. annulled, the holy Lord their utterance[3] ennobles.

1. Lit. In which the Lord in His might has assumed.
2. Lit. The thorn of death.
3. Original, Shabada (Cf. Japuji, 38).

Saith Nanak : Such is Bliss; from the Master's teaching realized. (7)

Bābā jisu Tūṇ dehi soī janu pāwai

Our Master ! such alone this blessing achieve as Thou dost favour ;
Such achieve it as by Thee are favoured—
What in their helplessness can others do ?
Some lost in illusion, stray in all directions; P. 918
Some by devotion to God's Name are exalted.
Those submitting to the Lord's will,
Have by the Preceptor's grace their selves purified.
Saith Nanak : This blessing only such find as by Thee are blessed. (8)

Āwuh sant piyāritho akath kī karehṇ kahāṇī

Come, beloved devotees ! let us of the Inexpressible discourse.
Discourse of the Inexpressible ! at what Portal to attain Him ?
This by surrendering body, mind and possessions
to the Preceptor,
By submission to his will may be achieved.
To the Preceptor's will submit, chant the holy Word.
Saith Nanak : Listen, devotees of God ! of the Inexpressible discourse. (9)

Ei mana chanchalā chaturāī kinai na pāiyā

My restless mind ! none the Lord by ingenuity has attained.
Listen my mind ! None by ingenuity has Him attained.
The deluding Maya that in delusion leads astray—
By Him is the deluding Maya created : By Him is this drug cast.
May I be a sacrifice to Him who this fascinating[1] delusion has cast.
Saith Nanak : My restless mind ! None by ingenuity has Him attained. (10)

Ei mana piyāriyā tūn sadā sachu samālei

My beloved self ! ever on the Eternal Truth meditate;
The family that pleases thy sight, with thee shall not last.
With thee shall is not last; why to it hast attached thy heart ?
Avoid totally what in the end regret shall bring.
Listen to the Master's teaching that with thee shall abide.

1. Lit. Sweet.

Saith Nanak : My dear self ! ever on the Eternal Truth meditate. (11)

Agam agocharā Terā antu na pāiyā

Inaccessible, unknowable Lord ! none Thy extent has known.
None Thy extent has known ! to Thee alone is this known.
All creation is Thy play—who this wonder may express ?
Thou who the universe hast created, all utterance and sight to Thee belongs.
Saith Nanak : Ever art Thou inaccessible—
Unknowable is Thy extent. (12)

Suri nar muni jan amritu khojadei su amritu Guru te pāiyā

Godlike men, savants seek amrita—
Amrita from the Master is obtained.
By the Master's grace is amrita obtained,
As the holy Eternal in the self is lodged.
Vast and multiple is Thy creation;
A rare one to venerate the Master may come.
His covetousness, greed, pride discarded,
The holy Preceptor to him has appealed.
Saith Nanak : One favoured of the Lord
Alone from the Master obtains amrita. (13)

Bhagatāṃ kī chāl nirālī

Different from the world is the way of God's devotees—
Different the devotees' way, traversing a hard path.
Discarding covetousness, greed, pride, desire—
Restrained their utterance.
Sharper than dagger-point, finer than hair-breadth
Is the way they traverse.
Those that by the Master's grace have egoism discarded,
Their desire into the Lord is absorbed.
Saith Nanak : Age after age God's devotees tread way from the world different. (14)

Jiūṃ Tūṃ chalāch tiv chalenh swāmī horu kyā jāṇāṇ guṇa terei

Lord ! I follow as Thou dost guide— P. 919
Little know I of Thy qualities.[2]
Those guided by Thee along the path
Follow as Thou dost guide.

2. Lit. What know I . . . ?

Those whom by Thy grace Thou dost inspire with
devotion to the Name,
Meditate ever on the Lord's Name.
Those from Thee listening to Thy discourse[1]
By the Master's guidance[2] find bliss..
Saith Nanak : Lord holy and immaculate ! as is Thy will dost
Thou guide me. (15)

Ehu sohilā shabadu suhāwā

Beautiful is this song of Divine laudation.
In words beautiful has the holy Preceptor ever delivered the Divine laudation.
In the mind of such is it lodged as primally with this are blessed.
Some wander about much, talk plentifully;
None by wagging of tongue has to the Lord attained.
Saith Nanak : In words beautiful has the holy Preceptor
The paean of Divine laudation delivered. (16)

Pavitu hoe se janāṇ jinnhīṇ Hari dhiyāiyā

Those meditating on the Lord have holiness attained :
Those, who have meditated on the Lord, by the Guru's grace become holy.
Holy their mother, father, family, friends;
Holy all those with them associated.
Holy those on the Lord discoursing;
Holy the listeners; holy those in the heart lodging the Lord's contemplation.
Saith Nanak : Holy are those that by the Master's guidance
In the Lord's contemplation engage. (17)

Karmīṇ sahaju na ūpjai viṇu sahajai sahsā na jāe

By ritual acts comes not serenity;[3] without serene contemplation[3] is not doubt lifted :
By ritual discipline is doubt not lifted, all ritual gone waste.
In doubt is the mind made impure; by what discipline is it washed pure ?
By devotion to the holy Word wash the mind;
In devotion to the Lord be engaged.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's favour arises serenity;
Thus is doubt from the self banished. (18)

Jiyuhṇ mailei bāharuhṇ nirmal

Those with mind impure, their outside washed pure;

---

1. Lit. Those to whom Thou dost discourse (narrate).
2. Lit. Through the Master.
3. Original, Sahaj.

Washed pure without and impure within,
On a gamble have they their life forfeited.
Gripped by the great malady of desire, death have they forgotten.
Unmindful of the merit of devotion to[1] the Name in Scriptuers[2] related.
Like goblins they wander about.
Saith Nanak : Those neglectful of holy Truth, in falsehood involved.
On a gamble is their life forfeited. (19)

Jīyūhṇ nirmal bāharuhṇ nirmal

Those pure within and without;
Pure without and within;
And on the holy Preceptor's guidance acting—
The touch of evil approaches them not,
In the Truth their thought-waves absorbed.
Blessed are the merchants that earn profit of the holy life's jewels.
Saith Nanak : Those with minds pure, ever with the Master abide. (20)

Je ko sikkhu Gurū setī sanmukhu hovai

The seeker[3] that in the Master's presence abides;
Abiding with the Master ever, his heart in the Master absorbed;
Contemplating with fervour the Master's holy feet, meditating on him in his inner self;
Discarding egoism, on the Master leans,
In nothing else his trust reposing—
Saith Nanak : Listen devotees of God ! P. 920
Such a seeker[3] is said in the Master's presence to abide. (21)

Je ko Guru te vemukhu hovai binu Satiguru mukti na pāwai

Should one from the Master turn away, without the Master's guidance shall he not attain liberation.
By no other means[4] shall he find liberation :
Inquire of those with true discrimination[5] endowed.
After wandering over endless births, without the holy Preceptor's guidance
Shall he not find liberation.

1. Original, Nām.
2. Original, Vedas.
3. Original, Sikh
4. In no other place.
5. Original, Bibeki (Viveki).

Liberation shall at last come as the holy Preceptor's feet he touches,
And to his Word listens.[1]
Saith Nanak, contemplate this and resolve :
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance none liberation obtains. (22)

Āwuh Sikkh Satigurū ke pyāriho gāwuh sacchī bāṇī

Come, holy Preceptor's loving disciples,
Chant the holy Word :
The Master's Word chant that over all utterance is supreme.
This enters the minds of those by Divine grace favoured.
Thus quaffing amrita, in ecstasy of the Lord abide;
Ever the Lord of the Universe[2] contemplate.
Saith Nanak : Chant ever the holy Word. (23)

Satigurū binā hor kacchī hai bāṇī

Utterance other than the holy Preceptor's is hollow.[3]
Other than the holy Preceptor's utterance is hollow,[3] insubstantial.
Those uttering it, listening to it, hollow;[3] by the raw minds[3] enunciated.
These the Lord's Name by their tongues utter,
Yet of their utterance are unmindful.
Those with hearts by Maya deluded, are to glib utterance given.
Saith Nanak : Utterance other than the holy Precepotor's is hollow.[3] (24)

Gugu kā shabadu ratannu hai hīrei jit jaṛāo

The Master's Word is a diamond, With rubies studded.
Precious diamonds is the holy Word to which is the heart attached,
Therein absorbed.
As to the Word is the self attached, devotion to the holy Eternal is formed.
Himself diamond, ruby; Himself realization grants to whom
He pleases;
Saith Nanak : The Word is a diamond with rubies studded. (25)

---

1. Lit. As the Holy Preceptor (to him) the Word expounds.
2. Original. Saringapani (He who holds the earth in hand).
3. Original. Kacchi - unbaked, raw.

Shiv shakti āpi upāekai kartā āpei hukamu vartāe

Himself has the Creator made the Essence[1] and mutability,[2]
And His Ordinance made operative.
His Ordinace He makes operative, over it watches—
Its mystery by the Master's guidance a rare one realizes :
Such a one his bonds snaps, finds liberation,
And in the self the Word lodges.
One Godward-directed by the Lord Himself,
To the Sole Supreme forms devotion.
Saith Nanak : Himself the Creator;
Himself the realization of His decree grants. (26)

Simriti shāstra punn pāp bīchārdei tatai sār na jāṇī

Some study Simritis, Shastras and issues of merit and sin yet know not the Essence.
Without the Guru, no one knows the essence.
In the Three Qualities is the world wandering, asleep;
In sleep life's night passed.
By the Master's grace are awakened those in whoe self is the Lord lodged—
Amrita their utterance.
Saith Nanak : Such alone the Essence realize as day after day
in devotion engage—
In wakefulness is their life's nigt passed. (27)

Mātā ke udar mehṇ pratipāl karei so kiūṃ manuh visārīyai

Why be forgetful of Him who in Mother's womb each being cherishes ?
Why forget him, the supremely bountiful Lord,
Who in fire of the womb sustenance provides ?
Nothing can touch one that with devotion to Him is inspired.
To Himself He inspires devotion, by the Master's grace contemplated. P.921
Saith Nanak : Why foreget the Supreme bountiful Lord ? (28)

Jaisī agni udar mehṇ taisī bāhari māyā

Flaming as the fire within the womb is Maya without.
Destructive as fire of the womb is Maya—
The Creator this place has set up,
By His will is the creature born, to his family in affection attached;
As of devotion he gets bereft, desire and Maya over him rule.
This Maya, of God makes the creature forgetful, creates attachment,

1. Original, Shiva (Siva).
2. Shakti (Sakti).

And in duality involves him.
Saith Nanak : Those that by the Master's grace,
in devotion engage,
Even in Maya's involvement realization find. (29)

Hari āpi amulku hai mulli na pāiya jāe

Invaluable is the Lord; none His worth may estimate :
None His worth can estimate, though the world for this yearns.[1]
Should a Preceptor supremely holy be met,
To him should one surrender one's head, shedding thus the ego;[2]
Uniting to its true Master the self, lodging in it the Lord.
Invaluable is the Lord.
Supremely fortunate, Saith Nanak, are those to whom this wealth comes.[3] (30)

Hari rāsi merī manu vanjārā

The Lord is my capital; the self the merchant.
The Lord is my capital; the self the merchant—
From the holy Preceptor is this capital obtained.
Listen you of God's creation ! Ever contemplate the Lord,
And day after day earn this profit.
This wealth comes to those of the Lord are blessed,
Saith Nanak : The Lord is my capital; the self thereof
the merchant. (31)

Ei rasnā tūṃ anrasi rāchi rahī terī pyāsi na jāe

My tongue[4] ! to tastes other than God art thou attached ;
Thus thy desire goes not.
By other tastes goes not out desire, till the Lord's taste be enjoyed.[5]
With enjoying of the Lord's taste, desire torments not again.
By grace is such taste obtained, by the holy Preceptor's touch.[6] Saith Nanak : Discarded are other tastes, As in mind is lodged the Lord. (32)

Ei sarīrā meriyā Hari tum mehn joti rakhī tā tūṃ jag mehṇ āiyā

My body[7] ! the Lord in you placed His light; then did you into the world arrive :

1. Lit. Cries, wails, Cf. Japuji, XXIV.
2. Should such a holy Preceptor be met, to him should one surrender one's head, so that the ego may vanish.
3. That have in possession this wealth.
4. The palate, organ of taste, is implied.
5. Lit. Obtained.
6. Lit. Meeting.
7. Limbs are implied.

As did the Lord place in you His lightt, into the world did arrive arrive.
The Lord is mother and father, who created thee and of the world granted the vision.
As by the Master's grace came realization;
A play it appeared, as play was it viewed.
Saith Nanak : As the Lord the creation began, His light in you He placed ;
Thus did you into the World arrive. (33)

Mani chāo bhayā Prabh āgamu suṇiyā

Joy filled was the self, as the report of the Lord's advent came.[1]
My damsel-friends ! sing songs of joy;
My home is tonight the Lord's temple.
My damsels, sing ever songs of joy !
May sorrow and suffering visit us not.
By touch of the Master's feet are my days fortune-filled.
In sight of the Beloved passed.
From the Master's teaching is learned the mystic Word;
From contemplation of the Name Divine have joy in the Lord.
Saith Nanak : Union with Lord has come about, P. 922
Whose might is supreme ever all. (34)

Ei sarīrā meriyā isu jag mehṇ āe kai kyā tudhu karam kamāiyā

Listen, my body ! what good[2] hast thou in this life performed ?
What thy deeds since thy coming into this world ?
Thou hast not lodged into thy mind the Lord who has made thee !
By the primal Writ is the Lord in the mind lodged,
By the Master's grace.
Saith Nanak : The body shall find acceptance with God,
Through devotion to the holy Master.[3] (35)

Ei netruh meriho Hari tum mehṇ joti dharī Hari binu awaru na dekhuh koī

Listen, my eyes ! to you has the Lord granted light :
Nothing beside Him behold !
Beside the Lord, nothing behold;
By His grace Him have I beheld !
This poison-laden world that you behold, is the Divine image—

1. Was heard.
2. Good actions.
3. Original, Sati-Guru.

In it is beheld the Lord's image.
By the Master's grace has this realization come :
Wherever I look, God alone I see; nothing but God is visible,
Saith Nanak : Blind of sight were my eyes;
By the holy Preceptor's touch have they found illuminated vision. (36)

Ei sravanuh meriho Sāchai sunaṇai noṇ pathāe

Listen, my ears ! to listen to holy truth are you by the Eternal Lord into this world sent.
To listen to holy truth are you in the body provided,
That the holy Word you listen.
This whoever has listened, joyful is his mind and body rendered.
His tongue[1] with joy imbued.
Inaccessible, wonderful is holy truth :
Indescribable its greatness !
Saith Nanak : Listen to the Name ambrosial;
Render yourselves pure !
To listen to holy truth have you been sent here. (37)

Hari jīo guphā andari rakhi kai vājā pawaṇu vajāiyā

The Lord, in cave of the self the wind-instrument of breath plays Playing this instrument has He created the Nine Doors;
The Tenth[2] has He kept secret.
To those by the Master's guidance devoted is the Tenth Door revealed.
There is beheld the Lord in forms infinite;
His Name, bestower of Nine Treasures,[3] of illimitable extent.
Saith Nanak : In the cave of the self, the Beloved Lord plays the instrument of breath. (38)

Ehu sāchā sohilā sāchai ghari gāwuh

With mind purified[4] chant you this holy song of joy[5] !
Sing you the holy song with mind purified,[4]
That ever in holy meditation is absorbed.
In holy meditation are such absorbed as please Thee,
As by the Master are illumination granted.

1. The palate is implied.
2. The seat of super-consciousness.
3. See Glossary.
4. Lit. In the abode of purity.
5. Implies this text, with the caption Anandu (Bliss)

This holy truth is Lord of all—
By Divine grace found.
Saith Nanak : With minds purified sing you the song of joy.[1] (39)

Anandu suṇahu wad-bhagī ho sagal manorath pūrei

You that are supremely fortunate, listen to this song of joy.[1]
Fulfiller of all desires.[2]
By this is attained the Supreme Being Transcendent,
And all sorrows end :
Absorption in the holy Word banishes sorrows,
maladies and torments;
Brings joy to God's devotees, companions in purity,
Those by the holy Master enlightened.
Those listening to it are rendered pure, those uttering it are made holy;
The holy Lord they behold pervasive.
To the suppliant Nanak, by touch of the holy Master's feet,
The mystic music is played. (40)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 923

Sadd (The Call)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jagi dātā soe bhagati-vacchhlu tihu loe jīo

The Bestower of favours to the entire world in the three realms
Is He alone, Beloved of His devotees;
Realized[3] by those absorbed in the Master's Word;
to all others ineffable.
Those through the Master's Word meditating on the Sole Name of God,
Nothing beside Him worship :
By grace of Guru Nanak and Guru Angad the supreme state they attain.
As arrived the command to depart,
The holy Guru[4] in God's Name was absorbed;

1. Anand.
2. Desire to attain holy illumination is implied.

Note : This bani is a transcript of the scene of the passing away of Guru Amar Das, by his great-grandson, Baba Sundar. He was grandson of Guru Amar Das's son Baba Mohri, and son of Baba Anand. This noble and solemn piece is recited on the occasion of memorial service to the dead.

3. Lit. Know.
4. I.e. Guru Amar Das.

By devotion did he attain the Lord immortal, immeasureable,
eternal. (1)

Hari bhāṉā Guru bhāiyā Guru jāwai Hari-Prabh pās jīo

The holy Guru is gladness of heart obeyed the Lord's will,
That to the Divine Presence he come.
The holy Guru supplicated the Lord, "This is my prayer :
Protect you my honour."
The honour of the Lord's devotees pray cherish;
Grant me devotion to the Name immaculate,
That in the last hour of departure may our helper be,
And discomfit Yama's minions and death.
The holy Guru's supplication the Lord heard;
In His grace granted him union,
With words of praise and adulation. (2)

Merei sikkh suṉahu putt bhāīho merai Hari bhāṉā āo maiṇ pāsi jīo

Said the holy Guru : Listen my disciples, sons and brothers,
The Lord's command has arrived, Himself calling me.
The Lord's will the Guru has obeyed :
The Lord's pleasure on me is showered.
The true devotee of Guru is he who willingly His command obeys.
For such shall be bliss and the mystic concert;
In the Lord's clasp are they held.
You who are my sons, brothers, family.
Test this way for yourselves.
The Writ issued from the Divine Court none may turn away—
Towards the Lord must the holy Guru take departure. (3)

Satiguri bhāṉai āpṉai bahi parvāru sadāiyā

By his wish the holy Guru his entire family to himself called.
Saith the Guru : Lest any after me should cry.
Such shall no way please me.
Those in love with their friend should feel happy in his honour and joy.
Consider, my sons and brothers !
The Lord the holy Guru has honoured.
The holy Guru in his own presence,
On Guru Ram Das the royalty[1] conferred;
All his disciples, relations, sons, brothers
At Ram Das's feet were enjoined upon to bow. (4)

1. Royalty is the symbol for the Guru's exalted position.

Antei Satiguru boliyā maiṇ pichhai kīrtanu kariyuh nirbāṉu jīo

At the close thus spake the holy Guru :
After I am gone, sing the Lord's praise holy;
Call the learned,[1] versed in the Divine Scripture, to recite the Lord's teaching, holy like Puranas.
Recite Divine teaching, listen to the Lord's Name :
Such shall my funeral be :
With joy in the Lord is the Guru pleased.
Rice-offerings on leaves, lamps on the eleventh day
you eschew :
Instead, in the pool of holy company you put these.
The holy Guru spoke as pleased the Lord;
With the Lord was the enlightened one united.
On Ram Das Sodhi's forehead was the paste-mark drawn,
Sign of holy enlightenment,[2] symbol of purity. (5)

Satiguru purakhu ji boliyā Guru-sikkhāṇ manni laī razāe jīo P. 924

As had the holy Guru guided, his disciples to his will bowed,
Came forward his son Mohri, and touched
Ram Das's feet :
All touched the Guru's feet, on whom had the holy Master his own light[3] conferred.
Any that out of envy refrained from bowing,
In the end by the Master's commandment their obeisance offered.
By the Divine will was this greatness conferred,
As Writ since Primal Time by the Lord predestined.
Saith Sundar : Listen all you devoted to the Master !
The whole world at Ram Das's feet made obeisance. (6) (1)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sājanṛā merā sājanṛā nikati khaloiyaṛā merā sājanṛā

The Beloved close to me has paused to stand;
The Divine Beloved, dear as life, at me has cast His glance :

1. (This is the correct interpretation of this difficult line).
2. Original Shabda.
3. Āp = self, light of self.

His glance has cast He who in each being[1] is pervasive[2]—
Loved as rich[3] amrita—
Though abiding with the self, yet the ignorant
Not knowing the objective of life, to attain Him have not the power—
Intoxicated by Maya's grog, in petty considerations involved;
Siding with illusion, union with Him cannot attain.
Saith Nanak : The Beloved who close to each is standing,
Without the Master is not made visible. (1)

Gobindā merei Gobindā prāṉ adhārā merei Gobindā

Lord, sustenance of my life !
Gracious One, Bestower of boons !
Bestower of boons, of illimitable extent, in each being[1] resplendent.
A handmaid[4] hast Thou made, who everywhere is spread,
And who on all beings has cast delusion.
Whomsoever the Lord saves, by contemplation of the
Master's Word
To truth gives utterance.
Of such alone is the Lord beloved.
As please Him. (2)

Māṉo Prabh māṉo merei Prabh ka māṉo

On the Lord is placed my reliance.[5]
Lord all-wise, and sapient all to you is known :
All-wise, supreme over all is the Lord's Name ambrosial.
Such alone by tasting of the Lord of the universe[6] are satiated,
As on forehead good fortune have recorded.
Him such alone have attained, as on Him have meditated—
On Him all their reliance placed.
Saith Nanak : On the imperishable throne seated,
Holy is His court. (3)

Mangalā Hari manglā merei Prabh kai suṉīyai mangalā

Listen to the Lord's paeans of joy.
Listen to tune of the Lord's unsounded paean.
Raised is resounding sound of unstruck music,
Proclaiming eternal felicity.

---

1. Vessel.
2. Asleep.
3. Thick (such as rich milk or juice).
4. Implies Maya.
5. The original implies reliance with pride in the succourer.
6. Saring-pani (holder in hand of the earth or the bow).

On the Lord who neither is born nor dies, meditate,
And all boons attain.
By union with Lord beyond attributes, by guidance of the Master.
Is assuaged desire[1] and fulfilled are objectives.
Saith Nanak : In the house of the Lord is heard sound of eternal felicity. (4) (1)

Hari Hari dhiyāye manā khinu na visārīyai P. 925

My self ! On the Lord meditate, putting Him out of mind
Not for an instant.
The Lord's Name in the self[2] and heart lodge;
In the heart lodge the Lord, Being perfection incarnate,
Supreme Lord immaculate,
Annuller of fear, destroyer of sin,
Who suffering unbearable and transmigration effaces.
Merits of the Lord, Master of the universe, cherisher,
Spouse of felicity[3] contemplate.
States Nanak prayerfully : in holy congregation
Day and night contemplate Him. (1)

Charan Kamal ādhāru jana kā āsrā

Of God's servant the sustenance and prop are God's lotus feet;
His substance, property, treasures—reliance on the Name illimitable.
Those that in treasure of the Lord's puissant Name[4] place reliance, Joy in the Sole Lord have.
On the Lord, endless joy, beauty and delight incarnate, witb each breath they meditate.
The Name, annuller of sin, supreme expiation,
Yama's fear annuls.
States Nanak in humility : God's servant's wealth is Refuge in the Divine lotus feet. (2)

Guṇa beant Swāmī Terei koe na jānaī

Lord, Thy merits endless to none are unknown.
Compassionate One ! seeing and hearing of Thy wondrous doings,[5]
Thy devotee of them discourses.

---

1. Thirst.
2. Throat.
3. Madho (Madhav), spouse of Lakshmi, goddess of felicity—attributive name of Vishnu, here implying God.
4. Nar Hari = (Man-God), an attributive name of Vishnu, implying God.
5. In original implying 'feats'.

All beings on Thee meditate,
Thou who art Master of beings, the Supreme Lord.
Lord gracious : all before Thee are seekers,
Thou the Sole Provider.
Such alone are the holy, the devotees, he truly wise
As of the Lord are approved.
States Nanak in humility : Such alone as have Thy grace,
Of Thee have realization. (3)

Mohi nirguṇa anāthu sharnīṇ āiyā

I that am devoid of merit, friendless,
To Thy shelter have come.
To the Master, Divinely-inspired am I a sacrifice,
Who the Name in me has confirmed :
As by the Master was the Name imparted, came weal,
And fulfilled were all desires.
Assuaged was burning agony, came peace,
And were the long-separated united.
In joy, happiness, holy poise and supreme felicity
Was sung Divine laudation.
States Nanak in humility : From the Master,
perfectly-endowed
Was attained the Name Divine. (4) (2)

Ruṇjhuṇo shabadu anāhadu nit uthi gāīyai santan kai

The trilling sound of mystic music ever on waking,
In the abode of the holy is raised.
By the Master's Word is contemplated the Name Divine, Shatterer of sins and evil.
By uttering the Name Divine quaff amrita—
Night and day to Him make supplication.
Merit of Yoga, charities and all ritual acts by touching the Divine lotus feet
Are achieved.
Loving devotion to the gracious Divine Charmer
All suffering takes away.
States Nanak in humility : By meditation on the puissant[1] Lord
Is crossed the ocean of existence. (1)

1. Nar-Hari (Man-Lion), stands for an incarnation of Vishnu, here symbolizing God.

Svkh sāgar Gobind simraṇu bhagat gāwehṇ guṇa Terei Rāma

Contemplation of the Lord is ocean of joy;
Thy devotees, Lord ! Thy merits sing.
Joy and bliss they attain who to the Guru's feet attach themselves,
And they attain peace infinite.
The wealth of bliss they obtain, and all their woes are ended.
By His favour has the Lord saved them.
By touching the Divine feet did illusion and fear flee,
And the Name Divine on my tongue found uttered.
One Sole Lord it contemplates, one Sole Lord sings,
And the Sole Lord my gaze has struck.
Saith Nanak in humility : By the Lord's grace was attained P. 926
The holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed. (2)

Mili rahīyai Prabh sādh janāṇ mili Hari kīrtanu sunīyai Rāma

Ever among the holy abide; in unison with them to Divine laudation listen.
Of merits of the Lord gracious, Divine Being[1]
Is no end attainable :
The Lord compassionate, annuller of suffering, provider of shelter
Of all evils destroyer.
Attachment, sorrow, evils hard to subdue
By utterance of the Name are annulled.
Lord ! Thine is all creation :
Show grace that I turn dust of feet of all.
Thus supplicates Nanak : Lord ! show grace that in utterance of Thy Name I find life. (3)

Rākhi līyei Prabhi bhagat janāṇ apṇīṇ charaṇīn lāe Rāma

The Lord by attaching them to His feet His devotees has saved :
Day and night[2] the Lord they contemplate,
On the Sole Name meditating :
By meditation on the Lord the ocean of existence they cross,
Their transmigration annulled.
As the Lord's will is felt sweet,
Ever-present is joy, weal and Divine laudation.
By contact with the holy Preceptor perfectly-endowed,
Are all desires fulfilled and hopes realized.

1. Damodar, Madho are two attributive names, the former of Krishna, the latter of Vishnu, both symbolizing God.
2. All eight pahars.

Note : As in Chhants elsewhere in Gurbani, at th end of some lines occurs Rama, which is a euphonious refrain.

States Nanak in humility : As union by the Lord is granted,
Nevermore is felt suffering and pining in sorrow,
As by the Lord to Himself we are united. (4) (3)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)

Sloka

Charan kamal sharaṇagatī anand mangal guṇa gām

By seeking shelter with the Divine lotus feet,
In joy and felicity Divine laudation I sing.
Saith Nanak : To the Lord, annuller of afflictions your supplication make. (1)

Chhant (Lyrics)

Prabhu bipati nivāraṇo tisu binu awaru na koe jio

The Lord is sole annuller of afflictions—none other.
Ever the Lord contemplate, who water and land pervades :
Pervading water and land, for an instant may He not be
put out of mind :
Since touching the Master's feet have our days turned auspicious—
All this is owing to the Lord's great merit.
Thou servant of God ! serve Him day and night :
All shall come to happen as by Him willed.
Nanak to the Provider of joy is a sacrifice :
May my mind and body be illumined ! (1)

Sloka

By contemplation of the Lord are mind and body made joyful,
And shattered are thoughts of duality.
Nanak has taken shelter with the cherisher of the Universe,
The Lord succourer from affliction. (1)

Chhant (Lyric)

Bhai sankat kātei Nārāyaṇ dayāl jīo

The Lord compassionate fear and afflictions has annulled.
In joy have we sung laudation of the Lord,
Cherisher of the humble, Provider of all :
The Sole Supreme Being, eternal, is the Provider—
With Him is our love formed.
As on His feet we placed our hands and forehead, union He granted,
And made us ever wakeful, each day of our life.
Our life, body, house, abode; our limbs, youth,[1] substance is His.
Ever is Nanak a sacrifice to Provider of all beings. (2)

---

1. Joban (applied meaning, beauty).

Sloka

My tongue utters the Lord's Name, discoursing of Divine merits.
Nanak has sought shelter with the sole Lord, who at the last is the Saviour. (1)

Chhant (Lyric)

So swāmī Prabhu rakkhako anchali Tā kai lāgu jīo

My self ! attach thyself to the Lord's lappet,[1] who is the succourer
In congregation of the holy to the Lord gracious be devoted,
And egoistic thinking discard :
Seek one shelter alone; dedicate the self,
Reposing hope in the Divine prop of the earth. P. 927
By absorption in holy company, in joy of the Name
All beings the ocean of existence cross.
Discarded then are evils of transmigration, and no
blemish to such attaches.
Nanak is a sacrifice to the Supreme Being, perfection incarnate,
With whom is marital bliss[2] eternal. (3)

Sloka

Righteousness, worldly prosperity, happiness and the Supreme objective of liberation[3]—
All these, saith Nanak, by writ recorded on the forehead[4]
are attained. (1)

Chhant (Lyric)

Sagal icchh merī punnīyā miliyā Nirajan Rāe jīo

As is met the Divine immaculate Being, are all my desires fulfilled.
You fortunate ones, bliss has come.
As in my home[5] has the Lord manifested Himself.
To my home[5] has come the precious Beloved by earned merit of previous births—
Beyond expression is His laudation.
Limitless, perfection incarnate, donor of joyful poise—
By what tongue may I recount His merits ?
Himself clasping us to His bosom[6] has He granted union—
No place of shelter is for us other than He.

1. That is, seek shelter with Him.
2. (This imagery is met with frequently in Gurubani).
3. (This is a statement of the four objectives of life according to Hinduism— Dharma, artha, kama, moksha).
4. Implies good fortune recorded as a result of good deeds of earlier lives.
5. The self is implied.
6. Neck.

Nanak to the Creator is ever a sacrifice,
Who in all is pervasive. (4) (4)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Ruṃ-jhunjhanṛā gāo sakhi Hari ek dhiyāwuh

My sister-friends, sing trilling tunes, and on the sole Lord meditate.
My sister-friend, serve the holy Preceptor,
And your heart's desire obtain.

(This hymn ends here.)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ruttin (The Seasons) Slokas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kari bandan Prabh pār-Brahṃ bachhoṇ sādhah-dhūri

Making obeisance to the Lord, Supreme Being, dust of feet of the holy I seek.
Eliminating the ego, in devotion I utter.
Name of the Lord pervasive in the universe. (1)
On the Divine King, annuller of sin, remover of fear, ocean of joy, Compassionate to the humble, shatterer of suffering,
Saith Nanak, ever meditate. (2)

Chhant (Lyric)

Jasu gāwuh wad-bhāgīho kari kirpā bhagvant jīo

You fortunate ones, by grace of the Lord of felicity.
His laudation sing.
The self, uttering His merits, in seasons, months, hours, half-hours[1]
Exalted feels.
In love of Divine attributes are absorbed those blessed ones,
That with concentration of mind on Him meditate.
Fruitful is the life of such as the Lord have attained.
Charities and ritual actions equal not devotion to the Lord.
That all sins destroys.
States Nanak in humility : My self ! contemplate Him
And from transmigration find release. (1)

Sloka

Beyond reach and knowing is the endeavour to make obeisance at the Divine lotus feet;

1. Ghari, a measure of time, a little less than half an hour.

Saith Nanak, such utterance alone pleases Thee
As inspires seeking prop of Thy Name. (1) Friend ! Seek shelter with God's devotees, and the Lord beyond limit contemplate.
Saith Nanak : By utterance of the Name Divine
Are shrivelled stocks turned green. (2)
Chhant (Lyric)

Ruti saras Basant māh chetu vaisākh sukh māsu jīo

Joyful is spring season; happy are months of Chet and Baisakh[1].
By union with the Divine Spouse are abloom
Mind, body and breath.
My sister-friend ! in living with the Spouse at home[2] comes joy imperishable. P. 928
And the heart by touch of His lotus feet is abloom.
Beauteous, elegant, all-knowing, enlightened
Is the Lord, of invaluable attributes—
By great good frotune attained.
Eliminated is suffering,
Fulfilled are all desires.
States Nanak in humility : In Thy shelter is effaced Yama's fear. (2)
Sloka :
Devoid of company of the holy is the world straying
to exhaustion,[3]
Performing numerous rituals acts.
Saith Nanak : By reckoning of deeds is it bound
In attractive bonds.[4] (1)
Such as please Him are united; those sequestered too by Him are cast off.
Saith Nanak : With the Lord of mighty glory seek I shelter. (2)
Chhant (Lyric)

Grīkhan ruti ati gākharī jeth akhāṛai ghām jīo

Hard to bear is the summer seasons,
With heat of Jeth and Asarh.[5]

---

1. Chet corresponds to March-April. Baisakh to April-May.
2. The self is implies.
3. To death.
4. Bonds of passion and desire are meant.
5. Jeth=May-June; Asarh=June-July.

The female of cursed matrimony[1] cast off from His love.
By the Lord is not blessed with a glance :
Devoid of the Lord's glance, in sighing she suffers,
Deluded by her great pride.
Like a fish out of water in agony she writhes,
As in Maya-attachment to the Lord she is indifferent.
By her sins fallen into transmigration is she in terror,
By Yama chastized.
Prays Nanak in humility : Thy shelter I seek— Fulfiller of objective, save me ! (3)
Sloka :
As to the Divine Beloved is my devotion attached,
For an instant can I not bear His separation.
Saith Nanak : Spontaneously my heart and body has
He come to pervade. (1)
The Beloved, my friend over multiple births
By the arm grasped me.
Saith Nanak : The Lord in love of His heart
His handmaid made me.
Chhant (Lyric)

Ruti barasu suhelīyā Savaṇ Bhādavei ānand jīo

Joyful is the rainy season,
With bliss of Savan and Bhadon.[2]
Raining are low clouds, and water and land
With fragrant juice of flowers are filled.
In all spots is the Lord pervasive;
With the Name Divine, source of the Nine Treasures[3]
Is the heart filled.
Contemplate the Lord, searcher of hearts—
Thereby shall all your forebears be saved.
By being awake with the Beloved, gracious, everlastingly the saviour.
No blemish to one attaches.
States Nanak in humility : The Divine Spouse have I attained,
Who ever is beloved of heart. (4)
Sloka :
Thirsting with yearing to behold the Lord I wander.

1. Image for those without devotion.
2. Savan=July-August; Bhadon=August-September.
3. See Glossary.

Prayeth Nanak : Is there any among the holy who may bring about such union ? (1)
Without union comes not peace to heart—
Not for an instant may life be lived.
Saith Nanak : By seeking shelter with God's saints is this desire fulfilled. (2)
Chhant (Lyrics)

Ruti sharad adambaro Assū Kattakei Hari piyās jīo

With splendour of cold weather, in Assu and Katak[1] is aroused yearing for the Lord.
The seeker-female goes about questing for His sight—
When will union with the Repository of merit be ?
Without the beloved Spouse is not attained essence of joy—
Cursed is decking with necklaees and bracelets.
Be the woman beauteous, intelligent, of supple understanding and thoughtful—
Yet without the Lord is she like body without breath.
In all places in ten directions she looks :
The heart for union with the Lord yearns.
Prayeth Nanak in humility : Show grace;[2]
With the Divine repository of merit grant union. (5)
Sloka
Assuaged is burning agony, joy-cooled are our mind and body, P. 929
And aroused is peace of mind.
Saith Nanak : As is met the Lord, perfection incarnate,
Shattered is illusion of duality. (1)
The holy by the Lord Himself are sent along,
To declare, from us is He not far.
Saith Nanak : Effaced are doubt and fear.
By contemplation of the Lord all-pervasive. (2)
Chhant (Lyric)

Ruti sisīyar sītal Hari pragatei Manghar Pohi jīo

In the cold of winter is manifested the Lord
In Maghar and Poh.[3]
Assuaged is burning agony as is obtained sight of the Lord;

1. Assu (Asuj)=September-October; Katak (Kartik)=October-November.
2. (This prayer is made to God's devotees).
3. Maghar (Mangsher)=November-December; Poh (Paus)=December-January.

Shattered are Maya-illusions
Fulfilled are all objectives by union manifest with the Lord,
As the Lord by servants serving at[1] His feet is served.
Necklaces, pearl-string, decoration and all joy,
By chanting laudation of the Lord inaccessible,
of unknowable mystery
Are obtained.
As loving devotion to the Lord is sought, Yama dare not cast eyes on such a one.
States Nanak in humility : To one united by the Lord Himself Never again comes separation in love. (6)
Sloka
As has the woman of blessed matrimony[2] attained wealth of the Lord,
Nevermore is her mind shaken with doubt.
Saith Nanak : In union with the holy
In our home is manifested the Divine friend. (1)
Tuneful music, pleasing sights, joy and marvels
In union with the Beloved lie.
Saith Nanak : In uttering the Name Divine
Is attained heart's desire. (2)
Chhant (Lyric)

Himkar ruti mani bhāvatī Māghu Phagganu gunvant jīo

Pleasing to the heart is the season of snows,
In noble months of Magh and Phagun.[3]
My sister-friends ! sing paeans of joy,
As in my home has arrived the Divine Spouse :
The Beloved to my home has come as by the mind contemplated;
Decked is the splendid couch.
Forest, grass-blades, the three worlds have bloomed,
As by his sight I am charmed.
By union with the Lord is my desire fulfilled,
As in mind the holy incantation[4] is contemplated.
States Nanak in humility : Disport you ever in joy,
As is met the Divine Spouse. (7)

1. Of.
2. Image for the devotee.
3. Māgh=January-February; Phagun=February-March.
4. The sacred Word is implied.

Sloka
Devotees of God are helpers of the self,
Ferrying it across the ocean of existence.
Saith Nanak : Know those cherishing love for the Name
As exalted over all. (1)
Those realizing the Lord are saved—
They are true heroes and the brave.
Nanak to such is a sacrifice
As by contemplation of the Lord have crossed to the other shore. (2)
Chhant (Lyric)

Charaṇ birājit sabh ūparei mitiyā sagal klesu jīo

Those lodging the Divine feet in heart are exalted over all—
Effaced is all their affliction.
Cast off is their suffering of transmigration,
As has Divine devotion entered their heart.
Those dyed in love of God. poise-inspired,
For an instant cast Him not out of mind.
Discarding egoism, to shelter of feet of the Lord, repository of all merit
Have they come.
To the Lord, treasure of merit, Master of felicity, Primal Being,
Make I obeisance.
Prayeth Nanak in humility : Show grace, you who in all ages are unchanging. (8) (1.6.8)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Dakhni Oankar*

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Oankari Brahmā utpatti

From the Supreme Being, Sole and unique[1] got Brahma his existence.
Who in mind bore the Supreme Being, Sole and unique.
From the Supreme Being, Sole and unique took birth mountains and Yugas.

---

* This Bani (Composition) is in the form of an acrostic, as are some other Banis. This was the usual mode in poetry to express matter of a serious import. The arrangement of letters used here does not follow the strict alphabetical order. These are to be taken as more a concession to a mode than an acrostic made strictly in accordanace with the rules of that genre.

1. Oankar, which is written with O or Om, the first vowel-letter.

By the Supreme Being, Sole and unique were created the Vedas. P. 930
By grace of the Supreme Being, Sole and unique were beings saved through the holy Word.
By grace of the Supreme Being, sole and unique, by guidance of the Master are beings saved.
Listen to discourse on the syllable Om[1] worthy of obeisance—
Om, worthy of obedience that of the three worlds is the essence. (1)
Listen thou Brahmin pedagogue ! what rigmarole art the writing ?
Indite by the Master's guidance, the Name Divine, cherisher of the universe. (1-Pause)

Sassai sabhu jagu sahaji upāiyā tīni bhavan ik jotī

By S learn : The whole universe He effortlessly created,
And in the three worlds spread His light.
By the Master's guidance is obtained wealth[2] of the Name—
Gather thou these orient pearls.
Such a seeker learns, and views this truth,
By learning realizes that within all beings is enshrined
the holy Eternal :
Him by the Master's guidance He envisions and the truth contemplates :
Without realization of the holy Eternal is the world
worthless[3] (2)

Dhaddai dharamu dharei dharmāpuri guṉkārī manu dhīrā

By DH learn : Those in the world, Realm of Righteousness performing good,
With merit are endowed, their minds in poise.
Again know by DH : As on one's face and forehead falls dust of feet of such
Iron particles into gold are transmuted.
Hail Divine upholder of the earth, unincarnated,
Of perfect measure, expression and truth.
The Creator's extent to the Creator Himself is known,
Or to the Master, supreme hero. (3)

---

1. The syllable onum (Om Namo) used in peragogery, that is associated with Oankar (Omkar).
2. Substance.
3. Raw, unbaked.

Gyān gawāiyā dūjā bhāiyā garabi galei bikhu khāiyā

Those sequestered from enlightenment in attachment to duality
In pride rot and consume poison.
To such, lays of Divine joy appearing meaningless, no appeal hold—
By listening to such is lost hold of the Lord, immensely profound.
By the Master's words of truth is obtained amrita,
And mind and body in truth find joy.
Himself the Lord by the Master's guidance grants amrita,
Himself sips of amrita administers. (4)

Eko eku kahai sabhu koī haumai garabu biyāpaī

Albeit all aver there is one Sole Creator, yet are gripped by egoism and pride.
One that realizes the Sole Creator pervasive within and without,
Of the Divine Abode and Mansion has realization.
Know the Lord to be near, not far—the Sole Lord all existence pervades.
Saith Nanak : The Sole Supreme Being, no other in the universe is pervasive. (5)

Isu Kartei kau kiun gahi rākhouṇ aphariyo tuliyo na jāī (I)

How may I keep in grip the active mind, that is arrogant, unbalanced ?
Beings maddened by Maya by falsehood are drugged.
Lost in subservience to greed and avarice,
Now and in the hereafter would they be in regret.
Any that serves the Sole Lord, alone of His state and extent realization may have,
And his transmigration be annulled. (6)

Eku achāru rangu iku rūpu

Himself is He cause of all doing, Himself source of all hues and forms;
Himself form of air, water and fire.
In the three worlds is one Sole Self moving :
By realization and vision of the Sole Divine
Being comes exaltation.
A rare one by enlightenment and meditation,
By the Master's guidance lives equably and to the Sole Supreme attains.
Whomsoever this in grace He grants, obtain joy,
And by the Master's guidance to it gives utterance. (7)

Ūram dhūram joti ujālā

On water and land is pervasive effulgence of His light;
In the three worlds abides the Divine Master.
Manifesting Himself, His form He shows,
And by grace into its own abode the self comes to abide.
Then as from low clouds rains from His stream of a fountain,
That by the noble word exaltation grants.
Whoever the mystery of this Sole Manifestation realizes,
Becomes in essence creator and a being manifested in light. (8)

Ugwai sūru asur sanghārai (O)

As rises sun of illumination demons of evil it destroys.
One so blessed, by contemplation of the Word viewing the Highest,
Brings under gaze what is high above, the origin of the universe,
Its end and the three worlds :
Himself the Lord creates, expounds enlightens and Himself listens. P. 931
The Creator bestows mind and body;
The Creator too in the mind and on the speaker's tongue[1] lodges.
The Lord is life of the universe, none other
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name comes exaltation. (9)

Rājan Rāma ravai hitkāri (R)

One that by loving devotion the Divine King contemplates,
In the battle against evil with his ego suppressed puts up a fight—
Night and day abiding dyed in love of God,
Reputed in the three worlds, over the Four Ages.
Whoever the Lord realizes, is like unto Him—
Pure in the extreme, his life[2] fruitful.
With bearing constant love for the Lord in heart
Comes to him joy,
As within him to the holy Word and the Eternal is devotion formed. (10)

Rosu na kījai amritu pījai rahaṇu nahīṇ sansārei (R)

Bear not wrath to any; quaff amrita of the Name :

1. Mouth.
2. Body, bodily life.

Know, our stay in the world is not lasting.
Kings, nobles, the poor—none shall last;
The Four Ages too are evanescent.
None follows adjuration to the way of life or instruction—
To whom shall I carry my supplication ?
The sole Word, the Name Divine is of unfailing power to turn away evil:
By instruction in this the Master exaltation grants. (11)

Lāj marantī mari gayī ghūngatu kholi chalī. (L)

False modesty that suppressed is ended; now with veil cast off[1] am I started on the way of devotion.
Doubt cast by Ignorance, the mad mother-in-law from my head is removed.
The Divine Spouse in disporting aspect has made call of love;
The heart with joyous sound is filled.
In devotion to the Beloved have I turned His handmaid—
By the Master's teaching relieved of all anxiety. (12)

Lāhā Nāmu ratanu japi sāru (L)

Holy contemplation of the jewel Name is true gain.
Evil is greed, avarice and pride.
Calumny, inuendo and back-biting.
The egoist is blind, a thoughtless brute.
Man to make gain in the world has arrived;
But turned labourer to Maya, is robbed.
Whoever has made profit of the Name and gathered capital of faith,
Saith Nanak : Noble is his repute, of noble royalty. (13)

Āye vigūtā jagu jam-panthu (A)

Man arrived in the world, treading Yama's path meets ignominy,
Powerless to efface effects of Maya.
Should pleasures of wealth even in the home of a low-born person be found,
At its sight bow to it both rich and poor.
By possession of wealth is a stupid person reckoned wise :
The World, devoid of devotion is gone mad.
The Lord in all beings is pervasive,
Manifesting Himself to whomsoever He shows grace. (14)

1. (The image is of the female, immured within conventions).

Jugi jugi thāpi sadā nirvairu (J)

Creating traditions of each Age, yet abides He above rancour—
Free from birth and death and rushing in involvement of affairs.
All that is visible is His Essence.
Himself He created and makes all beings.
Unknowable Himself, the world to various tasks has He set.
In Yoga-praxis too is manifested that life of the universe.
By good deeds and practice of truth is attained joy.
How one devoid of the Name may liberation find ? (15)

Viṇu Nāvain verodh sharīr (V)

To one devoid of the Name, even the body remains rebellious.
Why doesn't such a one to the Name be joined,
to eliminate agony of heart ?
Travellers of the way come and go :
What have such brought and carried away ?
For one devoid of the Name in all places is loss.
True gain in endowment with enlightement lies.
The self is a trader, trading in good and evil.
How without devotion to the Name may come noble repute ? (16)

Guṇa wīchārei gyānī soe (G)

Whoever contemplates Divine merits, is truly enlightened.
From merits is obtained enlightenment.
Rare in the world is the person who on others confers merit.
Contemplation of merit is holy doing.
The Lord, inaccessible, unknowable whose value is beyond computation, P.932
Union with Him by His own grace comes about.
The woman[1] of merit ever contemplates merits.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance is met the Divine friend. (17)

Kāmu krodhu kāyā kau gālai (K)

Lust and wrath disintegrate the body,
As borax gold.
As gold stands the gold-tester's test,
In the eye of the Divine Jeweller the true lustre it bears.
The world is cattle, egoism that brings death, the butcher.
Man acts as by the Creator on his palm[2] recorded.

---

1. Image for the seeker.
2. Hand.

He who created the world, also evaluates it :
Nothing else has man power to utter. (18)

Khojat khojat amritu pīyā (KH)

After long quest amrita have I quaffed :
As forgiveness I adopted, the holy Preceptor to me amrita granted.
Each claims to be genuine—
The genuine pearl in all Four Ages is known as such.
Involved in eating and drinking have we died,
Without realization of the Lord,
As the holy Word we realized, in an instant to the world we died.
Those reconciled to such dying have hearts unshakeable.
Such are those as by the Master's grace the Name have realized. (19)

Gagan gambhīru gaganantari vāsu (G)

The Lord all-profound in the higher seat of consciousness abides :
Whoever sings His merit, in serene joy finds abode.
Such a one beyond death and birth lies,
And by the Master's grace in the concentated absorption abides,
The Lord is inaccessible, without an over lord, unincarnated.
With the mind unshaken comes absorption in Him with merit.
By contemplation of the Name Divine is one immune
from transmigration.
Pure in essence is the Master's teaching;
All else is devoid of the Name. (20)

Ghar dar phiri thākī bahuterei (GH)

Over numerous abodes have I wandered to exhaustion :
Countless, endless have been my birhts.
Numerous have been my mothers, fathers, sons, daughters;
Many my preceptors and disciples.
From a raw Preceptors comes not liberation.
Many are the wives—know One spouse to be for all.
Life and death of the God-directed on devotion to the Lord is dependent.
After search in ten directions, in our home we met Him :
This union by the holy Preceptor is brought about. (21)

Gurmukhi gāwai Gurmukhi bolai (G)

One who is God-directed Divine laudation sings and utters;
He weighs Divine merits and guides others to weigh them.
One who is God-directed, is born and dies from fear of Yama free;
And shedding off impurity, burns away his blemishes,

In contemplation of the God-directed is contained the Divine mystic sound and teaching of scriptures.
In obtaining sight of the God-directed is comprehended
Merit of holy bathing, moral livind and performance of ritual acts.
The Word of the God-directed is pure amrita.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed cross beyond the ocean
of existence. (22)

Chanchalu chītu na rahaī thāeṇ (CH)

The restless mind at one spot is not fixed.
Like a deer man at tender shoots nibbles—
Should man lodge in mind the Divine lotus feet,
His life-span lengthened, his mind awakened, immortal he becomes.
All beings appear to be anxiety-gripped :
By contemplation of the Sole Supreme Being comes joy.
Should the Name Divine in mind be lodged and the mind
in it be absorbed,
Does man find liberation aand with honour return to his true abode. (23)

Chhījai deh khulai ik gaṇḍhi (CHH)

As the body declines, loosened is its binding-knot :
Behold this spectacle of decline, though you wander over the mortal world.
Whoever regards sunshine and shade alike,
Snapping bonds, the house of liberation enters.
By the empty Maya-shadow is the world deluded :
In primal time is recorded man's Charter according to his deeds.
As youth declines, stands over man's head old age and death.
As decline the body, fungus it turns. (24) P. 933

Jāpai āpi Prabhū tih loe (J)

In all three worlds is the Lord Himself manifest,
Who age after age is the Provider, none other.
As pleases Him, succour He providers.
To sing the Lord's laudation I seek, that on me honour and credence it may confer.
Should it please Thee, ever may I keep awake;
As Thou shouldst grant union, in Thee may I merge.
Lord of the universe ! Thy triumph I hail.
By the Master's guidance comes union with the Sole Lord
most assuredly. (25)

Jhakhi bolaṇu kyā jag sīūṃ vādu (JH)

Disputation with the world comes from utterance of worthless words.
As man beholds his own madness, into regrets he falls.
Man is born and dies, but seeks not the true life.
With broken hopes, he comes and goes.
Such caught in regrets and declining, into dust are mingled :
But by singing Divine laudation is one not swallowed by death.
By contemplation of the Name Divine are obtained the
Nine Treasures :
This spontaneously the Lord Himself confers. (26)

Ynyāṇo bolai āpei būjhai (GN)

The Lord Himself to enlightenment gives utterance, Himself realizes it;
Himself ot it has understanding and knowledge.
Whoever in heart hears the Master's Word,
Is pure and holy and in the holy Eternal is absorbed.
The Master is ocean, full to repletion of pearls;
In him are jewels, valuable substances and truth inexhaustible.
Act as by the Master directed—
Why rush to cavil at His doings ?
Saith Nanak: By the Master's guidance in truth be absorbed. (27)

Ṭūtai nehun ki bolhi sahī (T[1])

By disputatious arguing is love surely snapped;
As the arm, drawn is two directions is broken.
By harsh words is love snapped :
The spouse deserts the woman[2] of foul understanding.
A bond snapped, by wise thinking is re-united.
By the Master's Word is man in pure actions engaged, and to his true home returns.
In the profit of truth no loss occurs.
Great is the Lord of three worlds, the Divine Beloved. (28)

Thākuh manūā rākhuh thāeṇ (TH[2])

Restraining the mind keep it in its place.
The world gripped by wrong-doing has clashed and into regrets is caught.

1. (This is the hard T, as in Teutonic languages).
2. (This sound is peculiar to the Indian languages).

One is the Lord, all other His wives.
The false woman assumes too many disguises.
Going towards an alien home has she been restrained;
Then called into the Mansion, without hindrance has she entered.
One embelished by the Word, loving truth
Is of true conjugal bliss, cherished by Lord.[1] (29)

Dolat dolat hei sakhī phātei chīr sīngār (D)

Sister-friend! with much wandering are my robes and decking torn off,
In envy lies not joy of self; devoid of fear of the Lord are swarms ruined.
One that in the self with the Lord' s fear is struck,
By the all-knowing Lord is looked on compassionately,
One that the Master' s fear has entertained,
By utterance of the Name is rendered fearless.
Living on the moutain with oppressive thirst was I struck;
But on looking found I the Lord near.
By reposing faith in the Word was this thirst assuaged,
And was amrita quaffed to satiety.
All are seekers thereof; this He grants to whomsoever He pleases;
This by the Master's guidance He grants, whereby is thirst assuaged. (30)

Dhandholat dhūṇdhat hauṇ phirī dheh dheh pawani karāri (DH[2])

In constant questing have I wandered along—
Even mighty heroes have stumbled and fallen.
The heavy ones have collapsed; those that were light have gone across.
To those that with the Lord immortal, inencompassable have found union
Am I a sacrifice.
By touch of dust of their feet comes liberation,
As to holy congregation is one joined.
To the Master have I dedicated my heart, from whom the holy Name I have obtained:
He who the Name to me has granted, him shall I serve, P. 934 to him be a sacrifice.

1. (The imagery in this stanza is taken from the purity of conjugal love)
2. (This sound too is peculiar to the Indian languages).

He who makes, also unmakes—none other has power.
As by the Master's grace I contemplate Him,
Will the body be-free from affliction. (31)

Nā ko merā kisu gahī na ko hoā na hogu (N[1])

None in the world is my succourer—to whom shall I hold on ?
None such is born, nor shall ever be.
In transmigration ignominy one meets, and by the malady of duality is gripped.
Those devoid of the Name collapse like wall with saltpetre infected.
Without devotion to the Name how may liberation come ?
Such a one only into the lowest hell falls.
Man by words seeks to reckon the Lord, who is inencompassable.
The unenlightened are devoid of sense—
Without guidance of the Master comes not enlightenment.
As the rebeck with gut snapped, those sequestered from the Lord, yield not note.
Saith Nanak: The Lord creating occasion
Union to those sequestered grants. (32)

Tarvaru kāyā pankhi manu tarvari pankhī panch (T[2])

This body is a tree, the mind thereon a bird;
On this tree are settled five birds[3].
As in unison the Divine Essence they pick up,
Have they no fear of entanglement in a snare.
Those that spotting much grain fly towards it fast,
Have wings broken, a snare holding them—
By their faults caught in distress.
Without devotion to the holy Eternal how may liberation come ?
By good deeds is attained the jewel of Divine attributes,
Himself the Supreme Master, by succouring brings us release.
By the Master's grace and compassion comes liberation.
All exaltation in His hand lies—
He grants it to whomsoever He pleases. (33)

Thar thar kampai jīyaṛā thān vihūṇā hoe (TH)

The self is in tremor as from its abode it is dislodged.
The holy Lord is the self's abode and source of exaltation;
With Him by its side nothing goes amiss.

1. (As above).
2. (This is the 'soft' t as in Latin languages, Russian and Persian).
3. The five sources of knowledge are implied.

Immutable is the Lord, immutable the Master and immutable holy contemplation.
Thou art overlord of gods and human beings,
And support of those without support.
In all spots art Thou the supreme Provider.
Wherever I look, art Thou pervasive,
Without end or limit.
By contemplation of the Master's Word art Thou beheld
All space to pervade.
The Supreme Lord, inaccessible, limitless
Without asking confers His charity. (34)

Dayā dānu dayālu Tūṃ kari kari dekhaṇhāru (D[1])

In Thy compassion, compassionate one, dost Thou confer charity—
Thou who dost create and cherish beings.
In Thy compassion grant us union, Thou who in an instant dost unmake and make;
Thou art all-knowing, all-seeing—
Supreme among bestowers of charity.
Shatterer of penury, destroyer of suffering art Thou—
By the Master's guidance realized, and meditation on Thee fixed. (35)

Dhani gaiyai bahi jhūrīyai dhan mehṇ chītu gawār (DH)

Loss of wealth much pining brings—
The ignorant on wealth set their heart.
Wealth of devotion to the Name immaculate
By rare ones is garnered.
Reck not loss of wealth, shouldst thou in devotion to the Sole Lord be engaged.
Even with dedication of heart and sacrifice of head,
With the Creator seek shelter.
Gone is rushing after worldly concerns; in the heart is pervasive joy in the holy Word.
As is met the Master, image of the Lord,
From evil men are we turned men of good will.
In numerous wild spots[2] was I seeking it—
The object of my quest in my home, at my doorstep lay.
By union granted by the Master to Him am I united—
Cast off is affliction of transmigration. (36)

1. (This D is soft, as stated in note 15 anta).
2. Forests.

Nānā karat na chhūtīyai viṉu guṉa jampuri jāhi (N)

By performance of various ritual acts comes not release;
Without doing good does one go to Yama's demesne.
To such a one comes bliss neither here nor in the hereafter—
Caught in evil acts, into regrets involved.
Such a one neither has enlightenment nor concentration of meditation, P. 935
Nor absorption in righteousness.
Without devotion to the Name is not shed fear;
Who knows to what state pride may lead the self?
Exhausted am I; how may I cross over?
No bottom or end to this ocean is discernible;
Nor are with me my loving friend[1]—To whom shall I carry my plaint?
Saith Nanak : By our raising the cry of yearning
Does the Provider of union grant union.
By loving grace of the Master, He who made separation,
Shall also grant union. (37)

Pāpu burā pāpī kau pyārā (P)

Evil by the evil-doer is held dear;
With evil laden, in evil are his affairs spread.
Should man casting off evil, realize his self,
Neither shall sorrow touch him nor sequestration and affliction.
How may man be saved from falling into hell?
How cheat Yama, agent of death?
How may transmigration be put away?
False and evil is destructive death.
The mind in snares is entangled, ever in snares lying.
Without devotion to the Name how may release come?
In evils beings lie rotting. (38)

Phiri phiri phāhī phāsai kaīṅwwā (PH)

The crow after much wandering in snares gets caught.
Then falls into regret at what has come to pass.
Even when caught, at grain he pecks, realizing not his state.
By contact with the Master begin his eyes to see.
Like the fish caught in death's snare is man—
Without the Master, great provider, comes not liberation or gain.

1. Implies the Preceptor, Guru.

The self constantly in transmigration wanders.
Should it be devoted in love to the Sole Lord,
Finds it release, nevermore to be caught. (39)

Bīrā bīrā kari rahī bīr bhaye bairāe (B)

The body cries out to the self, calling for her brother,
But this brother turns stranger.
As departs the brother to his home, the forlorn sister
In separation turns to ashes.
In the father's home lives the daughter—
In prime of youth, with the youthful groom is she in love.
Beauteous female ! shouldst Thou seek the Groom,
To the holy Preceptor do service.
A rare enlightened one realizes that through the holy Preceptor comes union with the holy Eternal.
Exaltation in the Lord's hand lies,
That he confers on whomsoever He pleases.
A rare one, God-directed, the holy Word contemplates.
Such is the utterance of the pre-eminent Preceptor,
Whereby the self in its true home finds lodgement. (40)

Bhanni bhanni gharīyai ghari ghari bhajjai (BH)

Creation He dissolves and recreates;
What He creates He again dissolves.
By the Almighty who is above need
Are lakes full to brim dried up,
And those dried up are again filled.
Those lost in doubts are turned mad—
Nothing without good fortune is obtained.
By the enlightenment by the Master granted have we grasped the Lord's string—
Wherever He draws, we move.
Chanting the Lord's laudation are we ever in joy,
Nevermore into regrets falling.
Know by BH : Should man by the Master's guidance seek and have realization.
May he in his true home come to abide.
Learn by BH : Hard is the path over the ocean of existence,
By becoming desireless swum.
Should one by the Master's grace contemplate the self,
Is one dead while living. (41)

Māyā Māyā kari muei Māyā kisai na sāthi (M)

Beings in hankering after worldly wealth are exhausted,
Yet with no one it lasts.
As the self half-heartedly departs,
Wealth gets forsaken.
The false mind by Yama is sought after--
Its demirts alone accompanying it.
Should merits be there, the mind from its ways is turned away.
Beings cry for possessions—devoid of the Name, only suffering they find. P. 936
Where be forts, houses, mansions?
Courts of royalty are insubstantial as play.
Saith Nanak: Of those devoid of the Name,
False is the being born and dying.
Himself is He of aspect all-wisdom, Himself all-knowing. (42)

Jo āwehṇ se jāhen phuni āe gaye pachhutāhī (J)

All those coming into the world depart;
Those returning are full of regrets.
The round of creation in eighty-four lakh species
they fully traverse.
Such alone are saved as with the Lord are in love.
As is Maya cast off, their worldly concerns terminate.
All the are visible, must depart hence—
Whom shall I adopt as friend?
To the Lord dedicate I my self; place before Him body and mind.
Thou art the Lord, bestower of immutability—
He is my shelter.
By contemplation of Divine merit is destroyed egoism—
By devotion to the holy Word is the heart with yearning touched. (43)

Rāṇā rāo na ko rahai rangu na tungu fakīru (R)

Neither kings nor chiefs, paupers or those of exalted state or beggars shall last.
Each in his turn shall depart—none to grant him stability.
Hard, terrible is the path of death, full of immeasurable lakes and mountains.
With faults within me lodged am I pining—
How without merit may one reach one's true home?
Those with merit, through their merit with the Lord find union—
How with love may I to them be united ?

Such as they must I become, by contemplating in my heart the Lord.
The self of demirts is full—abiding therewith too are merits.
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance are not manifested merits,
Till one to the holy Word be devoted. (44)

Lashkarīyaṇ ghaar sammalei āye wajuh likhāe (L)

Human selves, God's soldiers into their homes have lodging,
Their pay being recorded.
In performing the Master's service they make gain,
As greed, avarice and evil from their mind they cast out.
As fealty in the sovereign's name they proclaim,
Never are they discomfited.
Should one, reputed to be the sovereign's servant,
Returns impertinent answers to his face,
Shall forfeit pay and never an exalted position occupy.
All exaltation in the hand of the Divine Beloved lies,
That He grants to whomsoever He pleases.
Himself is He Doer of all, none other—
To whom may we carry our plaint ? (45)

Bījou sūjhai ko nahīṇ bahai dulīchā pāe (B)

No other than God is visible, who may sit on the cushion of royalty:
The Lord is annuller of hell's torment, supremely puissant.
Holy, of the holy Name,
Him in forests and grassy wastes have I sought, with mind full of contemplation .
In the hand of the holy Preceptor is held a vast store of rubies, jewels and pearls.[1]
By union with the Lord with single-minded love and devotion would I be exalted.
Saith Nanak:By loving devotion is met the Lord,
And gain in the hereafter made.
He who raised creation, made all forms.
By the Master's guidance is the Lord without limit meditated on,
Without end or extent. (46)

Ṛārai ṛuṛā Harī jīo soī (R[2])

By Ṛ know: Truly beauteous in the Lord
None other than He has authority.

1. Used metaphorically for spiritual qualities.
2. (This hard sound is peculiar to some Indian languages).

By R listen to the holy spell : The Lord in the self abides.
Lest any be lost in illusion, by the Master's grace is
the Lord attained.
Truly wealthy is he whose capital is Divine wealth.
Such a one is the true devotee—all glory to him.
By means of the beauteous word, by contemplation of the Master's teaching
Is the Lord attained.
As is banished egoism, is suffering annulled. P. 937
And the woman to the Divine Bridegroom is united. (47)

Suinā ruppā sanchīyai dhanu kāchā bikhu chhāru (S)

Hoarding gold and silver is false wealth, poison and ashes.
One hoarding such wealth and known as wealthy,
Caught in duality, ignominy to is subjected.
The pure have garnered truth, the invaluable holy Name.
By realization of the Lord immaculate is their heart purified—
Holy their repute, truthful their utterance.
Thou, Lord, art our true companion and friend—
Thou the lake and the swans[1] on it.
To such am I a sacrifice, as the holy Name in their heart cherish.
Deluding is Maya-lure : He who made it, alone knows of it.
To one realizing the Supreme Being all-knowing,
Are poison and amrita alike. (48)

Khimā vihūṇei khapi gaye khūhaṇi lakj asankh (KH)

Those devoid of forgiveness have gone to extinction,
Vast, innumerable their numbers.[2]
Beyond computation their count—these how may I reckon ?
Whoever of the Lord has realization, loosened are his bonds,
nevermore to bind him.
By guidance of the holy Word into Divine Mansion shalt thou find true entry,
And forgiveness and truth spontaneously in thee shall grow.
Expend thou the holy wealth of meditation—
Thus shall come the Lord to lodge in thy self.
Ever by thy mind, body and tongue utter the Lord's Name :
Thus within thee shall enter merits
And thy mind be poised.

---

1. Symbol for the seeker or the enlightened self.
2. Also rendered as cohorts.

Egoism is destroyed, to destruction leads—other than the Lord
All is source of evil.
Creating beings, within them has He placed Himself—
Still abides the Creator unattached, beyond all. (49)

Srishtei bheo na jāṇai koi (S)

None the Creator's mystery knows
What the Creator does that inevitably must come to pass.
To attain wealth on the Lord meditate :
Wealth by record of earlier deeds is attained.
For wealth turn servants thieves,
Yet wealth accompanies not any in death.
Without devotion to the Eternal comes not exaltation at the Divine Portal.
Whoever the Divine elixir quaffs, in the end finds release. (50)

Herat herat hei sakhī hoe rahī hairānu (H)

Sister-friends ! beholding this am I struck with wonder :
Egoism that was assertive has vanished,
As the mind the holy Word uttered and acquired illumination.
Much self-decking with necklaces, pearl-strings and bracelets
I did to exhaustion.
When union with the Divine Beloved came, put I around my neck
The necklace of all merits.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance is attained
Loving devotion to the Lord.
Consider in your mind : None without attachment to the Lord attained joy.
Read what pertains to the Lord, learn what to Him pertains;
To the Lord be attached in love.
The Lord's Name utter, on Him meditate—
Make the Name Divine your prop. (51)

Lekhu na mitaī hei sakhī jo likhiyā kartāri (L)

Sister-friend[1] ! Ineffaceable is the writ recorded by the Creator.
He who made all causes, by His grace
In the mind lodges His feet.
All exaltation in the Creator's hand lie :
This realize from the Master's teaching.[2]

---

1. Symbol for the seeker or the enlightened self.
2. Contemplation.

Immutable is the Writ : Succour us as be Thy will.
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the holy Word
Through Thy grace have we attained joy.
Egoists deluded are destroyed : those contemplating the Word alone are saved.
How may the Being that is invisible, be designated ?
To the Master am I a sacrifice,
Who a vision of Him in our heart has granted. (52)

Pādhā paṛhiyā ākhīyai bidyā bicharai sahaji subhāe (P)

Call a pedagogue truly learned
Only when his learning he contemplates in equanimity :
Contemplates his learning, derives its essence and in the Name Divine is absorbed. P. 938
The egoist sells his learning, earning poison and consuming it.
The ignorant person contemplates not the holy Word,
Devoid totally of understanding. (53)

Pādhā Gurmukhi ākhīyai chātaṛiyāṇ mati dei (P)

Call a pedagogue a God-directed devotee
Who to his pupils imparts wisdom.
Contemplate the Name, the Name you garner :
Thus in the world derive profit.
Let true devotion of heart be the true writing-tablet;[1]
Study the essence of holy truth.
Saith Nanak : He alone is learned, a scholar with vision
Who wears round his neck necklace of the Name Divine. (54) (1)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Siddha-Goshti (Dialogue with the Siddhas)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Siddha-sabhā kari āsaṇi baithei sant-sabhā jaikāro

The Siddhas were seated in assembly—
To this holy congregation we offer salutations.
To the Eternal, limitless Creator we offer obeisance.
To Him we offer our severed head; to Him of mind and body
we make offering.
Saith Nanak : In company of the holy is attained
the holy Eternal.
Thus spontaneously comes good repute. (1)

1. (A wooden writing-tablet is used by school-children in India).

What good wandering about ? by truth alone comes purity.
Without devotion to the holy Word no one liberation has found. (1-Pause)

Kavan tumhen kyā nāuṇ tumārā kaunu mārgu kaunu suwāo

Who are you[1] ? what name ? what is your creed ? what objective ?
This submission verily I make[2] : To the holy am I a sacrifice.
Novice[3] ! where is your settlement ? What is your present destination ?
Nanak states Listen thou recluse,
What is your sect ? (2)

Ghati ghati baisi nirantari rahīyai chālenh Satiguru bhāye

In Him who in each being without exception abides,
we have our abode,[4]
And the holy Preceptor's will follow.
Without premeditation have we come; as be the Lord's will,
shall we take departure.
Saith Nanak : Ever by the Lord's will we abide.
Such is the Master's teaching : The Lord's seat and abode alone is immutable.
Whoever such realization from the Master's guidance has,
And his own self realizes,
In holy truth gets absorbed. (3)

Dunīyā sāgaru duttaru kahīyai kiūn kari pāiyai pāro

Impassable is said to be ocean of the world—
How to cross beyond it ?
Thus asks Charpat of the recluse[5] Nanak : State truthfully this concept.
What reply may be given to one who makes query and himself gives the answer ?
Listen thou who hast attained liberation : what reply may be vouchsafed to such a one as thou ? (4)

Jaise jal mehn kamalu nirālamu murgāī naisāṇe

By remaining as the lotus untouched by water and the duck on the stream[6].

1. (This query is addressed by the Siddhas to Guru Nanak Dev).
2. (Herein is the Guru's answer).
3. (The Guru is thus apostrophized by the Yogis).
4. (The Guru's affirmation about himself).
5. (This is how the Yogis designate the Guru. Audho=Avadhūta).
6. (The Guru's replication).

By concentrated fixing of the mind in the holy Word,
By contemplation of the Name,
Saith Nanak, is crossed the ocean of existence.
Let man abide untouched by the world, with the Sole Lord in the self lodged,
And desireless amid desires.
Whoever has vision of the inaccessible, unknowable
Supreme Being,
And to others grants it,
To such a one is Nanak a slave. (5)

Suṇi swāmī ardāsi hamārī pūchhouṇ sāchu bīchāro

Listen Master,[1] to our supplication :
Of thee I seek the true contemplation.
Pray be not offended, but answer, How the Master's Portal to attain ?
Saith Nanak : With adopting prop of the Name
Is the unstable mind in the abode of truth fixed.
As is fixed in mind love for holy truth,
The Creator Himself grants union. (6)

Hāṭīṇ bāṭīṇ rehehn nirālei rūkhi birkhi udyānei

From concourse of the market-place and the various worldly paths
We[2] abide secluded amid trees, plants and in forests.
Wild fruits and roots our sustenance—
Thus the recluse enlightened thinking expresses.
At holy water-spots he bathes and attains reward of joy, P. 939
No impurity to him attaching.
Thus said Loharippa, Gorakh's disciple : Such is true
Yoga-praxis. (7)

Hāṭīṇ bāṭīṇ neend na āwai par ghari chittu na dolāī

The true recluse abiding in the market-place and ways of
the world,
From sleep of ignorance should be immune,[3]
And his mind unshaken by desire of other's womenfolk.[4]

1. (The Siddhas' query).
2. (That is, the Siddhas).
3. (The Guru's affirmation).
4. Lit. Home.

Without devotion to the Name is the mind not firm-fixed,
And, saith Nanak, is hunger not annulled.
The Master the market and city of the self and the Divine Essence to me has shown,
Where spontaneously commerce in truth goes on.
Saith Nanak : By reducing sleep and partaking of spare sustenance
Is realized the Divine Essence. (8)

Darshanu bhekh karuh jogindrā mundrā jholī khinthā

Listen supreme Yogi[1] : make the Divine vision your sect,
Your earrings, pouch and patched cloak.
Out of the twelve sects the sole Āī sect you follow.
This make your sole sect in place of the six yogic sects.
Thus, good man ! may the mind be instructed.
And man nevermore receive buffets.
Nanak thus affirms : This by the Master's guidance is realized;
Thus is performed true Yoga praxis. (9)

Antari shabadu nirantari mudrā haumai mamtā dūri karī

Lodging constantly in mind the holy Word is true ear-rings,
As are egoism and possessiveness discarded.
Let the seeker cast off lust, wrath, pride—
This from the Master's teaching have we realized.
Realization of the Lord who all existence pervades make your quilt and pouch—
Thus saith Nanak, the Sole Lord liberation grants.
Let the seeker realize the Master's holy Word;
Holy is the Lord, holy His greatness. (10)

Ūndhou khapparu panch-bhū topī

The mind turned away from the world is our begging-bowl;
The realization of the five higher senses the Yogi's cap;
The disciplined body the straw-mat, the mind restrained
the loin-strip.
Thus shall truth, content and self-restraint be our companions.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance the Name we contemplate. (11)

---

1. The Guru's suggestion to the Yogis.

Kavanu su guptā kavanu su muktā

Who is it that is hidden from sight[1] ? who liberated?
Who within and without to the Lord is united ?
Who is it that into the world arrives and departs hence ?
Who in the three worlds is pervasive ? (12)

Ghati ghati guptā gurmukhi muktā

In each being the Lord lies hidden:[2]
The God-directed man is liberated,
Who within and without to the holy Word is attuned.
The egoist dies and transmigrates.
Saith Nanak :The God-directed man in holy Truth
is absorbed. (13)

Kiūn kari bāndhā sarpani khādhā

How is the self bound and by the she-serpent Maya swallowed[3] ?
How is the ideal lost ? How attained ?
How comes purity ? How darkness ?
Whoever this truth expounds, shall be our Master[4]. (14)

Durmati bāndhā sarpani khādhā

Man when by foul understanding bound, by the she-serpent
Maya is swallowed.
The egoist the ideal has lost, the God-directed man has attained it.
By contact with the holy Preceptor is darkness lifted.
Saith Nanak : such a one, effacing egoism, in the Absolute
is absorbed. (15)

Sunn nirantari dījai bandhu

Should the self in the unattributed Absolute[5] be constantly fixed,
The swan of life flies not off, nor does wall of the body collapse.
When man knows the cave of poise to be his true home,
Saith Nanak, turning holy, by the holy Eternal is he favoured. (16)

Kisu kārani grihu tajiyo udāsī

You who from the world are turned away,
Why house and home have you forsaken ?

---

1. (The Siddhas' query).
2. (The Guru's replication).
3. (The Siddhas' query).
4. The Siddhas' query continuing.
5. Void, cosmic void—philosophical term for the unattributed Absolute.

Why in this garb have you fixed your self ?
What merchandize are you questing after ?
How your associates shall you carry across ? (17)

Gurmukhi khojat bhaye udāsī

Questing after the God-enlightened am I from the world turned away;
To have sight of them have I in this garb fixed myself.
In the merchandize of truth am I trading.
Saith Nanak : By guidance of the holy shall I carry across my associates. (18)

Kitu bidhi purakhā janamu watāiyā

Friend ! how have you brought the change in our life ?
In what have you fixed your heart's devotion ? P. 940.
How subdued[1] expectation and desire ?
By what means attained the irrefrangible Divine light ?
How without teeth may iron be chewed ?
Nanak ! state the truth of this contemplation. (19)

Satiguru kai janamei gawanu mitāiyā

By taking new birth with the holy Preceptor is my straying in transmigration annulled.
In devotion to the mystic harmony is this heart attached.
By absorption in the holy Word are burnt away desire and expectation.
By the Master's guidance is attained the irrefrangible Divine Light.
By effacing the three qualities is iron[2] chewed
Saith Nanak : From the Divine saviour Himself comes liberation. (20)

Ādi kau kavanu bīchāru kathīyalei sunn kahān ghar wāso

How may the origin of the cosmos be described ?
Where does the Absolute[3] abide ?
How may the pose[4] of enlightenment be delineated ?
Who in each being is pervasive ?
How is the baton of death burnt away ? How enter the house sans fear ?

1. Consumed.
2. (Symbol for evil or Maya).
3. Void.
4. (The Yogic or pose asana is implied).

How are foes[1] cleft through ?
For this, let man the cushion of poise and content occupy.
As by guidance of the Master's Word is destroyed poison of egoism,
Does the self in its own home[2] take abode.
Nanak is a slave to such as by the holy Word realize
Him who the cosmos has shaped. (21)

Kahāṃ te āwai kahāṃ ihu jāwai kahāṃ ihu rahai samāī

Whence comes the self ? whither goes ?
Wherein does it remain absorbed ?
One expounding this mystery
Would be the Master without a grain of desire.
How may the disembodied Essence be attained ?
This by forming devotion by the Master's guidance comes.
The Creator Himself is all-enlightenment, Himself Creator—
This Nanak after contemplation states.
By Divine Ordinance is the self born, by the Ordinance disappears,
By the Ordinance in the Divine Essence absorbed.
By guidance of the Master perfectly-endowed is practised truth;
By the holy Word is attained the supreme state and awareness of Divine Reality. (22)

Ādi kau bismādu bīchāru kathīyalei sunn nirantari wāsu līya

The origin of the cosmos is wonder profound.
The Absolute in all spots without break abides.
To have the mind stilled of its play is the pose
of enlightenment;
In all beings is the holy eternal pervasive.
By guidance of the Master's Word comes absorption
in the Formless;
The immaculate Essence from enlightened poise comes.
Saith Nanak : To abjure all other than devotion,
By serving as disciple comes success in quest.
Profoundly wondrous is the Divine Ordinance—
Whoever of the Ordinance has realization,
Of the true praxis of life has awareness.

1. (Evil tendencies are implied).
2. (The state of poise is implied).

One that effacing the ego is rendered Maya-free,
And absorbs truth within,
May a true Yogi be called. (23)

Avigato nirmāilu upajei nirguṇu te sarguṇa thīyā

From the Formless arose the pure Essence,
From the Unattributed became He attributed.
By enlightenment imparted by the holy Preceptor
Is attained the supreme state,
And absorption in the holy Word.
One that has firm faith in the Sole Supreme Being,
And casts off egoism and duality—
Such a Yogi of the Master's Word has realization,
And has his heart's lotus illuminated.
One that dies while living, and in heart cherishes compassion for all,
All realization attains.
Saith Nanak : To such a one comes all exaltation,
And in all creation himself he realizes. (24)

Sāchauṃ upjai sāchi samāvai sāchei sūchei ek maiyā

From the Eternal rises creation, in the Eternal is it absorbed—
The Eternal and holy devotee are one in essence.
The false ones into the world arriving no resting-place find;
And caught in duality into transmigration fall.
Transmigration by guidance of the Master's Word is annulled;
Himself the Lord judges and liberation grants.
Through duality arises affliction, as elixir of the Name is forgotten. P.941
Whomsoever He Himself enlightment grants, enlightenment attains—
Such a one by following the Master's Word liberation attains.
Saith Nanak : The Divine Saviour Himself saves,
and casts off egoism and duality. (25)

Manmukhi bhūlai Jam ki kāṇi

The egoists misguided stand under Yama's reproof.
Seeking to seduce others' womenfolk, such a one suffers total loss.
The egoist caught in delusion, in wild places wanders.
One reciting incantations in cremation yards
Strayed from the path, is robbed of merit,
Not contemplating the Word, foul utterance he makes.
Saith Nanak : Know that joy from devotion to truth comes. (26)

Gurmukhi sāchei kā bhau pāwai

The God-directed acquire fear of the holy Eternal ;
The God-directed by the Divine Word give shape to the unhewn self.
The God-directed with pure minds,Divine laudation chant.
The God-directed attain the holy supreme state.
The God-directed with each hair on the body on the Lord meditate.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed in holy truth are absorbed. (27)

Gurmukhi parchai Bed bīchārī

Enlightenment granted by the Master equals contemplation of Vedas.
By enlightenment granted by the Master is crossed the
ocean of existence.
One granted enlightenment by the Master by the holy Word is enlightended.
One granted enlightenment by the Master the esoteric system realizes.
By the Master's teaching is attained the Lord inaccessible, limitless.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's teaching is attained the door of liberation. (28)

Gurmukhi akathu kathai bīchāri

The God-directed by contemplation express the inexpressible.
The God-directed even engaged in family life,
Spiritual obligations fulfil.
By the Maters's guidance comes contemplation with devotion of heart.
By the Masters' teaching, through following the holy Word
Is attained noble conduct.
One penetrated by the holy Word has realization himself,
And to other imparts it.
Saith Nanak :The God-directed burning away egoism,
In holy Truth are absorbed. (29)

Gurmukhi dhartī Sāchai sājī

The holy Eternal the earth for making the holy has created,
Within it the rest of creation and dissolution is only a play.
He who is dyed in the holy Word, full of joy of it,
Attached to truth, with honour departs to his true home.
Withou absorption in the holy Word comes not exaltation.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to the Name
How may one in holy Truth be absorbed ? (30)

Gurmukhi asht-siddhī sabhi buddhī

By the God-directed are attained the Eight miraculous powers[1] and all forms of wisdom.
By the God-directed, in accord with truth is swum the ocean of existence.
To the God-directed is known the device to discriminate between right and wrong.
The God-directed realize duties of concerns of the world and of renunciation.
The God-directed to others bring liberation.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed by the holy Word liberation grant. (31)

Nāmei rātei haumai jāe

By devotion to the Name is banished egoism.
One to the Name devoted, in holy truth is absorbed.
By devotion to the Name comes contemplation of Yoga-praxis.
One devoted to the Name the Door of Liberation attains.
By devotion to the Name comes awareness of the three worlds.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name come joy eternal. (32)

Nāmi rattei siddh-goshti hoe

One devoted to the Name fruitfully holds converse with accomplished mystics.
By devotion to the Name comes engagement in perpetual renunciation.
By devotion to the Name are action truthful and pure.
By devotion to the Name comes contemplation of Divine attributes and enlightenment.
Without devotion to the Name in speech all immoral.
Saith Nanak : On those devoted to the Name I cry hail : (33)

Pūrei Guru te Nāmu pāiyā jāe

Devotion to the Name from the Master, perfectly-endowed is attained.
True Yoga-praxis in absorption in holy truth lies.
Yogis by delusion of Maya in twelve sects and Sannyasis in ten are divided :
One finding new life by dying in the Master's Word
Verily the door of liberation attains.

1. (See Glossary)

All without devotion to the holy Word in duality are involved— P. 942
This in your heart you contemplate and see.
Saith Nanak : Greatly fortunate are such
As in heart holy truth have cherished. (34)

Gurmukhi ratanu lahai liv lāe

The God-directed by devotion the Divine jewel attain.
The God-directed spontaneously this jewel evaluate
The God-directed in holy action are engaged.
The God-directed have heart fixed in devotion to the holy Eternal.
By the Master's guidance as grace he shows
Is the Unknowable realized.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed from Yama's harm are immune. (35)

Gurmukhi Nāmu dānu ishnānu

By the Master's guidance are attained devotion to the Name,
Engaging in charity and holy bathing.
By the Master's guidance is meditation spontaneously fixed.
The God-directed attain the Supreme Lord, shatterer of Yama's terror.
The God-directed to doing good direct others.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed bring about union with the Lord. (36)

Gurmukhi Shāstra Simriti Bed

The God-directed about the teachings of Shastras, Simritis and Vedas are enlightened.
The God-directed of the Lord, pervasive in each being have realization.
The God-directed all rancour and enmity efface.
The God-directed all reckoning of good and evil received annul.
The God-directed in joy of the Name Divine are dyed.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed of the Lord have realization. (37)

Binu Guru bharmai āwai jāe

One uninstructed by the Master in transmigration keeps involved.
Without the Master's guidance is one's endeavour not fruitful
Without the Master's guidance one's mind staggers.
Without the Master's guidance man swallows poison[1] and unfulfilled remains.

1. (Symbol for evil).

Without the Master's guidance is man as bitten by a poisonous snake,
And on the way dies.
Saith Nanak : Without the Master's guidance man mounting losses suffers. (38)

Jisu Guru milai tisu pāri utārai

The Master brings liberation to whomsoever he contacts;
Effacing his demerits, by his merits brings him liberation.
By contemplation of the Master's Word comes liberation and
supreme bliss;
Never are the God-directed discomfited.
This body is a shop, the mind-therein the trader—
Spontaneously therein carrying on commerce of truth. (39)

Gurmukhi bāndhiyo setu Bidhātai

By blessing of the Creator have the God-directed erected bridge of devotion,
Sacked Lanka of sin and chastized demons of evil,
As Ramchandra destroyed the arrogant Ravana—
By the Master's enlightenment guided
That became Bibhikhana's[1] secret disclosure.
The God-directed over the ocean of existence have enabled stone-like sinners to swim.
The God-directed to millions have brought liberation. (40)

Gurmukhi chūkai āwaṇ jāṇu

Of the God-directed is transmigration annulled.
The God-directed at the Divine Portal are honoured.
The God-directed of good and evil have discrimination.
The God-directed spontaneously in meditation engage.
The God-directed through Divine laudation at the Divine
Portal find absorption.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed no impediment face. (41)

Gurmukhi Nāmu niranjan pāe

The God-directed the Name immaculate attain.
The God-directed by the holy Word burn away egoism.
The God-directed praise of the holy Eternal chant.
The God-directed in the holy Eternal remain absorbed.

1. Ravana's brother, who reveled a secret passage in Ravana's citadel to Rama.

By devotion to the holy Name is honour of the God-directed exalted.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed of all abodes have illumination. (42)

Kavaṇu mūlu kavaṇu mati velā

What is the origin of existence ?
What teaching is appropriate to this age ?
Who is the Master whose disciple thou art[1] ?
By what discourse from Maya-stain you remain free ?
Saith Nanak : Said the Yogis, listen thou novice !
Expound to us the discourse, P. 943
As to the Word that liberation confers. (43)

Pawan arambhu Satiguru mati velā

The air of breath is the origin of existence;
The age in need of the holy Preceptor's teaching stands.
The holy Word is the Preceptor; by devoted meditation on it am I its disciple.
By absorbing discourse of the Inexpressible remain I from Maya-taint free.
Saith Nanak : The Divine Enlightener in all Ages in pervasive.
By means of the Master's Word solely is the Lord's discourse contemplated.
By the Master's teaching is assuaged fire of egoism. (44)

Maiṇ ke dant kiun khāīvai sāru

How with teeth of wax iron[2] be chewed[3] ?
What is the food by partaking of which may pride be eliminated ?
Man lives in a house of snow, wearing a frock of fire—
In what caves may he abide unshaken ?
Whom may man realize to be pervasive everywhere ?
By what meditation may the mind in itself remain absorbed ? (45)

Hauṇ hauṇ maiṇ maiṇ vichahu khov ai

Man from within himself must cast off pride and egoism;
Effacing duality, should in the sole Supreme Being be absorbed
On thoughtless uninstructed persons is the world hard;
By living the Word may iron[2] be chewed[3].

1. (Query addressed to the Guru).
2. (Evil is implied).
3. Consumed.

Should man know the sole Lord to pervade within and without.
Saith Nanak, then by following the holy Preceptor's instruction would his fire of desire be assuaged, (46)

Sach bhay rātā garbu nivārai

Man dyed in truth and fear his pride would efface;
And by contemplation of the Word would the Sole Lord realize.
Should the holy Word in the inmost heart be made to abide,
Would body and mind be cooled and in love of the Lord be dyed;
And the poisonous flame of lust and wrath put down.
Saith Nanak : Such a one within glance of grace of the Divine
Beloved abides. (47)

Kavan mukhi chandu hivai gharu chhāiyā

By what means does the mind remain abode of the moon and shadow ?
By what device does the sun of illumination blaze forth ?
By what means is stopped pursuit of death ?
By what enlightenment is honour of the God-directed saved ?
Who is the hero that death may vanquish ?
Nanak, contemplating these queries thus answers. (48)

Shabadu bhākhat sasi joti apārā

By utterance of the Word does moon of the mind get endless illumination.
As in abode of the moon of the mind comes the sun of illumination to abide,
Is darkness lifted.
By adopting prop of the Name are suffering and joy felt alike—
Then does the Lord Himself liberation grant.
By putting faith in the Master is the mind in truth absorbed.
States Nanak in humility : Then is man immune from being Swallowed by death. (49)

Nām tattu sabh hī siri jāpai

The substance of the Name is supreme over all; Without devotion to the Name comes affliction of suffering and death.
As the essence of the self with the Divine Essence is united.
Arises faith in the mind.
Then is gone duality and the mind the abode of unicity enters.
He by whose might does breath resound and the thunder in the sky of the self roar,
Saith Nanak, eternal union with Him by enlightenment comes. (50)

Antari sunnam bāhari sunnam tribhavan sunnam-sunnam

Within and without the self is the unattributed Absolute;
In the three worlds pervades too the unattributed Absolute.
Whoever realizes this void in the fourth state,
Evil and good has transcended.
Whoever realizes the mystery of the void pervading all beings,
Is image of the primal Supreme Being, the immaculate Divine Entity.
Whoever to the immaculate Name is devoted,
Saith Nanak, is image of the Supreme Being, the Creator. (51)

Sunno sunnu kahai sabhu koī

All talk of the unattributed Absolute.
Wherefrom may this immortal unattributed Being be attained ?
What are those devoted to the Unattributed like ?
Like to Him who is their origin.
These are subject neither to birth nor death,
nor do transmigrate—
By the Master's guidance their self they instruct. (52)

Nau sar subhar daswaiṇ pūrei

With the nine pools of senses put beyond desire,
As is the tenth[1] filled,
In the void then are sounded unstruck trumpets.
Then the seeker viewing the holy eternal by his side in Him is absorbed,
And envisions Him pervading each being. P. 944
The esoteric utterance is then manifested.
Saith Nanak : Such a one of the holy Eternal has realization. (53)

Sahaj-bhāe milīyai sukhu hovai

By finding union with the Lord by spontaneous devotion comes joy.
The God-enlightened are ever awake, never involved in sleep
of ignorance;
By the unattributed syllable to the limitless Creator attached.
This to those uttering it brings liberation, and by the holy Word on others liberation confers.
By the Master's instruction are such to truth devoted.
Saith Nanak : In union by shedding off of egoism attained,
Remains not doubt. (54)

1. (This is the abode of super consciousness).

Kubuddhi chawāvai so kitu thāeṇ

To one giving utterance to foul thinking, what place of shelter ?
Why should one not realizing the Essence receive knocks ?
None succours those bound in Yama's demesne.
Without devotion to the holy Word comes neither honour nor credit.
By what means may one get realization and swim across
the ocean of existence ?
Saith Nanak : The egoist ignorant no realization has. (55)

Kubuddhi mitai Guru-shabadu bīchāri

Foul understanding by contemplation of the Master's Word is effaced.
By contact with the holy Preceptor is seen the door of liberation.
The egoist devoid of realization of the Essence to ashes is burnt:
And sequestered through foul thinking knocks receives.
By submission to the Divine Will are acquired merits and illumination.
Saith Nanak : Such a one at the Divine Portal is honoured. (56)

Sāchu-vakkharu dhanu pallai hoi

He that carries merchandize and wealth of truth
Is liberated himself and to others brings liberation.
One having realization through devotion to the Supreme Being Receives honour.
Beyond computation by any is the value of such.
Wherever I look, is the Lord pervasive.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to truth comes liberation. (57)

Su shabada kā kahāṇ vāsu kathīyalei jitu tarīyai bhavjalu sansāro

Where abides the Word whereby is the ocean of existence crossed ?
What sustains the breath that is said to extend ten finger-widths.
How may the life that within us sounds and has play, be poised ?
How the unrealizable realized ?
Listen Yogi-Master ! Nanak humbly states in truth,
How his own self he instructed.
Should the sincere disciple in the holy Word in devotion be fixed.
The Lord in His grace grants Him union.
Himself is He all-knowing, all-seeing—
By supreme good fortune comes absorption in Him. (58)

Su shabda kau nirantari vāsu alakhāṃ jeh dekhān teh soī

The ineffable Divine Word in all existence unbroken abides;
Wherever I look, Him I behold.
The life-breath in the unattributed Supreme Being abides,
And is sustained by invisible Divine might.
By Divine grace comes the holy Word in the self to abide,
And the mind of illusion is freed.
Then are mind and body made pure; pure the utterance,
And the Name in the heart is lodged.
By the Master's teaching is the ocean of existence crossed;
And the seeker realizes the Lord in all spots to abide.
He that is without feature and form, and of Maya's shadowy play,
Saith Nanak, by the Word is realized. (59)

Trai satt angul wāī audhoo sunn sachu āhāro

Listen thou recluse[1] ! the breath that measures ten finger-widths
By the Supreme Being and holy Truth is sustained.
One making utterance by the Master's guidance
Churns out the Divine Essence and of ineffable, limitless
Supreme Being has realization.
Should man efface the three qualities and lodge in mind
the holy Word,
Is pride from his mind lifted.
Should one realize the Sole Supreme Being to abide within and without,
Would devotion to the Name Divine be formed.
Should the ineffable Lord reveal Himself,
Comes realization such as that by conjunction of the three channels of Sukhmana, Ida and Pingala.[2]
Saith Nanak : Above the three qualities is the holy Eternal,
Realized by absorption in the holy Preceptor's Word. (60)

Mana kā jīo pawanu kathīyalei pawanu kahā rasu khāī

Breath is stated to be life of the mind;
On what essence does breath live ?
Recluse[3] ! state the pose suitable to acquiring illumination :
By what endeavour may one turn siddha[4] ?
Recluse ! without absorbing the holy Word comes not joy, P. 945

1. (The Guru's exposition continuing).
2. (This is the abode of super consciousness).
3. (Query addressed to the Guru).
4. An accomplished Yogi.

Nor is thirst of egoism assuaged.
By devotion to the holy Word is attained amrita-elixir,
And the seeker by holy truth is fulfilled.
By what wisdom comes poise ? By what sustenance is the Self satiated ?
Saith Nanak : Those that by the Master's teaching take suffering and joy equably,
From death are immune. (61)

Rangi na rātā rasi nahīṇ mātā

One devoid of the Master's teaching in love of the Lord is not dyed,
Nor by joy in God is inebriated;
Such a one burning agony feels.
Nor has he observed continence or uttered the holy Word;
Nor yet regulated his breath or to truth is devoted.
Should such a one in serene poise discourse on the inexpressible,
Saith Nanak, the Supreme Self would he attain. (62)

Guru-parshādī rangei rātā

By the Master's grace is the seeker in Divine love dyed,
And quaffing amrita, by truth is inebriated.
By the Master's teaching is his fire of desire assuaged;
And by quaffing amrita is achieved joy of the inner self.
By devotion to truth by the Master's guidance is the ocean of existence crossed.
Saith Nanak : A rare one by contemplation, of this
has realization. (63)

Ihu manu maingalu kahāṇ basīyalei kahān basai ihu pawanā

Where abides this mad elephant of mind ?
Where abides breath ?
Recluse Nanak ! Where abides the holy Word,
Whereby may the mind's wandering be stilled ?
Should the Lord be gracious, with the holy Preceptor
may He grant union,
Whereby the mind in its own abode may live.
By annulling egoism is the self purified,
And its wandering stilled.
How may the self know the first cause and realize itself ?
How in the unlit self, moon-like, may the sun of enlightenment be aborbed ?

Should the seeker by the Master's guidance shed his egoism, Saith Nanak, in poised enlightenment would he be absorbed. (64)

Ihu manu nihchalu hirday vasīyalei Gurmukhi mūlu pachhāṇi rahai

The mind in poise abides in the heart.
The seeker by the Master's guidance should his essence realize.
The breath in the navel on its cushion is settled;
The seeker by search by the Master guided, the Essence attains.
The holy Word in its own abode perpetually abides—
The three worlds light of that Word absorb.
Hunger for the holy Eternal all suffering and desire consumes,
And the seeker by truth remains fulfilled.
The unsounded word by the Master's guidance is realized—
A rare one alone can this expound.
Nanak gives utterance to truth : By dyeing in truth,
By being dyed in truth never does such colour fade. (65)

Jā ihu hirdā deh na hotī tau manu kaithai rahtā

When the body was not, where did the mind have abode ?
Without the supporting pillar of the navel's lotus,
Where did breath find its prop[1] ?
Without visible form or feature, how may devotion in the Supreme Being be fixed ?
When this chamber of blood and carnal fluid did not exist,
Impossible it was to comprehend value and extend of the Divine.
When colour, appearance and form were not visible,
How was the holy Eternal apprehended ?
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name are true anchorites—
In all times to such is visible solely the Eternal. (66)

Hirdā deh na hotī audhoo tau manu sunni rahai bairāgī

Listen Recluse ! When heart and body did not exist,
The mind, unattached to actions, in the cosmic void abided.
When the pillar of the navel's lotus had not being,
The breath inspired by love in its own abode lived.
When form, feature and caste existed not,
The Supreme Being unmanifested as the Word,
the Essence abided.
When earth and sky existed not, in all three worlds was pervasive the formless Divine effulgence.

1. (The Siddha's query).

Colours, appearance, forms all as the Sole Supreme Being wondrous existed. P. 946
Saith Nanak : None without the Eternal attains purity—
Such is the inexpressible discourse. (67)

Kitu kitu bidhi jagu upajai purakhā kitu kitu dukhi binasi jāī

Friend : by what device is the world created ? by what affliction destroyed ?
In egoism does the world draw birth—
In forgetfullness of the Name it suffers.
The God-directed essence of enlightenment contemplating,
By the holy Word burn away egoism—
Their body and mind made pure their utterance,
In the holy Word remaining absorbed.
One unattached to the world in the Name remains absorbed,
Cherishing in heart holy truth.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to the Name is Yoga not practised—
This in your heart contemplate. (68)

Gurmukhi sāchu shabdu bīchārai koe

A rare God-directed one the holy Word contemplates.
Of the God-directed the utterance is true and manifested the world over.
Rare are those that with hearts by the Master's Word devon-drenched, Realization attain.
The God-directed in the Divine Essence find abode.
The God-directed are true Yogis and of Yoga-praxis have realization.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed the Sole Lord alone realize. (69)

Binu Satiguru sevei jogu na hoī

Without performing service to the holy Preceptor is Yoga not practised;
Without contact of the holy Preceptor is liberation not attained.
Without contact of the holy Preceptor is devotion to the Name not attained.
One not receiving guidance from[1] the holy Preceptor in great affliction is involved.

1. Lit. Contacting, meeting.

Without the holy Preceptor's contact the mind in dust-storm of pride remains caught.
Saith Nanak : One uninstructed by the holy Preceptor, forfeiting the human birth, dies. (70)

Gurmukhi manu jītā haumai māri

The God-directed subduing egoism make conquest of the mind.
The God-directed in heart cherish holy truth.
The God-directed make conquest of the world,
And destroy and tear apart Yama, agent of death.
The God-directed at the holy Portal are not repulsed.
Whoever by the holy Preceptor is granted union with the Supreme Being,
Of the Divine mystery has awareness.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed by the holy Word have Divine realization. (71)

Shabdai kā niberā suṇi tū audhoo binu nāvain jogu na hoī

Listen Recluse,[1] to the summing-up of this dialogue :
Without devotion to the Name union with God comes not about.
Those dyed in the Name are ever in devotion inebriated;
From devotion to the Name comes joy.
From the Name is all creation manifested;
By the Name is attained realization.
Those devoid of the Name numerous garbs assume—
The holy Eternal has Himself brought them to stray.
Listen Recluse ! as from the holy Preceptor is devotion to
the Name attained,
Is true Yoga-praxis performed.
Saith Nanak : This in your mind contemplate—
Without devotion to the Name comes not liberation. (72)

Terī gati miti Tūhaiṇ jāṇeh kyā ko ākhi vakhāṇai

Lord ! Thy state and extent to Thee alone is known—
How may one express it ?
Thyself art Thou hidden and manifest;
Thyself in enjoyment of all delights engaging.
Numerous Yoga-practitioners, accomplished Yogis, preceptors of religion, seekers
Quest after knowing the Divine Ordinance.
Seeking the Name in charity, to Thy sight are they a sacrifice.

1. (Addressed to the Siddhas).

The Eternal Lord this play has enacted :
By the Master's guidanee comes realization of this.
Saith Nanak : In the whole universe is He Himself pervasive—
No other is there. (73)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das P. 947

Ramkali-ki-Var

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

(To be sung in the tune of Jodhā and Vīrā, of the clan of Pūrbaṇ.)

Satiguru sahjai dā khetu hai jis noṇ lāe bhāu

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The holy Preceptor is field of serenity.
By his grace inspiring devotion in whomsoever he pleases :
The seeker in this field sows the Name;
The Name therein sprouts; in the Name is the seeker absorbed.
Uprooted is egoism and the seed of doubt.
Then is this seed not sown, nor it sprouts—
The seeker feeds on what the Master grants[1] :
Into water is water mingled, nevermore to be parted.
Saith Nanak : Such is the wonder of the holy :
Come, you of the world ! behold it.
How may the poor world behold this, from enlightenment shut out ?
Such wonder is beheld by whosoever is granted the vision;
In whose heart is the Lord absorbed.[2] (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The egoist is the field of suffering :
Suffering he sows, suffering consumes;
In suffering born, in suffering dying,
In egoism his life passed.
The egoist of life and death unmindful,
Is blind; blind all his doing;
Forgetful of the Divine Bestower, only to His gifts attached.
Saith Nanak : One reaps what is preordained,
Nothing else avails. (2)

Note : All Pauris (stanzas) in this Vār are of the composition of Guru Amar Das.
1. I.e. Devotion.
2. I.e. Whose mind in the Lord is absorbed.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The holy Preceptor's touch brings joy everlasting—this blessing by his grace alone comes to some.
The true significance of joy is, it confers purity of heart;
Effacing illusion of ignorance, and bringing enlightenment.
Saith Nanak : Thus have I envisioned the sole Supreme Reality,
That in all creation is manifest. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Sachai takhtu rachāiyā baisaṇ kau jāeeṇ

The holy Eternal has created the universe as His throne, to be seated thereon :
Almighty is He—thus has the Master's Word revealed.
All creation too has He made His mansion and abode;
Moon and sun its two lamps—thus has He given it perfect form.
Himself He views and hears all—
This by meditation on the Master's Word is revealed. (1)
Hail, true king ! holy art Thou, holy Thy greatness. (1-Pause)

Kabīr mehindī kari kai ghāliyā āpu pīsāe pīsāe

Sloka (Composition of Kabir)
Like henna have I powdered myself to fine dust :
Yet Lord ! Thou hast not to me turned : hast not applied me to thy holy feet. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Saith Nanak : Henna have I become, that the Lord at me may cast His glance,
Himself to beat, Himself to pound it to powder;
Himself to His limbs to apply me.
This cup of the Master's devotion, He grants to whomsoever
He pleases. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Vekī srishti upāiyanu sabh Hukami āwai jāe samāhī

The variegated creation has He made :
By His Ordinance is it born, dies and in Him is absorbed.
Himself He views it in joy; none else beside Him.
Lord ! Save us as it may please thee, by granting illumination through the Master's Word.
All by Thy might are propped, moving as be Thy will.
None mighty as Thou—whom else to supplicate ? (2)

Bharami bhulāī sabhu jagu phirī phawī hoī bhāli

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

In illusion the whole world wanders about, distracted in the quest :
Should the Lord not grant poise, what power has man to force Him ? P. 948
By the Master's grace is the Lord meditated on,
And within the heart lodged.
Saith Nanak : Absorbed in poise, have I found the Lord, as Divine grace on me has descended.[1] (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

In tugging after gain[2] is spent the day, in sleep the night :
By lying has the egoist swallowed poison—
in the end departs wailing.
Over the head hangs Yama's chastizement; in duality his honour lost.
Those forgetful of the Lord's Name, in transmigration remain involved.
By the Master's grace is the Lord in the self lodged,
With immunity from Yama's chastizement attained.
Saith Nanak : In poise is union with the Lord attained;
By grace is He found. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Ikki āpaṇī siftīṇ lāiyanu de Satiguru mattī

Some in Divine laudation are engaged, by the wisdom by the holy Preceptor granted :
On some is devotion to the Name conferred by the Lord immutable and eternal.
Air, water and fire by His command to Him are obedient.
In fear profound move they in perfect order.
The sole Divine Ordinance everywhere operates, in submission to which lies bliss. (3)

Kabīr kasautī Rāma kī jhūthā tikai na koe

Sloka (Composition of Kabir)

Kabir ! none that is spurious shall stand the test of God's touchstone:
He alone may stand this test who to God has surrendered life.[3] (1)

---

1. Lit. Sitting at home have I found.
2. Dhanda in the original, lit. means that which brings wealth i.e. profitable or gainful ventures.
3. Lit. Is dead while alive.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
How may the mind be subdued ? how to the world make it dead ?
It follows not the Master's teaching; sheds not egoism.
Egoism by the Master's grace is shed;
one so doing is jivan-mukta.[1]
Saith Nanak : Union by Divine grace comes;
Never shall such as have it, face impediment. (2)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Many claim egoism to subdue :
How may one become jivan-mukta[1] ?
One under discipline of fear of God, taking medicine of devotion;
Ever chanting Divine laudation in serenity of mind—
May on the strength of the holy Name,
Swim across the poisonous ocean of the world.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance is such state attained,
Should God's glance of grace favour one. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Dūjā bhāu rachāiyon trai guṇa vartārā

The Creator Himself has set up duality, through the Three Qualities operating;
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva has He manifested,
His Ordinance to make effective.
Brahmins and astrologers who study scriptures,
Despite their cogitation are of the Essence unaware.
Holy Creator ! all creation is Thy play :
Whose has Thy grace, dost Thou save,
In the holy Word absorbing him. (4)

Mana kā jhūthā jhūthu kamāvai

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
He that is false within, acts falsehood;
Hankering after Maya, yet is he called anchorite.[2]
In illusion lost, he wanders over bathing-spots—
How may such an anchorite[2] the Supreme state attain ?
Should one by the Master's grace live truth,
Saith Nanak : Such an anchorite[2] alone may liberation attain. (1)

---

1. One liberated while living.
2. Tapa = One performing tapas (austerities).

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The true anchorite is one performing such austerity :
In contact with the holy Preceptor, the Lord should he contemplate.
Service to the holy Preceptor is the austerity approved.
Saith Nanak : Such an anchorite at the Divine Portal receives honour. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Rāti dinasu upāiyanu sansār kī vartaṇi

Night and day has he created to regulate business of the world;
By the Master's guidance comes light, that darkness dispels. P. 949
By His Ordinance is created everything; all vegetation, each blade of grass He pervades.
Supreme is His might—by the Master's guidance,
His Name ever thou utter.
By the holy Word has enlightenment come; that the Eternal Himself has granted. (5)

Abhyāgat ehi na ākhīyani jin ke chitt mehn bharamu

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Call not these the true mendicants[1] that in their mind bear illusion;
Charity to these bears recompense[2] no different.
One who hungers after the fearless, immaculate Lord,
the State supreme—
Rare is the donor of food to such. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Call not these the true mendicants[1] that beg food from others' homes,
And to fill the belly put on various garbs.
The true mendicants[1] are such as go into their selves,
Seek out therein the Lord,
And in their true selves abide. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Ambaru dharti vichhoṛiyanu vichi sacchā asrāu

Sky and earth has He separated, and in between fixed
His prop unshakeable;
All abodes, portals are holy wherein the holy Name abides.
Everywhere is the holy Ordinance pervasive, by the Master's guidance comes absorption in Truth.

1. Original, Abhyāgat.
2. Original, Dharma.

Holy Himself, holy His throne; seated thereon dispenses
He true justice.
Everywhere is pervasive holy Truth; by the Master's guidance is the inencompassable realized. (6)

Raynāir māheṇ anantu hai kūṛī āwai jāe

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
In ocean of the world abides He who is illimitable;
All that come and go are unreal;
These their egoism follow, and grievously are chastized.
In ocean of the world are all boons; by good fortune are these attained.
Saith Nanak : In obedience to His will lie the Nine Treasures. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Of One who with poised mind has served not the
holy Preceptor,
In egoism is the life gone waste;
His tongue has not had taste of the joy in God;
His heart's lotus not illumined.
Such a one poison has tasted; in egoism has he died,
And in Maya-illusion destroyed.
Without devotion to the Lord's sole Name, cursed is life and accursed the stay in the world.
By Divine grace alone does one find true humility;[1]
Serves day after day the holy Preceptor, his side never leaving.
As is the lotus untouched in water, engaged in worldly pursuits[2] is he yet unattached.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : All happens as is by the Lord,
Store of Noble Qualities, willed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Chhattīh jug ghubāru sā āpei gaṇat kīnī

For thirty-six aeons was spread utter darkness :
At the end He made count Himself;
The whole world He created, and with wisdom endowed it;
He revealed Scriptures,[3] setting up determination of evil and good.

1. Lit. Turns servant of God's servants.
2. Lit. In the home i.e. living as a householder.
3. Original, Simritis, Shastras.

Such enlightenment comes to those by Him favoured with devotion to the holy Word.
Himself He pervades all; by His grace grants union. (7)

Ihu tanu sabhho rattu hai rattu binu tannu na hoe

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
This body is all in blood endued ! without blood a body may not be :
Such as in the Lord are dyed, have not the blood of covetousness.
In fear of the Lord is the body emaciated, of blood of covetousness drained.
As in fire is metal purified, so in fear of the Lord is burnt P. 950 away impurity of foul thinking.
Saith Nanak : Truly beautiful are those that in love of the Lord are dyed. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
As in chanting Ramkali the Lord in mind is lodged,
Is one truly bedecked;
As through the Master's Word blooms the heart, is the store of devotion acquired:
With illusion lifted is the self awakened, and darkness of ignorance shattered.
Great beauty is hers that to the Lord bears love :
Ever in bliss with the Beloved, is she reckoned a woman of noble repute.
Egoists know not of this true decking, their life forfeited.
Those that with other than devotion are decked,
Ever are in births whirled ignominiously;
In the world not admired, in the Hereafter their destiny known to God only.
Saith Nanak : There is One Sole Supreme Being; duality is the world's character.
To good and evil has He set His creatures :
As wills the Creator, they act. (2)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Poise comes not without service to the holy Preceptor :
Nothing else avails :
Not by striving comes this, but by good fortune.
Those carrying avarice and evil tendencies within,
in duality are lost;

Their transmigration not annulled, in egoism they suffer.
None that to the holy Preceptor are devoted, unblessed remain.
Such by Yama are not summoned, nor undergo suffering.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance are they saved,
In the holy Word immersed. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Āpi aliptu sadā rahai hori dhandai sabhi dhāveh

The Creator ever is unattached; creation all after gain runs;
Immutable, unchanging Himself; the world all comes and goes.
Contemplating ever the Lord by the Master's guidance brings bliss,
Abode in one's true self and absorption in God's holy attributes.
The holy Lord is profound infinitely—
By the Master's Word alone realized. (8)

Sacchā Nāmu dhiyāe tūṃ sabbho vartai sacchu

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Contemplate thou the holy Name; whose truth all-pervasive is.
Saith Nanak : Whoever the Ordinance realizes, Truth shall his reward be.
Some are given only to verbal feats,
And of the holy Ordinance remain ignorant,
Saith Nanak : The true devotee is one that the Lord's will obeys—
Without obedience is he of unawakened mind.[1] (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Egoists know not holy utterance; inside them are lust, violence and pride.
They know not right from wrong; inside are they carrying greed and evil ways.
Their utterance is all self-centered; by the ferocious Yama are they chastized.
At the Divine Portal are they called to account;
Such as cherish falsehood have ignominy to bear.
Tell me any : how may this impurity of falsehood be washed ?
This goes as the holy Preceptor is met, who meditation on the Name confirms,
That all evil annihilates.
Bow you all to one that utters the holy Name,

---

1. Lit. Thoroughly unbaked.

That the Name contemplates.
By the Name is impurity of falsehood cast off; P. 951
By repetition of the Name is one rendered pure.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : One with such marvels confers the true life. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Tudhu jewadu dātā nāhiṇ kisu ākhi suṇāīyai

None like Thee to bestow gifts—to whom else shall we turn[1] ?
By the Master's grace is attained the state that egoism casts off:
And Divine joy in holy laudation is found,
that is above worldly joys.
This He confers on Those He favours; Himself to such
He grants union.
Within the self lies amrita, that by the Master's guidance a rare one tastes. (9)

Bābāṇīyaṇ kahāṇīyaṇ putt saputt kareini

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Decent sons of good families narratives of their ancestors relate :
They put faith in what the holy preceptor approves,
and act accordingly.
Ask Simritis, Shastras, Vyas, Suk, Narada[2] that teach mankind;
By the All-holy guided, to truth devoted, truth they ever contemplate.
Saith Nanak : Of God is approved the birth such as bring liberation to their forebears. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Those having the blind for guide, act themselves from blind ignorance :
Guided by egoism, are they ever in lies involved :
Acting on falsehood and evil, others they slander :
By such slandering ruined themselves, their family too to ruin they drag.[3]
Saith Nanak : As directed are they engaged, poor helpless creatures. (2)

---

1. Lit. Speak, carry our needs ?
2. Vyas, Narada, Suk are ancient seers (Rishis).
3. In the original, the expression is 'bring to drowning'.

Pauri (Stanza)

Sabh nadrī andari rakkhdā jetī srishti sabh kītī

In His sight He keeps the entire creation :
Some to falsehood and evil inclined, by egoism ruined.
Meditate ever on God with devotion in heart, by the Master's guidance.
Those with goodness endowed, full of Divine laudation is their utterance.
Saith Nanak : Meditate ever on the Name, with laudation and adulation of holy Truth. (10)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Satī pāpu kari sattu kamāeh

Some claiming to be charitable, give away charity out of earnings of sin;
Their priestly mentors come to their homes to impart religious instruction.
Woman and man are bound by ties solely of lucre—
Whether he stay at home or wander abroad.[1]
None follows teachings of scriptures[2]—
Each his own interest worships.
The Kazi sits in the seat of justice,
Tells the rosary and mumbles God's Name—
Yet he takes bribes and fouls justice.
Should any question him, he trots out some citation.
The Hindus absorb through their ears the Turks' texts;
By carrying tales they get people robbed.[3]
Rare is the Hindu that keeps ritually pure his kitchen,
Yet at heart is pure.
Some that their families have deserted are turned Yogis with ashes in matted hair—
Their children wailing around them.
Such have attained not Yoga, and lost the way of good life :
Why have they thus got into ignominy[4] ?
Saith Nanak : Such is the way of Kali-Yuga :
Those that teach speak from knowledge based in egoism. (1)

---

1. Lit. They may come and go wherever they please.
2. Original, Shastras and Vedas.
3. (This is a picture of demoralization).
4. (Here is a trope. The original is 'why have they thrown dust over their heads') ?

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
As a Brahmin enters a Hindu's home,
With chanting of mantras with the sacred thread
he invests him.
One thus assuming the thread, yet does evil;
Even his ritual bathing is not acceptable to God.[1]
A Muslim even though he praise God,
Without the Preceptor's instruction finds not acceptance with Him. P. 952
None that is shown the way goes along it;
Heaven without good deeds is not attained.
In the Yogi's abode is exhibited Yoga-praxis,
Wherefor people take to wearing earrings.
With these earrings over the world such wander,
Though the Creator everywhere is pervasive.
All that are created are wayfarers;
As the Writ comes, no delay may occur,
One realizing God in this life shall there too have realization.
All other dispute of Hindu and Muslim is false.
All at the Divine Portal shall undergo reckoning;
None without good deeds liberation shall find.
One whose utterance has all been truth,
In the hereafter shall not be questioned. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Hari kā mandaru ākhīyai kāyā kotu gaṛhu

This citadel of the body is the Lord's mansion;
With chanting of the Lord's Name, inside this are discovered gems and rubies.
In the Lord's mansion, this body beautiful, meditate continuously of God's Name.
Egoists constantly involved in Maya attachment,
on themselves bring ruin.
Of all, the Lord is the One solely—
By supreme good fortune attained. (11)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Nā satti dukhīyā nā satti sukhīyā nā satti pāṇī jant phireh

Spiritual perfection comes neither from self-torture nor from indulging in pleasure,

---

1. (On the sacred thread see Vār Āsā).

Or wandering in water like creatures of water.
Spiritual perfection comes neither from close-cropping the hair,
Nor from learning or wandering from land to land.
Nor does spiritual perfection lie in worshipping trees,
plants and stones,
Nor in lacerating oneself and bearing torments;
Neither in keeping elephants on chains nor in owning herds of grazing cows lies spiritual perfection.
Perfection is granted by Him in whose power it lies;
On whosoever this He confers, to him He grants union.
Saith Nanak : Exaltation to him comes, in whose self is remembrance of the holy Word.
Saith the Lord : All vessels are mine; in all I lies;
Those from Me alienated, who may show them the way ?
Those whom I show the way, who has power to lead them astray ?
Those sent astray from Primal Time, who may show them the way ? (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
The true householder must his faculties restrain;
Should beg of God to grant him prayer, austerities and self-discipline;
Should induce himself to good charitable deeds—
Such householder is pure as Ganga-water.
Saith Ishar : The Lord's aspect is all-holy;
Without feature and form is His Essence. (2)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
The true anchorite[1] is one that burns away egoism;
Of austerity makes his begging for food;
Goes begging into the city of the body—
Such an anchorite ascends to the City of the Supreme, saith Gorakh[2] :
Without feature and form His Essence. (3)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
That person has truly exercised renunciation[3] who cherishes this act :
And below and above realizes the abode of the Immaculate Essence;

1. Original, audhūt (avadhūta).
2. Name of a Yogi, probably an interlocutor of Guru Nanak Dev.
3. Original, Udāsī—one who is indifferent to the world.

The moon and the sun[1] should he combine within himself—
Of such a renouncing hermit[2] the body shall not decay.
Saith Gopi Chand;[3] All-holy is He,
Without feature and form His Essence. (4)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
The true Holy-Poseur[4] is one that his self washes;
In the fire of self should illuminate God within.
Who even in dream falls not from continence—
Such Poseur suffers neither old age nor death.
Saith Charpat[5] : All-holy is He,
Neither feature nor form has the holy Essence. (5)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev) P. 953
The truly detached anchorite[6] is one that turns the Supreme towards himself;
In the highest region of self should a pillar erect;[7]
That day and night in meditation abides—
Such a Bāirāgi assumes the Divine aspect.
Saith Bharthari;[8] All-holy is He;
Without feature or form is the Essence. (6)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
How may evil inclinations be suppressed ? how practise the Yogic path ?
What good ear-piercing and on begged food living ?
The Divine Essence alone was during existence and non-existence of the Universe.
By what formula the mind to restrain ?
Saith Nanak 'The Preceptor's teaching is effective,
Should the disciple take sunshine and shade alike.
A disciple practising the six-fold Yogic path,
Neither does remain a householder nor is a true anchorite.[9]

1. An esoteric symbol for poise and enlightenment.
2. An anchorite of the Udāsī sect.
3. (This Name is well-known in the history of Indian mysticism).
4. Pākhandi, a sect that assumed poses of sin to avoid adulation. Here further references are to the agni or fire induced within the body by Yoga-praxis.
5. A Yogi.
6. Original, Bairāgī, and anchorite sect.
7. This is the statement of the esoteric experience of supreme Yogic achievement.
8. A famous Yogi.
9. Audhūt (Avadhūta).

Should man in the formless Supreme be absorbed,
Why should he go about begging ? (7)
Pauri (Stanza)

Hari mandaru soī ākhīyai jitthuh Hari jātā

That spot alone is the Lord's Temple where Divine realization comes;
In the human self by the Preceptor's teaching is the Lord envisioned,
And all that exists is seen as the Supreme self.
Seek Him not without; in the self is the Creator's abode.
Egoists know not where the true Divine Abode is—wasted is their human incarnation.
In all existence is pervasive the Sole Supreme Being—
By the Master's Word realized. (12)

Mūrakhu hovai so suṇai mūrakh kā kahṇā

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Only the thoughtless would attend to the words of the thoughtless.
What are the distinctive qualities of the thoughtless ?
What their doing ?
Ignorant, involved in egoism they die.
In such a way of life lies suffering; in suffering do such die.
Should one's near and dear ones fall into the pit of ignorance,
What precautions should the wise take ?
The God-directed man should then think in mind and unattached stay.
Meditating on the Lord's Name, should he save himself;
Even as the other sinks, should he himself save.
Saith Nanak : Man must act as the Lord wills;
Bear patiently what He sends. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Saith Nanak : My self listen to this right teaching.
After you depart this life, God shall demand a reckoning of your deeds,
That in His ledger are recorded.
Those that are rebellious, shall be summoned.
Azrail, Angel of Death will hover over them;
And trapped in blind alley they will know not the exist thereof.
Saith Nanak : Falsehood must be destroyed;
Truth in the end shall prevail. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari kā sabhu sarīru hai Hari ravi rahiyā sabhu āpai

This body is the Lord's; Himself He pervades it.
Beyond our reckoning is the Lord, beyond our utterance,
By the Master's grace may He be lauded, by those in devotion to Him dyed.
Then are mind and body in bloom, with egoism banished.
All existence is the Lord's play; by the Master's guidance is this by a rare one realized. (13)

Sahansar dān de Indru roāiyā

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Indra[1] had to wail, as with thousand marks of infamy was he branded;
Persuram wailed as powerless he returned home.
Ajai had to wail as horse-dung he had to swallow that he gave in charity.
On such as these falls chastizement from the Divine Portal.
Rama wailed when exiled,
And thought of separation from Sita and Lakshman.
Ten-headed Ravana wailed on losing Lanka— P. 954
He who by beating a hand-drum[2] eloped with Sita.
Wailed the Pandavas who were turned into labourers—
Those who in the Lord's presence had passd their days.
Janmeja[3] wailed as he was gone astray;
A single lapse turned him sinner.
Sheikhs[4] and other categories of the holy in Islam wail,
Lest to them in the last hour should suffering befall.
Kings[5] wailed as they got their ears pierced, from door to door begging.
The covetous wail as wealth they hoard;
Pandits wail whose learning has forsaken them;
The young bride bemoans her Lord's absence.
Saith Nanak : The whole world in suffering is involved.
Such alone in the end triumph as to the holy Name are attached.
No other ritual avails. (1)

1. There are a number of mythological illusions in this passage.
2. Ravana played a hand-drum, disguised as a medicant, to entice Sita away.
3. A king mentioned in the Mahabhrata.
4. Mention has been made of Sheikhs, Mashaikh (pl. of Sheikh) and Pir-all expressive of grades of Muslim piety. Further below are mentioned Pandits and Yogis from the Hindu tradition.
5. Reference to Gopichand and Bharthari, kings turned Yogis.

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
Devotion consists in utterance of the Name and austerity;
all ritual else is unavailing
Saith Nanak : Those with devotion alone are honoured;
Realization by the Master's grace comes. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Kayā hans dhuri melu kartai likhi pāiyā

Union of body and self in Primal Time by the Creator has been ordained.
In all is He pervasive unseen; by the Master's guidance revealed.
With realization does man chant Divine attributes;
utters them and therein is absorbed.
By the holy Word is the devotee turned into Truth, and to Truth unites all others.
Himself is He all existence; Himself exaltation confers. (14)

Nānak andhā hoe kai ratnāṇ parkhaṇ jāe

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
Saith Nanak : Should one that is blind, seek to judge of jewels—
Of jewels ignorant, his own ignorance will he expose. (1)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
A pouch of jewels the jeweller has united;
This substance to the merchants has appealed.
Saith Nanak : Only those possessing merit,
in jewels have dealing :
The blind knock about, ignorant of these jewels' merit. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Nau darwāzei kāyā kotu hai daswaiṇ guptu rakhījai

Nine are the gates of the fortress of the body;
the Tenth[1] is kept secret :
Its adamantine panels open not except by aid of the Master's Word.
The mystic music playing, by aid of the Master's Word is heard.
Thereby is the self illumined—
Such blessing by devotion is attained.
In all creation is the Sole Supreme pervasive, who of all is Creator. (15)

1. The seat of superconsciousness.

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Andhei kai rāhi dasiyai andhā hoe su jāe

The blind alone shall follow the way by the blind shown :
Saith Nanak : Why should one with eyes go astray ?
Not such are blind as bear not eyes on forehead :
Those are the truly blind as from the Master are strayed. (1)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

One created blind by the Lord, from Him alone sight may find.
Such a one his own will would follow, despite advice to him given :
His own will following where reality is not yet visible.
Saith Nanak ; How without knowing the object may the seeker obtain it ? (2)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Not such a one is blind as by Divine Ordinance, with blindness is struck;
Saith Nanak : truly blind is he that realizes not the Ordinance. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Kāyā andari garhu kotu hai sabhi disantar desā

In the Self is situated a fortress city, and objects from all directions and places obtained.
Himself the Creator into meditation retired, and all P. 955 creation pervaded :
Creating all existence, Himself He yet kept from gaze hidden.
By serving the Master is He realized, His Truth revealed.
The Master thus has realization granted : All that is manifest is the Lord Himself. (16)

Sāwaṇu rāti ahāṛu dihu kāmu krodhu due khet

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Our days and nights are the summer and winter[1] harvest seasons;
Lust and violence the fields;
Greed the soil-preparation, falsehood the seed;
The ploughman and tenant worldly attachment;
The plough of evil thinking.
From such sowing the crop shall rise as God wills.
Saith Nanak : At the final reckoning, barren shall be he that raises it. (1)

---

1. Original. Sāvan and Hār. (Asārh) the sowing and cropping months in India.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
With soil of fear of God, water of the pure life,
The oxen of continence, restraint;
The plough of humility, the ploughman of contemplation,
The sowing season of devotion to God;
The seed of the holy Name—
With such farming shall be raised the harvest of grace;
The world to such shall appear unreal.[1]
Saith Nanak : Should God's glance of grace come,
All alienation from Him is removed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Manmukhi mohu gubāru hai dūjai bhāe bolai

Of the egoist involved in dust of illusion, from duality rises all he utters :
In duality lies endless suffering; one in it caught only churns water.
The devotee[2] contemplating the Name, churns out the Essence.
His mind and self illumined, the Lord he seeks.
The Lord himself casts some into delusion, leading them astray.
No power has man on this to comment. (17)

Nānak chintā mati karuh chintā tis hī hei

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
Saith Nanak : Fall not into anxiety; this on Himself He takes—
Creatures bred in water too are by Him given sustenance.
There neither run shops nor are fields sown;
Neither selling nor buying is there done;
Other creatures He provides to be sustenance of some.
Those in the ocean living too, are by Him looked after.
Saith Nanak : Fall not into anxiety; this on Himself He takes. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Saith Nanak : This self is the fish; desire and death the fishers;
The blind mind keeps not this in view;
Suddenly descends on it the net.
Saith Nanak : The mind that is thoughtless, in the snare of anxiety is caught.
Should He cast His glance of grace, to Himself He unites it. (2)

1. Lit. False.
2. Original, Gurumukh.

Pauri (Stanza)

Se jana sāchei sadā sadā jinnhīṇ Hari rasu pītā

Those tasting of joy in the Lord, everlastingly pure are rendered.
By the Master's guidance comes the holy Eternal in the mind to abide;
In Truth is their dealing.
All blessings within the self lie, by supreme good luck attained.
With desire from the self banished,[1] the Lord's praise they chant.
Himself He makes union; Himself realization grants. (18)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Veli pinjnāiyā katti wuṇāiyā

After ginning and spinning of cotton is cloth woven;
Beaten, to bleach is it steamed to wash.
Then cut by the scissors,[2] by the tailor torn,
with needle and thread is it stiched.
Thus through the Masters' praise the tattered honour is made whole,
if one lives a true life.
As old it grows and tattered, with needle and thread is it patched;
Lasting not for a month or a fortnight,
for a brief while[3] may it last.
Truth grows neither old nor tattered.
Saith Nanak : The Lord all-holy is to the mind manifest, while contemplation lasts. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

With knife from truth made, P. 956
The steel too of truth,
Of indescribable workmanship;
On the grindstone of the holy word sharpened,
In the scabbard of good qualities sheathed—
Should the sheikh[4] with such knife be slaughtered,
The blood of avarice oozes out.
Such slaughtering is of the approved[5] kind, To the Lord acceptable.
Saith Nanak : Such a sacrifice, at the Divine Portal
Is by the Lord seen and approved. (2)

1. Lit. Destroyed.
2. Lit. Iron.
3. Lit. An hour or an instant.
4. The Muslim priest.
5. (The imagery is from the Muslim style of slaughter—'approved' in accordance with the Sharia).

Sloka : (Guru Nanak Dev)
Shold one have a fine dagger girded on.
And a fine charger to ride—
Saith Nanak to such : Be not proud,
Lest thou[1] fall headlong. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

So sati-sangati shabdi milai jo Gurmukhi challai

One following the Master's guidance, in holy congregation in the word is absorbed.
Those contemplating holy Truth alone are pure:
The wealth of God's Name they carry and draw upon.
God's devotees, chanting His praise are exalted,
By the Master's guidance immune from mutability.
By the Master's holy Word,
The jewel contemplation in their self is lodged.
Himself He grants union; Himself confers exaltation. (19)

Āsā andari sabhu ko koi nirāsā hoe

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
All beings by desire are impelled;[2] few without desire there be.
Saith Nanak : One that is a dead while living, alone finds fulfilment. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
One desire achieves nothing : Why then fall into despondency ?
What can our poor desires achieve when God Himself casts us off[3] ? (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Dhrigu jīvaṇu sansār sacchei Nām binu

Cursed is life in the world, bereft of the holy Name.
The Lord, supremely bountiful, is wealth everlasting.
Those contemplating Him with each breath, alone acquire purity.
My tongue ! utter thou the Name of the knower
of our inner secrets,
Inaccessible, the sole Lord.
Nanak is a sacrifice to Him who everywhere is pervasive. (20)

1. The original would imply 'lest thereby...
2. Lit. Live in desire.
3. Lit. Forgets.

Sarvar hans dhurei hī melā khasmai evaiṇ bhāṇā

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

The Pool and Swans from primal Time are to each other attuned[1] :
Such is the Lord's Will.
Inside the Pool lie pearls and jewels that are the Swan's feed.
The heron and crow, however clever, shall not near the Pool abide :
In it lies not their fare; on other objects they feed.
By living truth is truth attained; from falsehood comes only false pride.
Saith Nanak : Those so pre-ordained from primal Time
To the holy Preceptor are united, (1)

*Sloka

The Lord is immaculate—rare are those that in mind keep Him.
Saith Nanak : To Him alone be devoted whose bounty is perennial.
Saith Nanak again : Serve Him alone whose service removes all suffering :
Whereby evil qualities vanish, merit the mind grips,
And joy in the self abides. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei āpi varattdā āpi tāṛī lāīyanu

Himself solely He operates : Himself into trance goes;
Himself gives guidance, and by the Master's teaching grants faith.
Some He sends wandering astray : Some He to devotion inspires.
Realization by His prompting alone comes;
Himself He inspires devotion to the Name.
Saith Nanak : In contemplation of the holy Name lies true exaltation. (21.1)

(Found Correct)[2]

---

1. Lit. are united.
 * (Caption not given in original text).
2. Note (Shuddha) in the original text.

Var in the Measure Ramkali-Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 957

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jaisā Satiguru Sunīndā taiso hī main dīthu

Sloka

As the holy Preceptor's repute,[1] such have I found[2] him :
Uniting those alienated from the Lord, mediator at the Divine Portal;
Confirming devotion to the Divine Word, annulling malady of egoism.
Saith Nanak : To such is union with the holy Preceptor granted,
As in Primal Time are so destined. (1)

Sloka

Should the Lord turn our friend, the whole world turns friendly;
From Him alienated, with all is our contention.
The holy Preceptor this has shown : Other than the Name all is worthless.
Reprobates[3] and evil-doers, attached to alien pleasures, in transmigration wander along.
Nanak, servant of God, by grace of the holy Preceptor
The Lord has realized. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Thattanhārai thātu āpei hī thattiyā

The Creator Himself the visible cosmos has made.
Himself the supreme Master of wealth, Himself its earner.
Making the expanse, Himself in it joy-absorbed.
Beyond computation is worth of might of the Supreme Being.
Inaccessible, fathomless, of unknowable extent,
Farther than the farthest is the Lord.
Himself great monarch, Himself is He vizier,
None of the greatness of His abode has awareness.
The eternal Lord by the Master's guidance is manifested. (1)

Suni sajjan Prītam meriyā main Satiguru dehu dikhāli

Sloka

Listen, Friend, beloved ! grant me sight of the holy Preceptor.

Note : All portions of this Vār are of the composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev.

1. Is heard of.
2. Seen him.
3. Sākta.

That to him my heart I give and cherish him there.
Without the holy Preceptor is life in the world accursed.
Saith Nanak, servant of God; Such with the holy Preceptor
are granted union,
With whom the Lord ever abides. (1)

Sloka

My heart for union earns, Lord ! how may I attain Thee ?
Seek a friend who with the Lord would unite me.
As by the Master, perfectly-endowed is union granted,
Wherever I look is the Lord.
Nanak, servant of God has served the Lord,
Who is supreme over all. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Devaṇhāru dātāru kitu mukhi sālāhīyai

By what tongue may we laud the Divine Bestower ?
Whoever has His grace, sustenance is granted.
None is under power of another—all have one sole prop.
With protection of His arm like children has He cherished us;
Wrapt ever in happiness and joy, of which nothing we know.
Cherisher of all, almighty—to Him am I a sacrifice.
Worthy of laudation is He—night and day laud Him.
Such alone have joy as at the Master's feet make reverence.[1] (2)

Bhīṛuh mokalāī kītīyanu sabh rakkhei kutambai nāli

Sloka

Him who turned straits into the easy state,
And saved you along with your family;
Who your objectives has fulfilled—
Keep that Lord ever in mind.
The Lord like mother and father to His bosom clasps,
And like small children cherishes us.
Saith Nanak : As fell the Lord's glance of grace,
Were kind to us all beings. (1)

Sloka

Lord ! to seek other than you is the greatest of afflictions. P. 958
Confer on me the Name, bringer of content,
Wherewith the mind's thirsting may go.

1. Fall at the Master's feet.

Saith Nanak : The Master to even trees and grass-blades freshness[1] has brought—
Why should man be beyond His bounty ? (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

So aisā dātāru manuh na vīsarai

Put not out of mind the Divine Bestower.
For a half hour, and hour, and instant,
Without Him may life not be lived Within and without is He by us—what can one do in concealment from Him ?
The honour of whosoever He upholds, the ocean of existence crosses.
To whomsoever He is gracious, turns a devotee, enlightened one and ascetic.
To whomsoever He lends strength, pre-eminent becomes.
To whomsoever He lends the power, the unbearable bears.[2]
Such alone find holy Truth as cherish in mind the Master's teaching. (3)

Dhannu su rāg surangaṛe ālāpat sabh tikh jāe

Sloka

Blessed are the sweet melodies whose chanting all thirst of desire assuages.
Blessed are the happy beings who by the Master's guidance utter the Name.
Eternally a sacrifice to such am I as with minds concentrated the Sole Lord have supplicated.
Dust of feet of such I seek—this by good fortune alone is acquired.
To such am I a sacrifice as in love of the Lord are dyed.
Before such would I lay my mind's state.
Supplicating that to the Divine monarch they unite me.
Such union by the Master, perfectly-endowed is brought about,
Whereby is annulled suffering of transmigration.
Nanak, servant of God, the inaccessible vision[3] has attained—
Now nowhere else he strays. (1)

1. Used symbolically for spiritual awakening.
2. This refers primarily to the Divine vision, bringing immense power, whose temptations only the greatest can resist.
3. Form.

Sloka

Blessed the occasion, the half hour, the hour, holy moment,
The auspicious day, when the Master' sight to me was granted.
Then were my heart's desires fulfilled and was attained
the Lord inaccessible, limitless;
Were shattered attachment of egoism, and prop of the holy Name found.
Nanak, servant of God, in service of the Lord has engaged himself,
Whereby is the whole world saved. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sifati salāhaṇu bhagti virlei ditīyanu

To rare ones is granted the gift of Divine laudation and devotion.
To whomsoever this treasure He has granted, nevermore is his reckoning called.
Those with devotion inspired, in devotion are immersed.
The Name their sole prop, their sole sustenance ;
Through their bounty is the world fed and sustained.
The Lord their love; this solely is their prerogative.
Those united to the Master, of the Lord get realization.
To such am I a sacrifice as the Lord's approval have won. (4)

Hari iksai nāli maiṇ dostī Hari iksai nāli maiṇ rangu

Sloka

With the Lord solely have I formed friendship;
With Him solely lies my joy.
The Lord solely is my well-wisher; with Him solely my company.
With the Lord alone my colloquy—never in it is the face fouled or any ill-feeling[1] caused.
My heart's state He knows—never repudiating love.
The Lord alone my counsellor—mighty to unmake and make.
The Lord alone is my Provider, supreme over all providers of the world,
The Lord alone is my prop, who is mighty over all.
The holy Preceptor, God's devotee, placing on my forehead his hand,
To the Lord united me.

1. Impediment.

The Master, saviour of the world
To the supreme Lord united me.
As came about the union pre-recorded in primal time, P. 959
Were all my desires fulfilled.
Saith Nanak : By attainment of the Name eternal
Did I have pleasure of all joys. (1)
Sloka
Friendship with egoists is Maya-relationship.
Such run away at sight, never standing firm.
While raiment and food lasts, they stick.
The day these are exhausted, they make foul utterance.
Ignorant, blind egoists realize not the secret of the self.
False relationships last not, as dam of stone made with mud.
These blind ones realizing not the self, and in idle raving indulge.
Those false within in attachment involved,
In crying is their life passed
To whomsoever He shows grace, in primal time good fortune on him confers.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Such alone are saved,
As with the holy Preceptor seek shelter. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jo rattei dīdār seī sacchu hāku

Those devoted to the Divine sight are alone called pure.
How may dust of feet of such be obtained,
As the Lord have realized ?
The mind fouled by evil thinking in the company of such is purified.
As is envisioned the eternal Mansion,
Is thrown open the casement of doubt.
To whomsoever the Mansion He shows, never from there is pushed off.
With a glance at Him obtained for an instant
Are mind and body joy-filled.
By attachment to the Master's Word
Are obtained the Nine Treasures and wealth of the Name,
Such alone obtain dust of feet of the holy,
As on forehead have good fortune inscribed. (5)

Harṇākhī kū sacchu vaiṇu suṇāī jo tau karei udhāraṇu

Sloka

To the gazelle-eyed beauty[1] shall I impart the true word
That may save her.
Beauteous female; listen to the noble[2] word—
Thy beloved lord is prop of thy mind.
With an evil person[3] hast thou formed love :
Tell me why.
In nothing am I lacking, nor am depressed;
No shortcoming in me.
By foul thinking, misfortune-gripped,
The Beloved debonair have I left and lost.
Neither am I in error, nor made omission,
Nor otherwise in fault.
Sister-friend;[4] ! listen to this imparted secret :
In whatever way by the Lord guided, have I got engaged.
She alone is of blessed matrimony, fortunate,
As has the Spouse's grace.
All her faults by the beloved Lord are annulled,
As by Him in clasp she is exalted.
Saith Nanak : The woman[5] misfortune-struck supplicates,
When will my turn come ?
All the blessed married females in joy absorbed :
Lord; give me bliss just for one night. (1)

Sloka

My self ! why shake in depression ? the Lord is fulfiller of desires.
Meditate on the holy Preceptor, exalted being.
Annuller of suffering.
My self ! to the Name Divine make supplication.
That all thy sins and evil tendencies be shed.
Those so destined in primal time,
To the formless Creator form love.
Such the Maya-objectives have discarded,
And garnered endless wealth of the Name.
Day and night in one fixed devotion they engage,

1. Image for the human self, unawakened to God.
2. Beautiful, but 'noble' here is implied.
3. Implies 'Maya and worldliness'.
4. This is implied here, and stands for a fellow-seeker.
5. Image for the self.

And the limitless Divine Ordinance obey.
Nanak, servant of God one sole boon seeks :
Grant me Thy sight and Thy love in heart. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jisu tūṃ āweh chitti tis no sadā sukh P. 960

Those contemplating Thee are joyful eternally;
Whoever in mind bears Thee, suffers not Yama's affliction.
Whoever in mind bears Thee, from anxiety is free.
Whoever has the Creator for friend, fulfilled are all his objectives.
Whoever in mind cherishes Thee, of Thee is approved.
Whoever in mind bears Thee, is rich immensely.
Whoever in mind bears Thee, with a numerous family is blessed.
Whoever in mind bears Thee, are all his forebears saved. (6)

Andaruhun aṃnhā bāharuhu aṃnhā kūṛī kūṛī gāweh

Sloka

One blind from within and without,
Makes false show of singing devotional texts.
His limbs he washes, over these draws ritual circles,
But greatly after Maya runs.
His inner impurity not gone, again and again into transmigration he falls
Sleep-oppressed, lust-tortured, with his tongue alone the Lord's Name he utters.
Called Vaishnava, yet in egoistic action engaged
What good pounding husk ?
The crane[1] sitting among swans,[2] a swan does not turn,
But in catching fish remains absorbed.
As the swans flight contemplates it, with cranes can they not form association.
The swans pick up jewels and pearls; the crane after frogs runs.
The poor crane is flown off, lest his secret be revealed.
He is engaged as by the Lord directed—
Whom to blame ? such is the Lord's will.
The holy Preceptor is the lake full of pearls—
These are attained by whoever is so blessed.
Disciple-swans at the lake by the holy Preceptor's will
Are gathered.

1. Image for those without devotion.
2. Image for the God-awakened.

With wealth of jewels and pearls is the lake filled;
Spent freely, never are they diminished.
Never are lake and swans separated—
Such is the Creator's pleasure.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : The disciple who has good fortune inscribed on the forehead,
To the Master makes resort.
Such a one saves himself and his whole family,
And to all creation liberation brings. (1)
Sloka
One called a Brahmin divine,[1] following various traditions,
Yet is hard as unsoaked grain of lentils:
Within him is pervasive attachment and doubt,
His mind never poised.
False his coming and going, ever in quest of pelf he remains.
Truth makes him incensed; within is he full of wrath.
Gripped by foul thinking, evil understanding, a stupid fool,
His mind attachment-gripped.
Among robbers a robber—the whole company alike.
As the holy Preceptor, true tester views him exposed is his iron core.
In many places is he mingled in alloy,
Yet his reality ever comes to surface.
Whoever the Master's shelter seeks, though iron,
Into gold is transmuted.
The holy Preceptor is above rancour; to him are his son and enemy alike :
Annulling evil qualities, the self he purifies.
Saith Nanak : Whoever has such good fortune on his
forehead recorded,
To the holy Preceptor forms devotion.
Ambrosial is utterance of the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed,
Settled in the heart of whoever has his grace.
The transmigration of such is annulled; P. 961
Ever joyful they remain (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jo Tudhu bhāṇā jantu so Tudhu bujjhaī

The creature having Thy approval, of Thee has realization.

1. Pandit.

The creature having Thy approval,
At the Divine Portal finds fulfilment.
Whoever has Thy glance of grace, gone is his egoism.
Whoever has Thy pleasure, gone are his sins.
Whoever has the Lord on his side, from fear is freed.
Whoever has Thy grace, is rendered pure.
Whoever has Thy grace, fire of desire touches him not.
The Lord ever is gracious to one, who the Master's instruction imbibes. (7)

Kari kirpā Kirpāl āpei bakhshi lai

Sloka

Gracious Lord ! in Thy grace save me !
May I, falling at the Master's feet, ever utter Thy Name.
In my mind and body abide, that my suffering be annulled.
With strength of Thy arm protect me,
That no fear assail me.
Engage me in the sole task of chanting Thy praise day and night.
In holy congregation may my malady of egoism be annulled.
In all creation fully pervasive is one sole Lord.
By the Master's grace holy truth have I acquired.
Gracious One ! in Your grace grant that your laudation I sing,
Nanak for the bliss of Your sight yearns. (1)

Sloka

In your mind the Sole Lord contemplate; with the Sole Lord seek shelter.
With one Sole Lord be in love—no other place of shelter exists.
Seek one Sole Provider, who all boons may grant.
With mind and body, with each breath and morsel on the Sole Lord meditate.
Treasure of the holy ambrosial Name by meditating on the Sole Lord is acquired.
Supremely fortunate are the holy in whose mind He is lodged.
On water and land is He pervasive—no other is there.
On the Name I meditate, the Name I utter :
Nanak ! In the Lord's Will.

Pauri (Stanza)

Jis noṇ Tūṇ rakhvālā mārei tisu kauṇu

Who may harm any whose protector Thou art ?
Those whose protector Thou art, the three worlds have conquered.

One by Thee cherished bears a radiant face.
One by Thee cherished is purest of pure
One having Thy glance of grace, no reckoning has to face.
One having Thy approval, the Nine Treasures[1] enjoys,
Lord ! One whose side Thou dost take, to none is beholden.
One having Thy grace in worship to Thee engages. (8)

Hohu kirpāl swāmī merei santāṇ sangi bihāwei

Sloka

Lord ! Show grace that my life among the holy be passed.
Those cast off[2] by Thee are constantly subject to birth and death,
Their wails never-ending. (1)

Sloka

The holy Preceptor you contemplate, be your path smooth or hard,
Be it along a vale or a river-side.
None done block the way of one that the Name Divine utters. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Titthai Tūṇ samrathu jitthai koi nāhiṇ

Thou art mighty to do where none other is. P. 962
Even in fire of the womb is one under Thy Protection.
Yama's minions, hearing Thy Name leave the human being alone.
The terrible ocean of existence, impassable,
By aid of the Master's Word is crossed.
Those thirsting after Thee alone partake of amrita.
In Kali-Yuga the holy act is chanting Divine laudation.
The Lord to all creation is gracious—
With each breath cherishing all.
None coming to you with fervour of devotion
Disappointed returns. (9)

Dūjā tisu na bujhāihu Pār-Brahm Nāmu dehu ādhāru

Sloka

Lord Supreme Being ! give me not to contemplate any other—
Grant me prop of the Name.
The Lord is inaccessible, unknowable, almighty holy Provider.
Thou art immutable, above rancour, holy Eternal Thy court.
Thy worth beyond expression, limitless, infinite.
To seek other than the Lord is indulgence,
in evil pleasures and ashes.

1. See Glossary.
2. Forgotten.
3. (Applies to those imbued with pride of high caste as also of asceticism).

Those alone are happy, truly wealthy as in their dealing are pure.
Those attached in love to the Name Divine
Enjoy essence of joy in poise.
Nanak supplicates solely for dust of feet of the holy. (1)
Sloka
Bliss, joy and poise from constant singing of Divine laudation comes.
Saith Nanak : All other cleverness discard;
Liberation by devotion to the Name comes. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Nāṃ Tūṃ āveh vasi bahutu ghiṇāvaṇei

Neither by showig contempt for the world art Thou propitiated,
Nor by study of Vedas.
Neither by bathing at holy water-edges,
Nor by wandering over the earth art Thou propitiated.
Neither art Thou propitiated by clever devices,
Nor by plentiful charity.
Thou that art inaccessible, unknowable,
All under Thy power lie :
Thou to Thy devotees art compliant—
The devotees from Thee have strength. (10)

Āpei vaidu āpi nārāyaṇu

Sloka
The Lord is the true physician.
These physicians only bring on malady to the self.
The Master's Word is amrita-elixir substance to consume.
Saith Nanak : All maladies of such are effaced
As this in the heart have lodged. (1)
Sloka
By Divine command does man toss about;
    by Divine command rests in poise.
By obedience to the Divine command suffering and joy he bears alike.
By operation of the Divine command day and night the Name one contemplates.
This, saith Nanak, by Divine grace comes.
By Divine command the creature dies or lives.
By Divine command does one that is small, grow great.
By Divine command comes sorrow, joy and bliss.

By Divine command man the irrefrangible[1]
Divine Word utters.
By Divine command is annulled transmigration.
This, saith Nanak, comes to such as to devotion by the lord are inspired. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hauṃ tisu dhādhī kurbāṇu jī Terā sevdāru

A sacrifice am I to the bard[2] who is Thy servitor.
A sacrifice am I to the bard who Thy limitless laudation chants.
Blessed is the bard sought after by the formless Supreme Being.
Fortunate is the bard resting at the holy Portal.
Such a bard day and night lauds Thee.
The Name ambrosial he begs—discomfiture never to him comes.
Truth his raiment and sustenance—engaged in absorption to God his life he passes.
That bard is truly skilled in art,
As bears love to the Lord. (11)

Amrit bāṇī amiyo rasu amritu Hari kā nāuṃ

Sloka

The Divine Word is amrita, containing amrita-elixir; P. 963
The Name Divine too is amrita :
By the mind, body and heart contemplate the Lord,
And day and night His laudation chant.
Disciples of the Master ! listen to this teaching—
This is life's true objective.
Thereby shall precious[3] life be fruitful.
And devotion in the heart be aroused.
By contemplating the Lord comes excess of joy and bliss in poise;
And suffering vanishes.
Saith Nanak : By utterance of the Name comes joy,
And a place at the Divine Portal is found. (1)

Sloka

Saith Nanak : By the wisdom granted by the Master,
perfectly-endowed.

1. Of unbreakable effectiveness.
2. Term for a devotee.
3. Valuable object.

Comes meditation on the Name.
By the Divine will man in contemplation, austerity and restraint engages;
By the Divine will is man from the world disengaged.
By the Divine will does the self in numerous births wander about;
By the Divine will comes liberation.
By the Divine will does man experience suffering and joy
And in action engages.
By His will to clay He gives form and His light in it places.
By His will the Lord brings man to engage in worldly pleasures.
By His will also restrains him.
By His will the self in hell or heaven is placed
Or on the earth made to descend.
By His will some rare ones, Saith Nanak,
To devotion He inspires. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Wadiyāī sacchei Nām kī haun jīvān suṇi suṇei

In listening to laudation of the Name eternal find I life
This in an instant on beasts, goblins and ignorant beings
Liberation has conferred.
Day and night behoves us ever Thy Name to contemplate.
Terrible hunger and thirst by Thy Name are satisfied.
All maladies and sufferings of such are gone
As the Name in heart lodge.
Such alone acquire the jewel of enlightenment
As to the Master's Word are devoted.
Thou saviour of innumerable continents and universe,
Holy Beloved ! Thee alone Thy laudation fits. (12)

Mittar piyārā Nānak jī maiṇ chhaddi gawāiyā rangi kasumbhai bhullī

Sloka

Cherished Nanak ! the true Friend have I discarded and lost,
And after Kasumbha's false dye am in illusion.
Thy worth, true Friend, I realized not—Without Thee am I not worth half a cowrie. (1)

Sloka

Cherished Nanak : My mother-in-law,[1] ignorance is my foe.

1. The relations mentioned here are traditionally hostile to a young daughter-in-law. Here used symbolically.

My father-in-law, the body is a quarrel-maker;
The husband's elder brother, Yama, again and agan sings me.
Shouldst Thou be my friend, all their attempts shall fail.[1] (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jisu Tūṇ wutthā chitti tisu dardu nivārnaṇo

He in whose heart art Thou settled, all his suffering shall go.
He is whose heart art Thou settled, never shall be discomfited.
Whoever the Master, perfectly-endowed has met,
Inevitably shall be saved.
Whomsoever to pursuit of truth He inspires, truth shall contemplate.
Whoever has found the Treasure of devotion,
From further quest ceases.
Whoever sincere devotion has formed, alone of it knows;
Such alone turning dust of feet of all, pangs of separation suffer.
All is Thy wonder-play; all by Thee accomplished. (13)

Ustati nindā Nanakjī maiṇ habh waṇjṇāī chhoṛiyā habhu kijhu tyāgi

Sloka
Cherished Nanak ! praise and calumny of others
all have I discarded;
All else have I renounced.
All other relationships found I false;
To Thy lappet have I attached myself. (1)
Sloka
Cherished Nanak : With much wandering have
I gone distracted,
As various lands[2] I scoured.
Then found I sleep of joy and peace, as by contact
with the Master,
The Divine friend I attained. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Sabbhei dukh santāp jāṇ Tuddhuh bhullīyai

From forgetfulness of Thee are aroused all suffering and torment.
Then despite millions of efforts, with none may one find attachment. P. 964
One forgetful of the Name, poor may be reckoned.

1. Lit. They shall win now ashes.
2. Used symbolically for false creeds.

One forgetful of the Name in various births wanders along.
One unmindful of the Divine Lord, Yama's chastizement suffers.
One unmindful of the Divine Lord is indeed sick.
One unmindful of the Lord is full of arrogant pride.
Such in the world are miserable as of the Name are forgetful. (14)

Taindī bandashi maiṇ koe na ḍitthā Tūṇ Nānak mani bhāṇā

Sloka

None equalling Thy style have I beheld—to Nanak's heart hast Thou appealed.
To the Master, friend, mediator am I a sacrifice
By whose contact the Lord I have realized. (1)

Sloka

The feet that in Thy direction grow beautiful;
Beautiful is the head lying at Thy feet.
Beautiful is the face while singing Thy laudation;
The self while seeking Thy shelter. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Mili nārī sat-sangi mangalu gāvīyā

Females[1] in unison, in holy congregation, the paean of joy have sung.
Then is the self poised, wandering nevermore.
Gone are false thinking and sins and false suggestions.
The woman bearing truth in heart is of noble conduct and pre-eminent
Within and without, the sole Lord she beholds :
One sole device[2] is hers;
In heart bearing thirst for the Divine sight,
Serving at the Lord's feet.
As with the Lord she has bliss, her repute her decking has become.
As such females the Lord's approval have won,
By good fortune[3] union has He granted them. (15)

Habhi guṇa Taindei Nānak jīo maikū thīye maiṇ nirguṇa te kyā hovai

Sloka

Cherished Nanak, say : Lord ! All merits are Thine;

1. Devotees are implied.
2. Implies devotion to the One Sole Lord.
3. Lit. Implies conjunction of lucky planets.

To me have come demerits—what can I devoid of merit accomplish ?
None is a Provider great as Thou : the beggar ever is a beggar. (1)
Sloka
As declines the body, and feeling empty within I pine.
The Master, true friend, to me solace has brought.
Thus has it attained sleep of joy, and over the whole world has triumphed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Waddā Terā durbāru sacchā Tudhu takhtu

Exalted Thy court, eternal Thy throne.
Thou art King over kings; eternal Thy fly-whisk and umbrella.[1]
What pleases the Supreme Being, is true justice.
Should it please the Supreme Being, the shelterless shelter shall find.
All that the Creator has done, is good.
Those realizing the Lord, at the Divine Portal are settled.
True is Thy command, that none dare disregard.
Almighty, gracious—Thine all might. (16)

Soe suṇandaṛī merā tanu manu maulā Nāmu japandaṛī lālī

Sloka
As praise of the Lord I heard, in bloom were my mind and body.
And contemplating the Name is my face radiant.
As the Lord's path I trod, was my heart joy-cooled; at the Master's sight was I in bliss. (1)
Sloka
Inside my heart found I the jewel.[2]
This got I not at a price—The holy Preceptor to me granted it.
Ended is my struggling quest, and has come poise.
Nanak the blessing of life has won. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jis kai mastaki karamu hoe so sevā lāgā

One with fortune on forehead recorded in serving the Lord is engaged.
One whose heart's lotus by touch of the Master has bloomed,
Ever is awake.

1. (These are marks of royalty).
2. The Name Divine is implied.

As love for the Divine lotus feet is inspired,
Are illusion and fear fled.
As by the Master's teaching is the self conquered,
Attained is the immortal Lord.
Whoever on the Supreme Being has meditated, P. 965
In Kali-Yuga unshaken has remained.
Pure holy company equals bathing at the sixty-eight sacred water-edged.
Whoever to the Lord is united, is truly fortunate.
Nanak is a sacrifice to such as thus are fortunate. (17)

Jāṇ Piru andari tāṇ dhan bāhari

Sloka

As the Lord-Spouse entered the self, was the woman[1] cast out.
While the Lord-Spouse remained outside,
was the woman[1] the mistress.
Without devotion to the Name comes much wandering
in transmigration.
The holy Preceptor has granted vision of the Lord,
close to thy self, manifest.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Then is the self in truth solely absorbed. (1)

Sloka

Man goes about making much endeavour
Only the endeavour in God's way he makes not.
Saith Nanak : Rare is the person realizing the endeavour, Whereby is the world saved. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Waddi-hūṃ waddā apāru Terā martabā

Greater than the greatest, beyond limit is Thy station.
Thy doings innumerable, of variegated hues beyond our knowledge lie.
Inside beings lies Thy Essence[2]—all to Thee is known.
All under Thy power lies—full of felicity is Thy abode.
In Thy abode is bliss and felicitation.
Thy esteem, greatness and glory Thou alone hast power to hear.
Wherever I look, endowed with all powers I find Thee.
Nanak, Thy servants servant to Thee makes supplication. (18)

1. Maya is implied.
2. Essence of life is implied.

Chhatarei bāzār sohani wichi wāpārīyei

Sloka

Under the roofed street of heaven shrine in beauty God's merchants.

Saith Nanak : Whoever acquires one sole merchandize, is truly wealthy (1)

Sloka

Saith Kabir : None to us is attached, to none are we attached.

He who shaped this system of the world, in Him are we absorbed[1]. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Saphaliyo birkhu suhawarā Hari saphal amritā

Fruitful is the beautiful tree of God, bearing amrita of the Name.

The heart for union with Him yearns—

How may He be acquired ?

He is above hue and feature, inaccessible, beyond our power lying.

Such a one would be beloved of my heart

As this secret door throws open.

Master ! you shall I serve : Show me way to the Divine friend.

To Him am I a sacrifice, to Him make offering of myself.

Beloved friend ! This by the holy is revealed—

Listen with your heart.

Saith Nanak, servant of God : Whoever is so destined,[2]

From the holy Preceptor gets amrita of the Name. (19)

Kabīr dhartī sādh kī taskar baisehn gāhi

Sloka

Saith Kabir : The earth belongs to the holy; thieves too settled on it, occupying it.[3]

The earth feels not their burden—to such too comes benefit of holy company. (1)

Sloka

Saith Kabir : For the sake of rice is the husk also pounded with flail.

As one sits in evil company, comes Dharmaraja's questioning. (2)

---

1. (This sloka is also recorded amidst Kabir's slokas at no. 214)
2. Has it recorded in his destiny.
3. (The two slokas ascribed to Kabir are also recorded among Kabir's slokas at nos. 210 and 211).

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei hī wad-parvāru āpi ikātīyā

Himself is He the vast family of the world.
Himself Sole and alone—
His Worth solely to Himself known.
Himself all creation by Himself created.
His doings Himself has He power to expound.
Blessed is the abode where Thou are settled.
Blessed Thy devotees who, holy eternal ! Thee have beheld.
Only one having Thy grace lauds Thee.
Whoever has the Master's contact, Saith Nanak, P. 966
Pure and holy becomes. (20)

Farīda bhumi rangāvalī manjhi visūlā bāghu

Sloka
Listen Farid ! lovely is the earth, in its midst is a poisonous orchard.[1]
One exalted by the Preceptor feels not its fire (1)
Sloka
Listen Farid ! To a life beautiful is man's life, attached to a lovely body.
Rare are such as bear love to the Divine Beloved. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Japu tapu sanjamu dayā dharamu jisu dehi su pāe

Contemplation, austerity, self-restraint, compassion and righteousness
To such come as by the Lord granted.
Whoever has his fire of desire by the Lord Himself assuaged,
On the Name meditates.
Controller of the inner self, Supreme Being above
our knowledge !
To whomsoever the vision of unicity does grant,
Propped by the holy congregation, of the Lord's love has joy.
Such a one having his demerits annulled,
His face is made radiant and by the Name Divine is saved.
His fear of transmigration annulled, birth nevermore he takes.
Granting hold of His sash, from the dark-well He extricates him.
Saith Nanak : Such by grace are granted union,
And to His bosom kept clasped. (21)

---

1. (These two slokas are also inserted among Farid's slokas at nos. 82 and 83).

Muhabbati jisu Khudāe di rattā rangi chalūli

Sloka

Whoever is in love with God, is dyed vermilion red.[1]
Saith Nanak : Rare are such, beyond all price. (1)

Sloka

My heart by the holy Name is penetrated; outside too the Lord have I beheld.
Saith Nanak : In all place is He pervasive—
In forest-glades, grass-blades and each hair. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei kīto rachanu āpei hī rattiyā

Himself has He made creation, Himself in it pervasive.
Himself One and Sole, Himself of numerous forms.
Himself pervading all, Himself outside of them.
Himself known to be far, Himself manifest at hand.
Himself hidden and manifest.
None Thy show of creation has had power to value.
Deeply profound, fathomless, limitless, beyond count art Thou.
Saith Nanak : Thou alone solely operative. (22)

(Found correct)[2]

Vār in the Measure Ramkali—Composition of Rai Balwand and Satta the Minstrel

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nāuṇ kartā kādaru karei kium bolu hovai jo khīvandai

Guru Nanak, whose name the mighty Creator Himself exalted,
How may his word be evaluated ?
Holy celestial qualities are to him real sisters and brothers—
His disciples charity of liberation receive.
Nanak started the royal dynasty[3] within the firm citadel and foundation of truth.
Then was the umbrella[4] over the head of Lehna[5] placed,
Who by utterance of Divine laudation quaffed amrita.
The instruction of the Master concerning the Divine self
Was the mighty sword of endeavour of his self.

1. Symbol of deep devoion.
2. Note in the original, Shuddha.
3. Symbolizes the exalted line of Guruship.
4. Mark of royalty.
5. The earlier name of Guru Angad Dev, successor to Guru Nanak Dev.

The Master[1] to the Disciple[2] made obeisance.
With Nanak still alive :
While living himself, the Master drew on Angad's forehead the paste-mark[3] (1)

Lahṇei dī pherāīyai Nānakā dohī khattīyai

The proclamation concerning Lehna by Nanak was now spread :
The same light permeated him the same praxis—
Only the Master his visible form had changed.
Over Lehna's head waved the immaculate umbrella,
As in the Guru's home[4] on throne he was seated;
Doing as by the Master instructed, licking the tasteless slab of seeking union with the Lord.
The feeding centre of the Master's Divine Word was operative.
Whose provision diminution saw never.
What the Master donated he[5] spent. P. 967
Consuming it himself and distributing in charity the rest.
As is landed the Lord, light from heaven and from the sun's disc is scattered below.
Holy King ! by the sight is annulled impurity of multiple births.
How from what the Master truly proclaimed,
May any turn his face away ?
The Master's sons obeyed not his decree,
And from the Preceptor turned their faces away;
With hearts dishonest, in disobedience they went along,
Carrying on head trussed loads of pride.
As Guru Nanak decreed, did Guru Angad act;
By thus, acting was he on the throne installed,
Who lost, who won ? (2)

Jini kītī so mannaṇā ko sālu jivāhe sālī

He who carried out the Master's Word is worthy of obedience—
Which is superior ? the thorny weeds of paddy shoots ?
Dharmaraja, the celestial judge, listening to arguments would adjudicate.

---

1. Guru Nanak Dev.
2. Guru Angad Dev.
3. Mark of consferring honour.
4. Shop. Implies the Guru's court (Durbar).
5. Implies Guru Angad Dev.

What the holy Preceptor pronounces turns out true, instantly fulfilled.
Guru Angad's proclamation was made, that the eternal Creator confirmed.
Nanak changing his aspect[1] occupied the throne spread in hundreds of branches.[2]
At the Master's door, the followers stand serving him,
Their rust of impurity rubbed off.
The hermit[3] at the Master's door, by utterance of the holy Name, is made radiant.
Saith Balwand the bard : Khivi[4], noble soul,
Was like tree with shade of thick leaves.
In her kitchen was distributed rich fare,
Khir[5] enriched with ghee, tasting like amrita elixir.
The faces of the Master's disciples became radiant;
The egoists shrunk like straw.
Guru Angad, acting heroically, with the Master found approval.
Mother Khivi's wedded lord was he who carried earth's burden. (3)

Horyoṇ gang vahāīyai dūniyāī ākhai ki kionu

The Guru made the Ganga flow in a different direction[6].
That the world sought to know the truth.[7]
Nanak, image of the supreme Lord, Master of the universe, Uttered words of high import.
Making churning-rod[8] of the mountain of absorption,
And the string of the serpent-king of concentration,
Churned the holy Word.
The fourteen jewels he churned out and illumined
the flux of the world.
Great might he displayed, whereby the mighty tenement of the world he sustained.
Over Lehna's head the umbrella he spread

1. Kāiyā = body.
2. Implies the vast concourse of followers.
3. Implies Guru Angad Dev.
4. Guru Angad Dev's wife.
5. Milk cooked with rice.
6. Implies the unusual act by Guru Nanak Dev of passing over his sons of favour of an outsider (Lehna).
7. Lit. What had he done ?
8. (This imagery comes from the Puranic legend of the churning of the ocean by the gods and demons. See Glossary).

And his canopy upto the sky was lifted,
Angad's light into his own light was merged;
Into himself did he merge.
Disciples and the Guru's sons, following—
All contemplated what the Guru had done.
As they judged, the paste-mark of Lehna was rightly drawn. (4)

Pheri vasāiyā Pheruāṇi Satigurū Khāḍūri

The holy Preceptor Pheru's son,[1] then in Khadur took abode.
With thee abide contemplation, austerity, self-restraint—
The rest in great pride are involved.
Greed ruins mankind as weeds water.
At the Master's portal rains down illumination from Divine might.
Thou art the ocean of cool poise unfathomable.
The treasure of the Name, bringer of Nine Treasures in thee is stored.
Whoever traduces thee, pulverized must be.
To the dwellers of the world only objects lying near are visible—
Thou dost behold also what lies far in the thereafter.
The holy Preceptor, Pheru's son,[1] then in Khadur took abode. (5)

So ṭikkā so baihaṇā soi dībāṇu

With the self-same paste-mark, throne and in the self-same court
Was the grandson acknowledged like father[2] P. 968 and grandfather[3]—
He who made the serpent of the evil mind the churn-string
And spiritual might the churn;
Who churned the ocean with mount Sumeru[4]
as the churning-rod,
And extracting the fourteen jewels[5] spread illumination.
Poised devotion his steed, continence his saddle,
With the bow of purity, the arrow of Divine laudation he shot.

---

1. Reference to Guru Angad Dev.
2. Implies Guru Angad Dev, predecessor of Guru Amar Das, to whom this stanza refers.
3. Implies Guru Nanak Dev, grandfather in the spiritual line.
4. Implies illumination.
5. These were taken out of the ocean by the gods and demons churning it together, according to the Puranic legend.

Amid the darkness of Kali-Yuga arose the sun,[1] casting rays.
The field of noble qualities he cultivated, and of noble qualities spread the canopy.
In thy kitchen was ever dispensed ghee, flour and sugar.
Whoever thy word in mind has lodged, the four corners of the universe to him grow visible.
By the mark of thy grace transmigration hast thou annulled—
One thus illumined[1] on the earth descended.
Thou who art firm like the mount Sumeru,
By tempests of wind art not shaken.
Knowing the state of each self, all to him is known.
Holy king[2] ! what praise may be rendered thee
Nobly illumined as thou art ?
Grant to Satta the bard the boon that of the holy Preceptor is approved.
With Nanak's umbrella resting over his head,
Are the devotees marvelling.
With the self-same paste-mark, throne and in the
self-same court,
Was the grandson acknowledged like father and grandfather.[2] (6)

Dhannu dhannu Rāmdās Guru jini Siriyā tinhai sawāriyā

Blessed be Guru Ram Das, exalted by Him who created him.
Fulfilled in him is the miracle—the Creator Himself his form has taken.
His disciples and the congregation as the image of the Supreme Being have venerated him.
Thou art eternal, unfathomable, immeasurable—
Unknowable thy extent.
Those that with love have served thee have by thee been liberated.[3]
Greed, avarice, lust, wrath and attachment
With their brood hast thou cast out.
Blessed is thy abode; holy thy congregation's display.
Thou in contemplation dost appear as Nanak,
Lehna and Guru Amar Das.
At sight of the Guru, did the mind find poise. (7)

---

1. That is, Guru Amar Das.
2. These relationships refer to the apostolic line.
3. Carried across (the ocean).

Chārei jāgei chahuṇ jugīṇ panchāiṇu āpei hoā

In the four Yugas are the four Gurus manifested—
The Lord Himself in them took form.
Himself He created His essence, Himself sustained
the universe as pillar.
Himself the tablet and the pen, Himself the scrible.
The congregation is in process of transmigration—
Himself the Lord is ever new and fresh.
Guru Arjan on the throne is seated—luminous is the holy Preceptor's canopy.
From direction of sunrise to sunset
In all four continents has he spread illumination.
Those not serving the Master are egoists, subject to death[1]
Ever-increasing two-fold and four-fold is thy miraculous power—
This from the holy Eternal is the holy gift to thee.
In the four Yugas are the four Gurus manifested—
The Lord Himself in them took form.[2] (8)

In the Measure Ramkali-Composition of Bhaktas the Venerable Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kāyā kalālaṇi lāhani meloun Guru ka shabadu guṛu kīnu re

In the vat of the self the fermenting matter I mix—
The Master's Word is made the jaggery therefore.
Desire, lust, wrath, pride and envy cut to bits is made P. 969
the fermenting bark. (1)
Is there a holy one, blessed with joy in poise within
To whom utterance of holy texts and austerities
I may give as fee ?
For a drop of the intoxicant from this vat
Would I dedicate body and mind. (I-Pause)
Of the fourteen worlds is the oven made.
And the fire of Divine enlightenment in the body is lit.
The stopper and pipe is of absorption in poise;
The poised mind the cooling towel. (2)

1. Implies transmigration.
2. Also interpreted as : 'The four took the form of fifth, i.e. Guru Arjan Dev'. (This Vār was composed and recited in the congregation presided over by Guru Arjan Dev).
Note : In this hymn the symbolism of distilling liquor is used to express the inspiration to spiritual ecstasy. This is continued in the next hymn as well.

Bathing at holy watering-spots, fasts, ritual purity self-restraint, the sun and moon passages—
All for this liquor shall I pawn.
With the cup of absorption, this essence of amrita,
the supreme elixir shall I quaff. (3)
This supremely pure amrita-elixir in unbroken stream shall drop—
The mind with this elixir intoxicated.
Saith Kabir : Flat are all other intoxicants—
This elixir alone is genuine. (4) (1)

Guru kari gyānu dhyānu kari mahūā bhau bhāthī mana dhārā

Of enlightenment make the molasses, meditation
the mahua flower,
Fear of the Lord borne in mind the oven.
The pipe is absorption in poise—
Liquor so distilled by one desirous of it[1] is drunk. (1)
Thou recluse ! intoxicated with Divine ecstasy is my mind.
With intoxication rising, elixir of bliss have I tasted;
Illuminated are the three worlds. (I-Pause)
Joining the walls of heaven and earth the oven have I made,
And this heady supreme elixir have quaffed.
Lust and wrath have I turned into fuel, and worldliness discarded. (2)
From the Master who to the Lord has attained is attained enlightenment manifest—
This awareness from the holy Preceptor is obtained.
Kabir, servant of God, with such liquor is intoxicated,
As never wears off. (3) (2)

Tūṁ mero meru parbatu Swāmī ot gahī maiṇ Terī

Lord ! thou art my protecting mountains;[2] Thy shelter have I sought.
Thou being unshakeable, steady I remain—
My honour hast Thou protected. (1)
In all time Thou alone art real.
By Thy grace are we ever joyful. (I-Pause)
Reposing confidence in Thee, in Magahar[3] I took abode—

Note : The symbolism of liquor for the spiritual experience continued.

1. One drinking it; the addict.
2. (Two words for 'mountain' are used, yielding such a sense).
3. A place under a curse.

My mind's burning agony hast Thou extinguished.
First at Magahar Thy sight I had; then took I abode in Kashi.[1] (2)
No difference is between Magahar and Kashi[1]— both I regard as the same.
I though poor, this wealth have obtained;
The proud perish, bursting in their pride. (3)
One that is proud, by thorns is pricked, that no one can take out.
Such in this life wail with its pricking, and later into dark hell rot. (4)
What is hell and what poor heaven ? God's devotees reject each.
By grace of the holy Preceptor, to none are we under obligation. (5)
Now seated on the throne of holy congregation,
With the Lord of the Earth[2] have we union.
Now are God and Kabir one—none can distinguish one from the other. (6) (3)

Santān mānouṇ dūtāṇ dānauṇ ih kutwārī merī

The holy I honour, evil-doers I chastize—
Such is the Sheriff's[3] duty I exercise.
Day and night Thy feet I rub; with my hair waving the fly-whisk over Thee. (1)
At Thy court am I as a cur,
Barking with mouth wide open. (I-Pause)
Since my former birth have I been Thy servitor—
From this no way now can I turn away.
At the court the mark of absorption in poise on my forehead is branded. (2) P. 970
Those branded[4] on the battlefield give fight;
Those unbranded take to flight.
One that is genuinely devoted, devotion realizes;
Such the Lord in His treasure enters. (3)
In the house of the body is chamber of the mind,
That by contemplation has become the exalted chamber.
The Master to Kabir the substance[5] has granted—
Let him keep it secure. (4)

1. Holy Banaras (Varnasi)
2. Sāringpānī = He who holds the earth in hand—an attributive name of Vishnu signifying God.
3. Kutwār = Kotwal, is the guardian of laws within the citadel or the city.
4. Refers to the custom of branding warriors in past ages, to mark their attachment to an overlord.
5. Implies devotion.

Saith Kabir : This in the world is granted to such as bear on forehead the mark of good fortune.
Those that amrita-elixir have obtained.
Are of everlasting conjugal bliss.[1] (5) (4)

Jih mukhi Bedu Gāyatrī niksai so kion Brahmanu bisaru karai

Why should the Brahmin neglect Him from whose tongue issues the Veda and Gayatri.[2]
Why should the Brahmin not be devoted to the Lord,
Whose feet the whole world touches ? (1)
My Brahmin friend ! why utterest Thou not God's Name ?
Brahmin pedagogue[3] ! for not uttering the Lord's Name
In hell shalt thou suffer. (I-Pause)
Calling thyself high-caste, in the homes of the low-caste dost thou parake of food,[4]
By forced ritual thy belly filling.
On the fourteenth[5] and the moonless night[5] with fervour
dost thou seek charity—
Despite a lamp held in thy hand, into a well dost thou fall. (2)
Thou art a Brahmin, I only a weaver of Kashi[6]—
How may I thy equal be ?
I by utterng the Name Divine am saved;
Thou though relying on Vedas shalt drowned be. (3) (5)

Tarvaru eku anant dār shākhā puhap patra ras bharīyā

There is one Sole Tree,[7] bearing numberless branches, twings,
Flowers and leaves, all delightful.
Man ! This is the amrita-orchard, made by the Lord,
perfection incarnate. (1)
The account of the Divine Monarch have we known.
Of Divine light shining within, a rare one
By the Master's guidance becomes aware. (I-Pause)
The humming-bee of the self, enamoured of the flower-elixir of Divine Essence,
In the twelve-pettaled rose of the heart is fixed.

---

1. Symbol for union with God.
2. A sacred Brahminical mantra (text).
3. Pande ! (Vocative form).
4. (Food-offering to Brahmins is believed to bring merit).
5. These lunar dates are held sacred.
6. A part of Banaras (Varanasi).
7. Implies the Divine Creator.

The sixteen-pettaled[1] rose
In[2] the air flapping, in the seat of superconsciousness has beaten its wings. (2)
In the void of poise arose the tree of God-consciousness,
That has dried up the cloud of earthly desire.
Saith Kabir : To such am I a servant, as of this tree have had sight. (3) (6)

Mundrā moni dayā kari jholī patra kā karuh bīchāru re

Make silent meditation your earrings, compassion the pouch,
Contemplation your begging-bowl.
Thy patched coat stiching the body against evil passions,
The Name your sustenance. (1)
Yogi ! be such your Yoga-praxis.
By the Master's guidance experience contemplation,
Austerity and self-restraint. (I-Pause)
Make realization your ashes smearing the limbs.
Your sounding horn the consciousness attuned to God.
Renouncing desire, in the city of the self wander,
And strum harp of the mind. (2)
Lodge the temper poised, composed of the five elements, in your heart,
And enter absorption completely detached.
Saith Kabir : Listen devotees of God ! the orchard of righteousness and compassion cultivate. (3)

Kavan kāj sirjei jag bhītari janami kavan phalu pāiyā

For what purpose are we created in this world ?
What gain in life have we attained ?
The Divine jewel fulfiller of desires,[3] ferrier acros the
ocean of existence,
For an instant to our heart have we not attached. (1)
Lord ! such sinners are we :
To the Lord who self and body has conferred,
Loving devotion have we not practised. (I-Pause)
Others' substance, coveting their bodies, P. 971

1. (These terms are drawn form the praxis of Yoga, which here are invested with spiritual significance).
2. Heaven, 'the tenth door'.
Note : In this hymn the different elements of Yoga-praxis are sought to be transmuted into spiritual attainment. Cf. Japuji 28.
3. Chintamani.

Others' womenfolk, slander and wrangling with others
Have we not given up.
Thus are we again and again in transmigration caught—
This state no way leaves us. (2)
There where in homes of God's devotees Divine discourses are delivered,
Have I not for an instant made resort.
With dissolute persons, thieves, agents of evil,
With drunken sots I ever live. (3)
Lust, wrath, maya-intoxication and envy—
Such is my substance.
Compassion, righteousness, service of the Master—
These even in dream have I not practised. (4)
Lord compassionate to the humble, gracious, beloved of devotees,
Annuller of fear !
Prayeth Kabir : In his affliction save your servant,
That you I may serve. (5) (8)

Jih simrani hoe mukti-duāru

The contemplation whereby the door of liberation may be entered;
Whereby into heaven thou goest, with no more return to the world, Whereby entering the abode of fearlessness trumpet of triumph thou mayst blow,
The unstruck music may be played, and ever be thou fulfilled—(1)
Such contemplation with thy mind make.
Without contemplation comes not liberation. (I-Pause)
With contemplation comes no impediment;
It liberates, shaking off much burden—
To such contemplation with thy heart make obeisance;
Thus shalt thou in transmigration be not involved. (2)
The contemplation whereby thou mayst frolic,
Is a lamp tied within thee, that no oil needs.
This lamp confers immortality in the world.
And destroying lust and wrath, casts them out, (3)
The contemplation whereby the supreme state thou mayst attain,
To thy bosom[1] keep clasped.

1. Neck.

Such contemplation practise, cast it not off.
Thus by the Master's grace mayst thou cross over.[1] (4)
The contemplation whereby of all obligation to others
shalt thou be freed,
And wrapped in silken sheets in the mansion of Divine Essence goest to sleep;
In comfortable bed findst joy of heart[2]—
Such contemplation's elixir ever thou quaff. (5)
The contemplation whereby thy curse may be lifted,
Whereby Maya may not touch thee,
Thereby contemplate the Lord, singing His laudation
from the heart.
From the holy Preceptor is inspiration to such contemplation received. (6)
Ever day and night the Lord thou contemplate;
Rising and sitting ever, with each breath and morsel,
Waking and sleeping, partake of joy of contemplation.
By good fortune is attained inspiration to contemplate the Lord. (7)
The contemplation whereby thy load of sin is shaken off,
Is prop given by the Name Divine.
Saith Kabir : With Him who is beyond limit,
Are without avail magical rites and incantations. (8) (9)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of the Venerable Kabir

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bandhachi bandhanu pāiyā

The binding Maya in bonds has placed us;
But the Master, liberator from bondage, this fire has extinguished.
As entirely[3] this self I contemplated,
Within itself the holy dip I took.[4] (1) P. 972
As the mind, Lord of wind,[5] in the state of poise has taken abode,
Now no more comes death, birth or old age. (1-Pause)
As is the mind from the world turned away, power of poise it has achieved,

1. That is, be liberated.
2. (This imagery is symbolic of spiritual bliss).
3. In all its features from toes to the top-knot.
4. That is, discarded the holy spots, (tirthas).
5. Called so because it is unsteadiness.

And the region of superconsciousness[1] has entered.
Now are penetrated Kundalini's lotuses,[2]
Without a doubt is met the Lord. (2)
Lifted is Maya-attachment;
The moon-like state of poise has the sun-like restlessness gripped.
As is the vessel[3] of the mind filled,
Sounds the unstruck harp. (3)
The Master, delivering discourse the holy Word imparted;
That the listener disciple in mind has lodged.
By repeating the Creator's Name[4] is attained liberation.
Kabir thus states the essence. (4) (1.10)

Chandu sūraju duei joti sarūpu

Moon and sun both are manifestations of light.
In their light abides the incomparable Supreme Being. (1)
Thou enlightened one ! contemplate God :
In the Divine light lies implicit expanse of the universe. (I-Pause)
At sight of the jewel to the Divine jewel I make obeisance.
Kabir repeats names of the immaculate,
inexpressible Lord. (2) (2.11)

Dunīyā hushīyār bedār jāgat musīyat hau re bhāī

World ! be thou alert, awake;
Brother ! thou awake, is it being robbed by Maya.
With the wide-awake scriptures[5] as guardians,
Yama still carries it away. (I-Pause)
To the world evil that is bitter like the margosa,[6]
tastes sweet like the mango;
Devotion that is mango-like it considers bitter as margosa;
Thorny bushes of evil it takes to bear the banana fruit.
The fruitless simmal it takes to bear coconut—
Thus stupid, thoughtless, a barbarian is the world. (1)
The Lord is like sugar, scattered amid sand—with elephant-like arrogance can He not be gathered up.
Saith Kabir[7] : Discarding pride of lineage, caste and worldly honour.

1. 'Gagan' (sky) in Yogic parlance.
2. Said symbolically for the rising enlightenment.
3. Kumbhak (lit. vessel) a Yogic term.
4. As against the Yogic praxis, 'repeating the Name is the true way to enlightenment and liberation.
5. Nigam = Veda.
6. Neemb = neem.
7. Original, Kamir = Kabir.

With ant-like humility may He be gathered up and consumed. (2) (3.12)

In the Measure Ramkali —Composition of the Venerable Namdev

SCORE 1·

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ānīlei kāgadu kātīlei gūdi ākāsh maddhei bharamīyalei

Paper I brought, cutting it in shape of a kite, that hovers in mid-sky.
While talking to some respectable folk,
My mind still in the kite is absorbed. (1)
My mind with the Name Divine is penetrated,
As is the goldsmith's mind by art of gold-making absorbed. (I-Pause)
A pitcher is brought, with water filled,
That young ladies[1] fill.
While laughing, thinking out pleasantries, their mind in the pitcher is fixed. (2)
From a mansion with ten doors[2] are taken out kine for grazing.
While the cowherd at five kosas[3] takes them out to graze,
Their mind in the calf is fixed. (3)
Saith Namdev : Listen Tilochan[4] ! the mother puts the child in the cradle.
While busy in her tasks in the home and outside,
Her mind to the child is attached. (4) (1)

Bed Purān Sāsatar ānantā gīt kabit na gāwuhgo

Of Vedas, Puranas and Shastras the endless lays and stanzas shall I not chant.
Of worship of the Formless Lord, pervasive in all worlds
Shall I play the soundless flute. (1)
Of the Immaculate Lord shall I chant laudation.
By the holy Word risen above the three qualities, P. 973 in the unstruck music absorbed,

Note : Through four parallels in this hymn, is expressed the attitude of the devotee, who while apparently engaged in worldly activity, has his mind all the time fixed on God. The language of this hymn has the Marathi cast. Namdev was born in the Maharashtra region.

1. Princesses.
2. (This is also the usual image for the human body).
3. A measure of distance, over a mile.
4. A Bhakta, contemporary of Namdev.

To abode of the Lord perfection incarnate, shall I go. (I-Pause)
Pursuit of activating the breath passages of Ida,
Pingala and Sukhmana.[1]
Controlling of breath shall I discard.
The moon and sun passages[2] holding alike,
In the Divine light shall I absorb myself. (2)
Beholding sacred bathing-spots shall I not enter water,
And trouble creatures living within it.
The Master the sixty-eight bathing-spots within the heart has shown—
In these shall I take bath. (3)
With aid of people of the world shall I not seek fame.
Nor hanker after praise.
Saith Nama[3] : To the Lord is my heart attached—
In unbroken absorption shall I enter. (4) (2)

Māe na hotī bāpu na hotā karamu na hotī kāyā

When existed not mother, father and deeds impelling rebirth.
This body did not come into being.
Then existed neither I nor you—who did then emerge from where ? (1)
Lord ! none to another belongs—
The world is like birds settled on tree. (I-Pause)
When existed not moon and sun, and water and air commingled were;
When existed not Shastras and Vedas—
Where from did ritual then arise[4] ? (2)
The merit of practice of the tongue,[5] of concentration of energy between brows[6]
And of telling rosary of tulasi-beads[7]—
All the Master's grace have I acquired.

1. The Middle passage through which vital energy passing, leads to enlightenment.
2. The passages Ida and Pingala respectively. Reference is to the practice of hatha-yoga, in which breath is to be passed through these passages, ultimately to pass through Sukhmana, to acquire perfection of Yoga.
3. Short for Namdev.
4. That is, these did not exist. There is nothing eternal about them.
5. Khechari, a practice in Yoga wherein the tongue stretched backward, reaches out to the throat-passage.
6. Bhūchari.
7. (This is the Vaishnava practice of devotion).

States Nama in humility : of the Supreme Essence the holy Preceptor has granted me awareness. (3) (3)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of the Venerable Ravidas

SCORE 2

Bānārasī tapu karai ulati tīrath marai agani dahai
kāyā kalpu kījai

Performance of austerities in Banaras,[1]
hanging head downwards,
Breathing one's last at holy spots,
Immolating oneself in fire, renovating the body through Yoga;
Performance of horse-sacrifice, giving away gold in charity under cover—
None of these equals devotion to the Name Divine. (1)
Thou hypocrite, discard these !
Pratise not deceit.
Ever repeat the Name Divine. (1-Pause)
Resorting to Ganga or Godavari[2], bathing on the occasion of the solar eclipse at Kedarnath[3] or Gomati;[4]
Or giving away a thousand cows in charity, Bathing at a million holy spots or immolating the body
in the Himalayas—
None of these equals devotion to the Name Divine. (2)
Givng away perpetually in charity horses, elephants, one's wife along with the connubial bed;
Offering oneself in sacrifice; giving away gold equal in weight to oneself—
None of these equals devotion to the Name Divine. (3)
With these acts be not offended in mind should chastizement come;
Then blame not Yama.
Contemplate essence of the holy state of liberation,
Worship the Lord, called Rama, son of king Dasratha,[5] States Nama in humility : Quaff essence of amrita-elixir of devotion to Him. (4) (4)

---

1. The holy city of Varanasi.
2. These are sacred rivers.
3. A shrine in the Himalayas.
4. A river in Uttar Pradesh.
5. 'Rama' is the most popular word for God in India. The Supreme Being is believed to have been incarnated as Rama, the son of Dasratha.

In the measure Ramkali—Composition of the Venerable Ravidas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Parhīyai gunīyai nāmu sabhu sunīyai anabhau bhāu na darsai

One may study and contemplate scriptures, and listen to God's traditional names;
Still may not be obtained sight of the Lord realized by intuition and love.
How may iron without touching the philosopher's stone turn into gold ? (1)
Lord ! noway is knot of doubt unravelled :
Lust, wrath, Maya-intoxication and envy—
These five have robbed me. (I-Pause)
Noway goes away such egoistic thinking : P. 974
A great poet am I, of high lineage.
A great scholar, Yogi, ascetic;
An enlightened one of great merit, a hero,
donor of charity. (2)
Saith Ravidas : None has any realization—all are like deluded madmen.
My prop is the Name Divine; that to me is life, breath and wealth. (3) (1)

In the Measure Ramkali—Composition of the Venerable Beṇī[1]
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the Holy Preceptor's Grace

Iḍā Pingulā aur Sukhmanā tīni basahi ik thāīṇ

The passage Ida, Pingala and Sukhmana, all in one place, at the Tenth Door abide.
At their meeting-place is the true triple confluence,[2]
Sangam[3] and Prayag—
There the self takes its bath. (1)
Devotees of God ! there abides the Lord by Maya undefiled,
This a rare one, who has access to the Master, contemplates.
There abides the Lord undefiled by Maya. (I-Pause)

1. A Bhakta, about whose life much detail is not available. He is mentioned in connection with Divine grace shown to him, in Var 10.14 of Bhai Gurdas.
2. Beni, Tribeni at Prayag (Allahabad).
3. Confluence of Ganga and Jamuna at Prayag.

What is the mark of the Divine abode ?
There rings the unstruck sound and Word,
There exist neither moon nor sun; neither air nor water.
There arises holy teaching, by the Master's guidance realized. (2)
There arises enlightenement, and foul thinking declines.
At the Tenth Door[1] the seeker's mind in amrita-elixir is drenched.
Whoever realizes the mystery of this miracle,[2]
With the Supreme Divine enlightener has meeting. (3) Unknowable, beyond limit is the Tenth Door, abode of the Supreme Being.
Supreme over all is the house of the body, ove it is niche of the head,
In this niche is settled the seeker. (4)
He that ever in enlightenment is awake never sleeps.
In his absorption will vanish the three qualities and
the three worlds.
In his heart is lodged the seed-formula of the Nama;
His mind turned away from the world in the cosmic void abides. (5)
Whoever in spirit is awake, never speaks untruth;
His five senses under control keeping.
The Master's teaching in mind he bears,
His mind and body to the Lord's devotion dedicating. (6)
He that his hands as leaves, his body as branches considers,
Forfeits not his life on a gamble.
Of the river of demoniac thoughts should he dam the origin,
And turning the sun of enlightenment away from the west of ignorance.
Should make it rise.
Whoever thus the uncontrollable controls,
For him flows the fountain of ecstasy.
Such a one with the Lord of the universe holds dialogue. (7)
At the portal then is seen the four-way facing lamp shedding brightness.

---

1. The seat of superconsciousness. (original. Gaganantari = Yogic term for the seat of superconsciousness in the brain).
2. Kala = art.
Note : This hymn is full of yogic allusions, expressed metaphorically yielding varying interpretations.

Amid endless leaves of creation lies the Root-Essence.
With all his faculties there abides the Lord,
Found when the pearl of mind to jewels of breath is joined. (8)
Within the head is the lotus of Divine enlightenment, around it lying jewels—
Inside is lodged Lord of the three worlds.
There play the holy five sounds.
With fly-whisk waving, and numerous conch-shells sounding.
By the enlightenment by the Master granted, are crushed demons of evil.
Lord ! Beni for devotion to Thy Name supplicates. (9) (1)

RAGA NAT-NARAYAN

In the Measure Nat-Narayan-Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 975

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality Eternal,
Creator-Immanent, Above Fear, Above Rancour,
Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-existent, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

Merei mana japi ahinisi Nāmu Hare

My self ! day and night to the name Divine give utterance.
Millions upon millions of sins committed, are all thereby cast aside. (I-Pause)
God's Servants with pure feelings the Name utter and to the Lord make supplication.
Sins and evils all are cast out, as water takes off impurity. (1)
Singing of laudation of the mighty Lord each instant,
And uttering the puissant Lord's name by the tongue,
In a moment, an instant casts out the five incurable evils,
Lying in city of the self. (2)
God's devotees by great good luck on the Name
Divine meditate.
Lord ! company of such I seek, this to me grant !
Whereby thoughtless, foolish ones like me may be saved. (3)
Life of the universe ! Show grace,
Save those fallen on your shelter.
Nanak, servant of God, seeks shelter with you.
Lord ! my honour save. (4) (1)

Rāma japi jana Rāmai Nāmi ralei

My self ! the Name repeat and to the Name be thou united.
As by the Master's guidance.
The Name Divine we have uttered.
Towards us has the Lord assumed grace. (I-Pause)
Man ! the Lord inaccessible, unknowable thou contemplate,
And in Him be merged as water in water.

God's devotees by union with God merit have attained-
To God's servants am I a sacrifice. (1)
To God's servants laudation of the supremely noble Being.
The Name Divine have sung.
Destroyed[1] is all their penury and suffering.
The five incurable sins, the five sources of evil,
In an instant by the Lord are removed. (2)
God's devotees' hearts with His love are filled,
As the lotus at sight of the moon.
The mind is in bloom as dancing peacocks
At sound of low clouds. (3)
For the Lord am I full of yearning;
In beholding union with the Lord find I life.
Nanak, servant of God, for the Lord feels yearning as an addict.
Lord ! join him to yourself, granting him bliss. (4) (2)

Merei mana japi Hari Hari Nāmu sakhei

My self ! The Name Divine, true friend thou repeat. P. 976
As feet of the holy Preceptor in reverence we washed,
By the Master's grace on the Name Divine
we meditated. (I-Pause)
The exalted Lord of the universe under His shelter has kept us sinners.
Supreme Being ! shatterer of suffering of the humble !
On our tongue[2] put Thy Name. (1)
In union with the holy Preceptor, true friend,
The Lord's exalted merits have we low ones sung.
On us like neem[3] tree abiding by sandalwood, qualities of sandalwood are bestowed. (2)
Our faults are sins of Maya-poison,
That repeatedly each instant have we committed.
Full of faults, like heavy stones are we—
The Lord in union with His servants has saved[4] us. (3)
Lord ! whomsoever you save, drawn away are all their sins.
Lord gracious, master of Nanak your servant !
Evil-doers like Harnakash[5] have you saved. (4) (3)

---

1. Lit. Crushed.
2. Mouth.
3. A tree with bitter leaves and fruit; margosa.
4. Made us swim.
5. Hrinyakashyapu, an atheist and tyrant, father of Prahlad.

Merei mana japi Hari Hari Rāma rangei

My self ! in love for the Lord repeat the Name Divine.
As the Lord assumed grace, by touch of the feet of God's devotee
On the Lord have we meditated (I-Pause)
Deluded[1] over repeated births, to the Lord's shelter have we now come.
Lord cherisher ! to your shelter have we come—
Save us great sinners. (1)
Lord ! who in union with you is not saved ?
The fallen has the Lord purified.
The calico-painter[2] who while chanting your laudation
As a sinner was driven away,
The Lord his honour saved. (2)
Lord ! repeatedly my self to such I sacrifice
As your laudation sing.
All abodes where has fallen dust of feet of God's servants,
Are made holy. (3)
Lord ! beyond expression are your merits,
You who are the supremely exalted Being.
Lord ! to your servant Nanak show grace,
That at your servant's feet we make reverence. (4) (4)

Merei mana japi Hari Hari Nāmu manei

My self ! from the heart repeat the Name Divine.
As the Lord of the universe assumed grace,
Our understanding by the Master's teaching to the Name was devoted. (I-Pause)
By listening to the Master's discourse, God's servant
Divine laudation has sung.
The Name Divine our sins has cut off,
As the cultivator reaping the field. (1)
Lord ! your qualities[3] to you alone are known—
To utter Divine merits have we no power.
Lord ! unique are you—
Your qualities to you alone known. (2)

---

1. That is, by Maya.
2. Allusion to Namdev, the famous Bhakta. Here reference is to a well-known incident in his life.
3. Simile : applied meaning quality, merit.

In Maya-thongs much are we bound—
By repeating the Name Divine are these loosened.
Like the Elephant[1] caught to water by the crab,
By contemplation of the Lord are we liberated. (3)
Lord Supreme Being, Supreme Master, even though Yuga after Yuga[2] we search for you, Unknown your extent remains—
Thou Nanak's exalted Lord. (4) (5)

Merei mana kali kīrati Hari pravaṇei

My self ! in Kali-Yuga is Divine laudation the approved way of worship.
As the Lord gracious showed grace, in union with the Holy Preceptor P. 977
The Lord's Name have we repeated. (I-Pause)
Lord ! you are exalted, inaccessible, unknowable—
All on the Lord, all-beauty meditate.
Such as have your exalted glance of grace,
By the Master's guidance the Lord contemplate. (1)
This visible expanse by the Life of the Universe,
Lord immanent in all, is made.
It is as in water rise numerous waves,
That again in water are absorbed. (2)
Lord ! the extent of your creation to you alone known—
The Lord's depth beyond our knowledge.
In the heart of us children pray lodge your laudation.
That you we contemplate. (3)
Lord ! you are the ocean, Mansarovar,[3]—
All serving you fruitful are made.
Nanak, servant of God, for the Lord yearns—
Lord ! this in your grace grant. (4) (6)

In the Measure Nat-Narayan. Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
In variable rhythm. (Partāl)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Merei mana sev saphal Hari ghāl

My self ! in serving the Lord is one's endeavour fruitful.

---

1. Allusion to a well-known story in Bhagavat Purāna.
2. Yuga = one of the four ages of the universe.
3. The sacred lake in Tibet, believed to yield pearls that is the feed of the swans there.

Touch[1] thou dust of the Master's feet—
Thereby shall be shattered all suffering and penury,
And by the Lord's glance of the grace shall come
bliss. (I-Pause)
The Lord His own mansion[2] has Himself decked—
The Lord's pleasure-bower, with infinite divine gems decked.
In His grace the Lord Himself into our house stepped;
The Master with the Lord, for us is the intermediary;
At sight of the Lord are we in immense bliss. (1)
From the Master came tidings of the Lord's advent.
In perfect bliss are mind and body
As tidings of advent of the beloved Lord is heard.
Nanak, servant of God by union with the Lord is in absorption, feels blessed. (2) (1.7)

Mana milu sant-sangati shubhvantī

My self ! join congregation of the holy, of noble aspect,
And listen to God's joy-giving discourse, inexpressible.
Thus shall all your evil and sins be shed.
The Lord according to destiny recorded is met. (I-Pause)
In Kali-Yuga is Divine laudation supreme.
The understanding directed by the Master to this is attached.
To any who to it has listened, put faith[3] in it, am I a sacrifice. (1)
Whoever joy of the inexpressible Divine discourse has tasted,
Annulled is his hunger.[4]
Saith Nanak ! God's devotees by listening to Divine discourse are fulfilled,
And contemplating the Lord, turn the Lord's own image (2) (2.8)

koī āni sunāvai Hari kī Hari gāla

O that someone were to come to relate the Lord's discourse :
To such a one would I be a sacrifice again and again.
Such a one is God's holy devotee.
Lord ! to such a one join me, that bliss may come. (I-Pause)
God's devotee His path has shown; P. 978

1. Take, grasp.
2. Implies the seeker's self.
3. (These are the two steps in the spiritual ascent mentioned in Japuji 8-12).
4. Used metaphorically for desire.

The Master the way of the Lord has indicated.
Disciples of the Master ! banish from your hearts hypocrisy.
Without guile in the Lord's endeavour engage;
Thereby be thrice blessed. (1)
Such of the Master's disciples the Lord's approval have won,
As the Lord's immanence[1] have realized.
The Lord to Nanak, His servant has granted
the understanding,
Whereby realizing the Lord's immanence is he immense bliss. (2) (3.9)

In the Measure Nāt-Narayan—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Rāma haun kyā jānāṇ kyā bhāvai

Lord ! what know I of what wins Thy favour ?
My heart for Thy sight is full of yearning. (I-Pause)
Such alone are enlightened, such Thy devotees,
As Thy approval have won.
Divine Creator ! whoever has Thy grace,
On Thee ever meditates. (1)
By what Yoga-praxis, learning or meditation,
By what qualities is He pleased ?
Such a one alone is His servant, His especial devotee,
Whom with love He inspires. (2)
Such alone is the noble understanding, enlightenment and wisdom,
Whereby not for an instant is the Lord put out of mind.
In company of the holy, as ever Divine laudation we chant,
Is such joy attained. (3)
As is beheld the wondrous, supremely felicitous vision
of the Lord,
Nothing else is visible.
Saith Nanak : Whoever has his rust[2] by the Master shed, Nevermore[3] enters the womb to take birth, (4) (1)

---

1. Close, close at hand.
2. Used metaphorically, impurity.
3. How (may such a one enter the womb) ?

In the Measure Nat-Narayan—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Duos
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ulāhano maiṇ kāhū na dīyo

On none have I laid the blame[1] :
What you have done, has to my mind appeared sweet. (I-Pause)
In obedience to your command have I found joy;
In listening to your Name find I life.
In this world and the next abide you solely, Lord !
This formula from the Master have I firmly grasped. (1)
From the moment that this secret I have learnt,
Have I felt all weal and bliss.
In company of the holy, saith Nanak, is the Lord manifested;
None else is real. (2) (1.2)

Jā kau bhayee Tumhārī dhīr

Whoever by you has been propped,
For him is Yama's fear annulled; joy has he obtained,
And his affliction of egoism cast out. (I-Pause)
God's ambrosial word is extinguisher of burning agony,
Fulfilling as milk to the babe.
My friends devotees are to me mother and father,
Helpers and brothers. (1)
As are thrown open door-panels of doubt, is the Lord met, P. 979
And the heart's hard diamond by the Divine jewel penetrated.
Saith Nanak : In chanting laudation of the Lord, store-house of merit
Are we inspired with wonder. (2) (2.3)

Apnā janu āpeh āpi udhāriyo

Himself has the Lord saved His servant.
Day and night[2] with His servant has He abided.
And never from the mind banished.[3] (I-Pause)
The Lord without judging His servant's aspect[4] and feature,
Or noticing his lineage,
In His grace the Name to him has granted,
And spontaneously exalted him. (1)

---

1. That is, for my suffering or misfortune.
2. All eight pahars.
3. Forgotten.
4. Colour, complexion (implying features, beauty of form).

Across the impassable ocean of fire has He carried him.
At His sight is Nanak in bloom,
And ever and again to Him is a sacrifice. (2) (3.4)

Hari Hari mana mehu Nāmu kahiyo

Whoever in mind to the Name Divine has given expression
Annulled are his million-fold sins in an instant
And his suffering vanished. (I-Pause)
In questing after the Lord have I turned indifferent to the world,
And in holy congregation attained Him.
Discarding all else, in the Lord solely is my devotion fixed,
And the Divine feet have I grasped. (1)
Saved are those uttering the Name, those listening to it;
Saved are those seeking the Lord's shelter.
Saith Nanak : In constant remembrance of the Lord
Have I found joy. (2) (4.5)

Charan kamal sangi lāgī dorī

In the Divine lotus feet is my heart's devotion fixed.
Thou ocean of joy ! with the supreme state pray bless me. (I-Pause)
To Thy servant have you given your lappet to grasp;[1]
His heart by intoxication of love is gripped.
In singing Divine laudation has joy of devotion inspired me;
Snapped is Maya's snare. (1)
All-pervasive is the Divine ocean of grace;
Nothing else have I beheld.
The Lord to His servant Nanak has granted union,
His love for him diminishing never. (2) (5.6)

Mere mana japu japi Hari Nārāyaṇ

My self ! the Lord, the Preserver's Name thou utter.
Thee never from my mind be absent;[2]
May I chant your laudation day and night.[3] (I-Pause)
May I ever in dust of feet of the holy immerse myself,
And all my sins and evils be cast off.
The Divine ocean of grace all beings pervades,
And in each vessel is seen immanent. (1)

1. Implies granting shelter, support.
2. Be forgotten.
3. All eight pahars.

Recitation of texts, austerities, million-fold forms of worship—
None equals contemplation of the Lord.
With folded hands Nanak this boon begs;
May I become servant of Thy servant's servant. (2) (6.7)

Merai sarbasu Nāmu nidhānu

The Name Divine is my sole treasure.
By the holy Preceptor's grace found I company of the holy. (I-Pause)
Chant Divine laudation, bestower of joy and shatterer of suffering-
Derive thereby perfection of enlightenment.
Then are shattered to pieces lust, wrath and avarice,
And destroyed is pride, that dulls the mind. (1)
Lord, controller of the inner self, all-knowing !
What power have I Thy merits to express ?
Nanak, seeking shelter of Thy lotus feet, ocean of joy,
To Thee is a sacrifice. (2) (7.8)

Haun vāri vāri jāon Guru-Gopāl

To the Master, cherisher of the world, am I a sacrifice. (I-Pause) P. 980 Devoid of merit am I; you the perfect Bestower,
Cherisher of the humble, compassionate. (1)
In all states, rising, sitting, sleeping, waking
Are you to me life and breath, wealth and substance. (2)
My heart[1] deeply yearns[2] for a sight of Thee—
Nanak by Thy sight finds bliss. (3) (8.9)

In the Measure Nat-Narayana—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In variable rhythm (Paṛtāl)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
The holy Preceptor's Grace

Koū hai mero sājanu mītu

Is there a true friend, companion
Who evermore to me the Name Divine may relate,
Whereby suffering that is contrary in nature, may be shattered ?
To such a one would I dedicate mind, body and consciousness. (I-Pause)

1. Mana.
2. Thirsts.

A rare one has the Lord made His own,
Whose heart[1] to the Divine lotus feet is joined.
By grace is granted utterance of Divine laudation. (1)
By devotion is won the great objective of life.
Thereby are millions of the fallen purified.
Nanak, servant of God, to the Lord is a sacrifice. (2) (1.10) (19)

In the Measure of Nat-Narayan. Composition of Shri Guru Ram Das
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Rāma mere mani tani Nāmu adhārei

The Lord is prop of my mind and life.[2]
For an instant, a moment without serving the Lord can I not live—
By the Master's guidance the Name I contemplate. (I-Pause)
On the Name Divine I meditate; to the Name is my love attached.
The Lord to the humble is gracious—
Such by the Master's Word has He exalted. (1)
Mighty Lord,[3] Life of the World, Maya's consort;[4] inaccessible, of unknowable extent !
One sole humble supplication to the Master I make :
May I be blessed to wash feet of the holy. (2)
The thousands of eyes of creation are the Lord's-
Of the Lord sole and unique.
The thousands of forms too are the Lord's, the sole Lord,
That by the Master's teaching saves. (3)
By the Master's teaching is attained the Name Divine—
The Name Divine in heart I cherish.
Supremely sweet is the Lord's discourse;
Contemplating Him like one dumb I take delight. (4)
The tongue[5] delights of duality tastes,
That to avarice and evil-doing are attached.
By the delight in the Name Divine that by the Master's teaching is tasted,
Are tastes of all other delights rejected[6] (5)

1. Mana.
2. Body.
3. Madhusudan = slayer of the demon Madhu, an attributive name of Krishna, implying God.
4. Attributive name of Vishnu = God.
5. The palate implied.
6. Forgotten.

By the Master's teaching is acquired wealth of the Name Divine;
Listening to which are all sins annulled.
Yama that is Dharmaraja[1] approaches not the Lord's beloved devotees. (6)
With each breath, by the Master's guidance, P. 981
The Name I contemplate.
Each breath that without contemplation of the Name passes,
Is wasted, worthless. (7)
Lord ! this humble one to Thy shelter has come ;
In Thy grace, grant him union with God's devotee.
Nanak, servant of God's servants avers :
Of God's servants am I a humble slave.[2] (8) (1)

Rāma ham pāthar nirgunīyārei

Lord ! stones devoid of merit are we :
In your grace with the Master have you granted us union;
By the Master's Word are we stones saved. (I-Pause)
The holy Preceptor in our mind has confirmed the Name delectable, Sandalwood supremely fragrant.[3]
Repute of the Name, supremely fragrant in ten directions has resounded. (1)
Thy discourse, above Maya's three qualities is found supremely sweet,
As the Master's noble word I call to mind.
As is sung Divine laudation, the Master thereby has saved me. (2)
By union with the Master, of discriminating wisdom, of equable gaze,
Are all doubts removed.
By union with the holy Preceptor is attained the supreme state—
To the Master am I a sacrifice. (3)
Involved in hypocrisy have we wandered along—
The world by avarice and hypocrisy in evil is caught :
Thereby comes suffering in this world and the next,
And Yama, agent of death, strikes blows on the head. (4)
As day dawns, man calls to mind various involvements,
That are expanse of Maya-poison.
As comes night and the dream-state he enters,
In dream too this suffering he recalls. (5)

1. The celestial judge doling out retribution.
2. Lit. Drawer of water.
3. Sandalwood among sandalwoods.

Man in alkaline soil has cast seed of falsehool;
Of falsehood shall his grains' heap be.
Reprobates[1] ever are hunger-gripped;
Brutal Yama at their door keeps standing. (6)
Egoists are under heavy debt of evil,
That by contemplation of the Master's Word is paid off.
Thereby are all debts and creditors made the devotee's
servants and worshippers at his feet. (7)
The Lord of the universe has all creatures raised,
And the halter driven through their split noses.[2]
Saith Nanak : Any way the Lord draws them they move,
As may please the beloved Lord. (8) (2)

Rāma Hari amritsari nhāvārei

The Lord in the ambrosial Divine Pool gave us bath.
Enlightenment granted by the holy Preceptor is the noblest of holy baths,
Whose contact our sins and evil-doing has annulled. (1-Pause)
Great is the merit of holy congregation, wherein instructed,
Even a parrot saved the courtesan;[3]
As Krishna, pleased with the hunch-backed Kubija[4] imparted his touch,
With her in company, heaven he entered. (1)
The sinful Ajamal[5] out of love for his son, uttered 'Narayana'.
As his devotion pleased the Lord, Yama's minions were chastized and driven off. (2)
Man utters holy texts and to others relates them,
Yet contemplates not his own utterance.
In holy company comes firmness of faith—
The Lord by His Name liberation grants. (3)
While life and body is sound, man considers not anything.
But when fire engulfs house and home.
This drawer of water seeks to sink a wall. (4)
Never to a misbeliever in heart be joined, who of the Name Divine is forgetful. P. 982

---

1. Sakta.
2. (The image is from pack animals with a halter driven through their noses to keep them check).
3. Reference to a well-known tale in Bhakti lore.
4. A woman, saved by Krishna.

The misbeliever's[1] word like the scorpion stings—
Discarding him far and farthest go. (5)
Many to such are deeply attached—
But in company of the holy alone are they ennobled.
Those that in the Master's Word put faith, the Lord's love have won. (6)
In earlier births love for the Lord in small measure
we cherished,
Whereby now by the Master's grace amrita-elixir
have we obtained,
In joyful singing and contemplation engaged. (7)
Lord beloved, deep red-dyed,[2]
Thine are all forms and hues.
Each creature has the hue[3] Thou dost impart;
What of it can the poor creature Nanak contemplate ? (8) (3)

Rāma Guru-Sharani Prabhū rakhwārei

By placing the devotee under the Master's shelter the Lord saves.
When the elephant[4] by the crab was driven,
The Lord lifted him above water, saved him. (1-Pause)
Noble are the Lord's servants, as devotion to the Lord in mind they cherish.
The Lord with the devotees' faith is in love, and His servants' honour saves. (1)
As God's servant in service to the Lord engages,
All creation he views as Divine manifestation.
Then the sole Supreme Being, solely strikes his view;
All creation with equable glance he views. (2)
The Lord in all spots is pervasive :
The whole world He views as the Lord's handmaid.
The Lord gracious bestows grace;
Even in stones worms has He created and cherishes. (3)
The musk-deer deluded shakes his horns,
Not knowing the fragrance is within himself.
In forests and wilds to exhaustion have I sought the Lord—
The Master, perfectly endowed to the self brings liberation.[5] (4)

---

1. Sakta.
2. (Implies glow of beauty).
3. (Implies spiritual state).
4. Reference to a well-known story in Bhakti—lore.
5. Lit. Takes across the water.

The holy Word is the true Master, the Master's image
the holy Word.
In the holy word is pervasive amrita.
What the Master's Word teaches, in that the devotee puts faith;
Thus manifestly the Master liberation grants. (5)
All is the Lord, in all directions spread:
Apportioning to each self what it has sown :
As by tormenting the devotee Chandrahans[1],
Dhrishtbuddhi[1] set his own house aflame with a brand. (6)
The devotee from inmost heart cherishes the Lord;
The Lord with each breath watches over the devotees.
By His grace in devotion He confirms the devotee;
And for the sake of His devotee saves the world. (7)
The Lord is His own sole Master, Himself creation He exalts.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Solely is He manifest :
In His grace liberation grants. (8) (4)

Rāma kari kirpā lehu ubārei

Lord ! in Thy grace save me,
As was Draupadi's[2] honour, dragged by evil-doers,
Saved by the Lord. (1-Pause)
Beloved Lord ! we your servants that are beggars at Thy door, one boon of Thee beg :
Ever for the holy Preceptor may I be full of reverence,
Who joining the devotee to the Lord, may exalt him. (1)
The reprobate's[3] actions are like churning of water—
Water he ever churns.
By joining holy congregation is attained the supreme state,
And butter[4] with gusto is tasted. (2)
Egoists ever their limbs bathe, and rubbing their body, P. 983 deck it.
The holy Preceptor's teaching to their hearts has not appealed—
Hollow is all their fine self-decking. (3)
Sister-devotees, step you on elegantly, contemplating the Lord's merits.

---

1. Reference to story of two rival rajas, the evil-doer suffering through his own evil intentions.
2. The Pandava princess, sought to be dishonoured in open court by Duryodhana, the Kaurava King.
3. Sakta.
4. Symbolizes spiritual bliss, as against 'churning water'.

Service rendered under the Master's guidance has pleased
the Lord :
The holy Preceptor the vision of the Lord beyond knowing,
to me has granted. (4)
All creation[1] are females, the Lord the Sole Male.
As dust of feet of the holy my heart has pleased,
In association with the holy has the Lord saved us. (5)
Over hamlets and cities though have I wandered;
God's devotees in their hearts alone have sought Him.
Arousing in me devotion, the Master to the Lord has united me :
Thus the Master, image of the Lord has saved me. (6)
By contemplation of the holy Preceptor's Word
Is the yarn of breath purified.
Entering the innermost self[2] have we quaffed amrita-elixir,
And without eyes of flesh beheld the world. (7)
Lord ! your qualities beyond expression by me lie;
Thou the mansion, we small insects.
Prayeth Nanak : In your grace to the Master unite me,
That by utterance of the Lord's Name, my mind poise may attain. (8) (5)

Mere mana bhaju Thākur agam apārei

My self ! to the Lord inaccessible, of unknowable extent be devoted.
Us sinners, meritless in extreme, the Master in his grace has saved[3]. (Pause)
To the holy, the Master dearly loved. that I have found,
This supplication I make :
Pray grant me capital and wealth of the Name Divine,
That all desire[4] and suffering may annul. (1)
All these five-the moth, the deer, the humming-bee, the elephant and the fish— .
By one sense alone are entangled and destroyed;
In man's body lie the five powerful goblins[5]—
The holy Preceptor alone from these may save. (2)

1. Females and males.
2. One's own home.
3. Carried across the water.
4. Hunger.
5. The five sources of evil are meant.

Shastras and Vedas have we studied; sages like Narada too have proclaimed this :
Recite the Name Divine, thereby the supreme state attain;
By way of holy congregation does the Master liberation grant. (3)
With love for the Divine Beloved are we inspired,
As the lotus on beholding the sun.
Or, as peacocks on hills and mountains dance,
As low clouds they behold. (4)
Drench the reprobate[1] profusely with amrita—
All his branches and flowers poisonous shall grow.
The more a good person to the reprobate[4] shows humility,
The more will he become provocative
And emit foul-tasting poison. (5)
With the holy abide in unison—always words of merit,
Full of fellow-feeling they utter.
As the holy meet the holy, is the heart in bloom,
Like as the lotus in beauty shines by touch of water. (6)
The passion of avarice is like dog's rabies—
A rabid dog infects all others
As was the news broken in the Lord's court,
Such the Master with sword of enlightenment has killed. (7)
Lord ! save me, save me; in your grace save !
Saith Nanak : No other prop have I—
The holy Preceptor alone may save me. (8) (6)
(Set of six hymns-I)

1. Sakta.

RAGA MALI-GAURA

In the Measure Mālī-Gaurā—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality Eternal,
Creator-Immanent, Above Fear, Above Rancour,
Form Eternal, Unicarnated, Self-existent,
Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

Anik jatan kari rahei Hari antu nāhīṇ pāiyā

Despite innumerable efforts, unknowable remains the Lord's extent—
To the Lord inaccessible, of fathomless mystery,
The Divine Monarch, I make obeisance. (I-Pause)
Beings actuated by lust, wrath, avarice, attachment, ever are wrangling.
Lord ! To Thy shelter have we come , we your humble supplicants. (1)
Lord, whose name is beloved of devotees,
Those seeking your shelter you cherish.
The devotee Prahlad[1] caught by Harnakash
By the Lord was protected and saved. (2)
My self ! to attain to the Divine Mansion, the Lord,
Shatterer of all suffering contemplate.
The Lord, shatterer of fear of transmigration,
By the Master's teaching is attained. (3)
Laudation of the Lord, purifier of the humble, shatterer of fear of
His devotees,
Have we sung.
Pearl-string of the Lord round our heart have we worn—
In the Name is Nanak, servant of God, absorbed. (4) (1)

Japi mana Rāma-Nāmu sukh-dātā

My self ! The Name Divine, bestower of joy contemplate.

1. The child-devotee, son of the demon-king Harinyakashyapu (Harnākash).

By joining the holy congregation found I joy in God,
And by the Master's guidance, realized the Lord. (I-Pause)
By great good fortune the Master's sight I had—
By contact with the Master was the Lord realized.
Cast out was impurity of foul thinking,
As in the Divine ambrosial Pool I bathed. (1)
Blessed are the holy that the Lord have attained—
With them shall I make converse[1] about the Lord.
Touching their feet, ever shall I supplicate them :
Pray to the Lord, dispenser of rewards for deeds, unite me. (2)
By good fortune on the forehead recorded is attained
the holy Preceptor—
By the Master's words are mind and body charmed.
As union with the Lord came, was found joy,
And annulled were sins and evils. (3)
Great is the state of those that by the Master's teaching
The Divine elixir have obtained;
By great good fortune is attained dust of their feet—
Nanak, servant of God, at their feet is fallen. (4) (2)

Sabhi siddh sādhik muni-janāṇ mani bhāvanī Hari dhiyāiyo

Accomplished Yogis,[2] Yoga-practitioners,[3] sages P. 985
With heart's devotion on the Lord have meditated;
But of the Supreme Being of limitless extent,
Beyond comprehension, the Master alone realization has granted. (I-Pause)
We low ones mean deeds have performed, and the Divine
Monarch not contemplated.
The holy Preceptor with the Lord has granted us union,
And in an instant our bonds loosened. (1)
As by the Lord inscribed in primal time, by the Master's teaching
Was love for the Lord formed.
The concert of five instruments[4] at the Divine Portal rang,
As was sung paean of joy at union with the Lord. (2)
The mighty Name of the Lord, purifier of the fallen
By the unfortunate is missed.

1. Query.
2. Siddhās.
3. Sadhakas.
4. (These are instruments made from wire, leather and metal, pitchers to sound and instruments blown into).

Such in birth through the womb rot,
As salt in water dissolved. (3)
Lord inaccessible, grant wisdom
That to the Master's feet my heart I attach;
To the Name Divine may I abide attached;
May the servant Nanak in the Name remain absorbed. (4) (3)

Merā manu Rāma-Nāmi rasi lāgā

To joy in the Name Divine is my heart attached;
By attaining the Master is lotus of the heart abloom;
By utterance of the Lord's Name are fled doubt and fear. (1-Pause)
My heart in fear of the Lord and loving devotion is absorbed;
My mind sleep-involved by the Master's teaching is awakened.
Shattered are sins and has come peace,
As by good fortune is the Lord in heart cherished. (1)
The egoist's devotion is frail Kasumbha[1] dye—
Like the Kasumbha only for four days glowing—
In an instant shattered into torment falling,
By Dharmaraja chastized. (2)
Company of the holy and love for God's devotees is fast,
As thickly-laid madder[2] dye.
However much may the body's vesture be torn,
Fast-sticking[3] remains the Lord's auspicious dye. (3)
By the dye given by the Lord comes approbation from the Master,
As is put on the self the glowing red dye of devotion.
Nanak, servant of God, washes the feet of such
As to the Divine feet are devoted. (4) (4)

Merei mana bhaju Hari Hari Nāmu Gupālā

My self ! to the Lord's Name, cherisher of the world,
be devoted.
My mind and body in devotion to the Name Divine is absorbed;
My understanding by the Master's teaching joy-filled. (1-Pause)
By the Master's teaching on the Name meditate;
Rosary of the Lord's Name in the mind tell.
Those with such fortune on the forhead inscribed,

---

1. A flower yielding a pale red dye, symbolizing inconstancy.
2. Majīṭh.
3. Remains unwashed.

With the Lord, wearer of garland of wild flowers[1]
have found union. (1)
Of those meditating on the Name Divine are all impediments removed.
Yama approaches them not, as those protected by the Master,
By the Lord are cherished. (2)
Ignorant are we children; the Lord like mother and father is our cherisher :
Our hands into Maya-fire are we ever thrusting;
The Master, compassionate to the humble, saves us. (3)
Numbers of the impure, purified have become—
All sins by Divine laudation are burnt.
As is met the Master, is the heart joy filled.
Nanak, servant of God, by the holy Word is in bliss. (4) (5)

Merei mana Hari bhaju sabh kilbikh kāt

My self: to the Lord in love be devoted and all P. 986 thy sins annul.
By guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed, the Lord in my heart have I cherished :
May my head on the Master's path lie. (I-Pause)
Whoever to me of the Lord discourses,
My heart cut to bits to him, would I dedicate.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, with the Divine Friend has granted me union—
For the Master's Word am I a sold slave.[2] (1) Much charity on the sun entering the capricorn sign at Prayag[3] have people given away.
And into twain cut the body[4] :
Without devotion to the Name Divine is liberation not attained, Even though much gold[5] from the boiled figure be given away cut in bits. (2)
By chanting by the Master's guidance, Divine praise and laudation
Are the mind's door-panels thrown open;
Shattering confinement in the Three Qualities[6] are doubt and fear fled,
And pitcher of the world's conventions[7] shattered. (3)

---

1. Ban-māla (wearer of garland of wild flowers, an attributive name of Vishnu, here symbolizing God).
2. Be sold from shop to shop.
3. Prayag has the holy bathing-spot of Tribeni. On the first of the month of Māgh (Jan-Feb.) which is held sacred, charity is dispensed there to bring merit.
4. This form of self-immolation was believed to bring much merit.
5. A golden image boiled in oil used to be given away in charity in bits.
6. See Glossary.
7. Conventional restraints against taking to hermit's life are implied.

In Kali-Yuga such the Master, perfectly-endowed have attained,
As on forehead such as good fortune since primal time carry recorded.
Nanak, servant of God, amrita-elixir has quaffed,
Whereby is satisfied all his hunger and thirst.[1] (4) (6)

(Set of six hymns-I)

In the Measure Mālī-Gauṛā—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Re mana tahal Hari sukh sār

My self ! in service to the Lord lies the essence of joy.
False is service elsewhere, as consequence of which
Yama ever blows on the head strikes. (I-Pause)
Those with such destiny on the forehead inscribed,
To holy company congregate.
The world across the ocean of existence is carried by the illimitable Lord's devotees. (1)
Ever at feet of the holy render service, discarding avarice, attachment, evil-doing.
Discard all hope centred in other than God—
In the sole formless Lord centre your hope. (2)
Misbelievers[2] in illusion lost, by the Master uninstructed,
In deep darkness remain involved,
What in primal time is determined, must happen—
None to efface it. (3)
Unknowable is the Lord's manifestation[3] of innumerable, limitless names.
Saith Nanak : Blessed are the persons
Who the Name Divine in heart cherish. (4) (1)

Rāma-Nām kau namaskār

To the Name Divine I bow,
By utterance of which comes liberation; (I-Pause)
Whose contemplation ends worldly anxieties,
By whose contemplation comes release from bonds;
Whose contemplation the thoughtless into the wise turns,
Whose contemplation to the whole family brings liberation; (1)

1. Used symbolically for desire.
2. Sākta.
3. Form.

Whose contemplation banishes fear and suffering,
Whose contemplation misfortune wards off,
Whose contemplation sins annuls,
By whose contemplation is ended agony; (2)
Whose contemplation to the heart gives bloom,
Whose contemplation makes Maya one's handmaid,
Whose contemplation at the end brings liberation. (3)
Purifier of the fallen is the Name Divine,[1]
That to millions of devotees has brought liberation.
I, humble one to shelter of God's lowest servants[2] have come.
May Nanak's forehead at feet of the holy rest. (4) (2)

Aiso sahāī Hari ko Nām

The Name Divine is such a true helper,
By whose devoted contemplation in holy congregation are all objectives fulfilled. (I-Pause)
It is, as boat to the drowning, P. 987
As oil to lamp extinguishing,
As water to one burning in fire,
As milk in babe's mouth; (1)
As brother befriending one in battle,
As food provided by the mother to the hungry,
As to the crop pouring rain,
As protection under tiger's[3] shelter; (2)
As one uttering Garuda-spell no fear of snake has;
As the parrot in cage by the cat is not swallowed.
Cherishing as to the crane that in mind her eggs contemplates,
Saviour as the grain lying near hub of the quern is safe. (3)
Great is the Lord's laudation; of that little have I expressed.
Lord ! Thou inaccessible and fathomless art.
Lofty, great, limitless—
Saith Nanak, by contemplating Him swims even iron.[4] (4) (3)

Ihī hamārai saphal kāj

Thus shall come fulfilment of my objectives :
Cherish this servant of yours. (I-Pause)

1. See Glossary
2. Slaves' slaves.
3. Implies heroic protector.
4. Used symbolically for sinners.

May my forehead at feet of the holy rest;
With my eyes your sight may I behold night and day;
May my hand serve the holy;
May my life, mind and body to the holy be dedicated. (1)
In the holy may my heart's love be fixed;
May qualities of the holy in my mind be lodged;
May command of the holy to me appear sweet;
May my heart's lotus at sight of the holy blossom. (2)
With the holy may I abide—
For the holy cherish I excessive desire.
May words of the holy be my mind's spell;
By grace of the holy may my evil be destroyed. (3)
Such is my practice to gain liberation and the
Nine Treasures;[1]
Lord ! in your grace this boon grant me.
Lord ! to Nanak show compassion,
That feet of the holy in my heart I cherish. (4) (4)

Sabh kai sangī nāhīṇ dūri

The Lord abides with all, from none far,
Almighty, ever-present. (I-Pause)
In hearing His Name find I life;
Thus is shattered suffering, and in joy I rest.
All treasures[2] with the Lord lie—
Him serve the sages. (1)
In His abode is contained all creation.
None unrequited by Him remains,
All creation He cherishes :
Ever the Lord gracious you serve. (2)
He in whose court ever is dispensed true justice;
Above desire, under no one's obligation standing,
By whose will is all accomplished—
My self ! Him thou contemplate. (3)
To the holy congregation am I a sacrifice.
Liberated is whoever attains it.
To Nanak this boon has the Lord granted :
His mind and body to the Name remain attached. (4) (5)

1. See Glossary.
2. The 'Nine Treasures' implied. (See Glossary).

In the Measure Mālī-Gauṛā—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Duos
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari Samrath kī sharnā

With the Lord Almighty I take shelter.
The sole Lord, almighty, is my life, body,
Wealth and capital. (I-Pause)
In contemplating Him attain joy eternal—
Such is life's objective[1].
The Lord, subtle essence and palpable form,
In all spots is pervasive. (1)
Discarding all wordly concerns and evil, P. 988
Ever Divine laudation sing.
Nanak with folded hands this boon begs :
Grant me devotion to Thy Name. (2) (1.6)

Prabh samrath Dev apār

Divine Lord, limitless, almighty !
None Thy mervels knows, that endless, limitless are. (I-Pause)
In an instant He makes and unmakes—
Creator and destroyer.
To all creation that He has raised,
Boons the provider grants. (1)
Mighty[2] Lord, lofty, unknowable,
Thy servant to seek Thy shelter has come.
From the impassable ocean of existence extricate him—
Nanak, Thy servant, ever to Thee is a sacrifice. (2) (2.7)

Mani tani basi rahei Gopāl

The Lord in my mind and body is abiding—Friend to the humble, His devotees' beloved, ever gracious. (I-Pause)
In the beginning, in midst of time and at the end
Thou alone art real—
None other than the Lord exists.
The Lord alone in all worlds is pervasive.

---

1. Lit. Root, origin.
2. Murāri = an attributive name of Krishna, implying victory over a demon, here symbolizing Divine might.

By the ear listening to the Lord's laudation, by the eyes having His sight,
By the tongue Divine laudation may I utter.
May Nanak be ever a sacrifice to you—
To your Name grant me devotion. (2) (3.8)

In the Measure Mālī-Gaurā—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Namdev

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dhani dhanni o Rāma benu bājai

Blessed be God's flute[1] playing,
Its sweetest unstruck tune arising. (I-Pause)
Blessed is ram's wool !
Blessed the blanket worn by Krishna. (1)
Blessed art thou mother Devaki,[2]
In whose home was born the Lord, Master of Lakshmi[3]. (2)
Blessed the forest of Brindabana,[4]
Where disported the Lord. (3)
As the flute plays, are kine grazing;
And Nama's Master in joy disports. (4) (1)

Mero bāpu madho tūṃ dhan kesau sāmwalīyo bīthulāi

Father Vishnu[5], of beautiful hair, swarthy Vithal[6]. (I-Pause)
Bearing the disk in hand from heaven didst Thou come,
And saved the Elephant's life[7].
In Duhsasana's assembly Draupadi[8] Thou saved,
As she was being disrobed. (1)
Gautama's wife Ahalya[9] didst Thou save;
How many hast thou purified and saved !
Namdev, depraved and low of caste[10],
To Thy shelter has come. (2) (2)

Note : (This hymn is an ecstatic expression of joy in God, here expressed through the Krishna image).

1. The flute is associated with Krishna, here symbolizing the ecstasy felt in nature.
2. Name of Krishna's mother.
3. Vishnu, whose incarnation Krishna is believed to be.
4. The forest near Mathura, scene of Krishna's youthful pranks.
5. Madho = Madhava.
6. The Marathi name of Vishnu, here imaged as Krishna of the swarthy hue.
7. Reference to the Puranic story of the Elephant saved from the Crab, as it prayed for rescue.
8. Draupadi was the Pandava Princess, dragged into court by Duhsasana, brother of Duryodhana, and sought to be disrobed in public.
9. Ahlya was the wife of Gautama, a rishi. She was turned to stone for her sin, but was restored to the human form by the touch of Rama's foot.
10. Namdev's caste was low, according to the Hindu caste code.

Sabhai ghat Rāmu bolai Rāmā bolai

In each being[1] sounds the Lord;
Whose other than God's is the sound ? (I-Pause)
Of the self-same clay are made the elephant and the ant—
Of many varieties are the vessels.
In stationery trees, in moving creatures, in worms and moths,
In each being is the Lord pervasive. (1)
In the illimitable Lord fix your thoughts;
With all else give up attachment.
State Nama[2] in humility, now that all desire I have discarded,
What distinction is there between the Lord and
His slave ? (2) (3)

1. Vessel.
2. (Short for Namdev).

RAGA MĀRŪ

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 989

Quartets

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality Eternal,
Creator-immanent, above Fear, above Rancour.
Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-existent, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sājan Terei charan kī hoe rahāṇ sad dhūri

Sloka

Divine Friend, may I ever abide becoming dust of Thy feet !
Saith Nanak : Seeking your shelter, ever I behold you present by my side. (1)

Shabda[1]

Pichhuh rātī saddaṛā Nāmu khasam kā lehi

Those that in the later part of night hear the call,
And the Lord's Name utter,
During the day and provided with tents, umbrellas, curtains
And provided equipped chariots[2].
Those that on Thy Name have meditated,
Dost Thou invite to union with Thyself. (1)
Master ! devoid of good actions, false at heart am I.
Deprived of devotion to Thy Name, my mind is blind, lost in illusion. (I-Pause)
By indulgence in pleasures has our suffering increased :
Mother mine ! this by destiny pre-recorded comes.
Few are my joys, great my suffering—
In suffering is my life passed. (2)

1. Shabda, lit. Word, in the Sikh religious tradition stands for a hymn or sacred composition.
2. Symbolizes joy, honour and exaltation.

What sequestration more agonizing than sequestration from the Lord ?
What union greater than union with the Lord ?
Laud the Lord who the play of the world has enacted. (3)
By good fortune has come about union with the Lord,
But this body in pleasures is involved.
Saith Nanak : The alienated ones that after union get separated,
May attain union again. (4) (1)

Mili māt pitā pind kamāiyā

By union of mother and father is the body acquired.
In that has the Creator His decree recorded :
Recorded therein is His grace, light[1] and exaltation,
But in conjunction with Maya have we lost our senses. (1)
My ignorant mind ! why be proud ?
When it pleases the Lord, the departure shall come about. (I-Pause)
By discarding of pleasures comes joy in serenity.
The body's abodes are to be left, none in these shall abide for ever.
Were one to return to the world,
Would one consume some part of one's substance and keep the rest. (2)
Man decking his body, wears silks,
Issues numerous commands,
Sleeps in comfortable bed—
When Yama's hand grips him, what good wailing ? (3)
Man's house is in a whirlpool,
Tied to him are stones of sins, debarring swimming.[2] P. 990
Fear of God is the ship that may carry the self.
Saith Nanak : This to rare ones alone is provided. (4) (2)

In the Measure of Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
SCORE 1

Karṇī kāgadu manu maswāṇī burā bhalā due lekh pae

The self engaged in action is the paper, the mind the ink :
On this paper are inscribed bad and good records both.
As our accumulated actions guide, we move—
Lord, endless are Thy qualities. (1)
Mad man ! Why dost not bring this to mind ?

1. Illumination (Jnān) is implied.
2. He cannot swim.

By thy indifference to the Lord are all thy merits destroyed.[1] (I-Pause)
Our nights and days are like snares, each hour a noose.
With delight dost thou[2] pick up grain, ever caught;
Thoughtless one, by what merit shalt find release ? (2)
The body is the forge, the mind the iron;
Therein are blazing five fires.
In that is burning charcoal of sin;
Burnt is the mind; anxiety is the forceps. (3)
The self turned charred iron, can again turn gold,
Should such a Master be met.
Should he impart amrita of the sole Name,
The mind then finds poise. (4) (3)

Bimal majhāri basasi nirmal jal padmani jāwal re

Inside the pure water of the pool abide both lotus and algae.
The lotus abiding in company of algae and the water,
Yet by their pollution is untouched. (1)
Frog ! never shalt thou acquire illumination.
Eating of these weeds, though in pure water abiding,
Thou yet knowest not of amrita. (1-Pause)
The frog in water ever abides, not so the humming-bee
Yet from a height the fragrance[3] of the lotus it smells.
Lotus buds too from far, by sensing the moon, bow to it. (2)
Thou frog ! clever with thy place in water listen :
In milk lie amrita, sweetness of sugar and honey :
Thy nature thou dost not discard, like the flea,
That is in love with blood, discarding milk. (3)
With the wise live the ignorant, who to Vedas and Shastras, listen, without avail :
Thus thy character thou givest not up, as cur's tail that is not straightened. (4)
Those that are hypocrites, to the Name are not attached;
Others at the Divine feet bow.
Saith Nanak : Each receives what is primarily recorded :
With the tongue the holy Name you utter. (5) (4)

1. Rot.
2. (Man symbolized here as bird).
Note : Here symbols of lotus, frog, flea etc. are used to emphasize unattachment to the world on the one hand and worldliness on the other.
3. Quality.

Patit punīt asankh hohi Hari charnīn manu lāg

Sloka : By attaching their heart to the Divine feet,
Are numberless seekers made pure.
The Name Divine equals the sixty-eight bathing-spots :
This comes to such as have good fortune on forehead recorded. (1)

Shabda[1]

Sakhī sahelī garbi gahelī

My sister-friend. pride-gripped,[2]
Listen to the narrative of the Lord, bringer of joy. (1)
Mother mine ! to whom shall I relate my suffering ?
In separation from the Lord my heart finds not rest :
Mother ! how may I comfort it ? (I-Pause)
Unlucky wife[3] am I, deeply distressed :
Gone is youth, that gives the woman regrets. (2)
Lord ! Thou art all-knowing, loftiest of the lofty :[4]
Thee shall I serve; Thy servant am I. (3)
Saith Nanak : Such is my concern ;
How without His sight shall I have bliss with the Divine lover. (4) (5)

Mull-kharīdī lālā golā merā nāuṇ sabhāgā

A bought slave am I, my name the Fortunate : P. 991
By the Master's Word in the market sold;[5]
As directed, have I engaged myself in task. (1)
What cleverness can Thy servant show ?
The Lord's commands can I not perform well. (I-Pause)
My mother a slave ; a slave my father—
A slave's progeny am I.
My slave-mother dances, my slave-father sings
in devotion to Thee[6] :
Divine King, Thy devotion I too perform. (2)
Lord ! shouldst Thou need a drink of water, that I shall fetch;
Shouldst Thou desire for food, grain shall I grind.
The fan shall I wave, Thy feet rub,
And ever utter Thy Name. (3)

---

1. See note 1 to the opening hymn in this raga.
2. Symbol for man in the spiritually-unawakened state
3. Symbol for one without devotion.
4. (Top of all mountains).
5. That is, the Master's Word has enslaved me.
6. (This is expression of devotional ecstasy).

Nanak is an ungrateful slave[1] :
Shouldst Thou pardon him, in it lies Thy greatness.
Since beginning of time and the Yugas, Lord of grace, provider art Thou—
Without Thy grace is liberation not attained. (4) (6)

Koī ākhai bhūtanā ko kahai betālā

*Some brand me as a ghost, some goblin;
Some call me man : Nanak is a simple, humble man. (1)
Nanak is mad after the Divine King, after Him crazy.
Other than the Lord recognize I none. (I-Pause)
To be really crazy is to be fear-crazed of God,
And other than the Lord, none other to recognize. (2)
A man would be mad after God, if in this one sole task
he were to engage :
He should realize the Lord's command and other kind of understanding discard[2]. (3)
Truly mad after God would he be, should he love the Lord,
Should look upon himself as foul,
And the rest of the world as good. (4) (7)

Ihu dhanu sarb rahiyā bharpūr

This wealth of the Name is all-pervasive :
Egoists stray, taking to be far. (1)
In our heart lies that wealth and capital,
That saves[3] whomsoever Thou dost grant it. (I-Pause)
This wealth neither is lost, nor carried away by thief ;
This wealth neither sinks, nor brings on any penalty. (2)
Behold the merit of this wealth :
Thereby each day in poised ecstasy[4] is passed. (3)
Brother man ! listen to a unique secret :
Without this wealth none the supreme state has attained. (4) Saith Nanak : By contact with the holy Preceptor, who the discourse of the inexpressible Lord relates,
Is this wealth attained. (5) (8)

---

1. Said in humility-one that is negligent of devotion.
   Note* : This hymn is said to be associated with the imputation of madness to Guru Nanak Dev after the revelation came to him at Sultanpur Lodhi
2. What other understanding should he have ?
3. Carries across the water.
4. Sahaj.

Sūr-saru sosi lai som saru pokhi lai jugati kari maratu su sanbandhu kījai

Dry up the channel of passion[1] strength the channel of poise[2]—
By such praxis of breath join these to the seat of superconsciousness[3].
By such praxis restrain the mind nimble as fish—
Then shall not the swan of life fly away, nor the body's wall collapse. (1)
Ignorant man ! for what into illusion art fallen ?
The immaculate fount of perennial joy hast thou not contemplated. (I-Pause)
Catch and burn thou the passions irresistible.
Catch the mind irrepressible, restrain it;
Discard doubt—Thus shall thou quaff amrita.
By such praxis restrain the mind nimble as fish—
Then shall not the swan of life fly away, nor the body's wall collapse. (2)
Saith Nanak : Folk ! whoever from his heart the Lord contemplates, P. 992
With each breath amrita quaffs.
By such praxis restrain the mind nimble as fish—
Then shall not the swan of life fly away, nor the body's wall collapse. (3) (9)

Māyā muyī na manu mūā saru lehrī mai matu

Neither is Maya suppressed, nor the mind from Maya restrained—
In the lake of intoxication of the ego are waves rising
Such a ship alone this water can cross and keep steady
As with the cargo of truth is laden.
The Divine pearl in the mind is lodged;
As is the mind restrained,
By truth no crack in it is formed.
The ruler[4] by his good qualities on the throne can last,
As through fear of God in the five good qualities[5] is he absorbed. (1)

---

1. Original, Channel of the sun (reference here and subsequently to hathayoga symbols).
2. Channel of the moon (as above).
3. Spiritual experience through terminology of hatha-yoga is expressed.
4. Interpreted also as the self.
5. (These are truth, contentment, compassion, righteousness and poise).

Friend ! take not the holy Lord to be far :
In all beings is pervasive light of life the World;
Over each head is recorded His holy Writ. (1-Pause) Brahma, Vishnu, rishis, sages, Shiva, Indra, anchorites and mendicants[1]—
Out of these such alone as obey God's will, at the Eternal Portal shall shine :
The arrogant and the intransigent in transmigration shall be caught.
About wandering mendicants, heroes, celibates, anchorites—
By the Master, perfectly-endowed has this been determined,
Without service noway is attained fulfilment—
Service is the purest of actions. (2)
Holy Master ! to the indigent art thou wealth, to those without guidance the Preceptor,
To those without honour, true honour.
This blind one the Master, precious as jewel has grasped—
To the weak art Thou source of strength.
By sacrifices and ritual recitations is He not realized;
By the Master's guidance is holy truth known.
Without devotion to the Name is not found shelter at the Divine Portal;
The false within in transmigration remain caught. (3)
Laud the holy Name; by the holy Name alone comes fulfilment.
Should the mind with jewel of enlightenment be rubbed clean,
Nevermore is it fouled.
While the Lord in mind is lodged no impediment comes.
Saith Nanak : By sacrifice of self[2] comes liberation :
Thereby are mind and body purified. (4) (10)

Jogī jugati Nāmu nirmāilu tā kai mailu na rātī

The Yogi whose praxis in devotion to the immaculate Name lies,
Not a grain of impurity takes.
By his side is ever the Beloved Lord,
His transmigration annulled. (1)
Lord ! what is Thy Name like ? How realized ?

1. Religious mendicants, Bhikshus are implied.
2. Head, life.

Note : The theme of this hymn is transmutation of the elements of praxis of hatha-yoga into the spiritual states as achieved by Sahaj.

Should Thou call me within the Mansion, would I enquire of Thee this inner secret (I-Pause)
The true Brahmin is one whose holy bath is enlightenment of God,
Whose worship by leaf-petals in singing Divine laudation lies.
Sole is the Name, in the three worlds is pervasive
One Sole Light. (2)
With the beam of my tongue, with scale of the heart
The immeasurable Name I weigh.
One is the shop, one the Merchant supreme over all,
The traders[1] all of one kind. (3)
The holy Preceptor mystery of both ends[2] has disclosed.
This by such are realized as in the sole Lord are absorbed,
And whose self free from doubt abides.
Such lodging in mind the holy Word, banishing doubt,
Ever day and night abide God's servant. (4)
On top is the Tenth chamber[3], where abides the cherisher of the world[4].
There lives the inaccessible Enlightener.
By the Master's teaching home and the World outside become alike—
By this teaching is Nanak turned an anchorite[5]. (5) (11)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 993

SCORE 5

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ahinisi jāgai neend na sovai

One that by torment of love is gripped,
Day and night keeps awake, and no sleep finds—
Should the shaft of love strike the heart of such a one.
Its cure to the physician is not known. (1)
The holy Eternal by the Master's guidance,
A rare one in His laudation engages.

1. The symbolism of shop, Merchant and traders is mystical in import. The Merchant is God, traders the devotees.
2. This world and the next are implied.
3. Gagan, the seat of super-consciousness.
4. Gorakh, the supreme Being in Yogic terminology.
5. Udāsī = one unattached to the world. The implication is, that one devoted to the Lord, even though a householder, is unattached to the world, udāsī.
6. Body.

Such alone realize amrita-secret as in amrita hold trade. (I.Pause)
As the wife to the husband in love is attached, Even thus must the disciple's heart[1] to the Master's Word
be devoted.
In serenity of love is the woman joy-filled—
Her yearning fulfilled. (2)
One that shatters doubt, lifts illusion,
And in serenity draws bow of Divine laudation—
Such a one also while dying to the world by the Master's teaching,
And suppressing his ego,
Is the noblest Yoga-practitioner. (3)
One that is consumed by egoism, puts God out of mind.
In Yama's demesne bears hard sword-blows.
At such time is not allowed devotion to the Name;
Thus my self ! heavy penalities shalt thou have to bear. (4)
One that by thoughts of Maya and avarice is gripped,
In Yama's demesne in the heavy snare shall be caught :
Unable to snap bonds of attachment, Yama on him shall inflict ignominy. (5)
Nothing now or ever[2] by me has been accomplished.
The holy Preceptor the ambrosial Name to me has imparted.
Whoever this by you[3] is granted, no effort needs to make:
Nanak under your shelter lies. (6) (1.12)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Score I

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jeh baisalehṇ tah baisāṇ swāmī jeh bhejaiṇ tah jāwāṇ

Lord ! I abide wherever Thou dost fix my abode;
Wherever Thou dost send, I go:
Over all cities rules one sole King! holy are all spots. (1)
Master! lodge me in Truth's city,
Whereby in poise may I be fixed. (I-Pause)
To think that good and evil from the ego come,
Is of all evil the root;

1. Chitta, consciousness.
2. That is, in the past.
3. Thee.

All happens as is the Lord's will—such is the Divine
Ordinance in the universe operating. (2)
Restless and powerful are the senses called—
Who is their maker ?
All is the Creator's play : rare is the person realizing this. (3)
By the Master's grace is the self in one sole quest absorbed;
Duality thereby is annulled :
His will have accepted as holy; thus is Yama's noose snapped. (4)
Saith Nanak : Who dare call the self to account when egoism is lifted ?
Shelter with the holy Eternal have we taken,
Whose shelter Dharmaraja himself seeks. (5) (1)

Āwaṉ jāṉā nā thīyai nijghari vāsā hoe

By poise in God[1] is transmigration annulled,
Such is the wealth of truth by the Lord bestowed.
He alone knows its secret. (1)
My self ! contemplate thou the Lord; throw evil out of the mind.
Contemplate the Master's Word—thus will devotion to truth arise. (I-Pause) P. 994
To be forgetful of the Name in this life, no avail shall there be after,
In all species shall the self wander, in filth absorbed. (2)
Mother mine ! By supreme good luck, as the primal Writ has recorded,
Is the Preceptor found;
To one absorbed in devotion uninterrupted,[2]
The holy Eternal, union grants. (3)
Himself has He created all that exists, and Himself cherishes it.
Saith Nanak : Exaltation through devotion to the Name
He grants to any He pleases. (4) (2)

Pichhlei gunah bakhshāe jīo ab Tūṃ mārgi pāe

Sire ! Forgive our former sins; show us now the right path :
May I lie at the Lord's feet, the ego discarding. (1)
My self ! by the Master's guidance the Lord's Name contemplate.

1. One's own home.
2. Each day.

May I ever at the Lord's feet lie with mind undivided and unceasing devotion ! (I-Pause)
I, humble being of no consequence, given to doubt,
The Lord with the holy Word penetrated me, as the Master the secret of the Name expounded. (2)
this self to avarice is attached, in avarice ever fallen;
In worldly pursuits into falsehood fallen,
In Yama's demesne receiving blows. (3)
Saith Nanak : His alone is the might; none with him to share it :
The wealth of devotion He confers on His devotees,
source of bliss. (4) (3)

Sacchi rattei se toli lahu se wirlei sansāri

Seek out those dyed in truth : rare in the world are such.
Their faces through meditation on the Lord's Name have grown radiant. (1)
Friend, with thy heart ever remember the holy Lord;
Learn this of the holy Preceptor; thus seek this capital. (I-Pause)
One sole eternal Being the whole world worships, by supreme good luck found :
Those by the Master's guidance to him united,
are not alienated—
The holy truth they find. (2)
Some, ignorant of the essence of devotion, are egoists,
in delusion lost.
Such too He pervades—
What is man's power ? (3)
He whose power one cannot match,
His grace supplicate with humility[1].
Saith Nanak : Should His Name by the Master's guidance in the self be lodged.
On listening to it shall He shower approbation. (4) (4)

Mārū te sītalu karei manūruhu kanchan hoe

Parched deserts can He turn into cool spots;
Specks of iron into gold;
Ever laud the holy Eternal, supreme over all. (1)
My self ! The Lord's Name contemplate ever.
Meditating on the holy Preceptor's teaching, laud ever the Lord. (I-Pause)

1. Lit. Standing.

By the Master's guidance, as realization he grants, know the sole Supreme Lord.
Ever be praised the Master, from whom such realization comes. (2)
One forsaking the holy Preceptor, bound to another in devotion,
What in the hereafter shall his achievement be ?
Bound in Yama's demesne, grievously shall such be chastized. (3)
The Lord is above desire and covetousness.
Saith Nanak : Rush thou to His shelter—
By His grace shall He grant union. (4) (5)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 995

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Japiyo Nāmu suk Janak Gurbachnin Hari Hari Sharani parei

The sages Sukdev and Janak by the guidance of the Master's Word the Name contemplated,
And with the Lord sought shelter.
The Lord, removing Sudama's[1] poverty met him—
Such by the devotional passion were saved.
The Name Divine, beloved of devotees fulfils
the devotees' objectives.
By the Master's guidance showering grace. (1)
My self ! by utterance of the Name comes release.
Dhruva, Prahlada, Bidur[2], Servant-maid's son,
All by the Master's guidance by devotion to the Name are saved. (I-Pause)
In Kali Yuga the Name is the supreme boon,
By which are devotees saved.
By it were cast off sins of Namdev, Jaideva, Kabir, Trilochan and the cobbler Ravi Das[3].
Those that by the Master's guidance to the Name are devoted, are saved—
All their sins and evils banished. (2)

---

1. A Brahamin, Krishna's devotee.
2. Names of well-known devotees.
3. These are Bhaktas whose compositions are included in Guru Granth Sahib.

All sinners that the Name contemplate, have all their sins cast off.
Ajamal[1], who made common with harlots was saved,
As with his tongue the name of the puissant[2] Lord be uttered.
By utterance of the Name Ugrasen[3] the supreme state entered—
His bonds snapped, was he liberated. (3)
Himself to His servant has he shown grace, the Lord cherishing him.
The Lord His servant's honour saves—saved are all seeking shelter with Him.
To Nanak, servant of God, the Lord has shown grace,
Whereby the Name Divine in his heart is lodged. (4) (1)

Siddh samādhi japiyo liv lāī sādhik muni japiyā

Accomplished Yogis[4] in their trance the Lord's Name contemplated in absorption;
Yoga-practitioners[5] and sages[6] too have contemplated Him.
Celibates, donors of charities, practitioners of contentment too on Him have meditated;
Indra and other deities in their utterances have remembered Him.
Those seeking shelter with Him and uttering His Name
His approval have won,
And by the Master's guidance liberation achieved. (1)
My self! whoever the Name has contemplated, is saved.
Dhanna the peasant[7] and Balmik[8] the highway man
By guidance of the Master have gone across the ocean of existence. (1-Pause)
Human beings of God-like qualities, servitors of deities, celestial choristers[9] the Name have contemplated;
Humble rishis the Name Divine have chanted.
Those whose hearts with the Name Divine are suffused,
By the Master's guidance have gone across
the ocean of existence. (2)

---

1. A sinful Brahamin, saved by utterance of God's name at the time of his death.
2. Nar-Hari (Man-lion, an avatar of Vishnu).
3. Krishna's father's name.
4. Siddhas.
5. Sadhakas.
6. Muni.
7. Jat : Dhanna's compositions are included in Guru Granth Sahib.
8. A rishi, reputed author of Ramayana.
9. Gandharb.

Thirty-three crores of deities on Him have meditated;
Yet, contemplating the Name Divine, the Lord's extent they failed to realize.
Vedas, Puranas and Simritis the Lord's praise have uttered;
Brahmins by their tongue Divine laudation have sung.
Those in whose hearts is the Name, giver of joy, lodged.
By the Master's guidance the ocean of existence have crossed. (3)
Those that Name of the Lord, of innumerable waves[1] have uttered, Beyond my count lie.
By Divine grace whoever to the Lord's heart has become pleasing.
A place with Him finds.
The Master in his grace, the Name Divine in me confirmed :
Thus did Nanak, servant of God, take to uttering the Name. (4) (2)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 996

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari Hari Nāmu nidhānu lai Gurmati Hari pati pāe

By obtaining by the Master's guidance treasure of the Name Divine,
The seeker honour with the Lord attains.
This in this world and the next accompanies the self;
At the last moment release it brings.
In lanes that are hard to cross, narrow in extreme,[2]
The Lord's Name brings release. (1)
Holy Preceptor ! pray the Name Divine in me confirm :
The Lord is my mother, father, child, relation—
Mother mine ! none other than the Lord is my support. (I-Pause)
Yearning for union, with Lord's Name am I in agony of separation.
Mother mine ! would that someone to Him unite me.
To such a one would I make supplication, with the Beloved to grant me union.

1. Waves of creation are implied.
2. Implies agony of death and the hereafter.

The holy Preceptor, noble being, gracious,
Without delay with the Lord grants union. (2)
Those that the Name Divine have not contemplated,
Are unfortunate, subject to death[1] :
Again and again in transmigration they whirl,
Dying, being born, coming into the world and departing.
Bound at Yama's door blows they bear;
At the Divine Portal chastized. (3)
Lord ! withThee I seek shelter :
Divine Monarch, pray grant me union.
Life of the world ! in your grace under shelter of the holy Preceptor place me.
The Lord in His grace to His servant Nanak has granted union. (4) (1.3)

Hauṇ pūnjī Nāmu dasāindā ko dassai Hari dhanu rāsi

After capital of the Name am I querying—would someone capital of the Divine wealth show me.
To such a one world I sacrifice myself cut to bits,
As to the Lord unites me.
Within me am I filled with love for the Beloved—How may the Divine friend be met ? How to Him be
I united ? (1)
My self, cherished friend ! the Name Divine is my wealth and capital.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, the Name in me has confirmed.
The Lord is my prop; to the Lord I cry hail. (I-Pause) Lord ! to the Master unite me, who the Divine wealth and capital to me may point.
Without the Master is not attained love for the Lord—
Folks, in your mind determine this.
The Lord His Essence in the Master has lodged :
Hail the Master, who with the Lord grants union. (2)
With the Master, perfectly-endowed lie oceans and treasures of devotion.
The holy Preceptor in his grace, as his lips he opens,
Divine illumination grants.
The egoist unfortunate, even close to the bank.[2]
Of thirst is dead, (3)

1. Implies transmigration, as specified in the next line.
2. The master is symbolized as the lake or pool.

The Master is the great Provider: of him I beg a boon :
To me, long-separated, grant union with the Lord.
Great is the yearning in my heart and body.
Nanak, servant of God, makes this supplication :
Should it please the Master, to it will he give ear. (4) (2.4)

Hari Hari kathā suṇāi Prabh Gurmati Hari ridai samāṇī

As by the Master's teaching is related to me the Lord's discourse,
In my heart is it absorbed.
You who are supremely fortunate, utter the noble
Divine discourse,
That the supreme state confers.
God's devotees' hearts[1] with devotion are filled,
That by guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
In the Name are absorbed. (1)
My self ! Divine discourse to my heart is pleasing.
Ever to me relate Divine discourse— P. 997
Inexpressible is the wonder[2] of the Master's Word. (I-Pause)
My mind and body have I deeply searched,
Seeking[3] this inexpressible discourse.
By contact with the holy is it attained :
As listened, is this inexpressible discourse pleasing to heart—
The Name to my mind and body is the prop—
The all-wise noble being, the Master, to the Lord has united me. (2)
The noble being, the Master, to the exalted Divine Being has united me—
By this union is my consciousness into the supreme consciousness absorbed.
By great good fortune the Master have I served,
Whereby is attained the Lord, all wisdom.
Egoists unfortunate in suffering pass their life's night. (3)
Lord, at Thy door are we humble beggars;
Pray, in our mouth place the ambrosial word.
The holy Preceptor is my true friend.
I pray, to the Lord all-wisdom unite me.
Nanak, servant of God, to the Master's shelter has come—
In grace in the Name absorb him. (4) (3.5)

---

1. Mana.
2. Story.
3. How to obtain.

Hari bhāu lagā bairāgīā wad-bhāgīṇ Hari mani rākhu

Love of the Lord, in dispassion to the world my heart
has gripped;
By great good fortune keep the Lord ever in heart.
In holy congregation arises faith;
By the Master's Word taste you of joy in God.
Abloom is mind and body, as by the Master's Word is expressed Divine laudation. (1)
Cherished friend ! with the heart taste of joy in the Name Divine.
By grace of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
is attained the Lord,
Whereby in this world and the next is our honour protected. (I-Pause)
On the Name Divine meditate;
By the Master's guidance taste of Divine laudation.
In soil of the body sow the Lord—
The Lord in holy congregation abides.
The Name Divine is amrita—
By guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
taste of joy in God. (2)
Egoists are desire-filled; their minds in ten directions wandering, full of million desires.
Cursed is life of egoists, devoid of the Name,
in offal abiding;
In transmigration are they whirled;
Over numerous births eating of malodorous substances. (3)
Craving your protection, to your shelter have we come :
Lord ! in your grace save us.
In unison with the holy congregation is attained the Name Divine, fount of honour.
Nanak, servant of God, wealth of the Name Divine
has attained,
By utterance of the Master's Word. (4) (4.6)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 5

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari Hari bhagti bhare bhaṇḍārā

Of the Lord's devotion are stores full,

Who by the Master's guidance liberation grants.
Whoever has the Lord's grace, His laudation sings. (1)
By grace of the Lord, wearer of garland of wild flowers,[1]
Ever is the Lord in the heart cherished.
My self ! the Name Divine utter—
Utterance of the Name Divine is bringer of liberation. (1-Pause)
The Name Divine is ocean of bliss, amrita.
This mendicant begs of the Lord His grace. P. 998
The Lord eternal to my heart[2] is pleasing. (2)
The Nine apertures of the body with impurities are flowing.
By utterance of the Name Divine are all purified :
Should the Lord be pleased, by contemplation of Him
Is impurity shed. (3)
Terribly hard is Maya-attachment—
How may the world's impassable ocean be crossed ?
Should the holy Preceptor provide the ship,
By utterance of the Name Divine liberation he grants. (4)
Everywhere art Thou pervasive; all are Thine.
All happens as be Thy will.
Nanak, servant of God, His laudation sings;
Should it please the Lord, with Him shall be find resting-place. (5) (1.7)

Hari Hari Nāmu japahu mana merei

My self ! the Name Divine utter :
Thus shall the Lord all thy sins annul.
The Divine wealth you store and garner—
At time of departing this life is the Lord our true friend. (1)
Whoever has His grace, on Him meditates;
Such a one ever uttering the Lord's Name, joy obtains.
By the Master's grace is got joy in God;
By utterance of the Name Divine comes liberation (1-Pause)
Utterance of the Name of the formless Lord, Reality Eternal
Is in this world the purest, noblest action.
By this is Yama, agent of death, contriving foe repulsed:
God's servant he dare not approach. (2)
The servant that the Lord's approval has won,
In all four Yugas and four directions gets reputed :

---

1. Banwālī = Banwārī, an attributive name of Vishnu, here symbolizing God.
2. Mana.
3. (Doot = Lit. agent, minion yields the sense of a secret, contriving agent).

Whoever traduces him, is a sinner, subject to death[1]
by Yama's minions. (3)
In all abides the immaculate Creator—
His marvels He performs and beholds.
Against one preserved by the Lord none can prevail[2]—
The Lord Himself succours such. (4)
Each day the Creator's Name I utter,
That to all His servants and devotees liberation has brought.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Ask of the eighteen Puranas and four Vedas
The Name is the Liberator. (5) (2.8)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Darpai dharti ākāshu nakhatrā sir ūpari amaru karārā

Earth, sky and stars stand in fear of the Lord's mighty decree Lying over them.
Air, water, fire stand in fear; in fear stands poor Indra. (1)
I hear one sole Being is above fear :
Such alone are happy, in bliss eternally,
As in unison with the Master Divine laudation sing. (I-Pause)
All embodied beings and deities are in fear;
In mortal fear are accomplished Yogis[3] and Yoga-practitioners.[4]
The eighty-four lakh species die and are reborn;
in different births yoked. (2)
Those bearing qualities of strength, intelligence and sloth are afraid,
That in numerous forms are created.
Maya, poor trickster is afraid; in great fear stands Dharamraja. (3) P. 999
All objects of creation to fear are subject,
The Creator solely is without fear
Saith Nanak, with devotees is His company,
Who at His court in splendour shine. (4) (1)

---

1. Implies torments and transmigration.
2. None can destroy him.
3. Siddha.
4. Sadhaka.

Note : For a parallel to this hymn see Vār Āsā 4.

Pūṇch barkh ko anāthu Dhrū bāriku Hari simrat amar atāre

The child Dhruva,[1] five years old,
By contemplation of the Lord became immortal, immutable.
Ajamal[2] who out of love for his son uttered 'Narayan'—
From him were Yama's minions beaten off. (1)
Lord ! countless numbers by you are saved,
I, humble, of low understanding, devoid of merit,
At your door seek shelter. (I-Pause)
Saved was Balmik[3] of the low-caste;
Also were saved poor hunters who shot Krishna.
Was saved King of elephants[4]
That for an instant in mind made supplication. (2)
The devotee Prahalad[5] was succoured
And Harnakash with claws was torn apart.
Bidur[6], servant-maid's child was made holy,
All his generations enlightened. (3)
How many of my sins shall I disclose ?
In false attachment am I involved.
Nanak to seek shelter with the Lord has come—
With arm outstretched pray grasp him. (4) (2)

Vit navit bhramio bahu bhāntī anik jatan kari dhāe

For lucre in various ways have I wandered,
Rushing about making numerous efforts.
All actions done from egoistic pride wasted have been. (1)
Of no avail are days given to other than devotion
Lord ! grant me the days in which Divine laudation
I sing. (I-Pause)
Man beholding progeny, wife, expanse of home,
In these is involved.
Tasting of Maya-intoxication is he inebriated,
Divine laudation singing never. (2)
In various ways have we searched for device to devotion—
Without guidance of the holy is it not attained.
Lord ! you that are the great Provider almighty,
To beg a boon of you have we come. (3)

1. The devotee believed to be turned the pole-star.
2. A sinful Brahmin whose story of redemption is well-known.
3. Said to have been a Chandal and robber before turning a rishi.
4. (His story is well-known in Bhakti lore).
5. (The child devotee Prahlad was saved by the Lord in the form of Nar-Singh (man-lion) from his atheist father Harnakash).
6. A devotee of Krishna.

Discarding all pride and feeling of self-importance,
To seek shelter with dust of feet of your servants have we come.
Saith Nanak : As is the sole Lord met,
Supreme bliss and joy have we attained. (4) (3)

Kavan thān dhīriyo hai nāmā kavan basatu ahankārā

Where in the self abides the Name ? Where egoism ?
What sign is this on thy face, on hearing from another's mouth abuse ? (1)
Listen man ! who art thou ? Whence come ?
Thou knowest not the period of thy stay in this world;
Of thy departure hast no intimation. (I-Pause)
Without a doubt are wind and water greatly forbearing,
The earth forgiving.
Of five elements is the body compounded---
Which of these by nature is evil ? (2)
The supreme Creator who made the cosmos,
Into it also introduced egoism :
The ego it is that is born and dies;
That too transmigrates. (3)
The creation bearing hue and feature is not lasting;
Unreal is the entire expanse of creation.
Saith Nanak : When this play He terminates,
The Sole Supreme Being alone abides. (4) (4)

Mān moha aru lobh vikārā bīyo chīṭina ghāliyo

Of pride, attachment, avarice or evil tendencies, P. 1000
Other than the Lord, to mind has God's servant not brought.
Trading in jewels of the Name and Divine merits—
Such is the merchandize that he carries with him. (1)
The love of God's servants till the last has remained constant.
While living, the Lord he served; at departure in mind kept Him. (I-Pause)
As came the Lord's command, from that his face
he turned not away;
Maintaining in his self[1] joy with poise, to carry out the Master's command he ever rushed. (2)
In obeying the Lord's command, even in hunger he felt joy;
Between sorrow and joy never he discriminated :

1. Home.

The Lord's command with great reverence[1] he obeyed. (3)
As the Lord to the servant was gracious.
Was his life in this world and the next exalted.
Saith Nanak : Blessed, fruitful is coming into the world of the servant,
Who the Lord's will has realized. (4) (5)

Khuhlīyā karamu kripā bhayee Thākur Kīrtanu hari hari gāī

By good fortune dawning[2] on me, and the Lord's grace,
Divine laudation have I sung.
Ended is endeavour and rest attained;
Annulled all rushing about. (1)
Now the true state of life have I attained,
As under shelter of the holy the immanent Creator
My mind has entered. (I-Pause)
Cast off are lust, wrath, avarice, attachment,
Repulsed all foes.
Ever is the Lord present by me, watching over me,
Distant never. (2)
As God's devotees have been aidant,
Cool joy has come, and all desires[3] fulfilled;
In an instant are the fallen purified :
Beyond expression is the Lord's praise. (3)
With all fear annulled, fearless have we become,
Under shelter of the Divine feet.
Nanak, absorbed therein night and day,
Divine laudation sings. (4) (6)

Jo samrathu sarab-guṇa nāiku tis kau kabuhu na gāvasi re

Man ! never dost thou sing praise of Him to whom all might and merit belongs[4].
For what in an instant thou shalt leave, dost rush
again and again. (1)
Why not contemplate thy Lord ?
With the foe[5] in delight engaging, thy heart dost thou torment[6]. (I-Pause)

---

1. With reverence by his forehead (as with folded hands the forehead is touched as gesture of reverence).
2. Opened out.
3. Spiritual objectives are implied
4. Who is master of all merit.
5. Maya or worldliness.
6. Burn.

He, on hearing whose name Yama releases thee,
His shelter dost thou not seek.
Drive away this wretched jackal, and under His shelter find rest. (2)
To Him by listening to whose laudation is swum
the ocean of existence,
Dost thou not form love :
To petty substance of a small dream,
Dost attach thy mind again and again. (3)
By grace of the gracious Lord, in company of the holy have I attained honour.
As has the Lord become aidant,
Saith Nanak, illusion of the three qualities[1] has been discarded. (4) (7)

Antarjāmī sabh bidhi jānai tis te kahān dulāriyo

The Lord, controller of the inner self, of all states has knowledge;
Where from Him shalt thou be in hiding ?
As in fire shalt thou burn, thy hands and feet in an instant shall fall off. (1)
Ignorant man ! the Lord from thy mind hast thou cast off.[2] P. 1001
Eating of His salt art thou ungrateful—
Within sight of thee shalt thou be torn to bits. (I-Pause)
An incurable malady[3] in the self has arisen,
That no way is removed.
Nanak this essential truth has contemplated :
By indifference[4] to the Lord comes great suffering. (2) (8)

Charan kamal Prabh rākhei chīti

Let man ever in heart cherish the Divine lotus feet,
And ever Divine laudation sing.
None other than He is real—
He alone in the beginning of time, in the middle and at the end abides. (1)

1. See Glossary.
2. Forgotten.
3. (Indifference to devotion is implied).
4. By being forgetful.

Himself His devotees' sole shelter. (1-Pause)
He the Sole Formless Being.
Under whose power lies the whole universe.
Nanak shelter of the Eternal has grasped,
And attained the joy, whereafter no sorrow arises. (2) (9)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Prān sukh dātā jīya sukh dātā tum kāhei bisāriyo agyānath

Ignorant man ! why be forgetful of the Provider of joy to life, Provider of joy to the Self ?
Tasting of the world's insipid[1] liquor are you turned mad,
Making waste of your life hard to attain. (1)
Man ! such is the folly thou dost commit.
Discarding the Lord, prop of the earth, in illusion art thou lost,
And to the maid Maya, in love attached. (1-Pause)
Discarding the Divine supporter of the earth this low-born one dost thou serve,
Thy life in groaning passed—
In ignorance doing hollow deeds,
Getting called egois', blind. (2)
What is real dost thou think unreal; what is mortal dost thou take to be eternal.
What is another's dost thou grasp as thine own—
In such delusion involved. (3) Khatris, Brahmins, Vaishyas and Sudras[2]—all by devotion to the Sole Name liberation find.
Such is Guru Nanak's teaching—to it whoever listens, liberation finds. (4) (1.10)

Gupatu kartā sangi so Prabhu dahkāwae manukhāe

What thou in concealment dost, the Lord by thy side sees;
Men alone dost thou deceive.
Forgetting the Lord, in evil passions dost thou indulge,
Embracing burning pillars. (1)

1. Shallow, mean.
2. These are the four castes into which Hindu society is traditionally divided.

Man ! why haunt others' homes[1] ?
Thou foul, hard-hearted, lustful ass !
Of Dharmaraja hast not heard ? (I-Pause) Stones of evil deeds to thy neck tied, a packet of calumny on thy head laid;
The mighty ocean[2] is to be crossed—with these canst thou not swim across. (2)
Involved in lust, wrath, avarice, attachment, thy eyes from truth are turned away.
From Maya, terribly hard to cross, thy head canst thou not raise. (3)
The Divinely-enlightened from impurities are free as the sun, the moon;
In temper like the fire that from impurities is free,
untainted. (4)
Whoever has good fortune,[3] lifted is the curtain P. 1002 of illusion :
Such are those with love obeying the Master.
By the medicine of charm of the Name by the Master granted, Saith Nanak, one in torment of transmigration does not fall. (5.2) (2)
Man ! thus shalt thou swim across :
Meditating on the Lord, die to the world.
Feelings of Daulity discard. (Second Pause) (2.11)

Bāhari dhūndan te chhūti parei Guri ghar hī māhen dikhāiyā thā

From seeking the Lord outside of ourselves are we released;
The Master within the self has granted vision of Him.
By spontaneous illumination the Lord's marvellous form have we beheld,
Deserting which nowhere does my mind stray. (1)
The jewel have I found; found the Lord perfection incarnate;
Invaluable, for no price attained—
The Master in his grace with Him has favoured us. (I-Pause)
Invisible, unknowable is the Supreme Being; in company
of the holy
Is the inexpressible expounded.

1. That is, pursue their womenfolk for lust.
2. (Here symbolized as the ocean).
3. (Good fortune made by good deeds).

As unstruck music in the Tenth Chamber[1] was sounded,
Did amrita of the Name ooze (2)
Now is felt no penury, extinguished is the heart's desire.[2]
An endless treasure within us is contained.
As was service at the Master's feet rendered,
Was the shapeless mind given form,
And joy obtained. (3)
In serenity is now our coming and going;
In serenity is the mind disporting.
Saith Nanak : As the Master my illusion effaced,
The Lord, denizen of the Mansion, in mansion of the self was discovered. (4) (3.12)

Jisehi sāji nivājiyā tisehi sium ruch nāheṇ

For Him who made and cherished you,
No attachment you feel.
Should sowing in inappropriate[3] season be done,
Is obtained therefrom neither fruit nor flower. (1)
My self ! this is the right state of the soil to sow the Name:
Plant now the crop, attach to it thy mind—
This is the appropriate season, bringing gain. (1-Pause)
Give up the mind's stubborn pursuits and doubts;
With the holy Preceptor seek shelter.
Whoever has good fortune from primal time recorded,
In this task engages. (2)
With love for the Lord formed, is one's endeavour fruitful.
The crop grown within myself,
Noway is exhausted. (3)
The invaluable boon have we attained,
That noway from us is parted.[4]
Saith Nanak : Joy have we attained, and feel fulfilled. (4) (4.13)

Phūto āṇḍā bharam kā manehi bhaeyo pragāshu

Shattered is doubt's egg-shell, and the mind illumined :
The Master, cutting off fetters from our feet, from bonds has freed us. (1)
Now is my transmigration ended.[5]

1. (The seat of superconsciousness).
2. Thirst.
3. Another, other than the right one.
4. Goes nowhere leaving us.
5. Lit. Straying.

Cooled is the boiling cauldron, as the Master the cooling
Name has granted. (I-Pause)
Since entering company of the holy, have the sentries left me :
What power has the Master of gendarmes[1] now ? (2) Lifted is load of consequences of deeds; now from consequences of deeds are we released.
From the ocean have we come to the shore, by the Master who his holy function has fulfilled. (3)
Holy the spot, holy the parlour we occupy, holy the objective we adopted.
Holy the capital and the merchandize P. 1003
That Nanak within the self[2] has obtained. (4) (5.14)

Bedu pukārai mukh te pandat kāmāman kā māthā

What the Vedas by their tongue proclaim, the Brahmin is slow to act.
Sitting in silence in a corner, in his heart is tied knot of stray thinking.
Turning away from the world someone his home may leave,
Yet his straying leaves him not. (1)
To whom shall I open my heart's state ?
Where shall I find one, who liberated himself, to the Lord unites me ? (I-Pause)
By practice of austerities have I conditioned the body.,
Yet the mind in ten directions runs.
While bearing in heart passion for continence,
Pride-filled does one become.
Turning anchorite, at holy watering-edges may man wander,
Yet with blundering[3] wrath may be filled. (2)
Tying ankle-bells may one turn temple-dancer[4], for livelihood;
Fasts, vows and the six ritual acts[5] he may perform, yet all this may be outward show.
By the tongue he may utter hymns, melodies and tunes,
But his mind in singing divine laudation may not engage. (3)
God's devotees by pleasure, pain, avarice and attachment remain untouched.

1. Implies Yama and his minions.
2. Home.
3. That which takes away understanding.
4. Ram-dās.
5. (These are differently prescribed in the various sects).

Should the Lord show grace, dust of their feet my mind may obtain.
Saith Nanak : By contact with the Master, perfectly-endowed
Is the mind's anxiety shed. (4)
The Divine monarch, controller of the inner self, is all-knowing.
As beloved of the heart He became,
Ended my idle prating. (1) (second Pause) (6, 15)

Koti lākh sarab ko rājā jisu hirday Nāmu Tumhārā

One hearing in heart your Name is king over millions, over all.
Those not imparted the Name by the holy Preceptor,
Are ignorant, subject to death and rebirth. (1)
The holy Preceptor alone our honour protects :
As the Lord comes to mind, are we fully honoured;
If put out of mind, into dust we mingle. (1-Pause)
The mind's indulgence in pleasures of beauty, delights
Brings equal number of sins and evil-doing.
The Name Divine is treasure of weal—
Such is the essence of joy in poise. (2)
Maya of multiple hues in an instant vanishes as cloud-shadow.
Such as in unison with the Master Divine laudation sing,
In deep red colour of devotion are dyed. (3)
Lofty, great, limitless is the Lord, inaccessible His court.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name and love for the Lord
Comes exaltation and repute. (4) (7.16)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 4
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Oankāri utpātī

From the Divine Creator has creation ensued.
Day and night has He created,
And forest, grass-blades, the three worlds and oceans.[1]
Created by Him are the Four Vedas and the Four sources of existence,
Continents, countries and all the worlds,
All from one sound[2] has been manifested. (1)

1. Water.
2. Cf. Japuji. 16.

Guess who the Creator is :
By contact with the holy Preceptor comes such enlightenment. (I-Pause)
Of the three qualities has He fashioned the expanse,
And regulated descent into hell and heaven.
The creature by egoism into transmigration enters,
His mind not as much as a grain[1] finding rest. P. 1004
Without the Master's guidance is all darkness.
By contact with the holy Preceptor comes liberation.[2] (2)
All deeds in egoism performed,
Turn bonds round the neck.
Assuming egoistic thoughts
Becomes fetters on the feet.
Such alone by contact with the Master the sole Lord realize;
As good fortune on the forehead bear. (3)
Such find union with the Lord as to his heart are pleasing;
Such as by the Lord are put out of mind, into error fall.
In himself is none foolish or wise :
When directed by the Lord, man utters the Name.
Without end or limit art Thou.
Nanak, servant of God, to Thee is ever a sacrifice. (4) (1.17)

Mohanī mohi līye trai-gunīyā

The charmer Maya has put under her spell the world governed by the three qualities.
The untruthful world by avarice is actuated.
Pelf that through avarice is garnered, at the end with all plays false. (1)
The Lord above fear, without form, gracious,
Of all creatures is cherisher. (I-Pause)
Some with great effort in earth bury wealth;
Others even in dream leave not a farthing.
Those that through royal power fill with it bags,
This restless one accompanies not even such. (2)
Some hold it dearer than life and body;
Some garner it, repudiating father and mother.
Even with those that keep it secret from progeny,
friend and brother,
It stands not. (3)

1. Mustard seed.
2. Swimming across.

Some renouncing the world sit in absorption;
Some turn Yogis, celibates and thoughtful scholars;
Others that in tombs, cremation yards and forests live,
Even to such it clings. (4)
Such as have their bonds snapped by the Lord,
In their heart is lodged the Name Divine.
God's servants in holy company are liberated.
Saith Nanak : Such by the Divine glance of grace the supreme state attain. (5) (2.18)

Simrahu ek niranjan soū

Contemplate the sole immaculate Lord,
From whom none disappointed turns back,
Who in mother's womb the creature has cherished,
And granting life and body has exalted it.
The Creator's Name each moment you utter,
Whose contemplation all evil tendencies annuls.[1]
His lotus feet in your heart cherish;
From jungle of evil passions save the self :
Thus shall end wailing and crying.
By utterance of the Lord's Name are shattered doubt and fear.
Rare are such as in holy company attain this :
Nanak to such is a sacrifice. (1)
The Name Divine is prop of mind and body :
Whoever contemplates it, liberation attains. (I-Pause)
False substances does man take to be real.
Man, stupid, thoughtless, ignorant, to it is attached;
With lust, wrath, avarice intoxicated,
For a cowrie-shell making waste of life.
Deserting what is his own, to what is alien, attached;
Maya's intoxication, with mind and body lasts.
In involvement with pleasures is not thirst extinguished;
Man's desires unfulfilled, false his utterance.
Man arrives into the world alone, alone he departs—
The world's companionship is all a false claim. P. 1005
Taking Maya's drug, has he deluded himself.
Saith Nanak : Ineffaceable are consequences of deeds. (2)
Numerous are the species wandering about,

1. Covers.

Such as beast, bird, ghost and goblin.
Wherever the creature goes, finds he not fixed abode.[1]
Without fixed abode,[1] he starts off and rushes.
In mind and body lie vastly numerous desires :
Poor man by egoism is deluded.
Numerous are man's sins and much his chastizement,
That is beyond count.
For indifference to the Lord in hell is he cast,
Where with him are neither mother nor friend nor wife.
Whoever has the Lord's grace,
Saith Nanak, liberation attains. (3)
After long wandering to the Lord's shelter have I come,
Who is cherisher of the humble, the world's father and mother.
The Lord gracious, annuller of suffering and pain,
Saves[2] whomsoever He pleases,
From the dark well extricating him.
By loving devotion comes liberation.
Himself form of the holy has He assumed;
From the great fire[3] Himself the saviour.
This creature to do contemplation, austerity and self-restraint has not the power.
The Lord is beyond beginning and end,[4] inaccessible, fathomless.
Grant devotion to Thy Name—this Thy servant begs.
Saith Nanak : In the Lord rests my true state of life. (4) (3.19)

Kat kau dahkāwyo lagā Mohan dīn kirpāī

Folks ! why delude anyone ? the Divine Charmer to the humble is gracious. (1)
This have I realized :
The benevolent Master, heroic to grant shelter,
Himself in His greatness protection grants. (I-Pause)
The Lord to His devotees' wishes is compliant,
Ever conferring on them joy. (2)
Lord ! to Thy servants show grace that on the Sole
 Name they meditate. (3)
The humble Nanak begs for devotion to the Name :
Illusion of duality has he cast off. (4) (4.20)

---

1. (Poise is implied).
2. Ferries across the ocean.
3. (The world's evil is implied).
4. (Is at beginning of time and close of time).

Merā Thākuru ati bhārā

The Lord is supremely great;[1]
I a humble servant. (1)
Precious Divine Charmer, beloved of my mind and life !
To me grant a boon. (I-Pause)
Everyone have I tested and searched—
None other than the Lord is the true helper. (2)
Creation He cherishes and into Himself absorbs.
He is, shall ever be and ever was. (3)
Lord ! show me grace,
That Nanak in your service engaged. (4) (5.21)

Patit udhāran tāran bali bali balei bali jāīyai

To the Saviour of the fallen, liberater may I be a sacrifice.
May I to such a devotee be united,
By whose inspiration on the Lord I meditate ever. (1)
I an obscure one,
As your servant am reputed.
This is my shelter and prop. (I-Pause)
Thou prop and cherisher of all, this humble one supplication makes :
Your ways to you alone known,
You the river,[2] me only a fish. (2)
Lord of the entire expanse of creation,
In love have I followed you.
All continents of earth and their portions P. 1006
Are you yourself. (3)
Lord eternal, immortal, Divine Charmer, beyond knowledge and limit,
Grant to Nanak in charity
In holy company dust of you servants' feet. (4) (6.22)

Tripti āghāe santā

The devotees that the Master's incantation have learnt,
Feel totally fulfilled.
Beyond expression the praise of such
As by the Name are exalted. (1)
The Lord is a jewel invaluable;
Beyond grasp and measure His Name. (I-Pause)

---

1. Of great weight (value).
2. Water.

Those that in the Eternal have put faith,
By the Master's guidance on the Essence are enlightened.
Beholding all, yet on the Lord is their meditation fixed;
Pride from their mind banished. (2)
Immutable their station,
By the Master's guidance the Divine Essence[1]
have they realized.
Ever in unison with the Master are they awake,
In service to the Lord engaged. (3)
Perfectly feeling fulfiled.
By devotion in absorption in poise engaged.
The Divine treasure have they found,
That saith Nanak, from the Master is obtained. (4) (7.23)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 6
Duos
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Chhodi sagal siyāṇapāṇ mili sādh tyāgi gumānu

All clever devices discard :
In holy company cast off pride.
All else is unreal—by the tongue utter Name of the Lord. (1)
My self ! with the ears listen to the Name Divine :
Thereby shall be effaced thy sins of multiple births—
What is poor Yama then ? (I-Pause)
Then shall not touch thee suffering, penury or fear;
Shall joy and poise come.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's grace
To the essence of enlightenment be devoted. (2) (1.24)

Jinnhīṇ Nāmu wisāriyā se hot dekhei kheh

Those that of the Name are neglectful, are seen to turn to dust.
Love of progeny, friend, pleasure with woman
All get shattered. (1)
My self ! ever the Name thou utter.
Then burn not mind, body and limbs in the ocean of fire,[2]
And with joy are filled. (I-Pause)

1. The (Divine) Mansion.
2. Sinful pleasures are meant.

Worldly pleasures are impermanent like shade of tree,
Or clouds that by the wind are tossed.
Saith Nanak : Firm-founded is devotion to God,
In company of the holy acquired :
This alone shall stead thee. (2) (2.25)

Purakhu pūran sukheh dātā sangi basto nīt

The Supreme Being, perfectly-endowed, provider of joy
Ever with us abides.
He dies not nor is subject to birth and death.
Immune to heat and cold. (1)
My self ! with the Lord be in love.
With the mind contemplate the Divine treasure—
This is the way of purity. (I-Pause)
The gracious, compassionate Lord—whoever utters His Name fulfilment finds.
With His love who's ever new, youthful, perfectly wise,
Perfect in beauty,
Is Nanak's heart pierced. (2) (3.26)

Chalat baisat sovat jāgat Guru-mantar ridai chitāri

While moving resting, sleeping, waking
The Master's incantation with heart's devotion contemplate.
In company of the holy to shelter of divine feet be devoted—
Thus the ocean of existence shalt thou cross (1)
My self ! in heart bear the Name. P. 1007
With mind and body with the Lord be in love;
All else discard. (I-Pause)
The self, mind, body, life, all are the Lord's—
Thy ego discard.[1]
To the Lord be devoted.
Thus shall all thy objectives be fulfilled.
Saith Nanak : Discomfiture never shall then come. (2) (4.27)

Taji āpu binasī tāpu reṇ sādhū thīyo

By discarding of the ego are shattered maladies—
Turn dust of feet of the holy.
Devotion to Thy Name to such is made available,
As in grace by Thee, this are granted. (1)
My self ! quaff amrita of the Name.

1. Forget.

Discarding other shallow worldly tastes, find the life eternal. (I-Pause)
To the Name in single-minded devotion am I attached.
Nanak the Sole Lord has adopted as friend, helper, companion, relation. (2) (5.28)

Pripāli mātā udari rākhai lagani det na sek

The mother in womb cherishes the child,
From all harm[1] protecting it.
The Lord too thus protects us here—
This by the discriminating understanding realize. (1)
My self ! with the Lord seek shelter.
Realize Him who made Thee,
The Sole Lord almighty. (I-Pause)
In your mind contemplate Him; all cleverness discard;
All sectarian garbs give up.
Saith Nanak : By constant contemplation of the Lord
Are saved vast numbers. (2) (6.29)

Patit-pāvan Nāmu jā ko anāth ko hai nāthu

He whose Name is purifier of the fallen,
Is cherisher of the helpless,
In the vast ocean of existence is He the raft
Of all on whose forehead is this recorded. (1)
Devoid of the Name are innumerable caravans ruined.[2]
These the almighty Creator have not contemplated,
Who by strength of His arm protection grants. (I-Pause)
Utterance of Divine merits and the Name Divine in holy company
Is the path of immortality.
Mighty Lord,[3] show grace
That Nanak in listening to your discourse[4]
Find life. (2) (7.30)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Supplication*

SCORE 7

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sanjogu vijog dhuruhu hī hūā

From the Primal Source was decreed union and alienation from the Lord.

1. Heat of fire.
2. Sunk.
3. Murari=slayer of the demon Mura.
4. Story.

*Anjali=Hands cupped in prayer.

Of five elements is figurine of the body made.
By command of the Divine King in the body
Was the living self cast. (1)
There where burns fire in flames,[1]
In utter darkness lying face downwards,
The self with each breath the Lord contemplated,
Who from there extricated it. (2)
Then as from the womb it emerged,
Forgetting the Lord, to the world was it attached.
In consequence is it whirled in transmigration through species,
Finding no place of rest. (3)
From this the gracious Lord,
Creator of all beings, Himself has saved it.
Thus departed it after winning the boon of life.
Saith Nanak : Approved is coming into the world of such a one. (4) (1.31)

Vaido na wāī bhaiṇo na bhāī eko sahāī Rāmu he

None else is healer of our maladies or our protector— P. 1008
The Lord is our sole helper. (1)
The Supreme Lord contemplate, who is almighty, washes off impurity of sins. (2)
In each self abiding, immanent in all, immutable His station. (3)
Neither born nor dying, in the self pervasive,
Perfect His doings. (4)
Of His devotees is He cherisher.
His devotees in contemplating that prop of existence find life,
To the Lord almighty, all-powerful,
Is Nanak a sacrifice. (5) (2.32)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari ko Nāmu sadā sukhdāī

The Name Divine is giver of eternal joy.
By its contemplation was saved Ajamal, and Ganika[2] got liberation. (I-Pause)

---

1. (The womb is implied).
2. The sinful Brahmin Ajamal and Ganika, the courtesan are well-known in Bhakti lore as objects of Divine grace.

In the royal court as did Draupadi[1] remember the Name Divine,
Her affliction was by the compassionate Lord removed,
And His greatness manifested[2] (1)
He has aided such as laudation of the Divine ocean of grace have sung.
Saith Nanak : On Him alone is my reliance—
His shelter have I grasped. (2) (1)

Ab main kahā karaum rī māī

Mother mine ! what device shall I now use ?
My whole life in evil passions have I wasted, and contemplated not the Lord. (I-Pause)
As was the noose of death fastened[3] round the neck,
Was all sense lost.
Other than the Name Divine in this misfortune who shall now aid ? (1)
Wealth that man took to be his, in an instant becomes another's.
Saith Nanak : Now with my mind
To my regret I realize,
Divine laudation never have I sung. (2) (2)

Māī main mana ko mānu na tyāgiyo

Mother mine ! pride of heart have I not discarded.
In Maya-intoxication is my life passed; to devotion to the Name not attached. (I-Pause)
As fell on the head Yama's baton, from sleep wert thou awakened.
What avails regret now ?
By flight is escape not possible. (1)
As arose this thought in mind, was love of the Master's feet aroused.
Saith Nanak : My life became fruitful
As to Divine laudation myself I attached. (2) (3)

In the Measure Mārū —Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Ashtpadiyan (Octets).

Score I

In the Name of Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bed Purān kathei sunei hārei munī anekā

Numberless sages to exhaustion have discoursed on Vedas and Puranas,

1. The Pandava princess, sought to be dishonoured in Duryodhana's court.
2. Enhanced.
3. Joined.

And to these listened.
Numerous votaries of various sects over sixty-eight bathing-spots
Have wandered.
The immaculate holy Lord by devotion to the sole Name P. 1009
Alone is pleased. (1)
Thou from old age, death art immune :
All creation is evanescent.
By consuming with love the Divine elixir
Is the great malady[1] removed. (I-Pause)
By study of the Lord's Name by the Master's guidance, by its realization
Comes liberation.
From the Master perfectly-endowed, by contemplation of the perfect Word
Comes perfection of wisdom.
The Name Divine, annuller of sins the sixty-eight bathing spots equals. (2)
Ignorant blind man, churning and winnowing water, seeks the essence of liberation.
By churning curd[2] by the Master's guidance,
Is obtained amrita of the valued Name.
The egoist knows not of the essence, in animal nature
absorbed. (3)
Whoever in involvement in egoism and avarice dies,
Ever and again dies and takes birth.
Whoever into the Master's Word dies, dies not ever after.
As by the Master's guidance in the mind is the Life of the Universe lodged,
Are all one's forebears saved. (4)
The Name is the true capital, the true commerce.
By contemplation under the Master's guidance
In the world is the Name the true gain.
To act from motives of duality brings loss in the world ever. (5)
God's devotees in holy companay abide, holy their station, holy their abode,
Holy their sustenance, holy their feelings, the holy Name their prop;

1. Implies egoism.
2. Used symbolically for holy teaching.

The holy writ, bringer of content, the holy word, their object of contemplation. (6)
Delights of kingship in suffering and pleasure involving, kill.
To assume a name of worldly honour is a heavy burden of sin round the neck.
The true provider is not man; Thou art the noblest Provider. (7)
Thou the inaccessible, unknowable Lord, immortal, limitless.
To seek Thy Portal by the Master's Word is to find the treasure of liberation.
Saith Nanak : In holy commerce is found the union that never ends. (8) (1)

Bikhu bohithā lādiyā diyā samund manjhāri

Man's mind is a poison-laden ship, tossed into the ocean—
Invisible its shore, floating in the midst of waters.
Neither is there oar in hand, nor is there a pilot in the terrible sea of water (1)
Friend[1] ! the world in a mighty snare is caught,
From where by the Master's grace, by contemplation of the Name is it extricated. (1-Pause)
The holy Preceptor is the ship, carrying across by power of the holy Word :
There then is neither fire nor water or terrible shapes.
There is the holy Eternal of the holy Name, who across the ocean fo existence takes the self. (2)
Those going over it by the Master's guidance go across,
As to the holy Eternal they are devoted.
As is their light into the Divine Light merged,
Is transmigration annulled.
By the Master's guidance arises poise, and the self in the Eternal is absorbed. (3)
Put a snake in a basket, poison will still be within and malice in its mind,
Man receives what is primally recorded—
On whom to lay the blame ?
Should one listen to the Master's teaching, annuller of poison,
And put faith, content then comes. (4)
As is a crocodile on hook and in revolving net caught,

1. Baba.

Even thus man caught in foul thinking again and again into regret falls.
Man contemplates not transmigration : ineffaceable are consequences of deeds. (5)
The world amid poison of egoism is created; bny submitting to the holy Word is this poison eliminated.
Old age touches not him, as man in truth P. 1010 remains absorbed.
Call one eliminating egoism from the self a jivan mukta. (6)
The world in its concerns is bound, unmindful of lofty thinking.
The egoist, thoughtless and crude, of transmigration is oblivious.
Those by the Master's guidance contemplating the holy Word are saved. (7)
The parrot lying in the cage of love, utters words of love,
Pecking at grain of truth, sipping of amrita,
Flying off once only.[1]
Saith Nanak : By contact of the Master is the Lord realized
And liberation's Door found. (8) (2)

Shabdi marai tāṇ māri maru bhāgo kisu peh jāo

Destroy death by the holy Word, shouldst thou have the power[2] :
To whom canst thou run from it ?
He whose fear drives away other fear, his Name is life-giving.
Thou alone dost destroy and save—no other place is for us. (1)
Master[3] : foul and thoughtless, unwise am I.
Without devotion to the Name is one nothing :
The Master, perfectly-endowed alone grants perfection of wisdom. (I-Pause)
Full of faults am I, lacking all merit—
Without merit where shall I go ?
By words poise inspiring comes joy—
Without good fortune comes not this wealth.
Those without the Name in mind lodged, in bonds undergo suffering. (2)
What good coming into the world, of those forgetful
of the Name ?
Neither in the hereafter nor in this life having joy,
Are they carts ash-laden.

1. That is, is immune from transmigration.
2. Lit. Should it be killed thus.
3. Baba.

Alienated from the Lord, find they not union.
Suffering immense pain at Yama's door. (3)
I know not what in the hereafter shall befall.
To this deluded one grant thou enlightenment.
Whoever to this deluded one shows the way, his feet shall
I touch.
None other than the Master is the true provider;
Inexpressible his worth. (4)
Should the true friend I behold, in embrace shall I enclose Him;
To Him is sent missive of truth.
The woman with intent face is standing in wait.
With the sight by the Master granted behold Him.
Should it please Thee, in the mind wouldst Thou take abode—
By Thy glance of grace comes this distinction. (5)
From one that himself gripped by hunger and thirst wanders,
What shall I beg ?
None other than the Lord to mind and body fulfilment brings.
He who made creation looks over it, Himself exalts it. (6)
The Lord is master of the self's city, the Divine child full of unique miracles.
He neither is woman nor man nor bird—
Holy embodiment of wisdom.
All happens as pleases Him.
Lord ! Thou art the lamp and the incense. (7)
Pleasures of songs of passion that are tasted in hearing,
Are frivolous delights, bringing maladies to the body.
Love of truth, utterance of truth
Release from suffering of alienation brings.
Prayeth Nanak : May the Name be never out of my mind—
Let all happen as be Thy will. (8) (3)

Sāchī kār kamāvaṇī hori lālach bādi

To endeavour after truth is approved—worthless all world's greed.
The heart by the holy Eternal is charmed; truth the tongue[1] has tasted.
Other than the Name no other delight is real;
Wordly greed is carrying packs of poison. (1)
Lord, listen ! to the Beloved am I a slave.
Holy Beloved ! as Thou dost command I go. (1-Pause)

1. The palate is meant.

Day by day is the slave engaged in service of his overlord.
To the Master's Word is his heart sold; by his Word finds the heart poise. P. 1011
Blessed be the Master, perfectly-endowed, who the mind's suffering annuls. (2)
The Lord's servant's slave am I—how His greatness may I express ?
As in His will the Lord, perfection incarnate the duty of truth assigns,[1]
Behoves it we carry it out.
May I be a sacrifice to the Master, who to those alienated grants union. (3)
By the noble wisdom of the Master, is the servant's understanding made pure :
His understanding a beauteous aspect bears—
Worthless[2] the egoist's understanding.
Lord ! this mind and body is Thine—from primal time by truth propped. (4)
Those that to the Master's Word in love have given utterance,
By the Lord in essence[3] of truths are lodged.
In practice of truth their rest and movement.[4]
Truth the food they consume.
Pure their heart, pure their substance;
Elixir of truth have they tasted.[5] (5)
The egoists actuated strongly by sloth, in wild places are ensnared.
Ensnared by the gain they pick up, by their worldly bond from the Lord alienated.
Should they in holy Truth be absorbed,
By the Master's guidance release would find. (6)
The slave of the Lord single-minded by His love is penetrated.
Those living without the Lord, false and evil-doers,
Are ever burning.
All worthless pursuits discarding, swim the race of truth. (7)
Those neglectful of the Name, no resting-place find.
God's servant, discarding worldly greed, the Name Divine has attained.
In Thy grace grant union—Nanak to Thee is a sacrifice. (8) (4)

---

1. Confers.
2. Lit. Tasteless.
3. House.
4. Sitting and rising.
5. (Sloth in entering upon devotion).

Lālai gārabu chhodiyā Guru kai bhay sahaji subhāī

God's servant by fear of the Master and his poised temper
His pride has discarded.
The servant the Lord has realized, and great exaltation attained :
By union with the Lord has he attained joy, whose value beyond expression is. (1)
The servant is the Lord's slave: from the Lord comes his exaltation.
By the Master's grace under shelter of the Lord are we saved. (I-Pause)
On the servant task of devotion has been laid,
That in primal time the Lord has decreed.
The servant, in realization of the decree
Ever by the Lord's will abides.
The Lord will Himself in His greatness grant liberation. (2)
Holy Himself, holy all existence—
Of this the Master by the holy Word realization has granted.
Such alone serve Thee as by Thee to it are assigned.
Without service to Thee has none attained Thee—
Others in illusion of duality are lost. (3)
Why put Him out of mind whose bounty is perpetual, ever-increasing ?
Life and body all is His—He the life breath into the body has put.
By His grace is service to Him done;
By His service comes absorption in the holy Eternal. (4)
The true servant of God is one dying while living,
And by thus dying egoism discards.
His bonds snapped, release he finds, his fire of desire[1] extinguished.
In all beings lies treasure of the Divine Essence—
A rare one by the Master's guidance attains it. (5)
Of merit is the servant devoid, full of demerits.
None so great a Provider as Thou—Thou art the Liberator.
For the servant to obey Thy decree is the purest of actions. (6)
The Master is a Pool, the Pool of amrita[2]—
Whoever seeks it, the reward[3] attains.
The boon of the Name is immortalizing, P. 1012

1. Thirst.
2. Original, Amritsar.
3. Fruit.

Coming to whoever by devotion of heart in the mind lodges it.
In service to the Master lies joy eternal;
This to such comes as by Thee to the Master's will are made obedient. (7)
Gold and silver are all Maya—into the dust shall these mingle.
Nothing but devotion to the Name shall accompany us :
The Master this realization has granted.
Saith Nanak : Those devoted to the Name are truly pure,
In the holy Eternal absorbed. (8) (5)

Hukamu bhayā rahṇā nahīṇ dhuri phātei chīrai

As comes the command, and at the Divine court is the permit[1] torn,
Life lasts not.
The mind to demerits is bound:
Let the self bear the torment of this.
By grace of the Master, perfectly-endowed
Are pardoned sins of this humble one[2]. (1)
How can one for ever last ? Inevitable is departure.
This by contemplation of the holy Word realize.
Whomsoever Thou union dost grant, attains it—
Such is the primal, eternal[3] decree. (I-Pause)
As Thou dost keep I abide, and consume what Thou mayst grant.
As Thou dost command, I act, placing on tongue[4] the ambrosial Name.
In the Lord's hand lies exaltation :
For union with Him I yearn. (2)
What good lauding creation ? Himself He creates and cherishes all.
He who created me, in my mind abides—
With none else is my attachment formed.
By laudation of the holy Eternal comes true honour. (3)
The Brahmin by study of much rigmarole approaches
not the Lord :
Caught amid evil and good, by hunger and death oppressed,

1. Letter, letter of permission to live.
2. Original, Fakir (a mendicant). Applied sense, a humble one.
3. Limitless.
4. In mouth.

He whose guardian is the holy Eternal,
From sequestration and fear is immune[1]. (4)
Brother ! Those who in the Divine writ are honoured, are truly perfect—
Perfect, with perfection of wisdom, truly exalted.
Limitless Thy bounty—Those receiving it are exhausted. (5)
By scouring the salt sea is obtained a pearl[2],
That for a few days shines in bounty, then by dust eaten away.
Should one serve the holy Preceptor, the ocean,
Endless is his bounty. (6)
Those pleasing the Lord are pure; all others soiled.
The impure object purity acquires, as the Master,
the philosopher's stone touches it.
Who can evaluate lustre[3] of this holy jewel ? (7)
By assuming sectarian garbs, bathing at sacred spots or doling out charity
Is not found depth of the Lord.
Ask of Veda-reciters—without faith is the world deluded[4].
Saith Nanak : Such alone the Lord can evaluate
As by the Master, perfectly endowed are enlightened. (8) (6)

Manmukhu lehri gharu taji vigūchai awarān ke ghar herai

The egoist in a fit of passion deserting home is ruined,
And then at others' homes casts covetous glances.
His householder's duty he neglects;
Devoid of contact with the holy Preceptor, in whirlpool of false thinking fallen.
Wandering from land to land, texts he recites to exhaustion :
With all this his desire only rises.
With this frail body the holy word not contemplating,
His belly like a beast he fills. (1)
Friend[5] : let such be the way of life of the anchorite[6] :
By guidance of the Master's Word to one sole devotion should he be attached;
In devotion to Thy Name should he find fulfilment. (I-Pause)

1. Sequestration and fear are cast off (forgotten).
2. Jewel.
3. The colour of gold, reflecting its purity.
4. Robbed.
5. Baba.
6. Saṁnyāsi.

Such a one dissolving brick-powder his clothes dye, and mendicant's garb assumes.
Tearing shreds of cloth he makes his quilt,
In his pouch putting lucre,
From house to house begging, yet he sets up the world to instruct;
With mind blinded, his honour losing.
Lost in delusion, the holy word he contemplates not— P. 1013
His life's throw forfeited. (2)
The fire of desire within, without the Master's guidance is extinguished not,
Although outwardly with burning fire[1] he warms himself.
Without service to the Master comes not devotion—
How else may one contemplate the self ?
By calumny of others in hell he lodges—within him deep darkness.[2]
By wandering over sixty-eight bathing centres is he lost—
How may impurity of sins be thus washed ? (3)
Much has he wandered,[3] rubbed ashes over his limbs,
Yet the path of lucre he seeks :
Within and without the self He realizes not the Sole Lord,
And at the word of truth flares up.
Reciting texts, yet by his tongue he utters falsehood—
Such is what one uninstructed by the Master has learnt.
Without utterance of the Name comes not joy;
Without devotion to the Name no exaltation. (4)
Some have the head close cropped, others their ropes of hair in a tuft tie;
Others observing silence are yet full of pride :
Without loving devotion and enlightenment of self is their mind unsteady,
In ten directions wandering.
Such a one, mad after Maya, discarding amrita drinks of deadly poison :
His consequences of deeds not effaced, the Divine will he realizes not—
His place among beasts. (5)

---

1. Implies the fire lit by various orders of mendicants, dhuni in Hindi and Punjabi. (Here pūar).
2. At this point there is a variation in reading of the text. One is atash (fire), the other, accepted here, ātasa (great darkness). Ātama (self) also could be an alternative reading.
3. Lit. winnowed dust. In idiom, as rendered.

Begging-bowl in hand, man may wear garb of rags,[1]
Yet in His mind may be aroused fierce desire.
His wife has he discarded, yet lust in him has arisen,—
To other's womenfolk his heart ataached.
Delivering discourses to others, the holy Word be contemplates not himself;
Such a one a street lout.
Within him evil passions, outwardly is he calm—
Thus must Yama dishonour him. (6)
The true Sannyasi is one who, discarding the ego, the holy Preceptor serves;
Seeking not garments or food, receives whatever spontaneously he gets.
He prates not idly, but garners wealth of forgiveness,
And his dark nature[2] by the Name burns away.
Blessed is one, be he householder, Sannyasi or Yogi,
Whose heart to the Divine feet is attached. (7)
Above desire must the Sannyasi be and to the sole Lord attached.
Should the Divine elixir he quaff, would peace come,
And in the Divine essence[3] he be absorbed.
His mind unshaken, by the Master's guidance realization should he obtain,
And his wandering mind restrain.
The house of the self by the Master's guidance should he search.
And boon of the Name attain. (8)
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva are holy and exalted by devotion and contemplation of the Name.
In all species, in all speech, in the sky and nether regions
In all beings, is pervasive your light.
All joy and liberation in utterance of the Name and the holy Word lie—
The holy Name in my heart have I lodged.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to the Name comes not liberation;
Swim thou the bout of truth. (9) (7)

1. Kāpadiya.
2. Tāmas, one of three qualities, sloth.
3. In his own abode.

Māt pitā sanjogi upāe raktu bindu mili pindu karei

By coming together of mother and father are we created,
By union of the mother's blood and the father's drop is the body made.
To the Lord is the creature devoted, when hanging head downward in the womb;
He whom he contemplates, for him provides. (1)
How may ocean of the world be crossed ?
Should the Name immaculate by the Master's guidance be attained ?
Is the heavy burden[1] shed. (I-Pause)
Thy benefactions, Lord ! by me, a sinner, are forgotten.
What may I, a mad man do ?
Thou the gracious provider, looking after all,
Day and night remembering each, disbursing bounty. (2)
To attain the four objectives[2] is the self born, P. 1014
Yet through fogetfulness of God, the self in the house of Maya[3] abides.
Oppressed by hunger, Maya's path it seeks;
By attachment is the boon of liberation lost. (3)
With wailing and abject entreaty he finds it not even though in different places seeking it.
Lust, wrath, pride grips him, as to his family
That will not last,[4] his attachment he fixes. (4)
Of good things of the world he consumes and enjoys,
To pleasant sounds he listens and such sight sees;
Wearing fine apparel in this house of death exhibits it.
Without guidance of the Master's word his self he realizes not;
Without devotion to the Name Divine is not death[5] warded off. (5)
Involved in attachment and egoism is he deluded;
Clinging to possessions,[6] yet are these snatched away.
His body and wealth destroyed, that are sources of delusion :
Later into regrets he falls, dust over his face falling.[7] (6)
As comes old age, decline youth and body's vigour;
phlegm choking his throat,

---

1. Implies burden of transmigration.
2. See Glossary.
3. Shakti.
4. False, unreal.
5. Implies transmigration.
6. Cries 'mine', 'mine'.
7. Implies shame and ignominy.

Water from his eyes flowing;
His feet powerless, hands palpitating—yet the reprobate[1] puts not God in heart. (7)
Gone his senses, his black hair turned grey,
None wishing to keep him at home.
By forgetfulness of the Name sin to him attaches;
Yama chastizing, takes charge of him and to hell hales him. (8)
Ineffaceable is writ of consequences of former births—
The self is born and dies again—whom to blame ?
Without guidance of the Master is life wasted and subject to recurring death;
Without the Master's Word is life ruined.[2] (9)
In enjoyment of pleasures is true happiness lost;
Involved in hollow ritual man does evil.
In forgetfulness of the Name and involvement in greed man the Essence forfeits—
Dharamraja's baton over his head falling. (10)
Whoever has the Lord's glance of grace,
By the Master's guidance the Name Divine and Divine laudation sings.
Such beings are pure, unattached to the world, perfect—
In this world are they image of the Divine Enlightener, cherisher of the world. (11)
Contemplate the Lord, the Master's Word bear in mind;
In company of God's devotees practise devotion.
God's devotees are true preceptors, exalted at the Divine Portal.
Lord ! to Nanak pray grant dust of feet of Thy servants. (12) (8)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
To the tune of Kafi
SCORE 1
In the Name of Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Āwuhn wanjnoṇ dummaṇī kittī mitra kareon

A female[3] with divided heart I come and go,[4] and befriend many.[5]
Such a woman no true shelter finds :
How may one separated from her Lord find solace ? (1)

---

1. Sakta.
2. Burnt away.
3. (This is implied by the form of epithets etc. symbolizes the human self).
4. Am without poise or transmigrate.
5. Many who are mistaken for preceptors or deities.

My heart to my beloved Spouse is devoted.
For a moment's glance of grace by Thee would I sacrifice myself cut to bits. (1-Pause)
Of ruined matrimony in the parents' home[1] lying,
How to the Husband's home[2] may I go ?
My neck by grip of demerits clenched,
In separation from the Beloved I pine away. (2)
Should I in the parents' home[1] keep the beloved spouse in mind,
In the in-laws' home[2] would I find lodgement.
In joy sleeps the woman of happy matrimony,[3]
Finding her Lord repository of merits. (3)
Despite quilt and mattress of silk, and fine dresses worn over limbs,
The woman of cursed matrimony cast off by the Spouse,
Her night in suffering passes. (4)
However many the delights that I taste, however, P. 1015 numerous the garb I wear—
Without love of the Spouse is youth gone waste,
And ever the cast-off female pines. (5)
The holy Eternal's call by the Master's teaching hear.
Holy is the assembly of the Holy Lord,
And by His glance of grace is induced devotion. (6)
The enlightened have applied collyrium of truth,
And with that the Beholder of all behold.
By the Master's guidance is acquired enlightenment and knowledge,
As egoism cast off. (7)
Such females[4] please Thee as Thy merits share[5]—
Else many are like me.
Saith Nanak : Those that in holy Truth are absorbed.
Never from their Lord are sequestered. (8) (1.9)

Nāṇ bhaiṇāṇ bharjāīyāṇ nāṇ se sassuṛiyāh

Not these sisters, sister-in-law and mothers-in-law shall last :
The true relationship, never to snap, is with the sister-friends[6]
by the Master united. (1)
To the Master ever am I a sacrifice :

1. Implies the world.
2. The hereafter.
3. One united to the Lord.
4. Symbol for seeker.
5. As are like to Thee.
6. Implies fellow-devotees.

Much without the Master I wandered,[1] the Master to the Spouse united me. (I-Pause)
Aunts, grandmother, mother's sisters, husband's brother, elder sister-in-law[2]—
All these come and go, not lasting :
Of their swarms are paths full. (2)
Mother's brothers, their wives, brothers, father, mother—
Of such companions are carvans full;
Great is the crowd at the river-ferry. (3)
My sister-friend ! the holy Divine Hedonist, is my Spouse.
Never are holy unions snapped, should one constantly that Spouse contemplate. (4)
Happy are all seasons, in which love for the holy Eternal is inspired.
Such a woman[3] realizing the Spouse, night and day in joy has sleep. (5)
At the bank cries the pilot;[4] cross you over quickly.
Those embarking the holy Preceptor's ship
Have I seen cross over. (6)
Some have got on the ship, others already have departed;
Some with load of sins are burdened.
Those commerce in truth holding
To the holy Lord are united. (7)
Good we merit not to be called; none to us appears evil.
Saith Nanak : One suppressing the ego is the holy eternal's image.[5] (8) (2.10)

Nāṇ jāṇāṇ mūrakhu hai koī nāṇ jāṇān siyāṇā

I take neither any to be ignorant nor wise :
Ever in love of the Lord absorbed, constantly the Lord's
Name I repeat. (1)
Friend ! ignorant am I, to the Name a sacrifice.
Thou the Creator, all-wise, all seeking—
By devotion to your Name may I be saved. (I-Pause) Ignorant and wise are in essence the same : one light in both,
two its names.

---

1. Implies wandering in illusions.
2. (These and those mentioned in the next verse are names of relationships in the Indian society, for some of which no equivalent terms exist in English).
3. Implies seeker.
4. Implies the Master (Guru).
5. Is like...

Supremely foolish is one who to the Name is not devoted. (2)
By the Master's guidance is obtained devotion to the Name—
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance is it not attained.
Should it by the holy Preceptor's favour in mind be lodged,
The seeker day and night in devotion remains absorbed. (3)
Those involved with royal power, pleasure, beauty, wealth, delights of woman's looks.
Are all gamblers :
Bound by the Divine will, the play they erect—
Each a gaming counter with one Light Pervasive in all. (4)
The clever world in delusion is lost;
Those reputed as scholars yet study ignorance.
Studying scriptures, yet the Name they neglect,
All their scribing under delusion of Maya-poison. (5)
Man's life is wasted like crop sown in alkaline soil or a tree growing on river-bank; P. 1016
His life like white dress over which is scattered powdered collyrium.
This world is a chamber of desire[1]—whoever falls into it in pride burns. (6)
Where are now subjects and rulers ?
All fallen in duality must perish[2].
Saith Nanak : Whoever ascends the holy Master's ladder,
In the Inaccessible remains absorbed[3]. (7) (3.11)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
SCORE 5
Octet (Ashtpadi)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jis non premu manni wasāe

In whatever heart is lodged devotion,
Spontaneously in the holy Word is absorbed.
Such agony of yearning to him alone is known.
No remedy for such to any is known. (1)

---

1. Thirst.
2. Another rendering : All existing between the two (sky and earth).
3. Another rendering : "Saith Nanak : Such is the Master's teaching (Pauri), the inaccessible Lord alone shall abide".
(Pauri literally means ladder; in Gurubani, also a stanza embodying spiritual teaching).

Himself He unites the seeker; Himself the union making :
Himself inspiring devotion.
Such alone realize love's essence as by Thy grace are favoured. (1-Pause)
As is aroused illuminating insight, are illusions shattered;
And by the Master's grace is attained the supreme state.
The true yogi is he who by contemplation of the Master's Word,
Such praxis realizes. (2)
By good fortune is the woman to her Lord united[1].
The Master's teaching effaces from the mind foul thinking.
Blessed with joy in her Lord, does the woman have everlasting joy in His love. (3)
No physician is there besides the holy Preceptor, image of the Lord, from Maya's taint free.
By the holy Preceptor's contact is annulled evil,
And by contemplation, realization arises. (4)
Whoever by the holy Word is inspired,
By the Master's guidance from desire[2] it emancipated.
Nothing by man's own effort is attained;
By His grace is His might made operative. (5)
By the holy Preceptor's guidance is the essence of scriptures[3] realized;
By the Master's grace does the seeker find lodgement
in the true self[4] :
Those favoured by your glance of grace behold inside
Maya's play immaculate Reality. (6)
One seeking the Master's guidance the Essence realizes,
As is egoism discarded.
Bereft of the holy Preceptor's guidance are all actions worthless—
This contemplate in your mind. (7)
Some lost in illusion, in pride go about.
Others by the Master's guidance have their egoism discarded :
Those dyed in the holy Word are the true anchorites;
Others in folly involved by delusion remain gripped. (8)

---

1. Lit. The wife and her beloved Lord are united. The symbolism here is spiritual.
2. Thirst and hunger.
3. Original. Agama, nigama-variously interpreted as Vedas and Sastras and as Tantric texts.
4. Home.

Those that by the Master's guidance have not found
the Holy Name,
Are in egoism caught, their life a waste.
In the Hereafter none our succourer is other than the holy Name—
This by the Master's teaching is realized. (9)
The Name ambrosial is source of everlasting joy,
In all four Ages by the holy Preceptor's guidance realized.
This by Thy favour alone is attained,
Saith Nanak, after contemplating the Essence. (10.1)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 1017

Ashtpadiyan (Octets)

Score 3.

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Lakh chaurāsīh bhramtei bhramtei dulabh janamu ab pāiyo

Wandering through eighty four lakh species, the human birth
Hard to attain, have we now attained. (1)
Thoughtless man ! in shallow pleasures art thou involved.
Amrita with thee abides, yet with poison art thou entangled. (1-Pause)
To trade in jewels[1] hast thou come, but have departed with load of alkaline soil. (2)
The abode in which thou hast to live and pass thy days,
Hast thou not brought to mind. (3)
Not for an insant hast thou sung laudation of the Lord,
Immortal, irrefrangible, provider of joy to life. (4)
What is thy destination[2] hast thou forgotten,
Nor for a moment to it attached thy mind. (5)
Seeing thy progeny, wife, home and its paraphernalia
Art thou entangled. (6)
Each as prompted by the Lord in tasks engages Doing deeds in accord with that. (7)
As came the Lord's grace, was attained company of the holy,
And Nanak, servant of God, on the Supreme Being has meditated. (8) (1)

---

1. Here two synonyms, ratna, jawahir are used—one from the Indian source and the other from the Perso-Arabic.
2. Where thou hast to go.

Kari anugrahu rākhi līno bhaiyo sādhū sangu

In His grace has the Lord saved me, and holy company have I entered.
My tongue joy of the Name Divine utters, of taste deeply sweet. (1)
The Lord is my mind's abode of repose :
True companion, sincere friend, associate, relation,
To whom is known state of the inner self. (I-Pause)
With the Lord, creator of ocean of the world, have I taken shelter.
As by the Master's guidance to the Lord I make supplication,
Yama's minions oppress me not. (2)
He at whose Portal is found liberation, whose store-house is heart of His devotees.
The Lord to whom is known the true way of life,
Is Saviour eternal. (3)
Gone are suffering, pain and affliction of those in whose mind He takes abode.
Such by death, and terrible spots in hell are not touched. (4) Miraculous powers.[1] the nine treasures[2] and rivers of amrita with Him lie—
Lofty, inaccessible, immeasurable perfect in the beginning, end and middle periods of time. (5)
Accomplished Yogis, yoga-practitioners, gods,
Sages that the Vedas recite.
In contemplation of the Lord, find endless, limitless joy in poise. (6)
By contemplating the Lord with heart's devotion
In an instant are innumerable sins effaced.
This practice is purest of the pure, equalling millions of charities and ritual baths. (7)
Of God's devotees is devotion solely the strength, wisdom, enlightenment and life.
Lord ! Go not for one instant out of my mind—such is Nanak's prayer. (8) (2)

Shastri tīkhaṇi kāti dāriyo mani na kīno rosu

God's devotees like trees by sharp tools are cut,
But in mind bear no malice.

1. Riddhi, Siddhi,
2. See Glossary.

They rather engage in fulfilling the needs of their tormentors,
And on them lay no blame. (1)
My self : ever the Lord contemplate—
The Divine Lord compassionate, gracious;
And to way of the holy lend ear (I-Pause)
Man under his feet puts the boat made from the tree
And is seated over it,
Gone is his body's fatigue.
The great ocean then menaces him not, and on the bank he disembarks. (2) P. 1018
The earth shows not love for sandalwood, aloe and camphor plastered over it.
Offal and urine and digging it grain by grain[1] turns not its mind away. (3)
The sky towards high and low, the virtuous and evil-doers
behaves alike,
And ever all casts unbrella of comfort.
Between friend and foe it distinguishes not,
To all creatures alike. (4)
The sun with its intense light appears and banishes darkness;
Its rays touching evenly what is pure and impure,
Bearing no malice. (5)
The cool breeze gently blowing, incense-laden
At all spots equably blows;
All objects it touches, no way hesitating. (6)
Whoever approaches fire with feelings whether good or evil,
Banished is his shivering.[2]
Distinguishing not between friend and stranger,
Always keeping an equable temper. (7)
The self by seeking shelter with the Divine feet
a Protector finds,
And in deep[3] devotion is dyed.
Saith Nanak , Divine laudation ever I sing.
Whereby has the Lord became gracious. (8) (3)

1. Meant as a measure in the original is til, sesame grain.
2. Lit. cold feeling.
3. Red (symbol of intensity).

In the Mensure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 4
Ashtpadiyan (Octets)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Chāndanā chāndanu āngani Prabh jīo antari chāndanā

The noblest moonlight is illumination of the Lord in the courtyard of the self. (1)
The noblest of contemplations is contemplating the
Name Divine. (2)
The noblest kind of abjuring is abjuring lust, wrath and avarice. (3)
The noblest of boons to beg is begging from the Master devotion to
Divine laudation. (4)
The noblest of vigils is keeping awake in singing praise
of the Lord. (5)
The noblest of devotions is the heart's devotion to the
Master's feet. (6)
These to such are available as have good fortune writ on their forehead. (7)
Saith Nanak : All actions of such are noble
As the Lord's shelter seek. (8) (1.4)

Āo ji Tūṃ āo hamārai Hari jasu sravana sunāwana

Come into our home, devotees of God !
And on the Lord's merits to us discourse. (I-Pause)
At your coming is my mind and body made joyful[1],
By singing in your company Divine laudation. (1)
By grace of the holy comes the Lord in the heart to lodge,
And effaced are feelings of duality. (2)
By grace of God's devotees is understanding illumined,
And cast off are foul thinking and suffering. (3)
By sight of God's devotees does one turn holy,
Nevermore in womb to be cast. (4)
Whoever is pleasing to your heart,
The Nine Treasures[2] and miraculous powers[3] obtains. (5)

1. Green.
2. See Glossary.
3. Riddhi, Siddhi.

Other than God's devotees no place of shelter have I;
Nowhere else can I conceive of going. (6)
None to me, devoid of merit, grants refuge :
With God's devotees alone shall I find shelter. (7)
Saith Nanak : Such is the Master's miracle,
Whereby within the self is union with the Lord enjoyed. (8) (2.5)

Jivanā saphal jīvan suni Hari japi japi sad jīvanā

The life eminently successful in listening constantly to the Name Divine lies. (I-Pause)
The drink that to the mind brings fulfilment P. 1019
Is quaffing amrita-elixir of the Name. (1)
The food that all hunger banishes[1] is by content to be filled to satisfy. (2)
The best of apparels consists in one's honour by the Supreme Lord being protected—
Thereafter is one never disrobed. (3)
The best of enjoyments quaffing in holy company,
Joy in God lies. (4)
Without thread and procurement of needle
Should the heart with devotion to the Lord be stitched. (5)
Those by absorption in joy in God inebriated,
Nevermore feel their intoxication ebbing. (6)
Such all the treasures have attained
As by the gracious Lord are granted. (7)
Saith Nanak : Joy in service to the holy lies—
Behoves it one to sip wash of feet of God's devotees. (8) (3.6)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Guru Arjan Dev Anjuliyan (Supplication)
SCORE 8

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jīs grehi bahutu tisai grehi chintā

Anxiety abides in the home wherein lies much pelf.
There where it is lacking, men wander about in search after it :
Happy is one that from either state is free. (1)
In various ways the scriptures have we studied.
These declare : In prosperity of the householder's life lies hell,

1. After which no hunger arises.

In renunciation much ill-temper :
One that living the life of the senses[1] yet remains pure,
Fruitful is his life's endeavour. (2)
Man whether awake or asleep, in doubts is lost.
Friend ! without the Master's guidance comes not liberation.
In holy company are snapped bonds of egoism.
And vision of the sole Lord beheld. (3)
Should one engage in action, into bonds falls;
In idleness, reviled by others.
Man's mind involved in attachment, in anxiety is he caught :
By the Master's grace does man feel joy and sorrow to be alike,
And God that in each being is pervasive, in his own heart views. (4)
In involvement with the world clings to man doubt;
God's discourse beyond expression and knowing,
then is not realized.
To whomsoever realization He grants, receives it,
And like a child by Him is cherished. (5)
Should one try to discard Maya, still would it not be shaken off.
Should one garner it, fear in mind remains :
Of whoever abiding amid Maya is the honour saved,
Over such a saint may the fly-whisk be waved.[2] (6)
The true hero[3] to the world dies :
Whoever flees the field, in transmigration whirls.
Whatever the Lord does should man accept as good,
And realizing the Ordinance, burn away foul thinking. (7)
To whatever task the Lord prompts should man in it engage himself.
As is befitting He acts.
Donor of joy to Nanak, perfection incarnate,
Shouldst Thou grant this boon, is the Name contemplated. (8) (1.7)

Birkhai hethi sabhi jant ikatthei

Under the tree are all creatures gathered :
Of some the speech is harsh,[4] of others sweet.
As came sunset, they depart, as passes off the appointed period of life. (1)

1. Body.
2. (As a mark of honour).
3. (Used here in the spiritual sense).
4. Hot, painful.

Those doing evil are ruined altogether—
Slaughtered by the angel of death[1] in his grip :
By the Creator cast into hell : the reckoner[2] asking after reckoning of their deeds. (2) P. 1020
Neither brother nor sister accompanies one;
Departs the creature leaving wealth and youth[3] behind.
Man that the Doer, the gracious Lord has not realized.
Like sesame in press shall be crushed. (3)
Thou dost snatch at others' possessions :
Know, God who is by thy side, sees and hears all :
For greed of the world into pit fallen, the hereafter has he not thought of. (4)
Man is born repeatedly, and after dies.
Started on a long journey,[4] much suffering he undergoes :
Blind man, Him who is his Creator, he realizes not;
The creature thus undergoes suffering. (5)
Man in forgetfulness of the Creator is ruined.
In the foul sport of the world is he sometimes displeased, sometimes pleased :
Not contacting a holy man inspired by faith and content,
By egoism guided, he wanders along. (6)
The Lord Himself enacts this sport.
Some He extricates, others in Maya—waves are caught.
As are they directed, they dance[5]—
Over head of each operates the sum of his deeds. (7)
By His grace comes meditation on the Lord.
In holy company one into hell falls not.
On Nanak amrita of the Name has been bestowed—
Songs of Divine laudation he ever utters. (8) (2.8.12.20)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Solahe (Sixteen—Stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sāchā sachu soī awaru nā koī

He alone is holy, eternal, none other.

---

1. Azrael, the angel of death according to Muslim belief.
2. Implies Dharmaraja.
3. Implied sense, beauty of youth.
4. Implies transmigration.
5. Said metaphorically for actions. The figure has reference to the dance of marionettes.

He who has made creation, also destroys it after.
We abide as you keep us—before you what denial avails ? (1)
Himself He creates and destroys.
Himself each to a task He appoints.
Himself grants meritorius thinking, Himself to the true path directs. (2)
Himself all-knowing, all-seeing;
Himself raising creation, He ennobles it.
Himself air, water and fire making, to these
has granted union. (3)
Himself is He moon and sun of perfect enlightenment
Himself assuming form of the Master heroically—endowed;
As devotion to the holy Eternal is fixed, snare of death seeks not man. (4)
Himself is He male and female;
Himself the chessboard and chessmen.
Himself fixing arena of the world, wherein the world disports—
Himself this play evaluates. (5)
Himself the humming-bee, flower, fruits and tree.
Himself flooding water, dryland, ocean and lake.
Himself the crocodile the tortoise,[1] almighty—
unknowable Thy aspect. (6)
Himself day and night;
Himself by the Master's word exalts.
In all time and ever the unstruck music He plays;
In each being is sound of the Lord of Supreme will heard. (7)
Himself the unique jewel, beyond value.
Himself with perfect justice He judges.
Himself after tasting on the touchstone He absolves. P. 1021
Brother ! Himself illumination grants and ignorance takes away. (8)
Himself the bow and bowman;
Himself wisdom and sapience perfect.
Himself the lord of utterance and speech.
Himself listening—His creation the cosmos. (9)
Air the Master and water the progenitor have we realized.
The earth that in her womb has kept us, is mother.
Night and day are nurses that the whole world fondle.[2] (10)

---

1. Machh (crocodile) and Kachh (Tortoise) are also names of avatars in Hindu mythology.
2. For a parallel vision, see Japuji, Sloka

Himself the fish and net.
Himself herd of kine, Himself the keeper.
Lord, as decreed by you, in all creatures is pervasive your light. (11)
Himself the ascetic and world-enjoyer.
Himself the voluptuary, master of supreme felicity.
Himself unattached, formless, in fearless trance absorbed. (12)
All species and their utterance in Thee absorbed.
All that is visible, is evanescent.
Such are the masters of true wealth, the merchants of truth,
As by the Master are granted realization. (13)
The Master, perfectly-endowed,
Who with the holy Eternal, Lord of all faculties is fulfilled.
By the holy Word realization grants;
Beyond our grasp, above need ever,
Without a sesame- grain of avarice. (14)
For those enjoying within the heart joy equable teaching
Are death and birth rendered meaningless.[1]
Himself donor of boons of liberation and fulfilment,
As loving devotion to the seeker's hearts becomes pleasing. (15)
Immaculate are you—by contact with the Master comes realization.
All that is visible, in you must be absorbed.
The lowly Nanak at your Portal this charity seeks :
Grant me exaltation of devotion to the Name. (16) (1)

Āpei dhartī dhaulu akāsham

Himself the earth, the Bull bearing the earth and the sky has the holy Eternal
By manifesting the three qualities made.
Himself celibate, donor of the largesse and the contented one :
Himself their functions performs. (1)
He who is Doer, performs all functions :
The writ of the holy Eternal none can efface.
Himself Doer, Himself guiding others to doing all,
Himself exaltation conferring. (2)

1. Mad, senseless.

The unstable mind by direction of the five thieves,[1] moves;
Seeking to rob others' homes, its true home not seeking after.
The body's city ultimately is demolished to heap—
Without devotion to the holy Word is all honour lost. (3)
By the Master's instruction comes visions of the three worlds;
As man controlling desire with his mind contends.
Those serving Thee like Thyself become—from childhood is the fearless
Lord their friend and companion. (4)
Himself is He heaven, the mortal world and the nether world;
Himself the dazzling form of youthfulness;
Himself of aspect wearing fearful matted locks;[2]
Yet form and feature has He none. (5)
Vedas and the Koran His mystery have not unravelled—
Mother, father, son, brother has He none;
All the mountains by Him are created and in Him are absorbed—
The unknowable known cannot be. (6)
Many are the friends[3] that to exhaustion I have adopted,
But none my demerits effaces.
The Lord supreme over gods and men,
With devotion to Him is all fear banished. (7)
To those deluded and strayed does He whom the path :
He sends astray as also guides.
Other than the Name no reality I see; by devotion to the Name is attained the supreme state and merit. (8)
Ganga, Yamuna that is Krishna's play—ground, P. 1022
Kedarnath, Kashi, Kanti[4] and Dwarkapuri, Ganga's merging into the ocean, triple confluence, and the sixty-eight bathing-spots—
All in His bosom are absorbed. (9)
Himself is He a Yogi and Yoga-practitioner, Himself contemplative sage,
Himself Divine monarch and creator of the holy;
Himself supremely just on the throne seated :
Of one knowing Thee as such are doubt,
duality and fear gone. (10)

1. The five sources of evil are meant.
2. (These are mythological allusions).
3. Implies preceptors.
4. Kashi is Benaras (Varanasi), Kanti is Kanchivaram in the South.

Himself Kazi and Mullah;[1]
Infallible, forgetful never—
Himself gracious and compassionate provider,
Enemy of none. (11)
To whomsoever He is gracious, exaltation grants;
Donor to all, bearing not a grain of avarice;
All-pervasive yet unattached,
in all spots hidden and manifest. (12)
What power have I to laud Him who is inaccessible, limitless,
The holy, mighty[2] creator ?
To whomsoever He shows grace, union grants;
By joining the holy congregation comes true union. (13)
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva at His portal standing,
The Lord inaccessible, limitless serve.
Immensely more at His door stand wailing,
That are beyond counting by me. (14)
Besides The Lord's holy laudation, His holy Word,
Nothing else in Vedas and Puranas is visible.
Grant me capital of singing laudation of the holy Eternal—
No other prop have I. (15)
In all time[3] is the holy eternal pervasive and so shall be.
Who else is there that is not mortal or shall not die ?
The lowly Nanak thus states in supplication :
Within the self in concentrated meditation
I behold Thee. (16) (2)

Dūjī durmati annhī bolī

Foul thinking, duality-directed is blind, deaf;
Fragile the vesture made up of lust and wrath of such :
Immature female of the self knowing not the secret of keeping house and living with the Spouse;
In alienation from Him finds not sleep. (1)
As within the egoist burns fire in leaping flames,
In all four directions helplessly he stares Without service to the holy Preceptor how may joy be attained ?
Exaltation in the hand of the holy Eternal lies. (2)

---

1. Kazi = Muslim judge; Mullah = Muslim divine.
2. Murari = slayer of the demon Mura.
3. Ages (Yugas).

Let man cast off lust, wrath and pride
And the five-thieves[1] by power of the holy Word destroyed :
Of those that grasping sword of enlightenment with the self-engage in battle,
Desires in the mind are reabsorbed. (3)
As mother's blood with father's drop mingles,
Is created the wonderous figure of man :
The boon of light within all is Thine—
Lord-creator, all-pervasive art Thou. (4)
Birth and dealth by Thee are ordained.
As from the Master is their realization attained, gone is all fear.
Gracious art Thou; as Thy glance of grace dost Thou cast,
Banished from the body is suffering and pain. (5)
In our true home, our true self, are we settled :
Consumed is fear,
Poised is the restless mind, quieted.
With lake of the self joy-filled is lotus of the heart abloom,
And the pervasive supreme self turned our helper. (6)
With death recorded in destiny into the sphere of the world
have we arrived.
How can we abide here ? Otherwhere must we depart.
In the holy realm of eternity is operative God's holy decree :
By union with the holy Eternal comes exaltation. (7)
Himself the entire world has He created.
He who created it to various tasks has set it.
Above the holy eternal is none visible— P.1023
Holy Lord ! To Thee alone is its truth known. (8)
Four days is duration of stay in the world's pasture.
Amid darkness is enacted its play and frolic.
The jugglers of selves have their sport, like someone babbling in dream. (9)
Those that with concentrated devotion the Lord above fear in mind have lodged;
In the Lord the continents, the universes, nether regions the celestial cities and the three worlds.
In trance are absorbed—
On exalted thrones are settled. (10)

---

1. The five sources of evil are implied.

Of such is the self's city holy's holy the throne of their heart.
As by the Master's guidance truth they have found, joy have atained.
Holy such, by the holy Eternal seated on thrones of exaltation—
Their reckoning of egoism annulled. (11)
Reckonings are source of doubt for the self.
In involvement in duality or three qualities how may
joy be attained. ?
One sole immaculate Provider is there—Honour by guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed
is attained. (12)
Over the ages few the Lord by the Master's guidance have realized.
All-pervasive is the holy Eternal; in him is our heart absorbed :
By grasping His shelter is attained joy,
And washed off impurity of mind and body. (13)
Those whose tongue with amrita of truth is dyed,
In union with the Lord comes to them not fear or doubt.
By listening to the Master's Word are the senses fulfilled,
And our light into the Divine light merged. (14)
With extreme caution on the earth have we trod;
Wherever I look, Thy shelter I seek.
Give Thou suffering or joy, to my mind is either pleasing—
With Thee am I in perfect accord. (15)
In the last moment none is our friend.
As by the Master's guidance realized, Thee have we lauded.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name are the true anchorites.[1]
In their true home, the Divine Essence, settled in trance. (16) (3)

Ādi jugādī apar apārei

Thou existing since primal Time, beyond limit,
Primal immaculate Essence, art Thou our Lord.
Holy Eternal ! devices of union with Thee I contemplate !
In the holy Eternal is fixed my trance. (1)
For numerous Yugas has pervaded pitch darkness.
In which the Creator in trance was settled :
By devotion to the holy Names comes true exaltation,
By seating on the eternal throne exalted. (2)

1. Bairagi (Vairagi).

In Sati-Yuga[1] with truth and content were selves filled.
Holy truth of profound mystery then pervaded.
The holy Lord judging by truth, His holy decree promulgated. (3)
The holy Preceptor, then by truth and content was inspired.
Whoever the Master's Word obeys is the true hero.
Such a one at the holy Portal has abode in truth,
And to the decree of the Lord of supreme will is compliant. (4)
In Sati-Yuga all spoke truth :
Whoever acts truth is truly pure.
In men's minds and on their tongues abided truth,
shatterer of doubt and fear;
To the God-facing truth was the true friend. (5)
In Treta[1] did one of Dharma's faculties lapse.
Three were its feet left and one by duality was dried up,
The God-facing then uttered truth, egoists in frivolities were rotting. (6)
The egoist at the Divine Portal never finds fulfilment.
Without guidance of the holy Word, how may the heart be devotion-filled ?
Such in bonds come, in bonds go,
In utter ignorance involved. (7)
In Dwapar[1] was humane compassion halved.
Rare was any God-directed one contemplating Him. P. 1024
Two were the feet of Dhrama,[2] prop of the earth left;
By the Master's guidance alone was truth there uttered. (8)
Out of self-interest kings acted justly.
Charity by expectation of reward was motivated :
Without devotion to the Name Divine comes not liberation—
In performing ritual actions did they exhaust themselves. (9)
Through ritual actions men liberation seek.
The boon of liberation by the holy Word and Divine laudation comes.
With guidance of the Master's Word comes not liberation.
In false shows are men deceived. (10)
Wealth[3] and avarice are hard to cast off.
Those acting from holiness are liberated—

1. (For Yugas or Ages as occurring in this hymn see Glossary).
2. Righteousness.
3. Maya.

Those that day and night into devotion and contemplation are absorbed,
And to the Lord's will are compliant. (11)
Some recite texts perform austerities and at holy water-edges bathe :
Each acts as by Thee directed.
By hatha and self-suppression is the stubborn mind not devotion-filled—
None without devotion to the Divine Enlightener got exaltation. (12)
In Kali-Yuga[1] one sole power of Dharma was left.
Without guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed,
None the truth expressed.
Egoists from falsehood act; without guidance of the holy Preceptor is doubt not lifted. (13)
The holy Preceptor is above desire, image of the Creator, Unafraid of Yama, nor subject to man.
Whoever serves him turns immortal,
Beyond death's torment. (14)
The Creator, in the Master has lodged Himself.
The Master's Word innumerable millions has saved :
Life of the world, of all creation, above fear and impurity. (15)
All from the Master's treasures beg boons.
Himself is he image of the Lord immaculate, inaccessible, limitless.
Nanak thus states truthfully, supplicates the Lord :
Lord of supreme will ! grant me devotion to truth. (16) (4)

Sāchai melei shabdi milāe

Those to the holy Eternal united by the holy Word
are granted union :
Such union spontaneously comes as be the Lord pleased.
The supreme Lord has placed within us light of the three worlds—
Now, brother, no other to us is visible (1)
We serve Him whose servants we are.
The Lord inaccessible, of impenetrable mystery,
by the holy Word is pleased.
The Creator, benefactor of His devotees,
in His grace grants union. (2)

1. Hatha-Yoga (Yoga of forcible praxis).

In the holy Eternal's bounty no diminution occurs,
Those without faith[1] receive His gifts yet deny them;
Without realization of their origin or love for truth,
In illusion of duality lost. (3)
The God-directed day and night keep awake in spirit.
By the Master's guidance is devotion to the holy Eternal realized.
Egoists that keep asleep are robbed;[2] brethren !
the God-directed keep immune. (4)
In falsehood involved come beings into the world;
involved in falsehood depart—
Attached to falsehood, falsehood they act.
Those attached to the holy Word attain the Divine Portal;
By the Master's guidance their consciousness in God is absorbed. (5)
The self-female in the den of robbers[3] is robbed :
Their self like a field run over.
Without guidance of the Name nothing gives joy
In forgetfulness of the Lord lies suffering. (6)
By the sustenance of truth comes fulfilment.
In acquiring the jewel Name lies true greatness.
One contemplating the self realizes the Lord—
His light into the Divine Light merged. (7)
The self-female[4] forgetful of the Name receives buffets. P. 1025
Despite much cleverness her doubt gets not shed.
Many rot and die; unmindful of God they contemplate Him not—
Their state like those carrying loads of pythons. (8)
No being from rancour and strife is free.
Show me such a one—him shall I laud.
By dedication of mind and body is met the Divine life of the world.
And accord with the Lord formed. (9)
None the Lord's truth[5] and extent can realize.
Any known as great, by his pride of greatness is consumed.
The holy Lord lacks not of His gifts—
All creation by Him is raised, (10)

1. Raw, unbaked.
2. Used metaphorically for spiritual degeneration.
3. The agents of evil in the mind are meant.
4. The gender is implied by the form of the verb.
5. State.

Supremely great and above need is the Lord.
Gifts He creates and to beings provides.
The bountiful Lord gracious is not far—
In His pleasure spontaneously granting union. (11)
Some are fallen into grief, some gripped by maladies :
All by His own will is accomplished.
Loving devotion by the Master's holy guidance comes—
Such the mystics cosmic music[1] realize. (12)
Some wander about unclad, hungry.
Some die of forcible praxises, yet realize not God's truth.
Such realize not the distinction of right and wrong;
Only such have realization as live the Word. (13)
Some bathe at sacred spots, and abjure food.
Some torture their body by exposure of fire :
Without devotion to the Name Divine comes not liberation—
How else may the ocean of existense be crossed ? (14)
Those discarding the Master's teaching into wild places stray.
The egoist, stubborn of will, contemplates not the Name.
Such rot and are sunk, garnering falsehood—
By their falsehood does death torment them. (15)
By the Divine will beings arrive, by the will depart.
Whoever the Divine will realizes, into holy Truth is absorbed.
Prayeth Nanak : May holy truth be met that my heart may please,
And may my actions be of the God-directed. (16) (5)

Āpei Kartā purakhu bidhātā

Himself is He creator, the immanent maker of the cosmos :
Beings has He created and judged them :
Himself is He the holy Preceptor, Himself disciple,[3]
Himself the creation has raised. (1)
Close to us, is He not far,
Those by the Master's guidance realizing Him are with perfection endowed.
Their association day and night is fruitful—
Such is merit of the Master's company. (2)
Lord ! thy devotees in each age are holy,
As with tongues delight-suffused Divine laudation they sing :

1. Anhad Shabda.
2. Kāl=Time, all-time, the timeless.
3. (This is a well-known doctrine in Sikh teaching, expressive of the identity of the self with the Supreme Self).

Expressing Divine laudation, suffering and penury they cast off,
From fear of others free. (3)
Ever awake, never are they found asleep;[1]
By dispensing truth to the whole assembly liberation they bring.
Free from impurity of sin, ever pure, in fixed devotion abiding. (4)
Devotees of God ! the holy Preceptor's word realize :
Beauty of youth, breath and body shall one day decline.
Thou creature of God ! today or tomorrow shall you be dead.
Repeating the Lord's Name in heart meditate on it. (5)
Creature of God ! discard this rigmarole of falsehood.
Falsehood by death at one swoop is destroyed.
Reprobates[2] by falsehood and egoism of mind are destroyed, P. 1026
In path of duality ruined and rotten. (6)
Discard calumny and envy of others.
Those studying excessively only burn in envy and no peace find.
In holy congregation laud the Lord—
Thus shall the immanent Supreme Self your helper be. (7)
Lust, wrath and evil discard;
Discard egoism, involvement in worldly concerns.
By seeking shelter with the holy Preceptor shall you be saved—
Brother ! thus is the ocean of existence crossed. (8)
Ahead of you lies a river purely of fire, reaising poisonous flames.
There no companion shall be—alone shall be the self.
In flames will this lake of fire burn—
Egoists fallen into it shall burn. (9)
With the Master lies boon of liberation, that in his grace he grants.
Whoever receives it, its truth[3] knows.
Brother ! of this enquire of those that have received it—
In service to the holy Preceptor lies gain. (10)
Those without the Master's guidance into useless wrangles fall.
Yama striking blows on their head, with ignominy treats them.
Calumniators lie in bonds, not free—
In carrying on calumny of others are they ruined. (11)
Ever utter truth and realize Him within :
Behold with insight, He is not far.

1. Used symbolically.
2. Sakta.
3. Way, law etc. may be implied.

By swimming by the Master's guidance comes no impediment,
Thus is the ocean of existence crossed. (12)
Within the self is lodged the Divine power,[1]
That is the eternal Creator.
The self too is beyond death and destruction.
The Lord of the Will by His Ordinance creates beings and looks after them. (13)
He is pure, not enveloped in darkness of ignorance;
Holy truth, on the throne seated.
Reprobates false in bonds are whirled about,
Subjected to death and birth and transmigration. (14)
The Master's servants are beloved of the holy Preceptor,
By contemplation of the holy Word seated on thrones.
The essence they realize and of the inner mystery have enlightenment—
In holy company by truth exalted. (15)
God's servant getting liberation himself, to his forebears liberation brings :
To the congregation too liberation he brings, taking them across the ocean.
Nanak is a slave to such as by the Master's guidance
To the Lord are attached in concentrated devotion. (16) (6)

Ketei jug vartei gubārai

Numerous Ages[2] in cosmic darkness were passed,
In which the Supreme Being beyond limit was in trance :
In foggy darkness was settled the sole Lord, unattached—
Then was no manifestation of action. (1)
Thus were passed thirty-six Yugas;[3]
In these all happened as by Him willed.
None his rival—the sole limitless supreme then existed. (2)
In the four Yugas[2] was He hidden—this you realize—
In each being's heart pervasive.
In each Age[2] was the Sole Supreme Being pervasive—Realization of this by the Master's teaching comes. (3)
By union of the paternal drop and the maternal blood was the human frame created.

---

1. Nam.
2. Yuga, a period of cosmic time, running into millions of years.
3. For the Four Ages (Yugas) see Glossary.

By interaction of air, water and fire was life sustained.
In the joyous mansion of the body does He Himself disport—
The rest is expanse of Maya-attachment. (4)
In circle of the womb, hanging head downwards was the self in meditation—
The Divine searcher of hearts it knew to be the guardian : P. 1027
Inside the womb with each breath the Name Eternal contemplated. (5)
To achieve the four objectives[1] has the self in the world arrived,
And in the house of the Lord's Maya found abode :
In forgetfulness of the Sole Supreme Being the bout it loses—
This purblind one of the Name has grown forgetful. (6)
Should an infant die, its gambols are recalled,
And men cry, calling it a playful child :
He whose it was has taken it back—
Misguided is the mourner. (7)
Should any die in full bloom of youth, what may avail ?
Men wail calling him their own :
Those wailing for Maya-relationships are lost—
Life of such in the world is cursed. (8)
Dark hair by grey are followed.
Without devotion to the Name is lost the capital of life :
By foul thinking is purblind man reuined,
And as robbed, wails and cries. (9)
Should any contemplate the self, would he not wail.
Of this, awareness by contact with the Master comes:
Without the Master's guidance are not the adamantine doors[2] opened—
By obtaining guidance of the holy word comes liberation. (10)
With old age the body gets tattered;
Yet man contemplates not the Lord, the true friend :
In forgetfulness of the Lord with face blackened he departs,
And in falsehood at the Divine Portal faces ignominy. (11)
The false in heart, forgetful of the Name depart this life;
Are born and die, ashes on their head falling:
In the husband's home[3] they find not abode; in the parent's home[4] is all agony. (12)

1. These are arth (prosperity), Kama (pleasure), dharma (righteousness) and moksha (liberation).
2. Doors of ignorance.
3. The hearafter.
4. The world.

Man may indulge in luxury of eating, fine wear and other delights;
Yet without heart's devotion must his life end meaninglessly.
Such a one distinguishes not right from wrong—
What way to escape Yama's chastizement ? (13)
Let the God-directed know the right way to engage in action, and the way of renunciation;
And by guidance of the Master know the Divine Reality to pervade the self,[1]
Let them not follow the path of reviling any :
By truth does one become pure. (14)
Without truth none at the Divine Portal attains success.
One robed in the holy Word gains honour.
The Lord in His grace grants forgiveness,
And egoism and pride annuls. (15)
Let such a one by the Master's grace the Divine Ordinance realize,
And know the way of devotion appropriate to each Age.
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the Name attain liberation;[2]
The holy Eternal is donor of liberation.[2] (16) (1.7)

Hari sā mītu nāhīn maiṇ koī

None to me is a friend like the Lord,
Who endowing me with body and mind,
made enlightenment pervasive.
Cherishing and looking after all beings,
By Him is known and seen the state of the self. (1)
The Master is the Lake, we swans over it.
The Master is the ocean, of jewels and rubies full.
Divine laudation is pearls and diamonds—
In singing it is mind and body joy-drenched. (2)
The Lord is inaccessible, immeasurable, unfathomable unique.
Of the Lord, enlightener and cherisher of the universe,
is the extent unknowable.
The holy Preceptor, saviour, by his teaching liberates,
And by suffusing the seeker in joy in God grants union. (3)
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor, what liberation can come ?
He is primal, eternal, devotee of the Lord :
At the Divine Portal in his grace granting liberation. P. 1028
Our faults he forgives. (4)

1. The house (of self).
2. (The figure is swimming across).

The holy Preceptor, donor of grace, liberation brings;
All maladies annulling, amrita-elixir pouring.
To Yama the tax-gatherer no tax is payable,
By whosoever has his fire assuaged and has a heart joy-cooled. (5)
The body with swan of the self has formed great attachment;
Yet is one an ascetic, the other a beauteous femaile :
Day and night in delights he indulges,
yet at departure consults her not. (6)
The Lord who creation has raised, over it is spread.
The body made up of air, water and fire resounds.
The mind in company of evil-doers is shaking in fear—
Know, what man has done, he receives. (7)
In forgetfulness of the Name man rancour and suffering has to bear.
When the command comes, departure no way can be put off.
The self in hell's pool flounders as fish writhing out of water. (8)
The materialist reprobate[1] eighty four lakhs of hells has to suffer;
Each receives as have been his deeds.
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor comes not liberation—
Man by the sum of his previous deeds is bound. (9)
In the hereafter the path is sharp as sword-edge through a lane extremely narrow.
There as is reckoning called, the self like sesame-seeds is crushed.
There neither mother, or father, wife or progeny are our helpers—
Without devotion to the Lord comes not liberation (10)
Many are our friends and companions in the world;
Yet other than the Master and the Lord none is our helper:
Service to the Master is means of liberation,
As each day Divine laudation is sung. (11)
Discard falsehood; towards the holy Eternal rush.
Thus attain all your heart's desires.
Rare are merchants of the merchandize of truth—gainful is their bargain. (12)
Carry you merchandize of the Name Divine;
Thus spontaneously shall you obtain sight of the Divine Mansion.

---

1. Sākta.

Those with perfection endowed, by the Master's guidance seek Him—
Thus is the Lord of equable vision contemplated. (13)
Rare are such as the Lord without limit, by the Master's guidance attain,
And by the Master's word enlighten their mind :
Know the Master's Word to be true—thus in the pervasive supreme self shall you be merged. (14)
Narad[1] and Sharda[2] are Thy servitors.
In the three worlds all of the highest are such.
All is manifestation of Thy might: thou provider of all.
By Thee are all causes made operative. (15)
Those serving solely at the Lord's Poral their suffering shed.
As the divine Portal they reach, the holy Preceptor gets them liberated;
The holy Preceptor bonds of egoism snaps
And the restless mind stills. (16)
By contact with the holy Preceptor learn the device, Whereby the Lord's pleasure you may win,
and no recknoing may come :
Annulling egoism, serve the Master.
Thus is Nanak, Servant of God in joy in God drenched. (17) (2.8)

Asur sanghāraṇ Rāmu hamārā

The Lord is destroyer of demons--
The beloved Lord, in all beings pervasive.
Impossible totally to realize the unrealizable, ever close to us—
By the recorded Word of the Master's speech may
He be contemplated. (1)
The Master and the holy are your shelter's seekers— P. 1029
Lord ! in your grace you liberate them.
Extremely deep is water of flames of evil—
The holy Preceptor alone may carry us across it. (2)
The egoists purblind no realization have :
Such entering transmigration, die and perish.
Ineffaceable is the primal Writ :
Such, blind ones, at Yama's door to ignominy are subjected. (3)

1. A rishi, Brahma's son.
2. The goddess of learning.

Many in transmigration keep involved,
And into their true home[1] find no lodgement;
Bound by their deeds, sins they commit.
Purblind, lacking understanding and realization,
Caught in the evil of avarice and pride. (4)
What point the woman[2] decking herself in absence of her spouse ?
Such a one, attached to another's husband, her own disregards.
Like a harlot's son of paternity unknown,
Are doings of such a one worthless. (5)
Many are the sufferings of this body, goblin's cage.
Beings involved in darkness of ignorance, in hell rot.
Those neglectful of the Name, a reckoning to Dharmaraja owe. (6)
On Yama's path blazes the sun fiercely, and poisonous fire in flames rises.
The egoist without devotion is a beast, goblin :
Involved in desire falsehoood he acts—a malignant malady is this. (7)
On his forehead and head he carries the burden of sins, unproductive like alkaline soil.
How may he cross the ocean of existence ?
The holy Preceptor is the ship through all the Ages—
By the Name Divine may one cross it. (8)
Love of progency, wife and the world
Is vast expanse of Maya-attachment;
The holy Preceptor snaps Yama's nooses
Of such as Godward turned, the Divine Essence contemplate. (9)
The World deluded by falsehood numerous paths treads.
The egoist fallen into fire, burns.
The Master confers the ambrosial Name, supreme boon—
In contemplation of the Name lies the holiest joy. (10)
The holy Preceptor in his grace truth in the mind confirms :
And effacing all suffering, on the true path guides :
On this path no thorn pricks the feet, where the holy Preceptor is preserver. (11)
As is the body tattered, dust into dust mingles.
The egoist is a stone, a slab, impervious to water :

1. The Divine Essence is implied.
2. Image for the self without devotion.

grievously wails, yet into hell and heaven keeps descending.[1] (12)
Such to the venomous serpent, Maya keep attached.
This duality numerous homes has ruined :
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor arises not devotion—
By attachment to devotion comes faith. (13)
Materialist reprobates[2] after Maya rush about greatly.
How in neglect of the Name may they attain joy ?
Caught in the three qualities themselves they exhaust—
no liberation for such. (14)
The false in heart dog and hog may be designated,
Dying of constant, fearful howling :
False their body and mind, by their foul thinking at the Divine
Portal discomfited. (15)
By contact with the holy Preceptor the mind finds poise.
As under shelter with the Name Divine it comes.
The Lord grants the invaluable wealth of God;
At the Divine Portal is Divine laudation favoured. (16)
Those seeking shelter of the holy, uttering the Name Divine, P. 1030
By touching of the holy Preceptor attain the supreme state and realization of God.
Saith Nanak : My self ! contemplate the Lord,
Who is bestower of union. (17) (3.9)

Ghari rahu re mana mugadh iyānei

My thoughtless, ignorant[3] mind ! in your own home[4] abide.
With inner concentration of meditation the Lord's Name Utter,
Discarding avarice, in the Lord beyond limit be absorbed—
Thus the door of liberation attain. (1)
Whoever of the Lord is forgetful, Yama seeks him out.
Gone is all his joy, and suffering grips him in the hereafter.
Myself ! by the Master's guidance the Name Divine contemplate—
Thus comes contemplation of the Supreme Essence. (2)
Contemplate the Name Divine, sweet elixir.
By the Master's guidance is the Divine elixir within the self tasted.

1. That is, is subject to transmigration.
2. Sākta.
3. (Implied sense) child like.
4. Absorption in God is implied
5. Lit. viewed.

Day and night in joy of the Lord abide—in this lies essence of repetition of texts, austerity and self-control. (3)
By the Master's guidance utter the Name Divine :
This joy in holy congregation seek.
By the Master's guidance your true home seek out—
Nevermore into the womb shall you fall. (4)
In the holy bathing-spot of truth take bath, and Divine laudation sing.
Contemplating the Essence, to the Lord be attached in devotion.
At the last moment shall not Yama seek you,
As the beloved Lord's Name you repeat. (5)
The holy Preceptor, exalted being is the great provider—
Whoever has the supreme Being lodged within him, into the holy Word is merged.
Whoever by the holy Preceptor is granted union,
Of Yama's torment is relieved. (6)
Of five elements is the body created.
Within that is contemplated the Divine jewel.
The selves are image of the Lord, the Lord the selves—
The Lord by contemplation of the holy Word is attained. (7)
Brother devotees, in truth and content abide.
Be seeking the holy Preceptor's shelter, grasp forgiveness.
By contemplation of the self, the supreme self contemplate—
Thus in the Master's congregation is attained liberation. (8)
The false reprobate[1] in fraud is fixed.
Day and night in calumny of many indulging.
Devoid of Divine contemplation, in transmigration involved,
Falling into hell of the womb. (9)
The reprobate[1] ever under Yama's obligation lies.
Never ends for him chastizement by Yama's baton.
In the reckoning of Dharamaraja on his head is laid a terrible, heavy burden. (10)
Has ever the reprobate,[1] devoid of the Master's guidance, liberation found ?
Practising egoism, into the ocean of existence falling.
Without the Master's guidance none swims across—
By contemplation of the Lord comes liberation. (11)

1. Sākta.

None the Master's boon can turn back[1] :
He grants liberation to any who has his grace.
With the Lord above limit cherished in heart,
Approaches not torment of birth and death. (12)
Those neglectful of the Master into transmigration fall,
Taking birth and dying, again and again sins they commit.
The thoughtless, ignorant reprobate remembers not God—
As comes suffering, on the Lord he calls for help. (13)
Joy and suffering by deeds of earlier births are ordained :
Of this the Lord who has created us, the mystery knows.
Creature of God ! on whom shalt thou lay the blame ?
Thy own hard doing bear. (14)
Man involved in egoism and avarice, into the world has arrived, P. 1031
And bound by desire is moved forward.
Caught in possessiveness, what may he carry with himself,
With poison and ashes of evil-doing laden ? (15)
Brother-devotees, to the Lord be devoted.
On the Lord inexpressible you discourse,
With your desire merged back into the heart.[2]
The mind restless restrain in its abode—
Such action is annuller of suffering. (16)
Shelter of the Lord, perfect enlightener have we realized.
The God-directed by the Master's guidance devotion to the Lord have formed.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name Divine is the understanding exalted;
By Divine grace comes liberation. (17) (4.10)

Sharaṇi parei Gurdev tumārī

Divine Master ! your shelter have we sought.
Lord ! Thou art almighty, gracious.
None Thy wonders knows—Thou the supreme Being perfection incarnate, creator of the cosmos. (1)
From primal time dost Thou cherish beings.
Gracious one ! in each being is pervasive Thy unique beauty.
As pleases Thee, dost Thou make the universe run—
All act as by Thee ordained. (2)

1. Efface.
2. Mana.

Within all is the holy Light, life of the universe.
The Lord tastes pleasure of all beings, quaffing their delight.
Himself over the three worlds father of the universe, Provider—
Himself receiving boons and dispensing them. (3)
Creating the world, this play hast Thou enacted.
Beings by mingling air, water and fire hast Thou created.
In the city of the self are nine visible doors[1] the tenth[2] has Thou kept secret. (4)
Four are the fearful rivers of fire[3].
This a rare God-directed one, abiding purely by guidance of the holy word realizes.
Reprobates[4] and those of evil thinking in these sink and burn—
The Master by attaching the self in devotions to the Lord saves. (5)
Amid water, burning fire, earth and the sky,
Is abode of the self, made up of five elements—
By guidance of the holy Preceptor's Word remaining devotion-drenched,
Discarding illusions of Maya and egoism. (6)
The mind drenched in devotion, by the holy Word finds certitude.
Without devotion to the Name comes not poise.
The thief[5] within the house and masion robs—this the reprobate,[4] agent of evil has not understood. (7)
Agents of evil are noisy, fearful goblins;
Evil spirits, at the self tugging :
Without aborption in the holy Word in transmigration involved,
In ignominy passing through birth and death. (8)
Amid alkaline soil[6] the body turns heap of ashes.
Devoid of devotion to the Name what honour may come to thee ?
Such are in bonds, not ever over the Four Ages getting liberation,
Marked out by Yama's minions, agents of death. (9)
Such bound at Yama's door chastizement receive.
To such a sinner no liberation comes—
Wailing piteously as fish caught on hook. (10)

1. The sources of sensation are implied.
2. The source of super-consciousness.
3. (These are : Violence, attachment, avarice and wrath).
4. Sākta.
5. Evil qualities are implied.
6. Symbol for a life passed it doing evil.

The reprobate in the hangman's noose is caught alone—
Blind, in Yama's power fallen.
Without devotion to the Name Divine comes to him no liberation,
Rotting today or tomorrow. (11)
Other than the holy Preceptor, none is our friend—
Here and in the hereafter is the Lord our guardian.
In His grace bestowing devotion to the Name Divine,
Granting union as water with water mingling. (12)
The disciple strayed, by the Master is instructed; P. 1032
Who to those straying the right path shows :
Day and night serve the Master, shatterer of suffering, friend ever by us. (13)
What service can the ordinary mortal render to the Master,
When Brahma, Indra and Shiva of this are ignorant ?
Tell, how may the holy Preceptor, unknowable[1] be realized ?
Realized by whosoever has his grace. (14)
With devotion within is attained the Divine sight.
By love with the Master's Word comes the Divine touch.
Day and night by such a God-directed devotee is beheld the pure holy Light,
And a lamp within his heart seen. (15)
The sustenance of Enlightenment is the sweet elixir supreme—Whoever has tasted of it, the Divine sight has beheld :
By beholding the Divine sight comes union to those unattached to the world,
And the mind suppressing desire, in the Divine Essence is absorbed. (16)
Those serving the holy Preceptor are exalted among mankind.
Such in each being the Lord have realized.
Prayeth Nanak : Grant to me singing of Divine laudation, and company of God's devotees
Who the holy Preceptor, image of the Lord have realized. (17) (5.11)

Sāchei Sāhib sirjaṇhārei

Contemplate the holy Lord, creator of the universe,
Who establishing the spheres of heaven and earth has minded them.

1. (This is expression of the doctrine of the identity in spirit of the Master-Guru and the Lord).

The Creator, holy and above desire,
Raising creation looks after it. (1)
Different species of creatures has He made;
Endowing them with two[1] kinds of teaching, on two[1] separate paths has He set them :
Without guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed comes not liberation—
In contemplating the holy Name lies true gain. (2)
Men study scriptures, but realize not the true way of life—
Not realizing the Name, into delusions fallen :
Receiving bribes false witness they give, with noose of foul thinking closing round the neck. (3)
Men study Simritis, shastras and Puranas[2],
But only make controversial expositions, not realizing the essence :
Without guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed is not found the Essence—
The true and the holy tread the path of truth. (4)
All laud Him, and listening repeat it :
Teh Lord all-knowing, Himself the truth judges.
Those having the Lord's glance of grace, by the Master's guidance laud the Supreme Reality[3]. (5)
Many listening to the sacred Word repeat it—
Repeat it without end :
Whomsoever with knowledge of the unknowable He blesses,
With power of expressing the inexpressible is endowed. (6)
At birth is raised music of felicitation;
The ignorant singing paeans of joy :
Whoever is born, must inevitably die—
By one's sum of deeds are the appointed nuptials with death fixed. (7)
Union and alienation by the Lord are ordained;
Who raising creation, suffering and joy has dispensed.
The God-directed, wearing armour of noble conduct from suffering and joy are exempt. (8)

---

1. The path of godliness and attachment to duality are implied.
2. See Glossary.
3. Shabda

Noble are the holy Eternal's merchants.
Who by guidance of the Master's teaching buy merchandize of truth.
Whoever has with him this holy commodity, by the holy Word
is inspired. (9)
In dealing in false commodities is incurred loss.
Whoever by the Master's teaching makes commerce[4] to the Lord,
is pleasing :
His capital, and commodity safe, Yama's noose is removed from him. (10)
All by their will[5] make utterance— P. 1033
The egoist in grip of duality knows not the true utterance :
The understanding and utterance of the blind too is blind,
Bringing them suffering. (11)
Man in suffering is born, in suffering shall die.
Without seeking shelter with the Master goes not suffering.
Man in suffering is born, in suffering dies—
What into the world has he brought, what shall carry ? (12)
Those with holy deeds are under the Master's protective rule.
In their birth and death Yama's hordes oppress them not.
Such discarding branches of the world, to the essence,
the root are attached,
Their hearts by truth inspired. (13)
God's devotees by Yama are not chastized,
And on the hard way see not suffering—
Within their hearts worshipping the Name Divine,
No other for them exists. (14)
Without end is Divine laudation and chastizement to evil-doers;
As may please Thee, must man live by Thy will.
Such at the Divine Portal robbed in honour, depart the world in joy,
As by the holy Monarch's command they abide. (15)
What of God's multiple qualities may one narrate ?
Even the greatest come not to the end of them.
Prayeth Nanak : May I attain truth; protect my honour,
Thou who are king over kings. (16) (6.12)

1. Used metaphorically.
2. That is, from egoism.

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
In the mode Dakhni

Kāyā nagaru nagar garh andari

The city of the self within a citadel is situated—Within that the holy Eternal's abode lies in sky-town[1]
of the higher self.
That is an immutable spot, ever pure. which the Lord
Himself creates. (1)
Inside that town are awnings and streets,
Where He Himself buys articles and looks after them.
There are fixed adamantine door-panels, that He Himself alone can fix—
These by the Master's Word are thrown open. (2)
Within the city are citadels, caves, houses and open spots.
Therein by Divine decree and will are made nine abodes[2]—
In the tenth[3] abides the supreme being, indescribable, limitless,
Who Himself the inaccessible makes accessible. (3)
In the body made of air, water and fire abides the Sole Supreme Being,
Who Himself this play has enacted.
By His grace is assuaged the flaming fire of desire—
Himself clouds He makes to shed rain. (4)
The earth has He created and made it the theatre of righteousness[4].
Unique Himself, creation and destruction He makes.
The play of breath has He made everywhere; as His power
He withdraws, comes demolition of life. (5)
The eighteen packs[5] of vegetation are all Thy female gardeners;
The air that revolves, over Thee waves the fly-whisk
The lamps sun and moon has He placed—
In the house of moon of poise enters the sun
of enlightenment. (6)
The five birds of sources of enlightenment, fly not wild;
From the fruit-bearing tree of enlightenment, amrita-fruit they obtain.

1. This is believed to be located in the skull.
2. The physical sources of sensation.
3. (The seat of superconsciousness).
4. Cf. Japuji, 34.
5. (This is the traditional way to describe the total variety of the vegetable world).

The God-directed in poise sing Divine laudation, and pick up gain of joy in God. (7)
The Divine effulgence in splendour shines, without moon or stars,
Without sun rays or lightning flashing in sky :
The inexpressible I try to express, devoid of signs,
all-pervasive, pleasing to the heart. (8)
As spread the rays, comes effulgence and light.
The gracious Lord Himself His marvels enacts and beholds—
For ever rises melody of the unstruck music, played in the abode of the fearless. (9)
As rings the unstruck music, flee doubt and fear; P. 1034
And the Lord all-pervasive is beheld spread everywhere.
All creation is Thine; by the Master's guidance art
Thou realized—
Those chanting laudation at Thy Portal in beauty shine. (10)
He is the primal immaculate being, from Maya-taint free;
No other do I contemplate :
The Sole Supreme in my heart abiding pleases me,
Annulling egoism and pride. (11)
Amrita granted by the holy Preceptor have we quaffed :
Of no other do we have consciousness.
The sole, limitless Being testing beings, in His store enters them. (12)
Immensely profound are Thy enlightenment, meditation on Thee, Thy truth.
None the extent of Thy expanse knows.
All creation of Thee begs boons which those having grace attain. (13)
Good doing, righteousness, and truth in Thy Power lies;
Beyond need, limitless, Thy stores :
Lord ever compassionate and gracious, Thyself union
dost grant. (14)
Whoever Thy sight is granted, beholds Thee.
Himself He creates and destroys.
Himself the Lord unites and alienates,
Himself taking life, restores it. (15)
All creation within Thee abides.
The Lord seated in His adamantine mansion beholds it.
Nanak thus states truly in humility :
In beholding the Divine sight lies joy. (16) (1.13)

Darshanu. pāwāṇ je Tudhu bhāwāṇ

Should I please Thee, with Thy sight would I be blessed.
Then in loving devotion, laudation of the holy Eternal would I chant.
Lord-Creator ! on Thy pleasure depends devotion to Thee—
Thyself alone making our tongue joy-suffused. (1)
God's devotees at the Divine court shine in beauty.
Lord ! liberation to your devotees comes :
By discarding egoism is one to Thy Name devoted,
Ever on Thy Name meditating. (2)
Shiva, Brahma, goddesses and gods.
Indra, anchorites, sages—all in service to Thee engaged.
Celibates, donors of charities, dwellers in forests—
None Thy extent is able to realize. (3)
Without Divine .guidance none realization attains.
All He does as pleases Him :
Eighty-four lakh species of creation, all by His will breathe and live. (4)
What He wills, must inevitably happen.
Egoists, reckoning themselves powerful, only wail :
One forgetful of the Name no resting-place finds,
And caught in transmigration suffers. (5)
In the pure body lodges the holy self,
Containing within itself essence of the immaculate Divine Reality.[1]
Such all suffering joyfully quaffing as amrita, nevermore to suffering are subjected. (6)
From excess of pleasures come suffering.
From indulgence in pleasure arise maladies that in the end bring ruin :
From pleasure rises suffering that is unending—
Those indifferent to the Divine Will in transmigration are whirled. (7)
The whole world, devoid of enlightenment in transmigration whirls.
The holy Eternal lying in His trance is all-pervasive.
The Master's Word believed renders immune from fear,
And light of the self into Divine light merges. (8)

1. Nām.

The Lord is eternal, immutable, immeasurable,
In an instant, destroying and recreating—
Without form or feature, beyond extent or value :
By penetration through His Word comes certitude of faith. (9)
Beloved Lord, we are your slaves' slaves— P. 1035 Slaves of those that make praxis, are holy, noble contemplative.
One putting faith in the Name wins through—
The Lord Himself confirms faith in truth. (10)
Those cherishing truth alone are holy and truthful.
The holy Eternal loves devotion to the word.
In the three worlds has He placed His holy might—
By devotion to truth pleased. (11)
All to the Lord attribute greatness.
Without the Master's guidance none enlightenment attains.
One joined to holy congregation to the holy Eternal is pleasing—
Never are such alienated or undergo suffering. (12)
Those alienated from God in primal time wail bitterly;
Again and again dying and being born, according to their appointed period.
Whoever has His grace, He exalts; such united to Him, no regrets have. (13)
Himself is He creator and enjoyer of creation;
Himself with it satiated, Himself to it unattached :
Himself dispenser of boon of liberation, annulling avarice and attachment. (14)
Lord almighty, all-powerful, limitless,
Art Thou reckoned dispenser of the supreme charity :
His own creation He beholds—
Those favoured of Him to good doing inspired. (15)
Such laudation of the holy Eternal singing, please Him.
From Thee these arise, into Thee merged.
Nanak verily states in supplication : In union with the holy Eternal lies joy. (16) (2-14)

Arbad narbad dhundhūkārā

For millions upon millions, countless years was spread darkness,
When existed neither earth nor heaven, but only the limitless Divine Ordinance.
Then existed neither day or night, nor sun or moon;
The Creator into unbroken trance was absorbed. (1)

Existed then neither forms of creation, nor of speech;
neither wind nor water;
Neither was creation or disappearance or transmigration.
Then were not continents, neither regions, the seven seas,
Nor rivers with water flowing. (2)
Existed then neither heaven or the mortal world or the nether world;
Neither hell or heaven or time that destroys.
Hell and heaven, birth and death were then not—none arrived into the world or departed. (3)
Then were not Brahma, Vishnu or Shiva :
None other than the Sole Lord was visible.
Neither existed then female or male, or caste and birth—
None suffering and joy received. (4)
Then were neither celibates, nor keepers of vows or those doing penance in forests;
Neither accomplished yogis or Yoga-practitioners who in absolute joy live.
Then were neither distinctions of Yogi and Jangam,[1]
nor was any called Nath[2]. (5)
Then were not instituted recitaton of scriptures or keeping of vows, fasts or worship-offering,
Nor any who expounded doctrine of duality :
Himself He created and was joy-filled, His own worth evaluating. (6)
Neither existed ritual purity or vows or restraint, nor wearing of basil[3] rosaries :
Then existed neither Krishna's milkmaids or Krishna,
neither cows or cowherd;
Neither magical rites nor superstitious frauds nor any player on flute.[4] (7)
Neither were there ritual practices nor Maya the fly;
Nor did the eyes behold caste and birth distinctions.
Neither had any recorded on forehead getting caught in snare of avarice or death,
Nor did any meditate on any. (8)

---

1. An ascetic sect, constantly on the move.
2. A Yogis' abbot.
3. Rosaries made from seeds of tulasi.
4. (Herein the references one to the Krishna legend).

Neither existed then calumny nor laudation, neither life or living self;
Neither Gorakh nor Machhindra[1] :
Neither enlightenment or meditation, nor birth of clans—
None called reckoning of deeds. (9)
There existed not distinctions of castes and creeds as between Brahmin and Kshatriya; P. 1036
Neither deity nor temple or holy cow or the Gaytri[2] mantra.
Existed then neither sacrifices by fire or bathing at sacred spots.
Or worship-offering. (10)
Existed then not Mohammadan divines as Mullah or Kazi,
Or Sheikhs and Hajjis;[3]
Neither subjects or rulers; neither worldly pride or any assuming titles of glory. (11)
Then was neither loving devotion nor distinction of the Eternal and phenomena;
Neither friends and companions nor origin through father and mother[4]—
Himself was the Lord Merchant-prince, Himself the trader :
This state to the holy Eternal was pleasing. (12)
Then were not scriptures like Vedas and the Koran,
Simritis and Shastras,[5]
Neither recitation of Puranas[6] nor rise or setting of sun :
Unknowable Himself, was He the source of all utterance; Himself the unknowable unmanifested. (13)
As it pleased Him, the world He created;
Without a supporting power the expanse He sustained.
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva He created and to maya-attachment gave increase. (14)
To a rare one was the Master's Word imparted; Himself His ordinance He made operative and watched over it :
Creating continents, spheres and neither worlds, the hidden
He made manifest. (15)

---

1. (These are names of two famous Yogis).
2. A brief sacred text.
3. A pilgrim to Mecca.
4. (The drop and the blood).
5. Simritis are books of Brahminical codes. Shastras are philosophy.
6. Books of Hindu mythology.

None His extent knows
Of this from the Master, perfectly-endowed comes realization.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in truth one wonder-struck;
In wonder Divine laudation they chant. (16) (3.15)

Āpei āpu upāe nirālā

Creating the universe Himself, has He remained unattached.
The compassionate Lord the holy centre of holy congregation too has made :
Combining air, water and fire, citadel of the body has He created. (1)
The Creator the Nine abodes[1] has fashioned;
In the Tenth[2] is the Lord unknowable, limitless lodged.
The God-directed besides have seven lakes[3] full of pure water, that never are fouled. (2)
In the lamps of sun and moon the entire effulgence is His.
As may please His greatness, the world He creates and watches over.
He is light incarnate, eternally provider of joy—
By the holy Eternal's grace the devotee finds exaltation. (3)
In the body's citadel are situated shops, markets and centres of trade :
There the Divine Merchant accurately weighs actions.
Himself jewels of devotion He purchases and receives, Himself evaluates them. (4)
The Divine Buyer evaluates these,
And in His store ever-full, beyond need, puts them.
All powers with Him abide—a rare God-directed one is granted realization of these. (5)
By His glance of grace is met the Master, perfectly-endowed.
Then brutal Yama strikes not his blows :
As the lotus that blooms in water, Himself in bloom of joy into meditation He enters. (6)
Himself amrita-shower of enlightenment He rains,
Containing endless diamonds, jewels and rubies of devotion :
By contact with the Master is attained the Lord perfection incarnate, Whereby is obtained the boon of devotion. (7)

---

1. The nine sources of sensation in the body.
2. The seat of superconsciousness.
3. These are the five sources of enlightenment, the mind and the faculty of realization (buddhi).

Whoever the invaluable boon of devotion purchases,
Never sees decrease, ever weighs right.
The merchant of the holy Eternal in the holy bargain ever engages. (8)
Rare is one making such a holy bargain,
As one to the holy Preceptor perfectly-endowed by the Lord
be united :
The God-directed the Divine Ordinance recognize,
And by obedience to the Ordinance in the Lord are absorbed[1]. (9)
By the Divine Ordinance does man arrive in the world; P. 1037
By the Ordinance into the Creator is reabsorbed.
The created world too by the Ordinance is seen to be raised.
By the Ordinance subsist heaven, the mortal world and the
nether regions;
By the Ordinance His might He assumes. (10)
By the Ordinance the earth's burden on the head of the Bull[2] rests.
By the Ordinance exist air, water and the sky.
By the Ordinance finds the self abode in the house of eternity and Maya;
By the Ordinance all in the cosmic play He engages. (11)
By the Ordinance are spread the heavens;
By the Ordinance subsist denizens of water and land and the three worlds.
By the Ordinance provides He breathing and taking in
of each morsel;
By the Ordinance provides enlightenment and the vision. (12)
By His Ordinance are created the ten incarnations of Vishnu,
And endless numbers of deities and titans :
Whoever to the Ordinance is obedient, at the Divine Portal is robed in honour,
And merging in the holy Eternal, in Him is absorbed. (13)
With the Ordinance operative passed the thirty-six Ages;
By the Ordinance are Yogis and Yoga-practitioners in contemplation engaged :
Himself the Lord, the universe drawn by His helter;[3]
In His grace granting liberation. (14)

---

1. Implies the faculties.
2. The mythical support of the earth (Cf. Japuji 16)
3. Lit. nose-string, as drawn through noses of pack animals.

In the citadel town of the body rules the self as king,
Served by the officers of sources of action and his personal servants,
the sources of enlightenment;
Elegant is its portal :
With falsehood and attachment is not attained lodgement in the true home, the Divine Essence—
Man by his greed and sin into regrets falls. (15)
Truth and content in this city are the officials performing duties,
As engaged in continence, truth and restraint under the Lord's shelter comes.
Saith Nanak : Then spontaneously is attained the Divine
life of the universe,
And man by following the Master's Word exaltation attains. (16) (4.16)

Sunn kalā aparampari dhārī

The illimitable Lord in His unattributed state of void
His might assumed,
Himself remaining unattached, of immeasurable extent :
Himself displaying His might views it, from the void creating substances void of consciousness. (1)
From the unattributed void were created air and water.
Raising creation, in citadel of the body is He situated as monarch.
Sire! in fire and water lies your light; in your state of void was lodged your might. (2)
From the unattributed void were raised Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva;
In all Ages was the void pervasive :
Whoever this formula contemplates, is a man perfectly-endowed,
Whose contact all doubt annuls. (3)
From the unattributed void were created the seven lakes—
He who made them, contemplated them too :
Should the mind by the Master's guidance in these seven lakes bathe,
Nevermore into transmigration is thrown. (4)
Sun, moon and the sky from the unattributed void appeared,
Whose light in the three worlds is pervasive.
In unbroken trance abides the Lord unknowable,
limitless, unattached;
In the void into trance fallen. (5)
From the unattributed void were created earth and sky,
That without pillars by power of truth is sustained.

Creating the three worlds, by the string of Maya are these banded—
Himself these He creates and destroys. (6)
From the attributeless void arose species of creation and forms of utterance—
From the void arisen, into the void are these absorbed :
The Creator the marvel of creation has displayed;
From His Ordinance is the miracle made manifest. (7)
From the attributeless void were created the pair night and day,
And creation, destruction, joy and suffering :
The God-directed made eternal, above joy and suffering arisen,
In their true home, the Divine Essence, abide. (8)
The Vedas Sām, Rig, Yajur and Atharva
That from Brahma's tongue[1] issued are affected by P. 1038
Maya of three qualities :
None His worth can express—each utters as by Him directed. (9)
From the attributeless void were created the seven pools;
From the attributeless void appeared in trance the various worlds.
Himself the Lord beyond limit created causation—
All act as by Thee ordained. (10)
The three qualities[2] of energy, sloth and intelligence are by Thy might and Thy shadows—
Thereby the self gets in egoism suffering of transmigration :
Whomsoever the Lord by the Master's guidance shows grace,
By sending into the fourth state[3] liberation grants. (11)
From the attributeless void appeared the ten incarnations of Vishnu;
Thereby too in spread the expanse of creation—
Were created deities, titans and the gods' servitors and choristers,
Who all prescribed duty perform. (12)
Whoever by the Master's guidance gets realization, from maladies remains immune;
Only rare ones know this teaching of the Master.
Such throughout the Ages subject to liberation remain, and in liberation attain exaltation. (13)
The five elements from the attributeless void were manifested, Wherefrom is the body compounded and man in action engages

1. Mouth.
2. See Glossary.
3. The state of superconsciousness.

Evil and good actions on the forehead are recorded,
Whereby are seeds of sin and well-doing sown. (14)
The holy Preceptor is exalted being, from Maya-taint free,
In the holy Word dyed, with joy in God inebriated :
From the Master come miraculous powers, enlightenment, fulfilment and illumination—
By perfect good fortune comes union with him. (15)
The mind greatly to Maya is attached :
This a rare enlightened one realizing, determines :
Avaricious man caught in desire, egoism and doubt falsely acts. (16)
By contemplation from the holy Preceptor obtained,
The self into unbroken trance gone, the abode of truth enters.
Saith Nanak : By the immaculate sound of holy music
In the holy Name Divine is the self absorbed. (17) (5.17)

Jeh dekhāṃ teh dīn-dayālā

Wherever I look, the Lord compassionate to the humble I behold,
The Lord gracious exempt from birth and death :
In all creation is pervasive device of life granted by Him,
Yet is the Divine Monarch unattached. (1)
The world is His reflection, who has neither father nor mother.
He neither has acquired sister nor brother :
Not subject to death nor decay nor characterized by family or clan—
To my heart[1] the Lord, supreme over all deities, is pleasing. (2)
Thou art the supreme Being beyond time—death stands not menacing over Thy head.
Thou the Supreme Being indescribable, inaccessible, unique.
Those rendered serene by truth, content and the holy Word,
Spontaneously to Thee in devotion are attached. (3)
Spreading the three qualities,[2] in the fourth[3] abode does He abide.
And of death and birth has made a morsel :
His light immaculate, life of the entire universe,
By the Master by the unstruck music is manifested. (4)
The holy are exalted beings, noble and beloved of the Lord;
Inebriated in joy in God, liberated :

1. Mana.
2. See Glossary.
3. The seat of superconsciousness (turīyā).

Nanak seeks dust of feet of the holy congregation—
The Lord by the Master's grace is attained. (5)
Thou controller of the inner self—all creatures are Thine.
Thou the Bestower, we Thy servants :
In Thy grace grant the Name ambrosial— P. 1039
For those so blessed has the Master illumined the jewel of enlightenment. (6)
By compounding the five elements is this body made;
By attaining the Supreme self all-pervasive, has come joy.
Our good deeds the fruit of amrita have borne,
As jewel of the Name Divine in our heart we have found. (7)
Whoever has mind fixed in faith, is above hunger and thirst[1],
And the immaculate Lord, all-pervasive in each being beholds :
Those dyed in amrita-elixir are the pure anchorites,
As by the Master's teaching in loving devotion
they are absorbed. (8)
Whoever day and night acts of spiritual purification performs,
In all creation beholds the Divine immaculate light—
His tongue immersed in joy of the delectable Word,
The joyful flute[2] he plays. (9)
Such alone this joyful flute play
As of the three worlds have acquired enlightenment.
Saith Nanak : Know the Master's teaching to be such,
That thereby to the Name Divine is devotion attached. (10)
Rare are such beings in the world,
As contemplating the Master's world, to the world
remain unattached :
Liberated themselves,[3] to the congregation and their forebears liberation[4] they bring. (11)
Such alone of the Divine abode and the Portal know,
As by the Master, perfectly-endowed are granted illumination :
In the citadel of the body abides the occupant of the Mansion,
The holy Lord—seated on the eternal throne erected by Him : (12)
God's servants, exalted beings poison of evil-doing have not tasted :
The fourteen regions[5] and the two Lights,[6] are the witnesses to this.

1. Used symbolically for desire.
2. Used symbolically.
3. Swim across.
4. Take across the water.
5. The worlds are implied.
6. Sun and moon implied.

Within them lies the unique, invaluable substance—
This Divine wealth by contact with the Master is obtained. (13)
Such occupy the throne as for it are fit :
These are such as by the Master's guidance the five evils annul, and turn God's humble servants,[1]
Realizing the Lord existing since primal time ever-present, who never shall not be—
And who illusion and doubt have lifted. (14)
To such a throne is offered obeisance day and night :
Such holy exaltation through devotion formed by the Master's guidance is attained.
Saith Nanak : Contemplate God; be liberated,[2]
As is attained the Lord, our friend in the last stage. (15) (1.18)

Hari dhanu sanchuh re jana bhāī

Brother devotees! garner wealth of Divine devotion;
And serving the holy Preceptor, with him seek shelter.
Such wealth from thief and burglar is immune; in mind awakened by the holy Word is it raised. (1)
Thou the Sole Supreme Being, unattached, Divine monarch.
Thyself dost Thou bring to fulfilment objectives of Thy devotees.
Immortal, unshakeable, limitless, invaluable—the Lord in immutable station is exalted. (2)
Noble is that city of the body wherein the five noble qualities live in prominent positions.
In the Sole Supreme Being immaculate
Are absorbed possessors of such in unbroken trance. (3)
Nine are the doors of the city of the body,
That the Creator is, each being has created :
In the tenth[3] abides the Supreme Being, unattached, unique—
Himself the unknowable revealing. (4)
The indescribable Supreme Being of holy authority,[4]
By His holy decree His will makes operative.
Saith Nanak : Search the house of your self: therein shall you obtain the Lord Supreme self, all-pervasive Reality.[5] (5)

1. Foot soldier.
2. Swim across.
3. The seat of superconsciousness (Turīyā).
4. Dīwān (lit. court: a high official).
5. Nām.

The Supreme Being all-wisdom to all creation P. 1040 is unattached;
Performing justice, in the Master's enlightenment pervasive;
Lust and avarice He destroys, and egoism annuls. (6)
The formless in the eternal abode lives.[1]
Those contemplating the Word realize Him to be identical with the self.
In unbroken continuity[2] abide such in the eternal mansion,
their transmigration annulled. (7)
Of such is the mind in poise; whiffs of desire shake it not.
Turned anchorite, the unstruck music it plays.
The concert of five sounds[3] unattached to Maya,
the Lord to them plays. (8)
Such mind filled with fear of God and unattached, into serene poise is merged;
Discarding egoism, into the unstruck music absorbed :
By putting in collyrium of enlightenment,
the immaculate monarch,
Unattached to all, it realizes. (9)
The Lord immortal is shatterer of suffering and fear,
Who annulling maladies, Yama's noose snaps.
Saith Nanak : The Lord, shatterer of fear, by union with the Master is attained. (10)
Whoever the immaculate Lord realizes, of death makes morsel;
His self he knows and realizes,
Viewing all creation as His play. (11)
Himself is He merchant-prince, Himself the trader;
Himself taster of merchandize[4] :
Himself on stone testing goods, Himself evaluating them. (12)
Himself is the Lord compassionate filled with compassion;
The Lord, in each being pervasive.
With the Supreme Being beyond touch of all, immaculate—
By the puissant Master, noble being is union granted. (13)
The Lord all-knowing, all-seeing annuls pride;
And effacing duality, of the Sole Reality grants vision :
Thus man, subject though to transmigration, amid desires unattached remains,

---

1. Cf. Japuji 37.
2. Lit. Spot.
3. Sounds made by five different kinds of musical instruments.
4. Used symbolically for actions.

And of the Lord, unattached to birth or family ties,
sings laudation. (14)
By effacing egoism, through absorption in the holy Word comes joy.
One contemplating the self is alone truly enlightened.
Saith Nanak : Singing Divine laudation of Divine merits is the true gain—
In holy congregation is this everlasting reward attained. (15) (2.19)

Sacchu kahuh sacchai ghari rehṇā

Should you seek to dwell in the house eternal, speak the truth ever.
Should you seek to swim across the ocean of existence,
be as dead while living.
The Master is ship, boat and raft—
My self ! contemplation of the Lord ferries you across. (1)
Destroy egoism, possessiveness and greed—
Thus comes release from nine doors of the body, and man's abode in the tenth[1] is fixed :
Lofty, transcendent, beyond limit is the Lord who His own self has created. (2)
By singing laudation of the Lord above family ties is lifted Yama's terror.
Wherever I look, are you present—none other do I sing. (3)
Holy is the Name Divine, holy His shelter;
Holy the Master's Word whose devotion liberation brings.
Whoever expresses the inexpressible and beholds
the Lord beyond limit,
Nevermore into the womb and birth is cast. (4)
Without truth man finds not purity and content;
Without the Master's guidance comes not escape
from transmigration.
The basic creed[2] is elixir of the Name Divine—
Saith Nanak, those chanting it to the Lord, perfection incarnate have attained. (5)
Without truth is not swum the ocean of existence— P. 1041
This fathomless ocean with immensely potent poison is filled.

1. The seat of superconsciousness.
2. Mul Mantra (used also for the opening words of the holy Granth Sahib)

Should one remain unattached, and the Master's guidance remain above it,
The abode of the Lord above fear attains. (6)
False is cleverness born of love of the world,
That in an instant[1] comes and goes.
Those forgetful of the Name, going along life's way in pride,
In birth and death are exhausted. (7)
Creatures bound in bonds arise and are destroyed,
Round their necks, nooses of egoism and Maya :
Whoever by the Master's guidance to the Name Divine is not devoted,
In bonds towards Yama's demesne is haled. (8)
How without the Master's guidance may liberation be attained ?
How without the Master's guidance may one on the Name Divine meditate ?
The Master's teaching adopt and swim across the impassable
ocean of the world—
Thus may you be liberated and attain joy. (9)
By guidance of the Master's teaching did Krishna uplift Govardhan.[2]
By guidance of the Master's teaching Rama made stones swim on the ocean.[3]
By adopting the Master's guidance is attained the Supreme state.
Saith Nanak : The Master our doubts has annulled. (10)
Take the Master's guidance and swim the stroke of truth, Contemplating the self in heart bear the Lord.
By contemplating of the Lord are snapped Yama's nooses,
And the immaculate Lord, free from family ties is attained. (11)
By the Master's teaching are the holy adopted as friends and brethren-in-faith;[4]
By the Master's teaching is the fire of desire extinguished and calmed.
By your heart and tongue utter the Name, life of the world,
And in your heart realize the Lord, hard to realize. (12)
By the Master's guidance comes realization and faith in the holy Word.

1. Lit. Without delay.
2. Name of the mountain lifted by Krishna.
3. (This has reference to the legend in Ramayana).
4. Lit. Brethren in the Guru (Preceptor).

Then who remains to praise, who to revile ?
Contemplating the self, the Lord's Name repeat.
Such is the doing of those to whose heart is the Lord of the universe pleasing. (13)
He who the universe pervades, know Him to pervade this world too.
By the Master's teaching realize Him, by the holy word know.
The Lord enjoyer of the universe with each being[1] has delight,
Yet to all is unattached. (14)
By the Master's guidance utter the Lord's holy laudation.
By the Master's guidance with your eyes behold the All-High.
Saith Nanak : Whoever with his ears listens to the Name and the Divine Word,
In the Lord's love is dyed. (15) (3.20)

Kāmu krodhu parharu par-nindā

Cast off lust, wrath and calumny of others;
Discarding greed and avarice from anxiety be free.
Breaking doubt's chain be unattached—then within is found joy in the Lord. (1)
As at night-time is beheld flash of lightening,
Day and night such a one the Divine light irrefrangible views—
Light of Him who is bliss incarnate, of unique aspect,
Whose sight by the Master, perfectly-endowed is granted. (2)
Seek union with the holy Preceptor—thus does the Lord save.
Then in the sky of the self in the moon of your understanding will the sun of realization light lamp.
Beholding the invisible in fixed devotion abide—
Then in the whole universe shall you behold the
Supreme Being. (3)
By acquiring amrita-elixir is eliminated desire and fear;
And by discarding egoism is attain the state of inspired illumination.
Whoever the immaculate Word has lived, exalted in his state;
exalted above all he becomes. (4)
The illimitable Divine Reality is invisible, unknowable by senses.
Extremely sweet, loved is the Name. P. 1042

1. Vessel.

Prayeth Nanak : yuga after yuga to Nanak grant singing of
Divine laudation,
That the Lord without limit I contemplate. (5)
The Name Divine borne in heart is a jewel found.
While contemplating the Lord, is the mind set in poise.
By beholding the Lord, shatterer of fear in hard states,
Nevermore is one subject to birth. (6)
The inspiration generated by the Master's Word is source of devotion.
To sing Divine laudation, boon of devotion to the Name I seek.
Should the Lord be gracious, with the Master He grants union;
Thus the whole world the Lord saves. (7)
Whoever by words of the holy Preceptor's guidance the Lord has contemplated,
Yama's minion death at his feet does service.
Of such exalted is the company, exalted the state and measure;
Such swim across the ocean of existence. (8)
This ocean of existence by aid of the Master's Word may be crossed,
And the heart's duality in the heart may be burnt :
With five arrows of noble qualities may Yama be destroyed,
As bow of the holy Word in the seat of superconsciousness is drawn. (9)
How may the reprobate attain enlightenment by the holy Word ?
Without enlightenment by the Word transmigration continues.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed have prop of liberation—
By supreme good fortune to the Lord united. (10)
The holy Preceptor above fear is the guardian of such As from the Master, cherisher of the world devotion have attained.
For them is playing the unstruck music of bliss,
As by the Master's Word the immaculate Lord they attain. (11)
He is above fear who no reckoning has to answer.
By His might is the inexpressible beheld.
Himself is He to Maya unattached, unincarnated, self-existent—
Saith Nanak, by the Master's guidance attained. (1)
The holy Preceptor the state of the heart within knows,
Whoever the Master's Word realizes, above fear rises.
Whoever looking within, the Lord limitless realizes,
Over nothing else is his mind shaken. (13)

The fearless Lord in his heart is lodged
Who day and night in the Name immaculate is absorbed.
Saith Nanak : Chanting of Divine laudation in holy congregation is attained,
Whereby union with the Lord spontaneously comes. (14)
Whoever realizes the Lord's presence within and without,
Unattached remains and stilled is his restless mind.
Such a one, saith Nanak, attains joy of amrita of Him Who is highest of all, the primal, pervasive in the three worlds, eternal. (15) (4.21)

Kudrati karnaihār apārā

The Lord by His might is the endless creator;
The created being nothing can urge against Him.
To creating beings sustenance He provides,
And His Ordinance over all makes operative. (1)
Operating His Ordinance, is He all-pervasive.
To whom is He close ? from whom may He be said to be far[1] ?
In each being view Him hidden and manifest—
In each being is He operative with His full mind.[2] (2)
To whomsoever union He grants, in His consciousness gets merged.
Such by the Master's teaching on the Name Divine meditate.
He is the image of bliss, unique, unknowable—
by contact with the Master
Is shed illusion. (3)
The Name Divine is dearer than self, body and wealth,
And at the last moment, at departure, our helper. P. 1043
The expanse of attachment is not our friend—
None[3] without devotion to the Divine Enlightener
obtained joy. (4)
To whomsoever the Master, perfectly-endowed shows grace,
By his heroic conquest of evil, in the Divine Reality[4] is merged.
Saith Nanak : At the Master's feet do service, who to those strayed the path has shown. (5)
To God's devotees the wealth of Divine laudation is dear.
By the Master's teaching is obtained devotion to your Name.

1. The answer is, from none.
2. Tāk may also be interpreted as 'solely operative'.
3. Who ?
4. Shabda.

The mendicant at the Divine Portal does service.
At the Divine Portal singing Divine laudation. (6)
Should the Master be contacted, to the Divine Mansion would he call the devotee,
Who at the holy Portal would obtain liberation and honour.
To the reprobate[1] in the Divine sanctum no place is given—
In agony of birth and death would he remain involved. (7)
Serve the holy Preceptor, the unfathomable ocean,
And obtain profit of jewels of the Name :
The impurity of evil in the ambrosial pool[2] would be shed—
By devotion to the Name is obtained content in the Master's holy pool. (8)
Without hesitation serve the holy Preceptor;
And amid desires desireless abide;
Serve the shatterer of doubt and suffering—
Nevermore shall malady grip you. (9)
Whoever has Divine grace, lauds Him.
None to reason with Him has power.
The Lord and the Master are in one image—
Saith Nanak : The Master to the Lord is pleasing. (10)
Some study scriptures like Vedas and Puranas;
Others attentively listen to them :
Say, how may evils of malice of the python[3] be uneviled ?
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor none to the essence has attained. (11)
One rubbing ashes over the body, smearing limbs with it,
Within yet carries unclean, low-born[4] egoism :
By fraud is not attained Yoga; without guidance of the holy Preceptor is not attained the unknowable. (12)
One may frequent bathing-spots, observe fasts and vows and live in wild places;
Observe celibacy, continence and self-restraint and expound scriptural knowledge :
Yet without devotion to the Name is not obtained joy;
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor is illusion not shed. (13)
Rotating the bowels, and firing the furnace of Kundalini,

1. Sakta.
2. Ambritsar = amritsar, symbolizing the holy congregation.
3. Used symbolically for the evil mind
4. Chandāl = Castes considered low and execrable.

Exhaling, retaining, inhaling of breath[1] all are result of stubbornness of will.
In fraud lies not piety or devotion to God—
By listening to the Master's Word is attained supreme joy. (14)
By beholding Divine devotion is the mind fixed in faith.
By guidance of the Master's word is the Supreme Being beheld in all.
Saith Nanak : Of the Lord pervasive in each self, unknowable,
By the holy Preceptor is realization granted. (15) (5.22)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Solahe (Sixteen-stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hukamī sahaje srishti upāī

By operation of His Ordinance without effort did
He raise creation :
Thus has his might been manifested.
He the Almighty, by His Ordinance is pervasive. (1)
Maya-delusion the world has darkened :
Rare is the person who this truth by the Master's guidance realizes.
By His glance of grace is He attained; P. 1044
Himself grants union. (2)
Himself union grants.
By the Master's grace is His greatness realized :
Swarms of egoists roam about wailing, in feelings of duality lost. (3)
In creation has He cast egoism and Maya;
By these are egoists deluded, in ignominy involved.
Only such as follow the Master's teaching,
In the Name are absorbed, in the holy Eternal immersed. (4)
By the Master's guidance is attained the jewel Name,
That annuls desire and in the self is absorbed.
All is the Creator's play; Himself He realization grants. (5)
One casting off egoism, serving the holy Preceptor,
With the Beloved is united, by the holy Word attaining bliss :
His heart in love and devotion dyed,
In serene contemplation is with the Lord in accord. (6)

---

1. These are practices in hatha-yoga (prānayām).

By the Master's guidance is the Lord, annuller of suffering, realized :
By his own grace the Bestower of universal life provides union :
Realization by His own inspiration comes, from the mind casting off illusion. (7)
Devotion He Himself grants,
Through service by the Word to the holy Preceptor.
To such affliction of old age and death come not,
in devotion to the holy Eternal. (8)
In the flames of desire is the world burning.
In manifold evils is it burnt and is destroyed.
Egoists no resting-place find; from the holy Preceptor alone comes realization. (9)
Supremely fortunate are those that to the holy Preceptor are devoted.
In the holy Name ever absorbed.
In the Name immaculate are their selves absorbed—
By the holy Word is their desire annulled. (10)
Holy is the Master's Word, holy his utterance,
That by the Master's guidance by rare souls is realized.
Those dyed in the holy Word are the true anchorites—
Their transmigration ended. (11)
Anyone realizing the Word his impurity sheds;
The Name immaculate in his self lodged.
His holy Preceptor he ever serves—his egoism cast out. (12)
Those from the Master getting realization, the Divine
Portal behold.
One without the Name in vain disputation is engaged.
Devotion to the holy Preceptor confers merit,
annulling all desire. (13)
Realization from union by Him granted, comes.
Those without realization are without sight.
With the Master's blessing in the self lodged,
The holy Word ever therein resounds. (14)
As recorded in primal time, does man in action engage;
None may the Primal Writ efface.
Such alone the holy congregation join as by Primal Writ are so destined. (15)
Only by the Divine glance of grace realization may one attain,
And in the holy Word's meditation engage.
Nanak, servant of God thus supplicates;
At His Portal have I found charity of the Name. (16) (1)

Eko Eku vartai sabhu soī

He the sole Reality is everywhere pervasive :
This a rare one by the Master's guidance realizes.
One sole Supreme all creation pervades :
None besides Him exists. (1)
Eighty-four lakh species has He created :
This truth from those with realization and meditation comes.

P. 1045

Sustenance to all He provides—
More than this may one not know of His worth.[1] (2)
Maya-delusion casts pitch darkness
In spreading egoism, attachment.
In these is creation ever burning day and night—
Without the Master's guidance comes not peace. (3)
Himself He unites and alienates ;
Himself effects creation and dissolution :
Holy His Ordinance, holy the manifestation :
None besides Him the universe to regulate. (4)
Devotion by His will comes;
By the Master's grace is Yama's terror lifted.
The holy Word, source of everlasting joy, in the self.
By rare spirits, through the Master's guidance is realized. (5)
Himself He makes union and propitious circumstances;
Pre-ordained Writ nowise may be effaced.
Devotion uninterrupted, day and night—
Such service by the Master's guidance is inspired. (6)
From devotion to the holy Preceptor has realization of everlasting joy come;
Himself has the universal, Bestower granted union.
Thereby is egoism annulled, the fire of desire assuaged,
And from contemplation of the holy Word has come joy. (7)
The self to family attached, without realization remains;
By the Master's guidance it gets eyesight.
Contemplating the Name day and night,
Finds it union with the Beloved, and bliss. (8)
The egoist in duality involved rushes about—
Better for such unlucky ones to die at birth !

1. Lit. Value. Might is implied.

In transmigration involved, their life a waste :
Without the Master's guidance comes not liberation. (9)
Fouled by egoism, is the self rendered impure :
Washing hundred times removes not its impurity.
By the holy Word washed, is it cleansed,
Nevermore to the fouled.[1] (10)
The five minions of evil are slayers of the self :
One in their grip in transmigration is caught,
Neglecting contemplation of the Word.
Inside it is darkness of Maya-illusion—
Deluded as in dream. (11)
Some the five minions subduing, in contemplation of the word are engaged—
By the holy Preceptor guided, are they supremely fortunate
Dyed in devotion, in contemplating Truth is their self engaged,
With serene mind in the Eternal absorbed. (12)
From the Master alone is learnt the Master's way :
To one solely devoted to the holy Word does such realization come.
Ever in the self the Word contemplating
His tongue[2] the joy of holy Truth tastes. (13)
With egoism subdued, by the holy Word effaced;
The Lord's Name in the heart borne—
In such state I know not other than the sole Supreme :
From serene contemplation[3] comes such consummation. (14)
Without the Master's guidance comes not serene contemplation;[3]
One by the Master's guidance in Truth absorbed, realization finds.
Dyeing by devotion to the holy Eternal in the Word,
In egoism by the Word annulled. (15)
From the Bestower of merit comes inspiration to contemplate Him :
By the Master's guidance the winning throw[4] He grants.
Saith Nanak : By Divine inspiration comes absorption
in the Name;
From the holy Eternal comes exaltation. (16) (2)

---

1. Cf. Japuji, 20.
2. The palate is implied.
3. Original Sahaj.
4. (The figure is from dice).

Jagjīvanu sāchā eko dātā

He is the sole Provider, Life of the Universe,
By service to the Master through the holy Word realized.
His the sole Ordinance, His the Kingship— P. 1046
In all time over all is His rule established. (1)
Those realizing the self are truly pure :
To them the Bestower of joy Himself united—
Their tongue in the holy Word dyed, the Lord ever lauding,
At the holy Portal exaltation they find. (2)
Those seeking the Master's guidance from devotion to the Name find exaltation :
Egoists and slanderers in ignominy fall.
Those dyed in the Name are supremely enlightened, true anchorites—
Into their true selves retreated, in meditation are engaged. (3)
One by the holy Word dying perfection has attained :
The Word by the holy Preceptor, heroic subduer of evil, communicated.
In the body lies the true Pool of Nectar[1]—
In serene devotion does the self have taste of it. (4)
Pandits study scriptures, to others expound these,
Yet know not of their selves[2] caught in flames :
Without devotion to the holy Preceptor comes not realization;[3]
Nor from tiresome excess of learning comes poise. (5)
Some with ashes smeared, go about in sectarian guise :
Yet who without the holy Word has egoism subdued ?
Such are ever in flames, burning day and night,
By sectarian delusion misguided. (6)
Some abides true anchorites, even amidst family and home—
Such through the Word have died, and in the Name are lodged.
Ever day and night are these in devotion absorbed. (7)
The egoist by slandering is ruined;
His mind with avarice filled, dog-like he barks.
Yama, agent of death spares him not—
In regrets at the end he departs. (8)
From devotion to the holy Word comes true exaltation.
Except by the Name, none has liberation found.

---

1. Amritsar.
2. Lit. House.
3. Nām.

From the holy Preceptor alone comes devotion to the Name,
Such is the Lord's dispensation. (9)
Some are Siddhas, engaged in Yoga-praxis and much contemplation;
Others are day and night in devotion to the Formless Name dyed :
Those by Him united[1] have realization;
Through devotion and love is Yama's fear gone. (10)
Some in ritual baths engaging and dispensing charity
Yet find not realization.
Others the mind subduing, with it in battle engage :
Those dyed in the holy Word solely[2] by the Word to the Lord are united. (11)
Himself He creates beings and exalts them;
By His will grants union.
By His own glance of grace comes He in the self to abide—
Such is the Lord's revelation.[3] (12)
Those serving the holy Preceptor alone are pure;
Egoists uninitiated[4] know not the way of such service.
The Lord, sole Creator, watches over creation,
Engaging each as is His will. (13)
In all Time is one sole holy Provider,
By the Master's Word realized, through supreme good fortune.
Those united to Him through the holy Word are alienated never,
By His glance of grace in serenity to Him united. (14)
Through egoism is garnered Maya-filth;
Those hoarding it in duality caught,
In transmigration are whirled.
Without devotion to the holy Preceptor comes not liberation :
In your mind by meditation behold this. (15)
All happens as He wills :
Nothing by its own initiative occurs.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name comes exaltation, P. 1147
And honour at the Divine Portal found. (16) (3)

---

1. I. e., inspired.
2. Lit. In one sole dye.
3. Lit. Noble speech,
4. Lit. Unbaked (of clay etc.)

Jo āiyā so sabhu ko jāsī

All that into the world have arrived, must depart,
Those to duality attached, in Yama's noose are caught.
Those by the holy Preceptor succoured are saved,
And into eternal Truth absorbed. (1)
Himself the Creator creates and watches over His creation :
Only those finding His glance of grace are by Him approved.
Those by the Master enlightened find full realization :
In ignorance are actions all blind. (2)
The egoist caught in doubt, gets not realization;
In transmigration whirled, his life a waste—
Those by the Master's guidance in the Name dyed, find bliss,
And in serenity, in Truth are absorbed. (3)
In the mad rush for worldly gain the mind becomes rusted iron.
By touch of the Master, perfectly-endowed into gold is it transmuted.
Himself the Lord grants liberation and bliss;
Through the holy[1] Word is union attained. (4)
Foul thinking, false, is evil in the extreme;
With faults laden, with defects replete.
One with understanding false[2] utters what is worthless;
By evil thinking gripped, the Name he fails to attain. (5)
The woman of bad ways pleases not her Lord;
False of mind, false her doings.
Foolish female, she knows not the joy of the Beloved's favour—
Such realization from the Master alone comes. (6)
The female whose thinking is impure, in falsehood engages,
Her attractive make-up pleases not her beloved Lord.
The woman of good qualities has with the Beloved unending bliss—
Such union the holy Preceptor brings about. (7)
Himself His Ordinance He makes operative and watches over;
To some He grants liberation by primal writ.
Ever are such in the Name dyed; truth they find :
Himself to them He grants union. (8)
Egoism rushes about, by attachment attracted.
By the Master's guidance, in serenity is the self in holy devotion absorbed.

1. Perfect.
2. Lit. Raw, unbaked.

Union He Himself grants; Himself watches over creation—
Such realization from the holy Preceptor alone comes. (9)
Some by contemplation of the Word are ever wakeful;
Others, luckless, in Maya-delusion's slumber remain involved.
Himself is He the sole Doer; none His might to share. (10)
The Master's Word, annuller of death, liberation confers
On such as in the heart the Lord's Name bear.
In the Master's service is found bliss, and absorption in the Lord's Name. (11)
The world in duality caught, wanders about demented,
Caught in Maya-delusion, in suffering's grip.
By numerous guises is God not attained;
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance comes not bliss. (12)
To whom to complain as all by His will happens ?
Everything treads the path He indicates.
Everything follows the way of the Lord, Gracious,
Bestower of bliss. (13)
Himself has He raised creation; Himself of creation has joy.
Himself from all apart; Himself to each united.
Himself the gracious Lord,[1] ineffaceable His writ. (14)
Blessed are those that realize He is the sole supreme,
In all beings abiding, life of the universe, Bestower[2] of bounty.
Hidden from the sight and manifest is He everywhere—
And by the Master's guidance are doubt and P. 1048 fear eliminated. (15)
By the Master's guidance is the Lord realized as the Sole Supreme;
By the Name in the self lodged, through the Word realized.
Only such as by Thee are favoured, attain Thee :
From devotion to the Name, saith Nanak,
comes exaltation. (16) (4)

Sachu sālāhī gahir gambhīrai

The holy Eternal incomprehensibly profound, I laud.
The whole world within His fold lies.
All beings day and night He pervades, in eternal joy abiding. (1)
Holy is the Lord; holy His greatness—
By the Master's grace in the self lodged.
By His will lodges He in the heart, snapping Yama's noose. (2)

1. Madhūsūdan—a periphrastic name of Krishna.
2. Dātā

Whom to serve ? What to laud ?
Worthy to serve is the holy Preceptor; his Word to laud.
By the holy Word is the understanding ennobled;
the lotus of the heart in bloom. (3)
Frail as paper is this frame,
With a drop dissolved, in an instant shattered.
Like a gold is the body of any that by the Master's guidance gets realization,
With the Name in his heart lodged. (4)
Pure is the kitchen whose lines[1] of enlightenment are made;
Where the food cooked is of the Lord's Name,
and Truth is the sustenance.
Ever filled and holy is he in whose heart is lodged
the Name Divine. (5)
May I be a sacrifice to those to the holy Eternal devoted;
That ever awake, the Lord's praises chant :
Within them abides holy joy; with joy in the Lord is their tongue[2] saturated. (6)
The Lord's Name I contemplate; none other do I worship;
One sole Lord I serve, none other.
The holy Preceptor has granted me vision of universal Truth.
In the holy Name fixed my abode. (7)
Through births innumerable have I wandered—Forgetful myself or by the Lord set astray
By union with the Lord, through the Master's guidance
has come realization,
And contemplation of the immortal Word. (8)
Full of lust and violence are we evil-doers—
With what face may we make any claim, devoid of merit and service that we are ?
Lord ! we that are sinking stones, to Thyself unite us,
To Thy holy, immortal Name. (9)
None besides the Lord has power—
By Him is all that happens accomplished.
Those by His grace saved, alone have bliss,
And in the Name eternally abide. (10)
The body is the soil, the holy Word the limitless seed.

1. Lines down to make the orthodox Hindu kitchen-space.
2. Palate is meant.

Then with the holy Lord is the self in commerce;
And comes increase of holy wealth,
With the Name in the heart lodged. (11)
Lord ! on me devoid of merit, confer merit;
By Thy grace, devotion to the Name grant.
One seeking the Master's guidance alone gets exaltation,
Solely in the Name abiding. (12)
Within is Divine wealth, by man unrealized ;
Rarely by the Master's grace comes such realization.
One seeking the Master's guidance alone this wealth obtains,
In the Name eternally abiding. (13)
The fire of desire and gusts of passion, in illusion take one astray;
In Maya-attachment vanishes all discrimination.
To the egoist purblind nothing is visible;
The Master's teaching confers illumination by the Name. (14)
Egoists caught in egoism and Maya are fallen asleep; P. 1049
Unmindful of their self, in the End ruined;
Casting slander on others, in anxiety they burn,
In unending suffering abiding. (15)
The Creator Himself the system has set up;
Himself through the Master's guidance realization grants.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dyed have pure hearts,
The Name their sole abode. (16) (5)

Eko sevī sadā thiru sāchā

I worship the sole holy Eternal, Immutable;
The world, of frail understanding, in duality is involved.
By light of the master's teaching the holy Eternal I ever laud—
Those inspired with truth, to truth are attached. (1)
Innumerable are Thy qualities; not one have I realized;
Himself the life of the world, bountiful Bestower,
devotion inspires;
Himself devotion grants, confers exaltation—
By the Master's teaching is the mind with devotion saturated. (2)
By the holy Word is Maya-storm stilled;
By subduing egoism is the mind rendered pure;
Thus dyed in devotion the self in serenity lauds the Lord,
And on the tongue runs utterance of the Name. (3)
In acquisitiveness is all life passed;
The egoist, of poor understanding, goes about without realization :

Each hour, each instant Yama, agent of death, keeps watch;
Each day does life decline. (4)
In greed is man's mind caught, oblivious of realization,
And sees not death, looming over his head.
His doings here, shall in the hereafter face him,
In the last moment leaving him helpless. (5)
Noble is the repute of those to truth devoted;
Egoists in duality engaged, cry and wail.
Of both worlds is He Lord; by good deeds pleased; (6)
By devotion to the Master's Word comes to man true beauty,
As to joyous essence of the Name is the self drawn :
Then a grain ever of Maya-attachment's impurity touches it not,
And by the Master's teaching with the Name Divine is it saturated. (7)
The Sole Lord in all creation is pervasive—
By the Master's grace revealed.
From subduing egoism comes joy everlasting,
And quaffing amrita of the holy Name. (8)
Annuller of sin and sorrow,
By the Master's guidance, through contemplation of the Word worshipped,
Solely is His might operative :
By submitting to the Master's guidance is body and mind with devotion saturated. (9)
Over the world is blazing Maya-conflagration,
By the Master's guidance through contemplation of the holy Word assuaged :
Guided by the Master's teaching through utterance
of the holy Word.
Comes serenity and joy everlasting. (10)
Indra on his throne from Yama's terror is not exempt :
Excess of ritual observances keeps not away Yama's retribution.
By touch of the holy Preceptor comes liberation,
As joy of the Lord's Name the tongue tastes. (11)
Inside the egoist no devotion enters :
By the Master's guidance comes devotion, serenity and joy.
Holy and pure eternally is the Word :
By the Master's guidance the heart it saturates. (12)
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva, in contemplation engaged
In the Three qualities bound, from liberation yet are far.

Such is the supreme[1] realization by the Master granted :
Ever the Name you contemplate. (13) P. 1050
Those studying the Vedas realize not the Name Divine :
In Maya involved, their learning to disputation leads.
The unenlightened man purblind, impure within—
How may he the impassable ocean of the world swim across ? (14)
In the Vedas is expressed disputation.
Thereby is not the heart with devotion saturated,
or realization found.
In the Vedas is expounded philosophy of good and evil—
By the Master's guidance is quaffed amrita. (15)
He the sole holy Lord,
Other than He none.
Saith Nanak : The mind dyed in the Name is rendered pure :
Ever to the holy Name be devoted. (16) (6)

Sacchai sacchā takhtu rachāiyā

The holy Eternal His holy Throne has set up :
In His Essence has He taken abode, free from attachment and Maya.
As in the self is Truth lodged eternally, by the Master's guidance are man's actions annobled. (1)
Then is man's dealing and commerce all pure,
From illusion and entanglements of duality made free.
Never shall privation visit one possessed of such holy wealth—
This a rare one by the contemplation realizes. (2)
Only those called by the holy Eternal to devotion are so engaged :
In their hearts is lodged the holy Word, on their forehead
the Writ of good fortune.
By inspiration of the holy Word ever they laud the Lord—
By contemplation in the holy Word dyed. (3)
The holy, the Immaculate truth I laud :
The sole Supreme Master I behold, none other.
Lofty is Divine wisdom, high the ladder to it rising;
By the jewel realization is egoism destroyed. (4)
In the holy Word is Maya-attachment consumed;
By Thy pleasure is truth in heart lodged.
Holy is all the holy Eternal's doing, who the thirst of egoism has assuaged. (5)

1. Lit Sole.

Himself has He Maya illusion created;
Rare is the Master's devotee realizing this.
Pure are the doings of one who to the Master devoted,
acts the truth. (6)
What pleases the Lord have I done.
In the holy Word has He consumed egoism and desire.
By the Master's wisdom is the heart ever joyous,
As is egoism repudiated and annulled. (7)
To those to truth devoted all is pleasing;
In the holy Word does truth in beauty shine.
Those pure here shall be reckoned pure at the Portal,
By the Divine glance of grace with splendour invested. (8)
One forsaking the holy Eternal, with duality involved,
In Maya-attachment shall all affliction find.
Without the Master's guidance is not sorrow into joy changed—
Terrible is the suffering in Maya-attachment borne. (9)
Those to the holy Word with their hearts attached,
The dictates of Primal Writ are fulfilling :
Such the holy Eternal serve, on the Eternal meditate :
In the Eternal dyed, in its contemplation live. (10)
Service to the Master to such tastes sweet;
Each day they experience joy, meditation in serenity.
By utterance of the Lord's Name is their mind rendered pure;
The Master's service to them tasting sweet. (11)
Happy are those that by the holy Preceptor's guidance to truth are devoted :
By Divine will are they with union blessed.
Those saved by the holy Preceptor are liberated :
Others in Maya-attachment meet ignominy. (12)
By the Master's guidance is the Lord in the holy Word realized;
Neither has He family nor father or mother. P. 1051
All creation by Him solely pervaded, of all creation Sustainer. (13)
Egoism and acquisitiveness from feelings of duality arise.
Helpless is man before the Lord's Writ recorded in Primal Time.
Those by the holy Preceptor guided in primal time,
follow truth;
By the holy Word is suffering annulled. (14)
By Thy grace is found joy everlasting.
By the holy Word's guidance comes holy doing:
Pure becomes the heart, pure mind and body;
Of devotion the stores overflowing. (15)

Himself the Lord watches over creation, operating His Ordinance.
Of His will sole Master.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dyed are true anchorites :
Their mind. body and utterance by the holy Name ennobled. (16) (17)

Āpei āpu upāe upannā

By Himself has He originated and His Essence brought into being;
In all beings pervasive, yet from sight hidden.
Those enlightened about the self realize,
He is life of the universe, watches over all. (1)
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva has He created
And to each has assigned an appointed task.
Union He grants to whoever He pleases,
From among those
That by the holy Preceptor's guidance realize
He is sole Creator. (2)
The world in the cycle of birth and death is involved;
Caught in Maya-attachment, evil it contemplates.
Those realizing the Master's Word, laud the Holy, Immutable. (3)
Some to the Root are devoted; to them comes joy.
Those to the branches[1] attached, of their life make waste.
Of Amrita the fruit is borne by those whose utterance is holy, amrita-like. (4)
What can we say, devoid of merit as we are ?
Thou dost watch over all, weighing their worth
As is Thy will, we abide : By the Master's guidance
We know Thee to be sole Creator. (5)
Should it please Thee, to goodness dost Thou prompt us :
Discarding evil, into good are we absorbed.
The sole holy Being, repository of merit, by the Master's Word have we realized. (6)
Wherever we look, Him alone we behold;
Duality and foul thinking by the holy Word's power is discarded,
In realization of unicity is the Lord known to be sole,
In His own state[2] everlastingly the same. (7)

---

1. In the original, the figure is of the root, branches and fruit. 'Branches' implies visible objects
2. The original has the image of the everlasting dye.

The body is a lotus that withers :
The egoist, of poor understanding, realizes not the Word.
Whoever by the Master's grace in his self makes search, finds therein the Life of the World, sole Bestower. (8)
Of millions caught in evil
That in their hearts keep the Lord enshrined,
Has He the sins annulled.
One dyed fast in devotion like madder, his heart's desire obtains. (9)
The egoist, discoursing on God-realization, yet has not realization himself :
Whirling in births, finds he no poise.
The seeker by the Master guided is illumined,
To laud Him who in all time is known to be sole and eternal. (10)
In the egoist's doings lies all manner of suffering.
Within him has not entered the Word—how may he at the Divine Portal arrive ?
The holy Word in the self of the godly is lodged,
Devotion to which bliss ever brings. (11)
Wherever I look, art Thou everywhere :
From the holy Master is full realization obtained.
Meditate ever on the Name solely; in the Name P. 1052 is the self dyed. (12)
Dyed in the Name, the body is made pure.
Those without the Name are in ignominy[1] sunk.
Such in transmigration are whirled, realize not the Name;
Others by the Master's guidance have the Word realized. (13)
The Preceptor perfection incarnate the realization has granted :
None without devotion to the Name obtained liberation.
Solely from devotion to the Name comes exaltation :
In serenity is such a one in devotion dyed. (14)
The city of the body shall collapse in a heap :
Without devotion to the Word shall transmigration not be annulled.
Such as by the Master's guidance realize the Lord to be sole,
The Supreme Truth laud, and in truth are absorbed. (15)
Such alone attain Him as have on them His glance of grace.
In their heart is lodged the holy Word.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name of the Formless,
At the holy Portal abides, realizing Truth. (16) (8)

1. Lit. Drowning without water. (This is idiomatic expression in Punjabi and Hindi).

Āpei Kartā sabhu jisu karṇā

All happens as by the Creator willed;
All creation Thy shelter seeks :
In all creation is He pervasive unseen—
By the Master's Word realized. (1)
God's devotees are Masters of overflowing treasures :
These He bestows on those contemplating the Word.
What pleases Thee, that Thou dost :
In devotion is my mind with the holy Eternal dyed. (2)
Himself diamonds, jewels invaluable :
His own glance alone their value can weigh.
All creation under Thy shelter lies : by Thy grace alone art Thou realized. (3)
Whoever from primal Time by Thy glance of grace is favoured,
From death and birth released, is from transmigration made exempt,
Day and night Thy holy attributes lauding,
In all time knowing Thee the sole Reality. (4)
Involved in Maya-attachment is the whole world created,
So also Brahma, Vishnu and all deities.
Those pleasing Thee in devotion to the Name are engaged :
By enlightenment's wisdom is He realized. (5)
Good and evil over the world are operative :
In feelings of joy and sorrow lies great suffering.
True joy comes to the God-directed—
To those by the Master's guidance the Name realizing. (6)
None the consequences of deeds has power to efface.
By contemplation of the Master's Word is the Door of Liberation reached.
As pre-ordained, are rewards obtained,
By those through subduing of egoism finding realization. (7)
In Maya-attachment is the mind to the Lord indifferent;
From duality comes great suffering in the hereafter.
Egoists, assuming sectarian garbs in delusion stray about :
In the last moment are they full of regrets. (8)
By the Lord's grace does one engage in lauding Him, Thereby annulling sin and sorrow entire.
Holy is the Lord, holy the Word :
To the Lord is my heart attached. (9)
Those favoured by the Lord's glance of grace obtain treasure of merit :

Their egoism and possessiveness stopped.
One is the sole Bestower of merit and demerit—by the Master's guidance is He by rare spirits realized. (10)
The Lord is immaculate, beyond limit.
Himself He grants union by contemplation of the Master's Word.
Himself He showers grace, in the mind confirms truth,
Therein mind and body dyeing. (11)
In the mind and body that are foul, is placed the Light without limit—
This by contemplation of the Master's Word is realized. P. 1053
By discarding egoism is the mind rendered pure :
Serving God by utterance[1] of His Name confers bliss. (12)
In the fortress of the body are situated numerous shops and market-places;
Inside it also lies the holy Name without limit.
Those that their egoism have vanquished, have realization,
And by devotion to the Master's Word at the Divine Portal
in splendour shine. (13)
God's Name is a priceless jewel, inaccessible, limitless;
Who by computation may its value determine ?
By the Master's Word is its value determined as in the self is the Word realized. (14)
Vast are the details of Simritis and Shastras :
All this is expanse of Maya-attachment.
Those without understanding realize not the holy Word—Rare are such as by the Master's guidance have such realization. (15)
Himself all-powerful is the Creator :
By means of the holy Word, Truth in the mind He fixes.
Saith Nanak : From devotion to the Name comes exaltation :
To me has been revealed the vision of the sole Creator, in all time existing. (16) (9)

So sachu sevihu sirjaṇhārā

Worship the eternal Creator,
Annuller through the holy Word, of suffering;
Inaccessible, unknowable; inestimable His worth,
Beyond comprehension, immeasurable. (1)

1. Lit. By means of the tongue.

Himself the holy Eternal makes Truth prevail;
Some has He to truth devoted :
Truth they worship, Truth live; by truth in the Name are absorbed. (2)
In primal Time has He united His devotees to Himself;
Himself in them inspired holy devotion.
Through the holy Word Him they ever laud, their lives making fruitful.[1] (3)
Those submitting to the Master's teaching though in commerce engaged, yet their self realize,
None but the sole Supreme valuing[2] :
Holy the Master-Merchant, holy the purchasers :
With capital of the Name making commerce. (4)
Himself has He fashioned and created the world :
Rare are those to whom realization of the Master's Word has been granted :
Those serving the holy Preceptor are pure their Yama's noose snapped. (5)
Himself He breaks, moulds, with beauty invests creation, fashions it;
Some in Maya-attachment and duality are absorbed :
Egoists stray along in blind endeavour, with noose of Yama's rope round their neck. (6)
Himself He shows grace, and the Master's service inspires;
By guidance of the Master's teaching in the mind lodges the Name.
Such day after day on the holy Name meditate; the Name in this world is the true gain. (7)
Holy Himself, holy His greatness;
His Name by the Master's guidance in the self lodged.
Those bearing the Name in mind in beauty shine;
Their disquieting sorrows annulled. (8)
Inaccessible, unknowable, of incalculable worth is the Lord,
By the Master's grace in the mind lodged :
No account of their deeds called for from those,
That by the holy Word the Bestower of merits laud. (9)
Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva His servitors.

1. Gaining profit.
2. Lit. Recognize.

Know not the extent of the inaccessible, inscrutable Creator :
Those by Thy glance of grace favoured,
By the Master's guidance the Inaccessible realize. (10)
From the holy Master's guidance is realization attained,
And the sole Name in the mind lodged :
In utterance of the Name, in meditation on the Name,
Is His mansion found and His merits lauded. (11)
His servants serve Him in submission to His limitless Ordinance; P. 1054
The egoist knows not essence of the Ordinance;
In submission to the Ordinance lies exaltation :
By submission to the Ordinance is penury lifted. (12)
One by the Master's grace the Ordinance realizing,
His wandering mind stilled, in the Lord's[1] abode lodged :
Those in the Name dyed are the truly detached[2] undisturbed—
In their self lying jewel of the Name. (13)
In the universe is He alone pervasive;
By the Master's grace His presence revealed :
Those by the holy Word lauding Him are truly pure :
In their true home[3] abiding. (14)
Thy devotees seek Thy shelter ever—
Thou that are inaccessible, unknowable; beyond realization Thy worth.
As is Thy will, Thy devotees are content to be[4]—
By the Master's guidance Thy Name contemplating. (15)
May I everlastingly laud Thy Merits, holy Lord,
Add to Thee be pleasing.
Thus supplicates Nanak with fervour[5] :
Grant me the gift of Truth : may I in Truth be absorbed ! (16) (1.10)

Satiguru sevani se wadbhāgī

Blessed are those serving he holy Preceptor,
Their minds in the holy Name ever fixed :
Always their selves in the Bestower of bliss absorbed,
By the holy Word in state of fervent joy. (1)

1. Lit, Of the Sole Supreme.
2. Bairāgī (Vairāgī).
3. The state of realization is implied.
4. Lit. As Thou dost keep them.
5. Lit. In truth.

By the holy Preceptor's grace are they to the Lord united,
The Lord's Name in their mind lodged :
As the Lord, Bestower of bliss everlasting in the mind is lodged,
By the holy Word in it rises joyous fervour. (2)
By His grace is union found :
Egoism and acquisitiveness in the holy Word consumed :
Those so favoured are eternally liberated, unshaken,[1]
From all distraction freed. (3)
Without devotion to the Master is all pitch darkness;
None without devotion to the holy Word liberation finds;
Those in the Word dyed are supremely detached[2]—
The holy Word their true gain, (4)
Suffering and joy the Creator in Primal time has recorded;
Duality has He Himself cast forth :
Those by the Master guided to the world are unattached;
To the egoist what credence possible ? (5)
Egoists are those not realizing the Word;
Of the meaning of the Lord's fear unaware :
How without such fear may be attained Truth,
emancipator from fear,
Without which will Yama strike terror ? (6)
Yama with arrogance swollen may not be vanquished;
He approaches not those cherishing the Master's Word.
On hearing the Word he takes flight,
For fear of chastizement by the Lord eternally fulfilled.[3] (7)
The Lord's is the rule prevalent,
Against which is Yama helpless.
Under the Divine Ordinance behests he carries out,
By the Divine will inflicting death. (8)
The God-directed realize, the holy Eternal has all forms created :
And by Him is all expance spread out :
The God-directed alone the Truth realize : by following the holy Word they find joy. (9)
The God-directed realize the Dispenser of Fruits of actions :
In all four Ages through the Master's Word realizing Him.

---

1. Lit. Of unchanging dye.
2. Bairāgī.
3. Lit. One that has no need of anything.

The God-directed die not, nor are born,
In the holy Word absorbed. (10)
The God-directed by devotion to the holy Name and the holy Word laud. P. 1055
The Lord inaccessible, unknowable, beyond desire.
God's Name in the Four Ages[1] has alone liberation conferred;
By the holy Word is commerce in the holy Word[2] made. (11)
The God-directed obtain poise and joy everlasting,
In the heart the holy Name lodging.
The God-directed the Name realize, snapping noose of foul thinking. (12)
The God-directed from Truth arise and into Truth are absorbed;
Neither are they afflicted by death and birth nor in births are cast,
Ever dyed in holy joy :
Each day obtaining benefits. (13)
The God-directed devotees at the Court Divine shine :
By the holy utterance, the holy Word exalted.
Ever day and night the Lord's praises chanting, in serenity for their eternal home departing. (14)
The holy Preceptor the Word communicates,
Exhorting to sincere devotion each day :
Those to God devoted chant His praise endlessly, becoming pure :
Those with purity are the true kings. (15)
The holy Lord is the sole Bestower of merit—
This rare spirits by the Master's guidance realize.
Nanak, servant of God, with joy blossoms, lauding God,
Who is known to be beyond desire. (16) (2.11)

Hari jīo sevinhu agam apārā

Serve you the Lord—inaccessible, without limit;
Unknowable His confine and extent :
As by the Master's grace the self He pervades,
Illimitable wisdom it acquires. (1)
In all creation is manifest that sole Reality,
By the Master's grace revealed :

1. See Glossary.
2. Inplies devotion.

He, life of the universe, cherisher of all,
Sustenance to each provides. (2)
The holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed, realization has conferred;
By His Ordinance was the entire universe created;
Those obedient to the Ordinance obtain joy;
Kings too to the ordinance are obedient. (3)
Illimitable is the holy Preceptor's teaching
Whereby is saved the world.
The Lord, sole Creator, watches over His creation,
Conferring on all, life and sustenance. (4)
On one among millions confers He realization :
Such in the Master's Word in joy are dyed :
These laud the Lord, Bestower of bliss,
Who the gift of devotion and laudation confers. (5)
Pure are those that serve the holy Preceptor;
Those in transmigration caught are of minds unenlightened.[1]
Inaccessible, unkowable, without desire,
Beloved of devotees, unfathomable is the Lord. (6)
The holy Preceptor grants firm devotion to Truth;
By his holy Word comes everlasting laudation of God.
The Bestower of merit all creation pervades;
For each his fortune[2] has He recorded. (7)
By the Master's guidance is God seen to be ever-present;
Those by the holy Word serving Him, fulfilment find.
Each day by the holy Word they serve Him,
In the Word finding joy. (8)
The unenlightened purblind much ritual repeat.
Such ritual, from stubborn will rising, to transmigration leads.
For Maya-poison greed and covetousness they practise,
By foul thinking their mind unfixed.[3] (9)
The holy Preceptor devotion confirms :
By his Word the Lord's Name to the seeker appeals. P. 1056
In the self, mind and body is the Lord pervasive;
In the mind to the Lord attuned[4] rises devotion and laudation. (10)

1. Lit. Unbaked. (as of clay).
2. Lit. The auspicious hour.
3. Lit. Standing at the parting of ways.
4. Lit. Drenched (as of cloth cast in dyeing vat).

The Lord is holy Destroyer of demons;
By the Master's teaching[1], Saviour of His devotees.
Holy, ever holy is the Lord, King of kings. (11)
Holy are the devotees that please Thee;
At Thy Portal lauding Thee, by the Master's Word exalted,
Ever chanting the holy Word;
The holy Name is capital of the poor. (12)
Those by Him united are not alienated,
Ever by the Master's word lauding Him.
Thou the sole Master of all—
By the holy Word is Thy Name lauded. (13)
Without the holy Word art Thou unknowable;
Thyself this indescribable theme[2] dost expound.
Thyself art holy Bestower of the Word :
Thyself by utterance of the Name Divine,
On Thy devotees dost it bestow. (14)
Thou art the Creator, the Maker;
None Thy Writ to efface;
By the Master's guidance dost Thou devotion to the holy Name confer—
Those receiving it suffer not illusion. (15)
The holy devotees at Thy court,
By the holy Word in love and devotion serve Thee.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dyed are truly detached;[3]
By devotion to the holy Name comes to them exalted success. (16) (3.12)

Merai Prabhi Sāchai iku Khelu rachāiyā

The holy Lord a show has enacted;
In all creation none another resembles.
Himself He makes them distinct, is by their might pleased;
In each self all joy pours. (1)
The sounding air of breath he operates;
In the self has He introduced Shiva and Shakti.[4]
Should by the Master's grace anyone's mind from Maya turn away,
The jewel-Word by him is obtained. (2)

1. Lit. Word.
2. Lit. Story, tale.
3. Bairāgi.
4. In Yogic parlance, Shiva is the immutable principle: Shakti or Maya, the principle of change.

Himself has He made darkness and light;
Solely does He operate, none beside Him.
Those that by the Master's grace the self realize,
Their heart's lotus abloom, their understanding full. (3)
Himself He knows His extent and state;
Others of these on hearsay only talk.
By enlightenment with the Master's guidance does one have realization;
And the Lord's holy attributes lauds. (4)
In the bodily frame lie endless treasures.[1]
Himself He opens the doors to these lending.
The God-directed in tranquillity quaff amrita—
Their flame of desire extinguished. (5)
Into the self are poured all sources of joy :
Rare are those that from the Master obtain realization of the Word :
By laudation of the Word should one seek these within;
Why for these stray outside ? (6)
None without tasting ever found joy :
By the Master's Word is amrita quaffed :
Should one by quaffing amrita, immortality attain,
Joy in the Master's Word is his. (7)
One realizing the self, of all merits has awareness,
Through the Master's Word one recites the Lord's Name,
Each day in the Name dyed;
Annulled is his Maya-attachment. (8)
In service to the Master are all blessings obtained; P. 1057
Thereby are egoism, covetousness and selfishness lifted.
By grace of the Bestower of bliss, by guidance of the Master's Word is the self ennobled. (9)
Amrita is the Master's Word, his utterance;
Thereby evermore is the Name Divine expounded.
With the holy Lord in the self lodged,
Is it rendered pure. (10)
God's devotees serving Him, by the holy Word laud Him;
Ever in joy in God dyed, His praises chant.
Granting liberation to them, Himself by the holy Word conferring union,
Their minds rich[2] with fragrance of sandalwood. (11)

1. Lit. Objects.
2. Lit. In their mind is lodged.

One by the holy Word, the Inexpressible expressing and lauding,
The Lord above desire—
Himself the Bestower of merit by the holy Word unites him;
Joy of the holy Word on him confers. (12)
The egoist strayed finds no resting-place;
His actions as ordained in primal Time;
In poison dyed, after poison questing,
In affliction of death and birth involved. (13)
His own self He lauds;
Lord ! to Thee alone are Thy attributes known :
Holy Thou, holy Thy utterance;
Inaccessible, immeasurable Thy Essence. (14)
Without guidance of the Master gracious, none to God
    has attained,
With performance of a million rituals even.
By the Master's grace is He in the self[1] lodged;
By the holy Word does His holy laudation come. (15)
Those to Him united in primal Time are so destined;[2]
By the holy utterance, the Word ennobled.
Nanak, servant of God, lauds evermore the holy Lord—
By lauding Him is His attributes absorbed. (16) (4.13)

Nihchalu eku sadā sachu soī

Immutable, eternally holy, sole Reality is the Lord;
From the holy Preceptor is this truth learnt.
Those drenched in joy in God meditate on Him evermore;
Their character by the Master's teaching shaped,
    is their armour. (1)
Within them is holy joy everlasting;
By light of the Master's Word God's Name they love :
The Name Divine, source of the Nine Treasures[3] in their self, is lodged;
Desire for Maya have they discarded. (2)
Subjects and rulers, all by foul thinking of duality are gripped;
Without devotion to the holy Preceptor realization of the sole Truth comes not.
Those meditating on the sole Truth find joy everlasting—Unshakeable is their empire. (3)

1. Vessel.
2. Lit. Are by Him united.
3. See Glossary.

Birth and death none can stop :
These by His Ordinance occur.
By the Master's guidance ever on the holy Eternal meditate :
Liberation from Him alone is obtained. (4)
Truth and restraint at the holy Preceptor's Portal is found :
By his Word egoism and wrath He annuls.
From service to the holy Preceptor is obtained joy everlasting;
Noble conduct and restraint to such comes. (5)
In the world arise egoism and attachment;
In neglect of the Name is the world destroyed :
Without devotion to the holy Preceptor is the Name not obtained :
The holy Name in this world is the true gain. (6)
God's holy Ordinance through the Word is found pleasing;
The Five mystic sounds[1] make the concert.
Ever by aid of the holy Name comes success—
Without guidance of the holy Word what success ? (7)
Man's happiness and unhappiness in an instant arise :
In foul thinking of duality no success lies.[2] P. 1058
The Creator union and separation has recorded:
Deeds destined can no way be averted. (8)
By living the Master's Word comes liberation in life itself;
With the Lord such a devotee for ever abides.
By grace of the Master comes exaltation;
Such by malady of egoism are not afflicted. (9)
Consumption of a variety of tasteful foods gives only increase of body;
Adopting religious garbs, many yet live not the Master's Word :
Inside they suffer a grievous malady and pain,
And in filth are absorbed. (10)
Those studying Scriptures into disputation enter;
By the Word they realize not the Supreme Being in all creation manifested;
One by the Master guided the Essence churns out;
His tongue the joy in God tasting. (11)
Some discard the blessed object within, straying outside :
Egoists purblind taste not holy joy :

1. These are sounds made by different kinds of instruments, here used symbolically.
2. Union and separation with God, through good and evil deeds is implied.

Their tongue[1] in alien tastes involved, joyless its accents,
Of divine ecstasy deprived. (12)
Illusion is spouse of the egoist's life,[2]
In foul thinking, dying in ignominy ever :
Lust and wrath his mind in duality involve :
Not in dream finds he joy. (13)
The devotee's body is as gold, the holy Word her spouse, Everlastingly with the Lord enjoying blessed love—
In the body's mansion with the Unconfined uniting,
And in Him absorbed by realization of Divine Ordinance. (14)
The Divine Bestower bestows blessings as it pleases Him—
None can raise a cavil before Him.
Himself He grants liberation, and by the holy Word
confers union,
Limitless His Word's might. (15)
Life and limb, all is His;
He the holy Master, Lord.
Saith Nanak : By guidance of the Master's Word is the Lord attained;
By contemplation comes absorption in Him. (16) (5.14)

Gurmukhi nād Bed bīchāru

The God-directed are enlightened as by the mystic Yogic sound and Vedic texts.[3]
To the God-directed comes illumination and meditation unlimited.
Deeds of the God-directed done please the Lord :
The God-directed find fulfilment. (1)
The mind of the God-directed from Maya turns away and is restrained;
The utterance of the God-directed turns into the mystic sound :
The God-directed, in truth dyed are truly detached;
In their true abode settled. (2)
The Master's teaching have I uttered as the immortal Word;
In the holy Word have I expressed it as holy truth :
Thereby is my mind in truth evermore dyed;
In truth wholly absorbed. (3)

1. Palate is meant.
2. Body : Mind is implied.
3. Original, Nāda, Veda.

The God-directed with mind purified in the holy pool[1], have their dip;[2]
Impurity touches them not, in truth are they absorbed.
Evermore truth they live; true devotion in others inspiring. (4)
Of the God-directed the utterance and glance are holy;
Their[3] deeds true :
Day and night ever uttering words of truth,
in others truth inspiring. (5)
Of the God-directed the utterance is holy and noble;
Truth solely their speech.
By the Master's guidance truth alone they serve;
The holy Word they communicate. (6)
One seeking the Master's guidance illumination finds,
And egoism, Maya-illusion discards;
Ascending the Master's stairs and exalted high, P. 1059
At the holy Portal lauds the Lord. (7)
Of the God-directed the way of life is truthful, actions pure;
The God-directed the Door of Liberation attain :
In joy of loving devotion dyed,
Egoism they discard and in God are absorbed. (8)
The God-directed in their mind delving, instruct others;
And to the holy Name are ever devoted :
What pleases the Lord they do, what the holy lord approves. (9)
As may please the Lord, with the holy Preceptor
the seeker He unites :
As may please Him, devotion in the mind He may lodge :
Dyed in bliss as pleases Him, by His pleasure devotion in the seeker's self is lodged. (10)
One performing stubborn ritual, decay of powers shall have;
Assumption of numerous garbs wins not the Lord's pleasure :
Those in poison dyed, into suffering are fallen;
In endless suffering absorbed. (11)
To the God-directed comes bliss,
And enlightenment concerning death and life :
One accepting death and life equably, the Lord's pleasure wins. (12)

---

1. Implies holy company.
2. (Plural form adopted here. The original is in singular).

The God-directed in death the Lord's approbation win :
Know, birth and death by Divine Ordinance occurs,
As is the self absorbed in the Higher self,
Are death, birth and suffering annulled. (13)
Blessed are those that the holy Preceptor have found,
And egoism and atachment discarded :
Pure their minds, never fouled after,
At the holy Portal are they exalted. (14)
Himself the sole Doer of all;
Watching over all, making, unmaking :
With devotion under the Master's guidance is the Lord pleased;
Truth His approbation wins. (15)
The God-directed truth solely practise;
Pure and holy—impurity touches them not.
Saith Nanak : Those contemplating the Name,
in the Name dyed,
Are in it completely absorbed. (16) (1.15)

Āpei Srishti Hukami Sabh Sājī

By His Ordinance has He fashioned all creation;
Himself He creates, dissolves it, and confers grace :
Himself dispensing holy justice, all to Truth unites. (1)
The body like a fortress is fashioned :
In it is spread expanse of Maya-attachment.
Without guidance of the Word is it heap of ashes;
Dust into dust mingled. (2)
The body is also a limitless fortress of gold,
Prevaded by limitless Divine Essence.[1]
Those by the Master's guidance in the Lord's laudation absorbed,
To the Beloved, in everlasting joy are united. (3)
The body is the Lord's abode, by Him beautified;
In it abides Himself the Lord the Divine Being :
The merchants of God in the Master's Word hold commerce,
By His grace to the Master united. (4)
Truly holy is one that casts wrath off;
By the Word getting realization, purifies himself :
Himself the Creator fashions all things; Himself in the self lodges Truth. (5)

1. Original, Shabda.

Pure, away from worldly ways is devotion,
By contemplation of the Word, washing mind and body pure.
Ever abides the devotee dyed in ecstasy—
The Lord alone in His grace devotion inspires. (6)
In this temple of the mind, is the mind restless; P. 1060
Discarding joy in God as straw, into great affliction falling;
Without the Master's touch it finds not poise.
All this is as the Lord wills.[1] (7)
Himself is He transcendent, Himself the contemplator;
Through good actions Himself union He grants :
What worth is man's poor effort ? Union by His grace alone comes. (8)
Himself the Lord to the Holy Preceptor the seeker unites;
By power of the holy Word with heroism infusing him :
Himself granting union, conferring exaltation,
And devotion to the holy Eternal inspiring. (9)
In the self is the holy Eternal lodged.
Rare is the seeker, by the Master's guidance realizing this :
As wealth of the Name in man's self is lodged,
with the tongue the Name he utters. (10)
Some in various directions wander, seeking Him not within :
Involved in Maya-attachment are they bound by Yama,
agent of death :
Yama's noose snaps not while in duality they wander about. (11)
No recitation, austerity or discipline avails,
Except living the Master's Word;
One united by the Master's Word finds holy Truth,
And in Truth is absorbed. (12)
Lust and wrath in the world are powerful;
Performance of numerous ritual acts, all is source of suffering :
Those serving the holy Preceptor alone obtain bliss,
Through the holy Word to God united. (13)
The body of air, water, fire is made—
Each by Maya-attachment pervaded:
Realization of the Creator alone Maya-attachment lifts. (14)
Many with Maya-attachment and pride are afflicted;
Egoism thus inevitably arises;
Those so afflicted are not aware of Yama and death;
At the end in regrets departing. (15)

1. Lit. As be the Lord's play.

The Creator alone knows the right way of living,
And by the Master's guidance sends realization of the holy Word.
Thus says Nanak, servant of God, in humility;
Devotion to the holy Name He inspires. (16) (2.16)

Ādi jugādi dayāpati dātā

In all Time is He the compassionate Bestower,
By the holy Master's Word realized :
Those serving Thee into Thee are absorbed :
Thou in Thy will dost grant them union. (1)
Inaccessible, unknowable, of worth inestimable art Thou;
All creation is under Thy shelter :
As pleases Thee, dost Thou guide each, to each showing the way. (2)
He alone is real, so shall He be in all time;
Himself the Creator of all, without a second;
Of all is He mindful, bestower of bliss, provider of sustenance. (3)
Inaccessible, unknowable, inscrutable limitless—
None Thy extent knowing :
Thou alone hast realization of Thyself,
By the Master's teaching granting realization. (4)
The nether regions and countless worlds—
In all operates His Ordinance so mighty.
By His Ordinance He makes and unmakes;
By the Ordinance grants union. (5) P. 1061
Whoever the Ordinance realizes, lauds it,
And the Lord inaccessible, unknowable above desire :
Each has realization as by Thee granted :
From Thee comes realization through the holy Word. (6)
Each day is appointed life declining—
To this night and day bear witness.
The egoist purblind, thoughtless, realizes not death,
over his head making tumult. (7)
By touch of the Master's feet are mind and body rendered pure;
From the mind is gone illusion and lifted is fear :
Ever in bliss, does the self chant holy praise,
The holy Word uttering. (8)
Those knowing Thee to be Dispenser of retribution,
By Supreme good fortune through the Master's Word realize Thee—

To such art Thou high lineage, honour, holy truth;
Annulling their egoism dost Thou to them grant union. (9)
The mind insensitive, to duality attached,
Strayed into illusion in misfortune caught, strays;
Should it find Divine grace, the holy Preceptor it may serve,
In serenity finding bliss. (10)
The eighty-four lakh species has He created;
To the human incarnation is granted attachment to devotion to the Master :
Without devotion lies the self in filth,
Into filth again and again falling. (11)
By good fortune[1] comes attachment to devotion to the Master;
How without good fortune[1] may this be attained :
All happens as by the Creator willed—
All occurring as pleases Him. (12)
Simritis and Shastras know not His extent;
Man, ignorant, blind realizes not the Essence :
All happens as the Creator wills; Himself also He casts man into illusion. (13)
All happens as He ordains;
Each He sets to an appointed task :
Himself He makes and unmakes, watches over all;
By the Master's guidance Himself realization grants. (14)
The Lord holy is of wisdom profound;
His laudation to the mind brings poise.
Inaccessible, unknowable;
His worth beyond understanding, by the Master's teaching is He in the mind lodged. (15)
Unattached Himself, the world in various tasks is engaged :
By the Master's grace may He by rare spirits be realized.
Saith Nanak : As the Name in the self is lodged,
By the Master's teaching does He grant union. (16) (3.17)

Jug Chhattīh kīyo ghubārā

For thirty-six ages[2] was it all darkness—
The significance thereof is known to Thyself, Lord Creator !

1. Karma (Skt.) here stands for good fortune garnered through good actions. This is different from the similarly-sounding Karam (Ar.) meaning 'grace'.
2. Original, Yuga.

What can another say or expound—Thou best knowest how to evaluate everything. (1)
The Lord attributed,[1] all creation fashioned :
All existence is Thy play, Thy might proclaiming :
Himself the holy Lord multiplicity creates;Himself breaks
it asunder. (2)
This universal play is like a juggler's show—
Its truth by the holy Preceptor revealed to sight.
The true seeker by guidance of the Master's Word, untouched by Maya abides,
With heart to the holy Eternal devoted. (3)
In the individual self are played musical instruments of various tunes;
These the player Himself plays :
In each self blows an equable breeze,
That imparts to each its sound. (4)
Whatever the Creator wills, perforce happens.
Through the Master's Word one relinquishes one's ego.
By the Master's grace are some exalted, on the Name P. 1062 continuously to meditate. (5)
No gain is like devotion to the Master,
Whereby the Name in the mind is lodged, the Name lauded.
Contemplation of the Name brings joy everlasting;
From the Name arises true profit. (6)
To those without the Name comes suffering undiluted;
Those in much ritual engaged, have only increase of evil-thinking.
Without devotion to the Name how may joy come ?
Without the Name is all suffering got. (7)
Himself Doer and the cause;
Rare are those by the Master's grace granted realization.
The God-directed their bonds break asunder,
And the abode of liberation attain. (8)
One in ritual calculations engaged, in the fire of suffering burns—
Neither his illusion nor his evil-thinking annulled.
The God-directed such calculations transcend,
And in truth solely are absorbed. (9)

1. Oankār.

Truth granted by God the rare spirits acquire :
By the Master's grace is it revealed.
Those lauding the holy Name, dyed in joy in God,
By the Master's grace find bliss. (10)
Devotion to the Name is true ritual recitation, austerity and self-restraint,
And annuller of sins :
By devotion to the Lord's Name are body and mind joy-cooled,
And in serenity immersed. (11)
Covetousness fouls further the impure mind.
From impure action arises suffering.
Of such the commerce is false;
From untruthful utterance comes to them suffering. (12)
Whose in the self the immaculate Word lodges,
By the Master's grace has his illusion lifted.
By following the Master's will day and night,
Contemplating the Name, joy shall he get. (13)
Himself the Creator all-holy :
Creator and destroyer Himself also.
One by the Master guided shall ever laud the Lord,
And in union with the holy Supreme, joy shall obtain. (14)
Despite numerous efforts, the senses defy control;
From devotion to the holy Preceptor is the mind controlled;
So controlled, in the mind are the senses absorbed. (15)
Differences of mine and thine hast Thou Thyself made;
All is Thy creation, Thine alone.
Saith Nanak : Contemplate evermore the Name;
By the Master's teaching is the mind subdued. (16) (4.18)

Hari jīo dātā agam athāhā

The Lord is bestower of gifts, inaccessible, immeasurable;
Not a grain of desire in Him nor need :
None to approach Him has power :
Himself He grants union as it may please Him. (1)
Whatever He wills must inevitably come about :
No other Bestower of gifts such as He.
Whosoever He favours with gift of the Name, obtains it :
By the Master's Word union He grants. (2)
The fourteen worlds Thy markets;
The holy Preceptor has shown these in the self to lie :

One that in the Name holds commerce,
By the Master's Word this truth attains. (3)
By devotion to the holy Preceptor comes serene joy,
And in the self is lodged the Lord of the Universe :
In serenity does such a one day and night practise devotion :
Devotion too He Himself inspires. (4)
Those from the holy Preceptor alienated in suffering must fall; P. 1063
Ever chastized, with total suffering afflicted :
Blackened their faces, the Divine mansion they attain not,
By utter suffering gripped. (5)
Blessed are those that to the holy Preceptor are devoted;
In serene devotion absorbed :
Truth alone they live ever,
By the Master to the holy Eternal united. (6)
Devotion is attained by whoever, by the holy Eternal is so granted :
Truth within him lodged, his illusion lifted.
Himself truth He bestows;
This by him is attained to whom He grants it. (7)
Of all is He Creator;
Realization comes to whomsoever He grants this :
Himself conferring grace and exaltation;
Himself grants union. (8)
In egoism is all life wasted;
In the hereafter clings attachment; Maya is not discarded.
Yama, agent of death, calls the reckoning,
And as sesame in the press, crushes evil-doers. (9)
By Supreme good fortune comes devotion to the Master;
By Divine grace comes such devotion :
Yama, agent of death touches not such;
In the eternal Mansion have they bliss. (10)
Bliss comes to such as by Thee are favoured;
And by supreme good fortune in devotion to the Master are engaged :
In Thy power lies exaltation :
Those get it on whom Thou dost confer it. (11)
The mind by the Master is illumined,
As blessing of the Name in the mind is lodged.
By the jewel enlightenment is the self Illuminated ever,
With darkness of ignorance lifted. (12)

The un-enlightened purblind in duality are involved;
Miserable, in utter ignominy fallen[1] :
At departure find they no resting-place,
At Yama's door in suffering bound. (13)
Without devotion to the holy Preceptor liberation is not attained—
Ask this of any enlightened one, any practising meditation.
Those to the holy Preceptor devoted find exaltation :
At the holy Portal honoured. (14)
Whoever the holy Preceptor serves, by the Lord to Himself is united;
His egoism annulled, to holiness attached :
A merchant of truth evermore,
The holy Name his earned profit. (15)
All happens as the Creator wills;
Whoever by the Word to the world dies, is liberated;
Saith Nanak : In the mind of such is the Name lodged;
The Name alone they contemplate. (16) (5.19)

Jo Tudhu karṇā so kari pāiyā

What Thou has destined have we received :
Rare are such as by the Divine will abide.
In submission to the Divine will lies bliss;
From submission to His will comes joy. (1)
By the Master's guidance comes willing acceptance of the Divine will;
To such comes spontaneously joy and holiness :
Many in the world seek submission from God
Himself comes. (2)
Whoever to Thy will submits, to Thee is united,
Those with Thy will pleased, in Thee are absorbed.
In submission to Thy will lies exaltation :
Rare are such as practise submission. (3)
Should it please Him, with the Master the seeker's union. P. 1064
He decrees !
Then does the seeker by the Master's guidance attain blessing of the Name :
All creation by Thy will hast Thou raised :
Those so favoured by Thee to Thy will submit. (4)

---

1. The original is a Punjabi-Hindi idiom, drowning without water.

Egoists purblind practise clever tricks;
Submitting not to the will, much suffering they find.
In illusion lost, they transmigrate,
Not finding their true resting-place. (5)
The holy Preceptor brings about union, and confers exaltation :
Devotion to the holy Preceptor in primal Time is ordained :
From devotion to the holy Preceptor is atained the Name;
From the Name comes bliss. (6)
From the holy Reality[1] is all manifested, by the Reality[1] is all existence ended :
By the Master's grace is mind and body in devotion drenched.
The tongue, uttering the holy Name in joy is drenched.
From such gusto comes joy in God. (7)
Rare are those that in the Mansion of the self attain the Divine Mansion;
By devotion to truth through guidance of the Word is this attained :
Whoever by the Lord with truth is blessed, finds truth;
To such comes absorption in truth. (8)
From neglecting of the Name comes suffering to mind and body,
And is malady of Maya-attachment caught;
Without the Name are mind and body leprous, cast into hell. (9)
Those dyed in the Name have limbs pure :
Pure spirits, with joy are they in everlasting love,
Praising the Name they attain everlasting bliss,
And in their true abode are lodged. (10)
The whole world in commerce[2] is engaged—
Without devotion to the Name all is loss :
Destitute[3] has man come into the world, destitute[3] goes out;
Without the Name is suffering his lot. (11)
Those alone get devotion to the Name that are so favoured,
And by guidance of the Master's Word have the Lord
into their mind lodged :
As by the Master's grace is the Name in the heart lodged,
Solely on the Name they meditate. (12)
The whole created world seeks devotion to the Name :
Such alone get the Name as in primal Time earned it.

1. Nām.
2. (Used metaphorically).
3. Lit. Naked, unclad.

Those attaining the Name are supremely fortunate;
By guidance of the Master's Word to the Lord united. (13)
Immeasurable is the fortress of the body;
Therein settled, meditates the Lord :
Holy His Name, holy the commerce—
Those engaging in it the eternal abode find. (14)
Within this fortress are fine mansions and lovely spots;
Rare spirits such spots attain :
In the self of those with these in harmony, lauding the Lord,
The Lord Himself Takes abode. (15)
The Creator a system has set up :
Into the body are all boons poured.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dealing are in joy dyed :
Rare are such as by the Master's guidance the
Name attain. (16) (6.20)

Kāyā kanchanu shabdu vīchārā

In contemplation of the Word the frame bears a golden aspect;
In it comes to lodge the Lord, of greatness incalculable :
Those day after day serving the Lord by the holy Word,
By the Word to Him are united. (1)
May I be a sacrifice to such as contemplate the Lord;
By guidance of the Master's Word are they to the Lord united;
With the dust of their feet smearing my face P. 1065
and forehead,
In holy company their laudation I chant. (2)
May I laud the Lord, should I win His favour;
By the holy Word by the Name Divine may myself be ennobled :
May I hear the Divine Word in all four corners resounding,
Thereby in the Name may I be absorbed ! (3)
Truly holy is one that within the self the Lord seeks,
And by guidance of the Master's Word has the vision Divine :
Blessed by the Master's Word with collyrium of illumination,
May he by the Divine glance of grace, to the Lord
be united. (4)
By supreme good luck is the human incarnation obtained;
In the human incarnation is the self to the Word attuned;
Without the holy Word all is darkness—
By the Master's guidance rare spirits alone have realization. (5)
Some have come into the World to no purpose :
their life a waste !

Egoists, to duality attached,
Never again this occasion shall find;
The foot once slipped, never may after be steadied. (6)
By the Master's Word is the self purified;
In it comes to lodge the Repository of all Merit :
Then the self has the vision pervasive of the holy Eternal,
Which hearing, in the mind may it lodge. (7)
Calculations of egoism by the Master's Word are annulled;
The Lord keep ever cherished in heart;
Lauding evermore the Lord by the Master's Word
Brings bliss through union with the Lord. (8)
Such alone contemplate the Lord as by Him are so inspired :
By the Master's Word in the self is He lodged :
Himself has He the vision and the realization;
Himself in Himself absorbed. (9)
He alone has realization that in the self has cast the Divine Essence;
By the Master's Word is the self realized :
One realizing the self is alone pure,
To the holy utterance of the Master's Word ever listening. (10)
This self and body are pure,
Should by guidance of the Master's Word these contemplate
the Lord, Repository of all Merit—Should the self, dyed in devotion chant the Lord's praise evermore,
Whereby in His attributes may it be absorbed. (11)
The self, when in illusion of duality lost,
Is of the essence of Maya;
Forgetful of the Lord, ever in suffering it falls;
Neglecting the Lord, to it comes suffering. (12)
Those devoted to the holy Preceptor with the Lord find approval;
At the holy Portal abide they as pure selves :
Those serving the Lord, lodging Him in mind,
In laudation absorbed, are ennobled. (13)
Without supreme good luck, devotion to the Master comes not;
Egoists wretched, strayed from God, wail and cry;
Those favoured by the Master's grace, by the Lord Himself
are granted union. (14)
In the fortress of the self are built firm markets,

There the God-directed buy merchandise that they cherish :
Meditating on the Name Divine day and night,
Exaltation they achieve. (15)
Himself is the holy Lord bestower of bliss,
By the holy Master's teaching realized,
Saith Nanak : By supreme good luck
Comes laudation of God's holy Name. (16) (7.21)

Nirankāri ākāru upāiyā

By the Formless Supreme Being are all forms created;
Maya-illusion too by His Ordinance has come forth :
All is the Creator's play : P. 1066
By contemplation of the holy Word in the mind is He lodged. (1)
Maya the Mother, of the Three Qualities[1] has been delivered :
Under Divine commandment did Brahma enunciate
the four Vedas.
Years, months, days, dates He made,
And to the world thus was brought intelligence. (2)
By devotion to the Master is action purified.
Cherish in your heart ever the Name Divine :
As the holy Word in the universe spread,
The Name Divine to beings it brought. (3)
Some study Vedas day by day and into disputation engage :
Forgetful of the Name, by Yama, agent of death are put in bonds;
In duality caught, everlasting suffering they get;
In the Three Qualities[1] involved, into illusion are fallen. (4)
The God-directed to the sole Supreme Being are devoted :
Desire, of Three Qualities[1] born, into their self is absorbed.
Such by the guidance of the holy Word remain ever liberated,
Their Maya-illusion lifted. (5)
Those in primal Time in devotion dyed, still are so dyed :
By the Master's grace in serenity's ecstasy absorbed :
From devotion the holy Preceptor is the Lord realized :
Himself He grants union. (6)
Those in Maya-illusion caught realize not the Lord :
In duality involved, suffering they get :

---

1. See Glossary.

Of brief duration is the world's glamour,[1]
In an instant fading off. (7)
Those with the mind in fear of God and devotion dyed,
By such dye in the holy Eternal are absorbed.
By supreme good luck is such dye obtained :
By the Master's teaching does it glow fast. (8)
Much pride the egoist exhibits :
At the Divine Portal honour he finds not.
In duality caught, is his life a waste :
Without realization, into suffering fallen. (9)
The Lord in the self has concealed Himself;
By the Master's grace is union with Him granted :
Holy is the Lord, holy the commerce that realization brings :
In such commerce is gained the Name invaluable. (10)
None the value of this body has realized :
The Lord this order has created.
The God-directed purify the body :
To such the Lord grants union Himself. (11)
From the body comes loss as well as gain.
The God-directed, transcending desire, for such gain seek.
By the commerce taught by the Master everlasting joy they find;
Spontaneously finding union. (12)
Holy is His mansion, holy the treasures;
By His grace, the Bestower grants these.
By the Master's guidance is the Bestower of Bliss lauded;
With the self to Him united, comes realization.[2] (13)
In the body lie treasures invaluable.
By the Master's guidance the Lord on the seeker
confers greatness.
The Master of the Store alone knows its value;
To the God-directed[3] is it granted : free from regrets is his life. (14)
In all creation is the Lord pervasive;
By the Master's grace is He realized :
Himself He grants union; Himself by holy Word in serenity absorbed. (15)

---

1. Lit. The Vermilion dye.
2. Lit. Value.
3. Gurumukh.

The holy Eternal Himself by the Word grants union :
By the Word from the self annuls illusion.
Saith Nanak : From devotion to the Name comes exaltation;
from the Name comes bliss. (16) (8.22)

Agam agochar veparvāhei

The Lord inaccessible, unknowable, above desire; P. 1067
Gracious, immeasurable;
Beyond approach—by the Master's word to the self united. (1)
Such alone serve Thee as with Thee find favour,
By guidance of the Master's Word in truth absorbed;
Evermore day and night God's qualities they contemplate—
His taste their tongue[1] delights. (2)
Those by the Word to the world dying, their death is blessed;
The Lord's qualities in their heart of hearts cherished :
Fruitful their life : to the Lord's feet devoted—Duality in them annulled. (3)
The Lord Himself grants union
To such as by the Master's Word their egoism discard :
Evermore in devotion to the Lord dyed,
In the world profit they garner. (4)
Thy qualities beyond my expression lie :
Immeasurable, beyond contemplation Thy worth :
By grace of the Bestower of bliss,
In His attributes is the devotee by his own qualities absorbed. (5)
In the world is seen the expanse of attachment;
Egoists unelightened in utter darkness grope :
In rush of worldly pursuits their life wasted,
Of the Name neglectful, to them comes suffering. (6)
By Divine grace is found the holy Preceptor;
By his Word is impurity of egoism burnt away :
The mind thus is purified, illumination of the jewel enlightenment obtained;
Darkness of ignorance is lifted. (7)
Innumerable Thy Name—nones Thy greatness has realized.
The Lord Himself in the seeker's heart the holy Name lodges.
Lord ! Who may Thy worth express ?
In perennial joy art Thou absorbed. (8)

---

1. Palate is implied.

The Name beyond contemplation, inaccessible, immeasurable,
None has power to value :
Himself the weighman :
By immersion[1] in the holy Word may it be measured. (9)
Thy devotees serving Thee to Thee make supplication :
Granting them union, near to Thyself dost keep them.
Bestower of bliss on all creation,
By supreme good fortune comes devotion to Him. (10)
Living truth is real continence, purity and self-restraint :
Purity by lauding the Lord to the heart comes :
Through devotion to the Lord may one obtain amrita,
In this poison-filled world. (11)
He alone has realization, that by the Lord is so inspired;
By lauding the Lord acquires he inner vision;
His egoism and acquisitiveness restrained,
Spontaneously comes to him illumination.[2] (12)
Many wander about in utter misfortune;
In transmigration whirled, their wandering without end :
Those in poison immersed, poison garner,
Joy ever eluding them. (13)
Some assume numerous sectarian garbs;
Yet without guidance of the holy Word is egoism not annulled;
One dying while living alone liberation achieves
By absorption in the holy Name. (14)
Ignorance and desire consume the body :
Assuaged are these by living the Master's Word :
Then are body and mind made cool, wrath lifted.
And with egoism annulled, in the Supreme is the self absorbed. (15)
Holy is the Lord, holy His might,
Rare are such as by the Master's grace have P. 1068
this realization.
Saith Nanak in supplication : By guidance of the holy Name
Is the self in the Divine Reality[3] absorbed. (16) (1.23)

Nadrīṇ bhagtāṇ laihu milāe

In Thy grace unite to Thyself Thy devotees—Devotees that with concentration of mind laud Thee ever :

---

1. Lit. Union.
2. Lit. Truth.
3. In the Name.

By seeking Thy shelter are they saved :
Himself the Creator grants them union. (1)
By guidance of the holy Word is devotion perfected;[1]
Joy in the heart by Thy pleasure rises :
Mind and body in devotion are dyed,
As in the holy Eternal is the self fixed. (2)
In egoism is the body ever burning;
By Divine grace is the holy Preceptor met,
Who by the holy Word realization grants.
By the holy Preceptor's guidance is found joy. (3)
The egoist purblind acts in darkness,
In suffering caught, through births wanders along :
His Yama's noose not snapped,
At the last into greivous suffering falls. (4)
By the holy Word is transmigration annulled,
As in the heart is the holy Name borne :
As by guidance of the Master's Word the seeker to the world dies and the mind subdues,
Is egoism eliminated. (5)
In transmigration is the creation lost;
None without the Master's guidance finds fixity;
Then is the mind illuminated; by the holy Word comes abiding joy,
And with Divine effulgence is light of the self merged. (6)
The five agents[2] contemplate evil doing—
Such is Maya-attachment's manifestation :
From service to the holy Preceptor comes liberation;
And the five Agents[2] subdued. (7)
Without the Preceptor's guidance, all is darkness of illusion,
Therein at each turn, in course of whirling are all sunk.
By touch of the holy Preceptor is truth firmly grasped,
And the holy Name to the mind is pleasing. (8)
Holy is the Portal, holy the Court Divine :
God's true devotees by love of the Word inspired, serve Him.
Holy the tune, holy the Divine qualities that I laud;
In truth am I thereby absorbed. (9)
Rare is the person that in his own self the Divine
Abode discovers :

1. Lit. Beautified, ennobled.
2. Lust, wrath etc.

This spontaneously by guidance of the Master's Word comes.
There occurs not sorrow or sequestration;
In serenity is the self in serenity absorbed. (10)
In feelings of duality dwell evil-doers,
By thirst of attachment in torment straying,
With unholy company consorting, in suffering ever falling :
Endless suffering their destiny. (11)
No holy company without the holy Preceptor can be;
None without guidance of the holy Word swims across.
Those in serenity contemplating His qualities day and night,
Their light in the Divine Light is merged. (12)
This body is the tree; in its branches dwells the bird of the self,
That resting in the holy Word, picks up amrita :
From there it flies not off, strays not,
In its own home abiding. (13)
Those purifying the body, the Word contemplating,
By the holy Word the drug of evil[1] eliminating—
On such the Bestower of Bliss His grace showers, Granting them union. (14)
Know Him ever to be close to you : think not He is remote;
By guidance of the Master's Word realize He is near :
Thus shall the lotus of your heart bloom, the light illuminate you,
And God's vision shall be manifest. (15)
Almighty is the Creator, holy; P. 1069
He takes away life and gives it back—such power none other has.
Saith Nanak : From devotion to the Name comes exaltation;
By shedding egoism is found bliss. (16) (2.24)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Solahe (Sixteen-Stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sacchā āpi savāraṇhārā

The holy Eternal Himself exalts beings :
Other than devotion to Him, on other occupation appeals to me.
In the heart of the God-directed abides holy Truth,
Whereby spontaneously in Truth they remain absorbed. (1)

1. Symbolizing attachment and illusion. (Such a drug was used by robbers to render their victims unconscious)

In the mind of all dwells holy Truth;
By the Master's grace spontaneously in it are they absorbed.
In repeating the Master's Name is ever attained joy,
As the heart to the Master's feet is devoted. (2)
The holy Preceptor is sole source of enlightenment; the holy Preceptor alone worthy of reverence.[1]
Other than the holy Preceptor none else do we worship :
From the holy Preceptor is obtained wealth of the jewel Name—
Service to the holy Preceptor to our heart is pleasing. (3)
Those that to duality, to other than the holy Preceptor are attached,
Are unfortunate and falling into transmigration, die wandering.
Saith Nanak : Even such the supreme state may attain,
Should they with the Master seek shelter. (4)
Devotion to the God-facing is ever-holy;
From the holy Preceptor I beg devotion to the Name,
annuller of all begging.
Lord ! in your grace under shelter of the holy Preceptor keep me. (5)
The holy Preceptor amrita-elixir has let drip,
Whereby at the Tenth Door[2] has the Lord become manifest :
There tune of the holy Word in unstruck music is played,
And the self spontaneously in serenity is absorbed. (6)
Those for whom by the Creator is Primal Time this is set down,
Each of their days in contemplating the Master is passed :
None without the Master's guidance fulfilment finds,
As the heart to the Master's feet is devoted. (7)
To whomsoever He so pleases, the Name He grants;
Such by the Master's guidance boon of the Name attain :
In His own grace the Name He grants—
Saith Nanak, such in the Name are absorbed (8)
As the jewel of enlightenment in the mind is manifested,
Spontaneously is the boon of the Name attained.
Such merit from the Master is obtained—
To the holy Preceptor am I ever a sacrifice. (9)
As is risen the sun of enlightenment, effaced is darkness of night of ignorance.

---

1. Pūjā is thus interpreted.
2. Symbol for the seat of superconsciousness.

Ignorance by the jewel illimitable granted by the Master is eliminated.
From the holy Preceptor is obtained the highly valued
jewel of enlightenment;
As by grace is it attained, comes joy. (10)
As by the Master's grace is attained the Name, has our repute arisen.
Then in all Four Ages[1] and in the world is one reckoned pure and holy.
By devotion to the Name are we absorbed in Divine Reality,[2]
And in the Name remain absorbed. (11)
By the Master's guidance is devotion to the Name attained.
Of such a one waking and sleep serene.
Saith Nanak : Whoever on the Name meditates,
By the Master's guidance absorbed in the Name,
in the Lord is absorbed. (12)
On the tongue of devotees lies amrita of the holy Word.
By the Master's guidance the Name Divine they repeat and expound. P. 1070
By uttering the Lord's Name is the mind ever in bliss
As the mind to the Divine feet is devoted. (13)
We are ignorant, thoughtless, lacking all knowledge.
From the holy Preceptor has our mind acquired understanding.
The Lord showing us compassion and grace in service of the holy Preceptor has engaged us. (14)
Whoever the holy Preceptor has contacted, the sole Lord
has realized,
Who, Bestower of bliss, everywhere is pervasive :
By contemplating the self the supreme state have such attained,
And in service to the Lord is their mind absorbed. (15)
In the mind of those in primal Time granted exaltation,
Is the holy Preceptor lodged, their devotion in him fixed :
To such the life of the world; Bestower of joy union
has granted;
Saith Nanak, to the Lord's bosom are they clasped. (16) (1)

1. See Glossary.
2. Nām.

Hari agam agocharu sadā abināshī

The Lord is inaccessible, unknowable, eternal, immortal,
Dwelling in each being[1], pervasive in all.
Other than He is no provider : thou creature of God !
Serve thou the Lord. (1)
Whomsoever the Divine Protector saves,
None to destroy him has power.
Devotees of God ! Serve the Lord, whose utterance is exalted. (2)
Whatever place appears to be a scene of vacuity,
There the Creator is pervasive fully :
Those dried up has He made to bloom;[2]
Meditate you on the Lord, full of the miraculous play. (3)
To the Lord, to whom the suffering of all beings is known,
Am I a sacrifice.
Thou servant of God ! to Him make supplication
Who is bestower of all joy. (4)
To one thoughtless unaware of the state of hearts
Make no representation.
Man ! with the ignorant enter not into wrangling—
The Lord of the immaculate state contemplate. (5)
Bear no anxiety—to the Creator belongs all our anxiety :
For all creatures in water and on land provision He makes.
The Lord unawares grants boons, even to worms in stones and rocks. (6)
Repose not your hope in friend, son or brother,
Nor repose hope in another who is a rich merchant :
Other than the Name Divine none is our helper—
The Lord, Holder of the Earth[3] contemplate. (7)
Ever the Name of the Lord utter,
Who all your desires shall fulfil.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Utter the Name, shatterer of attachment to the world,
And in serene joy pass life's night. (8)
Whoever the Lord has served, joy has attained,
And spontaneously in the Name Divine is absorbed :

1. Vessel.
2. Made green (The figure is from trees dried up).
3. Also Holder of the Bow (periphrastic name of Vishnu).

Whoever His shelter seeks, his honour He protects—
This you enquire of Vedas and Purans.[1] (9)
Such alone in service to the Lord engage as by Him are so inspired.
By power of the Master's Word flee doubt and fear :
Such a one engaged though in household affairs,
yet remains unattached,
As the lotus in water. (10)
Of those involved in egoism is the service not accepted.
Such are born and die and keep transmigrating.
Such austerity alone is perfect, such the true service
As to the Lord's heart[2] is pleasing. (11)
Lord ! how Thy merits may I recount, P. 1071
Thou who dost control all selves within ?
Lord Creator ! from Thee seek I the boon
That day by day Your Name I utter. (12)
Some have strength of egoistic utterance;
Some have strength of authority[3] and power of pelf.
Other than the Lord have I no prop—
Lord ! protect me, a helpless female.[4] (13)
To invest with honour the helpless pleases Thee;
The rest of the wide world involved in worthless pursuits, transmigrates.
Lord ! whomsoever Thou dost succour, Thou makes them prevail. (14)
Those that ever on the Name Divine have meditated,
By the Master's grace the supreme state have attained.
Those serving the Lord, bliss have attained;
Those without service to the Lord into regrets fall. (15)
Thou, Lord of the universe, in all beings art pervasive.
Such the Lord contemplate as by the Master are propped[5]
Nanak, servant of God, in shelter of the Lord contemplates Him,
And is His humblest slave.[6] (16) (2)

---

1. Vedas are revealed Scriptures. Puranas mythology.
2. Mana.
3. Implies official power.
4. (The gender is implied by the epithet nimānī).
5. On whose forehead the Master places his protective hand.
6. Slave of slaves.

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Solahe (Sixteen-stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kalā upāe dhari jini dharṇā

Brother ! our protector shall be the Lord,[1]
Who creating the earth, into it placed His might;
Who by His Ordinance placed the sky at His own feet,
And who creating fire, in fuel confined it. (1)
He who to all creatures sustenance provides,
Who is almighty Himself;
Who in an instant makes and unmakes,
Is thy true helper. (2)
He who in mother's womb cherished you,
Who with each breath and morsel abiding by your side,
has kept you in mind,
That Divine Beloved ever contemplate, whose greatness is supreme over all. (3)
In an instant kings and lords into worms He turns,
And cherishing the poor turns them into chiefs,
Shatterer of pride, prop of all—beyond expression
His worth. (4)
Those alone are truly exalted[2] and rich
In whose mind dwells the Lord, master of felicity.
He who raised creation is our mother, father, relation and brother. (5)
Those seeking the Lord's shelter from fear are made free—
In holy congregation liberation inevitably comes.
Whoever by his thought, word and deed to the Creator offers devotion,
Never meets chastizement. (6)
As the Lord, treasure of merit, in mind and body becomes pervasive,
One falls not into birth or death nor into transmigration wanders.
As are we thus fulfilled and satiated, shattered is our suffering
And joy comes to dwell. (7)
The Lord is our friend,
Who in all spots the mind's inner state knows.

---

1. (Part of last line place here).
2. Honoured.

By constant remembrance of the Supreme Lord,
perfection incarnate,
Is effaced anxiety and reckoning of deeds. (8)
The Name Divine equals million's strength of arm; P. 1072
With such a one abides wealth of Divine laudation.
The Lord to such in His grace grants sword
of enlightenment,
Wherewith are agents of evil attacked and destroyed. (9)
Ever the Lord's Name repeat;
Thereby shall you triumph and enter your own home[1] :
Then shall you not behold hell of eighty-four lakh births,
And with great gusto Divine merit chant. (10)
The Lord, saviour of continents and the universe,
All-highest, unfathomable, inaccessible, limitless—
One having His grace alone on Him meditates. (11)
The Lord, shattering our bonds, has purchased us,
And in His grace made us slaves of His household.
Such engaging in holy action, listen to the sound of unstruck music,
And the equable tune of devotion. (12)
Lord ! in my mind is fixed faith in Thee,
And shattered is my egoism and possessiveness.
As the Lord His own has made us, over the world is spread our repute. (13)
Proclaim the Lord's glory.
To the Lord may I be a sacrifice;
Other than He none else is visible—in the whole world is
He solely pervasive. (14)
The Lord all-holy have we realized;
By the Master's grace the mind ever to Him is devoted.
In contemplating You Your servants find life,
And in the sole Supreme Being remain absorbed. (15)
Beloved of His devotees
Our Lord, saviour of all—
By contemplation of His Name are all desires fulfilled;
His servant Nanak's honour has He saved. (16) (1)

1. Symbol for the Divine Essence.

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Solahe (Sixteen-stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Saṃgī jogī nāri laptāṇī

The self that is a recluse, to the body-female is attached, who to him clings—
In enjoyment of pleasures and delights is she involved.
By the conjunction brought about by accumulated deeds have they come together,
And in pleasurable dalliance are involved. (1)
What the spouse does, to that is the woman immediately compliant.
The spouse keeps the woman bedecked ever with him :
Day and night living together in unison, the spouse keeps the woman in good cheer. (2)
To meet the woman's demands the spouse in various ways rushes to make effort;
And whatever he obtains, to her sight presents.
The objective of devotion he cannot attain,
Whereby the female hungry and thirsty abides. (3)
The woman with folded hands makes supplication :
Beloved spouse, go not into alien lands, in my home abide[1] :
In the home itself make the commerce, whereby my hunger and thirst be removed. (4)
This Age various ritual practices has performed;
But without joy in God not a grain[2] of joy has it attained.
Saith Nanak : As comes Divine grace in holy congregation,
Do the woman and her spouse attain joy and bliss. (5)
The woman is purblind, though the spouse is nimble, wise—
The body a structure made from the five elements. P. 1073
The objective for which you have arrived, from the holy Preceptor is obtained. (6)
The woman pleads that with her should abide
The youthful spouse given to easeful living—
Saying, without thee of little account am I; give me thy word that me thou shalt not desert. (7)

1. (Implies adjuration for life everlasting. In the next line is the adjuration to the self to engage in devotion).
2. A sesame grain.

Replied the spouse : To His command am I compliant—
The great Lord who under no one's obligation stands.
While with thee He keeps me, I abide, when He makes the call, must I depart. (8)
As these true words the spouse to the woman imparted,
She, unpoised and raw, followed them not :
Everlasting union with the spouse she seeks,
Taking his words not seriously. (9)
As came the Divine command, was the spouse called.
Then asked he not the woman's permission, nor with her took counsel.
His departure he took; the clay of the body abandoned lay:
Behold Nanak, theirs was only false attachment. (10)
My avaricious self, listen !
Ever day and night serve the holy Preceptor.
Misbelievers[1] uninstructed by the holy Preceptor in death rot—
Those by the Master unenlightened bear Yama's noose round the neck. (11)
The egoist keeps being born and dying,
And ever and again buffets bears.
All hells by the egoist are suffered; the God-directed not a whit by these are touched. (12)
Such alone are truly God-directed as the Lord's approval have won.
Who may destroy one that by the Lord is honoured[2] ?
Ever is he in bliss, who by the Master is granted the special robe. (13)
A sacrifice am I to the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed,
Bestower of shelter, heroic to fulfil his Word.
Through him have I met the Lord, bestower of joy,
Who deserts the self never. (14)
Of the Divine treasure of merit the worth have I not realized :
In all spots and each being is He pervasive.
Nanak with the Divine shatterer of suffering of the humble
seeks shelter;
Dust of Thy servants' feet am I. (15) (1.2)

---

1. Sākta.
2. Robed with honour.

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Solahe (Sixteen-Stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Karai anandu anandī merā

The Divine Hedonist everlastingly feels joy—
In each being pervasive, each one judging.
Over monarchs is He the holy overlord—none other
His equal. (1)
Ever joyful, limitless, gracious is the Lord,
His illumination manifest everywhere.
Various forms He creates, beholding these in bloom of joy,
To Himself offering adoration. (2)
His might He Himself contemplates;
Himself the holy expanse spreads :
Himself day and night the universal play He enacts;
Himself listening to it, is joyful. (3)
Holy His throne, holy His rule.
Holy His treasure, holy the Treasurer.
Himself holy, holy all He has made;
His holy Ordinance solely operative. (4)
Holy is the holy Lord's justice. P. 1074
Lord ! holy is Thy abode.
Holy Thy might, holy the creation.
Lord ! holy the joy to Thy devotees granted. (5)
Thou the sole great monarch.
By Thy holy Ordinance are all tasks accomplished.
All within the self and without to Thee known—
In sole grandeur art Thou joy-filled with Thy self. (6)
Thou the great Hedonist, the great enjoyer;
Thou too unattached, an anchorite.
All joys in Thy home lie; in Thy glance lies amrita. (7)
Thou Sole Bestower of Thy gifts;
To all creatures and worlds granting boons.
Thy stores ever full, undiminished, all with these satiated. (8) Accomplished Yogis, Yoga-practitioners, recluses dwelling in forests seek Thee;
Those practising continence and charity seek from Thee
to abide in bliss :
One sole is the Bestower, all are seekers—
To the world pray grant boons. (9)

Thy devotees in love of Thee practise infinite devotion.
Thou in an instant dost make and unmake.
Lord illimitable of great merit,[1] in obedience to Thy
Will lies devotion. (10)
Such alone can realize Thee as by Thee are granted
Thy sight :
Such by guidance of the master's Word ever in joy abide.
Such alone are sensible, handsome and wise, as to Thy heart are pleasing. (11)
Whoever puts Thee in mind above need rises.
Whoever puts Thee in mind is truly rich;
What fear may assail one who in mind puts Thee ?
What can another do to such a one ? (12)
Extinguished is thirst,[2] and cooled is the heart;
As the Master perfectly-endowed the knot has snapped.
As the mind within in the holy Word is absorbed,
Amrita have we shaken and quaffed. (13)
Such die not, but live for ever;
Becoming immortal, turn everlasting.
Such neither are born nor die—the Master their doubts has removed. (14)
Perfect is the Word of the Master, perfectly-endowed.
Whoever to the Lord, perfection incarnate is attached.
his mind in Divine Perfection is absorbed.
Such are evermore in ascendant, ever in joy;
Never is their worth decreased. (15)
Such a one is gold full carats,[3] purified,
By the Gold-tester's glance given the glow—
After testing put into the treasure, never again to be put in fire. (16)
Lord ! ambrosial is your Name;
Nanak ever to you is a sacrifice :
In company of the holy ever have I attained joy;
At their sight is my heart joyful. (17) (1.3)

---

1. Weight.
2. Used metaphorically for desire.
3. Bāraha (of twelve calibre) units implying the full weight of a tola, equalling twelve māshās.

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Solahe (Sixteen-Stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Guru Gopālu Guru Govindā

The Master is cherisher of the Universe, image of the Lord.
The master is gracious, ever forgiving.
The Master holds enlightenment like Shastras and Simritis;[1] Veneration of the Master is the performance of the six holy acts,[2]
The Master is the holy spot.[3] (1)
By contemplation of the Master flee all sins.
By contemplation of the Master is the self not caught in Yama's noose.
By contemplation of the Master is the mind P. 1075 rendered pure;
The Master annuls man's pride. (2)
The Master's devotee[4] enters not hell.
The Master's devotee[4] on the Supreme Being meditates.
The Master's devotee[4] attains company of the holy—
The Master ever confers boon of life. (3)
By guidance of the Master is Divine laudation listened.
By contact with the holy Preceptor comes to the tongue utterance of Divine laudation.
All afflictions by the holy Preceptor are effaced,
And at the Divine Portal to the devotee honour he procures. (4)
The Master the Lord inaccessible and unknowable has made manifest.
The holy Preceptor to those strayed has shown the path.
The Master's devotee by his devotion from impediments is immune;
Full enlightenment concerning the Lord in mind has he confirmed. (5)
The Master in all spots the Lord has made manifest,
So the Lord of the universe on water and land is seen pervasive.

1. Shāstras = philosophical texts; Simritis = books of ritual and code.
2. (These are prescribed variously for different sects).
3. That is, holy as temple.
4. Servant.

By his guidance are high and the unfilled[1] beheld equal,
And the mind in serene meditation is fixed. (6)
By contact with the Master is thirst[2] assuaged.
By contact with the Master is the self from Maya immune.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, truth and content
has conferred,
And by his guidance is amrita of the Name quaffed and attained. (7)
In all beings is the Master's Word pervasive.
He who has listened to it, to others has imparted.
All uttering it are saved, and the immutable station
have attained. (8)
To the holy Preceptor alone is his own greatness known.
All in his own will he accomplishes.[3]
Lord ! Thy devotees seek dust of feet of the holy—
Nanak to such is ever a sacrifice. (9) (1.4)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Solahe (Sixteen-Stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ādi niranjanu Prabhu Nirankārā

The Lord, primal, immaculate and formless
In all beings pervasive yet to all is unattached.
Race[4] or caste has He none—by His Ordinance raising creation. (1)
Out of all the eighty-four lakh species
On man has the Lord conferred exaltation, Whoever at this step[5] lapses, in suffering of transmigration remains involved. (2)
What praise is due to the created ?
By the Master's guidance attain boon of the Name.
Whomsoever He sends astray, goes wrong; whomsoever
He grants enlightenment, enlightened grows. (3)
This body is a city of joy and sorrow.
Such alone are saved as with the Master seek shelter.

---

1. Implies the poor
2. Used metaphorically for desire.
3. (Herein is embodied the doctrine of the identity in spirit of the Lord and the Master-Guru).
4. Varna may thus be interpreted.
5. Lit. step of the ladder.

The God-directed one that keeps free of the Three Qualities,[1] alone gets exaltation. (4)
Endless, numerous ritual acts have we performed.
All such are bonds on the feet :
Seed sown out of season grows not—one thus total loss incurs. (5)
In Kaliyuga singing of Divine laudation is the supreme act.
By the Master's guidance with concentrated meditation
the Name Divine you utter.
Such a one saving himself, saves his forebears. P. 1076
And honourably goes to his Divine abode. (6)
Continents, the nether regions, countries and the worlds
Has the Lord made subject to death.
Himself is He immutable, immortal—
Whoever on Him meditates, immutable becomes. (7)
The Lord's devotee is made in His image—
Think not because of the human frame that he is different :
Like waves of water rising in numerous ways,
in water is again water absorbed[2]. (8)
A mendicant at your door seeks charity.
As pleases the Lord, may He show grace.
Grant Thy sight whereby the mind may feel fulfilled.
By Divine laudation does the mind find poise. (9)
The Lord all-beauteous no other way becomes compliant—
He does what pleases His devotees :
What they seek to accomplish, they get Him to do—
No impediment they meet at His door. (10)
Thou Creature of God ! wherever occurs an impediment,
On the Lord, holder of the universe in hand, meditate,
There where progeny, wife, none is helper, is the Lord
the succourer. (11)
The Lord mighty, inaccessible, fathomless,
Above need—how find union with Him ?
Whomsoever on the way He guides with his noose snapped,
In holy company finds lodgement. (12)
The true servant is one that the Master's command realizes,
And bears happenings good and bad with equanimity.

1. See Glossary.
2. (This is a figure to reinforce the foregoing)

As is banished egoism. the sole Lord he realizes—
Such a God-directed one in the serene state is absorbed. (13)
Ever are the Lord's devotees in joy—
Childlike, above attachment, from the world turning away :
In numerous ways disporting in joy like the child fondled by the father. (14)
The Lord is inaccessible, unknowable, His worth beyond reckoning.
Union with Him comes as He confers it Himself.
To such of devotees is He by the Master's guidance
made manifest,
As forehead in primal Time this blessing have inscribed. (15)
Thou art the sole Doer, almighty.
Raising creation, on the earth hast Thou settled it.
Nanak, servant of God, at the Divine Portal has sought shelter—
The Lord in His grace his honour shall save. (16) (1.5)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jo dīsai so eko Tūhain

All that is visible is Thy manifestation;
In all creation is Thy voice heard by our ears.
Nothing else is visible—all is Your assumed form. (1)
Your creation in mind You Yourself keep.
His essence has the Lord created.
Himself has He created the visible expanse; Himself each
being cherishes. (2)
Some has He made holders of mighty courts.
Some world-renouncers, others householders.
Some are hungry, others fulfilled and satiated— P. 1077
All by Thee are propped. (3)
Himself is He in all Time eternal.
Entirely with His devotees involved :
Himself hidden and manifest; His own self has
He expanded. (4)
Abiding ever and eternally;
All-high, inaccessible, unfathomable, limitless.
The empty has He filled, the full made empty—
Such are marvels of the Lord's doing. (5)

With my tongue[1] laud I the holy King;
With my eyes behold the Lord inaccessible, fathomless.
Lord Saviour of all ! by listening to Your voice with my ears
Is my mind and body in bloom. (6)
Creation He raises and watches over;
All creatures His Name repeat.
The Lord, saviour by His glance of grace,
Alone His own might realizes. (7)
There where the holy congregation sits, is the Lord close by.
There exist joy and happiness and Divine displays of marvels.
As Thy devotees in unstruck tunes and soundless words sing
Thy laudation,
Thy servant Nanak too contemplates Thee. (8)
Birth and death is a marvel enacted by Thee;
This endless play dost Thou enact.
The Creator raises creation, and His creation cherishes. (9)
In listening to Your repute find I life.
Ever to You am I a sacrifice.
Day and night with folded hands You I contemplate,
Lord inaccessible, limitless. (10)
Whom other than Thee may we laud ?
One sole Lord in our mind we contemplate.
In realizing the Divine Ordinance His servants find joy—
Such is the devotee's achievement. (11)
With pure heart the Master's teaching contemplate—
With love of the Lord is the Master's teaching penetrated.
By the Master's teaching are all bonds snapped.
And doubt and attachment burnt away. (12)
Wherever the Lord keeps us, is the abode of joy.
All that in His will happens, we accept as good.
Then is shattered malice; none appears an enemy.
All appearing alike. (13)
Then is lifted fear and darkness shattered,
And all is manifested as the Supreme Being unattached.
Discarding the ego God's shelter we then seek;
He whose the creature is, to His shelter by Him is sent. (14)
Rarely born is such a fortunate one,
As day and night on the Lord has meditated.

1. Mouth.

In the company of such a devotee are all saved;
To his forebears liberation he brings. (15)
May I from the Lord obtain this boon,
That day and night with folded hands on Him I meditate.
May I, ever uttering the Name, spontaneously in the Name be absorbed.
Prayeth Nanak, may I be blessed the Name to utter. (16) (1.6)

Sūrati dekhi na bhūlu gawārā

Ignorant man ! at sight of appearances be not deluded;
This is the false expanse of illusion.[1]
None in the world can last—the Lord alone is immutable. (1)
With the Master, perfectly—endowed seek shelter,
Who attachment, sorrow and delusion has annulled.
Repetition of the sole Divine Word is the medicine he administers,
And singing the Name eternal from the heart. (2)
The Name for which yearn numerous gods, P. 1078
And to which all the devotees render service,
That is cherisher of the helpless, shatterer of suffering of the humble,
From the Master, perfectly-endowed is attained. (3)
No other portal is visible.
Should man wander over the three worlds, no enlightenment shall he get !
This jewel solely from the Merchant-prince, the holy Preceptor is attained,
Who holds treasure of the Name. (4)
The dust of whose feet confers purity,
Which friend ! by godly men and gods is not attainable—
Such is the holy person, holy Preceptor, image of
the Supreme Being,
Whose contact liberation confers. (5)
My beloved self shouldst thou seek the wish-fulfilling tree,[2]
And the wish-fulfilling cow[3] to deck thy court,
Then serve thou the Master, perfectly-endowed, bestower of fulfilment and content,
And practise the Name, Supreme elixir. (6)

1. Moha.
2. Pārijāt.
3. Kāmadhenu.

By the Master's Word are destroyed the five substances of evils;
By cherishing fear of the Supreme Being shalt thou be purified
As the Master, perfectly-endowed, philosopher's stone grants the touch,
His touch into philosopher's stone turns whoever touches him. (7)
Heaven cannot equal the Name;
Poor liberation too by the enlightened is cast aside.
From the holy Preceptor is obtained Name of the Sole
Supreme Being;
To the sight of the Master am I a sacrifice. (8)
None understands merit of the Master's service.
The Master is identical in spirit with the Supreme Being,
unknowable by the senses.
Whomsoever with service he inspires, serves him—
Such bear on the forehead mark of good fortune. (9)
Vedas realize not the Master's greatness,
Which in small bits from hearsay they narrate.
The holy Preceptor is image of the Supreme Being without limit,
Whose contemplation joy-cools the heart. (10)
Listening to the Mister's praise brings life to the mind;
Should he in the heart be lodged, is it joy cooled.
Whoever by the Master's guidance utters the Name Divine, gets repute
And treads not Yama's path. (11)
With the holy have I sought shelter;
My self, life and substance to them have I dedicated.
I know not the way of service—pray to this worm show grace. (12)
In your company take me, devoid of merit.
In your grace in service engage me.
Before the holy wave I the fan and grind grain,
And in washing their feet find joy. (13)
At many doors have I wandered;
By your grace have I found shelter with you.
Keep me ever in company of the holy; boon of the Name
grant me. (14)
As the Lord has shown grace,
Sight of the Master, perfectly-endowed have I attained.
Nanak, slave of your slaves has thus attained serene joy and everlasting bliss. (15) (2.7)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Solahe (Sixteen-Stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Simrai dhartī aru ākāshā

Earth and sky
And moon and sun, the Lord repository of merits contemplate.
Air, water and fire contemplate Him, as also all creation. (1)
All continents, countries and the worlds contemplate Him; P. 1079
The nether regions too contemplate the holy Lord.
All forms of creation, all forms of speech,
And God's devotees contemplate Him. (2)
Brahmas, Vishnus and Shivas too contemplate Him,
As also the thirty-three crore deities.
Demi-gods and titans all contemplate Him:
So also numberless ones, whose number is beyond counting by me. (3)
All animals, the winged creation and embodied beings
contemplate Him;
Also forests, mountains and ascetics.
Mounting and spreading creepers, and branches, all contemplate
the Lord, pervasive in all selves. (4)
Objects gross and subtle and all creatures contemplate Him;
Accomplished Yogis and Yoga-practitioners too the Lord's Word contemplate.
All objects invisible and visible contemplate the Lord, master of all the worlds.[1] (5)
Men, women and the four stages of life contemplate Him,
All castes, bearers of diverse lights and all races contemplate Him.
All those well-gifted, the wise and sapient,
And night and day too contemplate Him. (6)
Hours, minutes and instants contemplate Him;
Life,[2] death and all pieties contemplate Him.
All lucky omens, shastras and happy conjunctions
contemplate Him,
Who even for an instant may not be realized. (7)
Lord almighty,
Controller of all states of mind—

1. Abodes.
2. Time.

Whomsoever in Your grace to devotion You inspire,
Wins life's supreme boon. (8)
Whoever the Lord in mind has lodged,
Is supremely fortunate, and the Master's Word contemplates.
Such a one of the Lord abiding in all has realization,
And wails not wandering in birth in various species. (9)
Whoever has the Master's Word lodged in mind,
Fled is his suffering, pain and doubt.
To him comes joy in tranquility, delight in the Name,
The music unstruck and the equable tune of absorption. (10)
Whoever on the Lord has meditated, is truly wealthy.
Whoever company of the holy gets, is truly honoured.
Whoever has the Supreme Being lodged in mind,
Is of fortune supreme and inalienable[1] (11)
Over water and land is the Lord pervasive;
No other may therein be mentioned.
The Master by the collyrium of enlightenment all doubt
has annulled;
Now none other than the sole Lord is visible. (12)
Loftier than the loftiest is His court;
Beyond expression His end and limit,
The Lord deep, profound, fathomless, beyond measure by me. (13)
Thou the Creator, all by Thee are created.
None other than Thee is real.
Lord ! in the beginning, in middle time and at end of time
Thou alone art, all expanse by Thee stretched. (14)
Whoever in holy company Divine laudation sings,
Yama's minions approach him not.
Whoever with his ears to Divine laudation listens,
Fulfilled are all his objectives. (15)
Lord holy, deeply profound,
Thou art master of all, all are Thine.
Saith Nanak : Such alone are noble as to Your heart[2] P. 1080 are pleasing. (16) (1.8)

Prabh Samrath Sarb Sukh dānā

Lord almighty, bestower of all joys,
Show grace that Your Name I contemplate.

1. Also interpreted : 'This is not hidden'.
2. Mana.

The Lord is the Donor, all creation beggars—
I Your sevant, seek to be a beggar before You. (1)
I seek dust of feet of Your servants, that the supreme state I attain,
And wash off impurity of multiple births.
By the Lord's medicine is cured the malignant malady of egoism—
To be dyed in the Lord immaculate I seek. (2)
With my ears may I hear the Lord's holy laudation;
In the Sole Lord's shelter may I discard evil passions :
At the feet of Thy servant may I bow low; in doing good may I have no hesitation. (3)
Lord ! may my tongue Thy laudation sing,
Whereby may my sins committed by me annulled.
In contemplation of Thee may my self find life,
And discard the five oppressive agents of evil. (4)
By contemplation of the Divine lotus feet may one get on the ship,
And in holy congregation cross the ocean.
May I ever worship, supplicate the Lord,
equably abiding in all,
Whereby the self may not again enter birth and may not enter on course of shame. (5)
Lord, make me slave of Your slaves,
You who are treasure of grace, compassionate to the humble.
Lord perfection incarnate, true friend ! in union with You comes no impediment. (6)
My mind and body to the Lord may I dedicate, Whereby may the self involved in sleep for multiple births be awakened.
He whose I am, is my cherisher—egoism have I killed and destroyed. (7)
The Lord, controller of the inner self, on water and land is pervasive.
The Lord, immune to Maya's delusion, each, being pervades.
The Master, perfectly-endowed the wall of illusion has demolished,
And manifested the Lord solely pervasive in all. (8)
Wherever I look, the Lord, ocean of bliss I behold.
In the Lord, store-house of jewels, occurs no decrease.

---

1. Used figuratively for the path of devotion.

Of the Lord unfathomable no measure is attainable;
This such alone realize as have grace. (9)
Thereby are breast, mind and body joy-cooled,
And restlessness of multiple births removed.
Grasping by the arm has the Lord extricated us,
From whose sight flows stream of grace. (10)
One sole Lord in all spots is pervasive.
Other than He is none real.
In primal Time, middle Time and end of Time is the Lord pervasive,
And assuaged are thirst[1] and illusion. (11)
The Master is image of the Supreme Being, the Lord.
The Master is image of the Creator, eternal Saviour.
By contemplation of the Master have we attained
the reward,[2]
And in holy company is lighted the lamp of illumination. (12)
All that I behold is all by the Lord permeated.
All that I hear is the Divine Word.
All my doing by You is inspired, by aid of the Lord whose progeny are the holy. (13)
This mendicant begs ever to supplicate You.
Propitiating the purifier of the fallen, Lord perfection
incarnate :
One sole boon I seek, treasure of all merit and all joys—
Nothing else seek I. (14)
This body is a vat, the Lord its maker. P. 1081
Company of the holy is chemical substance to the dye.
As the mind in madder of the Name is dyed, by the Divine
Word has come to it noble repute. (15)
With perfection of powers[3] is the mind in bloom,
As is the Lord of endless merits manifested.
Nanak by the Name Divine has attained joy,
bliss and happiness,
And amrita-elixir consumed. (16) (2.9)

1. Used metaphorically for desire.
2. Fruit, implying liberation.
3. Lit. The sixteen powers, as traditionally understood.

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Solahe (Sixteen-stanzaed Hymns)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tūm Sāhibu haum sevaku kītā

Thou art the Lord, I Thy created servitor.
My life and body all by Thee is bestowed.
Thou alone art almighty—nothing in our power lies. (1)
As sent by You, into the world we came.
As willed by Thee, have we in action engaged.
Nothing outside Thy will happens—so have we no anxiety. (2)
In the hereafter Your Ordinance we hear is pervasive.
Here is Your[1] laudation uttered.
By Your Will is annulled our reckoning—
With You in contention can we not engage. (3)
You the father—all Your children,
Playing as the play You guide.
The wild ways and paths all by You made—
None by himself follows the wrong path. (4)
Some in their abodes are selttled;
Others into different lands are sent out.
Some to cut grass are appointed, some made monarchs—
What wrong[2] in all this is involved ? (5)
Who is liberated, who into hell cast ?
Who is made householder, who devotee ?
Who is made wise ? Who shallow ?
Who of awakened consciousness ? Who senseless ? (6)
By the Divine Will comes liberation, by the Will is one cast into hell,
By the Divine Will is one made householder, by the Will devotee,
By the Divine Will is one shallow, by the Will wise—
No other category is there. (7)
The immensely mighty ocean of the world have You made.
Some, thoughtless egoists, to the nether hell are dragged.
Some whose ship is the holy Preceptor, You Yourself take across. (8)
By Your ordinance is sent wonder-working time,
Wherein are creatures raised and reabsorbed.

1. Thy.
2. Lit. Falsehood.

Beholding these is He in bloom of joy, immensely pleased—
This world a theatre that He has made. (9)
Great is the Lord, great His repute;
Great the Bestower, great His station.
Inaccessible, unknowable, immeasurable, nothing to weigh Him against. (10)
None else His worth knows.
The immaculate Lord alone approaches Himself Himself all-wise, all-meditating; Himself repository of purity, immensely deep. (11)
For long ages unmanifest was He pronounced.
For long ages in the void absorbed— P. 1082
For long ages in darkness enveloped; then Himself the Lord manifested. (12)
Himself was He called cosmic might, almighty.
Himself the hero, enacting His rule.
Himself weal has He dispensed, and spread cool poise. (13)
Whomsoever He favours and makes His devotee
The Name within him is lodged, and the unstruck music plays.
His the true joy and greatness—Yama approaches Him not. (14)
His worth on paper cannot be stated.
Saith Nanak : Limitless is the Lord.
The Lord is in primal Time, middle Time and at end of Time—
In His hand lies the final disposal. (15)
None His associate.
None to Him can make replication.
The Lord of Nanak is sole, almighty, performing and beholding His own wonders. (16) (1.10)

Achut Pār-Brahm parameshru antarjāmī

The transcendent Supreme Being, Supreme Lord is immutable, controller of the inner self;
Destroyer of demons,[1] Lord, Master.
Controller of impulses, bearer of the mountain,
Player on the charming flute, ever-joyful. (1)
Charmer, Lord of Maya, manifested as Krishna, slayer of Mura;[2]

Note : In the earlier stanzas of this hymn a number of Divine attributive terms have been used. These are mostly derived from the Vaishnavite Tradition, where necessary, these are explicated in the footnotes.

1. Lit. Destroyer of the demon Madhu, that is Krishna. Here symbolizing God. (Such symbolism is used in the subsequent portions also).

2. (Mura was a demon).

Lord of the universe, destroyer of demons;
Life of the universe, immortal Lord, with each being abiding. (2)
Earth-bearer, Lord, Lion-man,[1] Supreme Lord;[2]
He who assumed boar's tusks,[3] protector of the earth.
Lord-Creator, the pigmy-form[4] didst Thou assume—
For each being's benefactor art Thou. (3)
Thou art the Rama-incarnation, yet without form and feature, Bearer of the forest-garland, holder of the disc,[5]
of unique aspect.
Thousand Thy eyes, of thousand forms—
The sole Provider, all others beggars at Thy door. (4)
Beloved of devotees, cherisher of the helpless,
Lord of milkmaid-selves,[6] with all abibing.
All-pervasive, illuminator, immaculate Provider,
His merits beyond my power of description. (5)
Donor of liberation, Divine Charmer, Lord of Lakshmi;
Saviour of Draupadi's honour;[7]
Maya's consort, miracle-worker, in delightful play absorbed,
Yet unattached to any. (6)
Of sight fulfiller of desires, unincarnated, self-created;
Form eternal, indestructible,
Immortal, imperishable, unknowable,
All on Thee dependent. (7)
Disporter with Lakshmi, in heaven abiding,
Incarnated as fish and tortoise[8] by His Ordinance.
Lord of beautiful locks,[9] performer of unique miracles,
All by His Will occurring, (8)
Beyond need of sustenance, above rancour, all-pervasive,
Enacting His play, He who is known as of Four Arms[10]—
Swarthy, beauteous His aspect, all by His flute charmed.[11] (9)

---

1. An avatār of Vishnu.
2. Nārāyan, a popular name of Vishnā.
3. (Reference to Vishnu's assuming incarnation of Varāh or boar).
4. Baman-avatār, one of Vishnā's incarnations.
5. (These are Vishnā's attributes).
6. (Reference to the Krishna legend).
7. (Reference to the incident of saving Draupadi's honour in Duryodhana's court in Mahā bhārata).
8. (These two are among Vishnā's incarnations).
9. An attributive name of Vishnā.
10. As above.
11. (Recalls Krishna's popular image).

Wearer of the ornament of full garland, lotus-eyed;
Of beauteous curly locks, crown and utterance;
Bearer of conch, disc and mace, Supreme charioteer.[1] ever abiding by devotees. (10)
Wearer of the yellow robe, supporter of three worlds,
Lord of the universe, preserver of earth Him I call.
Bearer of the bow, beloved Lord—His attributes P. 1083 beyond my count. (11)
Beyond suffering, immaculate may He be called.
Lord of all-prosperity, on water and land abiding—Abiding close to the earth, nether regions; beyond impediment, unshakeable His station. (12)
Purifier of the fallen, shatterer of suffering and fear,
Destroyer of egoism, annuller of transmigration.
By devotion pleased, compassionate to the humble,
By no other quality propitiated. (13)
Formless, beyond Maya's guile, unshakeable,
Of effulgent aspect, to the entire world granting bloom of joy.
Such with Him find union as by Him so favoured
None by his own effort finding union. (14)
Himself Krishna's milkmaids, Himself Krishna,
Himself in the forest grazing kine[2]—
Himself creating and destroying, no whit touched by attachment. (15)
What of Thy attributes may my sole tongue narrate ?
Even Shesh[3] with a thousand hoods knows not Thy extent—
He who day and night ever-new names utters, yet not one of the Lord's attributes can He exhaust. (16)
By taking shelter with father of the world have we found refuge,
Against Maya that is terrifying, impassable.
Pray be gracious; in company of the holy keep me. (17)
All that is visible, is unreal;
Lord ! I seek solely boon of dust of feet of God's devotees—
This applying to my forehead, the supreme state may I receive :
Such alone shall receive it as this are granted. (18)

1. (Krishna was Arjuna's charioteer in the Mahābhārata battle. Some other attributes too have reference to Krishna).
2. (Reference to Krishna's cowherd phase).
3. The legendary serpent with a thousand hoods

Those that grace of Donor of bliss have,
Feet of the holy in their heart are lodged.
Such the Name, repository of all treasures have received,
And unstruck music in their heart resounds. (19)
This tongue Thy attributive names alone utters.
Thy eternal Name is transcendental, primal.[1]
Saith Nanak : Thy devotees Thy shelter have sought;
Pray grant Thy sight, for which my heart is full of yearning. (20)
Thy state and extent of Thee alone is known—
This Thou Thyself alone can narrate and expound.
Lord ! in Thy grace make Nanak servant of Thy servants;
Keep him in company of Thy servants. (21) (2.11)

Allah agam Khudāī bandei

Thou creature of the Divine Being,[2] who is inaccessible !
Discard thought of worldly concerns.
Turn thou dust of feet of God's mendicants, consider thyself a wayfarer—
Such a recluse at the Divine Portal finds approval. (1)
Make truth thy prayer, faith thy prayer-mat.
Make suppressing of desire thus ending, thy staff.
Make thy body the mosque, thy mind the priest;
thy creed purity in God's way. (2)
Be living in God's way thy code;
Be thy way search after God through renunciation.
Be thy enlightenment control of mind and association with the enlightened,
The absorption eternal escape from death.[3] (3)
Live in thy heart the teaching of the Koran and scriptures;
Keep the ten females of senses away from bad ways.
The five male agents of evil put in bonds through faith—
This charity and content of God shall be approved. (4)
Be thy Mecca compassion, thy fast being dust of feet of all.
Thy paradise living the Preceptor's Word appropriately. P. 1084

---

1. (The distinction between God's attributive names and His substantive name may be noted. In the Sikh tradition this is Ek Oānkar).

Note : In this hymn all through devotional terminology of Islam is used. Hymns with such an atmosphere may be met with in Guru Nanak Dev and Guru Arjan Dev elsewhere.

2. Allāh, Khudā (both Muslim names for God).
3. Here the four stages of Muslim mysticism— Sharīat, tarīqat, mārifat, haqīqat are mentioned.

Be thy houris, light and incense devotion to God;
Worship of God the exalted closeter. (5)
One practising truth is the true judge :
One purifying the heart is a true haji.[1]
The true divine is he who casts off the cursed one,[2]
The true mendicant, one propped by Divine laudation. (6)
Make all hours prayer-times.
In your mind ever remember the Creator, the Lord.
Make suppression of the ten senses your telling of the rosary,
Your circumcision following of principles and self-discipline. (7)
Know in your heart that everything lasts for a short while.
Brother; tribe and home all are snares.
Lords, chiefs, nobles all are mortal; the Lord's portal alone is eternal. (8)
The first duty is Divine laudation, the second content;
The third meekness, the fourth charity.
The fifth, keeping the five senses poised—
These be Thy five prayers, Thou who art of illimitable extent. (9)
Be knowing all creation to be image of God your prayers;
Make discarding of evil-doing your prayer-jug.
Realizing God to be one and sole, make your call to prayer;
Being a good child of God, your trumpet. (10)
Make honestly-acquired food your sustenance;
Making your heart vast as a river, wash off its impurity.
One realizing the Master attains paradise;
Izrail shall not thrust such into hell. (11)
Apply your body to good doing; take faith for wife—
Thus enjoy holy delights.
Make purifying the impure mind your hadith,[3] and bearing you form complete[4] the turban over your head. (12)
A Mussalman should bear a tender heart;
And wash off from heart inner impurity.
Then will worldly dye not touch him, leaving him pure
As flowers, silk, ghee and deer-skin.[5] (13)
Whoever has the gracious Lord's grace,
Is a true hero.

1. A pilgrim to Mecca.
2. Implies satan, the source of evil.
3. Traditions of the Prophet Muhammad.
4. (This is a warning against circumcision).
5. (These substances are believed to withstand ritual impurity by touch).

He a one a divine, a hajji, God's devotee
Who has Divine grace. (14)
By realization of the Supreme Lord's might,
By laudation and endless devotion to the compassionate Lord,
By realization of the Lord's holy Ordinance,
Saith Nanak, comes release from bonds and swimming across ocean of the world. (15) (3,12)

Pār-Brahm sabh ūch birājei

The Supreme Being transcendent is stationed loftiest, Himself making creation, unmaking and making it again.
By seaking shelter with the Lord is attained joy,
And fear of Maya-female arises not. (1)
He who from fire of the womb extricated us,
And in state of a worm in mother's blood destroyed us not;
And granting His contemplation cherished us,
Is Lord of all beings.[1] (2)
To shelter of the Lord's lotus feet have I come,
And in company of the holy sung Divine laudation :
Thereby contemplation of the Lord is cast off suffering
of transmigration,
And fear of death annulled. (3)
The Lord is almighty, inexpressible, unknowable,
All creation in serving Him engaged.
The variegated creation—egg-born, placenta-born, sweat-born and atmosphere-born—He cherishes. (4)
Such alone come by this treasure P. 1085
As within their selves taste delight in elixir of the Name Divine.
From the dark well has He extricated us by grasping our arm—
Rare are such guides of the path. (5)
In primal Time, at end of Time and in middle Time the Lord alone is real—
The Creator Himself doing all that happens.
In holy company is annulled doubt and fear—
None to strike us now with penury. (6)
Sing the Lord's exalted Word,
And seek dust of feet of the holy congregation.
Effacing desires, desireless you become,
And all sins burn away. (7)

1. Vessels.

Such is the unique way of the holy—
The Supreme Being always they view by their side.
With each breath the Lord they supplicate,
No while showing lassitude in contemplating the Lord. (8) Wherever I look, the Lord controller of the inner self I behold.
Lord ! be not put away from my mind for an instant.
In constant contemplation of Thee Thy servants find life,
Thou who dost pervade forests, water and land. (9)
One awake each day in contemplation of the Name
Never is by a hot blast touched.
In contemplation of the Lord such find bliss and joy,
By Maya untouched. (10)
Such by maladies, sorrow and suffering are not touched,
And in holy company Divine laudation sing.
Lord-Creator, Beloved ! to my supplication give ear;
Grant devotion to Thy Name. (11)
Thy Name, Beloved, is a jewel.
Thy servants, in Thy illimitable love are immersed.
Those in Thy love immersed Thy aspect take on—
Rarely are such found. (12)
My heart dust of feet of such seeks,
As not for a moment of Thee are forgetful.
In their company is attained the supreme boon;
And the Lord ever with such seekers abides. (13)
Such a one is the true friend, companion, beloved
As repeated contemplation of the Sole Lord foul understanding casts out.
Such a one throwing off lust, wrath and pride
Holy teaching imparts. (14)
Other than Thee Lord, none is my succourer.
The Master to the Divine feet has attached me.
To the holy Preceptor perfectly-endowed am I a sacrifice,
Who illusion of other than the Lord has annulled. (15)
May I not be forgetful of the Lord for a breath's duration;
May I day and night[1] on the Lord meditate.
Saith Nanak : Thy devotees in Thy love are immersed,
Thou who art almighty, supreme. (16) (4.13)

1. All eight pahars.

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Charan kamal hirday nit dhārīn

May I ever in heart lodge the Divine lotus feet,
And to the Master, perfectly-endowed ever make obeisance.
Body and mind entirely to Him may I dedicate,
And thus in the world attain noble repute. (1)
Why put out of mind the Lord,
Who to life and body has given such noble aspect ?
With each breath and morsel must one contemplate the Lord
And attain recompense for one's deeds. (2)
From whose bounty none is left unprovided.
Day and night in mind cherish Him. P. 1086
In holy company on the Lord eternal meditate,
And at the Divine Portal attain repute. (3)
The Name is source of the four objectives,[1] of eighteen miraculous powers, Treasure of joy in serenity and the Nine treasures.
Should any in mind seek completion of felicity, the Lord
In holy company should he contemplate. (4)
Shastras, Simritis and Vedas[2] aver,
Thou creature of God ! attain the supreme objective of life.
Casting off lust, wrath and columny of others
With the tongue sing Divine laudation. (5)
He who has no form or feature, tribe or caste,
And who day and night pervades all,
All contemplating Him are supremely fortunate,
Nevermore entering transmigration. (6)
Whoever of the Supreme Person, the Creator is forgetful, Shall ever burn,[3] remain in torment.
None can save the ungrateful—in deep hell shall such be cast. (7)
He who created life, breath, body and mind;
Who in mother's womb cherished us—
Should you discard devotion to Him and to others be attached,
Know, none else shall take you to your goal. (8)

1. (For the concepts in this stanza, see Glossary).
2. These are scriptural writings.
3. Used metaphorically for suffering.

Lord ! show grace,
Thou who in each being dost abide and art close to all.
Nothing in our power lies; each having realization as Thou dost grant it. (9)
Whoever in primal Time has such blessing on forehead got recorded.
Maya grips him not.
Nanak, servant of God, ever the Lord's shelter seeks,
And to none else forms attachment. (10)
Suffering and joy by His Will are apportioned :
Rare are such as the Name ambrosial have contemplated.
Beyond expression His worth—everywhere is He pervasive. (11)
He alone is the true devotee, great dispenser of charity,
The rewarder of deeds in perfection,
Thy helper since childhood days, fulfiller of thy heart's desires. (12)
Death, suffering and joy for man are recorded—
Not a grain of these increases, nor by our effort decreases.
All happens as be the Creator's will—
Any comment is on oneself to bring ignominy. (13)
From the dark well are such extricated,
And their bonds snapped for multiple births rewinded,
Whom in grace His own He makes—
Such in holy company on the Lord meditate. (14)
Beyond expression is Thy worth
Marvellous of aspect, supreme is Your greatness.
Saith Nanak : Thy servant seeks devotion's charity,
And ever to Thee is a sacrifice. (15) (1.14.22.24.2.14.62)

Vār In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das with Slokas of Guru Nanak Dev

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Viṇu gāhak guṇu vechīyai tau guṇu sahgho jāe

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Should merit be sold to other than a seeker, little value on it will be put.
Should merit to the seeker go, million will its worth be, P. 1087

Note : All pauris in this Vār are of the composition of Guru Amar Das.

Contact with the holder of merit shall further merit fetch,
And the recepient in the holy Preceptor be absorbed.
Invaluable is merit, for no price obtained,
At no shop traded.
Saith Nanak : In this bargain no fraud can be[1];
No loss incurred. (1)

Triptych (Guru Ram Das)

Those without the Name are astray, ever in transmigration wandering.
Some are bound; others their bonds have lossened:
Others still in love of the Lord have found bliss.
Saith Nanak ; Put faith in the holy Eternal;
Thereby shall thy actions and way of life be pure. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Guru te gyānu pāiyā ati kharagu karārā

Illumination from the Master obtained is a mighty sword.
That has overthrown[2] the citadel of illusion of duality,
Attachment, avarice and pride,
By contemplation of the Master's Word is the Name Divine in the mind lodged.
By holy discipline is thinking ennobled,
And love of the Lord entertained.
The vision is seen of pervasive Truth,
And of the holy Creator. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Kedārā rāgān vichi jāṇīyai bhāī shabdei karei piyāru

Brother ! Know the measure Kedara[3] to be ennobled;
Should it inspire love for the holy Word:
And the listener thereof should in holy company mingle,
With the holy Eternal be in love;
And should remove impurity of mind :
Thus will his whole tribe be liberated;
Good qualities shall his hoarded capital be,
And his demerits be destroyed.
Saith Nanak : Reckon such alone to be to God united,
As forsake not the Master, and devote not themselves to another. (1)

---

1. No under-weighing can occur.
2. Lit. Cut to pieces.
3. Kedara is a measure closely related to Mārū.

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)
Terribly frightening is the sight of the sea;
Yet to those bearing Thy fear no fear comes.
Saith Nanak : By blessing of the Master's Word fulfilling.[1]
And the Name Divine am I in bloom of joy. (2)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)
Embarking the boat, with the ocean seething with rising waves—
No impediment shall to the boat of truth come,
Should the Master succour it :
It shall fetch the travellers to the Portal where securely will be seen the Lord's sight.
Saith Nanak : By grace is He found, with merit at the Divine Portal attained. (3)
Pauri (stanza)

Nihkantak rāju bhunchi tūn Gurmukhi sacchu kamāī

In peace enjoy thou thy bliss,[2]
By the Master's guidance doing good.
On the throne of holiness do justice,
In holy company absorbed,
Listen to holy teaching, to the Divine Will be obedient,
Should the Bestower of bliss in the self be lodged here.
At the end shall He thy succourer be;
By illumination by the Master given
Arises devotion to the Lord. (2)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Bhūlī bhūlī main phirī pādharū kah ai na koe

Strayed from the path am I: none the way to Indicate.
Enquire I of the wise, who may annul my suffering ?
Should the holy Preceptor in the mind be lodged,
There does the Divine Beloved abide.
Saith Nanak : By laudation of the holy Name is the mind's hunger removed. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Himself the Doer, His is the Will that operates;
To some He grants liberation—all happens as He does.
Saith Nanak : With the light by the Master given,

1. Lit. Bringer of content.
2. Be enjoyer of thy rule or estate. (The figure is of a ruler, who through devotion should obtain spiritual merit rather than fall into sin like the generality of those wielding power).

By the power of the Name is burnt the poison of Maya that suffering brings. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Māyā vekhi na bhulu tūn manmukh mūrakhā

Thou egoist thoughtless, be not by Maya's glamour deluded;
At the last it goes not with man; false is all wealth
as I have beheld.
The unenlightened purblind, see not the dark-visaged Yama's sword poised over their head.
By the Master's grace are liberated those that of joy in God have tasted. P. 1088
Himself is He the prompter, Himself the doer;
Himself also the Saviour. (3)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Jinnhān Guru nahīn bhetiyā bhay kī nāhīn bind

Those that the Master's touch had not and bear not an iota of God's fear—
In transmigration get immense suffering—
Unending their sorrow.
Like cloth struck at the washerman's stone,
Or the bell struck each hour—
Those without the holy Name thus are chastized;
In Yama's bonds ever caught. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Friend ! The world over[1] have I made search :
Utterly evil is egoism.
Be not depressed in heart, speak truth ever.
Saith Nanak : thus shalt thou abide pure. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Gurmukhi āpei bakhshiyonu Hari-nāmi samāṇei

The God-directed are by Him saved,
By absorption in the Name Divine;
Himself has He inspired them to devotion,
With the mark on them of the Master's Word;
Ever beholding the countenance Divine, splendid their bearing;
At the Divine Portal honoured.
Those devoted to God shall liberated be,
In the Here and the Hereafter.

---

1. Lit. In the three worlds.

Blessed are those that the Lord have served;
May I be a sacrifice to such. (4)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Mahal kuchajī marvaṛī kālī manahu kasudh

The woman of bad ways, self-complacent;
Of blackened, impure mind—
Should she have merit, with her Lord would she have bliss :
Not the foolish female, of bad qualities, saith Nanak. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
The woman pure, of conduct well-directed,
With the family in harmony living—
Saith Nanak, blessed is she day and night,
In enjoyment of her Lord's love. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Āpṇā āpu pachhāṇiyā Nāmu nidhānu pāiyā

Those realizing the self obtain wealth of the Name :
The Master in his grace by the holy Word has granted them union.
By way of the Master's holy Word have they quaffed[1] joy in the Lord.
Those tasting of joy in the Lord,
Have all other pleasures discarded.
Joy in the Lord has eternally filled them,
Their tormenting desire[2] for ever gone. (5)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Pir khushīyei dhan rāwīyei dhan uri Nāmu sīngāru

Blessed wife, whose heart with the Name is ennobled, Pleased shall thy lord be and thy heart with the Name be decked.
Saith Nanak : The obedient wife, obedient to her Lord, shall bear a good repute. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
In this world and the next[3] is she to her Lord devoted;
To the Lord inaccessible, immeasurable.
Saith Nanak : Blessed is the happily-wedded wife,
That with the Lord above desire has won favour. (2)

1. In the original, they have been regaled with joy in the Lord.
2. Lit. Thirst and hunger.
3. (The woman's) parental and husband's home.

Pauri (Stanza)

Takhti rājā sa bahai ji takhtai lāik hoī

Let such alone be seated on the throne as are fit therefore,
Such alone are true kings as realize righteousness.
Call not these lords of acres kings;
Caught in duality they suffer.
Why laud any created object that may soon pass away ?
The Sole Supreme Being alone is immutable;
One by the Master guided shall immutable be rendered.
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sabhnān kā piru eku hai pir binu khālī nāhen

One Sole Master is Lord of all.
None is by Him deserted.
Saith Nanak : Such alone are blessed wives,
As to the holy Preceptor are devoted.[1] (1)
Triptych (Guru Amar Das)
Innumerable are the mind's impulses;[2]
How at the Portal Divine to find liberation ?
By dyeing it in the immeasurable Lord's fast dye;
Saith Nanak : By the Master's grace may one find liberaion,
Should the mind to truth be devoted. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Hari kā Nāmu amolu hai kiu kīmati kījai

Invaluable is the Lord's Name; how its value to reckon ?
All creation has He made, Himself pervading all. P. 1089
By the Master's guidance should He evermore be lauded;
Thus may His value be realized.
As by the Master's Word blossoms the lotus of the heart,
May joy in the Lord be quaffed :
Transmigration is then annulled.
And the self may in serene joy rest.[3] (7)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Nā mailā nā dhundalā nā bhagwā nā kacchu

Neither soiled nor grey or ochre, nor frail is the Lord's dye[4] :
Saith Nanak : God's dye is deep vermillion,
Truth in holiness immersed. (1)

---

1. Lit. In the holy Preceptor are absorbed.
2. Lit. Waves.
3. Lit. Sleep.
4. These colours are intended to stand for the three qualities of Maya : The vermillion is representative of devotion to the holy Name.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Serene contemplation of God is vegetation, flowers and fruit,
In which the humming bee of devotion abides fearlessly.
Saith Nanak : One is the tree, one its flowers,
Whereto is devoted the humming bee.[1] (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jo jana lūjhehn manai siūn sei sūrei pardhānā

Those waging battle with the self are the true eminent heroes :
Ever with God abide those that the self realize.
Such is the quality of the enlightened :
in the self are they absorbed;
Meditating on Truth, to the Lord's Mansion they attain.
Those that by the Master's grace the self have subdued,
The world too have they conquered. (8)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Jogī hovān jagi bhawān ghari ghari bhīkhyā leon

Should I turn Yogi, wander the world over,
And beg alms at each door—
When at the Portal my reckoning is called, what answer shall I make ?
The Name is my alms; contentment my hut,
Truth ever is by my side.
To the hypocrite is not revealed the depth of truth—
All such by Yama, agent of death, are bound,
Saith Nanak : All claims[2] are false;
The holy Name contemplate. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Worship not at the portal that annuls not your reckoning.[3]
Seek the Preceptor who is supreme over all;
In his shelter shall be found liberation, and no reckoning called.
This Preceptor to truth is devoted; of truth gives realization.
One whose heart bears truth, his body and mind shall holy be.
Saith Nanak : Submission to the Ordinance of the holy Eternal
True exaltation shall bring.
He on whom His glance of grace falls, in truth shall be absorbed (2)

---

1. The tree herein stands for God, the flower for devotion and the humming-bee for the devotee.
2. Lit. Talk bragging about the Yogi's miraculous powers etc. is implied.
3. Reckoning of deeds.

Pauri (Stanza)

Sūrei ehi na ākhīyehn ahankāri marehn dukhu pāwehn

Call not these heroes that in pride die and bear suffering :
Blind, not realizing the self, in duality are they absorbed.
In extreme of wrath they wage battles,
In this life and the next suffering.
Declare the Scriptures,[1] pride pleases not the Lord.
Those dying in pride, of liberation shall be deprived,
And in the cycle of death and birth shall ever move. (9)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Kāgoun hoe na ūjalā lohei nāv na pāru

A crow may not be washed white,
Nor a boat of iron carry one across.
Should one put faith in the boon of devotion,
A blessed bringer of exaltation shall that be.
By realization of God's holy[2] ordinance,
Iron shall swim along with wood.
Saith Nanak : Discarding of desire, and in fear of God abiding is the purest of actions. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

The ignorant fools that have retired into waste places to subdue the mind,
Have failed so to subdue it.
Saith Nanak : Should any seek to subdue it,
The Master's Word must he contemplate.
All seek the mind to subdue—
Hard is such achievement.
Saith Nanak : The mind by the mind is subdued,
After the Master's touch has to it such power imparted. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Dovain tarfān upāīyonu vichi Shakti Shiv wāsā

The devotees and the worldly-minded[3] has He in P. 1090
the world created,
And amidst Shiva and Shakti[4] fixed them.
By following Shakti none ever achieved realization;

1. Original, Vedas.
2. Lit. Pure, free from impurity.
3. Lit. The two sides.
4. Shiva is the eternal principle, shakti the mutable phenomena.

Wandering in births are such ruined.
In devotion to the Master comes tranquillity;
By contemplation with each breath and morsel.[1]
Study the Scriptures,[2] which declare :
Noblest of all are the Lord's devotees.
Saith Nanak ! Without the Name none finds poise:
To the Name may I be a sacrifice. (10)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Hovān panditu jotakī Ved parhān mukhi chāri

Should I be a Brahmin priest or astrologer,
And be able to recite from memory the four Vedas,[3]
Be venerated in the nine continents for my performance of Brahminical rites—
Lest I should forget the holy teaching[4] that none by food[4] is polluted;
Saith Nanak : false is the belief about impurity of food.[5]
The Lord alone is pure. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Himself He raises creation; Himself the universal Doer:
All creation He watches over.
Saith Nanak : He, the holy Lord alone confers exaltation. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Kantaku kālu ehu hai horu kantaku na sūjhai

Death is the sole source[6] of suffering; none other do I see such.
In arrogance it operates in the world; the sinners it molests.
By guidance of the Master's Word may one in the Lord be absorbed;
By meditation may He be realized.
Such by seeking the Lord's shelter shall be saved.
As with their own self wage battle.
Those that with contemplation repeat the Lord's Name, Shall at the Divine Portal stand vindicated. (11)

---

1. Lit. That is each moment.
2. Original. Simritis. Shāstras.
3. The first Sloka here appears also among miscellaneous Slokas. (Vārān ton Wadhīk) of Guru Amar Das. page 1412. the holy Granth.
4. Lit. Word
5. The original is chowkā. which stands both for the Hindu kitchen-space and the food cooked therein.
6. Lit. Thorn.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Hukami razāīn sākhtī dargah sachu kabūlu

Submission to Divine Ordinance and Will Brings acceptance at the holy Portal,
The Lord shall demand reckoning of deeds—
Be not forgetuful of this in absorption in the world.
Whoever keeps guard over his heart, and to renunciation[1] is inclined,
In fullness of love and devotion, is a devotee.
Saith Nanak : Be devoted in love—Judgement with the Creator lies. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

A devotee like a humming-bee wandering along,
Sees in all creation the Divine image;
His mind's jewel with the Divine jewel is pierced.
Saith Nanak : With this is his neck spontaneously decked. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Manmukh Kālu viyāpadā mohi māyā lāgei

By death are egoists gripped in Maya-attachment absorbed.
In an instant will he throw down
Such as by feelings of duality are deluded.
Then shall they not be able to retrieve lost time,
And suffer Yama's chastizement.
Chastizement of Yama shall befall not such as to the Lord are devoted.
Lord ! all are Thy creatures, by Thee to be redeemed—
To Thee are devoted. (12)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Sarbei joe agacchhami dūkhu ghanero āthi

Behold thou the Lord immutable in all creation;
In attachment to worldly wealth lies much suffering.
Laden with saline earth; hast thou to cross the ocean—
This way shalt thou not get much profit. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Capital of the holy Name is wealth inexhaustible, limitless.
Saith Nanak : Holy is such capital;
Blessed the traders therein and blessed the commerce. (2)

---

1 Original, Darveshi.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Find thou the primal devotion ordained, and to the mighty Lord be devoted.
Saith Nanak : with attachment to the Name shalt thou repudiate Yama, standing face to face with thee. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei pindu sawāriyonu vichi nav-nidhi Nāmu

Himself has He ennobled the human frame,
And placed in it the Nine Treasures[1] of the Name.
Some has He cast into delusion;
Fruitless are their doings.
Others by the Master's guidance have the Lord,
the Supreme Self, Realized.
Some by listening to the Master's teaching have bent themselves in holy devotion to the Lord :
In them has risen the Lord's devotion;
His praise and Name have they chanted. (13)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Bholtaṇi bhay mani wasai hekai pādhar hīdu

In innocence abides God's fear in the mind—
The sole straight path is this.
In envy lies much suffering, polluting the three faculties of mind, word and the limbs.[2] (1) P. 1091
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
To one given to much partisan conflicting,
Even Scriptures bring not peace.[3]
Saith Nanak : contemplate thou the Name;
Nothing else is any worth. (2)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
This ocean with Three Qualities is of death immeasurable—
How may its bottom be seen ?
Only by guidance of the holy Preceptor, above desire,
May I cross this.
In this ocean lies suffering unending.
Saith Nanak : Without recourse to the holy Name,
None ever found fulfilment. (3)

---

1. See Glossary.
2. (Another interpretation : In all three worlds is he found impure).
3. Lit. in the Vedas hears the noise of the drum.

Pauri (Stanza)

Jinnhīn andaru bhāliyā Guru shabdi suhāwai

Those that by guidance of the noble Word their self have searched,
By meditation on the holy Name are all their desires fulfilled.
To whomsoever His grace He shows, the Master's guidance
He gives, Inspiring in Him Divine laudation.
To such Dharamraj turns friendly, keeping them off from the way of his minions;
Day and night are such in meditation on the Lord's Name engaged;
In the Lord's Name absorbed. (14)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Suṇīyai eku vakhāṇīyai Suragi mirati paiyāli

One sole Being in Swarga, in the mortal world and in the nether world is known and manifested,[1]
Ineffaceable is His Ordinance: the Writ with each one lasts.
Who has died ? Who takes away life ?
Who is born, who dies ?
Who into the Divine mystry enters ?
Into whose consciousness is He absorbed ? (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

By egoism does man die; acquisitiveness destroys him;
Although the air of breath keeps flowing on river-like,
Saith Nanak, when in the Name is the self dyed,
Desire has a stop;
Eyes in the Divine vision are dyed,
Hearing in consciousness of the Lord is absorbed;
The tongue sucking in supreme joy,
In utterance of the Name grows vermilion-hued.
The heart in musk is soaked;
Priceless is such attainment. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Isu jug mehn Nāmu nidhānu hai Nāmo nāli chalai

The Lord's Name in this Age[2] is the true wealth;
The Name alone with the self lasts.
This treasure is inexhaustible, never-emptied—

1. Lit. Is heard of and expounded.
2. The Iron age (Kali-Yuga).

Spend of it as much as you please.
Yama's minions and death touch not the Lord's devotees.
Such alone are the truly wealthy, holy merchants,
As of the wealth divine are possessed.
Such wealth by the Lord's grace is found :
Himself He sends it. (15)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Manmukh vāpārai sār na jāṇanī bikhu vihājhe bikhu sangaraheh bikh siūn dhareh piyāru

The egoist knows not the way of true commerce—
Poison he purchases, poison gathers,
To poison is attached,
Such outwardly pass for scholar-priests,[1]
But in their minds are ignorant, uninstructed.
Their hearts not devoted to the Lord, to disputation are they inclined.
Of disputation they make discourses and speak falsehood to earn livelihood.
In this world the Name Divine alone is pure;
To all that is visible attaches impurity.
Saith Nanak : Those not meditating on the Name,
In impurity, ignorance die. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
To abjure service to the Lord brings suffering;
This by obedience to the Divine Ordinance is annulled.
He is Himself Bestower of bliss, Himself the chastizer.
Saith Nanak : Know, nothing without His Will happens.[2] (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Hari-Nām binā jagatu hai nirdhanu binu Nāvain tripti nāhīn

Poor is the world deprived of the Name Divine,
Without the Name comes not fulfilment.
Those lost in illusion of duality from egoism get suffering.
Desiring will bring no fulfilment; from Divine grace alone comes this. P. 1092
Man comes and goes, is born and dies—
The Divine Word alone brings liberation.

1. Original. Pandit
2. Lit. All by His Will happens.

All happens by His Will; none other is doer—
To whom else may we raise supplication[1] ? (16)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Isū jag mehn santīn dhanu khattiyā jinhān Satiguru miliyā Prabhu āye

God's devotees have in the world garnered the true wealth,
Who are blessed with union with the holy Preceptor,
image of the Lord.
The holy Preceptor realization of truth has imparted,
Whose wealth is beyond computation.
Acquisition of this wealth has annulled desire,
And in the mind is lodged joy.
To those has it come, for whom this blessing in primal
Time is recorded.
The world, to egoism given, is truly poor,
Wailing and hankering after Maya;
Day after day wandering in quest of it, its hunger not assuaged;
Never finding poise nor joy of heart;
Caught in anxiety ever, of illusion never rid.
Saith Nanak : Without the holy Preceptor's guidance is the mind[2] perverted;
By the Master's touch alone may living the holy Word come :
Then may man abide in joy everlasting,
And in the holy Eternal be absorbed. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
He that the creation has raised,
Shall Himself look after it.
Brethren ! Contemplate you the sole Supreme Being :
None other than He is real.
Make the holy Word and good deeds your sustenance;
Such food fulfilment shall bring.
Make your raiment of Divine laudation,[3]
That is ever bright, soiled never.
The wealth of truth garnered through serene devotion,
Decrease shall see never.
The holy Word of this frame is decoration,
Bringing joy everlasting.

1. (The order in rendering the last line is slightly altered).
2. Thinking.
3. In the original occur two terms, sifat and sanā, both from the Arabic.

Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance is He realized—
Such realization by His grace alone comes. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Antari japu tapu sanjamo Guru Shabdīn jāpai

Prayer, austerity and restraint of mind,
By utterance of the Master's Word are achieved;
By meditation on the Lord's Name are lifted egoism and ignorance.
With amrita is the self filled;
Its joy by tasting of it is realized.
Those tasting of it are of Yama's terror relieved,
And with Divine joy are filled;
This the Lord in His grace has offered;
Death thereafter touches not him who of it has tasted. (17)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Loku avaguṇān kī bannhai gānthaṛī guṇa na vihājhai koe

The world gathers packetfuls of ill-doing;
Good qualities no one acquires.[1]
Saith Nanak : Few are such as good qualities seek.
Merits by the Master's grace are acquired, whomsoever He favours. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Alike are merits and demerits—each made by the Creator.
Saith Nanak : Know these by Divine Ordinance to be created;
And by contemplation of the Master's Word find bliss. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Andari rājā takhtu hai āpei karei niyāon

Within is situated the Sovereign on the throne,
Himself justice He dispenses;
By the Master's Word is known the Portal and the sheltering Mansion within.
There the genuine coins are tested and in the treasure stored,
The spurious are cast off.[2]
With God all occurrence is holy,
Eternally holy is His justice.
As in the mind is lodged the holy Name,
Joy in amrita have I tasted. (18)

1. Lit. Purchases.
2. Lit. Find no place.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Haumai karin tā tūṁ nāhīṁ tūṁ hovehṁ hauṁ nāhiṁ

With egoism art Thou not experienced,
Where Thou art, is not egoism.
Thou who art learned, expound in thy mind
this inexpressible proposition.[1]
Without the Master's guidance is not realized the Essence— P. 1093
The Inaccessible, that in all creation abides.
By the holy Preceptor's touch, as is the Word in the self lodged,
comes this realization.
With egoism gone, vanish illusion and fear,
and suffering of transmigration.
By the Master's teaching is the Inaccessible known;
By exalted wisdom comes liberation.[2]
Saith Nanak : Repeat the formula 'I am He : He my self is';
In Him are the three worlds absorbed. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Rare in Kali-Yuga are those That by contemplation of the Master's Word of their jewel-self have realization.
As are egoism and duality annulled,
Self to the Supreme Self is united.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dyed,
The impassable, ocean of the world, hard to cross,
have crossed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Manmukh andaru na bhālanī mutthei ahamantei

Egoists seeks Him not within, by pride and arrogance[3] misguided ;
In all four directions have they wandered to distraction,
By agony[4] tormented within.
Egoists that seek not light from Scriptures[5] are lost.
None without the Master's guidance achieved the Name Divine,
the holy Lord.

1. Lit. Tale.
2. Lit. Swimming across.
3. (In the original, one word is used).
4. Lit. Thirst.
5. Original. Simritis, Shastras.

By contemplation of knowledge of the Essence,
By utterance of the holy Name,
Is achieved the holy state. (19)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Āpei jāṇai karei āpi āpei āṇai rāsi

Himself is the Lord all-knowing : Himself the Doer,
All errors He Himself rectifies,
Nanak standing in humility before Him,
We make our supplication. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
He that has created all, looks after it also;
To Him is all known.
To whom, says Nanak, shall we carry our complaint ?
All within the self[1] is lodged. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Sabbhei thok visāri ikko mittu kari

Forget thou all else; adopt one sole Being as thy Succourer :
Thus will thy mind and body be joyous,
And thy sins by the Lord be consumed;
Thy transmigration annulled; neither birth nor death to thee shall attach.
Make thy prop the holy Name : Burn not in sorrow or attachment.
Saith Nanak : Garner wealth of the Name,
And in thy self deposit. (20)
Sloka (Guru Arjan Dev)*

Māyā manuhn na vīsarai māngai dammā damm

Man leaves not his concern for Maya,
And incessantly for more and more asks.
Saith Nanak : Without good fortune, contemplation of the Lord enters not man's thoughts. (1)
Sloka (Guru Arjan Dev)
Thou blind of thinking, Maya with thee shall not go—
Why cling to it ?
Meditate on the Master's holy feet;
Thereby may thy Maya-bonds be snapped. (2)

---

1. Lit. In the Home.
* This Sloka is also recorded on page 1426 among Slokas Tārān-ton Vadhik of M.V.

Pauri (Stanza)

Bhāṇai Hukamu manāiyonu bhāṇai sukhu pāiyā

By His will comes submission to the Ordinance;
By His will comes to man bliss;
By His will comes union with the holy Preceptor;
By His will is meditation on holy inspired,
No boon is such as submission to the Divine will—this truth to thee I reveal.
Those so pre-destined alone the holy truth follow.[1]
Saith Nanak : With Him I seek shelter
Who the universe has created. (21)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Jin kau andari gyānu nahīn bhay kī nāhīn bind

Those lacking realization within,
Those without a dot of fear of God;
Saith Nanak, such are as dead; why seek them to destroy ?
By the Lord have they been undone. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

To read the script of the self brings the purest of all joys.
A true Brahmin is one that the Divine truths[2] realizes;
Chants the Lord's praise, holy truth[3] studies by contemplation
of the Master's Word :
Blessed is his birth, His clan with him shall be saved. P. 1094
In the Hereafter is not considered caste; contemplation of the holy Word there is reckoned the purest action.
Study of other than this, acting upon such—
All is attachment to evil.
Such find no joy within;
In ignominy is egoist's life passed.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dyed,
By their unbounded devotion to the Master are saved. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei kari kari vekhdā āpei sabhu sacchā

Himself the world He creates; Himself watches over it !
He the sole truth.

---

1. Act, act upon.
2. Bīchār (Vichār) = thought, philosophy = contemplation of the Supreme Being.
3. The Lord, i.e. Divine truths.

One not realizing the Lord's Ordinance is of self unredeemed.[1]
The holy Lord, by the Master's guidance inclines man to devotion on His Will.
Of all creation is One sole Lord, in the Master's Word
pervasive.
By the Master's guidance render praise to Him ever—
All occurrence is His play.
Saith Nanak : Beings move[2] about as by Him Willed. (22) 1.
Found correct.[3]

Vār in the Measure Māru-Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev Dakhṇe (Slokas in the South—Western Dialect) of Sri Guru Arjan Dev's Composition.
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka

Tūn chau Sajjaṇ maindiyā deī sissu utāri

Beloved ! shouldst Thou utter a word my head would I cut off and offer :
My eyes yearn for a sight of Thee. (1)
With Thee am I in love; all other loves find I false.
Frighiening are raiment and all enjoyments
Without sight of the Beloved. (2)
Beloved Spouse ! at dawn I wake up, to have sight of Thee.
Collyrium, necklaces, delight of chewing betel,
Without a sight of Him all are as ashes. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Tūn sacchā sāhibu sacchu sacchu sabhu dhāriyā

Holy Lord art Thou, all by Thee sustained.
After creating and embellishing it,
Hast Thou spread righteousness.
By command of the Lord were manifested the Vedas,[4]
That contemplated issues of evil and good.
Were created Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva

---

1. Lit. Raw.
2. Lit Dance.
3. (This direction occurs in the original text, as Suddha).
   Note : All portions of this Vār are of Sri Guru Arjan Dev's composition.
4. Implies religious scriptures in general.

And were the three qualities[1] made manifest.[2]
Creating the world with Nine continents did the Lord embellish it with beauty.
Creating beings of various kinds, with power was each endowed.
Holy Creator ! none Thy extent knows.
All devices to Thee are known—
By the Master's guidance dost Thou confer liberation. (1)
*Dakhne (Slokas Guru Arjan Dev)

Je Tūn mitteru asādaṛā hik bhorī nā vechhoṛi

If our friend art Thou, for an instant separate us not from Thyself.
My heart by Thee is charmed—
Beloved ! When shall I have sight of Thee ? (1)
Evil one ! burn thou in fire; separation, die thou.
Beloved Spouse ! sleep Thou in my head's couch,
Whereby may all my suffering vanish. (2)
Duality is the evil one: malady of egoism source of separation,
The holy King is the Beloved, in union with whom may delight be felt. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Tūn agam dayālu beantu Terī kīmati kahai kauṇu

Inaccessible, gracious art Thou—
Who Thy worth can state ?
Thou the entire universe hast created;
Thou who art master of all abodes.[3]
None the extent of Thy might knows, Thou Lord all pervasive.
None has power Thee to equal, Thou who art immortal, liberator of the world.
The Four Ages[4] hast Thou created, P. 1095
Thou who art Creator of all universes, Transmigration hast Thou created, yet not a blade of attachment to Thee sticks.
To whomsoever Thou art gracious, to the holy Preceptor's feet dost attach him.

1. See Glossary.
2. Spread.
* As already explicated, Dakhne implies compositions in the South-Western dialect of Punjab. In the following portions too this term will occur, with this signification.
3. Implies worlds.
4. See Glossary.

Immortal Creator of the universe,
By no other device art Thou met. (2)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Je Tūn wattehn angaṇei habh dharti suhāwī hoe

Shouldst Thou enter my courtyard, the whole earth an aspect of beauty shall wear.
Sequestered from the Spouse that I am, none now cares for me. (1)
All objects are embellished with beauty,
As the Lord-spouse in my courtyard has settled.
From such a house no wayfarer empty-handed returns. (2)
For the Spouse have I spread my couch, and fully decked myself—Even such a gap from Him I bear not as wearing a necklace would bring. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Tūn pār-Brahmu Parameshauru joni na āwahīn

Thou art Supreme Being, Supreme Lord, unincarnated.
By Thy Ordinance dost raise creation,
Then into Thy self dost absorb it.
Unknowable Thy aspect—how on Thee to meditate ?
All creation dost Thou pervade, making manifest Thy might.
Of Thy devotion are stores full, that know not diminution.
Of these diamonds, jewels and rubies the value is inestimable.
To whomsoever Thou art gracious, in service to the holy Preceptor dost engage him.
No want feels one that Divine laudation sings. (3)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Jā mū passī hath main Pirī mahinjai nāli

As in my heart I look, the beloved Spouse is with me.
Saith Nanak : Then are all sorrows gone, and the glance of grace on me falls. (1)
Nanak standing for long at the Portal, tidings of the Lord seeks.
Beloved ! Know my objective; standing in wait I seek Thee. (2)
Fool ! what utterest thou ? shouldst thou not hanker after other's womenfolk,[1]
Only then art thou a true husband.
Saith Nanak : This orchard is full of flowers, with the whole world abloom. (3)

1. Creeper.

Pauri (Stanza)

Sugharu sujāṇu sarūpu Tūn sabh mehn vartantā

Thou art all-wisdom, all-knowing, all-beauty,
Pervasive in all.
Thou art the Lord as also the worshipper, and in worship dost engage.
Thou art all-knowing, all-seeing, and with purity endowed.
Lord ! Thou art continent, pure and immaculate.
All is expanse of the Supreme Being, in which He disports.
Transmigration has He established, thus enacting His play.
Whomsoever the Master's spell He grants, nevermore into the womb is cast.
Creatures are powerless, moving as He directs them. (4)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Kurīyei kurīyei waindiyān tali gāṛā mahreru

Thou wayfarer by the river-path beneath thy feet is a steep bank :
Look out ! should thy foot slip, mud-stained shalt thou become.[1] (1)
Knowing falsehood to be truth dost thou keep going along.
Saith Nanak : Thy state is as that of butter in fire,
Or of water-weeds fallen and destroyed. (2)
My simple, thoughtless self ! in serving the Lord art thou sluggish.
With long passage of time, when will the appropriate season[2] come again ? (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Tudhu rūpu na rekhiyā jāti tun varnān baharā

Without form or feature, clan or caste art Thou. P.1096
Man considers Thou art far, yet art Thou manifestly pervasive.
Thou with all beings art involved, yet art Thou totally untouched by any.
Thou the Supreme Being blissful, limitless-in all beings
pervasive Thy light.
Mighty Creator, of all deities art Thou overlord.
What power has this tongue to make supplication to Thee,
Thou that are immortal, limitless ?

---

1. (Herein are symbols such as 'slipping of foot' implying lapse from righteousness, and 'mud' that is ignominy).
2. Implies human birth.

Whomsoever to the Master thou dost unite,
Saved are all his forebears.
All devotees at Thy portal render service—
Nanak too is Thy slave. (5)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Gahaḍaṛā triṇi chhāiyā ghāfal jaliyohu bhāhi

Thoughtless man ! a hut of straw hast thou made,
And lighted a fire.
Those bearing on forehead good fortune, with the Master find shelter. (1)
With food cooked and served elegantly, Without blessing of the holy Preceptor may one go on waiting for grace[1] to begin eating. (2)
Saith Nanak : With bread baked and served in the plate,
Those that the Master's favour have won,
Alone have their fill. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Tudhu jag mehn khelu rachāiyā vichi haumai pāīyā

Thou the play of the world enacting, into it egoism hast cast.
One house[2] with five thieves[3] is infested, who ever do evil.
Ten females[4] to one male[5] are attached, involved in ten kinds of pleasures,
Entangled by the charmer Maya, ever by her deluded.
Two are the bounds, the eternally wakeful self[6] and mutable
Maya.[7]
The eternally wakeful self[6] by Maya[7] is vanquished—
Such is the Lord's Will.
Some from Maya hast Thou saved, whom to holy congregation hast Thou united.
From water hast Thou raised a bubble; in water is it re-absorbed. (6)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Āgāhā kūn trānghi pichchā pheri na muhḍaṛā

Look thou ahead, turn not thy face backwards.

---

1. Darūd = is Muslim prayer of dedication before food is sanctified.
2. Symbol for the human body.
3. Five sources of evil.
4. The senses.
5. (The self).
6. Shiva.
7. Shakti.

Saith Nanak : Make life fruitful this time—
Nevermore shalt thou see birth. (1)
My eternal friend is brimful of delight, friend to all.
All know Him to be their own—He no one's heart breaks. (2)
A hidden jewel have I found, that on my forehead was manifest as fortune.
Saith Nanak : Beloved ! beautified is the spot where Thou hast taken abode. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jā Tūn merai walli hain tā kyā muhchhaṇḍā

Shouldst Thou be on my side, what need have I of another ?
To me, that am Thy slave, hast Thou granted all boons.
Never-ending is my wealth, which ever I keep spending.
Eighty-four lakh forms of creation all to Thee render service.
All foes my friends have turned, wishing me not ill.
With the Lord showing grace, none asks me for reckoning.
In union with the Master, image of the Lord, have I attained bliss and joy.
Shouldst Thou be pleased, are all our objective achieved. (7)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Dekhaṇ kū mushtāku mukhu ki jehā Tau Dhaṇī

Lord ! to behold Thy face am I full of yearning.
Miserable that I wandered about, at sight of Thee my heart felt fulfilled. (1)
Many are sufferings of this miserable one— P. 1097
Thou Lord ! alone knowest his agony.
With a million remedies known, yet by Thy sight alone would I find life. (2)
Into the flowing river have I seen the bank acrumble—
Such alone find shelter as the holy Preceptor have met.. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jisu jan Terī bhukkh hai tisu dukhu na biyāpai

The heart hungering for Thee no suffering sees.
Whoever by the Master's guidance realization has attained,
In all four directions gets acclaim.
Whoever with Him seeks shelter, sins at his sight are a tremble.
By immersion in dust of the Master's feet
impurity of multiple births is shed.
Those obeying the Lords Will feel not sorrow of affliction.
Lord ! friend of all art Thou—all to Thee is known.

As great is the devotee's repute as the Lord's glory.
Among all creation hast Thou made Thy servant manifest[1]—
By His servant's greatness is the Lord known. (8)
Dakhne (Slokas)

Jinnhān pichchai haun gayee se main pichchai bhī rawiyāsu

Those of whom I sought to beg, are themselves following me after.
Those in whom I repose expectation, are from me full of expectations. (1)
To the wet heap of molasses comes the fly on wing—
Whoever on it settles is caught; those with good fortune recorded on forehead alone escape. (2)
In all beings have I beheld Him—know none of Him to be bereft.
Sister-friend[2] ! by good fortune writ on thy forehead hast thou had bliss with Him. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Haun dhādhī dari guṇa gāwandā je Hari-Prabhu bhāvai

At the Divine Portal I, a bard, sing the Lord's laudation, Hoping it shall please Him.
The Lord alone is immutable—all else comes and goes.
Lord ! of Thee I seek the boon[3] whereby may all hunger vanish.
Lord ! grant a sight of Thee whereby this bard fulfilled may feel.
The bountiful Lord, listening to the bard's supplication,
Into the Mansion called him.
At sight of the Lord was gone the bard's sorrow and hunger,
And his supplication he forgot.
By touching the Lord's feet were all his desires fulfilled.
The Lord showed grace to the bard, devoid of merit and pride. (9)
Dakhne (Slokas)

Jān chhuttei tān khāku tūn sunjnī kantu na jāṇahī

Thou empty frame, unmindful of realizing the Divine Spouse, Know, when life shall depart, clay thou shall be.
With evil-doers[4] art thou in love—
By what merit mayst have bliss with the Lord ? (1)
Nanak ! He without whom life for an hour may not be,

1. (Might imply also pervasive, pre-eminent).
2. Image for fellow-seeker.
3. (This is mentioned in the next line).
4. Implies the five sources of evil.

Who for an instant cannot be cast off,
Who ever is mindful of us—why with Him be out of accord ? (2)
By immersion in love of the Supreme Being are mind
and body dyed deep red.
Saith Nanak : To be without the Name, to be involved in other thoughts
Is to be unclean. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Hari jīo jān tūn merā mitru hain tān kyā main kāṛā

Lord ! with Thee on my side, what have I to cause anxiety ?
The robbers that the world have robbed, by Thee are destroyed and thrown off.
The Master has taken me across the ocean of existence
And affliction is overcome.
In the vast field of the world, by the Master's guidance
All joys I have.
By the Lord, so mighty
Have all senses been brought under our control—
Acting as guided, all contention ended.
As the Master has directed my faculties within, P. 1098
All heart's desires I achieve.
By Guru Nanak's grace, brethren, the Lord have
I beheld Abiding close. (10)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Jān mun āwehn chitti tūn tān habbhei sukh lahāu

As Thou-my mind, dost enter, are all joys obtained.
Beloved, with Thy Name cherished in heart,
Am I full of joy. (1)
Enjoyment of raiment and worldly pleasures, all is ashes.
Dust of feet of such I seek as to sight of the Lord are attached. (2)
Wherefor dost look other ways ? In thy heart adopt one sole prop.
Be dust of feet of the holy, whereby joy in the Divine Provider may come. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Viṇu Karmān Hari jīo na pāīyai binu Satiguru manūā na lagai

Without good fortune is the Lord not attained;
With the holy Preceptor's guidance the mind finds not poise.

In Kali-Yuga from righteousness[1] comes the prop—
Sinners no way can find fulfilment.
Of what one does with one hand, with the other obtains recompense,
Without an hour's a moment's delay.
Over all four Ages have I searched :
Without joining the holy congregation is egoism not shattered.
Egoism without the holy congregation is not cast off.
While the mind to the Lord unattachment remains,
No resting-place it finds.
Whoever by the Master's guidance the Lord has served,
In his heart rests the imperishable Divine prop.
By devotion to the holy Preceptor's feet,
By Divine grace joy have I obtained. (11)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Lorīndo habh jāe so mīrān-mīrann siri

Everywhere that overlord of all potentates I seek.
In the heart abides that Lord, whose Name my tongue utters. (1)
Mother mine ! the Lord Himself jewel of the Name
to me has granted.
By uttering Name of the holy Eternal is my heart joy-cooled. (2)
May I turn couch for the Beloved ! With my eyes the mattress :
Should He cast His glance at me once.
Beyond all price would my joy be. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Manu lochai Hari milaṇ kau kiu darshanu pāīyai

My heart for union with the Lord yearns—
How His sight to obtain ?
Lord ! shouldst Thou for a moment speak to me,
Millions shall I have earned.
Lord ! all four directions have I scoured—
None find I Thy equal.
You that are of the holy, show me the way
Whereby to find union with Lord.
Dedicate to Him your heart, discard egoism—
Along this path proceed.[2]
Joining holy company, ever serve the Lord;

---

1. Dharma.
2. (This is the reply to the supplication made earlier).

As the Divine Master calls me within the Mansion,
Shall all desires be fulfilled.
Divine friend, Lord ! none behold I to be Thy equal. (12)
Dakhne (Slokas)

Mū thīyāū takhtu Pirī mahinjjei pātishāh

May I turn throne for my beloved King :
As with His feet He touches me, like the lotus would I bloom. (1)
Should the Beloved hunger like saline curry[1]
may I lie before Him.
Know holy company to be sugarcane's joice, that with repeated crushing would not end. (2)
With robbers[2] break off attachment; know the world to be a mirage.[3]
For two hours lasts life's joy; many are the abodes[4] for this wayfarer. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Akal kalā neh pāīyai Prabhu alakh alekham

Not by intellect for artifice is attained the Lord, unknowable, limitless.
Followers of the six orders[5] wander about seeking Him, P. 1099
Not by sectarian garbs is He attained.
Keeping fasts on the opening days of the lunar month is of little account.
Those reciting the Vedas from end to end to have neither enlightenment nor vision.
Those drawing paste-marks and taking sacred baths
Bear blackness within.
By sectarian garbs is the Lord not attained,
without true teaching :
Such alone after straying find the way, as on forehead bear mark of good fortune.
Of those setting eyes on the Master is the birth redeemed. (13)

---

1. Implies saline preparations to be consumed with bread etc.
2. Sources of evil impulses are implied.
3. Gandharv-Nagrī. Imaginary city in the sky.
4. Implies births in transmigration.
5. The six ascetic orders are meant.

Dakhṇe (Slokas)

So nivāhū gaddi jo chalāū na thīyai

Fix thy mind on Him who is not perishable.
Discard false actions; the holy Lord contemplate. (1)
In all beings is pervasive the Divine light, as the moon in all vessels full of water.
Saith Nanak : To such alone is He manifested as have good fortune inscribed on forehead. (2)
Utter the Name; day and night sing Divine laudation :
Thus shall thy face be made beauteous.
Saith Nanak : Such at the Portal shall be honoured,
And though shelterless, find shelter. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Bāhar bhekhi na pāīyai Prabhu antarjāmī

Not by exterior garbs is attained the Lord, controller of the inner self.
Those sequestered from the Lord go about without worth.
Those whose mind in family is involved,
go about full of pride.
What worth the arrogance of wealth of those going about the world filled with pride ?
This at departure accompanies not, and in an instant,
without delay vanishes.
Such by the Divine Ordinance wander about the world
hankering after it.
By rise of good fortune is attained the Master,
Whereby is met the Lord.
Such a one is the Lord's servant;
the Lord compliant to his wishes. (14)

Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Mukhuh alāye habh maraṇu pachhāṇando koe

All to it give utteranee yet few realize the truth of death.
Nanak is dust of feet of such as faith in the sole
Lord have fixed. (1)
Know Him to abide within, yet this a rare one realizes.
Saith Nanak : Those contacting the Master have the veil from their self lifted. (2)
Of those uttering supreme wisdom would I wash
the feet and sip :
To have a sight of the holy Lord bear I limitless yearning. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nirbhau Nāmu visāriyā nāli māyā racchā

By attachment to lucre[1] is the Name of the Lord above fear forgotten.
Such move and whirl about in transmigration,
And in numerous births frisk about,
Such a one from his word resiles—
False all his utterance;
Hollow and false within, in falsehood involved.
For false greed, to these without rancour, rancour he bears.
For his primal evil-doing by the holy Monarch condemned.
Spotted by Yama's minions, in suffering absorbed.
Saith Nanak : At the holy Portal is righteous justice dispensed. (15)

Dakhne (Slokas)

Parbhātei Prabh Nāmu japi Guru ke charaṇ dhiyāe

At dawn utter the Name Divine, and on the Master's feet meditate.
By singing laudation of the holy Eternal is shed suffering of transmigration. (1)
Bereft of the Name is the body dark, blind and deserted.
Saith Nanak : Fruitful is the birth of those,
In whose self abides the holy Lord. (2)
With my eyes have I beheld the Divine Light,
Whereby is my keen thirst still unassuaged.
Saith Nanak : Those are other than these, P. 1100 that sight of the Beloved can behold. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jini jani Gurmukhi seviyā tini sabhi sukh pāī

Any that by the Master's guidance the Lord has served,
All joys has obtained.
Such a one liberated himself, to the whole world liberation has brought.
Wealth of the Name Divine has he garnered, all his thirst assuaged.
With his heart attached to the Lord,
all worldly greed has he discarded.
Ever reigns joy in his home—the Lord his friend and succourer.
Foes and friends to him are alike,

1. Maya.

To all goodwill entertaining.
Such alone in the world feel fulfilled as the Master's teaching contemplate.
Such the destiny pre-recorded have obtained,
And with the Lord are in accord. (16)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Sachu Suhāwā Kadhīyai kūṛai kūṛī soe

Truth is called beauteous of aspect; false is falsehood's repute.
Saith Nanak : Rare are such as carry truth with them.[1] (1)
May I behold the uniquely lovely face of the Beloved night and day[2] !
To one that the Lord in sleep has beheld,
May I sacrifice myself cut to pieces. (2)
Friend ! realize holy truth—vain it is merely of it to talk.
Behold Him in thy mind—the Beloved from thee is not far. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Dharti ākāshu pātālu hai chandu sūru bināsī

Earth, sky, nether regions, moon and sun—are all mortal.
Kings, monarchs, lords and nobles all with abodes acrumble shall depart.
Paupers, the high and mighty, the poor and those intoxicated with wealth,
The whole world, shall depart.
Kazis,[3] Sheikhs, divines[4] all shall take departure.
Holy men, prophets, apostles—none shall last.
Without realization shall fasting, call to prayer, namaz[5] and the Muslim Scriptures, all vanish.
The creation in eighty-four lakh species is all in a flux.
Immutable is the Lord; eternal the Lord's servant. (17)
Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Ditthī habh dhandoli hikkasu bājhu na koe

The whole world have I seen and scoured—
Other than the Sole Lord, none is real.
Come, Divine Friend ! grant a sight of Thee,
That my body and mind be joy-cooled. (1)

---

1. Lit. Carry it tied to their sash.
2. All eight pahars.
3. Muslim divine and judge.
4. Mashaikh (Pl. of Sheikh).
5. The Muslim prayer.

True love[1] no expectation entertains; yet is my heart
full of yearning.
Thou alone art without desire—to Thee am I ever a sacrifice. (2)
On hearing of suffering feel I pain;
To be without sight of the Beloved is death.
One separated, without sight of the Beloved finds not solace. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Tat tīrath dev-devāliyā Kedāru Mathurā Kāshī

Holy water-edges, sacred bathing-spots, deities and temples sacred to them
With Kedarnath, Mathura and Kashi;[2]
Thirty-three crore deities along with Indra, their king shall perish.
Simritis, Shastras the four Vedas and the six philosophical systems[3]
Shall all disappear.
Scriptures, their scholars, lays, epics and bards too, all are mortal.
Celibates, donors of charities, recluses, to death are all subject.
Sages, Yogis, unclad mendicants, along with Yama himself shall vanish.
All that is visible is mortal—all this shall be destroyed.
The Supreme Being, supreme and alone is immutable;
Immutable too His servant. (18)
Dakhne (Slokas)

Sai nangei nah nang bhukkei lakh na bhukkhiā

Saith Nanak : Should the Divine Beloved cast His glance,
May anyone be a hundred times destitute, a million times hungry,
In tens of millions of afflictions involved—
None of these shall he feel. (1)
Should one have all joys and be lord of the whole earth, P. 1101
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to the Name
Are all these maladies, and their possessor a corpse.[4] (2)
To One Sole Lord be devoted, Him alone venerate.
Saith Nanak : He thy objectives shall fulfil; shame it is to beg of man. (3)

1. Original, Lover.
2. Names of three sacred spots.
3. The Six Shāstras.
4. Used metaphorically.

Pauri (Stanza)

Nihchalu eku Narāyaṇo Hari agam agādhā

The Lord, inaccessible, unfathomable alone is immutable.
Immutable is treasure of the Name, by whose contemplation
is the Lord attained.
Immutable is singing Divine laudation
That God's devotees chant.
Immutable is truth, righteousness and austerities,
That day and night are contemplated.
Immutable is compassion, practice of righteousness, austerities,
Of such as these in their destiny find recorded.
Immutable is the writ on forehead inscribed
That no way may be averted.
Immutable is company of the holy, immutable pronouncements of preceptors and God's saints.
Those so destined from primal Time, ever are in contemplation of Him. (19)

Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Jo dubando āpi so tarāe kinhkhei

To whom may bring rescue he that himself is drowning ?
Saith Nanak : He who to the Beloved is devoted,
Is liberated himself and liberates others. (1)
There where the Beloved's Name is uttered or listened to,
Saith Nanak, there would I go, and having sight of the Beloved.
Would be in bloom. (2)
What good possessiveness and attachment ot progeny and wife ?
Saith Nanak : Devoid of the Name this body on hollow[1] foundations rests. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nainīn dekhoun Guru-darshno Guru-charṇī matthā

With my eyes may I the Master's sight behold,
And my forehead on the Master's feet rest.
May I with my feet traverse the Master's way
And with my hands wave over him the fan.
With my heart on the Lord's eternal form may I meditate,
And day and night His Name utter.
Placing reliance on the Master all-powerful,
All other efforts have I discarded.

1. No foundation.

As the Master treasure of the Name to me has granted,
Is all suffering gone.
Brethren, in the Name indescribable that you possess,[1]
Have joy and consume.
In devotion to the Name, in charity and purity[2]
be confirmed
And ever on the Master discourse.
As the Lord I have attained, joy in serenity have I found,
And shed is Yama's terror. (20)

Dakhṇe

Laggaṛīyān Pirīyaṇni pekhandīyān nā tippīyān

My eyes fixed on the Beloved, by His sight are not satiated.
In all creation is pervasive the Lord; none other have beheld. (1)
Discourses of the holy along joy-giving paths lead.
Saith Nanak : These by such are attained as have good fortune on forehead inscribed. (2)
On mountains, water and land; on earth, forests, fruit and caves;
In nether regions, on sky—in all beings[3]
is He pervasive.
Nanak at sight of the universe strung by one thread finds life. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Harijī mātā Harijī pitā Hari-jīo pratipālak

The Lord is mother, father and cherisher.
The Lord looks after me; we His children.
In serenity in gambolling engaging us,
Never in this slothful;
Never our faults considering, to His bosom attaching us.
The Divine father, donor of joy all our uttered wishes fulfils.
Capital of enlightenment, wealth of the Name has P. 1102
He granted me
And made me worthy of this merchandize.
The Master my partner has He made, whereby all joys have
I attained.[4]
The Divine father almighty, never from me is sequestered. (21)

1. Carry tied to your apron.
2. Lit. Holy bathing.
3. Vessels.
4. Another interpretation : All joys have become my foot-servants.

Dakhṇe (Slokas)

Nānak kaccharịyān siuṇ tori dhuṇdi sagjaṇ sant pakkiyān

Nanak, break thou off from associates insincere,[1]
Seek out sincere devotee-friends.
Those desert us in our life-time, while these leave not even in death. (1)
Saith Nanak : Lightning casts flashes, dark clouds lowering;
Pouring is rain endlessly.
All these, saith Nanak, give delight to such as by union with the Spouse are blessed. (2)
Ponds and the soil with water are overflowing,
The breeze in gusts blows.
Spread are golden couches, jewel-studded.
Wives decked with bridal dresses, tasting of delicacies.
Such, saith Nanak, in absence of the beloved spouse, in agony remains yet caught. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Kāraṇu kartai jo kīyā soī hai karṇā

What the Creator has ordained, that alone must happen.
Let man rush about ever so much, only what is destined shall he obtain.
Nothing without good fortune is obtained, howsoever man may scour the earth.
Fear of the Lord acquired in union with the Master,
all other fear removes.
From fear of the Lord arises dispassion to the world and passion to quest after the Lord.
From such quest arises poise, whereafter occurs not birth or death.
From heart's devotion as is the Lord meditated on,
Is holy company attained.
Saith Nanak : The holy Master is the ship;
Whoever by Divine aid embarks this,
the ocean of existence crosses. (22)

Slokas

Pahilān maraṇu kabūli jīvaṇ ki chhaddi ās

Accept first death as inevitable, and attachment[2] to life discard;
Turn dust of feet of all—thereafter to us come. (1)

1. Brittle, unbaked as of clay vessels.
2. Desire.

Those dead to the world regard as living; those living for the world know to be dead.
Those in love with the sole Lord are pre-eminent among men. (2)
Whoever has the Supreme Being lodged in heart, suffering approaches him not.
Such a one by hunger and thirst[1] remains unoppressed;
Yama approaches him not. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)

Kīmati kahaṇu na jāīyai sachu shāh adolai

Beyond evaluation is the Lord eternal, immutable.
Who among accomplished yogis, yoga-practitioners, enlightened ones, and those in meditation absorbed
May evaluate Thee ?
To unmake and make is He mighty, raising and reabsorbing all;
Almighty, through each being finding utterance.
To all provides He sustenance—why must man's faith be shaken ?
Deeply profound, unfathomable art Thou;
Beyond value Thy merits and knowledge.
Man accomplishes what the Lord[2] in primal Time has ordained.
Nothing except by Thy power occurs :
Nanak thus Thy merits expresses. (23) (1.2)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of the Venerable Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Padīyā kavan kumati tum lāgei

Thou manikin Brahmin ! what is this foul thinking in which you are engaged ?
Unfortunate one ! without contemplation of the Lord,
With your whole family shall you sink. (1-Pause)
Little good it is to recite Vedas and Puranas[3] P. 1103
Such a one is no better than sandal wood loaded on an ass.
Without realizing truth[4] of the Name Divine, how may you go across the ocean ? (1)
Slaughter of animals[5] you dub as religion—

---

1. Used symbolically for desire.
2. Maulā (Ar.)
3. Vedas are Scriptures and Puranas mythology.
4. State.
5. Reference to Yajnas involving sacrifice of animals.

Then brother ! tell what is irreligion ?
Each other you style as saints[1]—then who are to be called butchers ? (2)
Blind in mind, your self you realize not—
Whom then do you seek to instruct ?
For lucre your knowledge you sell, thus making waste of your life. (3)
Vyas[2] thus quotes Narada;[3] ask this of Shuk[4] too.
Saith Kabir : By contemplation of the Lord shall you find liberation—
Else, brother ! must you sink. (4) (1)

Baneh basei kiu pāīyai jau lau manahu na tajeh bikāru

How by dwelling in forest may the Lord be attained,
While evil from the mind is not cast off[5] ?
Those that home and forest have reckoned alike,
Are the perfectly-enlightened in this world. (1)
The purest joy, by contemplation with devotion,
Of the Lord, pervasive in the self, is attained. (1-Pause)
What good smearing the locks with ashes
And dwelling in a cave ?
By conquest of the mind, whereby does it turn away from maya's evil,
Is conquered the world. (2)
All put collyrium in eyes; but strange are the objectives sought.
Such eyes alone are approved as apply collyrium of enlightenment. (3)
Saith Kabir : As the Master enlightenment has imparted,
Have I acquired true knowledge.
Within the self the Lord have I encountered—
Now nowhere does my mind stray. (4) (2)

Ridhi Siddhi jā kau phurī tab kāhū sium kyā kāj

What have we to do with any seeking miraculous powers[6] ?
What shall I say about thy claims? too deeply ashamed am I to say anything. (1)

1. Munīvar.
2. The rishī reputed to be compiler of Vedas.
3. Brahmā's son.
4. Son of Vyās.
5. Discarded.
6. Ridhī, sidhī. (This is addressd to a hatha-yogī. Claiming miraculous power).

One attaining to God,
Wanders not begging from door to door. (1-Pause)
Man given to falsehood wanders much over the world,
Though for two days only may he hope to use worldly goods.
One that water of the Lord's devotion has sipped,
Nevermore feels thirst.[1] (2)
Whover by the Master's grace realization has attained,
From desire is freed.
As the self from the world is turned away,
The whole world appears to it holy truth. (3)
As elixir of the Name Divine is tasted,
The Lord's Name saves each,
Saith Kabir : Such a one becomes pure gold,
His doubt cast off beyond the ocean.[2] (4) (3)

Udak samund salal kī sākhyā nadī tarang Samāvehnge

As water in sea and waves in the stream, shall we in the Lord be absorbed.
As the pure self[3] in the cosmic void is absorbed,
Like air shall we become free from discrimination. (1)
Then no more[4] may we be born again.
Coming and going from the world is by His Will—
By realization of the Will in Him shall we be absorbed. (1-Pause)
As is Maya, composed of five elements discarded, shall our doubt be lifted.
Then discarding sects shall we bear equable. vision,
And on the Sole Name Divine meditate. (2)
As are our faculties guided, in actions are we engaged :
Such shall our deeds be,
As comes Divine grace, in the Master's Word shall we be absorbed. (3)
Die while living, then in dying attain eternal life : P. 1104 Nevermore shall you take birth.
Saith Kabir : Those absorbed in the Name
In the cosmic void are absorbed. (4) (4)

Jau Tum mo kau dūri karat hau tau tum mukti batāvuh

Should you cast me off, away from Yourself,[5] say how is this liberation ?

---

1. Symbol for desire.
2. Symbolic expression for 'cast off far'
3. The void; the self void of desires.
4. Why ?
5. (That is, in some spot like Baikuntha).

In all beings Your Sole Essence has become multiple—
How can You then delude me[1]? (1)
Lord ! where would You put me away after liberation ?
I consider, what is this liberation that You may grant ?
What is its form that by Your grace
I have attained ? (I-Pause)
One may talk of granting and attaining liberation
Only while the Essence is not realized.
Saith Kabir : with my body have I attained purity,[2]
As my heart's devotion in You is fixed. (2) (5)

Jini garh kot kīye kanchun ke chhodi gayā so Rāvanu

Ravana[3] who erected forts and citadels of gold, had to leave them behind. (1)
Why follow the mind's desires ?
When Yama grips you by the hair, then the Name Divine alone liberates. (I-Pause) Death and birth by the Lord are sent[4] : yet man goes on increasing the worldly show.
Saith Kabir : Such alone in the end are liberated,
As in heart bear the Divine elixir. (2) (6)

Dehī gāvān jīo dhar mehtau basehn panch kirsānā

This body is a village; the self its headman :
Five tillers[5] in it reside.
These are, eyes nose, ears, tongue etc :
These senses to my instructions are not obedient. (1)
Friend ! now in this village shall I not abide—
The scribe Chitra (and Gupta)[6] asks for reckoning hour by hour. (I-pause)
As Dharmaraja asked for reckoning, much was owing by me.
The five tillers[5] have run away, while the poor self in court is bound. (2)
Saith Kabir : Listen, devotees of God; settle your reckoning inside the field itself.[7]

1. (That is, despite multiplicity of creation, You still are with me).
2. (With the body that is looked upon as impure).
3. The legendary demon-king of Lanka defeated by Rāma as narrated in the Rāmāyana.
4. (These are the five sources of evil).
6. Only Chitra (Chetu) is mentioned. Chitra and Gupta are the celestial recorders of deeds.
7. That is, in life.

Lord ! grant man liberation this time,
That nevermore may he enter ocean of the world (3) (7)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of the Venerable Kabir
In the Name of Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Anbhou kinai na dekhiyā bairāgīyareị

Listen, thou novice in renuciation !
None the Lord, object of inspired enlightenment[1] has beheld.
Such enlightenment arises when fear of the world is gone—know such to be the truth.[2] (1)
Thou novice in renuciation ! one beholding the Lord to be ever-present His fear conceives.
As one by the Divine Ordinance realizes Him, fearless becomes :
Know such to be the truth. (2)
Thou novice in renunciation ! with the Lord play not fraud,
Albeit the world in fraud is dyed :
Know such to be the truth. (3)
Thou novice in renuciation ! desire leaves not man's side.
Possessiveness this body has consumed through :
Know such to be the truth. (4)
Thou novice in renunciation ! anxiety the body burns away.
It blooms should the impulsive mind be as dead :
Know such to be the truth. (5)
Thou novice in renunciation ! without guidance of the holy Preceptor arises not dispassion, Albeit the whole world seeks it : Know such to be the truth. (6)
Thou novice in renunciation ! by grace alone is attained
the holy Preceptor.
Then arises dispassion spontaneously :
Know such to be truth. (7)
Thou novice in renunciation Kabir adjures thee to make this supplication to the Lord :
Pray take me across the occean of existence. P. 1105
Assent to this ! (8) (1.8)

1. Anubbau (Anubhav).
2. Ham āhambe, the refrain at the end of each verse is thought to be a meaning-less utterance. Hambe, the end-word in certain dialects still extant in Haryana and Rajasthan is an expression of assent, i.e. 'yes'. Hence the explication appearing at the end of each verse.

Rājan kaunu tumhārai āwai

Majesty[1] ! who would wish to come to your abode ?
After I have seen the devotion of Bidur,[2] that humble man has pleased my heart. (I-Pause)
At sight of your elephants are you lost in illusion,
And realize not the Lord.
You offered me milk, Bidur water—
His water I accepted as amrita. (1)
His rough vegetables I found delicious as milk :
With him in singing Divine laudation was passed the night.
Kabir's Lord is full of joy and delight,
Reckoning not anyone's caste.[3] (2) (9)
Slokas of Kabir

Gagan damāmā bājiyo pariyo nīshānai ghāo

In the seat of superconsciousness[4] was struck the kettle-drum
And the weapon[5] hit the target of the heart.
As the hero has taken the field, now is the occasion to wage battle.[6] (1)
The true hero is one who fights in defence of the humble;
Is cut limb after limb, and flees not the field. (2) (2)
Hymn from Kabir

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of the Venerable Namdev

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Chāri mukati chārai sidhi mili kai dūlah Prabh kī sharani pariyo

As with the Divine Bridegroom I took shelter,
The Four[7] kinds of liberation and the Four[8] miraculous powers did I attain.
Liberated, in the Four Ages, am I reputed,
And in adulation on my head is placed the canopy of state. (1)

---

1. (This hymn purports to be Krishna's address to Duryodhana, the arrogant Kaurava ruler).
2. A low-caste devotee of the Lord Krishna.
3. Refers to Bidur's low caste. (Bhakta kabir too came from one of the caste reckoned low).
4. Sky-esoteric yogic term for the seat of Samādhi located in the head.
5. Symbolizes the inspiration to devotion.
6. (This is the battle against evil tendencies of the heart).
7. These are : Salokya (dwelling in the realm of theDivine Beloved): Samipya (dwelling close to Him); Sarūpya (assuming his form) and Sayujya (being merged in Him).
8. (These are generally believed to be eight).

Who is it that by contemplation of the Divine Monarch
Is not saved ?
One listening to the Master's teaching and entering holy company
Gets known as a saint. (I-Pause)
Beholding glory of such, decked with the conch, the quoit, the rosary and the paste-mark like-Vishnu,
Is Yama afraid of them.
Rendered fearless of Yama, by their Divine might raising triumphant shouts—
Their agony of birth and death annulled. (2)
Ambrik[1] was granted the state of fearlessness.
And Bibhikhan[2] was exalted to be king.
To Sudama[3] the Lord granted the Nine Treasures,[4]
And Dhruva,[5] made immutable, is still thus. (3)
For the sake of His devotee the Lord destroyed Harnakesh,[6]
by assuming form of Narasingha.[7]
Saith Nama[8] : The Lord to His devotee is compliant,
And still at the door of Bali[9] is standing. (4) (1)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of the Venerable Kabir

Dīnu bisāriyo re diwānei dīnu bisāriyo re

Madman ! the way of religion[10] hast thou forgotten.
Filling thy belly like a beast, involved in sleep,
The human incarnation hast thou forfeited. (I-Pause)
Entering holy company never, in false concerns art thou involved.
Wandering like dog, hog and raven, hast thou left the world. (1)
Thyself dost thou reckon great, others small.
Those engaged thus in thought, word and deed
Have I seen entering hell. (2)
Manking are lustful, wrathful, clever tricksters, idlers.
In calumny their life passed, the Lord contemplating never. (3)

---

1. A king, turned devotee.
2. Rāvana's pious brother, mentioned in the Rāmāyaṇa.
3. A devotee of Krishna.
4. See Glossary.
5. A saint turned the pole-star
6. The demon-king father af Prahlāda.
7. The Lord manifested as Man-Lion.
8. Short for Namdeva.
9. A King, whom the Lord tested in the incarnation of a pigmy (Bāvanavatār)
10. Dīn (AR.) for faith.

Saith Kabir : Man, thoughtless, stupid a brute
Never the Lord contemplates.
Without realization of the Name Divine, how may he go across the ocean of existence ? (4) (1)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of the Venerable Jaideva P. 1106

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Chand sat bhediyā nād sat pūriyā Sūr sat Khoṛsū datu kīyā

Utterance of Divine laudation is
As though in the moon-passage Ida is breath stopped,
In the Sushmana filled and through the sun-passage, Pingala
By uttering Om sixteen times made to ascend to the Tenth Door;
The assertive mind made humble,[1] the restless mind made poised,
The shapeless mind put into form,
Whereby is amrita quaffed. (1)
My self ! as laudation of the Primal Being didst thou utter,
Thereby is thy glance of duality ended. (I-Pause)
As was the Lord worthy of supplication supplicated,
And veneration to Him, worthy of veneration offered,
Was water of the self in the water that is the Lord commingled.
Saith Jaideva : As was the Lord, supremely triumphant[2] contemplated,
Was attained the Supreme Being, immaculate, all-pervasive. (2) (1)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of Kabir

Rāmu Simaru pachhutāhegā mana

My self ! contemplate the Lord, else shall thou in regrets have to fall.
My sinful self, given to avarice ! know, in a day or two[3] shalt thou depart. (I-Pause)
In attachment to greed hast thou wasted thy life,
And by Maya-illusion deluded.
Be not proud of wealth and beauty[4] :
Know, like a piece of paper shalt thou turn pulp. (1)
The day that Yama, grasping thee by the hair, overthrows thee, Powerless shalt thou be.
As in contemplation, devotional chant, compassion hast thou not been engaged,
On thy face shalt receive buffets. (2)

---

1. Lit. weak, powerless.
2. Original, Jaideva, which is also the Name of the composer of this hymn.
3. Today or tomorrow.
4. Lit. Youth; applied meaning, beauty.

As Dharmaraja asks the reckoning of thee,
With what face shalt thou face him ?
Saith Kabir : Listen, devotees of God !
In holy company shall you find liberation. (3) (1)

In the Measure Mārū—Composition of the Venerable Ravidass
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Aisī Lāl Tujh binu kaunu karia

Divine Beloved ! who else can perform such great deeds as Thou ?
The Lord, cherisher of the humble, over the head of the humble places canopy of state. (I-Pause) Thou alone wouldst show favour to one whose touch the world defiles.[1]
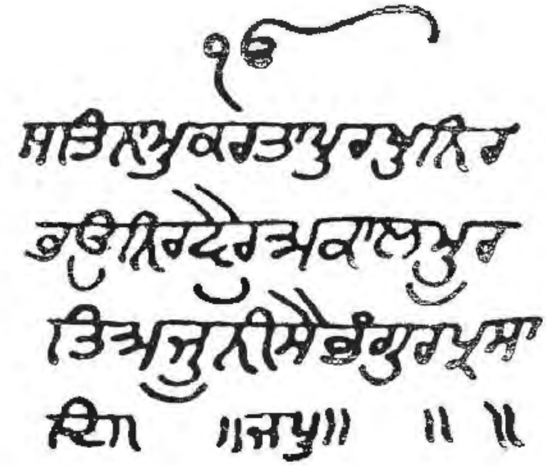
The Lord, exalting the humble, of none stands in fear. (1)
Namdeva, Kabir, Tirlochan, Sadhna, Sain[2]—all are saved.
Saith Ravidas : Listen, devotees of God !
All within the Lord's power lies. (2) (1)

Sukh Sāgar suritaru chintāmani Kāmdhain basi jā ke re

The Lord is ocean of bliss, tree of the gods,[3] the wish-fulfilling stone,
In whose power lies the wish-fulfilling celestial cow.
The four boons,[4] the eight mighty miraculous powers,
the Nine Treasures[5].
On His hand's palm lie. (1)
My tongue ! Why the Name Divine dost thou not utter ?
All other utterance discard. (I-Pause)
Vyas[6] after contemplating the various discourses,
Puranas, Veda-exegesis,
All that in the thirty-four letters[7] lies,
Declared : No boon is supreme as the Name Divine. (2)
By serene contemplation am I freed from maladies—
By great good fortune is devotion fixed.
Saith Ravidas : By dispassion from the world,
Is fled the fear of transmigration. (3) (2.15)



---

1. Reference to the Composer, Ravidas, of the despised cobbler caste.
2. (These saints are of different castes, and except Trilochan, a Brāhmin the others are from castes reckoned 'low')
3. Kalpa-briksha, under whose shade all wishes are fulfilled.
4. These are Kāma (fulfilment of desires), arth (wealth) dharma (performance of religious duties) and moksha (liberation).
5. See Glossary.
6. The rishi, believed to be author of the Vedas.
7. Letters of the Sanskrit alphabet.

SRI GURU GRANTH SAHIB

IN ENGLISH TRANSLATION

VOLUME FOUR

ੴ
ਸਤਿਨਾਮੁਕਰਤਾਪੁਰਖੁਨਿਰ
ਭਉਨਿਰਵੈਰੁਅਕਾਲਮੂਰ
ਤਿਅਜੂਨੀਸੈਭੰਗੁਰਪ੍ਰਸਾ
ਦਿ ॥ਜਪੁ॥ ॥ ॥

Nishan Sahib in Sri Guru Arjan Dev's hand from Sri Kartarpuri Bir

ੴ ਸਤਿਗੁਰ ਪ੍ਰਸਾਦਿ

SRI GURU GRANTH SAHIB

IN ENGLISH TRANSLATION
VOLUME FOUR
up to the end of Rāgamālā

by
GURBACHAN SINGH TALIB
in consultation with
BHAI JODH SINGH

PUBLICATION BUREAU
PUNJABI UNIVERSITY, PATIALA

Patron :
Dr. Jasbir Singh Ahluwalia
Vice-Chancellor

SRI GURU GRANTH SAHIB (English)
VOLUME FOUR
by
GURBACHAN SINGH TALIB

ISBN 81-7380-036-7

2001
Third Edition : 1100
Price : 700-00

Production and Planning :
Dr. Sukhdial Singh
Head, Publication Bureau

Layout and Design :
S. Harjit Singh
Art Executive

Proof Reading
Mrs. Parmjit Kaur
M.A., M.Phil.

Lazer Type-setting : Yesman Graphics, Jand Street, Patiala

Published by Dr. Balbir Singh Bhatia, Registrar, Punjabi University, Patiala and printed at M/s Rachna Printers, Delhi.

PREFACE

(First Edition)

There are moments in the history of institutions decisively stamped with fulfilment. One such moment has been reached in the history of Punjabi University with the production of the fourth and final volume of the English translation by Professor Gurbachan Singh Talib of the Sri Guru Granth Sahib covering the sacred text from Rāga Tukhārī to the Rāgmālā.

The Punjabi University undertook through its department of Sri Guru Granth Sahib Studies to bring out a complete translation of the Holy Writ in four volumes and we feel truly gratified at the completion of the project.

Sri Guru Granth Sahib, as a repository of Indian wisdom, is a precious gift of the Gurus to mankind. The Holy Granth is the pivot of Sikh religious life. It symbolizes serenity and repose, meditation on God's Name, purification and yearning for the Timeless, Formless One. The hautingly beautiful hymns of the Scripture inspired by supreme love of God, teaching an ecstasy instruct, exhort and express the fervent longing of the spirit in quest of the Almighty. Reiterating the transcendence of God, the poet-prophets, add philosophical and social dimensions of their reflections by asserting their belief in monotheism, concretizing their vision of God, man nām, the Word, the Guru, karma, transmigration and their unqualified rejection of the caste system.

The subtle philosophical contours of the sacred text carrying nuances of a long philosophical tradition and its linguistic eclectic character make the process of "cultural transference", if not altogether impossible, challengingly arduous. Professor Gurbachan Singh Talib was a versatile scholar, who has a sure sense of the languages involved in the task and had the capacity to convey and interpret the beauty, delicacy, economy and nuances of the religio-philosophical thought and epiphany points in the target language. Once conceived, he identified himself zealously with the protracted enterprise that would have defied the efforts of lesser scholars. His copious introduction to these volumes, prefixed to Volume One constitutes a valuable treatise on the composition of the Holy Volume, the focus and craftsmanship of its contributors, and on their teachings and philosophy as a whole.

Dr. Gurnam Kaur of the Department of Sri Guru Granth Sahib Studies was assigned to the responsibility of seeing the manuscript through the press and checking proofs and I compliment her on the diligence with which she carried it out. I record my appreciation of the very handsome format Dr. Hazara Singh, Head of Publication Bureau, designed for this work. I must also here recall the contribution of the late Dr. Taran Singh and the late Bhai Jodh Sing who helped with the revision of the text. I pay my respectful homage to their memory.

I believe that volumes will be of immense value not only to the academicians in our multi-lingual country but to scholars and researchers in the West in an environment of growing interest in Sikhism and in its Holy Scripture.

For its literary grace and reliability of interpretation this translation will, I am convinced, retain its superiority among its peers.

Punjabi University
Patiala
January 15, 1990

H. K. Manmohan Singh
Vice-Chancellor

LIST OF CONTENTS

In the translated text corresponding pages of the 1430-page printed text of Sri Guru Granth Sahib are indicated on the right hand margin. The numbering of Shabads (verse-units) is in accordance with that given in the original text of the Scripture. These two features will facilitate the tracing of a particular Shabad in the translation. Under each main heading the first line of the first Shabad has been given in the list of contents. That will help to trace the Shabdas following that. Further, to trace a particular Chaupada, Pauri, Chhant, Ashtpadi, Sloka or any other unit, Guru Shabad Rattan Prakash by Akali Kaur Singh, which is an alphabetical line-by-line index, may be consulted, and after ascertaining the page number from there, the corresponding page in the translated text, as indicated in the margin, may be looked up. Help from the Tatkara appended to Sri Guru Granth Sahib may also be taken for this purpose. In the translated text, first lines in Roman transliteration have been given. This should also be helpful in tracing any Shabad.

CONTENTS

RAGA MALAR

Indications for guidance to transliteration and pronunciation of Indian Words

The long 'a', 'i', 'n' sounds, representing respectively 'ah' 'ee' and 'oo' are indicated by a dash over each, thus : ā, ī ū. ū would sound as in 'cool', 'tool'.

For the shorter 'u' sound, as in 'cook', 'foot', the ü sign has been used.

The unstressed i and u at the ends of words are silent, and are only grammatical signs. Where these are to be enunciated, a dash is placed over the respective vowel letter, as stated above.

In words of classical origin, the unstressed end 'a' is to be treated as silent, as in 'Rama' , 'Krishna', 'Shiva', 'Yama', 'Indra', 'amrita', 'yoga', 'raga', 'mana', 'guna', 'sakta', 'sloka', and such others.

The 'a' sound as in lay, bay is represented by ei; the 'a' sound as in dash and cash by ai. 'Ou' is used for the common 'o' sound as in 'role', 'dole' at mostly word-ends. 'O' stands for the short vowel sound as in 'go', 'so'. 'Au' represents the vowel sound as in 'draw'.

The numeral Ek (pronounced eik) in Ek Oankar has been written down as 'Ek'. In Lobh, Moha etc. the 'o' gives the familiar soft sound. 'Gurudev' has been written down thus, in its familiar form.

The fore-palate n̲ (ਣ) is indicated by a dash being placed under it; the nasal 'ṇ' at word-ends by a dot placed below.

(These principles have been adopted in detail only in the transliterated portions from the original. In the translated text the reader is to depend upon the current pronunciation without the guidance of diacritical marks etc.).

RAGA TUKHARI

Lyrics in the Measure Tukhari—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Bārah-Māhā (Song of the Seasons)
In the name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tūṇ sūṉi kirat karammā purabi kamāiyā P. 1107

Listen, my Master ! Man is requited for his deeds of previous birth;
Each one gets joy or sorrow : Whatever Thou dost award is best.
Lord, for me absorbed in Thy creation, what hope of liberation ?
Verily, even one hour passed without Thee is death !
In this world am I like the woman bereft of her lord, friendless;
Grant me through the Master's grace a sip of the amrita of Thy Name !
Absorbed in God's creation, are we for getting Him, whose worship is noblest of actions.
Nanak is like the woman waiting along the path of her lord.
Listen to his prayers, Thou who in my self art pervasive. (1)

Bābīhā prio bolei kokil bāṉīyāṇ

The Chatrik raises the cry of love; the Kokila melts in melody—
Such pleasures only the woman in her Lord's embrace enjoys;
She alone is in His embrace who pleases Him—such alone is the truly wedded one.
Lodged safe in the Mansion high of Nine Doors,[1] with the Lord[2]
she lives.
All creation is Thine, Lord—
Thy love alone I seek; day and night to revel in Thee.
In fulfilment with Thee, saith Nanak, the song of the Chatrik and Kokila gives true delight. (2)

Tūṇ sūṉi Hari ras-bhinnei Prītam āpaṉei

Listen, Thou Beloved, in whose love am I drenched,

---

1 That is, with the physical faculties directed to living in God's way.
2. Murāri.

My mind and body are absorbed with Thee; Thee I cannot forget for an instant;
My soul a sacrifice to Thee—how may I forget Thee for a moment even ?
Singing Thy laudation is for me the breath of life.
A stranger in this world, unlinked to it—how without the Lord may I live ?
At the Lord's feet I find shelter and rest—
Thus are my limbs rendered pure.
Saith Nanak, through God's Word, one gets deep insight, joy and poise of mind. (3)

Barsai amrit-dhār būṇd suhāvaṇī

Joyful is the shower of Amrita in the soul !
The Beloved has responded spontaneously to the call of deep love;
fulfilment has come :
The woman stands in wait for the Lord with offerings of merits—
He enters the mansion[1] as may please Him.
In each home are wives happy with the Divine Spouse;
Why am I in neglect cast away ?
Low are the clouds; pleasing the shower;
The heart with joy is brimful.
Saith Nanak : The shower of His Word's Amrita falls on the heart[1] which He through grace enters. (4)

Cheitu Basantu bhalā bhaṇwar sūhāwaṛei

Lovely is the spring in Chet,[2] with humming-bees pleasing; P. 1108
In the forests are trees in blossom—I yearn for the Spouse, long-sojourning, to return home.
How may the woman find comfort with the Spouse gone away ?
In the torment of suffering the limbs feel feeble.
Pleasing is the Kokil's cry among mangoes;
How may then pangs of suffering be borne ?
On blossoming twigs hovers the humming-bee;
How may I, mother, bear my pangs of separation, death-like.
Saith Nanak : In Chet comes serene joy to her whose Spouse is with her at home. (5)

Vaisākhu bhalā shākhā ves karei

Beautiful is Baisakh[3] with twigs draped in new colours.

1. The self is implied.
2. March-April.
3. April-May.

The woman stands waiting at the door :
Enter Lord, in compassion.
Enter the house, Beloved; bear me across the water forbidding :
Without Thee a half shell's worth am I.
Should I meet with Thy approval, get a sight of Thee from the Master with insight;
Should I know Thee to be near, inside the soul, know Thy mansion—
Who may then assess the greatness of my worth ?
Saith Nanak : In Baisakh meets His approval one whose mind is absorbed in faith in His Word. (6)

Māhu Jeiṭhu bhalā Prītamu kiuṇ bisarai

Auspicious is Jeth;[1] how may one forget the Beloved in it ?
Burning are the plains,
The woman thus supplicates :
She supplicates, contemplates good qualities, so the Lord may approve her for her merits.
The Lord unattached abides in the Mansion Eternal :
By His leave alone may I enter it.
This humble, helpless one—how may she find joy in the world without the Lord's approval ?
Saith Nanak; In Jeth[1] should the woman realize Him,
His qualities she absorbs;
Should He grant her union by grace, His qualities she grasps. (7)

Āsāṛhu bhalā sūraju gagani tapai

Auspicious too is Āsādh,[2] despite the Sun's heat scorching the firmament.
The earth is in travail, its juices dried up, fire blazing.
Fire sucks up the juices; smouldering torments arise;
Ever is the sun true to its function.[3]
The chariot moves; frail life seeks the shade; gnats wail in the forest.[4]
She who takes the path with her traveller's pack of demerits shall find sorrow and suffering;

---

1. The hot month of May-June. This is considered auspicious despite the burning heat, for in this month too the sight of the Lord may be had.
2. June-July
3. That is, burns.
4. This is one of the touches reminiscent of the early home of the Guru in the forest-land of Bār.

Joy is his who meditates on the Pure, the Eternal.
Saith Nanak : She whose mind in God is fixed,
Her life and death in realization of Him lies.[1] (8)

Sāvaṉi saras manā ghaṉa varseh rüti āye

Joy my mind, in Savan;[2] thick clouds pour in the season of rains.
My body and soul yearn for the Beloved, sojourning away from me.
Away from the Spouse, sighs I heave, lightning flashes
affright my heart :
On lonely couch I lie grieving in this sorrow, mother mine, sorrow bitter as death.
Without the Spouse how may one relish and sleep ?
My vesture[3] is a torment to my limbs.
Saith Nanak : She is the happily-wedded wife who is enclosed in the Spouse's embrace. (9)

Bhādouṇ bharami bhüllī bhari jobani pachhutāṉī

In Bhadon[4] is the Woman lost in illusions :
Bursting with youth, her heart is yet full of regrets.
Inundated are lakes and plains, this is the season of rains and joy.
Pour clouds in the dark night; how may the Bride separated from her Lord find comfort ?
At night cry frogs and peacocks,
The Chatrik raises his note of 'Prio, Prio';[5]
Crawl serpents biting with fangs venomous;[6]
Mosquitoes tease; full are the ponds—
With all this how may one find joy without God ?
Saith Nanak : Seek guidance from the Master;[7]
Take the path leading to the Lord. (10)

Assüni āou Pirā sā dhan jhūri mūyī

In Assu[8] come back, Beloved, the Bride of pining in suffering is dying;

1. With Him.
2. July-August.
3. Symbol for the living body.
4. August-September.
5. Onomatopoeic sound, imitative of the Chatrik's cry. Lit. 'Beloved, Beloved.'
6. (All these factors add to the bitterness of separation).
7. Original Guru.
8. Assu =Asvin or Asuj is September-October.

The union Lord, comes by Thy own grace;
Into Maya am I straying
Lost in illusion, am I abandoned by Thee;
Come, now that the water reeds are in bloom.[1]
Gone are hot days; winter comes; my heart is a tremble with fear; P. 1109
Everywhere[2] are twigs lush green.
I console myself with thinking, slow consummation brings best sweetness.
Saith Nanak : Meet in Assun Beloved—The holy Preceptor is turned mediator (11)

Kattaki kiratu paiyā jo Prabh bhāiyā

In Kattak[3] comes the recompense for deeds as the Lord wills.[4]
The lamp lighted by Enlightenment burns most steady.
In this lamp, joy in God is the oil;
This lights the woman to union with the Spouse :
Her heart is filled with passion and joy in the Lord.
Demerits bring death of the soul, bring to failure;
The nobler death is death of desire through devotion.
Those endowed with devotion to the Name are ever in poise;
Hope ever buoys them up.
Saith Nanak : Unite me with Thyself, open the gates;
In separation from Thee each hour is months of torments. (12)

Mangharu māhu bhalā Hari gūṉa anki samāvae

Happy is the month of Manghar,[5] filling the heart with
Divine laudation,
The woman endowed with merit contemplates God's merits;
Her heart is fixed in love of the Immutable.
Immutable is the Creator, of perfect wisdom, all-knowing;
creation is all evanescent.
Through hymns, melodies, parables made in God's praise all sorrows flee.
Saith Nanak : Beloved of the Lord is the Woman whose heart with devotion is filled. (13)

---

1. Symbolizes the grey touch in the hair—youth sliding into age with the Beloved still away.
2. Lit. In ten directions.
3. Kattak =October-November.
4. Kattak is the harvest-month. Symbolizes spiritual poise earned through devotion.
5. Manghar=November-December.

Pokhi tūkhāru paṛai waṇu triṇu rasu sokhai

In Pokh[1] comes frost, sucking up juices from twig and grass-blade.
Thou whom I bear ever in heart and soul,
Repeat incessantly Thy Name—
What keeps Thee away ?
Heart and soul am I absorbed in Thee—Prop of Creation :
In the Master's Word lies my joy.
All grades of creation—egg-born, mammals, perspiration-born earth-born
By Thy light are illumined.
Grant me a sight of Thee, Merciful, Bounteous !
Confer on me Bliss;
Grant true wisdom.
Saith Nanak : One bearing love and devotion to the Lord
In joy and delight disports. (14)

Māghi punīt bhayee tīrathu antari jāniyā

In Magh[2] am I blessed;
In the mind have I seen His shrine.[3]
Union with the Beloved spontaneously has come :
His qualities have I absorbed; my being has He permeated.
The Beloved's qualities have entered my soul;
Listen Thou, of loveliness surpassing—
To win Thy pleasure is for me ablutions in sacred waters—Ganga, Jamuna, the Triple Confluence holy,[4]
the seven seas all,
Charities, alms-giving, worship-all such blessings come from knowing the Lord Supreme—Eternal, Immutable.
Saith Nanak : With Magh[2] comes supreme joy :
In worship of the Lord lies the supreme joy ablutions at sixty-eight[5] bathing-places. (15)

Phalgūni mani rahasī premu sūbhāīyā

In Phalgun[6] is the heart joyful, attuned to devotion;

1. Pokh=Poh, Pos, Pausha—December-January.
2. Māgh=January-February
3. Lit. Tirath—a sacred bathing-place.
4. The confluence at Prayag (Allahabad) held highly sacred.
5. Traditionally sacred places, sixty-eight in number.
6. Phalgun=February-March.

Day and night is it in joy, casting off the ego.
Illusion have I cast off through Thy grace—
Show Thy grace, come back home[1] !
What good to deck myself away from the Spouse, cast off from His Mansion ?
Love of the Spouse is all my ornament—jewels, gold and silken robes.
Saith Nanak : The lord has bestowed on her union;
The woman has found her Spouse and home.[2] (16)

Be das māh rüttīṇ thittīṇ vār bhalei

Auspicious are the twelve months, nights and days;
Happy are hours, minutes and seconds in which the self in the Eternal is absorbed.
In union with the Lord lies fulfilment—
To the Creator are all devices known.
The Lord who has decked the Bride,[3] will also confer His love;
In union with Him lies joy.
The Spouse's embrace blesses the bridal couch—
This comes from the Master's guidance through happy destiny.
Saith Nanak : She who has love of the Divine Spouse P. 1110 day and night, is of eternally blessed matrimony. (17) (1)

Chhant (Lyrics) continued*

In the Measure Tukhari—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Pahilai pahrai nayṉ salonaṟīyei rayṉi andhiyāṟī Rāma

Listen thou female[4] of beauteous eyes !
In the first quater[5] is the night dark.[6]
Thou thoughtless one,[7] thy property[8] guard;
soon shall thy turn come;
As comes thy turn, who shall awaken thee ? Yama thy life's essence[9] shall suck up.

1. That is, into the self.
2. Implies spiritual poise.
3. Symbolizes the self.
*(This direction is not in the original text).
4. (Implied by the epithet following; symbol for the self).
5. Symbolizes youth.
6. Implies thoughtless ignorance.
7. Muiye, in the Punjabi idiom a word of endearment. Lit. Thou death's morsel.
8. Implies devotion.
9. Juice, joy of life.

In the darkness who shall guard thy honour ? Thieves shall[1] strike and rob thy home.
Divine protector, inaccessible, limitless ! to my supplication lend ear.
Saith Nanak : Thoughtless man to mind never brings the Lord—
In the dark night nothing to him is visible. (1)

Dūjā paharu bhaiyā jāgu achetī Rāma

Thoughtless one ! has come the second quarter,[2] wake up !
Thoughtless one ! Thy property guard; thy harvest is being eaten up :
In devotion to the Divine Master Thy harvest guard—
With thee awake no thief[3] shall attack.
Tread not Yama's path, and thus avoid suffering—
In this way shall Yama's fear and terror be lifted.
By the Master's guidance are lighted lamps of sun of enlightenment and moon of poise,
As with pure heart and tongue is the Lord meditated on.
Saith Nanak : The thoughtless one still contemplates
not the Lord :
How in involvement in duality may she attain joy ? (2)

Tījā paharu bhayā neend viyāpī Rāma

Has come the third quarter, and has come oppression of sleep.[4]
The self by attachment to wealth, progeny and Maya in suffering is tormented.
The world attached to wealth, progeny and wife
To pleasures[5] is attracted and is ever caught.
By meditation on the Name is attained joy;
By absorbing the Master's teaching is one not swallowed by death.[6]
One neglectful of the Name from transmigration and death is not freed,

1. The five sources of evil.
   Note : In the above lyric and those following, at the end of some lines occurs 'Rama', which is the nature of a euphonious refrain.
2. Quarter of the night, that is, life.
3. (Images of property and thief to be interpreted as in the foregoing).
4. Spiritual ignorance is implied.
5. Lit. Feed for birds spread under the snare.
6. Transmigration is meant.

And in torments is caught.
Saith Nanak : In the third quarter
Maya of Three Qualities[1] attaches to the world. (3)

Chauthā paharu bhayā dautu bihāgai Rāma

Has come the fourth quarter,[2] with sun's light spreading.
The homes[3] of such alone are secure as each day keep awake.
Of those awake by the Master's guidance, to the Name attached, joyful are the nights.
Such living the Master's Word, no more see birth—
The Lord is their friend.
Atremble are hands, atremble feet and the body,
Blinded the eyes, the body as ashes.
Saith Nanak : Without the Name in the mind lodging.
Is the self in all Four Ages miserable. (4)

Khūlī ganṭhi ūṭho likhiyā āyā Rāma

As is undone the knot[4] of recorded life, arise;
Arrived is the writ.
Pleasures sweet and sour are ended; in bonds is the self marched :
As has pleased the Lord, in bonds is the self marched,
Deprived of sight and hearing.
To all comes this occasion; the harvest ripened is reaped.
Account of each hour and minute is asked—
My self ! bear now whatever evil or good comes.
Saith Nanak : Gods and men by the holy Word are by the Lord united to Himself—
Such is the way[5] ordained by the Lord. (5) (2)

In the Measure Tukhari—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Tārā charhiyā lammā kiuṇ nadari nihāliyā Rāma

The coment blazing trail of light is risen—
How with the eyes may it be beheld ?
To the devotee perfect in deeds has the holy Preceptor
By guidance of the Word made it visible.
As by guidance of the Word has the Master shown it,
the devotee holy truth has contemplated,
And viewing it day and night on it has meditated.

1. See Glossary.
2. Old age is implied.
3. Symbol for the self.
4. Also interpreted, as : Is undone the knot of breath (according to hatha-yogic belief).
5. (System of cause and effect).

As his true home has he realized, stilled are his five restless senses,
And poison of lust and wrath is destroyed.
Within by the Master's teaching has appeared illumination,
And by good fortune is the Lord contemplated.
Saith Nanak : By subduing of egoism have we acquired faith,
And beheld the Divine star blazing trail of light. (1)

Gürmukhi jāgi rahei chūkī abhimānī Rāma

The God-illuminated[1] are awake, their pride eliminated. P. 1111 Each day for them has blazed light, and in truth is their understanding absorbed.
In truth absorbed, this to their mind is pleasing;
By the Master's teaching are they awake[2] and whole.
The Master to them amrita of the holy Name has granted,
In the Divine feet their devotion fixed.
As has the Light appeared, in the light have they realized the Lord;
Egoists in illusion are lost.
As has light of illumination appeared, in it the Lord
have they realized,
Their night of life passed in waking[2] state. (2)

Aügun visariyā gunīn gharu kīyā Rāma

Discarded are demerits; merits in the self have made their abode,
Then comes realization of the Sole Lord pervasive, no other.
Beheld is the sole Lord pervasive, no other—
The mind by its realization, in faith is fixed.
The Lord who created the waters, lands, the three worlds and each being,[3]
By the Master's guidance is realized.
The almighty, all-powerful limitless Lord by such is realized;
Maya of Three Qualities[4] for them is effaced and absorbed.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's teaching
Are demerits by merits eliminated. (3)

Āwan jān rahei chūkā bholā Rāma

Eliminated is transmigration, and ended is illusion,

---

1. Gurmukh (God facing ones).
2. Used symbolically for God-realization.
3. Vessel.
4. See Glossary.

By subduing egoism, in the Lord are we absorbed;
And sanctified is life's vesture.
By the Master's guidance is eliminated egoism,
blazed is our repute;
Ended are sorrow and torment.
As light of the self in Divine Light is absorbed,
The self have we ourselves realized.
In the parents' home, the world, by the Word has the self-female acquired respect—
Thus in the husband's home, the hereafter, has she found favour.
Saith Nanak : As the holy Preceptor union to her has granted,
Eliminated is abject dependence on the world. (4) (3)

Bholāvaṛai bhūllī bhulli bhulli pachhotāṇī

In illusion lost, and straying in error into regrets I fell.
The beloved Spouse in my sleep left me; to Him was
I not attentive.
The beloved Spouse for my demerits has discarded me—
For such a woman[1] is her night of life an abandoned female's.
Ruined by lust, wrath and pride, oppressive heat of egoism torments her.
As by Divine decree the swan of life flies away, ashes into ashes are mingled.
Saith Nanak : This female without the holy Name
Strayed into error, into regrets falls. (1)

Sūṇi Nāh piyārei ik benantī merī

Beloved Lord ! to my supplication lend ear.
Thou in Thy home[2] dost abide; I in dust mingled,
Am turned heap of ashes.
Other than one's lord none shows love—what then may one utter or do ?
Amrita of the Name Divine, supreme elixir, with the tongue
By the Master's Word should one quaff.
Other than the Name none is our companion or friend,
Despite innumerable beings passing through the world.[3]
Saith Nanak : Then shall thy understanding be reckoned pure,
When to thy eternal home with gain[4] shalt thou depart. (2)

---

1. Image for the self.
2. The Divine Essence.
3. Coming and departing.
4. That is, with truth and purity gained.

Sājan desi videsīyaṛei sāneharei dendī

Beloved gone to alien lands, messages to Thee I send.
Remembering the Beloved, the woman's[1] eyes grow tear-filled :
Her eyes tear-filled, merits she contemplates,
As the device with the Beloved to find union.
This tortuous path and way I know not—
How to attain the Beloved abiding beyond ?
By the Master's Word shall the sequestered female[1] find union,
As her body and mind to Him she dedicates.
Saith Nanak : As tree of amrita of the Name, supreme elixir, shall bear fruit,
In union with the Beloved its joy will she taste. (3)

Maheli bulāeṛīyei bilamu na kījai P. 1112

Thou female[1] called into the Mansion,[2] delay not thy departure.
Thou that each day art devotion-drenched,
In serene poise shalt find union :
In serene joy find union, no wrath bear in heart—
By discarding of pride comes absorption in the Lord.
One dyed in truth finds union by the Divine call[3]—
Egoists in transmigration keep involved.
As dancing[4] she undertakes, what point the veil of false modesty ?
Her pitcher[5] should she smash and break free.
Saith Nanak : One realizing the self, shall by the
Master's guidance
Contemplate the Essence. (4)

Merei Lāl rangīlei ham Lālan ke lālei

Cherished Beloved so beauteous ! the Beloved's slave am I.
The Master the invisible has made visible; none other is visible now :
The Master the invisible has made visible as pleased him,
And as the Lord showed grace,
The provider, Life of the world. Creator, Lord, spontaneously has granted union.
By Thy glance of grace comes liberation.
Thou who art compassionate to the humble,

1. Symbol for the seeker.
2. The Divine Presence or Essence.
3. As granted union.
4. Symbol for the ecstasy of devotion.
5. Symbol for involvement in worldly concerns.

Grant us the boon of truth.
Nanak, slave of your slaves, humbly thus submits :
Thou art sole cherisher of all creation. (1)

Bharipuri dhāri rahei ati pyārei

Beloved pervading existence, dost thou sustain it.
Lord of mighty aspect,[1] in the Word art Thou pervasive.
Lord of mighty aspect,[1] who the three worlds sustains,
His extent is beyond our knowledge.
In variegated hues and species has He created beings, and grants them largesse ever-increasing.
Beyond limit, He makes and unmakes—all happens as He wills.
Saith Nanak : As jewel of the self with the Divine jewel is twined,
Are made jewel-strings of merits. (2)

Gūṉa gūṉeh samāṉei mastaki Nām nīsāṉo

As man's merits with the Divine merits merge, on his forehead is marked the sign of felicity.
His truth in Divine Truth is merged—his transmigration ended.
Such a one the Truth has realized, in Truth dyed—
In holy Truth that is beloved of his heart, he gets absorbed.
Beyond holy Truth beholds he nothing else—by holy teaching in Truth getting absorbed.
The Divine Charmer my heart has captivated.
And loosening my bonds has freed me.
Saith Nanak : As comes union with the Beloved beyond compare,
Our light in His light is merged. (3)

Sach gharu khoji lahei sāchā gūru thāno

One finding the holy spot, the Master, the Divine abode discovers.
This the egoist finds not; the God-directed of this have realization.
To whomsoever Truth He grants, gets His approval—
The Lord is eternal Bestower of the Supreme Boon.
His mansion holy, primal; immortal, unincarnated, immutable is He beheld.
Anyone to whom the Divine Light is visible, unrecorded is his daily reckoning of deeds.
Saith Nanak : One absorbed in holy Truth is holy;
Through such a devotee[2] comes liberation.[3] (4) (5)

---

1. Also interpreted as 'The Master (Guru) who is the image of the Lord'. Guru as used here, should imply great, mighty and is an epithet.
2. Gurumukh.
3. Swimming across.

Ei mana meriyā tūṇ samajhu achet iyāṇiyā Rāma
My thoughtless, ignorant self ! realize this :
My self ! thy demerits discard, and in merits be absorbed.
Attraction to numerous pleasures is the result of our deeds—
From the Lord sequestered, no union such find.
How the impassable ocean of existence to cross ?
There reigns terror of Yama—terrible is Yama's pathway.
The mind evening and morning[1] of the Lord is neglectful,
Now fallen on a hard path is it helpless.
Release to it, into bonds fallen, comes.
As by the Master's guidance the puissant Lord[2] it serves. (1)

Ei mana meriyā tūṇ chhoḍi āl janjālā Rāma
My self ! discard thou worldly entanglements.
My self ! serve the Lord, Supreme Being immaculate :
Contemplate the Lord, the Sole Supreme Being[3] eternal, P. 1113
Who the entire universe has created.
Air, water and fire by His law has He bound;
The Divine Master this play of the world has exhibited.
In discipline of the Name Divine lies repetition of texts and austerities;
These shall be thy performance of ritual actions and contemplation of sacred learning.
Repeat the Name Divine, that is your true companion,
Relation and cherished beloved. (2)

Ei mana meriyā tūṇ thiru rahu choṭ na khāwahī Rāma
My self ! abide thou in poise—thus shalt thou no buffets receive.
My self ! by singing Divine laudation shalt in serenity be thou absorbed.
Sing Divine laudation, taste of Divine joy,
And apply collyrium of illumination by the Master granted—
Then shalt thou see light of the holy Word, lamp of three worlds,
That the five minions of evil destroys.
Then is eliminated fear of Yama and is crossed the impassible, ocean,
And in union with the Master comes fulfilment.

1. That is always.
2. Narhari=man-lion, an avatār.
3. Ekankār=Ek Oankar.

Contemplate Divine beauty and joy and love for the Lord :
The Lord Himself then shows grace. (3)

Ei mana meriyā tūṇ kyā lai āiyā kyā lai jāisī Rāma

My self ! What didst thou bring into the world ?
What shalt carry ?
My self ! release to thee shall come when thy doubts thou shalt shed.
Garner thou wealth and substance of the Name Divine,
And by guidance of the Master's teaching its worth[1] realize.
By the immaculate Word cast off impurity,
And know of the Mansion, the eternal abode.
By repute attained through devotion to the Name to thy true home depart,
And shaking amrita-elixir, of it quaff.
By meditation on the Name Divine comes joy in the Word—
By great good fortune comes contemplation
of Divine laudation. (4)

Ei mana meriyā binu paurīyāṇ mandari kiuṇ charhai Rāma

My self ! how without stairs may one go up to mansion ?
My self ! Without the boat crosses not one to the other bank.
The Divine Friend, Beloved without limit by absorption in the Master's Word
Carries the seeker across.
Such a one joining holy company in joyful frolic is absorbed,
Nevermore having regrets.
Holy compassionate Lord ! in Your grace grant
That in holy congregation the Name Divine I obtain.
Nanak thus supplicates : Listen, Divine Beloved !
By the Master's Word instruct You my mind. (5) (6)

In the Measure Tukhari—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Chhant (lyrics)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Antari pirī pyāru kiuṇ pir binu jīvīyai Rāma

My heart with love for the Beloved is filled—
How without the Lord may I live ?

---

1. Rate cost.

Note : As pointed out earlier, in these lyrics 'Rama' appears at the end of lines as a euphonious refrain.

Without His sight how may I quaff amrita[1] ?
How amrita may be quaffed ? How without the Lord find life ?
Without Him is not life possible.
The self, like the chatrik ever day and night cries Prio, Prio[2]–
Without the Beloved is not assuaged its thirst.
Divine Beloved, show grace that the Name
Divine I contemplate.
By the Master's Word is met the Beloved—to the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice. (1)

Jab dekhāṇ piru pyārā Hari-gūṇa rasi rawāṇ Rāma

As with joy Divine laudation I sing, the cherished Beloved shall I behold. P. 1114
My heart shall be in bloom, as ever I utter Name of holy Beloved[2]:
The Beloved's Name[3] I utter, whose Word liberates—
Without His sight comes not fulfilment.
As the seeker female with the holy Word is ever decked,
On the Name Divine she meditates.
In your compassion grant this boon to this mendicant—
With the Beloved grant me union.
Each day on the Divine Master, cherisher, may I meditate;
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice. (2)

Ham pāthar Guru nāv bikhu bhavjalu tārīyai Rāma

We are stones, the Master the boat, that takes us across the poison-filled ocean of existence.
Master ! out of your love grant me the holy Word, and save me, ignorant one :
Thoughtless, ignorant are we, without realization of Thy extent—
Thee know we as inaccessible, supreme.
In Thy grace dost Thou grant union; we meritless, humble.
For innumerable births for our sins have we wandered along;
Now to Thy shelter have we come.
Lord ! in your compassion save us;
At the Master's feet we fall. (3)

Guru pāras ham loh mili kanchanu hoiyā Rāma

The Master is philosopher's stone, we iron—
By his touch have we become gold.

1. Symbol for spiritual bliss.
2. Onomatopoeic word, meaning 'Beloved, Beloved'.
3. 'Prio', as explicated above.

As is light into Light merged, decked is citadel of the self:
Decked is citadel of the self; the Lord has charmed me—
How even for a breath or a morsel's duration may
He be forgotten ?
The Lord invisible, unknowable by the Master's Word have we grasped—
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice.
To the holy Preceptor shall I sacrifice my head, should the thrice-holy Preceptor thus be pleased to accent this offering.
Lord Bestower, show grace that Nanak in your embrace be held. (4) (1)

Hari Hari agam agādhi aprampar apar-parā

Inaccessible, unfathomable, limitless is the Lord.
By meditation on the Lord of the universe, do beings swim across the impassable ocean of existence :
Such with ease swim across the impassable ocean of existence,
As on the Name Divine have meditated.
Such as the Master's Word lovingly follow,
By the Lord with Himself are granted union.
By grace of the Divine Prop of the earth is their light into His Light merged.
Inaccessible, unfathomable, limitless is the Lord. (1)

Tūm swāmī agam athāh tūṇ ghaṭi ghaṭi pūri rahiyā

Lord ! inaccessible, unfathomable are you, in each being pervasive.
Unknowable, of impenetrable mystery, inaccessible art Thou,
By the holy Preceptor's Word attained.
Blessed are such servants, such men of perfection
As in unison with the Master's holy congregation the Lord's merits recount.
The God-inspired, of discriminating understanding,
By guidance of the Master's Word each moment ever the Lord's Name utter.
Be the God-inspired seated, to the Name Divine give utterances;
Standing too the Lord's Name they utter.
Lord ! inaccessible, unfathomable are you, in each being
pervasive (2)

Sevak jana sevehṇ tei parwāṇu jin seviyā gūrmati Hare

Such of God's servants are approved as by guidance of the Master's teaching the Lord have served.

Million of their sins the Lord in an instant removes,
casts off.
Shattered are the sins and evils of such as with singleness of mind the Sole Lord have supplicated. P. 1115 Fruitful is the life of such by the Creator rendered,
As by guidance of the Master's Word truth have uttered.
Such are blessed, great and perfect, as by the Master's teaching Contemplating the Lord, the impassable ocean of existence have crossed.
Such of God's servants are approved as by guidance of the Master's teaching the Lord have served. (3)

*Tūṇ antarjāmī Hari āpi jio tūṇ chalāwehu pyārei
haun tiwaiṇ chalāṇ*

Lord ! controller of the inner self art Thou :
Beloved Lord ! we move along as by Thee guided.
Nothing in our hand lies—with Thee have we union as by Thee united.
Lord ! of those granted union by Thee is the reckoning of deeds annulled.
Brother ! none computes the account of such as by blessing of
Master's teaching
By the Lord to Himself are united.
Saith Nanak : To such is the Lord gracious as the Master's will find all-good.
Lord ! Thou art controller of the inner self :
Beloved Lord ! we move along as by Thee guided. (4) (2)

Tūṇ jagjīvanu jagadīshu sabh kartā srishṭi nāthu

Thou art life of the universe, Lord of the world, Creator of all,
Lord of creation.
Lord ! such alone on Thee have meditated on whose forehead is the writ inscribed :
Those so decreed in Primal Time, by the Lord, to the Name
Divine are devoted.
In an instant are cast off sins of such as by the Master's teaching
The Lord have contemplated.
Blessed are those tbat the Name Divine have contemplated;
By their sight have I found my protector.
Thou art life of the universe, Lord of the world, Creator of all,
Lord of creation. (1)

Tūṇ jali thali mahīyali bharpūri sabh ūpari sāchu dhaṇī

Over water and land art Thou pervasive, holy Lord over all.
Those that from depth of heart and mind the Lord have contemplated,
In vast numbers are liberated.
Beings that the Lord have contemplated are liberated;
At the Divine Portal are their faces made radiant.
In this world and the next are they in joy, saved by the Lord, true Saviour.
Brethren of the congregation of devotees of God; listen :
Service to the Lord is truly fruitful.
Over water and land art Thou pervasive, holy Lord over all. (2)

Tūṇ thān thanantari Hari eku Hari eko eku raviyā

Lord ! solely over all spots art Thou pervasive.
Forest-glades grass blades, the three worlds, the whole creation
By the tongue the Name Divine utter :
All the Name of the Lord Creator utter—countless, innumerable beings on the Lord meditate.
Blessed are God's devotees and holy men that the Lord Creator's approval have won.
Lord Creator ! grant me sight of such a one, of sight fulfiller of desires[1] as from heart
Ever the Name has uttered.
Lord ! solely over all spots art Thou pervasive. (3)

Terī bhagati bhanḍār asankh jisu tūṇ devehṇ merei suāmī tisu mileh

Thy countless treasures of devotion, Lord; by such are attained
As have these by Thee conferred.
Whoever has on his forehead the Master's protective hand,
In his heart are lodged Divine attributes :
Whoever has Divine attributes in heart lodged,
Devotion and faith acquires. P. 1116
Without fear of the Lord none acquired devotion;
Without such fear none liberation has found.[2]
Saith Nanak : God's fear, devotion and love to such alone attach
As have Thy grace.
Thy countless treasures of devotion, Lord ! by such are attained
As have these by Thee conferred. (4) (3)

---

1. One whose very sight fulfils the beholder's desires.
2. Has not crossed over.

Nhāvaṇu pūrabu Abhīchu Guru Satiguru darasu bhayā

On the occasion of the holy bath of Abhijit[1] was granted his sight by the holy Preceptor[2]
Then was shaken off impurity of foul understanding
And lifted darkness of ignorance :
As was obtained sight of the Master, was ignorance removed,
And in the heart did light flash.
In an instant was annulled suffering of transmigration,
And was attained union with the Lord eternal.
Himself the Lord Creator solemnized this sacred day,
As the holy Preceptor came for a bath to Kurukshetra.[3]
On the occasion of the holy bath of Abhijit[1] was granted his sight by the holy Preceptor (1)

Māragi panthi chalei Guru Satiguru sangi sikhā

On the pathway accompanied the holy Preceptor numerous disciples.
Each day, each moment, each instant, with each step was practised devotion—
Was practised devotion to the Lord, as the whole world came out to behold the Master.
Those that the holy Preceptor's sight obtained, were by the Lord to Himself united.
In order to save the world did the holy Preceptor undertake the pilgrimage to this bathing spot.
On the pathway accompanied the holy Preceptor numerous disciples. (2)

Pratham āye Kūlkheti Guru Satiguru pūrabu hoyā

First came the holy Preceptor to Kurukshetra, and was the holy occasion solemnized.
As spread the news the world over, the three worlds came to behold him :

---

1. Abhīch=Abhījit, the twenty-second satellite or asterism (nak shatra) of the moon. The solar eclipse day occurring when the moon is in the path of this particular asterism is considered a particularly auspicious day, and a bath in the sacred tank at Kurukshetra on that occasion is believed to bring high merit. Guru Amar Das evidently went to Kurukshetra on such a solar eclipse day, 'to save the world' as said later in this hymn. The date is worked out in Nirukta Sri Guru Granth Sahib by Dr. Balbir Singh as January 14, 1553 (vide Vol. II under Abhich). Another rendering of the line : 'As the holy Preceptor granted his sight, it equalled merit of bathing on the occasion of abhich=abhijit'.
2. Reference is to Guru Amar Das throughout this hymn.
3. The famous site of enunciation of the Gita, in present-day Haryana.

Came the three worlds, to behold him; holy men,
sages all arrived.
Those that had touch of the holy Preceptor,
perfectly-endowed,
Annulled were their sins.
Came in groups Yogis, unclad Jain monks, Sannyasis, followers of the six orders,[1]
And had a dialogue with him.
First came the holy Preceptor to Kurukshetra, and was the holy occasion solemnized. (3)

Dūtīyā Jamun gaye Guri Hari Hari japanu kīyā

Next went the Master to the Jamuna, where the Name Divine was chanted.
The tax-gatherers[2] to him came with offerings—
All those that followed the Master were allowed to pass :
Exempted were all who followed after the holy Preceptor, as the Name Divine they uttered :
Those that tread path of the Master's Word, the tax-gatherers ferocious as Yama approach them not.
The whole world uttered 'Guru, Guru'; those uttering the Guru's name all were exempted,
Next went the Master to Jamuna, where the Name Divine was uttered. (4)

Tritīyā āye Sūrsarī teh kautaku chalatu bhayā

In the third place came the Master to the Ganga,
where happened a wonder.
The whole world by sight of the holy Master was charmed—
Not half a farthing of tax was realized :
Not half a farthing was realized by the tax-gatherers—
In wonder were they struck silent.
Said they : Brethren, from whom should we demand tax,
As the whole world after the holy Preceptor is rushing ?
The tax-gatherers after considering, thought P. 1117 of a clever device—
Smashing their cash-boxes they all fled.

1. These are Yogī, Sannyāsī, Jangam, Bodhī, Sarevara (Jains) and Bairāgī.
2. Gatherers of the pilgrim tax from non-Muslims. Such tax was abolished by Akbar in 1563.

In the third place came the Master to Ganga,
Where happened a wonder. (5)

Mili āye nagar mahā janāṇ Guru Satiguru oṭ gahī

Came in a group the chief people of the town, and with the holy Preceptor sought shelter.
After consulting the scriptures[1] they determined, the holy Preceptor is image of the Lord :
Have Simritis and Shastras all determined, Sukdev and Prahlad[2] on the Divinely-inspired Master have meditated as image of the Lord.
Thereby from the citadel of the body the five thieves and robbers[3]
Have they eliminated.
Where holy singing, recitation of Puranas and Charities formerly took place,
By the Master's Word and Guru Nanak's teaching
Now they acquired Divine devotion.
Came in a group the chief people of the town, and with the holy Preceptor sought shelter. (6) (4.10)

In the Measure Tukhari—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Lyrics

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gholi ghümāī lālanā Güri manu dīnā

Cherished Beloved ! to Thee am I a sacrifice :
By the Master's prompting to Thee have I given my heart.
On hearing your Word is my heart love-suffused :
Love-drenched is the heart as the fish in water, inspired by love for the Lord.
Lord ! beyond expression is Thy value—of limitless extent
Thy mansion.
Bestower of all merit ! listen to this supplication of a humble one :
Grant Thy sight, Nanak is a sacrifice to Thee, his heart to Thee dedicated. (1)

Ihu tanu manu terā sabhi güṇa terei

Thine is this body and mind; all merits to Thee belong.

1. Simriti.
2. Names of devotees famous in the Hindu Scriptures.
3. The five sources of evil are implied.

For Thy sight would I cut myself to pieces :
Lord ! listen to this :
By Thy sight beheld even for an instant find I life—
Thy ambrosial Name that is heard all over, by Your grace may I quaff.
For the Beloved am I thirsting in yearning, as the Chatrik for the rain-drop.
Saith Nanak : My life to Thee is a sacrifice :
Lord ! pray grant Thy sight. (2)

Tūṇ sāchā sāhibu shāhu amittā

Thou the holy Lord, Master, beyond limit.
Beloved, cherished by my life and heart,
Donor of joy of life, by the Master's guidance realized—
To such come all joys.
Each being garners deeds as by Thee ordained.
Whoever has grace of Lord of the universe, in holy company his mind subdues.
Saith Nanak : My self to Thee is a sacrifice;
Life and body to Thee have I dedicated. (3)

Nirguṉu rākhi līyā saṇtan ka sadkā

By intercession of the holy hast Thou saved me, one without merit.
The holy Preceptor has spread a screen over doings of a sinner like me.
The Lord our sins overlooks,[1] who is donor of life and joy—
The Lord immortal, eternal Being, all perfection, Creator.
Beyond expression Thy praise—who can say when Thou didst begin ?
Nanak, servant of God to Him is a sacrifice.
I pray for devotion to His Name, be it even for an instant. (4) (1.11)

1. Covers.

RAGA KEDARA

In the Measure Kedara—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 1118

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Merei mana Rāma-Nām nit gāvīyai rei

My self ! ever the Name Divine chant.
Inaccessible, unknowable is the Lord, beyond our knowledge,
By contact with the Master, perfectly-endowed realized. (Pause)
To whomsoever the Lord shows grace, devotion to the Lord in him is inspired.
Albeit all practise devotion to the Lord—only those having the Lord's approval have it approved. (1)
The invaluable Name Divine with the Lord lies;
By His dispensation alone comes meditation on it.
On whomsoever the Lord confers gift of the Name, annulled is all his reckoning.[1] (2)
Blessed may be pronounced those supplicating the Name Divine—
On their forehead is inscribed good fortune since the primal hour.
By their sight is my heart in bloom, as the mother's,
That at sight of her son holds him in embrace. (3)
Children are we; the Lord our father :
Pray grant me the understanding whereby the Lord we attain.
As the cow at sight of the calf feels joy,
To your bosom attach Nanak. (4) (1)

In the Measure Kedara—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Merei mana Hari Hari güna kahu re

My self ! utter thou Divine merits.
Washing the holy Preceptor's feet, offer obeisance threat;

1. Reckoning of deeds is meant.

Thus the Lord realize.[1] (Pause)
From association with lust, wrath, greed, attachment, pride
And pleasure in evil courses keep away.
In holy company on the Lord discourse— P. 1119
In dialogue with the holy lies elixir of Divine love :
Utter the Divine elixir, the Name Divine. (1)
Thou dost set store[2] by pride of ego and strength—
These cast off and thy ego keep in restraint.
Lord ! show grace to Your servant Nanak :
Lord ! make me dust of feet of the holy. (2) (1.2)

In the Measure Kedara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Māī saṇt sangi jāgī

Mother mine ! in company of the holy is my understanding awakened.
Beholding joy in the Divine Beloved, the treasure of the Name she contemplates. (Pause)
Her eyes fixed in gaze, a thirst with yearning for the Lord's sight;
And cast off is thirst for aught else. (1)
Now have I attained the Master, donor of serene joy;
At his sight is my heart charmed.
At sight of the Lord has arisen joy in heart;
Ambrosial is the Beloved's utterance. (2) (1)

In the Measure Kedara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dīn binou sūnu dayāl

Compassionate Lord ! listen to this supplication of a humble one.
Thou cherisher of the helpless ! five[3] are the Servants of evil and three[4] foes,
Clinging to the mind that against these is alone.
Gracious one ! save it. (Pause)

---

1. Attain.
2. Know, reckon much.
3. The five sources of evil. (Also interpreted Dāsyu, foes of the Āryans; hence foe).
4. The Three Qualities of Maya. (See Glossary).

Endless efforts make I to wander over bathing-spots :
And contemplate the six ritual acts[1] and various devices.
After all endeavour I feel exhausted; these terrible foes not disappearing.[2] (1)
To the Lord of compassion's shelter I come and make obeisance,
The Lord annuller of bondage of the world.
Thou solely compassionate to the humble,
Nanak shelter at the Divine feet seeks,
That from ocean of doubt and attachment he be saved,
By attaching himself to shelter of feet of the holy. (2) (1.2)

In the Measure Kedara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 4

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sharnī āiyo Nāth nidhān

Lord ! treasure of joy, to Thy shelter have I come.
To beg boon of the Name from the Lord is my heart yearning. (I-Pause)
Lord perfection incarnate, dispenser of joy,
In Your grace save my honour.
Lord ! grant me love of holy company, wherein my tongue
Divine laudation may utter. (1)
Lord, Master[3] compassionate, whose discourse is pure, enlightening.
Immerse Nanak in the Lord's dye;
Fix his meditation on the Divine lotus feet. (2) (1.3)

Hari kei darshan ko mani chāou

For a sight of the Lord my heart yearns : P. 1120
In your grace to holy company join me, and grant devotion to
Your Name. (Pause)
May I serve the holy cherished ones.
Whenever is Your Name heard, is the heart in joy.
To You may I be a sacrifice, circumambulating You :
Which is Your abode, that beyond praise lies ? (1)
All dost Thou cherish and keep in mind;
all under Thy shelter lie.

1. (These are prescribed for a pious Hindu).
2. Getting exhausted.
3. (Here three attributive names of the Lord occur : Gopāl Gobind, Damodar, each symbolizing Krishna; here implying God)

Lord Creator, Master of Nanak, in each being[1]
Thee I behold. (2) (2.4)

Prīya kī preeti pyārī

Gratifying to the heart is love for the Beloved.
In absorption of heart for union with You I yearn;
My eyes towards You are fixed in gaze. (Pause)
How wonderful will be those days, hours, minutes and instants;
Of what aspect that half hour,
When instantly shall the doors be opened, my thirst assuaged,
And Your sight I recieve ? (1)
What the effort, what the endeavour, what kind of service and thought,
The Lord's sight to obtain ?
Saith Nanak : By discarding pride, arrogance and attachment.
In holy company comes liberation. (2) (3.5)

Hari Hari Hari gūna gāwahu

Ever the Lord's praise may I sing.
Lord ! in Your grace grant me inspiration to Your Name to contemplate. (Pause)
The Lord from alien evil passions has extricated us.
and to holy company attached our heart.
By guidance of the Master's Word is annulled doubt,
fear and attachment;
Pray grant your sight. (1)
May my mind turn dust of feet of all;
Guide me to discard the understanding ego-prompted.
Lord compassionate ! Your devotion grant,
That by great good fortune the Lord I attain. (2) (4.6)

Hari binu janam akārath jāt

Without devotion to the Lord is life passed purposelessly.
In being involved in attachment to all other objects
discarding the Lord,
Is raiment and food all false. (Pause)
Wealth, beauty, property, enjoyment of pleasure—
None shall last an instant.
Man that is mad, in a mirage is absorbed,
To shade of tree attached. (1)

---

1. Vessel.

Man by the supreme intoxication of pride and attachment is attracted,
Into the cavern of lust and wrath fallen.
Grasp Your servant Nanak by the arm;
Lord ! be You his succourer. (2) (5.7)

Hari binu koe na chālasi sāth

None other than the Lord with us shall last—
The Lord cherisher of the helpless, master of compassion,
Helper of the forsaken. (Pause)
Progeny, wealth, enjoyment of evil pleasures,
None on Yama's pathway shall avail.
With the Name, treasure of joy, and singing Divine laudation,
Is man carried across the ocean's depth. (1)
By seeking mighty shelter of the Lord inexpressible, unknowable,
By contemplation of Him, is suffering removed.
The humble Nanak seeks dust of feet of God's devotees :
This by the writ drawn in the primal hour comes. (2) (6.8)

In the Measure Kedara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 1121

SCORE 5

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Bisrat nāheṇ mana tei Harī

The Lord from my thoughts[1] goes not off :
This love now has grown mightily strong, and burnt is attachment to alien passions. (Pause)
How may the Chatrik forsake the drop of water ?
Nor does the fish live even for a short while without water.
Such is the habit formed : by the tongue I utter
Divine laudation (1)
The deer when attracted by loud sound, by sharp arrows gets pierced.[2]
Nanak has trussed up pack of devotion to the Lord's delectable feet. (2) (1.9)

Prītamu basat rid mehṇ khor

Beloved Lord ! in my heart lies emptiness.
Lord ! remove doubt's wall;
Iu Thy own direction draw me. (I-Pause)

1. Mind.
2. (Herein love for the Lord is compared to the deer's reckless attraction for the hunter's music).

In ocean of the world lies a mighty cavern; in Your compassion therefrom towards Yourself pull me.
In holy company feet of God's devotees have I made the ship,
That shall save me. (1)
He who in cistern of the womb upheld us,
None other than He in the forest of passion will save.
And under obligation of none else lies (2) (2.10)

Rasnā Rāma Rāma bakhānu

My tongue ! utter thou the Name Divine.
Day and night utter Divine laudation, whereby may sins be destroyed. (Pause)
Know death is standing over your head—
All your wealth must you leave behind.
Know love of falsehood and evil desires to be utterly unreal.[1] (1)
In your heart meditate on the eternal Supreme Being,
Timless Form,[2]
Saith Nanak : In seeking Treasure of the Name lies true gain;
This alone is the approved object. (2) (3.11)

Hari kei Nām ko ādhāru

Prop of the Name Divine have I adopted :
Now no affliction and suffering grips me;
With the holy is all my dealing. (Pause)
In His grace has the Lord preserved me;
Now arise no evil thoughts.
To whomsoever is Thy Name granted, contemplates it;
The world agonizes[3] him not. (1)
In contemplation of the Lord lies joy, felicity and bliss;
In touch of feet of the Lord lies essence of amrita.
The servant Nanak to Thy shelter has come, seeking dust of feet of Thy devotees. (2) (4.12)

Hari kei Nām binu dhrigu shrot

Cursed is hearing aught other than the Name Divine.
Those trying to live while discarding the Lord, essence of life,
How may such live ? (Pause)
Various viands they consume, as the ass carrying loads.

1. False.
2. (This phrase is from Mūl Mantra).
3. Burns.
4. Image.

Day and night[1] in great travail caught,
As bullock to the machine[2] yoked. (1)
Those discarding the Lord and to alien objects attached, in numerous ways wail.
With folded hands seeks Nanak this boon :
Lord ! to Your bosom keep me clasped. (2) (5.13)

Santah dhūri le mūkhi malī

Dust of feet of the holy on my face have I rubbed.
By power of the merits of the immutable Lord,
eternally perfect,
Evils of Kali Yuga cling not to one. (1-Pause)
By the Master's blessing[3] are all objectives of such a one fulfilled;
His mind in various directions not wandering.
One realizing the Sole Lord to be all-pervasive, P. 1122
In fire of evil burns not. (1)
By the arm has He grasped His servant,
His light into the Divine light merging.
The helpless Nanak to shelter of the Divine feet has come;
The Lord with him abides. (2) (6.14)

Hari kei Nām kī mana rūchai

One bearing love for the Name Divine in heart,
Million-fold peace and perfect bliss attains;
Cooled is his burning heart.[4] (Pause)
As beings follow path of the holy, are innumerable sinners saved.
Applying dust of feet of the holy to the forehead
Equals purification at numerous bathing-spots. (1)
By meditating on the Divine lotus feet,
In each being[5] is the Lord visible.
Nanak to the Lord's infinite shelter has come,
Whereafter Yama with him contends not. (2) (7.15)

In the Measure Kedara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Chhant (Lyrics)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Milu merei Prītam pyāriyā

Beloved, cherished one, pray grant union. (Pause)

1. All eight pahars.
2. Implies the oil-press.
3. Word; boon granted.
4. Lit. Breast.
5. Vessel.

The Supreme Being, Creator in all creation is pervasive,
The way of the Lord that by Himself is chalked out,
In holy company is realized :
In holy company is realized the Supreme Being, Creator,
In each being[1] with the deeper vision beheld.
Whoever under His shelter comes, obtains joy—
Not a grain of His endeavour He lets go waste.
Whoever laudation of the Lord, treasure of merit spontaneously sings,
By the supreme elixir of love remains intoxicated.
Nanak, Thy servant Thy shelter seeks—
Thou who art the Supreme Being, Creator, perfection incarnate. (1)

Hari prem bhagati jana bedhiyā sei ān kat jāhīn

Where else would the devotee pierced by love and devotion of the Lord go ?
The fish bears not its separation, without water dying.
How in alienation from the Lord may we live,
How bear this torment ?
The Chatrik for the rain-drop is thirsting.
When shall end the night and the chakwi feel the joy,
With sun-rays illuminating.
My heart for sight of the Lord yearns; fortunate shall that day be
Each day Divine merits shall I sing.
Nanak, servant of God in humility states :
Without sight of the Lord how may life find poise ? (2)

Sās binā jiu dehurī kat shobhā pāwai

Without life-breath the body looks not pleasing.
The devotee without sight of the Lord, even for an instant finds not rest.
To live in alienation from the Lord is to bear hell,
Our heart with love for the Divine lotus feet is pierced.
Those absorbed in enjoyment of the Lord, yet unattached to the world,
Attached to the Name, never are traduced.
The joy of union with the Lord and abiding in holy company
Is beyond the capacity of the body to bear.
Nanak's Lord ! show grace that in the Divine feet he
be absorbed. (3)

---

1. Vessel.

Khojat khojat Prabh milei Hari karuṉā dhārei

By Divine grace after long search was met the Lord.
Of me, meritless, low, helpless He did not notice demerits :
My demerits He did not notice; perfect joy He granted—
To purify is stated to be His Law of grace.
Hearing that His devotees He loves, His lappet I grasped,[1] P. 1123
Who in each being is perfectly pervasive.
Spontaneously found I the ocean of bliss;
Ended was suffering of transmigration.
Saith Nanak : The Lord grasped by the arm His servant,
Who wears round the heart pearl-string of the Name Divine. (4) (1)

In the Measure Kedara—Composition of the Venerable Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ūstati nindā doū bibarjit tajuh Mānu abhimānā

Praise and blame each is forbidden; discard considerations of honour and dishonour.
Those knowing iron and gold to be alike are image
of the Lord (1)
Rare are Thy devotees.
Whoever discards lust, wrath, avarice and attachment,
Alone the Divine Essence contemplates. (I-Pause)
The qualities of action, inertia and intellect,[2]
Are all Thy Maya-display.
Whoever the fourth state[3] contemplates, the supreme state[4] attains (2)
Such a one seeks not the reward of holy bathing, fasts, vows, ritual purity and self-restraint.
His desire and Maya-illusion lifted, the Lord pervasive in the self he contemplates. (3)
Illumined is the abode wherein is lighted a lamp :
In whomsoever is pervasive the Lord without fear,
Fled is his doubt.
Such a one, Saith Kabir, is the Lord's true servant. (4)

---

1. That is, sought shelter with Him.
2. These are the 'Three Qualities' for which see Glossary.
3. Turiyā, the state of desirelessness.
4. That is, liberation.

Kinhī banajiyā kānsī tāmbā kin hī laung supārī

Some have traded in brass and copper, some in cloves and betel-nuts.
Men of God ! in the Name Divine have we traded—such is our merchant-pack. (1)
Traders of the Name Divine are we :
As this invaluable gem has come to our hand,
is worldliness discarded. (I-Pause)
As by the holy Eternal inspired, to truth are we devoted;
of truth are we traders :
Packs of the merchandize of truth set on the way,
utlimately reach the treasure. (2)
Himself is He diamonds, jewels and pearls, Himself the displayer[1] thereof.
Himself is He in the ten directions spread, Himself drives
the trade-caravans,
Yet is this Trader immutable. (3)
In this trade the mind is the ox, fixed devotion the path,
Enlightenment the loaded pack.
Saith Kabir : Listen, devotees of God ! our merchandize has reached the destination. (4) (2)

Rī kalwāri gawāri mūḍh mati ūlṭo pawanu phirāwou

Foul understanding thou distiller woman, unwise, thoughtless, turn the wind of desire away from the world.
The mind inebriated with God is like the oven of the tenth door[2]—
Therefrom let amrita-stream ooze. (1)
Brother ! call upon God for succour.
Men of God ! quaff this unattainable wine, wherewith spontaneously will your thirst[3] be quenched. (I-Pause)
In fear of the Lord lies devotion; a rare one this devotion realizes.
Such a one the Divine elixir quaffs.
In all vessels[4] lies amrita—such alone are made to taste it, as the Lord pleases. (2)

---

1. Pasāri=displayer, in applied sense a shopkeeper keeping miscellaneous wares.
2. The state of total absorption in the Absolute.
3. Symbolical expression for desire.
4. Symbol for being.

One is the city,[1] nine[2] its gates; still the restless mind.
As is discarded the bond of three qualities,[3] is the tenth door[4] opened;
Then brother, is the mind inebriated. (3)
By attaining the state of fearlessness are the three maladies[5] drives away—
This Kabir states after contemplation :
Turning the mind away from the world is the liquor
we have obtained,
Like a cup of wine. (4) (3)

Kām krodh trishnā ke līnei gati nahīṇ ekai jānī

Caught in lust, wrath and desire, the state alone P. 1124 of God-realizaton have we not thought of.
With eyes blinded nothing can we see, and in ignominy are sunk.[6] (1)
Why persist in the crooked path ?
Enclosed in bone, flesh and ordure, with foul odours are we plastered over. (I-Pause)
What is this illusion, into which fallen the Lord you contemplate not ?
Death from you is not far.
With numerous efforts this body that you preserve,
when life closes, will be exhausted. (2)
Nothing by man can be accomplished; what can man achieve ?
As may please the Lord, with the holy Preceptor
He grants contact,
Whereat the sole Name of God man utters. (3)
Residing in a house of sand, this thoughtless one of his body is proud.
Saith Kabir : Many clever ones without contemplation of God,
are ruined.[7] (4) (4)

Ṭeḍhī pāg ṭeḍhei chalei lāgei bīrei khān

There are those who keep their turban at a rakish angle,

---

1. The body.
2. The different sources of sensation.
3. See Glossary.
4. The state of rising above the three qualities.
5. These are ādhī, biyādhi, upādhī, respectively mental, physical and psychic maladies.
6. In idiom, drowned without water.
7. Sink.

Walk with swerving steps and chew betel;[1]
With love and devotion having no attachment,
Asserting, my business lies with the court, (1)
In their pride have they forgotten God :
Beholding gold and beautiful females, these they regard as real (I-Pause)
Involved in supreme intoxication of greed, falsehood and
evil thinking—
Thus is their life passed.
Saith Kabir : At the end inevitably must death grip them. (2) (5)

Chāri din apnī naubati chalei bajāe

Some their kettle-drum for a few[2] days have beaten
Such quantities of wealth that they earned, tied in packets and buried in earth,
With themselves they shall not carry away. (I-Pause)
The wife sitting at the door-step wails; the mother upto the door accompanies the dead body;
Other folk and members of the family go with it till the cremation yard—
All alone departs the self (1)
This progeny, wealth and the large city
It returns not to behold.
Saith Kabir : Why not contemplate the Lord ?
This life purposelessly is passing. (2) (6)

In the Measure Kedara—Composition of the Venerable Ravi Das
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Khatu karam kūl sanjūgatu hai Hari bhagati hirday nāhiṇ

Should one perform the six ritual deeds,[3] be allied to a good family,
But without cherishing in heart devotion for God,
Without love for discourse on the Divine lotus feet,
Is like the lowest of pariahs.[4] (1)
My thoughtless mind, consider;
Why dost not behold Balmiki[5] ?

---

1. These are marks of the arrogant, frivolous person in India.
2. Four days. Beating the keetle-drum is to proclaim one's royalty or great state.
3. These are prescribed for the various castes.
4. Lit. Dog-eater.
5. A rishi, earlier a pariah and robber.

From what caste at what status he arrived !
Such is the merit of devotion to God. (I-Pause)
One that was a dog-killer pariah, of the lowest caste,
But to Krishna devoted,[1]
Not to speak of praise of the poor world,
Over the three worlds is his repute spread. (2)
Ajamal,[2] Pingala,[3] the Hunter,[4] the Elephant,[5]
All had access to the Lord.
With such bearers of foul thinking saved,
Ravi Das ! why shoudst thou not be saved ? (3) (1)

1. This was another Balmiki, devotee of Krishna, as against the earlier one, devotee of Rama.
2. A sinful Brahmin, saved through at end of devotion.
3. A courtesan.
4. A hunter name Lodhia.
5. The elephant saved by the Lord from the crab (The last four characters are well-known in the Bhakti lore of India).

RAGA BHAIRON

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Srī Guru Nanak Dev P. 1125

Chaupade (Quarters)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality Eternal, Immanent Creator, Without Fear, Without Rancour, Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-existent, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tūjh tei bāhari kichhū na hoe

Nothing outside Thy will happens.
Thou Creator, dost behold and know about all. (1)
What may we say ? Beyond expression is Thy might.
All that is, is manifestation of Thy will. (I-Pause)
All our prayers to Thee are addressed :
Whom else should we supplicate ? (2)
All that we utter or hear is Thy utterance alone.
Thou alone knowest all, Thou Master of all marvels. (3)
Himself He creates, Himself knows.
Saith Nanak : Creation and dissolution He accomplishes and beholds. (4) (1)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Guru kai shabadi tarei muni ketei Indrādik Brahmādi tarei

By the Master's Word we are saved numerous sages; saved were also Indra and Brahma and their likes.
Sanak and Sanandan, Brahma's sons, and numerous practitioners of austerities
By the Master's grace were saved. (1)
How without guidance of the Master's Word may the ocean of existence be crossed ?
In alienation from the Name is the world gripped by malady,[1]

1. Implies duality, mentioned further on.

And in duality sinks and dies. (I-Pause)
The Master is the image of gods, image of the Lord unknowable, of impenetrable mystery;
By service to the Master comes illumination about the three worlds.
By munificence of the Master, the Bestower, is attained the Lord inaccessible, of impenetrable mystery. (2)
As the mind by the Master's Word found faith,
And was desire annulled in the mind itself,
Did the mind turn king.
By devotion is the mind united to the Lord,
By alienation from Him is it subject to death;[1]
By enlightenment Divine laudation it sings. (3)
Rare are such in the world as by the Master's guidance
Restrain the mind and contemplate the Word.
Saith Nanak : The Lord in all spots is pervasive;
By the holy Word comes liberation. (4) (1.2)

Nainīṇ drishṭi nahīṇ tanu hīnā jari jītya siri kālo

The eyes sightless have grown, the body frail; old age has triumphed;
Death over man's head is standing.
Love of beauty, pleasure and delights bears not purity[2]— P. 1126
How may Yama's snare then spare one such ? (1)
Thou creature of God ! contemplate the Lord; your human birth is going waste.
Without devotion to the holy Word comes not release;
Without it is life wasted. (I-Pause)
The body with lust, wrath, egoism and avarice is filled;
This is a hard, heavy affliction.
My tongue, by the Master's guidance with joy utter the Name divine......
Thus swim across the ocean of existence. (2)
The ears grown deaf, senses dimmed;
Significance of the holy Word has man not realized.
Gripped by egoism has he forfeited the boon of his birth;
Uninstructed by the Master, blinded, nothing has he beheld.[3] (3)

1. Lit. is destroyed; that is, is subject to transmigration.
2. Lit. is not pure (true).
3. Used metaphorically, realized.

Let man renounce attachment to the world, discard desire,
And by poised meditation turn achorite.[1]
Submits Nanak : By the Master's teaching, as attachment to the Name Divine is aroused,
Finds he release. (4) (2.3)

Bhūṇḍī chāl charaṇ kar khisrei tūchā deh kumlānī

Awkward is turned man's gait in old age;
feet and hands unsteady,
Withered the skin and body.
Eyes clouded, ears deafened—yet egoist man to the Name has not turned. (1)
Blind man ! what have you achieved after coming into the world ?
God not borne in heart, nor the Master served :
You depart after losing even your capital. (I-Pause)
The tongue in joy in God not immersed; ever unpleasing[2] words uttering
Those involved in calumniating the holy turn beasts,
Never becoming noble. (2)
Rare are those tasting amrita delight; such to the holy Preceptor by the Lord are united.
As long as is significance of the holy Word not realized,
Shall Death's torment continue. (3)
Those that no other door than God's know of, attached to God's sole Portal, are pure.
By the Master's grace such the supreme state attain :
Thus states Nanak after deliberation. (4) (3.4)

Saglī raiyṇi sovat gali phāhī dinasu janjāli gawāiyā

The whole night man spends in sleep, a noose round his neck;
The day lost caught in a snare :
Not for an instant, a moment, an hour the Lord he realized,
Who this world has created. (1)
My self ! how from this heavy affliction wouldst find release ?
What into the world have you brought ? What carry away ?
Contemplate the Lord, conferrer of boons. (I-Pause)

1. Bairāgī.
2. Tasteless.

With the mind's lotus turned upside down, shallow is the egoist's understanding;
Man of the blind mind ever worldly concerns is involved.
Death and birth ever over thy head keep falling—
Alienated from the Name, your neck in the noose is caught. (2)
Unsteady your step, blinded your eyes;
in the holy Word are you not absorbed.
Even in study of Shastras and Vedas Maya of Three Qualities persists—
Blind man only worthless object acquires (3)
Man because of foul understanding and lack of enlightenment
Even his capital loses—what profit shall he make ?
By contemplation of the Word joy in the Lord has he tasted.
Saith Nanak : In truth has he acquired faith (4) (4.5)

Guru kai sangi rahai dinu rāti Rāmu rasani rangi rātā

Let man day and night in the Master's company abide, in joy in God immersed;
To naught else be attentive, and realize the holy Word—
In his heart beholding and realizing the Lord (1)
Such a one to my heart is pleasing,
As suppressing the ego, in the transcendent Lord may be dyed and the Master's behests carry out. (I-Pause)
Within the self and without to the Supreme P. 1127
Being immaculate,
Primal immanent Being I make obeisance,
To the embodiment of truth,
Pervasive in all beings and all spots. (2)
Those dyed in truth, bearing on tongue amrita of truth,
Take not grain of impurity of falsehood.
By the immaculate Name amrita-elixir they taste,
And dyed in the Word true honour obtain. (3)
The seeker of merit by contact with the repository of merit makes gain,
And by the Master's guidance exaltation by the Name.
Saith Nanak : by the Master's service is all suffering annulled,
And the Name, true friend, attained. (4) (5.6)

Hirday Nāmu sarab dhanu dhāraṉu Guru-parsādīṉ pāīyai

The Name, repository of all wealth, by the Master's grace in the heart is lodged.

Those obtaining this immortal boon are fulfilled, their mind in poised meditation fixed. (1)
My self ! in devotion to the Lord fix the mind.
By the Master's guidance with the heart contemplate
the Name Divine,
And in poise repair to your true home in God. (I-Pause)
Without devotion to the Name Divine are not caste off doubt, diverse thinking and fear,
Nor transmigration annulled.
Without devotion to the Name Divine none liberation obtains :
Such in ignominy die. (2)
Such are the barbarians in worldly concerns immersed,
All respect forfeiting, with doubts uneffaced.
Without guidance of the Master's Word comes not liberation to such—
Blind, in expanse of worldly concerns involved. (3)
The mind in faith to the immaculate Lord unincarnated[1] is fixed;
By the Master's teaching is it subdued,
Thus, saith Nanak, within and without is the Sole Lord realized,
And none other apprehended. (4) (6.7)

Jagan hom pūnn tap pūjā deh dūkhī nitt dūkh sahai

Man may perform sacrifices, make fire-offerings, dispense charities, perform austerities and offer worship,
And on his body inflict torture of penance—
Still without devotion to the Name Divine liberation
he would not attain;
The God-directed[2] liberation from devotion to the holy Name obtain. (1)
Without devotion to the Name Divine is birth in the world gone waste.
Such consume poison,[3] poisonous their utterance :
Without devotion to the Name, without gain they die, and after death in transmigration wander (I-Pause)
One may study scriptures, expound grammar,[4] and thrice daily perform worship—

1. Of no lineage.
2. Gurumukh.
3. Used metaphorically for sinful earnings etc.
4. (This was part of the theological study).

Man ! without devotion to the Master's Word
comes not liberation;
Without devotion to the Name Divine man Mayaentangled, dies. (2)
Man may carry a staff Yogi-like, a begging-bowl;
Grow the tuft, wear the sacred thread and dhoti;[1] visit bathing-spots and wander excessively in pilgrimage—
Without devotion to the Name comes not peace :
One contemplating the Name Divine alone finds liberation. (3)
Let one wear matted hair on the head, smear
the body with ashes,
Discard vesture and go about naked[2] :
Without devotion to the Name Divine comes not liberation.
These bound by their deeds such guises assume. (4)
All creatures on water and land in all places,
by Thee are cherished.
By the Master's grace save Thy servant;
Whereby Nanak freely[3] of the Divine elixir has quaffed. (5) (7.8)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das P. 1128

Chaupade (Quartets)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jāti kā garabu na karīyuh koī

Pride of caste let none entertain :
One realizing the Supreme Being, is alone a Brahmin (1)
Thou ignorant fool, entertain not pride of caste !
By such pride manifold mischiefs arise. (I-Pause)
All talk of the four castes :
Know that all creation from the Divine
Essence has arisen. (2)
The whole universe from the same clay has appeared :
The Potter however, in numerous forms makes the vessels. (3)
From five elements is made the form of the body—
Who may consider which has less of these or more ? (4)

---

1. Loin-cloth (Herein the conventional equipment of various sects is mentioned).
2. (This was done by a sect of the Jains.
3. Lit. Shaking it with hands to mix the sweet substance.

Saith Nanak : Bound by previous actions is the self;
Without the Master's guidance[1] liberation comes not. (5) (1)

Jogī grihī pandit bhekhdhārī

Yogis, householders, Brahmins and the garbed mendicants.
All in their pride lie asleep. (1)
One involved in Maya-intoxication is asleep;
He that keeps awake, escapes robbing. (I-Pause)
He alone keeps awake who by the Master is guided;[2]
The five agents of evil he subdues. (2)
He alone is awake, who the Essence contemplates;
Lays down his life, butt destroys[3] none. (3)
He is awake that knows the Lord to be One and Sole;
Renounces material objects[4] and the Essence realizes. (4)
Among all four castes whoever is awake,
From Yama, agent of death is exempt, and liberation finds. (5)
Saith Nanak : He truly is awake,
In whose eyes is drawn collyrium of realization. (6) (2)

Jā kau rākhai apṉī sharṇāī

Whomsoever the Lord under His wing[5] takes,
To the holy Eternal is devoted, and the holy reward[6] obtains. (1)
Man ! to whom dost thou raise supplication against the Divine dispensation ?
All by Ordinance is created by Ordinance runs. (I-Pause)
All that is manifest is by Thee sustained :
In an instant may it be destroyed : nothing can its dissolution delay. (2)
By grace has He exhibited this play to our insight.
By the Master's favour thus has been bestowed on us
the supreme state. (3)
Saith Nanak : Life and death from Him comes :
This must you realize and stray not into delusion. (4) (3)

Main kāmaṇi merā kantu kartāru

I the wife; the Creator my Lord;
As He ordains, myself I deck. (1)

---

1. Lit. Drop.
2. Lit. Meeting, contact.
3. Lit. Kills.
4. Parkirti=Maya.
5. Shelter.
6. Fruit, that is, liberation.

As it pleases Him with me has He bliss—
Body and mind am I all for the holy Lord. (I-Pause)
What point praise or censure of any ?
He alone is manifest in all and operates. (2)
In his love taut with passion,
Shall I have union with Him with full fanfare.[1] (3)
Saith Nanak : No effort for union may avail.
Such alone are united as He favours. (4) (4)

So mūni ji mana kī dūbidhā mārei

He truly is silence-vowed as His duality may annul :
And annulling duality, the Supreme Being may contemplate. (1)
Brother ! let any in the self make search;
By search of the self are obtained the Nine Treasures. (I-Pause) P. 1129
Rooted in attachment has the Creator made the universe;
In attachment to egoism is it cast into delusion. (2)
Our limb and life all from action of the mind come;[2]
By the mind's contemplation is realized too the Ordinance,
Bringing absorption in the Eternal. (3)
By supreme good fortune[3] may the Master's grace be obtained;
The mind be awakened, its duality annulled. (4)
The mind's true bent is for renunciation;
To abide in all, yet unattached, above passion (5)
Saith Nanak : Whoever the supreme mystery realizes,
Is with the Primal Pursha, the Immaculate Lord, identified. (6) (5)

Rāma-Nāma jagat nistārā

By devotion to the Name Divine is the world saved;
By this, across ocean of the world is man carried. (1)
By the Master's grace contemplate thou the Name Divine,
That eternally thy succourer may prove. (I-Pause)
Ignorant egoist ! the Name hast thou forgotten;
How without the Name mayst swim across ? (2)
Himself the Bestower His grace shows :
To the Bestower all hail ! (3)
By grace may He with the Master grant union,
Who devotion to the Name in the heart may confirm. (4) (6)

---

1. Panch-Shabda=Five kinds of instrumental sounds in orchestra.
2. That is, by actions that bar the way to liberation and bring about transmigration.
3. Karma. Fortune made by actions of previous births.

Nāmei üdharei sabhi jitnei loa

By devotion to the Name has all creation found liberation—
This by the Master's guidance is obtained. (1)
This is the holy Lord grants in His grace;
And by the Master's guidance through the Name
confers exaltation. (I-Pause)
Those to the Name divine devoted,
Are saved themselves and saved are their forebears. (2)
Those without the Name are egoists, and to Yama's demense go;
There in torment and buffets are they received. (3)
Devotion the Creator Himself grants;
Says Nanak : From Him is received devotion to the Name. (4) (7)

Govind preeti sanakādik üdhārei

Devotion to the Lord brought liberation to Sanak[1]
and his brother.
As the Name Divine through the holy Word
they contemplated. (1)
Lord ! show Thy grace,
That by the Master's guidance devotion to the Name in me may arise. (I-Pause)
When the heart with true love and devotion is full,
Then is met the Preceptor perfectly-endowed. (2)
One so blessed, his true home with God spontaneously enters,
As by the Master's guidance the Name in his mind is lodged. (3)
The Lord, who oversees all, shall watch over you.
Saith Nanak : Cherish ever in your heart the Name. (4) (8)

Kaljüg mehn̤ Rāma-Nāma ürdhāru

In Kali-Yuga cherish in your heart Name Divine; Those without the Name shall have dust thrown over their faces. (1)
Brother ! hard to obtain is the Name Divine;
This by the Master's grace alone in the mind is lodged. (I-Pause)
Whoever after the Name Divine quests,
From the Master, perfectly-endowed shall obtain it. (2)
Those submitting to the Lord's Will find acceptance;
Such by devotion to the Master's Word and the Name, are with exaltation marked. (3)

1. Name of Brahmin's son.

Serve the Lord to whom belongs all might :
Saith Nanak : Cherish, by the Master's guidance, love for the Name. (4) (9)

Kaljüg mehṇ bahu karam kamāhi

One performing manifold ritual in Kali-Yuga, P. 1130 Shall find the age not propitious for such,
Nor shall these with the Lord find acceptance. (1)
In Kali-Yuga, devotion to the Name Divine is purest of all deeds,
As by the Master's guidance may true love arise. (I-Pause)
After quest in the self is the Lord in the self[1] found,
As by the Master's guidance is the heart in love for the Name
Divine fixed. (2)
The collyrium of realization from the holy Preceptor comes,
Whereby is beheld the Name Divine pervading the three worlds. (3)
Kali-Yuga is the age[2] of devotion to the Lord—
All else is of little worth.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance
In your heart the Name Divine cherish. (4) (10)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dübidhā manmükh rogi biyāpei trishnā jaleh adhikāī

The egoist from the malady of duality suffers;
Desire intensely burns him;
Ever and again dying and being born, finding no peace,
his life is a waste. (1)
Beloved Lord ! in Thy grace, grant me realization :
The world in affliction with malady of egoism is created;
Without the holy Word this goes not. (I-Pause)
Sages study numerous Simritis and Shastras;
Without the holy Word realization they find not.
In the grip of the Three Qualities[3] lie all maladies.
Acquisitiveness awareness of God takes away. (2)
Some has the Lord extricated Himself.
And with devotion to the Master inspired :

1. House/Home.
2. Lit. Season.
3. See Glossary.

Treasure of the Name Divine have they found;
Joy in their self has taken abode. (3)
The God-directed in the fourth state[1] rest,
In their true abode are they lodged;
The Preceptor, perfectly-endowed on them his grace has showered,
Annulling their egoism. (4)
One sole monarch of the Universe is He,
By whom are created Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva.
Saith Nanak : One immutable Being is real,
By mortality untouched. (5) (1.11)

Manmūkhi dūbidhā sadā hai rogī rogī sagal sansārā

The egoist by duality is perpetually afflicted :
So is afflicted the whole world :
By the Master's guidance comes realization.
By contemplation of the Master's Word goes this malady. (1)
The Lord grants union with holy company.
Saith Nanak : On such He confers exaltation,
As to the Name Divine in their hearts are devoted. (I-Pause)
In acquisitiveness comes death and all manner of maladies;
Such are Yama's subjects.
Yama approaches not the God-directed,
Who in their hearts cherish the Lord. (2)
Those that by the Master's guidance the Name
Divine have not realized,
What good is their human birth[2] ?
Failing to serve the Master, useless is their human birth. (3) Saith Nanak : Supremely fortunate are those that with the Master's service are inspired :
All their desires fulfilled,[3]
By blessing of the Master's Word joy they find. (4) (2.12)

Dūkh vichi jammai dūkhi marai dūkh vichi kār kamāe

In suffering is man born, in suffering dies;
In suffering is his life's work done :
Without devotion from the womb never shall he find release, P. 1131

1. The state of absorption in the Absolute, turīyā.
2. Original : What purpose their birth?
3. (Desires for spiritual benefits are implied).

And in filth shall be absorbed. (1)
Cursed is the egoist's life, all wasted;
The holy Master has he not served; to the Name
Divine not attached. (I-Pause)
The Master's Word all ills cures;
Devotion to this by Divine grace arises;
From devotion to the Name comes exaltation,
In the self of whomsoever by Divine favour is it lodged. (2)
By the Master's touch comes fulfilment;
In truthful doing lies the essence of bliss.
Such alone are pure as to the Lord are devoted;
And with the Name Divine are in love. (3)
On my forehead would I paste dust of the feet of such as on the Master, perfectly-endowed, have meditated.
Saith Nanak : By supreme good fortune is attained the dust of such
As their mind on the Name Divine have fixed. (4) (3.13)

Shabadu bīchārei so janu sāchā jin kai hirdai sāchā soī

Such are pure as the Word contemplate,
And in heart the holy Eternal cherish;
By engaging in holy devotion day and night
Are they from suffering made exampt. (1)
All talk of devotion :
Without serving the holy Preceptor comes not devotion;
By supreme good fortune comes union with the Lord. (I-Pause)
The egoist even his capital loses,
Yet seeks gain—how may gain come ?
Yama, agent of death hovers over his head;
In duality caught, falls he into ignominy. (2)
Many in various garbs wander alone day and night;
Yet their malady of egoism is not shed.
Study to them brings only disputation; acrimonious their discourse.
Involved in Maya, is their understanding lost. (3)
Those that serve the holy Preceptor, the supreme state attain,
And by devotion to the Name find exaltation.
Saith Nanak : Those in whose mind is the Name lodged,
At the holy Portal are honoured. (4) (4.14)

Manmūkh āsā nahīṇ ūttarei dūjai bhāe khūāe

Egoists shed not desire;

And involved in duality, bear ignominy;
Their hunger like a stream[1] never satisfied,
in fire of desire consumed. (1)
Blessed perennially are those that in joy of the Name are dyed :
Cherishing in their heart the Name, duality leaves their mind;
By quaffing Divine amrita fulfilled. (I-Pause)
Himself the Supreme Being, Creator of the universe,
Has set each to an appointed task :
Maya-illusion too is His creation;
Himself to duality has He attached some. (2)
We may make some complaint of Him, should there be another like Him :
All, Lord ! in Thee are contained.
As by the Master's guidance is contemplated essence of realization,
Light of the self into the Supreme Light is merged. (3)
Holy is the Lord, ever holy; holy all created forms.
Saith Nanak : By the holy Preceptor's guidance has illumination come to us :
By devotion to the Name Divine comes liberation. (4) (5.15)

Kali mehṇ pret jinnhīṇ Rāmu nā pachhātā satjūgi paramhans bīchārī

In Kali-Yuga those unattached to the Name are as goblins;
In Sati-Yuga by contemplation, men were pure selves.[2]
In Dwapar and Treta[3] were mere human beings—
Rare are such as their egoism have subdued. (1)
In Kali-Yuga from devotion to the Name Divine P. 1132
comes exaltation.
By the Master's guidance have we realized One sole Reality in all ages pervading,
Without devotion to whose Name comes not liberation. (I-Pause)
Those that are pure, in their heart realize the Name,
That by the Master's guidance in the mind is lodged.
Those to the Name Divine attached are liberated themselves,
And to their forefathers bring liberation. (2)
The Lord is Bestower of merit and by the holy Word burns away evil qualities.

1. (In the original is the image of a stream whose flow is unending).
2. Original, Param-hans.
3. Names of two Yugas (Ages) out of four.

Exalted are those in the self lodging Him
In their hearts cherishing the Name. (3)
The true abode, the portal and the Mansion Divine,
By the holy Preceptor is indicated,
Where the self in joy and bliss may abide.
Saith Nanak : This comes to such as assent to the holy Preceptor's teaching,
And the Name contemplate. (4) (6.16)

Mansā maneh samāe lai Guru-shabdīṇ vīchār

By contemplation of the Master's Word is desire into the mind reabsorbed :
As comes realization from the holy Preceptor, is transmigration annuled.[1] (1)
My self ! make the Name Divine thy support :
Thus, by the Master's grace is attained the supreme state,
That brings fulfilment of all desire. (I-Pause)
One Sole Reality in all is pervasive—such realization from the Master alone comes :
By the Master's guidance is manifested the Lord :
The seeker evermore praise of His attributes sings. (2)
The Lord is the sole Bestower of joy—No joy elsewhere may be found :
Those without devotion to the holy Master, the Bestower,
At the last leave the world in regret. (3)
In devoted service to the holy Preceptor is found joy everlasting;
No suffering comes thereafter.
Saith Nanak : In attainment of devotion to the Lord,
Is my light into the light Divine merged. (4) (7.17)

Bājhu Gūrū jagatu baurānā bhūlā chotāṇ khāī

Without the Master's guidance is the world demented,
In ignorance receiving buffets :
In transmigration whirled,[2] ever in suffering involved,
Of the Divine Portal unaware. (1)
My self, take refuge ever with the holy Preceptor;
Sweet shall the Name Divine be ever to the heart,

1. Lit. Does not die time and again.
2. Lit. Dies again and again and is reborn.

By the Master's Word shall the ocean of the world be crossed. (I-Pause)
One putting on garbs is from shaking of mind[1] not freed,
Harbouring within lust, wrath, pride.
The mind with desire athirst, by hunger[2] tormented,
Seeking favour from door to door. (2)
One by the Master's Word dying finds life again,
The door of liberation attaining :
Cherishing in heart the Lord,
Is he made tranquil within and finds joy everlasting. (3)
He ordains creation as He wills—
Him none to overrule.
Saith Nanak : One by the Master's guidance the holy Word contemplating,
By the Name Divine exaltation finds. (4) (8.18)

Haumai Māyā mohi khūāiyā dūkhu khāṭei dūkh khāe

In egoism is man lost in Maya-attachment;
Suffering he garners, suffering consumes;
Within him is rabid greed; in grievous suffering involved,
Without discrimination wandering. (1)
Cursed in this world is the egoist's life :
Never in dream has he contemplated the Name Divine,
Nor to the Lord in love attached. (I-Pause)
Like an animal, thoughtlessly he acts;
False his doing, false his state :
By the holy Preceptor's touch alone are one's thoughts P. 1133 away from worldliness turned—
This let anyone for himself test. (2)
With the Lord's Name in the heart lodged ever, is the Repository of Merit attained,
By the Master's grace as is the holy Lord attained,
Pride of heart vanishes. (3)
All happens as the Creator wills.
Himself He sets man on the right path;
Himself by the Master's guidance confers He exaltation,
Whereby, says Nanak, comes absorption in the Name. (4) (9.19)

1. Lit. His mind wanders.
2. Used figuratively.

Merī paṭīyā likhuh Hari-Govind Gopālā

Said Prahlad[1] : Write thou on my tablet the Lord's Name,
Cherisher of the universe.[2]
From duality comes enmeshing in Yama's snare.
May the holy Preceptor cherish me !
The Lord, Bestower of bliss is by my side ! (1)
By the Master's teaching Prahlad[1] the Lord's Name utters;
At fear of chastizement is the child not dismayed. (I-Pause)
His mother instructs him : 'Dear Prahlad',[1] my child !
Discard God's Name; thy life save.
Saith Prahlad[1] : Listen mother miue !
God's Name shall I not leave, that the Master has taught. (2)
The teachers Sanda and Maraka to his father complained :
'Prahlad[1] is corrupted himself, has all other pupils corrupted.'
The evil king in council resolved on chastizement :
The Lord[3] Prahlad's protector became. (3)
The King in towering wrath, sword in hand, rushed,
Shouting, 'Where is thy Lord ? Let him save thee !'
In an instant from split pillar appeared the Lord,
in terrible aspect :
With claws tore Harnakash apart, saved Prahlad. (4)
His devotees' purposes the Lord fulfils;
His servant Prahlad's twenty-one generations He saved.
By power of the Master's Word is poison of egoism annulled.
Saith Nanak : By help of the Name Divine are the devotees saved. (5) (10.20)

Āpei dait lāe dittei sant janāṇ kau āpei rākhā soī

Himself sets He demons after His devotees;
Himself is He their Protector.
No suffering touches those that with Thee seek shelter. (1)
Age after age has He the devotees cherished :
Prahlada, son of the demon, of Gayatri[4] and holy sprinkling ignorant,
By the holy Word was to the Lord united. (I-Pause)
Those day and night performing devotion evermore,

1. A devotee, son of the demon-king Hrinyakashyapu (Harnakash).
2. Original, Hari-Govinda-Gopāla.
3. Raghurāi.
4. Gāyatrī is a sacred Mantra : Tarpana (Sprinkling) is done for the peace of deceased ancestors

By the holy Word is their duality annulled,
Ever pure are those in truth dyed—
Holy truth in their self lodged. (2)
The ignorant in duality caught, study Scriptures,
The Essence not realizing, waste their life :
God's devotees they traduce, evil-minded demons against them provoking. (3)
Prahlad studies not the texts with duality in mind.
The Name Divine not forsaking,
To no one's terror subjected :
The Lord His devotees' protector became :
The demon's death approached. (4)
Himself He saves His own honour : on devotees confers exaltation.
Saith Nanak : Harnakash with claws was torn apart :
Blind fool ! unaware of what at his doorstep was to happen. (5) (11.21)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 1134

Chaupade (Quartets)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Harijan sant kari kirpā pagi lāeṉu

Should God's servants, His devotees show grace, to their feet attach yourself;
By guidance of the Master's Word to the Lord be devoted,
And your mind in Him absorb. (1)
My self ! to the Name of the Lord, Supreme Being be devoted.
Should the Lord, bestower of joy be gracious, devotees
by guidance of the Name Divine liberation find. (I-Pause)
In holy company Divine laudation sing,
And by the Master's teaching repeat the Lord's Name, supreme elixir. (2)
By bathing in pool of the holy Preceptor's ambrosial enlightenment
Are all evils and sins cast off. (3)
Thou who solely art creation's prop,
To Nanak, Thy humble servant, pray grant union. (4) (1)

Boli Hari-Nāmu saphal sā gharī

Blessed[1] is the hour in which the Name Divine thou dost utter.
the Master's teaching is all suffering cast off. (1)

---

1. Fruitful.

My self ! to the puissant[1] Name Divine be devoted.
In your grace grant me union with the Master, perfectly endowed.
That in holy company ocean of existence I cross. (I-Pause)
My self ! contemplate the Lord; on life of the universe meditate.
This millions of thy sins shall take off. (2)
In holy company on our face has fallen dust of feet of the holy.
Thereby have we as though bathed at the sixty-eight bathing.
centres and in the Ganga. (3)
To me, ignorant one has the Lord shown grace :
The Lord, liberation[2] to Nanak, His servant, has granted. (4) (2)

Sūkritu karṇī sāru japmālī

Doing good is essence of telling the rosary.
In thy heart turn the rosary—that in the hereafter shall accompany thee (1)
Repeat Name of the Lord, forest-wanderer.[3]
In your grace with holy company grant union, whereby Maya's terrible[4] snare be snapped. (I-Pause)
Whoever by the Master's guidance in holy endeavour has engaged,
In the mint of holy company is his utterance[5] moulded. (2)
The Lord, inaccessible, unknowable by the Master is made manifest;
In the city of the body is the Lord found after quest. (3)
We are children; the Lord our cherishing father.
Save[6] Nanak by Thy glance of grace. (4) (3)

Sabhi ghaṭ terei tūṇ sabhnāṇ māheṇ

All beings are Thine; Thou pervasive in all.
None outside Thee lies. (1)
My self ! repeat Name of the Lord, provider of joy.
Lord ! Thee I laud; Thou art my Divine father. (I-Pause)
Wherever I took, the Lord behold.
All in Thy power lies; no other is there. (2)
Lord ! whomsoever Thou are pleased to protect,
None dare approach him. (3)

1. Narharī (image of the incarnation Man-lion).
2. Has ferried across.
3. An attributive name of Krishna, here signifying God.
4. Lit. Yama's snare.
5. Shabda may signify also the spiritual life cf. Japuji 38.
6. Ferry across the water.

Thou dost pervade water and land, immanent in all.
Nanak, servant of God ! repeat Thou the Name of the Lord, ever-present by Thee. (4) (4)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 1135

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari kā santu Hari kī Hari mūrati jisu hirday
Hari-Nāmu mūrāri

The Lord's devotee bearing in heart the Lord's Divine Name, is the Lord's own image.
Whoever has good fortune inscribed on the face,
By the Master's guidance in heart the Name
Divine cherishes.[1] (1)
The Lord contemplate, lodging Him in heart.
In city of the body are five marauding thieves,[2]
Whom by the Master's Word the Lord
After chastizing, throws out. (1-Pause)
Those with mind in faith in the Lord fixed,
By the Lord Himself have their objectives fulfilled.
No more are they dependent on people of the world;
The Creator to His bosom has clasped them. (2)
One may contemplate taking thought and counsel,
Should anything lie outside Divine power.
All that He does is well; everyday on the Lord's Divine Name meditate. (3)
The Lord does all in His own will—with none does
He take counsel.
Saith Nanak : Ever on the Lord meditate, who in His grace with the Master has brought about our union. (4) (1.5)

Te sādhū Hari meluh Swāmī jin japiyāṇ gati hoe hamārī

Lord ! grant us union with such of the holy, by whose contemplation the supreme state we may attain.
At their sight is the heart in bloom; each instant to them
am I a sacrifice. (1)
In your heart contemplate the Name Divine.
Lord, father of the universe, pray show grace,

1. Contemplates.
2. The five sources of evil are meant.

And make me handimaid[1] of your slaves, their drawer of water. (I-Pause)
Exalted is the understanding and honour of such
As in heart have lodged the Lord.
Lord ! in the service of such engage me, whereby the supreme state I may attain. (2)
Those not blessed with[2] such a holy one, from the Divine
Portal are driven off in ignominy.
Such are traducers, finding no honour—
Disgraced by the Lord. (3)
The Lord Himself makes call, Himself the holy Word utters, Himself is He immaculate, formless, beyond need of sustenance.
Lord ! such with you find union as You to Yourself unite.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : what power have these poor creatures ? (4) (2.6)

Sat-sangati sāī Hari terī jitu Hari kīrati Hari sūnaṇei

Lord ! true holy congregation is such wherein is listened to Thy laudation.
Those listening to the Name Divine have heart
devotion-drenched—
Ever at the feet of such I serve. (1)
By meditation on the Lord, life of the universe, comes liberation.
Lord ! numberless, beyond count are Thy Names,
That my tongue has not power to recount. (I-Pause)
You that are the Master's disciples ! utter, sing the Lord's Name :
Receiving the Master's teaching, the Lord's Name utter.
Whoever to the Master's teaching listens, manifold joys obtains. (2)
Blessed the family, blessed the father, blessed the mother
That to God's devotees gave birth.
Those who with each breath and morsel on the Lord
have meditated,
At the eternal Portal in beauty shine. (3)
Lord, inaccessible are Thy Names, P. 1136
That in the heart of devotees hast Thou lodged.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Those that by the Master's teaching understanding have acquired,
By contemplation of the Lord find liberation.[3] (4) (3.7)

1. The gender is implied in panihārī (female drawer of water).
2. Those that have not found.
3. Reach the other shore.

In the Measures Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's grace

Saglī thīti pāsi dāri rākhī

All other dates are kept aside;
The eighth[1] was reckoned the Lord's birth-date. (1)
Men deluded by doubt in hollow[2] thinking engage :
Know, the Lord from birth and death is immune. (I-Pause)
In secret is He fed on sweet offerings :[3]
Thou stupid[4] misbeliever[5], know : He neither is born nor dies. (2)
Singing lullabies[6] to the Lord is source of all sins.
Burnt be the mouth that asserts, the Lord takes birth. (3)
He is neither born nor dies; neither enters birth nor departs.
All-pervasive is Nanak's Lord. (4) (1)

Ūṭhat sükhīyā baiṭhat sükhīyā

When such realization comes,[7] then is one in joy
rising and sitting.
Immune from fear. (1)
The Lord, controller of thoughts of all selves is our protector. (I-Pause)
Lord ! knowing that in all spots Thou art pervasive,
Immune from anxiety I sleep and wake up. (2)
Within the home and without have I found joy,
As, saith Nanak, the Master his teaching in my mind has confirmed. (3) (2)

Vart na rahouṇ na maho Ramadānā

I observe neither fasting[8] nor the ritual of the Ramadan[9] month :
Him I serve who at the last shall save. (1)
The Lord of universe of the Hindus[10] and Allah to me are one :

---

1. Eighth of the Dark half of Bhādon (August-September) is believed to be Krishna's birthday.
2. Unripe, raw.
3. Panjīr is a preparation from flour fried in ghee with some spices.
4. Animal.
5. Sākta.
6. (Krishna-worshippers do this to his image).
7. (Reference to the last line of the preceding hymn, that the Lord is all-pervasive).
   Note : In this hymn ritual practices of Hinduism and Islam are repudiated, and worship of the Lord commended.
8. Hindu fasting ritual is implied.
9. Ramadān is the Muslim month of fasting.
10. Gosāīṅ.

From Hindus and Muhammadans have I broken free. (I-Pause)
I perform neither Kaaba pilgrimage nor at bathing spots[1] worship :
One sole Lord I serve, and no other. (2)
I perform neither the Hindu worship nor namaz[2] :
To the Sole Formless Lord in my heart I bow. (3)
We neither are Hindus nor Musalmans :
Our body and life is Allah-Rama's[3] (4)
Thus has Kabir preached :
By contact with the Preceptor, the Lord have we realized. (5) (3)

Das mirgī sahajei bandhi ānī

Ten does[4] without difficulty have we brought bounds;
And five deer-bucks[5] by the unfailing arrows[6]
have we pierced. (1)
In holy company for hunting I proceeded,
And without austerities or weapons[7] captured deer. (I-Pause)
By the urge for hunting rushed I outside;
Now in my own home-village[8] have I found game. (2)
Deer have I captured and brought home on return,
That my friends in bits have carried away in parts. (3)
This game among others I distributed :[9]
Into Nanak's home has come solely the Name. (4) (4)

Jei Sau lochi lochi khāwāiyā

The materialist,[10] though feasted after a hundred times coddling,
Still the Lord has He not brought to mind. (1)
Learn wisdom from the holy, P. 1137
And in holy congregation the supreme state attain. (I-Pause)
A stone may be drenched many times over in water,
Yet because of extreme dryness it gets not soaked. (2)
To a thoughtless person even though the six systems[11] be expounded,
Yet these on him are lost as the wind blowing in ten directions, (3)

1. (These are sacred to the Hindus).
2. The Muslim prayer.
3. (This is a composite name of God, beyond sectarian limits).
4. Senses, impulses are implied.
5. The five sources of evil are thus imaged.
6. Shiva's arrows, implies devotion to the Name.
7. Implies ritual modes of worship.
8. That is, in the self.
9. Given away in charity.
10. Sākta.
11. The six Shastras, systems of Indian philosophy.

As straw without grain trodden,
Is the Maya-worshipper[1], incapable of yielding gain. (4)
Each is engaged in a direction prompted by God :
Saith Nanak, such is the Lord's dispensation. (5) (5)

Jīo prāṉ jini rachiyo sarīr

He who fashioned our self, life and body,
And created us, feels for us too. (1)
The Divine Master stands aidant to the self,
Under whose shelter[2] in this world and the next we lie. (I-Pause)
Devoted supplication to the Lord is the purest practice;
In the holy congregation is shattered the contrary way. (2)
Friends, sympathizers and wealth are not true props.
Hail, Hail the Lord ! (3)
Nanak the ambrosial Word utters.
Other than the one Sole Lord no other knows. (4) (6)

Āgaī Dayu pāchhai Nārāyaṉ

Ahead of us and behind us is the Lord;
In the middle period too by us is the Lord, repository of the love-elixir. (1)
The Lord for us is astrological calculations and good omens;
He too for us is joy in poise and house of bliss. (I-Pause)
The tongue in utterance of the Name and the ears in listening to it find life.
In contemplation of the Lord we found immortality and immutability. (2)
Thereby are cancelled suffering of multiple births,
And at the court Divine is heard playing the unstruck mystic music. (3)
The Lord in His grace to Himself united us,
As Nanak to seek the Lord's shelter came. (4) (7)

Koṭi manorath āwehṇ hāth

By devotion to the Name are millions of objectives attained,
And on the path of death is found a companion of the way. (1)
The Name Divine is the true Ganga-water.[3]
Whoever contemplates it, liberation finds;
And sipping it does nevermore in transmigration wander. (I-Pause)

---

1. Sākta.
2. Shade.
3. (Ganga-water is considered holy and conferrer of merit).

Worship, ritual repetition of texts, austerities and holy bathing
Of such alone are fruitful as the Name contemplates—
These of desire are rid. (2)
Contemplation of the Name is true royal state, wealth, mansions and courts,
And perfection of holy doing. (3)
Nanak, servant of God thus has determined :
Other than the Name Divine all is falsehood and ashes. (4) (8)

Lepu na lāgo til ka mūli

Not a grain's[1] infection occurred to the child Hargobind.
And the wicked Brahmin[2] of colic pain died. (I)
The Lord Himself saved His servants.
By the Lord's might died the evil-door. (I-Pause)
God's servant on his master meditated;
Himself the thoughtless evil-doer He destroyed. (2)
The Lord, mother and father, is His servant's protector.
The traducer's face in this world and the next is blackened. (3)
The Lord to His servant Nanak's entreaty lent bear;
The evil-minded sinner was destroyed and disappointed. (4) (9)

Khūbu Khūbu Khūbu Khūbu Khūbu tero Nāmu

Exalted, supremely[3] exalted is Thy Name, P. 1138
False, utterly[4] false is pride in worldly objects. (I-Pause)
Wonderful[5] are Thy devotees, endlessly beautiful their sight.
Without devotion to the Name is the world ashes. (1) Marvellous Thy manifested might;[6] worthy of laudation Thy feet.
Holy king ! a rare gift[7] is Thy laudation. (2)
Lord, shelter of the shelterless, Thy shelter we seek.
Cherisher of the humble, day and night on Thee we meditate. (3)
The Lord Himself to Nanak is gracious.
May the Lord never out of my mind, self and life be put. (4) (10)

Note : This is one of the numerous hymns dealing with the attack on the life of the child Hargobind, Guru Arjan Dev's son.

1. Sesame-grain.
2. (The Brahmin evidently was the agent employed to poison the child).
3. Khūb (Pers. fine) is repeated five times.
4. Jhūth (false) repeated four times.
5. Naghz (Pers.) In this hymn are used several words drawn from the Perso-Arabic sources.
6. Kudret, Qudrat.
7. Ganīv=ghanimat.

Sāch padārathu Gūrmukhi laho

By the Master's guidance attain the holy boon;
And accept the Lord's Will as all-holy. (1)
Live everlastingly[1] :
Each day on rising the Divine elixir quaff.
By your tongue utter the Name Divine.(I-Pause)
In Kali-Yuga liberation by devotion to the Name comes.
Nanak after contemplation on the Lord states this. (2) (11)

Satiguru sevi sarab phal pāye

By serving the holy Preceptor all boons have we attained,
And impurity of multiple births shed. (1)
Lord ! by Thy Name are the fallen purified.
By recorded influence of deeds of previous births is inspired singing of Divine laudation. (I-Pause)
In holy company comes liberation,
And the seeker at the Divine Portal exaltation finds.(2)
Service at the Lord' feet brings all weal;
Their dust holy men and the gods seek. (3)
Nanak treasure of the Name has found.
The whole world by uttering the Lord's Name
is saved. (4) (12)

Apnei dās kau kanthi lagāwai

The Lord His servant to His bosom clasps,
And the traducer into the flames casts. (1)
The Lord from evil-doers saves His devotees.
Never finds the evil-doer liberation;
The evil-doer by his own deeds is destroyed. (I-Pause)
God's servants to the Lord is devoted in love.
The traducer on the contrary path is thrown. (2)
The Lord His law of grace[2] has made manifest;
The evil-doer his deserts has received. (3)
With the Lord who takes no birth nor dies, and is all-pervasive,
Does Nanak, servant of God, seek shelter. (4) (13)

---

1. Jīvat (alive) is repeated thrice.
Note : This hymn is believed to contain reference to the death in the burning kiln of Sulahi Khan, who came to attack Guru Arjan Dev.
2. Bird (Ar. Wird), customary practice.

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Arjun Dev

Chaupade (Quartets)

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's grace

Srīdhar mohan sagal upāwan nirankār sūkhdātā

To serve other than the Lord,[1] Divine Charmer, Creator of all beings, Formless, Donor of joy,
By what evil pleasures art Thou intoxication ? (1)
My self ! to the Lord be devoted.
All other devices have I considered[2]—
Whichever you think of, brings failure.(I-Pause)
The egoist purblind, thoughtless, discarding the Master, contemplates the handmaid Maya.
Those uninstructed by the Master, no better[3] than beasts, P. 1139
Traduce those practising devotion to the Lord. (2)
The self, body, the physical frame, wealth—all is the Lord's :
Materialists[4] assert it is ours.
Egoistic understanding, foul thinking is impure—Without the Master's guidance the self to the ocean of existence has to return. (3)
By fire-offerings, sacrifices, ritual recitation, austerity, restraints,
Bathing at holy banks is He not attained.
As is egoism effaced and shelter with the Lord we have sought,
Saith Nanak, by the Master's guidance is the world saved. (4) (1.14)

Ban mehṇ pekhiyo triṇ mehṇ pekhiyo grihi pekhiyo udāsāe

In forest, in grass-blades, in the home and in the state of indifference to the world have we sought Him;
In the staff-bearing Yogi, the matted-locked hermit,
In practice of fasting and restraints and holy bathing have we sought Him. (1)
In holy company in our own self have we beheld Him,
As in joy and bliss of Him His laudation we sang. (I-Pause)
In the upper and nether regions, in all existence is He seen pervasive.

1. Srīdhar, an attributive name of Vishnu, signifying God.
2. Seen.
3. Like beasts.
4. Sākta.

In Yoga-praxis, in sannyasi's garb, celibate's and wandering hermit's garb and the robed hermit's' garb have we sought Him.
In the performance of austerities, stage plays and ritual dances sought Him. (2)
In the Four Vedas, Six Shastras, eighteen Puranas and Simritis[2]
have we sought Him :
All in unison to the Sole Lord give expression—
From whom to pronounce Him far ? (3)
Beyond limit, beyond end in the Lord, inexpressible His worth.
Saith Nanak : To such would I be a sacrifice
In whose self He becomes manifest. (4) (2.15)

Nikti būjhai so būrā kiuṇ karai

How may one realizing the Lord to be close do evil,
Garner poison[3] and go about in fear ?
He is close, yet is His mystery unravelled.
Without the Master's guidance all existence by Maya is deluded. (1)
All declare Him close,
But a rare God-directed one alone His mystery realizes. (1-Pause)
One not realizing the Lord close, to other's homes turns, Grabs property and lives on false earnings.
Under influence of Maya's drug the Lord he realizes not to be by him.
Without the Master's guidance is one lost in delusion. (2)
One not realizing the Lord close, utters falsehood.
Such a one, thoughtless, by Maya attachment is robbed;
Bearing within the self the Divine substance yet to diverse places goes.
Without the Master's guidance is such a one
in delusion lost. (3)
Who so has holy doing on the forehead inscribed,
His mind's door opened, the holy Preceptor serves.
Within and without is He close to Him.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Such a one take neither birth nor dies. (4) (3.16)

1. Kāpadīā=a sect.
2. Ritual codes of Brahminism.
3. Implies evil-doing.

Jisu Tūṇ rākhehṇ tisu kaunu mārai

Who may harm[1] one whom Thou art protecting ?
The whole world within Thee[2] lies.
Man a million devices contemplates;
Yet all happens as the Lord of wondrous marvels does. (1)
In Thy grace save, save me :
To Thy shelter, Thy court am I come. (I-Pause)
Whoever the Lord beyond fear, donor of bliss has served,
Cast off is his fear, and the sole Lord has realized.
All happens as Thou dost will :
None else can destroy or save. (2)
What dost thou contemplate with thy human understanding[3] ?
The Lord, controller of the inner self is all-wise. P. 1140
One solely is the prop, one the support.
All to the Creator is known. (3)
To whomsoever the Lord shows grace,
Fulfilled are all his objectives.
He solely is his protector.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : None can equal Him. (4) (4.17)

Tau kaṛīyai je hovai bāhari

We would pine were He beyond us.
We would pine if the puissant Lord[4] were forgotten.
We would pine if into duality we are fallen.
Why pine when all existence He pervades ? (1)
Those fallen into Maya attachment by pining are destroyed.
Those without the Name in perpetual wandering in creeds
are exhausted. (I-Pause)
We would pine if any other than He were the Creator.
We would pine if any by injustice were to die.
We would pine if any part of our state to Him were not known.
Why pine if all existence He fully pervades ? (2)
We would pine if anything by aggression were done.
We would pine if He were in error to make us aggrieved.
The Master has affirmed, all happens as by the Lord done.
Therefore, discarding pining, free from anxiety we sleep. (3)

---

1. Destroy, kill.
2. That is, under your protection.
3. Lit. In the human way.
4. Nar-Harī=Man-lion, an avatār, symbolizing Divine might.

Lord ! Thou art the overlord, all is Thine.
Thou dost determine as be Thy will.
None other is there; He solely is pervasive.
Pray save Nanak's honour, who your shelter has sought. (4) (5.18)

Binū bājei kaiso niratkārī

How may dancing without music be performed ?
Without voice[1] how may the songster sing ?
How without the resounding wire may the rebeck is played ?
Other than the Name are all attempts useless. (1)
Say, who without the Name has liberation found[2] ?
How without the Master's gnidance is one liberated[3] ? (I-Pause)
Without the tongue how may one speak ?
Withont the ears how hear ?
Without the eyes how see ?
So, without the Name is man of no account. (2)
How without learning may one becomes a scholar[4] ?
How without authority is rule made glorious ?
How without realization may the mind find poise ?
Without the Name is the whole world mad. (3)
Without renunciation how may one become anchorite ?
How without casting off egoism may one practise renunciation ?
How without controlling the five evils is the mind subdued[5] ?
Without the Name comes perpetual pining. (4)
How without the Master's instruction may enlightenment come ?
How without insight may meditation come ?
Without fear of God is all utterance worthless.
Nanak expresses contemplation of the Divine Portal. (5) (6.19)

Haumai rogu manukh kau dīnā

On man is cast[6] the malady of egoism.
The elephant by the malady of lust is subdued.
By the malady of sight are moths destroyed.
By the malady of listening to sound is killed the deer. (1)

---

1. Lit. Throat.
2. Swim across.
3. Reached the other shore.
4. Pandit=a Brahmin scholar.
5. Pulverized.
6. Given.

All creatures that are visible are by maladies gripped.
The holy Preceptor, God-united[1] alone from malady is immune. (I-Pause)
By the malady of taste is the fish caught;
By the malady of smelling is the humming-bee destroyed.
By the malady of attachment is the whole world gripped.
In the malady of Three Qualities do evils find increase. (2) P. 1141
Man in malady is born, in malady dies.
Gripped in malady, through numerous births wanders.
One bound in malady, no poise finds.
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance noway goes the malady. (3)
To whomsoever is the Supreme Being gracious,
Grasping him by the arm, from malady frees.
Snapped are bonds, as is holy company found.
Saith Nanak : The Master my malady has annulled. (4) (7.20)

Chīti āwai tāṇ mahā anand

Should the Lord come to mind, Supreme bliss it brings.
Should the Lord come to mind, is all suffering shattered.
Should the Lord come to mind, comes fulfilment of desire.
Should the Lord come to mind, never occurs pining. (1)
In the self has the Divine King made Himself manifest,
As the Master, perfectly-endowed, love for Him has inspired. (I-Pause)
Should the Lord come to mind; is one king over all.
Should the Lord come to mind, are all objectives[2] fulfilled.
Should the Lord come to mind, one in beauty is dyed red.
Should the Lord come to mind, is one ever in bliss. (2)
Should the Lord come to mind, is one ever opulent.[3]
Should the Lord come to mind, is one ever free from doubt.
Should the Lord come to mind, are enjoyed all delights.
Should the Lord come to mind, is abject dependence on others eliminated. (3)
Should the Lord come to mind, is attained the house of poise.
Should the Lord come to mind, is one in complete absorption fixed.
With the Lord come to mind, is one in perpetual laudation engaged

1. Jogi=Yogi.
2. Spiritual objectives are implied.
3. Used metaphorically.

Saith Nanak : The mind of such a one to the Lord is attuned. (4) (8.21)

Bāpu hamārā sad charanjīvī

Our father is eternally living;
Our brethren[1] too eternal life have found.
Immortal are our friends.[1]
Our family[1] too in its own home in the self abides. (1)
From our joy have all received joy,
As the Master perfectly-endowed to the Divine father has united us. (I-Panse)
Highest of all are my mansions;
My realms[2] endless, beyond count.
Unshakeable is our rule;[2]
Our wealth[2] endless, immutable. (2)
In all ages is our repute spread;
Our fame in all places is spread;
In each home is our praise recounted :
In all the worlds is our devotion renowned. (3)
Our father within our self has been manifested.
Father and son together are co-sharers.
Saith Nanak : As our father is pleased,
Have father and son by uniting in love become one (4) (9.22)

Nirvair Pūrakh Satiguru Prabh dātei*

Holy Preceptor, above rancour, image of the Divine, donor of bliss.
Sinners we are, you pardoner.
A sinner finding no refuge anywhere,
Should he come to your shelter, is purified. (1)
By fixing faith in the holy Preceptor have we attained joy.
By meditating on the Master are all objectives fulfilled. (I-Pause)
Supreme Being, Divine holy Preceptor ! to Thee we make obeisance.
Our mind, body and the whole world is Thine.
As is lifted the veil, Thee have we beheld.
Thou art Lord, king over all. (2)
Should it please Him, are dry blocks made green.
Should it please Him, dry wastes with streams overflow.

1. By this are implied fellow-seekers.
2. (Mystical symbols for spiritual exhalation).
*In this hymn is voiced the identification in spirit of the Master (Guru) with the Supreme Being.

Should it please Him, are all objectives fulfilled. P. 1142
By touching the holy Preceptor's feet is banished anxiety. (3)
To ungrateful, worthless ones in He gracious;
Their mind and body joy-cooled, in their mind rains amrita.
As the Supreme Being, the Master shows grace,
Nanak, servant of God at His sight is in bliss. (4) (10.23)

Satiguru merā bei-mahutāju

Above need is the holy Preceptor.
Holy is what he has manifested.
The holy Preceptor is universal provider.
The holy Preceptor is image of the Creator. (1)
No deity equals the Master :
Those with good fortune inscribed on forehead in his service engage. (I-Pause)
The holy Preceptor cherishes all.
Power he has to inflict death and to bring to life.
Greatness of the holy Preceptor
In all spots is manifest. (2)
The holy Preceptor is strength to the weak;
The holy Preceptor is my home and redresser of grievances.[1]
To the holy Preceptor am I ever a sacrifice,
Who the true way has made manifest. (3)
No fear touches those serving the Master.
No suffering torments those serving the Master.
Saith Nanak : Simrits[2] and Vedas have we studied :
Between the Supreme Being and the Master no difference is in spirits. (4) (11.24)

Nāmu lait manu pargaṭu bhaiyā

By repetition of the Name is the true self manifested.
By repetition of the Name is banished evil from the self.
In repetition of the Name are all rituals performed.
Repetition of the Name equals bathing at the sixty—eight bathing spots. (1)
The Name Divine is our true bathing-spot;
This essence of enlightenment by the Master is taught. (I-Pause)
By repetition of the Name is suffering cast off.
By repetition of the Name are the very ignorant turned enlightened.

1. Dībān=Dīwān, an official listening to complaints and adjudicating.
2. Simritis are books of codes.

By repetition of the Name is illumination manifested.
By repetition of the Name one escapes the mighty snare.[1] (2)
By repetition of the Name approaches not Yama
By repetition of the Name at the Divine Portal is attained joy.
By repetition of the Name is won the Lord's approbation :
The Name is our true capital. (3)
The Master this essential truth has taught :
Sing Divine laudation and seek prop of the Name for the mind.
Saith Nanak : One by the Name, true expiatory ritual is saved;
Other actions only for show to the world are performed. (4) (12.25)

Namaskār tā kau lakh bār

A million times to Him I make obeisance;
To Him would I sacrifice this self.
By contemplation of Him are effaced torments :
Then comes joy, and no malady grips. (1)
Such a pure jewel is the Name,
By contemplation of which are all objectives[2] achieved. (I-Pause)
By His sight is demolished abode of suffering;
And the mind the ambrosial, cooling Name grasps.
Innumberable devotees at His feet offer worship;
Of all objectives fulfiller. (2)
In an instant those empty to the brim He fills;
In an instant the shrivelled up He makes green;
In an instant to the shelterless shelter He grants; P. 1143
In an instant to those without honour, honour He grants. (3)
Solely in all creation is He pervasive :
His sight to such comes as by the Master, perfectly-endowed are guided.
Such a one in Divine laudation finds his prop.
Saith Nanak : This comes to such as have His grace. (4) (13.26)

Mohi dūhāgani āpi sīṇgārī

I, abandoned wife[3] by Him am decked;
By the Name bedecked, beauty and glamour am given.
Gone is my suffering and torment.
The Master to me has become mother and father. (1)

---

1. Share of Maya is implied.
2. Spiritual objectives are implied.
3. Image for one living without God.

My sister-friends,[1] in my home now reign joy,
As in His grace has the Spouse met me. (I-Pause)
Assuaged is burning torment; fulfilled are all objectives.
Effaced is darkness, and light appeared.
The unstruck music, inspiring unique wonder have I heard,
By the Master perfectly-endowed is shown perfect grace. (2)
By the sight of one to whom is the Lord manifested,
Comes joy eternal.
With such a one lie numerous treasure of all merits,
As by the holy Preceptor is imparted the Name. (3)
Whomsoever the Lord has met,
Joy-cooled is his mind and body, and the Lord he contemplates.
Saith Nanak : A rare one obtains dust of feet such,
As enjoy the Lord's favour.[2] (4) (14.27)

Chitwat pāp na ālaku āwai

Man in contemplating evil no sloth feels;
In enjoying harlots no shame he has.
The whole day for gains he labours,
But at time of contemplating God a stone over his head falls.[3] (1)
In Maya-attachment is the world deluded.
The Lord Himself of such forgetfulness is bringer;
In worthless dealings is it engaged. (I-Pause)
At sight of wealth, in pleasure his life man passes.
In greed after a cowrie, dishonest calculation he makes.
Bound in blind dealing his mind wanders;
Thought of the Creator his mind never entering. (2)
In such actions engaged, suffering he gets—
Never is his Maya-activity completed.
Harbouring lust, wrath and greed in mind,
In writing agony he dies as fish without water. (3)
Whoever has the Lord for protector,
Ever the Name Divine utters.
Saith Nanak : Whoever the holy Preceptor, perfectly—endowed has obtained,
In holy company Divine laudation sings. (4) (15.28)

---

1. Sakhī Saherī (Sahelī). Image for fellow-seekers.
2. Lines transposed in rendering.
3. Said metaphorically.

Apnī dayā karei so pāe

To whomsoever grace He shows, this attainment comes,
That the Name Divine in his mind is lodged.
With the holy Word lodged in heart and mind
Are banished sins of multiple births. (1)
The Name Divine is the self's prop :
Brother ! ever the Master's Word repeat—this across the ocean of existence shall carry you. (I-Pause)
Those for whom this treasure by the Lord is destined,
At the Divine Portal find honour.
In joyful poise and bliss Divine laudation sing;
Thereby in the hereafter shall the forlorn find shelter. (2)
In all ages to eternity is this the essence of enlightenment : P. 1144
Contemplation of the Lord and holy thinking.
Whomsoever He to His sash attaches, to it clings
And after sleep of multiple births is awakened. (3)
Thy devotees are Thine; Thou their own :
Thy glory to Thyself known.
All creation in Thy power lies.
Nanak's Lord is ever by our side. (4) (16.29)

Nāmu hamārai antarjāmī

The Name, Divine Reality, is for us controller of the inner self.
The Name, Divine Reality, stands us in good stead,
The Name Divine in each hair of our body is pervasive :
This bounty from the holy Preceptor has come. (1)
With me lies treasure of jewel of the Name
That is inaccessible, invaluable, beyond limit. (I-Pause)
The Name is for us immutable Lord :
Over the whole world is spread glory of the Name.
The Name for us is the true master of wealth;
The Name for us is uplifter above desire. (2)
The Name for us is sustenance and love.
The Name for us is the heart's objective.
By grace of the holy is the Name never put out of mind.
By utterance of the Name is raised sound of unstruck music. (3)
By Divine grace is attained the Name, source of Nine Treasures.
By the Master's grace is the heart to the Name attuned.
Saith Nanak : Those holding treasure of the Name
Are truly wealthy and pre-eminent. (4) (17.30)

Tūṇ merā pitā tūṇ haiṇ merā mātā

Thou art my father and mother,
Conferring joy on my life and breath.
Thou the Lord, I Thy servant :
Other than Thee, none is my cherisher. (1)
Lord ! in Your grace confer on me the boon,
That day and night Thee I laud. (I-Pause)
We Thy instruments, Thou the Player.
Divine Provider ! we beggars at Your door; pray grant us charity.
By Your grace have I had joy and delight.
In each being[1] are You pervasive. (2)
By Your grace comes contemplation of the Name,
Whereby in holy company Your laudation I sing.
By Your compassion is shattered pain;
By Your grace is the heart's lotus in bloom. (3)
To the exalted Master am I a sacrifice,
Whose service is holy and whose sight is fulfiller of objectives.
Lord ! show me grace,
That Nanak ever Your laudation may sing. (4) (18.31)

Sabh tei ūch jā kā darbāru

To Him whose court is loftiest of all,
Ever I make obeisance.
Higher than the highest is His station.
By devotion to the Name Divine are effaced a million sins. (1)
By seeking His shelter comes joy everlasting.
By His grace comes union with Him to whomsoever
it comes. (I-Pause)
Beyond comprehension are His doings;
Each being[1] in Him reposes confidence.
In holy company is He made manifest.
Each day in joy devotees to Him make devoted supplication. (2)
His stores by giving away noway are depleted.
In an instant He makes and unmakes.
None His decree can efface :
Over kings is He king. (3)
He who shelters us, in Him our hope we repose. P. 1145
Our suffering and joy with Him lies.

1. Vessel.

He who His servant's faults[1] has concealed,
Him Nanak lauds. (4) (19.32)

Rowanhārī rozu banāiyā

The wailing woman daily takes to mourning;
The relationship formed in involvement and usage comes to her mind.
One practising dispassion with enlightenment,
Nevermore into mourning shall fall. (1)
All is the involvement and expanse of passions.
Rare are such as have made the Name their prop. (I-Pause)
Maya of Three Qualities[2] everywhere is pervasive.
Whoever to it is attached, into suffering and torment falls.
Without meditation on the Name comes not joy.
By great good fortune is attained treasure of the Name. (2)
Whoever his heart attaches to one assuming disguises,
When the disguise falls, has only to regret.
As is cloud-shadow evanescent,
So is the world's visible show full of illusion and
evil-thinking. (3)
Whoever the sole boon of the Name obtains,
Has his objectives[3] fulfilled.
Whoever by the Master's grace the Name has attained,
Saith Nanak, approved is his birth. (4) (20.33)

Sant kī nindā jonīṇ bhavnā

By calumniation of the holy comes involvement in transmigration;
By calumniation of the holy is one in maladies involved;
By calumniation of the holy has one to undergo suffering.
Yama chastizes calumniators. (1)
Whoever with the holy practises rancour,
Never any joy to him comes. (I-Pause)
By calumny of God's devotees is shattered wall of the body.
Calumny of God's devotees into hell casts one.[4]
By calumny of the holy the self in the womb constantly rots.
By calumny of the holy all glory one loses. (2)
The calumniator nowhere finds fulfilment.
He consumes whatever he has sown.

1. Lit. That which is to be concealed.
2. See Glossary.
3. Spiritual objectives are implied.
4. Makes one taste hell.

He is a worse sinner than thief, lecher and gambler.
The calumniator on his head places load of unnecessary sins. (3)
Devotees of the Supreme Being from rancour are free.
Whoever worships at their feet, liberation finds.
The calumniator by the Primal Supreme Being is sent straying.
Saith Nanak : Ineffaceable is the recompense of deeds. (4) (21.34)

Nāmu hamārai Beid aru nād

The Name Divine to us is revealed texts[1] and the mystic sound.[2]
By the Name Divine are our objectives fulfilled.
Devotion to the Name Divine with us is worship of deities.
The Name is for us the Master's service. (1)
The Master, perfectly-endowed the Name Divine in us has confirmed.
Exalted over all tasks is repetition of God's Name. (I-Pause)
With us is the Name holy dips and bathing,
With us is the Name the perfect charity.
All uttering the Name are rendered pure.
Those contemplating the Name are my true brothers and friends. (2)
The Name with us is auspicious auguries and conjunction of planets.
The Name with us is true fulfilment with enjoyment of Good.
The Name with us is all holy ritual action.
Devotion to the Name is the purest conduct. (3)
Those that the Sole Name in heart have lodged,
To all such is the Lord the prop.
Saith Nauak : To whomsoever the Lord in holy company grants
devotion to the Name,
In singing Divine laudation with full heart P. 1146
engages. (4) (22.35)

Nirdhan kau tüm devuh dhanā

To the indigent to You grant wealth.[3]
By the mind turned pure are innumerable sins ended.
As to Your devotee devotion to the Name You grant,
Are all his objectives, his concerns[4] fulfilled. (1)

1. Veda.
2. Nāda, the mystic sound arisen at creation.
3. 'Indigent' and 'wealth' have reference to poverty of devotion and devotion respectively.
4. Spiritual objectives, and concerns are implied.

Fruitful is service to the Divine Monarch :
The Lord almighty, none from Him returns disappointed. (I-Pause)
Lord ! of the sick You eliminate the malady.
Lord ! of the unhappy You take away the sorrow.
To the shelterless a settled place You grant;
As in Your servant devotion You inspire. (2)
To the humble the Lord grants honour :
The thoughtless, unawakened in mind wise and enlightened are made.
Then flees terror of all fearful objects,
Should the Lord in His servant's mind take lodgement. (3)
The Supreme Being, Lord, is treasure of joy;
The Lord's ambrosial Name is essence of enlightenment.
Those by His grace to service of the holy inspired,
Saith Nanak, in holy congregation are absorbed. (4) (23.36)

Sant mandal mehṇ Hari mani wasai

In circles of the holy the Name Divine in the mind is lodged.
In circles of the holy flee all sins.
In circles of the holy obtains tradition of purity.
In company of the holy is inspired love for the sole Lord. (1)
That is worthy to be designated holy company
Wherein Divine laudation solely is sung. (I-Pause)
In circles of the holy is eliminated transmigration.
In circles of the holy occurs not intimidation by Yama.
In circles of the holy speech is rendered pure.
In circles of the holy is the Name expouuded. (2)
Of circles of the holy immutable is the station.
In circles of the holy are shattered sins.
In circles of the holy are narrated accounts of purity.
In company of the holy flees suffering of egoism. (3)
Immortal are circles of the holy.
In circles of the holy abides the Lord, repository of merit.
In circles of the holy rests the Lord.
Saith Nanak : Circles of the holy with the Lord are identical in essence. (4) (24.27)

Rogu kawan jāṇ rākhai āpi

With the Lord to protect man, what malady can occur ?
Such a one suffers not pain or torment.
To whomsoever the Lord shows grace,
Mortality from him removes. (1)

The Name Divine is everlastingly our friend,
Whoever to mind brings it, is ever joyful;
Yama approaches him not. (I-Pause)
When the self existed not, who created it ?
From the insignificant root see what is manifested !
Himself He takes away life and grants it.
His devotee He ever cherishes. (2)
Know all to lie in His power.
The Lord is cherisher of the helpless; Shatterer of suffering is Him name.
By singing His laudation is obtained joy. (3)
Lord listen to supplication of the holy :
The self, life and wealth in Your power lies.
This world is Thine; all on Thee meditate. P. 1147
Show grace that Nanak obtain joy. (4) (25.38)

Terī tek rahāṇ kali māheṇ

In the dark Kali Yuga under Thy shelter I abide.
By Thy prop Thy laudation I sing.
Under Thy shelter touches not death.[1]
By Thy prop is shattered the terrible Maya snare. (1)
The spiritual and the mundane world by Thee are propped.
In all beings is pervasive the sole Lord. (I-Pause)
Under Thy shelter in joy I disport.
Under Thy shelter the Master's Word I utter.
Under Thy shelter is crossed the ocean of existence.
Our preserver is the Lord, ocean of bliss,
perfection incarnate. (2)
Under Thy shelter comes no fear.
The Lord is controller of the inner self, holy.
Thine the shelter, Thine the strength to my heart.
In this world and in the hereafter art Thou our protecting authority.[2] (3)
Thine is the shelter, in Thee our trust.
All beings to the Lord, repository of merit, make supplication.
Thy servants contemplating Thee, in bliss abide.
Nanak, contemplate the holy repository of merit. (4) (26.39)

---

1. Transmigration is implied.
2. Dībān=Dīvān, a high official to whom complaints are referred.

Prathmei chhodī parāī nindā

As is the first place was discarded calumny of others,
Was shed anxiety of heart.
One casting off avarice and attachment
Is the supreme devotee,[1] beholding the Lord ever by his side. (1)
Rare is such a hermit :
He is one who the Name Divine contemplates (I-Pause)
As egoistic understanding we have left,
Is faded the dye of lust and wrath.
By meditating on the Lord
In holy company comes liberation. (2)
Now are foe and friend became alike.
In all is visible the Lord, perfection incarnate.
By obeying the Lord's will have we obtained honour and joy,
As the Master, perfectly-endowed, the Name Divine in us has confirmed. (3)
Whomsoever in His grace He preserves,
Is a devotee, contemplating the Name.
Illuminated is the mind of one who enlightenment from the Master obtains.
Saith Nanak : Such a one perfect fulfilment finds. (4) (27.40)

Sukhu nāhīṇ bahutai dhani khātai

Not by acquiring much wealth comes joy.
Joy comes not by witnessing dancing and miming.
Joy comes not by conquering many lands.
All joys by singing Divine laudation come. (1)
Seek joy-in-poise and bliss.
By great good fortune is attained holy company :
By the Master's guidance therein utter
the Name Divine. (I-Pause)
Attachment to Mother, father, progeny and wife are all bonds.
By performing actions of ritual piety from egoism comes bondage.
Should the Divine snapper of bonds in the mind abide,
Then would man attain joy and in his home the Divine self, come to lodge. (2)
All are beggars, the Lord the Provider,

1. Baisno=Vaishnava Implied meaning, holy devotee.

Treasure of merit, without end of limit.
To whomsoever the Lord shows grace,
The Name Divine ever meditates (3)
To the Master[1] make we supplication :
Supreme Being, treasure of merit, show grace.
Saith Nanak : With You I seek shelter.
Lord ! Keep me as please Thee. (4) (28.41)

Guru mill tiyāgio dūjā bhāo P. 1148

By contact with the Master is discarded duality.
By guidance of the Master is contemplated the Name Divine.
As love for the Name is formed, gone is anxiety,
And awakened is the self, asleep for multiple births. (1)
In His grace in His service has He engaged us.
And in holy company all joys have we obtained. (I-Pause)
Malady of ignorance and evils by the Master's Word are cast off,
By absorbing in mind medicine of the Name.
By contact with the Master has the mind attained joy.
By absorption in the Name Divine are acquired all treasures.[2] (2)
Effaced is terror of transmigration[3] and of Yama's chastizement
In holy company is the upturned lotus of the heart in bloom.
Singing Divine laudation immutable peace has brought,
And fulfilled are all objectives. (3)
The human incarnation, hard to attain, Divine approval has found :
By contemplation of the Name Divine has it become fruitful.
Saith Nanak : The Lord His grace has shown, Whereby with each breath and morsel the Lord I contemplate. (4) (29.42)

Sabh tei ūchā jā kā Nāuṇ

Sing ever His laudation,
Whose Name is exalted over all :
He by whose contemplation is banished all suffering,
And all joys in the mind come to abide. (1)
My self ! contemplate thou the holy Eternal,
That in this world and the next he supreme state
you attain. (I-Pause)

1. (The Master herein is the medium to communicate the supplication to the Lord).
2. 'The Nine Treasures' are implied.
3. Birth and death.

The immaculate Supreme Being, Creator
To all beings sustenance provides.
In an instant millions of errors[1] He forgives :
By loving devotion ever comes liberation. (2)
From the Master, perfectly-endowed is obtained the understanding unshakeable,
Whereby is attained the true wealth[2] and true exaltation.
Whomsoever in His grace He saves,
Shattered is his entire gloom. (3)
Our meditation in the Supreme Being is fixed,
All-pervasive, from Maya-taint free.
By effacing illusion and fear comes union with the Lord,
As the Master to Nanak has turned gracious. (4) (30.43)

Jisu simrat mani hoe pragāsu

He by whose contemplation is the mind illuminated,
Torments are ended and abode in joy poise found,
By such is attained as by the Lord Himself are blessed.
To such is granted service of the Master, perfectly-endowed. (1)
Thy Name, Lord ! is source of all joys.
My self ! day and night[3] sing it. (I-Pause)
One lodging in mind the Name Divine
All heart's desires[4] obtains.
By meditation on the Lord,
And concentrating devotion with love in the Lord
Is ended transmigration. (2)
To whomsoever the Supreme Being such boon grants,[5]
Shattered are his lust, wrath and pride;
Snapped are attachment and attraction[6] for Maya,
And day and night under the Lord's shelter he abides. (3)
Lord almighty,
Controller of all selves,[7]
In your grace to your service attach me.
Nanak, Thy servant Thy shelter seeks. (4) (31.44)

1. Error, sin (Khatā : Ar).
2. (Wealth of devotion is implied).
3. All eight pahars.
4. Fruit.
5. Last line placed first in rendering.
6. Love.
7. Vessels.

Lāj marai jo Nāmu na levai

One not uttering the Name, of shame should die : P. 1149
How without the Name may such a one attain happiness ?
Discarding contemplation of the Lord, yet the supreme state he seeks.
How without the root may branches appear ? (1)
My self ! on the Master, image of the Lord meditate;
This thy impurity of multiple births shall take off,
And snapping thy bonds, to the Lord shall unite thee. (I-Pause)
How by bathing at sacred spots may a stone slab[1] get purity,
While impurity of egoism to the mind of such a one sticks ?
Even millions of ritual acts are a source of bondage :
Without devotion to the Lord is all this heap useless. (2)
Without consuming food is hunger not assuaged.
Suffering goes when the malady is ended.
To man cling lust, wrath, avarice and attachment :
The Lord who created him has he not contemplated. (3)
Blessed the holy, blessed the Name Divine;
Therefore, my self day and night Divine laudation you sing.
Blessed is devotion to the Lord, blessed those engaging in it.
Nanak seeks shelter with the Lord, Supreme Being,
beyond limit. (4) (32.45)

Guru suprasann hoe bhau gaye

As is the Master pleased with us, are our fears gone,
And the Name immaculate in the mind have we borne.
The Lord, cherisher of the humble, ever is gracious,
Whereby are shattered all Yama's snares. (1)
Joy and bliss in poise in plenty is attained.
In holy company are effaced fear and doubt, and the tongue the ambrosial Name Divine utters. (I-Pause)
As with the Divine lotus feet is my love formed,
In an instant is shattered the terrible[2] goblin of foul habits.
Day and night the Divine text we repeat,
Whereby is the Lord Himself turned our saviour. (2)
His servant ever He cherishes;
Over His devotees' breath He watches.

1. Implies hardness of heart.
2. Great.

Not to speak of man
From Yama even with the strength of his arm
He gives protection. (3)
As has the Supreme Being entered the mind,
Our repute and tenor of life have became pure.
In his grace has the Master granted this boon :
Nanak treasure of the Name has attained. (4) (33.46)

Karaṉ kāraṉ samrathu gūru merā

The Master is almighty, all powerful,[1]
Abiding close to me, conferring joy on life and breath;
The monarch immortal, shatterer of fear—
By his sight is all suffering driven away. (1)
Wherever I behold, under Thy shelter I lie.
To the Master's feet am I ever a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
All objectives by contact with the holy Master are fulfilled,
Conferrer of all boons, whose service is pure.
His servants by the arm has He grasped.
In their heart the Name Divine has he lodged. (2)
Everlasting joy we have, from sorrow free.
Suffering, pain or malady touches us not.
All is Thine Lord, Thou the Creator.
The Divine Master, Supreme Being is above limit. (3)
Pure His repute, wondrous His utterance.
Supreme Being, perfection incarnate, to my heart is this pleasing.
On water and land is He pervasive.
Saith Nanak : All by the Lord's might happens. (4) (34.47)

Manu tanu rātā Rāma-rangi charaṇei

My mind and body in love of the Divine feet is dyed, P. 1150
That to all objectives bring fulfilment.
Day and night the Lord's laudation I sing.
This teaching, perfection-bearing the holy Preceptor on me has conferred. (1)
Whoever to the Name is devoted, is supremely fortunate :
In association with him the world finds liberation. (I-Pause)
He is truly enlightened who the sole Name contemplates.
He is truly rich who discriminating understanding bears.
He is truly of high lineage who the Lord contemplates.
He is truly honourable who his self has realized. (2)

1. Herein in ecstatic expressed the identification in spirit of the Master (Guru) and the Supreme Being.

By the Master's grace the supreme state have we attained,
And day and night on the Divine merits have meditated.
Shattered are bonds, fulfilled are hopes,
As the Divine feet in our heart are lodged. (3)
Saith Nanak : Whoever has perfect good fortune, the Lord's shelter seeks.
Pure himself, to all others has he brought purity—
His tongue the Divine elixir has realized. (4) (35.48)

Nāmu lait kichhu bighanu na lāgai

By utterance of the Name occurs no impediment;
By hearing the Name Yama from far off flees.
By utterance of the Name is all suffering ended.
By contemplation of the Name is lodgement at the Divine feet found. (1)
In unbroken devotion the Name Divine utter.
With delight and gusto Divine laudation sing. (I-Pause)
By contemplation of the Lord no evil eye affects.
By contemplation of the Lord afflict not demons and evil spirits.
By contemplation of the Lord attachment and pride put man not in bondage.
By contemplation of the Lord the self in incarnation through the womb is not involved. (2)
All times for contemplation of the Lord are propitious.
Rare among many are such as contemplate the Lord.
Any of high or low caste that the Lord contemplates,
The Supreme state enters. (3)
In holy company contemplate the Lord :
By contemplation of the Name Divine comes joy in perfection.
Lord ! to Nanak show grace
That with each breath the Lord he may contemplate. (4) (36.49)

Āpei Sāsatu Āpei Beidu

Devotion to the Lord comprehends knowledge of Shastras and Vedas.
Of each being the inner secret He knows.
His entire substance is manifestation of light :
Almighty, all powerful is the Lord. (1)
My self ! with the Lord take shelter :
By the Master's guidance to the Divine lotus feet
make supplication;

Thereby shall not approach you foe or suffering. (I-Pause)
Himself is He essence of forest, grass-blade and the three worlds,
By whose thread is the world strung.
In Himself He unites the Eternal and the mutable power;
Himself unattached, Himself enjoyer of the world. (2)
Wherever I look, is His presence;
Other than He nothing exists.
By devotion to the Name is crossed the ocean of existence,
As Nanak in holy company Divine laudation sings. (3)
In His power lies liberation, enjoyment of the world and device of liberation.
With Him is no one left unfulfilled.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Blessed is the man P. 1151
With whom in His grace He is pleased. (4) (37.50)

Bhagtāṇ mani ānandu Gobind

In the heart of devotees abides joy in the Lord :
Resting in poise, shattered is all their anxiety.
In an instance are shattered their fear and doubt,
And in the mind is the Supreme Being lodged. (1)
The Lord, all-pervasive to His devotees is ever aidant :
Within and without, the Lord is by their side,
in all spots pervasive. (I-Pause)
The Lord is my wealth, property, beauty and device of life;
My life and breath in joy He ever cherishes.
His servant by the strength of His arm He protects,
Never deserting him, ever by his side. (2)
None is beloved as the Lord.
Holy all He cherishes.
The Lord is mother, father, progeny and relation.
Since Primal Time His devotees His laudation sing. (3)
His is the support; the Lord's is their heart's strength.
Other than He none they contemplate.
Nanak's heart in this finds courage.[1]
The Lord our objectives shall fulfil. (4) (38.51)

Bhay kau bhau pariyā simrat Hari-Nām

By contemplation of the Name Divine is fear itself under terror.

---

1. Purukhārath=purushārath—manly quality, courage.

Ended is the malady of three qualities,[1] fulfilled are His servant's objectives. (I-Pause)
God's devotees that ever His laudation sing, the abode of perfection have acquired.
Dharmaraja that is Yama, to acquire purity seeks sight of God's servant. (1)
In holy company are effaced lust, wrath, intoxication of avarice, calumny and pride.
By great good fortune are such of the holy met :
Nanak to such is ever a sacrifice. (2) (39.52)

Panch majamī jo panchan rākhai

One restraining the five evils with five saintly states is endowed.
False is the tongue that ever rushes idly to wag.
One painting on his body various circles[2] and practising fraud,
In pining is destroyed like a widowed female. (1)
All other than the Name Divine is unreal.
Without guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed is not attained liberation :
The reprobate materialist[3] at the eternal Portal is ruined.[4] (I-Pause)
Filthy is one not realizing Divine might.
By being plastered with cowdung a spot acquires not the Lord's approval of purity.
He whose mind is impure, washing himself from outside,
At the holy Portal no honour gets.[5] (2)
One making efforts for lucre
Never takes a straight step forward.
Such a one calls not to mind the Creator.
And from his tongue utters falsehood alone. (3)
To whomsoever the Creator shows grace,
With holy company has dealing.
Whoever in loving devotion to the Name Divine is attached,
Saith Nanak, impediment never shall face. (4) (40.53)

Nindak kau phitkei sansāru

On a calumniator the world heaps reproaches,

1. See Glossary.
2. Refers to the practice of certain Hindu sects.
3. Sākta.
4. Robbed.
5. Loses honour.

False is the calumniator's dealing.
Impure is the calumniator's conduct.
The Lord His servant protects. (1)
The calumniator along with other calumniators dies.[1]
The Supreme Being, Supreme Lord, His servant protects : P. 1152
Over the calumniator's head thunders death.[1] (I-Pause)
None the calumniator obeys.
The calumniator for his lies into regret falls.
Such with writhing of hands, their heads against the earth strike.
The Lord spares not the calumniator. (2)
God's servant wishes not ill to happen to any;
The calumniator suffers as stabbed by a pike.
Like a heron his feathers he spreads;
But when anything he utters, good people after deliberation cast him out. (3)
The Creator is controller of the inner self.
What God's servant does, immutable remains.
God's servant at the court Divine is judged pure.[2] Nanak, servant of God, this after deliberation the essence utters. (4) (41.54)

Due kar jori karouṇ ardāsi

With hands folded this supplication I make :
This life, body and wealth, all is His property.
He alone is my Master, the Creator Lord :
A million times to Him am I a sacrifice. (1)
Dust of feet of the holy confers purify.
By contemplation of the Lord are effaced evil tendencies of the mind,
And cast off is impurity of multiple births. (1-Pause)
He in whose house lie all treasures,[3]
By whose service is attained honour,
Is fulfiller of all objectives,
And prop of life and breath of His devotees. (2)
In all beings is His light.
Devotees by contemplating the Repository of merit find life.

1. Implies transmigration
2. True
3. Implies the Nine Treasures (See Glossary).

In the mind and body on Him meditate,
Whose service never is fruitless. (3)
The Master's teaching is to practise compassion and content,
And to acquire treasure of the Name, pure object.
In your grace to your lappet attach him :
Nanak ever on the Divine lotus feet meditates. (4) (42.55)

Satiguru apunei sunī ardāsi

The holy Preceptor to my supplication lent ear,
And fulfilled were all objectives.
With devotion of mind and body on the Lord I meditated;
Thus the Master, perfectly-endowed, all my fear has cast off. (1)
Mighty over all is the holy Preceptor;
By his service are attained all joys. (I-Pause)
He who accomplishes all,
None His decree can annul.
The Supreme Being, Supreme Lord beyond compare,
Of sight fulfilling desires—the Master is His image. (2)
He within whose self the Name Divine dwells,
Whatever he beholds is source of Divine illumination.
He whose mind is fully illuminated,
The Supreme Being in him dwells. (3)
To the Master ever I offer obeisance;
To the Master ever am I a sacrifice.
The holy Preceptor's feet I wash and sip the wash :
Saith Nanak : By ever contemplating the Master
find I life. (4) (43.56)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Partāl (In variable rhythm)
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Pratipāl Prabh kripāl kawan guna ganī P. 1153

Lord, our cherisher, gracious ! which of Thy merits
may I recount ?
Infinite Thy dispositions, numerous the waves of Thy elan,
Thou Lord of all (I-Pause) Infinite is illumination of Thee, infinite the ways of meditation on Thee;

Infinite the ways of uttering Thy Name and Performing austerities in Thy way.
Infinite the melodies and tunes so beautiful to praise Thee;
Infinite those practising silence in Thy way. (1)
Infinite the notes raised to Thee; infinite the instruments playing;
Infinite their delight each moment received :
Infinite the sins and maladies that by listening to Thy laudation are effaced.
Saith Nanak : In service of the Lord are comprehended innumerable merits.
Such as those of bathing at holy river banks, performing of the six ritual acts[1] fasting, worship,
Wandering in pilgrimages :
Thus is acquired merit of these all. (2) (1.57.8.21.7.57.93)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Ashtpadiyān (Octets)
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ātam mehṇ Rāmu Rāma mehṇ ātamu chīnasi Guru bīchārā
In the self is pervasive the Lord, in the Lord the self lies—
This by the Master's teaching is realized.
As the ambrosial holy teaching by the Word is realized,
Is annulled suffering and egoism destroyed. (1)
Saith Nanak : Terrible is the malady of egoism :
Wherever I look, this malady alone I behold—Himself the Lord by the Primal Word liberation grants. (I-Pause)
The Divine Tester Himself judges of beings; nevermore are they penetrated by the sharp probe.[2]
Those on whom His glance of grace He casts, to the Master unites them :
This by the Lord's holy Will comes about. (2)
Air, water, fire are gripped by malady of egoism[3]—gripped by this malady those enjoying fruits of the earth.

1. These are the six prescribed duties of a pious Hindu. Also interpreted as study of the six Shastras.
2. A probe to test the purity of gold.
3. ('Egoism' is mentioned at the opening as the great malady).

Gripped by this malady are mother, father, maya and the human body;
Gripped by this malady those attached to family. (3)
Gripped by egoism's malady are Brahma and Vishnu along with Shiva;
Gripped by it the whole universe.
Those contemplating the Divine Essence, pondering the Master's Word are liberated. (4)
Gripped by egoism's malady are the seven seas along with rivers;
Full of this malady are continents, and the nether regions.
God's devotees are pure, joyful—in all spots His glance of grace He casts over them. (5)
Gripped by egoism's malady are followers of the six monastic orders,[1]
And various kinds of practitioners of austerities.
What can poor Vedas and the Semitic scriptures do,
As the Sole Lord they do not realize ? (6)
Those enjoying delectable delights with this malady are filled;
Nor lies joy in consuming wild vegetables and roots.[2]
Those neglecting the Name and following other paths
In the last moments into regrets have to fall. (7)
By wandering over bathing-spots is not cast off this malady;
In scholastic study lies disputation.
Greatly malignant is the malady of dualism;
Those gripped by it after Maya go hankering. (8)
One that by the Master's teaching the holy Word contemplates,
Purified is his heart, banished his malady.
Saith Nanak : God's devotees ever are pure,
Who with Divine grace are marked (9) (1)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das P. 1154

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tini kartai iku chalatu upāiyā

The Creator a play has enacted :

---

1. These are Yogi. Sannyāsī, Jangam, Bodhī, Sarevare, Bairāgī.
2. (These are consumed by ascetics living in forests).

The Word has He communicated that is His mystic utterance[1] :
This the egoist has not realized; to the God-directed has realization come.
The Creator has through all time caused all things to happen. (1)
The Master's Word in my meditation is fixed :
Of the Name Divine may I never be forgetful. (I-Pause)
His father sent Prahlad to school.
With his tablet come he to the pedagogue :
Said the child : No other ritual shall I learn but the holy Name :
On my tablet write thou God's Name.[2] (2) Spoke his mother to son Prahlad to learn not other than what the pedagogue taught.
Said he : The Lord without fear is on my side.
Ignominy on my tribe shall fall, should the Lord I forsake ! (3) Complained the pedagogues : Prahlad all the pupils has corrupted :
Listens not to us; from his way is he not diverted !
All over the town did he preach devotion to God.
The assembly of the wicked could do little to dissuade him. (4)
Sanda and Marka[3] against Prahlad complained.
All the titans did their worst to stop him :
He cherishes His devotees' honour—
What can mere creatures accomplish ? (5)
By reward for actions did the titans get authority to rule :
They realized not the Lord; so He forsook them.
The titan-king with son Prahlad made strife :
The blind fool not realizing, his death was at hand. (6)
Shutting, Prahlad in a cell, was the door locked.
The fearless child no way was afraid :
'Inside me is the true teacher, the Lord of the universe',
he declared.
The Creature, presuming to share God's might, assumed the unjustified divine title.
What was predestined came to pass.
With God's servant had the titan entered into strife. (7)

1. Anhad-Bānī.
2. Govinda-Murāri.
3. Names of pedgagogues.

The father lifted the mace at Prahlad,
Threatening, 'Where now is thy Lord of the universe, thy Master' ?
The bountiful life of the Universe at the last is the true friend,
Pervading wherever one may cast one's look. (8)
Splitting the pillar, His form the Lord manifested;
And the arrogant titan was destroyed.
The hearts of God's devotees with joyous music echoed;
On His servant exaltation He conferred. (9)
The Lord created birth and death and attachment,
And for the creation destined coming and departure hence.
To fulfil Prahlad's purpose, Himself the Lord manifested :
Thus was fulfilled prophecy of His devotees. (10)
The whole race of gods hailed Lakshmi,
Supplicating : 'Mother ! unmanifest the form of Narasingh'.[1]
Lakshmi, terror-struck, dared not face him;
So Prahlad, servant of God, fell at Narasingh's[2] feet. (11)
The holy Master inspired meditation on the Name, P. 1155
the supreme wealth.
Rule and property, all are false forms of Maya.
Avaricious human beings to these cling :
Those without devotion to the Name Divine, are at the Portal chastized. (12)
Saith Nanak : 'Each does as by the Lord ordained :
Such alone are accepted as to the Lord are devoted.
His devotees has He ever succoured.
To Prahlad His form the Lord manifested. (13) (1.2)

Guru-sevā te amrit phalu pāiyā haumai trishn būjhai

In devotion to the Master is attained the fruit of immortality,
The fire of egoism assuaged;
And desire in the mind is absorbed back. (1)
Beloved Lord ! Show Thy grace :
Day after day this humble servant the boon of Divine grace seeks,
By the Master's Word to be saved. (1-Pause)
God's devotees from Yama's torment are exempt :
Not a particle of suffering on them dare he impose.

---

1. Narasimha=Man-lion, name of the Lord's manifestation avtār in Indian mythology.

Those under Thy shelter are saved themselves, and save all their forebears.[1] (2)
Thy devotees' honour dost Thou cherish
Such is Thy greatness :
Accumulated sins and suffering of multiple births dost Thou annul :
Not a mustard grain of duality remains. (3)
Forgetful, ignorant are we, devoid of realization;
Thou dost in Thy Will grant realization.
All happens as in Thy Will lies;
None else has the power. (4)
The world hast Thou created; set it to various tasks :
To evil-doing has it be taken itself.
On a throw has it forfeited its boon of human birth,
By the Word finding not realization. (5)
Devoid of vision, egoists die,
In darkness of foul thinking and ignorance involved;
The ocean of worldliness they never can cross,
Without the Master's guidance headlong sunk. (6)
The holy, by the Word in the Eternal are dyed;
By the Lord to Himself united.
The Master's teaching by the holy Word they realize,
And to truth are constantly devoted. (7)
Pure Thy self, pure Thy devotees.
By contemplation of the Master's Word.
Nanak is for ever a sacrifice to such,
As the Name Divine in their hearts cherish. (8) (2.3)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Ashtpadiyān (Octects)

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jisu Nāmu ridai soī waḍ rājā

Whoever in heart bears the Name, is truly a great king.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, fulfilled are all his objectives.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, wealth[2] of million kinds receives.
Without devotion to the Name is life gone waste. (1)

1. Generations preceding.
2. Used symbolically for devotion.

Such I praise as have capital of the Name Divine.
Such are supremely fortunate as have placed on forehead the Master's hand in benediction. (I-Pause)
Whoever in heart bears the Name, is Lord of numerous forts and cohorts.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, joy in poise receives.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, is joy-cooled.
Without devotion to the Name is one cursed in life and is as one dead. (2)
Whoever in heart bears the Name, is liberated while living. P. 1156
Whoever in heart bears the Name, is master of all devices to liberation.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, the Nine Treasure has received.
Without devotion to the Name, man caught in delusion.[1]
in transmigration remains involved. (3)
Whoever in heart bears the Name, above need has arisen.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, all gains[2] acquires.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, large is his family of merits.
One without the Name is an egoist, ignorant. (4)
Whoever in heart bears the Name, immutable is his station.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, on the throne in Divine Essence is seated.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, is truly wealthy.
One without the Name forfeits honour and credit. (5)
Whoever in heart bears the Name, is universally reputed.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, is image of the Creator,
Supreme Being.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, is exalted over all.
One without devotion to the Name in numerous births wanders. (6)
Whoever in heart bears the Name, lifted is his darkness
of ignorance.
Whoever in heart bears the Name, is approved of God.
Without the Name continuous everlasting transmigration. (7)
Such devotion to the Name acquire as have the Lord's grace.
These in holy company behold the Lord.
Their transmigration annulled, joy they receive.
Saith Nanak : Their essence to the Divine Essence is united. (8.1.4)

1. Also used symbolically, for the strength within.
2. Used symbolically—spiritual gains.

Koti Bishan kīnei avatār

Millions of Vishnu-incarnations has He created.
Millions of universes are abodes of righteous endeavour[1]
ordained by Him.
Millions of Shivas has He created for destruction of the world.[2]
Millions of Brahmas has He appointed the world to create. (1)
Such is our Lord, Divine Master :
I have not power to relate the sum of His merits. (I-Pause)
Millions like Maya are His handmaids;
Millions of beings His couch.
Millions of created worlds Thy limbs.
Millions of devotees in the Lord's Presence abide. (2)
Millions of monarchs[3] to Him make obeisance.
Millions of Indras stand and wait at His court.
Millions of paradises in His glance lie,
Millions of names assess Him not. (3)
Millions are the trumpet notes raised to Him.
Millions the theatres where is enacted His wondrous play.
Millions of Shaktis[4] and Shivas[4] obedient to His Will.
To millions of beings sustenance He provides. (4)
In His foot lie millions of bathing-spots.
Millions by contemplating His beauteous Name are purified.
Millions the priests offering worship to Him.
Millions His expanded manifestations, without a second. (5)
Millions of pure selves laud Him;
Brahma's progeny a million times showers praise on Him.
In an instant millions of dissolutions and creations He enacts.
Millions, beyond count Thy merits. (6)
Millions of the enlightened on enlightenment of Thee discourse.
Millions engaged in meditation on Thee meditate.
Millions of hermits in austerities engage.
Millions of sages in the state of silence abide. (7)
Lord immortal, unknowable,
Controller of the inner self, in each self pervasive, P. 1157

1. Cf. Japuji, 34.
2. Another rendering : Millions of Shivas has He created and these have disappeared.
3. Lords of umbrellas.
4. Shaktī, the mutable principle; Shiva, the eternal.

Wherever I look, is Thy abode :
This illumination the Master to Nanak has brought. (8) (2.5)

Satiguri mo kau kīno dānu

The holy Preceptor a boon on me has conferred :
The invaluable Name Divine to me has granted.
With poise, joy and endless playful wonders
Has the Lord spontaneously met Nanak. (1)
Saith Nanak : Holy is the Lord's laudation,
In which again and again is the mind absorbed. (I-Pause)
Spontaneously is our food of God's Love
Spontaneously in our home the Name finds utterance.
Spontaneously in our home comes liberation through
the holy Word.
Spontaneously are our stores filled.[1] (2)
Spontaneously are our objects fulfilled.
Spontaneously are our sorrows shaken off.
Spontaneously are our foes turned friends.
Spontaneously is the ego brought under control. (3)
Spontaneously has the Lord brought comfort to my mind :
Spontaneously are our hopes fulfilled.
Spontaneously have I realized all truths.
Spontaneously has the Master granted me the holy Word. (4)
Spontaneously are our rancours ended.
Spontaneously is our darkness of mind effaced.
Spontaneously is the mind engaged in singing God's sweet laudation.
Spontaneously have we beheld the Lord pervading each self. (5)
Spontaneously are ended all doubts.
Spontaneously is lodged in the mind joy and poise.
Spontaneously rings in my self the mystic music.
Spontaneously in our mind is the Lord manifested. (6)
Spontaneously is the mind fixed in faith.
Spontaneously have we realized the Lord immutable.
Spontaneously has comes to our hand the Divine prop. (7)
Spontaneously has the Lord in Primal Time recorded for us the writ.
Spontaneously has the Sole Lord met us.

1. (Mystical expression for fullness of devotion).

Gone are considerations of the mind's anxiety and mental peace.
The Lord is now absorbed in Nanak and Nanak has become the Lord's image. (8) (3.6)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of the Bhaktas

Of the Composition of the Venerable Kabir

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ihu dhanu merei Hari ko nāouṇ

This my wealth of the Name Divine,
Neither shall I hoard nor sell off. (I-Pause)
The Name is my crop and field.
I Your servant, seek to be devoted to You. (1)
The Name is my wealth and capital :
No other I know, discarding You. (2)
The Name is my relation and brother;
The Name ever is with me, at the last my friend. (3)
Whomsoever though abiding amidst Maya, unattached Thou dost keep,
Saith Kabir, his servant I am. (4) (1)

Nāṇgei āwanu nāṇgei jānā

Man comes unclad, unclad he departs.
King or monarch, none shall last. (1)
The Divine Monarch alone is for me Nine Treasure;
Wealth, attachment, wife all are Thy property (I-Pause) Wealth when we come is not by us, nor is with us P. 1158 at departure.
What matters elephants tied at the gate ? (2)
Lanka[1] was a fortress of gold;
Yet what did the thoughtless Ravana take away with him ? (3)
Saith Kabir : Contemplate for a while Divine merit.
Else man like a gambler empty-handed shall leave. (4) (2)

Mailā Brahmā mailā Indu

Impure[2] is Brahma, impure Indra.
Impure the sun, impure the moon. (1)
This world is impure, filthy.
The Lord alone is pure, without limit or extent. (I-Pause)

1. Now known as Sri Lanka, believed to be Rāvana's kingdom.
2. 'Impure' herein implies Maya-polluted.

Impure are the numerous universes;
Impure night and day and the months. (2)
Impure is pearl, impure the diamond.
Impure air, fire and water. (3)
Impure Shiva called Shankara and the Supreme Lord;[1]
Impure accomplished Yogis, Yoga-practitioners and the sects. (4)
Impure Yogis, wandering ascetics with matted locks.
Impure the body along with the self. (5)
Saith Kabir : Such alone are approved of the Lord;
Such alone pure as have realization of the Lord. (6) (3)

Manu kari Meccā qiblāh kar dehī

Make your mind Mecca, your body the altar[2] faced in prayer.
The Supreme Preceptor is the self, enlightener about the Lord. (1)
Thou Mulla, raise the call to prayer and perform namaz
In the mosque of the ten doors.[3] (I-Pause)
Slaughter dark tendencies,[4] doubt and rancour;
Consume the five evils and acquire content. (2)
One and the same is the Hindu's and the Muslim's Lord :
Neither Mulla nor Sheikh[5] can change this[6] (3)
Saith Kabir : I am turned mad after God :
By restraining the mind in poise am absorbed. (4) (4)

Gangā kai sangi salitā bigarī

A stream by joining Ganga has changed its form—
In the end this stream became Ganga itself. (1)
Kabir, calling on God for help, too is changed.
He has acquired form of the eternal Lord, now straying nowhere else. (I-Pause)
In company with sandalwood is changed some tree—
That tree as sandalwood has ended. (2)
In company with the philosopher's stone is changed copper—
That copper as gold has ended. (3)
In company with the holy is Kabir changed;
Kabir as image of the Lord Himself has ended. (4) (5)

---

1. Mahesh.
2. Qiblāh=the direction facing which Muslims pray. In India that is the West, towards which Mecca lies.
3. The body is implied, with the nine physical openings and the 'tenth door' of superconsciousness.
4. Tāmas, the lowest of the 'Three qualities.
5. Sheikh is a Muslim religious title.
6. Lit. What can the Mullā and the Sheikh do in this matter?

Māthei tilaku hathi mālā bānāṇ

People that on the forehead draw the paste-mark, grasp the rosary in hand
And adopt such disguise,
Look upon God as plaything. (1)
Lord ! if I am mad, still am I Thine.
What do people know of my secret ? (I-Pause)
I pluck not leaves for offerings, and worship not deities :
All service other than devotion to the Lord is fruitless. (2)
The holy Enlightener[1] I worship and ever propitiate :
By such service at the Divine Portal shall I attain joy. (3)
People call Kabir crazed.
The Lord alone knows Kabir's mystery. (4) (6)

Ulaṭi jāti kūl doū bisārī

By turning away from the world, are my caste[2] and lineage forgotten.
Now my weaving is all done in the void of the Supreme Poise. (1)
Now no quarrel have I left :
Brahmin and Mulla both have I discarded. (I-Pause)
Weaving Divine devotion, to my self this garment I offer. P. 1159
Discarding egoism, God's praise I sing. (2)
What the Brahmin and the Mulla have scribed,
That have we discarded, accepting none of it. (3)
With purity of heart the Lord you may behold.
Kabir by searching the self with the Lord has found union. (4) (7)

Nirdhan ādaru koī na dei

None to the poor person offers regard,
Despite millions of efforts, none to him attends. (I-Pause)
Should the poor man go to the rich
Though present, his back towards him he turns. (1)
Should the rich man go to the poor man,
With respectful regard he accosts him. (2)
Poor and rich both are brothers :
Ineffaceable is the Lord's decree. (3)
Saith Kabir : He is truly poor,
In whose heart abides not the Name. (4) (8)

---

1. Here implies the Lord.
2. His caste was weaver, reckoned low.

Guru-sevā tei bhagati Kamāī

By service to the Master devotion I performed,
Whereby this human incarnation I attained.
This incarnation even the gods seek to acquire,[1]
In this incarnation perform thou devoted service to the Lord. (1)
Be to the Lord devoted; put Him not out of mind,
This is the gain to be got from the human incarnation. (I-Pause)
Till such time as the malady of old age has not come,
Till such time as death this body has not gripped,
Till such time as your utterance has not become incoherent,
My self ! to the Lord be devoted (2)
Brother ! shouldst thou not perform devotion now, when shalt thou do it ?
When the end comes, devotion then shall be beyond thy power.
What thou mayst do now, shall be meritorious.[2]
Later shalt thou repent and swim not the other shore. (3)
The true servant of God is one engaged in His service.
Such alone the immaculate Lord have attained.
By contact with the Master are their doors of realization opened.
Such shall no more tread the path of transmigration. (4)
This is thy occasion, this thy turn.
Ponder this in thy mind.
Saith Kabir : Now mayst thou win the game of life or lose,
as be thy will :
Kabir in various ways has uttered aloud this admonition to thee. (5) (9)

Shiva kī pūrī basai būdhi sāru

In the realm of felicity[3] abides pure realization.
Seek union with it and enter contemplation.
Thereby shall you acquire illumination of this world and that.
What good that man exhausts himself in acquisitiveness ? (1)
In the essence of the self is my meditation fixed.
Devotion to the Name of the Divine Monarch is for me supreme realization. (I-Pause)
With the Creator's[4] Portal have we formed our relationship,

1. Contemplate.
2. Pure, holy.
3. Shivapurī, in the Yogic parlance the 'tenth door' of supreme realization.
4. Lit. Origin of all.

And over sun-like burning impulses have placed cooling moon-like poise.
In the dark direction[1] of sunset of ignorance
Now blazes the sun of illumination,
And the seat of realization[2] now in my head is fixed. (2)
In the direction of this sunset lies a stone of ignorance,
Over which lies another window, opening on to material desires.
Above this window is situated the tenth door of superconsciousness,
Whose prospect, saith Kabir, is without end or limit. (3) (2.10)

So mūllāṇ jo mana siuṇ larai

The true Muslim divine,[3] is one with the ego wages battle,
And following the Master's teaching with death joins in conflict.
Of death should he crush the pride :
To such a Mulla ever we make obeisance. (1)
The Lord is ever by us; why describe Him as far ?
Restrain the perturbing mind, and to the Lord, P. 1160
all-beauty attain. (I-Pause)
The true Muslim law-giver[4] is one who his self contemplates,
And by the fire of the self the Supreme Being illuminates.
Not in dream in lust should he indulge[5] :
Such a Kazi shall meet neither old age nor death. (2)
The true sufi[6] is one who shooting arrows of illumination and restraint
The mind uncontrollable under control places.
In the Highest state of illumination[7] should he assemble his army of merits
Over such a Sultan waves the umbrella of royalty. (3)
The Yogi invokes Gorakh,[8]
The Hindu utters Rama's Name,
The Muslim's god is Khuda without a second,
Kabir's Lord is all-pervasive. (4) (3.11)

---

1. Lit. West.
2. Merūdand, lit. the vertabret column, by which passes sushmana, the channel of realization.
3. Mullā.
4. Kazī.
5. Should not let drop the seminal fluid.
6. ('Sultan' is the title given to Sufis of a high order). A trope here is intended with Sar-tan, one who shoots an arrow.
7. Gagan Mandal—Yogic term for the seat of superconsciousness.
8. Lord of the universe, Yogic name for God.

Jo pāthar kau kahatei Dev

Those that call a stone their God,
Wasted is their devotion.
Those that fall at the feet of stone-idols,
Wasted is their endeavour. (1)
Our Lord ever to us speaks;
To all creation largesse He grants. (I-Pause)
The ignorant[1] man knows not, God abides within;
Attached to delusion his mind in thongs be puts.
The stone neither speaks nor can grant a boon—
Such ritual hollow, such service fruitless. (2)
Should any apply sandalwood paste to a corpse,
What gain out of it shall he get ?
Should the corpse in filth be thrown about,
What would it then lose ? (3)
Saith Kabir, making loud proclamation :
Thou ignorant materialist,[2] understand and behold :
Many homes by duality are ruined.
God's devotees ever are in joy. (4) (4.12)

Jal mehṇ mīn māyā kei bedhei

The fish that lives in water by Maya is pierced;
The moth hovering around the lamp too by Maya is penetrated,
Maya in the form of lust to the elephant clings.
Snakes and humming-bees too amid Maya are destroyed. (1)
Brother ! so seductive is Maya,
That all creatures it deludes. (I-Pause)
Birds and animals by Maya are attracted;
Sugar too greatly torments the fly.
Horses and camels in Maya are absorbed.
Even the eighty-four Siddhas[3] in Maya disport. (2)
The six celibates[4] are Maya's slaves;
So also the Nine Supreme Yogis[5] and sun and moon.
Performers of austerities too by Maya are tied.
In Maya lies death and the five minions of evil. (3)

---

1. Blind.
2. Sākta.
3. The legendary Siddhas, held to be immortal.
4. These are, Hanūmān, Bhairon, Lachhman, Gorakh, Bīshma and Datt.
5. The Nine immortal superior Yogis, such as Gorakh, Machhindra and others

Dogs and jackels by Maya are attracted,
So also apes, leopards and tigers,
And cats, sheep and foxes.
Even the roots of trees in Maya are fixed. (4)
Gods too by Maya are attracted,
So also the ocean, Indra and the earth.
Saith Kabir : Whoever has a belly to fill, is under Maya's spell.
Release from it comes when the holy Preceptor is met. (5) (5.13)

Jab lagu merī merī karai

As long as man in possessiveness is involved,
None of his objective is fulfilled.
When his possessiveness is effaced,
Then does the Lord grant him fulfilment. (1) P. 1161
My self ! contemplate this illuminative understanding :
Why not contemplate the Lord, shatterer of suffering ? (I-Pause)
While the tiger of pride is present in the forest of the self,
The forest takes not bloom.
When the jackal of humility destroys this tiger,
The entire vegetation puts on blooms. (2)
Whoever wins in the worldly way sinks; whoever loses the world swims across,
And by the Master's grace, crosses over.
Kabir, servant of God thus instructs you :
Solely to God be you attached. (3) (6.14)

Sattari sai salār haiṇ jā ke

He who has seven thousand chiefs of his hosts;
And has a lakh and a quarter prophets under Him;
Whose devotees[1] are eighty-eight crore in number,
Whose special attendants number fifty-six crores—(1)
Who to Him shall present my petition, a humble man's ?
Far is His court a rare one to His mansion attains. (I-Pause)
Thirty-three crore are His domestics :
In eighty-four lakh species whirl creatures crazed.
To Adam, ancestor of mankind the Lord showed grace,[2]
Whereby he attained fullness of Paradise. (2)
Whoever has perturbation in heart, turns yellow-faced,

1. Sheikh; may also imply Shesh-nāga., the legendary serpent.
2. Glance of grace.

And leaving scriptures,[1] follows Satan.
Such a one blames the world and carries a grievance against mankind :
Each receives his deserts according to his deeds. (3)
You the Provider, we perpetually beggars.
Should we answer You back, we turn sinners.
Kabir, Thy servant Thy shelter seeks.
Merciful Lord, pray keep me close to paradise. (4) (7.15)

Sabhu koī chalan kahat hai ūhāṇ

Each one says, to paradise we go :
I know not where paradise is. (I-Pause)
They know not the secret of their self,
And only blab about paradise. (1)
While in heart lasts desire for Paradise,
Comes not abiding at the Divine feet. (2)
I know not if Paradise has a moat and ramparts, or is plastered over with thick mud.
Nor know I of the gate of Paradise, (3)
Saith Kabir[2] : What else can we say,
Except that the holy congregation is the real Paradise (4) (8.16)

Kiuṇ lījai gaṛh bankā bhāī

Brother ! how may we conquer this finely-built fort of ignorance, Whose ramparts are of quality and most of the three qualities[3] ? (I-Pause)
Its army consists of the five evils, twenty-five lower tendencies like attachment and intoxication or pride,
With powerful Maya as trench.
This poor man there cannot prevail : Lord, what shall I do ? (1)
Lust its window, suffering and pleasure its doorkeepers;
Sin and meritorious deeds its gates.
Clamorous wrath is the commander[4] and the mind intractable king (2)
Pleasure the armour and possessiveness the helmet,
With foul thinking drawing the bow.
Desire abiding in heart its arrows—
With all this is this fort impregnable. (3)

1. Kateb=Kitāb, implying the Koran.
2. Kamīr here, a variation on 'Kabīr.
3. See Glossary.
4. Chief.

With burning brand of love and rocket of devotion,
The bomb of enlightenment we shot :
By poised meditation was lighted the Divine light—
Thus at one stroke was it conquered. (4)
As with purity and content by my side I fought,
Were both gates stormed.
Along with holy company by the Master's grace was the king of the fort captured. (5)
With an army of God's devotees and strength of contemplation, P. 1162
Was snapped the noose of fear of death.
Kabir,[2] servant of God, then ascended the fort,
And assumed the eternal dominion. (6) (9.17)

Gang gusāini gahir gambhīr

To Ganga, the goddess,[1] profound and deep
Was Kabir taken bound in chains. (1)
When the heart sank not, why should the body fear ?
The heart in the Divine lotus feet remained absorbed. (Pause)
By the Ganga waves was snapped my chain,
And amid the Ganga was Kabir seated on a deer-skin (2)
Saith Kabir : None else is our friend or companion :
On water and land is the Lord our presever (3) (10.18)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of the Venerable Kabir
Ashtpadi (Octet)
Score 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Agam drūgam gaṛhi rachīyo bās

In the inaccessible, hard to reach citadel has the Lord taken abode,
Where is shed His light.
There flashes lightning and is joy felt.
There is established the Lord, youthful Divine figure. (I) Should the self to the Name Divine be devoted,
Is shed old age and death and doubts flee (I-Pause)
Those in love with distinctions of high caste and low caste sing lays of egoism.

1. (Here too Kamīr occur in place of Kabīr).
2. Vishnu's shakti.

Where the Lord is seated,
There rings sound of mystic music (2)
Continents and spheres has He created,
And the three worlds, the three deities and the three qualities destroys.
Inaccessible, unknowable, in the heart He abides.
None the secret thought of the Divine prop of the earth can encompass (3)
In the plantain flower[1] like the sun He blazes.
In dust of His lotus the self has abode.
In the lotus with twelve petels in the heart lies His inspiration,
Where is the abode of the Lord, Lakshmi's Spouse.[2] (4)
He who in the lower world and the higher and on the face casts His light
In the cosmic void abides.
There shines neither sun nor moon;
The Primal immaculate Being in joy there disports (5)
Whatever is in the universe, know that to be also in the body.
In this lake of Mansorovar take thou bath.
Whoever utters the formula, 'I am He',
Neither merit nor sin to Him clings (6)
With Him are neither caste distinctions or sun's heat or shade :
No way realized except under the Master's shelter.
Absorption fixed in Him cannot be shaken nor is removed,
In the equable cosmic void absorbed. (7)
Should anyone realize it, in the core of the heart He abides.
What inspires our utterance is He himself.
Whoever by the Divine formula his mind in poise brings,
Saith Kabir, liberation finds.[3] (8) (1)

Koti Sūr jā kai pargās

Millions of Suns for Him shed light;
Millions of Shivas and Kailashes are His.
Millions of Durgas[4] rub His feet;
Millions of Brahmas to Him recite the Vedas. (1)
When I look, the Lord solely I behold :
With no other deity have I any concern. (I-Pause)

1. This has a Yogic overtone.
2. An attributive name of Vishnu, here signifying God.
3. Swims across.
4. The goddess, Shiva's consort.

Millions of moons are lamps providing Him light. P. 1163
Thirty-three crore deities His food-offering consume.
Millions like the Nine Satellites[1] at His court stand and wait.
Millions of Dharmarajas His door-keepers. (2)
Millions of winds revolve on four sides of Him;
Millions of Serpent-Kings spread His couch;
Millions of oceans His drawers of water;
Millions of eighteen-fold loads of vegetation[2]
His body's hair. (3)
Millions of Kubers[3] His treasures fill.
Millions of Lakshmis for Him deck themselves.
Millions of sins and merits by His glance are cast off.
Millions of Indras do Him service. (4)
Fifty-six crore cloud-clusters are His door-keepers;
In each being[4] is His limitless light.
Demoniac powers with hair disbevelled, terrible aspects move about;
An millions of the Lord's powers disport themselves. (5)
At His court are performed millions of sacrifices.
Millions of choristers cry Him 'Hail' !
Millions of forms of learning his laudation may sing;
Still is not the Supreme Being's limit encompassed. (6)
Fifty-two crores over Him wave the fly-whisk[5] :
He who Ravan's hosts discomfited.
A thousand crores His story[6] relate.
Duryodhan's[7] arrogance He shattered. (7)
Millions of gods of love equal Him not in beauty,
Who from the understanding steals good qualities.
Saith Kabir : Listen to me, Lord[8] :
Grant me the state of fearlessness.
This boon I beg. (8) (2.18.20)

1. (This is an astronomical allusion)
2. (Traditionally, one leaf of each kind of vegetation would collectively make eighteen loads).
3. The God of wealth.
4. In each city.
5. Also rendered : "His host of monkeys consisted of fifty-two crores."
6. Purāna.
7. The King of Kauravas in Mahābhārata.
8. One who holds in hand the earth (or the bow), an attributive name of Vishnū, here signifying God.

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of the Venerable Namdev

SCORE I

In the Name of the Sole Supreme, Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Rei jihbā Karauṇ sat khand

My tongue ! into a hundred pieces shall I cut thee,
Shouldst thou not utter the name of the Lord. (1)
With the Lord's Name dye thy tongue.
On the Lord, of beauteous aspect, joyful meditate. (I-Pause)
False is the tongue engaged in aught else.
The Name Divine solely brings liberation (2)
Countless million times other kinds of worship I offered :
None approaches devotion to the Name Divine. (3)
Thus supplicates Namdev : Lord ! may I behold Thee
In Thy innumerable created forms. (4) (1)

Par dhan par-dārā parharī

Whoever has discarded other's wealth and other's women folk
The Lord puissant[1] by his side abides (1)
Such as to the Lord are not devoted,
Their sight would I not wish to see. (I-Pause)
Human beings that from the Lord are separated,
Are as beasts. (2)
Saith Namdev : One though bearing thirty-two features[2] of beauty,
Without honour[3] appears not beautiful. (3) (2)

Dūdh kaṭorai gaḍwai pānī

In a bowl I put milk and took a jug of water,
After a brown spotted cow I had milked. (1)
Said I : Divine King ! drink this milk :
Drink it that my heart be satisfied.
Should you not drink it, my father at home will be wroth. (I-Pause)
A golden cup[4] full of amrita,[5]
Nama[6] before the Lord placed. (2)

---

1. Nar-Hari=man-lion, an avatār of Vishnu.
2. This is the traditional count of the features of beauty of the male.
3. Lit. nose in Punjabi and Hindi idiom.
4. Said symbolically, for the cup proffered to the Lord.
5. A term expressive of milk.

The Lord smiled at Nama[1] and said :
This one devotee alone in my heart abides. (3)
The devotee after the Lord had drunk the milk, P. 1164 came home.
Nama[2] thus had sight of the Lord. (4) (3)

Main baurī merā Rāmu bhatāru

I a love-crazed female; the Lord is my spouse.
With loving care fore Him I deck myself. (1)
Folks, calumniate me should you so wish :
My body and mind to the beloved Lord is dedicated. (I-Pause)
Enter not into contention with any.
My tongue ! quaff thou the Divine elixir (2)
My self ! know now the time has come
When with drums beating the Lord I shall meet. (3)
Let any shower praise or calumniate me,
Nama[1] with the Lord has had union. (4) (4)

Kabahūṇ khīri khāṇḍ ghīo na bhāvai

Sometimes man relishes not milk, sugar and ghee.
At other times the Lord makes him beg for a crust of bread from house to house.
At other times hard gram is one made to pick up. (1)
Brother : Live as the Lord keep us :
Beyond expression is the Lord's greatness. (I-Pause)
Sometimes man has horses and steeds to caper;
At other time has he not a slipper on the feet. (2)
Sometimes He makes one sleep in a bed with white sheets.
At other times is not obtained earth spread with straw. (3)
Saith Namdev : The Name alone brings liberation.[2]
Whoever has contact with the Master, is liberation.[2] (4) (5)

Hasat khelat terei dehūrei āyā

In a cheerful mood to Thy temple I came.
While performing devotion, was Nama pushed off. (1)
Lord of Yadava race[3] ! low is my caste.
Why didst Thou give me birth in a dyer's home ? (I-Pause)
Picking up my woollen sheet, back I turned,
And sat in the temple's rear. (2)

1. Short for Namdev.
2. (The figure in each case is swimming across).
3. Krishna is meant, here implying God.

While Nama the Lord's laudation was uttering,
The temple door towards the devotee turned. (3) (6)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of the Venerable Namdev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jaisī bhūkhei preeti anāj

As is one hungry yearning for food;
As is one thirsty seeking water;
As is the thoughtless, man involved in his family—
Even thus is Nama[1] in love with the Lord. (1)
Nama[1] with the Lord is in love,
And spontaneously from the world is detached. (I-Pause)
As is the wanton woman in love with a stranger;
As is the greedy man lover of lucre;
As is the philanderer in love with women—
Even thus is Nama[1] in love with the Lord. (2)
True love is that which the Lord Himself inspires.
Then by the Master's grace is duality banished.
Such a one in the Lord absorbed, never from Him is cut asunder.
Nama[1] to the holy Name is devoted. (3)
As is the love between the child and its mother,
Thus is my heart to the Lord attached.
Namdev thus states in humility : My love in Lord is fixed.
The Lord in my heart abides. (4) (1.7)

Ghar ki nāri tiyāgai andhā P. 1165

The purblind man disregards his own wife,[2]
And with another's woman into illicit relationship enters.
The parrot at sight of the simbal[3] tree is pleased,
But at the end hangs from it dead. (1)
The evil-doer's abode is in the fire of passion—unceasing he keeps burning (I-Pause)
Such a one goes not to witness Divine devotion—
Leaving the straight path, the crooked path taking.
Forgetful of his origin, in transmigration he keeps involved.
Amrita he casts off, and loading poison, eats of it. (2)

---

1. Short for Namdev.
2. The wife of his home.
3. A tree bearing cotton-like flowers.

As in the harlot's home is gathered the assembly of pleaśure-seekers,
She dresses up and makes up her figure.
Beating the rhythm, her tone[1] she measures;
Round her neck falls Yama's noose. (3)
Whoever has good fortune recorded on his forehead,
To the Master's shelter comes rushing.
Namdev to this thought gives expression :
Holy devotees of God ! thus shall you find liberation. (4) (2.8)
Sandā Markā jāe pūkārei paṛhai nahīṇ ham hī pach hārei
Sanda and Marka[2] made complaint : Prahlad reads not with us;
To exhaustion have we tried.
Uttering Rama's Name his hands he claps, and has all the pupils misguided. (1)
God's Name he repeats,
And in his heart contemplates the Lord. (I-Pause)
The principal queen humbly states to her son :
The king has conquered the whole earth;
His son, Prahlad, thou obeyst him not—thy intentions are other. (2)
The assembly of evil-minded counsellors then resolved to put an end to his life.[3]
From terror of fall from the mountain, drowing in water and burning in fire He saved him :
Thus did the Divine King turn His might. (3)
Then the king, drawing his sword, frightening him with death, said in anger :
Tell me who shall protect thee.
Said Prahlad : He who is yellow-robed,[4] Lord of the three worlds
In this pillar lies. (4)
The Lord who tore Harnakash[5] apart with His claws
Succoured gods and humanity.
Saith Namdev : On the puissant Lord[6] we meditate,
Who the gift of fearlessness confers. (5) (3.9)

1. Breath.
2. The saintly child Prahlād's schoolmasters.
3. Ironically, let us lengthen his life.
4. Implies Vishnū, symbolizing God.
5. The demon king Hrinyakashyapu.
6. Nar-singh, the man-lion incarnation of Vishnu.

Sultānu pūchhai sunu bei Nāmā

Said the Sultan : Listen, thou Nama[1] :
Let me see the doing of Thy Rama. (1)
The Sultan got Nama[1] bound,
Saying, 'Let me see the power of the Hari and Vithal; (1-Pause)
Bring to life the slaughtered cow,
Else right here shall thy head be cut off. (2)
Said Nama[1] : Majesty ! how can this happen ?
What is slaughtered cannot be made alive. (3)
Nothing by my will happens :
All happens as Willed by God. (4)
The king was full of violent arrogance,
And an elephant was goaded for attack. (5)
Nama's[1] mother was wailing,
Saying : Discard Rama; why not to Khuda be devoted ? (6)
Said Nama :[1] Neither am I thy child, nor thou my mother.
Even though this body be destroyed still the Lord's laudation shall I sing. (7)
While the elephant struck with its trunk,
Nama[1] by the Lord's protection was saved. (8)
Said the king : Kazis and Mullas make me obeisance,
But this Hindu has humbled my pride. (9)
Petitioned the people : Your majesty; listen to our submission :
Take gold equal to Nama's[1] weight. (10) P. 1166 Replied the king : Should I accept this wealth, into hell would I go,
As leaving faith, worldly wealth I gather. (11)
Nama[1] with fetters on his feet was clapping his hands in joy,
And singing Divine laudation. (12)
Should Ganga and Yamuna flow back to their sources,
Nama still would utter the Lord Hari's[2] name. (13)
Thus had seven hours passed;
Still the Lord of the three worlds did not appear. (14)
With the sound of pinions,

Note : This hymn is a transcript of an incident in which Namdev was asked by Sultan Shah to show a miracle, failing which would be put to death. The Sultan's name is also given as Muhammad Tughlaq.

1. Nāma, short for Nāmdev. This shortened name has been used several times in the course of this hymn and others.
2. The Hindu name for God.

Came the Lord riding on the Garuda.[1] (1)
His devotee did He cherish,
As the Lord came riding on the Garuda.[1] (16)
Said the Lord : Shouldst thou wish, the earth
I shall turn upside down.
Shouldst thou so wish, on high shall I place it. (17)
Shouldst thou so wish, the dead cow may I bring to life,
That all may see and be assured. (18)
Nama prayerfully milking the cow,
And bringing close to her the calf, milked her. (19)
When the jug with milk was filled,
Before the king was it placed. (20)
The king went inside the palace :
It was a hard moment for him. (21)
Through Kazis and Mullas the king made supplication :
Hindu ! forgive me, I am to thee like a humble cow. (22)
Nama said : Listen, majesty !
Assure me of this. (23)
This will be the test of your assurance :
Follow truth and the noble path. (24)
Namdev now was famed all over,
And all the Hindus in a body came to Nama. (25)
Had the cow this time not been revived,
Then had Nama lost credit. (26)
Nama's praise spread all over the world,
Who along with other devotees found liberation. (27)
His traducers fell into torments and regrets
Between Nama and the Lord no difference is. (28) (1.10)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Namdev

SCORE 2

Jau Gürudeo ta milai mürāri

By the holy Preceptor's grace, comes union with the Lord.
By the holy Preceptor's grace comes liberation.
By the holy Preceptor's grace does man paradise to attain.
By the holy Preceptor's grace is one as dead while living. (1)
Holy, holy, holy is the divinely-inspired Master.
False, false is service to any other. (I-Pause)

---

1. A legendary bird, mount of Vishnū (Vishnū in the form of Vīthal is Nāmdev's name for God).

By the holy Preceptor's grace is the Name in mind confirmed.
By the holy Preceptor's grace the mind ceases in ten directions to rush.
By the holy Preceptor's grace the mind from the five evils keeps away.
By the holy Preceptor's grace is avoided dying in pining. (2)
By the holy Preceptor's grace does one's utterance become sweet as Amrita.
By the holy Preceptor's grace does one's state grow inexpressibly wonderful
By the holy Preceptor's grace does the body grow pure as amrita.
By the holy Preceptor's grace comes contemplation of the Name. (3)
By the holy Preceptor's grace are visible the three Worlds.
By the holy Preceptor's grace is realized the lofty state of liberation.
By the holy Preceptor's grace does one's head rest in the sky.
By the holy Preceptor's grace one ever gets approbation. (4)
By the holy Preceptor's grace is one ever as an anchorite.
By the holy Preceptor's grace is discarded P. 1167 calumny of others.
By the holy Preceptor's grace does one view the bad and the good equably.
By the holy Preceptor's grace does the writ on the forehead become auspicious. (5)
By the holy Preceptor's grace the body knows no decline.
By the holy Preceptor's grace the temple revolves towards the devotee.[1]
By the holy Preceptor's grace is the hut roofed.
By the holy Preceptor's grace is the cot spontaneously taken out of the river. (6)
By the holy Preceptor's grace comes merit as of bathing at sixty-eight holy bathing spots.
By the holy Preceptor's grace is one's body marked with Vishnu's disc.[2]

1. (In this stanza occur allusions to certain miraculous happenings in the life of Nāmdev).
2. This happened to one Prithurāj, who despite not reaching Dwārkā, was so marked.

In the holy Preceptor's grace lies the twelve-fold service to God.[1]
By the holy Preceptor's grace turns poison into fruit. (7)
By the holy Preceptor's grace are shattered doubts.
By the holy Preceptor's grace comes release from Yama.
By the holy Preceptor's grace comes swimming across the ocean of existence.
By the holy Preceptor's grace, neither borns nor dies. (8)
By the holy Preceptor's grace comes merits of rituals of the eighteen Puranas.
By the holy Preceptor's grace comes merits of offering eighteen loads of vegetation.[2]
No place of shelter is there other than the holy Preceptor
Namdev with the Master seeks shelter. (9) (1.2.11)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of the Venerable Ravidas

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Binu dekhei upjai nahīṇ āshā

Without sight of paradise is not aroused desire for it.
All that is visible is subject to destruction.
Whoever with expression of Divine laudation the Name repeats,
Is a true Yogi, pure and free from desire. (1)
Should anyone by the Master's teaching contemplate the Lord,
Is as a person touching the philosopher's stone no duality in him remaining. (1-Pause)
The true sage is one who the mind's duality consumes,
And divested of the body's sense-sources,[3] in the three worlds is absorbed.
Each one follows his mind's inclination.
He is the true doer who free from fear[4] abides. (2)
To bear fruit is vegetation in bloom.
As appears fruit, do flowers disappear.
For enlightenment is involvement in action.

1. This consists in three-fold service each by the feet (going to holy spots), by the hands, service by the tongue, by the ears, by the forehead (bowing etc.) by the nose (taking fragrance of flower-offerings).
2. (The total vegetation of the earth is believed to weigh eighteen loads, should one leaf be taken from each kind).
3. Doors.
4. Yama's fear is implied.

As appears enlightenment, is the effect of action annulled. (3)
As the woman for ghee[1] churns milk;
So with enlightenment is man liberated while alive,
free from attachment.
Saith Ravidas, expressing the secret of supreme detachment :
Unfortunate man ! why not bear God in heart and utter His Name ? (4) (1)

In the Measure Bhairon—Composition of Namdev

Āo Kalandar Keshvā

Come Thou who art Kalandar and Keshava,[2]
In the form of a superior sufi.[3] (Pause)
Thou who hast the sky for cap, and the seven nether worlds for sandals,
The body covered with the skin Thy temple
Thus Lord, are You equipped. (1)
Fifty-six crore Yadavs Thy cloak, sixteen thousand milkmaids
Thy under-garment;
Eighteen loads of vegetable leaves Thy mortar[4]
the whole world Thy plate. (2)
This body the mosque, the mind the priest, who the prayer of enlightenment performs.
With Lakshmi[5] hast Thou performed nuptials, formless Thy form. (3)
While performing my worship, were my cymbals snatched[6]
To whom shall I carry my plaint ?
Nama's Lord is controller of the inner self, wandering[7] without fixed habitation. (4) (1)

Note : This is an ecstatic vision of the Lord viewed as Kalandar (Muslim sufi) and as incarnation of Vishnū

1. Clarified butter.
2. Kalandar (Sufi); Keshava=Vishnū (of beautiful locks).
3. Abdali.
4. (For pounding bhang or hashish taken by mystics Hindus and Muslim).
5. Kaulān (Kamlā) is another name for Lakshmī, consort of Vishnū. Throughout the Lord is symbolized, though formless.
6. (This was done by the Brahmin priest, who thought Namdev's entry into the temple a sacrilege, he bring a low-caste man).
7. Mystics of all creeds do a lot of wandering about.

RAGA BASANTU

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev   P. 1168

Quartets and Duos

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being; Reality Eternal, Creator; Immanent Reality; Above Fear; Above Rancour; Form Eternal; Unincarnated; Self-created; Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

Māhā māha mumārkhī chaṛhiyā sadā Basantu

Felicitations we offer in this month, wherein beings the spring season,[1] eternally joyful.
My heart, blossom thou remembering the Lord Enternal.
Thou that art artless, forget thoughts of egoism :
Egoism destroy, with thy mind reflect,
And the purest of qualities adopt. (I-Pause)
Action is the tree, devotion to the Lord its branches,
Righteousness the flower, enlightenment the fruit.
Attainment to the Lord are the leaves :
This tree a thick shade yields as pride from the mind is lifted. (2)
Then does man with his eyes he hold the Divine might;
With the ears listens to the holy Word,
And with the tongue utters the holy Name.
As is meditation fixed in poise, is attained the full wealth of honour with God.[2] (3)
Months and seasons shall come; you in good actions be engaged.
Saith Nanak; Never shrivelled, ever in bloom
The God-directed ones[3] that in the Lord are absorbed. (4) (1)

Rūti āīlei saras Basant māhi

In Basant[4] has arrived the season of joy.
Those dyed in love and yearning for Thee, contemplate Thee.

---

1. Basant, Spring. This is also the name of this measure.
2. Patī is also rendered as the Divine Spouse, yielding the sense : fully attained is the wealth that is the Spouse.
3. Also rendered as : Those that by the Master's guidance in the Lord are absorbed.
4. The spring season (February-March in India).

Other than the Lord to whom shall I make worship-offerings;
whose feet shall I touch ? (1)
Divine King ! Thy servants' servant am I called.
By no device is the life of the universe attained. (I-Pause)
One and sole is Thy figure, of numerous manifestations.
To whom shall I offer worship, burn incense ?
From no one, of Thy extent have I learnt,
Though, Divine King ! Your servants' servant I am called. (2)
The twenty-year cycles[1] and holy bathing-spots all are Thine.
Supreme Lord, the holy Name too is Thine.
Thou formless one ! unknown to us is Thy state.
Without knowledge of Thee on Thy Name must we discourse. (3)
What can poor Nanak say that is new ?
The whole world lauds the Sole Lord.
At the feet of those uttering Thy Name is placed Nanak's head in reverence.
Too all Thy Names am I a sacrifice. (4) (2)

Suinei kā chaukā Kanchan küār P. 1169

Should one's kitchen-space be of gold, the pots too of gold;
Should the lines drawn be of silver, and the fire be made from friction of sanctified wood.
Should the food be soft, cooked in milk. (1)
My self ! never shall this be entered in the Lord's accompt,
Should the heart in the holy Name be not drenched. (I-Pause)
Should one possess the eighteen Puranas scribed,
And should be able to recite from memory the four Vedas;
Should bathe on sacred days at holy spots and give away charity as required by one's caste,
Day and night observe fasting and the prescribed discipline. (2)
Should one be Kazi, Mulla or Sheikh,[2]
Yogi or wandering ascetic in ochre robes;
Or Should one be a householder, performer of ritual deeds of piety—
Without realization shall all such be led in bonds by Yama. (3)
Over the heads of all creatures is inscribed the Divine decree;
By their deeds shall the judgement[3] be.

1. Each one of the three Supreme deities, Brahmā, Vishnū and Shiva is believed to exercise his influence for twenty years by turn.
2. These are Muslims divines of various categories.
3. The essential decision.

They are stupid fools who presume they can command any.
Saith Nanak : Such alone are holy as possess treasure of laudation of the holy Enternal. (4) (3)

In the Measure Basant—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Bastar ūtāri digambaru hogu

One may discard clothing and remain unclad :
What Yoga can be practised by wearing matted locks ?
Even with the breath ascending to the Tenth Door,[1] the mind may still remain impure.
Such a one, thoughtless, again and again in transmigration wanders. (1)
My thoughtless self ! on the Sole Lord meditate,
Whereby in an instant mayst thou find liberation. (I-Pause)
Some on Simritis and Shastras[2] discourse.
Some believe in hearing the mystic sound, others study
the Vedas, others still study the Puranas.[3]
With gaze full of fraud and minds full of insincerity these act—
Should the Lord is not then close to them. (2)
Should anyone be observant of discipline,
And by the defined ritual offer worship—
But should he harbour avarice within and in the mind carry evil passions,
How may he to the immaculate Lord attain ? (3)
What can come about by the action of a creature of God ?
The creature moves in any direction ordained by the Lord.
Should He show grace, is doubt lifted.
By realization of the Divine Will is the holy Enternal attained (4)
A creature bearing an impure heart,
Were he to wander over bathing-spots, over various lands and over the world,
Saith Nanak : Only by union with the holy Preceptor
May the bonds of his existence be snapped. (5) (4)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Sagal bhavan terī māyā moha

In all the worlds is spread illusion of Thy Maya,
Yet I see none else; all existence is Thy manifestation.

1. The seat of super-consciousness according to Yogic belief.
2. Treatises on philosophy.
3. Mythological books.

Thou art supreme over gods, supreme yogis;
illumination of the gods.
By service at the Master' feet is attained the Name Divine. (1)
Beloved[1] that art beauteous, deeply profound;
By the Master's guidance have I sung laudation
of the Name Divine.
Thou art beyond limit, cherisher of the universe. (I-Pause)
Without guidance of the holy is not attained unity with the Lord.
Without guidance of the Master are one's limbs with impurity fouled.
Without the Name Divine are these not purified.
Whoever the Master' Word lauds, is pure, holy. (2)
Whomsoever Thou dost save, Divine Saviour,
To the holy Preceptor dost unite him, and cherish him.
The poison of egoism and avarice of such dost Thou cast off.
Then Divine king, is all suffering shattered. (3)
By absorbing in the self Divine attributes is one's state exalted.
By the Master' teaching is made visible jewel
of the Name Divine.
As is duality discarded, has absorption in the Name come.
Pray unite Nanak, servant of God, to the Master, P. 1170
image of the Lord. (4) (5)

Merī sakhī sahelī sunuh bhāe

My sister-friend,[2] with a affectionate feelings listen to me :
The Beloved, Divine voluptuary, by my side abides.
Unknowable, Him can I not know—what may I say about Him ?
The Master has granted a vision of the Divine Monarch abiding by me. (1)
In unision with my sister-friend,[2] with Divine qualities am I decked.
The Divine Spouse's maids with the Lord disport,
And by searching the self under the Master's guidance
Are their minds fixed in faith. (I-Pause)
Egoists, that are like abandoned wives, know not His mystery :
Beloved of all, with each being has He delight.
The God-directed with poised mind contemplate the Lord to be
by their side.
The Master, the Name worthy to contemplate in our mind
has confirmed. (2)

1. Lāl, l t. ruby. In idiom, a highly valued object.
2. Symbol for fellow seekers.

Without the Master's guidance arises not devotion or love.
Without the Master's guidance the Lord grants not company of the holy—
Without the Master's guidance the purblind, involved in worldly concerns wail.
The mind by the Master's guidance becoming pure,
By the holy Word casts off its impurity. (3)
Whoever by union with the Master his ego has subdued,
Day and night has bliss of Yoga of Bhakti[1].
In congregation of the holy Preceptor are annulled suffering and maladies.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By Yoga of the poised mind[2]
Is attained the Divine Spouse. (4) (6)

Āpei küdrati karei sāji

Himself His might He establishes;
Himself by His authority dispenses justice.
By the Master's teaching is attained exalted company.
By elixir of the Name Divine is the state of poised attained. (1)
My self ! lest thou forget, the Lord's Name thou repeat.
The Lord beyond limit, inaccessible, unknowable,
Himself by the Master's guidance enables the creature to realize the unrealizable. (I-Pause)
Thy disciples at the Master's feet serve.
These by discarding thoughts of mine and thine, by serving at the Master's feet liberation find.
Calumniators and avaricious persons are of hard heats.
Those not loving to do service to the Master are just thieves. (2)
Should the Master be pleased, loving devotion he grants.
By the Master's approval is attained abode in the Divine Mansion.
Discarding calumny by Divine devotion be awakened.
God's devotion that is pleasing of aspect, by grace and good fortune comes. (3)
The Master granting union, favours confers.
Day and night the Master's disciples love the Name.
Reward of devotion to the Name that is attained, by the Master's favour is granted.
Saith Nanak : This by the rare ones is attained. (4) (7)

1. (This is one of the three kinds of Yoga traditionally recognized).
2. (The Supreme state of poise is implied).

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Couplets

Sāhib bhāvai sevaku sevā karai

Should the Lord be so pleased, the devotee renders service to Him.
Thereby would He be as dead while living, and all his forebears be saved. (1)
Despite other's mockery, Thy service would I not give up.
May the holy Name in my heart abide. (I-Pause)
Like as the creature in Maya-attachment is involved,
Even so the holy the Name Divine keep contemplating. (2)
Pray show compassion to me, a foolish, thoughtless being,
That under Thy shelter ever I remain. (3)
Saith Nanak : Fruitless are the world's concerns.
Rare are such as by the Master's guidance the ambrosial Name attain. (4) (8)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 1171

Hindol

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sālgrām bip pūji manāwuh sūkrit tūlasī mālā

Brahmin ! the shaligram[1] stone do you worship as Lord
And wearing rosary of myrobalam[2] beads as good actions :
Equip thou ship of repetition of the Name Divine,
And pray to the gracious Lord for grace. (1)
Why water alakaline soil, and waste your life ?
This mud-wall shall crumble-why apply mortar to it ? (1-Pause)
Make your serving hands the Persian wheel, its string and pots—
To that yoke bullocks of your mind.
Irrigate amrita-field;[3] fill the patches then shall you be owned by the Divine Gardener. (2)
Make lust and wrath you spades—with these dig the earth.
As you thus dig, shall joy come to you—noway are accumulated actions effaced. (3)
Lord ! Shouldst Thou show grace, heron into a swan turns.
Nanak, servant of Thy servants humbly supplicates :
Gracious Lord ! show grace. (4) (1.9)

1. A stone found in the river Ganduki, worshipped as image of Vishnū.
2. Tulasī seeds are held sacred.
3. Devotion is implied.

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Sung in association with Hindol

Sāhūrarī wathu sabhu kichu sānjhī pevakarai dhan wakkhei

In the Divine Spouse's[1] home are all gifts granted in common to all;
In the parents home in the world does the woman make separate claims.
Herself the ill-mannered woman blames not, and knows not to preserve with care the Divine gift. (1)
Lord ! myself am I lost in illusion.
What Thou hast recorded for me I sing; no other utterance know I. (I-Pause)
Should the woman make embroidery of the holy Name and wear such a frock,
Would she be known as a true wife.
Should she look after her home,[2] taste not evil,
Would she have her Lord's love. (2)
Shouldst Thou be a learned Scholar[3] with vision,
Know that the two letters of the Lord's Name[4] are like two boats.
States Nanak in humility : Should one in truth be absorbed,
The Sole Name liberation shall grant[5] (3) (2.10)

Rājā bālaku nagrī Kāchī dūshtān nāli piyāro

The king of the mind is yet a minor, the city[6] still underfended,[7]
And with evil-doers is he in love.
Brahmin ! contemplate this : Two are his mothers,[8] two fathers.[9] (1)
Venerable Brahmin ! instruct me,
By what device to the Lord of life may I attain ? (I-Pause)
Carrying fire within, yet is vegetarian in bloom;
The ocean is tied as in a bundle.
Moon and sun, despite their different characters, in one house abide—

1. (The Image of the self here is of a wife : The husband's home is the hereafter, the parents' home the world).
2. Implies the self.
3. Pandit (Brahmin).
4. (These are the two letters of Rama as written in the Devanāgarī script).
5. Lit. Ferry across.
6. The self is implied.
7. (Surrounded by a mud wall).
8. These are avarice and desire.
9. Attachment and rancour are implied.

Of this have we not learnt the secret[1] device. (2)
Know the true devotee of the Lord to be one who consumes Maya.
Know his quality to be to garner wealth of forgiveness.
With such in the world we abide as listen not to instruction
And admit not benefactions received.[2]
States Nanak, servant of God's servants, in humility :
The mind to violent variations is subject[3] (4) (3.11)

Sāchā Shāhu Gürū sükhdātā Hari melei bhükkh gawāe

The Master, holy Banker,[4] provider of joy, united to us by the Lord, all hunger annuls;
Confirms by his grace devotion to the Lord, whereby each day is sung Divine laudation. (1)
My self ! be not forgetful, the Lord you contemplate.
Without the Master's guidance comes not liberation over the
three worlds;
By the Master's guidance is attained the Name Divine. (I-Pause)
Without devotion is not attained the holy Preceptor; P. 1172
Nor without good fortune Divine devotion.
Without good fortune is not attained holy company;
By grace is obtained the Name Divine. (2)
In each heart[5] concealed, creation He raises;
By guidance of the Master and men of holiness manifested.
Those repeating the Lord's Name in Divine devotion are dyed;
In their hearts abides the ambrosial Divine water of
the Name. (3)
Those granted exaltation by the Lord seated on the throne of devotion.
Are made into God-directed pre-eminent beings.
By touch of the philosopher's stone are they turned philosopher's stones themselves;
And said Nanak, to the Divine Enlightener united. (4) (4.12)

1. (Mystically, this implies the capacity to preserve purity, despite the fire of passion; and poise despite tempests of desire etc.).
2. Lit. What they have consumed.
3. Lit. is a tolā one instant and a māshā another. (These are small weights for weighing gold etc.)
4. Said metaphorically—holder of wealth of the Name.
5. Vessel.

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Couplets (Do-Tuke)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Māhā ruttīṇ mehṇ sada Basantu

Among months and seasons, God's devotees feel perpetual spring,[1]
That keeps all creation fresh.[2]
What may I, a mere worm express ?
None Thy extent[3] has discovered. (1)
Master ! he that serves Thee,
Thou Lord of the universe :
To Thee, the Divine Self[4] attains. (I-Pause)
By good fortune comes inspiration to devotion,
And by the Master's grace one to the world dies;[5]
Ever the holy Name utters;
Thus may man swim across the impassable ocean. (2)
Poision and amrita both by the Creator are made;
Both fruits on the tree of this world grow.
All in the Creator's hand lies—
Of each He gives us to eat as may please Him. (3)
Saith Nanak : On whomsoever falls His glance of grace,
Amrita of the Name on him He confers;
His evil inclinations stops—
Thus his will[6] fulfilling. (4) (1)

Rātei Sāchi Hari-Nāmi nihālā

Those in the holy Name of God dyed are in bliss :
Lord, gracious to the humble ! shower on them Thy mercy.
None my succourer is except He :
He saves as be His pleasure. (1)
To the Master, Preserver of the universe is my heart attached :
Without sight of him find I no rest :
May I by the Master's guidance, in spontaneous state find union. (I-Pause)

1. Basant.
2. Green.
3. Beginning and end.
4. Implies the Lord.
5. Dies while living.
6. Wish.

This mind, avaricious, by avarice is attached;
Forgetful of God, into great regrets is caught.
One from God alienated is united when in devotion dyed :
Devotion to the Name Divine comes by supreme good fortune on the forehead inscribed. (2)
This frame from air and water is made :
The malady of egoism, terrible agony on the frame inflicts.
Laudation of God by the Master's guidance, the remedy provides;
By grace does the Master to this malady bring cure. (3)
Four are the Rivers of Fire[1]—all four in the self flowing.
In desire and in egoism does man burn.
By the Master are saved those that are fortunate.
Saith Nanak : Such in their heart cherish Amrita of the Lord's devotion. (4) (2)

Hari Sevei so Hari kā logu

Whoever serves God, is a man of God;
In holy tranquillity abiding, from sorrow freed.
Egoists, indifferent to the Lord are as dead;
Dying, being born, dying again and again. (1) P. 1173
Such truly live as in their minds the Lord bear;
Truth they ever remember, in truth are absorbed. (I-Pause)
Those not serving the Lord, are from the Lord thrown far;
In various places wandering, dust over their heads thrown.
His devotees the Lord Himself to devotion attaches :
Ever in bliss they abide, from avarice exempt.[2] (2)
By the Lord's grace is pride annulled;
Such at the holy Portal are exalted;
The Lord they ever behold by their side,
And with the Master's Word feel fulfilled. (3)
All creation He cherishes;
By the Master's grace contemplate Him ever.
With honour they return to the holy Portal.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name comes exaltation. (4) (3)

Antari pūjā mana tei hoe

True worship from a sincere heart is done—
One such beholds none but the sole Supreme Being.
In duality has the world suffered much.

1. These are : Violence, attachment, avarice and wrath.
2. Bear not a sesame grain of greed.

The holy Preceptor to me has granted vision of the sole Supreme Being. (1)
The Lord ever is in bloom and perpetual spring.
The mind in bloom the Lord's praises chants. (I-Pause)
Ask the Way from your Guru and contemplate on God;
Thus may you feel devotion for the holy Lord.
Discarding egoism, assume the way of service;
Then may your Self to the Life of the Universe be attached. (2)
In devotion does one behold Him ever near;
The Lord is pervasive evermore.
Rare are such as of the mystery of devotion are aware :
All existence is the Lord, the Supreme Self. (3)
The holy Preceptor brings about union,
To the life of the universe the heart attaching :
Then are mind and body spontaneously verdant.
Saith Nanak : Such to the Name are constantly devoted. (4) (4)

Bhagati-Vachhalu Hari vasai mani āye

By the Master's grace, the Lord, Beloved of Devotees
Spontaneously in the self comes to abide.
By devotion done in freedom from egoism
Is union with holy truth found. (1)
The Lord's devotees in splendour shine at His Portal—
By devotion to the Master find they love for the holy Eternal. (I-Pause)
By devotion does man find purity;
By guidance of the Master's Word his egoism discarding.
Then does the holy Lord in his mind come to abide;
Ever serene, in tranquil joy is he absorbed. (2)
Those in truth dyed are ever in bloom of spring;
By contemplation of the Lord's qualities in mind and body verdant.
Without devotion to the Name is the world parched,
Burning time and again in fire of desire. (3)
Devotion by the Lord's favour in the devotee is inspired :
By submission to the Divine Will is his mind ever joyful.
By serving the Lord in spontaneous serenity, saith Nanak :
In the mind is the holy Name lodged. (4) (5)

Māyā mohu shabadi Jalāe

Let man in the holy Word burn Maya-attachment—
By devotion to the holy Preceptor must his mind and body bloom;

At the Portal Divine shall the tree of his devotion bear fruit—
True his utterance, with love for the Name inspired. (1)
The self spontaneously blooms, P. 1174 Bearing fruit of truth through devotion to the holy Preceptor. (I-Pause)
Himself is the Lord near and far :
By guidance of the Master's Word is He beheld ever near.
The devotee by the Master's guidance spontaneously blooms,
As does vegetation, casting thick shade. (2)
Should one laud God day and night evermore,
The holy Preceptor from within him shall cast off foul illusion—
Then shall the devotee behold in wonderful ecstasy the Divine play,
And by the Master's guidance obtain boon of the Name. (3)
Himself is He Creator and of all delights enjoyer;
All He Wills, must come to pass.
With the Supreme Bestower, without a grain of desire,
Saith Nanak, Union by living the Word comes. (4) (6)

Pūrai bhāgi sachu kār kamāvai

By great good fortune does man on truth act;
By contemplating the sole Supreme Being does he not take birth again;
Fruitful is his birth in the world—
By blessing of the holy Name in serene bliss absorbed. (1)
By the Master's guidance, act you in firm devotion.
To the Name Divine be devoted, your egoism discarding. (I-Pause)
Of such a servant of God the utterance is truthful,
That by aid of the Master's Word over the world spreads;
In all Four Ages is his good repute spread;
The servant in the Name dyed, gets known the world over. (2)
Some to the holy Word are constantly devoted—
These are made holy by their holy devotion.
On the holy Eternal they meditate, beholding Him ever before themselves;
These make themselves the dust of God's devotees' lotus feet, (3)
One sole Supreme Being is there, none other :
By guidance of the Master's Word comes union with Him.
Those that to truth are devoted, taste of holy joy.
Saith Nanak : In serene spontaneously, in the Name Divine are they absorbed. (4) (7)

Bhagati karehṇ jana dekhi hazūri

Seekers offer devotion, beholding God before themselves,
Making themselves dust of the lotus feet of God's devotees;
To the Lord are they constantly devoted;
From the holy Preceptor have they found realization. (1)
Rare is one that humbly serves God's devotees—
Exalted is his station. (I-Pause)
Worship the sole Supreme Being and no other—
From His worship comes joy everlasting.
Immortal, immutable is He :
Mother mine ! why serve other than He ? (2)
Holy are such as truth have realized.
Suppressing egoism, in serenity are they in the Name absorbed.
By the Master's guidance is devotion to the Name attained;
Thereby is their mind and repute rendered pure. (3)
Realize the Lord that illumination has granted.
By guidance of the holy Word know the Lord to be the sole Supreme.
Such realization from tasting joy in God comes.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dyed are truly holy. (4) (8)

Nāmi rattei kūlāṇ kā karehṇ ūdhāru

Those dyed in the Name their numerous generations save;
True their utterance, to the Name devoted;
Egoists misguided—to what purpose are they born ?
Forgetful of the Name, their life a waste ! (1) Man should die to the world;[1] by such dying should he make his dying hour blessed.
By the Master's word in his heart should he P. 1175 lodge truth. (I-Pause)
Of the God-directed truth is the sustenance; holy the self;
Pure their mind, treasury of merit are they.
Neither born nor do they die—
By the Master's grace in truth absorbed. (2)
Truth they realize and the holy Eternal serve :
Such by guidance of the Master's Word at the Portal Divine with distinction are marked.
At the holy Portal they gain noble repute,
And in their true home[2] lodgement find. (3)

1. Die while living.
2. The Divine Essence is implied.

Infallible, holy is the Lord :
All others into error fall, in duality face ignominy.
Serve the holy Lord by contemplation of the holy Word.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name comes absorption in holy truth. (4) (9)

Binu karmāṇ sabh bharmi bhūlāī

Without good fortune all into illusion stray;
From Maya-attachment into grievous suffering falling.
Egoists purblind no resting-place find—
Worms of filth, in filth absorbed. (1)
One submitting to the Divine Ordinance is approved of God;
By guidance of the Master's Word and the Name,
with distinction marked. (I-Pause)
Those predestined in Primal Time, in truth are dyed;
Their hearts ever in love with the Divine Name.
From devotion to the holy Master's Word comes joy everlasting;
With the Divine light thereby is their light merged. (2)
The sole Name Divine is saviour of all.
Devotion to the Name by the Master's grace arises.
None without devotion to the Name got liberation :
By guidance of the holy Preceptor is the Name acquired. (3)
Realization by His grace comes :
Service of the holy Preceptor devotion to the Name inspires.
Those realizing the Supreme are approved of God.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dyed at the Divine Portal with distinction are marked. (4) (10)

Kripā karei Satigūrū milāe

By Divine grace comes union with the holy Preceptor;
Then in the heart He takes abode;
Unshakeable becomes the understanding and forbearing the mind,
And the seeker takes to chanting praise of the Lord,
Treasure of Merit. (1)
Those forgetful of the Name die of poison,[1]
Wasted their life, in transmigration involved. (I-Pause)
With assuming numerous sectarian garbs comes not peace to the mind;
In excessive pride in ignominy are such involved.
Fortunate are those that the holy Word have realized,
And the truant mind to its true home devoted. (2)

1. Maya is implied.

In the self[1] are boons inaccessible, immeasurable;
These by the Master's teaching and contemplation of the Word are sought.
The Nine Treasures of the Name in the self are discovered.
Those finding it, ever in ecstasy are dyed, in truth absorbed. (3)
All by His Will happens; nothing in man's power lies.
Himself as He pleases, He provides union;
None from Him is near or far.
Saith Nanak : The holy Name[2] is everywhere pervasive. (4) (11)

Guru Shabdīṇ Hari cheti sūbhāe

By guidance of the Master's Word with serene mind, contemplate the Lord.
Thus with joy of the Name Divine shalt thou be filled;
And thy sins of million births shall end;
Dying to the world,[3] in the Name Divine shalt thou be absorbed. (1)
The Lord Himself knows the mystery how His gifts arrive :
By light of the Master's Word does the heart blossom
Uttering the holy Name of the Lord, P. 1176
Bestower of merit. (I-Pause)
Wandering about in ochre robes brings not liberation;
Nor by ritual restraints comes serenity of mind.
By the Master's teaching is attained the Name;
Such by supreme good fortune to the Lord attain. (2)
In Kali-Yuga from devotion to the holy Name comes exaltation.
The Name from the holy Master teaching is realized.
By being dyed in the Name comes joy everlasting.
Those without the Name in their egoism are consumed. (3)
By great good fortune comes contemplation on the holy Name :
By devotion to the Name Divine is all suffering annulled.
In the world without is spread He that in the heart is lodged.
Saith Nanak : All that exists, to the Creator is know. (4) (12)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Couplets (Ik-tuke)

Terā kīyā kiram jantu

I, a worm am Thy creature;
Teach me the Primal mantra which I may chant. (1)

---

1. Lit. Home.
2. The 'Name' is the mystic Divine Presence.
3. Lit. Dying while living

Mother mine ! His qualities would I expound and contemplate;
Uttering the Lord's Name, would I at His feet fall. (I-Pause)
By the Master's grace is inspired delight in the Name :
Man ! why waste life in acrimonious disputation ? (2)
By the Master's grace is illusion lifted,
As in serene contemplation is attained the Name Divine. (3)
Supreme over all, highest of tasks is contemplation
of the holy Word :
Thus Nanak the holy Name utters. (4) (1.13)

Banaspati maulī chaṛhiā Basantu

With spring is vegetation in bloom;
In the holy Preceptor's company has the mind blossomed. (1)
My forgetful mind ! on truth meditate;
Thus mayst thou find bliss. (I-Pause)
With the mind in bloom has come joy;
As the fruit of amrita, is the Name Divine attained. (2)
All speak of the One Supreme Being;
In realizing the Divine Ordinance lies knowledge of the
One Supreme. (3)
Nanak thus adjures : Let none utter a Word of egoism;
From the Lord comes all utterance and insight. (4) (2.14)

Sabhi jüg terei kītei hoe

All the ages[1] are Thy creation;
By the holy Preceptor's touch comes illumination and realization. (1)
The holy Lord grants union Himself;
The devotee by guidance of the Master's Word in the holy Name is absorbed. (I-Pause)
With spring in the mind, all the worlds appear in bloom—
Fruitful, blossoming in joy by blessing of the Name Divine. (2)
Perpetual spring is felt in contemplation of the Master's Word,
And cherishing in heart the Name Divine. (3)
Body and mind are in bloom when spring is in the heart :
Saith Nanak : The tree of the self thereby puts on fruit of devotion to the Name Divine. (4) (3.15)

Tin Basantu jo Hari-güṇa gāe

Those chanting the Lord's praises alone feel the joy of spring :

1. The Four Ages of the world are implied.

By Supreme good fortune comes inspiration to devotion to the Lord. (1)
When the self in duality is burning,
Not a tremor of spring touches it. (I-Pause)
The self, tried to worldly objectives, in action engages;
By Maya deluded, is it in Perpetual wailing. (2)
The self by touch of the holy Preceptor finds release—
Never after struck by Yama, agent of death. (3)
By the Master is the self granted release. P. 1177 Saith Nanak : Release comes as Maya-attachment by the holy Word is consumed. (4) (4.16)

Basantu chaṛhiyā phūlī banrāi

In bloom is vegetation at coming of spring;
All creation by devotion to tbe Lord is in bloom. (1)
Thus does the heart bloom :
By day and night contemplating the Name Divine;
By the Master's guidance casting off[2] egoism. (I-Pause)
As is listened the holy Preceptor's teaching, and devotion to the holy Word,
By grace of the Preceptor does the world bloom. (2)
Fruit and flower it puts on by Divine Will :
By devotion to the Root of All is the holy Preceptor met. (3)
He is Himself the Spring; the whole world is the orchard.
Saith Nanak : By good fortune comes inspiration to noble devotion. (4) (5.17)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

Hindol

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Guru kī bāṇī viṭṭoṇh vāriyā bhāī Guru shabda viṭṭoṇh bali jāi

Brother ! may I ever sacrifice unto Guru's teaching and Guru's Word.
Brother ! may I ever laud the holy Preceptor,
Fix my thoughts ever at his feet ! (1)
My self ! on the Name Divine fix thy thoughts;
Thereby shall thy mind and body be in bloom.

---

1. Wash off.
2. Exceptional.

And the reward of devotion to God's Sole Name shalt thou receive. (I-Pause)
Brother ! such are liberated as by the Master are saved,
By making them partake of the amrita of joy in God :
Brother ! thereby is annulled the malady of egoism,
And joy on the self is showered. (2)
Brother ! those granted release in Primal Time,
By the Divine Word to the Lord are united.
Brother ! by touch of the dust of their feet is release found,
As one enters holy company. (3)
Brother ! All happens by His Will by whom the whole world has blossomed.
Saith Nanak : Brother ! in devotion to Him are mind and body ever in bloom;
By the holy Word is union with Him found. (4) (1, 18, 12.18.30)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Couplets (Ik-tuke)
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jiūn pasarī sūraj kira̱ṉi joti

As is spread light of sun's rays,
Is pervasive completely the Lord in each being.[1] (1)
The Lord solely in all spots is pervasive.
Mother mine ! by the Master Word comes union with Him. (I-Pause)
In each being[1] is pervasive the Lord—
By union with the Master is the Sole Lord made manifest. (2)
The Sole Lord alone is all-pervasive;
The avaricious materialist[2] takes Him to be far. (3)
In each world is the Sole Lord pervasive.
Saith Nanak : All happens solely as by the Lord Willed. (4) (1)

Ray̱ṉi dinasu due saddei pae

Each night and day comes to us the call to depart,
My self ! contemplate the Lord, who in the last moment ever saves. (1)

1. Vessel.
2. Sākta.

My self ! the Lord ever contemplate :
Shattering all sloth and suffering have we attained the Lord; P. 1178
By the Master's guidance Divine laudation sing. (I-Pause)
Egoists whirling in transmigration, in their egoism die;
Destroyed by the demon of death, to Yama's demesne they depart. (2)
The God-directed in devotion to the Lord are fixed—
Their suffering of birth and death fled. (3)
The Lord to His devotees has shown grace :
By grace of Guru Nanak is the Lord attained. (4) (2)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Hindol
SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Rāma-Nāmu ratan koṭhṛī gaṛh mandari ek lūkānī

The jewel of the Name Divine in a chamber lies,
That in a citadel-mansion[1] is concealed.
By union with the holy Preceptor is it traced;
When attained, is light of the self in Divine effulgence merged. (1)
Lord ! with the holy grant me union,
At whose sight flee all sins and is attained the supreme state of purity. (I-Pause)
The five thieves[2] are robbing the city, and wealth of the Name Divine have carried off.
When by the Master's guidance traced, are these captured,
And the total wealth and capital saved. (2)
Efforts guided by hypocrisy and illusion have we performed to exhaustion,
Yet in the heart remains love for lucre.
By guidance of the holy, the Lord of all being have we attained;
Shattered is darkness of ignorance. (3)
The holy Preceptor in His grace with the Lord[3] brings about union;
Then comes peace to Nanak's mind,
And from the heart Divine laudation he sings. (4) (1.3)

1. Implies the body.
2. Implies the five sources of evil
3. (In the original occur three attributive names of God).

Tum Waḍ pūrakh waḍ agam gūsāīṇ ham kīrei kiram tūmanchhei
You are the supreme Being, inaccessible, Lord—
We petty worms, are yet Yours.
Lord compassionate to the humble, show grace; a touch of the holy Preceptor's feet we seek. (1)
Lord ! in Your grace to holy company unite me.
With impurity of multiple births are we filled :
Lord ! in union with holy company make me pure. (I-Pause)
Your devotee, be he high-caste or low-caste,
By contemplation of the Lord purifies the fallen.
Such the Lord over all the worlds has exalted;
The Lord repute to them has granted. (2)
Any, be he high-caste or low-caste, meditating on the Lord, Fulfilled are his objectives.
Blessed are such of the Lord's devotees, exalted and perfect,
As the Lord in heart have lodged. (3)
Hard pebbles are we, heavy with sin, Lord !
in Your grace grant us union.
Nanak, servant of God, by Divine grace the Master has attained,
Who us fallen ones has purified. (4) (2.4)

Merā iku khinu manūā rahi na sakai nit Hari Hari nām rasi gīdhei
Not for a moment find my mind rest, ever in joy of the Name Divine absorbed.
Like the child attracted in joy to the mother's breast,
As is the breast taken out, cries. (1)
Holy Lord ! with the Name Divine is my mind and body penetrated.
By great good fortune is attained the holy Preceptor,
Whereby inside the city of the body is P. 1179
the Lord found. (I-Pause)
Each breath of God's devotee is by pain of separation of the Lord penetrated,
Like the lotus that is in great love with water,
That without sight of water withers. (2)
The Lord's devotee the Name immaculate, puissant[1]
has contemplated,
And by the Master's teaching is the Lord manifested.

1. Narharī=man-lion.

Washed off is impurity of multiple births by ambrosial water of the Divine ocean. (3)
Lord ! reckon not our deeds; save Your servant's honour.
Should it please the Lord, may the Lord listen to his supplication—
Nanak, servant of God, on His shelter is fallen. (4) (3.5)

Mana khinu khinu bharami bharami bahu dhāvai tilu ghari nahen̤ wāsā pāīyai

The mind each instant in doubt rushes about and lodges not for an instant in its own home in realization.
The Master by the goad of the Word, medicine into its head has poured,
Whereby in its own home[1] is it lodged. (1)
Lord ! to holy company unite me that on the Lord I meditate.
May the malady of egoism go and joy be attained,
And in serene spontaneity may absorption
in the Lord come. (I-Pause)
In our home are stored numerous diamonds, rubies and pearls[2]—
The mind straying along, these cannot acquire.
Like the water-finder who the hidden water in an instant reveals,
Even thus the holy Preceptor the Divine substance provides. (2)
Doubly cursed is the life of those that such a holy Preceptor have not found.
The boon of human birth as reward of good deeds acquired,
That for a cowarie-shell is being wasted. (3)
Lord ! show Your grace—in Your grace with the Master grant union.
Nanak, servant of God by singing Divine laudation
in holy company,
The state of liberation has attained. (4) (4.6)

Āwan̲ jān̲u bhayā dūkhu bikhiyā deh manmūkh sūn̤jī sūnjn̤

The egoist in transmigration and suffering from evil remains involved,
His body bereft[3] of devotion.
Not for an instant the Name Divine has he contemplated;
At death Yama by the hair grips him. (1)

1. (As symbolized above).
2. Symbols for holy qualities.
3. (Implies a deserted house).

Lord ! from poision of egoism and avarice relieve me.
Lovable is the Master's holy company—in unison with holy company consume joy in God. (I-Pause)
In Your grace Lord, to holy and pure company unite me;
To shelter of the holy have I come.
Lord ! sinking stones that we are, take us out,
Thou who art compassionate to the humble,
shatterer of suffering. (2)
In your heart cherish Divine laudation;
By joining holy company illumination you acquire.
With the Name Divine have we fallen in love;
To the Lord are we a sacrifice. (3)
Lord ! fulfil our desires and illumine our mind with Thy Name;
Nanak, servant of God in body and mind is in bliss,
As the Master the spell of devotion has imparted. (4) (5.7.12.18.7.37)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 1180
Do-tuke (Double Couplets)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Guru sevauṇ kari namaskār

The Lord I serve, making to Him obeisance.
In our home[1] today is occasion of joy.
In our home today reigns supreme bliss,
As is gone anxiety and is met the Lord. (1)
In our home today is joy of spring,
As Lord without limit, Thy laudation we have sung. (I-Pause)
In our home today is frolic such as of Holi,[2]
Which in company with our companions in God have we celebrated.
Service to the holy is our Holi festival,
And the deep red dye of the Lord sticks to us. (2)
Our mind and body is in bloom, beyond compare,
That withers not in shade or sun.
In all seasons is it verdant :
Ever is it spring with us, by union with the holy Master. (3)

1. 'Home' here and subsequently symbolizes the self.
2. The spring festival of splashing colour in frolic.

Grown is the wish-fulfilling tree,[1]
Bearing flowers and fruit valuable as jewels.
By singing Divine laudation feel we fulfilled.
Nanak, servant of God, on the Lord meditates. (4) (1)

Haṭwāṇī dhan māl hāṭu kītu

As the shopkeeper, for wealth runs a shop;
As the gambler's heart in gambling is fixed;
As the drug addict by consuming intoxicants lives—
Even thus the Lord's devotee in meditating on the Lord finds life. (1)
All in their own passions are absorbed—
Involved with whatever the Lord in them has inspired. (I-Pause)
In time of rain dances the peacock;
At sight of the moon bloom the lotuses;
At sight of the child is the mother joyful—
Even thus God's devotee by contemplating the Lord finds life. (2)
The tiger ever by flesh food is attracted;
At sight of battle the hero feels delight.
The miser with wealth is in love—
Even thus God's servant in the Lord finds his prop. (3)
All joys in the sole joy in God lie.
All delights in devotion to the Name Divine are found.
Saith Nanak : This treasure comes to those
On whom the Master confers it. (4) (2)

Tisu Basantu jisu Prabhu kirpālu

Such alone feel the spring as have the Lord's grace.
Such alone feel the spring as have the Master's grace.
Such have joy as in the sole task of the devotion are engaged.
Such have perpetual spring as in heart bear the Name. (1)
In the home of such reckon the spring to abide,
As sing Divine laudation in God's tune. (I-Pause)
My self ! bloom thou in joy in the Supreme Being.
Enlightenment you acquire after learning of if from God's devotees.
Such alone perform true austerities as in holy company abide.
Ever abides in meditation one in love with the Master. (2)

---

1. Pārijāt.

Such are fearless as God's fear cherish.
Such are truly joyful as their doubt have banished.
Such are true recluses as have their heart in poise.
Such are immutable as rest in truth. (3)
One who quests after the Sole Lord and to the Sole
Lord is attached;
Who in heart bears love for the Lord's sight and touch of His feet,
Who serenely delights in love of God—
Nanak, servant of God, to such a devotee is a sacrifice. (4) (3)

Jīya Prāṉ Tüm pind dīn P. 1181

Life, breath and body have You granted;
Thoughtless beings have You made beautiful by placing
Your light within them.
All, Lord ! are beggars, You the gracious Provider.
Whoever Your Name contemplates, joy obtains. (1)
Beloved Lord, almighty,
From You all objects I receive. (I-Pause)
By contemplation of the Name comes liberation.
By contemplation of the Name comes essence of serene joy.
By contemplation of the Name is attained honour and repute.
In contemplation of the Name no impediment intervenes. (2)
Lord ! grant me the utterance
For which this body, hard to attain, is granted.
In holy company grant me the poise
Wherein from the heart Thy name I may utter. (3)
None other than Thee is real.
All is Thy play, finally into Thee merged.
Save me as be Thy Will.
Saith Nanak : By contact with the Master, perfectly-endowed is attained joy. (4) (4)

Prabh Prītam merai sangi Rāi

The beloved Lord; king is my side,
By whose sight, mother mine, find I life.
He by whose contemplation is ended[1] suffering,
In your grace to Him unite me. (1)

1. Comes not.

Beloved, prop of my life and mind,
My life and breath all is Thy property. (I-Pause)
He whom godly beings and deities quest after;
Whose mystery sages and shesha-nag[1] cannot penetrate;
Whose state and extent is beyond expression,
Is in each being pervasive. (2)
You whose devotees are all-joy;
Whose devotees from destruction is immune,
Whose devotees from fear is immune
Whose devotee ever is victorious. (3)
What part of Your praise[2] can be uttered ?
All-pervasive is the Lord, provider of joy.
Nanak one sole boon seeks :
In Your grace grant me devotion to the Name. (4) (5)

Mili pāṉī jiūṇ harei būṭ

As by touch of water plants grow green,
Even so in holy company comes release from egoism.
As the servant in protection of his Lord finds the prop,
Even thus the Master-preceptor saves the disciple (1)
Lord ! that art the provider, donor of boons,
Each instant to Thee obeisance I make. (I-Pause)
Whoever has holy company,
To the Supreme Being gets devoted.
Such from bonds are released.
Such devotees engaged in the true device of union supplicate Him. (2)
At His sight feel my eyes fulfilled,
And the tongue of His innumerable merits sings.
By the Master's grace is assuaged desire;[3]
And the mind by tasting of joy in God is satiated. (3)
God's servant in serving at His feet is engaged,
Who is the Primal Being, the Lord beyond limit.
Your Name is saviour of all :
This treasure has Nanak obtained. (4) (6)

Tum baḍ dātei dei rahei

You the Supreme Provider, perpetually granting boons,

1. The legendary serpent who from each of his thousand hoods utters a new name of the Lord.
2. Lib. Simile.
3. Thirst.

And in life and breath are pervasive.
All kinds of viands You grant for our consumption :
Yet I, ungrateful, admit not a single one of Your benefactions. (1)
Thy truth I know not.
Lord compassionate ! the Supreme state pray grant me. (I-Pause)
Utterance of the holy Name, austerities or acts of piety have I not performed; P. 1182
No ritual of religion to me is known.
In my heart one sole hope I cherish.
That by support of Thy Name liberation I may attain. (2)
Lord ! in exercise of all faculties are You perfect :
The fish finds not the extent of water of the ocean.
Inaccessible, higher than the highest is the Lord.
We so small, You so great. (3)
Those meditating on Thee are beyond need.
Those attaining Thee are truly wealthy.
Those serving Thee joyful remain.
Nanak under shelter of such of the holy places himself. (4) (7)

Tisu tūṇ sevi jini tūṇ kīyā

Serve Him who created thee.
Make supplication to Him who granted thee life.
Serve Him—then shall no penalty on thee fall.
Be thou His servant—then shall no suffering come to thee. (1)
Any being with such great luck endowed,
Such a state of liberation attains. (I-Pause)
In service of other than God is life wasted.
In this is no objective achieved.
Subordination to man leads to pain.
In service to the holy comes joy ever. (2)
Brother ! should you seek joy everlasting,
The Master for that has indicated company of the holy.
Therein is contemplated solely the Name.
In company of the holy comes liberation. (3)
The essence of all enlightenment is enlightenment about the self;
Of all meditation, meditation on the sole Lord is supreme.
The best of all tunes is to sing Divine praise.
Nanak in contact with the Master Divine laudation sings. (4) (8)

Jisu bolat mukhu pavit hoe

He, utterance of whose Name purifies the tongue,

Whose contemplation brings purity of repute,
Supplication to whom from Yama brings immunity,
By whose service are all boons attained. (1)
Utter thou Name of the Lord,
And discard all other concerns prompted by the mind. (I-Pause)
He who earth and sky has propped,
Whose light each being fills,
Whose contemplation brings purity to the fallen,
By which at the end comes not wailing. (2)
Such is the best of all religious practices,
And is above all ritual actions.
Engage in service to the holy congregation;
Sought after by godly beings and deities.
On whomsoever the Primal Supreme Being this boon has conferred,
The Divine treasure to him has been granted :
Beyond expression is the state and extent of such.
Nanak, servant of God, on the Lord meditates. (4) (9)

Mana tan bhītari lāgī pyās

My mind and body by passion[1] for the Lord are gripped.
The gracious Master this desire has fulfilled.
In holy company my sins has he annulled,
And involved in love of the Lord, the Name have
I contemplated. (1)
By grace of the Master is my state as spring :
In my heart his lotus feet have I lodged, and ever to Divine laudation listen. (I-Pause)
Lord almighty, maker of causes, P. 1183
I a helpless creature to Thy shelter have come.
All creatures by Thee propped.
Lord ! in Your grace save all. (2)
The Divine Being, annuller of worldly ties, shatterer of suffering—
In His service are godly beings, sages and human beings engaged.
He within whose power lies earth and sky,
All creatures by His bounty are fed. (3)
Lord gracious, controller of the inner self !
On Your servant confer bliss.
In Your grace grant me this bounty,
That Nanak in contemplation of Your Name find life. (4) (10)

---

1. Thirst.

Rāma-rangi sabh gayei pāp

By love for the Lord are all sins gone.
In contemplation of the Lord's Name no torment is felt.
By contemplation of the Lord is all darkness of ignorance effaced.
By contemplation of the Lord is transmigration annulled. (1)
In love of the Lord with us is perpetual spring,
As with the holy ever we keep company. (I-Pause)
The holy this teaching have imparted;
Blessed is the land where God's devotes abide.
A place without God's devotees is a wilderness.
By the Master's grace in each being behold Him. (2)
In singing Divine laudation lies joy and delight.
My self ! ever in committing sins hesitate.
Behold the Lord-Creator ever close to thee.
In this world and the next[1] is the Lord fulfiller of our objectives. (3)
On the Divine lotus feet is my meditation fixed.
In His grace has the Lord this boon conferred.
Dust of feet of thy devotees I seek.
Nanak, contemplate thou the Lord, ever by our side. (4) (11)

Sachu Paramsharu nit navāṇ

Holy is the Lord, unchangeable His glory.[2]
By the Master grace may I ever His Name utter.
The Lord is my keeper, mother and father,
In whose contemplation is felt no torment. (1)
May I with single mind and feeling on the Lord meditate.
With the Master, perfectly-endowed seek I shelter ever;
The holy Lord to His bosom has kept me clasped. (I-Pause)
The Lord His servant has saved Himself :
Evil-doers and agents of evil to exhaustion are tired.
Other than the holy Master no place of shelter is for me.
Sufferings to far off lands have fled. (2)
Consequences of deeds of egoists are not effaced;
What they have sown, they consume.
He Himself is His servant's saviour.
None His servant can menace.[3] (3)
The Lord by His own effort His servant saves :

---

1. In this spot and that.
2. Ever new.
3. Lit. Approach.

His glory is irrefrangible, perfect.
My tongue ever Divine laudation sings.
Nanak in meditation on the Divine feet finds life. (4) (12)

Guru-charan srevat dūkhu gaiyā

By serving at the Master's feet is suffering gone.
The Supreme Being, Lord, grace has shown.
Fulfilled are all objectives and achieved is success.
Nanak in contemplating the Name Divine finds life. (1)
Beautiful is the season wherein the Lord comes to mind.
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor the world wails—
The materialist[1] again and again into transmigration falls. (1-Pause)
Truly rich are those whose capital is the Lord. P. 1184
By the Master's Word are lust and wrath destroyed;
Shattered fears and achieved the state of fearlessness,
In union with the Master has Nanak on the Lord meditated. (2)
In holy congregation has the Lord taken lodgement.
By Divine contemplation are objectives fulfilled.
On water and land is He pervasive.
In union with the Master has Nanak the Lord's
Name uttered. (3)
Herein lie the Eight Achievements and the Nine Treasures[2]—
By good fortune comes devotion to the Name to whomsoever
He grants it.
Lord ! Thy servants in uttering Thy Name find life.
In union with the Master is lotus of the heart in bloom. (4) (13)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Couplets (Ek tuke)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sagal ichhāṇ japi pūnnīyāṇ

By contemplation of the Lord are all desires fulfilled;
As the Lord the long-separated ones to Himself has-united. (1)
Contemplate the Lord, worthy to contemplate,
Whereby comes enjoyment of serene happiness. (1-Pause)
In His grace, graciously has He cast His glance,
And Himself His servant has remembered. (2)

1. Sākta.
2. Asht Siddhi, Nav-Nidhi. Asht Siddhi are miraculous powers, such as changing form, growing in size at will, clairvoyance, controlling others etc.

Decked is the beautiful couch joyful,
In which has the Master of joy granted union to the self-female. (3)
My merits and demerits has He not reckoned.
Nanak at the Lord's feet has offered worship. (4) (1.14)

Kilbikh binasei gāe gunā

By chanting Divine laudation are sins shattered;
And each day has arisen the equable tune of joy. (1)
The heart by touch of the Lord's feet has blossomed.
In His grace has He granted contact with the holy, whereby ever in love of the Name Divine are we dyed. (I-Pause)
In His grace has the Lord manifested Himself.
The Lord, compassionate to the humble, attaching us to His lappet has saved us. (2)
As this mind dust of feet of the holy has become Ever the Lord it beholds before itself. (3)
Gone are lust, wrath and desire :
Saith Nanak, thus has the Lord's grace come. (4) (2.15)

Rog mitāe Prabhū āpi

The Lord Himself our maladies has annulled.
His children has He saved by a pat of His hand. (1)
In our home is peace, poise and everlasting spring.
To shelter of the Master, perfectly-endowed, image of felicity
Have we come chanting the Divine Word. (I-Pause)
The Lord Himself sorrows and torments has annulled,
As the Master ever we contemplate. (2)
Any who Thy Name repeats,
By singing Divine laudation unshaken, all objectives achieves. (3)
Saith Nanak : Such is the noble way of devotees—
The Divine Provider of joy they ever contemplate. (4) (3.16)

Hukamu kari kīnei nihāl

By His decree has He made us blessed,
As to His servant gracious He has grown. (1)
The Master, perfectly-endowed has brought all to perfection,
As the ambrosial Name in our heart He has placed. (I-Pause)
Imperfections of my ritual practice and piety has P. 1185
He not reckoned,
And grasping me by the arm, from the ocean of existence extricated me. (2)

The Lord, casting off our impurity has made us pure,
As to shelter of the Master, perfectly-endowed we have come. (3)
As the Lord perfectly-endowed has made us His own,
In His grace, saith Nanak, has He saved us. (4) (4.17)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dekhu phūl phūl phūlei

Behold the flowers of noble qualities blossoming,
As is egoism discarded.
To the Divine lotus feet are we attached.
Lord ! in our good fortune meet us !
My self ! the Lord contemplate. (Pause)
From tender blossoms arises thick fragrance.
Some have become dried up like firewood.
As comes the spring of spiritual joy,
The God-directed blossom forth. (1)
Now has come Kali-Yuga;
Sow you only the sole Name,
For no other crop is this the season—
Be not lost in delusions.
Whoever has good fortune on forehead inscribed,
In contact with the Master attains the Lord.
My self ! this is the season the Name to sow.
Nanak praise of Divine merits utters. (2) (18)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Sung in conjunction with Hindol
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hoe ikatra milahu meri bhāī

*Brethren ! all in unison meet,
And by absorption in God cast off duality.
In devotion to the Name Divine form pairs,[1]
And by the Master's guidance spread the dice-cloth. (1)
Brother ! thus make your throw.
Day and night by the Master's guidance the holy Name utter;
Thereby in the last moment shall you feel no torment. (1-Pause)

*Note : This hymn is built round the game of chaupar, the Indian chess.

1. Gaming partners are implied

Of actions of piety make the gambling square, of charity make the cubes.
Defeat lust, wrath, avarice and attachment—
Such gambling to the Lord is dear. (2)
On rising at dawn take bath, go to bed supplicating the Lord.
The holy Preceptor even in awkward throws grants success,
And in serene joy one returns home. (3)
The Lord Himself is the player, Himself He watches the game,
Himself has created the cosmos.[1]
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Whoever by the Master's guidance plays,
Returns home a victor in the game. (4) (1.19)

Terī küdrati tūṇhai jānehṇ auru na dūjā jānai

Thy might's operation to Thee alone is known;
no other of it knows.
Beloved ! such alone have realization of Thee
as have Thy grace. (1)
To Thy devotees am I a sacrifice.
Lord ! eternally beautiful is Thy abode; limitless
Thy wondrous doings. (I-Pause)
Service to Thee by Thy grace alone is performed;
None else has power to perform it.
Thy devotees alone please Thee, on whom
Thy love Thou dost confer. (2)
Thou the Supreme Donor, supremely wise— P. 1186 none else beside Thee.
Lord ! Thou art almighty—thy way to Thy worship
I know not. (3)
Beloved ! beyond our knowledge is Thy Mansion;
hard to carry out Thy Will.
Saith Nanak : At Thy Portal am I fallen in supplication;
Save me, thoughtless, ignorant one. (4) (2.20)

Mūlu na būjhai āpu na sūjhai bharami biyāpī aham mani

Man realizes not his essence, sees not his self, by delusion and egoism gripped. (1)
Lord, Master, supreme Being, Father !
Save me, devoid of merit. (I-Pause)

---

1. Lit. The arrangements for gambling.

Creation and dissolution by the Lord are made—
Thus have God's devotees contemplated. (2)
Those dyed in love of the Name Divine, in Kali-Yuga are reckoned joyful. (3)
Saith Nanak : No other device can I think of—
By guidance of the Master's Word alone are we saved. (4) (3.21)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Guru Tegh Bahadur
Hindol
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sādho ihu tanu mithyā jānou

Devotees of God ! know this body to be unreal.
Know the Lord abiding within it alone to be real. (I-Pause)
This world is dream-substance—why of it be proud ?
None of it shall accompany you—why to it cling ? (1)
Discarding praise and calumny of others both,
In your heart put Divine laudation.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : The Sole Supreme Being,
the Lord in all beings is pervasive. (2) (1)

Pāpī hīyai maiṇ kāmu basāe

In the sinful heart lodges lust :
Hence the restless mind no way is stilled.[1] (I-Pause)
Be it Yogis, wandering ascetics, and those practising renunciation—
Over all is thrown this noose. (1)
Those that the Name contemplate,
The ocean of existence cross. (2)
Nanak, servant of God, the Lord's shelter seeks.
Pray grant devotion to the Name, that Divine laudation
he ever sing. (3) (2)

Māī maiṇ dhanu pāiyo Hari-Nāmu

Mother mine ! wealth of the Name Divine have I attained.
My mind from rushing about is released, and in poise has settled. (I-Pause)
Lure of Maya and avarice has left the body;
Arisen is pure illumination.
Avarice and attachment now cannot touch it,
As devotion to the Lord it has grasped. (1)

---

1. Grasped.

As is attained jewel of the Name, lifted is accumulated doubt of multiple births.
Desire all from the mind is ended[1]
And in joy in the self am I absorbed. (2)
Whoever has grace of the Ocean of Grace, Divine laudation sings, Saith Nanak : Such wealth a rare God-directed[2]
one attains. (3) (3)

Mana kahā bisāriyo Rāma-nāmu

My self ! why hast thou of the Name Divine grown unmindful ?
As is the body shattered, comes encounter with Yama. (I-Pause)
This world is a mountain of smoke— P. 1187
By what reasoning hast thou taken it to be real ? (1)
Know, wealth, woman property and house—
None shall accompany thee. (2)
Devotion to the Lord alone shall thy companion be.
Saith Nanak : In single-minded attachment to Him be devoted. (3) (4)

Kahā bhūlio rei jhūthei lobh lāg

Man ! in attachment to false greed why art thou deluded ?
Nothing is yet lost—be awake. (I-Pause)
Know this world to be even as a dream.
Believe this to be true : In an instant is it shattered. (1)
The Lord ever by thee abides.
Friend ! night and day to Him be devoted. (2)
At the last moment shall He thy helper be.
Saith Nanak : His laudation thou sing. (3) (5)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Ashtpadiān (Octets) Quatrains (Dotukīyān)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jagu Kaūwā Nāmu nahīn chīti

The world is crow-like, without contemplation of the Name :
Forgetful of the Name, for feed it falls.
The mind is unsteady, caught in immoral thinking.
This has made me snap my attachment to the world. (1)

1. Lit. Shattered.
2. Gurumukh.

Of evil passions of lust and wrath hard is the burden.
How without the Name can noble qualities arise ? (I-Pause)
Man's body is a house of sand standing amid a whirlpool.
Behold, it is the making of a bubble in rain.
From a drop has it been made, as vessels from turn of the potter's wheel :
All other powers are slaves to the Name. (2)
Creator of all, Divine Enlightener, you who are supreme over all,
Touching Your feet devotion to Thee I practise.
Seek I to be imbued with the Name,
Those going along in life and concealing the Name, are thieves. (3)
By tying[1] poison in one's lappet one loses honour.
Those devoted to the holy Name return to their true home with honour.
What the Lord has done, is His own Will.
Mother mine ! whoever entertains fear of God,
fearless becomes. (4)
The woman seeks fine delights,
As betel, flowers, sweet pleasure—all which are maladies.
All playfulness and pleasure when taken away only bring us much sorrow.
By seeking shelter with the Lord all happens as desired. (5)
Clothes excessively decked she wears :
Pampered the clay, by decking itself into evil passions falls.
Desire and attachment have barred the door to God.
Without devotion to the Name is one's house and portal as deserted. (6)
Go, daughter—princess !
Repeat God's Name, at dawn decking yourself with truth.
Propped by love of the Lord, the Divine Beloved serve.
By the Master's Word assuage thirst for worldly poison. (7)
Divine charmer ! my heart hast Thou captivated.
By the Master's Word art Thou realized.
Saith Nanak : Lord, standing at Thy Portal Thee we seek.
Show grace that by Thy Name content come to me. (8) (1)

Manu bhūlou bharmasi āe jāe

The mind lost in delusion, in transmigration moves,
By Maya hard to overcome attracted;

1. Lit. Putting.

In love for the sole Lord not poised,
Like the fish with the hook struck in throat. (1)
The deluded mind by the holy Name illumination acquires,
As is it poised, the Master's Word P. 1188
it contemplates. (I-Pause)
The mind deluded like the humming-bee wanders about;
Attracted to apertures,[1] to worthless evils it inclines;
By lust caught elephant-like,
Tied stiff with blows on head. (2)
The thoughtless mind, devoid of devotion is frog-like;
Devoid of the Name is it repudiated, cursed at the Divine Portal.
Without caste and honour are such, none mentioning their name;
Without merit, sufferings their only companions. (3)
Lest the mind should wander about, keep it restrained.
Withont love of joy in God comes not honour or credit.
Thou art all-knowing and our guardian.
The Lord props the earth and Himself watches over it. (4)
Himself He casts delusion; to whom to make the plaint ?
Mother mine ! should the Master be met, to him
my state shall I relate.
Evil qualities discard and practise good.
One dyed in the Master's Word in truth is absorbed. (5)
By contact with the holy Preceptor is understanding exalted.
The mind it purifies and washes of egoism.
Then is one everlastingly emancipated, never again bound,
Ever uttering the Name, nothing else. (6)
The mind by Divine decree wanders about.
In all beings abides the Sole Lord—nothing else can one say.
All by Divine decree happens, by Divine decree reabsorbed.
Suffering and joy by His Will comes. (7)
Infallible art Thou, forgetful never.
To whomsoever is the Master's Word imparted, limitless his understanding becomes.
The great Lord Thou, in the holy Word abiding.
Saith Nanak : By laudation of Truth is the mind faith-inspired. (8) (2)

---

1. (The body's apertures pertaining to lust).

Darshan ki pyās jisu nar hoe

Whoever for sight of the Lord thirsts,
In the Sole Lord is absorbed, casting off duality.
His pain gone, amrita he churns and quaffs,
And absorbed in the Sole Lord, by the Master's guidance has realization. (1)
Vast numbers of beings for Thy sight cry in agony :
A rare one, to the holy Word united, realization attains. (I-Pause)
Vedas[1] expound Him, affirming, utter the Sole Name.
Limitless is He, His limit who can find ?
One is the sole Creator, who the world has made;
And without propping strength, the sky has fixed. (2)
Whoever the holy word has uttered, of the Sole Lord has enlightenment and meditation.
The Lord is from Maya-taint free, inexpressible His discourse.
The Sole Word is His holy manifestation,
That from the Master, perfectly-endowed is learnt. (3)
One sole is the form of righteousness, should one hold firm the truth;
Such a one guided by the Master, age after age stays perfect.
The God-directed one that in the mystic unstruck sound is solely absorbed,
To the inaccessible, endless Lord attains. (4)
One Sole is the throne, one the Divine Monarch,
In all spots above need—
The essence of the three worlds His creation :
Inaccessible, unknowable, the Sole Supreme Being.[2] (5)
One and sole is the Supreme Being,[3] holy His Name.
With Him[4] is determined true justice.
By Holy doing comes honour and approval,
Whereby one at the eternal portal is honoured. (6)
Devotion and love to Him alone is true—
Without such devotion and love occurs transmigration.
By realization from the Master acquired, let man abide P. 1189 in the World as a guest.
The devotee dyed in joy in God finds approval. (7)

---

1. (Stands here for scriptures of India in general).
2. Ekankār-Ek Oankār, implies the Supreme Being that is sole and without attributes.
3. Form, image.
4. There.

In all spots Him I behold—and in poise contemplate Him.
Lord ! other than Thee none I cherish.
Saith Nanak : Egoism by the holy Word is burnt away, Whereby the holy Preceptor the eternal vision has shown. (8) (3)

Chanchalu chītu na pāwai pārā

The restless mind finds not the Lord's extent,
And without intermission in transmigration remains caught.
Lord Creator ! by the mind's restlessness comes excessive suffering and death :
Other than the Divine Belóved none is our cherisher. (1)
All beings are noble—whom to call low ?
By devotion to the Lord is my mind in the Name Eternal fixed. (I-Pause)
Medicines[1] have I tried to exhaustion :
How without the Master's help would the malady[2] go ?
Without devotion to the Lord come multiple sufferings.
Lord, who dost send suffering and joy, (2)
In this great malady how may patience come ?
The Master who this malady knows, its suffering shall annul.
My mind and body with demerits is full.
Brother ! After great search is met the Master. (3)
The Master's Word, the Name Divine is the true medicine.
I abide as Thou dost keep me.
The whole world is malady-gripped—to whom shall I show my ailment ?
Lord ! immaculate art Thou, immaculate Thy Name. (4) Whoever in the self the Divine abode[3] beholds and make manifest,
Is an inmate of the Master's mansion and to the Divine Mansion calls others.
Those that behold the self within the self and in their consciousness the true enlightenment,
Such of the Lord's devotees, to the world are unattached. (5)
These untouched by pleasure and sorrow abide,
And tasting of amrita, in the Name Divine are lodged,

1. Implies devices of worship.
2. Duality, Māyā attachment is implied.
3. Home within the home.

Realizing the self, in the Lord they keep absorbed,
And by the Master's guidance making life fruitful, their suffering is cast off. (6)
Amrita of truth granted by the Master I quaff;
In serene state to the ego am I dead, live the true life.
Should the Masters be so pleased, on our head, place your hand.[1]
Whoever to you is devoted, in you is absorbed. (7)
One indulging in pleasures by suffering and maladies is gripped.
To one transcending these, the Lord in each being is visible and pervasive.
By the Master's Word is such a one untouched
by pleasure and suffering.
Saith Nanak : By love of the heart the Name
he contemplates. (8) (4)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Couplets (Ek-tukiyān)

Matu bhasam andhūlei gurabi jāhi

Thou who by ashes on thy limbs art blinded, lest into pride thou fall.
Thou half-naked medicant, thus comes not Yoga. (1)
Thoughtless man ! why the Name Divine hast thou put out of mind,
That in the last moment shall aid thee ? (I-Pause)
You too contemplate after consulting the Master :
Wherever you look, is He who holds the earth in hand. (2)
What can I say when I am as nothing ?
Pride of caste and honour all in devotion to Thee lies. (3)
Why at sight of wealth and substance be proud ?
At departure nothing shall be thine.[2] (4)
Suppressing the[3] five evils, keep the mind poised.
In this lies strength of Yoga-praxis (5)
Thy mind by tether of egism is tied.
Thoughtless man, the Lord thou dost not contemplate, who liberation grants. (6)
Beware lest by being forgetful of the Lord, in Yama's power thou fall.

1. That is, in benediction and protection.
2. Be of use or help.
3. Destroying.

Thoughtless man ! at the last moment thus shalt thou buffets receive. (7)
By contemplation of the Master's Word goes off egoism P. 1190
And Yoga of truth in the mind lodgement finds. (8)
He who conferred on thee life and body, thou contemplates not.
Thoughtless man, in worship of tombs and cremation-spots lies not Yoga. (9)
Nanak utters the holy Word, full of merit,
Look with your eyes and have realization of the Lord. (10) (5)

Dūbidhā dūrmati andhūlī kār

Duality and foul thinking is blind action.
The egoist in a dust-storm is wandering. (1)
With blind mind one to blind thinking is attached,
Without actions guided by the Master doubt flees not. (I-Pause)
To the egoist purblind the Master's teaching appeals not.
Turned animal, his pride goes not. (2)
Eighty-four lakh species has He created—
By the Lord's Will are these created and reabsorbed. (3)
The whole world is deluded, deprived of the holy Word and good deeds.
Such alone have realization as by Creator are instructed. (4)
The Master's servants are pleasing to the Lord;
Saved by Him, placed beyond obligation to Yama. (5)
Such as love the sole Lord from heart,
He to Himself unties, and their doubt removes. (6)
The Creator above need, beyond end and limit,
By truth is pleased. (7)
Saith Nanak : The deluded by the Master are instructed.
Of the Sole Lord He grants vision, and in truth fixes the mind. (8) (6)

Āpei bhaṇwarā phūl beili

Himself is He the humming-bird, flower and the creeper;
Himself with the holy congregation grants union. (1)
Thou humming bird,[1] take in thus the fragrance
That trees be ever in bloom and woods be ever green to thee. (I-Pause)
Himself is He Lakshmi and her consort.[2]

1. Symbol for the seeker.
2. Stands for Vishnū, an aspect of the Supreme Being.

Himself by His Ordinance[1] the universe makes,
Himself of it has enjoyment. (2)
Himself the calf, the cow and milk;
Himself the body's mansion, and pillar.[2] (3)
Himself Doer almighty.
Himself the God-inspired one contemplating it. (4)
Divine Doer ! Thou dost make creation and watch over it,
And the light of countless beings dost sustain. (5)
Thou the Pool, the Ocean and Treasure of merits;
Unborn, immaculate, the supreme jewel. (6)
Thou art the Creator almighty;
Monarch unattached; happy all Thy worlds. (7)
Nanak by joy of the Name Divine is fulfilled.
Life without devotion to the beloved Divine Master is wasted. (8) (7)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Hindol
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nau sat chaudah tīni chāri kari mahlati chāri bahālī

The Nine continents, seven lands, fourteen worlds, three qualities, Four Yugas, hast Thou created.
And through four processes of birth in the Mansion of the universe
Hast these settled.
In turn hast Thou granted it the Four Vedas for lamps,
And the chariots of the four Yugas. (1)
Gracious Lord, destroyer of evil-doers,[3] Lord of felicity,[4] such is Your might. (I-Pause)
In each being is Thy light that is Thy host—
Dharma is appointed its chief.
The earth is the couldron from which a portion to each is assigned once for all;
Destiny is Thy dispenser of largesse. (2)
Man discontented asks for more— P. 1191
His restless mind bringing him ignominy.
Greed is the dark dungeon; evil qualities fetters on the feet. (3)
What he gains[5] is constant blows of the mace;

1. Shabda.
2. Implies life-breath.
3. Madhūsūdan.
4. Mādho=Mādhav.
5. (Lit. His capital).

His sin the prefect of police administering chastizement.[1]
Lord ! man is good or bad as be Your glance over him. (4)
The Primal Supreme Being[2] is now known as Allah—
This is the age of the Muslim divines.
Temples and deities of Hindus are taxed—such is the current practice. (5)
Now is the age of the pitcher of Muhammadan ablution, the Muhammadan call to prayer, Namaz and its prayer-mat;
The Lord now is figured as wearing blue.[3]
In each home is each one addressed by the Muhammadan honorific of Mian—
A strange lingo have you[4] now adopted. (6)
Thou that art Lord, Master of the earth, its overlord, what power have we ?
Creatures in all four directions to Thee shall still make obeisance,[5]
In each home shall Your laudation be sung. (7)
The gain got from bathing at holy spots, study of Simritis.[6] and dispensing charity,
Saith Nanak, comes by exaltation
Through the Lord's contemplation of an hour. (8) (1.8)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

Hindol

Score 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kāṇyā nagari iku bālaku wasiyā khinu palu thiru na rahāī

In the city of the body lives a child,[7] that for an instant, a moment
Is not in poise.
Despite innumerable devices and efforts,
Again and again it wanders. (1)
Lord ! this child pray being into the sole house of poise.

1. Kotwāri=Kotwāli (Kotwāl is the prefect of police).
2. Purakh=Purusha.
3. (This would be the Muhammadan colour).
4. (This may be addressed to God or to the Hindus of those days, out to please their Muhammadan masters).
5. Salām, the Muhammadan salutation.
6. Texts of Hindu codes.
7. Implies the mind.

By contact with the holy Preceptor is attained the Lord,
perfection incarnate,
As is practised devotion to the Name Divine that is manifest. (I-Pause)
All over the world is that body as a dead heap,
Wherein is not lodged the Name Divine.
The Master water of the Name Divine has into it poured,
Whereby has it grown green and joyous.[1] (2)
In the body have I closely looked and searched—the Master therein a wonder has shown.
Materialists[2] to exhaustion have looked for Him abroad—
In my home by the Master's teaching have
I attained the Lord. (3)
The Lord to the humblest has shown grace, even as Krishna came to Bidur's[3] home.
As Sudama[4] met Krishna with devotion,
Before homecoming was his poverty annulled and into Krishna was he absorbed. (4)
Great is the honour of devotion to the Name Divine,
That the Lord Himself guards, Should all reprobates[5] show malice not a grain of it is diminished. (5)
God's devotee by the Name Divine gets lauded; in ten directions his repute spreads.
This is the calumniators and reprobates a whit cannot bear—
To their own homes they apply the cinder. (6)
As devotee meets devotee, nobility he attains,
The qualities of one in the other absorbed.
Devotees that turn His humble slaves, are loved of the Lord,
dear to His heart. (7)
The Lord without limit creates water of being;
Himself He brings about union.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance spontaneously
He brings about union.
As water merging with water. (8) (1.9)

1. Juicy.
2. Sākta.
3. A low-caste devotee.
4. Another devotee of Krishna, a poor Brahmin.
5. Sākta.

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev P. 1192
(Do-tukīyān) (Quatrains)
Score 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the Holy Preceptor's Grace
Sūṉi sākhī mana japi piyār

By listening to the narrative of the holy the mind to repetition of the Name is devoted.
Ajamal by uttering God's Name once only was saved.
Balmik[1] too the holy congregation entered.
The Lord manifestly met Dhruva. (1)
I seek dust of feet of Thy devotees,
That on my forehead I may rub; this is Your grace grant. (I-Pause)
The courtesan Ganika was saved as her parrot uttered God's Name.
The elephant on the Lord meditated, and by Him was saved.
Of the Brahmin Sudaman[2] was shattered poverty.
My Self ! thou too to the Lord be devoted. (2)
Even Krishna's murderer that wielded the arrow was saved; Kubija[3] the hump-backed by placing the Lord's foot on her thumb was saved.
Bidur[4] for his humility was saved :
My self : Thou too to the Lord be devoted. (3)
The Lord Himself saved Prahlad's honour;
Of Draupadi[5] as she was being stripped, He saved the honour.
Such as at the last moment served Him, were saved :
My self ! thou too serve Him and cross the ocean of existence. (4)
Dhanna[6] served Him with child-like simplicity.
Trilochan[7] by contact with the Master success obtained.
Beni[7] by the Master was illumination granted.
My self ! Thou too be God's servant. (5)
Jaidev[7] his egoism discarded.
Sain[7] the barber was by serving the Lord saved.

Note : (In this hymn all through are mentioned well-known devotees of God, who through their devotion to the Lord found liberation).

1. A robber and low-caste man who turned a rishi.
2. A devotee of Krishna.
3. A woman saved by Krishna.
4. A low-caste devotee of Krishna.
5. The Pāndava Princess, sought to be disrobed in open court by Duryodhana.
6. A simple peasant (Jāt) who turned saint.
7. Names of Bhaktas.

Nowhere was the mind of these devotees shaken.
My self ! thou too by taking shelter with the Lord shalt be saved. (6)
Such of the devotees as by the Lord were shown grace,
Were by Him saved—
Their merits and demerits He reckoned not.
Beholding such state is my mind in the Lord's service engaged. (7)
Kabir with constant devotion on Him meditated.
Namdev with the Lord abided.
Ravidas too on the incomparable Lord meditated.
Guru Nanak Dev is the very image of the Lord. (8) (1)

Anik janam bharamei joni māheṇ

For innumerable births in species have we wandered[1] :
Without contemplation of the Lord into hell[2] fallen.
One without devotion is cut to pieces.
Without realization comes Yama's chastizement. (1)
Friend ! ever to the Lord be devoted.
With the holy Word be ever in love. (I-Pause)
By no effort comes content—
The entire show of Maya is like cloud of smoke.
Man from doing evil shrinks not,
Intoxicated with poison into transmigration falling. (2)
By raising hubbub in egoism evil-doing has increase.
The world by avarice and attachment is ruined.
Lust and wrath have the mind subdued,
Even in the dream has man not uttered the Name Divine. (3)
Man sometimes is rich as a king, sometimes a beggar :
The world by suffering and pleasure is bound.
In man's mind comes not the effort to get liberation;
Bondage of sin ever on him falling. (4)
Dear friend, none else is our helper :
Man consumes what he sows himself.
That which brings on evil-doing, P. 1193
The thoughtless creature leaves behind. (5)
Man involved in Maya-attachment much wanders about;
And according to his recorded deeds in actions engages.

1. That is, have transmigrated.
2. (Transmigration is pictured as hell).

The real Doer is Himself unattached;
The Lord by good and evils is not touched. (6)
Gracious Lord ! save me.
Thou who art perfect in grace, Thy shelter I seek.
Other than Thee no place of shelter is for us.
Lord ! in Your grace grant me devotion to the Name. (7)
Thou art the true Doer, source of all doing,
All-high, limitless.
In Your grace to Your lappet attach me.
God's servant Nanak, with the Lord seeks shelter. (8) (2)

Vār in the Measure Basant—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari kā Nāmu dhiyāe kai hohu hariyā bhāī

Brother ! by meditation on the Name Divine be thou in bloom.[2]
This agreeable season of devotion according to recorded deeds is attained.
The amrita-fruit of devotion have we obtained, whereby
In contact with the holy arises joy and cast off is blackness of evil.
Nanak the Sole Name Divine contemplates,
Whereafter no more wandering in transmigration comes. (1)
By seeking God's holy prop the five puissant evils have I bound.
The Lord stood by and to His feet inspired devotion.
Gone are maladies and sufferings, and ever is the self fresh, strong.
Meditating day and night on God, death visits it not.
Saith Nanak : Then does self merge with what it arose from. (2)
Whence arising, where abiding, into what merges the self ?
All creatures are the Lord's—who shall evaluate them ?
Devotees that ever utter the Name, on the Lord
meditate, listen to the Name,
An aspect of beauty wear.
The Lord is inaccessible, unknowable—none to equal Him.
The Master, perfectly-endowed the truth has expounded, that Nanak relates. (3) (1)

---

1. Implies of course, God.
2. Verdant, green.

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of Bhaktas

The Venerable Kabir

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Maulī dhartī mauliyā akāshu

Abloom is the earth, abloom the sky.[1]
Each being with light of the self is ablaze.[2] (1)
The Divine Monarh in various moods of love in creation is abloom :
Wherever I look, is he pervasive. (I-Pause)
In the second place, are abloom the Four Vedas by the Divine might;
So the Simritis[3] along with the Koran.[4] (2)
Abloom is Shiva in Yoga-meditation.
Kabir's Lord in all beings is equally pervasive. (3) (1)

Pandit jana mātei paṛhi Pūrān

Brahmins with the study of Puranas are intoxicated;
Yogis in Yoga-meditation are intoxicated.
Those practising renunciation are by their egoism intoxicated.
Those practising austerities are by the secret attainment of austerity intoxicated. (1)
All by Maya-intoxication are overwhelmed; none is awake :
Close to them thieves of evil their home are robbing. (I-Pause)
Awake are Sukdev[5] and Akrur,[6]
Awake is Hanuman[7] bearing his long tail.
Shiva by performing service at God's feet is awake.
In Kaliyuga are awake Namdev[8] and Jaidev,[9] (2) P. 1194
Many are the forms of waking and sleeping.
Whoever by the Master's guidance wakes, is noble.

---

1. (This the atmosphere of Basant, season of spring).
2. Lit. Abloom.
3. Hindu books of code and ritual.
4. Kateb (Kitāb=Book) is especially applied to the Korān.
   Note : Intoxication (pride) sleeping and waking are herein used in the esoteric, metaphorical sense.
5. Brahmā's son.
6. A devotee of Krishna.
7. The monkey-god, devotee of Rāma.
8. A Bhakta from Maharashtra.
9. The great poet of Krishna-Bhaktī, who flourished in Bengal in the thirteenth century.

Many are the tasks performed by this body.
Saith kabir : To the Name Divine be devoted. (3) (2)

Joe Khasamu hai jāiyā

The mind by Maya, the wife and the husband,
God is brought forth.
The father this son has indulged.
Maya, though without udders, has sucked him milk.[1] (1)
Folks ! behold this marvel of Kaliyuga :
The son, his mother Maya has taken in wedlock. (I-Pause)
Without feet he capers about;
Without mouth laughs loud.
Man without feeling sleepy[2] yet is asleep;
And without a churn is churning milk.[3] (2)
The cow Maya without udders is yielding milk.[4]
Without, distance,[5] yet long for the self is the way.
The true path without the holy Preceptor is not found.
Saith Kabir : He alone points it out. (3) (3)

Prahlād pathāe paṛhansāl

Prahlad to school was sent.
Many children became his associates and companions,
And said, "Why teach me this rigmarole" ?
On my tablet write the Lord's Name. (1)
Sire ! the Name Divine shall I not discard.
With no other kind of study am I concerned. (I-Pause)
The pedagogues Sanda and Marka reported this to the king :
Immediately he sent for Prahlad,
And said : Give up thy way of devotion to God's Name.
Obey me, else soon shall I make thee give it up. (2)
Replied Prahlad : Why harass me time and again ?
The Lord has created hills and mountains.
God shall I not give up : thus will the preceptor be traduced.
Burn me if you so desire or kill me. (3)
The father unsheathing this sword was in a rage of anger,
And said : Tell me, who is thy saviour now ?

1. Symbolizes worldly pleasures.
2. That is, being essentially Divine, yet is lured to sleep of ignorance by Mā ā
3. Symbolizes useless worldly actions.
4. Worldly pleasures.
5. Distance from God is implied.

The Lord in full mighty form from the pillar came forth,
And with His claws tore Harnakash[1] apart. (4)
The Supreme Being, Lord of all deities,
For the sake of His devotees assumed the Man-lion[2] form.
Saith Kabir : None His extent can realize.
Devotees like Prahlad innumerable times has He saved. (5) (4)

Isu tan mana maddhei madan chor

Inside the body are lurking thieve like lust,
Who have taken away my illumination's jewel.
Lord ! helpless am I; to whom shall I complain ?
How many have not been thus ruined ? what am I ? (1)
Lord ! unbearable is this terrible suffering.
What power have I against the mind's clever thinking ? (1-Pause)
Sanak, Sanandan and Sukdev, Brahma's sons;
Brahma himself, born from navel of the lotus,
Makers of verses,[3] and Yogis wearing matted locks—
All passed their time avoiding fear of lust. (2)
Thou art unfathomable, Thy depth to me unknown.
Lord, protector of the humble, to whom shall I express my suffering ?
Grant me poise in my suffering of transmigration.
Kabir ! contemplate thou merits of the Ocean of Joy. (3) (5)

Nāiku eku banjārei pānch

One is the merchant-prince,[4] five[5] the dealers,
Twenty-five tendencies are the pack-oxen—
Unreliable is this caravan.
Nine the bamboo-poles[6] and ten are the sacks,
To which are attached seventy-two ropes.[7] (1)
With such merchandize have I no concern,
Wherein capital ever decreases and interest mounts. (Pause) P. 1195
These entered into business with threads of seven colours,[8]
Taking with them feelings made by their deeds.

1. Prahlād's demon father, Harinyakashyapu.
2. Nar-Singh.
3. Implies the wise.
4. The mind is implied.
5. The five sources of evil.
6. These were meant for making packages.
7. The principal arteries.
8. The various elements constituting the body.

The three tax-gatherer[1] are making contention,
And the merchant empty-handed has left. (2)
Lost is the capital; shattered is commerce.
And the caravan in ten directions lies shattered.
Saith Kabir : By faith shall come success;
As the self in poise is absorbed and fled are doubts. (3) (6)

In the Measure Basantu
Hindol
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Mātā jūṭhī pitā bhī jūṭhā jūṭhei hī phal lāgei

Impure is man's mother, impure the father;
Impure the fruit these bear.
Their coming into the world false, false their going—
Unfortunate ones; in impurity they die. (1)
Tell Brahmin ! what spot is pure
Where sitting, my food I may take ? (I-Pause)
Foul is man's tongue, foul the utterance, foul ears and eyes.
The foulness of lust goes not; thou Brahmin consumed by fire of pride. (2)
Impure is the fire, impure the water; impure those cooking the food.
By impure ladles served; impure those consuming it. (3)
Impure the cow-dung,[2] impure the cooking-square, impure the lines drawn.[3]
Saith Kabir : Such alone are pure in whose mind pure contemplation has entered. (4) (1.7)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of the Venerable Ramanand
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Kat jāīyai rei ghar lāgo rangu

What need to go anywhere ? In my home[4] itself find I joy.
My mind now no more wanders, and is become

---

1. The Three Qualities (See Glossary).
2. (This was the usual plaster for kitchens).
3. (These marked the cooking-space wherein another could not enter).
4. Symbolizes the self.

as one maimed in the leg.[1] (I-Pause)
On a certain day the desire arose in my heart,
And rubbing sandalwood, attar and numerous fragrant objects.
To offer worship went[2] I to the Lord's temple.
The Master made the Lord manifest in my mind itself. (1)
Wherever we go, only water and stone[3] we find :
Thou in all beings art equally pervasive.
Vedas and Puranas all have we searched—
One might go there, if He were not here. (2)
Holy Preceptor ! to thee am I a sacrifice,
Who all my sorrows and douhts hast annulled.
Saith Ramanand : All-pervasive is the Lord, the Supreme Being;
The Master's Word consequences of millions of deeds annuls. (3) (1)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of the Venerable Namdev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sāhibu saṇkatvai sevaku bhajjai

Should the Master cause trouble and the servant flee, Such a servant lives not long and to his two generations brings shame. (1)
Thy devotion shall I not discard, even though the world at me laugh.
The Divine lotus feet in my heart abide. (I-Pause)
As for his wealth man even decides to die,
Even thus the holy discard not the Name Divine. (2)
To go to Ganga, Gaya[4] and Godavari[5] is the world's way : P. 1196
Nama[6] would be reckoned a true servant of the Lord,
Should He be pleased with him. (3) (1)

Lobh Lahari ati nījhar bājai

Avarice's waves are constantly sounding,
In which Lord ! this body is drowning. (1)
Lord ! take me across the ocean of existence :
Divine father[7] ! take me across it ! (I-Pause)

1. That is, is satiationary, poised.
2. (Here the verb is feminine, symbolizing the seeker as female).
3. That is, water-edges and stone temples.
4. A holy place in Bihār.
5. A river in the South considered holy.
6. Short for Nāmdev.
7. Bīthal=Vīthal, one of the names of Vishnū symbolizing God.

In this tempest of wind my boat I cannot row :
Lord ! Thy extent have I not found. (2)
Lord ! in Your grace to the holy Preceptor unite me,
That he may take me across. (3)
Saith Nama[1] : I know not how to swim.
Lord ! with Thy arm succour me. (4) (2)

Sahaj awwali dhūṛi maṇī gāḍī chālīī

The Cart[2] laden with dust at first slowly moves.
From behind destiny made by deeds with a reed drives it along. (1)
As a bit of cow-dung by an insect is dragged along,
So is life force of deeds dragged along.
Full of devotion the understanding to wash herself goes along to the Pool
That is holy congregation. (I-Pause)
The washerman that is the Preceptor,
Full of pang of love for God, washes her clean of attachment and rancour.
My mind in love of the Divine feet is dyed. (2)
Saith Namdev : Thou who art all-pervasive,
To Your devotee show compassion. (3) (3)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of the Venerable Ravidas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tūjhai sūjhantā kachhū nāhen

Nothing canst thou see[3] :
Beholding thy vesture[4] in pride dost raise thyself.
No place with God is there for the proud.
Over thy head is cawing the crow of death. (1)
Mad woman ! what art thou proud of ?
Like mushrooms in the rainy month,[5] or even quicker than that art thou ended. (I-Pause)
Man is like the musk-deer that its own secret has not found;
That in its own body bearing fragranee of musk Looks for it without.

---

1. Short for Nāmdev.
2. Symbol for the human body.
3. Used metaphorically for thought and discrimination.
4. Also interpreted as the vesture of the body;
5. Bhādon (August-September).

Whoever his own self contemplates,
By Yama's minions is not dishonoured. (2)
Whoever is proud of progeny and wife,
The Lord his reckoning calls.
My self ! suffering for thy deeds done shalt thou bear :
Then on whom shalt thou call as friend[1] ? (3)
Shouldst thou take shelter with the holy,
Millions of Thy sins annulled shall be.
Saith Ravidas : Whoever the Name contemplates,
From disabilities of caste and birth shall be exempt and from transmigration be freed. (4) (1)

In the Measure Basantu—Composition of the Venerable Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sūrah kī jaisī terī chāl

Measured like a cow's is thy gait.
Over thy tail are shining hair. (1)
Whatever in this home is lying that mayst thou search and eat.
To another's home go not. (I-Pause)
The quern art thou licking, eating flour.
Where art carrying the mill-rag ? (2)
Over the cupboard net is thy gaze fixed.
Beware lest a stick or rod on thy back fall. (3)
Saith Kabir : Ample enjoyment hast thou had.
Beware lest someone hit thee with a brick or clod. (4) (1)

---

1. Beloved.
   Note : This hymn appears to be addressed to a dog, strayed into Kabir's house and sniffing around, picking up food. It has also an esoteric meaning. Man is like a dog, greedy. For enjoyment, the pleasures of this life, he may receive Yama's buffets (last couplet).
2. Chhīkā, a net-like object suspended from the roof to keep food articles safe.

RAGA SARANG

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 1197

Chaupade (Quartets)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being; Immanent Creator, Above Fear; Above Rancour; Form Eternal; Unincarnated; Self-created; Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

Apunei Thākur kī hauṇ cherī

Of the Lord am I a handmaid.
Feet of the Lord, life of the universe have I grasped,
And my egoism have destroyed, ended. (I-Pause)
The Supreme Lord, perfection incarnate, supreme effulgence, Beloved of my life.
The Divine charmer, my heart has charmed—
By contemplation of the holy Word realized. (1)
The low egoist, of understanding shallow and foul,
Racked with agony is his mind and body.
After entering into love for the Lord, full of delights,
By contemplation the Lord, is my mind in poise. (2)
Since discarding egoism am I grown unattached,[1]
And pure realization in my self is absorbed.
As the mind in faith for the immaculate, uncreated
Lord is fixed,
Restraints of convention have I discarded. (3)
Beloved, prop of life; in the past or future none is like You.
The self female dyed in the Name Divine is of eternally blessed matrimony :
Saith Nanak, the Lord is her spouse. (4) (1)

Hari binu kiun rahīyai dukhu biyāpai

How without the Lord to live ? Suffering thereby appears.
Without joy in God is the tongue[2] without delight, tasteless,

---

1. Bairāgan—fem. for bairāgī (Vairāgī), one who is unattached to the world.
2. Used metaphorically for the faculties.

And death torments. (I-Pause)
Without obtaining sight of the Divine Beloved,
the self-female hungry, thirsty remains.
At sight of the Lord is the mind full of faith, and is sapful and abloom as the lotus in water. (1)
As low clouds thunder and rain; are kokilas and peacocks full of the love passion;
Delighted are trees, oxen, birds and serpents—
At home[1] with the beloved Spouse is the woman in bliss. (2)
The self-female that is filthy, foul-looking, fallen from womanhood, ill-mannered,
The beloved's way has not realized.
Of joy, delight and happiness in the Lord has she not tasted to satiety;
By foul understanding sufferings in her self absorbed. (3)
Saith Nanak : One that by the Lord's grace has joy spontaneous,
At His sight is her heart in poise,
Such a one transmigrates not, suffers not, her body from suffering and pain free. (4) (2)

Dūri nāhīṇ mero Prabhu piyārā

The beloved Lord is not remote.
As my mind in the holy Preceptor's Word has put faith,
Is attained the Lord, prop of life. (I-Pause)
By such device does the female[2] with the Spouse[3] P. 1198 have union,
And has the husband's[3] love.
By contemplation of the Word, by the Master's teaching
Is lifted doubt created by caste, race and clan. (1)
Whoever has a mind full of faith, is no more full of pride,
And violence and avarice discards.
The female spontaneously then has bliss with her beloved Spouse,
Decked by the Master's teaching with love for Him. (2)
I would burn attachment to family and relations, that is only expanse of Maya-involvement.
Whoever has not love for joy in God, duality-filled, evil are his actions. (3)

---

1. Symbol for the heart.
2. Symbol for the seeker.
3. Symbol for the Lord.

Whoever bears within the jewel and substance of love,
Such a beloved jewel of the Lord remains not hidden.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance the Name invaluable
Eternally within herself she bears. (4) (3)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari kei sant janāṇ kī ham dhūri

Dust of feet of God's devotees am I.
By joining the holy congregation the supreme state
have I attained,
And the Divine self realized to be pervasive. (I-Pause)
By contact with the holy Preceptor, devotee of God, have we attained serenity,
And are all sins and suffering annulled, cast off.
Abloom is light of the self : the Supreme Being immaculate have I beheld to be by me. (1)
By supreme good fortune is attained the holy congregation,
And the Divine manifestation[1] seen to be all-pervasive.
Immersion in dust of feet of the holy congregation equals bathing
at the sixty-eight holy spots, (2)
Impure is the heart of anyone involved with false attachments.
Foul his understanding, full of evil-doing, impure, shallow his thinking.
How without good deeds may holy company be attained ?
Pervasive then is egoism, making he mind full of anxiety. (3)
Show grace, Lord ! for dust of feet of the holy congregation I beg.
Saith Nanak : By contact with the holy is attained the Lord;
By contact with God's devotees is the Lord's presence realized. (4) (1)

Gobind charan kau balihārī

To the Lord's feet am I a sacrifice.
Impassable is existence's ocean; by contemplation of the Lord crossed. (I-Pause)
In the heart is aroused love for the Lord; the mind contemplating service to Him.

---

1. Nām.

Each day in your heart contemplate the Name Divine,
That is repository of all might,[1] bringer of benefits. (1)
The Lord inaccessible, unknowable in all spots is pervasive;
Mind and body by the Lord, inaccessible, illimitable are pervaded.
By grace the Lord is attained the Lord.
In the heart is realized the Lord unknowable. (2)
In the heart is realized the Name Divine, prop of the earth;
To the reprobate,[2] full of egoism appear He far.
Never is assuaged his burning desire[3]—such a one on a gamble his turn has forfeited. (3)
By even a particle of the Master's grace, the devotee in all states[4] Divine laudation sings.
Saith Nanak : Those having His glance of grace, P. 1199
have their honour protected. (4) (2)

Hari Hari amrit Nāmu dehu Piyārei

Beloved Lord ! grant devotion to amrita of the Name.
The faithful, who to Your heart have appealed, fulfilled are their objectives. (I-Pause)
Those who before the Master have shown meekness, ended is their suffering;
Such day after day before the Master practise devotion,
By the Master's Word exalted. (1)
In their hearts such bear joy of Amrita;[5] with their tongues sing Divine laudation and contemplate it.
By the Master's grace joy of Amrita of the holy Word
have they contemplated,
And the door of liberation attained. (2)
The holy Preceptor is a being pre-eminent,
Of mind poised and understanding unshakeable,
Who by firm faith in the Name is propped.
To him my life I dedicated; to him am I a sacrifice. (3)
Egoists in doubt caught, to duality are attached;
Within them darkness of ignorance.
The holy Preceptor, provider of boons they behold not;
Between the two shores suspended. (4)

1. Various faculties.
2. Sākta.
3. Thirst.
4. Rising and sitting.
5. Symbolizes devotion, the Name.

The Lord in each being[1] is pervasive; Master of all faculties,
His might exercising.
Nanak, servant of His servants prays : in
Your grace save me ! (5) (3)

Gobind kī aisī kār kamāe

Serve the Lord in such way :
Whatever be His Will, that know to be right, and by the Master's guidance to the Name remain devoted. (I-Pause)
As is aroused sweet love for the Lord, is all else forgotten.
Day after day is the mind full of joy in faith, its light in the Divine Light merged. (1)
By singing Divine laudation is the mind fulfilled, and peace in it comes to abide.
By the Master's grace is attained the Lord, and at His feet is the Mind's devotion fixed. (2)
As is understanding illumined, is the Lord meditated on
And enlightened devotion in the Divine Essence fixed,
As within is manifested illumination, is the mind fixed in faith,
And serene absorption in the Lord practised. (3)
A person bearing falsehood in heart, falsehood ever practises,
Though by the tongue uttering the Lord's Name.
Within him is the great darkness of avarice;
Such a one like chaff, is flailed, consuming fruit of suffering. (4)
As is pleased the Lord, by the Master's guidance illumination He grants.
Saith Nanak : The Name immaculate have I attained.
And by contemplation of the Name attained joy. (5) (4)

Merā manu Rāma-Nāmi manu mānī

My heart in faith to the Name Divine is fixed.
In my heart has the holy preceptor kindled devotion,
And Divine discourse to it has become pleasing. (I-Pause)
Lord ! to the humble devotee be gracious, and to him grant the inexpressible discourse.
God's devotees in unison joy in the Lord have attained;
The Lord to their mind and body tastes sweet. (1)
Those dyed in devotion to the Lord are the true anchorites,

1. Vessel.

Who by the Master's guidance the Name have realized.
As the self with the Divine self is merged,
ended is transmigration. (2)
In my eyes is yearning to behold the Lord; in the tongue to utter the Name. P. 1200
In my ears is yearning to listen day and night to Divine laudation;
In my heart is love for the Lord. (3)
As the Master the five evils has subdued, in the state of absorption is devotion to the Name fixed.
As the Lord to His servant Nanak showed grace,
In the Name Divine is he absorbed. (4) (5)

Japi mana Rām-Nāmu paṛhu sāru

My self ! the Name Divine contemplate, and study the Divine Essence.
Without devotion to the Name Divine none finds poise;
Fruitless is all other expanse of objects (I-Pause)
Mad man ! what to grasp and what to discard out of the World ?
All that is visible is as dust.
The poison that you take to be your own, that shall you leave behind.
Bearing on your head burden of sin. (1)
Each moment, each instant[1] is life[2] decreasing—
This, ignorant man realizes not.
The reprobate[3] does what shall not last with him—such is his conduct. (2)
Mad man ! join holy company; then shalt thou attain liberation's door.
Without joining holy company no one joy has attained—
Enquire this of those contemplating scriptures.[4] (3)
Monarchs and princes all must depart,
Leaving behind this false expanse.
Saith Nanak : Ever are God's devotees poised, immutable,
Who prop of the Name Divine seek. (4) (6)

1. (As much time as a sesame-grain).
2. Lit. The appointed period.
3. Sākta.
4. Vedās.

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Duos (Düpadei)
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kāhei pūt jhagrat han sangi bāp

*My son ! why with your father make contention ?
He who brought you to birth and maturity,
Sin it is with him to contend. (I-Pause)
Wealth that you are so proud of, with none lasts.[1]
In an instant poisonous Maya—pleasures desert, and then come regrets. (1)
Contemplate you the Lord who is your Master.
Nanak, servant of God thus instructs you :
Should you listen to it, will your agony be ended, (2) (1.7)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Duos (Düpdei) in Variable rhythm (Partāl)
SCORE 5
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Japi mana Jagannāth jagadīsharo jagjīvano

My self ! contemplate the Lord of the universe, the Supreme Lord, life of the universe.
With the Divine Charmer am I in love;
In the Lord find I my prop, each day and night. (I-Pause)
Innumerable are those singing the Lord's praise His laudation.
Lord ! beyond count are Suk,[2] Narada[3] and deities like Brahma who Your laudation sing.
Lord ! limitless, limitless are Thou—
Thy device to Thee alone known. (1)
Those abiding close to the Lord, are the holy, His devotees.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Such with P. 1201
the Lord are merged,
As water merged with Water. (2) (1.8)

Note* : This hymn is said to be addressed by Guru Ram Das to eldest son Pirthi Chand, who took offence at being passed over in succession to Guruship.

1. Lit. Belongs to no one.
2. A rishī.
3. Brahmā's son.

Japi mana Narharei Narhar Swāmī Hari sagal Dev-devā
Sri Rāma Rāma Nāmā Hari Prītamu morā

My self ! contemplate the puissant Lord,[1] of all deities master,
The Lord, my beloved. (I-Pause)
The home wherein is sung Divine laudation, the concert of five instruments there sounds—
Its denizens have good fortune on forehead inscribed.
Of these are fled sins and evils and maladies;
Gone are their lust, wrath, avarice, attachment and pride;
The Lord the five thieves[2] out of them has driven off. (1)
God's devotees ! the Lord's Name utter;
The Lord of the universe contemplate.
With thought, word and deeds to the Lord make supplication,
You that are the Lord's devotees.
Repeat the Lord's Name that all sins destroys.
Keep ever awake;[3] by contemplation of the Lord comes joy everlasting.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Such their heart's desire obtain,
Such as righteousness, wealth, pleasures and liberation :
Lord ! Thy devotee with Thee finds union. (2) (2.9)

Japi mana Mādho Madhusūdano Hari Srirango Paramesharo
Sati Paramesharo Prabhu antarjāmī

My self ! contemplate the Lord of felicity,[4] destroyer of evil-doers,
He who with the goddess of felicity dallies, the Supreme Lord eternal,
Controller of the inner self.
Sing laudation of the Divine Beloved, destroyer of suffering,
Donor of all joys. (I-Pause)
The Lord in each being,[5] on water and land abides;
Each spot His abode :
To behold the Lord I yearn.
Devotees of God ! would that a holy servant of God,
Servant of my Beloved, were to come
And show me the way.
Feet of such a one at meeting would I wash. (1)

---

1. Nar-Harī.
2. The Five sources of evil.
3. That is, awake in spirit.
4. This and the attributes following are from tradition.
5. Vessel.

The Lord His servant has met; met through his devotion,
By the Master's guidance met.
On beholding the Divine Monarch is my mind and body in joy.
Nanak the Lord's grace has obtained; grace of Lord of the Universe.
Day after day ever the Name Divine have I repeated. (2) (3.10)

Japi mana nirbhau

My self ! the Lord above fear thou contemplate.[1]
The everlasting, eternal, contemplate.
The Lord above rancour, form eternal contemplate :
The Lord unincarnated, self-created contemplate.
My self ! each day on the Formless Lord, above need of sustenance meditate. (I-Pause)
For a sight of the Lord wander over river-banks and holy bathing-spots fasting,
Thirty-three crore deities, Siddhas,[2] celibates, Yogis.
Such alone have their devotion made fruitful
As have the Lord's grace. (1)
Such of the holy are good, such of the devotees are exalted
As the Lord, destroyer of evil-doers[3] have pleased.
Saith Nanak : Those who have the Lord's support, P. 1202
Their honour He exalts. (2) (4.11)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Of variable rhythm (Partāl)

Japi mana Govindu Hari-Govind guṇī-nidhānu sabh srishṭi kā Prabho merei mana Hari boli Hari Pūrakhu abināshī

My self ! contemplate the Lord of the universe, the Supreme Lord,[4]
Storehouse of merit, master of all creation.
My self ! utter name of the immanent, immortal Lord. (I-Pause)
The Name Divine is amrita : such the Lord's amrita quaff
As by the Lord are this offered.
Whomsoever the Lord in His grace to the holy Preceptor unites,
Of the Name Divine has taste. (1)
Who so serves ever the Lord,
Gone is all his suffering, doubt and fear.

1. In this portion occur phrases from Mūl Mantra.
2. Accomplished Yogis.
3. Murārī, an attributive name.
4. Hari-Govind.

Nanak, servant of God, in utterance, of the Name finds life,
As the Chatrik[1] that by a sip of water is fulfilled. (2) (5.12)

Japi mana Sirī Rāmu

My self ! the holy Lord thou contemplate
The Lord pervasive everywhere, eternal ever.
Brother ! utter ever name of the Lord, all-pervasive,
all-knowing. (I-Pause)
The Lord does all; over the whole universe is pervasive.
Whoever has the Lord's grace, to the Name Divine in devotion
is attached. (1)
Devotees of God ! behold merit of the Name of the Lord,
Who in Kali-Yuga's fire His devotee's honour protects.
The Divine Monarch His servant Nanak has upheld,
Whereby are all foes and ill-wishers fled. (2) (6.13)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Quartets (Chaupade)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Satiguru mūrati kau bali jāoṇ

To the vision[2] of the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice.
Within me is yearning[3] like the chatrik's : when may
I have sight of the Lord, that all desires fulfils ? (I-Pause) Cherisher of the humble, cherisher of all creation, lover of devotees is the Lord's Name.
Whoever by none else[4] is propped, by Him is succoured. (1)
Thou art support of the unsupported; honour of those without honour,
Shelter of the shelterless.
In all ten directions wherever I go, art Thou by my side
Thy laudation my action and deed. (2)
From Thy sole aspect dost Thou turn numerous;[5]
From the numerous[5] turnst sole—
Beyond expression is Thy state and measure.

---

1. A tiny bird, thirsting after rain-water; symbol of yearning in love.
2. Mūrati=Form.
3. Thirts.
4. Any living being.
5. Lakh.

Endless Thou, unattainable Thy measure—all that is visible
Thy play. (3)
May I attain company of the holy,
With them make converse, to them be devoted.
Nanak, servant of God, by the Master's guidance has attained Thee :
Lord ! grant Thy Light, such is my yearning. (4) (1)

Hari jīo antarjāmī jān

The Lord is controller of the inner self, all-knowing.
Evil done that from man is concealed, the Lord in past and future[1] is the witness. (I-Pause)
One may be called Vaishnava,[2] perform the six ritual deeds,[3]
Yet within may bear false avarice.
Those calumniating the holy congregation, in their ignorance
are ruined. (1)
Some take self cooked food,[4] but take away other's property, P. 1203
Carrying within false pride.
The way of scriptures[5] they know not, by pride of mind
gripped. (2)
At the evening hour they keep fasts
All a mere show like the juggler's tricks.
Should the Lord in man induce error, set him astray,
Fruitless are all his ritual deeds. (3)
He alone is truly enlightened, learned, who the Lord's grace has.
Such a one by service to the Master the supreme state
has attained;
Through him is the whole world saved. (4)
What can we utter ? the way of utterance we know not,
And speak as be the Lord's Will.
Dust of feet of the holy congregation I seek;
Nanak, servant of God, with Him has taken shelter. (5) (2)

Ab moro nāchano raho

Now is my straying[6] ended :
The Beloved colourful spontaneously have I found—

1. Pawān, a variation of Dhawān=future.
2. A sect puritanical in its ritual.
3. (These are : study, teaching, receiving and giving charity, performing and arranging sacrifices).
4. (Some sects insist on this as an act of extreme purity).
5. Shāstras and Vedas.
6. Lit. Dancing.

By the holy Preceptor's Word attained. (I-Pause)
Like a virgin am I who in smiles and laughter, discourses of her beloved spouse to her sister-friend.
As enters the spouse home, in modesty her face she covers. (1)
As gold put in crucible wanders about like mad, such is man.
But when purified and made twelve-carat, poise it attains. (2)
While life during day and night lasts, is struck the gong, announcing moments, hours and instants.
When departs the gongman, no more sound it makes. (3)
As is the pot filled with water, separate the volume of water appears.
Saith Nanak : As is the pot put into water,
Its water into the body of water mingles. (4) (3)

Ab pūchhei kyā khāṇ

What answer shall I make as the Lord makes query ?
Madman, who the Name, noble amrita—elixir was to utter,
By Maya-poison is gripped. (I-Pause)
Human birth hard to attain, after a long period have I found;
Yet for a cowrie-shell is it wasted.
Man came to trade in musk; yet has loaded himself like an ox with alkaline dust. (1)
To earn profit into the world he arrived, yet with deluding
Maya's charm got involved.
For glass has he lost a jewel—when will this occasion again arise ? (2)
All faults have we, without one merit :
Discarding the Master, the handmaid Maya we worship.
As comes the final silence, like senseless objects man grows;
And by Yama is chastized as thief caught on the gap made by him. (3)
No other device suggests itself in humility[1] on the Lord's shelter we fall.
Saith Nanak : My self; then alone shalt thou find release,
As effacing evils thou cast them out. (4) (4)

Māī dhīri rahī Prīya bahutu birāgiyo

Mother mine ! exhausted is my patience :
In separation from the Beloved am I in agony :

1. As a slave.

To pleasures of various kinds, beyond compare, am I not inclined. (I-Pause)
Night and day with my tongue the Beloved's Name I utter;
Not a wink of sleep comes; ever I keep awake.
Necklaces, collyrium, raiment, innumerable kinds of make-up—
Without the Beloved all seems poison. (1)
In humility queries I make; will someone tell me of the Beloved's country ? P. 1204
To such a one shall I give my heart, dedicate my mind and body;
Place over his feet my head. (2)
Without recompense your slave am I; at your feet
I make obeisance :
For this I supplicate : Grant me company of the holy.
In your grace to the Lord unite me;
For an instant His sight grant me. (3)
As came the Lord's glance of grace, within my heart He entered,
And each day was my mind joy-cooled.
Saith Nanak : Joyfully have we sung paeans of felicity,
And sounded is mystic music.[1] (4) (5)

Māī sati sati sati Hari sati sati sati sādhā

Mother mine ! holy is the Lord, holy His devotees.
The Word uttered by the Master, perfectly-endowed, in a tight packet have I bound. (I-Pause)
Night and day and the constellations shall all be destroyed;
So shall sun and moon.
Mountains, the earth, water and air shall vanish—
The word of the holy alone shall eternally last. (1)
Destroyed shall be the egg-born, placenta-born, the atmosphere-born and perspiration-born.[2]
Destroyed shall be the four Vedas, the six systems[3]
Immutable shall alone be the word of the holy. (2)
Destroyed shall be the qualities of energy, sloth and intellect.[4]
All that is visible shall be destroyed—
The word of the holy alone shall be limitless. (3)
He alone is real; all existence His visible play;

1. Shabda anāhad=unstruck music.
2. (These are the traditionally-accepted sources of creation).
3. Refers to the Shāstras, the systems of Indian philosophy.
4. (These are the Three Qualities, for which also see the Glossary).

By no device attainable,
Saith Nanak : By union with the Master attained. (4) (6)

Merei mani bāsibo Guru-Gobind

In my heart lodges the Divine Enlightener.
Wherever is contemplated the Lord, that city with joy and bliss is filled. (I-Pause)
Wherever is the beloved Lord put out of mind,
There is all suffering and affliction.
Wherever is sung Divine laudation, image of bliss and felicity,
There abides joy and plenty. (1)
Wherever the ear listens not to Divine discourse,
That spot is like a frightful forest.
Wherever is sung Divine laudation in joy amidst the holy congregation,
There is heavy fragrance and joy of delectable fruit. (2)
Should any one without Divine remembrance live for years
millionfold,
Fruitless is all his life.
With one moment of devotion to the Lord
Is attained eternal life. (3)
Attain the Lord's shelter, may He in His grace grant company of the holy.
Saith Nanak : In all beings is He pervasive;
The way of attaining all qualities to Him known. (4) (7)

Ab mohe Rāma-bharosau pāye

Now the Lord's prop have I attained :
Whoever shelter of the Lord, treasure of compassion has sought,
Across the ocean of the existence is taken. (I-Pause)
Absorbed in poise, in joy have I slept, as my doubts by the Master are annulled.
Whatever I sought, the Lord has done; and the heart's objectives[1] attained. (1)
In the heart contemplate Him; with the eyes on Him meditate
With the ears to His discourse listen.
With your feet tread the Lord's way; with the tongue sing
Divine laudation. (2) P. 1205
With the eyes have I beheld all as pictures of joy,
As the holy my mind from the world have turned.

1. Fruit.

The invaluable gem of the Lord have I attained,
That no way would from me be parted. (3)
What the praise, what glorification, what recounting of qualities Whereby may He be pleased ?
Saith Nanak, servant of God : To whomsoever of the humble
the Lord shows grace,
His humble slave[1] becomes. (4) (8)

Ue sükh kā siüṇ barani sünāwat

To whom may this joy be narrated,
As in bliss and pleasure at sight of the Lord the mind in felicity His laudation sings ? (I-Pause)
With wonder was I struck to behold the wondrous Lord, gracious, all-pervasive.
Amrita of the invaluable Name then I quaffed,
Tasting it like the dumb that only can smile. (1)
Like the air of breath that in the body is bound,
Whose secret of inhalation and exhalation one understands not—
Whoever has heart illuminated by the Lord,
Indescribable is his state. (2)
Whatever other devices are described, those have I learnt :
As the Divine jewel spontaneously in my home is manifested
Has come understanding of the Inaccessible. (3)
The formless Lord, unattributed, eternal,
Is immeasurable, beyond computation.
Saith Nanak : Whoever the state of bliss beyond capacity to bear has experienced,
Alone can have joy of it. (4) (9)

Bikhaī dinu rayni iv hī güdārai

One given to evil courses in this manner passes days and nights.
Intoxicated by egoistic understanding, to the Lord is He not devoted.
Forfeiting his life as in gambling. (I-Pause)
To the Name invaluable not attached, calumny of others pleases him :
Like one who arranging straws makes a thatch,
Yet at the door lights fire. (1)
A packet of alkaline sand on the head he carries,

1. Slave of slaves.

And amrita casts off from mind.
Fallen into collyrium, clothes has He put on
That again and again he dusts. (2)
Standing on branch, the tree he cuts;
And eating fruit of sin smiles.
Into the lower regions he falls, each twig a burden over his head. (3)
Stupid person that he is, towards the rancourless devotees rancour he practises, Whom he no way can equal.
Saith Nanak : The Supreme Being, Formless, is succourer of the holy. (4) (10)

Awari sabhi bhūlei bhramat na jāniyā

All others in illusion one lost, of realization deprived.
Whoever the pure Word[1] in hearts has lodged, essence of scriptures[2] has realized. (I-Pause)
All done in the worldly way is to please people.
As long as illumination enters not the heart, all is pitch darkness. (1)
Though the soil in manifold ways be prepared, without the seed nothing will grow :
Even so, without devotion to the Name Divine shall liberation not come;
Nor pride be shattered. (2)
One may churn water with all hard effort, yet how may butter be obtained ?
Even so, without contact with the Master comes not liberation;
Nor union with the Lord. (3)
After constant search thus have we determined : P. 1206
All joys in the Name Divine lie.
Saith Nanak : This to such is granted
As have the writ on forehead inscribed. (4) (11)

Anadinu Rāma kei guṉa kahīyai

Ever[3] utter laudation of the Lord :
Thereby attain all boons, all joys, perfection and fulfilment of objectives of heart. (I-Pause)

1. The Name Divine is meant.
2. Vedas.
3. Each day.

Come, devotees of God ! contemplate we the Bestower of joy of life,
The Lord eternal—
He who is protector of the helpless shatterer of sufferings of the humble,
Pervasive in each self lodging. (1)
Those in reverence singing, listening to and relating Divine laudation.
Are greatly fortunate and joy in God quaff.
From their self are effaced all torments and contentions—
In devotion to the Name Divine are they ever awake. (2)
Discarding lust, wrath, falsehood and calumny,
By contemplation of the Lord are their bonds snapped.
By the Master's grace are they from involvement in attachment released,
And blind egoism and avarice. (3)
Thou art the Supreme Being, Lord almighty :
Show grace, Thy servant am I.
The Lord pervades all.
Saith Nanak, close by us is the Lord. (4) (12)

Balihārī Gürudev charan

To the holy Master's feet am I a sacrifice—
He in whose company is the Supreme Being meditated on;
Whose teaching to us brings liberation. (I-Pause) Whoever to shelter of the holy comes, shattered are all his sufferings, maladies and fear.
Such the Name contemplate themselves, to it inspire others,
Are greatly mighty and saviours. (1)
By their teaching[1] is doubt cast off, and filled are the empty.
Those compliant to commands of God's servants,
Nevermore into the womb are cast. (2)
Those serving God's devotees, singing Divine laudation,
Their suffering of transmigration have annulled.
Whoever has the Lord's grace, the unbearable experience of the Lord is able to bear. (3)
Those satiated with joy in God into serenity are absorbed;
Beyond expression this joy.

---

1. Mantra=spell.

Saith Nanak : By the Master's grace are they made content;
Contemplating the Name Divine saved. (4) (13)

Gāiyo rī maiṇ gūṉa nidhi mangal gāiyo

Sister-friend[1] ! song of joy in the Divine Treasure of merit have I sung.
Blessed is the conjunction of plants,
blessed the days and occasion,
As is the Lord with me pleased. (I-Pause)
My forehead at feet of the holy rests.
God's devotees on my forehead their hand of benediction have placed. (1)
In the Word[2] of the holy my mind puts faith;
By which are gone the Three Qualities.[3] (2)
At sight of God's devotees are my joy-dyed;
Thereby are shattered avarice, attachment and doubt. (3)
Saith Nanak : Joy and bliss in serenity have I attained,
As opening the wall has the Lord, Supreme joy, met me. (4) (14)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kaisei kahauṇ mohe jīya bedanāī

How may I express the suffering of my heart ?
For a sight of the Beloved, Divine Charmer it thirsts;
The heart finds not peace, in various ways yearning. (I-Pause)
Forlorn in love of the Beloved into musing I fall; P. 1207
When shall I have sight of the Lord ?
Despite all efforts the mind finds not rest;
Is there any with the holy to grant me union ? (1)
Recitation of texts, austerities, self-restraint, charities
all shall I burn in fire;
To one uniting me shall I dedicate joy of all spots.
To God's devotee who for an instant shows me sight of the Beloved,
Am I a sacrifice. (2)

1. The vocative rī (fem.) in the original implies this.
2. Mantra=spell.
3. That is, the state of absorption in the Absolute is attained (for Three Qualities see Glossary).

Much entreaty and supplication shall I make.
Any day and night serve him.
For one who of the Beloved discourses to me,
All thought of honour and dishonour shall I sacrifice. (3)
To behold His marvels am I wonder-struck,
As the holy Preceptor, exalted person to Him has united me.
The Lord, gracious hedonist in my home[1] have I found :
Thus is assuaged thirst of Nanak, servant of God. (4) (1.15)

Rei mūṛahei tūṇ kiūṇ simrat ab nāhīn

Thoughtless man ! why dost not contemplate the Lord now ?
While suspended upside down in awful hell of the womb,
Each instant His laudation didst thou chant. (I-Pause)
Wandering over innumerable births has thou arrived here,
And the human incarnation hard to attain acquired.
As from the womb thou didst emerge, to alien objects art thou attached. (1)
Day and night practising evil and fraud, fruitless the actions performed by thee.
Straw empty of grain dost thou tread—
Rushing thus along, suffering shall thou get. (2)
To untruth and falsehood art thou attached, with Kasumbha of the frail dye involved.
Mad man ! when Dharamraja makes thee a captive,
Wouldst thou depart this life with face blackened. (3)
Such alone find union with God as by the Lord are so blessed,
On whose forehead is inscribed the writ.
Saith Nanak : To such am I a sacrifice,
As in mind have remained undefiled. (4) (2.16)

Kiuṇ jīvanu Prītam binu māī

Mother mine ! how in alienation from the Lord may life be lived—
He whose separation leaves one a lifeless corpse,
That in the home may not be kept ? (I-Pause)
He is donor of life, heart and breath;
in His company have I felt embellished.
Devotees of God ! show grace that songs of Divine felicity I sing. (1)
May feet of the holy on my forehead rest;
in my eyes their dust I yearn for.

1. The self is implied.

Saith Nanak : A sacrifice am I to him by whose grace is found union with the Lord. (2) (3.17)

Uā ausar kai hauṇ bali jāīṇ

To such occasion am I a sacrifice,
Wherein day and night the Lord I contemplate,
and by great good fortune attain Him. (I-Pause)
Noble is Kabir, humble[1] servant of God;
exalted the devotee Sain, a barber.
Higher than the highest is Namdev of the equable vision;
Ravidas[2] with the Lord was in accord. (1)
My life, body, frame, substance—all to the holy belongs;
This mind dust of feet of the holy.
Saith Nanak : By grace of God's devotees are all doubts fled,
And union with the Lord attained. (2) (4.18)

Manorath pūrei Satiguru āpi P. 1208

My objectives has the holy Preceptor fulfilled himself
My self ! day and night repeat His name,
Whose contemplation all boons comprehends. (I-Pause)
Lord ! ambrosial is Thy Name : fulfilled all quaffing it.
Their sins of multiple births fled,
at the Divine Portal find they release. (1)
Lord Creator ! Supreme Being, perfection incarnate, immortal,
To Your shelter have I come.
Show grace that on Thy feet I meditate—
Nanak's body and mind for Thy sight thirsts. (2) (5.19)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mana kahāṇ lūbhāīyai ān kau

Why attach the heart to any other ?
In the here and the hereafter is the Lord ever your helper,
Ever by you, your objectives to fulfil. (I-Pause)
Love of the amhrosial Name of the Beloved Divine Charmer
Is the draught the fulfilment grants.
The Divine form eternal by grace of the holy,
Is a noble object of meditation. (1)

1. Slave of slaves.
2. (Herein are mentioned four Bhaktas).

The utterance, the pronouncements[1] of the great
Take away pride of mind
Nanak has found out the abode of joy,
The Name Divine, to rest in. (2) (1.20)

Mana sadā mangal Gobind gāe

My self ! sing ever paeans of felicity in the Lord :
Effaced shall be all your[2] maladies, sorrows and sins,
As for an instant on the Name Divine in your heart you meditate. (I-Pause)
All cleverness, subtle devices discard,
And with the holy seek shelter.
Should the Divine shatterer of sufferings of the humble be gracious,
Yama[3] into Dharmaraja[4] turns. (1)
Other than the sole Lord, none is real—
None else His equal can be,
The Lord is bestower of joy on Nanak's life,
His mother, father brother. (2) (2.21)

Hari jana sagal ūdhārei sang kei

God's devotees of all their associates are saviours.
The mind in their company turns holy, pure,
And sufferings of multiple births are by them cast off. (I-Pause)
Whoever has gone along their path, joy has attained;
With whomsoever in discourse they have entered,
Is saved.
Those sinking in terrible dark well of the world
In company of the holy are saved. (1)
Brother ! those with great good fortune
With the holy in discourse[5] are associated.
Nanak ever for dust of their feet yearns,
Should the Lord show grace. (2) (3.22)

Hari jana Rāma Rāma Rāma dhiyāeṇ

God's devotees ever on the Name Divine meditate.

---

1. Mantra=spell.
2. Thy.
3. The terrible deity of death.
4. The celestial dispenser of justice.
5. Have their faces close to the holy.

By joy of moment's[1] participation in the holy congregation
A million paradises they attain. (I-Pause)
The human body, hard to attain, by repetition of the Name is made holy,
And lifted is Yama's terror.
Sins of great sinners are shed,
As the Name Divine in heart they bear. (1)
Whoever to the Lord's holy laudation listens, P. 1209
Shed is his suffering of transmigration.
Saith Nanak : This by great good fortune is attained;
Thereby are mind and body in bloom. (2) (4.23)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Duos (Düpdei)
SCORE 4
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mohan ghari āwuh karouṇ jodarīyā

Divine Charmer ! I supplicate You, my home[2] pray enter.
In pride I indulge, and utter words of self-adulation,
Despite such errors, Beloved, Thy handmaid I remain. (I-Pause)
I hear Thou art near, yet behold not Thy sight—
Straying in doubt, into suffering I fall.
As the Master in grace lifts the curtain,
The cherished Beloved shall I meet, with heart joyful. (1)
Should the Lord for an instant be put out of mind,
To me is it a million days, lakhs of years.
As is attained assemblage of holy congregation,
Has Nanak with the Lord found union. (2) (1.24)

Ab kyā sochouṇ soch bisārī

What shall I cogitate ? All cogitation have I discarded.
Lord ! Thou art doing whatever be Thy will :
Grant me devotion to Thy Name. (I-Pause)
In all four directions is spread Maya-poison;
Utterance of the Master's Word is its antidote.
With the strength of His arm has He succoured us,
As lotus that in water untouched remains. (1)

1. Winking time.
2. The self is implied.

Nothing am I; what may I become ?
All is operation of Your might.
Nanak in pursuit of the Lord is rushing—
For the sake of the holy save him ! (2) (2.225)

Ab mohi sarb ūpāy birkāte

All other devices have I discarded.
By devotion to the Sole Lord almighty shall my liberation come. (I-Pause)
Various forms of numerous hues have I beheld—
No other is like to You.
Lord of all ! conferrer of joy on self and life !
Thy prop grant me. (1)
After much straying as exhausted I was,
By contacting the Master Your feet have I known.
Saith Nanak : Thereby all joys have I attained;
In joy is this night of life passed. (2) (3.26)

Ab mohe labdhio hai Hari tekā

Now prop of the Lord have I found.
As the Master, conferrer of joy, gracious has turned,
The blind man a jewel[1] has beheld. (I-Pause)
Cut off is darkness of ignorance, and the discriminating understanding
Has become purified, bloomed.
Even as foam and water-wave again become water
Servitor and Lord into one are merged. (1)
The self has returned to its origin from where it took rise—
No other now appears.
Saith Nanak : The Lord of life in all spots equably
Visible has become. (2) (4.27)

Merā manu ekai hī priya māngai

My mind for the Beloved solely yearns.
All spots and lands have I beheld : Nothing equals a hair of the Beloved. (I-Pause)
Innumerable viands and delicacies to me are served; P. 1210
My sight to these is not inclined.
Joy in the Lord it seeks; the Beloved's Name my tongue utters,
As the humming-bee that by the lotus is attracted. (1)

1. Implies the Name.

Beloved of heart is treasure of merit, heart-charmer, donor of joy, with all abiding !
The Master to the Lord has sent Nanak.
Divine friend ! grant him union, to your neck clasping him. (2) (5.28)

Ab moro Thākur siuṇ manu mānā

My heart now to the Lord is attuned.
As the holy Preceptor has shown grace and compassion,
Is the alien evil, duality stabbed. (I-Pause)
Beauty, wisdom, elegance and enlightenment to you belongs.
Despite all Yoga-practice, intellect and meditation
A particle of your worth realized may not be. (1)
You the pre-eminent Master, monarch and all-pervasive Lord.
May I receive in charity service to the holy—
To this would Nanak be a sacrifice. (2) (6.29)

Merai mani chīti āye Priya-rangā

As my mind joy with the Beloved contemplates,
Are bonds of Maya-concerns forgotten,
And the night of life in battling with evil is passed. (I-Pause)
The Lord I serve, lodge in heart; in holy congregation
the Lord have I attained.
Such is the blessing of union with the Beloved, Divine Charmer.
All joys of heart[1] have I obtained. (1)
The Master the beloved Spouse to me has made compliant,
And now joy unrestrained with Him I have.
Saith Nanak : Fearless have we become; gone is all fear,
As by blessing of the Word is the Lord attained. (2) (7.30)

Hari jīo ke darshan kau kurbānī

To a sight of the Lord am I a sacrifice.
His words and sound fill my ears; in
His clasp is my body. (I-Pause)
From an abandoned wife has the Master made me of blessed matrimony,[2]
As the Lord, elegant, all-knowing have I attained.
The home[3] in which a sitting-place I could not obtain,
Have I now attained for dwelling. (1)

---

1. Whatever the tongue ask for (utters).
2. (These symbols stand respectively for one without God and for the devotee).
3. The self is implied.

The Lord, beloved of devotees to such is complaint
As honour of the holy protected.
Saith Nanak : As my heart to the Lord is attuned,
Gone is servile dependence on the world. (2) (8.31)

Ab mero panchāṇ tei sangu tūtā

Now of company of the five evils am I broken free.
At sight of the Master am I joyful in heart;
By his grace has it found release. (I-Pause)
Formidable was the fort[1] by strong knights[2] guarded,
Where was kept the abundant treasure of devotion.
Terrible the caverns where hand cannot reach,
By aid of the holy was it forced. (1)
An abundant treasure came to my hand, and endless invaluable gems.
As the Lord to His servant Nanak showed grace,
In joy of heart quaffed I the Divine elixir. (2) (9.32)

Ab mero Thākur siuṇ manu līnā

In the Lord is my heart now absorbed.
The Master, perfectly-endowed, gift of life on me conferred, P. 1211
And in his love entangled me as fish in water. (I-Pause)
Lust, wrath, avarice, intoxication of pride and envy
Have I all given away.
When the Master, the medicine of incantation in
my mind confirmed.
I met the All wise God. (1)
This house[3] is Thine, Thou the Lord.
The Master my egoism has effaced, and with the Lord granted union.
Saith Nanak : The abode of tranquillity have I attained,
Along with treasure of devotion to the Lord. (2) (10.33)

Mohan sabhi jīya terei tūṇ tārehṇ

Divine Charmer ! all creatures are Thine, Thou their saviour.
By a particle of Thy grace from destruction are they saved,
Millions of universes dost Thou save. (I-Pause)

1. Lit. Spot (This is how the recesses of the self are pictured).
2. Implies the passions.
3. The self is implied.

Beings make supplication, prayer to Thee, each moment contemplating Thee.
Shatterer of suffering of the humble, in They grace by the strength of Thy arm dost Thou save them. (1)
What are these poor creatures known as kings ?
whom have they power to destroy ?
Save, save the world, Thou conferrer of joy :
Saith Nanak : Thine is the world. (2) (11.34)

Ab mohe dhanu pāiyo Hari-Nāmā

Wealth of the Name Divine have I obtained.
Free from anxiety have I become, assuaged is my thirst—
Such is fruit of the writ on my forehead inscribed. (I-Pause)
In long search after the Lord turned I a recluse;
Then came to town of the body.
The gracious Master this bargain has concluded,
And the jewel[1] beyond computation have I obtained. (1)
In all other commerce lie sufferings to be borne.
Fearless are merchants of devotion to the Lord.
Saith Nanak : The Name Divine is their capital. (2) (12.35)

Merei mani misht lagei Priya bolā

Sweet to my mind are words of the Beloved :
The Master, grasping me by the arm in service of the Lord engaged me—
The Lord ever gracious, beloved. (I-Pause)
Lord, Thou art the Master, cherisher of all :
I with my wife and family all are Thy slaves.
Thou my honour and strength; Thy Name my sole shelter. (1)
Should You seat me on a throne, I still am Your slave;
Should You set me to hoe grass, what plea can I make ?
Thou the Supreme Being, Creator, Lord of Nanak, Your servant,
Beyond limit and measure. (2) (13.36)

Rasnā Rāma kahat gūṇa soham

The tongue in utterance of laudation of the Lord is beautified—
The Lord who is an instant creates and destroys the world—
Whose marvels charm the heart. (I-Pause)
In listening to His Name is the heart joyful;
His Name borne in heart destroys pride and suffering.

1. The Name Divine is implied.

Lord ! being in accord with Thee have I attained joy
And are my sufferings cast off. (1)
Gone are sins; purified is the heart,
As the Master Maya's delusion has cast off.
Saith Nanak : The Lord had I attained,
The Supreme cause, almighty. (2) (14.37)

Nainuh dekhiyo chalatu tamāshā

With my eyes the wonder and marvel have I beheld :
From all is He far, to all near—inaccessible,
Yet in each being[1] abiding. (I-Pause)
Infallible, never does He forget; no written decree He issues, P. 1212
And consults not many.[2]
In an instant He creates, embellishes and destroys—Beloved of devotees, repository of merit. (1)
As the Master in my heart made illumination, in a dark well was a lamp lighted.
Saith Nanak : By His sight joy I obtained,
And fulfilled were all objectives. (2) (15.38)

Charnah Gobind mārgu sūhāwā

For the feet is the Lord's way agreeable.
Whatever of an allien path we tread, brings as much suffering and groaning. (I-Pause)
By His sight are the eyes rendered holy; by service to Him the hands.
The heart is purified by the Lord therein lodging :
The forehead purified by dust of feet of the holy. (1)
All treasures in devotion to the Lord's Name lie—
This to such comes as in their fortune[3] inscribed it have.
Nanak, servant of God the Master perfectly-endowed has contacted,
Whereby is his life in serene joy and bliss passed. (2) (16.39)

Dhiyāyo anti bār Nāmu sakhā

At the last moment on the Name, true friend have I meditated.
There where mother, father, progeny brother access cannot have,

1. Vessel.
2. Fifty (Councillors).
3. Karma (Skt.)=good fortune made by good deeds of earlier births.

Art Thou the saviour. (I-Pause)
Such among those fallen in the dark cavern of householder's life have contemplated Him,
As have the writ on their forehead inscribed.
Undone are their bonds, as the Master to them has brought release—
Everywhre Thee alone they behold. (1)
By quaffing amrita of the Name is the mind fulfilled,
The tongue by tasting it satiated.
Saith Nanak : Joy in serenity I attained,
And the Master all my thirst has assuaged. (2) (17.40)

Guru mili aise Prabhū dhiyāiyā

By touch[1] of the Master in this wise on the Lord have I meditated :
The Divine shatterer of suffering has shown grace,
And no whiff of hot air touches me. (I-Pause)
With each breath Divine laudation I sing.
For an instant is the Lord from me not separated, not for an hour put out of mind;
Ever is He by me wherever I go. (1)
To the Divine lotus feet am I a sacrifice,
A sacrifice to the Master's sight.
Saith Nanak : What reck I of another,
As the ocean of Bliss I have obtained ? (2) (18.41)

Merai mani shabdu lago Guru mīthā

To my mind tastes the Master's Word sweet.
Dawned[2] on me is good fortune, has come illumination,
And in each being the Lord have I beheld. (I-Pause)
The Supreme Being, unincarnated, self-existent,[3]
In each spot and being is lodged.
Attained is the ambrosial Name;
To the Lord's feet am I a sacrifice. (1)
By touch of dust of feet of the holy congregation on my face,
Am I blessed as by bathing at all holy spots.
Saith Nanak : In the Lord's deep red am I dyed;
This fast madder dye[4] of the Lord goes not. (2) (19.42)

1. Meeting, contact.
2. Opened.
3. (Two epithets here are taken from Mūl Mantra).
4. Majīth.

Hari Hari Nāmu dīyo Guru sāthei

The Master the Name Divine in companionship has given me.
As for instant is the Divine Word in my heart lodged, P. 1213
Gone is all my hunger.[1] (I-Pause)
Lord, treasure of grace, master of merits, storehouse of joy,
Overlord of all creation !
In Thee alone lies my hope : fruitless it is to repose hope in another. (1)
My eyes at beholding your sight are fulfilled,
As the Master his hand on my forehead has rested.
Saith Nanak : Immeasurable joy have I attained;
Cast off is fear of transmigration. (2) (20.43)

Rei mūṛhei ān kāhei kat jāī

Thoughtless man ! why go elsewhere ?
With thee lies entrancing amrita; yet in forgetfulness poison art thou consuming. (I-Pause)
To the Lord-all-beauty, all-wise, unique, the Creator
Hast thou not a grain of attachment formed.
The mad heart by attractive Maya is charmed,
That the drug of falsehood has administered. (1)
By grace of the annuller of suffering
With the holy am I in accord.
Saith Nanak : As Divine effulgence in me became pervasive,
Were all treasures at home[2] obtained. (2) (21.44)

Oam priya prīti chīti pahilarīyā

For the beloved Supreme Being is love in my heart cherished from Primal Time.
Holy Preceptor, by the teaching am I decked and embellished. (I-Pause)
Full of error am I, infallible you;
Fallen I, you saviour of the fallen.
A lowly plant am I, you the sandalwood on Malayagiri mountain growing—
Pray protect my honour, who with you am abiding. (1)
You profound, poised and beneficent; what are we poor creatures ?

---

1 Implies desire.
2. (That is, in the self).

As the Master in his grace with the Lord granted union to Nanak,
Is my couch made joyful. (2) (22.45)

Mana ue dinas dhaṇni parwānān

My self ! blessed, approved are those days,
Fruitful those hours, wherein has occurred the pleasing union,
And from the Master is obtained enlightenment. (I-Pause)
Blessed is such good fortune, such joyful matrimony,[1]
Blessed those honoured by you.
This body, my whole house, my substance, all is yours;
My heart to you have I sacrificed. (1)
By a moment's sight of you millions of joys have I obtained.
Should you even once ask this servant to be seated by you,
Endless is the joy thereof. (2) (23.46)

Ab moro Sahsā dūkhu gaiyā

Gone now are my doubt and suffering.
All other devices have I discarded, and with the holy Preceptor taken shelter. (I-Pause)
Has come all fulfilment, achieved all objectives;
Gone is entirely the malady of egoism.
In an instant are destroyed millions of sins,
As by touch[2] of the Master the Lord's
Name I have uttered. (1)
The five slaves[3] has the Master subdued,
And the mind turned poised, fearless.
Immutable is Nanak's state;
He now strays not, nor is shaken. (2) (24.47)

Prabhu mero it ut sadā sahāī

In this world and the next is the Lord my succourer.
Ravisher of my heart, beloved of my self, what of His merits may I sign ? (I-Pause) P. 1214
He fondles, indulges me, ever conferring bliss;
I like a child cherishing me in the manner of mother and father. (1)
Without Him for an instant can I not abide;
nor can He ever be put out of mind.

1. Symbol for the state of devotion.
2. Meeting.
3. The sources of evil are meant.

Saith Nanak : Those joining holy company in devotion are fixed and absorbed. (2) (25.48)

Apnā mītu swāmī gāīyai

Sing praise of the true friend, lord :
Fix not hope in any other; on the Lord,
conferrer of joy meditate. (I-Pause)
Seek shelter with Him in whose house lies joy, jubilation and weal.
Should any discarding Him, serve man,
With shame should he melt as salt, (1)
By contact with the Master is the wisdom attained, Whereby solely the Lord's shelter is grasped.
As, saith Nanak, is met the Lord, treasure of merit,
Is gone dependence on others. (2) (26.49)

Oṭ satāṇī Prabh jīo merai

Mighty is the Lord's shelter.
None other do I reck : Lord, in You lies my honour and exaltation. (I-Pause)
The Lord cherishing me, from seige of poison rescued me;
Put in my mouth medicine of the Name ambrosial
And at the Master's feet I fell. (1)
With one tongue how much of Thy praise may I utter,
Thou dispenser of bounty to this worthless one ?
As snapping his noose You made him Your own,
Nanak abundant joy has attained. (2) (27.50)

Prabh simrat dūkh bināsī

By contemplation of the Lord flee sufferings;
The Divine conferrer of joy on the self, has grown gracious,
And has full release come. (I-Pause)
None other than the Lord do I see—to whom shall I go ?
Lord ! keep me as You deem best=
All in Your hand lies. (1)
By the strength of His arm has the Lord succoured me,
And conferring the life eternal, made me immortal.
Saith Nanak : Overjoyed is my heart,
And snapped is Yama's noose. (2) (28.51)

Mero munu jat kat tūjheh samhārai

At all times Thee my mind contemplates.

Father, Lord ! poor children are we : Thou cherishest us as Thou deem fit. (I-Pause)
When hungry, sustenance we crave for; when filled, all joys find.
While abiding with You, are we from maladies free;
Separated from You, are we as dust. (1)
What power have Your humble slaves,[1]
Thou who dost make and unmake ?
In remembrance of You[2] find I life—
Such is Nanak's submission. (2) (29.52)

Mana tei bhay bhau dūri parāiyo

Fear[3] and terror my mind has left,
As in serenity laudation of the precious, cherished one, beauteous
I have sung. (I-Pause)
By living the Master's Word by his grace has its straying ended.
From maladies freed, in state of joy absorbed, P. 1215
The Lord, cherisher of devotees within its home[4] has it found. (1)
Sounds of beauty, joy and bliss has it attained,
And in serenity absorbed.
Himself is He the Supreme Doer and Inspirer—
Himself solely has the power. (2) (30.53)

Amrit Nāmu maneh ādhāro

To Name ambrosial is my mind's prop.
To the Master, perfectly-endowed, guide to it,
am I a sacrifice;
To him make a obeisance. (I-Pause)
Assuaged is thirst,[5] and joy in serenity has come;
Burnt is poison of lust and wrath.
The mind now strays not, in its abode keeps fixed,
Where is abode of the formless Lord.[6] (1)
The Sole Lord is both manifest and hidden.
And concealed in dim darkness.[7]

---

1. Slave of Your slaves.
2. Lit. For not being forgetful.
3. This is fear of transmigration and Yama.
4. That is, the self.
5. Desire is implied.
6. (This implies the holy congregation).
7. (This implies the unattributed state).

In Primal Time, in middle of time and at end of time is He alone real—
Saith Nanak contemplating the truth. (2) (31. 54)

Binu Prabh rahanu na jāi gharī

For an hour even without the Lord can I not live.
Such alone have perfection and happiness as in Lord find joy. (I-Pause)
Comes abundant joy by contemplation of Him,
Who is manifestation of weal, breath of life and true wealth.
Mightily powerful, ever by us—which of His attributes with tongue may I utter ? (1)
Holy the spot where You are contemplated,
holy the faith lodged in You;
Holy those listening and uttering Your discourse.
Saith Nanak : Holy are the abodes where Your devotees abide, (2) (32.55)

Rasnā japtī Tūṇhī Tūṇhī

My tongue utters solely Your Name.
In mother's womb You alone are our cherisher;
In the mortal sphere are You alone our helper. (I-Pause)
You our father and mother; You alone our affectionate friend and brother.
You alone our family, our prop; You conferrer of life and breath. (1)
You our treasure; our gold, You our store of pearls and rubies.
You the wish-fulfilling tree,[1] from the Master obtained,
Whereby Nanak feels blessed. (33. 56)

Jāhū kāhū apuno hī chiti āwai

Each in need bring his own relation to mind.
He that is a servant, towards his Lord turns. (I-Pause)
To his own relations man express his suffering and joy,
And his state narrates.
In one's own one feels honour and strength;
To one's own expresses objectives. (1)
Some lean on royal authority, beauty, wealth and property,
Some on father and mother.
Nanak ! all objectives from the Master have I obtained,
And fulfilled are my desires. (2) (34.57)

1. Pārijāt.

Jhūṭho Māyā ko mada mānu

False is Maya-intoxication and its pride.
Thou poor creature ! cast off delusion and attachment,
And know the Lord to be by thee ever. (I-Pause)
False is royal authority, beauty and power of chiefs,
Lords, barons and other aristocrats.[1]
False is raiment, scents and clever devices;
False luxurious eating and drinking. (1)
Cherisher of the humble, Thy, servants' servant am I,
And with the holy have taken shelter,
Lord, breath of Nanak's life ! this I beg :
Grant union; from anxiety make me free. (2) (35.58)

Apunī itnī kachhū na sārī

The human creature even a bit to his own true benefits has not turned; P.1216
To other objectives, in other struggles, in various snares is he entangled. (I-Pause)
His companions four days shall last; not helpful where great affliction arises.
Man in his folly to such is attached in friendship,
As are little use. (1)
Nothing am I, nothing is mine; no power have I.
Nanak's Lord is almighty; by the holy congregation saving. (2) (36.59)

Mohani mohat rahai na horī

Attractive Maya deludes man, and no way is restrained.
Yoga-practitioners, Siddhas[2] all to her are attached;
By none is her spell snapped. (I-Pause)
By recitation of the six Shastras[3] from memory,
By resorting to sacred bathing-spots
Is she not subdued.
By worship, ritual signs, fasts, vows and austerities
Does she not leave hold. (1)
The world into the dark cavern of Maya is falling;
Devotees of God ! pray the supreme state grant me.
Nanak by an instant's[4] sight of the holy congregation
Liberation has attained. (2) (37.60)

---

1. Here various grades of aristocracy in Muslim courts are mentioned.
2. Accomplished Yogis.
3. Texts of Indian philosophy.
4. A particle of.

Kahā kareh rei khāṭi khāṭūlī

Why art thou making all this earning ?
Thy skin is wind-blown with pride; thy clay grown old. (I-Pause)
From here dost thou pick up wealth, and there dost place it,
Like the hawk that swoops on flesh.
Blind man ! the true Provider hast thou forgotten,
Like a traveller who at an inn[1] fills his belly. (1)
In pleasures of evil and falsehood engaged,
Know where thou goest; hard is the way.
Saith Nanak : Know thou, in a day or two[2] shall thy packet be untied. (2) (38.61)

Guru jīo sangi tūhārai jāniyo

Venerable Preceptor ! in your company have I realized the Lord.
Millions of the great[3] remain uncared for;
Yet at the holy Portal am I honoured. (I-Pause)
How poor is man's origin; yet in what fine form he appears :
As in this clay has the Divine light shone,
Is it called the invaluable human frame (1)
By your guidance have I performed service to the Lord,
Performed holy recitation and austerities,
And the Essence realized.
By placing your hand on my forehead my thongs[4]
have you snapped.
And made Nanak into God's humble servant.[5] (2) (39.62)

Hari Hari dīyo sevak kau Nām

The Lord on His servant gift of the Name has conferred.
What power has poor man ? His true saviour is the Lord. (I-Pause)
Himself is He the chief, Himself leader;
Himself His servant's objectives fulfils.
Himself the Lord, controller of the inner self,
the agents of evil destroys. (1)
Himself His servant's honour has He saved, and granted him poise.
Know, Nanak's Lord since Primal Time
His servant's honour guards. (2) (40.63)

1. Shop.
2. Today or tomorrow.
3. Heroes.
4. String, rope.
5. Slave of slaves.

Tūṇ merei mīt sakhā Hari prān

Lord ! Thou art my true friend, companion and breath of life.
My mind, substance, life and body all is Yours—
This body in meditation on You is absorbed.[1] (I-Pause)
Gifts of various kinds have You conferred; P. 1217
You too have conferred on us honour.
You who our state of mind know, our honour protect. (1)
The holy that know Thee to be the Lord, by Thee are approved.
By good fortune is attained holy company—
Nanak to the holy is a sacrifice. (2) (41.64)

Karahu gati daiyāl santahu morī

Gracious holy devotees ! pray grant me the supreme state,
You that are mighty, makers of causes :
By you is joined the bond snapped. (I-Pause)
Evil-doers over multiple births have you saved;
In your company is attained noble understanding.
Those forgetful of the Lord over countless births wandering,
With each breath Divine laudation sing. (1)
All associated with the holy, pure have become.
Saith Nanak : Those endowed with good fortune alone
The true boon of life have won. (2) (42.65)

Thākūr binatī karan janu āiyo

Lord ! this humble servant to make a supplication has come.
All joys, bliss, delight of poise by listening to Your Name comes. (I-Pause)
Treasure of grace, ocean of joy, whose laudation among all is spread !
In company of the holy have You Your delight,
And Your Essence[2] make manifest. (1)
With my eyes have I association with the holy, serve them :
And with my hair brush their feet—
Day and night sight of the holy I have—
Such is the joy Nanak has attained. (2) (43.66)

Jā kī Rāma-Nām liv lāgī

Whoever in the Name Divine his devotion has fixed,
Is good, pure-hearted, spontaneously joyful—

1. Also rendered as : 'This body by Your bounty is held together'.
2. Self, person.

Such a one may truly be called fortunate. (I-Pause)
Such a one from evils is exempt, by Maya unpolluted,
And the poisonous egoistic thinking has discarded.
For a sight of the Sole Lord thirsting,
His heart propped by the Beloved's feet. (1)
Free from anxiety the sleep, waking and movements of such;
Free from anxiety their laughter and sorrow.
Saith Nanak : Maya that the whole world has deluded,
By God's devotee herself is deluded. (2) (44.67)

Ab jana ūpari ko na pūkārai

Now non complaints against the holy carries :
Whoever attempts to make complaint, by the Lord is smitten. (I-Pause)
Whoever with the rancourless practises rancour,
At the Divine Portal is discomfited.
Since Primal Time is the Lord worthy of laudation,
Who His devotee's honour protects. (1)
By seeking prop of the Divine lotus feet have we turned fearless.
All fear effaced.
By the Master's teaching[1] has Nanak the Name contemplated,
And over the world become famous. (2) (45.68)

Hari jana chhoḍiyā saglā āpu

God's devotee his egoism has discarded.
Lord, keep me as Thou deem best—
In beholding Thy glory find I life. (I-Pause)
By the Master's teaching and company of the holy
Is shattered all agony.
Whoever friend and foe with equal gaze beholds,
All his utterance is as repetition of holy texts. (1)
Assuaged is burning agony, with cooling joy P. 1218 are we fulfilled;
Listening to the mystic music are we struck with wonder.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's teaching,[2] perfectly-oriented
Is the mind rendered joyful and holy. (2) (46.69)

Merai Guri moro sahsā ūtāriyā

The Master my doubt has annulled :

1. Word.
2. Sound, note.

To such a Master am I ever a sacrifice, ever to him dedicating myself. (I-Pause)
The Master's name day and night I repeat;
His holy feet in my mind lodged.
In dust of the Master's feet ever I bathe,
That impurity of sins washes off. (1)
The Master, perfectly-endowed ever I serve;
To the Master I make obeisance.
All objectives[1] has the Master, perfectly-endowed, fulfilled :
Saith Nanak : The Master liberation has conferred. (2) (47.70)

Simrat Nāmu prān gati pāvai

By contemplation of the Name does life attain liberation.
Effaced are afflictions, fled are fears :
And with the holy congregation is love formed. (I-Pause)
The mind to the Lord makes devoted supplication;
The tongue Divine laudation sings.
Discarded are pride, lust, wrath and calumny,
And love for the Lord formed. (1)
To the gracious Lord make supplication;
Man repeating the Lord's Name an aspect of beauty wears.
Saith Nanak : Such a one turning dust of feet of all,
In the Divine vision is absorbed. (2) (48.71)

Apūnei Guru pūrei balihārai

To the Master, perfectly-endowed am I a sacrifice,
Who glory of the Name has made manifest,
And being saviour, has saved us. (I-Pause)
His humble servants has he made fearless,
And all their sufferings annulled.
The devotee, discarding all other devices,
The Master's lotus feet in heart has lodged. (1)
The Sole Supreme Being, prop of life is true friend, companion.
Supreme over all is Nanak's Lord,
To whom repeatedly he makes obeisance. (2) (49.72)

Binu Hari hai ko kahān batāwuh

Tell, other than the Lord, who is real ?
Ever meditate on the Lord, store-house of joy,
gracious Creator. (I-Pause)
Sing laudation of the Lord, by whose thread are strung all beings.

---

1. That is, granted fruits (of service and devotion).

Contemplate the Lord who all boons has granted—
To whom else do you go ? (1)
Ever rewarding is service to the Lord :
From Him your heart's objectives[1] attain.
Saith Nanak : Proceed on your journey after making gain;
Joyfully return home.[2] (2) (50.73)

Thākur tum sharṉāī āiyā

Lord; to Your shelter have I come.
Since having a sight of You, cast off is doubt
from my mind. (I-Pause)
Without a word[3] have You known my state,
And devotion[4] to your Name inspired.
Fled is suffering, and in joyful serenity am I absorbed,
As in joy Your laudation I have sung. (1)
By grasping my arm has the Master succoured his servants,
From evil stars and the dark well of Maya.
Saith Nanak : The Master our bonds has snapped P. 1219
And to the long-separated granted union. (2) (51.74)

Hari ke Nām kī gati thāndhī

Joy-cooling is the mind's state in devotion to the Name.
Vedas, Puranas, Simritis and the holy after long search have thus discovered. (I-Pause)
In the realms of Shiva, Brahma and Indra,
Burning in dark passions[5] did I wander.
By contemplation of the Lord came cool joy,
And gone was suffering, pain and doubt. (1)
Whoever in the past or the present liberation has found,
By devotion to the Lord has it attained.
Lord ! Nanak thus supplicates :
May I be granted service to the holy. (2) (52.75)

Jihvei amrit guna Hari gāo

My tongue ! sing thou Divine laudation.
Ever the Lord's Name utter, to the Lord's discourse listen,
And the Lord's Name repeat.[6] (I-Pause)

---

1. Fruit.
2. (The hereafter is implied).
3. Utterance.
4. Repetition (Of the Name).
5. Tāmas (lowest of the 'three qualities').
6. Utter, pronounce.

Garner wealth and jewels of the Name Divine;
in mind and body cultivate devotion.
All alien[1] prosperity know to be false—
This[2] is the true gain. (1)
To the Sole Lord, donor of life, breath and liberation
Your devotion attach.
Saith Nanak : His shelter seek who sustenance to all beings grants. (2) (53.76)

Hotī nahīn kawan kachhu karnī

Nothing noble can I accomplish.
In company of the holy have I found shelter—
Shelter in the Sole Lord. (I-Pause)
This body five evils and blemishes bears—
Full of evils and maladies is all my doing.
Endless my desires, limited[3] are my days;
Old age my strength is gripping. (1)
Lord, cherisher of the helpless, gracious, ocean of joy,
Annuller of all sins !
Nanak, Thy servant this fulfilment seeks :
May I find life in beholding the Divine feet. (2) (54.77)

Phīkei Hari ke Nām binu sād

Insipid are all pleasures without devotion to the Name Divine.
Day and night sing Divine laudation with ambrosial joy,
To the perfect music[4] of the Master's Word. (I-Pause)
By remembrance of the Lord attain peace and supreme joy,
Whereby may end all affliction.
Gain of devotion to the Lord in holy congregation
is attained—
This bring home in packs.[5] (1)
Highest of all, higher than the highest is the Lord—
No end or limit to Him.
Saith Nanak : His laudation I have not power to express, Beholding Him wonder-struck. (2) (55.78)

Āiyo sunan paṛhan kau bānī

To listen to, to repeat the holy Word has man come :

---

1. That is, worldly.
2. (Reference to preceding line).
3. Small in number.
4. Sound.
5. Laden.

Should man in forgetfulness of the Name, to other temptations be attached,
Wasted is his incarnation. (I-Pause)
My thoughtless mind ! consider :
The holy the inexpressible tale of the Lord have narrated.
Take this gain; in your heart on the Lord meditate,
Whereby may transmigration end. (1)
All endeavour, power, wisdom is Thine; shouldst Thou grant these to me, the Name I may utter.
Saith Nanak : Such alone to devotion are attached,
As have the Lord's approval. (2) (56.79)

Dhanwant Nām ke vanjārei P. 1220

Truly rich are merchants of the Name.
With them into partnership enter; earn wealth of the Name;
The Master's Word contemplate. (I-Pause)
Discarding hypocrisy from rancour be free—
The Lord ever by your side, is seeing all.
In wealth of truth deal; wealth of truth you garner—
Never then shall you be discomfited. (1)
This by consuming and spending ends not—
Of it are stores full.
Thus adjures Nanak : To the Divine Portal go with repute. (2) (57.80)

Prabh jī mohi kavanu anāthu bichārā

Lord ! what am I, a poor helpless creature ?
From what insignificant origin have You created man—
This is by Your grace. (I-Pause)
Donor of life and breath, of everything !
Inexpressible are Your endless merits—
You that are beloved of all, of all the cherisher;
support of all beings. (1)
None Your state and extent knows : Yours is solely all this expanse.
Pray seat Nanak on the boat of the holy,
Whereby the ocean of existence he may cross. (2) (58.81)

Āwai Rāma sharaṉi wadbhāgīn

By great good fortune does man come under shelter of the Lord;
Considering nothing other than the sole Lord.
All other devices discarding. (I-Pause)

Such a one by thought, word and deed the Lord supplicates,
And in the holy congregation attains joy.
Joy and frolic in the inexpressible discourse of the Eternal finding,
In serenity is absorbed. (1)
Whomsoever in His grace His own He has made, noble is his discourse.
Saith Nanak : In company of the holy may one find liberation,
Who in the Lord immaculate are immersed.[1] (2) (59.82)

Jāṇ te sādhū sharaṉi gahī

Since taking shelter with the holy
Has come peace and serenity; and illuminated is the mind—
Gone is pain. (I-Pause)
This is my supplication : Show grace; grant devotion to Thy Name.
By contemplation of the Lord are all other concerns put away,[2]
And achieved is true gain. (1)
From what the self arose, into that is it absorbed,
As it is of the self-same essence.
Saith Nanak : The Master my doubt has annulled,
And merged is light of the self into Divine Light. (2) (60.83)

Rasnā Rāma ko jasu gāo

My tongue ! the Lord's praises sing.
All other tastes forget; noble is taste for the Name. (I-Pause)
Lodging the Divine lotus feet in heart, to the Sole Lord be attached.
By acquiring purity in company of the holy,
Nevermore again be born. (1)
To life and breath art Thou the prop;
Of the shelterless art Thou shelter.
Saith Nanak : Contemplating the Lord with each breath,
To Him may I ever be a sacrifice. (2) (61.84)

Baikunth Gobind-charan nit dhiyāo

Paradise lies in ever meditating on the Divine feet;
In holy congregation is attained the boon of liberation.
Amrita is the Name Divine. (I-Pause)

1. Dyed.
2. Forgotten.

Lord ! show grace that by the ear to Your noble discourse I listen.
May both sides, coming and going[1] be annulled,[2]
And joy and peace I attain. (1)
After long search this essence of truth have I realized. P. 1221 Devotion is the perfectly noble practice.
Saith Nanak : Other than the Name Divine
Are all other devices imperfect. (2) (62.85)

Sāchei Satigurū dātārā

Holy, noble Preceptor, munificent !
By the sight flees all suffering : to thy lotus feet may
I be a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
Eternal is the Lord, eternal the holy saints;
Immutable the Name Divine.
In loving devotion to the Supreme Being eternal,
His laudation you sing. (1)
Inaccessible, unknowable is the Lord,
Unknowable His extent; of all beings[3] the prop.
Nanak ! hail Him, Who is without limit or extent. (2) (63.86)

Guru ke charan basei mana merai

In my mind are lodged the Preceptor's feet.
In all spots is the Lord pervasive; to all He abides close. (I-Pause)
Snapping worldly bonds to the Lord have I formed attachment,
And with the holy am in tune.
Sanctified is the boon of birth; fulfilled all desires.[4] (1)
Lord ! such alone sing Divine praise as have your grace.
Nanak, servant of God, day and night[5] the Lord's praise sings,
And ever to Him is a sacrifice. (2) (64.87)

Jīvanu tau ganīyai Hari pekhā

That is truly reckoned life when comes the Lord's vision.
Divine Beloved, heart-charmer, show grace and the line of doubt smash. (I-Pause)
By mere talk and listening to others arises not peace—
What without faith may be learnt ?

1. (Transmigration is implied).
2. (Their cycle) is exhausted.
3. Vessels.
4. (These are desires for devotion and liberation).
5. All eight pahars.

Whoever seeks other than the Lord, the sight of his face only brings black ignominy. (1)
Whoever holds capital of the Lord, donor of all joys,
In no other creed puts faith.
Saith Nanak : Whoever in the Divine vision is absorbed and by
it has his heart charmed,
Fulfilled are all his ardent[1] desires. (2) (65.88)

Simran Rāma ko iku Nām

Remembrance of the Lord's Sole Name
In an instant burns away sins and equals millions of charities and ritual bathing. (I-Pause)
In other ritual entanglements man his labour wastes—
Other than devotion to the Lord is knowledge of little avail.[2]
By devotion to the Lord and meditation comes escape from travail of transmigration,
And joy. (1)
Perfectly-filled Ocean of joy, with Thee I seek shelter—
In Your grace grant me this in charity.
In remembrance of the Lord Nanak finds life;
Thereby is pride shattered. (2) (66.89)

Dhūratu soī ji dhur kau lāgai

He is the true Dhurat[3] who to the primal Reality is attached.
He is the approved smearer of ashes over the body,
He the wearer of ritual robes,
Who joy in love of the Sole Lord quaffs. (I-Pause)
Whoever merely practises deceit, not knowing the true gain,
Is stupid, not the true Dhūrat.[3]
Such a one discarding the true gain, to profitless actions is inclined;
And the Lord all-beauty contemplated not. (1)
He alone has intellect, is a scholar, a hero and equipped with wisdom.
Who in the holy congregation the Lord's Name repeats.
Saith Nanak, such a one is truly approved. (2) (67.90)

---

1. Especial.
2. Hollow, a husk.
3. Dhurat, a mendicants' sect posing to be wicked, to avoid adultation. Among Muslims such mendicants are called Malāmati (the Reproachable).

Hari Hari Sant Janān kī jīwani P. 1222

Devotion to the Lord is the devotees' life.
In place of enjoying pleasures of evil, the ocean of ambrosial enjoyment they have,
And therefrom joy of the Name Divine quaff. (I-Pause)
Wealth and jewels of the Name Divine they garner,
And in their mind and body stitch these.
By dye of devotion to the Lord is their mind dyed red;[1]
Intoxication of joy of the Name Divine is on them. (1)
Like the fish in the water absorbed,
In the Name Divine are they absorbed.
Saith Nanak : God's devotees are like the Chatrik—
In sipping the Lord's drop finding their joy. (2) (68.91)

Hari ke Nām hīn betāl

Those without the Name Divine are goblins :
All their doing is bondage and a mighty snare. (I-Pause)
Service to other than the Lord is time passed in vain.
Creature of God ! as Yama comes and takes your life,
Miserable shall you state be.[2] (1)
Gracious Lord ! this servant of Yours save.
Saith Nanak : The Lord is treasure of joy;
And congregation of the holy their wealth and substance. (2) (69.92)

Mani tani Rāma ko biohāru

God's devotees by their mind and body in devotion to the Lord solely are engaged :
In loving devotion in chanting Divine praise absorbed,
The world touches them not. (I-Pause)
By the ears to listen to Divine laudation;
the Lord to contemplate—
Such is the conduct of the holy :
The Divine lotus feet in their heart fixed,
Worship their life's prop. (1)
Lord compassionate to the humble, to my
supplication lend ear :
Show grace, that by my tongue

1. Symbol of fervour of devotion.
2. What shall your state be ?

The Name, true wealth[1] I ever utter :
May Nanak ever be a sacrifice to You. (2) (70.93)

Hari ke Nām-bīn mati thorī

Those without the Nam Divine are of understanding deficient.
For not contemplating the Lord[2] terrible, fearful suffering they undergo. (I-Pause)
Those unattached to the Name Divine to various sects[3] are inclined.
Such inclination takes not long to snap,
Like the clay-pot of water that is smashed. (1)
In Your grace grant joy in devotion,
That the mind with joy of love be intoxicated.
Nanak, servant of God, seeks shelter with Thee.
Other than the Lord no other shelter he has. (2) (71.94)

Chitwauṇ wā ausar mana māheṇ

In my mind the occasion I contemplate,
When in congregation holy companions I meet,
Ever singing Divine laudation. (I-Pause)
Other than devotion to the Lord all doing is in vain.
The perfect repository of supreme joy, sweet to the heart—none other than He is real. (1)
Recitation of texts, austerities, self-restraint, actions aiming at joy—
None brings benefit like devotion to the Name.
Nanak's heart by the Divine lotus feet is penetrated;
In the Lord's feet is he absorbed. (2) (72.95)

Merā Prabhu sangei antarjāmī

The Lord is ever by me, to whom is known the inner self :
By contemplation of the Lord's Name in the hereafter shall weal; P. 1223
In the past had well-being and joy. (I-Pause)
The Lord is my companion, friend and associate;
So are merits of the Lord, the Divine Monarch.
Be not Thou away from my heart for an instant :

1. Lit. Treasure of the Name.
2. Here besides Thākur (Lord) Srīdhar is used, which is an attributive name of Vishnū here symbolizing God.
3. Garbs.

The Master, perfectly-endowed with Thee
has granted union. (1)
In His grace has the Lord protected His servants—
All beings under His power lie.
Saith Nanak : No fear has any who solely to the Lord is attached. (2) (73.96)

Jā kai Rāma ko balu hoe

Whoever by the Lord's might is sustained,
Are all his objectives achieved, no suffering touching him. (I-Pause)
I live by listening to praise of any,
Who is the Lord's own devotee, servant.
For his sight I make endeavour : this by good fortune
is attained. (1)
Such a one may I behold by the Master's grace, with my eyes, whom none can equal.
Grant this boon to Nanak, your servant :
May I find life in washing feet of the holy. (2) (74.97)

Jīvatu Rāma ke guṉa gāe

In singing Divine laudation find I life.
Lord, cherisher of the earth[1] ! show grace that this
I never put out of mind. (I-Pause)
Lord ! my mind, body, substance all is Yours—
no other place of shelter have I.
I abide as Thou mayst keep me :
My clothing and food all is Your bounty. (1)
To the holy congregation am I a sacrifice, by whose grace.
One nevermore in transmigration wanders.
Nanak, Thy servant Thy shelter seeks—
Guide me as be Thy pleasure. (2) (75.98)

Mana re Nām ko sukh sār

My self ! joy of devotion to the Name is the purest.
Other occupations are evil, Maya-polluted;
all appear as ashes. (I-Pause)
In the family life man in dark well is fallen; in a hell dark and murky—
Exhausted in wandering over numerous births,
Over these wandering again and again. (1)

1. Gopāl, Bīthal.

Thou purifier of the fallen, beloved of devotees,
To this humble one show grace.
With folded hands this boon Nanak seeks :
In company of the holy save me. (2) (76.99)

Birājit Rāma ko partāp

As is spread glorious Divine might,
Are fled maladies of mind, body and illusions,
And all three afflictions[1] shattered. (I-Pause)
Assuaged is thirst of desire, fulfilled are objectives,
And sorrows and torments lifted.
Now the self sings laudation of the immutable, immortal Lord;
And satiated are mind, body and the self. (1)
Lust, wrath, avarice, intoxication of pride and envy
In company of the holy are annulled.
Thou beloved of devotees, annuller of fear,
Nanak's father and mother art. (2) (77.100)

Āturu Nām binu sansār

Without devotion to the Name is the World miserable.
Unsatiated remains the bitch of desire, and the mind to ashes of evil is attached. (I-Pause)
By the drug of maya the Lord Himself has deluded man,
Whereby again and again he takes birth.
Not for a moment has he contemplated the Lord;
So Yama's minions on him heap ignominy. (1)
Shatterer of sufferings of the humble, show grace—
Grant me dust of feet of Thy devotees.
Nanak, Thy servant begs for the Lord's sight, P. 1224
That is prop of his mind and body. (2) (78.101)

Mailā Hari ke Nām binu jīo

Without the Name Divine impure the self remains.
By the drink[2] of deluding Maya-drug.
The holy Lord Himself has deluded man. (I-Pause)
Over millions of births in numerous ways it wanders,
Nowhere finding poise.
The materialist[3] without contacting the Master
In transmigration keeps coming and going. (1)

1. These are ādhī, biyādhī, upādhī afflictions respectively.
2. By making him drink ....
3. Sākta.

Lord almighty, bestower of boons, inaccessible, limitless, save me,
Nanak, Thy servant seeking shelter with thee
The ocean of existence has crossed. (2) (79.102)

Ramaṉ kau Rāma ke guṉabād

The best of contemplations is expression of Divine laudation.
In the holy congregation on the Lord meditate, that like amrita tastes. (I-Pause)
By contemplation of Sole Lord, immutable, immortal
Is shattered Maya-intoxication.
By listening to the mystical Word of the Master
comes joy in poise,
And distress nevermore afflicts. (1)
Sanak[1] and Brahma's other sons Brahma himself;
and Suk and Prahlad[2]
His laudation sing;
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of the wondrous Lord
All these quaff heart-charming amrita of joy in God. (2) (80.103)

Kīnei pāp ke bahu kot

The self many millions of sin has committed :
Of this day and night not tired, nowhere finds it release. (I-Pause)
A severely heavy[3] load of evil and maladies is it carrying over its head.
In an instant are these revealed,
As Yama by the hair grasps it. (1)
The self rolls through numerous incarnations,
Such as beast, goblin, camel, ass.
Nanak, with devotion contemplate the Lord
in the holy congregation ;
No harm shall then come to thee. (2) (81.104)

Andhe khāweh bisū ke gaṭāk

Blind man ! of poison art thou gobbling morsels.
Thy eyes, ears, thy whole body all is exhausted; shortly is thy strength[4] to ending. (I-Pause)

1. Brahmā's son.
2. Names of two rishis.
3. Hard (to carry).
4. Also breath (Sāns) or strength (Sāhas) in the original.

By oppressing the helpless thy belly dost thou fill;
Wealth ultimately leaves thee.
By committing sins art thou full of regret,
    that never can thou give up. (1)
The calumniator by Yama's minions is destroyed;
On the head they strike him.
Saith Nanak : With his own dagger is he injured;
His own mind has he wounded. (2) (82. 105)

Tūṭī nindak kī adh-bīch

The calumniator designs half way are frustrated.
The Lord is His servant's protector; the egoist by death[1] is gripped. (I-Pause)
None listens to him; nowhere can be abide :
In this world has he suffering; in the hereafter suffers in hell and in numerous incarnations wanders. (1)
Over continents and the worlds is he notorious,
Bearing consequences of his doing.
Nanak with the Creator above fear seeks shelter :
And in joy and bliss Divine laudation sings. (2) (83.106)

Trishnā chalat bahu parkāri P. 1225

Desire in numerous ways proceeds :
By no device fulfilled, in the end falling exhausted. (I-Pause)
Peace, joy and poise it ruins[2]—such is its conduct.
Man by lust and wrath consumed
Discriminates not between what is his own and another's. (1)
In the ocean of existence is man by suffering gripped—
Pray save Your servant.
Nanak with the Divine lotus feet seeks shelter,
And ever to these is a sacrifice. (2) (84.107)

Re pāpī tain kavan kī mati līn

Sinful men ! from whom hast thou received guidance ?
for a moment, for an hour the Lord thou dost not contemplate,
Who life and body to thee has granted. (I-Pause)
In eating, drinking and sleep man finds joy;
In contemplation of the Name feeling unhappy.

1. Death in the form of transmigration is implied.
2. Lit. With it peace, joy and poise do not arise.

While in the womb didst thou wail,
Wert miserable. (1)
Bound in great intoxication of evil,
In numerous incarnations man wanders.
In forgetfulness of the Lord lie numerous sufferings;[1]
Joy in contemplation of the Divine Essence lies. (2) (85.108)

Māī rī charnah ot gahī

Mother mine ! with the Divine feet have I taken shelter.
At sight of the Lord is my heart charmed, and flown away foul thinking. (I-Pause)
The Lord is immeasurable, fathomless, lofty—beyond expression His worth.
At His sight on water and land is my heart in bloom—
In all beings is He pervasive. (1)
The Divine Beloved, compassionate to the humble, heart-charmer,
In company of the holy is realised.
By constant contemplation of the Lord Nanak finds life;
And in Yama's torment[2] is not caught. (2) (86.109)

Māī rī manu mero matwāro

Mother mine ! inebriated is my heart :
At sight of the gracious Lord, perfection of bliss and joy. (I-Pause)
In intoxication of Divine have we turned pure, radiant, Nevermore turning black.
In the Divine lotus feet is our absorption fixed,
As is beheld the Divine Being illimitable. (1)
By His arm has He grasped us, all substance granted—
Our lamp[3] illumined.
Immersed in Divine joy, is Nanak a recluse—
All his forebears thereby liberated. (2) (87.110)

Māī rī ān simari mari jāhen

Mother mine ! in remembrance of other than the Lord lies death,
For such as discarding the Lord, donor of life,
To Maya are attached. (I-Pause)
Those forgetting the Lord, treading another path into terrible hell are fallen—

1. Lit. What sufferings may be counted ?
2. Lit. Crowd, congestion, Applied meaning, affliction, torment.
3. Used metaphorically for enlightenment.

To numerous penalties subjected, beyond count;
From womb to womb wandering. (1)
Such are truly wealthy and honourable,
As in Divine shelter are absorbed.
Nanak by grace of the Master has overcome[1] the world;
Nevermore to enter transmigration.[2] (2) (88.111)

Hari kātī kutiltā kuthāri

The Lord deceit of our heart with an axe has cut down.
By stroke of the Name Divine forests of illusion in a moment are burnt away. (I-Pause)
Lust, wrath and calumny of others are cast off—
In company of the holy driven out.
By the Master's grace is won life's high objective, P. 1226
Nevermore in a gamble to be lost. (1)
Nanak, Thy humble servant, devotee, again and again makes obeisance,
And day and night[3] Divine laudation sings, Contemplating the Master's word, repository of perfection. (2) (89.112)

Pothī Parmeshar kā thānu

The Scripture[4] is the Lord's dwelling-place.
Whoever in the holy congregation Divine laudation sings, Perfection of Divine enlightenment acquires. (I-Pause)
Yoga-practitioners, accomplished Yogis, all sages seek it,
Yet few do true meditation.
Whoever has the Lord's grace, fulfilled are his objectives. (1)
Whoever in heart the Divine Shatterer of fear has lodged,
Over the whole world gets reputed.
Lord Creator ! be not put away from my mind
an instant, a moment—
Such is the boon Nanak begs. (2) (90.113)

Wūthā sarb thāin meiṇh

Over all places has rain[5] fallen.
In bliss and joy Divine laudation, you sing, which is manifested love in perfection. (I-Pause)

1. That is, put by its temptations.
2. Coming and going.
3. All eight Pahars.
4. Refers to the holy Granth Sahib.
5. (This is a symbol for grace).

In the four corners and ten directions is spread the Divine ocean—
No spot of that is deprived.
The Lord, repository of grace, perfection incarnate,
To all beings the boon of life grants. (1)
Eternal is the Divine Lord, eternal the congregation of devotees.
Saith Nanak : Enternal those by faith inspired,
Who never into doubt[1] stray. (2) (91.114)

Gobind jīo Tūṇ merei prān adhār

Lord ! Thou art sustenance of my life.
Thou my friend, companion, helper;
Thou too my family. (I-Pause)
As Thy hand in benediction on my forehead You placed,
In the holy congregation Divine laudation have I sung.
By Thy grace all objectives have I achieved and with delight
On the Name Divine meditated. (1)
The holy Preceptor the immutable foundation of faith has laid,
That no way shakes.
Saith Nanak : As has the Master shown grace treasure of all joys have I attained. (2) (92.115)

Nibahī Nām kī sachu khep

Turned profitable is holy mechandize of devotion to the Name.
In singing Divine laudation lies gain;
By remaining unpolluted by evil, the store of profit have we attained. (I-Pause)
All beings by meditation on the Lord find content.
The jewel of human birth, limitless, have they won—
Nevermore to take birth. (1)
By the Lord's grace company of the holy have we attained.
Nanak wealth of devotion to the Divine feet has attained,
And with the Lord is fallen in love. (2) (93.116)

Māī rī pekhi rahī bismād

Mother mine ! Divine wonder am I beholding :
My heart has the mystic[2] music charmed, of marvellous delight. (I-Pause)
The Lord is mother, father, relation; the heart in the Lord finds delight.

---

1. Also interpreted as : 'who never into transmigration stray.' Bharmeh may be related to bharam (doubt) or bhram (wander about).
2. Anahad=unstruck music heard in the state of absorption.

As in company of the holy, Divine laudation I have sung,
Shattered is the great intoxication of Maya. (1)
My absorption in the Divine feet is fixed;
All doubt and fears consumed.
Nanak, servant of God in the Sole Lord has found his prop; P. 1227
Thereafter wandering not in species. (2) (94.117)

Māī rī mātī charaṉ samūh

Mother mine ! with love of the Lord of universal feet am I intoxicated.
Other than the Sole Lord recognize[1] not any;
Burnt are all feelings of duality. (I-Pause)
All other actions, in neglect[2] of the Lord are wells of poisonous evil.
Thirst for the Divine sight has my heart charmed,
And out of hell dragged me. (1)
By grace of the holy is met the Divine donor of joy;
Ended is hubbub of egoism.
Nanak, His servant in love of the Lord is dyed;
His mind and body to the limit are in bloom. (2) (95.118)

Binasei kāch ke biohār

Ended are false dealings :
In unison with the holy congregation to the Lord practise devotion—
This is the purest doing in the world. (I-Pause)
Turn not in this direction or that; in the heart lodge the Name.
By good fortune is found devotion to the Master's feet,
Whereby is crossed the ocean of existence. (1)
Over water and land is pervasive the limitless
Lord of all existence.
Saith Nanak : Quaff amrita of the Name Divine—
Tasteless[3] are all other pleasures. (2) (96.119)

Tā te karaṉ palāh karei

Man wails and cries.
Being involved in great evil, intoxicated by grog of attachment,
Forgetful of the Lord.[4] (I-Pause)

1. Know.
2. By discarding.
3. Brackish.
4. Not remembering the Lord.

Burnt are sins of such as in the holy congregation
The Lord contemplate.
Fruitful is the life and blessed the birth of such,
And to the Lord united. (1)
The holy saints of God rise above the lure of four objectives[1] and the eighteen miraculous powers.
Nanak, Servant of God, seeks dust of feet of God's devotees—
By attaching himself to their lappet
Is man saved. (2) (97.120)

Hari ke Nām ke jana kāṇkhī

God's devotees for the Lord's Name yearn :
By mind, body and word the joy they seek—
Joy of beholding the Lord with their eyes. (I-Pause)
Lord, Supreme Being; beyond limit art Thou; Inaccessible Thy state.
By love of Thy lotus feet is my heart penetrated;
This as store of all wealth in heart have I lodged. (1)
Vedas, Puranas, Simritis[2] and the holy
This truth by their tongue have expressed.
Saith Nanak, By contemplation of the Name Divine
comes liberation[3]
All other teaching is little use. (2) (98.121)

Mākhī Rāma kī tūṇ mākhī

Maya; thou art the Lord's fly;
Wherever is foul stench dost thou settle;
And wine of most poisonous intoxicants taste. (I-Pause)
Nowhere dost thou find poise—
This with our eyes have we beheld.
Other than the holy none hast thou spared—
The holy that God's side have taken. (1)
All creatures hast thou attracted;
Other than the holy thee none has transcended.
Nanak, servant of God in singing Divine laudation is absorbed.
By absorption in the holy Word truth has he learnt. (2) (99.122)

Māī rī kātī Jam kī phāns

Mother mine; snapped is Yama's noose.

---

1. (These are dharma (duty) arth (worldly prosperity) kāma (joy) and moksha (liberation).
2. Books of Brahminical code.
3. Swimming across the ocean of existence.

In uttering the Lord's Name all joys have I attained,
And fixed in householder's life yet turned recluse. (I-Pause)
In His grace has the Lord made us His own, P. 1228
And with yearning for His sight inspired.[1]
In holy company Divine laudation have we sung;
Annulled is hope in all else. (1)
The holy the path to us have shown, and from a dense forest, a thicket rescued us.
By beholding the Lord's sight are all sins fled;
And Nanak the Divine jewel has obtained. (2) (100.123)

Māī rī ariyo prem kī khori

Mother mine ! by intoxication of Divine love am I gripped.
In the heart is yearning for sight of the Lord all-beauty—
This none can annul .(I-Pause)
The Lord is my life, honour, spouse, father, progeny, relation,
All my wealth.
Cursed is the body of such as worship other than the Lord—
Such are mere bone, filth and worms (1)
By strength of good deeds of previous birth
Has the Lord, shatterer of sufferings of the humble shown grace.
Nanak with the treasure of grace has sought shelter;
Shattered is dependence on others. (2) (101.124)

Nīkī Rāma kī dhuni soe

Noble is the tune of Divine utterance.
Whoever the Divine lotus feet beyond compared contemplates,
Turns saint. (I-Pause)
Any contemplating the Divine sight
His sins washes and casts off.
Shoots of birth and death and evil-doing
The Lord cuts off and annihilates. (1)
A rare one for whom this is inscribed in Primal Time,
The Lord's sight attains.
Saith Nanak : Utterance of merits of the Lord Creator
Is eternal truth. (2) (102.125)

Hari ke Nām kī mati sār

By utterance of the Name Divine is the understanding ennobled.
Should man in forgetfulness of the Lord seek else, false is his expanse of possession. (I-Pause)

1. Lit. Thirst for His sight has arisen.

In unison with the holy congregation to the
Lord be devoted—
Thereby shall your sins be destroyed.
By lodging in heart the Divine lotus feet comes not birth and death again. (1)
In His grace has the Lord preserved us by support of the Sole Name.
Nanak by day and night's remembrance of the Lord
At the Divine court a radiant face bears. (2) (103.126)

Mānī tūṇ Rāma kai dari mānī

Shouldst thou in the holy congregation Divine laudation chant,
Shall thy pride be annulled,
And at the Divine Portal shalt be honoured. (I-Pause)
In His grace has the Lord made me His own,
And by the Master's guidance fully enlightened am I become.
Have come to me all joys, and bliss in abundance,
As on sight of the Lord meditation I have fixed (1)
The seeker-female abiding close to the Lord is of everlasting bliss in matrimony,
And in all ten directions reputed.
To a seeker-female[1] that in love of the Divine
Spouse is dyed,
Saith Nanak, am I a sacrifice. (2) (104.127)

Tūa charan āsaro īsh

Lord ! in Thy lotus feet my prop I find.
Lord ! Thou art my acquaintance, relation, companion preserver. (I-Pause)
You are reputed ours, we Your own :
In this world and the next are You our sole preserver.
Lord ! without limit art Thou, farther than the farthest :
A rare one by the Master's grace realizes Thee. (1)
The Lord, to whom the state of our mind is known,
Without a word, without utterance by us
Our state knows.
Saith Nanak : Those by the Lord united to Himself P. 1229
At the Divine Portal are honoured. (2) (105.128)

1. (The sex is implied by the context).

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
(Chaupade) Quartets
SCORE 5
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace
Hari bhaji ān karam bikār

The Lord devotedly you worship : evil are all other actions.
Thereby are not extinguished pride, attachment and desire,
And the world by death is gripped. (1-Pause)
The period of life thoughtlessly in eating, drinking, laughter and sleep is spent.
The self in the stomach[1] of hell wonders in flames,
Yama keeping watch over it. (1)
Man defrauding others evil and calumny practises,
And assiuduously[2] commits sins.
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance comes not realization;
In great darkness of sloth[3] and attachment
it keeps involved. (2)
Man by swallowing the poisonous drug is ruined,[4]
And the Creator keeps not in mind.
Man realizes not the Lord, hidden from sight, unattached,
And by his pride is like a mad elephant. (3)
In His grace has the Lord preserved His devotees,
By prop of His lotus feet.
With folded hands has Nanak come to shelter of the Lord,
Illimitable Supreme Being. (4) (1.129)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Partāl (of variable rhythm)
SCORE 6
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace
Shubh bachan boli guna amol

Utter noble words, thereby acquiring priceless merits;
Why do evil ?

1. That is, the pit.
2. Lit. Clapping his hands; in idiom, assiduously.
3. Tamas, one of the 'three qualities'.
4. Lit. Robbed.

Sister[1] ! ponder this.
By meditation on the Master's Word the Divine
Mansion attain,
Where with the Divine Spouse joy and frolic
thou shalt have. (I-Pause)
Sister[1] ! the world is like a dream;
False its expanse.
Sister-friend ! why by deluding Maya art deluded ?
In heart gather love for the Beloved. (1)
Sister[1] ! for all creation love and affection He bears;
The Lord ever is gracious.
Why to any other be inclined ?
To the Lord be attached.
In company of the holy, saith Nanak,
On the Lord meditate.
Then shall encounter with Yama be annulled. (2) (1.130)

Kanchanā bahu data karā

Much gold one may give away in charity;
Much land in charity dedicate,
With much cogitation may one purify oneself :
None of these equals devotion of heart to the Divine lotus feet. (I-Pause)
The four Vedas by the tongue one may recite;
Eighteen Puranas and the six Shastras by the ear listen;
None of these equals utterance of the Name Divine,
And the heart's attachment to the Divine lotus feet. (1)
Fasting, prayer, ritual purification and ritual actions;[2]
Visiting sacred spots in state of fasting;
Cooking one's food without any other's touch;
Numerous kinds of Yoga of intestines;
Offering incense and burning lamps in temples—
None equals devotion to the Name Divine.
Gracious Lord ! to the supplication of this humble
one lend ear :
Grant Thy sight that with my eyes Thee I behold.
To Nanak, Thy servant, the Name tastes sweet. (2) (2.131)

---

1. Implied by the vocative 'rī.
2. Chār=Āchār, ritual actions.

Rāma Rāma Rāma jāpi ramat Rāma sahāī
By His constant remembrance, the Lord one's helper turns. (I-Pause)
By touching feet of the holy P. 1230
Have we discarded lust, wrath and avarice,
With the Divine Enlightener grown gracious,
What we destined[1] have we achieved. (1)
Shattered are doubt and blind attachment;
Broken are Maya-bonds :
The Lord now I behold pervasive everywhere;
None is now a foe.
Pleased is the Lord, and ended is evil of transmigration.
Now by blessing of touch of feet of the holy Nanak Divine laudation sings. (2) (3.132)

Hari Hare Hari mukhuhn boli Hari Hare mana dhārei
The Lord's Name with your tongue utter;
  the Lord in your mind lodge. (I-Pause)
Listening by the ears to the Name and performance of devotion
For numerous sins is the expiation.
By seeking shelter with the holy other ways have I discarded.[2] (1)
By constant devotion to the Divine feet one turns holiest among the holy.
By these is cast off the devotee's fear
And burnt are sins and evils.
By utterance of the Name, by listening to it comes liberation;
Those living it escape transmigration.
Saith Nanak : Let the devotee contemplate the pure reality,
And the Divine Essence. (2) (4.133)

Nām bhagati māngu sant tiyāgi sagal kāmī
From the holy seek devotion to the Name, and all other desires discard. (I-Pause)
Acquire devotion, on the Lord meditate,
And ever Divine laudation sing.
Seek dust of feet of God's devotees,
That confers union with the Lord. (1)
By devotion to the Name shall come all weal, joy, poise, supreme bliss.

1. Also interpreted as, what we sought.
2. Forgotten.

By contemplation of the Lord, controller of the inner self
Shall be gone Yama's terror.
The sole shelter of the Lord's feet takes away maladies of existence.
Saith Nanak : The holy congregation is image of the boat,
Farrier across the ocean of existence. (2) (5.134)

Guna Lāl gāwouṇ Guru dekhei

By sight of the Master the Divine Beloved's praise I sing.
By adopting holy company
From the five evils is the self released. (I-Pause)
Nothing that is visible shall accompany us;
Pride and attachment discard.
By forming devotion to the Lord in the holy congregation
One an aspect of beauty wears. (1)
By attaining the Divine treasure of merit are all objectives fulfilled.
Saith Nanak; joyful is the heart,
As the Master the hard knot[1] of ignorance
has shattered. (2) (6.135)

Mani bairāgaigī

Sister ! the mind from the World is turned away in dispassion,
And the Divine sight seeks. (I-Pause)
By service to the holy in our heart on the Beloved have we meditated.
By beholding the Lord as the image of joy
His Mansion[2] shall I attain. (1)
By discarding desires His shelter shall I seek.
Saith Nanak : The Master shall I propitiate to attain the Lord's embrace. (2) (7.136)

Aisī hoe parī

Such is my state grown,
As only to the compassionate Lord is known. (I-Pause) Forsaking mother and father, my heart to God's devotees have I sold.
Discarding pride of caste and birth, the Lord's Name I sing. (1)
By the Lord's beneficence from the world and family.
have I broken off.

---

1. Gāth=This is variously interpreted also as mire fort.
2. The Divine Essence is implied.

Saith Nanak : By the Master's teaching the Lord solely I serve. (2) (8.137)

Lāl Lāl Mohan gopāl Tūn P. 1231

Precious[1] in extreme, heart-charmer, preserver of the world art Thou.
Of the worm, the elephant, of creatures in stones art
Thou cherisher. (I-Pause)
Not remote art Thou, but all-pervasive; by our side, ever with us.
Beauteous, joy-filling art Thou. (1)
Caste or family hast Thou none,
Saith Nanak : Lord ! gracious art Thou. (2) (9.138)

Karat kel bikhai mel chandra sūr mohei

Maya disports and creatures to evils unites :
Even moon and sun by her are charmed.
By the tinkling of her ankle-bells
Arises tumultous evil
Various seductive attractions she keeps exercising—
All, other than the Lord, by her deluded. (Pause)
The three worlds has she taken in her grip;
by hollow ritual can she not be warded off :
Those involved in intoxication of blind actions
Are like one in mighty ocean tossing. (1)
God's devotees serving Him are saved—
Their noose of Yama snapped.
Saith Nanak : Contemplate thou Him whose Name is purifier
of the fallen. (2) (10.139.3.13.155)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari binu tero ko na sahāī

Other than the Lord none thy succourer is,
What help[2] mother, father, progeny and wife ?
What help[2] anyone's brother's ? (I-Pause)
Man reckons wealth, land and possessions all his :
As the self from the body is separated, these accompany it not—
Why to these art attached ? (1)

1. Lāl has another shade of meaning—beauteous.
2. Whose is ?

With the Lord, ever gracious to the humble, shatterer of suffering
Hast thou not formed attachment.
Saith Nanak : False is the whole world, as dream at night time. (2) (1)

Kahā mana bikhiyā siūn laptāhī

Myself ! why to evil art thou attached ?
None in this world is allowed to last;[1]
Some[2] come, some depart. (I-Pause)
With whom shall body, wealth and possessions last ?
With what insubstantial objects hast thou formed attachment ?
All that is visible is destroyed, as cloud-shadow. (1)
Discard pride; with the holy take shelter—
Thereby in an instant shalt thou be liberated.
Saith Nanak; servant of God : without devotion to the Lord,
Even in dream comes not joy. (2) (2)

Kahā nar apno janamu gawāwai

Man ! why make waste of thy human incarnation ?
With Maya-intoxication, and pleasures of evil art thou involved,
Seeking not shelter with the Lord. (I-Pause)
This whole world is a dream—why by its sight art attracted ?
All that are born must die; none is allowed to last. (1)
This evanescent[3] body hast thou taken to be lasting[4]—
Thus in bondage putting thyself.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Such alone are liberated,
As to devotion to the Lord are attached. (2) (3)

Mana kar kabhūn na Hari guna gāiyo

Never has man from depth of heart sung Divine laudation.
Night and day to evil courses given, what has been pleasing has he done. (I-Pause) P. 1232
With his ears to the Master's teaching not listened,
To other's womenfolk attached.
To calumny of others does he rush, to instruction impervious : (1)
What shall I say about my doing ? how my human incarnation is wasted,
Saith Nanak : In me lie all faults—
In Thy shelter, Lord ! keep me. (2) (4.3.13.139.4.159)

1. Stay.
2. One.
3. Original, false, unreal.
4. True real.

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 1232

Ashtpadiyān (Octets)

SCORE I

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari binu kiun jīvāṇ merī māī

Mother mine ! how without the Lord may I live ?
Hail Lord of the universe ! to laud Thee I seek—
Without the Lord can I not live. (I-Pause)
The woman[1] thirsts after the Lord, waiting for Him
the whole night long.
The Lord of felicity my hear has won—
The Lord alone another's pangs of love knows. (1)
All count without the Lord is an affliction—
By guidance of the Master's Word is the Lord attained.
Lord ! show grace, that in the Lord absorbed I remain. (2)
My self ! follow such a tenor that the heart in the Divine feet be absorbed.
By singing heart-charming Divine laudation are we wrapped in wonder,
And made fearless, in serenity are absorbed. (3)
In the heart is lodged everlasting, immutable yearning,
That neither diminishes nor evaluated can be.
Without the Name are all indigent : the Master realization of this has granted. (4)
Listen, sister of my soul[2] ! the Divine Beloved my very life has become;
Agents of evil[3] have died of swallowing poison.
My love for Him remains as abundant as it originated;
I am wholly dyed in His love. (5)
My love undiminished has remained since it arose;
By pleasing the Lord's heart am I joy-suffused. (5)
In equable absorption with the Lord am I in everlasting attachment,
In singing Divine laudation finding life.
One dyed in the Master's Word is the true recluse,
In the Divine Essence[4] absorbed. (6)

1. Symbol for the seeker,
2. Female companion : Symbol for fellow-seeker.
3. The five sources of evil are meant.
4. One's own home.

The pure juice of the name is the sweet supreme elixir;
In my own home[1] is found the Divine Essence.
The mind has remained constant where Thou didst fix it—
Such is the teaching from the Master obtained. (7) Sanak and Sanandan,[2] Brahma himself, Indra and the other gods,
All in devotion are absorbed, whereby God's approval
they have won.
Saith Nanak : Not for a moment without the Lord can I live;
By devotion to the Name Divine comes exaltation. (8) (1)

Hari binu kiun dhīrai manu merā

How without the Lord may my heart find poise ?
Sufferings of millions of kalpas[3] are annulled,
As the Master confirming holy truth in mind,
Has transmigration ended. (I-Pause)
Ended is wrath; burnt are pride and avarice,
And has come love of the Lord everlastingly glowing.
Annulled is fear of all else by seeking the Lord;
And the Lord immaculate we felt to be our companion. (1)
By discarding the restless understanding, the Lord, shatterer of fear we attained;
And in the Sole Divine Word were absorbed.
By tasting of joy in God was our thirst assuaged;
By great good fortune did the Lord grant us union. (2)
As by the Master's teaching truth we obtained, P. 1233
Were empty pits filled[4] and became brimful.
By heart's devotion to the Name were we dyed in the Lord all-purity,
Since Primal Time gracious. (3)
The Divine heart-charmer my heart has charmed;
By great good fortune is devotion in Him fixed.
By holy contemplation are annulled sins and suffering,
And the heart made pure, love-inspired, (4)
Besides the Lord deeply profound, ocean full of pearls—
None other may be worshipped :

1. In the heart.
2. Brahmā's sons.
3. A Kalpa is Brahmā's minute, sum of the Four Yugas.
4. Used metaphorically for the self without devotion.

By contemplation of the Word are shattered doubt and fear,
And other than the Lord not venerated.[1] (5)
By suppression of the ego[2] is realized the state of purity,
And in joy in God are we excessively dyed.
Other than the Sole Lord no other I know—
This realization the holy Preceptor has granted. (6)
By the Master's teaching is realized the Sole Lord, inaccessible, unknowable, unincarnated.
To the brim are we filled with merit; the heart unshaken,
And by its own prompting is the heart faith-fixed. (7)
By the Master's grace express the inexpressible;
Uttering as he may inspire.
Saith Nanak : The Lord, gracious to the humble is ours—
None other have we recognized. (8) (2)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Ashtpadiyān (Octets)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the One Indivisible Supreme Being
Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace
Mana merei Hari kai Nāmi waḍāī

My self ! from devotion to the Lord's Name comes exaltation.
Other than God no other I worship;
From devotion to the Lord's Name is the state of liberation attained. (I-Pause)
By contemplation of the holy Word, that is annuller of fear and destroyer of death,
Have I with the Lord entered into devotion.
Into the Lord, bestower of joy, by the Master's guidance realized,
Am I in serene spontaneity absorbed. (1)
The Lord's Name immaculate is His devotees' sustenance;
Exaltation in devotion their raiment;
In their real abode living, ever the Lord serving,
At the Divine Portal are they honoured. (2)
Raw is the egoist's thinking; unstable his mind;
Of the Divine mystery unaware.[3]

1. Known.
2 Mind, mind's impulses.
3 Narrates not the story that is hard to narrate.

The Divinely-directed are unshakeable; the Lord in their selves abides;
Amrita is their holy utterance. (3)
By the holy Word keeping the waves of the mind stilled;
Making the tongue's utterance inspired[1] truth—
Ever to the holy Preceptor be united,
From whom has come inspiration to devotion to the Lord. (4)
When by the holy Word dies the mind's restlessness,
And the consciousness at God's Divine feet in devotion is fixed,
Comes liberation.
Then does the devotee ever bathe spontaneously in the Divine Pool
Of the water of purity. (5)
By contemplation of the Word is man ever in joy dyed,
His egoism and desire annulled;
In the self is the Lord immaculate pervasive,
Who is the Supreme Self, the Divine Being.[2] (6)
Thy servants that have Thy approval,
In truth dyed, are serving Thee :
In duality the world, caught in falsehood, attains not
the Divine Mansion,
Nor knows good from evil. (7)
Himself He grants union;
Then does the devotee express that mystery that is beyond man's power—
The holy Word, holy truth.
Saith Nanak : The holy in truth are absorbed,
By discourse on[3] the Lord's Name. (8) (1)

Mana merei Hari kā Nāmu ati mīthā

My self ! sweet-tasting is the Lord's Name :
Accumulated sins of births, Yama's fear get annulled, P. 1234
As by the Master's guidance is acquired vision of the sole
Supreme Lord. (1-Pause)
As is devotion for the holy Lord formed,
Are sins of millions of births annulled.
Thus has the holy Preceptor instructed :
None other than the Lord by the devotee is beheld. (1)

1. Spontaneous.
2. Murrāi.
3. Original, Utterance, expounding.

Those lodging in their selves the boon of devotion,
In serene contemplation are absorbed;
Dyed in the holy Word, shining in vermilion,
In spontaneous inspiration are they drenched.[1] (2)
Their tongue, by contemplation of the holy Word in joy is dyed—
In ecstasy turned red of hue.
By realization of the holy immaculate Name Divine,
Their mind with joy satiated,
In peace abiding. (3)
Scholars and devotees of vows of silence, all to satiety have studied scriptures;
To distraction have wandered garbed sectaries—
By the Master's grace, by contemplation of the holy Word alone
Is attained the immaculate Lord. (4)
Such as egoism have discarded,
Through service of the holy Preceptor find joy everlasting :
Their transmigration annulled, in truth are they dyed :
Of the holy Word is their self enamoured.[2] (5)
By means of the holy Word rises the note[3] of serenity,
The mind in the holy Eternal absorbed;
The inaccessible, unknowable, immaculate Name,
By the Master's guidance in the self is lodged. (6)
In the One Supreme Being disports the entire universe—
This by rare ones alone is realized;
One in the Word dying has full realization,
And at all times has vision[4] of the One Sole Supreme Being. (7)
Only such as have His grace have realization;
Nothing more may man say.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name are the true anchorites—
To the holy Word solely attached. (8) (2)

Mana merei Hari kī akath kahāṇī

My self ! inexpressibly wonderful is the Lord's tale :
On whomsoever falls the Lord's glance of grace, is fulfilled—
This rare ones, seeking the Master's guidance, realize. (I-Pause)
The Lord, of deepest mystery, treasure of merits,
By the Master's Word is realized :

1. Lit. Dyed.
2. (These two lines transposed in the rendering).
3. Rhythm, tune.
4. Awareness.

Many that from duality, perform numerous rituals,
Unguided by the Master's Word, are as mad. (1)
One in the Lord's Name immersed is alone rendered pure, Impure never more to be.
All without the Name, over the whole world are impure,
In duality involved, into ignominy fallen. (2)
What shall I garner ? What renounce ? Such knowledge to me has not come :
Show Thy grace, Thy mercy, Lord !
Let Thy Name be my true friend. (3)
The holy Bestower, Rewarder of deeds—
To the Name devotes whomsoever He pleases :
By the Master's guidance[1] comes realization,
To such as by Him granted. (4)
The mind, viewing wonder of the world that is evanescent, realizes not :
Only such as serve the Master have realization,
And the Door of Liberation attain. (5)
Those that behold the Portal Divine, fall not away from God—
To them has the Master granted realization :
Bound in holy discipline, performing good deeds,
From transmigration are they released. (6)
Those by the Master's guidance finding prop of truth,
At the holy Portal engage in doing good;
Egoists in duality caught, in delusion are involved,
Realizing not holy wisdom. (7)
Himself the holy Enlightener, Himself Bestower— P. 1235
Creator and Viewer of all.
Saith Nanak : Those alone are approved of God,
Whose devotion He accepts. (8) (3)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadiyān (Octects)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gūsāīṇ partāpu tuhāro dīthā

Lord ! Your glory have I beheld :

1. Portal.

Almighty, creator and destroyer established[1]
Monarch over all. (I-Pause)
Kings, monarches, rulers turn destitute;
All making false assertions.
Our king is beyond decay; all beings His laudation sing. (1)
Holy devotees of God ! to the praise of this Monarch listen,
That I state as in my power lies :
Beyond computation, great Monarch, bestower of boons,
Higher than the highest. (2)
All beings by the air of breath has He bound together;
Fire to wood is joined.
Water and earth in one spot has He placed—
Neither inimical to the other. (3)
In each being is narrated the tale of that Monarch;
In each home is manifest yearning for Thee.
Creatures were created after; first was provided their sustenance. (4)
All has He done by His own Will—who has counselled Him ?
Innumerable efforts have we made;
By holy teaching alone comes realization. (5)
The Lord His devotees has preserved; and exaltation
by the Name granted them,
Those that to Thy servant have offered insult,
By Thee are swept off as in flood. (6)
Those that by joining holy congregation are liberated,
Removed are all their demerits.
At their sight has the Lord turned gracious;
So the ocean of existence have they crossed. (7)
Little are we, You the great Lord;
What power have to contemplate You ?
By sight of the Master are our mind and body joy-cooled;
To Nanak the Name is the prop. (8) (1)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Ashtpadi (Octet)

SCORE 6

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Agam agādhi sūnuh jana kathā

Men of God ! listen to this tale unknowable, fathomless—

1. Another interpretation of Bitha is Bithal, a name of Vishnū, symbolizing God.

Wonderful is the Supreme Being's court. (I-Pause)
Ever to the holy Preceptor make obeisance.
By the Master's grace have we sung the Lord's limitless merits.
Thereby is the mind illuminated.
By the collyrium of realization is ignorance removed.[1] (1)
Immeasurable is His expanse;
Beyond limit His repute.
His innumerable miraculous clongs[2] beyond count—
Beyond sorrow and joy He lies. (2)
Innumerable Brahmas, the Vedas to Him recite.
innumerable Shivas in meditation on Him are seated.
Innumerable the persons who His essence bear.
Innumerable Indras at His court standing. (3)
Innumerable the airs, fires and waters created by Him. P. 1236 Innumerable His oceans of pearls, curd and milk.
Innumerable His suns, moons and stars
Innumerable gods and goddesses of various orders. (4)
Innumerable His earth and wish-fulfilling cows.[3] Innumerable the wish-fulfilling trees[4] and Krishnas touching flutes to lips
Innumerable the skies and nether regions;
Innumerable tbe tongues whereby is the Lord's Name recited. (5)
Innumerable the Shastras, Simritis and Puranas.[5]
Innumerable the styles wherein are discourses delivered.
Innumerable the listeners listening to praise of the Divine treasure,
The Lord who all creation pervades. (6)
Innumerable the celestial judges,[6] innumerable gods of wealth;[7]
Innumerable the sea-gods,[8] innumerable the golden mounts;[9]
Innumerable Shesha-nagas ever-new names of His utter,
That exhaust not the Lord's limit. (7)
Innumerable the worlds, innumerable the continents;
Of innumerable forms and hues the universes.
Innumerable the forests, fruits and roots.
Himself is He immaterial, Himself material. (8)

1. Destroyed.
2. States.
3. Kāmadhenu.
4. Pārijāt
5. (See Glossary).
6. Dharma (rāja).
7. Kuber (Kumer).
8. Varuna.
9. Sumeru.

Innumerable His Yugas, days and nights.
Innumerable the world-destruction and creations.
Innumerable creatures in His house lie :
The Lord in all spots is pervasive. (9)
Beyond count His Maya, unknowable.
Innumerable the Divine monarch's mights gambols.
Innumerable sounds of sublime music there arise.
Innumerable Chitras and Guptas there manifested. (10)
Highest over all; devotees in union with Him.
Day and night in ecstasy sing His laudation.
Innumerable reverberations of unstruck joyous music,
Of joy without extent and limit. (11)
Eternal Being, holy His station;
Highest of all, immaculate, from worldly attachments free.
His doing to Himself alone known,
In each being pervasive.
Saith Nanak : He is Treasure of grace, gracious.
Saith Nanak : Those repeating His Name bliss
have attained. (12) (1.2.2.3.7.)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant (Lyrics)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sabh dekhīyai anbhai kā dātā

In all creation is visible the Divine provider of fearlessness;
Pervading each being, yet is He unattached :
In each being pervasive by expanding Himself, as water that in waves rises.
Each joy He partakes of; each being[1] enjoys—
None else like Him exists.
The Lord in all moods disporting, yet in one state constant
In holy company realized.
Saith Nanak : For His sight my heart yearns, as the fish for water :
In all beings is visible the Divine Provider of fearlessness. (1)

Kaun ūpmā deoṇ kavan baḍāī

What praise shall I render to exalt Him ?
In all spots is He wholly pervasive.

1. Vessel.

Perfect heart-charmer, in each being wearing aspect of beauty.
When He draws us away, ashes we turn.
Why not to Him Practise devotion in union with the holy ?
In an hour shall arrive the moment of departure.
Property and wealth that is visible, P. 1237 nothing with us shall go.
Saith Nanak : To the Lord practise devotion—
What praise to Him may be rendered to exalt Him. (2)

Pūchhouṇ sant mero Thākuru kaisā

I ask the holy, what is the Lord like ?
Whoever such tidings[1] brings, to him my hearts shall I dedicate;
Give me tidings[1] what the Lord is like where abides
the Divine Charmer ?
Joy giving to each limb; the Supreme Being perfection incarnate,
In each spot and place is pervasive.
From bonds free, to each being joined :
No power have I to express what the Lord is like.
At His marvels is Nanak's heart charmed;
In humility I query what the Lord is like. (3)

Kari kirpā apūnei peh āiyā

In His grace to His servant He came.
Blessed the heart in which is lodged His foot :
In company of the holy is His foot in heart lodged;
Effaced[2] is darkness of ignorance.
Came illumination and joy in heart, as is attained
the Lord sought after,
Fled is suffering and joy in our heart is settled;
Attained is supreme joy in poise
Saith Nanak : The Lord perfection incarnate have I attained.
In His grace to His servant He came. (4) (1)

Vār in the Measure Sarang—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
(To be sung to the tune of Ballad of Mahima and Hasna)*
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Guru kunjī pāhū nivalu manu koṭhā tanu chhatti

The mind is a cellar, the body its roofs; Maya-pollution the lock

1. Message.
2. Lost.

*This is a musical direction. The Ballad referred to narrated the story of two Rājpūt Muslim chief's fight.

To which is the Master the key.
Saith Nanak : Without the Master's guidance is not opened the mind's casement—
None else to this holds the key. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Neither by music, by raising ritual notes or by reciting Vedas is the Lord propitiated;
Nor by concentrated meditation, learning or Yoga-praxis.
Propitiated neither by daily melancholy attitude,[1]
Nor by offering of beauty, wealth or by delightful performances.
Propitiated not by wandering unclad over bathing spots,
Nor by offerings and charities.
Propitiated not by sitting in wild deserted places,
Nor by valiant men dying fighting the battle.
Propitiated not by rolling in dust at feet of many.
The account is recorded according to the feeling of the heart.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the holy Name is He propitiated (2)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Should man study the nine grammar treatises, six Shastras and the six sciences,[2]
And daily recite the eighteen volumes of Puranas[3]—
Even such Thy extent have not realized.
How without devotion to the Name may liberation come ?
Brahma abiding in the lotus tendril discovered not the Lord's extent.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance is the Divine manifestation[4] realized. (3)
Pauri (Stanza)*

Āpei āpi niranjanā jini āpu upāiyā

Immaculate is the Lord, who created Himself.
Himself He enacted the play of the entire universe.
Creating the three qualities, Maya-attachment
He made to flourish.

---

1. (This may refer to sects like the Jains).
2. (These are Astronomy, Etymology, Prosody, Arithmetic, Grammar and Vedānta.
3. Also rendered as eighteen sections of the Mahabharata Epic.
4. Nām.

*All stanzas in this Vār are of the composition of Guru Ram Das.

By the Master's grace are liberated such as the Lord's Will find pleasing.
Saith Nanak : In all beings is the Enternal manifest;
in all pervasive. (1)
Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Āpi upāe Nānakā āpei rakkhai vek

Nanak, Himself has He raised creation; Himself keeps it apart.
Speak ill of none, as one Sole Lord is Master of all : P. 1238
One Sole Lord is for all, each assigned to a task and watched over by Him.
Some are given less, some more—none is entirely empty of preoccupation.
Unclad they come, unclad depart—in between making expanse of possessions.
Saith Nanak : His Ordinance we know—to what task He will set us in the hereafter. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Creating them in various species, creatures
He sends into the world;
The same species He carries away.
Himself He makes and unmakes, and so many forms gives them.
All creatures go about as mendicants—
Himself charity to them dispenses.
In appointed measures is our talking and our movement—
why then make high assumptions ?
Such is the charter of basic wisdom, that Nanak to you reads out.
On man's deeds shall the judgement be made,
Whatever claims one may otherwise make. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Gurmukhi chalatu rachāiyonu gūṇa pargaṭī āiyā

The God-directed know, a wonder-spectacle has been enacted by the Lord.
And so good qualities they manifest.
Always the Master's Word they recite, and in mind lodge the Lord.
Gone is Maya-influence, snapped is doubt, and the Divine light within them awakened.
Those treasuring good deeds, to the Master,
noble being are united.
Saith Nanak : Spontaneously comes about the union of such
As in the Name Divine are absorbed. (2)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Shāh challei vānjāriyāṇ likhiyā devai nāli

From the Merchant-Prince depart the traders[1]
To each He hands the record of provision.
According to the record shall the decree be made;
Let each guard the true substance.
The traders the substance have received,
And packed their merchandize.
Some depart with profit earned,
Some even their capital have lost.
None has kept contented—on whom to shower praise ?
Saith Nanak : Such as have grace
Their capital undiminished have brought back. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Those to material objects united, from the Lord are sequestered;
Those discarding these to the Lord are united.
Those clinging to the world are dead to the spiritual life;
Those dying to the world are truly living.
Those sequestered from the Lord entering transmigration,
Of many are born as progenitors and progeny,
of many preceptors and disciples.
Beyond count their future and past, what castes they entered,
what they now are.
All doing as accumulated actions is recorded,
That the doer performs.
The egoists die, the God-directed are saved;
Saith Nanak, should the Master of Grace show grace. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Manmukhi dūjā bharamu hai dūjai lobhāiyā

The egoist in doubt of duality is fallen,
By duality fascinated.
Such do falsehood and evil, utter falsehood.
Progeny and wife, all attachment is source of suffering.
Those caught in doubt where about in transmigration,
At Yama's door chastized.
Saith Nanak : The egoist of his life has made waste—
Such is the Lord's Will. (3)

1. Symbols for God and the human selves.

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Jin wadiyāī Terei Nām kī tei rattei mana māheṇ

Those hy Thy Name exalted in mind are in it suffused.
Saith Nanak : There is only one Sole amrita, no other.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's grace is amrita attained in the mind itself.
Such in joy quaff it, as have so recorded in destiny since Primal Time. (1)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

What good lauding creature ? laud the Creator Himself.
Saith Nanak : Other than the Sole Lord no provider is there.
Laud the Creator who all that is manifest has made. P. 1239
Laud the Provider who to all provides sustenance.
Saith Nanak : Everlasting is He, full His store.
Laud Him as truly great, who is without end or limit. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari kā Nāmu nidhānu hai seviyai sukhu pāī

The Lord's Name is a treasure; His service is joy-bringing.
By repetition of the Name immaculate, man in honour departs to his true home.
The Master's word is the Name;[1] the Name in my heart have I lodged.
By meditation on the holy Preceptor is the understanding,
Restless as a bird, controlled.
Saith Nanak : Should He show grace,
Absorption in the Name He inspires. (4)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Tisu siuṇ kaisā bolaṉā jei āpei jāṉai jāṉu

He to whom all is known, with Him what may one argue ?
He alone is the Master worthy of obedience whose decree disregarded may not be.
Under His command act lords, kings and commanders of armies.
Nanak, what pleases Him is the best of actions.
Those that by the Lord's decree have to depart, no power hold.
As comes the Lord's decree, they rise and take departure.
As is recorded in the decree, must they obey.
Saith Nanak : They arrive in the world as sent;
And depart when called. (1)

---

1. (The Name here implies the Divine manifestation)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Those are the true holders of treasures as with Divine laudation are blessed.
Those holding the key, are granted the treasure.[1]
Such treasures[2] are approved of Him as give out merit.
Saith Nanak : such have the Lord's grace
As are granted charter of the Name. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nāmu niranjanu nirmalā sūn̠iyai sūkhu hoī

By listening to the immaculate, pure Name comes joy.
Listening to it in the heart lodge it—
This is a rare one realizes.
May the holy Eternal be not forgotten, in any state.[3]
The Name is God's devotee's prop—from the Name comes joy.
Saith Nanak : The Divine Enlightener in our mind and body is pervasive. (5)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Nānak tulīyai tol jei jīo pichhai pāīyai

Saith Nanak : One comes up to God's measure, should one put back the ego.
Nothing equals God's laudation that makes one perfect
And to the Lord, all-perfection unites.
Great is God's laudation, of heavy weight.
All else is light understanding, light the words.
Divine laudation is weighty like the earth, water and mountains :
How can a goldsmith[4] weight it in scales ?
He may weigh it against ounces and smaller weights,[5]
And when questioned, satisfy the questioner.
Thoughtless men are blind, blind their endeavour;
By their chatter themselves they expose. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Hard it is to discourse on God, hard listening to it;
By words alone is He not realized.
Some discourse of Him through words day and night,
in various postures.[6]

1. 'Key' implies devotion, and 'treasure' the blessing thereof.
2. Implies devotees.
3. (In the state of sitting and rising).
4. May symbolize one given to performance of ritual piety.
5. (Tolā, Māshā,, ratak (rattī) are mentioned).
6. Ardh, urdh, may symbolize some of the Yogic postues.

Should He have form, world it be visible :
Visible neither His form nor entity.
All causes by the Creator are made—
All creatures good and bad by Him created.
Saith Nanak : Hard it is to discourse of Him—
By words not realized. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nāeṇ suniyai manu rahassīyai Nāmei shānti āyee

By listening to the Name is the mind poised;
By the Name comes peace.
By listening to the Name is the mind fulfilled, P. 1240
And banished all sorrow.
By listening to the Name repute,
By the Name comes exaltation in the hereafter.
In devotion to the Name lies pride of caste and honour;
By the Name is attained liberation.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance, in concentration
On the Name meditate. (6)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Jūṭhi na rāgīṇ jūthi na Vedīṇ

Not by chanting goes impurity of the egoist;
nor by reciting Scriptures.[1]
Neither by observing fasts on particular dates of sun and moon,
Nor by giving away grain in charity or bathing at sacred spots.
Neither is impurity removed by one sipping rain-water,
Nor by living in caves made in the earth or standing in water,
Nor still by withholding air of the breath as in pranayam.
Saith Nanak : Those uninstructed by the Master are without merit.
Turning the face away from the Master makes it foul. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Saith Nanak : These be the true vows[2] should one know how to observe them.
The Vedic scholar's vow lies in acquiring enlightenment;
The Yogi's vow lies in continence.
The Brahmin's vow is to be content; the householder's piety in charity lies.

---

1. Vedas.
2. (For vow in this hymn the term used is chūlī which means water ceremonially thrown down from the cupped palm).

The king's vow is to dispense justice; the scholar's meditation on holy truth.
Water washes not the heart, though by sipping with the mouth thirst it removes.
Water is the world's progenitor; ultimately water brings all to end.[1] (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nāeṇ sūṇiyai sabh siddhi hai riddhi pichhai āwai

By listening to the Name come all miraculous powers.
By listening to the Name come the Nine Treasures,[2]
And one attains heart's desire.
By listening to the Name is acquired content,
And Maya worships at one's feet.
By listening to the Name arises poise,
And from poise comes joy.
By the Master's teaching is acquired devotion to the Name :
Saith Nanak, Let man then Divine laudation sing. (7)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Dūkh vichhi jammaṇu dūkhi maraṇu dūkhi vartaṇu sansāri

In suffering is man's birth, in suffering his death;
In suffering too is the conduct of the world,
About the hereafter too is mention of suffering,
And reading of it man wails.
Opened are packetfuls of suffering, no joy from these has emerged.
In suffering has man's heart burnt; in suffering has he departed in tears.
Saith Nanak : By immersion in Divine laudation
Are mind and body verdant with joy.
Should suffering by the fire of austerity be burnt,
It then becomes a medicine. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Saith Nanak : The world is the colour of ashes;
All turned to ashes and dust.
In life man earns ashes, his body too with ashes covered.[3]
As is taken life out of him, man dust-covered departs.
In the hereafter as is his reckoning called,
Ten times more dust on him falls. (2)

1. (This will be in the form of the final deluge, pralay).
2. See Glossary.
3. Implied covered with shame and ignominy for his conduct.

Pauri (Stanza)

Nāeṇ suṉiyai suchi sanjamo jamu neri nā āwai

By listening to the Name comes purity and self-restraint,
And Yama approaches not.
By listening to the Name is the self illumined
And shed off is darkness.
By listening to the Name comes realization of the self,
And gain too from the Name comes.
By listening to the Name are annulled sins
And holy truth attained.
Saith Nanak : By listening to the Name the face grows radiant :
The God-directed alone on the Name meditated. (8)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Ghari nārāyaṉu sabhā nāli

The Brahmin priest in his home keeps the Lord's image along with a host of deities.
These he worships, keeping them bathed.
To them he offers saffron, sandalwood and flowers,
And falling at their feet propitiates them profusely.
From people his clothing and food he begs.
For such blind actions the penalty too is great.[1]
This idol can neither feed the hungry nor save the dying. P. 1241
In a blind assembly ignorant[2] is the disputation. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

All concentration of the mind, all practice of Yoga
And all study of Vedas and Puranas;
All performance of austerities, all sacred music and knowledge;
All intellect, enlightenment, all sacred bathing spots and centres :
All kingship, all command, all pleasures and viands;
All human beings, gods and all practising meditation in Yoga;
All the worlds all continents and being therein—
All these the Lord by His ordinance runs;
According to their actions runs the Pen.
Saith Nanak: He is holy, holy His Name, holy His court. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nāeṇ manniyai sūkhu ūpajai Nāmei gati hoī

By putting faith in the Name comes joy,

1. Blind.
2. Blind.

By devotion to the Name comes liberation.
By putting faith in the Name is obtained honour,
And the Lord in the heart is lodged.
By putting faith in the Name is the ocean of existence crossed,
And no impediment comes after.
By putting faith in the Name is the path made visible;
By the Name comes full illumination.
Saith Nanak : By contact with the holy Preceptor
comes faith in the Name,
To such as this the Lord grants. (9)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Purīyāṇ khanḍāṇ siri karei ik pairi dhiyāe Should man traverse the worlds and continents on one's head walking,
And perform austerities standing on one foot;
Should he subduing the mind supple as wind, repeat holy texts,
And perform the Kapali asana[1]—
On which of these can the self place reliance,
Where find strength ?
Saith Nanak : To whom can we complain
As to on whom the Lord confers favour ?
All under His Ordinance He keeps;
The thoughtless reckon themselves to be powerful. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Should I assert the Lord's existence millions upon million times;
And assert it by the tongue ever and ever, without omission.
Should such be the light within me,
That I tire not of it nor stop :
Saith Nanak : Even to utter His Name for a moment, an instant
All sins overthrows. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Nāeṇ manniyai kūlu ūdharai sabhu kutambu sabāiyā
By putting faith in the Name is saved one's clan and all one's family.
By putting faith in the Name is saved the congregation
That in heart lodges it.
By putting faith in the Name are saved

1. A Yogic pose involving standing on one's head.

All that listen to it or make their tongue joy it.
By putting faith in the Name is banished suffering and hunger
Of those that to the Name attach their heart.
Saith Nanak : Such alone the Name have lauded
As by the Lord to the Masters are united. (10)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Sabbhei rātīṇ sabhi dihn sabhi thittīṇ sabhi vār

All the nights and days; all dates and days of the week;
All seasons and months all the earths and their loads[1]
of vegetation;
All varieties of water and air, fire and the nether worlds;
All the worlds, continents and the forms inhabiting each world—
None of these the Ordinance have realized, none their duty[2] can state.
In stating God's merits are they exhausted.
All these poor ones a sesame-grain of the Divine mystery
have not realized.
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Should I wander about with my eyes ever fixed on earth,[3]
And view all created forms;
And were to query the enlightened and the learned,
And were to seek to know the contemplation of Vedas;
Were I to query gods and men and the heroic incarnations;
Were I to listen to the thoughts of Siddhas in absorption
And to join their assemblies—

One Sole reply would not be

In the hereafter is one reckoned pure by devotion to the holy Name, P. 1242
And by attachment to the holy Lord sans fear,
Fearless would be rendered.
All other thinking is raw, hollow.
Blind cogitations of the blind.
Saith Nanak : By good fortune made by our deeds comes inspiration to devotion;
By His grace does the Lord grant liberation. (2)

---

1. Traditionally, one leaf from each created form of vegetation would make eighteen packs.
2. Lit. Task.
3. Walk on eyes.

Pauri (Stanza)

Nāeṇ manniyai durmati gayee mati pragaṭī āiyā

By fixing faith in the Name is cast off foul thinking,
And is manifested understanding.
By fixing faith in the Name is shed egoism,
And all maladies cured.
By fixing devotion in the Name arises vision of the Name
And is attained joy in serenity.
By fixing devotion in the Name arises peace,
and the Lord in the mind lodged.
Saith Nanak : The Name is a jewel;
By the Master's guidance comes meditation on God. (11)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Horu sharīk hovai koī Terā tisu agai Tūdhu ākhāṇ

Were another Thy co-sharer of might before him would I laud Thee.
Before Thee, Thee I laud, I who though blind am reputed to be with eyes.
All that we utter is by words; those speaking in devotion alone get repute.
Saith Nanak : The greatest of all utterances is,
All that is, Thy greatness proclaims. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

When man existed not, what service to God did he render ?
After birth, what deeds can he perform ?
All causes by the Creator are made, and each in turn
He looks over.
Whether we be silent or make supplication,
All boons from the Bountiful Lord comes.
One Sole Provider is there, all others beggars—
On the move ever to look over each being.
Saith Nanak : Know that the Divine Provider alone is eternal. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nāeṇ manniyai surati ūpajai Nāmei mati hoī

By fixing devotion in the Name arises enlightenment,
And comes understanding.
By fixing devotion in the Name is one inspired to recount God's merits;

By devotion to the Name one gets sleep of peace.
By fixing devotion in the Name is annulled doubt;
Thereafter comes not suffering.
By fixing devotion in the Name is inspired Divine laudation,
And the understanding washed clean of sins.
Saith Nanak : From the Master, perfectly-endowed
comes faith in the Name,
On whomsoever the Lord this confers. (12)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Shāstar Beid Purāṉ paṛhantā

One that only recites Shastras, Vedas and Puranas,
Out of ignorance shouts.
Only from understanding comes realization of God.
Saith Nanak : Then one no more shouts. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
While to Thee I dedicate myself, all is mine;
When is my ego gone, Thou art real.
Himself is the Lord almighty, Himself all knowing;
By His might binding the universe together.
Himself creatures in to the world He sends;
Creation He raises and views it time and again.
Saith Nanak : Holy Himself, holy His greatness.
Truth alone finally in His reckoning is accepted. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Nāmu niranjan alakh hai kiun, lakhiyā jāī

Inaccessible is the Name immaculate; how to approach it ?
The Name immaculate is ever with us—brother, how to attain it ?
The Name immaculate in all spots is operative and pervasive.
From the Master, perfectly-endowed is it attained,
Who in our heart its sight reveals.
Saith Nanak : By grace of the gracious Lord alone
Union with the Master comes about. (13)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Kali hoī kutte-muhīṇ khāju hoā murdāru

In Kali-Yuga have mankind turned dog-like,
Carrion[1] its food.
Falsehood it barks out; gone is righteous thinking.

1. (Pat out of its several meanings, would best yield this sense here).

Those that in life had no faith, in death too foul is their repute.
Saith Nanak : What is recorded on faces, comes to happen;
All happens as the Creator Wills. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Women have turned men's counsellors; men have taken to preying on others.[1]
Fled are good conduct, restraint and purity; people's diet is what is forbidden.[2]
Modesty to its retreat has retired; decency with it has gone. P. 1243 Saith Nanak : The Lord alone is true and holy—seek not truth in another. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Bāhari bhasm lepan karei antari gubārī

A claimant to Yoga may smear ashes on the body outside;
within him would still be darkness.
He may carry a patched quilt, a pouch and other ways make up,
Yet would he be an egoist with foul understanding.
The Divine Word he utters not, in expanse of Maya-attachment involved.
Within him abide greed and doubt; stupid fool,
in doubt involved.
Saith Nanak : Without contemplation of the Name,
His life's game lost in a gamble. (14)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Lakh siūṇ preetī hovai lakh jīvaṉu kyā khūshīyāṇ kyā chāo

One may have formed friendship with millions and live for a million years—
What worth all such pleasures and their joy ?
The pleasures that leave us, separation from them is like poison,
And in an hour departs joy.
For a hundred years may one have pleasure; in the end must taste bitterness.
Forgotten then is pleasure; and bitterness spreads fast.
Pleasure and pain both are maladies.
Saith Nanak : In the end those enjoying pleasure are lost.

---

1. Hunter.
2. Implies corrupt practices etc.

Involvement in pleasures is worthless activity.
Those seeking[1] these only exhaust themselves in vain. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Man may dye his dress and paint the woodwork in his house,
And plaster his house over all white.
His heart he may habitually[2] indulge with pleasures,
Whereby from Thee, Lord, is drawn blame.
After pleasures ultimately does one undergo pain.
This pain to the body brings maladies.
After this, should one acquire the Name joy-giving,
Then, mother mine ! goes this suffering.
Saith Nanak : This by the Master's guidance is attained,
In the destiny of any that this is so recorded. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jin kai hirdai mailu kapaṭu hai bāharu dhovāiyā

Those with hearts foul, harbouring malice within, washing[3] themselves from outside;
Practise falsehood and malice that manifests itself.
What is within oozes out, and no way may be concealed.
By attachment to false greed man in transmigration is involved.
Saith Nanak : Whatever man sows, he consumes—
Thus has run the Creator's writ. (15)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Kathā kahāṉī Bedīṇ āṉī pāpu pūnnu bīchāru

Discourses by the Scriptures[4] are brought forth, with contemplation of sin and merit.
Human beings are retributed according to deeds and as destined act[5]—
Whereby into hell or heaven they descend.
The world caught in delusion strays along, in delusion of castes and species, high and low.
The ambrosial Word of the Master that expounds the Essence,
Through enlightenment and meditation has descended.
This the God-directed have uttered, the God-directed realized,

---

1. Approaching.
2. Spontaneously.
3. Ritual ablutions are implied.
4. Vedas.
5. Give.

And the enlightened on it by Divine grace have mediated.
The Lord who created the Ordinance, under it keep creation,
And views of operating under the Ordinance.
Saith Nanak : Should man's egoism be first shattered,
Would he be entered into the Divine reckoning. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Declare the Scriptures : Good and evil are seeds of heaven and hell.
Whatever the self sows that sprouts, and that it consumes.
Enlightenment the Scriptures laud as supreme;
By it is attained the holy Name.
By sowing truth truth grows, and the self at the Divine Portal finds a place.
Scriptures are the merchants, enlightenment their capital—
This by grace is attained.
Saith Nanak : Without such capital none with profit has departed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza) P. 1244

Ninmu birakhu bahu sanchīyai amrit rasu pāyā

Irrigate the neem plant exceedingly even with amrita-juice,
It avails not.
On a poisonous snake place reliance through incantations,
And plentifully with milk feed it—
What avail ?
The egoist incapable of saturation remains dry,
Like a stone washed to no purpose.
With amrita irrigate poison, poisonous the fruit will be.
Saith Nanak : In union with the congregation of God's devotees,
Is all poison cast off. (16)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Maraṇi na mūratu pūchhiyā puchhī thitti na vāru

Death has no appointed hour, date or day.
Some have packed, some packed and departed;
Others are busy packing.
Some are treated sternily, others cherished in the hereafter.
Man leaves behind cohorts, kettle-drums
And elegant portals.
Saith Nanak : This body that is a heap of dust,
Ultimately to dust is reduced. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Nanak, the heap of dust has fallen; wall of dust that it was.
Within it was settled thief of the foul mind;
Its life was all falsehood. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jin andari nindā dushṭu hai nakk waddhei nakk wadḥāiyā

Those harbouring evil calumny within are shameless, to ignominy exposed.
Extremely foul of visage, ever suffering, by Maya-attachment blackened in face.
Rising each morning, others' property they steal,
And the Name Divine refuse to utter.[1]
Lord ! may I never consort with such—
Divine king ! from such save me.
Saith Nanak : As are their earlier deeds they act;
Egoists, they suffer. (17)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Sabhu koī hai khasam kā khasmuh sabhu ko hoe

All are the Lord's; by the Lord are all created.
By realizing the Lord's Will is attained truth.
Should one by the Master's guidance realize the self,
none appears evil.
Saith Nanak : Should man by the Master's guidance on the Name meditate,
Fruitful is his coming into the world. (1)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)
The Lord is Provider of all, and to all grants union.
Saith Nanak : Those serving the bountiful Lord,
United by the holy Word,
Never more are sequestered. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Gurmukhi hirdai shānti hai Nāūṇ ūggawi āiyā

In the heart of the God-directed abides peace,
And the Name therein sprouts.
Those that utter the Name taking holy bath, practise austerities and restraint,
To the Lord are pleasing.

---

1. Steal (conceal).

Those that with pure hearts serve the Lord,
By chanting Divine laudation wear aspect of beauty.
This is to the Lord pleasing; and to the devout[1]
He grants liberation.
Saith Nanak : The devout[1] by Him are granted union,
And at the Divine Portal look splendid. (18)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Dhanvantā iv hī kahai awarī dhan kau jāoṇ

The wealthy seek more and more of wealth and gain.
Saith Nanak : Man is rendered a pauper the day
The Name he puts away from mind. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
From sunrise to sunset, each one is losing life.
With body and mind given to enjoyment, some are losers,
some winners.
All with the wind of pride are swollen that by instruction does not subside.[2]
Saith Nanak : As the Lord casts His glance,
Taken out is pride[3] and man then falls to humility. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Sat-sangati Nāmu nidhānu hai jiithuh Hari pāiyā

The holy congregation is treasure of the Name,
Whence is the Lord attained.
By the Master's grace is the heart illumined,
And darkness dispelled.
Iron when touched with philosopher's stone, turns gold.
Saith Nanak : By contact with the holy Preceptor is
the Name attained;
Then in unison is the Name meditated on. P. 1245
Those hoarding good have the Divine sight. (19)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Dhrigu tinhāṇ kā jīviyā jei likhi vechehṇ Nāuṇ

Cursed is the life of such as write out God's Name and sell it as incantations.

---

1. Gurmukh.
2. Lit. Is stopped.
3. Phūk (lit. wind) is also explicated as breath. In idiom however, it also stands for pride.

Those whose crop is ruined, what harvest shall they have[1]
Those without truth and modesty in the hereafter honoured[2] shall not be.
To indulge in disputation is to lose sense—such is not the way of wisdom.
By wisdom is the Lord served, by wisdom is attained honour.
By wisdom are books interpreted; by wisdom is dispensed charity,
Saith Nanak : There is one sole path to God[3]—
All else is Satan's prompting. (1)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
Essential it is to be as one claims.
Let man be brave and not a coward—
Such should his aspect be.
As man becomes God's image,
Others receive from him their hearts' desire. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Satiguru amrit birkhu hai amrit rasi phaliyā

The holy Preceptor is amrita-tree,
Abloom with amrita-juice.
For whomsoever it is destined, attains it—
By the Master's teaching attained.
Whoever the holy Preceptor's will follows,
To the Lord is united.
Yama, agent of death looks not at him,
As in his heart is blazing light.
Saith Nanak : Whoever by grace to the Lord is united,
Nevermore in the womb rots. (20)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Sachu vartu santokhu tīrathu giānu dhyānu ishnānu

Those adopting the fast of truth, holy pilgrimage, of content and bath of illumination and meditation;
Making compassion their deity, forgiveness their rosary,
Are pre-eminent among men.
To make union with the lord the dhoti;[4] absorption in God
the ritually pure kitchen,

1. The expression is symbolic : Crop is devotion.
2. Dād (P) is ovation.
3. That is, devotion.
4. The ritual loin-cloth of the pious Hindu.

Love the food consumed—
Saith Nanak : Rare are such as thus are blessed. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
The Ninth[1] of the month[1] should man keep by taking vow of truth,
And consume lust, wrath and desire.
The tenth should he celebrate by stopping the ten faculties,[2]
The eleventh by realizing the Lord to be sole;
The twelfth by subduing the five evils—
Then Saith Nanak, is the mind fixed in faith.
Brahmin-priest ! As are kept such fasts,
What need any other preaching ? (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Bhūpati rājei rang rāi sancheh bikhu khāiyā

Kings monarchs pleasure-loving chiefs
Maya-poison are garnering.
Their attachment to Maya are they increasing,
Grabbing other's property.
In their attachment to Maya, progeny and wife they trust not.
Maya at first sight deludes them, and then
into regrets they fall.
At Yama's door in bonds are they chastized.
Saith Nanak, such is the Lord's Will. (21)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Giān vihūṇā gāwai geet

Some sing songs of devotion, yet of illumination are empty.
The starving mulla makes of his house a mosque.[3]
Others, incapable of earning a living, get ears slit like Yogis;
Practise mendicancy, losing their caste respect.
One claiming to be a religious teacher;[4] and going out to beg,
Touch not his feet ever.
Those that eat the bread of their labour and give away something in charity,
Saith Nanak, truly recognize the way. (1)

---

1. Fasts and ritual performances are prescribed for different lunar dates.
2. The sensations and thought-processes are meant, to be stopped to make way for samādhi.
3. (This illustrates the type mentioned above).
4. (Guru and Pīr and mentioned from the Hindu and Muslim tradition respectively).

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Those that are dark of wells of ignorance,
Understand not the tradition of religion—
Are blind of mind, their minds are like upturned lotuses, Hideous their aspect.
Some know how religion to expound, and whatever is stated, realize— P. 1246
Such are of pleasing aspect;
Some have not understanding of the mystic sound, or of scriptures;[1]
Devoid of joys of music, good from bad they cannot discriminate.
Some have not intelligence or sense or understanding
And understand not a syllable.
Saith Nanak : Such are authentic asses
As without merit pride themselves. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Gurmukhi Sabh pavitu hai dhanu sampai māyā

For the God-directed is all holy,
Be it wealth, property or possessions.
Those that expend or give away the Divine wealth,
Happiness attain.
Those meditating on the Name Divine,
No shortage feel.
God's devotees beholding the Lord, cast away wealth.
Saith Nanak : Devotees of nothing else think,
Keeping absorbed in the Name Divine. (22)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Satiguru sevani se Wad-bhāgī

Supremely fortunate are those serving the holy Preceptor,
Who to the holy Word are attached.
Such even living amid home and family,
In equable absorption are involved.
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name are the true anchorites. (1)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)
By calculations is not performed service to God :

1. Vedas.

The deeds of such are not approved.
Such find not joy in the holy Word,
Nor to truth are attached.
The holy Preceptor by such is not loved;
In stubbornness of will to him they make resort.
With one step taken forward, ten they retreat.
The holy Preceptor's service lies in obeying his will.
By discarding the ego with the holy Preceptor one finds union,
And in poise remains absorbed.
Saith Nanak : Such never are forgetful of the Name,
And by the holy Eternal to Himself are united. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Khān malūk kahāendei ko rahaṉu na pāī

Those styled as lords and nobles shall not be allowed to last.
Forts and mansions firmly plastered shall accompany them not.
Despite their tail-pieces of gold and wind-like speed of horses,
Cursed is their wordly cleverness.
With their thirty-six types of delicious viands[1]
Only of offal have they increase.
Saith Nanak : Egoists forgetful of the Divine Provider,
Only into suffering fall. (23)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Paṛhi paṛhi pandit monī thakkei desantar bhavi thakei bhekdhārī
Brahmins and sages[2] to exhaustion have studied texts,
And wearers of garbs of various orders over different regions wander.
With duality within, the Name never they attain,
And into deep suffering fall.
Thoughtless, blind, caught in three qualities they practise piety.
Dealers Maya-bound.
With malice within, to fill their bellies these stupid ones recite texts
Those serving the Master with the ego cast out, attain joy.
Saith Nanak : Only the study and contemplation of the Name is fruitful—
This is a rare one realizes. (1)

1. Amrita.
2. Muni.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Unclad we come, unclad depart—such being the Divine Ordinance,
What can we do ?
He whose is the substance, shall carry it away.
Why bear grievance against any ?
The devout to the Divine Will are compliant,
And in serenity the Divine elixir quaff.
Saith Nanak : My tongue, ever laud the Donor of joy,
And the Lord's Name repeat. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Gaṛhi kāyā sīngār bahu bhānti baṉāī

In the citadel of the body much decoration have we made.
Maya-devotees wear robes of various dyes.
With carpets dyed red and white their assemblies they convene. P. 1247
Such eating and wear all brings suffering,
At which the proud fool is puffed up.
Saith Nanak : Such the Name, succourer at the last moment,
Have not contemplated. (24)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sahaje sukhi ṣuttī shabdi samāe

The Seeker-female, absorbed in the Word sleep of peace is enjoying.
By the Lord Himself has been taken in embrace and to Himself united.
Spontaneously is her vacillation ended,
As the Name in her heart has taken lodging.
Such by the Lord are taken in embrace as their lower nature have shattered and remade,
Saith Nanak : Those from Primal Time destined.
Are now by the Lord to Himself united. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

What good those forgetful of the Name, reciting aught else ?
Like worms of ordure, in ignoble activity are they ruined.[1]

1. Robbed.

Prayeth Nanak : May the Name be not forgotten
Absorption in alien concerns is false greed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Nāmu salāhani Nāmu manni asthiru jagi soī

Those lauding the Name, putting faith in it are immutable
in the world.
Such in their hearts the Lord contemplate, no other.
With each breath and each instant the Lord they contemplate.
Of God's devotees is the birth fruitful,
Pure, with their impurity shed.
Saith Nanak : By meditation on the Supreme Being eternal, Immortality they attain. (25)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Jinnhīṇ Nāmu visāriyā bahu karam kamāwehn hori

Those forgetful of the Name and in various other actions engaged,
Saith Nanak, in Yama's demesne bound are chastized,
As a thief caught red-handed.[1] (1)
Sloka (Guru Arjan Dev)
While repeating the Name Divine, beautiful appears the earth
And lovely the sky.
Saith Nanak : Those without the Name
Have their carcases pecked at by ravens, (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Nāmu salāhani bhāu kari nij mahalīṇ wāsā

Those lauding the Name with love,
In their true mansion with God abide.
Nevermore taking birth, nor subjected to destruction.
With each breath and morsel lovingly the Lord's Name they utter.
By the illumination by the Master granted,
Never is the Lord's dye washed off them.
By Divine grace to the Lord are they united. (26)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Jiccharu ihu manu lahrīṇ wichi hai haumai bahutu ahankāru

While the mind in the waves of passions is caught,
Full of egoism and pride it remains :
In the holy Word finding not delight, to the Name not attached.

1. Caught at the point making a breach.

His absence to me is death.
The holy Preceptor showed Him to be by our side,
In all spots pervasive.
Saith Nanak : By inspiring absorption,
Himself the sleep-laden He awakens. (29)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Manmukh boli na jāṇanī onhāṇ andari kāmu krodhu ahankāru
Egoists know not righteous speech;
Harbouring within themselves lust, wrath and pride.
They know not the right occasion from the wrong,
Contemplating evil-doing ever.
At the Divine Portal as is called the reckoning,
Are they proved false.
Himself has the Lord raised creation, Himself judges it.
Saith Nanak : To whom to carry the plaint ?
The holy Lord in everything is operative. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Such by the Master's guidance on the Lord have meditated,
As by Divine grace this fortune have attained.
Saith Nanak : To such am I a sacrifice
In whose minds is lodged the Lord. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Ās karei sabh loku bahu jīvaṇu jāṇiyā
All desire for long life, as they reckon it to be.
For eternal life they desire, and embellish citadels and halls.
By fraudulent efforts wealth by stealing they bring.
Yama, agent of death their breaths is counting;[1]
Life is decreasing and man a goblin becomes.
Saith Nanak : Man by seeking the Master's shelter is saved;
The Master is his saviour. (3)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das) P. 1249
Paṛhi paṛhi pandit wādu vakhāṇde māyā moha suyāe
Brahmins by their study only utter contentions,
In pursuit of Maya-attachment.
In duality involved, of the Name are they unmindful;
Stupid minds, chastizement they receive.

1. Watching.

He who created them,
Who grants them sustenance, they serve not.
From the neck of such is not snapped Yama's noose;
Involved again and again in transmigration.
Those bearing the writ since Primal Time
With the holy Preceptor have union.
Saith Nanak : Absorbed in holy truth ever[1] on the Name they meditate. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Those offering reverence[2] at the Master's feet deal in truth,
Serve truth.
Saith Nanak : Whoever the Master's will follows,
Spontaneously in truth is absorbed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āsā wichi ati dukhu ghaṉā manmukhi chittu lāiyā

In desire lies much suffering, to which egoist's hearts are attached.
God's devotees of desire are freed,
And the supreme joy attain.
Engaged in their home and family are they yet anchorites,
And on the immaculate Lord their minds have fixed.
Sorrow and sequestration touches them not,
As the Lord's Will to them is pleasing.
Saith Nanak : In the Lord are they ever absorbed,
Who since Primal Time to Himself has united them. (31)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Parāī amāṉ kiuṇ rakhīyai dittī hī sūkhu hoe

Why keep what is another's[3]—
In giving it back lies happiness.
The Divine Word in the Master alone is lodged;
Nowhere else manifested.
A blind man possessing a pearl[4] goes out hawking it from house to house.
Such knowing not its worth, get not half a cowrie for it.
Should man not be a pearl-tester himself,

1. Each day.
2. Touching the holy Preceptor's feet.
3. This may be interpreted as life that is God's gift.
This line is believed to be the occasion for handing over the Guruship to Guru Ram Das.
4. Implies the holy Word.

By others should he get it tested.
By attaching himself to it, profit may man gain
And the Name, source of Nine Treasure attain.
With wealth of the Name lying in the home,
Is the world yet starving :
Without the Master's guidance comes not awareness of this.
Should the Word joy-cooling in mind and body be lodged,
Nevermore enters there sorrow and sequestration.
Should a foolish man feel proud of what is another's,
His respect he loses.
Saith Nanak : Without seeking knowledge
From the Master, none true joy has attained,
And in transmigration remains involved. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Joyous is the heart, as is met the Divine Beloved,
And joy-filled are our loved companions, God's devotees.
Those united to Himself by the Lord in Primal Time,
Nevermore are sequestered
As is the holy Word in mind contemplated,
And is met the Master,
Is all suffering annulled.
The Lord, donor of joy ever I laud, in heart cherishing Him.
To what avails the egoist traducing such as by the holy Word are embellished ?
The Divine Beloved Himself their honour shall guard
As by the Master's guidance His shelter seek.
Saith Nanak : God's devotees are joyful,
Their faces at the Divine Portal radiant. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Istrī purkhai bahu preeti mili mohu wadhāiyā
Woman and man in great affection,
Their attachment have increased.
Man beholding progeny and wife, out of Maya-attachment is delighted,
From various lands wealth he grabs[1] and into their mouth puts.
Enmity and contentions therefore arise;

1. Steals.

At the end none from Yama saves him.
Saith Nanak : Cursed be attachment formed in estrangement from the Name,
Bringing suffering. (32)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das) P. 1250

Gurmukhi amritu Nāmu hai jitu khādhai sabh bhukh jāe

In God's devotees is lodged amrita of the Name Divine,
Which consumed, all hungers banishes.
No desire[1] thereafter remains, and the Name in the mind takes lodging.
To consume other than the Name is to have maladies come rushing the body to grip.
Saith Nanak : As laudation of the holy Word is made tastes sweet and pungent,
Himself the Lord grants union. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

In all creatures the holy Word is life,
Whereby comes union with the Divine Bridegroom.
Without the Word is the world dark—
By the Word is it made visible.
Brahmins and sages to exhaustion have studied texts,
And followers of sects to exhaustion have performed ablutions :
None without the holy Word has attained the Lord—
All have departed, miserable, in tears.
Saith Nanak : By His glance of grace is attained the Lord;
By good fortune comes union with Him. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Istrī pūrakhai ati nehu bahi mandu pakāiyā

Love between woman and man on foul desires is confirmed.
All that is visible, must depart hence—
Such is the Lord's Will.
Devise a way whereby in the world immutable we stay.
By service to the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Is the body's wall made unshakeable.
Saith Nanak : Those absorbed in the Name Divine
By His grace are granted union. (33)

---

1. Thirst.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Māyā mohi visāriyā Guru ka bhau hetu apāru

Man in Maya attachment involved.
The Master's fear and love of the Lord above limit has forgotten.
Caught in wave of greed, is his understanding and wisdom gone.
And love for the truth in him is not aroused.
Those lodging the Word in heart by the Master's guidance
At the Divine Portal the door of liberation enter.
Saith Nanak : Himself He grants union and liberation. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Saith Nanak : He without whom is not life possible for an hour,
And who for a moment cannot be put away—
Why let the mind to Him be indifferent,
Who of us is ever mindful. (2)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Divine grace like steady showers of Sāvan has come;
By the Master's guidance on the Name Divine meditate.
This all suffering, hunger and pining shall annul,
As rain[1] in torrent falls.
The earth has grown green, and grain in heaps is harvested.
The Lord in His grace inspires spontaneous laudation,
And Himself approval grants.
Devotees of God ! on the Lord meditate,
Who at the last liberation shall grant.
In laudation and devotion of the Lord lies bliss,
Whereby joy everlasting in the heart comes to abide.
Those that by the Master's guidance on the Name
have meditated,
Gone is their suffering and hunger.
Nanak, servant of God, in singing Divine laudation fulfilment finds.
Lord ! in Your abounding love grant me Thy sight. (3)

Pauri (Stanza)

Guru pūrei kī dāti nit devai charhai sawāīyā

The blessing of the Master, perfectly-endowed
Is perpetual, ever-increasing.
Himself in His pleasure He grants it, and noway can be concealed.

1. Used symbolically for grace.

Illumined is the Master's lotus of the heart and in the state of absorption[1] has he entered.
Whoever tries such a one to emulate, on his head falls ashes.
Saith Nanak : None the greatness of the Master, perfectly-endowed can approach. (34)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Amaru veparwāhu hai tisu nāli siyāṉap na challaī na hujjati karṉī jāe

Above constraints is the Lord's command—
Against that cleverness or argument avails not.
Let man discarding his ego, the Divine shelter seek, P. 1251
And accept the Divine Will.
By devotion to the Master[2] comes not Yama's chastizement,
And egoism from the self is banished,
Saith Nanak : Such alone may be called God's true servants
As in truth are absorbed. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Thou Divine effulgence ! all blessings are Thine;
All visible forms too Thine.
To me belongs only cleverness and egoism.
From excess of worldly activity[3] arise only greed and attachment;
In egoism is not ended transmigration.
Saith Nanak : The Lord prompts us to do what pleases Him :
All that pleases Him is best. (2)

Pauri (Guru Arjan Dev[4])

Sachu khāṉa sachu paihnaṉā sachu Nāmu ādhāru

Those whose sustenance and wear and support is the holy Name,
By the Master, perfectly-endowed are to the benevolent Lord united.
Such are rendered perfectly fortunate, and on the Formless
Supreme Being meditate;
The world by attachment to holy company is saved.
Saith Nanak : Laud the Lord; hail Him. (35)

Sloka (Guru Arjan Dev)

Sabbhei jīya samāli apṉī mehar karu

Lord ! all beings pray cherish; show Thy grace.

---

1. Unman=turīyā or the state of total absorption in God.
2. By turning the face Master-ward.
3. Action.
4. This paurī as against the rest. is of Guru Arjan Dev's composition.

Let grain and water be in plenty; shattering suffering and penury, save us.
The benevolent Lord to our prayer listened,
And joy-cooled was all creation.
Lord ! to your bosom clasp us, banishing all suffering.
Nanak, on the Name meditate; in the Lord's home none unfruitful remains. (1)
Sloka (Guru Arjan Dev)
The pleasing clouds have rained, as the Creator commanded.
Is grown plenty of food, and joy-cooled is the world.
By contemplation of the Lord inaccessible, limitless
Are mind and body in bloom of joy.
Holy Creator, Lord ! show Thy grace.
He does as pleases Him—Nanak to Him is a sacrifice. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Waḍḍā āpi agam hai waddī waḍiyāī

Great and inaccessible is He,
Exalted His greatness.
Beholding Him by the Master's Word am I in bloom of joy,
And have inner peace obtained.
Himself solely He operates, Himself alone exists.
The Lord all existence has subdued;[1] all under His decree work.
Saith Nanak : Each acts as pleases the Lord;
All His Will follow. (36) (1)

(Found correct[2])

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of the Bhaktas
Of the Venerable Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kahā nar garbasi thorī bāt

Why man, art puffed up over small things.
For ten maunds[3] of grain, and a few coins are thou swollen stiff. (I-Pause)
May be thy great glory comprises a hundred villages in fief,
And royal charter for annuity of lakh takas[4] :

---

1. (The figure is from the halter drawn through the nose of oxen).
2. Direction in the original, Shuddha.
3. A measure of weight, varying from time to time.
4. An old coin, equivalent to a rupee.

With all this, thy lordship four days shall last,
As freshness[1] of forest-leaves. (1)
None this wealth brought into the world, none shall carry it away.
Greater kings than Ravana in an instant are destroyed. (2)
Immutable are God's devotees; venerate these,
Who the Divine repeat.
Those having the Lord's grace to the holy congregation are joined. (3)
Mother, father, wife, progeny and wealth, P. 1252
In the end go not with man.
Saith Kabir : Madman ! to the Lord be devoted;
Thy life fruitlessly is passing. (4) (1)

Rājāshram miti nahīṇ jānī Terī

The extent of Thy Royal mansion to me is not known,
By me who am Thy devotees handmaid. (I-Pause)
One that departs smiling, in tears returns.
One departing in tears returns in joy.[2]
One well-settled in home is rendered homeless;
One homeless finds abode. (1)
Oceans into dry land He turns,
Dry land into pits;[3]
Pits[3] into mountains turns.
From earth does He lift some to the sky.
Those sky-high are brought low. (2)
Beggars He turns into rulers, rulers into beggars.
Stupid persons does He makes learned;
The learned into stupid ones. (3)
Female He turns to male; males into females.
Saith Kabir : Beloved of devotees—
To His image am I a sacrifice. (4) (2)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of the Venerable Namdev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kāeṇ re mana bikhiyā ban jāe

My self ! why stray into forest of evil ?
Intoxicated by Maya's drug of stupor art thou gone astray. (I-Pause)

1. Green colour.
2. Smiling.
3. Wells.

Like to the fish living in water,
That forgetful of the net, instrument of death,
For pleasure of palate the iron hook it swallows :
Even thus is man bound by attachment to gold and woman. (1)
As the bee that endless honey gathers;
Its honey snatched, as ashes into its mouth are thrown.
The cow for its calf, gathers milk;
But the cowherd tying it by neck milks it. (2)
For wealth man makes much effort,
And into the earth buries it.
Gathering all this, thoughtless man realizes not,
That with the body turned dust, wealth in the earth will remain. (3)
Man in lust, wrath and desire excessively burns;
And never holy company enters.
Saith Namdev : To His shelter come,
And from fear becoming free, to the Lord be devoted. (4) (1)

Banduh kī na hod mādhou mo siuṇ

Lord ! enter with me into a wager :
Without the Lord is not known the servant, by the servant
only the Lord—
Such is the game that devotees play with Thee. (I-Pause)
Himself is He deity and the temple, Himself offers worship.
From water appear waves; waves to water turn—
Only in a manner of speech are they separate. (1)
Himself He sings, Himself dances and plays the trumpet.
Saith Namdev : Thou my Lord art,
I Thy servant am imperfect; perfect Thou. (2) (2)

Dās aninn mero nij rūp

Saith the Lord : The servant solely devoted to me is my own image.
By a moment's sight of the Lord comes release from the three maladies;
By His touch from the pit of the world. (I-Pause)
What I bind may my devotee unbind;
What the devotee binds that can I not unbind.
Should he bind me ever, no replication can I make. (1)
Bound by their merit am I life of all; P. 1253
My devotees my life.
Saith Namdev : Whoever this in mind realizes,
Equal light of Love bears. (2) (3)

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Shri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realize by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tai nar kyā Purānu suni kīn ā

Man ! what by listening to the Puranas hast thou achieved ?
Neither in thee has arisen ceaseless devotion,
Nor hast thou to the hungry given charity. (I-Pause)
Lord ! neither have we discarded lust, nor wrath or greed.
Calumny or others has not left our lips;[1]
Fruitless is all our worship.[2] (1)
In highway robbery others' home has the sinner robbed,
And thus his belly filled.
What in the hereafter shall bring him ignominy
Out of ignorance has he performed. (2) Violence his mind has not left; to God's creation has he not shown compassion.
Saith Parmanand : in the holy congregation has he not listened to[3] the holy discourse. (3) (1) (6)
My self ! leave company of those turned away from God.
Note : Only this single line of a hymn from Bhakta Sūrdās is left intact. The rest of the hymn is rubbed over with the solution of sulphur.

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of Bhagat Parmanand ascribed to Surdas

Hari kai sang basei Hari lok

God's devotees with Him alone abide.
Body and mind and all else to Him have they dedicated.
In spontaneous joy by Divine music intoxicated. (I-Pause)
At sight of the Lord are they relieved of their evil,
And all boons have achieved.
At sight of Lord's beauteous visage to Naught else are they attached. (1)
Those discarding the beauteous Lord, seeking aught else
Are like leeches sucking lepers' blood.
Saith Surdas : The Lord my heart in His hand has grasped,
And thus joy of the hereafter granted me. (2) (1.8)

---

1. Mouth, tongue.
2. Lit. service; implies ritual acts of worship.
3. Made current, joined.

In the Measure Sarang—Composition of the Venerable Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari binu kaunu sahāī mana kā

Who other than the Lord shall prop the mind ?
Mother, father, brother, progeny, wife—
Attachment to all these is mere play. (I-Pause)
For the future make a raft—undependable is wealth.
What reliance on the body's vessel may be placed,
That with small jolt may be shattered. (1)
In seeking dust of feet of God's devotees
Merit of all religious performances shall you obtain.
Saith Kabir : Listen, devotees of God !
This mind is like a bird of the forest,
Ever on the wing. (2) (1.9)

RAGA MALAR

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 1254
Quartets (Chaupade)

SCORE I

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being; Reality Eternal;
Creator Immanent; Above Fear; Above Rancour; Form Eternal; Unincarnated; Self-Existent; Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

Khāṉā pīṇā hassṉā sauṉā visari gyā hai marṉā

In involvement in eating, drinking, laughter and sleep
Is dying put out of mind.
In being forgetful of the Lord is your life cursed :
Know, not forever are you going to last. (1)
Thou creature of God ! on the Sole Name Divine meditate,
Thus with honour proceed to your true home in God. (I-Pause)
Lord ! those worshipping you nothing to you can give,[1]
But beg for boons, which last not.
Thou art Provider of all beings, and the life in all creatures. (2)
Devotees that on Thee meditate, receive amrita—
Such alone are rendered pure.
Creature of God ! day and night the Name repeat,
Whereby are the impure made pure. (3)
As be the season, to the body comes its joy;
This in turn the body affects.
Saith Nanak : The agreeable season is that spent in
devotion to the Name;
Without the Name what good the season's delights ? (4) (1)

Karouṇ binou Guru apne Prītam Hari-varu āṉi milāveh

To the Master dearly loved supplication I make
With the Divine Spouse to grant me union.
On hearing thunder of the Master's teaching is the heart's peacock joy-cooled;

1. What can they give ?

Thy tongue dyed red in the Lord's love His laudation sings. (1)
By such cloud's shower is my heart joy-drenched;
On the heart has fallen in joy the amrita drop.
Charmed by the Master, my heart joy in God has taken. (I-Pause)
The woman whose heart in the Master's Word has fixed faith,
Is spontaneously joyful, beloved of the Spouse.
By joy in the Divine Spouse has the woman
Found blessed conjugal life,
Her mind and body joyful in love. (2)
Discarding demerits has she from the world turned away;
With the Lord is her conjugal bliss eternal.
To such a one never comes sorrow and sequestration—
The Lord to her is gracious. (3)
Transmigration is no more; the mind no more wanders—
As shelter with the Master I have taken.
Nanak, by guidance of the Master the Name thou repeat—
Of such a one is the matrimony truly blessed. (4) (2)

Sāchī sūrati Nāmi nahīṇ triptei haumai karat gawāiyā P. 1255

Those not finding fulfilment through the Name have not the true enlightenment;
In egoism is their life wasted.
In lure of others' wealth and women, in calumny of others
Have they swallowed poison and got suffering.
By contemplation of the Word have they not found release from fear and fraud,
In their mind and on their tongue is ever pursuit of lucre :
Carrying dragons' heavy load, they constantly die and are born—
Their life a waste. (1)
Those to whose heart is the Word pleasing are joyful.
Beings wandering in species numerous garbs[1] have assumed;
Only with the Master's protection have they attained truth. (I-Pause)
Men have bathed at holy spots, yet shed not their impulses[2]—
The Name Divine to such is not pleasing.
The jewel have they cast off and given away—
As they came, so are they left.

1. Implies forms.
2. Tamas, the lowest of the 'three qualities' is implied.

Worms, out of ordure they grew;
Therein again absorbed.
Much pleasures excessive maladies brings.
Without the Master's guidance comes not enlightenment. (2)
With my mind fixed in service, in joy may I sing
Divine laudation;
By the Master's guidance illumination may I contemplate.
The truly contemplative are saved, the disputations destroyed;
To the enlightener Creator am I a sacrifice.
We are low, of low understanding;
Thou ennobler through thee holy Word.
Where is contemplated the self art Thou the Saviour,
By the truth granting liberation. (3)
In the holy spot in congregation Thy laudation may I utter Which of Thy merits, who art limitless can I utter ?
Unknowable, inaccessible, unincarnated,
Overlord of those called lords.
By what example[1] may I compare Thee ?
All are beggars, Thou the Provider.
Nanak, devoid of devotion on Thy Portal has set his gaze :
May I obtain devotion to Thy Name that in my heart
I may cherish. (4) (3)

Jini dhan Pir kā sādu na jāniyā sā bilakh badan kumlānī

The woman[2] that with the Spouse has not had joy,
Shall ever wail, with countenance withered.
Caught in noose of past deeds will she be in despair;
Sequestered from the Master, in doubts lost. (1)
Rain thou cloud ! the Beloved has come home.[3]
To the Master may I be a sacrifice who to the Divine
Lord has united me. (I-Pause)
Ever new is love for the Lord; each day is devotion evermore pleasing.
By the Divine sight granted by the Master are we liberated—
In each age bears devotion a noble aspect. (2)
Yours are we; the three-fold universe too Yours;
Thou are mine, I Thine.

1. Beholding whom ?
2. Image for the seeker.
3. Symbol for the self.

By contact with the holy Preceptor is obtained the immaculate Lord,
Whereafter no more return we to ocean of the world.[1] (3)
At sight of the Divine Spouse is the woman in bloom of joy;
With truth bedecked,
As by the Master's guidance prop of the Name to her is granted,
By union with the immaculate Lord, unborn,
Is she rendered holy. (4)
As the Master her bonds has loosened, liberation has she attained;
By fixing her mind in the holy Word truly is she honoured.
As the Master has united her with himself and the Lord;
She cherishes God's Name in her heart. (5) (4)

Par dārā par dhaṇu par lobhā haumai bikhai bikār

Desire for others' womenfolk, wealth, and greed for others' possessions,
Egoism and evil passions, evil-doing discard.
Discard also evil tendencies, others' calumny,
And demoniac lust and wrath. (1)
In the body's mansion is lodged the Lord inaccessible, P. 1256
limitless.
Within it those alone fine amrita,
Whose performance it is to live the jewel of the Master's Word. (I-Pause)
Such look upon suffering and joy equably
And reck not the world's blame or praise.
Such by love for the Master and holy company Enlightenment, true wisdom and absorption in the Name Divine attain. (2)
Day and night profit of the Name Divine by them is attained,
Of which the munificent Master is provider.
Such alone the Master's teaching obtain
As have the Master's glance of grace. (3)
The body's mansion is the Lord's temple and abode;
Within it has He placed His illimitable light.
Saith Nanak : Such of the devotees inside the Mansion are called,
As by the Lord, bestower of union, to Himself are united. (4) (5)

1. That is, do not enter upon transmigration.

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Pawaṉai pāṉī jāṉai jāti

Let man realize Him from whom come into being air and water;
And by casting out fire of passion free the body of doubt.
Should man realize the source wherefrom beings
come into existence,
May he be called a learned savant. (1)
Mother mine ! unknowable are the Lord's attributes :
What is invisible is beyond expression.
By what comparison may He be expressed ? (I-Pause)
The Lord that is on high in heaven and in the nether world,
By what mode and thought may He be expressed ?
Joy of repeating the Name by such is realized
As silently in heart contemplate it. (2)
Such alone as have Divine favour
Have realization,
And utter and express what lies beyond doubt.
On that day and night in the Lord is absorbed,
Into holy truth is merged. (3)
Should any from among the higher castes serve the Lord,
Beyond expression is his praise.
But should one from among the lower castes be His servant,
May he wear shoes made from my skin. (4) (1.6)

Dukhu vechhoṛā iku dukhu bhūkh

One malady is alienation from God, another is hunger.
Still another is torment of Yama's minions aggressive.
Another malady is the disease that rushes to grip the body.
Thou simple-minded physician—seek not to treat these. (1)
Thou physician simple-minded, seek not these not treat.
The pain of separation from the Lord brings torment to the body.
Brother : therefore is not your treatment efficacious. (I-Pause)
Man forgetful of the Lord in delights has involved himself.
Thereby is the body with maladies infected.
The blind mind to chastizement is snbject.
Thou simple-minded physician ! seek not this to treat. (2)
The merit of sandalwood is its fragrance.

Man's existence on the breath in the body is dependent.
As vanishes breath, declines the body;
Whereafter relatives give up food.[1] (3)
With the pure self within is the body like gold—
Therein is the Name immaculate the Divine Essence.
Thereby is suffering and malady annulled.
Saith Nanak : May by devotion to the holy Name liberation finds. (4) (2.7)

Dükh mahurā māran Hari-Nāmu

Suffering is poison; its antidote the Name Divine.
On the slab of content, with the hand of charity is it pounded. P. 1257
By daily consumption of this declines not the body.
At the last with this mayst thou kick off Yama. (1)
Ignorant man ! this medicine thou take,
Whereby may vanish thy evil tendencies. (I-Pause)
Royal authority, wealth, beauty of youth,[2] all are as shadows.
As moves chariot of the sun, appears the naked spot.
In the hereafter shall strength of the body, great name and high caste be not reckoned.
Know, this world is dark like night; in the next is it day.[3] (2)
Make of thy pleasures firewood, thy desires ghee and oil,
Thy lust and wrath put into this fire.
Let thy fire-sacrifice, offerings and recitation of Puranas
Be submission to the Lord's Will. (3)
On the sheet of austerity inscribe the decree of devotion to the Name—
Those having this inscribed have the true treasure.
As their true home they reach, wealthy they appear.
Saith Nanak : Blessed is the mother of such. (4) (3.8)

Bāgei kāpaṛ bolai baiṉ

Sister[4] ! white is thy wear, fine thy speech.
Sharp thy nose, black thy eyes :
With all this hast thou ever on the Spouse set eyes ? (1)
Lord almighty, by strength given by Thee
Can I fly and into the sky soar.

1. (That is, in grief and mourning.)
2. Joban is youth; implied meaning, beauty.
3. That is, the sight of God will be revealed there.
4. The description fits the crane or Koonj, flying high.

Sight of water, land, mountains and river-banks I have.
Brother ! in all spots is pervasive the Lord. (2)
He who creating the body granted it wings,[1]
And yearning and passion for flight,
By His glance of grace poise I may find;
And behold Him as my sight He directs. (3)
In the hereafter shall go neither this body nor these wings :
This body is an amalgam of air, water and fire.
Saith Nanak : Should Divine grace be aidant, may one by the
Master's guidance
Repeat the Lord's Name.
Then will this body in truth be absorbed. (4) (4.9)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Quartets (Chaupade)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nirankāru ākār hai āpei āpei bharmi bhulāe

He is the Formless yet visible;[2] Himself casting man into delusion;
Himself the Creator and Cherisher,
He inclines man in any direction it pleases Him :
His servant's exaltation in obedience to His Ordinance lies. (1)
His Will He knows Himself :
By the Master's grace is it realized :
Thus does inclination to Maya[3] turn to the Eternal,[4]
And man to the world dies. (I-Pause)
Some the Vedas study,
And therefrom make disputation about Brahma,
Vishnu and Shiva :
This Maya of the three qualities has deluded the world and the fear of birth and death is prevalent.
Those that by the Master's grace know the Lord to be one and sole,
Have their mind's illusion lifted. (2)

1. Symbolically, yearning for sight of the Lord.
2. Form.
3. Shaktī.
4. Shiva.

We that are humble, foolish, thoughtless creatures,
Be You our cherisher.[1]
In Your grace, make me slave of Your slaves,
To render service to You.
On me bestow Thy devotion's wealth,
That day and night I contemplate Thy Name. (3) Saith Nanak : By the Master's grace may you have
this realization :
As foam and bubbles on water, is this world;
Merging with Him from whom it arose— P. 1258
Thus is its expanse ended. (4) (1)

Jinnhīṇ Hukamu pachhāṇiyā sei melei Haumai shabdi jalāe

Those realizing the Divine Ordinance,
Are to God united, their egoism consumed by the Word.
Day and night in sincere devotion engaged,
To truth constantly devoted;
Ever have they vision of the holy Lord.
Through the Master's Word spontaneously inspired. (1)
My self ! bow to the Ordinance—thus to thee will come joy :
The Lord with His own Ordinance is pleased—
Whoever this blessing is given, no impediment meets. (I-Pause)
In the Three Qualities lies restlessness—
Those in these involved have neither love nor devotion.
Never shall they attain the liberation state—
By Ordinance bound, shall they in action remain bound.
All happens as is the Lord's Will :
Man by consequence of his deeds in transmigration wanders. (2)
By the holy Preceptor's touch do mind's inclinations die,
And the Name Divine in it is lodged;
Inexpressible, beyond utterance is this state :
Then is man in the Fourth State[2] lodged,
And in truth absorbed. (3)
Inaccessible, nnknowable is the Lord;
Inexpressible His worth—
By the holy Preceptor's grace realized,
By the Word are actions guided.
Nanak ! Laud thou the Name,
Thus at the Portal Divine mayst tbou be exalted. (4) (2)

1. Take care of us.
2. The state of turiyā (super-consciousness).

Gurumukhi koī virlā būjhai jis noṇ nadari karei
Rare are such as by the Master's guidance realization find :
This by His grace comes.
None but the Master is true Bestower,
Should he show grace.
By the Master's guidance comes serenity.
And constant devotion to the Name. (1)
My self ! meditate thou on the Lord's ambrosial Name :
By touch of the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed,
is attained the Name.
And in it perpetual absorption. (I-Pause)
Egoists are eternally alienated, none with them to associate.
Egoism is a malady malignant;
Therein falls on the head Yama's chastizement.
By the Master's teaching, ever contemplating the Name,
Is one never from holy company sequestered. (2)
Thou the sole creator of all.
Ever cherishing Thy creation.
Some by the Master's guidance to Thee are united,
With treasure of devotion blessed.
All to Thee is known—to whom may man carry his supplication ? (3)
The Name Divine is true ambrosia, by grace attained :
By perpetual utterance of the holy Name attained,
In the way of serene contemplation by the Master granted.
Saith Nanak : The Name is true wealth—
To it must thou be devoted. (4) (3)

Guru sālāhīṇ sadā sukhdātā Prabhu Nārāyaṉu soī Ever laud I the Lord, the Supreme Master, Bestower of
joy everlasting;
By His grace is attained the Supreme State, the highest exaltation :
Those lauding perpetually the holy eternal,
In truth are absorbed. (1)
My self ! by the Master's guidance contemplate
God with devotion;[1]
False ties of family thou shed; poisonous egoism and desire discard;

1. In heart.

Remember thou the departure hence. (I-Pause)
From the holy Preceptor comes boon of the Name Divine, from nowhere else. P. 1259
Those blessed with spirituality by him are fulfilled,
In the holy Name absorbed.
Everlasting in their hearts is the Lord pervasive,
In serene meditation their absorption. (2)
By the holy Preceptor's Word is the mind pierced;
The holy Word in the heart lodged.
The Lord, inaccessible, unknowable,
By the Master's guidance is known, inexpressible His secret.
By grace of the Bestower of bliss alone comes devotion to Him on whose palm rests the universe.[1] (3)
Cut is transmigration by serene contemplation under the Master's guidance :
By contemplation comes union of the self with the Lord.
In the Supreme Self is the self[2] absorbed.
By discarding egoism comes absorption in the holy Eternal. (4)
The One sole Lord in the self abides, none other.
His ambrosial Name alone is delectable,
That is the Sole truth in the universe.
Saith Nanak : By Divine grace is devotion to the Name obtained.
By those in Primal Time predestined. (5) (4)

Gaṉa gandharb Nāmei sabhi ūdharei Guru kā shabadu vīchāri

Demi-gods[3] by the Name are saved,
By contemplation of the Master's Word;
By discarding egoism and bearing ever in mind the Name,
And in the heart the Lord :
Whoever He so favours has realization;
Himself He grants union.
Those chanting evermore the Divine texts and the holy Word,
In truth are constantly absorbed. (1)
My self ! each instant the Name contemplate :
The holy Word is Divine blessing, bringer of joy everlasting,
That eternally with these shall last. (I-Pause)
The egoist from hypocrisy is never freed;
In duality caught, bears suffering;

1. Sārang-pāni.
2. (In this line mana is repeated under several shades of signification).
3. Gaṉa—Gandharva (Gandharb).

Forgetful of the Name, his mind in poison immersed,
His life a waste.
Never again this occasion[1] shall he find
Ever in regret shall he pine.
Dying again and again to traverse births
Bereft of realization, in filth shall he be absorbed. (2)
The God-directed, in the Name dyed, liberation have found
By contemplation of the Master's Word;
By meditation on the Name Divine,
The Lord in their heart they cherish :
Pure their mind and body; pure, exalted their understanding,
Ennobled their speech.
One sole Creator, one Lord they realize, no other. (3)
Himself is the Lord Creator, Himself the cherisher.
The devotee's mind and body in the Master's Word is dyed,
His thoughts in his service absorbed
Within is lodged the inaccessible, unknowable Lord,
That the God-directed alone realize.
Saith Nanak : Devotion He confers on whomsoever He pleases—
Such He guides as it pleases Him. (4) (5)
Couplets (Do-tuke)

Satiguru tei pāwai gharu daru mahalu sūthānu

The true abode, the Portal and holy resting-place
By the Master's gift are attained;
By the Master's Word is egoism lifted. (1)
Those on whose forehead has devotion to the Name been recorded in Primal Time,
Ever and eternally on the Name meditate,
At the holy Portal exalted. (I-Pause)
From the holy Preceptor the way they learn to subdue the mind,
And ever and eternally in meditation on the Lord are engaged :
In the Master's Word dyed, P. 1260
Ever are they in a state of dispassion—
At the holy Divine Portal exalted. (2)
By Divine Ordinance is bound the mind engaged in its play;
In an instant in all ten directions running.
By grace of the holy Lord alone,
Is the mind by the Master's guidance in an instant subdued. (3)

1. Human life is meant.

The mind that by contemplation of the holy Word attains realization,
Alone its own secrets may penetrate.
Saith Nanak : Contemplate ever the Name—
Thereby mayst thou cross ocean of the world. (4) (6)

Jio pindu prāṉ sabhi tis kei ghaṭi ghaṭi rahiyā samāī

Life, limbs, breath—all are His who each vessel pervades;
None other than the Sole Supreme Being do I worship[1]
This realization the holy Preceptor has granted. (1)
My self ! ever to the Name is attached.
By guidance of the Master's Word,
Meditate on Him—the invisible, unknowable,
trânscendent Creator. (I-Pause)
As is formed attachment to the sole Creator,
In supreme serenity is the self absorbed.
By attachment to the Sole Supreme Being,
By the Master's grace is lifted doubt and fear. (2)
As man by the Master's guidance acts on truth,
Comes realization of Divine truth.[2]
One among millions such realization has :
Such to the Name Divine are attached. (3)
Wherever I look, the One Supreme Being I behold—
This realization from the Master's teaching comes.
Saith Nanak : Discarding egoism,
Lay before Him mind, body, breath itself. (4) (7)

Merā Prabhu sāchā dūkh-nivāraṉu shabadei pāiyā jāī

The holy Lord, redeemer from suffering, by the holy Word is realized.
Those dyed in devotion are eternally from attachment liberated,
At the holy Portal honoured. (1)
My self ! in questing after the mind be absorbed.
By the Master's guidance is the mind in the Name
Divine immersed,
And devotion to the Lord arises. (I-Pause)
My Lord is Inaccessible, Unknowable, but through the Master's Word is realized.
We are engaged in truth, self-discipline and noble endeavour, and to the Lord is our heart attached. (2)

---

1. Lit. Know.
His state and extent.

Himself the Word, Himself true teaching;
In His holy Light He absorbs light of the human self :
This body of clay, to breathing resounds—
By the Master's guidance into it is poured amrita. (3)
Himself the Creator; Himself has He set all to various tasks.
The holy Eternal all existence pervades.
Saith Nanak : Bereft of the Name, none has value;
From the Name alone comes exaltation. (4) (8)

Haumai bikhu manu mohiyā laddiyā ajgar bhārī

The mind to poison of egoism is attracted,
Under a heavy dragon-load placed :
By utterance of the holy Word, antidote to such poison,
Is the poison of egoism eliminated. (1)
My self ! terrible is the malady of egoism and attachment :
With these the ocean of the world becomes impassable—
By the Master's guidance is it crossed. (I-Pause)
The expanse of Three qualities, of Maya-illusion
In all creation[1] is pervasive;
In holy company is acquired the Supreme State of absorption,[2]
Wherein by Divine grace comes liberation. (2)
Widely pervasive is delectable fragrance of sandalwood;
Such are the noble deeds of the man of God— P. 1261
From him spreads over the world Divine laudation. (3)
Show Thy grace, Lord ! in my heart let God find lodgement.
Saith Nanak : As came guidance of the holy Master,
The self in contemplation of the Name Divine has got engaged. (4) (9)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ehu manu girahī ki ehu manu udāsī

The mind is householder; so also it an anchorite;
The mind by castes is unbound, eternal, immortal. (1)
The mind is restless; so also with the world unconcerned;
Where from has clung to it acquisitiveness? (1)
Thou man of learning ! contemplate the mind's nature—

1. Forms.
2. Turīyā.

Why study other than this, that is a sheer burden ? (I-Pause)
Maya and acquisitiveness by the Creator are attached—
Such is the Ordinance governing creation
Brother ! by the Master's grace this may you realize;
Abide ever under shelter of God. (2)
The true Pandit[1] is one that casts off load of the Three Qualities;[2]
Every passing day utters the sole holy Name,
From the holy Preceptor receives guidance,
Before the holy Preceptor bows his head,
Lives ever untouched by the world—
Such a Pandit at the Divine Portal finds acceptance. (3)
The true Pandit in all creation beholds manifestation of the one Supreme Being;
Beholding thus, this he realizes.
The Lord unites to Himself those on whom His grace falls;
To such comes bliss here and in the hereafter. (4)
Saith Nanak : What devices avail man ?
For, liberation by His grace alone comes.
To such is comes as ever laud the Lord—
Scriptural learning[3] they transcend.[4] (5) (1.10)

Bhrami bhrami joni manmūkh bharmāī

Wandering through[5] births innumerable, are egoists deluded;
By Yama, agent of death in ignominy chastized.
By devotion to the holy Preceptor is servitude to Yama lifted;
In union with the Lord is found abode in the Divine Mansion. (1)
Man ! under the Master's guidance contemplate the Name :
Thy valuable birth in duality is lost,
For a cowrie shell thrown away. (I-Pause)
Lord ! show Thy grace, that by the Master's guidance may devotion he induce;
In the heart Inspire devotion to the Lord—

1. Pandit (Pundit) stands for the learned Brahmin, with implication of disputatious orthodox. Here there is a kind of figure of the words pandit and pand (load, bundle).
2. See Glossary.
3. Shāstra, Veda.
4. Listen not to its sound.
5. Passing through existence.

Devotion that by the holy Word grants liberation,[1]
And the devotees at the holy Portal is adjudged pure. (2)
One in numerous rituals involved receives not the holy Preceptor's instruction;
Without the Preceptor's guidance are many by Maya deluded,
And caught in egoism and greed are in strong grip of attachment;
The egoist in duality involved gets terrible suffering. (3)
Inaccessible and unfathomable is the Creator;
His contemplation by the Master's Word is true gain.
The Lord, ever-present, ever manifest, all desire transcends, Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance comes absorption
in the Name. (4) (2.11)

Jīvat mūkat Gūumattī lāgei

Those in the Master's teaching absorbed, while living, P. 1262
find liberation;
In devotion to the Lord engaged, each day are they ever awake;
Discarding egoism, the holy Preceptor they serve;
Their holy feet I yearn to touch. (1)
I live as the Lord's praise I sing.
The supreme elixir, sweet beyond words, is the Master's teaching :
From devotion to the Name Divine comes the state of liberation. (I-Pause)
From Maya-attachment arises dust-storm of ignorance;
Egoists by it deluded are thoughtless, ignorant;
Ever in pursuit of wealth is their life passed;
They die and are born and reborn, ever chastized. (2)
The God-directed to the Name Divine are attached;
False greed thy shun.
All to them comes serene tranquillity,
Quaffing joy in God with ecstatic palate. (3)
One among millions realization finds;
On such He Himself confers exaltation.
Whoever in Primal Time is destined, never can be alienated.
Saith Nanak : Those so blessed in the Lord's Name find absorption. (4) (3.12)

Rasnā Nāmu sabhu koī kahai

All by Word of mouth the Name utter—

1. Helps crossing the occean of the world.

The Name by service of the Master alone is attained.
He that has the Name, snapped asunder are his bonds;
In the abode of liberation he abides,
And by guidance of the Master's Word, in the house immutable abides. (1)
My self ! why complain ?
In Kali-Yuga, the Name Divine is source of gain—
Ever from your heart on the Master's teaching meditate. (I-Pause)
The chatrik each moment wails;
Without sight of the beloved finds it not rest.[1]
Unbearable its pain of separation—
By touch of the holy Preceptor, spontaneously comes union. (2)
Whoever without the Name is, is destroyed, bears suffering;
By thirst parched, insatiable his hunger.
The Name without good fortune is not attained.
Any without the Name, from action[2] has no respite,
By his many-faced struggle exhausted. (3)
Those cogitating Vedic teaching in the Three Qualities[3] remain bound;
In impurity of poison caught, poisonous their dealing;
In transmigration caught, into ignominy they fall.
The state of perfect absorption from the Master's guidance comes,
By lodging good qualities in heart. (4)
All are convinced of the merit of venerating the Master;
By accepting the Master's Word comes poise[4] to the mind.
To such comes noble repute in all Four Ages.
Saith Nanak: Rare are such as can be called truly God-directed.[5] (5) (4.13.9.13.22)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Quartets (Chaupade)
SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Andinu Hari Hari dhiyāiyo hirdai mati gurmati dūkh visārī

Day by day on the Lord have I meditated;

---

1. Sleep.
2. (Reference to philosophy, which affirms liberation consists in cessation of action arising from desire).
3. See Glossary.
4. Coolness of joy.
5. Gurmukh.

In the heart is lodged the Master's teaching
And forgotten is suffering.
Shattered are bonds of desires and the minds inclinations :
Such is the Lord's grace. (1)
My eyes in the Lord are fixed fast.
At sight of the holy Preceptor is my heart in bloom.
As the Lord's servant the Lord has met. (I-Pause)
Whoever of the Name is neglectful, under a curse P. 1263
is his whole family.
Lord ! bring not any to birth among such—
Their mothers make widows. (2)
Lord ! with the holy grant me contact,
In whose heart day and night is lodged the Lord.
At sight of the Master is the disciple in bloom of joy,
As a child at sight of its mother. (3)
The self that is the wife and the Divine Spouse together live,
Yet between them is erected the tough wall of egoism;
This wall of egoism by the Master, perfectly-endowed is shattered,
Whereby has Nanak with the Lord attained union. (4) (1)

Gangā Jamunā Godāvarī Sarsutī tei karehn uddamu dhūṛi sādhū kī tāīṇ

Ganga, Yamuna, Godavari and Saraswati[1] seek dust of feet of the man of God.
Full of impurity of sins are we; our impurity by dust of feet of the holy is shed. (1)
Bathing at sixty-eight sacred spots avails little :
As flying dust of the holy concourse into our eyes fell,
Shed is all our impurity of foul understanding. (I-Pause)
Ganga by the recluse Bhagirath was brought down;
Holy Kedar[2] by Shiva incarnated as the Buffalo is made.
Banaras[3] and the spot where Krishna tended kine,
By contact with the holy are exalted. (2)
All sacred spots sanctified by the gods,
Seek dust of feet of the holy.
Should God's devotee, the holy Preceptor be met,
Dust of his feet on my face would I rub. (3)

---

1. These are rivers reckoned holy.
2. Name of a peak in the Himalayas.
3. Original, Kāshī.

Lord ! all Your creation after dust of feet of the holy quests.
Saith Nanak : Whoever has this good fortune on forhead inscribed.
By the Lord with dust of feet of the holy finds liberation. (4) (2)

Tisu jana kau Hari mīth lagānā jisu Hari Hari kirpā karai

One blessed with Divine grace shall find the Lord sweet.
One uttering Divine laudation of all hunger and suffering shall be freed. (1)
The self by uttering the Lord's Name liberation shall find.
One listening to the Master's Word and meditating thereon
The ocean of existence shall cross. (I-Pause)
To one having Divine grace are we slaves purchased.
By contact with God's devotees find we joy;
And shed is impurity of foul understanding. (2)
God's devotee hungers after God; by contemplating Divine laudation he feels fulfilled.
God's devotee is a fish in the river that is God—
In separation from God dying. (3)
He who this love inspired, alone knows of it,
Or one in whose heart is this lodged.
Nanak servant of God, by sight of the Lord finds joy,
All his body's hunger gone. (4) (3)

Jitnei jīya jant Prabhi kīnei titnei siri kār likhāwai

Over the heads of all creatures made by God is recorded
His Ordinance.
On His servant has the Lord conferred exaltation,
And to a noble task appointed him. (1)
The holy Preceptor the Name Divine confirms in our mind. P. 1264
Brethern, Master's disciples, utter the Lord's Name,
This across the ocean of existence shall carry you. (I-Pause)
The devotee that venerates and serves the Master, to the Lord is pleasing.
Serve the Lord and venerate the holy Preceptor,
Who in his grace liberation shall grant. (2)
The ignorant, and the purblind lost in doubt, in their illusion pluck flowers for offerings :
Lifeless objects they worship and at their tombs render service—
Wasted is all their endeavour, (3)
The true holy Preceptor is one that contemplates the
Supreme Being,

And on the Lord discourses.
To such a Master in reverence in various ways offer clothing.
food and silken robes—
Never shall you feel scarcity after such offering. (4)
The holy Preceptor, Divinely-inspired is the Lord's image,
Who of the ambrosial word discourses.
Saith Nanak : Fortunate is the devotee
Whose mind in the Lord's feet is fixed. (5) (4)

Jinh kai hīyarei badiyo merā Satiguru tei Sant bhalei bhal-bhānti

Noble and pure are the devotees of God in whose heart is lodged the holy Preceptor.
At their sight is my heart in bloom; ever to them am
I a sacrifice. (1)
Enlightened ones ! days and night repeat the Lord's Name.
Gone is the thirst and hunger[1] of such as by the
Master's guidance,
Partake of joy in God. (I-Pause)
God's devotees, the holy, His servant are our friends,
By whose contact is removed doubt.
As the swan separates milk from water,
Even so the holy remove from the self the fire[2] of egoism. (2)
Those without love in heart are the fraudulent,
Ever practising fraud
None from without need feed their evil; themselves they sow the seed and eat of the produce. (3)
That which is the Lord's characteristic is His servant's too—
Himself the Lord His essence in His servant places.
Blessed be Guru Nanak, of equable vision,
Who all praise and censure transcended. (4) (5)

Agamu agocharu Nāmu Hari ūttamu Hari kirpā tei japi laiyā

The noble, inaccessible, unknowable Name of God
By His grace have we repeated.
By great good fortune have we attained holy company;
In company of the holy have we attained liberation.[3] (1)
Day after day is my heart in joy :

---

1. Symbols for desire.
2. Also interpreted as 'essence'.
3. Lit. Gone across the ocean.

As by the Master's grace the Name Divine I uttered,
Removed is my doubt and fear. (I-Pause)
Lord ! in Your grace join me to company of such As the Lord's laudation have sung, His Name repeated.
By their sight have we attained joy, and gone is the suffering and malady of egoism. (2)
Those that day by day in heart lodge the Name,
Fruitful is their life.
Themselves are they liberated;[1] to the world brought liberation :
Liberated too their forebears. (3)
The world hast Thou created, and under Thy power placed it.
To Nanak, His servant has the Lord shown grace, P. 1265
And from drowning[2] rescued him. (4) (6)

Guru-parshādīṇ amritu nahīṇ piyā trishnā bhūkh na jāī

Those that by the Master's grace amrita have not quaffed,
Unassuaged is their thirst and hunger.[3]
Egoists thoughtless in their pride burn; in their egoism they suffer.
Caught in transmigration, of their life have they made waste,
Suffering and repenting
He who created them, they contemplate not—
Cursed is their life and what they consume.[4] (1)
Thou creature of God ! by the Master's guidance on the Name meditate.
The Lord in His grace grants union with the Master,
Wherewith one in the Name is absorbed. (I-Pause) Wasted is the egoist's birth; in transmigration is he covered with shame.
Those pride-filled by lust and wrath are ruined;
In egoism burning.
Berefit of fulfilment and dim is their understanding;
Caught in wave of greed they suffer.
Without the Master's guidance have they got terrible suffering;
Gripped by Yama they wail. (2)
The Name Divine unknowable by the Master's guidance Spontaneously have we attained.

---

1. (Figure of swimming across as in the above is employed).
2. Implies spiritual ruin.
3. Implies desire.
4. Implies the pleasure of life.

As treasure of the Name in the self is lodged,
Our tongue Divine laudation has sung.
The mind fixed on the Sole Word of God,
Day and night is in joy.
By the holy Preceptor's blessing
Boon of the Name spontaneously have we attained. (3)
By the holy Preceptor's guidance in mind is lodged the Lord—
To the holy Preceptor am I ever a sacrifice.
My mind and body all to him shall I dedicate,
And on the Master's feet fix my mind.
Master perfectly-endowed, pray show grace
And yourself grant union.
We are iron, the Master boat and ship :
Nanak shall he carry across. (4) (7)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
In variable rhythm (Paṛtāl)
SCORE 3
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Harijana bolat srī Rāma-Nāmā mili sādh sangati Hari tor
Lord ! God's devotees in unison with the company of Thy saints
To the Name Divine give utterance. (I-Pause)
Hold commerce in Divine wealth; the Divine wealth garner
That from thieving is immune. (1)
The chatrik and the peacock cry day and night
As sound of thundering clouds they hear. (2)
The deer, fishes and birds that cry
Give not utterance to other than God. (3)
Saith Nanak : God's servant by singing Divine laudation
From Yama's dreadful sound release has found. (4) (1.8)

Rāma Rāma boli boli khojatei bad bhāgī
Those endowed with good fortune uttering God's Name seek Him.
I touch the feet of one that the way to the Lord to me reveals. (I-Pause)
The Lord is our friend and companion—
With the Lord are we fallen in love. P. 1266
The Lord's laudation alone we utter; the Lord's Name alone utter—
Love for all else have we discarded. (1)

The beloved Lord is heart-charmer, eternally joyful, unattached.
Nanak by sight of the Lord finds life,
If even for an instant he may view Him. (2) (2.9.9.13.9.3)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Quartets (Chaupade)
SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kyā tūṇ sochehṇ kyā tūṇ chitwehṇ kyā tūṇ karehṇ upāe

What point thy anxiety, thy thinking ? Why makest this effort ?
What recks he whose helper the Lord is ? (1)
My sister-friend[1] ! clouds of grace are raining, and saintly guests[2] in our home have arrived.
Lord, ocean of grace, in the Name, repository of Nine Treasures[3]
Absorb me, humble one. (1-Pause)
Viands of numerous kinds are prepared, with many dishes sweet-tasting.
Purified is the kitchen-Divine monarch, pray partake now of these. (2)
Destroyed are evil-doers,[4] joyful are friends,[5]
And this house of the body have they adopted as their own.
As the precious Beloved into this house has stepped,
All joys have I felt. (3)
In holy company have I found shelter with the Master perfectly-endowed—
This by the primal writ is granted.
Nanak, servant of God the playful Spouse has attained,
Whereafter no suffering touches him. (4) (1)

Khir adhāri bāriku jab hotā binu khirai rahanu na jāī

While the infant on milk is dependent,
Without milk can it not live.
As the mother cherishing it, puts it in its mouth,
The infant feels fulfilled. (1)
We are infants, the Lord the bountiful giver :
A million times the child may forget Him,

1. Symbol for fellow-devotee.
2. These are feelings of devotion.
3. See Glossary.
4. The sources of evil in the mind.
5. Noble qualities like truth and content.

Yet no other place has it to go. (I-Pause) Unstable is the poor infant's understanding, touching with its hand snakes and fire.
As mother and father clasp it to their bosom,
In spontaneous joy it disports. (2)
Lord ! what hunger may an infant feel whose father Thou art ?
The Name, repository of Nine Treasure in Thy home lies—
Thy servant obtains whatever his heart desires. (3)
The gracious Divine father has ordained, let the infant obtain all it desires.
The infant Nanak for the Divine sight yearns—
May His feet ever in my heart abide. (4) (2)

Sagal bidhī juri āharu kariyā tajiyo sagal aṇdesā

All devices have I brought together, and made effort towards liberation.
All anxiety have I discarded :
All endeavour have I initiated, in the Lord reposing
all my trust. (1)
The delightful music of bliss am I hearing;
At sight of the Beloved's face is risen light of day,
And in my home is ringing pleasing sound of felicity. (I-Pause)
With zeal the spot of the heart have I purified. P. 1267
Querying the holy about the way.
After long quest is the Divine quest met—
Bending at His feet offer I devotion. (2)
As came the Beloved and on the cushiou iu my home was settled,
Paeans of joy I sang,
As the Lord with the Master, perfectly-endowed
granted union,
My companions and friends were comforted. (3)
Were all my friends[1] with joy filled, as the Master granted me fulfilment.
Saith Nanak : The Bridegroom, fount[2] of joy is met,
Who never shall desert me and go far off. (4) (3)

Note : In this hymn the symbolism of the self as the Bride and the Lord as Groom is maintained.

1. Symbol for fellow-seekers.
2. Original, giver.

Rāj tei kīṭ tei surpati kari dokh jaṭhar kau bhartei

The Lord who turns kings into worms, worms into kings of gods—
Discarding Him, men by evil-doing fill their bellies—
Discarding that ocean of grace other than He they worship;
Such are thieves, committing suicide. (1)
Those discarding the Lord in suffering die.
Innumerable times wandering in births,
nowhere finding rest. (I-Pause)
Those discarding the Lord and contemplating any other
Are thoughtless, stupid, foolish asses.
How may a paper-boat cross the ocean ?
Vain is their boast[1] that they swim. (2)
Shiva, Brahma, demons and deities,
All in the fire of death burn.
Lord-Creator ! cast not away Nanak, who shelter with Your lotus feet has taken. (3) (4)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Duos (Dupade)
Score 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Prabh merei ue bairāgī tiyāgī

Without my Master, indifferent to the world, recluse,
Not for a moment can I live :
With him am I in love. (I-Pause)
In his company contemplate I the Lord;
By grace of the holy am I spiritually awakened.
By listening to their teaching is my heart purified,
And immersed in joy, sing I Divine laudation. (1)
By giving away my heart have I made the holy my friends;
By great good fortune are they turned gracious.
Saith Nanak : Great, indescribable joy have I attained,
As in dust of feet of the holy I am immersed. (2) (1.5)

Māī mohe Pritamu dehu milāi

Mother mine ! With the Beloved grant me union.
All my sister-friends in whose homes lives the precious Beloved,
Find joyful sleep. (I-Pause)
The Lord to my faults is ever gracious—

---
1. Statement.

What clever plea can, I devoid of merit, make ?
To claim equality with those immersed in the Lord,
Is only stubbornness of egoism. (1)
Turning humble, sole shelter of the holy Preceptor, source of joy have I sought :
Saith Nanak : In an instant has he annulled my suffering.
And in joy have I passed my night of life. (2) (2.6)

Barasu megh jī tilu bilamu na lāo P. 1268

Cloud so cherished, rain down ! delay not.
Cherished one, prop of heart, rain ! that thee heart may ever be joyful. (I-Pause)
Lord ! in Thee lies our prop; why dost put us out of mind ?
I that am Thy wife, humble as bondwoman,
Without the Spouse feel not honoured. (1)
As the Lord to my supplication listened,
In grace came He quickly to me.
Saith Nanak : Now is my conjugal life blessed;
Exalted is my honour, reputed all my doing. (2) (3.7)

Prītam sāchā Nāmu dhiyāe

On the holy Name of the Beloved have I meditated :
Shattered are suffering and pain and entering the
ocean of existence,
As image of the Master in heart have I lodged. (I-Pause)
Destroyed are foes; evil designers in distress are caught,
As shelter with the Lord I have taken.
The Divine succourer by strength of His arm has succoured me,
And boon of the Name I have obtained. (1)
In His grace has the Lord annulled all my sins,
And the holy Name in heart lodged.
Saith Nanak : The Lord, treasure of merit in my heart is lodged,
Whereafter suffering has not come. (2) (4.8)

Prabh merei Pritam prān piyārei

Beloved Lord ! dear as life !
Pray, out of grace grant loving devotion and Love of Your Name. (I-Pause)

Note : The mystical symbolism of the conjugal life is woven into the above hymn.

Beloved may I contemplate Your holy feet, and in heart cherish desire for You.
To the holy I make supplication, as my heart for a sight of the Lord yearns.[1] (1)
Sequestration from the Lord is death, union with Him life :
Pray, to the devotee grant Your sight.
Saith Nanak : Prop of the Name is my life's wealth :
Lord this in grace grant. (2) (5.9)

Ab apnei Prītam siūṇ bani āyee

Now with the Beloved am I in accord.
By contemplation of the Divine Monarch have I obtained joy,
As has rained the joy-giving cloud of the Master's teaching. (I-Pause)
As the Divine Ocean of joy not for an instant is forgotten,
The Name, source of Nine Treasures[2] have I obtained.
Awakened is perfect good fortune, as the holy true helpers I have met. (1) Aroused is joy, destroyed is all suffering, as the mind to the Supreme Being is attuned.
As Nanak on the Divine feet has meditated.
Crossed is the impassable ocean of existence. (2) (6.10)

Ghanihar barasi sagal jagu chhāiyā

Rained down is the cloud of the Master's teaching and over the whole world spread.
As the Divine Beloved grace has shown, bliss, felicity and happiness have I obtained. (I-Pause)
Effaced are torments, assuared is thirst.[3]
As on the Supreme Being in my heart I have meditated.
Annulling transmigration in holy congregation,
In no other direction has my mind rushed. (1)
My mind and body in the Name immaculate dyed,
To the Divine lotus feet are attached.
The Lord has cherished him as Nanak shelter with Him has taken. (2) (7.11)

Bichhurat kiun jīvei ue jīvan

How in separation from the Lord may His devotees find life.

1. Thirsts.
2. See Glossary.
3. Implies desire.

Their hearts full of yearning and passion for union,
And quaffing elixir of His lotus feet. (I-Pause) P. 1269
Beloved ! those thirsting after You no distance from You feel.
Those forgetful of the Beloved,
Are as dead, and die. (1)
Mind and body in the Lord[1] are absorbed,
And ever behold Him close.
Saith Nanak : In all beings is He immanent,
In all pervasive, (2) (8.12)

Hari kai bhajani kaun kaun na tārei

Vast numbers by devotion to the Lord are saved[2] ?
Those bearing bird's body, fish's body, deer's, boar's body[3]
In company of the holy are saved. (I-Pause)
Those of deities' lineage, demons' lineage, titans' lineage and of the human race,
The ocean of existence have crossed.
Those that in the holy congregation devotion have practised,
Annulled is all their suffering. (1)
Such of lust, wrath and overmastering[4] pleasures of evil are relieved.
Nanak contemplating the Lord compassionate to the humble,
gracious,
Ever to Him is a sacrifice. (2) (9.13)

Āju maiṇ baisiyo Hari hāṭ

Today at the Lord's shop[5] did I sit,
And sharing capital of the Name with His devotees,
To Yama's wharf would I not go. (I-Pause)
In His grace has the Supreme Being saved me,
And door panels of illusions are thrown open.
The Divine merchant-prince, of endless wealth have I attained,
And earned profit of treasure of devotion to His feet. (1)
With the Lord immutable, immortal have I taken shelter;
My sins has He picked up and cast out.
Effaced are the torments of His servant Nanak :
Nevermore shall the body's vessel enter transmigration. (2) (10.14)

1. Lord of the Universe.
2. Lit. How many....are not saved ?
3. Here there are mythological allusions to certain devotees who had assumed these forms.
4. Great.
5. Implies the holy congregation.

Bahu bidhi Māyā moha hirāno

In numerous way by Maya-attachment are we beguiled.[1]
Rare among millions is the Lord's perfect devotee,
Of lasting devotion. (I-Pause)
By rushing in various directions and with much effort is wealth obtained,
Yet it becomes another's.
Man in concealment from the world practises robbery,[2]
And the Lord ever by his side has not realized. (1)
In torments of lowly birth of deer, bird and fish he whirls
Prayeth Nanak : Lord, save this stone,
That in the holy congregation joy I obtain. (2) (11.15)

Dūshṭ mūe bikhu khāī rī māī

Mother mine ! the evil-doers[3] have swallowed poison and died :
He whose creatures we are, in His grace has saved us. (I-Pause)
Brother ! the Lord to whom each heart is known, in all
is pervasive—
Why then have any fear ?
The Lord visible in all spots, ever is by our side,
Never shall He desert us. (1)
Cherisher of the helpless, shatterer of suffering of the meek,
To His sash has attached us.[4]
Saith Nanak : Lord ! under Thy shelter servants find life :
With the Lord have I taken shelter. (2) (12.16)

Mana merei Hari kei charan ravījai

My self ! The Lord's feet contemplate.
Yearning for His sight my heart has attracted :
Lord ! fly on wings to meet me. (I-Pause)
After long search have I found the way : Serve the holy.
Lord ! show grace, that the holy Supreme Divine elixir I quaff. (1) P. 1270
Seeking Your succour to Your shelter have we come :
To me, burning in fire show grace.
With Your arm grasp Your slave—
Make Nanak Your own. (2) (13.17)

---

1. Lit. Robbed.
2. Thuggee.
3. Implies the five sources of evil.
4. That is, granted His protection.

Prabh ko bhagati vacchhalu birdãiyo

The Lord's way is to cherish His devotees.
Traducers has He trampled under feet,
And His glory made manifest. (I-Pause)
Over the entire universe has resounded His victory :
Compassion for me in all beings has He infused.
His servant to His bosom has He clasped to save;
Not a whiff of hot air has touched Him. (1)
The Lord to His bosom has clasped me;
Effacing doubt and fear, joy has He granted.
Saith Nanak : Such of the serving of God as have faith in heart,
In supreme joy abide. (2) (14.18)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Quartets (Chaupade)

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gurmukhi disai Brahm pasãru

By the Master's guidance the world is seen as manifestation of the Divine.
By the Master's guidance is it seen as expanse of the Three Qualities.[1]
In the Master's guidance lies contemplation of the mystic Note and Scriptures.
Without the Master, perfectly-endowed all is pitch darkness. (1)
My self ! by uttering the Master's Name is attained eternal joy.
By the Master's teaching is the Lord in heart lodged :
With each breath and morsel on the Lord meditate. (I-Pause)
To the Master's feet am I a sacrifice.
Each day the Master extol.
In dust of the Master's feet take bath;
Then at the holy Portal may honour be obtained. (2)
The Master is the ship, carrying beings across the ocean of existence.
By contact with the Master is one not born in species.[2]
Those alone to serve the Master are destined
For whom such fortune in Primal Time is recorded. (3)

1. See Glossary.
2. That is escape transmigration.

The Master is my life and prop.
The Master is my way of life : the Master alone my family.
The Master is my overlord; with the holy Preceptor I seek shelter.
Saith Nanak : The Master is image of the Supreme Being, beyond evaluation. (4) (1.19)

Guru kei charan hirdai wasāe

The Lord in His grace with the Master has granted union,
And his feet in our heart lodged.
His servant the Lord in His service engages :
Beyond expression is the value of such a one. (1)
Provider of joy to perfection, show grace :
By Your grace the mind You enter,
Whereafter day and night in Thy love we remain
absorbed. (I-Pause)
Singing Thy laudation, listening to it, all by Thy Will comes.
Whoever Thy Ordinance realizes, in truth is absorbed.
Such a one in uttering Thy Name finds life.
To me no place of shelter is other than Thee. (2)
Suffering and joy by the Creator's Ordinance and P. 1271
Will comes,
Be it His pleasure to grant pardon or to chastize—
Of both worlds[1] is He the Creator.
To Thy glory am I a sacrifice. (3)
To Thee alone is Thy worth known.
Thyself alone dost realize and Thyself dost expound it.
Such alone turn devotees as please Thee.
Nanak to such is ever a sacrifice. (4) (2.20)

Parmesaru hoā diālu

Merciful has been the Lord God,
Nectar unceasing rain the clouds,
Bringing content to all creation.
Wishes of all have come to fruition.
Name Divine must I secure in my mind,
Which I have attained cherishing the Perfect Guru.
And which will remain my support here and hereafter. (1)
The Eradicator of Fear has ended all suffering.
He takes care of all of His creation,

1. Ends.

Ever compassionate is our Protector.
Forever may I be a sacrifice to Him. (2)
The fear of death has the Creator Himself annulled.
May I forever be repeating His Name.
His eye of grace falls equally upon all, and all receive
His protection.
Sing daily the praise of the Lord Benevolent. (3)
The Sole Creator by Himself exists,
His devotees alone discern His glory.
He protects the honour of His Name.
Nanak makes the utterance as by His inspired. (4) (3) (21)

Guru sharṉāī sagal nidhānu

In seeking shelter with the Master lie all treasures.
Thereby is obtained honour at the holy Portal.
All doubts, fear and suffering too thereby goes :
Ever therefore, in the holy congregation sing Divine laudation. (1)
My self ! laud the Master, perfectly-endowed :
Contemplate day and night treasure of the Name;
And your heart's desire attain. (I-Pause)
None is great as the holy Preceptor.
The Master is image of the Supreme Being, the Lord.
From affliction of transmigration he saves.
Then does one nevermore taste Maya-poison. (2)
Beyond expression is the Master's praise :
By devotion to the holy Name is the Master the Lord's image.
Holy his self-discipline, holy all his doing :
Pure is the mind that to the Master is attached. (3)
By great good fortune is attained the Master, perfectly-endowed.
Then are cast off from the mind lust, wrath and avarice.
In Your grace at the Master's feet grant me resting-place :
Lord ! this is Nanak's ardent[1] prayer. (4) (4.22)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
(Paṛtāl) In variable rhythm

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Guru manāri Priya diyār siun kīyā

By propitiating the Master, with the Lord gracious had I joy.
Sister-friend ! all bedecked was I,

1. True.

And all evil inclinations discarded.
Poised was the unstable mind. (I-Pause) P. 1272
My self ! by discarding the ego, thus attain the Lord,
And with the holy keep company.
Then shall ring trumpets and play drums unstruck;
Koel of the tongue then shall utter the Name Divine,
In tones extremely sweet and pleasing. (1)
As is the beauty of Thy sight, limitless, loved and of unfailing effect,
Such are the holy keeping Thee company.
By utterance of the Name is crossed the ocean of existence.
Those telling the rosary of God's Name,
In mind in unison with God's saints,[1]
Saith Nanak, have the Divine Spouse for Beloved. (2) (1.23)

Manu ghanai bhramai banai

The mind in thick forests[2] is wandering,
Moving with yearning for joy of union with Lord. (I-Pause)
Maya of three qualities[3] to delude me is coming :
To whom shall I relate my distress ? (1)
All other efforts have I made, yet this suffering they cannot remove.
Nanak, seek shelter with the holy,
Which joining, Divine laudation thou sing. (2) (2.24)

Priya kī shobh sūhāwanī nīkī

Pleasing and noble is the Lord's laudation,
That is loud tones celestial choristers and fairies in joy and bliss sing beautifully. (I-Pause)
Accomplished singer in innumerable styles.
In sweet tunes His noble beauty express. (1)
Noble repute of the Beloved over mountains, trees, on land and water,
In each heart is pervasive and spread.
Saith Nanak : Whoever has purity of faith,
In the holy congregation joy in the Lord has attained. (2) (3.25)

Guru preeti piyārei charan kamal rid antari dhārei

By love for the cherished Master the Divine lotus feet
In heart have I cherished. (I-Pause)

1. Companions.
2. Used metaphorically for various devices of creeds.
3. See glossary.

The sight fulfiller of desires have I beheld,
Whereby are all sins vanished,
And purified and illumined is the mind. (1)
In wonder and marvel am I wrapped.
By utterance of the Name are millions of sins annulled.
My head at the Master's feet I placed and prostrated myself.
Lord ! Thou art sole and unique.
Thy devotees with Thee seek shelter,
Nanak, servant of God, at Thy Portal seeks shelter. (2) (4.26)

Barasu Sarasu āgiyā

Thou cloud of grace ! by Divine decree rain down :
That all who are fortunate get joy. (I-Pause)
In company of the holy is the mind in bloom,
As the earth in union with the cloud has conjugal bliss. (1)
The peacock loves thundering clouds;
The chatrik's heart to the drop of rain is turned—
Even such is the heart's love for the Lord.
Saith Nanak : The heart discarding Maya-illusion
In company of the holy is awakened. (2) (5.27)

Gūna Gopāl gāo neet

Ever sing Divine laudation,
And the Name Divine cherish in heart. (I-Pause)
Discard pride, leave notions of your own greatness,
And with the holy keep company.
Friend ! with a sincere heart contemplate the Lord,
Whereby may thy sins be effaced. (1)
The Supreme Being is gracious;
Snapped are snares of evil.
Saith Nanak, touching feet of the holy P. 1273
Should man ever Divine laudation sing. (2) (6.28)

Ghanu garjat Gobind rūp

The cloud of the Master's teaching, image of the Lord
Is thundering.
By singing Divine laudation come joy and peace. (I-Pause)
By taking shelter with the Divine feet is crossed the ocean
of existence;
And in His tones joy of unstruck mystic music received. (1)
The mind of the wayfarer athirst
On the spiritual pool is fixed

To have a sip of water.
To Nanak, servant of God, in His grace
The Lord grants His loving sight. (2) (7.29)

Hei Gobind hei Gopāl hei dayāl lāl

Lord, cherisher, gracious, so precious. (I-Pause)
Lord of life, cherisher of the helpless.
Annuller of suffering of the humble. (1)
Thou who art mighty, inaccessible, all-perfection.,
To me show grace. (2)
From the dark well, extremely terrible,
Extricate Nanak. (3) (8.30)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Ashtpadiyān (Octets)

Score 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Chakvī nain neend nahiṇ chāhai binu Pir neend na pāī

The Chakwi's[1] eyes wish not for sleep;
Without the beloved finds it not rest.
With sunrise with her eyes she seeks the beloved to behold,
That bowing may low His feet she may touch. (1)
The Beloved, companion of heart she seeks :
Without Him for an hour finds she not life—
Such is her yearning and thirst. (I-Pause)
In the pool is the lotus, in the sky the sun's ray;
Yet spontaneously by its touch it blossoms,
Such is the love for the Beloved in heart,
Whereby light in light is merged. (2)
The chatrik[2] in absence of water cries Prio, Prio,[3]
Wailing piteously.
With thundering clouds in ten directions raining,
Yet without the drop of water goes not its thirst. (3)
The fish living in water from water is born—
By its former deeds its joy and sorrow determined;
For an instant, for the duration of a sesame grain without water not living,
In water its death and life. (4)

1. A bird, believed to love passionate the sun.
2. A tiny bird, symbol of yearning in love.
3. Lit. Beloved, Beloved.

The woman is forlorn with the spouse gone to alien lands;
In this state to the holy Master she makes supplication.
As merit she garners and lodges in heart the Lord,
Dyed in devotion finds she joy. (5)
All creation for the Beloved cries;
By the Master's grace is met the Beloved.
The Beloved ever is with us, ever in truth by us—
By the Master's grace is union brought about. (6)
He is the life in all, in all beings pervasive :
By the Master's grace in the self[1] casting illumination, Whereby the seeker spontaneously in the equable state gets absorbed. (7)
Lord, donor of joy ! fulfil yourself your objective.
By the Master's grace in the self is found the Beloved;
Thereby is assuaged Nanak's burning agony. (8) (1)

Jāgatu jāgi rahai Guru sevā binu Hari main ko nāhīṇ

By service to the Master is the self kept awake :
Other than the Lord none is mine.
Despite innumerable efforts lasts not the body; P. 1274
As glass before heat it melts. (1)
Say, why be proud of body and wealth ?
Madman ! in a short while are these shattered;
Yet involved in egoism is the world destroyed. (I-Pause)
Hail Lord, saviour, who dost cherish and judge.
All creation from Thee emanates; none Your equal. (2)
Creating beings, yet their device of life in His power has
He kept;
Himself by the Master grants collyrium of illumination.
He is immortal, without a master, supreme over all,
Destroyer of death, life, and doubt and fear. (3)
This poor world is a citadel of paper,
Cleverly painted and featured :
By a tiny drop or whiff of wind its fine look it loses,
And in an instant enters birth and death. (4)
Life is like a house or tree situated along a river bank;
With a she-serpent[2] living in the house.
As falls on it the river, where is the house and the tree ?
The she-serpent of duality in mind too then stings. (5)

---

1. Home.
2. Implies Māyā.

Illumination by the Master given, and meditation on the
Master's Word
Is the poison-healer;
By the Master's teaching is burnt away the poison of duality.
As is truth attained, mind and body become cool like snow—
Unique is devotion to the Lord. (6)
All creation to Thee makes supplication; Thou to all creation showest grace.
Lord ! with Thee have we sought shelter, save our honour;
Holy truth may I attain. (7)
Creation gone blind to its purposes is tied and sees not aught
And murderously acts.
By contact with the Master it sees and has realization,
And truth and illumination is mind is absorbed. (8)
This meritless body, devoid of truth is frail;
Thus from the Master have I learnt.
Saith Nanak, the Master of the Lord grants vision;
Other than the holy Lord is the world all a dream. (9) (2)

Chātrik meen jal hi tei sukhu pāweh sāriṅg shabdi sūhāī

The Chatrik and fish from water derive joy; the deer from sound. (1)
Mother mine ! at night cried to the papiha[1] *of the self
on the Lord.* (I-Pause)
Love that has Thy approval is noble; never from the Beloved it turns away. (2)
Gone is sleep of ignorance, exhausted is egoism of the mind,[2]
And holy understanding in heart is absorbed. (3)
Among trees and plants as I fly, still remain hungry :
Only when then Name with love quaff, am I fulfilled. (4)
My eyes are fixed in gaze, my tongue wailing;
Only the sight of the Lord my thirst has assuaged. (5)
Decking myself in absence of the Spouse only burns the body;
Clothing brings not comfort to limbs. (6)
For a moment find I not rest without the Beloved;
Without union with Him find I not sleep. (7)
The helpless female[3] realizes not the Lord is near;
The holy Preceptor sight of Him has granted. (8)

1. The Chatrik.
2. Body.
3. Symbol for the human self.

As spontaneously He is met, joy have I attained.
And my thirst with the holy Word assuaged. (9)
Saith Nanak : Lord ! by Thy grace is my mind fixed in faith.
Beyond expression is Thy worth. (10) (3)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 1275
Ashtpadiyān (Octets)
Score 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace
akhlī ūndī jalu bhara nāli

The Stork[1] over the Sea is flying.
In the way is the lofty mountain, and a ditch deep as nether regions.
By contemplation of the Master's Word does the sea grow easy to cross.[2]
By suppression of egoism the path grows wide. (1)
To me, blind of eyes, the Name gives light.
By prop of the Name, inspired by fear of the Master,
The secret path indicated by him. I take. (I-Pause)
One by the Master's Word knowing the path;
By strength by the Master granted and the holy strength traverses it.
Such a one by help of the noble Word the Name contemplates.
Should it please Thee, Thy portal he realizes. (2)
Whether I fly or be settled, in one fixed absorption I remain—
By the Master's Word making the Name my prop.
For such are not impediments of water or mountain or its high peaks.
In their own home settled, for such is not left the worldly way or need to go along it. (3)
Thou alone knowest the devices whereby in anyone's self Thou takest lodging :
Another knows not of Thy mansion.
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance comes not this understanding;
The whole world under a thicket is buried.
Seeking to expiate for its sin, it wails;

1. Symbolizes the self.
2. Lit. Cool.

Without the Master's guidance comes not utterance for the Name.
The Name in the twinkling of an eye confers release, should one the Master's Word realize. (4)
Some are foolish, blind, thoughtless barbarians;
Some standing in fear of the holy Preceptor prop of the Name seek—
The holy Word is sweet like amrita-stream,
Which whoever quaffs, finds liberation's door. (5)
Those that in fear and love lodge in heart the Name,
And act upon the Master's holy Word,
For them rains the cloud of grace.
Beautified is the earth.
And in their heart is absorbed the Divine light,
The mark of one by the Master uninstructed is :
In foul thinking in alkaline soil[1] he casts seed.
Without the Master's guidance all is pitch darkness,
Such in ignominy die.[2] (6)
All happens by the Divine will.
In effaceable is what is recorded in Primal Time.
Man bound by the Divine Will engages in action.
By absorption in the sole holy Word in truth is he absorbed. (7)
Lord ! in all four directions is Thy Ordinance operative—
In all four directions and nether regions.
In all beings is operative the holy Divine Word;
By grace comes union with the Lord of immutable abode.
Birth, death, hunger, sleep and dissolution over our head are seen standing.
Saith Nanak : By glance of grace of the Lord, abode of joy.
Is attained the Name end to the heart is pleasing. (8) (1.4)

Maraṉ mükati gati sār na jānai

Self-female ! thou knowest not the truth of death and liberation.
Sitting apart on the bank, by the Master's Word cannot thou realize it. (1)
Female Stork ! how did thou get caught in the net ?
The inaccessible Lord thou realizest not,
Nor with thy heart dost remember Him. (I-Pause)

---

1. Implies a life of evil.
2. Lit. without water (idiomatic expression).

For preserving the sole life other lives dost thou consume :
Floating on water, yet in this very water art thou sunk.[1] (2)
All creatures hast thou subjected to torment.
When caught, must thou repent. (3)
As the heavy noose circles thy neck,
Despite spreading thy wings wouldst thou not be able to fly. (4)
The egoist fool, though are picking up the taste of joy,
When caught, by contemplation of the Master's teaching P. 1276 release wouldst thou find (5)
By service to the holy Preceptor is shattered grip of Yama,
agent of death.
In Thy heart the holy Word contemplate. (6)
The Master's holy teaching is the purest of words.
Those devoted in heart the Name Divine cherish. (7)
Those indulging in enjoyment of pleasures
In the hereafter must meet suffering.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to the holy Name comes
not liberation. (8) (2.5)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Ashtpadiyān (Octets)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Karamu hovai tāṇ Satiguru pāyīai viṇu karamai pāiyā na jāi

By good fortune[2] is the holy Preceptor met—
Without good fortune may he not be found.
The holy Preceptor's touch turns base metals into gold,
Should such be the Divine pleasure. (1)
My self ! cherish the Name Divine :
By the holy Preceptor's guidance is attained the holy Lord,
In whom is then the self absorbed. (I-Pause)
As from the holy Preceptor's teaching arises illumination,
Is doubt dispelled.
By the holy Preceptor's teaching is the Lord realized,
That emancipation from the birth-cycle brings. (2)
By the Master's grace does the mortal die to the world,[3]

1. That is, by being, forgetful of the Lord.
2. Karam. Good fortune made by good deeds of former births. This may also be interpreted as 'grace' (from the Arabic).
3. Lit. Die while living.

From such death he finds life again, to live the Word.
Such alone attain the Door of liberation,
As their egoism discard. (3)
By the Master's grace is the mortal in the abode of Eternity[1] reborn,
Discarding influence of Shakti;[2]
Treads the path beyond mortal reach,
Attains discriminating wisdom,
And by guidance of the all-knowing Master
To the Supreme Being is united. (4)
Mankind berefit of wisdom, to the evanescent world is attached.
Departing after forfeiting even the capital :
In holy divine company lies gain—
This by grace comes. (5)
None to such state without the holy Preceptor's guidance
has attained—
In your mind ponder this.
By supreme good fortune is met the Master,
By whose guidance is crossed the ocean of the world. (6)
The Name Divine is our prop;
The Name our sole support.
Lord ! show Your grace; grant the Master's touch,
That the Door of liberation I attain. (7)
Ineffaceable is the Divine writ on our forehead, inscribed in Primal Time.
Saith Nanak : Such to perfection have attained,
As in obeying the Divine Will feel joy. (8) (1)

Beid bāṇī jagu wartdā trai gūṇa karei bīchāru

The world following traditional texts[3] in thoughts of Three Qualities[4] is involved;
Bereft of the Name, Yama's blows it bears,
And in transmigration remains involved;
By touch of the holy Preceptor comes release,
And the Door of liberation attained. (1)
My self ! In the Master's service be absorbed;
By supreme good fortune is the holy Master met.
Meditate thou on the Name Divine. (I-Pause)

---

1. Shiva-ghar.
2. Māyā.
3. Beid (Veda) Bāṇī.
4. See Glossary.

By His Will has the Lord created the universe;
Himself He sustains it.
By His Will has the Lord granted purity of mind,
And inspired devotion;
By Divine Will is the holy Preceptor met,
Who all future births purifies. (2)
Wonderful is the true Divine Word, P. 1277
That rarely one God-directed realizes.
In wondering ecstasy should the Lord be lauded,
Who is supreme over all :
Himself He grants liberation, Himself union—
This by His grace comes. (3)
Of the eternal Lord Supreme, the holy Preceptor has granted vision,
Whereby has rained amrita, the heart found poise,
And fixed in devotion in the holy Pool abides.
By blessing of the Name Divine is life ever green,
Withering or dried never. (4)
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance none ever found the Lord—
Test it whoever may.
By Divine grace is the holy Preceptor met,
In spontaneous lucky meeting.
The egoist in delusion lost,
Bereft of luck, finds not the wealth of devotion to the Lord. (5)
All that bears the Three qualities[1] is evanescent—
Some study and cogitate this.
Such find not release, nor ever reach the Door of Liberation.
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor are bonds not snapped,
Nor devotion to the Name inspired. (6)
Brahmin scholars and ascetics vowed to silence, have studied Vedas to exhaustion :
Such cherish not the Lord's Name, nor find abode in their true self;[2]
Yama, agent of death leaves not them alone—
By falsehood within are they destroyed. (7)
All yearn after devotion to the Name Divine—

1. See Glossary.
2. Home.

Without supreme good luck is it not attained.
Should by Divine grace the Master be found,
The Lord's Name in the self is lodged.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name alone comes exaltation—
May I forever in the Lord remain absorbed. (8) (2)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Guru Amar Das
Ashtpadi (Octet)
SCORE 2
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hari Hari kirpā karei Guru kī kārai lāe

By grace the Lord appoints man to the Master's service;
Banishing suffering, in the Name Divine absorbs him.
By devotion to the holy Eternal is man's state ennobled,
As is absorbed the Master's teaching enshrined in his Word. (1)
My self ! serve the Lord, wherein lies true wealth :
By the Master's grace is attained the wealth that is God,
And in everlasting serene meditation is the self engaged. (I-Pause)
Should the woman[1] away from her Lord, deck herself,
Would she be reckoned a wanton, and into ignominy fall.
Vain is the egoist's way :
The Name he neglects and numerous ritual acts performs. (2)
Should the woman by the Master's guidance blessed,
deck herself,
By teaching of the holy Word
Is her Lord in the heart lodged.
Suppressing egoism, one Sole Master she honours[2] :
Such a one is called a woman of noble repute. (3)
None has to the Lord attained without guidance of the benevolent Master;
The egoist to lure of duality is attracted.
Let the enlightened this realize;
Without the Master's touch comes not liberation. (4)
All indulge in various kinds of verbiage :
Till the mind be subdued, arises not devotion

1. Symbol for the seeker.
2. Lit. Knows, recognizes.

By illuminating wisdom blooms lotus of the heart :
In such heart is lodged solely the Name. (5)
Many that in egoism seek to perform devotion. P. 1278
Neither is their mind in it immersed, nor comes to them joy.
All their talk is display of ego :
Worthless their devotion; wasted their life. (6)
The devotees, of the Lord approved are such,
As constantly to the Name are devoted;
Ever they behold manifest to them the holy vision of God,[1]
That in the Master's Word is pervasive. (7)
The Lord Himself grants liberation and devotion,
In the world egoism is the great malady.
This malady by the Master's grace is cured;
Those cured of it are holy,
In the holy Eternal absorbed. (8) (1.3.5.8)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Chhant (Lyric)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Prītam prem bhagati kei dātei

Beloved, donor of loving devotion,
Thy servants to Thyself hast Thou devoted :
To Thy self day and night Thy servants hast Thou devoted :
For an instant they put not Thee out of mind,
Thou who art preserver, treasure of merit,
Ever by our side, Lord repository of all merit.
With Thy feet is the heart charmed;
Thy servants with elixir of the Name intoxicated.
Saith Nanak : Of the Beloved ever gracious,
A rare one out of millions has realization. (1)

Prītam Terī gati agam apārei

Beloved ! unknowable, beyond limit is Thy grace.
Great sinners hast Thou saved,[2]
Lord, that art purifier of the fallen, beloved of devotees;
Ocean of grace.
Thou to whom is known the state of our heart,

1. Name.
2. Those fallen greatly hast thou ferried across.

In holy company spontaneously
May I ever lovingly contemplate Thee !
Those for millions of births in births wandering,
By contemplation of the Name hast Thou saved.
Nanak for Thy sight thirsts;
Pray cherish him. (2)

Hari charan kamal manu līnā

In the Divine lotus feet is the heart absorbed.
Lord who art water; Thy servants are like the fish.
Lord, I that am a fish in water, to another I turn[1] not.
By the arm grasp me; grant the Name.
By Thy grace comes exaltation.
In holy company with single-minded devotion lovingly contemplate
The Lord, gracious to the humble.
Nanak, helpless, low to His shelter has come;
By grace has He made him His own. (3)

Āpas kau āpu milāyā

To His essence has Himself
The Divine monarch, shatterer of doubt, united me.
Met is the wondrous Lord, knower of the heart, treasure of merit beloved.
Arisen is great joy and happiness, as Divine merit have
I ever contemplated.
By union with Him are we exalted; by His sight charmed—
Thus is attained what is primally recorded.
States Nanak humbly : I seek shelter with such
As on the Lord have meditated. (4) (1)

---

1. Know.

Vār in the Measure Malar—Composed by Sri Guru Nanak Dev*
(To be sung in the tune Rana Kailash and Maldeo)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Guru miliyai manu rahasīyai jiuṇ wūṭhai dharaṇi sīṇgāru

By the Master's contact is the heart delighted,
As is the earth decked when rain falls.
All around is verdure visible, and ponds and pools P. 1279 to the brim are filled.
The heart with deep red dye[1] of truth is saturated;
Abloom is lotus of the heart; in the mind is lodged truth,
That from the Master's Word is in bliss.
The egoist from this is away—this you behold with insight :
Like the deer in snare caught, death over his head looms visible.
Hunger and thirst for the world; slander, lust and wrath—
These are evils of terrifying aspect,
Without contemplation of the holy Word.
These truths to the bodily eyes visible are not.
Should it please Thee Lord ! those in Thee contented,
From entanglements are freed.
In service of the Master is devotion's root made firm—
The Master is ladder as well as boat.
Saith Nanak : By devotion is found the Essence,
When the devotee's mind is sincere. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Heko pādharu heku daru Gūr paurī nij thānu

One is the Way, one the Door :
The Master is the ladder leading the seeker to his true home.
Saith Nanak : Supremely beautiful is the Lord—
In devotion to the holy Name lies all bliss. (2)

---

* In this Vār the Paurīs (Stanzas) are of Guru Nanak Dev's composition. The slokas interspersed are of the composition of Guru Nanak Dev, Guru Angad Dev, Guru Amar Das and Guru Arjan Dev, as indicated in the text.

 The directions for the choric signing of Vārs occurs elsewhere also in the text of the holy Granth Sahib. Certain popular tunes, suited to the metres were so indicated.

1. Majith (madder) symbol of fervent devotion.

Pauri (Stanza)*

Āpīnai āpu sāji āpu pachhāṉiyā

His self He created and Himself realized;
Separating sky and earth, the canopy He spread.
Unpropped by pillars He holds the sky, by His manifest Ordinance.[1]
Then created He sun and moon, whose light is pervasive;
Then by a wondrous miracle made He night and day.
Then were instituted holy bathing-spots,
For ritual bath and discourses dharma on sacred days.
None Thy equal—what can one say in description of Thee ?
He on the throne eternal is seated—
The rest all is evanescent. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Nānak sāvaṉi jei wassai chahu omāhā hoe

Nanak, by the shower of Savan[2] these four get delight :
Serpents, deer, fishes and the wealthy to pleasure inclined. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Nanak, by the shower of Savan these four suffer agony of separation :
Cow-calves, the poor, wayfarers and those serving others. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Tūṇ sachā sachyiāru jini sachu vartāiyā

Thou art true and holy;
Righteousness hast Thou established.
In Thy ecstasy of meditation, the origin hast Thou concealed,
Brahma, supreme among gods, has not yet Thy extent known.
Neither hast Thou father no mother, who might have born Thee.
Neither has He form or feature or any hue out of the universe.
Of hunger and thirst has He no feeling, eternally fulfilled,
In the Preceptor has He merged His self—
His Ordinance[3] in the universe is in operation.
By true devotion is He pleased,
In truth absorbed. (2)

---

* All Pauris in the Vār are of the composition of Guru Nanak Dev.
1. Shabda=Word.
2. The rainy month-July-August.
3. Shabda.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Vaidu bülāiyā vaidagī pakaṛi ḍhanḍolei bāṇh

They called in the physician who felt my pulse :
The simple physician not knowing, the pang from the heart arises.[1] (1)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Vaidā vaidu swaidu tūṇ pahilān rogu Pachhāaṉu

Thou wise physician, diagnose first the malady;
Prescribe then the remedy that all maladies may cure—
Such a medicine as all maladies may remove and to the body bring comfort.
Saith Nanak : Heal thyself first—then mayst thou be called a true physician. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Brahmā Bishanu Maheshu Dev üpāiyā

Then did the Lord create the gods Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva.
On Brahma did He confer the Vedas, and worship to him assigned.
Among the ten Incarnations[2] was manifested Rama the King,
Who by Divine will the demons destroyed.
After created Shiva, called Ishvara and Mahesh, who the extent has not found.
On holy principles is His throne established. P. 1280
Setting creation to various tasks, has He concealed His Self.
His Primal Ordinance for righteous action has given direction. (3)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Sāvaṉu āiyā he sakhī kaṇtai chitti karehu

My sister-friend[3] ! Savan has come; contemplate the Beloved.
Saith Nanak : In sorrow pine the abandoned wives,
That to others are inclined. (1)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

My sister-friend[3] ! Savan has come; rain-clouds are looming.
Saith Nanak : In joyful sleep lie the blessed wives that their lords truly love. (2)

---

1. This sloka is associated with an episode with an episode in Guru Nanak Dev's life.
2. These are incarnations of Vishnu, the principal ones being Rama and Krishna.
3. Symbol for the seeker

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpei chhinjh pawāi mallān khārā rachchiyā

Himself has He made the arena and contest of champions arranged;
In tumult have they in the arena descended;
God's devotees there at are delighted.
Egoists thoughtless and raw, are overthrown !
Himself the contender, Himself the victor.
Himself Master of the contest.
One sole Lord is over all—by the Master's guidance realized.
Without pen and ink has His writ
By Ordinance for all been recorded.
Holy company and congregation is
Where the Lord's praises are the theme of discourse.
Saith Nanak : By the holy Word and Divine laudation
Is truth realized. (4)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Ūṇnavi ūṇnavi āiyā awari karendā wann

Come the rain-clouds, flying low, with changing hues :
How may I know what hue my love for the Lord will assume ?
Joyful[1] will grow the woman[2] that in her heart bears fear and love.
Saith Nanak : The woman without fear and love
Never shall find happiness. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Low clouds have come,
Raining showers of pure water :
Saith Nanak : unhappy is the woman[3] whose love for her
Lord is snapped. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Dowaiṇ tarfāṇ ūpāi iku vartiy

He made the two sides—the worldly and the unworldly—
And Himself is manifest among both;
By Scriptural scholasticism[3] is introduced disputation.
In the worldly way and the way of renunciation

---

1. In these slokas rang stands for 'hue' as well as for the implied sense of 'joy'.
2. 'Woman' as elsewhere, is symbol for the seeker.
3. Veda-bānī.

Dharma is guide along the path.
Egoists unprincipled[1] and false.
At the Divine Portal are found lacking in faith.
Those by the Master's Word guided are the true heroes,
Subduing lust and wrath.
In the Eternal Mansion by the holy Word are they exalted.
Thy devotees, attached to the holy Name, with thee find favour :
The holy Preceptor they serve—
May I be a sacrifice to such ! (5)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Ūṇnavī ūṇnavi āiyā varsai lāe jhaṛī

Low are the rain-clouds flying,
In continuous shower raining.
Saith Nanak : The woman that to her Lord's Will is obedient,
Shall find joy everlasting. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Why behold this poor cloud ? Nothing in its power lies.
Bear ever in your thoughts Him who this cloud has sent down.
Him in mind will keep whoever has Divine grace.
Saith Nanak : All without grace fall into moaning and wailing. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

So Hari sadā sarevīyai jisu karat na lāgai vār

Be devoted ever to the Lord who in an instant raises creation;
Who the firmament has spread,
And in an instant unmakes and makes.
Himself has He created the universe,
And His might contemplates.
Egoists in the Hereafter are called to reckoning, P. 1281
And are grievously chastized.
The God-directed honourably render their account,
And with wealth of noble qualities are rewarded.
There none can reach, none to hear their wailing and shrieking.
There the holy Preceptor alone is the true friend,
And at the end brings succour.
These creatures no other help have :
The holy Preceptor, God-appointed, is their helper. (6)

1. Raw.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Bābīhā jis noṇ tūṇ pūkārdā tis noṇ lochai sabhu koi

Chatrik ! All seek Him for whom thou dost cry.
By grace shall He send the shower,
Turning all to verdure.
By the Master's grace is He attained—
Thus the rare spirits realize.
In all states must He be meditated on—
Thus shall come joy everlasting :
Saith Nanak : Perpetually is raining amrita in showers :
On those by the Master guided, does the Lord confer it. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Kalmali hoi medanī ardāsi karei liv lāi

The creation that is in distress,
With mind concentrated makes supplication.
The Lord, attentively listening spontaneously[1] sends comfort.
He commanded Indra[2] who sent down ample showers,
Whereby shall grow good and wealth plentiful.
Beyond reckoning His favour.
Nanak, laud thou the Name—
The Lord to all sends down sustenance :
Such is His blessing—its consumption brings joy,
Banishing forever suffering. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari jīo sachā sachu tūṇ sachei laihi milāe

The Lord pure and holy, to Himself unites the pure in heart :
Those given to duality are on the other side :
For such no union may be.
Himself He unites and casts asunder;
Himself by His might becomes manifest.
In worldly attachment lies sorrow and sequestration—
Each, what is recorded for him, earns.
May I be a sacrifice to such as to the Lord's holy feet
are devoted;
As the lotus in water, so are they situated.
Such are truly blessed as their egoism have cast off.

1. Sahj-Subhāi.
2. The god of rain.

Never comes sorrow or sequestration to such,
As to Lord's person cling. (7)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Nānak so sālāhīyai jisu wasi sabhu kichhu hoe

Saith Nanak : Praise is due to Him who is Almighty :
All you that live, worship Him; nothing else is real.
As by the Master's guidance is the Lord in the self lodged,
Comes joy everlasting;
Doubt is dispelled and all anxiety relieved.
All bliss then spontaneously comes;
Indescribable is this state.
As the holy Master in the self is lodged,
Are all desires[1] fulfilled.
Saith Nanak : To those in His reckoning approved,
With cherished care[2] He listens. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Amrita perpetually is in shower—only to the enlightened comes this realization.
Those that by the Master's guidance get realization,
In their hearts is lodged amrita.
Such, banishing egoism and desire,
In ecstasy quaff amrita perpetually.
The Lord's Name that is true amrita,
By His grace descends in showers.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance becomes manifest
The Lord, the Supreme Self, the Supreme Might.[3] (2)

Atulu kiun tolīyai vinu tolei pāiyā na jāe P. 1282

How weigh Him who beyond computation is ?
Without comprehension may He not be attained.
By the Master's Word contemplate Him,
And in His qualities be absorbed;
Himself shall He compute,
Himself grant union.
Beyond computation, beyond expression He abides.
May I be a sacrifice to the Master,

1. (The world of reference herein spiritual).
2. From a close distance.
3. Murāri.

From whom has true realization come.
The world is tricked : amrita in abundance[1] lies about.
Of this the egoist no awareness has.
Nothing but the Name shall go with man in the Hereafter—
The egoist shall depart, his life made waste.
Those by the Master's teaching awakened, guard their home—
Minions of evil prevail not against such. (8)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Bābīhā nāṇ billāī nāṇ tarsāi ehu manu khasam kā hūkamu manni

Chatrik ! wail not nor let thy heart yearn—
To the Lord's Will submit.
Saith Nanak : By submission to the Divine Will is desire banished,
And the face with joy ruddied. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Chatrik ! By water dost thou survive; in search of water dost wander;
Ignorant of the true sustaining water of devotion
Art thou wailing.
In all four directions is this water flooding—
No place of it is deprived.
With this extent of water, those that still thirst,
Are truly unfortunate.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance has realization come to such,
As in their selves the Lord have lodged. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Nāth jatī sidh pīr kinai antu na pāiyā

Supreme Yogic, celibates, sidhas, pirs[2]
None God's extent has discovered;
The God-directed, meditating on the Name,
In Thee have been absorbed.
To spread darkness over thirty-six Yugas was His pleasure;
Then was manifest nothing but the territory expanse of waters;
The Creator, great in extent, immeasurable, inaccessible,
Alone then existed.
Then created He fire, air and hunger and thirst.

---

1. Lit. Amrita is there to carry away in loot.
2. Siddha is an accomplished Yogī : Pīr a Muslim mendicant or Sūfī.

Over the world appointed He death and duality;
Such alone are by the Creator saved
As realization of the Word are granted. (9)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Ihu jalu sabhtai varasdā varsai bhāi subhāi

Everywhere falls rain-water,
By the benevolent Divine Will.
In this rain such are fresh and green
As in the Master's teaching are absorbed.
Saith Nanak : By Divine grace comes joy,
And all creation of suffering is relieved. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

In the dew-drenched hours of night did the lightning flash,
And in showers fell the rain;
By this rain, as is the Lord's Will,
Grows wealth of grain in abundance
Which consumed, satisfies hunger,
In this water lies the secret of life.
Worldly wealth is a form of Divine play,
Coming and going by turns.
The enlightened find their wealth in the Name—
Therein are the ever absorbed.
Saith Nanak : To such alone is granted this wealth,
As by Divine grace are favoured. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Āpi karāi karei āpi hauṇ kai siuṇ karīṇ pukār

Himself the chief cause of all, Himself is He doer,
To whom may man carry supplication ?
Himself the reckoner and prompter to action.
All happens as He Wills—only ignorant fools think their will prevails.
From Him comes liberation and absolution.
All is within His sight and hearing—
Of all creation to He prop.
Solely He pervades all creation, and each one judges.
By self-search with the Master's guidance, arises love for truth. P. 1283
Saith Nanak : Whom else may we supplicate for anything ?
He is the Supreme Bestower. (10)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Bābīhā ehu jagatu hai mat ko bharami bhulāi

The whole world is turned chatrik—on this be not in any illusion :
The Chatrik is of the animal creation, bereft of thought :
It known not, the true Amrita is the Name Divine
That all thirst removes.
Saith Nanak : Whoever by the Master's guidance quaffs this,
Never again feels thirst. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Soothing[1] is the measure Malar[2] :
Meditation on God by this brings serenity.
This to the whole world comes by Divine grace.
As falls rain, all creation finds the way of life,
And the earth is decked.
Saith Nanak : Water is the source of all life—
From water all find sustenance.
Rare are such as by the Master's guidance find realization—
Liberation everlasting to these comes. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sachā vepārwāhu ikko tūṇ dhaṇī

Holy, above desire—Thou the true Master.
All in Thy power lies—who else may count ?
Man with false pride is filled—
Thou the true jewel,[3]
In transmigration has Thou cast creation.
Those serving the holy Preceptor alone for anything count.
Should egoism be cast out, of no account would man hold himself.
The egoist in the dust of attachment is involved,
as one in jungle lost,
One particle of the Name, of countless sins is annuller. (11)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Bābīhā khasma kā mahalu na jāṇahī mahalu dekhi ardāsi pāi

Chatrik ! thou knowest not the Master's mansion :
On beholding it, make supplication.
On thy own prompting speakest thou much;
of little avail is thy wailing.

---

1. Cooling.
2. Name of the measure of this composition.
3. (Mani there is a possible ambiguity. It may imply value, greatness).

Mighty bestower is the Lord—all wishes He grants :
Not the Chatrik's only, the whole world's thirst He quenches. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

In the dew-drenched night cried the chatrik,
In serene truth of heart;
In water lies my life; without it may I not live.
This water from the Master's Word comes, as is egoism discarded.
Saith Nanak : He without whom for an instant may one not live,
By the Master is union with Him granted. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Khanḍ patāl asankh mai gaṇat na hoī

Innumerable, beyond count are the continents and nether worlds.
Of these art Thou Creator and Preserver—
From Thee their creation; from Thee their destruction.
The creation into eighty-four lakh species divided,
From Thee has originated.
Some are made kings, nobles and lords arrogant in their titles;
Others are bankers[1] with loaded wealth—
In duality caught, have they missed true honour.
Some are donors, some beggars—
Of all He is Master.
Those bereft of the Name are vulgar,
Destined to face Yama's terror.
Saith Nanak, Falsehood shall be destroyed;
What is made true by Him shall last. (12)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Bābīhā guṇvantī mahalu pāiyā auguṇvantī dūri

Listen, thou chatrik ! The woman that has merit the Lord's mansion has attained;
One with demerits is cast off :
The Lord within thee abides,
Ever made manifest by the Master's teaching.
Those beholding Him wail not nor cry,
Saith Nanak : Those dyed in the Name find union spontaneous. P. 1284
Through endeavour to live Master's Word. (1)

---

1. Shāh : This is the usual style to designate a Hindu banker or money-lender.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Supplicates the chatrik : By grace grant me the boon of spiritual life;
Of me bereft of water, is not quenched the thirst :
Life out of me is ebbing.
Thou art bestower of endless bliss,
Giver of hoards of merit.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance the Lord grants liberation,
And at the end is the succourer. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Āpei jagatu ūpāi kai guṉa auguṉ karei bīchāru
The world has He created, and each one's merits and demerits judges.
The Three qualities are a terrible snare,
Keeping away the self from devotion to the Name.
Those discarding good and doing evil,
At the Divine Portal find ignominy;
Their life, forfeited as at gambler's throw.
What good their sojourn on earth ?
Merit is in those that by guidance of the holy Word their ego subdue,
That day and night to the Name are attached;
And in the heart have lodged the holy Lord inaccessible, without extent.
Thou art bestower of the store of merit, we sinners.
Those by His grace blessed,
Contemplation of the Master's Word obtain. (13)
Sloka (Guru Arjan Dev)
Rāti na wihāvī sākatāṇ jinnhāṇ wisrai nāuṇ
Heavy on the misbelievers, bereft of the Name, falls the night.
Saith Nanak : For those singing the Lord's praise, happy are nights and days. (1)
Sloka (Guru Arjan Dev)
Saith Nanak : Those that please the Lord, Shine at the Portal in splendour :
On their foreheads shine rubies, diamonds, pearls and all precious stones.[1] (2)

1. Used symbolically.

Pauri (Stanza)

Sachā satiguru sevi sachu samāliyā

By service of the holy Preceptor truth have I contemplated.
Deeds by the Master's teaching done,
At the end stand by man.
Yama, agent of death, dare not touch
One by the holy Eternal protected.
By light of the Master's teaching my lamp have lighted.
Egoists false, bereft of the Name,
Wander about like goblins :
Animals in human form, wrapped around with skins,
Black their hearts.
By light the holy Word have I beheld
Truth operating everywhere.
Saith Nanak : The Name is true wealth,
As by the holy Master revealed. (14)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Bābīhai hūkamu pachhāṉiyā Guru kai sahji sūbhāi

By the Master's teaching spontaneously inspired,
Has the chatrik realized the Divine Ordinance :
The cloud rains by Divine grace, in thick showers.
Then is the chatrik's wailing stopped,
And joy in his heart lodged.
Saith Nanak : Laud Him who to all creation sustenance provides. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Chatrik ! Thou knowest not for what really thou dost thirst,
And by what may this be quenched.
In involvement in duality, holy amrita may not he obtained.
Should He show grace, without search is the holy Preceptor found.
Saith Nanak : From the holy Preceptor is obtained amrita, Whereby comes absorption in serenity. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Iki vaṉkhandi baisahi jāi saddu na devahīṉ

Some to forests repair, and send not back an echo;
Others bear cold frost, frozen water and ice;
Still others smear ashes over the body, washing not their filth.
Some these are that bear matted locks, fearful of aspect,
And ruin their homes.

Others wander about nude day and night, P. 1285
And sleep not a wink.
Some expose their limbs to burning flames, tormenting themselves :
Without devotion, with ashes on the limbs—
What good all their wailing ?
Only by serving the holy Preceptor
Would they shine in splendour at the Portal Divine. (15)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Bābīhā amrit velai boliyā tāṇ dari sūṇī pukār

As rose the chatrik's cry in the morning's ambrosial hours,
To the Divine Portal it penetrated;
Came to command to the cloud to rain by Divine grace.
May I be a sacrifice to such as in their hearts
Truth have cherished.
Saith Nanak : From devotion to the Name, from contemplation
of the Master's Word,
All life is verdant joy. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
Listen thou chatrik ! By wailing how so long,
Shall thy thirst not be quenched;
By Divine grace is the holy Preceptor met;
By grace is inspired devotion.
Saith Nanak : With the Lord in the self lodged,
The mind from evil is freed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Iki Jainī ūjhaṛ pāi dhuruhṇ khuāiyā

Jains are thrown astray, by Primal Writ misled—
They utter not the Name :
With their hands they pluck their hair cutting not these.
In filth they remain involved night and day,
To devotion to the holy Word indifferent.
Neither perform they cast obligations nor have decencies,
Their life a waste.
Impure their minds, unused to caste codes,
Impure[1] the food they consume.
None without submitting to the holy Word
Has found way to true conduct.
The God-directed into the holy Supreme Being are absorbed. (16)

1. Jūthā=that which has been foulded by touch.

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Sāvaṉi sarasī kāmaṉī Guru-shabdīṉ vīchāri

In Savan[1] is the woman joyful, contemplating the Master's Word.
Saith Nanak : One that to the Master is devoted,
Is of eternally blessed matrimony. (1)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

In Savan[1] burns his sorrow the woman without merit,
That to duality is attached.
Saith Nanak : One that to her Lord is not attached,[2]
With all her decking in ignominy must fall. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sachā alakh abheo haṭhi na patījaī

The holy Lord, inaccessible, of deep mystery,
By forced penance is not won over.
Some sing to Him in measure and tunes;
By music is He not pleased.
Some to rhythm perform dances—
Such is not the way to devotion.
Some that are unwise starve themselves—
What good are these ?
With their inordinate desires, noway are they satisfied.
Many in ritual actions bound,
In distraction exhaust themselves.
In devotion to the Name lies true gain—
Those so devoted quaff amrita.
Only the God-directed derive joy of loving devotion. (17)

Sloka (Guru Amar Das)

Gurmukhi malār rāgu jo karehṉ tin manu tanu sītalu hoi

Those that by the Master's inspiration sing the measure Malar,
Joyful[3] are they in mind and body;
By guidance of the Master's Word realize they the sole Lord,
The holy One without a second.
Pure their mind and body, pure their repute by devotion to
the holy Lord,
With devotion in their heart, exaltation to them spontaneously comes.

---

1. The months of rains (July-August); 'woman' is symbol for the seeker.
2. The original word would imply, 'understands not the way of her Lord'.
3. Cool.

In Kali Yuga is spread pitch darkness;
Egoists in it are strayed from the way.
Saith Nanak : Truly fortunate are those,
That by the Master's guidance see the Lord manifest. (1)
Sloka (Guru Amar Das)
As by grace Indra sends rain,
Is mankind joy-filled.
He by whose command Indra sends showers,
To Him may I be a sacrifice a hundred times !
By the Master's guidance contemplate the holy Word, P. 1286
And chant the holy Lord's praise.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dyed are pure—
In serenity in truth absorbed. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Pūrā satiguru sevi pūrā pāiyā

By devotion to the holy Preceptor, perfect in realization,
Is the Lord all-perfection attained.
By supreme good fortune, through meditation,
Is the holy Word perfect, in the self lodged.
By means of perfect illumination and meditation
Is impurity of mind banished.
Realizing the Lord to be the true holy bathing-spot,
Has the mind therein taken the dip.
Blessed is their birth from the mother's womb,
That subdue the ego and in the holy Word die.
Such, in holiness wrapped
To the holy Portal come.
One that the Master has pleased,
From all scrutiny is exempt.
Saith Nanak : Those to laudation of holy truth given,
Receive what for them is recorded. (18)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Kūlahāṇ deṇde bāwalei laiṇde waḍei nilajj

Ignorant fools confer caps of distinction.
That those without shame receive :
Like to the rat are they that may not find entrance to the hole
Yet may tie a winnower on its back to drag within.
They die when confer blessing and those that they bless also die.
Saith Nanak : To them is not visible the Divine Ordinance,
To that its operation may lead.

My rabi[1] harvest is God's sole Name; my kharif the holy Name :
At the Lord's Portal is recorded the rental due from me.
Many are the entrances and exists to the world—
Innumerable are those that enter here and depart.
Many are the supplicants; many more beg blessings of God
and depart. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

A hundred pounds[2] of ghee and molasses is the elephant's food,
And five hundred pounds[3] of grain;
After this it grunts, blows and raises dust,
And in regrets yields breath.
The purblind world by arrogance is rendered mad.
Only when to the Lord it submits, it wins favour.
Half a grain is the sparrow's ration, yet in the sky it flies and utters its yearning.
Such a woman alone wins the Lord's favour
As utters God's Name.[3]
As the powerful tiger kills a hundred deer,
Others after him feed on these :
On that in arrogance of power exceeds limits,
In regrets yields breath.
Blinded by power, at whom does the tiger roar ?
Of the Lord is his growling unapproved.
The hopping insect that loves the bitter akk,[4]
On the akk[4] branch settled, on it feeds.
Him the Lord may favour, should he repeat God's Name.
Saith Nanak : Four days is life's[5] duration—
Quest for pleasure in it leads only to suffering.
Many boast of removing it, yet few practise what they claim,
Caught in sweets dies the fly :
Those under Thy protection feel not death's approach :
Such the world's ocean cross. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Agam agochar tūṇ dhaṉī sachā alakh apāru

Inaccessible, unknowable—Thou art the holder of all bliss—

---

1. Rabī is the spring harvest, of wheat, gram, barley etc. Kharīf is the autumn harvest of rice, sugarcane, maize : The imagery here is from farming.
2. Man, a weight now equivalent to 880 lb., is old days a pound or half seer.
3. Khudāi, khudāi.
4. A bitter plant, yielding small oval fruit.
5. World.

Holy, beyond reach, of extent unknowable.
Thou the Donor, all beggars at thy Door—
Thou the sole Giver.
Those serving Thee find joy,
In contemplation of the Master's teaching.
Some it pleased Thee that to Maya they be attached.
Man, following the Master's Word,
Should laud the Lord and the heart bear love and devotion.
Without love no devotion can be,
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance is not inspired love.
Thou the Lord; Thee all are serving—
I a minstrel at Thy gate raise supplication.
Confer on me blessing of contentment,
And prop of Thy holy Name. (19)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Rātīṇ kālu ghaṭai dini kālu P. 1287

At night and in the day is life's span[1] reducing;
The body disintegrating, straw-like is becoming
All worldly entanglements being then over,
Even the practice of austerity is forgotten.
Man, purblind, in worldly involvement exhausts himself.
When dead, the survivors wail and wish him back alive :
Without realization no insight comes.
Wailing for the dead, people themselves in the end die,
Saith Nanak : Such is the Lord's Will.
Those neglectful of the Lord are truly dead. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Everything dies—affection and love, as also hostility and strife.
Gone is the fine hue, tarnished is beauty of form;
The frame cast in suffering neglected lies.
Whence came he, where to gone ?
What was he, what not[2] ?
The egoist passed life in loose talking,
In pleasure and self-gratification indulged.
Saith Nanak : Without attachment to the Name,
Man is like one to shame exposed, with clothing from head too foot torn. (2)

1. Time.
2. (Such are the philosophical issues raised after death).

Pauri (Stanza)

Amrit Nāmu sadā sūkhdātā antei hoi sakhāī

The Name, giver of life,[1] brings joy everlasting,
And at the end is our succourer.
Without the Master's guidance is the world as mad,
In the Name uninstructed.
Those serving the holy Preceptor are approved of God—
With the holy Light is their light merged.
He is the Master : His true servitor is one
That His Will in his heart cherishes.
Who by his own will guided has found joy ?
Blind himself, blind his acts.
Maya-poison satisfies not hunger,
The unenlightened never are rid of desire.[2]
All involved in duality are lost—
From the holy Preceptor alone comes realization.
Those serving the holy Preceptor alone find bliss—
This by the grace of the Lord of the Will[3] comes. (20)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Saramu dharamu due Nānakā jei dhanu pallai pāi

Nanak ! decency and righteousness are both with man,
Should God endow him with the wealth of devotion.
Not such wealth is our friend as brings chastizement.[4]
Those that have worldly pelf, are truly the destitute.
Those in whose heart Thou art lodged, are store-houses
of merit. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Painfully is worldly wealth garnered;
Falling away, suffering it causes,
Saith Nanak : Except by devotion to the holy Name, none fulfilled feels.[5]
Beholding of human beauty satisfies not hunger—
Its sight each time stimulates desire for it.
Indulgence in bodily pleasures brings only more suffering. (2)

---

1. Amrita.
2. Their hunger is not satisfied.
3. (The meaning is, one whose will is absolute).
4. By which blows fall on the head.
5. Gets rid of hunger.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

In performing thoughtless[1] acts the mind grows blind;
Blindness of mind makes blind the physical faculties.
How may mud secure a bank when even stone embankments give way ?
As breaks the embankment,
Neither boat nor raft avails in the immeasurable depth.
Saith Nanak : Bereft of succour of the holy Name,
Are numerous banks sunk. (3)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

A man may be master of lakhs of weights of gold and silver,
And may be wealthiest among millions of the wealthy;
He may be lord of vast hosts, of bands and lance-bearers,
And rule over lakhs of mounted soldiers.
There is a spot where the ocean is to cross,
That is full of water and fire to immeasurable deaths;
Its shore not visible with cries and wails unending heads.
Saith Nanak : There will it be tested who is the true king. (4)

Pauri (Stanza)

Iknāṇ galīṇ zanjīr bandi rabbāṉīyai

Some are bound in chains of devotion to God;
Such by realization of truth are from bonds freed.
Whatever is recorded is by man received—of this you be certain.[2]
By the Ordinance is made the judgement—this after P. 1288 departure from life is known.
Realize that by the holy Word is the ocean of the world crossed.
Thieves, philanderers, gamblers—
All in the press are crushed.
Slanderers and traducers of others in manacles are bound.
Those that by the Master's guidance in truth are absorbed,
At the Divine Portal find honour. (21)

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)

Nāuṇ fakīrai pātissāhu mūrakh panditu nāuṇ

A mendicant is given the title patishah; a fool called pandit;
A blind man is called evaluator—such is nature of the usual parlance.

1. Blind.
2. Know to be true.

A mischief-monger becomes chief, and a bad woman is seated at the head.
Saith Nanak : By the wisdom granted by the Master,
Know such to be the way of Kali-Yuga. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
Dear, falcons and state officials are given training,
That in snares spread around, their follows they get entangled—
In the Hereafter shall they find no rest.
Such are truly learned, well-taught and wise,
As live in accordance with holy piety.[1]
Only that which has roots to grow from, can cast a shade from above.
Rulers are turned beasts of prey,[2] their officers hounds;
None do they allow in peace to rest.
The subordinates wound the people with their claws :
You dogs ! lick on the blood and marrow of the poor.
Know, that there, where creation will be judged,
All such will be disgraced[3] and branded as false. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Āpi ūpāe medanī āpei kardā sār

Himself creation He raise, and cherishes,
Without fear of God is not snapped illusion,
Nor love for the Name in the heart instilled.
By the holy Preceptor's teaching arises fear,
And the Door of liberation attained.
From fear comes the serene state,
And merging of none's light with the endless effulgence.
By fear is crossed the ocean of the world
Through contemplation of the Master's teaching.
Through entertaining fear is attained the Lord without fear,
Endless, of extent unknowable.
Egoists know not the secret of such fear;
Burning in desire, they wail.
Saith Nanak : Through devotion to the Name[4] is attained bliss,
As in the heart is cherished the Master's teaching. (22)

---

1. Nām.
2. Tigers.
3. Their noses shall be chopped off.
4. Nām.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Rūpai kāmai dostī bhūkkhai sādai gaṇḍhu

Beauty and lust in bond of attraction are tied;
Appetite whets taste.[1]
Greed and wealth inextricably are tied.
To the drowsy and narrow strip is a luxurious bed.
In wrath one barks, gets ignominy
And blindly does senseless chattering.
Saith Nanak : Silence best;
Bereft of the holy Name, the mouth fills with foul stench. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Empery, wealth, beauty, pride of caste and youthfulness—
All these five are robbers[2] of goodness :
By these five marauders is the world robbed—
None caught by these preserves decency.
Those that the Master's feet worship,
May these robbers themselves rob.
Saith Nanak : Those that are unfortunate,
Everywhere are robbed. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Paṛhiyā lekhedāru lekhā mangīyai

One that education has received, is liable to accounting—
His reckoning must be called.
One bereft of the Name is false and into hardships must fall :
In difficult paths and roads blocked,
Lanes barricaded, is he caught.
To the contented comes the Word of the holy Lord, above desire.
He is unfathomable, deep,
Immeasurable His depth.
None without the Master's teaching liberation shall find—
Several chastizement to him must come.
By devotion to the Name does one in honour depart for the true abode.
Know that breath and sustenance by His Ordinance to each
comes. (23)

---

1. Lit. There is a tie between appetite and taste.
2. Thug, a robber. The current meaning of 'cheat' is a later addition.

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Pauṇai pāṇī agnī jīo

From air, water and fire are living objects made, P. 1289
Subject now to pleasure, now to pain.
On the earth, in the nether regions and the sky,
At His Portal are all objects His servitors.
Some are long-lived; others die of wasting diseases.
Some have more than can by spending end;
Others ever remain beggars.
By His Ordinance He makes and unmakes millions each instant:
All by His nose-string[1] are controlled—
To some He grants liberation and their restraints[2] removes.
Without hue and feature, incalculable, inaccessible—
How Him to expound, how His greatness express ?
All-holy, true is His aspect.
All doing, all exposition is by His power—
Yet inexpressible He remains.
One that to the exposition of the Inexpressible listens,
To him come esoteric powers, enlightenment,
Realization and joy everlasting. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

One that the holy ecstasy contains,[3]
Over the nine sources of sense-experience gains control.
Should he with each breath worship the Lord,
Everlasting shall his life[4] be.
Whence has man come, whither shall he go ?
Should he die while living, with God shall he find approval,
One that of the Ordinance has knowledge,
And the Essence realizes—
Such awareness by the Master's grace comes.
Egoism, says Nanak, leads to bondage.
By discarding egoism is transmigration annulled. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Paṛhīyai nāmu sālāh hori büddhīṇ mithiyā

True learning in lauding the holy Name lies—

1. Bullocks etc. by this are subdued.
2 Nose-string (of animals).
3. Lit. Bears the unbearable (a mystical expression).
4 Wall (used as symbol).

All other kind of knowledge is false.
Away from holy commerce with God,
Life is going waste,
Without limit or extent,
None has found His reality.
The whole world, to truth indifferent,
In a dark dust-storm is involved.
Those indifferent to the Name, in burning cauldrons shall roast—
On blazing fire they throw the oil of duality.
Such into the world arrive,
Then is their play up—
All their life in straying passed.
Saith Nanak : One in truth dyed, to holy truth is united. (24)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Pahilāṇ māsuhṇ nimmiyā māsai aṇdari vāsu

Born out flesh, in flesh does man live.
With life comes love of flesh, bones, skin, limbs[1]—
All are flesh.
As from flesh the living body issues, the breast that is flesh,
It grasps in mouth.
Of flesh is the mouth, of flesh the tongue,
Through flesh is breath drawn.
As is man grown up, matrimony he enters,
And brings home flesh.
Of flesh is born flesh,
With flesh are all relationships established.
By touch of the holy Preceptor is the Divine Ordinance realized,
Whereby comes fulfilment.
Not by man's own effort comes liberation :
Saith Nanak : Such talk only to perdition leads. (1)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Over the fetish of flesh[2] dispute blind fools,
Of enlightenment and contemplation ignorant.
Which is flesh, which vegetation ?
Which to sin leads ?
After the tradition of the gods, was the rhinoceros slaughtered,
And of its flesh burnt sacrifice offered.

---

1. Body.
2. Crying 'flesh, flesh'.

Those that at night-time gobble up flesh,[1]
Pose to discard flesh and stop their noses.
A great show of piety they make before others—
Of enlightenment and contemplation ignorant.
Saith Nanak : What avail arguing with the purblind.
Neither would they say anything sensible,
Nor follow whatever is told them.
Truly blind is one whose actions are blind—
The mind's eye he lacks
From mother's and father's blood are they born,
Yet flesh and flesh they abjure.
As at night come woman and man together,
Foul is their conduct.
Of flesh are we begotten, from flesh born; P. 1290
Of flesh are we vessels.
Brahmin ! ignorant of enlightenment and contemplation,
Thou art yet reputed to be wise.
Revered sir ! the flesh that is brought from outside dost thou discard,
But those in thy home, of flesh made, thou thinkst good.
From flesh are all living objects made.
In flesh is life lodged.
Those by the false[2] protector instructed;
Consume what is forbidden[3] and discard what is lawful to each;
Know, that of flesh are we begotten, from flesh born;
Of flesh are we vessels.
Brahmin ! ignorant of enlightenment and contemplation,
Thou art yet reputed to be wise.[4]
In Puranas and in Muslim books is consuming flesh commended;
In all Four Ages is flesh in general use.
In sacrifices and in fine wedding ceremonials
Is use of flesh in vogue.
Women and men, of flesh are born,
As also kings and great potentates.
Shouldst thou feel to hell are they wending their way,
Receive thou not their charity.

---

1. (Refers to cruelty, exploitation).
2. Blind.
3. Implies meat slaughtered according to Muslim rites, forbidden to a Hindu. Implies unlawful gains.
4. The point is that the orthodox Brahmins' stock-in-trade is forbidding flesh food and such other articles of orthodoxy

What absurdity that the donor to hell may go,
While the recepient to enter heaven is believed.
Brahmin ! ignorant thyself, others thou dost instruct—
Strange that thou art declared wise !
Brahmin ! thou knowest not where from is flesh born :
From water grows grain, sugarcane and cotton;
From water is the world reckoned born.
Water claims to be pure, yet from water comes much that arouses evil.[1]
Saith Nanak after contemplation :
Shouldst thou discard all such delectable objects,
Mayst thou claim to have exercised true renunciation. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hauṇ kyā ākhāṇ ik jībh terā aṇtu na kinahī pāiyā

How may I express Thee with my one tongue ?
None has Thy extent known.
Those the holy Word contemplating,
In Thee are absorbed.
Some in ochre robes wander along—None without the holy Preceptor's guidance has
the Lord attained.
Over many lands they wander to exhaustion;
Thou from sight[2] art concealed.
A shining jewel is the Master's Word,
That by its light reveals the Divine sight.
One by the Master's teaching realizing the self,
Into truth is absorbed.
Showmen of piety that make exhibition of themselves,
Are vulgar exhibitionists and into transmigration fall.
Those that to the holy Eternal are devoted,
Laud Him in constancy. (25)

Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Nānak māyā karam birakhu phal amrit phal visu

Saith Nanak : Actions in the world performed, are the tree;
Its fruit amrita or poison.
All is as the Creator disposes—
Some are made to partake of one, some of the other. (1)

---

1. i. e. Liquors, flesh etc.
2. Inside.

Sloka (Guru Angad Dev)
Saith Nanak : Burn into flames worldly honours :
These accursed ones have caused neglect of the Name,
And at departure go not with man. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Siri siri hoi niberu hükami chalāiyā

By Divine Ordinance each for his actions shall be judged.
Judgement in Thy hand lies : Thou to the heart art pleasing;
When death leads our being away in bonds, none can then save it;
Old age in its might, riding our shoulders
Shall its dance enact.
The holy Preceptor, who is the ship, the boat, alone
may then save.
Raging fire shall ever blaze.
Like a bird, our being shall pick grains in bondage—
By Divine grace[1] may it find release.
All shall happen as the Creator may Will :
Falsehood shall be destroyed. (26)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Ghar mehn gharu dekhāi dei so satiguru pürakhu sujānu

He that in our self may reveal vision of our true abode
Is the enlightened holy Preceptor.
Then shall play the mystic music of five P. 1291
esoteric instruments,
And the drum of the holy Word resound.
In that state shall be revealed wondrous continents,
Regions, lands and zones.
Loud wire instruments there play;
On the righteous throne sits there the King of Universe.
In the state of serene enlightenment[2] shall the melody be heard,
And in unbroken ecstasy shall consciousness be fixed.
There shall the inexpressible discourse on the Lord be contemplated,
And all desire annulled.[33]
The lotus of the mind turned upwards, with amrita shall be filled.
And the mind from wandering shall cease.

---

1. Command.
2. Sukhmanā.
3. Desire into the mind shall be absorbed.

Utterance of the holy Name without sound, neglected shall never be,
And the self in eternity be absorbed.
All sister-damsels of the senses with the five noble scions[1] shall find union,
And by the Master's guidance shall the self in its true home task abode.
Nanak is slave to such as in the Word searching,
This state attain, (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)
The glamorous world is all mortal;
Yet my senses astray, see not the inevitable grave.[2]
Lord ! lowly and humble am I,
Thou a mighty river.
Grant me one sole boon :
The world's poison attracts me not.
In Thy wisdom hast Thou filled this unbaked pitcher of clay with water.
Whatever my strength, from Thy might comes.
Nanak the dog, with Thy court is infatuated—
Ever-increasing is this infatuation.
A blazing fire is the world;
To it God's Name brings soothing coolness. (2)
*Pauri Navīn Mahalla V (New Stanza contributed by Guru Arjan Dev)
Sabho vartai chalatu chalatu vakhāṉiyā
All is His wonder-play; a wonder-play is it to be called.
The transcendent Being, Supreme Lord,
By the Master's guidance is realized.
By resounding of the kettle-drum, are all evils fled;
In holy company are we saved,
And all desire annulled.
In contemplation of the bountiful Lord
Have we all joys experienced;
The whole world has been revealed as a canopy spread of grace.

---

1. (The five qualities of truth, contentment, compassion, righteousness and forbearance).
2. (Here the terminology points to these lines being addressed to Muslim listeners. There are some sentences and phrases in Persian).

*This Pauri is of Guru Arjan Dev's composition, the others being by Guru Nanak Dev.

Himself He grants liberation and union—
May I be a sacrifice a hundred times to Him !
Saith Nanak : Those pleasing the Master are to Him united. (2)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Dhannu su kāgadu kalam dhannu dhannu bhāṇḍā dhannu massu

Blessed is the paper, blessed the pen, the inkpot and the ink;
Blessed the scribe, saith Nanak,
Who the holy Name has inscribed. (1)
Sloka (Guru Nanak Dev)

Āpei pattī kalam āpi ūpari lekhu bhī tūṇ

Thou the sole Doer; all existence is of Thy making.[1]
Pauri (Stanza)

Tūn āpei āpi vartadā āpi baṇāt baṇāī

None besides Thee is real—in all creation art Thou pervasive.
Thou alone dost know Thy state and Thy extent;
Thine to evaluate Thyself.
Inaccessible, unknowable, beyond reach art Thou,
By the Master's teaching manifested.
In our mind is filled ignorance, suffering and doubt—
By enlightenment from the Master emanating
Are these eliminated.
On whomsoever falls His grace, He grants union—
Such a one in meditation on the Name is absorbed.
Thou art the Creator-Being inaccessible,
Everywhere pervasive.
Few are such as to Thy Will are obedient—
Such Nanak lauds. (28)

(Found correct)*

In the Measure Malar—Composition of the venerable Bhakta Namdev P. 1292

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sevīlei Gopāl Rāi akūl niranjan

God's devotees seek to serve the Divine Lord, unborn, immaculate,
Begging of Him devotion in charity. (I-Pause)
He in whose house the directions are seen as tents,
Whose home is the painted paradise,

1. Lit. Thou art solely the tablet the pen and writ thereon.

* Note in the original text. 'Shuddha'/ ('Shuddhu' ?)

And who fills all the seven worlds;
In His home abides Lakshmi[1] ever virgin;
He with whom moon and sun are lamps;
With whom time that enacts marvels is the citadel-keeper, appointed over heads of all—
Such is the Divine puissant[2] monarch. (1)
He in whose house four-faced Brahma is potter, vessel-fashioner,
Who the world has made;
He in whose house is crazed Shiva,
World-teacher, enunciating the essence of enlightenment;
He at whose portal sin and merit are mace-bearers,
And whose reckoning Chitra and Gupta[3] record;
By whose decree Dharamraja makes dissolution
And is His door-keeper—
Such a monarch is the Divine Lord. (2)
He in whose house the celestial cherishers and the poor rishis
Are singing lays;
He for Him all the Shastras put on guises like mimics in this small theatre,
Singing in chorus;
He for whom the wind waves the fly-whisk;
He whose handmaid is Maya, conqueror of all the worlds;
He whose hearth is this egg-shell, the earth—
Such is the monarch, Lord of the three worlds. (3)
He in whose home the Tortoise[4] is the bed, Basak[5] of a thousand hoods the bed-string;
He for whom the eighteen lords of vegetation are flower-girls
And ninety-six crore[6] cloud-strings water-carriers;
He whose perspiration of toes is Ganga;
Whose pitcher stand are the seven seas;
Whose household effects are all creatures—
Such is the Divine monarch, master of the three world. (4)
He whose close associates are Arjuna, Dhruva, Prahlada, Siddhas, the Buddha,
And whose players are the celestial charisters;

1. The goddess of prosperity.
2. Nar-Harī (man-lion).
3. The celestial recorders of men's deeds.
4. An incarnation of Vishnū.
5. The King of Serpents, Shesh-nāga.
6. Ten million..

He in whose home abide ever so many creatures;
The Lord all-pervasive :
His shelter Namdev seeks,
Whose flags all the devotees wave. (5) (1)

Mo kau tūṇ na bisāri tūṇ na bisāri

*Lord ! put me not out of mind; out of mind put me not. (I-Pause)
The temples' inmates under illusion of my low caste
With me were offended.
Calling me Shudra they pushed me off—
Father Vithal,[1] what shall I do ? (1)
Should you grant me liberation after death, none of its shall know.
This manikin of a Brahmin calls me untouchable—
Thereby does Thy glory recede. (2)
Thou art known as compassionate, gracious, long are Thy arms.
The Lord turned the temple-door towards Nama,[2]
And the petty Brahims stood repudiated. (3) (2)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Ravidas P. 1293

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nāgar janāṇ merī jāti bikhiyāt chmāram

You distinguished folk ! well-known is my cobbler's caste.
Yet in my heart laudation of the Lord I cherish. (I-Pause)
Should wine even in Ganga-water be mixed, God's devotees of it shall not drink.
Wine or any other substance that is impure, mixing with Ganga water
Remains not different from it. (1)
The tār tree is considered impure,
So also is paper made from it considered such.
But when words of the Lord's devotion over it are inscribed,
Is it worshipped and bowed to. (2)
People of my caste are hide-beaters and binders
Carrying carcases of cattle around Banaras.[3]

Note : This hymn recounts a well-known incident in Namdev's career.

1. One of the names of the Vishnū.
2. Short for Namdev.
3. The popular name of Vārānasī.

Yet distinguished Brahmins to me make obeisance,
As Ravidas, Thy servant with Thy Name has taken shelter. (3) (1)

Hari japat teū janāṇ padam kawlāspati tās samastūl nhīṇ ān koū

Those that contemplate the Lord's lotus feet none can equal.
None equals those that to the Lord's feet are devoted.
Him who being sole is spread in innumerable forms,
Put in thy mind that all-pervaise Reality. (Pause)
He in whose home is inscribed the Lord's word,
Is of the untouchable dyer's caste[1]
The Lord alone viewing, nothing else.
View it in the writings of Vyas or Sanak,[2]
Over seven continents is spread glory of the Name. (1)
He in whose family were kept Id and the goat-slaughter-Id;[3]
He whose people slaughtered cows,
And venerated Sheikhs, Muslim martyrs and Pirs[4] :
His father did that, yet Kabir who became famous the world over,
Differently acted. (2)
Ravidas, untouchable members of whose tribe
Still around Banaras[5] carry carcases,
Orthodox Brahmins to him make obeisance :
To God's devotees is he slave. (3) (2)

In the Measure Malar—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Ravidas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Milat piyāro prān-nāthu kavan bhagati tei

By what manner of devotion comes union with the Beloved Lord of life !
By joining holy company is attained the supreme state. (Pause)
How long shall I wash soiled clothes[6] ?
How long slumber in sleep of ignorance[7] ? (1)
What I gathered of sins is all torn off,
And the shop of false merchandize closed. (2)
Saith Ravidas, as was the reckoning made,
All my deeds were to me made visible. (3) (1.3)

1. Reference to Namdev.
2. Names of two rishis.
3. Id is the Muslim festival following the Ramadán fasts; Bakar-Id (goat-slaughter Id) comes in another month.
4. Muslim holy men or saints
5. (See note to preceding hymn).
6. Symbol for slander of others
7. (That is, these must soon end).

RAGA KANARA

In the Measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 1294
Quartets (Chaupade)

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality
Eternal, Creator, Immanent, Above Fear, Above Rancour;
Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-existent,
Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

Merā manu sādh janāṇ mili hariyā

By contact with the holy is my heart abloom.
To the holy am I a sacrifice :
By joining the holy am I liberated.[1] (I-Pause)
Lord ! show grace, that fallen at the feet of the holy
I abide.
Blessed be the holy who the Lord have realized—
In contact with the holy are the fallen saved. (1)
The mind in various ways strays; by contact with the holy is it brought under control.
As by the fisherman who the net in the water has spread,
Like the fish is it caught. (2)
Good and noble are God's devotees; by contact with the holy
is impurity shed.
Cast off are egoism and evil, as cloth by soap treated. (3)
By the writ on the forehead inscribed by the Lord in Primal Time,
The holy Preceptor's feet in my heart are lodged.
Then is attained the Lord, shatterer of penury and suffering;
And Nanak, servant of God by devotion to the Name is saved. (4) (1)

Merā manu sant janāṇ pag rein

My heart is turned dust of feet of the holy
By listening to Divine discourse in the holy congregation
By blank heart in God's dye is drenched. (I-Pause)

1. Have crossed the water.

We thoughtless, witless ones that know not of the exalted state and God's measure,
By the Master are made wise.
The Lord, compassionate to the humble has made us His own,
Whereby our mind the Lord has contemplated. (1)
Should God's devotees, beloved of my heart meet me,
For them my heart would I cut off in bits and P. 1295
make offering.
Should God's devotees meet me, comes union with the Lord,
Whereby are we fallen ones purified. (2)
God's servants may be called pre-eminent in the world.
By whose touch are even stones penetrated.[1]
Praise of God's servant is beyond expression by me—
By the Lord are they exalted. (3)
Lord ! merchant-prince are You; to us traders prays grant the commodity[2]
Lord ! to Your servant Nanak show compassion,
That merchandise of God he may load. (4) (2)

Japi mana Rāma-nām pargās

My self ! the illuminating Name Divine contemplate.
God's devotees, who enter upon devotion, engaged in household duties yet are anchorites. (I-Pause)
From our hearts the puissant[3] Name of the Lord have we contemplated,
By grace of the gracious Lord.
Each day was I joyful, abloom was the heart;
Fruitful is our endeavour with hope of union. (1)
With each breath and morsel to the Divine Lord have devoted.
In an instant are sins burnt away; snapped are Maya's bonds. (2)
What are we worms ? What acts of piety can we perform ?
The Lord has saved us thoughtless, witless ones.
Full of demerits, heavy stones are we : in holy company saved. (3)
The entire creation of the Lord is noble;[4] we low, full of evil.
In constant with the Master are effaced our demerits,
Who to the Lord has united Nanak, His servant. (4) (3)

1. (That is, with devotion).
2. (Devotion is meant).
3. Nar-Harī (man-lion) an incarnation of Vishnū
4. High, exalted.

Merai mani Rāma-nāmu japiyo Guru-vāk

My mind the Name Divine by the Master's Word has uttered.
As the Lord, master of the Universe has shown grace, Gone are foul understanding, duality and expectation from others. (I-Pause)
Various are the Lord's forms and hues; in each being is the Lord pervasive invisibly.
By contact with God's devotees is the Lord manifested,
And thrown open are doors of evil. (1)
Great is the repute of God's devotees who in heart the Lord,
Fount of joy have cherished.
By contact with God's devotees is met the Lord,
Joyously as the calf at sight of the mother-cow ! (2)
In the Lord's devotees abides the Lord;
Such are the most exalted among men.
In their hearts abides God's fragrance;
Gone is the world's foul stench. (3)
Lord ! Yours are these creatures, created by You;
Save them as Your own.
The brethren-in-God are Nanak's friends,
Mother, father, companions and relations. (4) (4)

Mere mana Hari Hari Rāma-nāmu japi chīti

My self ! contemplate in mind the Lord's Name Divine.
The Divine substance by Maya's citadel is enclosed;
By the Master's Lord is this citadel conquered. (I-Pause)
Caught in false delusions much have I wandered;
Attracted by love for progeny and wife.
Frail like tree-shadow is the body's wall,
Collapsing in an instant. (1)
By whose touch arises faith in the mind. P. 1296 Whoever by the Master's teaching in heart the Lord has
contemplated,
In him in abiding joy of love is the Lord pervasive. (2)
Noble are God's devotees, by whose contact is the heart Dyed in devotion.
God's dye never fades or is washed off;
Those with it in devotion find union with the Lord. (3)
We sinners of numerous sins are guilty :
The Master these has snapped.
As in our mouth medicine of the Name Divine he has put.

Saith Nanak, servant of God,
Are the fallen purified. (4) (5)

Japi mana Rāma-nām jagannāth

Myself ! repeat the name of the Lord, master of the universe.
While in whirlpool of poisonous evil were we fallen,
The holy Preceptor by strength of his arms rescued us. (I-Pause)
Lord above fear, immaculate, mighty,[1]
Save us sinners, stones,
We that are attracted by lust, wrath, evil and avarice,
With You saved as iron swimming with wood. (1)
You the great immanent being, inaccessible, unknowable;
For Thee have we searched, yet found not Thy depth.
Thou art the farthest, transcendent;
Thy greatness, Lord of Universe, to Thee alone known. (2)
The Name in visible, unknowable joining the way of the holy have we contemplated.
To the Lord's discourse in holy company have we listened;
And contemplated the Lord of discourse inexpressible. (3)
Lord master, Lord of the Universe, save me.
Nanak, servant of God is slave of Your slaves :
Lord ! in Your grace keep this servant close to Yourself. (4) (6)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Partāl (In variable rhythm)
SCORE 5
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mana jāpuh Rāma-Gopāl

My self ! contemplate the Lord, Preserver of the earth,
The Lord precious as diamonds, jewels, rubies.
The Lord's Name in the mint of the God-directed is minted.[2]
Thereby shall the Lord be gracious. (I-Pause)
Inaccessible, unknowable are Your merits :
What may my sole tongue , so poor, utter of these ?
Supremely precious[3] is the Lord.
Inexpressible is Your discourse, known alone to You—
By repeating the Lord's Name am I thrice blessed. (1)

1. Nar-Harī=man-lion, an avatār.
2. (That is, acquired).
3. A ruby.

The Lord is companion of my life, master;
The Lord is my friend; my mind, body and tongue repeat
the Lord's Name :
The Name Divine my wealth and substance,
Those so destined,[1] have wedded bliss with Him—
Such by the Master's teaching the Lord's merits sing :
To such am I a sacrifice.
By utterance of the Lord's Name am I thrice blessed. (2) (1.7)

Hari gūna gāwuh jagadīsh

Sing laudation of the Lord, master of the Universe,
Multiplying the sole tongue into twenty lakhs.
Repeat the Name of the Lord, worthy of remembrance,
The Lord gracious. (I-Pause)
The Lord in His grace in service to Himself engaged us, P. 1297
And in repeating the Lord's Name did we engaged ourselves.
Your servants that repeat the Lord's Name are exalted :
To them am I a sacrifice, peregrinating them. (1)
Lord ! You are great, high, doing what pleases You.
Nanak, servant of God, by the Master's teaching amrita has quaffed—
Praised and blessed be the Master ! (2) (2.8)

Bhaju Rāmo mani Rāma

My self ! to the Lord be devoted,
Who is without form or feature, and is supreme.
In holy company to the Lord be devoted,
That on thy forehead great good fortune be inscribed. (I-Pause)
The home and abode wherein is lauded the Lord.
is full of joy
By devotion to the Lord.
Sing laudation of the Name Divine, the beloved Lord;
To the holy Preceptor's teaching listen,
By devotion to the Lord comes joy. (1)
Lord-Creator ! in Your grace, the whole creation You cherish;
All existence by You[2] is pervaded.
Nanak, Your servant to Your shelter has come :
Grant him the Master's teaching,
Whereby to the Lord he be devoted. (2) (3.9)

---

1. (Implying the devotee symbolized the loving wife).
2. Thee.

Satiguru chāṭoun pag chāṭ

The holy Preceptor's feet I kiss,
By whose touch the way to God is made easy.
Quaff gleefully the Divine elixir :
Devotion to the Lord comes from the writ on the forehead inscribed. (I-Pause)
In great measure are performed the six ritual acts,
By siddhas, yoga-practitioners and Yogis
With hair enmeshed in tufts.
By assuming ritual guises is not attained
Union with the Supreme Being :
The Lord in holy company is attained,
By teachings of the Master and God's devotees,
Whereby are thrown open doors of illumination. (1)
Thou art the Lord above all extent immeasurable,
All-pervasive over water and land;
Sole and unique His aspect.
Lord of Nanak, servant of God,
All states to Thee are known and realized,
In each being pervasive. (2) (4.10)

Japi mana Gobind Mādho

My self ! repeat Name of the Lord of Felicity, Inaccessible, unfathomable.
By the wisdom granted by the Master is attained the Lord,
Which in Primal Time on our forehead is inscribed. (I-Pause)
By garnering of Maya-poison manifold evils the mind enter :
To the Lord be devoted in company of the holy,
Of the holy Preceptor's devotees.
As by the philosopher's stone's touch iron turns gold,
Even so the fallen in holy company, by absorbing the Master's teaching
Are purified (1)
As with wood abundantly swims iron,
Even so are saved sinners in holy company
Of the holy Preceptor's devotees.
Four are the castes, four the stages of life[1]—
Whoever out of these, saith Nanak, has contact with the Master
Is himself saved and saves all his Forebears. (2) (5.11)

1. These are the stage of the celibate student, the householder, the recluse and the world-renouncer (sannyāsī).

Hari jasu gāwuh Bhagavān

Sing praise of the Lord, Master of Felicity;
By singing His praise are shed off sins.
With understanding the Master's teaching acquire,
And with your ears to laudation of the Lord listen,
That the Lord to you be gracious. (I-Pause)
Thy servants who on Thee with single mind meditate—
Such of the holy by repeating the Lord's Name
Treasure of the Name obtain.
Devotees meeting the holy Preceptor, master of felicity,
Thy laudation chant. (1)
Lord ! those in whose heart abidest Thou,
Obtain fruit of joy :
These cross the ocean of existence,
And are known as Thy devotees.
Lord ! in service of such engage me :
Lord ! Thou art saviour of Nanak, Thy servant. (2) (6.12)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gāīyai gūṉa Gopāl Kripānidhi

Sing praise of the Lord, treasure-house of grace,
Shatterer of suffering, provider of joy, the holy Enlightener
By whose contact are all powers[1] attained. (I-Pause)
By contemplation of the Name is the mind propped.
Thereby are millions of sinners in an instant saved. (1)
Whoever his Master to mind brings,
Feels not a bit of[2] suffering even in dream. (2)
Whomsoever the holy Preceptor saves as his own,
By his palate[3] of joy in the Lord has taste. (3)
Saith Nanak : By the Master's grace,
In this world and the next is our face made radiant. (4) (1)

Ārādhouṇ Tūjheh Swāmī apnei

Lord ! to Thee I make supplication.
Rising and sitting, in sleep and wakefulness,

1. (Miraculous powers are implied).
2. As much as a sesame grain.
3. Tongue.

With each breath the Lord's Name I utter. (I-Pause)
Such in heart have the Name lodged,
As this boon by the Lord are granted. (1)
In the heart of such enters peace,
And by the Master's Word with the Lord they have union. (2)
He alone has all powers and wisdom,
On whomsoever incantation of the Name
By the Master is conferred. (3)
Saith Nanak : To such am I a sacrifice,
As in Kali-Yuga devotion to the Name have attained. (4) (2)

Kīrati Prabh kī gāo merī rasnāṇ

My tongue ! sing praise of the Lord.
Innumerable times to the holy make obeisance—
With them abide the Lord's holy feet. (I-Pause)
Despite numerous devices the Divine Portal have I not attained.
Should He be gracious, the Lord's Name may I repeat. (1)
Despite millions of ritual acts is the body not made pure;
In company of the holy is the mind enlightened. (2)
By Maya of numerous varieties[1] is thirst for it not assuaged :
By repetition of the Lord's Name is all joy attained. (3)
As the Supreme Being became gracious,
Saith Nanak, were Maya's entangled snares snapped. (4) (3)

Aisī māṇgu Gobind tei

Beg this boon of the Lord :
Service of God's devotees, company of the holy,
And attainment of the supreme state by repetition of the Name Divine. (I-Pause) P. 1299
At the Lord's feet worship, and their shelter seek,
Weal comes as by the Lord granted. (1)
This body hard to attain of such fruitful be,
As have the holy Preceptor's grace. (2)
Whoever in heart the Master's feet has lodged,
Shattered is his ignorance, doubt and abode of suffering. (3)
Those that in holy company with joy on the Lord have meditated, Saith Nanak, the Lord, perfection incarnate
Have attained. (4) (4)

1. Hues.

Bhagati bhagatan hūṇ bani āyī

Practice of devotion befits the devotees :
As their body and mind in the Lord are absorbed,
To Himself has He united them. (I-Pause)
The world in singing lays is absorbed :
Such alone are saved, as in heart have lodged the Lord. (1)
Many have we seen that serve delicious viands :
Such alone are filled as God's lays have chanted. (2)
The mimic puts on numerous disguises,
Yet at the end in his true aspect is he beheld. (3)
All discoursing is mighty snares.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Truthful doing alone is pure. (4) (5)

Tero janu Hari jasu sūnat ūmāhiyo

Thy servant on listening to Divine laudation is joy-filled. (I-Pause)
At sight of the Lord's beauty is the mind illuminated
Wherever is then cast a glance, is He present. (1)
Beyond all objects highest of all,
Is He immensely profound, immeasurable. (2)
Completely to His devotees is He united;
From before His servant has He lifted the veil. (3)
By the Master's grace Nanak sings Divine laudation;
And in equable absorption is merged. (4) (6)

Sanatan peh āpi ūdhāran āiyo

To save His devotees has He Himself arrived. (I-Pause)
At the Master's sight is man purified,
As spell of the Lord's Name in the devotee's mind
he confirms. (1)
As is taken medicine of God's Name,
Are maladies ended, and the mind rendered pure. (2)
Then are we made immutable, and in abode of joy lodged,
Nevermore anywhere to stray. (3)
Saith Nanak : By grace of the holy
Are saved those related to them,
And noway by Maya soiled. (4) (7)

Bisari gaī sabha tati parāī

Put away from my mind is envy of others,
As company of the holy I have attained. (I-Pause)

None now is our foe not a stranger—
With all are we in accord. (1)
All that the Lord does have we found good—
From the holy is such wisdom received. (2)
The sole Lord in all creation is pervasive :
At this sight in Nanak in bloom of joy. (3) (8)

Thākur jīo Tuhāro parnā

Lord ! under Your shelter I rest.
In Your support lies my honour and exaltation;
Under Your shelter and refuge I lie. (I-Pause)
In You is reposed my hope and trust;
Your Name in my heart have I lodged.
Yours is my strength, with You find I joy;
As You command we act. (1)
By Your compassion and grace joy we find;
By Your grace is crossed the ocean of existence.
The boon of fearlessness from the Name Divine is attained, P. 1300
As Nanak his head on the feet of the holy has rested. (2) (9)

Sādh sarani charan chittu lāiyā

Under shelter of the holy to the Divine feet is my heart attached.
The world had we heard of as dream, that we have beheld too as dream,
As the holy Preceptor spell of the Name is us has confirmed. (I-Pause)
Man with royal authority, beauty or wealth is not satiated,
And again and again after these rushes.
By singing Divine laudation is attained joy;
Assuaged is thrist[1] and peace is attained. (1)
Man without realization is as a beast;
Maya's illusion and attachment clinging to him.
Saith Nanak : In holy company is snapped Yama's noose,
And the self in poise absorbed. (2) (10)

Hari kei charan hirdai gāi

From depth of heart sing laudation of the Divine feet,
That are joy-cooling, image of peace :
Ever contemplate and meditate on these. (I-Pause)

1. Used metaphorically for desire.

Thereby shall all desires[1] be fulfilled,
And suffering of millions of births go. (1)
Absorption in holy company equals holy charity,
And innumerable ritual acts.
Saith Nanak : Thereby is ended agony of death;
Nevermore does death destroy thereafter. (2) (11)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 3

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Kathīyai sant-sangi Prabh giānu

In the holy congregation of Divine illumination discourse—
The Supreme Lord, supreme inefrangible effulgence,
By whose contemplation comes exaltation. (I-Pause)
By Divine contemplation in holy company
Is annulled transmigration and all struggle flees.
By love of the Supreme Being, in an instant
Are the fallen purified. (1)
Whoever recites the Divine lays, whoever listens to these,
His foul understanding is destroyed.
Of such a one saith Nanak, are all objectives fulfilled;
All his hopes realized.[2] (2) (1.12)

Sādh-sangati nidhi Hari ko Nām

In holy company is found treasure of the Name Divine,
That is our companion and helper, valuable to the self. (I-Pause)
By bathing ever in dust of feet of the holy,
Are sins of several births removed. (1)
Exalted is utterance of the holy :
Saith Nanak : By its contemplation all creatures find liberation. (2) (2.13)

Sādhū Hari Hare guna gāi

In company of the holy sing Divine laudation :
Our mind, body, life all is the Lord's,
By whose contemplation is suffering annulled. (I-Pause)
Why to this spot and that be attracted ?
To the sole Lord attach your heart. (1)

---

1. Implies liberation.
2. (These hopes and objectives are spiritual in nature).

Supremely pure is the abode of the holy :
Joining their company on the Lord meditate. (2)
Nanak all else has renounced, and to the Lord's shelter come :
Pray grant him union with Thyself. (3) (3.14)

Pekhi pekhi bigasāuṇ sājan Prabhu āpanā ekānt

At sight of the Lord unique, true Friend P. 1301
Am I in bloom of joy. (I-Pause)
Nothing else is like unto the Lord,
Image of bliss and equable joy. (1)
By contemplation of the Lord even once,
Are millions of sins annulled. (2)
By contemplation of His merits flees suffering
And the heart grows peaceful. (3)
Saith Nanak : My tongue ! by contemplation of Divine merits, Dyeing in joy of the Lord, quaff amrita elixir. (4) (4.15)

Sājanā sant āo merai

Devotees of God ! true friends, step into my house. (I-Pause)
By singing of blissful merits of the Lord,
Are sins effaced and move far off. (1)
As my forehead on feet of the holy I place,
In my dark house enters light. (2)
By grace of the holy is lotus of the heart abloom,
And beholding the Lord close, to Him am I devoted. (3)
By grace of the Lord have I met the holy----- Nanak to that moment is a sacrifice. (4) (5.16)

Charan saran Gopāl terī

Lord ! at Thy feet I seek shelter :
From attachment, pride, fraud and doubt save me,
And my fetters snap. (I-Pause)
We that were sinking in the ocean of existence,
By contemplation of the Lord, mine of jewels are saved. (1)
Lord ! Thy Name is joy-cooling.
The Lord is the Master, perfection incarnate. (2)
The Lord is annuller of suffering of the humble,
Treasure of grace, saviour of the fallen. (3)
For millions of births suffering have I undergone :
Saith Nanak, by repetition of the Name by the
Master's guidance,
Joy have I attained. (4) (6.17)

Dhanni uh preeti charan sangi lāgī

Blessed is love fixed in the Divine feet.
As by good fortune are met the holy,
Joy of millions of recitations of holy texts,
Austerities have we attained. (I-Pause)
I, helpless slave am Thy servant—
All other shelter have I discarded.
All manner of doubts by contemplation of the Lord are snapped,
And by application of collyrium of enlightenment
Is the sleeping understanding awakened. (1)
Thou art fathomless, supreme Lord, ocean of grace,
Great[1] mine of jewels.
The mendicant Nanak the Name Divine begs,
And his forehead at the feet of the Lord placed. (2) (7.18)

Kuchil kathor kapat kāmī

Foul, hard-hearted, deceitful and lustful that I am,
Save me Lord ! in whatever manner may please Thee. (I-Pause)
Thou that art almighty, puissant to grant shelter,
Save me by force of Thy might. (1)
Release comes not by repetition of texts, austerities,
Keeping vows, ritual purity and self-restraint.
Lord ! From deep dark cavern pray succour Nanak,
By casting on him Your glance of grace. (2) (8.19)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 4
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Nārāyan narpati namaskārai

To the Master, who to the Lord, Divine monarch makes obeisance
Am I a sacrifice : Saving himself, me too he saves. (I-Pause)
What of His merits may I express, Without end or limit that are ? P. 1302 Millions upon millions are these—
Who may do the reckoning ? (1)
Thou of deepest dazzling hue,
At Thy thought is my understanding struck with marvels.

1. Perfect.

Saith Nanak : God's devotees taste of joy in God,
Like the dumb that only smile at tasting delight. (2) (1.20)

Na jānī santan prabh binu ān

God's devotees know not other than the Lord.
High and low they reckon alike:
By their mouth giving expression to Him, in their minds cherishing faith. (I-Pause)
The Lord that is my very life, ocean of joy,
Shatterer of fear, in each being is pervasive.
As the Master breathed the spell into my ear,
Was my mind illumined and fled were fears. (1)
The Lord, almighty, gracious controller of the inner self Illumination grants :
Day and night Divine laudation sings
To seek His bounty. (2) (2.21)

Kahan kahāwan kau kaī ketai

Many are such as are so reputed :
Rare are God's servants that the essence of Yoga realize. (I-Pause)
No suffering touches such as keep the sole Lord ever before their eyes—
Pure joy they experience.
To such none is evil; all are good—
No discomfiture they know, all for them is triumph. (1)
Never knowing mourning, in perpetual joy they abide :
Not abandoning this, nothing else they seek.
Saith Nanak : God's servants are God's own image,
Transmigrating never. (2) (3.22)

Hīyeiko prītamu bisari na jāe

May the Divine Beloved never out of my heart be put.
My body and mind in Him are absorbed, mother mine !
Even though the charming Maya is enticing me. (I-Pause)
All those to whom my state I relate,
Are themselves by her caught.
One snare many forms has taken,
From whose bonds no escape may be found. (1)
After much wandering Nanak, servant of God
To seek shelter with the holy has come.
Ignorance, doubt and Maya-attachment have they snapped,
And to their bosom clashed him. (2) (4.23)

Ānand rang binod hamārai

Amid bliss, joy and pleasing spectacles we abide,
As the Name we sing, on the Name meditate;
The Name is prop of our life. (I-Pause)
Devotion to the Name is our illumination, the Name our holy bath;
The Name Divine of our objectives is fulfiller.
The Name Divine our noble repute, the Name our source of exaltation.
Across the ocean of existence hard to cross
The Name Divine carries us. (1)
The boon inaccessible, priceless jewel
By touch of the Master's feet is attained.
Saith Nanak : The Lord has shown grace,
And in the Divine sight cherished in heart
Are we absorbed. (2) (5.24)

Sājan mit swāmī nero

The Divine friend, companion, Lord is close to us.
By the side of all abiding
Everything He views and to all listens—
Why for achieving life's petty purposes,[1]
In evil doing engage ? (I-Pause)
Other than the Name, all in which thou art involved.
With these shall not last,
In the hereafter all shall become visible and manifest;
Here in darkness of illusion art thou caught. (1)
In attachment to progeny, wife and worldly pelf art thou caught, P. 1303
And the Divine Provider hast forgotten,
Saith Nanak : In the sole Lord my trust have I reposed—
The Master my bonds shall snap. (2) (6.25)

Bikhai dalu santani tūmrai gāhiyo

The hords of evil by Your devotees is trampled under foot.
Lord ! Your prop, trust in You, Your shelter have I sought. (I-Pause)
Great sins of multiple births by Your sight are effaced.
Illumination, bliss and light of realization have come
And in equable absorption are we involved. (1)

1. Purpose, objective.

Who dares say nothing by Your power happens—
You that art immeasurably mighty ?
Saith Nanak : Thou ocean of grace !
In devotion to Thy Name have I obtained
B'essings such as joy and pleasures of beauty would bring. (2) (7.26)

Būḍat prānī Hari japi dhīrai

The sinking[1] creature by contemplation of the Lord gains poise,
And shattered are his attachment, doubt, suffering and pain. (I-Pause)
Day and night the Master's feet I contemplate.
Wherever my glance I cast, your shelter I behold. (1)
By grace of the holy the Lord's laudation have I sung.
Saith Nanak : By obtaining sight of the Master
Joy have I attained. (2) (8.27)

Simrat nāmu maneh sūkhu pāīyai

By contemplation of the Name obtain joy of heart.
In unison with the holy sing Divine laudation. (I-Pause)
By grace the Lord in our heart takes lodgement.
May my forehead on feet of the holy rest. (1)
My self ! contemplate the Supreme Being.
By the Master's guidance, saith Nanak, to Divine laudation may I listen. (2) (9.28)

Merei mana preeti charan Prabh parsan

My heart for touch of the Divine feet yearns.
My tongue[2] with Divine victuals alone is satisfied.
My eyes in the Divine sight find fulfilment. (I-Pause)
The ears with laudation of the Beloved are full,
Whereby is filth of sins and evil cast off.
My feet must run along the Lord's joyful path;
My limbs by serving person of the holy are overjoyed. (1)
With the Lord perfection incarnate, immortal have I taken shelter;
In performing no other devices exhaust I myself.
Saith Nanak : His servants by the arm has He grasped;
Not left to perish in the terrible, dark ocean. (2) (10.29)

Kuhkat kapaṭ khapaṭ khal garjat marjat mīchu anik barīyā

Those within whom sound destructive fraud, and thunder
Brutes of evil,

1. Said metaphorically for one involved in sin.
2. Palate is implied.

Innumerable times encounter death. (I-Pause) Behold Beloved, full of egoistic thinking, attached to other than God,
Following foul understanding
In millions lanes[2] I wander. (1)
Immoral my conduct, my doing unprincipled;
Intoxicated by pride in wrath am I burning.
Compassionate, gracious lord, friend of the humble,
Pray save Nanak, who Your shelter has sought. (2) (11.30)

Jīya prān mān dātā

A great loss it is to be unmindful of the Lord,
Conferer of life, breath and honour. (I-Pause)
Those that discarding the Lord to other than Him are attached,
Are such as casting off amrita winnow dust.
Thoughtless man ! from pleasures of evil P. 1304
How mayst hope to get joy ? (1)
Lust, wrath and greed that cling to thee
Of transmigration are sources.
Nanak, know thou such a one to be saved
As to seek shelter with the Lord purifier of the fallen,
has arrived. (2) (12.31)

Avilokouṇ Rāma ko mūkhārbind

The Lord's lotus countenance I behold :
After long search this jewel have I obtained,
Whereby is cast off[3] all my anxiety. (I-Pause)
By cherishing God's lotus feet in my heart,
Is shed foul suffering. (1)
The Lord is my royal authority, wealth and family.
Saith Nanak : In company with the help have I earned the gain,
Whereafter comes not death. (2) (13.32)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 5

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Prabh pūjaho nāmu arādhi

By devoted contemplation of the Name,
And touching feet of the holy Preceptor,

1. For the sake of.
2. Symbol for worldly concerns.
3. Forgotten

Worship the Lord.
In the mind find I the Lord illimitable,
And by grace of the Lord conquer the world.[1] (I-Pause) Various kinds of worship, by various devices have I sought to perform :
True worship is that which pleases the Lord.
This marionette of clay put together,
What acts of piety can it perform ?
Lord ! the creature whom grasping by the arm You set on the way,
With You finds union. (1)
No other shelter behold I;
In the Lord's shelter alone my hope I repose.
What supplication may be offered by this humble one,
When the Lord in each being[2] abides ?
My heart for the Divine feet thirsts.
Nanak, Thy servant is known as Thy slave :
Ever to Thee is he a sacrifice. (2) (1.33)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 6

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jagat üdhāran nām prīya terai

Beloved ! Thy Name is the world's saviour.
With the Lord lies treasure of the Name, source of the
Nine Treasures[3]
Beyond compare is joy in the Lord;
Then my mind ! why in worldly attachment art absorbed ?
Sight of the holy behold the eyes of such
As on forehead have this blessing recorded. (I-Pause)
At the feet of the holy I offer obeisance.
Dust of their feet I seek that purifies,
And equals bathing at the sixty-eight sacred spots that holiness confers.
With each breath, without turning my face away,
On the Lord I meditate.

1. Cf. Japuji 28.
2. Vessel.
3. See Glossary.

Wealth counted by the million accompanies not man !
The Name Divine alone at the end is the succourer. (1)
In the Sole Supreme Being fix your desires and pursuit of honour.
And all feelings of duality discard.
Beloved ! what of Thy merits can I relate ?
Not one of Thy merits can I express. P. 1305
My heart for Thy sight excessively yearns.
Lord Enlightener of the world ! to Nanak grant union, (2) (1.34)

Aisī kaun bidhei darshan parsanā

By what device may the Lord's sight and touch be obtained ? (I-Pause)
The Lord, of sight fulfilling desires I seek and thirst for;
For Him my heart yearns and pines. (1)
In humility am I absorbed and like the fish
For God's devotee thirst—
Thirst for dust of their feet.
To them I seek my heart to dedicate.
The Lord to me is gracious;
So pride and attachment have I discarded;
Thus Nanak with the Lord finds union. (2) (2.35)

Rangā rang rangan ke rangā

Various are the Lord's manifestation[1] :
In all, from the ant to the elephant is He pervasive. (I-Pause)
Some keep fasts and vows, bathe at holy spots including the Ganga;
Bathe in currents of water and remain hungry and naked.
Folding together their limbs, worship they perform.
Circles on the body[2] they draw, and on their six limbs[3] put paste-mark.
Without the holy congregation the Divine sight comes not. (1)
One may observe hatha restraints and stand without legs,[4]
Yet by malady of egoism one such gripped
And their impediment is not lifted.
Such in lust, wrath and desire burn.

---

1. Hues, varied doings.
2. (These are drawn at Dwārkā and Hinglaj).
3. (These are legs, arms, head and the middle portion of the body).
4. (That is, on one's head as in a yogic pose).

Saith Nanak : Such alone find liberations as have a noble preceptor. (2) (3.36)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 7

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tikh būjhi gaī gaī mili sādh janāṇ

As company of the holy I joined, assuaged is my thirst.[1]
Fled are the five thieves;[2]
In joyful poise Divine merit I constantly sing,
Imbued with love for the Divine sight. (I-Pause)
How can I return the benefaction the Lord to me has done.[3]
To You is my heart ever and again a sacrifice. (1)
At first falling at the feet of the holy,
In love on You have I meditated.
Lord ! of what nature is Thy abode where the creation
Thou dost contemplate ?
Innumerable of Thy servants Thy laudation sing.
Such alone With Thee find union as please Thee.
Nanak, servant of God, in the Lord is absorbed.
Thou solely art real, solely Thou. (2) (1.37)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 8

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Tyāgīyai gumānu mānu pekhtā dyāl lāl hāṇ hāṇ mana charan rein

Arrogance and Pride discard;
The gracious Beloved[4] is beholding all;
My mind ! be dust of feet of the holy. (I-Pause)
By teaching of God's devotees is attained illumination on the Lord and meditation. (1)
With your heart sing the Lord's laudation;
Form love to the lotus feet of the Lord,
Compassionate to the humble, the charmer.
Gracious Lord ! show compassion and grace.

---

1. That is, desire.
2. The five sources of evil are meant.
3. Lit. How can I do what the Lord to me has done ?
4. Lāl=Lit. a ruby; implied meaning valued, loved.

Nanak seeks boon of the Name.
All attachment, doubt and pride discard. (2) (1.38)

Prabh kahan malan dahan lahan Guru milei ān nahīṇ upāo

Repetition of the Lord's Name impurities destroys. P. 1306
By touch of the Master is He attained,
By no other device. (I-Pause)
Bathing at river-banks, performance of the six ritual deeds,
Keeping long matted hair, performing fire sacrifices,
Carrying the hermit's staff—these avail not. (1)
Various devices, austerities, wandering;
Innumerable discourses, reveal not His depth or abode.[1]
All means have we studied :
Saith Nanak, joy from devotion to the Name comes. (2) (2.39)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 9

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Patit-pāvanu bhagati-bacchhalu bhay haran tāran taran

The Lord is purifier of the fallen, beloved of devotees, Annuller of fear, liberator.[2] (I-Pause)
By His sight are my eyes fulfilled;
The ears by listening to His laudation
Satisfaction-filled. (1)
Divine Provider to the helpless, lord of life;
Lord, refuge of the humble;
Fulfiller of hopes, destroyer of suffering
Nanak at the Lord's feet has sought shelter. (2) (1.40)

Charan saran dayāl ṭhākur ān nā hīṇ jāi

At the feet of the gracious Lord have I sought shelter;
No other place of refuge is for me.
To purify the faller is the Lord's law of grace;
All by meditating on the Lord are saved. (I-Pause)
The world is a marsh, an ocean of evil;
Man in attachment and pride is fallen and blinded,
And in Maya involvement is distracted.
Divine monarch, by the strength of Your arm extricate me,
Save me. (1)

1. Implies the Divine Essence.
2. One who ferries across water.

Cherisher of the helpless, succourer of the holy.
Annuller of millions of sins—
My heart yearns
For sight of the Lord perfection incarnate, repository of merits.
Lord who art compassionate, gracious !
May Nanak's tongue ever Divine laudation sing ! (2) (2.41)

Vāri vāroun anik ḍāroun

Over joy with the Beloved lasting even for the twinkling of an eye
Of a night,
Innumerable objects would I sacrifice. (I-Pause)
Sister-friend ![1] for gold, mansion, silken beds feel I not attraction. (1)
Pearls, rubies and innumerable joys,
Saith Nanak, without the Name are perishable.
With dry crusts of food and sleeping on bare ground,
Sister-friend ![1] in company of the Lord find I joy. (2) (3.42)

Aham tero mukhu joroṇ

Shattering egoism, with God's saints I consort.
My heart, invoking the Master, seeks the Lord.
The Beloved to my heart is dear. (I-Pause)
In the house of the self is spread the delightful couch;
In the open yard of the heart is peace :
Now with the five agents of evil snap ties. (1)
Now does the mind not wander and in its place is settled;
And the heart turned away from God is abloom.
Ended is egoism's turmoil.[2]
Nanak has sung laudation of the Lord, repository
of merit. (2) (4.43)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 9

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace P. 1307

Tāṇ te jāpi manāṇ hari jāpi

Hard is the way that the holy and the scriptures[3] mention,
In attachment involved, from fever of egoism art thou suffering.
To escape these, my self ! repeat the Lord's Name. (I-Pause)

1. Image for fellow-seeker.
2. Noise.
3. Vedas.

Those that to wretched Maya are attached, and with her intoxicated,
By this attachment are in torment. (1)
Such alone by repetition of the Name are saved,
As by the Lord Himself are succoured.
Saith Nanak : By blessing of the holy
Is shattered attachment, fear and doubt. (2) (5.44)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 10

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Aiso dānu dehu jī santahu jāt jīo balihāri

Holy ones ! grant me the boon to which my heart may be a sacrifice.[1]
Pride my understanding has attracted, and the five evils are assertive,
In these am I involved, living close to them.
With the holy have I sought shelter :
From company of the evil rescue me. (I-Pause)
For millions of births in species have I wandered :
Helpless, at Thy portal am I fallen. (1)
By grace of the Lord have I obtained prop of the Name.
Saith Nanak : Thus is the human birth, hard to attain, fruitful,
And across the ocean of existence am I carried. (2) (1.45)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 11

In the Name of Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sahaj subhāye āpan āye

Spontaneously has the Lord come Himself.
Nothing know I, nor have practised[2] any device.
In my innocence has the Lord granted me union and joy. (I-Pause)
By good fortune to the holy has He united me :
Now the mind wanders not, and in its own abode is settled.
The Lord, treasure-house of merit in the vesture of the body is manifested. (1)

1. (That is, the born of devotion).
2. Shown.

All else is discarded by love of His feet,
Who in all spots is pervasive.
Now in great joy Nanak His laudation expresses. (2) (1.46)

Gobind Thākur milan durāiṇ

Hard is union with the Divine Lord.
Beyond measure is His form, inaccessible, unknowable,
In all creation pervasive. (I-Pause)
Neither by discoursing nor by wandering over sacred spots is He attained,
Nor by skill in argument or clever devices. (1)
Various kinds of endeavour have we made—
By grace alone is He met.
Lord compassionate, gracious, ocean of grace,
To Nanak, Thy servant, pray grant dust of feet of the holy. (2) (2.47)

Māī simrat Rāma Rāma Rāma

Mother mine ! Solely the Lord's Name I repeat—
None other than He is real.
Night and day His lotus feet with each breath
I contemplate. (I-Pause)
By love has He made us His own; this union now snaps not.
The Lord, treasure of merit,
Is my life, mind, wealth and all else. (1)
In all directions is the Lord pervasive—
This in depth of the heart have I beheld.
In shelter of the holy is Nanak saved,[1]
And his terrible suffering shattered. (2) (3.48)

Jana ko Prabhu saṇgei asnehu

The Lord's servant with Him is in love. P. 1308 Divine friend ! Thou my true companion art—everything in Thy house lies. (I-Pause)
Honour I beg and strength;
Wealth, prosperity and progeny grant me; (1)
The Lord is donor of liberation, way of life's enjoyment, Perfecting bliss, and enjoyment, supreme repository of all treasures.
By fear[2] and loving devotion dost Thou confer joy :
Nanak ever to Thee is a sacrifice. (2) (4.49)

1. Has swum across.
2. (Fear of God is implied).

Karat karat charach charach charcharī

Yogis and those engaging in meditation, scholars
Hold endless discourses and over the earth wander. (I-Pause)
Many in egoism are involved :
Many stupid persons are as mad.
Wherever these go, death grips them. (1)
Discard, discard pride; death to thee is ever close.
To the Lord in love be devoted.
Saith Nanak : Listen thou thoughtless one;
Without devotion is life all gone waste. (2) (5.50. 12.62)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Ashtpadiyān (Octets)
SCORE 1
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Japi mana Rāma-nāmu sukhu pāwaigo

My self ! the Name Divine repeat : Thereby joy shalt thou obtain.
As the Name thou shalt repeat, joy shalt thou obtain,
And by service to the holy Preceptor in the Lord
be absorbed. (I-Pause)
God's devotees each moment for the Name yearn :
By repetition of the Name shalt thou too obtain joy.
All other pleasures leave the mind;
Other than the Name nothing shall delight thee. (1)
By the Master's teaching shall the Lord's Name taste sweet,
And the Master with utterance of sweet words shall inspire thee.
The holy Preceptor's utterance is utterance of the Supreme Being;
To the Master's utterance shouldst thou be devoted. (2)
By listening to the Master's Word is my heart grown tender,
The mind drenched in feeling, and to its true home in God returned.
There plays evermore the mystic music, and the constant stream of joy drips. (3)
As each instant is the Name Divine sung,
By the Master's teaching shalt thou in the Name be absorbed.
Then shall the mind listen to the Name, love the Name
And by the Name be fulfilled. (4)

Man may wear numerous armlets made from gold,
And dresses of various kinds :
Without the Name are all these insipid—
Involved in these shall man be born and die again and again. (5)
Heavy is Maya's veil; therein caught shall the mind in whirlpool be revolved.
Sin and evil are heavy as iron;
With sin shall swimming across[1] be impossible. (6)
God's fear and non-attachment to the world is the ship;
The Master who is pilot by the holy word shall ferry you across.
By the Name Divine is encountered the Lord; P. 1309
By the Name shall the self in the Lord be absorbed. (7)
In ignorance is the self asleep; by the enlightenment given by the Master shall it be awakened.
Saith Nanak : As be His Will, beings, He guides along. (8) (1)

Japi mana Hari Hari nāmu tarāwaigo

My self ! the Name Divine repeat—this shall ferry thee across.
Whoever repeats it, the Supreme state attains,
And like Dhruva and Prahlad[2] in the Lord is absorbed. (I-Pause)
By grace abounding[3] the Lord to repetition of the Name inspires.
In His grace with the holy Preceptor union He grants;
By union with the holy Preceptor is the Name meditated on. (1)
Impurity of egoism of multiple births to the self sticks;
In the holy congregation is this impurity shed.
Even as iron in company with wood swims, by attachment to the Master's word
Is attained the Lord. (2)
Join company of the holy; in company of the holy Shall be obtained joy in the Lord.
One pride-filled acting contrary to holy company,
Is as one drawing water and fouling[4] it with mud. (3)
The Lord is His devotees' guardian;
To God's servant joy in God tastes sweet.
Those each instant exalted by the Name,
By the holy Preceptor's teaching in the Lord are absorbed. (4)
Ever to God's devotees show humility;

1. Liberation is implied.
2. Dhruva and Prahlād are child-rishis.
3. Kripā (grace) is repeated several times.
4. Mixing.

One so showing humility shall obtain fruit of merit.
The evil-doer that the devotees calumniates,
Shall like Harnaksh[1] be destroyed. (5)
Brahma[2] who is born of the lotus and Vyas son of the fish,
By their austerity are worshipped.
Venerate all devotees : thereby shall wandering in transmigration be annulled. (6)
Be not deluded by considerations of high and low caste :
Sukdev Brahman touching feet of Janak the Kashtriya
meditated on God.
Even though leavings of food fell over him, for an instant
Was his mind not shaken even a bit. (7)
Janak who the throne of the primal Janak occupied,
Dust of feet of nine sages[3] to his face applied.
Saith Nanak : Lord ! grant in Thy grace
That Thy servants' servant I become. (8) (2)

Manu Gurmati rasi gūna gāwaigo

My self ! by the Master's teaching in joy sing
Divine laudation
One sole tongue increasing million-fold should the Lord supplicate. (1-Pause)
Sheshnaga[4] with his thousands hoods the Lord's Name uttered,
Yet found not His extent.
Unfathomable, unknowable art Thou—
The Master's teaching alone to the mind shall bring poise. (1)
Those repeating Thy Name are alone distinguished—
Those repeating God's Name alone joy shall obtain.
Bidur,[5] maid's son, untouchable youth,
By Krishna was embraced and to his bosom clasped. (2)
From water is grown wood; yet wood it makes float over itself.
The Lord Himself exalts His servants,
And fulfils His law of grace[6] (3)
We are stones, iron, large blocks of stones—
In the Master's company as in boat are made to float.

---

1. Hrinyakashyapu, the demon-king, destroyed by the Lord.
2. (These stories come from the Purānic lore).
3. These were Mrīchi, Atre, Angirās, Pulasyu, Puleh, Kritu, Bhrigu, Vashisht and Atharvana.
4. In legend the king of serpents.
5. A devotee of Krishna.
6. Bird=wird (Ar.).

The weaver Kabir in company of the holy was saved; P. 1310
And to the heart of the holy was pleasing. (4)
In all states of standing, sitting, rising, the path of the Lord we contemplate.
The holy Preceptor in his word is enshrined, the word is the holy Preceptor,[1]
Pointing the way of liberation. (5)
By the Master's instruction, repeating the Name with each breath have we obtained strength;
Now on the Name liberator from Yama's penalty we meditate.
Should egoism by the Master's grace be extinguished,
By the Master's instruction in the Name shall we be absorbed. (6)
The holy Preceptor, donor of life to beings, to the unfortunate is not pleasing.
Never again shall this occasion be grasped;
In torment shall man fall into regret. (7)
Whoever seeks his own good, before the Master must bow low.
Lord ! to Nanak show compassion;
Grant that I rub on forehead dust of feet of the holy. (8) (3)

Manu Hari rangi rātā gāwaigo

The mind, dyed in God His laudation will sing.
By fear of God are we turned pure; now the Master's chemical dye in it shall settle. (I-Pause)
One dyed in God is eternally a recluse;
The home[2] of such shall the Lord approach.
By dust of feet of such find I life—this the Lord in
His grace shall grant. (1)
Beings gripped by duality in avarice are caught;
Their minds untreated, God's dye shall not catch.
As by the Master's Word their life takes a new turn,
And the Master, noble being meets them, does the dye catch. (2)
All ten organs of sensation are ever restless;
And the mind, subject to Three Qualities,[3] finds not poise.
By the Master's instruction is it subdued, and thereby liberation attains. (3)

1. (This is a well-known doctrine in Sikh theology).
2. Symbol for the self.
3. See Glossary.

The Creator solely in all beings is pervasive;
All beings in the Sole Lord shall be absorbed.
Sole His form, yet various His manifestations;
All under His Sole Ordinance He directs. (4)
By the Master's guidance is realized the sole Lord;
By Godward-facing is He beheld.
The Godward-facing devotee in the Divine Mansion with Him finds union,
And the mystic music makes. (5)
All creatures has the Lord raised : those that are Godwardturned exaltation shall obtain;
Without contact with the Master non to the Divine
Mansion attains;
Such in transmigration shall suffer. (6)
Beloved ! for innumerable births have we been separated—
In Your grace with the Master grant us union.
By contact with the holy Preceptor supreme bliss have
we attained,
And even foul understanding blooms forth. (7)
Lord, Life of the Universe ! in me faith in the Name induce.
The Divine Enlightener with the holy Preceptor is one in essence,
Pray with the holy Preceptor grant me shelter. (8) (4)

Mana Gurmati chāl chalāwaigo

My self ! follow the way of the Master's teaching.
As a mad elephant by the goad is subdued, the Master the goad of the holy Word shall repeatedly apply. (I-Pause)
The mind in ten directions rushes—the Master by inducing love for God saves it.
The holy Preceptor by introducing in heart the holy Word,
In the seeker's mouth amrita of the Name pours in drips. (1)
Venomous snakes of evil with poison are filled; P. 1311
The Master, snake-healer[1], in the seeker mouth pours
the Word.
Maya the serpent approaches not such :
The Master, casting off poison in such a one induces devotion. (2)
The hound of greed is assertive in the city of the self—
The Master in an instant shall drive him away.

1. (The snake-healer is a man believed to apply drugs and incantations to drive out snake-venom).

Truth, content and dharma has he settled therein—
Thereby in God's city shall the seeker Divine laudation sing. (3)
The creature in mire of attachment sinks—
The Master this sinking creature pulls out.
Crying for his shelter creatures to seek refuge come—
By strength of his arm he saves them. (4)
The world dream-like, is a play : this play will all scatter.
By the Master's guidance carry away profit of the Name :
Thereby at the Divine Portal shall you be invested with honour. (5)
Man acts in pride, collecting cinders of sin.
When death arrives is he in suffering :
What man sows shall he consume. (6)
Devotees of God ! garner wealth of the Name Divine—
As this you spend shall you be honoured.
Consume and spend of it in plenty; the Divine Provider
no scarcity feels. (7)
In the heart is wealth of the Name Divine—
This wealth by seeking shelter with the Master shall you discover.
Saith Nanak : The Lord compassion has shown,
Shattered are suffering and penury[1], and the creature absorbed in God. (8) (5)

Manu satigur sharani dhiyāwaigo

The self that to take shelter with the holy Preceptor meditates, Even though iron, with touch of the philosopher's stone shall turn gold,
And its properties acquire. (I-Pause)
The holy Preceptor, exalted being is philosopher's stone :
Whoever touches him, this reward obtains.
As was Prahlad[2] saved by the Preceptor's teaching,
The Master his servant's honour shall guard. (1)
Noble is the holy Preceptor's Word—by the Master's Word is obtained amrita.
One that on the holy Preceptor's Word by utterance of his tongue meditates,
Like the rishi Ambrik the immortal state attains. (2)

1. Implies spiritual poverty.
2. Name of a rishī.

The holy Preceptor's shelter to my heart is pleasing—
On the Master, storehouse of amrita shall I meditate.
The holy Preceptor to the humble is compassionate,
And the way of the Lord indicate. (3)
Those seeking shelter with the holy Preceptor are exalted—
The Lord to save them shall come.
Whoever on God's servant aims an arrow,
On the assailant will it turn back and strike. (4)
Whoever to the Lord, holy Pool renders service,
This at the Divine Portal shall get him exaltation.
Whoever by the Master's teaching on the Lord meditates,
By the Lord is embraced, and in this state to others provides union. (5)
The Master's teaching is the holy sound[1] and the true scripture[2]—
By the Master's teaching on tbe Name meditate.
Such a one become the Lord's own image :
The Lord such a one makes worthy of reverence. (6)
The misbeliever[3] in the holy Preceptor has not put faith—
Such God-denier by the Lord are deluded.
Such in company with hound of passion of greed
To the carcase of pelf shall cling. (7)
The Name Divine is Saviour of the whole world— P. 1312
In the holy congregation on the Name meditate.
Saith Nauak : Lord, save me :
Those kept in the holy congregation in the Lord shall be absorbed. (8) (6)

(One set of six-hymns)

In the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Chhant (Lyrics)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sei udhrei jin Rāma dhiyāe

Such are saved as on the Lord have meditated.
Endeavour after Maya is to no purpose :
Those meditating on the Lord all reward obtain—
Blessed are such fortunate ones.

1. Nād.
2. Bed (Veda).
3. Sākta.

In the holy congregation are these awakened, and in the Name absorbed :
To the Sole Lord is their heart's passion attached.
Discarding pride, attachment and evil passions,
To the feet of the holy attach thyself :
Thus shalt thou be saved.
States Nanak in humility : with the Lord I seek shelter,
By great good fortune is obtained His sight. (1)

Mili sādhū nit bhajah Nārāyaṇ

In company of the holy may we ever to the Lord be devoted,
And in great joy the Lord's praise sing :
In singing the Lord's praise find we life, and quaff amrita,
Whereafter may birth and death be annulled.
May we attain holy company and on the Lord meditate,
Whereafter may suffering not afflict us.
Benevolent Lord Creator, show grace,
That the holy we serve.
States Nanak in humility : Dust of feet of the holy we seek,
Whereby spontaneously in Divine sight we be absorbed. (2)

Saglei jaṇt bhajahu Gopālai

All you creatures, on the Lord lovingly meditate.
Thereby shall all your repetition of texts, austerity and self-restraint be rewarded.
Ever on the Lord, controller of the inner self lovingly meditate,
Whereby may your entire life be made fruitful.
Whoever the Lord's praise chants, and ever on Him meditates,
Is of approved life.
Repetition of texts, austerity and self-restraint to attain the immaculate Lord practise—
This Divine wealth alone shall accompany you.
Prays Nanak in humility : In Your grant me jewel of
Divine devotion,
That in my pouch[2] I may carry. (3)

Mangalāchār choj ānandā

Should the Lord, source of eternal joy in His grace great union,
Will come joy, frolic and bliss,
Should the Lord, provider of joy be met,

1. Fruit.
2. (The origin implies cloth folded to carry something).

Shall heart's desires be fulfilled.
Then shall sound concert of joy, and in noise we be absorbed,
Nevermore in suffering to wail.
The Lord to His bosom[1] has clasped us, granted joy,
And shattered are foul evils.
States Nanak in humility; The Lord, Being eternally joyous
To us has granted union. (4) (1)

Var in the measure Kanara—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
To be sung in the tune of Mūsa's Var
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Rāma-nāmu nidhānu Hari gurmati rakhu urdhāri

By the Master's teaching keep in heart
Treasure of the Name Divine.
Annulling evil of egoism, turn the Lord's humble slave.[2]
Thereby shall be won the boon of this life,[3] P. 1313 discomfiture never coming.
Saith Nanak : Greatly fortunate are such as
By the Master's guidance joy in God have obtained. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Treasure of merit is the Lord.
By meditating on the Lord by the Master's teaching
Is attained honour at the Divine Portal.
By repetition of God's Name the face turns radiant and one is exalted.
Saith Nanak : The Master is image of the Lord,
By whose union is attained the Name Divine. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Tūṇ āpei hī sidh sādhiko tūṇ āpei hī jūg jogīyā

Thou Thyself art the Yoga-practitioner,
Thou Thyself seeking union with Thy Essence.
Thou art Thyself the essence of joy, Thyself its enjoyer.
Thyself solely operative, all by Thy Will happens.

---

1. Neck.
2. Slave of slaves.
3. Liberation is implied.
Note : All Pauṛīs (Stanzas) in this Vār are of the composition of Sri Guru Ram Das.

Blessed is holy company and the holy Preceptor,
By joining which comes utterance of God's Word.
All in unison repeat the Lord's Name,
Whereby are all sins cast off. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Hari Hari Hari Hari nāmu hai gurmukhi pāwai koe

The Name Divine a rare one by the Master's guidance attains.
By this are egoism and avarice destroyed,
And foul thinking washed off.
Saith Nanak : Those that from Primal Time are so destined,
Each day to the Lord's praise give utterance. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Himself is the Lord gracious, almighty His Will.
Himself operative, none His equal.
All happens as He pleases; all that He Wills happens.
Limitless is the Lord, none His worth has found.
Saith Nanak : As by the Master's teaching is the Lord lauded,
Are body and mind joy-cooled. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Sabh joti terī jagjīvanā tūṇ ghaṭi ghaṭi Hari rang ranganā

Life of the world ! all that exists is Thy effulgence;
Each being Thou in God's dye dost universe.
Holy immaculate Being, beloved !
All on Thee meditate.
One Sole Provider is there, all others are beggars,
All from the Lord seek charity;
Thou art servitor and Lord; by the Master's teaching is one exalted higher and higher.
All utter Name of the Lord, Controller of impulses,
Wherefrom are obtained all desires[1] (2)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Hari Hari Nāmu dhiyāe mana Hari dargah pāwahi mānu

My self ! on the Name Divine meditate, whereby
at the Divine Portal
Mayst thou obtain honour.
Should thy mind in the Master's Word is fixed,
Shall all thy desires be fulfilled.

1. Fruit.

Annulled shall be all sin and evil,
And egoism and pride be cast off.
By the Master's teaching shall the heart's lotus bloom,
And all existence realized as the self and image of the Supreme Being.
Lord ! show the grace that Nanak the Name Divine may repeat. (1)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)
The Name Divine is holy, by whose repetition is suffering cast off.
This in the mind of such lodges as from Primal
Time are so destined.
Of those following the Master's will are penury and suffering cast off.
This no one by following his own will has attained ; P. 1314
Folks ! in your heart determine this.
Nanak, servant of God, is humble slave of such
As the holy Preceptor's feet offer reverence. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)
Tūṇ thān thanantari bharpūru hehṇ Kartei sabh teri baṉat baṉāwaṉī
Lord-Creator ! all spots dost Thou fill.
All by Thee is made.
Creation made in multiple hues and aspects
All by Thee created in many ways.
All in Thy light operate,
Thou with the Master's teaching dost inspire all.
Those having Thy grace to the holy Preceptor are united,
And by the Master's teaching about the Lord are thus enlightened :
All utter the Lord's Name, the Lord contemplate,
Whereby is cast off suffering and desire.[1] (3)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)
Hari Hari amritu nām-rasu Hari amritu Hari ūrdhāri
Joy of the Lord's ambrosial Name in your heart cherish.
In the holy congregation is pervasive the Lord—this by contemplation of the holy Word realize.
In the mind is contemplated the Name Divine,
Whereby is egoism's poison cast off.
Those not contemplating the Name Divine

1. Hunger.

On a gambler's throw have forfeited their human birth.
By the Master's grace is the Lord contemplated, and the Name Divine in heart cherished.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Such in that holy court radiant faces bear. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Praise of the Lord and repetition of the Name
In Kali Yuga is noble and holy practice.
Inspiration to Divine praise by the Master's teaching comes;
The Name Divine is round the neck a string of pearls.
Supremely fortunate are those on the Lord meditating;
To such has the Lord entrusted His treasure.
Actions without contemplation of the Name bring man ever to ignominy through egoism.
The elephant with water may be washed and rubbed,
Still must he throw dust over himself.
Lord ! in Your grace to the holy Preceptor unite me,
Whereby may the Supreme Being in my mind be lodged,
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Hail such As listening to the Master's teaching in the Lord have put faith. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Rāma-Nāmu vakharu hai ūttam Hari nāiku pūrakhu hamārā

The Name Divine is precious merchandise,
The Lord our leading Master.
The Lord has a play enacted, Himself operating—
The whole world merchants.
Lord-Creator, in all creation operates Thy light; holy is Thy expanse.
Formless Supreme Being ! fulfilled are all those meditating on You,
And by the Master's teaching chanting Your praise.
All with your tongue utter Name of Lord of the Universe,
Life of the Universe, who ferries across the ocean of existence. (4)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Hamrī jihbā ek Prabh Hari kei gūṇa agam athāh

Lord ! one sole tongue have I; unknowable, fathomless the Lord's merits.
How many we children express Your merits, You who are
unknowable, limitless ?

Lord ! grant us the noble wisdom at the holy Preceptor's feet to fall.
Lord ! to the holy congregation join us, wherewith may we sinners be saved.
Lord ! save Nanak, Your servant, and in Your grace grant him union.
Lord ! in Your grace to our supplication listen,
That we sinful worms be saved. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Lord, Life of the Universe, show grace
And with the holy Preceptor gracious grant union.
As is the Lord gracious, service to the Master to our heart has become pleasing. P. 1315 Forgotten is all desire and motives, and cast off from the mind are worldly entanglements.
The Master in his grace the Name in our mind has confirmed,
And by the Lord granted us bliss.
Nanak, servant of God, the endless wealth has attained—
Wealth of the Name Divine. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari tūm waḍ waḍei waḍei waḍ ūṇchei sabh ūpari waḍei waḍaunā

Lord ! higher and greater than all else are You.
Lord ! those meditating on the Lord beyond limits,
Thine own become.
Lord ! of those chanting, listening to Your laudation
Are annulled all sins.
By great good fortune on our forehead recorded,
Guided by the Master's teaching,
Have we known Your devotees to be like to You.
Saith Nanak, God's servant's servant :
Meditate all on the Lord ever holy, holy since Primal Time,
His holiness in all time manifest. (5)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Hamrei Hari jagjīvanā Hari japiyo Hari gūrmant

Lord, Life of the universe, as the Master's Word have we repeated,
The Lord inaccessible, unknowable, spontaneously has granted union.
The Lord in each being is pervasive;

Limitless too is the Lord.
The Lord of all delights partakes, and is consort of Maya.
To all created beings charity the Lord grants.
Lord gracious ! grant me charity of the Name
That God's devotees and the holy seek.
Lord of Nanak, grant union that paean of Thy laudation
we sing. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

The Name of the Lord, true friend, in my mind and body
is pervasive.
By the Master's teaching are all desires fulfilled,
Listening to which has Nanak, servant of God
Attained poise. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari ūttamu hariyā nāmu hai Hari pūrakhu niranjanu maulā

The exalted Lord's Name is bringer of bliss,
In all creation is the Supreme Being, immaculate pervasive.
Of those repeating day and night the Name Divine
Maya kisses the feet.
Ever all beings He cherishes : the Lord is near and yet far.
Such realize Him as by Him are so inspired;
Such as have approval of the holy Preceptor, noble being.
Chant all praise of the Lord,
Whereby in His merits may you be absorbed. (6)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Sūttiyān Hari Prabhu cheti mani Hari sahaji samādhi samāe

My self ! even in sleep the Lord contemplate,
And spontaneously in the Lord be absorbed.
Mother mine ! Nanak servant of God, for the Lord yearns,
With whom the Lord in His grace grants union. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

With the Lord solely am I in love;
The Lord solely in my mind abides,
Saith Nanak, servant of God : The Lord solely is my prop;
From Him solely comes liberation and exaltation. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Panchei shabda wajei mati gūrmati waḍbhāgīṇ anhadu wajjiyā

By the Master's guidance in my understanding has rung

The concert of five instruments,[1]
And by great good fortune has sounded the mystical music.
The Lord, source of all bliss have I beheld;
By the Master's teaching is the Lord manifested.
Since Primal Time is the Lord of immutable aspect,
Whom by the Master's teaching have we contemplated in love.
Lord gracious, grant this in charity, that Your servant's honour You save. P. 1316
All in unison on the holy Preceptor call hail,
In union with whom are our blemishes shielded. (7)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Bhagati sarovaru ücchhalai sübbhar bharei wahaṇni

As has risen in flood the lake of devotion,
Thereby are God's devotees flowing full to the brim.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By great fortune are met those putting faith in the holy Preceptor. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Beyond count is the Lord's Name :
Beyond expression the Lord's merits.
Inaccessible, fathomless the Lord and the Lord's devotee—
By what device my union with these be found ?
God's devotees to the Lord's merits give utterance—
Yet not an iota[2] of His worth can they realize.
Prayeth Nanak, servant of God : Lord who art inaccessible,
By attaching us to Thy lappet grant us union. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hari agamu agocharu agamu Hari kiuṇkari Hari darshanu pikhā

How may I obtain sight of the Lord, inaccessible, unknowable ?
Were He a material object could He be described—Without form and feature is He.
Such alone can have sight of Him, as by Him realization are granted.
The holy congregation is the holy Preceptor's school,
Wherethrough may be learnt the Lord's merits.
Blessed the tongue, blessed the hand and the teacher
In union with whom is writ the Divine account. (8)

---

1. These are the various kinds of musical instruments—those that are stringed, blown into, struck etc. etc.
2. As much as a sesame grain.

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Hari Hari Nāmu amritu hai Hari japīyai satiguru bhāe

The Name Divine is amrita, repeated through devotion to the holy Preceptor.
The Name Divine is holy—
By repeating the Name Divine, by listening to it is suffering annulled.
Such to the Name Divine are devoted as have this on forehead inscribed
Since Primal Time.
Such at the Divine Portal in honour are invested,
In whose mind is the Lord lodged.
Saith Nanak : Radiant are faces of such,
As praise of the Lord with heart's love has listened. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

The Name Divine is a treasure, that by the Master's guidance is obtained.
Those on whose forehead this since Primal Time is inscribed,
Union with the holy Preceptor have attained.
Body and mind of such are joy-cooled,
And peace in their mind is settled.
Saith Nanak : By repetition of the Lord's Name
Is cast off all penury and suffering. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Hauṇ vāriyā tin kau sadā jinhāṇ Satiguru merā piyārā dekhiyā

To such am I a sacrifice eternally
As the cherished holy Preceptor have beheld.
To such the holy Preceptor has granted union
As this since Primal Time on forehead have got inscribed.
By the Master's teaching is the Lord inaccessible meditated on
Who is without form or feature.
Those by following the Master's teaching meditating on the Lord inaccessible,
With the Lord become identified.
Repeat all with your tongue the Name of the puissant Lord[1] :
Great is the gain from devotion to the Lord. (9)

1. Nar-Harī (Man-lion).

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Rāma-Nāmu ramu ravi rahei ramu Rāmo Rāmu ramīti

The Name Divine we repeat, and in the Lord
All-pervasive are absorbed.
In each being is pervasive the Divine self;
Immersed in joy has the Lord enacted this play.
The Lord, Life of the Universe close to us abides; P. 1317
The Master, true friend has this revealed.
The Lord to such grants union,
As in Primal Time have love for Him got recorded.
Nanak, servant of God on the Name has meditated;
And by the Master's teaching in mind has contemplated Him. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Seek the Lord, true Friend, that by great good fortune alone
Comes in the mind to abide.
Saith Nanak : To such as have devotion,
Has the Master, perfectly-endowed revealed Him. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Dhannu dhannu sūhāvī saphal gharī jitu Hari sevā mani bhāṇī

Blessed is the happy, fruitful hour
Wherein service to the Lord to the mind has become pleasing.
Disciples of the Master, narrate to me the discourse of the Lord,
His endless tale.
How to attain, to behold the Lord sapient, wise ?
As the self by the Master's teaching in the Name gets absorbed,
The Lord grants union and His Essence reveals.
Nanak to such is a sacrifice
As repeat the Name of the Lord beyond Maya's taint. (10)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Hari Prabh rattei loiṇāṇ giān-anjanu Guru dei

With the Lord's vision are my eyes dyed,
As to these collyrium of enlightenment the Master has applied.
The Lord, true friend have I attained—
Spontaneously to Nanak, His servant has He granted union. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

In the hearts of God's devotees abides peace,
Their mind and body in the Name absorbed.
Such the Name contemplate, the Name study,
In the Name remain absorbed.

As is attained boon of the Name,
Is anxiety cast off.
By union with the holy Preceptor arises devotion to the Name,
And banished all hunger and thirst.[1]
Saith Nanak : By immersion in the Name,
Is the Divine Reality attained. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Tūdhu āpei jagatu ūpāi kai tūdhu āpei wasgati kītā

The world hast Thou created and under Thy sway placed.
Some are made egoists and are losers;
Others in union with the Master are victors.
Exalted is the Name Divine, that by good fortune
By the Master's teaching is attained.
Gone is all suffering and penury,
As the Name Divine by the Master is imparted.
Serve you all the Divine heart-charmer, the world-charmer
Who creating the world, under His sway has placed it. (11)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Mana antari haumai rogu hai bhrami bhūlei manmūkh durjanāṇ

Egoists evil of nature in heart bearing malady of egoism,
In doubt are deluded.
Saith Nanak : This malady by association with the holy Preceptor, sincere friend, is cured. (1)
Sloka (Guru Ram Das)
My mind and body then shall be decked
As the Lord with my eyes I behold.
Saith Nanak : Union with the Lord have I attained,
On hearing whose Word I find life. (2)
Pauri (Stanza)

Jagannāth jagadīshar kartei aprampār purakhu atolu

Disciples of the Master ! on the Name Divine meditate,
Name of the Lord, exalted, priceless :
Meditate on the Name of the Lord of Universe,
Lord of the world, Creator, beyond limit, the Supreme Being immeasurable.[2]
Those meditating on Him day and night with Him have found union—

---

1. Implies desire and want.
2. (Lines transposed in rendering).

Of this is there no doubt.
By great good fortune is found association with the
holy Preceptor,
Of the irrefrangible[1] Word.
All on the puissant Lord[2] meditate,
By whose grace is ended Yama's contention. (2)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Harijana Hari Hari chaundiyāṇ saru sandhiyā gāwār

As was devotee God's Name repeating,
A brute at him aimed an arrow.[3]
Saith Nanak : God's devotees by devotion to God are saved—
The arrow[3] has hit him who aimed it. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das) P. 1318

My eyes with love are intoxicated,
And the Lord's truth[4] behold.
Saith Nanak : Pluck these out, should they behold other than
the Lord. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Jali thali mahīyali pūrano apramparu soī

The Lord is pervasive over land and water, beyond farthest limit.
All creation He cherishes; supreme is His Will.
Other than He have no mother, father, brother, progeny and friend.
In each being pervasive, He saves any contemplating Him.
Repeat you all, merits of the Lord, manifest over the whole world. (13)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Gurmukhi milei si sajjaṉā Hari-Prabh pāiyā rangu

Those that the holy God-facing ones have contacted,
Love of the Lord have attained.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Laud the Name
And in frolic to the Divine Portal go. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Lord ! Thou art Provider of all, Thine all creation, Beloved ! all to Thee make supplication; grant them charity.

1. Perfect.
2. Nara-Nārāyaṉa.
3. Symbolizes malice and evil intentions.
4. Nām.

As the Lord, supreme Provider extended His band,
Rain[1] fall over the earth.
As was sown crop of devotion, grew crop of contemplation
of the Name.
Nanak, servant of God, seeks in charity prop of
the Name Divine. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Icchāṇ mana kī pūrīyai japīyai sukh sāgaru

By contemplation of the Lord, ocean of bliss
Are all heart's desires fulfilled.
By means of the Master's Word, mine of jewels
At the Lord's feet make supplication.
By association with the holy comes liberation,
And torn is Yama's scroll.
By repeating Name of the Lord above Maya-taint
Win life's blessing.
Seek you all shelter with the holy Preceptor,
Whereby may be erased scars of suffering. (14)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Hauṇ ḍhūnḍhendī sajjaṇā sajjaṇu maiṇḍai nāli

The Divine Friend I seek, yet is He by my side.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : The inaccessible is beyond attainment;
The Master, exalted being can grant sight of Him. (1)

Sloka (Guru Ram Das)

Nanak to the holy Eternal is devoted in love—
Without Him may life not be lived.
By contact with the holy Preceptor is attained the Lord,
perfection incarnate,
And the tongue by repetition of the Lord's Name joy-suffused. (2)

Pauri (Stanza)

Koī gāwai ko suṇai ko ūchari sūnāwai

Whoever chants the Lord's Name, listens to it or to others relates it
Shed off is his impurity of multiple births,
And fulfilled his heart's desires;
Annulled his transmigration, and the Lord's laudation he sings;

1. Symbolizes grace.

Saved himself, saved are his associates and his whole family.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : A sacrifice am I to any
That the Lord's approval has won. (15) (1)

(Found correct)[1]

In the measure Kanara—Composition of the Venerable Namdev

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Aiso Rāmrāi antarjāmī

The Divine Monarch, searcher of hearts is manifest
As the face in the mirror. (I-Pause)
In each being abiding, yet free from touch or taint of Maya;
Free from bonds, not ever seen to die. (1)
As the face visible in water
Is Nama's[2] lord Bithal[3] visible. (2) (1)

1. Note in original, Shuddha.
2. Short for Namdev.
3. One of the names of Vishnū current with Namdev, here symbolizing God.

RAGA KALYAN

In the measure Kalyan—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das P. 1319
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Creator—
Immanent Reality; Above Fear, Above Rancour;
Form Eternal; Unincarnated ; Self-created;
Realized by the holy Preceptor's grace.

Rāmā ram Rāmai antu na pāiyā

None to extent of the Lord all-pervasive has realized.
Children are we, cherished by You;
You the Supreme Being, my Father and Mother. (I-Pause)
Countless are the Lord's Names;
Inaccessible, inaccessible the Divine Monarch.
Much reflection have those endowed with enlightenment done;
Yet an iota[1] of His worth have they not found. (1)
Beings always sing laudation of the Lord's merits,
Yet of these have they not found the extent.
Thou art inencompassable, immeasurable, Lord beyond limit;
Despite repeating Your Name to fullness
Is Thy depth not found. (2)
Lord ! human beings laud Thee;
Divine Monarch, Thy praise they sing,
You the Ocean, we the fish inside You;
Noway is Your extent found. (3)
Lord ! to Your servant show grace;
Grant him the boon Your Name to repeat.
To me, thoughtless one, blind[2] of eyes the Name is the prop,
That Nanak, servant of God from the Master has acquired. (4) (1)

Hari-janu gūna gāwat hassiyā

The Lord's devotee, with singing the Lord's laudation is in bloom of joy.

1. As much as a sesame grain.
2. Said metaphorically, signifying ignorance.

By the Master's teaching have we practised devotion to the Lord—
This blessing in Primal Time on our forehead is recorded. (I-Pause)
Day and Night the Master's feet I contemplate,
Whereby in my mind is lodged the Lord.
Over the whole world is the Lord's praise pervasive,
As fragrance of sandalwood when rubbed. (1)
As in the Lord is my mind fixed, all misbelievers[1]
have set after me.
The traducer in consequence of his deeds
Has his foot stinged by touch of the she-serpent Maya. (2)
Lord ! Your servant's protector are You—
In each age Your servant have You succoured.
What matters that the demon[2] against him has exercised malice—
All thereby are ruined. (3)
All God's creatures in death's jaws are caught.
The Lord His servants has succoured—
So has Nanak, servant of God, sought His shelter. (4) (2)

Merei mana japu japi jagannāthei P. 1320

Myself ! the Lord of the Universe contemplate.
As by the Master's teaching on the Name Divine have I meditated,
Are all sins and suffering shed. (I-Pause)
My tongue even one of Your merits has not the power to sing :
Pray grant me a multiple of tongues.
All creation over and over each instant, each moment
Your laudation sings,
Yet has not the power to express it. (1)
Lord ! deeply in love with You am I,
And for Your sight yearn.
You the Supreme Provider of all creation,
To You my state of mind known. (2)
Should any show me way to the Lord,
What may I offer him ?
Body and mind, myself would I offer to one,
Who to the Lord nnites me. (3)
Great are the Lord's merits and repute—
A bit out of that alone can we express.
In Your power lies my understanding,
Lord almighty of Nanak, Your servant. (4) (3)

1. Sākta.
2. May imply Prahlād's father Harnākash or malicious persons in general.

Merei mana japi Hari-güna akath sünathaī

My self ! contemplate the Lord's attributes, stated to be inexpressible.
Righteousness, prosperity, fulfilment of desires and liberation[1]
Follow after God's servant. (I-Pause)
Such alone on the Name Divine meditate,
As have good fortune on their forehead inscribed.
When at the Portal the Lord calls their reckoning,
By meditation on the Name liberation they find. (1)
Over multiple births have we gathered sins,
Suffering and impurity of egoism sticking to us.
The Master in his grace in the Divine water has bathed us,
Whereby are sins and evils gone. (2)
In the heart of His servant abides the Lord,
As the servant to the Name Divine is devoted.
As comes the final moment, then saves him the Name, abiding with him. (3)
Lord ! Your servant Your laudation chants,
As Name of Lord of the Universe he repeats.
Lord, saviour of Nanak, Your servant,
Save us, sinking stone. (4) (4)

Hamrī chitvanī Hari-Prabhu jānai

The Lord our mind's thoughts knows.
Whoever the Lord's servant traduces, the Lord complies not a whit with his wish. (I-Pause)
Discarding all else, serve the Eternal, the Lord Highest over all.
By Service to the Lord death seeks not him,
Falling at the feet of God's servant. (1)
Whomsoever the Lord saves, in his ear pours the right wisdom.
None can equal one whose devotion the Lord approves. (2)
Behold the Lard's wondrous marvel, who in an instant
Distinguishes between the genuine and the fake.
Thereby has God's servant acquired bliss,
The pure in heart union have found, the false into regrets fall. (3)
You Lord, are the Provider almighty; P. 1321
From You I beg a boon :
Show to Nanak the grace,
That ever in my heart abide the Divine feet. (4) (5)

1. (These are the 'four boons' sought after).

Prabh kījai kripā nidhān ham Hari-guna gāwehnge
Lord, treasure of grace, grant that Divine laudation we sing.
Lord, ever in You rests my hope,
When shall You embrace me. (I-Pause)
Thoughtless, ignorant children are we—
The Father shall instruct us.
Even though the child each moment make errors and cause damage,
Still will the Universal Father cherish it. (1)
Lord ! we receive whatever You grant.
No other place of shelter have I.[1] (2)
The devotees favoured of God alone love the Lord :
Of such is the light merged with the Divine Effulgence :
With the Effulgence shall they merge. (3)
As the Lord be gracious, shall He inspire love in us.
Nanak at the Lord's Portal seeks shelter;
The Lord his honour shall save. (4) (6)

(Set of Six hymns : 1)

In the measure Kalyanu Bhopali—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Pār-Brahmu Parameshuru swāmi dūkh-niwāraṉu Nārāyṉe
Transcendent Supreme Being, Supreme Lord, Master,
Annuller of suffering, Cherisher,
Ocean of joy, Jewel Fulfiller of desires :
All Your devotees seek the ocean of existence to cross. (I-Pause)
Lord compassionate to the humble, Lord of the Universe,
Searcher of hearts.
Such of fear are divested as on the Lord by the Master's teaching
have meditated,
Puissant Lord,[2] Liberator. (1)
Those that at the feet of the Lord of the Universe have sought shelter,
The ocean of existence have crossed,
Saith Nanak, servant of God : The Lord His servant's
honour saves,
Himself this grace showing. (2) (1.7)

---

1. No place where I may go.
2. Murāri=destroyer of the demon Mura.

In the measure Kalyan—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 1

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hamārai eh kirpā kījai

Pray show me this grace ;
May the humming-bee of my heart to the nectar of
    Your lotus feet
Evermore be devoted. (I-Pause)
With other water is he not concerned :
To the chatrik grant the Divine drop of water. (1)
Without union comes not fulfilment
By sight of the Lord does Nanak find life. (2) (1)

Jāchiku Nāmu jāchai jāchai

This mendicant seek ever and again Thy Name.
Lord, who art prop of all creation, Master of all,
Provider of all joys. (I-Pause)
The innumerable creation seeks boons—
We receive alone what pleases the Lord to grant. (1)
His sight fulfiller of desires— P. 1322
As close to Him we come,[1] His laudation we sing.
Saith Nanak : Let the essence with the Divine Essence be joined,
And the jewel of self by the Divine jewel be penetrated. (2) (2)

Mere lālan kī sobhā

Such is the repute of the Beloved;
Ever fresh, in it is my heart dyed. (I-Pause)
This Brahma, Shiva, Siddhas,[2] sages, Indra and devotees have sought for. (1)
Yogis, enlightened ones, those meditating shesh-naga,[3]
All the Lord contemplate, manifesting Himself in Innumerable waves.
Saith Nanak : To the holy am I a sacrifice,
Who ever close to the Lord abide. (2) (3)

---

1. By His touch.
2. Siddha=accomplished Yogi.
3. The legendary serpent with a thousand hoods.

In the measure Kalyan—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

SCORE 2

In the Name of Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Terai māni Hari Hari māni

Lord ! by reposing faith in Thee comes honour.
By beholding Thee with the eyes, listening to Thy words with the ears,
Each limbs and life joyful grows. (I-Pause)
Everywhere, in all ten directions is He pervasive,
Equally in the mountain and a blade of grass. (1)
Everywhere may be beheld essence of the Lord, Supreme Being, Supreme Master.
In company of the holy are effaced doubt and fear :
Thus Nanak states the Divine wisdom. (2) (1.4)

Gūna nād ahūni anand Beid

Sages in company of the holy utter and hear
The sound and tune of God's attributes
And bliss of Divine knowledge.[1] (I-Pause)
These enlightenment obtain, do meditation,
Receive honour and boons;
With heart and tongue joyful the Name they repeat,
Whereby are annulled sins. (1)
Their's is true Yoga-praxis, enlightenment their sustenance;
By fixing the mind in the holy Word the Essence they realize,
Without pause repeating the Name and performing austerities.
Saith Nanak : Completely[2] in the Divine light absorbed,
Bear they no suffering or chastizement. (2) (2.5)

Kaunu bidhi tā kī kahā karouṇ

By what device may I with the Lord seek union ?
Some enter meditation, acquire knowledge, study scriptures—
How the unbearable state may I bear ? (I-Pause)
At whose door—be it Vishnu, Shiva, Siddhas, sages or Indra[3]—
Should I seek shelter ? (1)
Some get royal authority, others heaven;
A rare one among millions liberation acquires.

1. Beid=Veda.
2. All their warp and woof.
3. Refers to Indra, king of the celestial world.

Saith Nanak : This by acquiring joy in the Name,
And touching feet of the holy comes. (2) (3.6)

Prānpati dayāl-pūrakh Prabh sakhei

He is Lord of Life, gracious Being, Diviue friend,
Shatterer of suffering of transmigration,[1]
Saviour from snares of Kali-Yuga. (I-Pause)
Cherishing the Name, to Thy shelter have I come.
The gracious Lord is my prop. (1)
The helpless, the humble repose hope in the Lord,
Beariug in mind the Lord's Name and Word. (2)
Other than Thee, Lord ! noue else do I value;[2]
Thee alone in the whole world cherish.[3] (3)
Night and day the Lord in my heart abides :
The Lord is Nanak's prop. (4) (4.7)

Mani tani jāpīyai Bhagavān

May we by fervour of mind and body the Lord's Name repeat :
As the Master, perfectly-endowed is gracious,[4]
Ever abide we in bliss and weal. (I-Pause)
By chanting Divine laudation are all our objective achieved. P. 1323
As in company of the holy the Lord have we contemplated,
Fled is the torment of death.[5] (1)
Lord ! grant in grace that day and night Thee I serve.
Divine Lord, perfection incarnate,
Nanak, Your servant with You seeks shelter. (2) (5.1)

Prabhu merā antarjāmī jāṉu

The Lord is searcher of hearts, all-knowing.
Lord perfection incarnate, show grace,
Thou that are the manifest as the eternal, holy Word.[6] (I-Pause)
Other than the Lord none has any power—
In Thee lies our hope, from Thee our mind derives strength.
Lord Provider to all beings, to all You provide clothing and sustenance. (1)
Saith Nanak : Understanding, wisdom, intelligence, repute, beauty, wealth and honour,

1. Birth through the womb.
2. Know.
3. Recognize.
4. Pleased.
5. Transmigration is implied.
6. Also rendered : That the eternal, holy word to us be manifested.

All joy, bliss and weal,
Are by repetition of the Name Divine obtained.[1] (2) (6.9)

Hari charan sharan kalyān karan

Shelter of the Divine feet is bringer of weal,
The Name Divine purifier of the fallen. (I-Pause)
Whoever in company of the holy with mind free from doubt
The Name Divine repeats,
Yama, agent of death, destroys him not. (1)
Devices of liberation and innumerable joys
Equal not devotion to the Lord.
Nanak, servant of God, of the Divine sight is enamoured.
Whereby nevermore in transmigration does one wander. (2) (7.10)

In the measure Kalyan—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
Ashtpadiyān (Octets)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Rāmā ram Rāmo sūni manu bhījai

By listening to the Name of the Lord, all-pervasive is the heart joy-drenched.
By the Master's teaching spontaneously quaff the Name Divine,
Sweet amrita-elixir. (I-Pause)
Fire that lies in wood, by device is produced :
Even so is the Name Divine that is the light pervading all,
Whose essence by the Master's teaching is manifested.[2] (1)
The nine doors of the body all are joyless,[3] from the tenth[4] oozes amrita-joy.
Divine Beloved ! show grace that by the Master's Word joy in God we quaff. (2)
The city of the body is elegant; in it trade in joy in God :
By service to the Master acquire the invaluable jewels and rubies.[5] (3)
Limitless is the holy Preceptor, limitless the Lord—
That offer an oceanful of devotion.
To this humble chatrik show grace, and put in his mouth drop of the Name. (4)

---

1. (Lines transposed in rendering).
2. Extracted.
3. Tasteless.
4. The seat of super-conscinusness.
5. Used metaphorically for devotion.

Blazing red is the Beloved, red His dye—
To dye[1] the heart red to the Master dedicate it.
In joy of the Lord are we absorbed;
In joyful draughts ever quaff it. (5)
Seven are the earth's continents, seven the seas :
Should gold from all these be extracted;
God's servants seek not it—
They seek solely joy in God. (6)
Misbelievers[6] ever are hungry, ever hunger wailing;
Ever in love for lucre rushing along— P. 1324
Keep such at a million miles' distance. (7)
Noble are God's devotees—to what to compare them ?
Nothing with devotion to the Name Divine compares—
To Nanak, Thy servant show this grace. (8) (1)

Rāma Guru pārasu parasu karījai

Lord ! with the Master, philosopher's stone grant me a touch.
We that are devoid of merit, rusted iron, meritless,[3]
By touch of the Master make us philosopher's stone. (I-Pause)
All seek after liberation and heaven, ever questing after these.
God's servants seeking after His sight seek not liberation;
By union with the Lord are they fulfilled and their mind satisfied. (1)
Greatly powerful is Maya-attachment, that brings on a black blot.
God's servants by it are unsoiled, like the duck whose wings
unwetted remain. (2)
By serpents is fragrant sandalwood surrounded;
How with it to find union the sandalwood to obtain ?
Take out sword of the Master's mighty teaching,
And cutting off poison, quaff this joy. (3)
Bringing loads of firewood, in a moment are these by fire reduced to ashes;
Even thus greatly terrible sins committed by man,
In holy company with a spark may be burnt away. (4)
Noble are God's holy devotees, repository of the Name.
Contact with the holy is as through Divine sight is obtained. (5)

---

1. (The colour of love and devotion).
2. Sākta.
3. Lit. Tasteless.

The misbeliever's[1] yarn is greatly tangled; how to card it ?
No thread will come of it—associate with misbelievers.[1] (6)
Noble is company of the holy Preceptor;
In holy company contemplate the Lord.
Within the self lie diamonds, jewels and pearls[2]
By the Master's grace attain these. (7)
Great is the Lord—how with Him to find union ?
Saith Nanak : The Master, perfectly-endowed this union grants—
Pray to your servant such perfection grant. (8) (2)

Rāmā ram Rāmo Rāmu ravījai

The Lord all-pervasive contemplate.
Noble are the holy devotees; in unison with the holy
Have joy in the Lord. (I-Pause)
All creation, the whole world has mind unsteady.
Lord ! in Your grace with the holy great union,
Who to the world may bring the prop and poise. (1)
The earth lies under all, yet does it rise above all,
As touch of feet of the holy it acquires :
Thus turn you noblest of the noble, and the whole world under your feet may lie. (2)
The God-facing bear the exalted Divine light;
Maya their handmaid[3] becomes.
By the Master's teaching teeth of wax[4] they acquire,
Whereby crushing iron of worldliness, elixir they quaff. (3)
The Name Divine great grace has shown, as union with the holy Master, noble being is brought about.
Thereby laudation of the Name Divine have we proclaimed,[5]
And in all the worlds gained repute. (4)
The holy are beloved of my heart; without sight of them P. 1325 find I not rest.
Like the fish that with water is solely in love,
And without it instantly dies. (5)
The supremely unfortunate receive not dust of feet of the holy.
Unquenchable their burning thirst,
Dharmaraja's chastizement they bear. (6)

1. Sākta.
2. Used metaphorically for devotion.
3. (Draws water for them, i.e. serves them).
4. Implies indifference to worldliness.
5. Spread.

One may bathe at all holy spots,
Keep fasts, perform sacrifices, dispense charities
And in snow tear the body to tatters;[1]
Yet immeasurable is devotion to the Name Divine,
Nothing weighs equal to the Master's teaching. (7)
Lord ! to Thee alone are Thy merits known;
Nanak, Thy servant Thy shelter seeks.
Thou the ocean, we the fish within Thee—
In Thy grace close to Thyself keep us. (8) (3)

Rāmā ram Rāmo pūj karījai

Worship the Lord all-pervasive.
To all dedicate your mind and body,
And joy of the Master's teaching and enlightenment repeatedly quaff : (I-Pause)
The Name Divine is the tree, God's attributes its branches :
Ever pluck its fruits and offer worship.
The Divine self is the self of all; with love render it worship. (1)
The discriminating understanding is purest the world over;
By contemplation quaff joy in God.
By the Master's grace is attained this boon;
To the holy Preceptor your heart dedicate. (2)
The Master's teaching is an exalted jewel invaluable;
With this jewel penetrate the heart's jewel.
The mind is the pearl-borrer;
By the Master's Word is the jewel's genuineness judged. (3)
By company of the holy are we exalted, as the peepul tree the inferior plants absorbs.
Noblest of all beings is the person,
Who fragrance of the Name Divine acquires. (4)
By performance of numerous pure deeds
Sprout evermore green branches.
Thus has the Master taught : Dharma is the flower,
Enlightenment the fruit;
Of this impart fragrance to the world. (5)
One sole Light is there, the Sole Lord in our heart abides Solely the Supreme Being I view.
The Divine self in all beings is pervasive;
Under feet of all lay your head. (6)

1. Melt the body in snow.

Those devoid of the Name are shameless,
Utter ignominy they suffer.[1]
The misbelievers[2] are proud; without the Name shameful is life. (7)
While breath in the body lasts,
Hurry with the Lord to seek shelter.
Prayeth Nanak : Show grace that feet of the holy I wash. (8) (4)

Rāmā maiṇ sādhū charan dhūvījai

Lord ! in Your grace grant that feet of the holy I wash,
That in an instant burn away sins. (I-Pause)
Mendicants at Your door are standing; waiting in yearning—
To these grant charity.
Invoking the Lord's shelter have they come;
By the Master's teaching in me confirm the Name. (1)
In the city of the body are lust and wrath assertion;[3]
Ever rise against these to wage battle. P. 1326
Cherish me as Your own, save me : may the Master perfectly endowed extricate me. (2)
Within is raging the mighty fire of evil,
Grant cooling snow of the Master's Word,
Whereby may mind and body be greatly cooled;
Be maladies cut off and in joy we sleep. (3)
As are sunrays in all spots pervasive, in all beings is the Lord pervasive.
By contact with the holy is attained joy
That settled in our own home[4] we quaff. (4)
God's devotees with the Master are in love as the chakwi
the sun to behold;
Her whole night in gazing passed;
As appears the sun's face amrita she quaffs. (5)
The misbeliever[5] is a greedy cur, full of filth of foul understanding :
Much he talks of his own selfish purposes—
How may such a one be trusted ? (6)

---

1. In idiom, their noses are slowly chopped off.
2. Sāktas.
3. Powerful.
4. That is, in the self without straying.
5. Sākta.

By joining company of the holy and seeking their shelter
Is extracted elixir of joy in God.
Those endowed with numerous merits speak only good on others to confer—
Pray grant me company of such holy devotees. (7)
Inaccessible, gracious, conferrer of honour art Thou—
In Your grace save me.
Of all creatures one Sole Universal life are You—
Prayeth Nanak : Cherish me ! (8) (5)

Rāmā ham dāsan dās karījai

Lord ! make me servant of Your servants
While within the self lasts breath, may dust of feet of the holy I cherish.[1] (I-Pause) Shiva, Narada,[2] Shesh-naga[3] and sages, all the dust of feet of the holy seek.
All abodes where the holy tread holy are rendered. (1)
Discarding worldly honour and pride, in company of the holy abide.
Thereby shall abject fear[4] of Dharmaraja be lifted,
And thyself sinking in evil be extricated. (2)
Like standing tree shrivelled, those in doubt that are the dried up,
In company of the holy grow green :
Hence delay not an instant,
And touch feet of the holy. (3)
Wealth of jewel of laudation of the Name Divine
The Lord with the holy has deposited.
This lay before such as in the Master's Word repose faith. (4)
You of the holy listen ! the Master raising his arm calls aloud,
Should you seek joy everlasting for the self,
With the holy Preceptor seek shelter. (5)
Should man have great, exalted good fortune,
By the Master's teaching should be repeat the Name.
Thus shall he cross the terrible ocean of Maya-attachment
in the world
And spontaneously joy in God shall quaff. (6)

1. Lit. Absorb.
2. A rishi.
3. The thousand-hooded primal serpent.
4. Kāni implies abject fear of someone powerful.

Those excessively in love with Maya
In Maya shall rot.
Such in thick darkness of ignorance fallen, on a hard path,
Laden with burden of egoism shall stand. (7)
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Lord all-pervasive
comes liberation.
By contact with the holy Preceptor is the Name confirmed in mind,
And in the Name Divine is one merged. (8) (6)

(Set of Six hymns-1)

RAGA PARBHATI

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being; Reality Eternal; P. 1327
Creator; Immanent Reality; Without Fear; Without Rancour, Form Eternal,
Unincarnated; Self-created; Realized by the holy Preceptor's grace.

In the measure Prabhati Bibhas—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
Quartets (Chaupade)

SCORE 1

Nāeṇ terai tarṇā nāeṇ pati pūj

By devotion to Thy Name comes liberation; by Thy Name is attained honour and reverence.[1]
Thy Name our embellishment and the desired end of our thoughts.
By devotion to Thy Name is one's name universally acclaimed.
Never comes honour without devotion to the Name. (1)
All other kind of understanding is mere show :
On whomsoever the Name Thou dost confer, fulfilment attains. (I-Pause)
Thy Name is our strength and the great tribunal.
Thy Name is our fighting host and King.
By Thy Name comes honour, greatness and acceptance.
By Thy glance of grace is one with exaltation marked. (2)
By Thy Name comes enlightenment and universal acclaim.
Amrita Thy Name, whereby is removed maya's poison.
By Thy Name come all joys in the mind to abide.
The world devoid of the Name, in bonds to Yama's demesne is taken. (3)
Woman, horse, home, land—all are fetters.
However much one may assume various forms of joys of heart,
When comes the call, no delay is allowed.
Saith Nanak : Man devoid of truth in the end is adjudged false. (4) (1)

---

1. Worship.

Terā Nāmu ratanu karamu chānaṉu sūrati tithai loi

Wherever is the jewel of Thy Name, comes grace;
Whatever understanding by it is illuminated; there is light.
Wherever is darkness and blindness of ignorance,
All is lost. (1)
The process of birth[1] and death is all a malady :
Thy Name is the medicine, none else;
Thou who art the Creator limitless. (1-Pause)
Even though millions of nether worlds be put in a weighing pan,
Then alone can these be weighed against Thy jewel Name, P. 1328
When an equal substance,
Thy laudation is loaded. (2)
From suffering arises joy, from pleasures suffering.
The tongue that lauds Thee, nevermore feels hunger. (3)
Nanak, thou alone art ignorant; the world all is good.
The self wherein arises not the Name, meets ignominy. (4) (2)

Jai kāraṉi Beid Brahmai ūcharei Shankari chhoḍī Māyā

He for whose sake Brahma enunciated the Vedas and Shiva renounced Maya;
He for whom Sidhas turned away from the world—
Even the gods His mystery have not unravelled. (1)
Friend ! with a pure heart is the tongue reckoned pure—
Such a pure one alone liberation finds.
Foes and suffering approach not such—
Rare are those attaining such divine wisdom (I-Pause)
The world from fire, water, and air is made—
All three to the Divine Reality are subservient.
Those uttering not the Name are thieves, and in the fiftieth sphere of copper abide.[2] (2)
Anyone doing one good act makes great boast—
God that so much merit and good confers,
Regrets not the gift. (3)
Those lauding Thee are wealthy, Nanak too this wealth seeks.
Whoever honours[3] such, by Yama is not summoned.[4] (4) (3)

Jā kai rūpu nāhīṉ jāti nāhīṉ nāhiṉ mūkhu māsā

He who is without form, category, face or flesh,

1. Sansār=samsāra (Skt).
2. (This is the traditional belief).
3. Lit. accosts honourably.
4. That is, is not harassed by Yama for retribution of deeds.

That immaculate Lord by contact with the holy Preceptor is attained :
In Thy Name is my abode. (1)
Thou recluse ! with poise contemplate the Essence, Whereby nevermore to birth and death[1] mayst
thou return. (I-Pause)
From the Divine Light of Felicity that is beyond action and codes,
He who wears not rosary of piety,
Have I attained realization : He the holy Preceptor and my guardian. (2)
He who observes not fasts or vows, nor is subject to vain utterance,
And by thoughts of good and evil is not tormented—
The holy Preceptor has His mystery expounded (3)
He who is beyond hope and despair, my mind and understanding has illumined;
The Supreme Essence to the self[2] is united :
Thus saith Nanak, is attained illumination. (4) (4)

Tā kā kahiyā dari parwāṉu

The word of the holy at Thy Portal is approved;
These poison and amrita have reckoned alike. (1)
What can man say ? in all spots art Thou pervasive.
All that happens is by Thy will. (I-Pause)
Illumination appeared,
As the holy Preceptor the ambrosial Name conferred,
and was egoism lifted. (2)
Whoever at the holy Portal is approved,
Should be reckoned truly in Kali-Yuga to live purely. (3)
True utterance and listening is of the inexpressible abode.
Saith Nanak : Of such the worldly utterance is burnt away. (4) (5)

Amritu nīru giāni mana majjanu aṭhsaṭhi tīrath sangi gahei

Whoever his mind in amrita water acquired by enlightenment baths,
Has merit of sixty-eight holy bathing spots attained.
The Master's teaching is jewels and pearls;
The disciple serving him seeks these out. (1)

---

1. Sansār=samsāra (Skt),
2. Essence.

No other bathing-spot equals the Master.
The Master is lake of content. (I-Pause)
The Master is a river, full perennially of holy water. P. 1329
His contact impurity of foul understanding removes.
As is attained the holy Preceptor is the holy bath accomplished,
That from beast and goblin turns man into a god. (2)
The Master it is whose inmost heart in the holy Name is dyed, embodiment of sandalwood.
His fragrance all other vegetation decks;
In love of his feet must we abide. (3)
By the Master's teaching is life and breath given new life;
By the Master's teaching man the house of felicity enters.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's teaching in holy truth is man absorbed;
By the Master's teaching is our true state[1] realized. (4) (6)

Gūr-parsādī vidyā vīchārai paṛhi paṛhi pāwai mānu

Whoever by the Master's grace contemplates holy learning,
Honour by its study attains :
As in the self is illuminated the Divine Self,
Is the Name ambrosial attained. (1)
Lord Creator ! Thou art Master of sacrifice[2] :
From Thee one boon I seek—devotion to Thy Name grant me. (I-Pause)
Restrained are the five rushing thieves,[3]
And is ended pride of mind;
Gone are the glance of evil thinking and foul understanding—such is the Divine illumination attained. (2)
Grant me rice of continence and truth, wheat of compassion,
And the leaf-plate of meditation.[4]
Be good actions the milk, content the ghee—
Such is the charity I seek. (3)
Be forgiveness and poise the milch-cow,
Which in poise the calf of my mind may suck.
Cloth of Divine laudation and modesty I beg—
May Nanak ever Divine merits contemplate. (4) (7)

---

1. That is, our Divine origin.
2. Jajmān=Yagnamān is the man ordering a sacrifice, at which the commodities mentioned in the line following were given away to Brahmins performing the sacrifice.
3. These may be the five sources of evil, or the five sources of knowledge, usually restless.
4. Dhān=Dhyān, meditation. Dhān is also unshelled paddy.

Āvatu kinai na rākhiyā jāvatu kiun rākhiyā jāe

None could restrain birth; how may death be stopped ?
He from whom is the creature born, alone knows it,
As in Him is it absorbed. (1)
Lord ! Thou art real; wondrous Thy Will;
Whatever Thou dost, inevitably happens—
None else anything can accomplish. (I-Pause)
Like string of pots on Persian wheel, as is one emptied, the other fills up,
Is the Lord's play—he does as befits His might.[1] (2)
As was trod the path of enlightenment, was our sight from the world turned away.
Thou who art enlightened, in thy mind determine :
Who is the householder, who the renunciate ? (3)
By handing over desire to the Lord, from whom is its origin,
Is the self liberated
Saith Nanak : To submit to Him who created man,
Is to be approved, be one householder or renunciate. (4) (8)

Dishṭi bikārī bandhani bāṇdhai hauṇ tis kai bali jāī

I am a sacrifice to one who his evil gaze restrains.
One that knows not the truth of evil and good,
In vain is straying. (1)
Repeat the Creator's holy Name :
Thereby shall you not return to birth. (I-Pause)
The exalted He brings low; the lowly He makes kings.
Those that the Lord worthy of realization have realized,
Are perfectly-endowed and approved. (2)
One may advise any who is forgetful : P. 1330
The Creator Himself enacts the world's play,
Himself knows of it. (3)
By uttering the holy Word on the Name meditate at dawn;
Love of the world discard.
Nanak, God's humble slave[2] thus submits :
Vanquished is the world; such alone are victors. (4) (9)

Manu māyā manu dhāiyā manu pankhī ākāshi

The mind after Maya runs, like bird flying in the sky.
By power of the holy Word are thieves of evil cast off;

---

1. Greatness.
2. Slave of slaves.

Settled is city of the self, and ovation received.
Lord ! save us as be Thy Will, that our capital[1] be profitable. (1)
The Name for me is a treasure :
Grant true wisdom, whereat Thy feet I shall touch. (I-Pause)
The mind now is a renunciate,[2] now world-enjoyer;
Now thoughtless, foolish.
Sometimes is the mind a donor, sometimes a beggar—
The Lord-Creator alone may restrain it.
As came Divine wisdom, were the five evils vanquished
And joy obtained. (2)
Each being is the Sole Lord stated to pervade :
Seen Him has none.
The creature in falsehood and hanging head in the womb,
Devoid of the Name into ignominy falls.
As union shalt Thou grant, to Thee I be united,
As be Thy Will. (3)
With the eternal abode is not asked caste or birth—know this :
Caste and honour by deeds come.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the Name is annulled suffering of birth and death;
And liberation attained. (4) (10)

Jāgatu bigasai mūṭho anḍhā

Man blind while awake is robbed, yet is happy.
Round his neck the noose; by his concern tormented.
In desire born, forming resolves dying—
Helpless, his thread tangled. (1)
Ever awake is the Divine Life of Universe,
Ocean of joy, treasure of amrita. (I-Pause)
What man is told he realizes not; blind, seeing nothing—
Ugly his doing.
The Lord Himself devotion inspires—
By grace comes exaltation. (2)
Days come and go; by particles[3] is the holy declining;
In Maya-attachment is love for the Lord decreasing.
One without the Master's guidance no place finds,
While even a grain of duality remains. (3)

1. Life is implied.
2. Yogī.
3. In measure of sesame grains.

Day and night the Lord watches over creatures and cherishes them—
Their suffering and joy from previous deeds arising.
With no good deed to my credit, charity of truth I seek—
Nanak for such exaltation prays. (4) (11)

Mashṭi karaun mūrakhu jagi kahīyā

Should I keep silent, the world calls me a fool.
Should I talk much, devotion to Thee then is neglected.
Our errors and omissions in Thy count are judged :
What good ritual deeds without devotion to the Name ? (1)
The world by its falsehood is robbed :
The traducer traducing me yet by me is favoured.[1] (I-Pause)
He whom he traduces, the true way of life knows,
And by the Master's Word at the Divine Portal with exaltation is marked.
Such a one realizes the Lord, supreme Cause of the Universe,
Within himself to lie.
This device to such is known as have God's grace. (2)
Impure am I the holy truth alone is pure.
None by being dubbed noble becomes exalted.
The egoist openly eats of the terrible[2] Maya-poison.
One turning Godward in the Name is absorbed. (3)
Man is blind, deaf, thoughtless, foolish; P. 1331
Worthless, low, evil excessively.
To the indigent devotion the Name is wealth.
Such wealth is pure, all else is poison and ashes. (4)
By contemplation of the Word is to me praise and calumny alike.
Hail the Master who the Word imparts.
In Thy grace lies great name and honour.
Nanak utters what the Lord inspires. (5) (12)

Khāiyā mailu wadhāiyā paidhai ghar kī hāṉi

By eating in excess man only adds to ordure;
By wearing clothes only wastes his property.
By blabbing is increased contention;
Know, without the Name all is evil. (1)

1. (Because he takes our sins on his head).
2. Great.

Friend ! such a terrible snare of attachment in the mind is fixed.
By crossing Maya's waves and foam is the mind in poise illuminated. (I-Pause)
Man consumes poison,[1] utters poison and acts poison.
Thereby bound at Yama's door is he chastized—
By the holy Name alone finding release. (2)
As was he born devoid of merits, so shall he depart—
What record shall he carry with himself:
The egoist having lost the capital, at the Divine Portal shall he chastized. (3)
False is the world, pure holy truth—
This by contemplation of the Master's Word is realized.
Rare are such as within them Divine enlightenment cherish. (4)
Should man bear the unbearable state of enlightenment,
Shall the fountain of joy flow,
And have sight of the Eternal joyous form of the Lord.
Nanak is like a fish in water, cherishing the Lord.
Should it please Thee, reward his love. (5) (13)

Gīt nād harakh chaturāī

Song, musical strains, pleasures and cleverness,
Delights, delectation and fulfilment of desires;
Raiment, pleasure of food—none of these pleases the heart.
Truth that gives joy in poise, by the Name in the heart
have I lodged. (1)
What know I of the doings and Will of the Lord ?
Besides the Name, nothing my heart pleases. (I-Pause)
Marvels of Yoga, pleasures and joys—
In involvement with devotion to the Lord please not.
Laudation of the Lord is my assigned task.
Within I contemplate the Divine Lord of the Sun. (2)
Love for the Divine Beloved and devotion in heart have I cherished :
The Lord is cherisher of the humble, beloved.
Day after day devotion to the Name and charity is ruy vowed piety.
By contemplation of the Divine Essence are my waves of desire stilled. (3)
What power have to express the Inexpressible ?
Devotion I practise as He inspires.

1. Used metaphorically for evil.

Should the Lord abide within me, are thoughts of possessiveness lifted.
Whom else should I serve ? no other is there. (4)
The Master's Word is the Supreme elixir, sweet.
This amrita within the self have I beheld.
Those tasting it the state of perfection attain.
Saith Nanak : Such are fulfilled, joyful their self.[1] (5) (14)

Antari dekhi shabadi manu māniyā awaru na rāṇganhārā

By beholding the Lord within by the holy Word
Is the mind fixed in faith;
None other dyes the heart in joy.
He who day and night watches over creation and cherishes it,
His is the true empery. (1)
The Lord is richly dyed, beauteous;
Compassionate to the humble, beloved, heart-charmer;
Delectable, deep-dyed beloved. (I-Pause)
Above in the lofty seat of superconsciousness is amrita's well,
Realization the water-carrier female,
The self this amrita quaffs.
He Whose is the creation, its mystery knows— P. 1332
This by the Master's teaching is realized. (2)
As have spread sun-rays, the heart's lotus in joy is abloom,
And in the morn of the self is absorbed sun of enlightenment.
Destroyed is death; desire in the mind is stilled;[2]
And by grace of the Master is the Lord attained. (3)
The self-female in supreme joy in the red colour of devotion
is dyed—
No other dye on her.
Saith Nanak : With tongue[3] delighted are we dyed
In the Lord all-pervasive. (4) (15)

Bārah mehṇ Rāwal khapi jāwehṇ chahu chheh mehṇ sannyāsī

Yogis in their twelve sects and Sannyasis in ten are confined.
Be it Yogis, wearers of sectarian garbs of Jains with hair uprooted—
All without the Name have Yama's noose thrown round the neck. (1)

1. Body.
2. Destroyed.
3. Palate is implied.

Those absorbed in the holy Word are the perfect anchorites :
Such with the hand of heart seek charity of devotion,
And in love of the Sole Lord are absorbed. (I-Pause)
Brahmins study to make contentions; perform ritual deeds,
And direct others to perform deeds arising from desire.
Without realization nothing can they behold;
Egoists alienated from God undergo suffering. (2)
Those united to the holy Word are pure of deed,
At the holy Divine Portal honoured;
Day after day in jewel of the Name absorbed,
And age after age absorbed in holy truth. (3)
All ritual pieties, purity, self-restraint,
Recitation of holy texts, austerities and holy bathing
In the holy Word abide.
Saith Nanak : The holy Preceptor by Divine grace[1] is met,
Whereafter suffering, sin and death flee. (4) (16)

Santāṇ kī reiṉu sādh jana sangati Hari kīrati taru tārī

Swim thou across[2] in dust of feet of God's devotees, company of the holy and Divine laudation.
God's devotees who in heart bears the Lord,
What to him can poor Yama do ? of such is he afraid. (1)
Without the Name may life be burnt.
May I repeat God's Name, tell God's rosary,
And by the Master's teaching have joy of heart in this. (I-Pause)
What praise can be expressed of such as by the Master's teaching
In truth find joy ?
Rubies, diamonds, jewels[3] and valued objects
By the Master's guidance are obtained. (2)
Man should contemplate Divine knowledge and meditate,
Thus garner this holy wealth,
And in the sole Divine Word be absorbed;
And should in the Lord above need of prop and sustenance,
Pure Divine Essence, fearless be absorbed. (3)
As the seven seas[4] with pure water[5] are filled,
In these must be row away from worldliness;

1. As union with him is brought about.
2. (Image for seeking liberation).
3. (Symbols for devotion).
4. Yogi's symbol for the five senses, mind and understanding.
5. (Symbol for devotion).

His mind straying must he restrain,
And through the Master's teaching in serene poise be absorbed. (4)
Whoever by the Master's teaching his true self has realized,
Is the noble householder and anchorite devotee.
Saith Nanak : None other than the Lord is real;
The holy Word in heart have we realized. (5) (17)

In the measure Prabhati—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das
Quartets (Chaupade)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gurmukhi virlā koī būjhai shabdei rahiyā samāī

Rare is the God-directed devotee who realizes God,
Who in the Word is absorbed.
Those with the Name dyed get joy everlasting,
Their mind to holy truth devoted. (1)
Devotee Brethren ! repeat ever the Lord's Name. P. 1333
Thus by the Master's grace shall the mind in poise be put,
And with Divine joy satiated. (I-Pause)
Brother ! day and night practise devotion ever.
In this lies the supreme gain of this Age.
Those with hearts to the holy Name devoted are ever pure, from impurity free. (2)
The way to bedecking with joy by the holy Preceptor is shown;
The way of great exaltation is by devotion to the Name;
Brother ! to the Lord be ever devoted—
Thus shall your stores be full eternally;
Penury never shall touch you. (3)
Devotion lodges in the heart
To which the Lord is pleased to grant it.
Saith Nanak : Contemplate the Name ever,
Of which the holy Preceptor has granted vision. (4) (1)

Nirguṇīyārei kau bakhshi lai swāmī āpei laihu milāī

Lord ! absolve me, devoid of merit, of sins;
To Thyself in Thy grace unite me.
Illimitable art Thou; Thy extent beyond my ken;
By the holy Word grant realization. (1)
Lord ! may I be a sacrifice to Thee.
My body and mind an offering to Thee—
Under Thy protection may I abide ever ! (I-Pause)

Lord ! keep me ever obedient to Thy Will;
By the Name Divine grant me exaltation.
By the holy Preceptor is Thy Will revealed,
That keeps the devotee ever in serenity immersed. (2)
The devotees that please Thee, by Thy Will abide;
In Thy grace dost Thou grant them liberation and union.
In Thy Will lies everlasting joy;
By the Master is assuaged the fire of desire. (3)
Lord-Creator ! all happens as Thou dost Will.
No power has man anything to alter.
Saith Nanak : The greatest of all benefactors is the Name Divine;
This from the holy Preceptor is obtained. (4) (2)

Gurmukhi Hari sālāhiyā jinnhāṇ tin salāhi Hari jātā

Those that by the Master's guidance have lauded the Lord,
By laudation have realized Him.
Their doubt and duality dispelled,
By the Master's Word have they got realization. (1)
Lord ! Thou art my sole helper.
Thee I contemplate, Thee laud;
From Thee comes the supreme state and right wisdom. (I-Pause)
Those that by the Master's guidance laud Him obtain true joy—
Sweet essence of amrita.
By contemplation of the Master's Word they abide,
That is ever sweet, tasteless never. (2)
He who has granted this taste, alone knows best
To Him am I a sacrifice.
Through the holy Word I ever laud the Bestower of joy, by discarding egoism. (3)
The holy preceptor is Bestower of boons endless,
Granting all heart's desire.[1]
Saith Nanak : From the Name comes exaltation;
By the Master's Word holy Truth. (4) (3)

Jo terī sharṇāī Hari jīo tin tūṇ rākhan jogu

Lord ! Thou art protector of such as with Thee take shelter :
Like unto Thee none is great, in all time.[2] (1)
Lord ! Ever seek I Thy shelter :

---

1. Refers to the desire for liberation.
2. Neither in the past, nor in future.

Save me, Lord ! as in Thy Will may lie—
In Thy grace shall this be. (I-Pause)
Those seeking shelter with Thee, Lord ! dost Thou cherish.
In Thy grace save me, that death[1] may not touch me. (2) P. 1334
Thy shelter, Lord ! is eternal, diminishing and vanishing never.
Those forsaking the Lord and to duality attached, into transmigration fall. (3)
Those seeking shelter with thee, Lord !
From suffering and desire are freed.
Nanak ! Laud ever the Name,
That in the holy Word mayst thou be absorbed. (4) (4)

Gurmukhi Hari jīo sadā dhiyāwahu jab lagu jīya prān

By the Master's guidance meditate on the Lord ever,
As long as life and breath last.
Thus by the holy Word shall the mind be purified,
And pride absolutely vanish from mind.
Blessed is the birth of the creature,
That in the Lord's Name is absorbed. (1)
My self ! to the Master's teaching be attentive;
From the Lord's Name comes joy everlasting :
By this spontaneously quaff in the Lord. (I-Pause)
Those that realize their Essence, in their true home abide
And joy to them spontaneously comes
By the Master's Word is their heart's lotus in bloom,
Their evil-thinking, egoism discarded.
In all creation they behold the Sole Truth pervasive;
Such realization to few comes. (2)
By the Master's teaching is the mind purified;
The Essence of Divine amrita it expounds;
The Name Divine for ever in the self is lodged,
Bringing to it faith and realization.
May I be a sacrifice for ever to my Master,
Through whom realization of the Supreme Self has come. (3)
Those that in their human birth served not the Master,
Of it have made waste.
The holy Preceptor in his grace may grant union,

1. Death through recurring cycles of transmigration is implied.

And serene immersion in the Lord.
Saith Nanak : From devotion to the Name comes exaltation ;
By supreme good fortune comes inspiration to meditation. (4) (5)

Āpei bhāṇti baṉāe bahu-rangī sishṭi ūpāe Prabhi khelu kīyā

Himself has the Lord made creation in species of may hues,
His play manifesting.
He brings forth creation, cherishes it,
And to all creation provides sustenance. (1)
In Kali-Yuga have this faith : God pervades all.
The Sole Lord in all creatures is pervasive;
By the Master's teaching is the Lord's
Name manifested. (I-Pause)
The Name inscrutable in Kali-Yuga is manifest,
In all creatures is the Lord pervasive.
The jewel-Name in the heart of such is manifested
As to seek the Master's shelter run. (2)
He that subdues the five senses, and by the Master's teaching obtains forgiveness and contentment;
He moreover, that in fear of God and renunciation lauds
the Lord—
Is blessed, a perfect man of God. (3)
On that from the Master turns his face away,
And to his teaching is indifferent;
Performs ritual acts, yet hoards much wealth—
Despite all his acts into hell shall fall. (4)
There is one Sole Ordinance,[1] one Lord, who pervades
the universe;
From the One proceeds all creation.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance comes union,
By his guidance is the self in God immersed. (5) (6)

Mere mana Guru apṉā sālāhi

My self ! laud thou the Preceptor :
By supreme good fortune alone shalt thou be inspired P. 1335 to laud the Lord. (I-Pause)
The Lord provides amrita of the Name as sustenance.
One in a million with this is blessed,
Should the Lord's grace he have. (1)

1. Lit. Word.

In thy heart[1] lodge the Master's feet;
Thereby shall the darkness of suffering from inside thee vanish.
Himself shall the Lord unite thee. (2)
To the Master's Word be ever devoted.
Here and in the Hereafter shall it thy succourer be.
Such devotion the Creator Himself grants. (3)
The holy Lord inspires man to obey His Will.
One so inspired is a devotee, wise and enlightened.
To such is Nanak ever a sacrifice. (4) (7.17.7.24)

In the measure Prabhati—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
In the Variation Bibhās
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Rasaki rasaki gūna gāweh Gūrmati liv ūnmani Nāmi lagān

By the Master's teaching in ecstasy of joy Divine laudation
we sing,
And in the state of poise to the Name are devoted.
By the Master's Word amrita—elixir have we quaffed :
To the Name are we a sacrifice. (1)
The Lord, Life of the Universe, is our very life.
The exalted Lord to our inmost heart has appealed,
As the Master his Word in our ear has blown. (I-Panse)
Come devotees of God, brethren, that the Name
Divine we expound.
How the Lord may we attain ? Lord ! to me grant in charity this teaching. (2)
In the holy congregation is the Lord pervasive : In the congregation Divine attributes realize.
By great good fortune, by touch of the holy Preceptor,
owner of felicity
Have we attained holy company. (3)
Merits of the Lord, inaccessible, unknowable have we sung,
And while singing these are wonder-struck.
The Master to the servant Nanak is gracious,
And in an instant the Name Divine to him has imparted. (4) (1)

Ūgawai sūru Gurmukhi Hari boleh sabh rayni samāleh Hari gāl

At sunrise God's devotees the Lord's Name repeat,
And over the whole night the Lord's discourse contemplate.

1. Mind.

In us urge for the Lord is aroused;
After the Lord we quest. (1)
My mind is humble as dust of feet of the holy.
The Master the Lord's delectable Name in us has confirmed—
The Master's feet with our hair we dust. (I-Pause)
The misbeliever[1] day and night in darkness is enveloped,
In Maya's share entangled.
Not for a moment, an instant has the Lord in his heart lodged;
Each hair on his head[2] in various ways in debt to the Lord caught. (2)
In the holy congregation understanding and realization
have we obtained,
And from snare of avarice are released.
The Name Divine to us now tastes sweet;
The Master with the Word has blessed us (3)
Children we are, the Master inaccessible our Lord—
Master ! in your grace cherish us !
From the poisonous ocean of existence extricate us,
Master, Lord, cherisher of the infant Nanak. (4) (2)

Iku khinu Hari-Prabhi kirpā dhārī gūna gāe rasak rasīk

As for an instant has the Lord shown grace, P. 1336
In ecstasy of joy His merits have we sung.
Those that by the Master's teaching even for an instant
Divine joy have quaffed,
Are saved, be they singing it or listening to it. (1)
In my mind pray lodge joy of the Name Divine.
By the Master's teaching cooling water of the Name have
we attained;
The Name Divine in ample draughts have we drunk. (I-Pause)
Those that in heart the Lord's love have cherished,
On their foreheads are drawn bright paste-marks,
Repute of God's devotee all over the world is spread,
As the moon fixed among stars. (2)
Of those not cherishing the Lord in heart,
Is all doing tasteless :
A person may deck his-body, yet without the Name
Is he like one with nose chopped off. (3)

1. Sākta.
2. (This is a current expression for incurring overwhelming debt).

In each being[1] is the Divine Monarch pervasive;
The Sole in all is manifest.
The Lord to His servant Nanak has shown grace;
So far a brief hour has he
On the Master's Word meditated. (4) (3)

Agam dayāl kripā Prabhi dhārī mūkhi Hari Hari Nāmu ham kahei

As the Lord inaccessible, gracious His grace has shown,
By our tongue the Name Divine have we uttered.
On the Name Divine, purifier of the humble have we meditated,
Whereby are all our sins and evils shed. (1)
My self ! repeat thou the Name Divine all-pervasive.
The Lord compassionate to the humble, shatterer of suffering have we sung,
And by the Master's teaching wealth of the Name attained. (I-Pause)
In the body's city abides the Lord, as by the Master's teaching the Lord in mind have we lodged.
In the lake of the body is manifested the Name Divine;
In our own home and mansion[2] the Lord have we attained. (2)
Those that in forests wander about, are foolish misbelievers,[3] robbed of faith.
Like the deer within whose navel abides the fragrance of musk,
In bushes such wander along. (3)
Lord ! greatly inaccessible, of enlightenment unfathomable are You,
Grant the wisdom whereby may the Lord be attained.
The Master on his servant Nanak his hand in blessing has placed;
So the Name Divine he contemplates. (4) (4)

Mani lāgī preeti Rāma-Nāma Hari Hari japio Hari-Prabhu wadphā

The heart in love further Name Divine is engrossed,
And the Supreme Lord have we contemplated.
The holy Preceptor's Word to the heart is become pleasing,[4]
As the Lord grace to us has shown. (1)
My self ! even for an instant to the Name Divine be devoted.

1. Vessel.
2. (Implies the self).
3. Sākta.
4. Swimming across.

The Master, perfectly-endowed devotion to the Lord in charity has granted,
And the Name Divine in our mind and body has come to abide. (I-Pause)
As in the body's city, in the innermost sanctum hast
Thou come to abide,
By the Master's guidance the Lord's Name repeating,
Repute have we attained
In this life and the next are God's devotees joyful—
Their faces radiant, by the Master's guidance saved. (2)
By the Lord's image intuitively attained, to Him are we devoted,
As even for an instant the Lord in heart have we cherished.
His servant's sins, million fold, the Lord in an instant
has annulled. (3)
By Thy guidance alone are Thy devotees recognized;
Those realizing the Lord among men are pre-eminent.
The Lord His self in His devotee has placed :
Saith Nanak, the Lord and His devotee are one in essence. (4) (5)

Guru Satiguri Nāmu driṛāiyo Hari Hari ham muei jīwei Hari japibhā
As the holy Preceptor the Name in us has confirmed, P. 1337
By God's grace we who were as dead,
In contemplation of the Lord found life.
Blessed be the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed,
Who by strength of his arm has extricated us,
That in evil were sinking. (1)
My self ! contemplate the Name Divine, worthy of devotion :
By daily-practised devices not attained;
By guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed is He attained. (I-Pause)
The Name Divine is Divine elixir;
That by the Master's guidance ecstatically have we quaffed.
Rusted iron in holy congregation has become gold,
As by the Master's guidance the Lord in heart have we cherished. (2)
Those by evil of egoism and greed ever attracted,
Drawn by attachment to progeny and wife—
Never have served at feet of the holy :
Egoist covered over with ashes. (3)
Lord ! to You alone are Your attributes known;

Exhausted, on Your shelter are we fallen.
Lord ! save us as You alone best know.
Nanak, Your servant is Your slave. (4) (6)

(Set of six hymns-I)

In the measure Prabhati—Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das
In Variation Bibhas—Of variable rhythm
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Japi mana Hari Hari Nāmu nidhān

My self ! contemplate treasure of the Name Divine, Whereby at the Divine Portal mayst thou attain honour.
Saved are those contemplating it. (I-Pause)
My self ! with concentrated contemplation
To the Name Divine listen.
My self ! to Divine laudation listen,
That equals bathing at sixty-eight holy spots.
My self ! by the Master's guidance listen to it,
And attain honour. (1)
My self ! the Lord supreme over all, contemplate :
Thereby in an instant are annulled millions of sins.
Thus, saith Nanak, with the Lord
May you attain union. (2) (1.7)

In the measure Prabhati—Composition of Shri Guru Arjan Dev
In Variation Bibhas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Manu Hari kīyā tanu sabhu sājiyā

Mind and body the Lord created;
Making it from the five elements, with His light exalted it.
The earth He made the mattress, water for use :
The Lord, Holder of the Earth[1] forget not for an instant,
Serve Him. (1)
My self ! by service to the holy Preceptor is attained
the supreme state.
Shouldst thou remain untouched by joy and sorrow,
Shalt thou attain the Lord of life. (I-Pause)
Pleasure of raiment and innumerable other pleasures has created.

1. Sāring-pānī.

Mother, father, family—all has He made.
Friend ! on water and land to all sustenance He provides.
The Lord that is such, ever you serve. (2)
He is our friend where none else is with us.
In an instant millions of our sins He washes off.
Granting boons yet He regrets not these.
His largesse He grants all at once, nevermore calling the seeker. (3)
By fortune made by our deeds
Have we sought Him out.
In the holy congregation abides the Lord.
By touch of the Master to Your Portal have we come. P. 1338
Lord ! to Nanak Your servant grant Your sight. (4) (1)

Prabh kī sevā jana kī shobhā

From service to the Lord the devotee gets repute.
Thereby are annulled lust, wrath and avarice.
Thy Name is the servant's treasure :
Out of love for a sight of the Lord His laudation he sings. (1)
Lord ! Thou Thyself the way to Thy devotion hast pointed :
Snapping Thy servant's bond hast Thou liberated him. (I-Pause)
The servant dyed in love of the Lord,
In union with the Lord joy has attained.
He to whom this joy has come, alone knows of it,
And experiencing[1] it, in his mind marvels. (2)
One in whose heart abides the Lord,
Is alone happy, exalted.
One grows immutable, from birth and death immune,
By singing day after day Divine laudation. (3)
Bow you all to him,
In whose mind abides the Formless Lord, perfection incarnate.
Divine Lord ! to me show grace,
That Nanak by serving Your devotees release may find. (4) (2)

Gūna gāwat mani hoe anand

By singing the Lord's praise is the heart joyful.
Day and night the Lord I contemplate.
At the feet of the Master by contemplation of whom are annulled sins,

1. Lit. viewing.

We bow. (1)
Cherished devotees of God, grant me the wisdom
That the Name I contemplate that may liberate me. (I-Pause)
One to whom the Master the straight path has pointed,
Discarding all, in joy of the Name is absorbed.
To the Master ever be a sacrifice,
From whom is obtained inspiration to contemplation
of the Lord. (2)
Ever am I a sacrifice to the Master,[1]
Who the sinking being has saved,
By whose grace Maya grips not,
Who this life and the next has ennobled. (3)
Inexpressible is the discourse of the Master perfectly endowed,
Who from a thoughtless being has enlightened me.
Saith Nanak : The exalted Master is image of the Supreme Being.
By Supreme good fortune is attained service to the Lord. (4) (3)

Saglei dūkh miṭei sūkh dīei apnā Nāmu japāiyā

Annulled is all suffering;
The Lord conferred joy as devotion to His Name He inspired.
In His grace in His service has He absorbed us,
And annulled all sins. (1)
We are children, come under shelter of the Lord compassionate.
The Lord annulling our demerits made us His own;
The Master, cherisher, has saved us. (I-Pause)
In an instant are shattered maladies and sins,
As the Lord grace has shown.
With each breath to the Supreme Being, I make supplication—
To the holy Preceptor am I a sacrifice. (2)
Of the Lord, inaccessible, limitless,
Unattainable is the end.
By meditating on the Lord profit one gains
And truly wealthy grows. (3)
Day and night[2] meditating on the Lord,
Ever have we lauded Him.
Saith Nanak : Fulfilled are all my objectives, P. 1339
As the Master, image of the Supreme Being I attained. (4) (4)

1. Last line placed first in rendering.
2. All eight pahars.

Simrat Nāmu kilbikh sabhi nāsei

By contemplation of the Name are fled all sins,
As the Master capital of the holy Name on us has conferred.
God's servants ever in service engaged wear noble aspect,
And at the Divine Portal find repute. (1)
Brother, repeat ever the Lord's Name :
Thereby shall all maladies and sins be shattered,
And darkness of ignorance from the mind be lifted. (I-Pause)
The Master, true friend, from suffering of birth and death saves,
As love for the Name Divine he inspires.
Gone are sufferings of millions of births.
What pleases him shall bring good. (2)
To the Master am I ever a sacrifice,
By whose grace on the Name Divine have I meditated.
By great good fortune is attained the Master,
By union with whom is attained devotion to the Lord. (3)
Lord, Divine Master, controller of each self,
Show grace, and day and night inspire devotion of Yourself.
Nanak, servant of God, with the Lord seeks shelter. (4) (5)

Kari kirpā apunei Prabhi kīe

In His grace has the Lord made us His own,
And inspired[2] us to repeat the Name Divine.
As day and night the Lord's laudation we have sung,
Is shattered fear and gone is all anxiety. (1)
By touch of the holy Preceptor's feet are we saved.
As instructs the Master, take that to be good and joy-bringing Discard egoistic thinking. (I-Pause)
The Lord iu mind and body is pervasive.
Thus occurs not evil contention or impediment.
Ever is the Lord by the side of each being.
By loving devotion to the Name is cast off impurity. (2)
As to the Divine lotus feet have we formed love,
Are shattered lust, wrath and pride.
The path to union with the Lord have we realized,
Formed loving devotion and in the Lord put faith. (3)
Listen frieud, devotee joy-giving,
The jewel Name is inaccessible, beyond measure.

1. All eight pahars.
2. Granted.

Ever sing praise of the Lord, treasure of merit :
This, saith Nanak, by great good fortune is attained. (4) (6)

Sei dhanwant seī sachu shāhā

Such alone are the truly wealthy[1]
As at the Divine Portal in the Name have traded. (1)
Friend of my heart ! the Lord's Name repeat.
By great good fortune is attained the Master, perfectly-endowed,
Of ways full of purity of perfection. (I-Pause)
Profit have we attained, and rung is concert of joy,
As by grace of holy the Lord's laudation we have sung. (2)
Fruitful shall your birth be, and approved your life :
By the Master's grace we enjoy the dye of God.[3] (3)
Annulled are our lust, wrath and pride,
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance have we swum across. (4) (7)

Guru pūrā pūrī tā kī kalā

Perfectly-endowed is the Master, faultless his might.
Eternal ever is the Master's utterance.
In the mind of whomsoever abides the Master's Word,
Fled is his suffering and pain. (1) P. 1340
Such a one, dyed in love of God Divine laudation sings;
Liberated, in dust of feet of the holy he bathes. (I-Pause)
By the Master's Word have swum across the world,
And shattered are our fear, doubt and evil tendencies.
In our mind and body abide the Master's feet;
God's devotees, seeking shelter with the Lord, fearless are made. (2)
Bliss in equanimity have they attained, and numerous kinds of joy and happiness.
Foes and suffering approach them not.
The Master, perfectly-endowed has cherished them as his own.
As on the Name Divine they have meditated,
Are all their sins shed. (3)
Joyful are God's devotees, all companions in piety and the Master's disciples,
As the Master, perfectly-endowed to the Lord has united them.

1. Shāh is a banker.

Snapped is their noose of suffering of birth and death.
Saith Nanak : The Master our faults has overlooked.[1] (4) (8)

Satiguri pūrai Nāmu dīyā

The Master, perfectly-endowed, devotion to the Name has granted us.
Thereby have come bliss, joy, weal and happiness everlasting,
And all objectives fulfilled. (I-Pause)
Abide the Master's lotus feet in our mind,
And shattered are suffering, pain and false doubts. (1)
Thou creature of God ! ever on waking sing the Divine Word,
And day and night contemplate the Lord. (2)
Within and without, everywhere abides the Lord;
Wherever we go, is He by our side. (3)
With folded hands thus does Nanak supplicate;
May Nanak ever repeat Name of the Lord,
repository of merit. (4) (9)

Pār-Brahmu Prabhu sūghaṛ sūjāṇu

Sapient and wise is the Supreme Being, Lord.
By great good fortune is attained the Master perfectly-endowed;
To his sight are we a sacrifice. (I-Pause)
By the Word are effaced my sins content attained;
And am I enabled to supplicate the Name.
In company of the holy has come illumination;
And the Divine lotus feet in the mind have abided. (1)
He who created me has saved me.
The Lord, perfectly-endowed is cherisher of the helpless.
Whomsoever in His grace He blesses,
Perfect is his doing and way. (2)
Whoever sing the Lord's laudation with fervour ever new,
Into eighty-four lakh spicies wanders not.
In this world and in the hereafter are his feet worshipped,
And at the eternal Court is his face made radiant. (3)
Rare is the devotee, one among a million
On whose forehead the Master his hand in blessing places.
Such a one beholds the Lord pervading water and land and the space in between.
Saith Nanak : By dust of feet of such a devotee comes release. (4) (10)

---

1. Concealed.

Kürbāṉu jāī Guru pūrei apanei

To the Master, perfectly-endowed am I a sacrifice,
By whose grace the Lord's Name I have repeated. (I-Pause)
By listening to the ambrosial Word am I joyful,
And shattered are snares of Maya. (1)
With the holy Word have we formed love,
And the Lord our mind has entered. (2)
By repeating the Name has come illumination,
And the Master's Word in the heart has abided. (3)
The Master, endowed with might is ever gracious, P. 1341
And Nanak by repeating the Lord's Name joy
has attained. (4) (11)

Guru Guru karat sadā sükhu pāiyā

By repeating the Lord's Name have I attained joy everlasting.
The Lord cherisher of the humble has shown grace, —
And Himself inspired devotion to His Name. (I-Pause)
In company of the holy has come illumination.
By repeating the Lord's Name are all objectives fulfilled. (1)
All weal and joy in the mind are settled.
Saith Nanak : As has the Master become gracious,
The Lord's laudation have I sung. (2) (12)

In the measure Prabhati—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
SCORE 2
In Variation Bibhas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Awaru na dūjā ṭhāoṇ

Other than the Name Divine no place of shelter is for us.
Thereby comes all fulfilment and weal,
And achieved are all objectives. (1)
Ever repeat the Lord's Name :
Thereby are shattered lust, wrath and egoism,
And love for the Sole Lord is formed. (I-Pause)
By devotion to the Name flees suffering;
Those seeking its shelter it cherishes.
Whoever since Primal Time is granted good fortune,[1]
To the holy Preceptor is united, and not stared at by Yama. (2)

---

1. Conjunction of auspicious planets.

Night day on the Lord meditate,
And the mind's illusions discard
Whoever with perfect good fortune is endowed,
In the holy congregation to the Lord is united. (3)
Shattered are contentions of multiple births;
The Lord Himself has saved us.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Repeat the Lord's Name,
Who is our mother, father, friend, brother. (4) (1.13)

In the measure Prabhati—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In Variation Bibhas. In variable rhythm
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ram Rāma Rāma Rāma jāp

Repeat ever the Lord's Name,
Whereby shall be shattered pain and affliction,
Avarice and attachment and malady of egoism. (I-Pause)
Discarding egoism, at feet of the holy fall,
Whereby may the mind be purified and sins flee. (1)
The infant Nanak nothing knows :
The Lord is his saviour, his mother and father. (2) (1.14)

Charan kamal sharani teik

Seek shelter and take support of the Divine lotus feet.
The Lord is high, great, limitless.
Thou art Sole Lord over all. (I-Pause)
Prop of life, shatterer of suffering,
Donor of understanding and discrimination. (1)
Bow to the Divine Saviour; in the mind make supplication to the sole Lord.
Saith Nanak : May I bathe in dust of feet of the holy,
And thereby attain numerous joys. (2) (2.15)

In the measure Prabhati—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev P. 1342
Ashtpadiyān (Octets) In Variation Bibhas
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Dubidhā baurī manu baurāiyā

Duality that is insane has turned the mind insane too :
Involved in false greed, is life wasted.
Duality to the mind clings, no restraining it possible.
The holy Preceptor by confirming in mind the Name saves. (1)

The mind's impulses die not, nor dies Maya's lure.
He who created all, knows the device to turn the mind away from Maya :
By contemplation of the Word man swims across the ocean of existence. (I-Pause)
Kings that are arrogant, garner wealth;
Yet Maya that they love, goes not with them.
Maya-attachment takes numerous shapes[1]:
Other than the Name, none is our friend or companion. (2)
As one's mind, so is one's understanding of others.
As one's desire, so is one's state.
As man's deeds, is his inclination.
By taking instruction from the holy, Preceptor man the house of poise attains. (3)
By absorption in worldly tunes and music the mind enters duality;
With hypocrisy within, great affliction it suffers.
By contact with the holy Preceptor man realization attains,
And with the holy Name forms attachment. (4)
By attachment to the holy Word man acts good;
By the holy Word sings he Divine laudation;
Abiding in one's true home in the Divine Essence, the eternal state attains—
Thereby at the Divine Portal attaining repute. (5)
Without service to the Master is devotion not performed,
Despite innumerable efforts.
Egoism and avarice by the holy Word are cast off,
And the immaculate Name in the mind comes to abide. (6)
Devotion to the holy Word is pure action is this world.
Other than the Word all else is dust-storm of attachment.
By the Word is the Name in heart cherished.
By the Word is attained the supreme state, realization and the Door of Liberation. (7)
Other than the Lord, no other is creator and cherisher.
Himself holy, beyond compare, limitless.
By the Name Divine is one's state exalted.
Saith Nanak : This is a rare one qnests after. (8) (1)

---

1. Hues.

Māyā mohi sagal jagu chhāiyā

Maya-attachment over the whole world is spread.
At sight of woman is man lust-gripped.
With progeny and gold is his attachment increasingly formed :
All else he considers his own, only God he considers alien. (1)
May I repeat on the rosary the Name,
That may take away feeling of pleasure and suffering,
And solely to devotion attach me. (I-Pause)
Lord, Repository of Merit, Thy limit have we not realized.
Whoever to the holy Word is attached, in Thee is absorbed.
Transmigration hast Thou Thyself set afoot.
Such alone are true devotees as to truth their heart have attached. (2)
Realization and meditation on the puissant,[1] immaculate Lord,
Without touch of the holy Preceptor comes not.
In all pools of selves is the Divine Light pervasive.
To the Lord, image of bliss am I a sacrifice. (3)
Love and devotion by the Master's teaching is attained,
That by the Word burns away egoism of heart,
To the restless brings poise,
And to the holy Name in the mind gives lodgement. (4)
Those putting faith in the Master's teaching, to the Sole Lord attached. P. 1343
In the Supreme Primal Being in wondrous joy are absorbed.
Such at the Lord's sight by water of the Name,
Their fire[2] have quenched.
Whoever has great good fortune; this realize. (5)
Whoever serves the holy Preceptor, has his doubt lifted
Each day, absorbed in truth is he awake.
Such a one realizes solely the Lord and no other;
And serving the Lord, provider of joy, is made pure. (6)
Whoever by contemplation of the Word in service is absorbed,
And by repetition of the Name and austerity his egoism subdues,
As the Word to him is related, is liberated while living,[3]
Holy his way of living, eternal joy he attains. (7)
The Lord is provider of joy, annuller of suffering.

1. Nar-Harī (Man-lion), an incarnation, here symbolizing Divine might.
2. (Symbolizes desire).
3. Jīvan-mukta.

Other than devotion to Him, no other task occurs to us.
Our body, mind and substance to the Lord have I dedicated.
Saith Nanak : Thus the supreme elixir have I tasted. (8) (2)

Nivlī karam bhūyangam bhāṭhī rechak pūrak kūmbh karai

One may rotate intestines, make the forge of the Kundalini blaze,
And exhale, inhale and retain breath in pranayam[1]—
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor no realization shall such a one have,
And lost in doubts will be sunk.
Like a blind man soiled with filth, this he tries to wash off;
Yet his inner impurity no way shall be cast off.
Without devotion to the Name are all rituals hollow,
Their performer like a juggler in illusion lost. (1)
The immaculate Name equals the six ritual acts of piety.[2]
Thou the ocean of merit; demerits to me belong. (I-Pause)
Running about in Maya's pursuits is foul understanding and evil-doing.
A foolish person reckoning his ego, understands not his true duty.
His desires by the attractive Maya impelled;
Speaking from egoism, his utterance ignominy brings.
The evil-doer's bathing[3] is false; his ritual and self-decking all hollow. (2)
Understanding arising from egoism is false;
Actions following from it worthless, contentious.
The person given to falsehood is ego-impelled;
He finds not joy in the Lord.
To do other than devotion to the Name tastes insipid.
In company of the evil-minded is one lost : their utterance poisonous,
Their life a waste. (3)
You that are lost in doubt, shun death.
By service to the holy Preceptor comes joy everlasting.
Without guidance of the holy Preceptor none liberation has attained.
Such are born, die and after death die eternally. (4)
This body is of the substance of three qualities,[4]

1. (All these practices pertain to hatha-yoga).
2. See Glossary.
3. Ritual bathing is implied.
4. See Glossary.

Subject to grief and torment.
Serve the Lord who no mother or father has,
Whereby may be lifted desire and egoism. (5)
Wherever I look, Him I behold.
Without contact with the holy Preceptor comes, not liberation.
To bear truth in heart is purest doing.
All else is fraud, whose worship ignominy entails. (6)
As is duality lifted realize the Word,
And know the One Lord within and Without.
This is the chaste intelligence and the essence of the Word.
In duality falls dust on the head. (7)
The purest action is Divine laudation by the Master's guidance,
And contemplation and realization of Divine merit in the holy congregation.
One subduing the mind knows how when living to die.
Saith Nanak : The gracious Lord by His own grace is realized. (8) (3)

In the Measure Prabhati—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
In Variation Dakhni

Gautamu tapā Ahilyā istrī tisu dekhi Indru lubhāiyā

The sight of Ahalya, wife of Gautam the ascetic bewitched Indra :
Over his body were marked a thousand signs of female genitals,
That brought to him regret. (1)
Brother ! none by his own will is deluded : P. 1344
Only such are deluded as by Himself deluded;
Such enlightened as by Him are enlightened. (I-Pause)
The King Harishchandra,[1] master of empire,
Realized not the value of the Divine writ.
Charity[2] he would not have given, had he known it to be a demerit,
And for that in the market sold. (2)
The Lord, posing to a be a dwarf, begged for land measuring two and half steps
Should Bali[3] have realized the garb of the Lord,
In the nether world would he not be deceived. (3)
Vyas[4] instructed King Janmeja and warned him;

1. (In the first four stanzas, illustrations from mythology are drawn to bring home the lesson that one's past deeds may lead to delusion and error).
2. (Harīshchandra was given to dispensing great bounty).
3. Name of the King so deluded.
4. A rishī.

Yet in the sacrifice he killed eighteen Brahmins—
Know, the consequences of our deeds no way can be put off. (4)
No calculations make I; only the Ordinance I realize,
And make spontaneous utterance.
All that happens proclaims Thy laudation—
All Your might[1] indicates. (5)
The God-directed by Maya's taint are untouched,
Tainted never; ever under the Lord's shelter abiding.
Thoughtless egoists think not of the future,
And when suffering comes, into regret falls. (6)
The Lord, who made this cosmos, has supreme might,
Unless pride from the heart be cast off,
Man in pride burns. (7)
All creation to error is subject;
The Creator alone is infallible.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to the holy Name comes liberation;
A rare one by the Master's grace is liberated. (8) (4)

Ākhaṇā sünaṉā Nāmu adhāru

Repeating the Name and listening to it is my prop,
Whereby are cast off worthless pursuits.
The egoist in duality fallen, loses honour;
For me other than the Name no other prop is. (1)
Listen my blind, thoughtless, uncultivated mind !
Of transmigration art thou not ashamed;
And without the Master's guidance again and again dost sink.[2] (I-Pause)
The mind by Maya-attachment is ruined :
Should this be destined from Primal Time; to whom may we complain ?
A rare God-directed one this realizes.
One without devotion to the Name no liberation finds. (2)
The self in eighty-four lakh births wanders,
And without realization by the Master granted, in Yama's noose is caught.
The mind each instant rises sky-high and to the nether regions falls.
By contemplation of the Name, by the Master's guidance
May it find liberation. (3)

1. Lit. greatness.
2. Implies suffering by continuing in transmigration.

As the Lord without delay makes the call,
The self dying into the Word find joy.
None without the Master's guidance enlightenment attains.
All happens as the Lord Wills. (4)
One singing Divine laudation contention of transmigration ends.
One guided by the holy Preceptor, perfectly endowed
Into serene enlightenment is absorbed.
Then is the restless mind stilled,
And in holy action engages. (5)
How may one foul within be pure ?
A rare one by the holy Word washes the heart.
A rare God-directed one acts truth,
And his transmigration ends. (6)
God's fear is the food and drink of such a one, bringing holy joy.
God's devotee in the holy congregation liberation finds.
Such a one utters truth and inspires love.
The Master's Word is true, holy doing. (7)
Divine laudation is true ritual piety and worship. P. 1345 Thereby are lust and wrath in fire consumed.
By tasting of Divine joy is the mind inspired with love.
Nanak in humility states : None other than the Lord is real. (8) (5)

Rāma-Nāmu japi antari pūjā

Repetition of the Name Divine is worship of the heart.
Contemplate the Master's Word, nothing else. (1)
One Sole Lord in all spots is pervasive :
No other is visible—to whom to offer worship ? (I-Pause)
My mind and body to You is an offering—to You is life dedicated.
This is my prayer : Keep me as pleases Thee best. (2)
Holy is the tongue tasting of joy in God.
By the Master's teaching and the Lord's shelter
comes liberation. (3)
The Lord has ordained ritual of worship,
Yet devotion to the Name over all ritual is supreme. (4)
The four boons[1] in the holy Preceptor's power lie :
Three[2] of these ending, one sole boon's[3] benefit comes. (5)

1. (These are dharma, artha, kāma, moksha; ad seriatim performance of religious duties, worldly wealth, pleasures of life and liberation).
2. (The first three are implied).
3. That is, liberation.

The holy Preceptor to achieving liberation draws our meditation;
Contemplating the Divine Essence are we exalted. (6)
By the realization granted by the Master are our mind and body joy-cooled.
Who may evaluate those having the Lord's grace ? (7)
Saith Nanak : The Master this realization has granted :
None without devotion to the Name the supreme state
has attained. (8) (6)

Iki dhüri bakhshi lae Guri pūrai sacchī baṉat baṉāī

Some in Primal Time by the Master, perfectly-endowed are granted liberation—
Thus is the true order established.
Those dyed in joy in God bear ever the holy dye on them—
Their suffering cast off, honour they achieve. (1)
False are the clever tricks of foul understanding,
That instantly are shattered. (I-Pause)
The egoist to suffering and pain is subject; never-ending is his suffering
By the Master's guidance is realized the Divine conferrer of joy and suffering;
Union he grants and under his shelter takes us. (2)
The egoist can practise not heart's devotion;
Such are madmen, in egoism burning.
The mind, without realization of the holy Word,
Each instant rises sky-high and to the nether regions falls. (3)
Without the holy Preceptor's touch,[1] the world,
Caught in hunger and thirst, unfulfilled remains.
In the state of serenity lies joy, and the self to the Divine
Portal has access. (4)
The Lord at the Portal is Himself all-knowing and all-seeing;
By the Master's holy Word realized Himself full of contemplation, himself the state of release realizes. (5)
From three elements—waves of water, fire and air is the universe created.
All these with power of various tricks are endowed—
By the Ordinance are these restrained. (6)
Rare in the world are the persons that after testing

1. Without attaining.

In God's treasury are entered :
Such rising above tribe and caste,
Possessiveness and greed have cast off. (7)
Those dyed in the Name are sacred and pure;
Their suffering and impurity of egoism lifted.
Nanak washes the feet of such as by the Master's guidance with the holy Eternal are in love. (8) (7)

In the Measure Prabhati—Composition of Sri Guru Amar Das P. 1346
In Variation Bibhas[1]
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Gur-parshādīṇ vekhu tūṇ Hari-mandaru terai nāli

Behold thou by the Master's grace; The Lord's Temple[2] is ever by thee.
For this Temple of the Lord[2] make search by light of the Word,
And the Lord's Name contemplate. (1)
My self ! joy lies in being dyed in the holy Word.
True devotion in the Lord's holy Temple[2] is manifested,
Bringing noble repute. (I-Pause)
This body is the Lord's Temple[2]; that by the jewel of enlightenment is manifested.
Egoist know not this, asserting : In man lies not the Lord's Temple.[2] (2)
The Lord's Temple[2] by the Lord is erected,
By His Ordinance decked.
As has run the Primal Writ, man acts :
None can this efface. (3)
By contemplation of the holy Word and devotion to the holy Name,
Have I found joy.
By the holy Word is the Lord's Temple[2] decked—
A limitless citadel of gold. (4)
This world too is the Lord's Temple[2] :
Without the Preceptor is it pitch dark.
Egoist purblind and thoughtless, worship things of duality. (5)

---

1. Bibhās, (Vibhās) is the morning light. This is a variation of the measure Prabhātī, which is directed to be sung at sunrise.
2. Hari Mandir. This is the name which the great Sikh Temple at Amritsar, also known as the Goldern Temple, bears, Lit. Temple of the Lord. Here symbolizes the human self.

Whenever the reckoning is called, no escape from it can be.
Those dyed in truth swim;
Those in duality involved, into suffering fall. (6)
In the Lord's Temple lies treasure of the Name—
This the thoughtless unenlightened ones realize not.
It is found by contemplation by the Master's grace,
Whereby is the Lord in the heart cherished. (7)
From the Master is the Master's Word learnt,
When one in joy of the Word is dyed.
Thrice holy[1] are the pure beings,
That in the Lord's Name are absorbed. (8)
The Lord's Temple is His shop, with the holy Word decked.
The sole Name is the rein the merchandize
That by the Master's aid is profitably[2] obtained. (9)
In the Lord's Temple lies also iron of the heart,
That by feelings of duality is attracted :
As the philosopher's stone touches it, gold it turns,
Its value inexpressibly high. (10)
In the Lord's Temple abides the Lord,
Who all creation pervades.
Saith Nanak : Here by the Master's aid make commerce—
This shall be the real holy bargain.[3] (11) (1)

Bhay bhāe jāgei sei jaṇa jāgraṇ karehṇ haumai mailu utāri

Those awakened in God's fear and love, are truly awake,
Discarding their impurity of egoism,
Ever awake, their home they guard,
Beating off the five thieves. (1)
My self ! by the Master's guidance, on the Name meditate.
My self ! engage in such actions to God's path guide thee. (I-Pause)
By the Master's guidance arises the serene melody,
And the malady of egoism is cast off;
The Name Divine then in the self is lodged,
And in spontaneous devotion the seeker chants
Divine laudation. (2)
Those lodging in their hearts the Lord, wear nobility on their faces;

1. Pavit-pāvan=holy and pure.
2. Lit. In a fine manner.
3. Sachā saudā, a famous incident in Guru Nanak Dev's early life is known as Sachā Saudā (Holy Bargain).

In this world and the next find they ample joy,
And by devotion to the Lord, swim across. (3)
In egoism comes no awakening,
Nor is devotion of any avail.
Egoists, performing ritual actions from motives of duality, P. 1347
Find not rest at the Portal Divine. (4)
Cursed is he indulgence in eating and raiment
Of such as in duality are engaged;
Worms of filth, to filth attached,
In ignominy transmigration they suffer. (5)
To such as have the Master's touch,
May I be a sacrifice.
May I join their company, and by devotion to truth,
In the Eternal be absorbed. (6)
By supreme good fortune is the Master found;
No effort therein avails.
By the Master's guidance comes serenity,
And egoism in the holy Word is consumed. (7)
My self ! seek the Lord's shelter, who is Almighty.
Prayeth Nanak : May I be never forgetful of the Name :
His Will no way may be withstood. (8) (2.7.2.9)

In the measure Bibhas Prabhati—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
Ashtpadiyān (Octets)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace
Māta pitā bhāī sūtu banitā

Man involved in mother, father, brother, progeny and wife
Enjoys pleasures and in joy abides,
His mind in sweet attachment entangled.
God's devotees, seeking after merit are my life's prop. (1)
The Lord, controller of the inner self,
Is our sole support; He alone our over Lord;
The Supreme Being, Master. (1-Pause)
From the deceptive she-serpent Maya have I broken off :
The Master instructed me, she is a false deceiver;
Tasting sweet, yet when consumed is bitter.
The mind with the Name ambrosial alone is fulfilled. (2)

1. All happens as He wills.

With avarice and attachment have I cut off—
Thus has the gracious Master granted me release.
This deceitful Maya many homes has ruined :
The Master gracious has saved me. (3)
With lust and wrath I formed not relationship,
As with my ears to the Master's discourse I listened.
Wherever I look, the great vile[1] Maya I behold.
The Master, great cherisher from her has saved me. (4)
The ten females of senses have I deserted,
As instructed by the Master, these contain fire of pleasures of evil.
One associated with these into the nether hell falls.
The Master, by inspiring devotion to the Lord saved me. (5)
With egoistic pride I no more hold counsel,
As instructed by the Master, it is stupid, stubborn fool;
Homeless, nowhere finding shelter.
The Master by inspiring devotion has saved me. (6)
From worldly people am I alienated[2] :
Both in one house cannot live.
Holding His lappet to the Lord have we come.
Lord all-knowing, do me justice. (7)
The Lord smiled and thus pronounced judgement :
All minions of evil at my service He placed.
Thou art the Lord, this house of the body Thine.
Saith Nanak : The Master thus made pronouncement. (8) (1)

Mana mehṇ krodhu mahāṇ ahaṇkārā

Some that perform worship with a vast paraphernalia,
In mind bear wrath and great pride.
After bathing, over the body circles[3] they draw— P. 1348
Their inner impurity still not going. (1)
None by such discipline attained the Lord.
With marks of Vishnu over their limbs, yet towards Maya attracted. (I-Pause)
Under power of the five evils, sins they commit,
Which they claim by bathing at sacred spots are washed off.
Thus grown fearless, more of these they commit :
In Yama's demense marked with in famy they stand bound. (2)

1. Chandāl=one of a very low caste, given to offensive occupations.
2. Turned their foe.
3. (These are emblems of the Vaishnavism creed).

These putting on ankle-bells beat cymbals,[1]
Yet with hearts full of hypocrisy; like goblins they move about.
The snake by striking the hole dies not :
The Lord who created thee, knows all. (3)
Warming themselves at the straw-fire ochre clothes[2] they wear;
Struck with afflictions, from their home such flee.
Leaving home, in strange parts they wander,
Bringing with them the five vile[3] evils. (4)
With ears split,[4] yet at others' food such cast covetous glances,
At each home begging, unsatisfied.
Leaving their own wife, at others' women folk they cast lustful glances :
Not through garbs is the Lord attained; this only great suffering brings. (5)
Such abjuring speech, the vow of silence take,
Yet because of their heart's desires in transmigration are whirled.
Discarding food, their body they subject to pain;
Not realizing the Ordinance, by avarice gripped. (6) None without the holy Preceptor's guidance the supreme state attained—
Seek to know this of all Vedas and Simritis.[5]
The egoists' actions are fruitlessly done;
Like a house of sand that no stability has. (7)
Whoever has the Lord's grace,
The Master's Word in a knot carries.
One in a million is beheld to be God's devotee.
Saith Nanak : In the company of such comes liberation. (8)
By good fortune is attained sight of such,
Whereby is man saved along with his forebears. (1) (2)
(Second Pause)

Simrat Nāmu kilbikh sabhi kātei

By contemplation of the Name are all sins annulled,
And the record of Dharmaraja torn off.
In the holy congregation is obtained joy in God,
And the Supreme Being in heart pervades. (1)

---

1. (Another ritual of Vaishnavism).
2. (Practice of ascetics).
3. Chandāl=a person of the lowest, contemned castes.
4. (Marks of a Yogī).
5. Books of codes of Hinduism.

By contemplation of the Lord is attained joy in God :
Thy servants at Thy feet seek shelter. (I-Pause)
Ended is wandering after desires, and darkness lifted,
And the Master the door of liberation has indicated.
Mind and body in loving devotion to the Lord are dyed :
The Lord is realized as He Himself guides. (2)
In each being is He pervasive :
None other than He is real.
Hostility and opposition to others and fear and doubt are cut off,
As the Lord, holiness incarnate, His law has fulfilled. (3)
Escaping from the mighty Maya-waves has the self reached the shore,
And breach of multiple births repaired.
As the Lord His glance of grace has cast,
Has come repetition of the Name, austerity and contemplation. (4)
Wherever the Lord's servants abide,
Joy, happiness and weal there lives.
As has the Lord shown grace,
Are ended goblins of sins of multiple births. (5) P. 1349
Fruitless are burnt offerings, penance and worship with head downwards,
And bathing at a million holy spots.
Should one lodge in heart for an instant the Divine lotus feet,
And repeat the Lord's Name, are all objectives[1] fulfilled. (6)
Higher than the highest is the Lord's abode,
Which God's devotees equably contemplate.
I seek dust of feet of God's humble slaves[2] :
The Beloved Lord of all powers is repository. (7)
The Lord that is close to us, is our mother and father.
Lord, who art companion and friend, in Thee lies my trust.
With the strength of His arm has He succoured His servants.
Nanak finds life in repeating Name of the Lord, repository of merit. (8) (3.2.7.12)

In the Measure Bibhas-Prabhati—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Maran jīvan kī shankā nāsī

Gone is anxiety over death and life,

1. (These are devotion and liberation).
2. Slaves' slaves.

And poise in its true aspect has been manifested. (1)
As is manifested light, effaced is darkness,
And by contemplation is obtained jewel of the Name. (I-Pause)
Wherever is joy, suffering therefrom flees far,
And the mind's jewel by devotion to the essence is covered. (2)
All that happens is by Thy Will :
Whoever realizes this in serene poise is absorbed. (3)
Saith Kabir : Shattered are all sins,
As the mind in the Life of the Universe is absorbed. (4) (1)

Allahu eku masīti basatu hai awaru mūlakhu kisu kerā

If Allah abides in the mosque alone, whose is the rest of space ?
The Hindu conceives the Divine Reality in idols to abide—Neither[1] has realized the Essence. (1)
Thou who art Allah and Rama, by Thy Name do I find life :
Lord ! show me grace. (I-Pause)
The Lord of Hindus in the south[2] abides,
While Allah is believed to live in the west
Seek Him in your heart, in the heart seek Him—
This alone is His abode. (2)
The Brahmin twenty-four fasts over the year observes,
The Kazi[3] in the month of Ramadan :
Eleven months have they kept aside, and in one alone seek the Divine Treasure. (3)
What point bathing at Puri in Orissa, what good bowing the head in mosque ?
As namaz they offer, in heart they bear hypocrisy—
What good pilgrimage in Kaaba ? (4)
All women and men created are Thy forms, Lord !
Kabir is child of Rama-Allah;
All the holy teachers are ours. (5)
Saith Kabir : Listen you males and females !
With the Sole Lord seek shelter.
Repeat the Name immaculate; then alone for certain shall you
find liberation. (6) (2)

Awwali Allah nūru upāiyā kudrati kei sabh bandei

God[4] first created Light : all else to His might subject.

1. That is, neither the Hindu nor the Muslim.
2. That is, at Jagannāth Pūrī.
3. Muslim divine.
4. (The word in the original is Allah).

Since from one Light is the whole world created—who is noble, who inferior ? (1)
Folks, brethren ! be not lost in illusion.
The Creator is in the creation; in the creation abides the Creator,
Pervasive everywhere. (I-Pause)
One clay has the Creator shaped in innumerable forms : P. 1350
Neither is the clay-vessel defective nor the Potter. (2)
The holy One in all abides; all happens as by Him Willed.
Whoever His Ordinance realizes, and knows Him to be Sole,
Alone deserves to be called God's servant. (3)
Allah is unknowable, inaccessible; the Master to me, dumb one
Sweet sugar has given to taste.
Saith Kabir : Fled is my doubt; in all beings the Immaculate
Lord have I beheld. (4) (3)

Beid kateb kahahu mat jhūṭhei jhūṭhā jo na bichārai

Call not Vedas and the Koran false; one who contemplates not these is false :
If you say God in all beings abides, why kill a hen ? (1)
Mullah, this principle of Divine justice to thee I state,
Yet goes not doubt from thy mind. (I-Pause)
A creature hast thou caught and brought, whose life is extinguished :
And this dead clay hast thou slaughtered.
Its light in the Immortal Divine Essence gets absorbed[1]
What then has thou slaughtered according to the code ? (2)
When with duplicity is thy heart namaz thou dost perform,
What good Haj at Kaaba ?
What good washing thy limbs, washing the face and bowing the head in mosque ? (3)
Thou that art impure, the Immaculate One hast not beheld,
And His mystery not realized.
Saith Kabir : Paradise hast thou missed, and on hell fixed thy heart. (4) (4)

Sūnn sandhyā terī Dev-Devākar adhpati ādi samāī

Lord, store of light, cosmic void, supreme Primal Lord
all-pervasive,
To Thee I offer worship.

1. Halāl in the original, implying slaughter according to the Muslim shariah.

Siddhas[1] in absorption Thy extent have not realized,
And Thy shelter seek. (1)
Brother ! this is the Immaculate Supreme Being's worship-offering ;
Venerate the holy Preceptor.
Brahma standing, the Vedas contemplates
Yet is the unknowable not realized. (I-Pause)
Making the Divine Essence the oil, the Name the wick,
And the enlightened self the lamp—
Lighting this lamp the Lord have we invoked :
This mystery the enlightened alone realize. (2)
In the Lord's presence are sounded the five instruments[2] unstruck.
Lord formless, immaculate, Thy servant Kabir
Thus has offered Thee worship. (3) (5)

In the Measure Prabhati—Composition of Venerable Bhakta Namdev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Mana kī birthā manu hī jānai kai būjhal āgai kahīyai

The state of the self to itself alone is known,
Or may be stated to one endowed with understanding.
As the Lord, controller of the inner self I contemplate—
Why may I fear any ? (1)
The Lord, Master of the universe with love has pierced me—
The Lord that in all spots is pervasive. (I-Pause)
The mind is itself the shop, the market and the grocer.
The mind in various moods abides,
And over the world wanders. (2)
As the mind in the Master's Word is dyed, its duality in enlightenment is absorbed.
He is himself the Ordinance and the operator thereof—
With this equable thought are we made fearless. (3)
Whoever with full mind to the Supreme Being is devoted, Immortal is his Word.
Saith Nama[3] : The life of the Universe, the marvellous unknowable One in my heart have I found. (4) (1) P. 1351

Ādi jūgādi jūgādi jūgo jūgu tā kā antu na jāniyā

Unknowable is the extent of the Lord who is Primal since beginning of Time

1. Accomplished Yogīs.
2. Instruments of various sound-making media, such as wire, gut etc.
3. (Short for Namdev).

And age after age.
The Lord in all beings is pervasive—thus is His form described. (1)
Lord, embodiment of bliss,
In the second of the Word art Thou manifest. (I-Pause)
In the forest is the sandalwood tree
Whose fragrance is joy-giving.
The Lord is the origin of all fragrant plants and of sandalwood. (2)
Thou art philosopher's stone; iron I'
By Thy touch I turn gold.
By Thy grace, Thou who art cherished as diamond and ruby,
In eternal truth is Nama[1] absorbed. (3) (2)

Akül Purakh iku chalitu upāiyā

The Lord above play of thought a marvel has created—
In each being is the Supreme Being hidden. (1)
None of the Divine Light of the self has knowledge;
Yet what I have done, to Thee is known. (I-Pause)
As is clay shaped into pitchers,
In each being abides the Creator-Lord. (2)
Deeds are bonds of the self;
Yet all happens as ordained by Him. (3)
States Namdev in humility; The self obtains what it desires;
But abiding in the Lord above play of mind,
Immortal it becomes. (4) (3)

In the Measure Prabhati—Composition of the Venerable Bhakta Beni
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

tani chandanu mastaki pāī

Thy limbs with sandalwood paste are smeared;
On thy forehead placed tulasi[2] leaves,
Yet thy heart is like one holding knife in hand.
With murderer's[3] gaze like the stork dost thou appear absorbed,
With a Vaishnav's look as if even breath has left thy mouth. (1)
For long periods dost thou engage in prayer to the beauteous Lord,
Yet evil is thy gaze, thy nights and days wasted. (I-Pause)
Ever dost thou bathe thy body;

---

1. See not ante.
2. The basil plant, held sacred.
3. Thug is murderer, deceiver.

Two dhotis[1] dost keep and behave as if milk is thy sole diet.
In thy heart dost wear a drawn knife,
And habitually dost take away others' property.. (2)
Worshipping stones, on it dost mark Ganesha's circle,
And absorbed in devotion, dost keep awake of nights.
While thy feet in devotional dance engage,
Thy mind in evil deeds is absorbed.
Thou absorbed in evil, evil is this dance. (3)
On deer-skin seated, rosary of tulasi—beads dost wear,
With cupped hands to thy forehead dost apply paste.
Falsehood in thy heart, around thy neck
Rosary of Shiva[2] beads dost wear.
Thou evil one, Krishna's[3] name dost thou not utter. (4)
Whoever the essence of the self has not contemplated,
All his actions are hollow, blind.
Saith Beni : Let man by the Master's guidance
On the Lord meditate.
None without the holy Preceptor finds the path. (5) (1)

1. Dhotī is long loin-cloth.
2. Rudrāksh=a seed looking like Shiva's eye.
3. Krishna here implies God.

RAGA JAIJAIWANTI

In the Measure Jaijaiwanti—Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being; Creator— P. 1352
Immanent;
Above Fear : Above Rancour; Form Eternal; Unincarnated; Self-created;
Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

Rāmu simari Rāmu simari ihai terai kāji hai

Contemplate, contemplate the Lord : this alone shall stead thee.
Discard Maya-association, and with the Lord take shelter
Know the world's joys to be unreal; false is all this show. (I-Pause)
Know wealth to be unreal as dream :
For what art thou proud ?
Royal authority over the earth is frail as wall of sand. (1)
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Thy body shattered shall be.
As came yesterday to end instant after instant,
So shall today be. (2) (1)

Rāmu bhaju Rāmu bhaju janamu sirātu hai

To the Lord be thou devoted—thy life is passing off.
How shall I say it again and again ? foolish man understands it not.
This body is like a ball of hail—before long shall it be shattered. (I-Pause)
All doubt cast off; repeat the Lord's Name :
At the end this alone shall accompany thee. (1)
Discard evil pleasure as poison; the Lord's laudation in your heart cherish.
Nanak, servant of God thus warns aloud :
Your time is passing off. (2) (2)

Rei mana kaun gati hue hai terī

My self ! what is the state thou art in ?
In the world hast thou not listened to the Name Divine.
To evil pleasures deeply attached,
Thy understanding from these hast not taken away. (I-Pause)
Taking human birth, yet not for an instant the Lord hast contemplated.

By pleasure of woman subdued,
By this thy feet fettered. (1)
Nanak, servant of God, thus warns aloud :
Like a dream is expanse of the world.
Why not contemplate the Lord,[1] whose handmaid
Maya is ? (2) (3)

Bīt jai hai bīt jai hai janamu akāju rei

Thy life purposelessly is passing.
Listening night and day to Scriptures,[2] P. 1353
Yet thoughtless one, no realization hast thou got.
Death has arrived : from it where shalt thou flee ? (I-Pause)
The body that thou takest to be eternal, dust shall turn.
Thou stupid, shameless one ! why contemplate not
the Lord's Name ? (1)
Bring into your heart devotion to the Lord,
And pride of heart discard.
Thus saith Nanak, servant of God :
In this wise live in the world. (2) (4)

Slokas in Sahaskrit[3]—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being; Creator-Immanent;
Above Fear, Above Rancour; Form Eternal; Unincarnated;
Self-created; Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

Parhi pustak sandhiyā bādan

You study scriptures, perform the evening service—All this is of no avail.
Stones you worship, and like the stork make only pretence of absorption.
Your tongue utters falsehood, which you show as pure gold,
Even while Gayatri[4] of three lines you contemplate.
Wearing a string of beads, on your foreheads you apply
the paste-mark;
Keep two dhotis and your forehead with wet cloth cover.
Whoever knows the true ritual of God-realization,
Knows all such ritual to be hollow,

1. Murāri.
2. Purāna=mythological scriptures.
3. This is the name of variety of language, close to Sanskrit in form and structure.
4. A Vedic mantra.

Saith Nanak : Therefore with faith on the Lord meditate.
Yet this path without guidance of the holy Preceptor
Is not attained. (1)
Fruitless is the birth of such as realize not the Supreme Being.
By the Master's grace is crossed ocean of the world.
Saith Nanak after contemplation :
Almighty is the Lord.
All causes under the Creator's power lie,
Who the world has propped. (2)
The Yogi's objective is enlightenment; the Brahmin's function is recitation of Vedas.
The Kshatriya's action in heroism lies;
The Sudra's in serving others.
But for one who realizes the Divine mystery, one Sole path is for all.
Saith Nanak : To Him am I a servant, who by Maya is umpolluted. (3)
One Lord[2] is supreme over all deities, as also the universal Self.
The Self is image of the pervasive Lord,
Should one this mystery realize.
Nanak is servant to Him, who by Maya is untouched. (4)

Slokas in Sahaskriti[3]—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being; Creator-Immanent;
Above Fear; Above Rancour; Form Eternal; Unincarnated;
Self-Existent; Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace.

Katanch mātā katanch pitā katanch banitā binod sūtah

Since when is man's relationship with mother, since when with father,
Since when has existed joy in wife and child ?
Since when is formed love for brother, friend, companion;
Since when attachment to the family ?
Since when is formed attachment to the nimble Maya, P. 1354 attractive in look,
That at sight deserts ?
Only contemplation of Lord lasts,
Saith Nanak : Only by children of the Eternal[4] is this attained. (1)

1. Shabda=Lit. Word.
2. Krishna.
3. See note ante.
4. Implies saints of God.

Cursed be attachment to mother and father;
Cursed be attachment to brothers and relations.
Cursed be attachment to joy with wife and progeny;
Cursed be attachment to objects of household.
True attachment is with the holy congregation;
Those forming it, saith Nanak, in joy abide. (2)
Unreal is the body that loses its powers.
In increasing attachment to Maya old age increases.
Much is man's expectation, though in house of the body
he is only a guest.
Dharmaraja who is terrible of aspect, our breaths counts.
This body hard to attain, into well of attachment falls;
Saith Nanak : alone is our prop.
Seek therefore, the Lord's grace. (3)
The body is a clay-chamber, made from water and with blood and skin plastered.
Nine are its doors,[1] yet is it devoid of walls;
Air its pillar.
The unenlightened contemplate not the Name Divine,
And regard the body as permanent.
Saith Nanak : This body hard to attain,
Under shelter of the holy congregation
By repeating Name of the Lord, annuller of suffering is saved. (4)

Subhant tuyam achüt güṉagyam pūranam bahü loki pālā

Thou that knowests of all merits, who art eternal,
perfection incarnate,
Gracious in abundance great is Thy beauty.
Profound, lofty, all-knowing, limitless art Thou.
To Thy devotees at Thy feet dost grant lodgement.
Thou who art cherisher of the helpless, Nanak with Thee
seeks shelter. (5)
At sight of the prey the hunter to kill it fixes fatal devices;
Yet wonderful it is—whomsoever the Lord protects,
Not a hair on his body is hurt. (6)
He for whose protection powerful men endeavour,
And in four directions mighty men serve him,
And who in an inaccessible spot lives,

1. Refers to nine apertures of the body.

Where death his mind enters never—
When comes Divine Being's command.
Saith Nanak, even an ant his breath may draw out. (7)
To love the holy Word and bear compassion,
Is the deed worth doing in Kali-Yuga.
Of such are effaced doubts and delusions entering them.
Such behold the Lord pervasive in all spots,
Whose sight of unfailing effect is,
Who on the tongues of the holy abides.
Saith Nanak : These the Name of the beloved Lord repeat. (8)

Ghaṭant rūpam ghaṭant dīpam ghaṭant ravi shashīyar nakhyitra gaganam

Man's beauty is constantly on decline;
Declining are countries,
Sun, moon, stars and the sky,
The earth, mountains, trees and continents.
On the decline is love of wife, son and brother;
On the decline too are gold, jewels and forms of wealth :
Only the eternal Lord from decline is immune.
Saith Nanak, immutable are the holy. (9)
Anyone with whom is pleased the Lord
Does good without delay, but in contemplating evil hesitates;[1]
The Name he firmly repeats and discard avarice;
Under shelter of the holy are his sins destroyed.
By such a one are all aspects of righteousness attained. (10)
Man with his small understanding in world attachment is as dead,
And to pleasure with wife is attached;
Attached also to beauty, power and ornaments of gold;
To marvellous mansions, attractive clothes P. 1355
And thus grips him Maya.
To the Lord, eternal, refuge of the holy Nanak makes obeisance. (11)
Man is subject to birth, death, joy and sorrow,
Enjoyment and suffering maladies.
Sometimes is he high, at other times low; sometimes small, at other times great.
When wielding royal authority honour he gets;
Sometimes is he full of pride, again is he humiliated.

1. Delays.

Treading the path of absorption in the world at the end comes death.
Devotion to the Lord in the holy congregation brings immutability,
As saith Nanak, on the cushion of devotion one sits. (12)

Kirpant Harīyam mati tattu giānam

As comes the Lord's grace, the understanding acquires illumination of the Essence;
Flourishes enlightenment and one attains the place of felicity.
Man then suppressing his impulses, discards pride.
As is confirmed in heart enlightenment of the holy,
Is it joy-cooled.
Man then absorbed in the Divine vision from transmigration is emancipated.
Saith Nanak : In his heart then sounds the instrument of
the holy Lord. (13)
Men of merit in various ways expound scriptures,[1]
To which the disciples listen.
Those having Divine grace this knowledge firmly grasp.
Saith Nanak : We beg for the Name and inclination to charity,
That the Master, image of the Lord grants. (14)
Man should not entertain anxiety about mother, father or brother.
Nor about people in general;
Not must he be anxious about wife, progeny and friend—
All these relationship arise from Maya-created worldliness.
The Lord, Supreme Being is gracious, and all beings cherishes. (15)
Evanescent are wealth, mind and desires of various kinds.
Evanescent is attachment binding to pride
By illusion is man bound by Maya impure and evil.
Those with foul understanding that contemplate not the Lord
In innumerable births wander, in heat of the womb lying.
Saith Nanak : Lord that art gracious to creation,
Thou dost save the fallen in company of the holy. (16)

Giranti giri patit pātālam jalant de dīp baisvāntarah

Should one fall from the mountain or fall to the nether-world,
Or burn in flaming fire;
Be carried away by endless waves of water—

1. Vedas.

Greater than these is anxiety about the suffering's grip that brings on transmigration.
This anxiety, saith Nanak, by various devices is not removed,
The Sole prop is the Lord of the holy. (17)
Should one be gripped by terrible suffering, be guilty of much bloodshed,[1]
Should be involved in poverty of numerous births and in great suffering be caught :
By contemplation of the Name Divine are all these effaced,
Saith Nanak, as fire consumes wood. (18)
By Divine contemplation turns darkness into light,
And by contemplation of Divine merit are annulled sins.
Should the Name in the heart abide, are Yama's minions terror struck,
As such a one mighty pure deeds performs.
By listening to Divine merit is such a one from transmigration released;
All joys come to him and his very sight is bringer of fulfilment.
Saith Nanak : The Lord, beloved of devotees, bestower of refuge,
Felicity confers. (19)
The Supreme Being, bountiful
To the hindermost grants the first place, to those in despair fulfilment;
By His grace the indigent turn wealthy; of the sick are the maladies ended.
To the devotees devotion He grants, and laudation of Divine merit and the Name Divine.
Saith Nanak : All boons by service to the Master
are obtained.[2] (20)

Adhram dharam dhāraṉah nirahanam dhan nām narharah

The puissant Name to the shelterless is shelter, to the indigent wealth.
The Lord to the helpless is cherisher, to the feeble strength. P. 1356
To all beings gracious eternal, friend of the humble.
The Lord is all-knowing, perfection incarnate, beloved of devotees, compassionate.
In each being the Supreme Being, the Lord lodges and is pervasive.

1. Murders.
2. What is it that by service to the Master is not obtained ?

Nanak seeks favour of the gracious Lord,
That never may be He cast out of his mind. (21)
Neither have I strength nor inclination to serve Nor devotion to the Supreme Being.
Nanak by your grace the Name contemplates;
Divine Master, show grace. (22)
To all beings the Lord provides sustenance,
Grants place of rest and apparel.
The jewel among incarnations, the human birth He grants
Bringing conscious realization of God.
By His grace beings in joy and bliss do abide.
Saith Nanak : Those contemplating ever the Lord,
From attachment to the evanescent creation are released. (23)
Kings reap reward of good done in previous births.
With understanding perverted the people they oppress,
And for long periods bear suffering in transmigration. (24)

Brithā anūgraham Gobindah jasya simraṉ ridantarah

Those devoid of Divine grace or contemplation of the Lord in heart,
Even though apparently hale, are greatly sick,
By being forgetful of the Lord full of grace. (25)
To discourse on the Lord all-holy and to laud Him
Is the true aim of assuming the human body.
Saith Nanak : God's devotees quaffing the ambrosial
Name of God
Never get satiated. (26)
Of the holy the temper is forbearing,
And friend and evil-doer to them are alike.
Saith Nanak : Alike to them are friends serving viands of numerous varieties,
And the calumniator poised with arms to attack. (27)
Such are not dishonoured, nor is their respect shattered;
Repute they lose not; nor do the world's suffering touch them.
In company of the holy the Name Divine they repeat :
Saith Nanak, such creatures in joy abide. (28)

Sainā sādh samūh sūr ajittam sannāham tani nimratāh

Of such is the heroic, unconquerable army made up of holiness;
Ou their limbs they wear armour of humility.
Their weapons contemplation of Divine attributes,
The Master's Word their shield.

Realizing the Divine path is for them riding steeds, chariots and elephants
As by Divine laudation they mount the assault,
Fearless they go about and the enemy's hords flees.
Saith Nanak : The whole world they conquer as the five thieves[1] they subdue. (29)
The false understanding to the world is attached,
Which is unreal as mirage or the magic city in the sky or as tree shadow.
Even thus is attachment to family false,
Saith Nanak : God's devotees the Name Divine Contemplate. (30)
Neither am I repository of knowledge of scriptures, nor have I merits nor have done Divine laudation.
Neither has my throat power to create the jewel music nor am I slick and smart of understanding.
By the rise of good fortune is attained the wealth of holy company,
Saith Nanak, herein even an imbecile turns scholar. (31)
The Name Divine is the pleasing rosary hung round the neck;
Bearing devotion is the pouch[2] to carry the rosary.
Utterance of noble verses by the tongue brings release and joy to sight. (32)

Gür-mantra hīn̲as jo prān̲ī dhrigant janam bhrashtn̲ah

Cursed is the creature devoid of the Master's teaching, foul his birth.
Stupid is he and like to dog, hog, ass, P. 1357
crow and snake. (33)
Saith Nanak : One bearing in heart in devotion the Divine lotus feet
And the Name,
And in company of the holy singing Divine laudation
Never shall see Yama's minions. (34)
Wealth, beauty are not unattainable, nor rule in paradise;
Fine viands are not unattainable, nor fine vestures.
Progeny, friends, brothers, relations are not unattainable, nor joy with wife.
Proficiency in knowledge is not unattainable, nor nimbleness of understanding :
The Name Divine alone is unattainable,

1. The five sources of evil are implied.
2. A small pouch in which the rosary was concealed to avoid notice by others, to eschew pride.

That saith Nanak, in the holy congregation by Divine grace is attained. (35)
Wherever in paradise, the mortal world and the nether world I look,
Is the Lord pervasive,
Saith Nanak, unalloyed and uncontaminated is He. (36)

Bikhyā bhayanti amritam drishṭām sakhā swajanah

By devotion to the Name, by grace of the Master,
image of the Lord,
Poison turns ambrosia, evil foes well-intentioned friends,
Suffering becomes joy and one gripped by fear fearless is rendered. (37)
The Lord, donor of poise to all grants me too poise;
He who purifies all, to me too grants purity.
He who is Creator of all, is my Creator too,
And is without taint or blemish. (38)
Neither is the bright moon so cool, nor the pigmy sandalwood;
Nor is the winter season so cool :
Saith Nanak, truly cool are the holy of noble temper. (39)
Those whose incantation is the Name Divine,
Whose meditation in the Lord all-pervasive is fixed;
Whose illumination lies in regarding suffering and joy alike,
Whose pure way of life is to bear no rancour;
Whose sustenance Divine laudation in Maya's water untouched remain as the lotus;
Who to friend and foe they discourse alike, to the Lord in faith devoted;
Whose ears listen not other's calumy; discarding the ego of all are they dust.
Saith Nanak : Such in the six merits are perfect,
Their name the holy, of pure hearts. (40)

Ajā bhogant kand-mūlam basante samīpi keharah

The goat may feed on fruits and roots, yet it may live close to the tiger :
Saith Nanak : Such is the state of the world,
That by turns feels sorrow and joy. (41)
Those practising fraud, seeking others' faults, putting impediments in the way of others,
And committing sins and evils foul;

Having doubt, attachment, intoxication of pride and insulting others
In Maya are involved.
These die are reborn and wander in hell—
Not by innumerable devices are these saved.
Saith Nanak : Only those repeating the Name Divine in company
of the holy
Are purified,
As perpetually Divine merits contemplate. (42)
By seeking shelter with the Lord, worthy to contemplate
comes liberation.
The Lord perfection incarnate is almighty and bestower of charity.
To the despairing hope He brings, and is home of all boons.
Saith Nanak : All creatures contemplate the Lord,
repository of merit
Of whom all creatures beg boons. (43)
By His grace spots inaccessible become easy of access. P. 1358
And great afflictions turn into joy;
By His grace reprobates and back-biters who by evil words create differences and doubts turn good;
By His grace the mind in sorrow and joy remains poised,
And one shattered with fear turns fearless;
By His grace one caught in thicket of fear is as living in a large city—
Such is characteristic of righteousness, by Divine grace obtained.
Saith Nanak : In company of the holy repeat the Lord's Name
And seek shelter at feet of the gracious Lord. (44)

Hei ajit sūr sangrāmam ati balnā bahu mardanah

Thou attachment ! unconquered, hero in battle, mighty hero,
Many hast thou over thrown;
Divine choristers,[1] gods
Human beings, animals and birds hast thou deluded :
To the Lord Creator I make obeisance,
Saith Nanak, and with the Lord of the Universe seek shelter. (45)
Lust, that lodges beings in hell and in innumerable births whirls them;

1. Gandharva.

Heart-charmer, over the three worlds wandering,
Destroyer of prayer, austerity and noble conduct;
By a little pleasure dost thou render human beings destitute;
Art nimble and among high and low pervasive.
Saith Nanak : In holy company and seeking shelter with the Lord,
Comes release from they fear. (46)
Wrath that art root of strife, with thee rises compassion never;
Beings passion-gripped by thee are subdued,
And dance like apes.
Such with innumerable penalties by Yama's minions are visited—
Only the low in character keep company with thee.
Saith Nanak : The Lord, shatterer of suffering of the humble, compassionate,
From thee protects beings. (47)
Avarice, that to the great art attached,
Who in many waves of passion play.
Beings in various ways rush and in different manners move about.
In thy involvement one loses shame with friends,
With God,[1] relations, mother and father.
Under thy influence what is forbidden is done, what is banned for eating is consumed,
What is not to be accomplished is accomplished this thou dost.
Nanak to the Lord cries for succour,
And supplicates the mighty Lord.[2] (48)

Hei janam maraṉ mūlam ahankāram pāpātmā

Egoism that are source of transmigration, the very essence of sin !
Friends thou dost desert, to foes art attached,
And innumerable Maya-tricks dost spread.
By thee beings transmigrate to exhaustion and undergo much suffering and pleasure.
Thereby in a fearful forest[3] they wander, and in a terrible,
incurable malady are caught.
Saith Nanak : To the Lord make thou supplication :
The Supreme Lord is the true physician. (49)
Thou Lord of our life, treasure of grace, Master of the Universe,
Annuller of maladies of the world, gracious, remover of suffering !

1. The beloved object of worship.
2. Nar-Hari.
3. Used symbolically for doubt.

Thou who art true refuge of all, compassionate,
Saviour of the humble ! grant Your grace.
Nanak, be his body hale or shattered, contemplates Thee,
Who art the Lord.[1] (50)
By seeking shelter with the Divine lotus feet and uttering the Lord's laudation,
Saith Nanak, in company of the holy
Crossed is the great, terrible, impassable ocean of the world. (51)
The Supreme Being is protector of our head and forehead;
The Lord is protector of our hands and limbs.[2]
Our self the Lord protects, our substance and feet[3] the Lord of the Universe.
Of all the gracious Master is protector, annuller of fear and suffering.
Nanak with the Beloved of devotees, cherisher of P. 1359
the helpless,
Eternal Being seeks shelter. (52)

Jen kalā dhāriyo ākāsham baisantram kāsht besṭam

He whose might has propped the sky, and confined fire in wood;
He whose might has given light to moon, sun and stars
And in the body propped breath;
He whose might in mother's womb has cherished us,
So that maladies of the belly afflict not.
Saith Nanak : His might also has held the ocean, so that waves of water destroy not the earth. (53)
The Lord of mighty aspect whom all creatures contemplate,
Saith Nanak, in holy company is attained,
In the noble path of God's devotees. (54)
Saith Nanak : Those that in holy company contemplate the Lord
And with Him seek shelter,
Even though petty as mosquitoes, may shatter mountains,
And even though small as flees, cross marshes;
Even though maimed, the ocean may cross
And even though blind, in darkness find light. (55)
Worthless as is a Brahmin without the paste-mark,
As a king without authority,

1. Rāma Damodar Mādhav.
2. Body.
3. Implies the body.

As a warrior without arms—
Such is a Vaishnava devotee without righteousness[1] (56)

Na Shankham na chakram na gadā na siyāmam

The Lord neither holds in hand the conch nor the disc or mace,[2]
Nor is his complexion dark.[3]
Wondrous is His aspect, from birth exempt.
The Vedas cry about Him 'Not this, not this.'
The Lord is all-high, great, limitless,
In the heart of the holy abiding, eternal.
Saith Nanak : Him the greatly fortunate alone realize. (57) Man in the forest of the world abides, wherein those related to him
Abide like dog, jackal, ass.
Hard is this spot, wherein the mind by wine of attachment is intoxicated,
And in it live the five irreclaimable thieves.[4]
In attachment and fear does man wander,
With the tormenting, hard noose round his neck.
In this word is unextinguishable fire of desire,
And the terrible ocean, with shore inaccessible, hard to cross.
Saith Nanak : In holy company to the Lord be devoted;
By seeking shelter with the Divine feet by His grace shalt thou be saved. (58)
By grace of the Lord, cherisher are all maladies cured.
Nanak in company of the holy to the Divine attributes gives utterance.
And with the Lord, all-perfection, takes shelter. (59)
Man may be beauteous as the dark Krishna and sweet-spoken,
But if in his heart rancour he bears,
False are his vows :
The holy of pure heart are ever awake. (60)

Achet mūṛāh na jāṉant ghaṭant sāsā nitprate

The thoughtless, mindless man realizes not that breaths ever are decreasing,
And the handsome body declines,

1. Dharma.
2. (These are symbols of Vishnu).
3. This is the reputed colour of Krishna.
4. (These are the five sources of evil).

Gripped by the hag death.
Man in the show of family is absorbed,
In the evanescent desires and evil pleasures.
Wandering in numerous births, exhausted.
Saith Nanak, with the Lord gracious have I sought shelter. (61)
My tongue, taking delight in delicious objects,
Sweet-tasting things please thee.
To truth dead, in great contentions involved,
In utterance of holy words, such as Govind, Damodar, Madhav.[1]
Be thou engaged. (62)
Those that are proud of intoxication of pleasure with woman,
And considering themselves powerful, aggressive,
To the Divine lotus feet unattached—
Are worthless as straw, cursed their birth,
Thou flea contemplating the Lord, great[2] and blessed art thou.
To such a one Nanak innumerable times makes obeisance. (63)
Even though a straw, one turns a mountain; P. 1360
Even though dried up, grows verdant.
One sinking can swim;
Even though empty is filled.
One though dark, is illumined like a million suns,
States Nanak in humility, as the Divine Master shows grace. (64)

Brahmaṉah sangi üdharṉam

In association with Brahmins comes liberation,
Should tbe Brahmin perform perfectly the Brahmin's duties.
Those in the world attached to their self,
Saith Nanak, remain unfulfilled. (65)
To grab others' wealth and place numerous impediments in the way of others;
To preach to others for one's wherewithal;
To have desire for grabbing is to have the mind Maya-gripped :
Of such the actions are as those of hogs. (66)
Those intoxicated with absorption in the Divine feet
Cross beyond the impassable ocean of existence.
Saith Nanak : Company of the holy innumerable sins takes away—
Have not doubt of it. (67) (4)

1. (These are attributive names of the Lord).
2. Heavy.

In the Language Form Gatha[1]—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Karpūr puhap sūgandhā paras mānūkh deham malīnam

Camphor, roses and other fragrant substances
By touching the human body are fouled.
The body of foul-smelling marrow, blood is made up,
Yet ignorant man of it is proud. (1)
Should man reducing himself to an atom,
Over skies, countries and continents
In the twinkling of an eye wander,
Saith Nanak, without guidance of the holy Finds he not liberation. (2)
Know death to be a fact; false is whatever is visible.
Saith Nanak : Divine laudation sung in company of the holy Alone shall accompany man. (3)
Maya by fixing man's mind among loved ones, friends and relations
Has deluded him.
Saith Nanak : By devotion to God in company of the holy
Is attained the abode of joy. (4)

Mailāgar sangen nimmu birakh si chandanah

Low trees growing close to sandalwood turn sandalwood themselves.
Yet the bamboo abiding close to it,
Saith Nanak, by its egoism of height
Is not fragrant made (5)
By discoursing and contemplation of the utterance
Embodying Divine laudation
Is smashed pride;
The five foes saith Nanak,
By the arrows of God's Name are destroyed. (6)
The words of the holy are the path of joy;
By great good fortune are these attained.
Saith Nanak : By uttering Divine laudation
Is man from transmigration freed. (7)

---

1. This is the same as Sahaskrit, ante.

As are withering leaves shed, and again
To the tree's wealth of branches are not attached;
Thus saith Nanak, one without the Name
In tormenting[1] births day and night wanders. (8)

Bhavānī sādh sangeṉ labhantam baḍ-bhāgaṉah

Devotion in holy company by great good fortune is attained.
Saith Nanak : In the way of those uttering Divine laudation
The ocean of the world appears not. (9)
The Lord's deep limitless laudation the rare among human beings can understand.
Discarded is worldly desire,
Saith Nanak, as in holy company is the Lord contemplated. (10)
Noble incantation of words of the holy
A million sins destroys.
Saith Nanak : Meditation on the Divine lotus feet
To man's entire family brings liberation. (11)
Beautiful is the temple wherein is sung Divine laudation.
Those contemplating the Lord are liberated;
Saith Nanak : This by great good fortune is attained. (12)

Hari labadho mitra sūmitto

Attained is the noble friend, the Lord,
Who breaks not heart of any. P. 1361
Limitless is His abode and extent.[2]
Nanak has made Him his being's friend. (13)
By the birth of a noble son is effaced the family's ignominy,
So also by contemplation in heart of the Master's Word.
By contemplation of the beloved, eternal Lord
Saith Nanak, man swims across ocean of the world. (14)
Forgetfulness of the Lord is true death;
Meditation of the Name Divine is life.
This, saith Nanak, by the Primally recorded writ
In holy company is attained. (15)
As by the serpent-healer's incantation
Is the snake rendered fangless and
The poison cast out,
So do the holy efface the mind's maladies :
These, saith Nanak, by good fortune are found. (16)

1. Hard, difficult.
2. Weight.

Jath kath ramnam sharnam sarbatra jīyanah

The Lord pervasive everywhere, of all beings is refuge.
Saith Nanak : Love for Him by grace by the Master's sight arises. (17)
As the heart by the Divine lotus feet is pierced,
Attained is all weal.
Saith Nanak : The noble spirits from Primal Time
Divine laudation sing. (18)
To discourse on the pure Word, to sing it in holy company
Brings liberation.
Saith Nanak : Thus is swum the ocean of existence—
Then occurs no more transmigration. (19)
Those that contemplating scriptures[1]
The Sole Name Divine in heart cherish,
Saved is their entire family.
Saith Nanak : By great good fortune is a rare one saved. (20)

Simaranam Gobind-Nāmam ūdharnam kūl samūhanah

By contemplation of the Lord's Name
Is one's whole clan saved.
This saith Nanak, in holy company is attained,
Whose sight by great good fortune is met. (21)
By discarding of all evils is confirmed in mind
Righteousness in all its aspects.
Saith Nanak : This in the company of the holy is attained
By the Writ inscribed on one's forehead. (22)
The Lord who destroys and creates, has existed in the past, is present now
And shall ever be.
Saith Nanak : Know it firmly that devotion to Him
Through the holy arises. (23)
Those immersed in pleasures of the flesh
That are frail like kasumbha,
Saith Nanak, are prey to maladies,
suffering and alienation,
And have joy not even in dream. (24)

1. Vedas, Purānas, Shāstras.

Phunahe (Hymns with Repeated Burden*)—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Hāthi kalamm agamm mastaki lekhāvatī

Lord who art unrealizable ! in Thy hand is held the Pen
Wherewith over foreheads destiny Thou dost record.
Indescribable Thy form, yet with all beings involved.
My tongue Your laudation is unable to express.
Nanak by Your sight is charmed,
And to You is a sacrifice. (1)
May I sit in company of the holy and Divine laudation express.
May I dedicate all decoration to the Lord and
To Him sacrifice life.
Full of yearning for the Spouse, for Him may I make[1] the couch.
Lord ! by good fortune inscribed on forehead
May the Divine Friend be attained. (2)
Sister-friend [2] with collyrium, necklace and betel-chewing have I decked myself :
Decking myself with sixteen embellishments,[3]
Collyrium have I applied.
Should the Spouse step into the house,
Are all boons attained.
Lord ! without the Spouse is all self-decking a waste. (3)
Supremely fortunate is the female in whose home abides the Spouse. P. 1362
All decking befits her; of blessed matrimony is she.
In this state am I sleeping from worry freed—
Fulfilled are all my desires.
Lord ! as is the Spouse come home, are all boons attained. (4)

Āsā ittī ās ke ās purāīyai

So intense is my desire—pray fulfil it.
By grace of the holy Preceptor is the Lord,
all-perfection attained.
My self of blemishes is full—

1. Lit spread.
2. Symbol for fellow-seeker.
3. (This is the traditional number of items of female decking in India).

*Phunahe—In these verses occurs repeatedly a vocative, Harihān, interpreted as Lord !

Blemishes over it spread.
Lord ! as is the holy Preceptor's grace come,
Is the mind poised. (5)
Saith Nanak : On the Lord without limit have I meditated.
Existence that is impassable, by the holy Preceptor's help is crossed.
As is attained the Lord all-perfection,
Is transmigration ended.
Lord ! the ambrosial Name Divine from the holy
Preceptor is obtained. (6)
In my hand is held lotus of the Name,
Whereby in the courtyard of my heart in joy I abide.
Sister-friend ! around my neck are hung jewels[1]
At sight of which flees suffering.
With the Lord I abide, who of all joys is store—
The Lord ! in whose hand abide ever
The miraculous powers and the Nine Treasures.[2] (7)
Those that go out with other's women folk to flirt
To shame are subjected.
Those that ever take away other's property,
How may their faults be covered ?
By contemplation of God's holy merits
Is one's whole clan saved.
Lord ! those listening to contemplation of the Supreme Being
With purity are invested. (8)

Ūpar banai akāsu talai dhar sohatī

Above is the sky looking beauteous, below is spread the lovely earth.
In all ten direction, flashes lightning
That searches for[3] the Beloved's face.
Yet the Beloved I seek in alien lands—how Him to attain ?
Lord ! should good fortune on forehead be inscribed,
Is one in His sight absorbed. (9)
All spots have I beheld; none to thee[4] is like.
Founded by the Supreme Being, the Creator, dost thou look splendid.

1. Used symbolically for the Name.
2. See Glosarry.
3. That is, flashes on.
4. Refers to Rāmdāspur in the next line, earlier name of Amritsar.

Ramdaspur[1] abides densely-populated, limitless, unique.
Lord ! by bathing in the Pool of Ram Das[2] are sins cast off. (10)
With heart passionate like the chatrik should the Divine
Beloved be sought.
He alone should be sought to whom is life devoted.
The chatrik for a drop of water over forests wanders distracted.
Lord ! even thus God's devotee seeks Him—
Nanak to the Lord's Name is a sacrifice. (11)
Unique is the Divine Friend's heart,
Unknowable its mystery.
One that seeks merits limitless the Essence realizes.
As heart into heart absorbed, comes intense joy.
Lord ! as are destroyed the restless thieves,[3]
Is attained wealth of truth, (12)

Süpanai ūbhī bhayee gahiyo kī na anchalā

As in dream I stood, why
His lappet I grasped not ?
As the Being beauteous I beheld standing
Was my heart robbed.[4]
His holy feet I seek—tell me, where these to attain ?
Sister-friend,[5] would someone reveal to me the device
Whereby the Beloved be attained ? (13)
Miserable are the eyes beholding not the holy.
The ears listening not to the holy Word had better be dammed.
The tongue not uttering the Name should in P. 1363 small bits[6] be cut.
Lord ! as is put out of mind the Lord,
Day after day comes decline. (14)
The lotus tied to the muddy soil;
Intoxicates the humming bee by its fragrance.
Its limbs in it caught, its purity has forgotten—
Is there a helper who this hard knot may loosen ?
Saith Nanak : The Lord alone the broken string may join. (15)
Out of love for the Lord in innumerable directions I run,
The five minions of evil oppress me—how these to destroy ?

1. (As in the foregoing).
2. That is, the Pool called Amritsar.
3. The sources of evil are meant.
4. That is charmed.
5. Implies fellow-seeker.
6. In small bits such as a sesame grain.

Shoot the sharp arrow of meditation on the Name Divine.
Lord ! by union[1] with the Master perfectly endowed
Can these great mischief-makers be destroyed. (16)

Satigūr kīnī dāti mūli na nikhūttaī

The boon granted by the holy Preceptor
Noway is exhausted :
This you consume to satiety—by the Master's guidance shall come release.
The Lord in His grace has granted treasure of the ambrosial Name.
Saith Nanak : Ever to the Lord be devoted—
Never shall death then come to you. (17)
Beautiful is the spot to which God's devotees resort.
By meditation on the Name Divine come all joys.
All creatures on such cry hail; their traducers in jealousy burn.
Saith Nanak : The holy by repetition of the Name obtain joy. (18)
The holy Lord, purifier of the fallen never we serve.
How long may last involvement in false joys
That ignominy bring ?
Why find pleasure in the world of illusion[2] ?
Lord ! to such am I a sacrifice
As at the Divine Portal are honoured. (19)
Foolish man has done numerous foul deeds.
The body of this stupid one smells foul; ultimately to ashes shall it turn.
Involved in dust of pride he goes about, forgetful of death.
Why take the world of illusion[2] to be real ? (20)

Jis kī pūjai audh tisai kauṉu rākhaī

Who may save one whose time of life is ended ?
How long may physicians suggest remedies ?
Fool ! contemplate the Sole Lord that may stead thee.
Lord ! without the Name the body shall turn dust
And all shall go waste. (21)
Sip the invaluable medicine of the limitless Name.
God's devotee in unison sip it, and to all others offer it.
This by such is obtained as are destined to receive it.

---

1. By finding.
2. A mirage in the skies called Hari-Chandaurī or Gandharb-nagarī.

Lord ! to such am I a sacrifice as joy in God experience,
Assembled is the group of Divine physicians. (22)
The Lord Himself stood in their midst
To make their medicine of the Name efficacious.
All their deeds in the form of goodness have spread.
Lord ! thereby all pain and malady from the body is cast off. (23)

Chaubole (Discourse to four listeners*)—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Samman jau is prem kī damu kihu hotī sāṭ

Listen Samman ! if devotion for money could be exchanged, Know, Ravan was no pauper, who offered his severed head to Shiva. (1)
The body in love is totally absorbed; not a mustard-grain's distance is left.
The heart by the Divine lotus feet is penetrated—
Such realization comes when the mind to the Lord is united. (2)
Listen Musan ! wandering over the ocean, mountains, P. 1364
Wilds, forests, and the nine continents of the earth
In loving devotion, all this is counted as just one step. (3)
Behold Musan ! the light of love that over the sky is spread
In this devotees like humming-bees in the lotus are pierced, bound and wrapped. (4)
Listen Musan ! repetition of texts, austerities, self-discipline, joy, honour, respect and pride—
All for a particle of devotion shall I sacrifice. (5)
Listen Musan ! the world that dies and is deluded, realizes not the mystery :
By love and devotion is it not pierced,
And in false dealings is involved. (6)
As are house and substance burnt,[1] out of attachment, in alienation from these is one miserable.
Listen Musan, one truly is robbed only when the gracious
Supreme Being is alienated. (7)

---

*These are, Samma Mūsan, Jamāl and Patang.

1. Robbed.

Whoever has enjoyed devotion, in heart contemplates the Divine lotus feet.
Saith Nanak : Those suffering in separation from the Lord nowhere else go. (8)
The restless mind climbs millions of high hill-tops, and suffers :
Listen Jamal ! humble is the lowly marsh,
Out of which is born the lotus. (9)
For the Divine Beloved of lotus eyes, with black collyrium,
Moon-faced, painted beautifully,
Listen Musan ! absorbed in His mystery my pearl string would
I break to pieces. (10)
As in love for the Beloved am I absorbed,
Of my body am I forgetful in contemplating Him.
Saith Nanak : Listen Patang ! The lowly devotee over the whole world is made famous.[1] (11)

Slokas—the composition of the Venerable Bhakta Kabir
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace
Kabīr merī simarnī rasnā ūpari Rāmu

Saith Kabir : God's Name borne over my tongue is my true rosary.
All devotees of all times by repeating the Name
Joy and poise have attained. (1)
Saith Kabir : All make fun of my caste.[2]
I to this caste am a sacrifice where in the Creator
I have contemplated. (2)
Kabir ! why be in doubt ? Why make thy heart shake ?
Quaff joy of the Lord of all, the Name Divine. (3)
Saith Kabir : Some that wear earrings of gold, studded with rubies,
Without the Name, appear as burnt-out reeds. (4)
Saith Kabir : Rare is such a one as dies to the world while living;
Who rendered fearless the Divine attributes contemplates,
And wherever he looks, beholds the Lord. (5)
Saith Kabir, since the day that my ego died have I attained joy.
With the Lord have I attained union :
You of the holy congregation, to the Lord be devoted. (6)

---

1. Another rendering of the last line :
The lowly moth over the whole world for its devotion is grown-famous.
Patang—moth; also the name of one of those four the holy Guru's discourse in this hymn is addressed.
2. This saint belonged to the weaver caste, reckoned low.

Saith Kabir : Whoever reckons that he is worst of all,
all others are good—
Is my true friend. (7)
Saith Kabir : Came to me Maya under several disguises.
By the Master was I saved ! make obeisance, alone
she left me. (8)
Saith Kabir : Destroy pride, whose destruction joy shall bring.
One so doing universal acclaim shall get,
Never ill-spoken of. (9)
Saith Kabir : In the dark nights rise men with black deeds; P. 1365
Rush along with nooses—know such to be accursed of God. (10)

Kabīr chandan kā birvā bhalā beṛhiyo dhāk palās

Saith Kabir : The sandalwood plant even though surrounded by dhak[1] and idle weeds is good;
These too living close to sandalwood turn the same. (11)
Saith Kabir : The bamboo despite its height[2] is degraded[3] :
Even though abiding close to sandalwood, is the bamboo not made fragrant. (12)
Saith Kabir : For the world has man forfeited godliness,
Yet the world goes not with him.
Thoughtless man on his own feet has struck the axe. (13)
Saith Kabir : Wherever I have gone, a wonder is in each place :
Places other then those full of love for God to me are as ruins. (14)
Saith Kabir : Blessed is the hovel of God's devotees;
Cursed the habitation of the evil-minded.
Burnt be the mansions where God's Name is not uttered. (15)
Saith Kabir : Why mourn the death of the holy
That to their own home have returned ?
Mourn rather the death of materialists[4]
That in transmigration shall wander. (16)
Saith Kabir : The materialist[4] is foul like the bit of garlic;
Which even though you consume on top of the roof,
Will yet become apparent. (17)

1. An inferior trifoliate plant.
2. Greatness, loftiness.
3. Is sunk in dishonour.
4. Sākta.

Saith Kabir : The body is the churn, the air of breath the churning-rod.
God's devotees out of it consume butter : the world only taste of whey. (18)
Saith Kabir : This body[1] is the churn, in it blows the wind cool as ice.
Those churning it have tasted of butter, others who churn will taste it too. (19)
Saith Kabir : Maya is a thief, who out of stolen things set up shop.
Kabir alone by her is not robbed, who into twelve pieces has chopped her. (20)

Kabīr sūkhu na enhu jūgi karahi ju bahūtai mīt

Saith Kabir : Those with numerous friends are in this world not truly happy;
Those setting heart on One Sole God, are forever joyful. (21)
Saith Kabir : Death that terrifies the world, to me brings joy :
Through death alone is attained the Supreme, the perfect Bliss. (22)
Kabir, after attaining Divine wealth, loosen not the knot.[2]
Here is not trading centre,[3] or gold-tester or buyer; nor the proper price. (23)
Saith Kabir : Love thou such as have God for Master :
Little good are these priests, rulers, kings. (24)
Saith Kabir : By loving the Sole Lord, is anxiety for all else shed
It is all whether thou wear thy hair long or crop them close. (25)
Saith Kabir : This world is a chamber collyrium-filled, into which fall the blind.
To such am I a sacrifice as after falling, from it escape. (26)
Saith Kabir : This body must depart, hold it back if thou hast the power.
Those possessing millions, all bare-footed have departed. (27)
Saith Kabir : This body must depart; put it on some right path :
Either enter into company of the holy or Divine laudation chant. (28)

1. Māyā, i.e. the body made by Māyā.
2. (The knot holding it in a lappet is implied).
3. Lit. City.
4. Duality, uncertainty.

Saith Kabir : The whole world lies, yet few know how truly to die :
Those that thus die, nevermore face death. (29) P. 1366
Saith Kabir : Hard to attain is the human birth, and comes not again and again :
Fruits of the forest, falling to the ground,
Again to the branch set not fixed. (30)

Kabīrā tūhī kabīru tū tero nāuṇ Kabīr

Kabir ! thou that art called Kabir[1] great-such is thy name.
But the Divine jewel by discarding of carnal passions[2] alone
is attained. (31)
Saith Kabir : Brag not in pride; nothing by your will happens.
The benevolent Lord's grace no way can be effaced. (32)
Saith Kabir : On God's touchstone pass not the ungenuine.
Such pass God's test as are as dead while living. (33) Saith Kabir : Those wearing bleached dresses and chewing betel-leaf and betel-nut,
Without devotion to God's Name, in bonds to Yama's demesne are led. (34)
Saith Kabir : The body's boat is old, with a thousand holes.
Those that are light shall swim, those heavily-laden sink. (35)
Saith Kabir : The body's bones burn as firewood, the hair as grass.
Kabir at sight of the world burning is made sad. (36)
Saith Kabir : Be not proud of the bones wrapped in skin :
Those with umbrellas waving over them mounted on horseback,
At the last in earth are buried. (37)
Saith Kabir : Be not proud of tall mansions :
In a day or two on the earth shall you lie, the grass growing over you. (38)
Saith Kabir ! Be not proud and laugh over the poor :
Your boast is still in tbe sea, who knows
What will happen to you next ? (39)
Saith Kabir : Be not proud of your fine-looking body.
This in a day or two shall you desert, as the snake its skin. (40)

Kabīr lūtanā hai to lūti lai Rāma-Nāma hai lūti

Saith Kabir : Plunder of the Lord's Name is afoot—
Loot it if you cau.
As ends life, shall you only have regrets. (41)

---

1. Kabir literally menas 'great'.
2. Lit. Body.

Saith Kabir : None is such[1] as to set fire to his own house;
Who burnings his five sons,[2] to the Lord should be devoted. (42)
Is there such a one as may sell off sons and daughters,[3]
Join partnership with Kabir and make commerce with God ? (43)
Kabir gives this warning, lest any doubt be left.
All thy former pleasures are hardly worth a lump of jaggery. (44)
Saith Kabir : I took learning to be good, then Yoga to be superior to learning.
But God's devotion I shall not give up,
even though the world calumniate me. (45)
What shall this poor world, lacking enlightenment, say to calumniate Kabir ?
Kabir discarding all else contemplates the Lord. (46)
Saith Kabir : The skirt of this life, stranger in the world is on fire on all sides.
Burnt is the body's quilt, but the thread of the self is unscathed. (47)
Saith Kabir : The body's quilt is burn to cinders,
And broken is begging-bowl;[4]
The poor Yogi of the self after life's play is gone, P. 1367
At this seat remain only ashes. (48)
Saith Kabir : Life's fish is in shallow water, were the fisher has cast his net.
In this puddle[5] shall be no eseape; so contemplate
the ocean.[6] (49)
Saith Kabir : Give not up the ocean, ever though it be salt.
While seeking puddles,[5] none shall say a good word about you. (50)

Kabīr nigusāeṇ bahi gaye thāṇghī nāhīṇ koe

Saith Kabir : Those uninstructed by the Master are carried off by the current, none to prop them.
Be content with humility and poverty; be the rest as God wills. (51)
Saith Kabir : Of the godly even a dog is good, of the misbeliever
the mother is evil—

1. Born such.
2. The five impulses of evil.
3. Implies desires.
4. Implies the body-structure.
5. Implies pursuit of the world.
6. Implies devotion to God.

One ever to the Name Divine listens, the other goes out trading is sin. (52)

Saith Kabir; Weak is the deer, green the Lake.[1]
Amid a million hunters is the single life—
How long I shall it cheat death ? (53)

Saith Kabir : May a man make his home on the Ganga bank, and taste of its pure water,
Yet without devotion to God shall he not find liberation—
With these words departs Kabir. (54)

Saith Kabir : Purified is the heart like Ganga-water.
Then follows after him God, shouting 'Kabir ! Kabir !' (55)

Saith Kabir : Turmeric is yellow, flour white in hue.
For union with the Lord, true Friend, should both colours[2] be eliminated. (56)

Saith Kabir : Should turmeric lose its yellowness and flour give up its whiteness,
To such love would I be a sacrifice in which caste, clan and family is eliminated. (57)

Saith Kabir : Narrow is the door to liberation, tenth part of a mustard seed.
My self ! thou hast turned elephant—how mayst pass through it ? (58)

Saith Kabir : Should one attain the holy Preceptor who be pleased to show grace,
Would the door of liberation become wide open granting easy passaged. (59)

Saith Kabir : Neither hovel nor hut possess I, nor house and village.
Should the Lord ask who this is, no caste or name have I. (60)

Kabīr mohe marnei kā chāo hai maroun ta Hari kai duār

Saith Kabir : To die am I eager, at the Lord's doorstep to die,
That the Lord may ask, who is this lying at our door ? (61)

Saith Kabir : Neither have I accomplished aught or shall accomplish, Nor has my body the power.
All by the Lord is done, though to Kabir is it attributed.[3] (62)

---

1. Implies the world.
2. Implies distinctions of high and low.
3. Lit. The cry has gone, Kabir, Kabir (has done it).

Saith Kabir : Should anyone even in dream babble the
Name of God,
May my flesh be used to make shoes for his feet. (63)
Saith Kabir : Figures of clay are we, called men.
Four days' guests in the world are we, though much space we attempt to grab. (64)
Saith Kabir : Like henna have I pounded myself in the way of the Lord,
Yet He turns not to me, to His feet never applying me. (65)
Saith Kabir : The Portal to which entry or exit is not barred,
How may such a Portal be deserted ? (66)
Saith Kabir : Sinking was I, but was instantly buoyed up by the wave of merit. P. 1368
When I found the ship shaky, instantly I got down. (67)
Saith Kabir : The evil-doer likes not devotion, nor worship of God pleases him.
The fly sandalwood paste throws off and on foul-smelling objects settles. (68)
Saith Kabir : Physicians and their patients, the whole world must perish.
Kabir alone shall not die, who to none is attached, whom none shall mourn. (69)
Kabir on the Lord has not meditated, a strong bad habit has gripped him.
This body is a pot of wood, that a second time on the fireplace may not be put.[1] (70)

Kabīr aisī hoe parī mana ko bhāvatu kīnu

Saith Kabir : Such is my state, I have done what my heart sought after.
Now that coconut[2] in hand I have grasped,
why fear death ? (71)
Saith Kabir : Suck merits like juice of sugarcane,
And with tears seek merits.
None says a good word about those lacking merit. (72)
Saith Kabir : This body is like a pot full of water,
That in a day or two shall burst.

---

1. Implies the impossibility of the human birth again.
2. A coconut was grasped by the woman performing suttee, symbolizing inflexible resolve.

Those not contemplating the Master, midway shall be robbed.[1] (73)
Saith Kabir : God's cur am I, Moti my name.
a string tied to my neck, I go wherever He draws me. (74)
Kabir ! Why show to the world your rosary made of wood ?
What good this rosary if from your heart you contemplate
not the Lord ? (75)
Saith Kabir : In my heart is lodged the serpent of separation from God
One alienated from God lives not; should he live, shall he be like mad. (76)
Saith Kabir : One is the character[2] of philosopher's stone and sandalwood.
By their touch are exalted iron and wood that no fragrance bear. (77)
Saith Kabir : Grievous is Yama's rod, hard to bear.
A holy man that met me, to his lappet attached me. (78)
Saith Kabir : The physician claim merit, with control over medicine.
Life is God's substance, which He shall snatch as pleases Him. (79)
Saith Kabir : For ten days you may beat drum of your glory.
Life is like companionship on a boat on the river,
That may not again be had. (80)

Kabīr sāt samundeh masu karouṇ kalam karouṇ banrāe

Saith Kabir : Should I make ink of the seven seas and make all vegetation my reed-pen,
Should the whole earth be made paper,
Still would Divine merit be beyond expression. (81)
Saith Kabir : What harm my weaver's caste ? the Lord in my heart abides.
As Kabir to his bosom clasps the Lord,
Are all his entanglement ended. (82)
Saith Kabir : None is such as to burn down his body's tenement,
And slaying his five sons of passion, fix his devotion on God. (83)
Saith Kabir : None is such as to burn down[3] his body;
The world purblind realizes not what Kabir is crying aloud. (84)

1. That is, by Māyā.
2. Lit. Fragrance.
3. Symbolic expression, discard.

Saith Kabir : The suttee mounting the funeral pyre cries,
Listen brother pyre !
The whole world shall depart—we two ultimately P. 1369 shall be together. (85)
Saith Kabir : The mind turned bird, in ten directions flies.
Each gets fruit of the kind of company he keeps. (86)
Saith Kabir : The Lord in whose quest we wandered, was found in our own place.
He whom thou didst consider separate from thyself
As from the world thou didst turn away,
Was thy own self. (87)
Saith Kabir : In foul company am I ruined,
As banana plant near ber.[2]
As shakes the ber is the plantain pierced, look not towards reprobates. (88)
Kabir ! with others' load on thy head dost thou seek to make a journey;
Not fearing thy own burden is too great,
Realizing not the path in the hereafter is hard. (89)
Saith Kabir : The wood burnt in forest fire cries out,
Lest it should fall under the blacksmith's power,
Who may burn it once again. (90)

Kabīr ek marantei dūe mūe doe maranteh chāri

Kabir ! with the death of one died two, with two four.
With four died six—four males and two females.[3] (91)
Saith Kabir : Over the world I searched, finding poise nowhere.
Those contemplatiug not the Lord, iu what pursuits lost ! (92)
Saith Kabir : With the holy keep company that may last till the end.
Keep not company with the reprobate[4] that brings destruction. (93)
Saith Kabir : Those contemplating God realizing Him to be pervasive in the world,

---

1. The five senses that prompt the mind to evil.
2. A thorny plant bearing sweet berries, jujube.
3. Symbolically these are : Pride, attachment, rancour, lust, wrath, avarice, attachment, desire and hunger etc. With this sloka is also associated a scene of the killing of a pregnant doe by a hunter; the hunter dying of snake-bite and his wife dying of grief.
4. Sākta.

Over the world get reputed.
Meaningless is the birth of those not contemplating
the Lord's Name. (94)
Saith Kabir : Repose your life in God; all other hope to disappointment is doomed.
Take those unattached to the Lord's Name to be fallen into hell. (95)
Saith Kabir : Many I made my disciples, but made not friends with God.
To seek union with the Lord on a journey we started,
But on the way to Maya became attached. (96)
Saith Kabir : What can poor resources do when God is not helpful ?
Any twing on which I step, bends down. (97)
Saith Kabir : Those preaching to others have dust falling over their faces.
Guarding over others' grain heaps, their own crop is eaten away. (98)
Saith Kabir : With the holy keep company, even though barley busks you have to eat.
All that has to happen must happen—go not near the reprobate. (99)
Saith Kabir : In company of the holy each day love for the Lord is on the increase.
The reprobates black blanket no way by washing shall turn white. (100)

Kabīr manu muṇḍiyā nahīṇ kes muṇḍāe kāeṇ

Saith Kabir : With the mind unreformed, what good only close cropping the hair ?
Whatever is done is by the mind—useless it is to remove the hair.[1] (101)
Saith Kabir : Discard not God, even though life and substance be lost.
With the mind penetrated by God's lotus feet,
in the Name Divine be absorbed. (102)
Saith Kabir : Of the instrument strummed by me are all strings snapped.

1. Close-cropping the head is resorted by certain mendicant orders. For 'unreformed' the original is 'unshorn'.

How may the poor instrument speak when the self,
its player departs ? (103)
Saith Kabir : Shave off the head[1] of the mother of the preceptor. P. 1370
Who removes not doubt.
Such in hollow pursuit of scriptures[2] are lost;
Ruined too are their disciples. (104)
Saith Kabir : All sins committed have we concealed.
All are revealed when Dharmaraja makes reckoning. (105)
Kabir ! discarding contemplation of the Lord, much have you cherished your family.
In these affairs are you exhausted, though all relations are departed. (106)
Saith Kabir : Discarding contemplation of the Lord,
Women go to arouse the dead at night.[3]
Such are reborn as she-serpents, consuming their own offspring. (107)
Saith Kabir : Should woman discarding contemplation of God, observed the ahoi fast,
A she-ass will she be born, carrying heavy loads. (108)
Saith Kabir : The best of devices is in the heart to cherish the Lord.
This is like gambling on the pike, wherefrom fallen,
no shelter one finds. (109)
Saith Kabir : Blessed is the tongue that the Lord's Name utters.
Thereby not the individual only, shall the whole town be purified. (110)

Kabīr soī kūl bhalī jā kūl Hari ko dāsu

Saith Kabir : Noble is the clan wherein is born God's devotee.
Like inferior wood and weeds is the clan wherein arises not God's devotee. (111) Saith Kabir : One man possess horses, elephants, herds of cows, numerous chariots,
Waving pennents, symbolizing millions in money—
Better than such pleasures is begging, when days in Divine contemplation are passed. (112)

1. In idiom, dishonour.
2. The four Vedas.
3. (These are tāntrik practices).

Saith Kabir : Over the whole world have I wandered, carrying on my shoulders the drum of self announcements :
None for another is—this have I fully tested. (113)
A blind man has appeared over the path pearl-strewn.
Without God-given light the world thus passes along. (114)
Ruined is Kabir's family with son Kamal[1] born therein :
Discarding contemplation of the Lord, money has he brought home. (115)
Saith Kabir : Take not along any when to meet the holy you go;
And step not back, but go forward along. (116)
Kabir is not bound by the rope by which is bound the world.
The body like salt is melting, like gold in fire. (117)
Saith Kabir : Fled is the swan of life, the body about to be buried,
Still does man make signs to his relations about buried wealth,
And leaves not low gestures. (118)
Prayeth Kabir : May my eyes behold Thee, my ears listen to Thy Name;
May my speech utter Thy Name, and Thy lotus feet in my heart rest. (119)
Saith Kabir : By grace of the holy Preceptor have
I discarded thoughts of heaven and hell.
Ever in joy of God's lotus feet abiding. (120)

Kabīr charan kamal kī mauj ko kahi kaisei ünmān

Saith Kabir : How may one give the idea of joy in God's lotus feet ?
No good prating of it; only by its sight is its view formed. (121)
Kabir ! What may I express of what I have beheld ?
None my word credits.
Unique is the Lord—in singing His praise P. 1271 find I joy. (122)
Saith Kabir : The female crane while cropping, contemplates its young,
And with each morsel so contemplates.
As love for the young in the crane's heart, is love of Maya in man. (123)
Saith Kabir : The sky with clouds is overcast
And ponds and pools with rain are filled.

1 (Name of Kabir's son).

Pitiable is the state of such as still like the chatrik pine in thirst. (124)
Saith Kabir : The chakwi[1] that at night from the sun is separated,
At dawn find union.
Beings alienated from God find union neither by day nor night. (125)
Saith Kabir : Conch that from the sea art separated, in it remain;
Else at daybreak wouldst thou cry from temple to temple. (126)
Kabir ! What art thou doing asleep ?
Wake and cry for fear of Yama's torment.
How can one with the grave for abode find comfort in sleep ? (127)
Kabir ! why art asleep ? Why not rise and contemplate the Lord ?
A day shall come when thou shalt sleep with legs outstretched. (128)
Kabir ! why art asleep ? Rise and be awake.
Find union with the Lord from whom art thou separated. (129)
Saith Kabir : Give not up following the holy; go along their way.
At the very sight of such is one purified and by their contact comes contemplation of the Name. (130)

Kabīr sākat sangu na kījīyai dūreh jāīyai bhāgi

Saith Kabir : Mix not with misbelievers;[2] from a distance flee such.
Touch of a sooty vessel a stain must leave behind. (131)
Saith Kabir : The Lord have you not contemplated; comes is old age.
With fire spread to the building's door what can you retrieve ? (132)
Saith Kabir : All has been caused as by the Creator willed.
None other than He has power; He is the Sole Creator. (133)
Saith Kabir : The fruit has appeared and ripening are mangoes.
Should these be free from blight, the Master shall they reach. (134)
Saith Kabir : Some buy God's figures to worship, and in stubbornness of will visit bathing-spots.
In imitation of others such assume poses,
And are strayed. (135)

1. A bird passionately in love with the sun.
2. Sākta.

Saith Kabir : Over the whole world those that worship stones as God,
In such belief shall sink in mid-stream. (136)
Saith Kabir : Some make a cell of paper[1]
With door of ritual written in ink.
The world by stone-worship is ruined, and Brahmins rob it. (137)
Saith Kabir : What thou hast to do today, do right now;
What now has to be done, do immediately.
Nothing shall later be done when death over thy head stands. (138)
Saith Kabir : A person I have seen, glistening like washed lac-gum,
Very smart in discourse, apparently full of many qualities,
But devoid of true understanding, impure. (139)
Saith Kabir : Yama shall not dishonour my understanding,
As the benevolent Lord, Creator of Yama have
I contemplated. (140)

Kabīru kastūrī bhayā bhavar bhaye sabh dās

Saith Kabir : The Lord is like musk, all devotees like humming-bees over Him hover.
With devotion of the Almighty[2] does one in P. 1372
Him find lodgement. (141)
Kabir in his family is deeply absorbed, while the Lord is left aside.
As swooped minions of Dharmaraja, scattered is all glamour. (142)
Saith Kabir : Even the pig is better than the misbeliever,[3] as it keeps the village clean.
As the wretched misbeliever[3] dies, none his name mentions. (143)
Saith Kabir : By hoarding cowrie-shells man millions garners.
At time of departure nothing do such carry away;
Stripped even of their loin cloth. (144)
Kabir ! what if thou art turned a Vaishnavite, and assumed four rosaries ?
Such from outside look twelve-carat gold, within are stuffed with brittle lac. (145)

1. Implies certain kinds of religious texts. Also implies involvement with scriptures.
2. Kabīr=great, a pun is intended here.
3. Sākta.

Saith Kabir : Turn into a clod lying on the way,
and thy mind's pride discard.
Union with God shall come about when such a servant of God is met. (146)
Saith Kabir : What good turning a clod, that will only hurt the wayfarer ?
Thy servant should be such as dust lying on the earth. (147)
Saith Kabir : What merit turning dust that flies on limbs settles ?
God's servant should be like water, mixing with all. (148)
Saith Kabir : What merit in turning water that is now cold, now hot ?
God's servant should be such as God Himself. (149)
Should one possess lofty mansion, gold and women,
And on top have pennents waving—
Better than all these is begged food consumed while singing
Divine praise in company of the holy (150)

Kabīr pāṭan tei ūjaru bhalā Rāma bhagat jih ṭhāe

Saith Kabir : Better than the city is a waste where abide God's devotees.
A spot without God's devotee to me is like Yama's demesne. (151)
Between the passage Ida and Pingala is the bank of poise.
Kabir there has settled, whose path great sages are seeking. (152)
Prayeth Kabir : May my devotion reach perfection, even as from the root it grew.
Not to speak of one, such devotion even million of diamonds cannot excel. (153)
Saith Kabir : A wonder have I beheld; the jewel devotion at the priest's shop is sold :
This that is beyond the buyer's capacity, for a cowrie-shell is being thrown away. (154)
Saith Kabir : Dharma is where enlightenment is;
sins where lies falsehood.
Where greed is, is death; where forgiveness,
there is God Himself. (155)
Saith Kabir : What avails it to give up wealth, when pride is not cast off ?
Pride to great sages has brought ruin; all it destroys. (156)
Saith Kabir : The true holy Preceptor I met, who shot an arrow of the holy word.

As is struck, into the earth was I mingled,
And was my breast pierced. (157)
Saith Kabir : What may the true holy Preceptor do when the disciples lack merit ?
Nothing affects these purblind ones, like wind blown through bamboo, making not sound. (158)
Saith Kabir : Be a woman endowed with horses, elephants, numerous chariots,
Be she a king's wife—
Yet will she not equal her who for a servant of P. 1373
God draws water. (159)
Saith Kabir : Why find fault with a king's wife and why honour the female devoted to God ?
Know : That one decks her plaits for lust, this one the Name Divine contemplates. (160)

Kabīr thūnī pāī thiti bhayee satiguru bandhī dhīr

Saith Kabir : Pillar of devotion have I fixed and came poise;
The holy Preceptor granted patience.
Saith Kabir : Thus on the bank of Mansarovar[1] have I bought a pearl. (161)
Saith Kabir : God is the jewel, God's devotee the jeweller;
With this he sets up shop.
Jewels exchanged can be when the connoisseur of jewels is met. (162)
Saith Kabir : People remember the Lord in time of need;
contemplate Him ever.
Thus shall you in Eternal city abide,
And the lost wealth of God recovered shall be. (163)
Saith Kabir : Best it is to serve these two—God's devotee and God.
While God confers liberation, the devotee contemplation of the Name inspires. (164)
Saith Kabir : A crowd follows along the Brahmin priest's way.
Hard to ascend is God's pass that Kabir has ascended. (165)
Kabir in suffering for the world is exhausted,
And in anxiety for his family passes life.
Where will family honour be when on the funeral pyre art thou put ? (166)

---

1. Implies the holy congregation.
Mansarovar is the famous lake in high Himalyas, said to yield pearls.

Saith Kabir ! Thou poor creature ! excess of anxiety for the world shall ruin thee.
Know, all that to the neighbour has happened to thee too shall happen. (167)
Saith Kabir : Blessed is bread begged, containing grain of various kinds.
Such a one no claims advances over the world and territory that is so vast. (168)
Saith Kabir : Those advancing claims are burnt; those with no claims are anxiety-free.
One making no claims reckons prince[1] and pauper alike. (169)
Saith Kabir : To the brink is filled the pool of devotion;
its water none can drink.
Kabir ! greatly lucky art thou; drink of it to thy fill. (170)
Kabīr parbhātei tārei khisehṇ tiuṇ ehu khisai sharīru
Saith Kabir : As decline stars at dawn, so declines this body.
Immune to decline are God's two[2] letters
That Kabir has grasped. (171)
Saith Kabir : In the world's house of wood is raging fire in all directions.
Those claiming to be scholars are burnt; the humble, reckoned ignorant, by good fortune are saved. (172)
Kabir ! cast off doubt and put all written paper afloat.
Contemplate the fifty-two letters[3] of the scriptures and to the Divine feet thy heart attach. (173) Saith Kabir : A devotee of God his saintly character shall not give up,
Even though a million of evil-doers meet him.
Sandalwood even when by snakes surrounded, gives not up its cool character. (174)
Saith Kabir : As Divine enlightenment I received, was my heart cooled.
The fire that the whole world has consumed, for God's devotee is as water. (175)
Saith Kabir : None understands the Creator's throw :
This either to the Lord is known or His devotee,
mad after Him. (176)

1. Indra—King of gods, implying King in general.
2. ('Rāma' is written down with two letters joined by a vowel-mark in Devanāgarī).
3. (This is the number of letters in the Sanskrit alphabet).

Saith Kabir : Good it is that in my heart is settled fear of God;
Thereby are all other considerations forgotten. P. 1374
The hail-stone melted has turned water,
And has joined the stream. (177)
Saith Kabir : By scooping of dust is tied the body's packet.
Behold four days after, to dust shall it return. (178)
Saith Kabir : All bodies by sunlight or moonlight are born.
All these from the Divine Master separated,
To dust shall turn. (179)
Where realization is, fear of transmigration remains not;
Where fear is, there is not God.
Kabir says this after contemplation; listen devotees of God in concentration of mind. (180)

Kabīr jinuhṇ kichhū jāniyā nahīṇ tin sükh nīṇd bihāe

Saith Kabir : The ignorant sleep in comfort;
We who realization have got,
Into great affliction are fallen. (181)
Saith Kabir : Under blows man cries much; with pain still more he wails.
When falls the stroke of Divine realization
Saith Kabir, is one tongue-tied. (182)
Saith Kabir : Easy it is to bear stroke of the pike, which takes away breath.
One who the blow of the Word has borne,
Is my Master, I his disciple. (183)
Saith Kabir : Listen thou Mullah, why climb the minaret ?
God is not deaf.
He to invoke whom dost thou cry azan,
In the heart search for Him. (184)
What good the Sheikh, devoid of content, going to Mecca to perform Haj ?
One with heart not free from guile[1]
Noway shall meet God. (185)
Kabir ! to Allah be devoted, whose contemplation banishes suffering.
Should the Lord in heart manifest Himself, by the Name is assuaged the burning fire. (186)

1. Whole heart.

Saith Kabir : Aggression and tyranny dost thou call lawful slaughter.[1]
When in God's count the reckoning is called,
what shall your state be ? (187)
Saith Kabir : Excellent dish is Khichri,[2] containing the amrita of salt.
Who would subject his throat to be cut for flesh food ? (188)
Saith Kabir : The Preceptor's influence is then only visible when from the self the fever of attachment is cured.
When joy and suffering burn not, then is the Lord solely visible. (189)
Saith Kabir : In the word Rama[3] is subtle distinction;
This is for consideration.
All call the incarnation Rama, which is also the name of the Divine worker of wonders. (190)

Kabīr Rāmai Rāma kahu kahibe māhen bibek

Kabir ! utter thou Ram's Name, but a distinction is there.
One is the Rama who in innumerable beings is pervasive;
The other an individual body fills. (191)
Saith Kabir : A home in which the holy are not served,
And service to the Lord is not rendered,
Is like the cremation ground, wherein goblins abide. (192)
Kabir, struck by the holy Preceptor's shaft
Is turned dumb, insane, deaf of hearing,
And maimed in feet.[4] (193)
Saith Kabir : As the heroic holy Preceptor shot his arrow,
When it struck, fell I to earth and was my bosom pierced. (194)
Saith Kabir : The pure drop of the Master's teaching on waste land is fallen.
Without the holy congregation take it to be turned to burnt ashes. (195) P. 1375 Saith Kabir : The pure drop[5] from heaven into the earth is absorbed,
Despite innumerable clever persons, is its effect not effaced. (196)

---

1. Implies slow slaughter according to the Muslim rite.
2. A mixture of rice and lentils cooked.
3. Rāma is the name of one of Vishnū's incarnations, the son of Dasrath, as also the name given to God. In slokas 190 and 191 this distinction in meaning is implied.
4. (Implies the state of one filled with Divine absorption).
5. Implies holy teaching

As Kabir for Haj to Kaaba was proceeding, met God on the way.
The Lord rebuked me, who told you I in that spot was confined ? (197)
Kabir numerous times performed Haj at Kaaba.
I asked the Lord in wonder, what fault lies in me,
That the master still does not speak to me ? (198)
Saith Kabir : Those that slaughter creatures by force and call it lawful meat,[1]
When their reckoning is called, what shall their state be ? (199)
Saith Kabir : All violence is tyranny, for which God shall seek the answer.
When their reckoning is presented, chastized shall such be. (200)

Kabīr Iekhā denā sūhelā jau dil sūchī hoe

Saith Kabir : Easy it is to present reckoning should the heart be pure.
Then in that holy court none by the lappet shall catch such. (201)
Duality ! within the earth and sky art thou mighty and indestructible.
Because of thee the six ascetic sects[2] and eighty-four Siddhas[3]
Into doubt are fallen. (202)
Nothing Lord, is mine; all that exists is Thine alone.
Nothing Lose I in rendering to Thee what is Thine. (203)
Kabir uttering Thy Name with Thee has become identical;
No egoism in me is left.
When thoughts of self and others are effaced,
Thou everywhere art visible. (204)
Saith Kabir : Of those contemplating evil-doing and entertaining false hopes
No objective fulfilled shall be;
In despair from the world shall they depart. (205)
Saith Kabir : Those contemplating the Lord are in the world full of joy.
One under protection of the Creator
no way shall be shaken. (206)
Saith Kabir : As in the oil press were we being crushed, the holy Preceptor rescued us.
Primal destiny thus manifested itself. (207)

1. Halāl in Muslim terminology.
2. Accomplished Yogīs.

Saith Kabir : In procrastination are days passed,
And interest is on the increase.
To the Lord have we not shown devotion, the deed[1] not torn,
And death has arrived. (208)
Sloka composition of Guru Arjan Dev
Kabir ! The barking dog runs after the carcase.
By grace is found the holy Preceptor who from such destiny has rescued me. (209)
Sloka composition of Guru Arjan Dev
Kabir ! on the land of the holy have come and settled thieves.
The land no burden feels, but these intruders thereby gain. (210)
Sloka composition of Guru Arjan Dev
Kabīr chāwal kāranei tukh kau muhlī lāe
Kabir ! for the rice-grain the straw too is battered.
For keeping company with the evil, Dharmaraja from such seeks the answer. (211)
*Namdev to Maya is drawn, says his friend Trilochan.
Why dye poplins and contemplate not God ? (212)
Namdev replies : Trilochan, repeat with P. 1376 thy tongue the Lord's Name;
With thy hands and feet engage in work—
Thy heart in the immaculate Lord keep absorbed. (213)
Sloka composition of Guru Arjan Dev
Kabir ! neither are we related to any, nor any to us.
In Him are we absorbed who this cosmos has made. (214)
Saith Kabir : My flour[2] into the mud is fallen, and is lost.
What is consumed[3] while grinding, alone is the gain. (215)
Saith Kabir : The mind aware of everywhere, yet does evil.
What weal when man holding lamp in hand still into the well falls ? (216)
Saith Kabir : Love for the Lord all-wise in my heart is aroused;
The ignorant world against this warns me.
How may life be passed by snapping love for him,
Whose is life and breath ? (217)
Saith Kabir : Why exhaust yourself in love of chambers and halls, embelishing these ?

---

1. The figure of 'interest' is symbolic.
*Slokas 212 and 213 Continued from Guru Arjan Dev.
2. Symbol for life.
3. Lit. chewed.

Ultimately three and a half cubits of earth shall avail you;
A few inches more if more.[1] (218)
Saith Kabir : What I contemplate, happens not;
What by my contemplation can happen ?
The Lord does what He contemplates,
That never crossed my mind. (219)
Sloka composition of Guru Amar Das Himself He inspires thought, and even without our thinking the bounty grants.
Saith Kabir : Laud Him who cherishes all. (220)
Sloka composition of Guru Arjan Dev
Kabīr Rāma na chetiyo phiriyā lālach māheṇ Kabir ! God man has not contemplated, and involved in greed has strayed :
In doing evil exhausted, and in an instant is his time ended. (221)
Saith Kabir : This body is an unbaked vessel of clay;
unbaked substance entirely.
To keep it safe to God be devoted; else will all be lost. (222)
Saith Kabir : Ever on the Lord cry; sleep not carelessly.
In crying for Him night and day, some time must
He listen of thy entreaty. (223)
Saith Kabir : This body is the Banana-forest,[2]
the mind an ego-intoxicated elephant.
Its goad is the jewel enlightenment; a rare holy devotee can guide it. (224)
Saith Kabir : Thy pounch of Divine jewels only before a true valuer unfasten.
Some time a customer at high price may buy it. (225) Saith Kabir : For the Name Divine have you not cared, and cherished your horde of a family.
Involved in affairs has man died, his voice never heard outside. (226)
Saith Kabir : In the twinkling of an eye has life's each moment passed.
The mind still leaves not its entanglements,
even though Yama's drum is beating. (227)

1. If more is given, three and three-quarters cubits.
2. Kajlī-ban or Kadlī-ban, a forest in Assām, elephant-infested.

Saith Kabir : Devotion to God is like a tree, renunciation its fruit;
The holy that all contentions have given up,
are like its shade. (228)
Saith Kabir : Cast a seed that for all twelve months may sprout;
That may yield cool shade, rich fruit where may birds play. (229)
Saith Kabir : The benevolent holy Preceptor is the tree, compassion its fruit,
On all creatures conferring favours.
The birds to other lands are flying;
Tree ! may you be fruitful ever. (230)

Kabīr sādhū sangu parāpatī likhiyā hoe lilāṭ

Saith Kabir : Company of the holy is attained by the P. 1377 writ of good fortune on the forehead inscribed.
Thereby is attained liberation's boon and on difficult paths
no impediment occurs. (231)
Saith Kabir : To have a dialogue with God's devotes for an hour, Half an hour or half even on that,
Is all a gain. (232)
Saith Kabir : Creatures that consume hemp, fish or liquor,
Even though visiting holy spots, keeping fasts and vows,
All to nethermost hell must go. (233)
With eyes downcast, the Beloved cherishing in heart
With Him may I have all joys, to none revealing these. (234)
For eight pahars and sixty-four gharis, may my self view Thee.
Why have my eyes downcast when the Beloved in all beings I behold ? (235)
Listen sister-friend[1] ! in the Beloved abides my self, in the self the Beloved.
Between the self and Beloved no difference I make;
In the body abide the self and the Beloved. (236)
Saith Kabir : The Brahmin is the whole world's perceptor, not of God's devotees;
In the four Vedas entangled is he consumed[2] to death. (237)
The Lord is like sugar scattered in sand, that the elephant cannot pick up.
Saith Kabir : Such is the Master's noble teaching, consume it by turning ant.[3] (238)

1. Image for fellow-seeker.
2. Implies fire of jealousy, envy.
3. Implies humility.

Saith Kabir : Shouldst thou bear love's yearning.
thy severed head turn into a ball;
In playing in ecstasy fall, reckoning not the rest. (239)
Saith Kabir : Shouldst thou bear love's yearning, with one firmly fixed in faith play this game.
Shouldst thou press raw mustard, it yields neither cakes nor oil. (240)

Dhūṇḍat ḍolahi andh gati aru chīnat nāhīṇ sant

Those that like the blind seek the holy but recognize them not, Saith Namdev, how may the Lord without His devotee aid be attained ? (241)
Utters Ravidas this truth : To hell such go.
As discarding the jewel God in aught else fix hope. (242)
Saith Kabir : Shouldst the householder's life thou enter, practise righteousness;
Else renunciation practise.
Should a renunciate into bonds of household duties fall.
Is he greatly unlucky. (243)
Slokas of Sheikh Farid
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized
by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Jiṭu dihāṛai dhan warī sāhei lae līkhāe

The day life-female in wedlock shall be claimed is pre-ordained;
Then the Angel of Death you have heard speak of, will show his face,
And draw this frail life out, twisting and torturing the frame
To the morrow of bones :
This day pre-ordained shall nowise be put off—
Tell this to thy life :
This life is the bride, death the bridegroom who will carry her away in wedlock.
On whose shoulders will the body weep after giving away the bride
With its own hands ?
Beyond is the Bridge,[1] narrower than a hair—
of that have you heard ?

1. Sirāt or Pul-sirāt.

Saith Farid : Full of deafening noises is it—
Let not thyself be robbed, standing idly. (1)
Farid ! hard is the way of God's devotees;
I follow the way of the world.
The bundle of the world that I carry, P. 1378
Where may I cast it off ? (2)
Worldliness is a hidden fire, clouding thought and vision.
I thank the Master, else would it burn me through. (3)
Farid, had I known the store[1] of life were so slender, Sparing would I be of picking handfuls of it.
Did I know the Beloved so indifferently proud,
Less would I show of vanity. (4)
Did I know the knot of love so frail, firmer would I tie it.
Lord ! none to me is dear as Thou—thus have I determined after wandering the world over. (5)
Farid, if thou be possessed of noble wisdom;
Blacken not thy life's record.
Look into thy life, what thy deeds are (6)
Farid, strike not back those that strike thee blows;
In utter humility and forgiveness[2] turn towards thy home. (7)
Farid ! time when thou couldst garner merit, wast thou engrossed in the world.
Now with death's foundation firmly laid must thou depart,
When thy sack is loaded. (8)
Look Farid ! what has befallen thee :
Thy beard turned grey,
Thy end approaching, the past far behind. (9)
Look, Farid ! what has come to pass :
Life sweet as sugar is turned to bitter poison.
To whom to relate my tale of sorrow but the Lord ? (10)

Farīdā akkhīṇ dekhi patīṇīyāṇ sūṇi sūṇi rīṇei kann

Farid, thy eyes have turned feeble,[3] thy ears lost power to listen;
The body is now like a ripening stalk,
Changing colour. (11)
Farid, those who thought not on God when the hair on head were black,

---

1. Lit. The store of sesame grain.
2. Lit. Kissing their feet.
3. Thin.

Rarely may they turn to Him while gone grey :
Show love to the Lord while the hue of youth is still on thee. (12)
Composition of Guru Amar Das
Farid ! the Lord with hair black or grey may be served,
as to Him one may turn.
This devotion comes not of man's own effort or desire.
This cup of the Lord's love comes to any
He choose to offer. (13)
Farid, I saw eyes that once captivated the world—
Eyes that at one time would bear not a daub too bold of collyrium
Pecked at by birds. (14)
Farid ! despite loudest shrieking warnings and exhortation to good,
For the heart led astray by Satan what turning away ? (15)
Farid, wouldst thou seek the Lord of all,
Look to the grass under thy feet :
Be like it cut and trampled.
Then wouldst thou enter the portal Divine. (16)
Farid, speak not ill of the earth; great is its merit :
While living, is it trampled by us;
Dead, it covers us over. (17)
Farid, love of God and greed go not together.
With greed is love rendered impure.
Such love is frail as leaking straw roof against rain. (18)
Farid, why wanderst thou over wild places,
Trampling thorns under thy feet ?
God in the heart abides : seek Him not in lonely wastes. (19)
Farid, once these frail legs of mine scoured over desert and hill :
Today the prayer-jug at hand is a hundred miles[1] removed. (20)

Farīdā rātīṇ waḍḍīyāṇ dhūkhi dhūkhi ūṭṭhani pās

Farid, in separation from the Master the nights seem endlessly long;
My sides burning.
Cursed is the life of those that have reposed hope P. 1379
in other than Him. (21)
Farid, may my flesh burn red like madder over embers of fire,
If ever I kept back anything from my heart's friends. (22)

1. Kos, a measure of distance a little over a mile.

Farid, the ignorant peasant seeks grapes of Bijawar while sowing thistless,[1]
And seeks to wear silk while carding and spinning rough wool. (23)
Farid, the lanes are muddy; the Beloved's home far;
Yet my love for Him is deep.
If I stir out, my cloak[2] shall get wet;
If stay back, am I false to my love. (24)
Let the cloak[3] be drenched through;
Let it rain ever so much—
Go I must to meet the Beloved,
So my love prove not false. (25)
Farid, I feared a touch of dust soiling my turban—simple heart !
A day shall come when dust will eat too into this head. (26)
Said Farid; sugar, candy, butter, rich buffalo's milk—Lord ! nothing for Thy devotes approaches the joy in Thee. (27)
Farid, my subsistence is one a dry crust[3] of bread;
Hard will be the lot of those seeking to indulge their palate with delicacies. (28)
Farid, eat thy dry crust of bread; take simple cold water :
Envy not the delicacies another is enjoying. (29)
This night I couched not with my Lord;
My limbs all with unfulfilment are in torture.
I ask the woman cast off,
In what agony must thy nights be passed.[4] (30)

Sāhurai ḍhoī nā lahai peīyai nāhīṇ thāoṇ

She who finds comfort neither in the husbands's home nor in the parents',
Neglected by her love—what kind of wedded wife would she be ? (31)
In the Husband's home or the Parents', is she her Lord's—the Lord inaccessible, unfathomable.
Saith Nanak, the happily wedded wife is one on whom falls favour of her Lord above desire.[5] (32)

1. Lis. Acacia plants.
2. Lit. Kamalī=small wollen sheet.
3. Lit. Bread made from wood.
4. (The symbolism herein is spiritual, as also in the next two slokas).
5. This sloka is of Guru Nanak Dev's composition, occuring in Vār Mārū, M. III, 6, p.1088.

Man's life is like a gaily-decked female,
Perfect in toilet and make-up in carefree sleep.
In the end is gone the fragrance of musk,
Odour of asafoetida alone remains. (33)
I fear not loss of youth were not the Beloved's love lost;
Many a youth has withered away for lack of love's sustenance. (34)
Saith Farid : Anguish is my bed, suffering the bed-string;
Separation from the Beloved my bed-sheets—
Such is my life.
Cast Thy glance of compassion on it, holy Lord. (35)
Sorrow of the Beloved's separation is[1] the Lord of life.
Saith Farid : Like to the cremation-yard is the heart that knows not such sorrow. (36)
Farid ! these poison- shoots[2] are sugar-coated.
Some there are who spend days cultivating these;
Others from the field uproot of them. (37)
Farid ! one part of thy day didst thou waste in wandering, part in sleep.
When God asks thee to render thy account,
What wilt thou say was thy life's doing ? (38)
Farid, hast thou noticed at the gate the bell, beaten without blame ?
What may then be the fate of us sinners ? (39)
The bell every hour, every quarter-hour is beaten.
Friend with frame fine as bell's,
Without devotion shall thy life be one of torment. (40)

Buḍḍhā hoā Sheikh Farīdu kambaṉi laggī deh

Sheikh Farid has gone old, all atremble his frame; P. 1380
Though life's span be a hundred years,
In the end will it turn to dust. (41)
Lord ! Farid begs this of thee :
Give me not to hang[3] on another's door for favour :
Should such be Thy will, take then this life out of my body. (42)
See the blacksmith with axe slung on shoulder,
A pitcher of water on his head,
Seeking to cut down a van tree :

1. Lit. All cry separation.
2. Reference to carnal pleasures.
3. Lit. Sit.

Saith Farid to thee, friend blacksmith :
I seek under it my Beloved,
Thou dost seek only charcoal. (43)
Farid, some there are that have excess of meal.
Other do not have even salt for it :
In the Beyond alone will it appear,
Which is subjected to hard blows. (44)
Those who commanded drums to be beaten for them,
Umbrellas to rise over their heads,
Trumpets to proclaim their glory—
Ultimately have they been led to rest in the graveyard,
Buried under the earth, helpless.[1] (45)
Saith Farid, those who erected vast mansions, halls and bowers—
False their doing,[2] ultimately the grave their abode. (46)
Saith Farid, thy quilt has numerous stitches to keep it together,
But none to thy frame.
Friend, all that are revered and great,[3]
Must depart when their time comes. (47)
Saith Farid : the Angel of Death steals in,
Despite our two burning lamps.
He takes the fort, denudes the vessel
And leaving, extinguishes the lamps. (48)
Farid, see how cotton and sesame are crushed in the press,
So also sugarcane;[4]
How paper and the pot are put into flames—
Such will be the punishment of evil-doers. (49)
Saith Farid : Those who carry the prayer-mat on their shoulders
And wear rough wool,
But bear daggers in their hearts and with glib tongue utter falsehood—
These are bright outside but have the dark night in their hearts. (50)

Farīdā rattī rattu na nikkalai jei tanu chīrai koe

Farid, my body in penance is macerated—
Not a drop of blood will ooze from it if cut;

1. Atīm=Yatīm (Ar.) orphan, alone.
2. Commerce.
3. Mashāikh, Sheikh=men of Muslim holy orders.
4. Sweet.

Those dyed in God have no blood left in them.[1] (51)

Composition of Guru Amar Das

This frame is all blood;
Without blood a body may not be.
Fear of God emaciates the body,
Banishes from it the blood of greed.
As fire purifies metals, so does fear of God cast out impurities of foul thinking.
Saith Nanak : Those alone look comely who in God's dye are soaked. (52)

Farid, seek a vast lake wherein thou mayst find what thou seekest—God's Name :
Why seek a filthy pond, muddying thy hands ? (53)

Saith Farid : In youth this life-female loved not the Lord;
Grown in years, she died.
In the grave wails her soul,
Lord ! Thee I failed to meet. (54)

Listen Farid ! the hair on thy head, thy beard and lips all are greyed;
Thou thoughtless mad man, wake up !
Why art still at thy idle pleasure ? (55)

Farid, how long this capering in thoughtless pleasure ?
Wake to serve the Beloved.
Thy few days of life are fast slipping by. (56)

Saith Farid : Set not thy heart on mansions and bowers;
Under the immeasurable heap of earth none shall befriend thee. (57)

Farid, love not mansions and wealth; P. 1381
Keep in thy mind mighty death :
Contemplate alone where thou hast perforce to go. (58)

Farid ! give up what brings thee no merit,
Lest thou be disgraced at the Court Divine. (59)

Farid, serve the Master, throw all doubt from thy mind.
Men of God need to be forbearing like trees. (60)

Farīdā kālei mainḍe kappaṛei kālā mainḍā vesu sFarid, despite my black wear and clothing, full of sins am I—

In the world's eyes though a Dervish I appear. (61)

1. A trope is intended or rattee (a small weight) and ratt (blood).

The crop destroyed by water will not revive if soaked again in water.
As this, for one bereft[1] of God no respite from sorrow. (62)
When a virgin, her heart fondly thought of marriage;
Marriage brought with it entanglements :
Alas, impossible it if for the state of virginity to return. (63)
On the marge of the pond in dry soil have alighted swans;[2]
They dip not their beak in it,
Spreading their pinions for flight ever. (64)
The swan[3] in the field of chaff has alighted.
People scare it away,
The ignorant multitude not knowing
The swan pecks not at chaff. (65)
Gone are the birds that brought life to the pools;
The entire pool will flow off, leaving alone the lotuses.[2] (66)
Farid, in the grave as stone thy pillow.
The earth thy bed; the worm will eat thy flesh.
For aeons wilt thou lie on one side, unchanging. (67)
Farid, broken is the body's beautiful pitcher,
Snapped the firm cord of breath.
In what home Izrael, Angel of Death,
Finds entertainment tonight ? (68)
Farid, the beautiful pitcher broken, the firm cord is snapped :
To what end were born those who were merely burden on earth ? (69)
Farid, thou shameless truant[3] from worthless is thy life's tenor :
Never hast thou come to the house of God[4] to pray. (70)

Ūṭṭhu Farīdā ūzū sāji sūbah nivāj gūzāri

Wake up betimes Farid ! perform thy ablutions, engage in prayer.
A head not bowing before the Lord merits being cut off. (71)
What worth the head obstinate in God-denial[5] ?
Worthy such a head to burn under the pot,
To be fuel to the fire. (72)

---

1. Lit. A wife cast off.
2. Symbol for men of God.
3. Dog.
4. Mosque.
5. One that bows not before the Lord.

Consider Farid ! where be thy parents who begot thee ?
Gone on a never-ending journey-still is thy heart
Unconvinced of thy own end. (73)
Farid, make thy mind straight from ups and downs of passions :
Then mayst thou escape the furnace-blast of hell. (74)
Composition of Guru Arjan Dev
Farid, the Creator in the creation abides, the creation in Him.
At whom to cavil, when in all He is manifest ? (75)
Farid, while cutting my umbilical cord, were my throat
a little gagged,
Life then would escape this trial, this suffering. (76)
Gone are those fine teeth, fast feet, those sparking eyes, sharp ears :
A loud cry has arisen from the flesh at departure of such companions. (77)
Farid, return thou good for evil; in thy heart P. 1382 bear no revenge.
Thus will thy body be free of maladies,
And thy life have all blessings. (78)
Farid, life's bird is a passing guest;
The world a lovely garden :
Hear the drum of departure beaten since dawn,
Get ready for the journey hence, (79)
Farid, at midnight is scattered[1] fragrant musk;
Those asleep share not of it.
What union for those with eyes slumber—oppressed ? (80)
Farīdā maiṇ jāniyā dūkhu mūjjhu kū dūkkhu sabāiyā jaggi
Farid, I had imagined alone were I unhappy;
Behold, the entire world is by suffering gripped :
From my house-top I saw, in each home is this fire raging. (81)
Composition of Guru Arjan Dev
Farid, this world is so inviting;
In its midst is a garden-spot of poison-bearing plants.
This poison injuries not those blessed with the Master's grace. (82)
Composition of Guru Arjan Dev
Farid, this life is full of delights with this body beautiful :
Rare are those bearing love to the Beloved. (83)

1. Distributed.

Mighty river, erode not thy banks; thou too to thy maker art answerable.
What power in the river to flow this way or that ?
God's Will guides its course. (84)
Farid, thy days have been sorrow-filled, thy nights in suffering passed.
Now towards the close the Pilot shouts :
'Thy boats in jaws of storm.' (85)
Life's long river flows on, bringing down the sandy banks;
Yet is the boat safe from the storm, if the Pilot be attentive. (86) Farid, scores profess to be my friends; but true friends see I nowhere.
For one true friend my heart yearns as in smouldering[1] fire. (87)
Farid, the body keeps ever a tumult, who will bear its suffering for ever ?
Let me plug my ears,
Blow storm never so loud. (88)
Farid, this life is like ripe dates and rivers of honey.
With each passing day comes closer the grip of death. (89)
Farid, penance has left my body a skeleton;
Crows peck at my soles.
God still has not revealed Himself—
Such is my destiny. (90)

Kāgā karangu ḍhanḍholiyā saglā khāyā māsu

Thou crow pecking at my emaciated body, eating away its flesh,
Pray touch not these two eyes, so I have sight of the Beloved. (91)
Pray crow, peck not at my body; fly off from where thou art settled.
Swallow not the flesh of this body wherein is lodged the Beloved. (92)
Farid, the lowly grave makes call to homeless man to come to his real abode—
Saying, come to me thou must; fear not death. (93)
With these eyes have I behold vast world vanish into eternity.
Each in his own trails is caught;
Nor am I free from mine. (94)

1. Fire made from cow-dung.

Shouldst thou ennoble thyself,
With Me 'saith the Lord', shalt thou have union,
and have true bliss.
Shouldst thou be mine, the whole world shall then be thine. (95)
How long may a tree growing on the river's bank endure ?
How long may the unbaked pitcher retain water ? (96)
Farid, emptied of their occupants are left mansions;
Their inmates gone to occupy abodes under the earth.
In the lowly graves abide the dead. P. 1383
Tell the proud ones[1] of the world : Engage in prayer, for departure is at hand.[2] (97)
Farid ! death is visible as the river's opposite bank.
Beyond is flaming hell, resounding with loud shrieks.
Some of this have realization;
Many go about wrapped in thoughtlessness.
Know, the deeds done in this world bear witness against us
In the next. (98)
Farid, life is lie a stork sporting on the river's bank;
Suddenly on it has swooped the hawk.
As comes this hawk from God, is all sport forgotten :
God sends on man what never be thought or imagined. (99)
This body weighing three and a half maunds[3]
by food and water is sustained.
Man comes into the world with a vast store of hopes.
As approaches death's angel, crashing all doors,
Those loving friends and brothers perforce surrender thee to him.
Behold man, departing this world borne on the shoulders of four pall-bearers.
Farid : only the good deeds by us in this world stand by us in the next. (100)

Farīdā haun̤ balihārī tinh pankhīyān̤ jungli jinnhān̤ vāsu

Farid, a sacrifice am I to the birds who pass their days in solitary places,
Picking pebbles, living on sandy mounds, yet turning not away from God. (101)

---

1. Sheikhs.
2. Today or tomorrow.
3. The maund (man) weighed less formerly.
4. Symbol for hermits.

Farid, behold ! seasons change, woods are shaken, trees shed leaves.
Scour the world over, no escape wilt thou find from change. (102)
Farid, tear thy clothes to strips; assume coarse woollen wear.
Assume whatever wear will bring near the Beloved. (103)
Composition of Guru Amar Das
Why tear off thy silken robes; why wear wool ?
Saith Nanak, within the course of daily life in the home
Mayst thou attain to the Beloved, if thy heart be pure. (104)
Composition of Guru Arjan Dev
Farid ! those proud of worldly greatness, wealth and looks,
Will of the Beloved remain deprived, as sandhills of rain. (105)
Listen Farid ! frightening are the faces of those indifferent
to the Lord's name;
In this world would they suffer;
Hereafter shall they not be honoured. (106)
Farid, though alive, art thou no better than dead—
Thou hast not arisen from sleep at dawn to pray;
Thou hast forgotten God, but know God has not forgotten thee. (107)
Composition of Guru Arjan Dev up till sloka III
Listen Farid ! the Lord ever abides lovely, eternally fulfilled.
The purest of wears comes to those dyed in God's dye. (108) Farid ! bear joy and sorrow alike; cleanse thy self of evil thoughts.
He alone shall enter the court Divine whose will to Allah's will is bent. (109)
Farid ! the world to all kinds of stresses is subjected;
so art thou :
He alone escapes this who is under Allah's protection. (110)
Farīdā dilu rattā isu dūnī siūṇ dūnī na kittai kammi
Farid ! our hearts in the world are dyed that is worthless;
Hard is the way of life of God's devotees,
That by supreme good fortune may be attained. (111)
Prayer done in the first part of the night is P. 1384
like the flower;
Prayer continued in the night the fruit of thereof.
These blessings of the Lord descend upon those that keep vigils in prayer. (112)

Composition of Guru Nanak Dev

The Lord's blessings out of His hand forced may not be :
Some may not get these even though awake;
On some He may confer these shaking them out of slumber.[1] (113)

Thou that art seeking conjugal bliss, what is lacking in thee :
Those that are blessed in matrimony, look to nothing but the spouse. (114)

Make forbearance thy bow and bow-string;
The arrow too of forbearance—
God then will not let it go off its mark. (115)

Those who adopt forbearance and take upon themselves suffering—
Such alone will be near God : their secret strength none will know, (116)

Make forbearance thy life's ideal; learn hard this lesson;
Thus wilt thou become a mighty river, not a petty channel. (117)

Farid, know the ascetics' path is hard;
Thy devotion is only of the surface.
Rare is the man who this path treads. (118)

In separation from God my body burns like the oven;
My bones flame like firewood;
To find union with the Beloved
Could I walk till my feet be tired,
Would walk on my head. (119)

Theme continued by the holy Gurus

Thou needst not burn thyself like the oven nor put in flames thy bones :
Why torture thy poor limbs ? Behold the Beloved in thy own heart.[2] (120)

Haun̤ d̤hūn̤dendī sajjan̤ā sajjan̤u maind̤ei nāli

I seek the Lord elsewhere—Behold ! He is here with me :
Saith Nanak, the inaccessible may not be approached,
But the Divine guide may grant a sight of Him.[3] (121)

The sight of the swans swimming excited in storks the desire for emulation.

---

1. This sloka is recorded also in Sirī Rāga-ki-Vār 4, page 83.
2. With minor variation this sloka is among Guru Nanak Dev's (No. 18) at pate1411.
3. Composition of Guru Ram Das, Kānare kī-Vār 15, page1318.

The poor storks got only drowned, head downwards. (122)
I sought companionship with one whom I took to be a great swan :
I would shun him had I known him for a wretched stork.[1] (123)
Talk not of swans and storks—His grace alone suffices :
Saith Nanak, should He so wish, crow He may turn to swan.[2] (124)
On the marge of the Lake sits a solitary bird, with numerous snares around.
This body is caught among waves of desire—God's grace alone may save it. (125)
What the word, what the qualities, what rich jewels of speech ?
What wear to adopt, the Lord's love to win ? (126)

Composition of Guru Nanak Dev

The word is humility, the quantity forgiveness,
Sweet speech the jewels :
Sister, wear these ever—then alone will thy Lord be thine.[3] (127)
One who is wise yet innocent as a child :
Mighty yet forbearing as though without might,
He who shares with others his store though slander—
Rare is a devotee with such qualities. (128)
Speak never a rude word to any—the Lord Eternal in all abides :
Break no heart—know, each being is a priceless jewel. (129)
Each heart is a jewel; evil it is to break any;
Shouldst thou seek to find the Beloved, break no one's heart. (130)

Swayyas

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Reality, P. 1385
Eternal, Creator, Immanent, without Fear, without Rancour; Form Eternal, Unincarnated, Self-Created; Realized by the holy Preceptor's grace.
Swayyas—enunciated by the holy tongue of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Ādi Purakh Kartār karaṉ-kāraṇ sabh āpei

The Primal Supreme Being, Immanent, Creator, Almighty,
In all creation pervasive, in all beings manifest :

1. Slokas 122 and 123 are of the composition of Guru Amar Das Wadhans-kī-Vār 4, at page 585.
2. With minor variation this is ascribed to Guru Nanak Dev, Sri Rāga-kī-Vār 20, p.91.
3. In Purātan Janam-Sākhī this sloka is ascribed to Guru Nanak Dev.

In the universe art Thou manifest; to none is Thy reality[1] known—
The Lord, Divine Master, to all grants protection;
Immortal, formless, self-created.
Sole unique art Thou, none like to Thee.
Without limit and extent is the Lord :
To contemplate Him who has power ?
Father of the Universe, prop of all beings.
What can Nanak, servant of God, narrate merit of the devotee Guru Nanak,
Approved at the Divine Portal, like to the Lord ?
To him am I ever, ever a sacrifice. (1)

Amrit parwāh sari atūl bhandār bhari parai hī tei parai apar apār pari

At Thy Portal are flowing streams of amrita; immeasurable, ever-filled Thy stores—
Beyond limit and extent,
Thy own Will following, with none else dost Thou take counsel; Creation and dissolution in the twinkling of an eye by Thee is brought about.
None Thy equal; pure Thy effulgence;
Millions of sins by utterance of the Lord's Name vanish
What can Nanak, servant of God with one tongue utter merit of the devotee, Guru Nanak,
Approved at the Divine Portal,
Like to the Lord ?
To him am I ever, ever a sacrifice. (2)

Sagal bhavan dhārei ek theiṇ kīye bisthārei pūri rahiyo sarab mehṇ āpi hai nirārei

All universal abodes by Thee are created and spread;
In all art Thou pervasive, yet from all apart.
To the Divine attributes no end or extent is;
All creatures are Thine—
The puissant Lord, beyond our knowledge is Provider of all.
His might He Himself assumes and makes manifest;
Without hue and feature, face or facial growth.
What can Nanak, servant of God, with one tongue
utter of the merit of the devotee, Guru Nanak,
Approved at the Portal Divine, like to the Lord ?
To him am I ever, ever a sacrifice. (3)

1. To whom is Thy state known ?

Sarab gūṉa nidhānam kīmati na gyānam dhyānam ūchei tei ūchau jānījai Prabh tero thānam

Thou treasure of all merit; beyond evaluation Thy realization and meditation on Thee;
Loftiest beyond all loftiness is Thy station, Lord !
Our mind, substance and life is Thine;
The universe on Thy Sole thread is strung.
What comparison for Thee may I find, greater than the greatest as Thou art ?
None Thy mystery knows; beyond knowledge and extent is the Lord.
Beyond reckoning His might, provider[1] of all.
What can Nanak, servant of God, utter of the merit.
Of God's devotee, Guru Nanak, approved at the Divine Portal,
Like to the Lord ?
To him am I ever, ever a sacrifice. (4)

Nirankāru ākār achhal pūran abināshī

The Formless Being is beyond Maya's guile, perfection incarnate, immortal;
Joyful, of limitless manifestation; immaculate, ever in bloom of joy.
Beings numberless His merits sing, yet not a sesame-grain can they realize.
To whomsoever grace Thou showest, to him Lord,
dost Thou grant union.
Blessed are the beings that have the Lord's grace.
Saith Nanak : Those that the Divine Preceptor
Nanak's touch have acquired,
From birth and death are made immune. (5)

Sati sati Hari sati sati satei sati bhaṉīyai

Eternal, holy is the Lord's description,
None other than He is known to be Primal.
By utterance of the Name ambrosial are all joys attained.
Those that by the tongue have tasted Him, are fulfilled, satiated.
Those having the Lord's grace to the holy congregation are attached.
Those that the Divine Preceptor Nanak's touch have,
Saved is their whole tribe. (6)

1. Food, foodgrains.

Sachu sabhā dībāṉu sachu sachhei pahi dhariyo

Holy His assembly, holy His court; with the holy Preceptor He abides.
Seated on the holy throne, holy justice He dispenses.
Holy is the universe He has created, infallible ever remaining.
Beyond limit is the jewel Name, beyond computation its price.
One having the Lord's grace all joys attains.
Those having touch of the Divine Preceptor Nanak
Nevermore into transmigration fall. (7)

Kavanu jogu kaunu gyānu dhyānu kavan bidhi ūstati karīyai

By what Yogic power, realization or meditation
May His laudation be sung ?
Accomplished Yogis, yoga-practitioners,
The thirty-three crore deities—
Him none can evaluate.
Brahma and the gods, sages like Sanak and Sanandan, Brahma's sons,
Shesha-nag, the thousand-hooded serpent.
The extent of His merits have not realized—
Beyond our grasp, in all creation pervasive.
Such in devotion engage as have their noose by the gracious Lord snapped.
Saith Nanak : Those that the Divine Preceptor
Nanak's touch have,
In this world and the next liberated abide. (8)

Prabh dātau dātār pariyo jāchaku iku sharnā

Lord all-bountiful, a beggar Thy shelter seeks. P. 1387
Pray grant me dust of feet of the holy,
By whose touch comes liberation in the world.[1]
Should it please the Lord, supplication I make.
Thy sight grant; to be fixed in devotion my heart yearns.
In the dark is lighted lamp of the Name—
All Kali-Yuga by prop of the Name is saved.
In all abodes is manifest.
Guru Nanak, servant of God,
The Divine Preceptor. (9)

1. Lit. The ocean of existence is crossed.

Swayyas—enunciated by the holy tongue of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor grace

Kāchi deh phūni bāndhī shaṭh kaṭhor kuchīl kūgyānī

This frail body by attachment is bound;
Man is thoughtless, hard-hearted, filthy, of perverted
understanding.
His mind rushing along, wandering, finding not poise, not realizing truth[1] of the Supreme Being.
Man intoxicated by beauty of figure and wealth,
In great pride wanders along restless.
To his mind these tasting sweet : other's substance,
Their contentions, their women folk and calumny of others.
In concealment from others found he attempts,
That the Lord, searcher of hearts sees and hears.
In him abides not noble conduct, righteousness, compassion and purity—
Lord bestower of life to Thy shelter have I come.
Almighty Lord ! Nanak's Divine Master ! save him. (1)

Kīrati karan sharan manmohan johan pāp bidāran kau

Divine laudation, seeking shelter with the Divine Charmer
Are the ways to seek out and destroy sins.
The Lord, supreme saviour, almighty,
All His devotee's generations saves.
My thoughtless mind, in holy congregation have realization,
Caught in darkness of illusion where thou dost wander.
For a short while, an hour, a second, minute
With thy tongue the Name Divine repeat.
Involved in mean tasks, a bondage bringing little joy,
Why wander about for millions of births in suffering ?
Saith Nanak : By guidance of teaching of the holy
To the Lord be devoted;
In love of the Lord with fervour of soul contemplate Him. (2)

Ranchak reit kheit tani nirmit dūrlabh deh sawāri dharī

By a particle of snbstance[2] placed in the field of the womb
Is the body formed,

1. State.
2. Implies the sperm.

And the human body hard to attain is embellished.
Man with delicious viands joy obtains;
The Lord removing his torment his suffering of birth annuls.
Then attains he understanding of mother,
Father, brothers and relations.
Day after day his body growing,
Till old age hard to bear approaches.
Thou petty meritless Maya-worm,
Even for an hour the Lord contemplate.
Lord compassionate, treasure of grace,
Grasp Nanak by the arm; cut off his illusion's burden. (3)

Rei mana mūsh bilā meḥn garbat kartab karat mahāṇ mughnā

My self ! like a mouse sitting in thy hole art thou proud,
And like one greatly thoughtless dost act.
Sitting in Maya's swing dost thou undulate,
And involved in Maya dost wander owl-like about.
In progeny, wife, friends and relations taking pleasure,
With these is thy attachment on the increase.
From the seed sown by thee is grown shoot of egoism—
Thy life is committing sin passing.
The cat[1] of death with mouth wide open is watching thee; P. 1388
With all thy eating art thou still hungry.[2]
In the holy congregation the compassionate Lord contemplate,
Saith Nanak, knowing the world to be a dream. (4)

Deh na geh na neh na nītā māyā mat kahāṇ lau gāruhṇ

Neither the body nor thy house or attachment to it are lasting;
How long intoxicated by Maya wouldst thou be ruined[3] ?
Neither the royal umbrella or command, nor the fly-whisk or the slave waving that shall last;
Life flows on; this you contemplate not in your heart.
Chariots, steeds, elephants and thrones
In an instant are left behind,
And unclad you depart.
Neither heroes or the valiant,
Nor Lords and chiefs, none shall accompany you—
Behold this with your eyes.

---

1. (Said in relation to mouse in the opening line).
2. (These expressions are metaphorical, implying desire).
3. Rot.

Neither citadels, shelters and treasures shall get you liberation :
You who indulge in evil, empty-handed shall depart.
Friends, progeny, wife, companions, associates
Like tree-shadow shall turn away.
Each instant contemplate the Supreme Being Compassionate to the humble,
Perfection incarnate, unknowable, limitless.
Nanak His servant, with the Lord seek shelter;
Lord ! in Your grace save Him. (5)

Prān mān dān mag johan hītu chītu dei lei lei pārī Wealth hast thou cherished with love of heart, risking life and honour,
Seeking charity, practising highway robbery,
From companions, relations, friends, progeny, brothers
Hast thou kept it concealed.
In rushing about, in practising falsehood
Hast thou made waste of thy life.
Practice of religion, restraint, purity of vows
In company of restless Maya hast thou every way forfeited.
In incarnation hard to bear, as beast, bird,
trees, stationary objects
Hast thou wandered.
Not for an instant, a minute, a second hast thou contemplated the Name
Of Cherisher of the humble, Lord of life
Of the universe entire.
All objects of eating and drinking, sweet-tasting viands—
In the end where shall they be ? Tasteless shall these become.
Saith Nanak : Those seeking shelter at feet of the holy shall be saved;
Others, Maya-involved shall depart, leaving all behind. (6)

Brahmādik Shiv chhand munīshur rasik Thākur guna gāwat
Gods Brahma-like, Shiva, the Vedas and great sages
In ecstasy Divine laudation sing.
Indra and the Supreme sage Gorakh
In their sojourn over earth and the celestial regions seek Him.
Accomplished Yogis, human beings, gods and titans
Not an iota[1] of His mystery can realize.

1. As much as a sesame grain.

God's devotees that in joy of devotion are involved,
In His sight get totally absorbed.
Whoever discarding Him seeks any other,
In such begging gets worn his face, teeth and tongue.
My thoughtless self, the Lord bestower of joy contemplate—
Nanak, servant of God thus instructs thee. (7)

Māyā rang birang karat bhram moha kai kūpi gübāri pariyo hai
Joy in Maya takes the self away from God,
And man in well filled with dust of illusion and attachment falls.
Such is man's pride that he feels outgrowing the sky,
Even though his belly with ordure, bones and worms is filled.
For the supreme evil Maya in ten directions he rushes,
Grabs others' substance, and by ignorance is ruined.[1]
His youth passed, the malady of old age grips him;
By Yama's minions chastized—such is the death he dies.
In innumerable births torment of hell he bears,[2]
And in pit of suffering of chastizement rots.
Saith Nanak : Those performing loving devotion are saved—
As the holy in grace with themselves identify such. (8)

Güna samūh phal sagal manorath pūran hoī ās hamārī
In attainment of all merits and fulfilment of all objectives[3]
Is our yearning fulfilled.
The Name have we attained that is the supreme medicine, P. 1389
Incantations and magic devices,
Remover of suffering caused by others' evil,
Annuller of maladies, bringer of benefits.
By utterance of the Name Divine are shattered
Lust, wrath, pride, envy and desire.
In cherishing the Divine lotus feet in heart
Is accomplished holy bath, charities, austerities and pure doing.
The Lord that is companion, friend, associate and relation
Is sustenance of life and prop of breath.
Nanak, servant of God with the almighty Lord has taken shelter,
And to Him is ever a sacrifice. (9)

1. Robbed.
2. Consumes.
3. These are the four cherisheed objectives, i.e. Kāma, arth, dharma, moksha.

Āwadh kaṭiyo na jāt prem ras charan kamal sangi

One in love with joy in the Divine lotus feet
By weapons is not destroyed.
One whose heart by love for sight of the Lord's way is penetrated
By ropes gets not bound.
One touching dust of feet of the holy
By fire is not burnt.
One whose feet tread the Lord's way
By water is not drowned.
Saith Nanak : Maladies, evils, sins and attachment
By arrow of the Name Divine are pierced. (1) (10)

Üddamu kari lāgei bahu bhāṇtī bichrehṇ anik shāstra bahu khaṭūā

Some making numerous kinds of efforts,
The six Shastras innumerable times contemplate.
Smearing limbs with dust, over numerous holy spots they wander,
Make the body light by fasting and coil their hair.
All such without devotion to the Lord suffering bear,
As the spider that with its home of thread fallen in love, therein dies.
Such in vain perform worship, make circle-markings on limbs,
Cook their own food[1] and various devices perform. (2.11.20)

Swayyas—(Stanza) laudatory to Sri Guru Nanak Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ikk mani Pūrakhu dhiyāe bar-dātā

With concentration of mind on the Supreme Being.
bestower of boons meditate—
His devotees' prop, manifest ever.
His feet in my heart I lodge,
Whereafter laudation of the Supreme Preceptor Nanak I sing. (1)

Gāwaouṇ guna param-gurū sūkh sāgar dūrat nivāraṇ shabd sarei

Of the Supreme Preceptor, ocean of joy, eraser of sins,
Pool of the holy Word I sing laudation.
His laudation sins too in deep meditation men of profound poise, oceans of wisdom,
Yogis and wandering hermits.

1. (Some sects do not partake of food cooked by others).

His laudation sing too Indra and gods, devotees like Prahlad
Who of spiritual joy have tasted.
Saith the bard Kala : Noble laudation sing I Guru Nanak,
Who Raja-Yoga[1] practised. (2)

Gāwehṇ janakādi jūgati jogeshur Hari ras pūran sarab kalā

Janak and the rishis,
Supreme Yogis united to God sing too laudation of the Guru,
Perfectly endued with joy in God, master of all faculties—
His laudation is sung by those who by guileful Maya are not beguiled,
By Brahma's sons, by the holy and accomplished Yogis too is sung.
His laudation is sung too by Dhoma rishi and by Dhruva of immutable station,
Who joy of devotion have tasted.
Saith the bard Kala : Noble laudation sing I of Guru Nanak,
Who Raja-Yoga practised. (3)

Gāwehṇ kapilādi ādi jogeshur aprampar avatāṛ-waro

His laudation sing rishis like Kapila, Supreme Yogis
And the endless line of divine incarnations.
His laudation sing too Jamdagani's son Parshuram Whose strength of arm and axe Rama, glory of the Raghu clan snatched.
His laudation sing too Udhav, Akroor and Bidur[2]
Who the Lord, pervasive in all selves realized.
Saith the bard Kala : Noble laudation sing I of P. 1390
Guru Nanak,
Who Raja-Yoga practised. (4)

Gāwehṇ gūṇa baran chāri khaṭ-darshan Brhhmādik simranthi gunā

His laudation sing too the four castes, the six-hermit orders
And deities like Brahma.
His laudation sings in ecstasy Shesh-Naga with his thousand tongues,
In unbroken absorption of meditation.
His laudation sings too Mahadeva the ascetic
Who endlessly has meditated.
Saith the bard Kala : Noble laudation sing I of Guru Nanak,
Who-Raja-Yoga practised. (5)

1. The Yoga of prayer and devotion, in contradistinction to hatha-yoga involving various kinds of praxis.
2. Names of Krishna's devotees.

Rāju jogu māṉyo basiyo nirvairu ridantar

Raja-yoga he practised and in his heart ever abided
Rancourless feelings.
Was all creation saved by Guru Nanak's unbroken contemplation
of the Name.
His laudation sing Brahma's sons, rishis like Janak
Over ages and ages.
Blessed is the Guru, blessed his holy, fruitful birth.
Saith the bard Kala : From the nether regions too
Arose the sound of Guru Nanak's triumph,
Thou imbued with joy of the Name
Raja-yoga didst thou practise. (6)

Satjūgi taiṇ māṉiyo chhaliyo Bali Bāvan bhāiyo

In Sati-Yuga[1] Raja-Yoga didst thou practise.
And didst discomfit Bali in the Dwarf form that pleased thee.
In Treta[1] too didst thou practise Raja-Yoga
And wert called Rama, Lord of the Raghu race.
In Dwapar[2] wert thou Krishna, Mura's slayer
And on Kams[2] conferred liberation; Conferring Kingship on Ugrasen[2] from fear didst make thy devotees free.
In Kaliyuga wert thou verily Nanak,
And wert known too as Angad and Amar Das.
Declared the Primal Purusha[3] : Immutable, endless shall be Guru Nanak's rule. (7)

Gūṉa gāvaiṇ Ravidāsu bhagatu Jaidev Trilochan

His laudation sing too devotees like Ravidas,[4] Jaideva and Trilochan;
Bhakta Namdev and Kabir laud him too,
As one casting equable gaze over all.
The devotee Beni chants Guru Nanak's merit,
Who in serenity spiritual bliss enjoys.
In deep meditation and divine enlightenment fixed,
Other than the Lord he knows not.
The rishi Sukhdev[5] and the devotee Prikshit[6] his merits chant;

1. See Glossary under Ages, Four Ages,
2. References to the Krishna story.
3. Prursha is the Supreme Being immanent in all creation.
4. (Herein six Bhaktas are mentioned whose compositions found a place in the holy Granth).
5. A rishi from India's ancient lore.
6. A scion of the pandava race.

Gautam rishi too his laudation sings.
Saith the bard Kala : Guru Nanak's noble laudation
Ever new, over the universe is spread. (8)

Gūṉa gāwehṇ pāyāli bhagat nāgādi bhūyangam

In the nether regions sing his laudation
Devotees like Shesha in serpent form.
His laudation sings too Mahadeva, Yogi, celibate and wandering hermit.
His laudation sings too the sage Vyas,
Who the Vedas and the nine Sanskrit grammars has studied.
His laudation sings too Brahma who by Divine Ordinance
The whole creation accomplished.
Over the universe Guru Nanak
Realized equably in His attributed and unattributed aspect the Supreme Being.
Saith Kala : Sing I Guru Nanak's noble laudation
Who Raja-Yoga practised. (9)

Gūṉa gāwehṇ nav-nāth dhanni gūru sāchi samāiyo

His laudation sing too the nine supreme Yogis,[1] calling blessing on Guru Nanak,
Who in holy truth was absorbed.
His laudation too sings Mandhata who as world-conqueror[2] was styled.
His laudation too sings the King Bali
Who in the seventh neither region abides.
His laudation sings too Bharthari[3] who ever
With his master Gorakhnath abides.
Durbasha, Puru and Angiras[4] too
Guru Nanak's laudation have sung.
Saith the bard Kala : Guru Nanak's noble laudation
In each heart[5] is spontaneously absorbed. (10)

Swayyas—(Stanzas) in eulogy of Sri Guru Angad Dev P. 1391

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Soī Pūrakhu dhannu kartā kāraṉ kartāru karaṉ samratho

Hail the Supreme Being, almighty, Creator of all causes.

---

1. These are the nine nāths of Yoga tradition.
2. Chakravartī=One whose rule is spread in all directions.
3. A famous Yogī.
4. Names of rishīs.
5. Vessel.

Blessed is the holy Preceptor Nanak who did place on thy[1] forehead his hand of blessing :
His hand on thy forehead spontaneously was placed;
Then rained amrita in shoals,[2] whereby were Gods, human beings and sages made fragrant manifestly.
Was tormenting[3] death subdued by a roar;
Was the restless mind restrained,
And the five demons[4] in one spot were confined.
The world didst thou conquer; at the Master's door didst disport
And equably the chariot of thy concentrated absorption of mind
In the Formless rested.
Kal-Sahar[5] ! proclaim thou over the seven continents,
Lahna's[6] laudation
Who by the touch of the Divine Nanak
World-teacher become. (1)

Jā kī drishṭi amrit-dhār kālukh khani ūtār timar agyān jāhi daras-duār

Such is Guru Angad, that by his amrita-dripping glance
Is the blackness of sin uprooted and cast off;
And by his sight is banished darkness of ignorance.
Those that his holy Word contemplate, that is a hard endeavour,
The ocean of existence are made to cross
And their burdens cast off.
Such spontaneously in the holy congregation
By contemplation of the Master are ever awake;
Ever involved in Divine love are they humble of disposition.
Kal-Sahar ! proclaim thou
Over the seven continents Lahna's laudation,
Who by touch of the Divine Nanak
World-teacher became. (2)

Tai tau driṛhiyo Nāmu apāru

The Name limitless didst thou in thy mind confirm,
Of pure aspect, prop of life of Yoga-practitioners,
Supreme Yogis and holy men.

---

1. Reference to Guru Angad Dev.
2. Chhaj=a winnowing tool, spread out.
3. Thorn.
4. Implies the five sources of evil.
5. Name of the bard (Bhatt).
6. Former name of Guru Angad Dev.

Thou art incarnation of King Janaka;
Thy Word holiest essence,
By whose contemplation man amid water of the world abides untouched like the lotus
Like the wish-fulfilling tree art thou annuller of maladies,
Remover of the world's fever.
The world's self by three qualities is gripped;
Thou in equable meditation art fixed.
Kal-Sahar ! proclaim thou
Over the seven continents, Lahna's laudation
Who by touch of the Divine Nanak
World-teacher became. (3)

Taiṇ tāṇ hadrathi pāiyo mānu seviyā Guru Parvānu sādhi ajgaru jini kīyā ünmānu

From the supreme Master honour didst thou obtain;
And the true master served,
Who subduing the mind's dragon put it in poise.
Such are you that your sight like the Divine sight
your self enlightened,
Realizing the true Master's state,
Exempt from waves of mind-impulses abides.
Such are you that your sight in the immutable
Divine centre[1] is fixed;
Pure your understanding, by wearing armour of nobility,
Tearing Maya to pieces.
Kal-Sahār ! proclaim thou
Over the seven continents Lahna's laudation,
Who by touch of the Divine Nanak
World-teacher became. (4)

Drishṭi dharat tam haran dahan agh pāp pranāsan

As his glance he casts, darkness it removes and burns,
And sins and evils destroys.
With the mighty Word endowed, puissant,
Destroyer of lust and wrath.
Avarice and attachment he subdues, and those seeking his shelter cherishes.
Spiritual joy you garner, your Word
Has the power amrita to mint.

---

1. Spot.

Saith Kala[1] : 'To the holy Master Angad the holy Preceptor Nanak
Applied the paste-mark;
Saved is whoever his holy feet touches.
Thou leonine son of Pheru,[2] Lahna,
As Angad Raja-Yoga[3] hast thou practised. (5)

Sadā akal liv rahai karan siūṇ ichhā chāreh

Ever your mind free from impulses remains,
And in your actions are desires subdued.
Like the fruit-laden tree you bow and bear suffering, P. 1392
And are pure of thought.
This essence have you realized, that the Lord is all-pervasive, Unknowable, wondrous.
By your noble ambrosial Word spontaneously have you scattered Rays of enlightenment.
As far as lay the Master's reach didst thou verily rise,
And truth and content grasped.
Saith Kala Verily by the Lord's touch are blessed
Those that Lahna's sight have had. (6)

Mani bisāsu pāiyo gahari gahu hadrathi dīyo

As the holy Nanak gave Angad access to the Divine depth
Did he attain faith.
Poison destroyed, from his self fled,
And within the self amrita he quaffed.
His heart abloom was awake, and the Lord inaccessible
His might in the Age made manifest.[4]
The holy Preceptor Angad in spontaneous absorption
With equable mind the Lord contemplated—
The Master large of heart, annuller of penury,
Whose very sight drives away sin.
In constant equable love, Kala by his tongue
Lahna's laudation utters. (7)

Nāma avakhadhu Nāmu ādhāru aru Nāmu samādhi sūkhu sadā Nām nīsāṇu sohai

The Name his medicine, the Name his prop, the Name source of joyful absorption,

---

1. Emplies the bard Kal-Sahār.
2. Name of Guru Angad Dev's father.
3. (Explicated in Swāiyyās pertaining to Guru Nanak Dev).
4. Assumed.

The standard of the Name over him splendidly waving.
Saith Kala : In joy of the Name was he dyed;
The Name to godly beings fragrance brings.
Whoever the Name, philosopher's stone has obtained,
His truth over the world like the sun has appeared.
By the Master's sight is obtained blessing of sixty-eight holy baths.[1] (8)

Sachu tīrathu sachu ishnānu aru bhojanu bhāou sachu sadā sachu bhākhantu sohai

Truth the Master's sacred bathing-spot, truth his holy bath;
Truth his loved fare; in utterance of truth
Lies his noble aspect.
By the holy Preceptor's Word truth he obtained;
The holy Name to the congregation fragrance brings.
The bard Kala expresses him whose self-restraint is truth,
Whose fasting too is truth.
By the Master's sight is man's birth
Rendered holy and approved of God. (9)

Amiya drishṭi shūbh karai harai agh pāp sakal mal

Should the Master cast his holy ambrosial glance,
All sins and evils he takes off and destroys.
All the puissant evil like lust, wrath,
Avarice and attachment such a one subdues.
In the heart of such a one abides eternal joy
And are worldly sorrows effaced.
The Master is the nine treasures,[2] river of grace,
Who our life's blackness washes off.
Say thou Talla,[3] day and night spontaneously serve the Master.
By the Master's sight is annulled suffering of transmigration. (10)

Swaiyyas—(Stanza) in laudation of Sri Guru Amar Das
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Soī Pūrakhu sivari sāchā jā kā iku Nāmu achhalu sansārei

Contemplate the holy Being whose Sole Name in this world is immaculate,[4]

---

1. This is the traditional number of the sacred bathing-spots. (tīrthas).
2. See Glossary.
3. This also is the poet's name who earlier has apppeared as Kal-Sahār and Kala.
4. That which cannot be deluded (corrupted) by Māyā.

Contemplate the Name Supreme that has carried across the ocean the devotees.
Through ecstatic devotion to that Name,
Nanak installed Lahna who all perfections acquired.
The bard Kala proclaims praise of the enlightened wisdom of the devotee Amar Das.
Rays of the sun of his praise spread wide,
As branches of the splendid tree maulsari.[1]
In regions of the north, south, east and west,
Humanity shouted, Hail, Hail to him.
The Name Divine that from his holy mouth was by the Guru proclaimed,
Turned men's minds away from the world like the Ganga flowing West;
That same immaculate Name, saviour of devotees across. P. 1393
the ocean of existence,
Guru Amar Das's inspiration entered. (1)

Simrehṇ soī Nāmu jakh aru kinnar sādhik siddh samādhi Harā

That Name is contemplated by titans and the divine minstrels,
By practitioners of Yoga, accomplished Yogis and by Shiva in his meditations.
The Name is contemplated also by the planets, the Pole-star and the constellations,
By saints such as Narada and Prahlada.[2]
Moon and sun to the Name are devoted,
That even to rocks and stones has brought liberation.
That Name immaculate saviour of devotees,
Guru Amar Das's inspiration entered. (2)

Soī Nāmu sivari nav-nāth niranjanu shiv sanakādi samüdhariyā

Contemplate the Name immaculate that to the Nine Yogic Masters,
Shiva and Sanak and other sons of Brahma liberation has brought;
The Name in devotion to which the eighty-four Siddhas and enlightened ones are dyed,
And whereby Ambrik got liberation.

1. A tree bearing fragrant flowers and juicy berries.
2. Nārada is Brahmā's son and Prahlāda of the titan Harnākash (Hariinyākashyapu).

Contemplate the Name whereby have shed their sins
Udhava, Akrur,[1] Trilochan, Namdev and Kabir, in Kali Yuga.
That Same Name immaculate, saviour of devotees,
Guru Amar Das's inspiration entered. (3)

Tittu Nāmi lāgi tetīs dhiyāwehṇ jatī tapī shūr mani wasiyā

By devotion to that Name the thirty-three crore deities
the Lord contemplate;
In the hearts of celibates and anchorites in that Name lodged.
By contemplation of that Name the heart of Bhishama, son of Ganga, grandfather of Kauravas,
To the ambrosial feet of the Lord was devoted.
By that Name, through guidance of the great Guru,
Through his holy teaching, was the congregation verily saved.
That same Name immaculate, saviour of devotees
Guru Amar Das's inspiration entered. (4)

Nām kiti sansāri kiraṇi ravi sūrtar shākeh

Laudation of the Name spreads over the world as sun-rays,
And fulfils desires as does the Tree of Heaven.[2]
In the northern, southern, eastern and western regions
Is proclaimed[3] the Lord's praise.
The life is fruitful in which the Lord's Name in the heart is lodged.
Gods, human beings, the divine choristers, the six sects—
All seek after the Name.
The noble, famed son of Tejbhan,[4]
By Kala with folded hands is supplicated.
The Name, saviour of devotees across ocean of the world,
From Guru Amar Das is obtained. (5)

Nāmu dhiyāwehṇ deva tetīs aru sādhik siddh nar Nāmi khanḍ brahmanḍ dhārei

Thirty-three crores of deities, practitioners of Yoga, accomplished Yogis—
On the Name meditate;
Propped by the mighty Name are continents and universes.
Those on the Name meditating,
With equanimity have borne joy and sorrow.

---

1. (These two are Krishna's devotees).
2. Original sur-tar; Kalpa-braksha.
3. Uttered.
4. Reference to Guru Amar Das.

The Name supreme over all,
By devotees is deeply meditated on.
The blessing of the Name, the Creator to Guru Amar is pleased to grant. (6)

Sati sūrou sīli balwantu sati bhāye sangati saghan garūa mati nirvairi līnā

Embodiment of Truth is Guru Amar Das,
Heroic, of noble temper, mighty :
From goodwill inspiring the crowded congregation,
By his lofty teaching with devotion to the Lord above rancour;
He who from Primal Time to the Bull has granted perseverance
To bear the earth :
Whose bright[1] pennent in heaven is being woven—
At his feet make reverence the devotees
That to the Creator are united.
From service of the holy Preceptor[2] has he obtained bliss;
To Guru Amar Das has the Master[2] granted spiritual light.[3] (7)

Nāmu nhāvṉu Nāmu ras khāṉu aru bhojanu Nām rasu sadā chāya mukhi mist bāṉī

Contemplation of the Name his holy bath;
the Name his dainty viands;
With joy in the Name is his mind inspired;
By the Name his words ever run sweet on his tongue.
Blessed is his devotion to the holy Preceptor,[2]
By whose grace came to him realization of the Inaccessible.
Saved are all the generations to him related,
By his lodgement in the Name.
Saith Kala the bard Blessed is the birth of such As have touched the feet of Guru Amar Das, divinely illumined. (8)

Bāriju kari dāhiṉai siddhi sanmukh mūkhu jovai

On his right hand is the mark of the lotus, P. 1394
With the eighteen Siddhis[4] waiting for the Word of commands;[5]
Riddhis[4] that the three worlds have attracted in his left hand lie.
In his heart is lodged Inexpressible Divine mystery
Whose joy he alone has known.

1. White.
2. These refer to Guru Angad Dev.
3. Granted ability to guide.
4. These are supernatural powers.
5. Lit. Looking towards his face.

The Sole Creator whose forms are million-fold,
who is inaccessible,
As the One Reality hast thou expressed.
Saith Jalap : Guru Amar Das !
To the One art thou devoted, in One hast thou fixed thy faith. (3) (12)

Ji mati gahī Jaidevi ji mati Nāmai sammāṇī

The enlightenment that Jaidev acquired and that entered Namdev's mind;
The enlightenment that entered the mind of Trilochan and Kabir;
The enlightenment whereby Rukmangad engaged in contemplation of God,
And that whereby Ambrik and Prahlad acquired liberation by seeking God's succour—
By that same enlightenment dist thou discard
Greed, wrath and desire;
By that noble wisdom, saith Jalya the bard,
Didst thou acquire the way to holy endeavour.
Guru Amar Das is the embodiment of devotion,
Whose very sight liberation brings. (4) (13)

Guru Amar Dāsu parsīyai pūhami pātik bināseh

By the touch of Guru Amar Das are sins on the earth destroyed :
By the touch of Guru Amar Das are Yogis and Yoga—practitioners inspired.
By the touch of Guru Amar Das comes meditation, and is the path of transmigration ended.
By the touch of Guru Amar Das is God without fear attained,
And transmigration annulled.
Duality that is anti-unicity is cancelled, P. 1395
When man to the Guru's teaching is attached.
Saith Jalap : All such boons—
From Guru Amar Das's sight are obtained. (5) (14)

Sacchu Nāmu Kartāru su drirhu Nānaki sangrahiyou

The Creator's holy Name was by Guru Nanak repeated and firmly grasped;
Thereby was Angad from Lahna manifested, whose mind
at the Divine feet was fixed.

In that dynasty[1] appeared Guru Amar Das, repository of hope :
How many of his merits can I express ?
With the Inaccessible, Unknowable shares he His merits,
Whose extent I know not;
A ship is he fashioned by the Creator,
To save the entire congregation and their tribes.
Supplicates Kirat the bard :
Guru Amar Das ! pray save me, save me ! at thy feet seek I shelter. (1) (15)

Āpi Narāyaṉu Kalā dhāri jag mehṇ parvariyo

The Lord Himself, manifesting His might, in the world appeared as Guru Nanak :
The Formless, as visible effulgence, to the universe brought illumination.
In all space is the Lord pervasive,
By the lamp of the holy Word bringing light.
The disciples gathering it, to the Lord's feet are united.
In Nanak's holy line[1] is Guru Amar Das
With Angad-Lahna manifested.
Guru Amar Das, saviour of mankind !
Birth after birth seek I succour at thy feet. (2.16)

Japu tapu sattu santokhu pikhi darshanu Guru-sikhahṇ

The holy Guru's disciples, beholding him,
Boons obtain of prayer, austerity and contemplation.
Those seeking shelter with him are saved,
Their Yama's record cast off;
Their hearts filled with devotion and love,
The Creator's Name they constantly utter.
The Guru, of resplendent aspect as a pearl,
In an instant from drowning in ocean of the world saves them.
The Guru, manifested in Nanak's holy line,
For ever laudation of the Creator utters.
Those serving Guru Amar Das, have their sorrow and suffering cast off. (3) (17)

Chitti chitvouṇ ardāsi kahouṇ paru kahi bhi na sakkouṇ

To supplicate thee I contemplate, but my utterance fails me.
Each mind's thoughts to thee are known :

1. The spiritual line is meant.

To thee I pray to grant me holy company.
Should by thy will I be so marked,
To the Lord may I be devoted.
By the Master's glance of grace,
May the Name Divine run on my tongue !
In thy form as embodiment of the holy Word,
Inaccessible, Unknowable, Supreme Cause of all,
As thou dost direct, I speak.
Guru Amar Das, supreme cause of all happenings !
May I abide as thou dost keep me. (4) (18)
(Here begin stanzas in laudation by the bard Bhikkha :)

Guru gyānu aru dhyānu tatt siūṇ tattu milāvai

Enlightenment and meditation granted by the Master,
To the Divine Essence unites the self.
One with concentrated mind meditating on the Lord,
By devotion to truth, the Divine Truth realizes;
Subduing lust and wrath, his mind wanders not like the breeze;
Abiding in the Divine Realm, and realizing the Divine Will,
Realization he obtains.
Such alone behold in Kali-Yuga the Divine face,
As in their previous births have done good deeds.
Says Bhikkha the bard : A Preceptor have we found,
Whose sight spontaneous joy has granted. (1.19)

Rahiyo sant hauṇ ṭoli sādh bahuterei ḍiṭṭhei

Holy men was I seeking, and numerous anchorites beheld;
Sannnyasis, performers of austerities,
And scholars eloquent of speech I met.
For a full year I wandered along :
None gave clue to the true way.
To many I listened, that were profuse in utterance,
But their way of life appealed not to me.
Those that forsaking the Name Divine, to duality were attached, P. 1396
To such what praise may I give ?
Bhikkha ! the Lord to the Guru has united thee :
Abide thou as He directs. (2) (20)

Pahiri samādhi sanāhu gyāni hai āsaṇi chaṛhiyou

Assuming the armour of meditation, is he seated on the saddle-cloth of enlightenment;

Grasping Dharma's bow has he waged battle with arrows of devotion and noble conduct.
The Guru has wielded lance of fear of the fearless Lord,
And the immortal Word in heart borne :
Thus equipped, has he cut down the five demons of lust, wrath, greed, attachment and egoism :
The noble king Amar Das, son of Tej Bhan,
By Nanak's blessing has been exalted king of kings.
Proclaims Salh the bard,
Verily, waging such battle this hoard hast thou overthrown. (1) (21)

Ghanhar būnd basüa romāvali küsüm basant ganant na āwai

As is beyond count the number of drops in the cloud,
Of flowers and grass blades during spring :
As is beyond measure the computation of rays of sun and moon,
Of the ocean's expanse the extent and of Ganga's waves
the number—
Says Bhall the bard,
As no measure is to the meditation of Shiva and illumination of the Guru,
That one might sing laudation of these :
So also, thou Amar Das of the Bhalla clan, Unique are thy merits and eulogy, and solely to thee belong. (1.22)

Swayyas—(Stanzas) in Eulogy of Sri Guru Ram Das
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Ikk mani Pürakhu Niranjanu dhiyāvou

With singleness of mind on the Immaculate Supreme Being meditate,
And by the Master's grace Divine laudation ever sing :
By singing of Divine laudation[1] is the heart abloom,
And the holy Preceptor the devotee's desires fulfils.
By service of the holy Preceptor is the Supreme objective[2] attained;
And on the Immortal, Imperishable meditate.
By contact with him sticks not to man penury.

1. Lit merits.
2. Implies liberation.

Kala-Sahar hence, his merits contemplates.
Contemplate the pure merits of the holy person,
Who with the ambrosial Name has been blessed.
By service of the holy Preceptor is obtained elixir of the Word,
And the immaculate Name in heart lodged.
The holy Preceptor of the Name Divine is ecstatic lover,
And seeker after the Divine Essence,
Beholding all creation with equable eye.
Saith the bard Kala[1] : Guru Ram Das, son of the notable Hardas,
Empty spots has filled up.[2] (1)

Chhūṭat parwāh amiya amrāpad amrit-sarovar sad bhariyā
Around him run ambrosial rivers of the immortal state;
Ever-filled is the ambrosial pool of his heart with devotion.
Such of the holy as in previous births have served the Lord.
Quaff it and in it bathe.
Annulling their fear, the fearless state to them has he granted,
And by his Word saved them.
Saith the bard Kala : Guru Ram Das, son of the notable Hardas
Empty spots has filled up. (2)

Sataguru mati gūṛh bimal sat-sangati ātamu rangi chalūlu bhayā Profound is the holy Preceptor's wisdom, pure his holy congregation;
Vermillion red[3] is the dye of his self.
As blazed light of poise in his mind, was its lotus abloom,
The immaculate Supreme Being, above fear,
In his self[4] he found.
The gracious holy Preceptor the Name Divine repeatedly contemplated, P. 1397
By whose grace were subdued the five sources of evil.
Saith the bard Kala : Guru Ram Das, son of the notable Hardas
Empty spots has filled up. (3)

Anabhau ūnmāni akal liv lāgī pārasu bheṭiyā sahaj gharei
By contemplation of the Lord realized by intuitive inspiration.
In the Lord above contention was your devotion fixed,

1. The bard's name.
2. Symbolic expression for inspiring empty hearts with devotion.
3. Implies deep devotion.
4. Home.

Whereby Guru Amar Das, philosopher's stone
Spontaneously in your home was met.
By grace of the holy Preceptor the Supreme state you attained,
And with loving devotion were your store filled;
Was transmigration effaced, fled was fear of death
And the heart in the Pool of Content was fixed.
Saith the bard Kala : Guru Ram Das, son of the notable Hardas,
Empty spaces has filled up. (4)

Abhar bharei pāiyo apāru rid antari dhāriyo

Those empty have you filled up; the limitless Lord have you attained,
And in your heart borne Him.
The Divine Essence, shatterer of suffering, instructor to the self
In your mind have you realized.
Ever full of yearning for the Lord's love—
Its joy of love to you alone known.
By grace of the holy Preceptor in serenity
This joy have you experienced.
By grace of Nanak and wisdom conferred by Angad,
Guru Amar Das his dispensation ran.[1]
Saith Kala the bard : Guru Ram Das, the immutable eternal
State hast thou attained. (5)

Santokh sarovari basai amiya-rasu rasan prakāshai

In the Pool of Content he abides, and by his tongue
The ambrosial elixir he manifests.
By his contact arises peace,
And evils far off take flight.
The Divine ocean of joy attaining,
From the Divine path by Guru Amar Das indicated[2]
Have you no way turned back.
Your armour of self-restraint, truth, content
And noble conduct noway is pierced.
The Creator in you the veritable holy Preceptor has manifested
And over the whole world is trumpet of your eulogy blown.
Saith Kala : Guru Ram Das ! the fearless and immortal state
Hast thou attained. (6)

1. (Here find mention the three predecessors of Guru Ram Das in the holy office of Guruship).
2. Given, granted.

Jatu jittau Sati-gūru parmāṉi mani eku dhiyāyo
The veritable holy Preceptor conquered the world,
And with single mind on the sole Lord meditated.
Hail, hail the holy Preceptor Amar Das who the Name Divine in him confirmed.
The Nine Treasure[1] of the Name he obtained—
The miraculous powers his handmaids.
The Pool of Serenity he obtained, whereby with the Enternal Supreme Being union he had.
All the devotes who since Primal Time are saved,
By the Master[2] in devotion to the Name were confirmed.
Saith Kala : Guru Ram Das, boon of devotion to the Lord hast thou obtained. (7)

Prem-bhagati parwāh preeti pūbalī na hūṭṭae
The river of loving devotion and Primal love of God
In you knows no end.
Of the holy Preceptor's limitless, fathomless Word
The amrita-elixir stream you quaff.
Noble understanding your mother, content your father,
In the ocean of serenity are you absorbed.
The unincarnated, self-created Lord's image is the Master—
By the Master's Word is the world saved.
The Lord invisible, unknowable, beyond limit.
By the Master's Word in your heart have you lodged.
Saith Kala : Guru Ram Das the Lord, Saviour of the world
Has attained. (8)

Jagat-udhāraṉu nav-nidhānu bhagatah bhav-tāraṉu
Saviour of the world, Master of the Nine Treasures,[1]
Saviour of devotees in the world—
Amrita-drop of the Name Divine,
Is annuller of the poison of evil.
As has the tree of poise prospered
Ambrosial fruit has it borne.
These by the Master's grace are obtained—
Blessed the fortunate ones obtaining these.

1. See Glossary.
2. Reference to Guru Amar Das.

Such are liberated : by the holy Preceptor's Word
Is their mind with Divine realization enlightened.
Saith Kala : Guru Ram Das, kettle-drum of the Word P. 1398
Have you made to resound. (9)

Seij sadhā sahaju cchāwāṉu santokhu sarāichau sadā sīl sannāhu sohai

Faith the Master's couch, poise the mattress, Content the tent, everlasting noble conduct his splendid armour.
By the Guru's[1] Word has he garnered the Name,
By whose prop are his associate made fragrant.
By abiding close to the holy Preceptor,[1]
By means of your good deeds,
From transmigration are you liberated.
Saith Kala : Guru Ram Das,
In the ocean of poise you abide. (10)

Guru jin kau sūprasannu Nāmu Hari ridai nivāsai

Those having the Master's approval
Have the Name Divine in heart lodged.
From those having the Master's approval
Sins far off flee.
Of those having the Master's approval
Is annulled distinction of honour and disregard by the world.
Those living the Master's approval
To the Word are devoted and swim across
the ocean of existence.[2]
Those obtaining the Master's veritable enlightenment
In the world pass life fruitfully.
Bard Kala, to the Master' shelter be thou devoted—Worldly joys and liberation all with the Master lie. (11)

Satiguri khemā tāṉiyā jūg jūth samāṉei

As the holy Preceptor spread the canopy,
Under it were gathered crowds of Kali-Yuga.
The spear of realization he carried and with the Name took shelter,
Whereby were fulfilled the devotees.

1. Reference to Guru Amar Das.
2. That is, are liberated.

The devotees Guru Nanak, Guru Angad and Guru Amar Das
In the Lord are absorbed,
Thou too Guru Ram Das, knowest the joy of such Yoga of realization. (12)

Janaku soe jini jāṉiyā ūnmani rathu dhariyā

Thou art the truly enligtened Janaka[1] who the Lord hast realized
And in the state of perfect realization stationed the chariot of the self;
Garnered truth and content and filled the mind unfilled with enlightenment.
Inexpressible is the realm of immortality,[2]
Attained by whoever is so blessed by the Lord.
Guru Ram Das, thou alone of this enlightened
Janaka-state art worth. (13)

Satiguru Nāmu ek liv mani japai driṛhu tinh jana dūkh pāpu kahu kat hovai jīo

Whoever with single-minded devotion : firmly the holy Preceptor's name repeats,
How may suffering and sin abide with him ?
The Master, Saviour,[3] on whomsoever even for an instant
Casts his glance of grace,
The holy Word in his heart contemplates
And his lust and wrath casts off.
Of all beings is he provider, revealer
Of the enlightenment beyond human conception;
Day and night keeping creation under gaze,
Sleeping not a wink.
By his sight is removed penury and is attained treasure of the Name,
By the enlightenment granted by the Master,
pre-eminent among all
Is washed off impurity of foul thinking.
Whoever with single-minded devotion, firmly the holy Preceptor's Name repeats.
How with him may suffering and sin abide ? (1)*

1. Name of Sītā's father, known for his exalted spiritual state.
2. Implies cessation of transmigration.
3. One who ferries across the water.
*Here begin Swaiyyās by the bard Nalh. Hence a new series starts.

Dharam karam pūrai satiguru pāī hai

Righteous and noble conduct by guidance of the holy Preceptor, perfectly endowed is obtained;
To serve whom seek accomplished Yogis,
the holy, sages and godly men,
Whose word is pure and who in the Sole Lord is absorbed.
None thy limitless extent knows—
The Formless Supreme Being, above fear,
Revealer of the inexpressible,
To thee realization has granted.
World that art lost in delusion, by meditating on
the Master's teaching.
From cumulative births, and chestizement by Yama, agent of death be liberated.
Creatures with thoughtless minds ! day and night consider this :
Contemplation of the Name, righteousness and noble conduct
By guidance of the holy Preceptor, perfectly-endowed is obtained. (2)

Hauṇ bali bali jāouṇ Satiguru sāchei Nām por

To the holy Preceptor's sacred Name
Am I evermore a sacrifice.
What simile can I give, what service render ?
With my Sole tongue, with hands folded
In uttering your Name am I absorbed.
Furthermore, realize I by my mind, word and deed P. 1399
The Name limitless, the Essence of Reality,
That the Master in my heart has placed
And know none other.
Saith the bard Nalh : By his contemplation
As by touch of the philosopher's stone
Is glass turned to gold,
And as by touch of sandalwood are other tree made fragrant.
To the holy Preceptor's sacred Name
Am I evermore a sacrifice,
By whose portal's very sight are lust and wrath annulled (3)

Rāju jogu takhtu dīyanu Guru Rām Dās

Throne of Yoga of enlightenment on Guru Ram Das was bestowed.
First by Nanak, luminous as the moon

Who to save mankind took birth,
Was the world made joyful.
On Guru Angad was conferred treasure of the Name,
And enlightenment of the mystery[1] inexpressible :
The five demons he subdued, and from fear was freed.
The holy Guru Amar Das in Kali-Yuga preserved devotion;
At sight of the Master's lotus feet sins flee.
As his faith in every way was proved, was Guru Amar Das pleased with him,
And the throne of Yoga of enlightenment on Guru Ram Das was bestowed. (4)

In the metre Raḍḍ

Jiseh dhāriyo dharati aru viyomu aru pawaṉu tei nīr sar awar anal anādi kīyo

The Name Divine that has propped earth, sky and air
And created primally the ocean of water, fire and food;
Which endowed the night with moon and stars,
The day with the sun and the mountains with fruits and flowers;
That which furthermore, has propped gods and men
And the three worlds—
That Name Divine eternal, illuminating from Guru Amar Das
Has Guru Ram Das received. (1.5)

Kacchuh kanchanu bhaiyo shabdu Guru sravaṉeh sūṉiyo

Whoever with his ears to the Master's teaching listens,
From mere glass to gold is transmuted.
Whoever the Name imparted by the holy Preceptor
With his tongue has uttered,
From poison becomes amrita.
By the holy Preceptor's glance of grace
From iron does he become a ruby.[2]
Anyone the Master's teaching contemplating
From stone turns a jewel.[3]
Such the holy Preceptor from timber and fuel into sandalwood turns,
Their suffering and penury gone.
One touching the holy Preceptor's feet

1. Story.
2. Implies a precious stone in general, a jewel.
3. Lit Pearl.

Though a beast or goblin,
A god-like being becomes. (2.6)

Jāmi Gurū hoe walli dhaneh kiyā gārawu dijjei

Whoever has the Master on his side,
Never of wealth shall be proud.
Whoever has the Master on his side,
What need for him of lakhs[1] of supporters ?
Whoever has the Master on his side
In enlightenment and contemplation remains absorbed.
Whoever has the Master on his side,
The house of truth[2] enters and on the Word discourses.
States the bard in humility :
Whoever day and night the Master's name repeats,
And the Master's name in heart lodges,
From transmigration[3] is freed. (3.7)

Guru binu ghoru andhāru Gurū binu samajh na āwai

Without the Master's guidance all is pitch darkness;
Without the Master's guidance no realization can be.
Without the Master's guidance come neither understanding nor fulfilment;
Without the Master's guidance is not attained liberation.
My self : with true contemplation adopt a Preceptor;
A Preceptor enlightened by the holy Word adopt,
Whereby may your sins be annulled.
Saith Nalh the bard : with your eyes behold the Master,
With your ears listen to the Master, image of truth.
Those that had not sight of the Master, nor adopted him,
Meaningless is their life in the world. (4.8)

Gurū Gurū Guru karu mana merei

My self ! ever the Master's name repeat—
The Master, in Kali-Yuga mighty to save, P. 1400
The very sound of whose word absorption[4] inspires.
Furthermore, is he annuller of suffering, heroic conferrer of joy,
Abiding close to those meditating on him.
The Master is being perfectly-endowed, from depth of heart contemplating the Lord,

1. A lakh is a hundred thousand.
2. By implication, the holy congregation.
3. Birth and death.
4. Samādhi.

At whose sight flee sins far off.
My self ! shouldst thou seek Divine wisdom,
Miraculous powers,[1] the Master's name repeat. (5.9)

Gurū mukhu dekhi garū sukhu pāiyo

At sight of the Master's face is attained great joy.
By conjuction of good fortune is fulfilied
The yearning to quaff amrita.
The mind that for experiencing voluptuous pleasures
In ten directions rushed,
Fulfilment and poise finds.
Goindwal,[2] that is like paradise.
On the bank of waters of the Beas is established.
Fled is suffering of years,
As at sight of the Master's face is attained joy. (6.10)

Samrath Gurū siri hatthu dhariyo

The Master repository of all powers on my head placed his hand of blessing.
In his grace the Master granted the Name Divine;
At sight of his feet are cast off sins.
Night and day is he in unbroken meditation,
On hearing his name has Yama taken fright.
Saith the humble bard Nalh : In the Master of the Universe is my hope reposed,
Who like philosopher's stone by his touch has made me gold.
As the Master,[4] repository of all powers on his head
placed his hand of blessing,
Guru Ram Das in the Lord reposed faith. (7.11)

Ab rākhahu dās Bhātt kī lāj

Pray save honour of the humble bard Nalh;
Save it as was saved honour of the devotee Prahlad,[5]
When Harnakash[6] with claws was torn apart.
Further more, as was saved Draupadi's honour[7]
Who when her robes were snatched, you granted her more apparel.

1. Used metaphorically for great spiritual enlightenment.
2. The seat of Guru Amar Das and his successors.
3. Refers to the bard Nalh.
4. Reference to Guru Amar Das.
5. The child-devotee, well-known in Bhaktī lore.
6. Hrinyakhshyapu, the atheist father of Prahlād.
7. The Pāndava princess, subjected to indignity in Duryodhana's court.

Sudama[1] you saved from affliction,
And fulfilment brought to Ganika,[2]
Who uttered the Name.
Holy Preceptor ! as with these,
In Kaliyuga show grace
And save honour of the humble bard Nalh. (8.12)
In the metre Jholana

Gurū Guru, Gurū Guru Gurū japu prānīyihu

Creatures of God, God's Name ever repeat.
Know it for truth, the true devotee repeats God's Name
The Name, bringer of the nine Treasures to others imparts,
And with his tongue day and night therein takes delight.
Then is received joy of devotion, as by the Master's guidance
Is the Lord meditated on,
You of the enlightened, all other paths discard
And to the Lord be devoted.
The Master's Word lodging in heart, the mind made up of five elements
Keep under restraint—
Thus shall you yourselves and your forebears be liberated,
And at the Divine Portal shall you be honoured.
Should you seek all joy in this world and the next,
Creatures of God, God's Name ever repeat. (1.13)

Gurū Guru Gurū Guru Gurū japi sati kari

With faith in the Master, his name repeat.
Knowing the Lord to be treasure of merits unknowable,
With your whole mind on the Lord meditate,
And day and night with concentration of heart
Discourse of the Master.
Furthermore, in the holy and fathomless pool,[3]
the Master takes dips—
As in pool of the holy Name with devotion you bathe,
Shall you be saved.
God's devotee ever the Name of the Lord above rancour,
Without form and fear repeats,
And joy of devotion to the Master's Word repeatedly enjoys.

---

1. A poor man, Krishna's devotee.
2. A courtesan, saved as to teach her parrot, she repeated God's Name.
3. Water.

My thoughtless mind ! discard doubt.
By the Master's guidance to the Name be devoted,
And with faith the Master's Name repeat. (2.14)

Gurū Guru Guru karuh Gurū Hari pāīvai P. 1401

The Master's name ever repeat—by the Master's guidance
Is attained the Lord.
The Master is the ocean, deep and profound, limitless;
By devotion to him
Are found pearls and jewels of the Name Divine.
The Master, furthermore, imparts fragrance and sweetness
And by his touch makes everything gold
By meditation on the Master's Word is foul understanding taken away.
The Master, at whose portal are ever flowing streams of amrita—
In the pool of enlightenment by him granted,
You devotees and disciples, take your bath.
Place in your heart the immaculate Name Divine, rich treasure :
The Master's name repeat; by the Master's guidance
Is attained the Lord. (3.15)

Gurū Guru Gurū Guru Gurū japu mann rei

My self ! ever the Master's name repeat,
By whose service are accomplished Yogis, Yoga-practitioners, gods and demons saved,
And to whose Word the thirty-three crore deities attentively listen.
Furthermore, are saved devotees that in loving devotion
The Master's name repeat;
By touch of the Master were saved Prahlad and the holy sages.
By guidance of the Master, image of the Lord
Are saved Narad[1] and Sanak[2] :
All by devotion to the sole Name are saved—
All other joys discard.
States this servant Nalh in humility :
The Name by the Master's guidance is attained :
My self ! ever the Master's name repeat. (4.16.29)

Sirī Gurū sāhibu sabh ūpari karī kripā satijugi jini Dhrū pari

The holy Master conferred on all his grace
As on Dhruva[3] in sati-yuga.

---

1. Nārad, a rishī.
2. Brahmā's son.
3. The rishī who turned into the Pole-star.

The venerable devotee Prahlad[1] he saved,
By placing on his forehead his lotus hand.
Beyond knowledge is his form that creation cannot know.
Yoga-practitioners and accomplished Yogis all with him seek shelter.
My self ! the Master's teaching absorb,
Thereby bring liberation to your human body.
The Master is ship and pilot—none without the Master's guidance is saved.
By the Master's grace is attained the Lord—
Without the Master's guidance comes not liberation.
Guru Nanak who close to the Lord abides,
Assuming Lahna's[2] form his light manifested.
Lahna initiated the way of righteousness and passed it on to Amar Das of the Bhalla clan.
He in turn set on the throne firmly Ram Das of the Sodhi clan,
And conferred on him inexhaustible treasure of the Name Divine :
On him conferred he inexhaustible treasure of the Name—
In all four ages by service to the Master is attained the reward.
Those that make obeisance at the Master's feet
And seek shelter with him, attain joy :
Such are called true devotees, attaining joy eternal.
The Master is manifestly form of the Primal Supreme Being, the Lord
And cherishes all.
Serve the holy Preceptor, of mystery unknowable,
The holy Ram Das who is the saviour.[3] (1)

Jih amrit bachan bāṉī sādhū jana japehn kari bichiti chāo
His ambrosial word and utterances by the holy
With unique fervour are contemplated.
By the Master's sight comes everlasting bliss, joy and fulfilment,
In the world.
Over the whole world the Master's sight is fulfilling like the Ganga
And confers the supreme holy state of liberation.
Beings fallen when dyed in the Master's auspicious enlightenment,

1. Prahlād, the child devotee, son of Harnākash.
2. Guru Angad's former name.
3. Ferries across the water.

Become devotees and conquer Yama's demesne.
He is Rama, noble scion of the Raghu race, born of Dasratha,[1]
Whose shelter the sagas seek.
Service of the holy Ram Das, holy Preceptor, P. 1402 of mystery profound,[2]
Is the true saviour. (2)

Sansāru agam sāgaru tulāh Hari-nāmu Gurūmukhi pāiyā

In the impassable ocean of the world is the Name
Divine the raft,
That from the Master's tongue is obtained.
Whoever this faith acquires, annulled is his transmigration.
Whoever this faith acquires, exalted is his state.
Of such the agony of attachment to wealth,
Avarice, greed, lust and wrath is gone.
The Supreme Being, Supreme Cause, with his illumined sight has he beheld.
And all doubt is cast off.
Service of the holy Ram Das, holy Preceptor, of mystery profound[2]
Is the true saviour. (3)

Partāpu sadā Guru kā ghati ghati pargāsu bhayā jasu jana kai

Illumination of the Master's eternal glory and laudation
In each being has flashed.
Some read holy texts, listen to these, sing these
And at dawn take holy bath :
At dawn with pure hearts holy bath these take,
And with due ceremony to the Master offer homage.
By touch of philosopher's stone, the Master,
And meditation on the Divine form, all light,
Are their selves turned gold.
Meditation they fix on the life of the universe, Lord of the Universe,
Pervasive over water and land,
And in various ways described.
Serve the holy Preceptor; the holy Ram Das of mystery profound
Is the true saviour,[3] (4)

---

1. Name of Rāma's father.
2. Unknowable.
3. Takes across the water.

Jinuh bāt nischal Dhrūy jānī teī jīva kāl tei bachā

Those that have realized the Master's Word to be immutable as the Pole Star
Alone from death are immune.
Such the frightful ocean of existence in an instance
have crossed.
The world they regard as made in the way of
A cloud shadow.
In holy company is their coiled[1] ignorant consciousness unfolded,
And by the Master's Word Supreme Bliss have they enjoyed.
The holy Master, pure, supreme over all,
With mind, word and deed you serve. (5)

Wāhigurū Wāhigurū Wāhigurū wāhi jīo

Hail the Master, Preceptor Divinely inspired,
Of lotus eyes, sweet speech, by millions of companions of beauteous aspect attended,
Whom mother Yashodha[2] exhorted to partake of curd and rice;
At the sight of whose unique beauty was she deeply entranced with love,
And whose girdle made beautiful resounding play.
The pen decreeing death in your hand rests—
Its writing who can efface ?
Shiva and Brahma with their heart seek your knowledge
And on you meditate.
Holy truth, resting-place of Lakshmi,[3]
The Primal Purusha art thou :
Hail the Master, Preceptor Divinely-inspired. (6)

Rāma-nām param dhām sudh budh nirīkār beshumār sarbar kau kāhi jīo

You are image of the Divine Essence, of exalted station,
Deeply enlightened, formless, limitless—
Who may your equal be called ?
You for the pure-hearted devotee Prahlad
Assumed form of Nar-Singh[4]

---

1. Kundilinī, implies here the unawakened, folded consciousness.
2. Krishna's father-mother.
3. The Divine Lotus on which the goddess Lakshmī rests.
4. The avatār man-lion.

And with your claws tore Harnakash[1] apart :
Bearer of the conch, quoit, mace and the lotus,[2]
And practised your trick on Bali.[3]
The Supreme Being beyond limit—
Who your mystery can unravel ?
Holy truth, resting-place of Lakshmi,
Image of the Primal Purusha art thou :
Hail the Master, the holy Preceptor. (2.7)

Pīt basan kund dasan priya sahit kanthmāl mukatu sīsi mor pankh chāhi jīo

*You are wearer of the yellow robe, of jasmine-like teeth.
Close to you is beloved Radha wearing flower necklace,
Wearing in joy the crown of peacock feathers on your head.
With great poise without any counsellor
To protect righteousness, with joy have you Enacted the unknowable, inaccessible play of creation.
Inexpressible your state—the three worlds P. 1403
in you absorbed—
Spontaneously you, King of Kings have assumed your present form,
Holy truth, resting place of Lakshmi,
Image of the Primal Purusha art thou :
Hail the Master, holy Preceptor. (3.8)

Satigurū Satigurū Satiguru Gobind jīo

Holy Preceptor, image of the Lord;
You it was who tricked Bali,[4] who destroyed aggressors.
Rewarded devotion; you the prince Krishna,
Without a blemish, with drum of your glory beating
And your host marching along.
You that are pervasive, your Name is destroyer of evil;
in all abodes you bring felicity;
In all beings are pervasive, are supreme among gods
And Shesh-naga[5] with the thousand hoods
Your laudation utters.

---

1. Prahlād's atheist father, Hrinyakashyapu.
2. (These are marks of Vishnū).
3. The Lord as Bāwan (Dwarf) discomfited the haughty King Bālī.
*(The description in this stanza is of Krishna, in his aspect of the Supreme Being).
4. A King, tricked by the Lord disguised as a Dwarf.
5. The mythical serpent with thousand hoods, uttering with each hood a fresh name of God.

You assumed incarnation as the Fish, the Tortoise and the Boar,[1]
And on Yamuna's bank sported with the ball.[2]
Gayand[3] ! the holy Name in your heart cherish,
Evil-thinking from your heart banish,
And repeat the holy Preceptor's Name, image of the Lord, (4.9)

Sirī Gurū Sirī Gurū Sirī Gurū Sati Jīo

Master, holy in all three periods time !
Brethren ! in the Master's Word put faith;
Know this to be your treasure;
Night and day repeat this mantra[4]
Wherewith shall you get weal,
And the Supreme state attain.
Discard lust, wrath, avarice and attachment
And fraud with diverse persons.
Cutting egoism's noose,
To holy company be attached.
In the world is love for body, home and woman
Only the mind's diversion :
The Master's lotus feet serve ever—
Firmly this teaching grasp.
Gayand ! the holy Name in your heart cherish; evil-thinking from your heart banish,
And the holy Preceptor's name repeat. (5.10)

Sevak kai bharpūr jugu-jugu Wāh-Gurū, terā sabhu sadkā

Hail holy Lord who age after age Thy servant's objective dost fulfil—
All we have is due to Thy blessing.
Lord Formless, beyond harm, none Thy origin knows.
Innumerable Brahmas and Vishnus didst Thou create,
Who in attachment to egoism are caught.
Eighty-four lakh species You created,
And since Primal Time sustenance to them have provided.
Hail holy Lord, who age after age Your servant's objectives dost fulfil. (1.11)

---

1. These are among the twenty-four Avatārs of Vishnū.
2. Implies Krishna.
3. Name of the bard.
4. A sacred incantation.

Wāhu Wāhu kā badā tamāshā

Wondrous is spectacle of creation of the Lord worthy of laudation.
Himself is He joyous at it, Himself contemplates it,
Himself to moon and sun imparts light.
Himself water, the earth and its prop,
Himself in each being abiding.
Himself male and female,
Himself the pieces[1] and the gaming-spread.
Devotees, all in the holy congregation contemplate
The wondrous spectacle of creation of the Lord
Worthy of laudation. (2.12)

Kīyā khelu bad melu tamāshā Wāhi-Gurū Terī sabh rachnā

A mighty wondrous play by fusion of the elements
hast Thou enacted :
Lord worthy of adoration, all this is Thy creation.
Over water and land, sky and the nether world art Thou pervasive—Sweeter than amrita are Thy words.
Brahma and Shiva adore Thee;
Thou immaculate death of death,
All before Thee are beggars.
By grace of the Master is attained the Supreme objective,[2]
As in holy congregation is the egoistic mind eliminated.
A mighty wondrous play by fusion of the P. 1404 elements hast Thou enacted :
Lord worthy of adoration, all this is Thy creation. (3.13.42)

Agamu anantu anādi ādi jisu koi na jāṇai

The Lord inaccessible, endless, Primordial,
Beyond knowledge of all;
On Him Shiva and Brahma ever meditate,
And the Vedas His laudation express;
The Lord Formless, above rancour, without a second,
Destroyer and Creator, Almighty, Saviour;
Who of variegated aspects created the world—
Mathura[3] His servant with his tongue His Name utters.
The Lord, Reality Eternal, Creator, Immanent
In the consciousness of Guru Ram Das abides. (1)

1. Implies beings; 'gaming-spread' implies the three qualities to which these are subject.
2. Implies liberation.
3. Name of the bard.

Gurū samrathu gahi karīyā dhruva buddhi sumati samhāran kau
To make my understanding poised and to grasp noble wisdom
The Master, Lords of all powers have I adopted[1]—
The Master whose banner of righteousness ever waves
To destroy waves of swarms of sins.
Mathura his servant this truth has after deliberation stated—
Nothing else worthy of contemplation is :
In Kali-Yuga to take beings across the ocean of existence
The Name Divine is the great ship. (2)

Santat hī sat-sangati sang surang ratei jasu gāwat hain
Those dyed in the noble dye of devotion in the holy congregation
Sing ever your laudation.
The Lord Sustainer of the earth, has Himself initiated the path of faith :
Those following it in it remain absorbed nowhere stray.
Saith Mathura : Fortunate are such as their heart's desire achieve.
What fear of Yama[2] for such
As to the Master's feet in heart are devoted ? (3)

Nirmal Nāmu sudhā par-pūran Shabad tarang pragṭit din āgaru
The Master is full to brim of amrita of the pure Name,
In which before day-break arise waves of the holy Word—
Deep and profound, fathomless, mighty ever full
Of various kinds of jewels.[3]
The holy that are God's swans in it disport—
Their record of fear of Yama's torment effaced.
To annul suffering of Kali-Yuga's sins
Is the Master's sight store-house of joy. (4)

Jā kau muni dhyānu dharain phirat sakal jug kabhūk koū pāwai ātam pragās kau
The holy Guru Amar Das absorbed in whose meditation sages wander over all the ages.
Out of whom rarely one spiritual illumination attains;
He whose laudation Brahma in texts of the Vedas sings;
For whose sight the anchorite Shiva on Kailash is settled,
never deserting it;
He for whom Yogis, celibates. siddhas[4] and yoga-practitioners

1. Grasped.
2. The sun's son (rhetorical name).
3. Used mataphorically for spiritual experiences.
4. Accomplished Yogīs.

In matted locks wander about the world detached—
As it pleased Him, grace he showed to creation,
And on Guru Ram Das conferred exaltation of the Name. (5)

Nāmu nidhānu dhyān antargati tej-punj tihu log pragāsei
In the Guru's heart is fixed meditation on treasure of the Name,
Whose effulgence the three worlds has illumined.
At his sight doubt instantly flees;
Cast off is suffering, and joy spontaneously blooms.
His servants and disciples ever with him are charmed,
As swarm of humming-bees with fragrance of lotus.
Himself the manifest Guru amar Das established
The immutable holy throne of Guru Ram Das. (6)

Tāriyou sansāru Māyā-mad mohit amrit-Nāmu dīyou samrathu
The world stupefied by Maya intoxication you saved
And conferred on it the almighty ambrosial Name.
Furthermore are you worthy of laudation,
Ever possessed of treasure of joy—
Miraculous powers never leaving your side.
Great is your bounty; mighty are you to subdue evils—
This servant this truth has stated.
What seeks such a one of any on whose head P. 1405
The Guru his hand has placed ? (7.49)

Tīni bhavan bharpūri rahiyo soī apan sarasu kīyou na jagat koī
In the three worlds full of beings, none else like the Lord is created.
His self has he created Himself.
Neither angelic beings nor demons, His extent have discovered :
Beings god-like and demon-like His extent have not found :
Swarms of celestial choristers too in quest after Him wander about.
The Supreme Being eternal, immutable, unincarnated, self-created
Beyond all limits lies.
The Supreme cause, almighty ever,
All beings with their minds on Him have meditated.
Holy Guru Ram Das ! may thy triumph resound the world over,
As the Lord of Supreme station hast thou attained. (1)

Satigūri Nānaki bhagati karī ik mani tanu manu dhanu Gobind dīyou
At first the holy Preceptor Nanak in devotion engaged
And his body, mind and substance to the Lord dedicated.
In Angad the illimitable Lord Himself assumed form :
With illumination was his heart made delectable.

Guru Amar Das the Creator's compliance won,
And in ecstasy of wonder on Him meditated.
Triumph of the holy Guru Ram Das over the
world has resounded :
The Supreme state on him by the Lord was conferred. (2)

Nāradu Dhrū Prahlādu Sūdāmā pūbb bhagat Hari kei ju gaṉam

Narad, Dhruva, Prahlad and Sudama who since former times
The Lord's devotees are reckoned;
Those named Ambrik, Jayadev, Trilochan, Nama and Kabir—
All these in Kali-Yuga were born,
And over the world spread their laudation.
Triumph of the holy Guru Ram Das over the
world has resounded :
The Supreme state on him by the Lord was conferred. (3)

Manasā kari simrant tujhai nar kāmu krodhu miṭiyo jo tiṉam

Beings that with heart's fervour contemplate thee,
Effaced is their lust and wrath.
Those that by their utterance contemplate thee,
In an instant is effaced their suffering and penury.
Those with their actions having sight of thee,
Into philosopher's stones are turned—
Thus sings the bard Balh your laudation.
Triumph of the holy Guru Ram Das over the world has resounded;
The Supreme state on him by the Lord was conferred. (4)

Jih satiguru simrant nayan kei timar miṭehṇ khinu

The holy Preceptor by contemplation of whom
In an instant is removed blinding darkness from the eyes;
The holy Preceptor by contemplation of whom
Ever[1] the Name Divine in heart abides;
The holy Preceptor by contemplation of whom
Is assuaged burning agony of the heart;
The holy Preceptor by contemplation of whom
Are attained miraculous powers and the Nine Treasures[2]—
Saith Balh : You of the holy congregation,
On the self-same Guru Ram Das call hail !
Listen, humau beings ! contemplate the holy Preceptor
By contact with whom is attained the Lord. (5.54)

1. Each day.
2. (See Glossary).

Jini shabadu kamāe parampadu pāiyo
Sevā karat na chhoḍiyo pāsu

Guru Ram Das by living the Word the supreme state attained,
And while rendering service left not the side of Guru Amar Das :
By this service was illumined brightly[1] the jewel of enlightenment,
And were suffering, penury and darkness destroyed.
Saith the bard Kirat : Those turning away from the world touching feet of the holy
From fear of lust, wrath and Yama are exempt.
Even as was Angad ever close to Nanak,
Was Guru Ram Das to Guru Amar Das. (1)

Jini Satguru sevi padārathu pāiyo nisi bāsūr P. 1406
Hari-charan

The holy Guru Ram Das by service to Guru Amar Das obtained boon of the Name
And night and day at the Divine feet was settled.
Thereby the entire congregation in devotion is absorbed,
Averring, you are the sandalwood,
Widespread your fragrance.
Dhruva, Prahlad, Kabir and Trilochan—
Illumination by utterance of the Name in them appeared.
By sight of Guru Ram Das, prop of the holy
Is the heart overjoyed. (2)

Nānak (i) Nāmu Niranjan jāniyo kīnī bhagati prem liv lāī

Nanak the immaculate Name realized,
And with deep love performed devotion :
Thereby Angad abiding by his side
Was the ocean that rained down meditation on the Word.
Inexpressible is Guru Amar Das's mystery,[2]
That with my one tongue is beyond expression.
Exaltation on Guru Ram Das of the Sodhi clan was conferred. (3)

Ham avagūṇi bharei eku gūṇu nāhīṇ

Full of demerits are we, without a single merit.
Discarding amrita, poison we swallow.
Deluded by Maya-attachment and doubt,

---

1. Manifestly.
2. Story.

To progeny and wife are we attached.
The Master's congregation is the noble path, have we heard,
By joining which is Yama's terror effaced.
The bard Kirat this supplication makes :
Guru Ram Das ! pray under your shelter keep us. (4.58)

Mohu mali biwasi kīyou kāmu gahi kes pachhāṛhiyo

Guru Ram Das crushing attachment rendered it powerless,
And grasping lust by the hair, dashed it down.
By his blazing might wrath he cut to pieces
And avarice with ignominy shook off.
Transmigration[1] with folded hands his command obeys.
In his grace the ocean of existence he stilled
And his disciples saved.
Over his head waves the umbrella; over the holy throne is he seated—
Conjoined with asceticism and life-participation is his might.
Saith Salh : Verily Guru Ram Das, immutable is thy rule, unvanquished thy host. (1)

Tū satigūru chahuṇ jugīṇ āpi āpei Parameshəru

Over all four ages are you the holy Preceptor, Image yourself of the Supreme Being.
From Primal Time godly beings, Yoga-practitioners,
Siddhas and disciples have served you.
From Primal Time, beginning of Ages, eternally
Over all the three worlds is your might operative.
The Vedas you saved[2]
And over age and death are prevalent.[3]
Guru Amar Das immutably made you the saviour, ferrier across the ocean.
Saith the bard Salh : None else reckon I annuller of sins as you;
Guru Ram Das, with you seek I shelter. (2.60)

Swayyas—(Stanzas) in laudation of Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Simran soī Pūrakhu achalu abināshī

The immutable, immortal Supreme Being I contemplate,

1. Birth and death.
2. Allusion to the Purānic tale, when the Lord as the incarnation Boar destroyed the demon Sankhasūra.
3. Ride.

Whose contemplation filth of foul thinking drives away.[1]
In heart cherish I lotus feet of the holy Preceptor,
And Guru Arjan's quality of poise contemplate.
In the home of Guru Ram Das was he born,[2]
Whereby were all desires fulfilled. P. 1407
Even from thy birth didst thou realize the Supreme Being as in the Guru's teaching expounded.
The bard Kala with folded hands your noble laudation expresses.
The Lord created you Janak, who devotion have achieved.[3] Expressing the Master's Word, on your tongue the Lord have you settled.
By association with Guru Nanak, Angad and Amar (Das)
The exalted state did Guru Ram Das attain :
In the home of Guru Ram Das was Guru Arjan
the devotee incarnated. (1)

Baḍ-bhāgīṇ ūnmāniyo ridi shabadu basāiyo

By great good fortune his mind above Maya he lifted
And in heart lodged the holy Word.
Content-filled is the mind's jewel of such
As by yourself, Master, have the Name in it firmly fixed.
The holy Preceptor to him has granted vision of the
Supreme Being
Inaccessible, unknowable.
In Guru Ram Das's home Guru Arjan,
Reckoned image of the Lord, the inspiration realized. (2)

Janak rāju bartāiyā sati-jūgu ālīṇā

Dispensation of illumination have you spread like Janak
And thereby in Kaliyuga is Sati-yuga mingled.
The mind bowing to the Master's Word,
Was the stubborn[4] heart faith-filled.
Guru Nanak, laying foundation of truth,
In the Divine holy Enlightener was absorbed.
Guru Arjan, in Guru Ram Das's home born,
Of the Lord beyond extent has vision. (3)

---

1. By contemplation of which it flees.
2. Lit. Shed his light.
3. Won.
4. Impervious to faith.

Khelu gūṛhou kīyo Hari Rāi santokhi samāchariyo Bimal-būddhi Satigūri samāṉau

Image of the Divine Monarch, profound is the play by you enacted;
Content have you firmly grasped;
Your pure understanding in the holy Lord absorbed.
Saith Kala : Poets have expressed the Guru's laudation
As image of the Lord unincarnated, self-created.
From Guru Nanak did Angad obtain the boon;
From Angad did Amar Das received the treasure.
From Guru Ram Das did Arjun obtain the boon,
Verily as touch of the philosopher's stone. (4)

Sad-jīvaṉ Arjūnu amolu ājonī sambhau

Arjan is the invaluable image of the Lord
Eternal, unincarnated, self-created;
Shatterer of fear, annuller of suffering of all,[1]
Limitless, beyond fear;
He who has realized the Lord inaccessible,
Consumer of doubt and illusion,
Provider of cooling joy;
The Creator, being perfection incarnate, unborn
In Guru Arjun's image is born.
In the word of the primal Guru Nanak, through Angad and the holy Preceptor Amar Das
Is he absorbed.
Hail Guru Ram Das, who by his touch as philosopher's stone
Made Guru Arjun like unto himself. (5)

Jai-jaikāru jāsu jag andari mandari bhāgu jūgati Shiv rahtā

Hail to Guru Arjun who in this world is the temple of felicity
And united to the Lord, weal incarnate, abides.
By good fortune hast thou found the Preceptor,[2]
perfectly-endowed.
Whose mind in the Lord, prop of creation is absorbed.
Shatterer of fear art thou, annuller of suffering of all[3]
Thus does Kala-Sahar your laudation express :

---

1. Others.
2. Implies Guru Ram Das.
3. Others.

Of the Soddi clan, son of Guru Ram Das,
Holder of the banner of righteousness, Arjun,
God's devotee. (6)

Dharam-dhīru Gūrmati gambhīru par-dūkh biraṉu

Prop of righteousness, in the Master's teaching deep-absorbed,
Annuller of suffering of all;[1]
Bountiful like to the Lord, annuller of egoism;
Holy Preceptor, great bestower of enlightenment
For which your mind's ecstasy on flagging knows :
Embodiment of truth, with whom incantation of the Name Divine,
Bringer of the Nine Treasure[2] is inexhaustible, Guru Ram Das's son, all-pervasive who
The canopy of poise has spread.
Saith Kala : Guru Arjun ! joy of Yoga of enlightenment[3] has thou realized. (7)

Bhay nirbhau Māṉiyo lākh mehn alakhu lakhāiyo

By the Lord's fear has he realized the Lord without fear,
And amid the million-fold creation has beheld the Lord invisible.
Of the Lord inaccessible, unknowable, P. 1408
of mystery profound.
Has the holy Preceptor[4] granted him realization.
By the realization by the Master granted, is he approved of the Lord.
Hail the Master, who the empty ponds to the brim has filled.[5]
By putting faith in the enlightenment attained by the Master
Is he approved;
The unbearable[6] has he borne, and in the pool of content is immersed.
Saith Kala : Guru Arjan, Yoga of enlightenment[7]
Has thou verily attained. (8)

Amiyo rasnā badani bar dāti alakh apār Guru sūr shabadi haumai nivāriyo

From his tongue amrita he imparts and by his utterance[8]
confers boons;

1. Others.
2. See Glossary.
3. Rāj-Yoga.
4. Reference to Guru Ram Das.
5. (Symbolic expression for spiritual attainments).
6. That is, the blaze of enlightenment.
7. Rāj-Yoga.
8. Mouth.

The Master heroic unknowable, limitless
By his Word annuls egoism.
The five tigers[1] of passion has he crushed,
And the serene cosmic void[2] in his self[3] sustained.
The world by devotion to the Name Divine is saved,
That the holy Preceptor in its heart has fixed.
Saith Kala : Guru Arjun, the pinnacle of enlightenment
Hast thou made effulgent. (9)

*Sorathas

Guru Arjuna purakhu parmāṇu Pārthaun chālai nāhīn

Guru Arjan is the veritable hero, and like Arjuna of Mahabharat leaves not the field—
In his hand is held spear of the Name,
That by the Master's Word is embellished. (1)
The world is the ocean; the Name Divine over it the bridge and the ship :
To the holy Preceptor art thou devoted;
By inspiring devotion to the Name is the world saved. (2)
By grace of the holy Preceptor is attained
The Name, saviour of the world.
Now with none other have we concern;
At your portal feel we fulfilled. (3.12)

Joti-rūpi Hari āpi Gurū Nānaku kahāiyo

The Divine Light, the Lord Himself assumed Guru Nanak's name.
From him was manifested Angad, and to the essence was joined.
Angad in his grace installed the holy Preceptor Amar Das.
Amar Das the immortal umbrella to Guru Ram Das granted.
By sight of Guru Ram Das, saith Mathura,[4]
Was manifested the veritable exalted being,
The filth manifestation Guru Arjun of the ambrosial utterance—
Him with your eyes you behold. (1)

Sati-rūpa sati-nāmu satu santokhu dhariyo ūri

The eterna' Divine image, the holy Name, truth and content
In his heart he settled.
The Primal Purusha in Primal Time

---

1. Also rendered as passion that drags the five evils.
2. Symbol for the Absolu' :.
3. Home.

*This is an unrhymed form of the couplet.

4. Name of the bard.

Manifestly on Guru Arjun's forehead inscribed the Word of ordination.
His light manifestly shines;
His effulgence over the earth's region is spread.
By touch of the Guru,[1] the philosopher's stone,
By touch of him who is worthy to the touched,[1]
By the Guru's[1] guidance was he himself called Guru.
Saith Mathura : His image ever before your heart you keep fixed.
Guru Arjun is ship of Kali-Yuga,
By whose aid[2] is the entire creation taken across. (2)

Tih jana jāchahu jagatra parjānīyatu
Bāsūr rayni bāsu jā ko hitu Nām siūṇ

Beg boon of the person[3] who above the world is known to abide,
And day and night with the Name is in love.
Supreme ascetic, in the Lord's dye immersed,
Above desire, yet involved in the household beheld.
With the Divine Being beyond limit in love :
Other than the Lord finds he no joy or pleasure.
Mathura's Master is Guru Arjun, all-pervasive,
With the Lord by his devotion united. (3)

Ant na pāwat Dev sabai müni Indra mahā-Shiva jog karī

All the deities the Lord's extent have not realized,
Nor the supreme sages and the great Shiva
Who Yoga has practised.
Brahma failed too, who the Vedas contemplated,
And ceased not in utterance of the Lord's Name for a short while.
Saith Mathura : The Lord to His servant is gracious, P. 1409
And on the entire creation conferred bliss,
As Guru Ram Das to save the world
The apostolic light to Arjun imparted. (4)

Jag aouru na jāhi mahā tam maiṇ avatāru ūjāgaru āni kīyo

None else in the great darkness of the world is the saviour,
Except Guru Arjun who manifestly is so incarnated.
Saith Mathura : Removed are millions of the sufferings of such As amrita of the Name have quaffed.

---

1. Guru Ram Das is implied.
2. By whose contact.
3. (Over this whole quatrain the reference is to Guru Arjan Dev's qualities).

My self ! leave not this path of faith :
Think not between the Guru and the Lord
Any difference is.
Manifestly in Guru Arjun's heart the Lord,
Perfection incarnate lodgement has assumed. (5)

Jab lau nahīṇ bhāg lilār üdai
Tab lau bhramtei phirtei bahu dhāiyo

Before good fortune on our forehead was manifested,
In diverse spots were we wandering about,
In the terrible ocean of Kali-Yuga were we sinking;
Our regrets ending never.
Mathura this essential truth after deliberation states :
To save the world was the Lord as Guru Arjun incarnated.
Whoever Guru Arjun Dev's name has repeated,
In torment of birth nevermore is involved. (6)

Kali-samüdra bhayei rūp pragaṭi Hari-nām üdhāranu

To save beings from Kali-Yuga's ocean
Was the Name Divine manifested, in Guru Arjun's form.
In the heart of whichever of the holy he abides
Are his suffering and penury ended.
Other than he no other immaculate form of the Lord exists.
Whoever by his mind, word and deed the Lord has realized,
Image of the Lord has become.
On the earth, sky and over the nine continents
As Divine effulgence is he pervasive.
Saith Mathura : Guru Arjun is manifestly image of the Lord—
Between the two no difference is. (7.19)

Ajai Gang-jalu aṭalu Sikh-sangati sabh nhāwai

By the Guru's side keeps flowing Ganga-stream of the Name,
Unending, eternal,
In which the disciples' congregation bathes.
Holy books[1] are there ever recited,
And Brahma with his tongue the Vedas enunciates.
The immortal fly-whisk over his head waves;
Ambrosia of the Name by his tongue he utters.
The Supreme Being Himself over Guru Arjun's head the umbrella has spread.

1. Purāna, used symbolically for holy texts.

Guru Ram Das in unison with Nanak, Angad, Guru Amar Das
And Guru Ram Das to the Lord is united.
Saith Haribans : Guru Ram Das's laudation over the world is spread—
Who says the holy Guru is subject to death ? (1)

Dev-Pūri mehṇ gayo āpi Parameshwar bhāiyo

Guru Ram Das, loved of the Supreme Being, for the Divine realm departed.
The Lord granting him a throne, on it seated the Guru.
The gods at this expressed jubilation
And his triumph hailed.
The demons fled, their sins within them atremble.
Those that to Guru Ram Das attained,
Were their sins annulled.
Guru Ram Das the umbrella and throne of sovereignty of the earth.
On Guru Arjun before departing conferred.
(2.21.9.11.10.10.22.60.143)

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, P. 1410
Creator-Immanent,
Above Fear, above Rancour, Form Eternal, Unincarnated,
Realized by the Holy Preceptor's Grace

Sloka Supernumerary to the Vārs—Composition of Sri Guru Nanak Dev

Ütangī paioharī gehirī gambhīrī

Thou female[1] of graceful limbs, at the feet of the holy make obeisance—
Thus shalt thou become profound in wisdom.
Listen, Mother-in-law ! how may I make obeisance ?
My breasts let me not to bend.
My sister-friend, despite firm plaster from mountains that on lofty-mansions is laid,
Have I seen them collapse.
Female, be thou not proud. (1)
Thou female with gazelle eyes, listen to this profound observation of illimitable import :
Enter into bargain after the commodity is properly tested :
Against association with the evil cry out;

1. Female and its equivalents stands for the human person, as in numerous places in Gurubānī.

On true friends call hail !
Female cherished ! contemplate the call by which are met true friends.
To true friends dedicate your body and mind—thus shall come pure joy.
Form not love for what appears evanescent.
Saith Nanak : To such am I a sacrifice as by such deeds realization have attained. (2)
Shouldst thou seek to be a good swimmer,
Seek to know it of those that the art of swimming know
Such are the truly wise; the vast waves they penetrate.[1]
In wind, storm and flood, with millions of waves rising,
On the holy Preceptor call, and thus form fear of sinking be immune. (4)
Nanak ! what has the world come to ?
No guide of the way or friend can be found.
Brothers and relations love have discarded.
For the sake of the world have people let go of devotion to God. (5)
Mourners wail and cry,
Strike their faces and tear their hair apart.[2]
Should these repeat God's Name and have poise,
Saith Nanak, to them would I be a sacrifice. (6)
My self ! let not thy feet stray; the straight path follow.
Behind thee is the frightful tiger of passions; ahead of thee the tank of fire.[3]
My mind in doubts is fallen, no other way of liberation is visible.
Saith Nanak, except by the Master's guidance in seeking union with the Divine Beloved. (7)
By subduing the ego is killed passion's tiger—
This by the holy Preceptor's instruction comes.
By realizing the self, comes union with the Lord,
And death[4] is annulled.
By the Master's glance of grace man escapes soiling P. 1411 hands in mud.

---

1. (The entire vision is symbolical, waves are waves of passion. The symbolism is continued).
2. This is how ritual mourning by females is done in the Punjab.
3. Implies transmigration.
4. As above.

Saith Nanak : The faithful are saved,
As the Master the parapet of truth around the pond has erected. (8)
To extinguish fire of desire seek water—
Without the Guru is not found the ocean.
Despite millions of ritual deeds is the self in transmigration whirled about.
Should one obey the Master's will, Yama the tax-gatherer oppresses not.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance comes union
With the Lord immaculate, eternal. (9)
In the muddy pond does the crow bathe excessively[1] :
Its mind and body by evil qualities fouled, its beak with filth soiled.
In company with the crow, vile bird, the Pool that is the Master
By the swan of the self is not seen
You enlightened ones, with devotion realize : Such is attachment to misbelievers.
Raising cries of hail in company of the holy,
By the Master's guidance do good deeds.
Saith Nanak : In the holy bathing spot, the river that is the Master,
Is the bathing holy and pure. (10)

Janamei kā phalu kiyā gaṇī jān Hari bhagati na bhāou

What profit lies in human birth devoid of Divine devotion and love ?
All worthless is wearing fine dresses and feasting
With the mind harbouring duality.
Then is false all seeing and hearing; false utterance of the tongue.
Saith Nanak : Laud the Name—else is one in transmigration involved through egoism. (11)
Rare are God's devotees, not many—
The world is all deceit and falsehood. (12)
Saith Nanak : One struck with love of God instantly to the world dies,
Losing all power[2] to live involved in it.
To die of such blow is to be approved of God.

---

1. (Here is the continued symbolism : mud, pure water; crow, swan—all symbols occuring in different places in Gurubānī aspects of the spiritual life).
2. Implies inclination.

Such a blow comes to whoever by God is so struck—
Approved is bearing of such blow.
Hard to extract is love's pike, wherewith the Master,
All-wise strikes. (13)
How can an unbaked vessel[1] be washed ?
The body, composed of five elements is a false show enacted.
Should it please God, this vessel He makes firm.
Then, with the supreme effulgence manifested, music of devotion, shall in it play. (14)
Those stone-blind in mind, significance of the Master's Word know not.
Such blind minds are upturned lotuses, horribly ugly to behold.
Those that know how truth to express, and follow what is imparted,
Are wise of aspect.
Some no realization have of the holy word or holy texts,[2]
Nor have joy of holy chanting;
Good and evil not realizing.
Some no achievement have nor understanding or discretion,
Knowing not the meaning of the holy Word.[3]
Saith Nanak : Such are veritable asses;
Without merit, yet full of pride. (15)
He is the true Brahmin who the Supreme Being realizes,
And absorbed in contemplation and austerity, in doing good engages;
His principle[4] in noble conduct and content inhering.
Snapping worldly entanglements, should he be free of these :
Such a Brahmin indeed is worthy of reverence. (16)
The true Khatri[5] is one who in heroic action engages;
And his life in charitable action passes;
Who while casting the seed of his charity, the deserving recepient[6] recognizes :
Such a Khatri at the Divine Portal is approved.
Should his acts on greed, avarice and falsehood be based,

1. Symbol for the frail boby.
2. Veda.
3. Akkhar implies not letters of the alphabet here, but the Word, Shabda).
4. Dharma.
5. The second of the Hindu higher castes, a popular form of Kshatriya (the warriors caste).
6. Lit. Field or soil for sowing.

Retribution of his deeds shall he receive. (17)
Burn not the body like an oven : make not thy bones its fuel.
How have thy head and feet faulted ? Within thyself realize the Beloved.[1] (18)
In all beings[2] abides the Beloved, none without Him. P. 1412
Saith Nanak : Such are of true conjugal bliss as by the Master's grace have Him manifested to them. (19)
Shouldst thou seek to engage in the game of love,
Step into my street with thy head placed on thy palm :
While on to this stepping,
Ungrudgingly[3] sacrifice your head. (20)

Nāli kirāṛāṉ dostī kūṛaī kūṛī pāe

With worshippers of mammon[4] is friendship hollow—
False, false its foundation.
Thou Mula,[5] invisibly death comes,
Not knowing where. (21)
In Kali-Yuga are people devoid of enlightenment,
Worshippers of ignorance,
Involved in duality, false is their conduct. (22)
Knowledge imparted by one uninstructed : meditation without faith,
Learning without truth—all no effect produce. (23)
Beings[6] in the world are sent and depart without doing good—
No joy in such a life lies. (24)
Rama[7] pined, despite an assembled army and strength inside him;
The monkey host with devotion fighting was serving him.
He pined as ten-headed Ravana carried off Sita[8]
And Lakshman[9] died[10] under a curse.
Saith Nanak : The Creator beholds the world, making and unmaking it. (25)
Ramchandra for Sita[8] and Lakshman[9] was pining.[10]

1. (This sloka is recorded among slokas of Sheikh Farīd at No. 120).
2. Vessels.
3. Without laying anyone under obligation.
4. Kirār, a contemptuous term for a greedy shopkeeper.
5. (A Khatrī of Siālkot, about whose false answer to the Guru a parable is related).
6. Men.
7. The god-hero of Rāmāyana.
8. Rāma's wife.
9. Rāma's brother.
10. (Lakshman had swooned and looked like dead).

Then invoked he Hanuman's[1] aid who by good luck arrived.
Ravana, the misguided demon realized not the Lord's doings.
Saith Nanak : Above need is the Lord—
Effects even of Rama's recorded deeds
Are ineffaceable. (26)
In Lahore city for a pahar[2] and a quarter raged terrible destruction.[3] (27)

Composition of Guru Amar Das

Lahore city has turned pool of amrita, home of merits.[4] (28)

Composition of Guru Nanak Dev

What are the marks of endeavour undertaken for wealth ?
In the home of such is no lack of foodstuffs.
Yet suffer they from indifference to God and hubbub of women folk grips them.
In their homes is ever wailing as of swarms of females, that involved in worthless doings are wailing.
One greedy after lucre receives wealth, but gives away
nothing in charity;
Makes money yet is ever afraid.[5] (29)
Thou lotus-pool ! green wert thou, with golden-hued lotuses.
By what pain art thou dried up, saith Nanak, thy body blackened and battered ?
The water that was my companion have I not received—
The water by whose sight bloomed my body and with lush colour was I decked.[6] (30)

Rajji na koī jīviyā pahunchi na challiyā koe

None to satiety has lived and accomplished all.
The enlightened find eternal life—
By the mind absorbed in God comes exaltation.

---

1. The monkey-god, devotee and supporter of Rāma.
2. (A pahar is three hours).
3. According to one interpretation this observation refers to Bābar's carnage that rained on the city in 1524. Another rendering : In Lahore city for a pahar and a quarter rages terrible slaughter of animals for food.
4. This refers to the birth in Lahore of Guru Ram Das, that turned it into a veritable Pool of Amrita.
5. This sloka bears several diverse interpretations.
(See Faridkot Teeka, Shabdārth and Sri Guru Granth Sahib Darpan by Sahib Singh).
6. (Here several symbols are used. The pool is the human self, water the blessing of holy congregation).

Man engaged in saving pennies[1] like life passes.
Saith Nanak : To whom to complain ?
Without man's consent He carries the creatures off. (31)
Blame not the self, Lord of senses :
As it grows old, its senses it loses;
Babbles over much, and in blindness
Into pits and cavities[2] falls. (32)
All that the Creator, all-perfection has made, is also perfect,
Nothing lacking or excessive.
Saith Nanak, the God-directed one that this realizes,
In the Lord, all-perfection is absorbed. (33)

Slokas of Sri Guru Amar Das P. 1413

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Abhiyāgat eh na ākhīyeṇh jin kai mana meḥn bharamu
Such as not called true mendicants as cherish illusions in their minds :
Charity to such, saith Nanak, shall bring only spurious[3] merit. (1)
One begging of the Immaculate Lord, free from fear, installed in the Supreme state—
Saith Nanak : Rare are those that to such dispense charity. (2)
Should I be a Brahmin-scholar, an astrologer,
And have all the four Vedas at the tip of my tongue;
Should I be known for my performance of ritual piety and intellect
In all the nine continents—
Without the Name are all these of no avail. (3)
Slaughtering a Brahmin or a cow or a daughter;
By evil-doing making ones' living;
Have the curse for millions of evils;
Ever to remain wrapped in pride—
All such sins cling to man should he be neglectful of the Name :
Burnt be all intellectual legerdemain :
Realization of the Divine Essence alone is of abiding worth. (4)
Whatever destiny on one's forehead is recorded, none may efface.
Saith Nanak : Whatever is recorded, comes to happen—
This only by grace is realized. (5)

---

1. Sarfā is extreme stinginess.
2. (These imply hell and transmigration).
3. Lit. Such as these.

Those that in involvement with false greed have the Name neglected,
In pursuits after deluding Maya are engaged—
The fire of desire inside them raging.
Those deluded by Maya the deceiver.
Have not the creeper devotion sprouting nor the fruit of enlightenment growing.
Egoists in bonds shall be led off—
Dogs form not part of the flock.
Himself He brings about delusion; Himself provides union.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance is found liberation,
Should one follow the Master's way. (6)
Laud Him who is worthy of laudation :
Laud ever the holy Eternal.
Saith Nanak : One sole Doer is real;
All others forsake. (7)
Saith Nanak : Wherever I have gone, he holy Eternal have I beheld.
The Sole Reality have I beheld wherever I looked .
By the Master's guidance is He manifested. (8)
By the holy Word is suffering annulled, should one in the heart cherish it.
By the Master's grace in the heart is it lodged, by good fortune acquired. (9)
Saith Nanak : Hordes of countless million, yelling in pride have vanished.
Those by the Master guided[1] are saved.
By cherishing the Word—holy, inaccessible. (10)

Jinnhāṇ Satiguru ikk-mani seviyā tinh jana lāgouṇ pāe

Those that with undivided minds the holy Preceptor have served,
Their feet I touch.
By listening to the Master's Word is the Lord in the self lodged,
And hunger for the world vanishes.
Such are pure and bright as by the Master's teaching in the Name get absorbed.
Saith Nanak : Other kinds of kingship are false.
Those in the Name dyed are the true kings. (11)

1. Those that have met; have had the touch of (the Master).

As in a man's home is the devoted wife, that with great devotion gives him love;
Viands tasting of salt, of the six flavours and sweets she gets ready—
Such are the devotees that by their utterance laud the Lord's Name with devoted hearts :
Mind, body and property to the Lord they dedicate;
Their head have they given[1] to the Master.
With fear and devotion are they full of intense yearning for union with the Lord :
Above need is the Lord—What offerings would please Him[2] ?
One following the holy Preceptor's way,
In laudation of the Lord would find fulfilment.
Saith Nanak : Blessed are such as even in Kali-Yuga P. 1414
The holy Preceptor's teaching[3] follow. (12)
Those that the holy Preceptor have not served, nor cherished in heart the holy Word—
Cursed is their life : for what have they come into the world ?
Should by the Master's teaching fear of God enter the mind,
And desire for joy in God be aroused
Such attain the Name from Primal Time destined.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Ocean of the world they cross over. (13)
In Maya-attachment is the world deluded;
As their house is robbed, people know it not :
The world, egoist and blind has on lust and wrath set its heart.
The sword of enlightenment the five agents of evil slaughters :
Those bearing it by the Master's teaching are kept wide awake.
Those in whose minds is illumination of the jewel Enlightenment,
Are pure of mind and body.
Those without the Name are shameless;
Devoid of the Name, they wail.
Saith Nanak : Whatever in Primal Time by the Creator is recorded,
None may efface. (14)
Those that are God-directed, by contemplation of the Master's Word,

1. Sold.
2. Food-offering is implied.
3. Desire, will.

Have earned the wealth divine :
Attaining blessing of the Name endlessly are their stores filled.
In their utterance endlessly they express Divine laudation.
Saith Nanak : All that happens is by the Creator caused :
The Divine Maker watches over all.[1] (15)
In the minds of the God-directed is serenity;
Their self to the Tenth Plane[2] is ascended :
There neither is sleep nor hunger;
In the ambrosial Name of the Lord is joyful living there.
Saith Nanak : Pain and pleasures occur not there,
Where illumination of the all-pervading Lord falls. (16)
All have to wear the vesture of lust and wrath.
Some are born, others to nothingness go;
All by Divine Ordinance appear and disappear.
Birth and death is not annulled, where absorption in duality exists.
Such are bound, and in bonds are whirled around in transmigration :
Against their destiny nothing avails. (17)
Those having Divine grace, to the holy Preceptor are united :
By the holy Preceptor's touch[3] is their thinking reversed;
Spontaneously they die to the world while living.
Saith Nanak : Such, dyed in devotion, in the Name
Divine are absorbed. (18)
The egoists' thinking is restless, full of much cleverness;
Their endeavour of no avail; not a sesame's breadth of space they find with God
Good and evil that they sow, is by Dharamaraja adjudged.
Without the holy Preceptor's guidance no release from Yama, agent of death comes :
Such, involved in duality, make waste of life.
They perceive not the vanishing of youth;
As old age comes, they die.
Caught in attachment to progeny and wife,
None in the end to their succour comes.
Those serving the holy Preceptor find bliss,

1. (The implication is, that such devotion as mentioned herein, comes by Divine dispensation).
2. Lit. Sky.
3. (As he has met).

As the Name in their self is lodged.
Saith Nanak : Supremely fortunate are those
That by the Master's guidance in the Name are absorbed. (19)
Egoists contemplate not the Name;
Without the Name, in suffering they wail.
Not being devoted to the all-pervading Lord,
How in duality may they find joy ?
Inside them is impurity of egoism,
That they cast not out by the holy Word.
Saith Nanak : Without the Name, in impurity they die— P. 1415
Their valued life wasted. (20)

Manmükh bolei andhülei tisu mehṇ agnī kā vāsu

Egoists are deaf and blind—inside them abides fire.
The sacred texts they heed not to get realization,
Nor heed the holy Word to get illumination.
Inside them is not enlightenment; nor faith is
 the Master's teaching.
Inside the minds of the enlightened is lodged the Master's Word—
Ever to God attached, unending is their joy.
The Lord the enlightened ever cherishes—
To them may I ever be a sacrifice.
Those that by the Master's guidance serve the Lord,
Nanak is slave to such. (21)
Maya is a coiling serpent, coiling round the world.
The antidote to this poison is the Name Divine—
The exorcist Master's Word put into your mouth.
Those so destined in Primal Time, the holy Preceptor find.
By the Master's touch are they purged,[1]
Their poison of egoism cast out.
Radiant shall be the countenances of the God-directed;
At the Divine Portal shall they be exalted.
Nanak, servant of God, is a sacrifice to such
As the holy Preceptor's way follow. (22)
The holy Preceptor's being is without rancour—
His heart in the Lord ever fixed.
Whoever towards the rancourless harbours rancour, His own house sets aflame.
Inside such a one is harboured wrath and pride;

1. i.e. Relieved of their poison.

Burning in these day after day, ever is he suffering.
Uttering falsehood, of such the speech is barking;
Caught in duality they swallow poison.
In pursuit of Maya-poison they wander about;
At each door with ignominy treated.
Like a harlot's son, of no known lineage[1] are they.
Neglectful of the Name Divine, by the Creator Himself cast astray.
To the devoted has the Lord shown grace,
And united those cast asunder.
Nanak, servant of God, is a slave to such
As at the holy Preceptor's feet make reverence. (23)
Those devoted to the Name are saved,
Those neglectful of the Name, to Yama's demesne go.[2]
Saith Nanak : In alienation from the Name lies no joy;
Those without the Name, in every birth are full of regrets. (24)
As anxiety and restlessness ceases, the mind enters the state of joy.
By the Master's grace comes realization :
Such a seeker[3] with a contented mind sleeps.
Those in whose destiny it is so pre-recorded,
To the Master, image of the Divine, are united.
Saith Nanak : In serene spontaneity are they united,
And attain to the Lord, Joy Supreme. (25)
Such the holy Preceptor serve, by contemplation of his Word;
To the holy Preceptor's will are they obedient,
The Name Divine in their heart lodged.
In this world and the next are they honoured—
In commerce with the Name Divine engaged.
By devotion to the Master's Word are they acknowledged
At the holy Divine Court.
Holy their commerce, holy the expense,
Within them is loving devotion.
Yama, agent of death, approaches them not :
By the Creator Himself are they liberated.
Saith Nanak : Those in the Name dyed are truly wealthy;
Penurious is rest of the world. (26)
The Name Divine is the devotee's prop;

1. Their father's name is lost.
2. Are taken to Yama's city.
3. The woman.

Other than the Name, has he no resting-place.
As by the Master's teaching is the Name in the self lodged, P. 1416
Spontaneously find they union with the Lord.
By supreme good fortune comes meditation on the Name,
And unbroken devotion day and night;
Nanak, servant of God, craves for dust of the feet of such :
May I for ever be a sacrifice to them. (27)
The creation, eighty-four lakh species,
Burning in desire wails.
In the world is manifestation of attachment to Maya—
At the end it lasts not with man.
Without devotion to the Lord comes not peace —
Where else may one seek it[1] ?
By supreme good fortune is the holy Preceptor followed,
And the Divine teaching realized.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By lodging in the heart the Lord,
Is the fire of desire wholly assuaged. (28)
Sins manifold we commit, without end or extent—
Lord ! in Thy grace forgive us, great sinners and evil-doers that we are.
Lord ! without reckoning is Thy forgiveness and power to unite us to Thee :
By the Master's pleasure has union with the Lord been made,
With our sins and evil-doings annulled.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Those meditating on the Lord's Name,
Of resounding fame shall be. (29)
Those that entertain the holy Preceptor's fear and love,
And after long separation are united—
Exempt from birth and death have they become through meditation on the Name;
By the Master's guidance become immutable.
Those united in company with the true Teacher and holy,
Find diamonds and pearls.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance,
They acquire the invaluable Ruby of the Name. (30)

1. To whom may we complain ?

Manmukh Nāmu nā chetiyo dhigu jīvaṉu dhigu vāsu

The egoist, forgetful of the Name, is of cursed life and living :
In his mind is not lodged devotion to Him who is Provider of all sustenance.
With the mind by the holy Word not penetrated,
How my lodgement in the enternal Home be found ?
The egoists, like wives cast off, in transmigration and death remain bound.
The God-directed, to the Name devoted are like blessed wives;
On their foreheads recorded radiant diamond-like destiny.
In their hearts the Lord's Name cherished,
The lotus of their hearts by the Divine light illumined.
May I be ever a sacrifice to such as serve their holy Preceptor.
Saith Nanak : Radiant are the countenances of such as bear within the Light of the Name. (31)
Those through the Word dying, alone find liberation;
None without the Word liberation finds.
Those assuming various garbs and performing rituals are lost;
The world caught in duality, is ruined.
Saith Nanak : Without the holy Preceptor's guidance is not attained the Name,
However much may one yearn for it. (32)
High and exalted is the Lord's Name—higher than all.
Despite passionate search,
To it none may attain.
By professing to be restrained is one not rendered pure,
Though all assume such a garb and wander along.
This comes by ascending the Master's ladder,
Who by good fortune alone is met.
Throngh contemplation of the master's Word is the Lord
in the self lodged.
Saith Nanak : By dying through the Word and faith formed within,
Comes purity and noble repute. (33)
Maya-attachment is a sea of suffering and poison :
Impassable, hard to cross.
Many in attachment involved, have in death been enveloped,
In egoism their life passed.
Egoists find no resting-place or shore, in the middle left involved. P. 1417

Their deeds as in the Primal hour recorded—
No effort against this avails.
By the Master's teaching is the jewel-illumination in the
 self-lodged,
Whereby all is spontaneously viewed as enshrining
 the Supreme Being.
Saith Nanak : Those supremely fortunate alone have holy set foot on the ship, the Preceptor,
And gone across the ocean of the world. (34)
No other Bestower is except the holy Preceptor,
Who may Provide succour of the Name.
By the Master's grace is the Name in the self lodged,
And in the heart cherished.
Through devotion to the Name Divine is desire assuaged and fulfilment attained.
Saith Nanak : This blessing by the Master's guidance is attained,
Through Divine grace. (35)
The world, of the holy Word neglectful, mad beyond expression.
Those succoured by the Lord alone are saved,
Through devotion to the Word.
Saith Nanak : The Creator, who has fashioned all,
Is all-knowing. (36)
Brahmins have performed fire-offerings and sacrifices to exhaustion, Bathed at holy spots
And recited the Puranas.
With all this is not effaced attachment to Maya-poison;
In egoism caught, in transmigration are they involved.
By the holy Preceptor's touch is impurity shed.
And the might[1] Lord, all-knowing is contemplated.
Nanak is ever a sacrifice to such
As the Lord have served. (37)
Egoists contemplate Maya-attachment without end,
Full of desire, greed and evil-thinking.
Never do they attain immutability—
Each instant, each day meeting a fresh death.
By supreme good fortune is the holy Preceptor met,
As are egoism and evil-thinking discarded.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By utterance of the Name Divine,
And contemplation of the holy Word is joy attained. (38)

1. Purakh.

Without the holy Preceptor's guidance no devotion can be performed,
Nor love for the Name inspired.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Through love and devotion to the Master,
Is the holy Name meditated upon. (39)
Trust not anyone that is avaricious, as far as in your power may lie :
In the end shall he drag you where no succour may reach.
Association with the egoist may bring blackening and branding of the face.
Black are the faces of the avaricious—
They depart this life, making waste of it.
Lord ! unite me to holy company wherein the Name in the self may be lodged;
Where, saith Nanak, servant of God,
The impurity of birth and death may be shed,
And the Lord's praise be chanted. (40)

Dhūri Hari-Prabhi kartai likhiyā su meṭaṉā na jāe

Ineffaceable is what the Lord in Primal Time has recorded.
Life and this body all is His; He is the Cherisher always.
Back-biters and slanderers die full of craving,
Nothing ever attaining :
All their visible actions are hypocrisy :
Their hearts full of guile.
Whatever in the field of the self is sown, at the end rises as crop.
Nanak thus the Lord supplicates :
Lord ! forgive me; to Thyself unite me,
As it may please Thee. (41)
The mind contemplates not transmigration, nor the Court Divine :
In Maya-attachment wrapped,
In side is it covered with dust of ignorance.
From his slumber is man awakened, as heavy chastizement on his head falls.
The God-directed who contemplate the Lord P. 1418 ever at hand,
The Door of Liberation attain.
Saith Nanak : Themselves are they saved,
As also their tribe and family. (42)
Anyone dying through the Word is dead only in appearance :

By the Master's grace is he fed full with joy in the Lord.
By guidance of the Word finds he the Portal Divine.
All without the Name are as dead.
Egoists, forfeiting their life are dead too.
Neglectful of the Name Divine, in the end in suffering they wail.
Saith Nanak : All happens as the Creator Wills. (43)
Age never overpowers the God-directed,
In whose selves is lodged God-consciousness and realization :
Ever the Divine merits they contemplate,
Inside them is serene meditation lodged.
Ever in joy and wisdom[1] they abide; joy and sorrow to them are the same.
In all creation they behold the Sole Pervasive Divine Being. (44)
The egoists, deprived of God-consciousness,
Are thoughtless as children, even when old :
All their actions egoism-directed,
Liable by Dharmraj to chastizement.
The God-directed who follow the Master's Word, are pure, holy;
Obeying the Master's guidance,[2]
Not a particle of impurity touches them.
The egoists are never cleansed of false; Though washed for hundred times.
Nanak ! The God-directed are united with the Master :
And are ever by his side. (45)
How may the evil-doer attain success ?
Wailing, in his own fire of wrath he burns.
The egoist maddened, is tossed about ever in strife.
To the God-directed all is revealed.
Saith Nanak : The God-directed with their lower self battle. (46)
Such as the Master have not served, nor the holy Word contemplated,
Have truly not entered the human incarnation—
They remain as the thoughtless brute creation.
Within them is neither realization nor meditation;
Nor love and devotion to the Lord.
Egoists, caught in evil thinking die,

1. Vivek=the wisdom that discriminates between right and wrong.
2. Will.

And in transmigration remain bound.
Those truly are alive who seek the company of the living,
Cherishing in their hearts God, Life of the Universe.
Saith Nanak : At that holy Court the God-directed in splendour shine. (47)
The self is the Lord's Temple, by Himself erected.
Inside it He abides.
By the Master's teaching is the Lord attained,
As is Maya-attachment burnt away.
Inside this Lord's Temple innumerable gifts lie—
Contemplate thou the Name, bringer of Nine Treasures.
Saith Nanak : Blessed are those fortunate ones,
Who by the Master's guidance to the Lord have attained.
By supreme good fortune is this Temple searched :
Thereby in the heart is the Lord found lodged. (48)
Egoists, caught in intense thirst for greed and evil,
In ten directions keep rushing about.
Their Maya-attachment not annulled,
Unending is their birth and death.
In service to the holy Preceptor lies joy,
By discarding of desire and evil thinking.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : By contemplation of
the holy Word.
Is annulled the suffering of transmigration. (49)
My self ! contemplate thou the Name Divine;
Thus at the Divine Portal shalt thou get honoured;
All sin and evil annulled, the egoism and pride shall go. P. 1419
By the Master's guidance shall bloom the lotus of the heart,
And in all creation shalt thou behold the Supreme Self.
Lord ! In Thy grace grant that Nanak, servant of God,
The Name Divine may for ever utter. (50)

Dhanāsarī dhanvantī jāṇīyai bhāī jāṇ Satigūru kī kār kamāe

Brother ! know Dhanasari[1] to be blessed when the holy Preceptor she serves;

---

1. This is the name of a rāginī (musical measure) entered in Ādi Granth as Rāga Dhansārī. In the first and fourth line occurs dhan (wealth) which is the first syllable in Dhanāsarī, providing the aid to build up the chain of meditation in this sloka.

As brother ! from the heart she dedicates herself,
body and soul,
And in obedience to his will acts;
Wherever the Master tells her she stays, brother !
And as he commands, she proceeds.
Brother ! there is no other wealth as great as the Holy Name.
Blessed am I brother ! should I ever the Lord's praise sing,
And with the Lord abide.
Brother ! to those so blessed their merits are their vestures,
And their enjoyment, in honour thus achieved lies.
Brother ! what praise is adequate to such a one ?
To his very sight may be a sacrifice !
Brother ! great is holy Master's merit
By good fortune is he met.
Some know not of obedience to the Master, brother !
In duality keep they straying.
In the congregation, brother ! find they no succour,
Nor any place of honour.[1]
Saith Nanak : Brother ! to obey His Will are those alone inspired,
Who in Primal Time have contemplation of the Name practised :
To such, brother ! am I dedicated; to them may I for ever be a sacrifice ! (51)
Blessed are the beards[2] of such as the holy Master's feet touch;
For ever serving the Master, in everlasting joy abide.
Saith Nanak : At the holy Portal shine in splendour the faces of such ! (52)
Holy are the faces and the beards of such as speak truth, live truth;
In their minds the holy Word lodging,
In the holy Preceptor may they be absorbed :
Holy their capital, holy their gain,
Exalted their status;
Listening ever to truth, to truth devoted,
On truth their actions basing;
At the holy Portal resting, in the holy Eternal absorbed.

1. Lit. Place to sit.
2. In this Sloka and the next Beard is used as in the Punjābī idiom, as a facial feature indicative of the responsibility of an honourable man.

Saith Nanak : Without the holy Preceptor's guidance is not found truth—
Egoists in error keep straying. (53)
Cries the Papiha,[1] 'Beloved' 'Beloved' with ocean in love :
By the Master's touch is the cooling drop found,
That all suffering annuls.
Thereby is thirst assuaged, serenity attained,
And all wailing gone.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance comes tranquillity
With the Name in the heart borne. (54)
Papiha ! utter thou the truth; to the Holy Eternal attach thyself in love :
Fruitful will thy utterance be, as by holy inspiration[2]
thou dost speak.
By contemplation of the Word will thy thirst be assuaged,
As the Divine Will thou shouldst obey.
In all four directions is the lowering sky raining,
And spontaneously are rain-drops falling.
From water comes all life, without water[3] is thirst not assuaged.
Saith Nanak : Those that have of the Lord's drop sipped, Nevermore feel hunger. (55)
Papiha ! Utter thou the holy Word in tranquil tones, spontaneously.
All blessings are with thee—this the holy Preceptor to thee has shown.
To one realizing the self shall the Beloved be united, P. 1420 in pouring shower;
In gentle rain-drops shall amrita fall,
Taking away all desire.[4]
Then shall there be no wailing; thy light with the Eternal Light shall merge,
Saith Nanak : The wives with blessed matrimony[5]
in joy shall repose,
In the holy Name absorbed. (56)

1. In several Slokas here, Papīhā (chātrik), a tiny creature wailing passionately, is used as symbol for the soul thirsting after God. This symbol is ubiquitous in Indian poetry.
2. Lit. As thou criest as the God-directed one (Gurumukh).
3. Water is used symbolically here, as the object of the Chātrik's spiritual thirst. The Chātrik is reputed to thirst after a particular drop of rain.
4. Thirst and hunger.
5. Symbol for true devotees.

From the eternal Regions is the cloud by the Lord sent under the holy command—
Raining by grace, in heavy showers.
Joy of body and mind the Papiha finds,
As it tastes of the rain-drop of the Essence;
When sustenance and wealth in abundance grows,
And is beautified the earth.
Such as day after day perform devotion,
In the Master's Word absorbed—
By the holy Lord in His grace and by Divine Will are saved.
Thou Seeker-woman ! chant the Lord's praise, in the holy Word absorbed.
Deck thyself in noble simplicity with fear of the Lord;
To truth remain devoted.
Saith Nanak : With the Name in the self lodged,
The Lord at the Portal shall give you succour. (57)
Papiha ! Thou mayst wander over the earth, and into the sky soar—
Only by contact with the holy Preceptor shalt thou find the holy water,
That thy hunger and thirst may satisfy.
Life and body to Him belong; of all is He Master;
Without utterance knows He all our yearning,
Before whom should we lay our supplication.
Saith Nanak : In all beings is He pervasive.
These by the holy Word He illumines. (58)
Saith Nanak : True spring comes to such alone, as in the holy Preceptor's service are absorbed,
By the Lord's pleasure are mind and body in bloom,
And the whole world turned to verdure. (59)
Those to the holy Word devoted are in eternal spring,
Lending freshness to body and mind.
Saith Nanak : Neglect not the Name that is Creator of all. (60)

Nānak tinhān basantu hai jinnhān Gurmukhi vasiyā mani soe

Saith Nanak : Such alone have on them bloom of spring,
In whose hearts by the Master's teaching is lodged the Lord.
By the Lord's pleasure are their mind and body in bloom,
And the whole word turned to verdure. (61)
In early dawn whose Name to utter ?

Utter the Supreme Lord's Name in whose power lies death and creation. (62)
Thou persian-wheel ! uttering 'thou ! thou'[1] !
Pleasing is thy utterance.
Know, the Lord is ever by our side :
Why call on Him in such loud tone ?
May I be a sacrifice to Him who created the world and bestowed on it His love.
By discarding of egoism is the Lord met—such is the truth.
Those that from egoism speak spitefully, know not the secret of devotion.
Forest-trees, blades of grass, the universe in three worlds—
All on Thee meditate : thus are they ever engaged.
None without the Master's guidance attained to Him—
All cogitation ending only in fruitless exhaustion.
In His grace alone lies exaltation for the seeker.
Saith Nanak : Only of such as by the Master's guidance on
Him have meditated,
Fruitful[2] is coming into the world. (63)
Yoga lies neither in ochre robes, nor in soiled garments.
Saith Nanak : By guidance of the Master's teaching,
May Yoga be attained in one's own home. (64)
Liberation comes not, should one wander about in all four directions, P. 1421
Or study Vedas for the length of the four Ages.
Saith Nanak : By touch of the holy Preceptor, as in the self
is lodged the Lord,
Is the door of liberation attained. (65)
Saith Nanak : Everywhere is the Lord's Ordinance operative :
With perverted thinking and restless mind
Dost thou wander.
Friend ! with egoists for companions, what hope of joy for thee lies.
Befriend the God-directed; to the holy Preceptor in heart be devoted.
Friend ! By thus cutting at the root of transmigration shall joy be found. (66)

1. Original, Tūṇ Tūṇ, an onomatopoeical sound produced by the wheel in its revolutions.
2. Lit. Approved.

In His grace Himself He guides those that are strayed.
Saith Nanak : Without grace, shall the self be ever wailing, (67)

Slokas of the Composition of Sri Guru Ram Das

In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Waḍ-bhāgīyā sohāgaṇī jinnhāṇ Gūrumukh miliyā Hari Rāi

Supremely fortunate, of blessed conjugal life are such of the females,
As with the Divine monarch have found union.
Within them, saith Nanak, is shining the effulgence of enlightenment;
In the Name are they absorbed. (1)
Hail the holy Preceptor, exalted being, who the holy Truth has realized.
By his touch is assuaged thirst of desire,
And are mind and body joy-cooled.
Hail the holy Preceptor, exalted being, who on all casts equable glance.
Hail the holy Preceptor, above rancour,
Who holds calumny and praise alike.
Hail the holy Preceptor, all-wise,
Within whom is lodged contemplation of the Supreme Being.
Hail the holy Preceptor, image of the Formless,
Without limit or extent.
Hail the holy Preceptor who truth in the disciple's mind confirms.
Saith Nanak : Hail the holy Preceptor,
From whom is obtained the Name. (2)
To the God-directed the Lord's Name is their truth encomium.
By lauding the Name each day, by contemplation of the Lord
Is the mind in bliss.
By great good fortune is attained the Lord, perfection of Supreme bliss.
Saith Nanak : By laudation of the Name are mind and body
From impediment[2] freed. (3)
With the Beloved Spouse am I in love; how, cherished one,
May the true friend be met ?
After the friend, truth-embellished, am I in quest.
The holy Preceptor is my true friend—

1. (This is implied : Symbol for the seeker).
2. (This may also imply release from transmigration).

Should he be met, my heart to him would I offer in sacrifice.
To the Divine Friend, Creator, my Spouse
The way he shows.
Saith Nanak : After the Divine Beloved am I in quest—
The holy Preceptor has shown Him to be by me. (4)
In the path am I standing in expectation,
That the true friend would arrive.
Were someone today to grant union with the Beloved,
My living body would I offer cut to four pieces
To whoever the Beloved's sight to me grants.
Saith Nanak : The Lord alone in His grace
With the Master, perfectly-endowed, grants union. (5)
With man is egoism assertive; his body by Maya gripped;
Caught in falsehood, in transmigration involved.
By not obeying the holy Preceptor's will,
The impassable ocean he cannot cross.
Whoever has the Lord's grace, the holy Preceptor's will obeys. P. 1422
The holy Preceptor's sight is wish-fulfilling—
Thereby are heart's desires[1] achieved.
I touch the feet of such as in the holy Preceptor have put faith.
Nanak is a servant to such as each day to the Lord abide attached. (6)
Those in love with the Beloved Spouse,
Without sight of Him find not fulfilment.
Saith Nanak : By the Master's guidance such spontaneously to him are united—
Joy filling their hearts. (7)
Those in love with the Beloved Spouse,
Without Him find not life.
At sight of the Divine Spouse, saith Nanak,
Are they in bloom.[2] (8)
Beloved, image of truth, those whom by the Master's guidance
With love you have inspired,
Night and day, saith Nanak, in love remain absorbed. (9)
By the Master's guidance is formed true love,
Whereby is attained the Beloved, image of truth.

1. Fruit.
2. Green, fresh.

Even in bliss such abidse, saith Nanak,
In serenity absorbed. (10)

Sacchā prem piyāru Gūru pūrei tei pāīyai

True love and devotion from the Master, perfectly-endowed
is attained.
Saith Nanak : Never is snapped the love of such,
As in singing Divine laudation remain absorbed. (11)
Those with true love within, without the Beloved find not life.
By the Master's guidance saith Nanak,
Are the long-separated ones united. (12)
Those love-inspired by Thy grace are so inspired.
Prayeth Nanak : Grant me union; to me, mendicant,
Grant devotion to the Name Divine. (13)
The God-facing are in joy with the Lord; in separation from Him wail.
All actions of the God-facing are pure devotion.
The God-facing the Divine Essence contemplate.
Saith Nanak : To the transcendent Lord they attain. (14)
Those cherishing within treasure of the Name
By contemplation of the Master's Word
Ever bear faces radiant at the Court Eternal.
Those blessed by the Creator, in all states[1]
Never are forgetful of Him.
Saith Nanak : Those by the Creator united Nevermore from Him are alienated. (15)
Hard is service to the Preceptor, yet is bringer of pure joy.
Such love the Lord alone in His grace inspires.
One engaged in service to the holy Preceptor
Beyond the ocean of the world crosses.
His heart's desires fulfilled, within him shall discriminating understanding abide.
Saith Nanak : By contact with the holy Preceptor
Is attained the Lord, annuller of all suffering. (16)
Egoists that with hearts duality-gripped render service,
In progeny, wife, family are involved;
Whereby is maya-attachment increased.
When at the Divine Portal is called their reckoning,

1. While rising and sitting.

None at the end can succour them.
Without the Name all is suffering;
Maya-attachment is bringer of suffering.
God's devotees, saith Nanak, have seen,
Objects of Maya attachment all get alienated. (17)
The God-facing their Lord's command obey, and by such obedience obtain joy.
The command they carry out, to the command are devoted— P. 1423
In the command absorbed themselves and make others so absorbed.
Obedience to the Lord's command is their vow and pledge,
The command their observance of purity and discipline;
Whereby their heart's desire they achieve.
One realizing the command is of blessed conjugal life :
Such a one with devotion serves the holy Preceptor.
Saith Nanak : To whomsoever is the Lord gracious,
In obedience to the command absorbs them. (18)
The wretched female[1] that is ego-centred realizes not the Divine command,
And ever from egoism acts.
By fasting, vow-keeping, observance of purity and discipline and worship of such
Is not banished their false pose and doubt.
Such are foul within, Maya-penetrated,
Like the elephant scattering dust.
He who created them they contemplate not—
How without such contemplation may they attain joy ?
Saith Nanak : In Primal Time the Creator enacted the show of creation—
Each one acts as for him pre-recorded. (19)
As by the Master's teaching was acquired faith, was the mind faith-fixed :
Then each day is service to the Lord performed.
Within the holy Preceptor is lodged the Divine Enlightener—
Him all worship, as the holy Preceptor's sight they obtain.
In the holy Preceptor, bestower of the Supreme realization repose faith,

1. Implied image for one alienated from God.

By whose contact is banished all thirst and hunger.[1]
To the Master am I ever a sacrifice,
Who with the holy Lord grants union.
Saith Nanak : Such are truly fortunate
As at Master's feet bow. (20)

Jin Pirīyā saun̤ nehu sei sajjan̤ main̤ nāli

The true friends who with the Beloved art in love,
Ever by my side abide.
Wherever I am,[2] in my heart them I cherish. (21)
Those that with single mind, with concentration of devotion to the holy Preceptor
On the Lord have meditated,
Gone are their suffering and hunger,[1]
And the malignant malady of egoism—
By their devotion are they purified of sinfulness.
The Lord's laudation they ever sing, the laudation they utter;
In the Lord's merits remain absorbed.
Saith Nanak : By guidance of the Master, perfectly-endowed
is attained the Lord,
In spontaneous union. (22)
The egoist is Maya-attached, without love for the Name.
Falsehood he acts, falsehood garners, falsehood his sustenance.
Such garnering Maya-poison die, in the end turning to ashes.
Despite ritual acts of piety, purificatory rituals and self-restraint
Within them abide greed and evil-doing.
Saith Nanak : The egoist's actions by the Lord are not approved;
At the Divine Portal ignominy he meets. (23)
Brother ! of all musical measures that one is noble
Wherewith comes the Lord in the heart to abide.
Holy is such melody and music, of value inexpressible.
The Lord is above the reach of melody and music,
By these comes not realization of the Ordinance.
Saith Nanak : Full of blessing is music for such as the Ordinance realize—
Such realization from the holy Preceptor comes.
All by Him is created, as has His Will operated. (24)
In the holy Preceptor's heart abides the ambrosial Name;

1. Implied desire.
2. Whether I am within my home or without.

Amrita he ever utters and its utterance in others inspires.
By the Master's teaching on the Name immaculate meditate.
The Word ambrosial is the pure essence,
By the Master's guidance in the heart lodging.
The lotus of heart of such is in bloom;
In the Divine effulgence is their light merged.
Saith Nanak : Such alone with the holy Preceptor are granted union P. 1424
As in Primal Time have this fortune on the forehead inscribed. (25)
Inside the egoist's heart blazes fire of desire—
Noway does his hunger go.
Attachment of family all is unreal—to this illusion[1] is he attached.
Day after day in anxiety involved, to anxiety tied he departs.
Unending his transmigration as from egoism he acts.
By seeking shelter with the Master is he saved;
Saith Nanak : This alone gets him release. (26)
By the holy Preceptor's guidance such alone on the Lord meditate
As by him[2] to the holy congregation are granted attachment.
To those that in the holy congregation the holy Preceptor serve.
The Lord by uniting them to the Master
With Himself has granted union.
In this world is the ocean of existence—
The Master that is the ship, by aid of the Name takes us across.
Such of the Master's disciples as his will have obeyed,
The Master, perfectly-endowed, takes across the ocean.
Lord ! dust of feet of the Master's disciples to us pray grant,
Whereby we sinners too the supreme state may attain.
Saith Nanak : Those on whose foreheads in Primal Time
The Lord this fortune has inscribed,
To the Master are united.
Such Yama's minions have torn apart—
The Master at the Divine Portal gets them release.
Blessed are the Master's disciples—
The Lord in His grace with him grants them union. (27)
The Master, perfectly-endowed the Name Divine in such has confirmed

1. Falsehood.
2. The holy Preceptor.

As from their minds doubt have cast off.
These chanting the Name Divine, Divine laudation have chanted;
The Master the illumined path to them has shown.
Such suppressing egoism, to the Sole Lord are attached;
The Name in their hearts lodged.
The Master's followers that in the holy Name are absorbed,
Out of Yama'a sight lie.
All in the Creator's power lies;
Such alone to the Name are attached as have His grace.
Saith Nanak, servant of God : Only such as repeat the Name truly live,
Without the Name in an instant are they as dead. (28)
Evil-minded misbelievers[1] in their minds
Carry malady of egoism,
In doubt strayed.
Saith Nanak : By union with the true holy friend,
the holy Preceptor,
Is this malady cured. (29)
The Master's disciples ever the Lord's Name utter.
Day and night in the Lord's love are they tense;
Their garments in the Lord's dye immersed.
The whole world have we scoured over,
No being such as the Lord can be found.
As the holy Preceptor the Name in the mind has confirmed,
In no other direction does it stray.
Nanak, servant of God, to Him is a slave;
Of the holy Preceptor a humble servitor.[2] (30)

Slokas of the Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Rattei seī je mūkhu na maṛanni jinnhīṉ siṉyātā sāīṇ Such alone in the Lord's dye are dyed as turn not their faces away :
These the Lord have realized.
Those with frail devotion[3] fall into alienation—
Such the way of love have not practised. (1)

1. Sākta.
2. Slave of slaves.
3. Raw (as unripe fruit).

Silken raiment without the Lord in fire be burnt.
Saith Nanak : In the Lord's company an aspect of beauty I wear,
Through rolling in dust. (2)
In alienation from the world got through love for the Name, P. 1425
May the Lord through the Master's Word be supplicated.
Saith Nanak : Fruitful is the measure Maru,
Whereby are the five evil foes[1] subdued. (3)
Brahmin ! one sole Lord I behold, at whose door millions like thee Stand begging.
Wasted is thy Brahmin birth, when thy Creator hast thou forgotten. (4)
By the measure Sorath is quaffed the joyful elixir
That never its taste loses.
Saith Nanak : By singing laudation of the Name Divine
At the Divine Portal comes pure reputation. (5)
None dare destroy those under the Lord's protection;
Within them lies treasure of the Name; the Lord's laudation they ever contemplate.
The inaccessible Lord's sole shelter in mind and body they ever cherish.
The limitless dye of devotion to them sticks, that none can wash away.
Such by the Master's guidance singing Divine laudation
Serene joy experience.
Saith Nanak : Treasure of the Name
Round their heart's neck they wear as necklace. (6)
What the Lord does should man accept,
And cast off reckoning of duality.
The Lord by His glance of grace to Himself attaches the devotee.
Devotees of God ! impart to me the teaching
Whereby doubt from my mind may be cast off.
All acts as in Primal Time inscribed for them.
All in His power lies : no other refuge[2] is there.
Saith Nanak : By obedience to the Divine Will Joy and bliss have we obtained. (7)
Those contemplating the Master, perfectly-endowed, are in bliss.

1. The five sources of evil are implied.
2. Place.

Saith Nanak : By supplicating the Name
Are all objectives fulfilled. (8)
Evil-doers indulging in evil deeds wail and groan.
Saith Nanak : By Dharmaraja are they churned as by churners. (9)
Noble beings by meditation on the Name life's great objective achieve.
Saith Nanak : On righteousness as they discourse,
Purified is their abode. (10)

Khübbhaṛī kuthāeṇ miṭṭhī galaṇi kümantrīyāṇ

By finding foul counsel delectable in an ugly spot am I struck.
Saith Nanak : Such alone are saved as on forehead good fortune bear. (11)
Those in the Lord-dyed have joyful sleep.
Those suffering pangs of the Lord's love day and night cry. (12)
Countless beings caught by false Maya are asleep.[1]
Saith Nanak : Such alone are awake
As the Name repeat. (13)
Beings are lost in a mirage, in the illusory city of the sky above.
Saith Nanak : Those supplicating truth
Have splendours of mind and body. (14)
The Supreme Being is saviour of the fallen, almighty, immanent reality, limitless.
Those He has to save, the Creator Himself remembers. (15)
Discard the crooked path of duality; on the Sole Lord fix your heart.
Saith Nanak : Those caught in duality in the river of death
Are washed away. (16)
Merchant-beings in the market of three qualities[2] make bargains.
Those alone are true merchants that the merchandize of truth have packed. (17)
Man's thoughtless mind straying, knows not the path of devotion.
Saith Nanak : Those forgetful of the Lord
Into dark hell fall. (18)
Man ever thinking of lucre seeks more and more of it. P. 1426
Saith Nanak : Such contemplate not the Lord—
This lies not in their destiny. (19)

1. Used metaphorically.
2. Lit. Street of three shops. For 'Three Qualities' See Glossary.

While the Lord is gracious, for nothing do we lack.
Friend[1] Nanak, Inexhaustible is the holy Word—
Of this wealth expend to thy heart's desire. (20)
Were wings for buying, would I buy them
For equal weight of my flesh;
Fixing these on my body would I seek the Divine Friend. (21)
The true Friend is King of Kings,
Whose company exalts and who is prop of all. (22)

Slokas of the Composition of Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by the holy Preceptor's Grace

Güna Gobind gāiyo nahīṇ janamu akārath kīnu

Neglecting singing Divine laudation, hast thou made waste of thy life.
Saith Nanak : My self, in love devote thyself to the Lord,
As the fish to water. (1)
Why art thou involved in evil courses ?
Even for a moment hast thou no turned away from worldliness
Saith Nanak : My self, in love devote thyself to the Lord,
And escape Yama's noose. (2)
Passed is youth; old age has overcome this body.
Saith Nanak : My self, in love devote thyself to the Lord.
Thy allotted span is coming to a close. (3)
Even in old age are thy eyes still closed.
The hour of death is at hand.
Saith Nanak : Madman, why to the Lord
Be not devoted ? (4)
Wealth, woman, substance—all that thou takest to be thine—Believe the Word of Nanak, none of these shall abide with thee. (5)
Saith Nanak : The Lord, Saviour of the fallen,
Annuller of fear, cherisher of the helpless—
Know, He ever with you abides. (6)
To Him hast thou been indifferent[2] who gave thee
The gift of life and prosperity.
Saith Nanak : Why then art unhappy over thy state of helplessness ? (7)

1. Bābā.
2. Hast not loved.

He who bestowed on thee life, prosperity, status, joy and noble abodes,
Saith Nanak : Listen my mind ! why hast neglected Him ? (8)
God alone is giver of all joy, none else.
Saith Nanak : By contemplation of Him shalt thou attain the supreme state of liberation. (9)
Friend ! to Him devote thyself whose contemplation alone
The supreme state confers.
Saith Nanak : Listen, my self ! thy allotted span is fast closing.[1] (10)

Pānch tatt ko tanu rachiyo jānuh chatūr sūjān

Thou who art wise and thoughtful, know this body of five elements is composed.
Know, saith Nanak : In these very elements shall it be merged. (11)
Proclaim the holy devotees : The Lord in each being abides.
Saith Nanak : My self, to Him to be devoted
To cross the ocean of existence. (12)
One unshaken[2] by joy and suffering,
Avarice, attachment and egoism,
Saith Nanak : is verily the image of the Lord. (13)
One indifferent to praise and dispraise;
One to whom gold and iron are alike—
Saith Nanak, listen my self,
Is truly liberated. (14)
One to whom joy and sorrow are one; P. 1427
Who Holds foe and friend alike—
Saith Nanak : Listen my self,
Know such truly to be liberated. (15)
One that strikes not terror in others,
Nor of others stands in fear—
Saith Nanak : Listen my self,
Know such a one to be liberated. (16)
One who has renounced poison of evil,
And to the world is turned indifferent—
Saith Nanak : Listen my self,
Reckon to be truly fortunate. (17)

1. Passing.
2. Untouched.

One who worldliness[1] and possessiveness has renounced,
And to the lure of worldliness[2] is indifferent grown,
Saith Nanak : Know my self,
God indeed in the self of such a one abides. (18)
One who egoism has discarded
And who has realized the Creator immanent in all creation—
Saith Nanak, know such a one to be truly liberated. (19)
In Kali Age is God's Name annuller of fear
And destroyer of evil thinking.
Saith Nanak : Whoever day and night to it is devoted,
Fulfilment of objectives achieves. (20)

Jibhā gūna Gobind bhajuh karan sūnuh Hari-Nāmu

My tongue, always Divine laudation utter;
My ears, ever to God's Name listen.
Saith Nanak, listen my self :
Thus shalt thou not under Yama's power lie.[3] (21)
One who possessiveness, attachment and egoism renounces,
Saith Nanak, shall be liberated himself
And liberate others. (22)
Know the world to be like a dream and a show.
Saith Nanak : Nothing in it shall last except the Lord. (23)
Man night and day for lucre rushes about.
Saith Nanak : One in million alone bears God in heart. (24)
As the bubble on water,
Ever forming and bursting—
Saith Nanak : Listen my friend,
Such indeed is creation in the world. (25)
Man blinded by Maya-intoxication
Is forgetful of all.[4]
Saith Nanak : Without devotion to God,
Must Yama's noose grip him. (26)
One seeking eternal joy, in God must seek shelter.
Saith Nanak : Listen my self !
Hard to attain is the human incarnation. (27)
Ignorant and foolish worldly beings run after lucre.

---

1. Māyā.
2. From everything.
3. Shalt not enter Yama's abode.
4. That is, is forgetful of the consequence of his deeds.

Saith Nanak : Passed purposelessly is life without devotion to the Lord. (28)
One who night and day in loving devotion engages,
Know him to be veritably God's image.
Believe this from Nanak : Between God and His devotees no distinction is. (29)
The mind entangled in worldliness of the Lord's Name is forgetful.
Devoid of devotion to the Lord, what worth is life ? (30)

Prānī Rāmu na chetaī madi māyā kai andhu

Man, blinded by Maya-intoxication,
Of God is forgetful.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion, man in Maya's snare
Gets caught. (31)
Many profess to be man's companions in his hour of prosperity.
In adversity none befriends him.
Saith Nanak : Render devotion to God who in the end
Shall thy succourer be. (32)
After repeated wanderings through birth and death,
Still is not gone Yama's terror.
Saith Nanak : My self ! to the Lord be devoted,
And of this fear be freed. (33)
All my efforts to erase pride from the mind have failed. P. 1428
Lord, save Nanak who in evil thinking is caught. (34)
Know man's life in three portions to be divided—
Childhood, youth and oldage.
Saith Nanak : Without devotion is all this a waste. (35)
While thou hadst power didst thou not have the will,
And into the snare of avarice didst fall
Saith Nanak : Passed is the hour.
Thou blind man, what avail regrets now ? (36)
For the mind engrossed in Maya there is no escape,
As there is none for the fresco from the wall. (37)
Man's expectations nowise are fulfilled :
All his hopes delude him.
At last in Yama's noose is he caught. (38)
Man's efforts are all for pleasure;
Nowise turning to uproot the causes of suffering.
Saith Nanak : Listen my self ! joy and sorrow by the Divine Will come. (39)

The world goes about begging; God is bestower of all gifts.
Saith Nanak : My self ! contemplate God
Whereby shall thy objectives be fulfilled. (40)

Jhūṭhai mānu kahā karai jagu suphnei jiūn jānu

Why this false pride ?
Know this world to be no more than dream.
Saith Nanak explicitly : None of thy possessions shall last with thee. (41)
Friend, this body of which thou art proud,
In an instant will be shattered.
Saith Nanak : The creature that Divine laudation has uttered,
Has conquered the world.[1] (42)
He alone is emancipated who the Lord has contemplated.
Saith Nanak : Know this to be true,
Between such a one and the Lord no difference is. (43)
One whose heart without devotion abides.
Saith Nanak, little different is he from hog or hound. (44)
As the dog devoted to its master
Leaves not his doorstep,
Even so should man devote himself heart and soul to God. (45)
One that of ritual bathing, fasting and charity grows proud,
All his pious acts, saith Nanak,
Are as little worth as the elephant's bath.[2] (46)
In old age is the head shaking,
Feet faltering, eyes without light :
Saith Nanak : Knowing such to be the end,
Man yet engages not in devotion to the Lord. (47)
This truth have I beheld myself—
All earthly support is unsure.
Saith Nanak : Devotion to God alone is man's sure support—
Cherish that ever in your heart. (48)
Know, friend,
The world's expanse[3] is all frail, mortal.
It crumbles away, Nanak tells thee,
As wall of sand. (49)

1. Cf. Japuji, 28.
2. (The elephant after bathing throws dust over his body).
3. All that is created.

Rama[1] departed this world.
So did Ravana[2] of vast progeny.
Saith Nanak : Nothing lasts—
The world is unreal as dream. (50)

Chintā tā kī kījīyai jo anhonī hoe

Man may only worry over what can be averted,
Saith Nanak : On this path of the world.
Nothing is lasting. (51)
All that is created, must one day[3] perish.
Saith Nanak : Leaving all these entaglements P. 1429
Devote thyself to God. (52)

Couplet

All strength is gone; thrown in bonds is this frame;
No effort avails.
Prayeth Nanak : Lord, you are my sole support.
Succour me as you did the elephant.[4] (53)
Lord ! strength has arrived;
The bonds are snapped asunder;
All efforts begin to avail.
Saith Nanak : All this, Lord, in Your hand lies.
Be You my aid.[5] (54)
Friends and companions all have departed;[6]
None has been constant.
Prays Nanak : In this hour of agony is God my support. (55)
Nothing shall last but God's immortal Name,
The holy devotees of God,
And God, the Enlightener.[7]
Saith Nanak : Few in this world are such
As to holy Word of God have devoted themselves. (56)
The Name of God in my heart have I cherished,
Of unparalleled greatness,

1. The god-hero, celebrated in the Rāmāyana.
2. The demon-king of Lankā, who fought Rāma.
3. Today or tomorrow.
4. (Allusion to a famous Purānic tale).
5. Slokas 53 and 54 are stated to have a historical bearing—the first expressing Guru Tegh Bahadur's state in Aurangzeb's prison, the second Guru Gobind Singh's expression of hope in God's succour. These two slokas are variously interpreted. See Sāhib Singh : Guru Granth Sāhib Darpan. For another interpretation see Farīdkot Teeka.
6. (Interpreted also as the weakening of man's faculties in old age).
7. Original, Guru Gobind.

Whose meditation all suffering annuls
And favours the devotee with a sight of the Divine face.[1] (57)

Mundavani[2] (The closing seal)—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Thāl vichi tinni vastū paīyoṇ sattu santokhu vīchāro

In this Salver[3] are lying three viands[4]—truth, content and contemplation.
Also lying in it is the Lord's ambrosial Name,
Sustenance of all existence.
Whoever partakes of it, consumes it,
Saved shall be.
This substance noway can be discarded—
Ever in heart cherish it.
The world, darkness-enveloped by touch of the Master's feet is crossed :
Thus, saith Nanak, all that is visible,
Is seen as manifestation[5] of the Supreme Being. (1)

Sloka[6]—Composition of Sri Guru Arjan Dev

Terā kītā jāto nāhīṇ mainūṇ jogu kītoī

For Thy benefaction have I not realized how grateful
I should be,
Thou that has enabled me,[7] to accomplish this task.
Without merit am I, devoid of qualities—
Thou to me hast shown compassion.
By Thy compassion has come grace,
Whereby was met the holy Preceptor, true friend.
Saith Nanak : As the Name I attain, find I life,
And my body and mind is in bloom. (1)

1. (Sight of You, i.e. God).
2. Muṇḍāvaṇī implies a seal. Herein the holy Granth Sāhib is symbolized as the sealed Salver carried to a bouquet, as was customary at royal courts. In conformity to the 'Salver' image are used the terms 'partake' and 'consume'. Coming at the end of the holy Book, this piece is the closing seal. Another meaning of muṇḍāvaṇī is a riddle, an engima. Which is the Salver and what is contained within it ? The enigma is solved in the hymn itself.
3. Implies the holy Granth Sāhib.
4. Objects, substances.
5. Expanse.
6. (In this sloka is expressed thanksgiving to the Lord for His grace in enabling the Guru to bring to completion the great task of compiling the Granth Sāhib.)
7. That is, to complete the Guru Granth Sāhib.

Ragamala * (The string of Musical measures)
In the Name of the Sole Supreme Being, Realized by
the holy Preceptor's Grace

Rāga ek sangi panch baraṇgan

Each Raga by five females is accompanied;
These by choristers with their eight sons are sung.
First of all at sunrise the measure Bairav
Along with its five Raginis[1] they enunciate.
These are : First Bhairavi, then Bilavali,
Punniaki and Bangali.
Then comes the turn of Aslekhi—
All these five are Bairav's consorts.
Then are mentioned Pancham, Haraskh and Disakh.
The fourth is Bangalam; then come Madhu and Madhava. (1)
Then are sung each in its mode,
Lalit and Bilaval.
These eight sons of Bhairav by accomplished
Masters are sung. (1)
In the second place is enunciated by accomplished musicians Malkaus
Which with its five Raginis is enunciated.
In this context are sung Gaundkari, Dev-gandhari
Gandhari and Sihati,
Grouping with Dhannasari—
Thus are these five sung.
These to Malkaus are wedded.
Next come Maru, Mast-Ang, Mewara. P. 1430
Then are raised Prabal and Chand-kaushak,
Khau, Khat and Bhauranad too are sung.
These eight to Malkaus are related as sons. (1)
Then comes Hindol with his five consorts and eight sons.
As musicians strumming the strings sing these,
Rise waves of music. (1)
Come then Telangi, Devkari
Basanti and Sandur, each a beauty.

---

*This is a list of Musical measures taken from a romance, Madhavānal Kāma-Kandalā by the poet Alam. These however, do not exactly correspond to the musical measures found in the text of the holy Granth Sāhib. Rāga-māla is not Gurubānī.

1. Rāgnī is a sub-measure comprehended under a Rāga.

The dulcet Ahiri too is his consort.
Distinguished thinkers these five to Hindol have related.
His sons are Surmanand, Bhaskar,
Chandabimb and Mangal of such pleasing features;
Sarasban and Binod,
That with the dulcet Basant and Kamod are sung.
These eight sons of Hindol have decorously been mentioned.
Thereafter comes Dipak's turn. (1)
Then are Kachheli, Pat-manjari and Todi enunciated.
Kamodi and Gujari too to Dipak are related as consorts. (1)
Know these to be Dipak's eight sons :
Kalanka, Kuntal and Rama,
Kamal-kusum and Champak,
Gaura, Kanara and Kalyana. (1)
Then in concert musicians sing Sri Raga,
To which are related his five consorts.
In this context are mentioned Bairari and Karnati, Gavari and Asavari.
Thereafter is enunciated Sindhvi :
All these to Sri Raga are related as consorts. (1)
Eight are Sri Raga's sons :
Salu, Sarang, Sagara, Gaund and Gambhir,
Among with Gund, Kumbh and Hamir. (1)
In the sixth place musicians sing Megh Raga,
To which too are related five consorts
These are Sorath, Gaund are malari[1] that are enunciated;
Then is sung Asa by accomplished maestros.
Then is raised in high tones Suhou :
These five with Megh-Raga are reckoned. (1)
These are the names of sons of Megh-Raga :
Bairadhar, Gajdhar, Kedara,
Jablidhar, Nat and Jaldhara.
Also are sung Shankar and Shyama. (1)
Musicians sing the six Ragas along with thirty raginis;
And the number of sons of Ragas at forty-eight is reckoned. (1.1)

(Here closes the sacred volume of Sri Guru Granth Sahib).

1. By one reckoning Gaund-Malārī is a single rāginī. Gun-gunī is another.